Joe Sheeley Heads Recreation Group

Summerland's new recreation commission met for the first time Tuesday night and elected Joe Sheeley as chairman and heard from Jim Panton, Kelowna, community activities branch representative, an outline of the work which is before the commission.

All forms of activities coming under the heading of recreation are within the scope of the commission and first undertaking will be a survey of all activities now available in the district. Next move of the commission will be to undertake organization of any groups necessary to give a well-rounded community recreation program.

A provincial grant of $25 will be given the commission for use in assisting organizations in starting and in operating.

Vice-chairman of the commission is J. R. Butler and Miss Gweneth Atkinson was appointed sec-treas.

Other members of the commission are George Woltte, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh and Les Gould.

Also present at the meeting Tuesday night were Ivor Solly and John Kitson who were representing Rotary Swim classes which will be starting soon.

RECEIVES PROMOTION

Word has been received here by his parents that David Turnbull, now serving in the Canadian Navy, has been promoted to petty officer. He has been stationed at HMS Naden at Victoria. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dave Turnbull.

Fine Performance . . .

High School Band Concert Shows Marked Improvement During Year

Those who a year ago heard the Summerland High School band in their first concert last Thursday and Friday evening were amazed at the number of rough edges that have been polished off in the relatively short intervening time. In their second concert, the band presented a very creditable performance and certainly one which was highly enjoyable. Evidence of the long hours of instruction and practice during the past year was clearly apparent in the confidence shown individually and in their teamwork.

In competitions in which the band has recently appeared, it has been up against smaller groups drawn from much larger centres. To select from this band the better players and come up with a band about half the size and in better instrumental balance, director John Tamblin would have an entry that could easily hold its own with the best bands.

The lack of sufficient bass horns to balance so large—83 piece—a band was evident in brassy marches and it is the hope of the band that extra basses will be obtained by next season but—as Mr. Tamblin pointed out—at $600 each, it's going to take a little time.

The concert last week was opened with the march Hutchison Field and next was Bucallosi's Hunting Scene, enlivened by off-stage hunting sound effects which provided added amusement for audience and band members alike.

In the Student Prince Overture, Director Tamblin introduced it with the observation "We hope you'll recognize some of the pieces in it". Mr. Tamblin was not doing justice to his charges. The popular Sigmund Romberg selections were not only readily recognizable but also well executed. In the group were the Students' Marching Song, Just We Two, Serenade, Drinking Song, Happily We Have Found You, Deep in May Heart Dear.

Next was a symphonic band arrangement of the novelty Blue Tall Fly and then another orchestral version of Old MacDonald.

Student Eugene Bates took over the baton to direct the band in the quick tempoed Excelsior. Next on the program was Metropolis.

A popular number which found great favor with the audience was the novelty Hey Pedro by "Senor Tomale and his 88 tired Mexicans" for which the band went into costume.

A group of instrumental combinations followed next on the program with first being the clarinet quartet which was winner of first prize in the Okanagan Festival at Kelowna. In the group were Jean Johnson, Barbara Baker, Carlton Sheeley and Larry Crawford and they chose Caprice for their selection.

John Adams and Eugene Bates in a baritone horn duet displayed great facility in the handling of their instruments in playing Arm in Arm.

Future members of the High School band were heard in a presentation by the junior band, students of grades 6 and 7 who were playing together on one of the rare occasions. Because members of the junior band attend different schools and have different lunch hours, it is seldom they can get together so practices are carried out in groups. Although lacking any bass section, the youngsters were able to give surprising depth of tone to their performance. Their selections were Flagship March, Mission Choral and Sweetheart Waltz.

A vocal group comprising about 40 members of Grades 7 and 8 gave

Record Number of Grads In Exercises Tomorrow

Summerland's largest class of graduates will be on the stage of the High School tomorrow afternoon for exercises when 36 students will complete public school careers.

Principal speaker on the program which will start at 2 o'clock and there will also be presentation of awards won during the year.

Members of the graduating class who will appear on the program will be Ruby Jomori, class valedictorian, June Willis who will deliver the class poem and talented Eugene Bates who will entertain with a piano solo.

Presentation of the Verrier Trophy will be made by High School Principal A. K. Macleod and the Marksman Cup by H. V. Stent. Miss Marion Hulland will present athletic awards and W. H. Durick non-athletic awards. Award of the scholarship will be made by C. E. Bentley and M. E. Desjardins will present the book prize for grade 11.

Others taking part in the graduation exercises will be J. Y. Towgood, chairman of the school board W. S. Wilkin reporting on school activities, S. A. MacDonald, representing the MacDonald Elementary School and Canon F. V. Harrison who will deliver the invocation.

Bennett Advises Will Ask Bids On Road at Once

Tenders for construction of the new road through Summerland will be called immediately with work to be started on Sept. 1. This was the assurance received by the municipal council this week in a letter from Premier Bennett.

Previously, Premier Bennett had informed Reeve Atkinson that if request was made by the municipality for delay in construction that tenders would be called immediately so there would be no danger that money now appropriated for the work would be diverted for some other purpose.

The Sept. 1 starting date meets the request of a resolution drafted by a combined meeting of municipal council and Summerland Board of Trade and supported by executive of Summerland local, BCFGA, asking the start on the road be delayed until that date to minimize dust damage to soft fruit crop.

Local Teachers Elect E. F. Weeks President

First annual meeting of the Summerland Teachers' Association was held Tuesday afternoon at the High School.

Elected president was E. F. Weeks with A. D. Gately as vice-president, Mrs. Ruth Kramer, secretary and Mrs. Peggy MacRae as treasurer.

Plans were laid for an association picnic to be held at the experimental station on June 15.

Fisherman Suspected In Sport Centre Haul

Thief who early Sunday morning helped himself at the Sport Centre had all the earmarks of a fisherman. Ignoring other valuable merchandise on display in the store, he confined his selection to out-board motor, fishing reel and line and incidental fishing equipment. Total haul was about $230.

The robbery was discovered about 10:30 Sunday morning by A. J. Berry, father of proprietor Bert Berry. The elder Mr. Berry discovered the door open and notified his son.

Police reported the area was patrolled about 2:30 a.m. and the door was secured at that time. Entry was apparently gained by manipulating the lock since there was no sign to indicate forced entry.

This is the second time the Sport Centre has been chosen as target for a break. First time was two years ago.

Will Plan Picnic Here For Socreds

Members of South Okanagan Social Credit executive, along with representatives of Oliver and Penticton groups will meet tonight to plan for a monster Social Credit picnic to be held July 1 at the Experimental station.

Members of the party from all over the Okanagan Valley will be attending the picnic and an even larger attendance than at the first one held a year ago is expected. Committee also expect either Premier Bennett or a member of his cabinet will be in attendance.

Former Resident Passes in Kamloops

Word was received here this week of the sudden passing in Kamloops of a former Summerland resident J. H. Lee.

At one time bookkeeper for Wheelers Mills, here, Mr. Lee has been making his home for many years in Kamloops. He has, however, maintained membership in Summerland Masonic Lodge and burial service in Kamloops will be under direction of Kamloops Lodge.

He is survived by his wife and daughter in Kamloops.

Charges 'Sacred Meddling' Threat To Orderly Marketing in Province

A personable young socialist, the youngest member of the B.C. legislature, Tuesday night told a public meeting that all systems of orderly marketing in the province are being endangered by "Social Credit meddling" and expressed doubt the present government believes.

Speaker was Tony Gargrave, 28-year-old CCF Mackenzie Riding MLA who gave a report on the last session of the legislature to a gathering in IOOF Hall.

On one point, Mr. Gargrave was in at least partial agreement with the government. That was for making BCHIS universal. While he said his party was opposed to the principle of sales tax, he said they hoped the disadvantages of this feature would be outweighed by the new scope of hospital insurance and said the CCF party will do everything possible to help the government make the scheme work.

The speaker devoted most of his attention to a general report on activities in the legislature during the past session but had a few sharp barbs for the government. Reason for decontrol of milk, he suggested, was to get "choop milk into the cities to get votes" and he described the new labor relations

Most of the by-law money had been spent and council was planning to compile estimates for further work on the water system, if the ratepayers would support a further by-law to complete the necessary extensions. Direct connection between the north main irrigation ditch and the reservoir was made.

Installation of a second and larger grader to handle the increased crop expected in the area was announced by the Summerland Fruit Union.

Kelowna Board of Trade had asked that an officer with full power to build roads be stationed in Kelowna. Glenmore local of the United Farmers of B.C. had requested removal of Superintendent McAlpine in Summerland and his replacement with a "more capable and efficient" person in Kelowna. The city trade board did not support this extreme request.

Other Opinions

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Just as the first encounter with a person often influences our lasting opinion, so does the first skirmish with a new day sometimes dictate our mood for the remainder of its course.

How many times has our entire day been completely ruined by a trivial occurrence in its early hours—a harmless fall on the way to work, a broken shoelace, a dead battery in the car, or an empty coffee jar in the kitchen.

On the opposite side of the ledger, how many people are cheered by a little sunshine streaming into the bedroom and other early happenings which proclaim harmony with the rest of the world.

Perhaps the biggest "lift" is a profitable and flattering assortment of letters in the morning mail. We might all be happier throughout the entire day if we subscribed to some service whereby we were greeted each morning by a pleasing letter—even if it really meant little.—The Grenfell Sun.

A VANISHING SPECIES

A curious bit of social history is reflected in the report from the Canadian Bureau of Statistics that only 232 men's fur coats were made in the Dominion in 1952, a drop of 400 from 1951.

This is a sad decline from the grave days early in this century when the ambition of every right-thinking Canadian man was to own a massive and shaggy fur coat, preferably rounded with a fur hat and fur gauntlets. On a cold day such outfits were everywhere to be seen, and they were one of Canada's most impressive spectacles.

The gradual disappearance of the fur-bearing Canadian male is probably not so much the result of changes in fashion as of altered living conditions. In the old days, when going anywhere in winter meant a long walk or a slow, cold drive in a sleigh or buggy, a heavy fur coat was almost a necessity. Today, the automobile and the bus have largely removed the need for such massive protection against the weather. Before long, we suppose, only women's patronage will be left to sustain Canada's oldest industry.—Edmonton (Alberta) Journal.

WHISTLE WAILS

Nostalgic memories are due for preservation. In the days when "she was comin' round the mountain," blowing smoke and cinders, her whistle, sounding out a good five miles in advance, made the farm boy, milking cows, yearn to take the train to the big city one day.

There have been sad hearts in many a village—and city too, for that matter—since the blat of the diesel horn replaced the whistle of the old steam locomotives.

Happily, their bewailing has not gone unnoticed. Ingenious men have been working hard to produce an air whistle that would once more awaken dreams in the youngsters of America. For what is childhood without soft dust drifting over bare toes on a sultry summer's day, while far off across the cornfield's golden harvest a lingering train whistle invites to places deep in the brilliant mists of imagination?

There are 9,000 chances in the United States today that boys will once more lift their heads like horses scenting wind as a piercing, sweet nostalgic whistle comes round the bend of 1954. That number of diesels are equipped with new whistles.

And at night a low organlike note will swell over moonlit countryside for those sleepy 20th-century farm folk who, having unharnessed their mechanized tractors and put the auto to bed, are ready themselves for a gentle lullaby.—Christian Science Monitor.

Economy No Virtue... not when safety sacrificed

INTIMATED policy of the provincial public works department to exercise all possible economy in the construction of the new highway through Summerland is to be highly commended but on no account should economy be even considered at the cost of safety.

Engineers have mapped out a route for the road which calls for a cutout to achieve a level crossing at the top of Peach Orchard hill. True, this is just a field survey and, according to available information, no serious consideration has even been given to following the line of this survey, nevertheless, this is the time when concerted action should be taken to discourage public works officials from even giving any thought to such a hazardous proposal.

The earlier plans discussed called for an overhead bridge over Peach Orchard hill and this is the only safe method of extending the new road through that section.

To flatten out a stretch of Peach Orchard in order to give a level approach to the proposed intersection with the new road would mean the grade would have to be increased further down and anyone who has to travel that road in the winter will testify there is more than enough grade to that hill already.

To leave the grade of the approach unchanged would present a serious problem. Vehicles travelling up the hill would be required to come to a stop at the intersection since all roads leading into it are controlled by stop signs.

Newspaper Space... two functions are performed

IT seems strange to find in these enlightened days there is still a fairly large number of people who fail to distinguish between the function of the news and editorial columns of a newspaper.

As a result, because we carry a news story in which some person or organization takes a stand either for or against some project, it is often assumed the paper shares the same opinion, an assumption which may be completely incorrect.

The news columns of the paper are reserved for reports of interest to people of the district. In these columns, every effort is made to confine reports to a chronicle of actual happenings, regardless of the policy of the newspaper, the opinions of the person writing the story are of the editor.

Often too, there are people enquiring as to the cost of having certain items of news published. Not only is the publication of items free, but space in the news columns cannot be purchased.

People who have something they wish to have get started again on the steep grade and a traffic bottleneck would result.

The serious menace for cars going down the hill would be that they would be unable to stop under icy winter conditions and would go sliding out onto the main highway.

Economy is a fine thing but it loses its virtue when it involves lightly gambling with human lives and property. It should be borne in mind the school bus will be travelling the Peach Orchard route so that while a bridge may be somewhat more costly in the initial construction, the extra cost over a period of years will not be great, particularly when it can be included a measure of safety for children and others. Safety is one of the most important considerations in modern highway construction and there is no reason why it should be disregarded in this instance.

Reeve Atkinson has expressed personal disapproval of the level crossing plan and there is no doubt the other members of the council will join him in protesting it if it is suggested but there is no reason why this job should be left to the council. The idea can be nipped in the bud before it even gets to a suggestion stage by a little concerted effort on the part of members of the community—and all it will cost is a few minutes time and a five-cent stamp. The member for this constituency is the premier of the province and as such is a man of considerable influence where provincial activities are concerned. A stream of letters to him from members of this community opposing this level crossing idea would very likely put an end to it in double-quick time.

publicized which is not regarded by the editor as news are referred to the advertising department. And, if they wish their advertisement in the form of a "reader" then it is clearly labelled "Advt." so that readers will know it is not an unbiased report by the paper.

On the other hand, the opinions of the paper and its policy are expressed on the editorial page. Here again, there is considerable misunderstanding about how the policy of a newspaper is formed.

The policy of a newspaper on any particular question does not of necessity reflect the personal views of either the publisher, editor or any other member of the staff. Rather, it is drafted by an impartial viewing of the question involved by several people to decide what stand is best in the community interest and could quite conceivably not coincide with the personal viewpoint of any of those who chart the newspaper's stand.

This is not a problem which faces daily papers to the same extent it does weeklies. On the larger papers, editorial writers are an anonymous body of workers and readers are not so inclined to credit opinions to an individual. In smaller communities served by weekly papers, however, where the personnel of the paper is known to the bulk of the readers, there is a natural inclination to accept editorial opinions as being those of the writer whose identity is known.

It would be unnatural if we were always right in our opinion or if our point of view was always acceptable to everyone. On either count, we don't expect to hit anywhere near a perfect average. In order that a balance may be struck, our columns are always open to those who wish to write and disagree with us. We do, in fact, welcome opposing opinions since there will always be differences of opinion and it makes for a healthy situation when members of the community are fully informed of both sides of any controversial issue by which it is likely to be affected.

Mid-Week Message

In the Lord put I my trust. (Psalm 11:1) Read Colossians 1:9-17.

The men who laid the foundations of our Republic had a vigorous, all-encompassing belief in God. The great documents which they wrote are couched in prayerful terms, for the strength of the fledgling nation lay in its faith. The founders believed that, with God's help, the new concept of government, based on individual liberty, must succeed.

That great and vital concept of government is today threatened by the twin monstrosities of crime and subversion. Concern with material things and failure to discharge our spiritual duties are signs that we have been neglecting the keystone which supports the arch of liberty.

Prayer is that keystone. Prayer is the clarifying medium. Through communion with God, He enables us to dispense confusion and separate truth from falsehood. It is the means by which the soul gains release from sorrow and freedom from fear. Prayer is the bridge which unites man to God.

Almighty God, in whom we live and move and have our being, give us the vision to preserve the liberty which is Thine alone to grant. Strengthen us. Give us courage for the future. We ask Thy guidance. We pray in the name of Him who exemplified the highest courage. Amen.

Notes From Parliament Hill

By O. L. JONES

Several briefs have been presented to the veterans house committee, the first by the Canadian Legion, the second by non-pensioned veterans' widows, and, today, by the veterans land act department. This latter brief explained at length the relation of this department and the veteran over a period of years and pointed out that veterans who have purchased under VLA now own property of a value in the neighborhood of $5 hundred million. The director pointed out that most debts are being paid without any arrears. The total arrears to date number 44 who are $100 behind in their payments. This is a startling record when we consider that there are 27,741 veterans presently settled under the VLA.

The director dealt at length with the new bill which proposes to make it easier for veterans to own their own home. It will now be possible to build a house on a normal city lot with money borrowed from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. All of the preliminary negotiations for the house such as legal fees, will be borne by the VLA. They will also supervise the construction. When the house is completed, it is then turned over to the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation who look after collections, etc.

This aspect was criticized in the committee as it was felt that veterans should be under the more benevolent wing of the VLA rather than Central Mortgage and Housing which is tied up with banks, an insurance companies, with mortgages and loans. Clarey Gillis pointed out that these groups are primarily interested in the profits of the operation rather than the welfare of the veteran. However, the government representative pointed out that there are thousands of veterans who are already dealing with the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and who appear to be completely satisfied with the treatment.

The brief contained one statement of interest to veteran farmers in the southern part of the Okanagan and it was this:

"Special assistance is always available and given to farm settlers who at any time may get into difficulties."

I asked the Director if this meant that special assistance would, or could, be given to those veteran farmers in the Okanagan who have lost this year's crop of soft fruit during the severe frost that destroyed the bloom. He intimated that no pressure would be placed on these farmers for current payments and it is possible that the department will find a way of rendering assistance to veterans who will otherwise have difficulties in meeting their obligations for the current year. However, Mr. Rutherford, the director, would not enlarge on this statement and I intend, at a later session, to find out exactly what type of assistance will be made available to these veterans who suffered losses through the recent spring frost.

On Tuesday of this week, the government announced a startling new policy whereby they entered the insurance field. This was hailed by the CCF as socialized life insurance which we have advocated for many years. Mr. Knowles contended that it should be extended to cover all Canadians. The plan, as outlined by the parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, will apply to all members of the regular forces and to civil servants, including those who work for crown corporations and who normally contribute to the civil service superannuation plan. The number involved was not disclosed. The policy will pay $5,000 at death or a year's salary, whichever is the smaller amount. This would be paid to the widow or to the person's estate. The government will pay the cost of administration and one-sixth of the insurance payment after death. Those covered by the plan would pay $4.80 a year for each $1,000 of insurance. Thus, for $24 a year, a life insurance policy of $5,000 will be given to each of the above mentioned employees. Mr. Knowles pointed out that such cheap insurance should be made available to all Canadians who at present pay a very much larger premium. I regard this as a very progressive step.

A CCF proposal to increase the quorum for the house of commons was defeated. The present

Local Delegates To Sunday School Sessions at Coast

Several Summerland delegates will be present next Tuesday for the 1954 Western Canada Divisional Sunday school convention of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada which will convene in Broadway Tabernacle, Vancouver on Tuesday and continue through Sunday.

From Summerland will be Mrs. Walter Smith, beginner department teacher, Mrs. Earl Stevenson, junior department teacher, Mrs. C. D. Postal, superintendent and Rev. C. D. Postal, pastor and adult teacher.

The Vancouver convention will be the last of three divisional conventions held this year. The first was in London, Ontario, and the second in Regina, Saskatchewan.

These divisional conventions are planned with "how-to-do-it" sessions, departmental conferences, workshop groups, skits and forums, and audio-visual demonstrations, with the same comprehensiveness of the previous single annual national conventions.

Emphasizing the central theme "Bring Christ to Canada", it is believed that the three divisional conventions will make it possible for a larger number of interested Sunday school workers to attend. The attendance at that London convention was as large as the attendance at the previous annual national conventions.

At the opening convention service on Tuesday night, the Hon. P. A. Gagliardi, minister of public works and pastor of the Pentecostal church in Kamloops, will give the convention key-note address.

Scout Activities

1st Summerland Troop

Last week we welcomed back Dr. D. V. Fisher as Scoutmaster. Since I find it impossible to give the troop the outdoor activities so essential to scouting, I am very grateful to Dr. Fisher for assuming leadership. Mr. Brinton and I will carry on as his assistants and hope by our combined efforts to provide good instruction and guidance. This alone won't make a successful troop. Unless the PL's and all other members are prepared to do their part by being present in full uniform at every meeting, and by realizing that being a scout doesn't mean just turning out when there is nothing more interesting to do, there is no use having a troop.

Let's all make up our minds to make the 1st Summerland something we can be proud to belong to. Dr. Fisher is giving his time, effort and experience to help us out and it is up to us not to let him down.

The patrol points now stand—Hawks 84, Beavers 76, Buffaloes 34, and Eagles 30.

There was a court of honor meeting on Friday, May 28 at 7:30 at Dr. Fisher's home to discuss our next months program, a week-end camp and summer camp. David M. Munn.

Rev. James Montgomery, national Sunday school director, responsible for the organization of the convention, states that never in the history of Canada has such enthusiasm and results in the Sunday school field been seen, for over 43,000 is now the average Sunday morning attendance in Pentecostal Sunday schools.

Gardeners dream of blooms like this—and quite often achieve such results in spite of bugs, weather and sore muscles. But then the blooms look much better when you produce them yourself. Or do they? This collection was on exhibit at the Canadian Gardeners' display in Toronto and Eileen Bond is the model in the middle of the tulips and carnations.

Clever Cooking . . .

Every now and then Mrs. Home-maker pick up a recipe and finds an expression or term about cooking which she does not understand. Of course, some homemakers are fortunate enough to have a food dictionary or a food encyclopedia but there are many others who do not have one, and how to find out what the expression means is a problem.

In larger centres homemakers are fortunate because they can ask for help from the home economists of the excellent home service departments of electrical or gas companies. And, something we found out the other day that is very interesting is that many stores now have a home economist whose job it is to help customers with their buying and cooking problems.

All these home economics services are certainly a great help, but still there are plenty of places where assistance is just not available and the homemakers living there often are in need of it. One way that they can get help is to write about their food problems to the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture—the home economists are always glad to help.

Two cooking expressions which often confuse homemakers are "single-acting baking powder" and "double-acting baking powder". Just what do these terms mean? There actually are three types of baking powder on the market, all containing baking soda, to furnish the carbon dioxide that leavens the dough or batter, an acid which reacts with the soda to make it give up its carbon dioxide and starch which presents the powder from reacting in the can before it is used.

When the acid which makes the soda work is tartaric acid or cream of tartar we have what is known as a tartrate baking powder. If the acid is phosphate of calcium then the baking powder gets the name of a phosphate baking powder. Actually very little baking powder on the market today is the tartrate type, most of it is a phosphate powder. Both these types are what are now as "single-acting baking powders". They liberate their gas fairly rapidly after liquid is added. So, with this type of baking powder it is advisable to work as quickly as possible or much of the gas will be lost in stirring.

Double-acting baking powder is the type which contains not one, but two acid ingredients. It is called "double-acting" because part of the leavening or rising action takes place with the cold moist ingredients and the rest takes place when the product is in the oven. These reactions are fairly slow and so it is spoken of as a slow acting-baking powder.

And when mother is planning to perhaps teach her young daughter to cook or if she is a little inexperienced at it herself she might find that "double-acting" baking powder is a help because it reacts more slowly than the single-acting.

Miss MacLeod has been a popular member during the past three and a half years. As Librarian to the three branches of the Research Centre; the Laboratory of Plant Pathology, the Entomological Laboratory and the Experimental Station, she was familiar with records and literature of the work and was of valuable assistance to members of the entire staff.

On behalf of those present Dr. Anstey wished Dorothy every success in her new post and hoped that she would visit the Okanagan often. As a token of appreciation and remembrance Miss MacLeod was presented with a beautiful silver tray, suitably engraved.

Before leaving for her new position in Ottawa Miss Dorothy MacLeod was guest of honor at a party held Friday evening at the home of Joan Zimmerman. The girls of the Experimental Station staff gathered to wish Miss MacLeod every success and to present her with a remembrance in the form of a silver plate. Former members of the staff also present were Mrs. D. V. Fisher and Mrs. Bert Pelham.

Members and friends of the Summerland Athletic Club gathered on Sunday afternoon for a picnic supper on the beautiful lawns of the Experimental Station. Miss Dorothy MacLeod was the honored guest. Rotary Swim Classes Will be Increased

A change in program for Rotary swim classes this year will give each pupil almost twice as much instruction as in previous years. Instead of operating the classes only two days a week, plans are now being formulated for five or six day operation which will double the number of classes.

Chairman of the Rotary committee, Ivor Solly, said that with the change in program, it will not be possible to provide bus transportation to the beach as in former years but it is felt the value of the additional instruction outweighs the convenience of having the bus.

VISITING ABROAD

Mrs. Olga Pushkarenko is visiting Coronation, Alberta, where her father is ill.

Gordon D. Smith left Wednesday to attend the municipal officers convention in Victoria. Accompanying Mr. Smith to Vancouver, where they will spend the week, were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Smith.

Although he is kept busy with the spiritual welfare of the soldiers under his care, Major J. M. Anderson, M.C. and bar, senior Protestant padre with the Canadian Brigade in Korea, still finds time to offer a helping hand to the needy children of the Young Nak Barinwon orphanage, situated in Seoul. Seen above with five of the 130 Korean war orphans at the institute, Padre Anderson of Acton and Niagara Falls, Ont., has become their unofficial "foster father", and as such is one of the main links between the Canadian Brigade and the orphanages in Korea. Part of his "job" involves the distribution of the donations of clothing and money that come from the brigade and various Canadian welfare groups for orphanages.

If Ball-Playing Matches Insults, There's a Big Game on Monday Night

Some of Summerland's never-say-die athletes whose most strenuous exercise in recent years has been pushing themselves away from the dining room table will be out tonight trying to work some of the creaks out of their bones as Kiwanis prepares to meet Jaycees in a challenge softball match Monday night at 7:30 at the Living Memorial playground.

Insults started to fly when Jaycees' President Don Clark heard of the Kiwanis intended practice tonight. "They'd better have another team lined up ready to field on Monday," Don said, "the crocks that turn out for a workout tonight probably won't be able to lift a copy of the week-end paper for another six months." When told Hilly Smith is playing-manager-coach for the service club, he snorted, "Ask him when was the last time he saw his feet without looking in a full-length mirror."

On the insult firing line for Kiwanis is Frank MacDonald, team trainer who also has his application in as umpire. "If those zoot-suiters think they can win by talking, they're crazy. We've got experts like George Henry on our line-up and I'd like to see them produce anybody who can out-talk George," MacDonald said.

McDonald claims he has had several of the club members working out under wraps and hints he has Jack O'Mahony's waist slimmed down to a svelte 44 inches in preparation for the contest and Elsey, he says, is in the finest shape of his athletic career. "Just look at some of the talent we have to draw on," McDonald boasted and named off Bill Laidlaw, Ted Sedlar, Nick Solly, Ken Heales

Jack Towgood, George Graham, Scotty Ritchie, Father Muelenburgh. Where else could you find team material like that?"

"Where else would you want to?" asks Don. Questioned about line-up, he answered, "It's not worth going to the trouble of figuring one out. We'll just get all the members to cut cards—high card will be pitcher, second high, catcher and so on. And if the member can't get there, it'll be okay for him to send his wife, mother or grandmother. That's all we'll need for that bunch of push-overs."

"That's what he thinks," smirks Frank McDonald with the air of a man ready to produce a couple of dark horses.

Likely Jaycee entries include Ted Weeks, Fred Walker, Al McIntosh, Ken McIntosh, Howard Pruden, Lance Mann, Les Rumball, Mel Ducommun, Gerry Hallquist, Mev Wells, Harry Braddick and coach of the team, Babe Kuroda.

At insults, they seem to be pretty evenly matched. Monday night will be the test on how they stack up at softball.

HOME AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Walden have returned from an extended trip to Edmonton and points in Saskatchewan.

Mrs. C. O. Richmond returned home Monday after spending the week-end near Revelstoke.

Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Solly have returned from an extended trip which took them by train to Miami, then by car to New York and Toronto, where they picked up a new car and drove home.

act as "punitive and vindictive, designed to produce labor unrest." Asked during the question period for his opinion whether members of the present government believe in the philosophy of Social Credit, he answered that while there is no doubt there are some who do, he expressed doubt that either Premier Bennett or Attorney-General Bonner "have any Social Credit ideas." He added, "Mr. Bennett will never let the finance portfolio get into the hands of a real Social Crediter. It would be too politically dangerous to have somebody in that job going around the country making statements based on Social Credit philosophy."

Listeners during the question period showed particular interest in the future of agricultural marketing and Mr. Gargrave told them "Social meddling has almost wrecked the orderly marketing of milk in the Fraser Valley and at least one cabinet minister has said he does not believe in 'placing any industry under a legislative umbrella.'"

He went on "the fruit growers in the Okanagan work hard and deserve all the legislative assistance they need to get fruit to market at fair prices."

"Orchard growers have to fight frost, cold winters, high costs and low prices," he said. "Let's not add the burden of a government who undermines orderly marketing with silly ideas about free enterprise that went out with the model T Ford."

"The CCF Party, in full consultation with the farmers themselves, would co-operate with the growers to throw the full weight of the government behind plans to so market the fine produce of this area as to return fair prices and wages to all who work in the industry."

Start Checker Board At Memorial Park

Work started last Sunday by a Kiwanis work party on the construction of an outdoor checker board at Living Memorial Playground for use, particularly by senior citizens who use the park as a mecca during the summer months.

The board will be made of a concrete slab and excavation for the concrete was made last Sunday. Another work party will be on the job tonight. Out Sunday working on the project were N. O. Solly, C. H. Elsey, Hilly Smith, C. J. M. Guernsey, Lloyd Shannon, and chairman Frank McDonald.

Season Reviewed In First Report

Review of season climatic conditions which affected early stages of this year's crop is contained in the first bi-monthly reports issued by the Provincial department of agriculture during the growing season.

Summerland, Westbank and Peachland:

As reported May 18th: Following a moderate winter in which there was only one short cold spell the early spring was cool and very late in developing. During March and April there were many frosty nights. This cool unsettled weather was finally culminated on April 28 when a polar air mass blanketed the district. The minimum temperature readings at the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland for the ensuing four nights were: April 29—22 degrees F., April 30—22 degrees F., May 1—23 degrees F., and May 2—31 degrees F. This cold spell came at a time when apricots were just past full bloom, peaches were coming into bloom and cherries were in the late pre-bloom stage. Apples and pears were in the pre-pink stage.

It is impossible to give an accurate estimate of the damage inflicted by this cold spell at this stage. However, it is now apparent that the Summerland area still has a fractional cherry crop. A fairly substantial apricot crop is still in sight provided that no heavy drop occurs. Peaches were hard hit, being at the most vulnerable stage when hit by the frost. However, a commercial crop of peaches is still expected, 3 V's have stood up well, but Elbertas, Hales and Rochester are not so good. Prunes seem to have weathered the frost in better condition than most fruits.

In pears the bulk of the Bartlett crop is still intact though some individual orchards were hard hit. Delicious and Staymen were the most severely affected apple varieties and some individual growers have lost heavily in these varieties. Generally speaking McIntosh and Newton have produced a massive bloom and the prospects for these varieties seem very good.

There is no clear pattern of frost damage this year. The best that can be said is that the damage is extremely patchy. Areas with relatively no damage may be located within a few hundred feet of orchards that are severely affected. The season is now only about five days behind last year—the warm weather of the past ten days having speeded up growth tremendously.

Most apple growers in this district have applied at least one pre-bloom spray for scab and mildew and some have applied two sprays. The heavy rain of May 11 arrived just after most of the scab sprays had been applied. Some growers are applying thinning sprays to McIntosh and Newtown but this practice is not so general as in previous years. Pentleton, Naramata, Kaleden, Keremeos-Cawston:

As reported May 18: At the end of April, when apricots were just past full bloom the lowest temperatures on record for that time of year, accompanied by strong winds occurred on three successive nights. These temperatures at the Pentleton Airport were 22.6 degrees, 21.7 degrees and 22.4 degrees. Frost injury to blossoms did not follow the normal pattern and varied considerably from orchard to orchard. Serious crop loss will result in a few orchards. Current indications are that prunes will yield full crops, apples and pears may yield close to full crops, peaches and apricots will be down somewhat, and cherries will be reduced considerably. The spring months have been relatively dry with no appreciable rain until May 11 when .89 inches fell. However, a heavy snow pack remains in the mountains and potential supplies of irrigation water appear to be ample. At the same time, a flood threat exists in the Keremeos-Cawston area along the Similkameen River.

Apples were in general full bloom last week-end in the Pentleton area, some seven days later than in 1953. There has been a heavy bloom on McIntosh, Winesap and Rome Beauty, moderate bloom on Delicious and Newtown and only spotty bloom on Jonathan and Golden Delicious. Chemical thinning of apples is being carried out, but on a reduced scale due to the frost injury factor. Apricots are at the "fall of husk" stage and there appear to be two distinct sizes of newly-set fruits in many orchards. Tomato planting in the Keremeos-Cawston area has been progressing slowly due to an apparent short supply of transplants.

The pink spray on apples was unavoidably omitted in some orchards due to an exceptionally short "pink" stage. The Green Peach Aphid has started to appear, some six weeks later than last year, and Pear Psylla has been detected in an occasional orchard. Cutworms have been doing some damage on young trees.

Okanagan Falls, Oliver and Osoyoos: As reported May 17: The snowfall was light during the past winter and with the exception of one short cold spell the weather was mild. Serious damage was done to both peaches and apricots during the cold spell, reducing the crop and injuring the trees.

The blossom season was later than that of 1953. Apricots came into full bloom on April 18 as against April 2 during 1953, in the Oliver area. Serious frost damage occurred to all varieties of fruit during the last two days of April and the first day of May when a low of 18 degrees was recorded in some low lying areas. Total rainfall for March and April was only 0.93 inches. Many orchards were in need of water by the time irrigation started. On May 11, 1.17 inches of rain fell which has helped ease the situation on many ranches under the pumps where irrigation has just begun.

With the exception of peaches and apricots all trees carried a heavy set of fruit buds and promised a good crop. However, the frost mentioned previously has reduced the crop, probably to the lowest point in the past several years. Little consideration was given to blossom thinning of apples as the king bloom was practically eliminated. Due to this, the 1954 crop may run to smaller sizes. So far this season little insect damage has occurred. Due to the scab which developed last year most growers have applied two or three sprays for the control of this disease.

The few growers who had set out ground crop plants and those who had discontinued heating greenhouses suffered damage during the late April frost.

Local Guides Attend Wenatchee Rally

Local Guides last week-end participated in a goodwill visit to Wenatchee when close to 100 Canadian Guides were entertained by Camp Fire Girls at the Washington Centre.

In the party from Summerland were 10 Guides accompanied by Mrs. Bruce Blagborne. They went to Wenatchee on Friday and returned Sunday night. Five of the girls unable to leave Friday night because they were playing in the High School band concert were taken to the rally Saturday with transportation provided by Summerland Kiwanis Club.

Those attending were Diane Durlock, Diane Rumball, Wendy Wright, Nan Solly, Ruby Gronlund, Miltz Jomori, Marni Blesdale, Gail Henker, Bonnie Wilson and Barbara

Youthful Travellers Found in Princeton

Two Summerland youngsters with a yen to see the world left home on Thursday evening and had made their way as far as Princeton by Sunday before they were recognized and returned to their homes.

The two boys, Robert, age 12 and William, age 8, MacKenzie caused considerable alarm as to their safety as their absence lengthened and descriptions were spread around the country asking residents to be on the look out for them. The pair found shelter each of the two nights they were out and were none the worse for their experience when found.

Cadets Inspected Friday Afternoon

Summerland High School Cadets Friday afternoon paraded 30 strong for the annual inspection conducted by Lieut. G. W. Hobbs and Sergeant-Major A. Schone. On hand to play for the march past was the High School band.

The corps was under command of Cadet-Lieut. Brian Daniels and senior NCO's, CSM Jack Pohlman and Sgt. Larry Crawford.

Now that it has reached 265, it was left that the quorum should be increased correspondingly. This motion suggested 30. I, personally, supported the motion because, for a long time, it has seemed absurd that a House of 265 Members should have a quorum of 20 only and often times there are less than 30 Members in the house. True, they have other duties to perform such as office work and committees, but there is no reason why the average attendance in the house should not be Another bill, sponsored by the CCF, was also defeated. This was a bill to have a voluntary revocable check-off written into the federal labor code. This legislation would have made it mandatory on employers under federal jurisdiction to deduct union dues from employees' pay envelopes when the workers themselves authorized this. Those affected would have included railway, communications and inter-provincial operation falling under the jurisdiction of federal labor legislation. Eleven Liberals, 6 Progressive Conservatives and 2 Independents voted with the CCF and Social Credit parties for this measure. 87 Liberals and 20 Progressive Conservatives opposed the measure thereby defeating this attempt to have revocable check-off made mandatory.

The committee on lotteries interviewed Commissioner L. H. Nicholson of the RCMP this week who pointed out that good enforcement of gambling laws is unlikely because of the public's apparent dislike for restraint on their desire to gamble. For that reason, he urged that gambling laws be broadened and gambling operations brought under effective control. At the same time, Commissioner Nicholson recommended the retention of capital punishment. He claimed that the possibility of execution is a deterrent on the professional criminal who might otherwise cause killing. He gave only qualified support to corporal punishment, advocating it only for young offenders on the fringe of becoming criminals. He advocated whipping as an aid to maintaining discipline

Kamloops Wins 8-1

Last-Minute Steal Saves Macs From Being Blanked

In the dying minutes of the game at Kamloops Sunday, Bob Weitzel stole home to stretch a base on balls into a run and saved Summerland Macs from being blanked out completely by the Elks whose flawless playing gave them an 8-1 victory over the locals.

The railroaders played a tight game of ball and at no time did the Macs have a chance to break loose. Paetch on the mound for the Elks held Summerland to five hits, while Eyre was touched for 9 and Cristante, who took over for the eighth inning, for two.

Saklofsky singled on Eyre's second pitch of the game and stretched it out for the first Kamloops' run. In the second, Evenson added another and MacDonald and Rota ran up a pair in the third. Hard-hitting MacDonald was first up in the fifth and connected for a home run. Saklofsky scored again in the sixth and then in the seventh accounted for his third run of the game when he hammered out a homer which brought home Britch and ended the Kamloops scoring.

BERT BERRY'S Fishing News

Okanagan Lake has been good but not quite as good as last week. Very nice catches have been made in the vicinities of the mouths of the creeks. Fishing from the shore off the drop offs have given good results and I believe that this is the coming type of fishing for the average fisherman in years to come. One fisherman caught four nice ones up to 3½ pounds spinning off Wilson's Landing.

Fish Lake Camp: Fish Lake was good over the last week and lots of easterns were caught. Munro is now open and though no big fish were caught lots of smaller ones were caught. Deer, Encoos and Island still not open as yet.

Trout Creek Headwaters Camp was good fishing even though I haven't heard of any big fish being caught this last week. No reports yet on Crescent Lake but it is open and should give good fishing.

Silver Lake was OK, road is pretty rough but some nice catches were procured here over last week.

Shannon Lake: Some very nice bass fishing here right now.

One party was up to Thirsk Dam and reports lots of fish but most of them fairly small. Reports of the Shuswap area indicate fishing was good and all indications show it to improve.

Garnet Valley Dam was fair last week with fellows who know the spots getting some nice catches.

Roger Solly Sets All-Age Record In Broad Jump at South OK Meet

Twelve record fell last Saturday as the Keremeos-Cawston-Hedley entry copped highest aggregate points for the Ronald Apleton Memorial Trophy in the South Okanagan Elementary School Track meet staged last Saturday at the Living Memorial Park in Summerland.

Most thoroughly-shattered record of the day was in 11-year-old boys broad jump which was bettered by more than two and a half feet by Summerland's Roger Solly who set a new mark of 15 feet—the record for all ages in this event. Two more credited to Summerland were by Patsy Beirnes in the 12-year girls board jump and Carol Anderson in the 10-year-and-under girls high jump.

Other schools competing in the meet were Oliver; Carmi Road School, Penticton; Osoyos; Jermyn Ave. School, Penticton and Okanagan Falls-Kaleden.

Penticton Downs Local Juniors

Summerland Junior Sunday at the Living Memorial Ball Park led the way against Penticton Canucks for the first five innings but in the sixth the visitors pulled up even then forged ahead in the seventh to claim a 5-3 victory over the Red Sox.

Getz went the distance on the mound for Penticton and held the Red Sox to three hits while hurling duty for the locals was shared by Uegama and Bonthoux, the latter taking over in the sixth.

First blood was drawn by Campbell in the second and then in the fifth Cornish and Hackmann both tallied to give Red Sox a 3-0 lead going into the sixth.

With two men down in the top half of the sixth, Hammett, Fisher and Getz scored in order to tie up the game and then in the next frame it was Digiouanni and Garnett who pushed Peach City entry out in front.

That'll be a million dollars please

Imperial's shopping bill is more than $1 million a week... that's what we spend in Canada just for everyday needs. It doesn't include:

- crude oil, which alone runs to $4½ million a week!
- Nor does it include wages, salaries or taxes.
- What do we buy? Everything... from soup (to feed geological parties) ... to nuts (to fit a few million bolts) derricks dynamite and diesels and even catalytic cracking units ("cat crackers" they're called) to make those better gasolines.

We buy things from 6,000 Canadian firms from coast to coast. Shopping on this scale creates a lot of work for a lot of people... right across Canada.

Delegate Reports On Miami Sessions

Kiwanis at their meeting Monday heard a report from N. O. Solly, who has just returned from Miami where he was delegate from Division 5 to the Kiwanis International convention. Attending the sessions, he said, were 11,500 delegates. One of the speakers was Hon. Paul Martin, minister of health and welfare in Canada. He illustrated his report with pictures of the work and activities at the monster conclave.

Varied Farm Activities Reviewed In Experimental Station Report

GENERAL—T. H. Anstey
The spring has been somewhat slow, with Wenatchee Moorpark apricots in full bloom 7 to 10 days later than the 16-year average of April 18. Frosts of 4 to 10 degrees during the last week of April have caused damage to apricot, peach and cherry, the extent of which has not yet been assessed.

Lack of moisture made it necessary to start irrigations on April 26. Icing conditions that night caused some breakage damage in young orchards. Pastures are starting to grow slowly, but no seeding has yet been done.

DAIRY CATTLE—J. E. Miltimore
The feed cost of milk production was lower in 1953 than in 1952, although still $.07 above the five-year average of $1.75 per hundred pounds of milk. Costs of feed production per cow indicate the economic necessity of milking cows of high dairy merit. The six most productive cows in the Summerland herd averaged over 10,000 pounds of milk in lactations completed in 1953, while the six least productive cows, not including first calf heifers, averaged just over 6,000 pounds of milk. The difference in value of production at an arbitrary figure of $4.00 per hundred pounds equals $166.33. The cost of feed was higher by $41.36 per cow for the high producers but the $166.33 of extra yield pays the total cost of feed for the more productive cows. Another way of expressing it is to say that the high producing cows were more profitable than the low producers, even if we assume that the low yielders had been fed with absolutely free feed. While the figures represent only one lactation for the respective cows, substantially the same story applies to the previous records of these cows. Other costs such as barn room, veterinary services and medications, breeding, grooming, etc., are almost the same for each cow.

Average Feed Cost of Production for Twelve Selected Cows

A represents the average total yield of milk for lactation, B average feed cost for lactation and preceding dry period, C the average feed cost per 100 pounds of milk, and D the value of milk produced at $4.00 per cwt.

	A	B	C	D
High Producers	10,450.4	$162.58	$1.55	$418.01
Low Producers	6,292.1	121.22	1.93	251.68
Difference	4,158.3	41.36	.38	166.33

Self-Feeding Long Stack Silage
Removal from the stack or trench is one of the less pleasant tasks of handling long silage. It is frequently done by cutting a bent with a hay knife or axe. However, at least one dairy farmer in the North Okanagan has successfully self-fed the first portion of a stack of long alfalfa-brome silage to his dairy herd. As long as the cows have a horizontal face on which they can eat downwards, it seems to work very well.

The cows apparently cannot eat from the exposed vertical face that remains after the stack has been cut, down with a knife. Some observation with regard to the width of the horizontal surface indicates that if it is too wide, cattle climb up on top and stand sideways to the stack. If not so wide, but still too wide, cattle stand with their front feet up on the exposed surface. A width of two feet is suggested for the exposed horizontal surface.

Some advantages of self-feeding long silage are:

1. A considerable saving of labor in removing silage.
2. Less cutting required, as only one shallow cut is needed to start each width.
3. Waste is reduced to a minimum.
4. Mangers are not needed, whereas chopped silage would require a manger.
5. Silage did not freeze appreciably in stack under the winter conditions experienced last year.

FORAGE PLANTS—J. E. Miltimore

The plant introduction nursery is a useful method for studying the relative adaptability of new species and varieties to the particular area in question. Observations are made on the yield of each introduction, and resistance to disease, cold winters and competition from weeds. If an introduction shows sufficient promise, it is included in a variety trial to determine whether or not it has a place in this territory.

Since the establishment of the present nursery, losses from winter injury have not occurred. Early observations this year indicate that the stand of Empire variety of trefoil may have been partially killed. It is of particular interest that the S-143 variety of orchard grass does not show any winter injury. Reports from Salmon Arm indicate that there has been no injury to this variety of orchard grass in that area.

MOTHER PEACH ORCHARD—A. J. Mann and F. W. L. Keane

The peach budwood orchard which was set out in April 1954 on the Station contains the following trees: 22 Elberta, 16 Golden Jubilee, 40 Red Haven, 48 Soio, 26 Spotlight, 57 Valiant, 31 Vedette and 32 Veteran. The number of trees of each variety was determined by the probable extent of nursery demand, and also by the necessity of planting the varieties in solid rows budwood is being cut. This orchard is in addition to a similar cherry budwood orchard which was established two years ago. All trees will be carefully checked for freedom from virus by the pathologists before budwood is released.

SHRIVELLING OF PRUNES—D. V. Fisher

Shrivelling of prunes prior to harvest in the 1953, 1951 and 1948 seasons has led to a study of heat units during the period between blossom and harvest (May, 10 to Sept. 10) in the years 1946 to 1953. Heat units have been calculated by ten-day periods showing cumulative hour-degrees in excess of both 50 degrees and 60 degrees F. bases. These data indicate that with either basis for comparison, the lowest total number of growing season heat units occurred in the 1953 and 1948 seasons, two of the years in which shrivel was most severe.

A total of hour-degrees below 36 degrees F. from April 15 to May 31 for each of the years 1946 to 1953 was also determined to see if cool weather just before or after bloom might interfere with development of the vascular system of the young fruit and later result in shrivel. No consistent trends in these data could be determined which might relate low early season temperatures to later development of shrivel.

FRUIT PIE FILLINGS—Dorothy Britton

Work on the fruit pie fillings was continued by retesting many of the samples previously examined, to determine the stability and quality of the product after several months storage.

Apricot, peach, prune and apple fillings were made into standard two crust pies. The products were scored by a test panel, considering the following factors: amount of free liquid, color, flavor and texture. Variations in the finished pies indicated advantages of certain thickeners, methods and varieties, over others.

To determine the quality of fruit pie filling when used in pies held in frozen condition, duplicate samples were made of the standard two crust pies. The unbaked pies were placed in polyethylene freezer bags, sealed, labelled and frozen in the -20 degrees F. room. After 24 hours the pies were removed to the zero room for storage. These pies will be baked and scored after 0 to 8 weeks storage.

Some observations of commercial fruit pie fillings examined are as follows:

1. Some samples showed a larger percentage of thickener used than fruit, resulting in a stiff, starchy

Reports Big Year For Apple Juice

Biggest year to date in the production of apple juice was reported to growers Saturday by A. G. DesBrisay, president of B.C. Processors, speaking to the meeting of the Southern District Council in Penticton.

This year, Mr. DesBrisay said, the processing plant has handled 18,400 tons of apples and produced 600,000 cases of apple juice. He added they have never come so close to year-round operation and it is expected supplies of apple juice will be exhausted by July 1 with the demand keeping right up with the supply.

Production of other apple products, dehydrated apples, concentrate and apple jelly. Only token quantities of the products were turned out this year, he said, to maintain market contracts, but main effort has been directed to production of apple juice which is the most profitable line. Processors, he said, are going out of the manufacture of vinegar and in future fermented cider will be sold to a vinegar manufacturer, which, he said, is a much better deal.

Speaking of the newer products of Processors, Mr. DesBrisay quoted figures which showed that while total food consumption has been increasing, a decrease has been noted in sale of "raw" products with a heavy increase in prepared and packaged foods. Following this trend, he pointed out, an even greater emphasis on processing fruit can be expected in the future.

turer of this product and the new minded, are "not a cull proposition but require top-quality fruit." He mentioned baby purees which are being sold to a large manufacture of this product and the new apricot nectar, he said, has had excellent reception and has a "hopeful future." They are hoping he added to improve this product this year by the addition of another variety.

Mr. DesBrisay also gave an outline of advertising which has been carried on by Processors during the past year and among other things told of a cooking display conducted in Lethbridge by Miss Dorothy Britton of the Summerland Experimental Station.

In the advertisement of Nares Investments last week showing increase in value of Mutual Accumulating Fund, the values should have read $1,000 at Jan. 31, 1950, and $1,840 at May 15, 1954. Through a typographical error, a zero was omitted from the first figure.

Clever Cooking . . .

Now that summer is here and the children are swimming and playing tennis they seem to come home absolutely ravenous, and the cookie jar needs to be well filled. We all know that the liberal use of butter adds a flavor to foods that we just cannot seem to obtain in any other way. And what better way to fill the cookie jar than with cookies made with good Canadian butter.

Some butter cookies are very rich and are naturally more costly, but that does not necessarily say that all butter cookies need be expensive. The three cookie recipes listed below are for cookies made with butter. The figures show the relative costs of making them with butter, with margarine, with vegetable shortening or with half butter and half shortening. From the comparison it is certainly easy to see that the butter cookies are not expensive. Next time you are shopping compare the cost of these cookies, when you make them yourself, with the cost of the ready-made product.

Incidentally, each or all of these cookies are perfect to serve with icy fruit sherbets, ice cream desserts or fresh fruits with cream.

Butterscotch Oat Squares
2 cups quick rolled oats, 1 tsp. baking powder, pinch of salt, 1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup butter or shortening, ½ tsp. vanilla. Combine rolled oats, baking powder and salt. Add brown sugar and mix thoroughly. Add melted butter and vanilla, blending thoroughly. Spread thinly in two 8" x 8" ungreased cake pans. Bake in a moderately hot oven—375 degrees F. until golden brown, about 10 minutes. Remove from oven. Let stand 5 minutes. Cut in squares or bars with a sharp knife. Allow to cool thoroughly before removing bars from pans.

Makes 40 squares 1½" x 1".

Approximate cost per dozen

With butter—approx. 8c per doz.
With half butter and half shortening—approx. 6½c per doz. With veg. shortening—approx. 5½c per doz. With margarine—approx. 5½c per doz.

Lace Cookies
1 cup quick rolled oats, 1 cup white sugar, 2 tbs. flour, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. baking powder, 1 egg beaten, ½ cup melted butter or shortening, ½ tsp. vanilla ½ tsp. almond.

Drop by half teaspoons, about 3 inches apart on buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven. Remove from pan while warm.

Makes six dozen 2½" cookies.

Approximate cost per dozen

With butter—approx. 5c per doz.
With half butter and half shortening—approx. 4c per doz. With veg. shortening—approx. 3½c per doz. With margarine—approx. 3½c per doz.

Raspberry Jam Squares

½ cup white sugar, 1 cup all-purpose flour, 1 tsp. baking powder, salt (pinch), grated rind of 1 lemon, ½ cup shortening, 1 egg, ½ cup raspberry jam—pure commercial jam used.

Cut shortening or butter and add egg (beaten). Put 2/3 in greased pan 7" x 7". Put ½ cup of raspberry jam by spoonfuls, then spread remainder of mixture over jam. Bake at 350 degrees F. about 20 minutes or until slightly browned.

Makes 25 squares 1" x 1".

Approximate cost per dozen

With butter—approx. 17c per doz.
With half butter and half shortening—approx. 16c per doz. With veg. shortening—approx. 14c per doz. With margarine—approx. 15c per doz.

N.B. This recipe was made with pure commercial jam. Homemade jam would be less expensive.

With the annual tulip festival now under way in Ottawa, the whole city has gone "Dutch" to match the brilliance of the 600,000 tulips slashing their vivid colors all over the capital, and around Caroline Gormley, above. Most of the tulips blooming in public parks and gardens of Canada's tulip capital every spring have come from the Netherlands, gifts of her majesty Queen Juliana in memory of her years as a resident in Ottawa during the last war.

How big is a Profit?

A lot less than most people think!
The only quarrel most people have with profits is ... they think they are too big ...

But how big is too big? To find out, survey people rapped on doors right across Canada.

Most Canadians think companies like Imperial make 29¢ on each dollar of sales.

Most of them think such companies are entitled to make about half that ...
15½¢ on the sales dollar.

Imperial's profit in 1953 was actually less than 8¢... less than a third of what most people thought we made.

TEEN TOWN

Teen Town is all set for a big year, we hope. Don Gilbert was elected our new mayor at the big election dance. The following were elected to the different offices and committees: Deputy Mayor—Marilyn Wade; secretary—Glenn Heavysides; treasurer—Nona Lewis advertising—Carol Cornish, Larry Crawford; policeman—Don Mitchell; decorating—Dwaine Greer, Nella Huva, Marie Gronlund; refreshments—Bill Ward, Tom Campbell; concession—Pearl Hooker.

The Summerland Teen Town and the baseball association combined efforts to stage a very successful dance on May 24. We were very disappointed that more Teen-agers didn't attend.

We are hoping to build up Teen Town in Summerland again but we can't do it unless we have support from the teen-agers.

This Saturday, June 12, there will be another dance. There will be no admission charged so come on kids! Let's get out and support our Teen Town. Refreshments will be sold and there will be dancing from 9 to 12. Lets make it a good dance.

$1,300 Buys a Lot Of Higher Education

Putting your youngster through high school and college is a costly business. And, if you're like most people, you will have to prepare for that expense well in advance.

An easy way to do it, should you not need the Family Allowance Cheques for their primary purpose of paying for the youngster's day-to-day expenses, is to earmark all of them for his later education. The cheques for one child, saved in a B of M account until the age of 16 is reached, total more than $1,300, including interest. It's a handy start toward a higher education. And it means you have ready money in the bank available for any unexpected opportunity or emergency.

Start while your youngster is still tiny, and you'll have a sum which will really count when the first college bills arrive. Why not drop into the B of M next time you are passing, and open your child's "Fund for the Future." Ivor Bolly, manager of the West Summerland branch, says any member of his staff will gladly welcome the opportunity of assisting you in putting this good idea into practice.—Advt.

Mrs. Clarence Adams New President At Summerland P-TA Annual Meet

At the annual meeting of Summerland P-TA on Thursday evening in the high school library Mrs. Clarence Adams who has been keenly interested in the work since its inception in Summerland, was elected to the presidency.

Vice-president is Mrs. J. H. Dunsdon, and other new names on the slate of officers include, Mrs. A. K. Macleod; membership, Mrs. F. E. Rumpf as secretary, and Bob Chalmers of the teaching staff, treasurer.

In charge of the various committees are: program, Mrs. A. K. Macleod; membership, Mrs. F. E. Rumpf; hospitality, Mrs. Steve Dunsdon; education, Mrs. J. Martin.

Mrs. J. H. Dunsdon's suggestion that another year a bursary might be considered for a graduating student met with approval.

The retiring president H. H. Dunsdon, and other officers, including Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, chairman of the program committee, were thanked for the interesting year just completed.

Mrs. Wilcox introduced the speaker, A. K. Macleod, principal of the junior-senior high school whose subject was, 'Courses and Credits in the High School.' There was a large attendance of over 60 and many questions were asked by those who find it difficult to understand the complicated system, whereby 120 credits required to graduate from high school, are attained. Mr. Macleod explained in detail the common core of subjects in the University and the general course and values of different subjects.

Auxiliary Sponsors Successful Tea, Sale

Ladies' Auxiliary to the Summerland Branch of Canadian Legion on Saturday, May 29, were sponsors of a successful tea and sale held at the Legion Hall.

Fancy work, plants, home cooking stall were all well patronized and also popular was the parcel post table.

Winner of a rug in a draw was F. Thompson while an embroidered table cloth went to Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony.

Continued optimism of a sizeable crop in this area is maintained this week in the latest issue of the bi-weekly horticultural news letter issued by the provincial department of agriculture. The appearance of numerous aphids on peach, prune and cherry trees in this area is noted in the letter.

Following are portions covering conditions in this and adjacent districts. Summerland, Westbank and Peachland:

As reported June 1st: Since the issue of our last News Letter the weather has been for the most part cool and cloudy with some rainy periods. However, there have been a few quite warm days.

Ideal pollinating weather which occurred at blossom time appears to have insured a set on most blossoms that were not frost killed. This, coupled with the fact that nearly all varieties had a heavy bloom has done much to lessen the overall loss from the April frost.

Fruit trees have leafed out well and are putting on excellent growth. However, apricots and peaches in the colder areas have shown some damage to the cambium tissue as a result of the sudden cold snap last January. This is mainly confined to young overly vigorous trees or to trees which have been weakened by previous cold winters. Fruit growers are now applying the first codling moth spray and are including wettable sulphur and ferbam in this spray as a preventative for apple scab. Very little scab was reported in this area last year but nevertheless precautions are being taken. Powdery mildew of apple is showing up again this year. Aphids are becoming numerous on peach, prune and cherry trees. Clover mite was an early visitor in some scattered orchards and also invaded several houses in the district.

The planting out of tomatoes is now well advanced and so far there is a considerable reduction in tomato acreage. The late spring and inclement weather have been unfavorable for tomato culture. Penticton, Naramata, Kaleden, Keremeos-Cawston:

As reported June 1st: The weather during the past two weeks has been a repetition of that experienced for this period in 1953. On the whole, it has been cool and cloudy with considerable wind and shower activity.

Apricots are sizing rapidly and some growers are starting to thin the crop where necessary. There is considerable irregularity of shape however, and the possibility of a heavy drop exists. Apples continued to promise a good crop although the possibility of a heavy drop also exists. The peach situation continues to improve. Pears are dropping but not enough to cause alarm.

Asparagus has been moving well from the Cawston area and should be cleaned up before the next News Letter. Practically all the tomato plants are now in and the acreage appears to be less than last year's 300 acres.

Growers are off schedule with their sprays but are trying to apply first cover sprays as fast as weather will permit. The first codling moth captures were made last week. European red mite and green peach aphid have been causing considerable concern and have been difficult to check. Some green and woolly apple aphids are becoming evident and leaf roller has been causing damage in some orchards.

Okanagan Falls, Oliver and Osoyoos: As reported May 31st: The weather for the past two weeks has been mild and cloudy with approximately one half in of rain. Windy weather has badly hampered first brood spray applications during the period. On May 25 hail fell on one acre of more than 200 acres

The fruit was fairly well hidden by the foliage so the damage was not as severe as would have been the case later in the season.

Very little thinning will be necessary this year, due to frost damage. At the moment fruit is still dropping off so that the full extent of the damage is not visible. Most of the necessary thinning will be on Winesap apples. Mildew has shown up on the foliage of apples, mainly Romes and Newtowns. Green Peach Aphid, although noticeable has done no serious damage. Green apple aphid and mealy plum aphid are also evident and some spraying has been done for them. Mites so far have caused little concern. Pear psylla and Pear leaf worm have required a spray on some locations and climbing cutworms have done some damage to the trees in some areas. A large number of young apricot trees have died from winter injury in the trunk, a smaller number of peaches also being hit.

Hotcaps are being removed from the ground crops. Until the cooler weather of the past ten days vegetable plants were growing well but the cool weather slowed the growth.

A birthday supper, followed by a theatre party, was held Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Berry on the occasion of daughter Amy's 14th birthday. Guests were Ann Macleod, Diane Rumball, Marilyn Washington, Wendy Wright, Nan Solly and Diane Durick.

The Lighter Side

Little Johnny was asked to describe a bolt and nut and turned in this gem:

"A bolt and nut is a thing like a stick of hard metal such as iron with a square bunch on one end al o'j of scratching wound around the other end. A nut is just like a bolt only opposite, being a hole in a little square bunch of iron sawed off short, with wrinkles around inside the hole."

Many a go-getter is afterwards sorry that he gutter.

Conserve Our Gains

"Our aim should be to build up Canadian interests, that capital may find profitable investment, labor diversified employment and the people prosperous and contented homes."

The above statement was made 77 years ago by Thomas White, a newspaper man, at the conclusion of a speech delivered in London, Ontario, on Free Trade and Protection.

Canada had enjoyed a period of great prosperity in the early 1850s, during the building of the Grand Trunk Railway, when enormous sums of British capital were introduced into the country.

As a result of this period of prosperity the idea of annexation faded away and Canada as a nation was born with the establishment of Confederation.

By 1873, however, the industries of the United States were fast resuming their old state and the situation was reversed.

As a result of that National Policy, Canadian industries, and agriculture made great strides; the Canadian Pacific Railway spanned the Dominion and Western Canada was opened up by an influx of immigrants from Britain and continental Europe.

There is no need for an extreme protectionist policy today, but it seems to me that, if we are to avoid an economic depression, Canada must conserve what she has gained by reasonable protection of those industries and their workers that are suffering from unfair foreign competition.

"Our aim should be to legislate to build up Canadian interests, that capital may find profitable investment, labor diversified employment and the people prosperous and contented homes."

THURSDAY, JUNE SEVENTEENTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY FOUR

Democratic Process . . . unnecessary trouble saved

During the past week we have been asked several times if we could explain why Summerland's municipal council readily acceded to the request that they ask for a plebiscite to decide whether licenses for various types of liquor outlets be issued in Summerland after hearing argument by only one side.

These queries came as somewhat of a surprise because we were of the opinion the reasons for the council's decision were quite obvious and that it was clearly justified.

The council's request for a plebiscite has not altered the situation in Summerland at all. This has been designated a licensing area and it remains such unless the results of the plebiscite show the majority of the voters are opposed to any extension to liquor outlets here.

The liquor act provides two methods by which a community may request a plebiscite once it has been designated as a licensing area. It may be requested by the municipal council or if they no wish to do so, then any local organization may request it by presenting a petition bearing the signatures of 35 per cent of the qualified voters.

Word to Parents . . . how to prevent bad accidents

In a neighboring community, a recent check-up on bicycles owned by school children showed one out of every three to be defective in some manner.

The inspection revealed many machines had loose handle grips, while chains, forks and seats needed adjustment.

The officer in charge of the inspection had the suggestion that parents should personally inspect their children's bicycles at frequent intervals. The suggestion was not made with any intention of badgering parents of children; it was a reasonable suggestion seeking to prevent accidents before they happen.

A bicycle is an extremely mobile vehicle. It is a constant hazard to motorist, pedestrian and its own rider on the streets.

Other Opinions

Get Subsidized

Most revealing is an article by F. V. Jarvis, who describes himself as a social worker, in London Observer, May 9. Explaining how he and his wife got along on a modest salary, he says that their first maxim is "Get subsidized"; their second, "Do it yourself."

By way of "getting subsidized," the Jarvisses live in a so-called council (tax-supported) house. For entertainment, they borrow books from a tax-supported public library, and attend tax-supported adult education classes.

The baby has cost them very little: "In deed with cheap milk, income-tax rebate and maternity grant, we have so far made a small profit on her . . . with the continued assistance of the community in the form of free medical and dental treatment, free education, family allowances and income-tax allowances, we think we shall be able to raise a small family successfully. But we are always looking for new economies and new forms of subsidy."

Mr. Jarvis shows no awareness that his subsidized life is essentially a form of theft; or at any rate, parasitism. There is no reason he should be aware of it, for he sees everybody around him doing the same thing.

Avoiding A Vacuum

Arthur Greenwood, a Labor member of Parliament who usually supports former Prime, Minister Attlee, differs with the leadership of the party moderates over rearmament of Germany. "I am getting tired of being told," he says, "that we cannot have a vacuum in Europe. I would sooner have a vacuum than an arsenal bristling with guns."

By itself this sounds like a laudable sentiment. But it rests on a highly fallacious premise—namely, that a power vacuum can be long maintained in an area of such strategic importance and such military resources as Germany.

The trouble is that what Mr. Greenwood, Aneurin Bevan, and the British pacifists soon would have is not a vacuum in West Germany but an arsenal bristling with furs of the kind that come from Kharkov, Leningrad, and the captured Skoda works—pointed at France and England.

Politics No Field For Provincial Film Censor

Until an ugly little incident came to public notice in Vancouver last week, we had thought that a motion picture censor's job was merely to protect the morals of tender picture goers from the more lurid sins of Hollywood and of other similar towns of celluloid delights.

At a quiet little showing of a film on the "great achievements" of the "peace loving" Chinese people at the Coast recently, there sat the censor. His complaint was merely that the film had not been submitted to his office for review, approval or otherwise as the law requires.

The authorities concerned have apparently too much sense to lay charges. To do so would give rise to an outcry of political censorship.

There existed in this situation no suggestion that the picture was morally risque. That is was politically so may be surmised from the sponsorship. Thought control is one of the techniques of Communism and has no place in our society.

That's the trouble with censorship. Where does it end? The man set up to tell us how much of Marilyn Monroe's charms we may see has certainly no business poking his nose into politics, communism or otherwise.

Notes From Parliament Hill

By O. L. JONES

The special committee on veterans affairs has practically completed its work. This work was confined to the scrutiny of three or four bills presented for its approval.

A bill to amend the veterans land act contains provision for financial and technical assistance to veterans for home construction.

Other small changes were made as well in the administration of the pension clauses as pertaining to veterans suffering pensionable disabilities.

Still another group with a grievance appeared before the committee. They are members of the Canadian merchant marine who served on the high-seas during the last war.

Hazen Argue introduced a bill to reduce the voting age from 21 to 18. A large majority of the house were obviously opposed to such a move.

The drop of 10c in the price of wheat has caused quite a stir here in Ottawa and also throughout the dominion.

The prime minister has promised that an opportunity will be afforded to discuss this matter later this week.

One of the bills before the house concerning veterans had one clause that was subject to a great deal of criticism.

Mr. Lapointe claimed that the object of the change was to make the working of the commission more flexible.

1953 Apple Prices Down But Total for Crop Up

B.C. Tree Fruit Ltd., paid to Okanagan packinohouses a total of $13,665,300 for the 1953 apple crop, it was disclosed last week-end after the growers' selling agency closed the pool. Last year's crop amount to 5,317,812 boxes.

While the average price per box was down slightly from last year, Tree Fruits nevertheless received $165,300 more for the crop than it did the previous year.

In the 1952 pool, 5,299,205 boxes of apples bought in excess of $13,500,000 for an average of $2.25.

In the 1951 pool, 4,342,377 boxes brought $10,349,059.60, an average of $2.37.

In 1950, 8,074,566 boxes brought $13,441,923.04, an average of $1.66.

This figures, of course, do not mean that the growers received these prices per box. There are the prices the selling agency remitted to the packinghouses, and from them the packing charges must be deducted before the balance is turned over to the growers.

The actual amount a specific grower receives will be governed not only by the packing charges of his house, but also by the varieties he grows and the grades he obtained for those varieties.

According to A. K. Loyd, president of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the hardest hit of the apple producers were the McIntosh growers. Due largely to the prevalence of scab, grades of higher varieties were reduced considerably. The McIntosh variety is the largest tonnage of any single variety grown in the valley.

On the other hand, growers of the Red Delicious variety fared a little better, and received the highest variety return.

While apple prices were down slightly from last year, the general average of prices for soft fruit substantially exceeds those of 1953, Mr. Loyd explained. Reason for the general average of apple pool prices being down somewhat was due to the prevalence of Cee grades in all varieties due to scab visitation which was more universal throughout the growing district than has been the case for many years.

A break-down in prices paid to packinghouses showed the returns were down ranging from 11 to 13 cents per box. For instance, in the McIntosh pool, extra fancy large last year brought $2.42 per box. This year it was $2.24. Extra fancy medium last year brought $2.67. This year, the price was $2.81.

Congregation Hears Speaker from India

Rev. Arunth Dobson, B.A., missionary home on furlough from Dhaer, Madhya Bharat, India, held the close attention of more than 100 persons at Lakeside United Church on Sunday evening, as he told of the work of missions in the sub-continent.

Mr. Dobson trained in Union College of British Columbia, served the United Church at Wells, B.C., and has now served two terms on the field in India, including a term as chaplain to the troops engaged in the Burma Campaign.

Following the regular service at which he gave the sermon, curious from India were displayed, including native costume and handicrafts. Slides and films emphasizing the complexity of the medical work were also shown.

While in Summerland, Rev. Mr. Dobson was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Charles. Accompanying his father was George Dobson, who was born in India.

Clever Cooking . . .

This week we have some more questions on freezing foods: "Can you stuff poultry before freezing?" and "Are certain types of freezer wrappings better for some foods than others?"

The first question, "Can you stuff poultry before freezing?", it is not recommended. Experiments with stuffing birds before freezing have proven that during the storage period the seasonings and the dressing tended to change. Some of the herbs took on a bitter flavor after a few months storage. It was also noted that the actual flesh of the bird became permeated with the flavor of the herbs to such an extent that the meat was not acceptable. The American Institute of Baking also did an extensive study on this matter and they too concluded that it was not a good idea to freeze stuffed poultry because when stuffed the bird takes longer to thaw and there is always the danger of the flesh deteriorating.

Now the second question "Are certain types of freezer wraps better than others?" That certainly is a very good question because many who are using home freezers do not seem to know what types or kinds of freezer paper and freezer cartons to use. Let us start by saying what types of paper NOT to use for frozen food. Ordinary wax paper, butcher paper, wrapping paper or newspaper should never be used for frozen foods. These papers will allow the moisture to be drawn out of the food and the food will become dried out. This drying action is known as freezer burn. Now the types of paper that can be used are there—any wrapping paper which is moisture-vapor-proof that is any wrapping paper that will allow little or no loss of moisture during storage, is a satisfactory wrap. The wrap should not only prevent the drying out of food but should also protect it from absorbing flavors. In addition to this, the wrap must of course be odorless and tasteless. And what papers will do all these things? One type is a special paper called locker paper. It may be white, peach of buff in color. It is a heavy kraft paper on the outside—that is like ordinary wrapping paper—but it has a special wax coating on the inside. Many Canadian paper companies make locker papers and all are quite satisfactory. Aluminum foil is another good wrapper for frozen foods. It is available in two widths—12 inches and 18 inches. Incidentally, if aluminum foil is handled carefully and cleaned well after using, it can be re-used a second or even a third time. Moisture-vapor-proof cellophane is another good frozen food wrap. Sometimes the companies who sell freezer units also sell the wraps for the foods going into the freezer. Many grocery stores too, sell freezer wraps, so there are a great variety of places where freezer wraps can be bought. By the way, when buying the cellophane be sure to ask if it is the type that is specially made for wrapping frozen foods. It is not the same kind of cellophane that you wrap birthday gifts in—it is heavier and more pliable. And one other class of papers that is satisfactory are the plastic films. There are many types of plastic film papers on the market and most of them are suitable for frozen foods, but here too, is a good idea to ask when buying the paper if it is suitable for wrapping frozen foods.

put them in his own hands in order to make them more flexible. The opposition feared that, if the government established this precedent, the next step would be to bring the judges also under cabinet control.

Charges were freely made that the government is gradually taking away the power of parliament and placing it in its own custody and control so that the country can be governed by a series of orders-in-council issued by the cabinet.

A bill to increase the capital of the CNR was the subject of heated discussion. Ross Thatcher criticized the railway for the proposed spending of millions of dollars to build a large hotel in Montreal. The company claim that this hotel will be a good paying investment and that the railway will benefit by bringing convention delegates and others to Montreal who now go to other towns where hotel facilities are more abundant. Mr. Thatcher claimed that the hotel is another luxury that the railway should not indulge in.

Two or three speakers in the CCF group criticized Mr. Thatcher's stand on the ground that progress must take place even though capital has to be borrowed to provide such things as needed hotels in the populous centres of Canada.

Mr. Knowles requested the government to use some of this new capital to re-employ some of the hundreds of men who have recently been released from the service of the CNR. Mr. Chevrier, the minister of transport, has promised to reinstate these men just as quickly as the railway companies find an upsurge in their traffic volume which took a severe slump in the first five months of this year.

The bill to provide a pension of $40 a month to the permanently disabled has been given its final reading and will become effective as soon as negotiations with the provinces regarding their share of the cost have been completed and general approval has been given.

The bill contains a means test provision whereby a single person is excluded if his income—including the pension—exceeds $720 a year or, if married, $1,200 a year. Stanley Knowles announced that efforts would still be made in parliament to have the maximum allowance increased to $60 a month and the age of eligibility reduced to 16. He stated that 16 is the age when family allowances ceases. Therefore, there will be a two-year gap between that age and 18 years of age, which is the minimum age for benefits under the act.

Fraser Valley Needs Strawberry Pickers

Farm labor service placement officer William Beattie this week reported he has received a call for strawberry pickers for the Fraser Valley where a good crop is reported. Pickers will leave here about June 21.

Arrangements have been made for reduced return bus transportation for groups of pickers and accommodation is available for women and girls.

Information may be obtained by anyone interested from Mr. Beattie at the labor office on Jubilee Road.

Sees No Immediate UK Market for Apples

Little hope for immediate reopening of the United Kingdom market for Okanagan apples was held out by UK trade commissioner to B.C., Stuart Mitchelmore who this week was a visitor to the district.

Although optimistic that the day when the market will again be open is drawing rapidly nearer, Mr. Mitchelmore had a capsule answer to the question as to why there is no market for apples at present: "Because we haven't the money to pay for them."

The trade commissioner pointed out British sales to Canada last year were up 20 per cent and stated that increased British buying by Canada is the only way in which re-establishment of this market can be speeded.

Local Artists' Work In Kelowna Exhibit

Most successful was the Kelowna Art display last week in which examples of painters from various points in the valley were exhibited in store windows throughout the city.

In the display were a number of paintings by Summerland artists and one, Irvine C. Adams, came in for special comment for his outstanding work.

Western Canadian bowlers dominated the five-pin meet held recently at Windsor, Ont., claiming three of the four championships, while Hamilton won the men's team championship for the lone eastern victory. The Calgary team, winners of the ladies' bowling championship, are, from left, back row: Mrs. Ruth Harris, Mrs. Babs Aakinfold, Lil Machom, Mrs. Flo Befus and Mrs. Tillie Peters. Shown at front, with the trophy, are Mrs. Mary Currie, coach Ken McDearmid, right, and Cal Calvert of Molsons, who presented the trophy.

HOME FROM EUROPE

Back last week-end from a trip which took her to her native Austria and to Holland was Mrs. J. Sunderwood. Mrs. Sunderwood in Holland visited her husband's former home and on her return was accompanied by Minnie Broethof who came from Hellendorn, Holland, to take up residence here. She is now staying with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Johanne Roeloff, Summerland.

Miss Frederica Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Oliver, was named instructress for the new domestic science class to be inaugurated in the schools the following September.

The embargo on apples entering the United Kingdom from other countries was to be lifted as far as Canada was concerned, now that hostilities had ceased, the president of the British Board of Trade had announced. Several British fruit buyers were expected to visit the Okanagan to arrange shipments of valley apples the next fall.

"Change Here for the Famous Fruit and Mixed Farming District" was the sign to be painted near the kiosk at Sicamous for the education of those who travel on the mainline of the CPR.

Estimated costs were: North main, $8,385; south main, $9,693; siphon, $700; Garnet Valley, $5,000; Trout Creek canal completing $10,814.26; total, $49,592.26.

No Easy Way To Security

Federal Health Minister Martin recently stated that mental cases accounted for over 50 per cent of the cost of hospitalization in Canada. The minister did not attempt to diagnose the cause or causes of this apparent epidemic in mental diseases. He might have added that very many of the occupants of other hospitals are suffering from physical disorders which have mental origins. That, of course, is the view of Christian Scientists who claim that all diseases originate and are perpetuated in the mind.

Whether we accept that theory entirely or not, there is ample evidence that many of the ills that flesh is heir to can be aggravated or relieved by the mental attitude of the patient. "There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so," said Hamlet, and, like the unhappy Dane, too many people today are concentrating on the bad, seeing ghosts and worrying why there were ever born to set the world right. Nothing was ever set right by worrying, and the world today is suffering from mental stomach ulcers through trying to find a quick and easy solution for social and economic problems.

A military critic of the New York Times reports that many of the letters he has received on the subject of poor morale in the United States armed forces put the blame on poor morale in the nation generally; particularly its emphasis on "security." The captain of a naval vessel put it thus: "Since 1929, this nation has become more and more engrossed with the idea of personal security and stability as a primary goal. Since military service cannot represent this goal in our present economy, it is apparent that the recognition we seek depends on a certain change in values being effected in American thinking—values such as honor, integrity, devotion to duty."

The morale of a people, that is their mental health, depends upon the value they set upon the elementary virtues of decency, honesty and devotion to duty, without which family life would be impossible, business would be a bear-garden and society would go to pieces.

The "poor morale" of the rising generation is due to the spread of the idea that the States owes them a living and should provide them with security against all the vicissitudes of life. There is no more pitiful human creature than a spoiled child, for there is a hard time ahead of him when he gets out into the world and cannot look to his parents for security. Real economic security for the individual and the nation can be obtained only by honest work and thrift.

The men who founded and built up the great industrial and social institutions of the United States were imbued with the spirit of independence and self-reliance. They got their social creed from New England, from Emerson and Longfellow; and their religion from eloquent and vigorous preachers like Ward, Beecher and Talmage, who challenged them to trust in God and quit themselves like men.

It is very doubtful whether one American high school or university graduate in a thousand has ever heard of, much less read, Emerson's essays. They are packed with mental vitamins. His essay on self-reliance was a morale builder for the thoughtful youth of Britain as well as the United States. But the youth of today is as much afraid of deep thinking as of hard work. Their mental pabulum consists of comic strips and trashy novels, and the hardest thinking of their elders is confined to cross-word puzzles and quiz contests.

Having administered this little general spanking, I will conclude with a simple and timely quotation from Emerson's essay:

"God will not have his work made manifest by cowards.

A man is relieved and gay when he has put his heart into his work and done his best; what he has said

or done otherwise, shall give him no peace."

Negative Approach... 13 rules not recommended

WE are told by psychologists that in whatever we do we should always adopt a positive approach. That to us seems to be good sound advice but once and a while to get a point across, it seems like a good idea to revert to a negative approach.

Recently we came across a list of 13 recommended ways to ruin a home town. We have for a long time been advocating measures to improve our community so just for once we'd like to try the negative approach and pass on this list of rules guaranteed to really put the skids under any community.

1. Don't pay taxes. Let the other fellow pay his. Vote against taxes. Then fuss because streets aren't not kept up.

2. Never attend any of the meetings called for the good of the community. If you do, don't have anything to say. Wait until you get outside and then cuss those who made the suggestions. Find fault with everything that was done.

3. Get all the community will give you, and don't give anything in return. Write unsigned letters to the editor demanding more for your tax money.

4. Talk co-operation, but don't do any work for your community unless you get paid for it. And by all means refuse to serve unless they make you chairman.

5. Never accept an office. It's easier to criticize than to do things. Accuse anybody who serves in an elected office of being a publicity seeker.

6. Don't do any more than you have to. When others willingly and unselfishly give their time to make a better town, howl because the district is being run by a clique.

7. Don't back your fire department or your police department. Don't thank them for endangering their lives that you might have a safer community in which to live. Demand special treatment, raise Cain if anybody expects you to obey traffic and parking laws.

8. Look at every proposition in a selfish way. If you are not the one that gets the most good out of it, vote against it. Never consider what it will do for the town as a whole.

9. Don't do anything for the youth of your town. Criticize them as potential delinquents. Keep your feet on them. Encourage them to move away when they grow up.

10. If you have good town leaders, don't follow them. Take a jealous attitude, and talk down everything they say.

11. Don't work on any committee. Tell them "I'm too busy."

12. Don't say anything good about your town. Be the first to point up the shortcomings. Pretend that if trouble comes your way it will be the residents of some other town who will visit you while you are ill, bring the fire department if your home is burning, comfort you if you lose a dear one; stand back of you in disaster.

13. And don't support your local retail stores and industries. Claim the prices and services in stores in other towns are better. Claim industry and its payroll hurts the community. But if you need a donation, ask your local stores. Expect them to back you, but don't back them.

If these 13 steps don't ruin the community, it isn't your fault.

Just One Opinion... facts tell different story

A recent issue of Country Life, official organ of the BCFGA, contained a letter to the editor which contained an unreasonable and unfounded attack on immigrants in this country. The letter has raised the ire of many here in the valley—particularly new Canadians—and it came under discussion at the meeting of at least one group of the BCFGA.

There is, apparently one important fact overlooked by those who have become hotly indignant over this matter. The letter reflected the views of only one person—the writer—and should not be interpreted as being the voice of any body of opinion; and the opinions of a person who would author such a scurrilous attack are not, in our opinion, worthy of even the slightest consideration.

However, to set the record straight, the Kelowna Courier in an editorial has drawn on some statistics to give a true picture of what post-war immigration has meant to Canada and its economy. Following is an excerpt from that editorial:

There is no intention on the part of this newspaper to debate the wisdom or otherwise of the publication of that letter; that is a matter for Country Life itself to decide, but this newspaper does feel that some word should be said in defence of the immigrants attacked in the letter.

An official of the Canadian immigration department, Dr. J. D. Sharp, speaking recently in Niagara Falls, apparently with authentic statistics, said that about 38 percent of our postwar immigrants have bought cars, that about 40 percent own their own homes, and that more than 40 percent have household appliances, such as refrigerators.

If 38 percent of the one million immigrants Canada has absorbed since the war bought motor cars, the purchases add up to 380,000, about one-fifth of all the cars we have produced in that period. And if 40 percent of them bought houses and refrigerators, then the buying of all these houses and refrigerators and cars must have made a great deal of extra work for a good many Canadians.

The truth, of course, is, that immigrants, people, make jobs; that instead of an immigrant taking away a job from somebody born or already here he actually makes more work for him.

That, in its simplest form, is the case of the immigrants. The immigrant who has a job is both a producer and a consumer. If he succeeds in earning his own living (and according to Dr. Sharp most of them do) he is at least paying his way; if he thrives, he will in time create jobs for other people.

Canada cannot stand still, has no intention of standing still. New avenues of enterprise have opened of late and more will open in the early future. Such a country needs more, not fewer immigrants; indeed it is ridiculously underpopulated at present, and this is reflected in a domestic market which is so small as to hamper both industry and agriculture. The Okanagan, for instance, would have no marketing problem if Canada had a population of thirty or forty million.

Mid-Week Message

God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. (Psalm 46:1) Read Phillipians 4: 4-8.

Jessie was disturbed when her playmate, Lucy passed away. "I miss her," Jessal said to her mother, "but it is all right. Grandfather is in heaven, and when he sees Lucy he will say, 'Come over here with me, Lucy; I am Jessal's grandfather.'"

Jessal had complete confidence in her grandfather. All who sincerely trust in our heavenly Father may have confidence in Him, realizing that in His presence we have the greatest joy and peace that life can give.

This was the experience of David, who very clearly refers to God's faithfulness to him, "I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust."

But there is a secret to David's confidence, part of which is seen in Psalm 46:10—"Be still, and know that I am God." Because the world can be too much with us, particularly in our desire to gain wealth and in the sphere of amusement, we need to practice continually the presence of God.

PRAYER
O God, our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thy continuous care for us. Help us to show our gratitude by yielding ourselves to Thee in order that we may live—Thee more and serve Thee better. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Notes From Parliament Hill

By O. L. JONES

Final approval has been given to the plan which provides death benefits to a maximum of $5,000 for members of the civil service and the armed forces. The Conservatives and Social Credit parties opposed the bill through all stages. Mr. Macdonnell claimed that not enough time had been given for consultation with the men and women who are involved in the coverage. The CCF party supported the Liberals throughout thereby assuring the bill a substantial majority on the final vote.

The main criticism against the bill was levied at its compulsory feature. Roughly, 230,000 people will come under its administration. It was pointed out that the low rate at which the insurance is provided would not be possible unless everyone is compelled to come under the scheme. Under this arrangement, a civil servant will contribute 40c per month per $1,000 insurance which will give the civil servant a maximum of $5,000 for, roughly, $24 a year. The government's contribution will be the equal of two month's salary on the death of the insured. At this two month's salary payment is now being made in the case of civil servants, the cost to the government for administering this new scheme will not cost the tax payers a great deal of money, if any. Some objection has been raised by a group of single women who are, apparently, not a great deal interested in life insurance.

C. D. Howe indicated to the house that the United Kingdom is going to allocate dollars to cover the purchase of Canadian canned fruits. He also mentioned that negotiations are in progress with the United Kingdom regarding the purchase of Canadian apples but, so far, there is no definite indication of whether Britain will or will not allocate dollars for the purchase of apples. However, it is pleasing to know that negotiations are in progress.

Consulting engineers and others are busy working out plans for the St. Lawrence seaway and the hydro-electric project contemplated in the international rapids area. This week, the minister of transport told the house that similar development would take place in the Lachine Canal area where the Province of Quebec, through its Premier, Maurice Duplessis, had expressed willingness to co-operate with the government in a proposed hydro-electric development. It will be sometime before the real work will start on the St. Lawrence seaway. Therefore, in view of the fact that some people from British Columbia have been making enquiries about work on that project, I would strongly advise them not to move to the east in the hope of getting work.

The towns of Morrisburg and Iroquois have already a problem on their hands owing to the large number of workers and other who have flooded into the area in the hope of getting work of some kind. Anyone contemplating seeking work on the project should write to the department of transport, Ottawa, stating their particular qualifications.

The work of the special committee on veterans affairs has been concluded. The four bills placed before it were approved with minor amendments. The final report contained a recommendation to the house that the veterans allowance act be re-considered and that the status of Canada's merchant marine be also considered by the house. The evidence submitted to the committee, it was pointed out that the merchant marine of Canada suffered a higher ratio of casualties to its personnel than any other branch of the active services. After the war, the sailor had no access to many of the benefits derived by other participants in the war such as DVA, housing and farm units, certain insurance, disability pensions, veterans allowances, etc. The only exception was those sailors who were actually injured or suffered disabilities while on the high-seas in the ordinary course of their duties.

Canada's wheat problem remains unsolved with approximately 700 million bushels of wheat in storage both at terminals and on the farm and there is constant fear of a competitive war between world producers after the recent cut of 10 cents a bushel by Canada and the United States. It is rumored today that the United States may cut even further to the minimum international price in which case the world wheat market might conceivably be completely

Martin of Regina, and Donald John MacDonald, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. MacDonald of West Summerland. Rev. S. McGladdery officiated at the ceremony.

The bride's ballerina length gown of white satin brocade was styled in an off the shoulder effect with bouffant skirt.

She wore a small white cloche of pineapple straw; and pink roses, white carnations and stephanotis made up her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. E. J. Foot, of East Kelowna, who attended her sister wore blue satin brocade in a similarly styled gown with matching headdress. She carried pale pink and white carnations with white stephanotis.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, E. J. Foot, of East Kelowna. The groom's brother, A. D. MacDonald of Penticton served as best man and Dr. D. V. Fisher of Summerland acted as usher.

"Here No One

Spies On Me" . . .

A New Canadian of only a few months duration living in Ontario was speaking to an officer of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration about qualifying for his citizenship papers in Canada.

"At first I could not get used to it. Here no one spies on me. I go where I like and do what I want and don't have to tell anyone or be afraid."

He had come from one of the Iron Curtain countries . . . an escapee from Communism.

Where he came from, the government owned ALL the jobs, and so it "owned" the people. In Canada, the people owned their jobs or worked for many employers, with right to "fire" the employers if they wanted a change.

Freedom is more than a tradition. It comes from dividing political power and business power into two different sets of hands. If there is no such separation, tyranny follows.

The Canadian way of life is based on business freedom.

Plans for the annual variety sale and tea were discussed and Oct. 9 was the date set for the event. Secretary Mrs. S. A. MacDonald reminded members a feature of the sale will be a knitted-square contest and squares entered will be made into quilts for foreign relief.

At the close of the meeting, tea was served by Mrs. V. Charles, Mrs. E. Famchon, Mrs. D. Cruickshank, Mrs. George Inglis, Mrs. O. Eaton and Mrs. T. J. Garnett.

Role of Woman in Church Activities Subject of Talk to Service Club

Rev. C. O. Richmond was guest speaker at the Monday night meeting of the Service Club of St. Andrew's United Church, taking as his subject, "What can we expect of a group of women in the church?"

He stressed the fact that such groups develop within the church to further the aims of the local congregation and the church as a whole. They should also assist the individual in finding, within the church, a type of service best suited to his or her capabilities.

He stated that such groups are under the fellowship and jurisdiction of the church, and the spiritual life of the church and also of the individual should be recognized and stimulated by a common interest in its problems and its welfare. The best use of time, talents and money should be sought, both for the organization and on a personal basis.

He asked the members not to forget the effort that had been expended to make all offices of the church open to women and to make the best possible use of this type of service.

Following the opening hymn Mrs. M. Henker took the devotional period with the topic, "Stewardship."

It was reported by Mrs. A. J.

Clever Cooking . . .

Do you freeze your own foods, then you should have a copy of the Consumer Section booklet "Freezing Foods"? If you do not have one all you have to do is write to the department of agriculture, Ottawa, and ask for a copy.

Many consumers do have this excellent publication and perhaps they have noticed that there are on directions for freezing of sweet cherries, apricots and cantaloupe. In answer to why there are no directions for these fruits, the home economists tell us that when they printed their first freezing book in 1945, they had directions in it for freezing all fruits. However, as the years went by and more experimental work was done, it was found that the results of freezing sweet cherries, cantaloupe and apricots were not completely satisfactory. Rather than have homemakers disappointed with freezing such fruits, it was decided to take the directions out of their booklet until more experimental work was done. So they kept on working, trying to find satisfactory ways of freezing.

Last summer the home economists froze more sweet cherries and last month held another series of taste panels. At last they are satisfied and are now ready to give out the directions from freezing these fruits. The next time their bulletin on freezing foods is revised they will, of course, include the new directions. However, this will not be done until 1955, so the home economists want to give you the new directions as each of these fruits comes on the market.

Around the end of June of the first week in July, one of our favorite fruits will be available—sweet cherries. Those beautiful Bings and Lamberts that everyone loves so well. It certainly is no effort whatsoever to eat our fill of this luscious fruit. As a matter of fact we often try to eat enough when they are in season to last all year round. Today we do not have to do that. We are very lucky, because we have a great variety of frozen fruits available and they are nearly like the fresh ones. We can have strawberries in March and peaches in November. Now, to add to that list of fine frozen fruits we have sweet cherries. We must point out that when we say cherries we are referring to the sweet dark cherries only, not the sweet white ones, such as the Royal Ann's or the Napoleons. The home economists mention that frozen cherries can be thawed, but just until the ice crystals have been melted and then served in a bowl to be eaten out of hand with a spoon, or they can be served raw in fruit salads. Their recommendations for freezing them are these:—sweet dark cherries retain better flavor, color and unpitted; they may be packed dry, but the flavor is better if they are packed in a very thin syrup of 1 cup of sugar to 3 cups of water.

Jinx Unbroken... Macs Lose to Kelowna 2-1 In Extra-Innings Match

Bolstered by three imports, Macs were still unable to break their losing streak this past week although Sunday afternoon they put up a first class show against Kelowna and pushed the game into two extra innings before the Orioles were able to break the 1-1 deadlock and leave Summerland on the wrong end again.

For six innings Sunday, the game remained scoreless, Hickson and Eyre giving up only two hits each during that time. In the seventh, a faux pas by Hooker at short allowed Graff to reach base and he completed the circuit for the first run of the game with help from hits by Kaiser and Hickson.

Macs were set up to take the game in the bottom half of the ninth when bases loaded after Francis Gould walked and Gigliotti and Eyre each singled with none out. Gould tried up the game but Gigliotti was out trying to steal home and then Egely went down in a long fly to right field and Hooker was out trying to make first.

In the 10th, Tostenson reached first with two out and got no further when Campbell went out at first. Campbell who took over pitching chore for Orioles in the ninth struck out Taylor, Aikin and Borton.

A free pass put Graff on base in the 11th. He stole second and then a single by Kielbiski to right field, brought Graff home to win the ball game. In the bottom half of the inning, Summerland didn't have a look-in with three men going down one-two-three.

Last Wednesday night the Macs showing was not as bright and Pentiction smothered them under a 9-1 score.

One of the newcomers, Shaw, led off on the mound for Summerland but he was replaced by Eyre in the third after five of six batters in that inning had connected for singles. Pentiction had one run in the second frame and added four more in the third. Eyre settled down to a workmanlike job and held Pentiction off for three innings but in the seventh two doubles and a walk were good for two more runs. They added two more in the eighth.

Summerland's lone run came in the first inning when Taylor singled and then Chuck Aikin brought him home with a double.

Pentiction Still Holding Narrow Lead In OMBL; Summerland at Other End

Latest standings of OMBL compiled by league secretary to the first of last week show Summerland Macs at the bottom of the heap with only a single win to their credit and Pentiction out in front with Kamloops and Kelowna hard on their heels.

Fishing News

Okanagan Lake has been down a little this last week, however not too bad. The trollers have made some nice catches. Ed. Matchett caught a 6½ pounder on a Cherry Bobber, the biggest one landed this last week as far as I know. Spinning and casting off the drop-offs still good and one 2½ pounder landed.

Fish Lake Camp: There were very few fishermen around the last week, however Fish Lake still producing some nice easterns up to 2 lbs. The cold weather made it tough fishing on the upper lakes of this camp, but nice catches were made at Munro and at Deer by some of the hardier fishermen.

Garnet Valley Dam: Fair eastern brook fishing here in the deeper holes. Best success last week still fishing with worms.

Trout Creek Headwaters Camp: Good reports from here, trolling, still fishing and fly.

Glenn Lake: A good fly fishing lake but getting too tough for trolling. The weeds are filling this lake which makes for good fish habitat. Some nice ones were landed by one party on the fly. Road is rough but quite passible.

Silver Lake: Nice reports from here. The road is first class now and any car can be taken in now without damage. The fish are through spawning now and nice ones are being caught, a 3 pounder

Despite the rains of the past few days, there was little cherry splitting, it was reported.

Over 10 guests attended a reception held by Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Wright in honor of their son-in-law and daughter, Professor and Mrs. W. G. McIntosh of Toronto.

Brenda and McDonald Lakes: Tough road but not bad fishing. Wouldn't advise a passenger car to try road yet.

Peachland Dam: Good fishing but road is growing in bad and would scratch up the paint on a passenger car.

Shannon Lake: Good bass and perch fishing here.

Bear Lake: Spotty fishing here but up to 3 pounds have been caught.

Not many reports of northern district lakes this last week but on the whole they show better than average results have been had.

Would like to remind the fishermen again about the scale sample envelopes, please co-operate and turn them in.

How many gallons in a pay cheque?

More than ever before! Back in 1939, for instance the average Canadian weekly pay cheque would buy 84 gallons of gasoline... based on figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Today's weekly pay cheque will buy 144 gallons, including the provincial gasoline tax, which is considerably higher than before the war.

To put it another way... in 1939 the average Canadian worked 33 minutes to earn enough to buy one gallon of gasoline. Today he works just 17 minutes, or about half the time.

And today's Esso gives more miles and better performance than ever before.

poration for the electrical superintendent. Accurate costs were kept through the year of the cost of operation and maintenance, and when a similar problem arose after the death of Mr. Kercher, it was decided to purchase his truck for irrigation department and to operate it on the same basis.

The school board approached the build some additional sidewalk in council with a plan for finishing the parking area by landscaping portions of it and laying it out properly for the parking of cars. One important item to their scheme was the sidewalk around this area. The first 75 feet is being completed and steps will be taken to build some additional sidewalk in this area during this fiscal year.

Considerable planning has gone into the blacktopping program for 1954 which is starting now. Earlier in the year the culvert on the Gulch road below Farrows was replaced and extended and a large fill completed. The road in Parkdale has been regraded, shaled and is ready for blacktopping. Part of the road in front of the Youth Centre has received the same treatment and an 18-inch fill at a low spot. There has been a large fill at the rear of Pledge's in preparation for blacktop. A low spot on back Prairie Valley Road has been filled, a culvert extended and the road widened.

Honesty Doesn't Pay...

Error in Judgement Costs Kiwanis Return Softball Tilt Against Jaycees

A single error Monday night cost the Kiwanis a return softball match against the Jaycees. The error occurred not in the game but was an error in judgement when they chose one of their own number, Bill Laidlaw, as official scorekeeper and he turned out to be honest. The Kiwanis efforts on the diamond were not enough to outweigh the heavy disadvantage of an honest tally and Jaycees wound up with a grand total of 21 runs against Kiwanis 19.

Meanwhile, Jaycees are split into two factions as the result of the match. Manager Harry Braddick in a statement following the game said he put Les Rumball in to pitch in the final inning to give the Kiwanis a break. "Otherwise we'd have given them a much worse trimming." Rumball immediately took umbrage at the slur on his pitching ability and charged "I can out-pitch that 120-pound talking box the best day he ever lived. Why he's nothing but a poor man's Leo Durocher."

The Kiwanis had the edge on their opponents up until the sixth inning when they replaced Joe Sedlar as pitcher with John "You Can't Beat Our Drums" Tamblin. In two innings, John proved beyond all question of doubt that he is a better bandsman than a pitcher. The Jaycees got 10 runs in those two innings.

For the match, Kiwanis took the wraps off their secret weapon which turned out to be an import from Ontario, or some such place in the far east, Lockey McKilligan whose catching almost turned it into a real ball game at times.

Police were preparing to move in and close down the game on the grounds that strip tease is not permitted in this province but a spectator provided a safety pin just in time and temporary repairs were made to Gerry Hallquist's trousers. Thereafter he exercised greater caution in sliding into base.

Kiwanis Manager Hilly Smith said club activities will prevent them from engaging in any more matches for about three weeks but Jaycees spokesman Harry Braddick stated "We don't have to make any excuses. We're ready to take on any team with nerve enough to challenge us—anytime."

A Jaycees victory motorcade which left the park with horns blaring following the game was disrupted on Granville Road by a large yellow Buick blocking the road. To discourage rumors that a disgruntled Kiwanian may have been responsible for this action, the service club president, N. O. Solly, has turned information on the incident over to Summerland traffic and safety committee, (Chairman: N. O. Solly) with the request that the responsible person if apprehended be punished to the full extent of the law.

ded be punished to the full extent of the law.

Jaycees winning entry was composed of Les Rumball, Harry Braddick, Ted Weeks, Babe Kuroda, Lance Mann, Fred Walker, Ken McIntosh, Mev Wells, Al McIntosh, Howard Pruden, Joe McLachlan and Vern Borton. The latter two were billed as umpires and did not appear on the batting line-up. Would-be ball players in the Kiwanis ranks were Lockey McKilligan, Joe Sedlar, Gerry Hallquist, John Tamblin, Jack Dunsdon, Lloyd Shannon, Doug Campbell, Johnny Betuzzi and Hilly Smith.

Local Delegates Will Attend Meet At Salmon Arm

Seventy delegates will represent Summerland at the semi-annual circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, July 2-4 at Salmon Arm.

J. R. Prior, presiding minister here, states "these assemblies are for bible instruction and well over 1,000 are expected to attend. It is the first assembly of this kind in the interior," Mr. Prior said, "inasmuch as it is an open air assembly, a beautiful floral platform is being planned, and an interesting and instructive program will be presented. All sessions are open to the public."

G. H. Saltmarsh, of Toronto, will be the featured speaker, as he delivers the widely advertised discourse at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, July 4, at the school grounds in Salmon Arm. His subject will be "Is Civilization's End Near?"

Horticultural News Letter . . .Better Apple Set Than Anticipated Means Considerable Thinning Ahead

With less frost damage to apple crop than was first believed, the horticultural news letter last week reported growers may be faced with considerable thinning this year since there was little spray thinning done when damage was believed to have been extensive.

Following are extracts from the news letter:

Summerland, Westbank and Peachland:

As reported June 15th: Since the issue of our last News Letter the weather has been cool and unsettled with frequent showery periods and some high winds.

Growers in the district have completed the first codling moth spray and are about ready to apply the second moth spray. Thinning of stone fruits and pears is in progress. By and large this is not a heavy job this year and is confined to touching up and breaking up clusters. However, apples have set more heavily than expected and with very little spray thinning done the growers may be faced with more apple thinning than usual.

The cool weather has been unfavorable for the growth of heat loving vegetables with the result that tomatoes and cucumbers are not coming along well. Vegetable acreage in the district is down this year.

Green aphids have been troublesome on apples and on peaches. Powdery mildew has been showing up on apples but has not made as much headway as last year. As yet no apple scab has been reported. Fire blight is beginning to show up but is confined to a few orchards.

Penticton, Naramata, Kaleden, Keremeos:

As reported June 15th: There has been little change in weather conditions since the last News Letter. Considerable cloud and intermittent rain have prevailed although temperatures are up slightly.

The season is now considered to be at least a week later than in 1953. Fruit crop prospects remain unchanged with the possible exception of cherries. Some of the cherries that appeared to have set have stopped developing and are dropping. Apples are starting to size but it now appears that chemical thinning sprays were ineffective due to delayed spray applications. The set of pears is not heavy and thinning is well under way. In fact, thinning of pears has been completed in some orchards where this operation is not usually finished until the first of July. Apricots and prunes are sizing well and the thinning of apricots is just about completed.

Apart from slight increases in the acreage of peppers, cabbage and cucumbers in the Keremeos-Cawston area, the acreages of other vegetables are down. Latest figures show that there are only 160 acres of tomatoes compared with 296 acres last year and 30 acres of potatoes compared with 56 acres. The growth of tomato plants has not been too satisfactory up to now.

Spray schedules have been completely disorganized due to unsatisfactory spray weather conditions. Some growers have required over a week to apply the first cover spray. European red mite eggs are very prevalent while the fruit tree leaf roller has been more noticeable than usual. The green peach aphid is still active and has checked shoot growth in many orchards. The black cherry aphid is building up rapidly and may be more troublesome than in the past few years. Powdery Mildew of apples is quite general and some Fire-blight has been detected, while apple scab, in spite of scab-promoting weather conditions, is not yet very evident.

Okanagan Falls, Oliver and Osoyoos:

As reported June 14th: The weather for the past two weeks has been cooler than is normal for this time of the year. Approximately three quarters of an inch of rain fell during the period.

Thinning where necessary is now being done. A drop on Delicious apples has been noted on some lots. Cover sprays are still being applied. Due to the adverse weather many growers have yet to apply their second cover spray. Apple scab has been noted. The amount is considerably less than that present a year ago at this time. Green aphids, mealy plum aphids and black cherry aphids are causing the greatest concern in the insect field.

Ground crops during the past two weeks have been badly retarded by the weather. Cabbage should be ready for harvesting in about a week, cucumbers in about ten days to two weeks. Early potatoes are expected to be ready in the last week of June.

Kelowna:

As reported June 17th: Weather since the last report has remained cool and showery with several windy days. On June 15th, hail fell on a portion of East Kelowna and did considerable damage to a few orchards but overall damage is slight. The windy, showery weather has disorganized the spray program.
