

U.K. Market Will Take 700,000 Boxes of Apples In $2 Million Order

Monday that the United Kingdom market will be taking 700,000 and 700,000 boxes of Canadian apples came this week news to growers who have been waiting about six weeks for a clarification of the earlier British statement that an unstated amount of dollar exchange was being made available for the purchase of Canadian apples.

The amount set aside for this purchase is $2,430,000.

Although the number of boxes being shipped under this arrangement is falling short of the amount marketed in the U.K. in the years when trade was unrestricted, sales company officials see this as the thin end of the wedge for returning to full trade in a market which has been closed for the past two years.

Last shipments to the U.K. were in 1951 when 794,000 boxes of apples were marketed there.

The re-opening of the United Kingdom market culminates a long campaign waged by Okanagan and Nova Scotia growers, Canadian Horticultural Council and provincial government officials.

Only about one-sixth of the total purchase will be exported this year, the rest after the first of the year.

According to A. K. Loyd, B.C. Tree Fruits president, who has probably been the most active in advocating the re-opening of the market, Nova Scotia and Ontario have indicated they anticipate comparatively small shipments which means the bulk of the order will be filled with Okanagan apples.

Mr. Loyd, following the announcement Monday, issued a lengthy review of the U.K. marketing situation and recounted the efforts which have been put forward in an effort to recapture this market.

Following is the text of Mr. Loyd's statement:

"To cover the happenings on this important export market and the recent development, a good many years have to be taken into consideration. During the past year, exports to the United Kingdom, if put down on a graph, would have resembled a fever chart. In round figures, and going back to 1941, shipments run something as follows—

1941	1,200,000
1942	Nil
1943	200,000
1944	525,000
1945	720,000
1946	2,550,000
1947	Nil
1948	Nil
1949	1,600,000

(600,000 having been bought; 1,000,000 shipped to Britain without cost to them except water freight.)

1950	1,400,000
1951	794,000
1952	Nil
1953	Nil

1954 Yet to be decided, but probably in the neighborhood of 600,000 to 700,000.

When no orders were forthcoming in 1952, strong representation were made by the Canadian Horticultural Council (representing the Canadian fruit industry), but without avail, for some entry into that market. In 1953 a delegation, sponsored by the Canadian Horticultural Council (nine representatives), attended the Empire Fruit Conference and both at public meetings and in conference sessions, urged in the strongest possible manner that the Canadian industry should not be "brushed off" but that at least token shipments should be allowed. Considerable progress was made, but nevertheless no actual shipments occurred during 1953. Negotiations were re-opened in February of this year, and every effort has since been made to achieve a re-entry.

On June 4 deputations from the Okanagan and Nova Scotia had conferences with Captain Peter Thornycroft, who as travelling in Canada and who occupied the position of President of the United Kingdom Board of Trade. Again the case for Canadian apples was pressed. From the beginning of the year it appeared that there were more possibilities, with the improving dollar position in the Old Country, of a possible relaxation of the embargo. In July, the Deputy Minister, Federal Department of Trade and Commerce, and the Deputy Minister of the Federal Department of Agriculture, presented a strong case to the British government for consideration being accorded to North American apples in general, and Canadian apples in particular. They were joined by a representative, again sponsored by the Canadian Horticultural Council, to urge the case further.

It became apparent at that time that both the United Kingdom Board of Trade and the Ministry of Food were favorably inclined towards the application, and it remained to persuade the United Kingdom treasury, that the money could, and should be, spared. These representatives returned to Canada convinced that the chances were quite promising for at least a partial resumption of trade during this season.

Mr. Gunderson, as a trade representative of the B.C. government whilst in Britain, also interested himself wholeheartedly in pressing for consideration of the British Columbia fruit industry. As a final result, some $2,430,000 have been made available, and it remains for the Canadian provinces to decide amongst themselves the proportion of the resulting shipments, if any, that will be accorded to each.

The matter of price has not at present, come up for discussion, and it is as to be borne in mind that with the adverse exchange position in which the pound sterling finds itself, the actual tonnage that could be used will probably be somewhat curtailed; in other words, it will cost more in pounds to buy North American apples than it used to when sterling was at its normal rate of exchange.

Today some further details are to hand indicating that if the dollar proceeds from the 900,000 pounds, only one-sixth could be used for shipments to be shipped after the turn of the year. Licences will be distributed to individual importers on the same basis as 1951.

Enquiries from Nova Scotia and Ontario indicate that so far they anticipate comparatively small shipments.

Promise Study Of Bus Routes Before Stopping

Fears that certain Summerland school bus routes would be cancelled or full cost of operation placed on the community by a recent directive of the provincial department of education were calmed last week at the convention of the B.C. Trustees Association in Penticton when co-ordinator of services for the department, told delegates that adjustments will be made when and where terrain, climatic conditions and highway hazards made it advisable.

Dr. Plenderleith told the convention that visit are being made to each school district to study local conditions.

On the strength of the speaker's assurances, a resolution asking the department to reconsider its stand was withdrawn at the convention.

Because of the hardships which would have been caused had the ruling been carried out without modification, Summerland school trustees had decided to confer with department officials before it came into effect the first of the year.

Unless exceptions are made in Summerland, some pupils of grades 1 to 3 will have to walk as far as five miles each day with much of the travel being on the new main highway now under construction. Meadow Valley and Greata Ranch areas brought into the Summerland district at the request of the government, are also routes which do not meet the new requirements and pupils would have to make their own arrangements for getting to school.

Induction Next Wednesday

Welcome Lyle D. Kennedy as New Pastor of Summerland Baptist Church

New pastor of Summerland Baptist Church Sunday morning was welcomed to the pulpit of his new charge and induction service for Rev. Lyle D. Kennedy will be held next Wednesday evening in the church at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Kennedy comes to Summerland from a successful three years as minister of Vancouver Heights Baptist Church in North Burnaby, during which time it grew from a mission to a self-supporting church.

The new pastor succeeds a friend of long standing in taking over this pastorate from Rev. Kenneth Knight who is now enroute to India where he will engage in missionary work. The two were roommates at McMaster University in Toronto.

Mr. Kennedy was born in Saskatchewan and after he completed school he was for about five years in the accounting department of the government of Saskatchewan before he entered university to study for the ministry. He took both arts and theology at McMaster.

During summer months while at university he served churches in Edmonton, Lethbridge and Brigh-

Grant McConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, is asking the government's permission to authorize him to pioneer a new Polar route between Vancouver, B.C., and Amsterdam. Travelling in a great circle over Canada's northwest and sub-Polar regions, over Greenland and Iceland, the route flight plan cuts the distance from the west coast to Europe by 1,000 miles against existing across-Canada and trans-Atlantic air lanes. CPA's passenger planes can make the trip in 17 hours with only one stop for refuelling. This is a diagram outlining the proposed Polar route.

Prune Crop Falls Short of Estimate But Total Sales Exceed Last Year

Overloading the market by eastern growers has maintained a weak undertone in apple marketing which is expected to continue until the hurricane-damaged fruit is disposed of, was the opinion expressed today by A. K. Loyd in a summary of fruit marketing conditions.

Even though prunes fell short of estimates, he still had good news on this commodity and reported that with the shipping season practically finished, shipments recorded indicate that the combined cannery and fresh fruit sales well exceed last year's crop.

Sale of Flemish pears to all Canadian and U.S. markets have continued at a steady pace for the past week and d'Anjous are being offered to the Canadian trade today and the first domestic shipments will likely be made Friday or Saturday.

In his observations on apples, he said "As to be expected since the completion of the first flight of McIntosh, the demand in Western Canada has slackened and in eastern Canada most of the markets are being supplied by local production and the shipments being made from the Okanagan to the east are to areas fairly well removed from producing districts." The U.S. demand, and price levels, he said, have shown no improvement for the week under review.

He added: "It would appear that the eastern districts are forcing more fruit on the markets than can be readily consumed with the resultant weak undertone. The trade expects this market condition to continue until the fruit damaged by the hurricanes has been disposed of."

Benjamin Rothwell on loan to the United Nations from the Queen's Printer's office at Ottawa, is the instructor to Korean pressmen at Yong Dong Po, near the capital city, Seoul. Rothwell is one of many Canadians assigned to Korea to build the country's educational system of which printing is an essential part. The U.N. Reconstruction agency has allocated $3,500,000 to establish a modern education system and 3,000 tons of newspaper have been imported to print 33,000,000 textbooks.

Building Activity Ahead of Last Year

Building activity during September fell short of the same month a year ago but is still well ahead of the first nine months of last year.

During the month, six permits were issued for a total of $16,700 compared to 12 for $30,285 in 1953. Since the first of the year, 82 permits have been issued for work totalling $192,235, while during the first nine months last year, 70 permits amounted to $150,110.

Breakdown of permits issued during September, which is contained in the report of building inspector Roy F. Angus, shows two for new dwellings to estimate of $1,300; two for commercial alterations to the value of $2,300 and four for home alterations amounting to $1,400.

Original art and craft works, castings, reproductions and facsimiles of world famous masterpieces will be included in the travelling show which will be open to the public without charge.

SUMMERLAND'S TINIEST BABY HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Now over three months old but still weighing less than seven pounds is Dennis Bruce Wood who arrived home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wood of Trout Creek on Sunday. Tiny Dennis holds claim to being Summerland's smallest baby, weighing only two pounds three ounces when he was born June 29 in the Penticton General Hospital.

His weight now is six pounds, 13 ounces.

Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, flicks a switch to set off a 3,000,000-volt blast of man-made lightning to open the new Canadian General Electric transformer plant at Guelph, Ont. The new plant will employ 1,000 persons at peak capacity. With Mr. Howe, right, is H. M. Turner, CGE president.

Clever Cooking . . .

Cauliflower, the white headed flower of the cabbage family, is one vegetable which should not be passed up in this week's shopping. There is plenty available in almost every size. Generally size has little if any relation to quality. Fine quality in cauliflower is indicated by white or creamy, clean, heavy, firm curds or buds.

These words "curds" or "buds" to describe cauliflower may be new to many homemakers, but they are the white flowerets you eat. Age in cauliflower is indicated by the yellowing of the leaves and yellow spots on the head.

The best and most popular way to serve cauliflower is to boil it in a small amount of salted water and serve it with butter, grated cheese, or a variety of sauces. However, many people love raw cauliflower buds in salads or raw cauliflower just marinated and served as an appetizer. Incidentally these raw cauliflower appetizers can be very colourful on an appetizer tray if they are just brushed with a little vegetable coloring, perhaps some green and others yellow.

Scout Activities

This week's Scout meeting showed great progress being made by every scout. Many of the nine recruits have now learned most of their tanglefoot work, and next week will see completion. Tests on 1st Class Knots for Scouts working on their 1st Class Badge. The new Progress Chart introduces at the meeting enables every scout to determine which tests he has passed and which ones he still has to complete.

Arrangements were made at the meeting for boys who do not own pack boards to make them at SM Fisher's house on Saturday morning Oct. 16. This will put every one in shape for the weekend camp Oct 22-24.

A near perfect attendance of 31 out of 33 was recorded for the meeting with full uniforms for every investor scout. Keep up the good work boys! In the patrol competition points are Buffaloes 148, Hawks 132, and Beavers and Eagles each 130.

Other vital studies are supported in a similar way. These focus on obesity, blood clotting, nutritional and intestinal disorders, hardening of the arteries and glandular diseases, to mention but a few.

Will all these efforts help you and your family to live longer, healthier lives?

Wheat Accounts For Two-Thirds Drop in Exports

"The overriding importance of the U.S. market is often regarded as a vulnerable element of Canada's external trade, and indications that this dependence is assuming larger proportions may possibly be viewed with some misgiving," says the Bank of Montreal in the September issue of its Business Review.

"The over-all decline in our export trade is a matter of even wider concern," the review notes. However, before passing judgment on these concurrent trends, it is prudent to ask how closely they are related and whether they are merely transitory in nature or indicative of a new order in the pattern of Canada's external trade.

At the outset, the bank points out, it must be recognized that there have been important changes in the atmosphere in which international trade is conducted. Post-war world shortages of raw materials and foodstuffs have largely disappeared. Britain and the other sterling countries have removed most of their monetary importing and trading controls to make many commodity markets more freely competitive than at any time since before the war. Also, Europe and Japan have entered the export markets for manufactured goods and are competing actively.

"The main impact of these developments on Canada's exports has been by way of lower prices for certain key raw materials and foodstuffs," the review comments. "Until late last year, there had been little evidence of a reduced volume of exports." This year, however, prices mainly have been relatively steady, where as the physical volume of exports has dropped noticeably since the third quarter of 1953.

"Wheat alone, as a result of a combination of lower prices and reduced shipments, has accounted for two-thirds of the decline in the value of all Canadian exports in the first seven months of this year as compared with the same period of 1953. To a significant extent, therefore, the current weakness of Canada's export trade is attributable to one important commodity. Moreover, the recent shift in the regional pattern of trade can also be traced to this factor. Wheat constitutes a very small proportion of our exports to the United States, but in 1953 amounted in value to very nearly a third of our total exports to overseas countries."

The problem of reduced cereal exports is not, of course, peculiar to Canada, the review states. The same situation has been experienced by other exporting nations such as Australia and the United States. Briefly, it has arisen from record crop harvests throughout the world during the last three years, enabling traditional importing countries to reduce foreign purchases with resultant stockpiling among main exporters and some competitive price cutting.

However, exports of commodities other than grain to overseas countries have been running above last year's level. This is in contrast with exports to the United States, where sales of Canadian iron and steel products, manufactured goods and such raw materials as zinc, copper and lumber have dropped in consequence of the slackening in U.S. business activity.

For the future, the bank says that it is more likely that the fluctuating value of Canada's export trade will be tied closely to the trend of business activity in the United States, where the bulk of our exports is currently sold.

It also seems probable that the U.S. will continue to take more than half of our exports, since a marked upturn in overseas sales would appear to be conditional upon a greater demand for Canadian grain than can be discerned. "But at the same time," the review sums up, "recent developments indicate that stable and, in some cases, growing markets exist overseas for many Canadian products, provided they are competitive as to quality, price and service in what promises to be an increasingly competitive world."

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fair of Fair Oaks Farm, Boerne, Tex., smilingly pat the broad side of Hillcrest Larry 25th, which they bought at auction in Chester, W. V., for $100,000. Looking on is C. A. Smith, Jr., son of the bull's late owner, whose "Hereford Empire" was broken up.

Architect's drawing of the Credit Union Headquarters at Broadway and Quebec Streets, in Vancouver, which were officially opened by the Hon. R. W. Bonner, Attorney-General on Saturday, Sept. 18. The building, of concrete block and brick construction, features a ceramic tile map of British Columbia and its industries in the entrance. The building was designed so that it can be extended upwards one floor, and a further fifty feet west be added as additional space is required.

C.S.B. BEST INSTALMENT BUY IN 1954, SAYS BANKER

Ivor Solly, manager of the Bank of Montreal at West Summerland, is a pretty conservative person, but he was certainly bubbling over with enthusiasm when we dropped in to see him this week. "What's it all about?" we asked him.

"Canada Savings Bonds," he replied tersely. Already orders are coming in and he was more than usually busy preparing for a regular flood of them.

"Yes," said our bank manager, "the new Ninth Series will keep me hopping for a while. You see, they are a first-class investment, and one attractive feature, apart from the 3 1/2 per cent interest rate, is the fact that they can be purchased on the instalment plan as well as for cash. Only 5% down—$2.50 on a $50 bond or $5 on a $100 bond.

"Not only that," he continued, "but the government undertakes to redeem them for the holder at full face value without loss at any time, plus interest to the end of the previous calendar month.

"Thus," said Mr. Solly, "you have a golden opportunity to carry on a personal savings program without fear of loss, and end up next year with a nice little nest-egg after paying the balance in easy monthly instalments. Take my tip . . . Canada Savings Bonds are the best instalment buy in 1954."

Whether you buy for cash or on the instalment plan, it's as easy as falling off a log to purchase these bonds at the B of M. Mr. Solly invites everyone interested to drop in and discuss their needs with him.—Adv.

A friend for many years of the late W. L. MacKenzie King, Percy Phillip, former New York Times correspondent, is reported to have had a conversation with the former prime minister, who has been dead for four years. In a CBC radio talk, Mr. Phillip, now 69, who represented the New York Times in Ottawa for 12 years, said the conversation took place on a park bench last June near Kingsmere, Que., where Mr. King had his summer home. It ranged from politics to international affairs. "But there was no pessimism, no warning of catastrophe in his comment on human affairs," he said. During his lifetime the late Mr. King was a believer in spiritualism, having claimed to have held conversations with his dead parents, Abraham Lincoln and other notables in history. Mr. Phillip added that he was not a spiritualist.

Macs Choose Bob Weitzel 'Most Valuable Player'

For his performance this past season with Summerland Macs, Bob Weitzel has been voted most valuable player of the team and is winner of the Ollie Egely trophy symbolic of the selection.

With a batting average of .333, Geordie Taylor is winner of the Harry Braddock trophy as the team's top slugger and Francis Gould takes the Gordon Young trophy for best fielding performance with his average of .874. A fielding average of 1.000 was posted by Doug Weeks but he did not have sufficient games to qualify for the trophy. A player must have played in at least 15 games to be eligible for any of the trophies and Weeks appeared in only 12.

With two home runs each, honors for the Holmes & Wade trophy for the most circuit clouts were split between Geordie Taylor, Daryl Weitzel and Al Hooker.

Following are the statistics on the Macs during the 1954 season, including both league and exhibition games:

BERT BERRY'S Hunting and Fishing News

FISHING
Fishing has taken the spot-light over hunting this last week. Okanagan lake has been slow and rough and no good catches have been made trolling. Some nice catches casting off the rocks however.

Mountain Lakes have taken the prizes this week. All are producing very nice catches, wet flies fished deep and slow the best with yellow and orange flat fish best of the trolls. One party in from Headwaters report a seven lber. caught on No. 1 and big catches on Crescent. Nora and Sandy Munn and Dr. Day hit the jackpot at Richter Lake, fifteen fish with the largest over six pounds, all on the shrimp fly, fished deep.

HUNTING
Grouse hunters still having fair luck, there are a few birds around but not in any great numbers like four years ago. The Game Dept. Biologist tell us that they have a ten year cycle and we opened the season in 1948 so unless a severe winter or disease affects them they should be coming back soon. Another intensity observation, from the biologist is that the heavier you shot them the longer the top of the cycle stays. I personally think a closed season on these birds next year is called for. Have had several reports on Pheasants in this district. They are not too plentiful, but seem to have reached the level this district can support. Hunters will need a dog to get results this year and I think they will have good bags come Oct. 16 when both Quail and Pheasants are opened here in this district.

Deer are not too plentiful yet two or three animals have come in this last week. One hunter got a two point in Three Lake and the others were got on the Bald range and Thirst Dam.

One more of the big fellows was brought in from the north. Young-hunsbands brought a nice moose in. Reports are fair but all side roads are really tough and trucks or jeeps are the only safe vehicle to take.

Enriched Apple Juice Source of Vitamin C

The ascorbic acid (vitamin C) content of ordinary apple juice is largely dependent on the concentration of ascorbic acid in the fresh fruit and the rate of manufacture.

Unfortunately, says J. A. Ruck, food section, chemistry division, at the Experimental Station, apples are not a rich source of ascorbic acid and, like other natural products, there are marked varietal differences. The naturally occurring ascorbic acid can be easily lost through oxidation when the apples are first ground.

To overcome this and provide a juice rich in ascorbic acid, the pure vitamin in crystalline form is added. The juice is enriched with ascorbic acid to give it a constant value equivalent to the average content of citrus juices. Thus, vitaminized apple juice becomes an excellent source of ascorbic acid and gives variety to the diet.

Processed fruit and vegetable regulations require that a minimum of 35 milligrams of ascorbic acid per 3.1-2 ounces of vitaminized apple juice must be retained in vitaminized juice after one year storage. To ensure this, the manufacturer maintains close analytical control and samples are submitted regularly to the Summerland laboratory for ascorbic acid analysis. This is a service to protect the consumer.

Advise Ordering Trees By Number

In the commercial tree fruit districts of British Columbia there is an increasing interest in planting smaller-than-standard apple trees, states A. J. Mann, at the Experimental Station.

Stocks on which such trees are grown are often referred to as "dwarf" or "semi-dwarf" and there appears to be some confusion as to just what these terms signify. Trees grown on Malling IX rootstock are true dwarfs, being no more than eight feet in height when mature and being planted at about eight feet by 15 feet. Next in size are trees grown on Malling VII rootstock, which require a spacing of about 16 by 16 feet.

A tree about two-thirds standard size may be grown on Malling II rootstocks. Such trees require a spacing of about 25 by 25 feet on good soil and when mature may be picked with a ten-foot ladder. If it is desired to use a Malling rootstock to produce a tree of the same size as grown on a seedling stock, Malling XVI is suitable.

From the foregoing it will be realized that it is essential for the grower to decide, before ordering, just what size of tree he desires to grow, and then to specify the particular numbered Malling rootstock which will be suitable.

Bernice Smith, 16, is the latest golf champion to emerge from the Lookout Point, Ont., club, home of Marlene Stewart and Ann Sharp. Miss Smith, above, recently copped the Ontario junior ladies' golf title with an 80 over the par-73 course at Toronto Ladies' Club. The trophy which was won twice by Miss Stewart when she was climbing the golfing ladder returns to the Lookout Point clubhouse after a two-year absence.

Teach Ask I m Schedule Here

Sumnerland teachers will open negotiations with the school board with a view to obtaining the minimum salary schedule adopted by the B.C. Teachers' Federation, schedule in the Okanagan Valley being one of the lowest in the province. This decision was reached at the monthly meeting of the Summerland Teachers' Association held Oct. 5 in the home economics room of the High School.

Discussion of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association convention to be held in Vernon Oct. 21 to 23 showed 19 Summerland teachers plan to attend the initial program on Thursday evening, the remainder planning to register on Friday morning. Several new departures in the planning of the convention were explained.

Main feature of the program was study on the subject "Methods in teaching subtraction," which was presented by the education committee under W. H. Durick. This presentation commanded the interest of both elementary and secondary teachers and was followed by considerable discussion.

A report from W. R. Chalmers, chairman of the social committee, indicated the school board is being requested to permit the association to use the gymnasium for badminton one night weekly if there is an available night.

In the chair for the meeting was the president, E. F. Weeks.

Local Cockers Win More Honors

Dogs of Mrs. W. H. B. Munn last week in Victoria brought more honors to her Ashnola Kennels. The three American cockers she exhibited, Ashnola Trade, Ashnola Lindy and Ashnola Slippers all came home with firsts.

Ashnola Trade, who is known as "Red," has won two firsts and one point for his championship and both Lindy and Slippers gained points toward championship in the Victoria showing. Slippers is getting an early start toward champion rating as she is only six months old. In one class she took honors away from Lindy, her mother.

Friends Here Mourn Pentiction Passing

Many Summerland friends will regret to learn of the passing in Pentiction last Saturday, of Jeremiah Francis Haney, a retired railway despatcher at Revelstoke. He was 76 years of age.

The district of Haney, where he was born, bears the family name. His father homesteaded there and was one of the early settlers in that district.

He is survived by one son, Francis, of Montreal; two daughters, Ellen, New Westminster, Rita, Kelowna. He was pre-deceased by his wife last April.

Requiem Mass was sung at Hammond Catholic Church this afternoon with interment at Maple Ridge Cemetery, Haney.

Remains were forwarded to Haney by Roselawn Funeral Home.

Former Bank Manager Passes In England

World has been received in Summerland of the passing in England on June 27 of Edwin B. May who was first manager of the Bank of Montreal branch here in 1911. He was 87 years of age.

Mr. May helped design the present building of the Bank of Montreal in West Summerland when it was erected in 1917 and he was in charge of the branch until 1919 when he retired.

Mrs. May pre-deceased him several years ago.

APPROVE PURCHASES

Municipal council Tuesday approved purchase of two ceiling heating units for the basement of the municipal office building at a cost of $142 each, including thermostat. Also approved was the purchase of a bookcase at a cost of $83 from funds still left in the by-law for furnishing the building.

PASS ACCOUNTS

Municipal council Tuesday passed accounts for September totalling $28,365.11.

Versatile Performer ...

Nan Merriman Wins Concert-Goers In First of South Okanagan Series

Curtain last Thursday night lifted on the season's Community Concert series when brilliant young mezzo-soprano Nan Merriman, gave a memorable performance on the stage of Pentiction High School before a capacity audience.

Miss Merriman chose for her concert program an unusually wide selection ranging from operatic arias to such old favorites as Who is Sylvia and Annie Laurie.

Also popular with the concert association audience was Miss Merriman's accompanist, Ralph Linsley who proved himself to be a full-fledged artist in his own right when he gave a solo performance of three Scarlatti sonatas following the intermission. So pleased was the audience, he was called back for two encores.

From the other side of the footlights, Miss Merriman following the performance paid warm compliments to her attentive audience and reported being greeted with the same warmth of feeling that she received the previous night in Vernon.

The American artist opened her concert with three selections in the first group "My Mother Bids me Bind My Hair" by Haydn and two Schubert compositions, Serenade and Who is Sylvia? Her next group included Le Jet D'Eau and Mandoline by Debussy, L'Ilce Time by Chausson and Open Thy Heart by Bizet. The two Debussy selections were vehicles which permitted her to display the full range of her beautiful voice and were perhaps the outstanding offerings on her program.

Next was the aria My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice from Saint-Saens Samson and Delilah.

Following the intermission, she chose five selections for her first group: Recitative and Habanera from Carman, La Giralda by Turina, El Majo Celoso of Obradors, Montsalvato's Cradle Song and El Vito by Obradors.

For her final group, Miss Merriman sang Miranda and Do Not Go My Love by Hageman, Bid Adieu by Pondleton and a special arrangement by her accompanist of Strauss Waltzes.

She came back on the stage for five encores.

Dog Tax Delinquents Headed for Court

Dog owners who are not dog license owners will have just one more chance to pay the tax on their best friend before they land in police court.

Councillors were advised this week there are still, according to municipal records, 12 dogs on which tax has not been paid this year. Poundkeeper Jack Heichert is being instructed to investigate and if the delinquents still own dogs, police court summons will be issued.

Will Take Action To Eliminate Hazards

Fire Chief Ed Gould in his monthly report advised council this week that in accordance with its request he has made an inspection of housekeeping rooms in the municipal building and found that while most were free of fire hazards, unsatisfactory conditions were found in several.

The council directed that he take necessary steps to have buildings in his report which he considers to contain fire hazards brought up to standards set by fire marshal regulations.

178 Installations This Year Summerland Electrical Distribution System Still Showing Rapid Growth

Electrical consumption in Summerland continues to grow at a steady rate and in the first nine months of this year council has approved applications for 178 new electrical installations. Tuesday, five more were approved.

Most popular item in the new connections have been hot water heaters with 69 being approved and electric ranges close behind number 65. Applications for light totaled 39, there has been one electrical panel and four for irrigation power.

Applications passed Tuesday were those of L. L. Fudge, T. Kato, and H. Steininger for water heaters, J. W. Caldwell for range and water heater and J. P. Sedlar for clothes dryer.

Reviewing the electrical growth since the beginning of the year, Reeve Atkinson presented a comparison table showing rates in Summerland and Vancouver on three categories of users. His table showing comparative rates for power consumption taken on three different months showed Summerland rate to be between 15 and 20 per cent below the Vancouver rate.

One example taken was a home where lighting only is used. Consumption was 132 kwh and Vancouver rate for that amount would be $4.90 compared to $4.05 in Summerland. Another home with light, range and water heater used 593 kwh and Summerland bill was $8.70 The same consumption in Vancouver would be $10.50. Third example was a customer who used light, range, water heater and irrigation power. He paid $13.33 for 1,138 kwh which would have cost $16.43 in Vancouver.

At Valleyfield, Que., Premier Duplessis made his first public reference to Mr. St. Laurent, who had attacked the Union Nationale party and accused Mr. Duplessis of separating the province from the rest of Canada. "The prime minister of this country has insulted me," said Mr. Duplessis. "God wanted that the administration of this province be in my hands and with long experience, I will take care of everything."

Summerland Will Ice Hockey Team In Commercial Loop

Summerland again this year will have an intermediate hockey team in the Pentiction and District Commercial League although there is no guarantee of home games unless artificial ice is available this winter and games can be definitely scheduled.

Annual meeting of the league was held last night in Pentiction and Summerland members named to the executive are George Taylor and J. Heavysides. President is Mori Bird and secretary-treasurer is Freda Castion. Other executive members are J. McLean, Pat Mulligan, M. Reeder, Ed Clark, Denis Wyatt, and K. Roegel.

The same four teams who participated in the league last year will be back on the ice and there is the possibility that a junior team may also be entered.

First practice of the season will be at the Pentiction arena on Sunday afternoon.

Summerland delegates to the meeting made an effort to have games played at the Summerland arena during any period it is possible to make ice but ran into solid opposition to the proposal. Pentiction members argued that the league must make a definite commitment to the arena at the beginning of the season to reserve the ice and this would be disrupted to switch games to Summerland, with little or no notice when ice is available.

Members agreed, however, that when artificial ice is available at the rink here, home games for the Summerland team will be regularly scheduled.

Coach of the Summerland squad this year will be Gordie Taylor, replacing Rocky Richardson who has moved from Summerland. Another loss to the Summerland team is Dick Steinger who last year was top scorer in the league but has left the district since.

It is expected the local icemen will be able to recruit several new players from the crew building the new road through Summerland and it is reported there are several top notch men available from this source. Several promising youngsters from Summerland are also expected to be on the ice for the practice session Sunday.

Fun for Oldsters, too ...

Youth Centre to Sponsor High Jinks For Junior Set to Mark Halloween

With two successful Halloween events behind them, Youth Centre Association this week laid plans for a similar celebration this year to be staged on Saturday night, Oct. 30. The Youth Centre party last year drew more than 400 children and an even larger turnout is expected this year.

Youth Centre will again team with Teen Town to produce entertainment for all ages. Early part of the evening will be the Youth Centre program for the younger set and then Teen Town will take over with a dance going on until midnight.

The monster party will start at the Bowldrome with a snake parade at 7 o'clock to the Youth Centre for a bonfire and fireworks. This will be followed by games and costume judging in the centre with Charles Wilkinson acting as master of ceremonies.

Committed in charge of the party is headed by the president, Art Crawford and working with him are members of the executive, F. E. Atkinson, Blair Underwood, Les Gould, E. R. Butler, George Chadburn, Jim Dunsdon, John Kitson, D. L. MacIntosh, D. V. Fisher, Mrs. Art Crawford, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson and Mrs. C. W. Reinertson.

Teen Town dance will be directed by its mayor, Don Gilbert.

Red Delicious Market Strong

Although Red Delicious sales in the United States have been relatively steady for the past few days and a strong market undertone is indicated, B.C. Tree Fruits in this week's market report states there has been little interest in the other varieties available for shipment, particularly McIntosh, most dealers buying their requirements of this variety at attractive prices in the east.

Apple demand in Eastern Canada continues very spotty and representatives reports indicate the market requirements are being amply taken care of by local supplies.

In western Canada McIntosh sales are running slightly behind last year due in part to the lateness of the current season. However, the daily shipments compare favorably with the corresponding dates of 1953 which indicate a steady consumer acceptance.

Tree Fruits report since the opening of the D'Anjou to eastern Canada, the sales to that area have been quite good. D'Anjou will be offered to western Canada today. The demand for D'Anjou in the west has been improving yearly and while the buying power has been reduced somewhat this year due to the deterioration of the grain crops, the market opinion suggests that the western provinces will again this season want a fairly substantial quantity of this variety.

Grapes continue to move at a steady pace and if normal weather conditions prevail, it is expected the shipping season will complete in a week or 10 days.

Will Debate New Tax At Sacred Convention

A resolution of the Summerland delegation condemning the new equipment tax failed to get support at the meeting of the South Okanagan Social Credit Association in Kelowna last Thursday, but the meeting voted to ask provincial president Noel Murphy to have on the program of the provincial convention next week a speaker qualified to explain the workings of the tax.

The Summerland resolution failed because none of the delegates to the Kelowna meeting felt they were sufficiently acquainted with the new tax to discuss the subject. That there was justification for this vagueness was indicated when one speaker stated he is a tax assessor and he doesn't understand it.

Election of officers saw Roy Owen of Kelowna returned to the office as president with Lloyd Miller of Summerland as vice-president. Tom Reese of Westbank is 2nd vice-president and Mrs. A. E. Sutton of Kelowna 3rd vice-president.

Summerland delegates named to attend the provincial convention in Vancouver on Oct. 22-23 were Lloyd Miller and Harry Hackman and one more to be appointed.

Two other resolutions were discussed by the meeting, one dealing with membership drives and the other to ask that the provincial convention dates in future years be set at a later time in the year which would be more convenient to Okanagan delegates who find difficulty in getting away at the peak of the picking season.

Long-Time Friends Gather to Honor Mrs. G. J. C. White on 95th Birthday

A district pioneer was honored by a group of long-time friends Monday when they gathered to celebrate the 95th birthday of Mrs. G. J. Coulter White. The party in her honor was at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter M. Wright, Parkdale.

Mrs. White is in exceptionally good health for her years and still has possession of her faculties. Last year she crocheted a large table cloth about eight feet square.

Mrs. White came to Summerland with her husband, who had just retired from the ministry in 1900. Mr. White died in 1938.

Since she came to Summerland she has taken an active interest in the Women's Institute and was one of the charter members of the Summerland branch, Summerland Baptist church and the WCTU.

Those present at the birthday party Monday were all among the early residents of the district. They were Mrs. Margaret Dale, Mrs. Rosa Rab, Mrs. James Ritchie, Mrs. James Danke, Mrs. Baal Stuart, Mrs. L. Bancroft, Mrs. F. E. Shopard, of Summerland; Mrs. E. W. A. Cooper, Mrs. W. A. Rutherford and Miss Laura Boggs of Pentiction and Mrs. Voniot of Vancouver.

Assisting Mrs. Wright in serving the guests were Mrs. C. Denike and Miss Ruth Dale.

Rotary Speaker

Summerland Fruit Union sought to purchase eight lakeshore lots between the post office and the union office for the erection of a frost-proof building for the packing, handling and storing of fruit.

Protests had been lodged with the postal department against the discontinuance of the exchange of mails between upper and lower post offices on Sunday evenings.

The Duke of Devonshire, Governor-general of Canada and the Duchess of Devonshire, accompanied by Lady Dorothy Cavendish, were tendered a public reception at the wharf in Summerland when they arrived on the S.S. Sicamous.

Peachland's first agricultural fair was inaugurated by the Duke of Devonshire, who declared it officially open after viewing the exhibits on display.

Charles Wharton was greeted by many friends upon his arrival home after serving in Mesopotamia and South Russia.

W. W. Borton with his wife and three children arrived from the east to make their home in Summerland.

THIRTY YEARS AGO — OCTOBER 16, 1924

A surprising situation had developed from statements attributed to members of the Canadian Senate who were said to be desirous of the CPR building a branch line into the Okanagan and not the CNR.

That some method must be devised for relieving land owners of the cost of financing schools appeared to be the unanimous feeling of the reeve and council when a resolution from the UBCM was submitted for their endorsement.

Several miles of fluming at the upper end of Garnet Valley was required to be replaced before the next year's irrigation season opened. The cost was estimated at $30,000, which would have to be raised by debentures.

Further tests with a Mansfield's water finder revealed that there were underground streams of water widely scattered over Paradise Flat in sufficient volume to warrant the expense of digging.

Definite markets for windfalls were obtained at reasonably good prices; the Summerland Co-op stated.

FIVE YEARS AGO — OCTOBER 20, 1919

E. H. Rumball, first president of the newly formed Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce, received the official charter and gavel of office from Reeve R. A. Johnston at a well-attended Charter Night banquet.

Summerland Singers' and Players' Club had selected Iolanthe as the Gilbert and Sullivan vehicle for the annual singers' section production.

Behind The Chinese Curtain

For more than half a century the churches of Christendom carried on widespread missionary work in China, not only preaching the Gospel, but establishing free hospitals, schools, famine relief and many other humanitarian agencies, which were appreciated by the Chinese people.

These thoughts came to me as I read a new book entitled "Watching The Chinese Curtain Fall" by Dr. W. J. Sheridan, who labored for over thirty years as a medical missionary in West China.

In his book Dr. Sheridan presents a factual account of the rise and spread of the Communist movement as he and fellow missionaries had witnessed it at first hand.

It is little wonder that with the working-up of such fanaticism the "converts" to Communism were ready to believe the blackest lies about the western nations, and to accept without thought the false doctrines and promises of Karl Marx.

That is a comparatively mild example of the many authentic accounts of Communist tyranny revealed in this book.

Hobson's Choice . . . people's jobs are most important

WHEN auto workers at Studebaker's South Bend, Indiana, plant voted eight to one in favor of accepting a pay cut of about 14 per cent, union leaders described their decision to support management's proposal as "one of the hardest . . . of our lives."

The incident at South Bend is not an isolated one on the industrial front. Nor does it indicate that labor leaders are growing soft.

Market Research . . . plenty of opportunities ahead

WHENEVER a buyers' market replaces a sellers' market we become aware of the need for more research in the field of marketing.

Results of a recent survey in California indicate the possibilities and practical advantages of planned economic enquiry in this direction.

Comparable research here in Canada would undoubtedly uncover similar opportunities for improvement. Within the limits imposed by the amount of the Canadian consumer dollars spent on food—at the present time about 11 cents of it goes to the farmer and about 12 cents to agencies between farmer and consumer—there are several ways of increasing the profitability of all phases of the agricultural industry.

One is to reduce the costs of the farmer by research in technology and farm management; a second is to induce consumers to spend more on food and services; a third is to reduce the cost of

Explains Lottery Stand

Editor Summerland Review.

Early in spring the joint committee of the senate and the house of commons on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries submitted a questionnaire to me as attorney-general, seeking certain information and views on the foregoing topics.

I am a little surprised at the sensational headlines referring to my very limited recommendation concerning lotteries.

It should be made clear that the view of the attorney-general was sought in this questionnaire and not that of the government of this province.

It should be remembered that the criminal code of Canada presently makes provision for limited lottery or raffle activity in the case of agricultural fairs, where very large prizes are often awarded, and also in the case of bazaars held for charitable or religious objectives where the prizes offered do not exceed $50.00.

However, any recommendation to extend lottery activities in Canada must be made subject to many practical and moral considerations.

More important from the public's point of view, however, is the need for regulating the conduct of any charitable lottery to ensure that only that charity would derive benefit from its operation and that private promoters would not spring up to manage charity lotteries for their own advantage.

I suggested in my recommendation to the senate and commons committee that no charitable organization should conduct more than one lottery a year. This view should be expanded to meet the practical difficulty which is presented if a large number of charitable organizations each were to hold one lottery during a year.

The current discussion about lotteries in the City of Vancouver emphasizes the need for an objective examination of the lotteries question.

Moreover, many respectable organizations by their inquiries to this office, seeking permission to stage lotteries—which, of course, I cannot permit—indicate that people do not regard lotteries as a criminal activity; thus the re-examination of the entire question by the senate and commons committee will be a valuable service to the public.

Even then, and even in the event that the committee should view charitable lotteries with favor, I think it would be wise for the federal government to canvass public opinion as a whole before such a far-reaching amendment were made to the criminal code.

R. W. BONNER, Attorney-General.

Go West

I talked to a young man on an east-bound train the other day. He told me that he was hitting East "where the big money is". Perhaps he was right, but I have my doubts.

It is a free country, and every young man has a perfect right to choose his own location. Up to the present moment, at any rate, our government hasn't started telling us where we must work.

All the signs point to a boom on the Prairies. Certainly the industrial development, on the Prairies right now is spectacular. Within the next ten or fifteen years they will add pulpwood production to their growing string of industries.

It seems to me that the West is just coming into its own. There was a time when Manitoba and Saskatchewan depended almost entirely on the market for wheat. They are wiser today.

Poultry, pigs, sheep and furs are beginning to play a large part in the Prairie economy. The processing of these items means important urban industries. Alberta and Saskatchewan have their growing oil fields. Increased immigration will make a larger domestic market.

It is always hard to prophesy the future. But it would seem reasonable to advise young men, looking for a big future, to look westward. All the signs point favorably in that direction.

The Lighter Side

A couple of the boys had been whooping it up and finally decided to stagger up to bed. Their room in the hotel was a twin-bed affair and, not bothering to switch on the light, the two spouses started to address on different sides of the same bed.

The Englishman, world traveller, was lecturing before a Scottish audience and, among other things, happened to say: "I was born an Englishman; I have lived as an Englishman; and I will die an Englishman."

A local lad had this motto lettered on his car: "Some of the world's bravest women pass through these doors."

Indubitably, Romeo was the first quizzmaster. Remember his declaration that he had a lady in the balcony?

Junior: "What made you marry mommy, daddy?"

Senior: "So you're beginning to wonder too eh?"

The farmer's cart was passing the wall surrounding an asylum and one of the "Nuts" was seated on top of the wall.

"What you got in the cart," he said. "Fertilizer."

A psychiatrist was examining a draftee. Psychiatrist: "What's your occupation?" Draftee: "I'm a gag writer for radio."

Psychiatrist: "Let's see you invent a gag." Draftee (rising slowly, goes to the door and looks down at the long line of other draftees: "O.K., you guys can go home now, the job's taken."

Natural Attractions Unchallenged in B.C.

An interesting if minor debate is currently raging in Victoria regarding tourists and the procedures best adapted to keeping them in the locality for longer periods.

Figures just published by the Department of Trade and Industry show that so far this year, B.C. has played host to only 1.3 percent less tourists than a year ago.

The reduction is being attributed to the poor summer. Obviously the amenities available for outdoor visitors are much less enticing in bad weather, so the question is, should B.C. intensify created or synthetic attractions that may appeal to visitors even when the weather does not co-operate.

The interests, which gain directly from tourist spending are naturally impressed with the possibilities of entertainment projects which would supposedly hold visitors in a community.

The implication seems to be that publicity efforts should continue to be concentrated upon the natural attractions. They are unchallenged.—Vernon News.

Soak the Rich?

Fuzzy minded communists and crack pots, jealous of the success of others, might be surprised to learn what would happen if they lined up all the millionaires in the country to divvy up everything in their wallets.

One hundred seventy-one persons in the United States reported their 1951 income at one million dollars or more. These 171 had a total income of $345,640,000 of which $215,654,000 or 62 percent was scooped up by the federal tax collector.

The largest number of taxpayers—5,254,640 fell into the $3,000 to $3,499 bracket having a total income of $17,075,892,000 of which Uncle Sam took 7.7 percent. This accounted for 5.4 percent of the total taxes paid to the government.

Soaking Mr. Big more will not help matters much. He's pretty well saturated already.—Lyden (Wash.) Tribune.

Mid-Week Message

The angel of the Lord spake unto Philip, saying, Arise, and go . . . And he arose and went. (Acts 8:26, 27.) Read Acts 8:35-40.

Our neighbor was on a business trip. He missed his train home, but consoled himself with the thought that it must be for some good purpose.

"I'm afraid, Sir, that you are not in a proper condition tonight to talk about God. Here is my card. If you are really serious, call me tomorrow."

The man called. He had been a civil engineer but, had lost his position and family through drink-ness. Together they spent time in prayer.

Our neighbor later said to us, "I had to miss that train, for God needed me."

Here we have a modern repetition of Philip and the Ethiopian—God working through a Christian to bring a person to Christ.

PRAYER

In the delays of life, dear Lord, help us not to waste time in resentment, but rather to be alert to opportunities they afford. Help us to seek Thee under every circumstance that Thou mayest work through us. In Christ's name. Amen.

Junior Groups At St. Stephen's Start Activities

The Junior Auxiliary (J.A. girls ages 7 to 12), the Girls Auxiliary (G.A. girls in their teens), and the Sunday School have resumed their fall activities with renewed interest. In addition two new youth organizations have started. A branch of the Anglican Young Peoples Association (A.Y.P.A.) was formed at a meeting held in the Parish Hall Friday, October 8; and a branch of the Church Boys League (C.B.L. boys ages 7 to 12) was formed at a meeting October 5.

William Wilburn was elected President of the A.Y.P.A. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Ann Beggs; Secretary, Jean Northrup; and Treasurer, John Adams. A Program Committee was appointed with Mrs. William Baker as convener; also a Social Committee with Mrs. Albert Northrup as convener. Twenty-two enthusiastic young people gathered for the first meeting. Their motto is: "For Christ and His Church" and they aim to fulfill it by a four-fold program of Worship, Work, Fellowship and Edification. They will hold regular meetings on the second and fourth Fridays of each month at 8:15 p.m.

The C.B.L. elected as Prior, John Lott; Scribe, Brian Adams; and Rurser, George Northrup. In the C.B.L. the boys pass through the ranks of Page, Esquire and Knight. Their meetings are held in the Parish Hall each Tuesday during the noon hour. Their leader is Mrs. Northrup.

Sunday, October 17, is Children's Day and Youth Sunday in the Anglican Church all across Canada. The children and young people of all youth organizations will attend the regular 11 a.m. service in St. Stephen's Church. Four young people of the A.Y.P.A. will take part in this service. Clever Cooking . . .

This is Cheese Festival month in Canada and homemakers have probably seen all the beautiful magazine advertisements there are for cheese. But, it seems that Canadians need to be told over and over again that they should eat more cheese.

It does seem strange that here in Canada we produce two products which are said to be among the finest in the world—cheddar cheese and fish—yet our consumption of both is very low. Probably it is just the old story of not appreciating what we produce at home.

Do we have to import cheese to get our own people to eat this good dairy product? Let us hope not because our own cheddar cheese is excellent. Why do we seem to be ignoring it? Naturally we have to import some cheese, for some of the foreign types are not made in Canada. However, when shopping let us consider our own cheese first and buy it as a regular staple.

If you conscientiously feel that you would like to use more cheese in your family's meals, here are some ideas for serving cheese at every meal. Let us start with breakfast. So many people ignore breakfast or else just have juice and coffee, that we wonder why? Naturally, time is often a factor, but could it be that many adults have become tired of breakfast. In so many homes breakfast is the same everyday, probably cereal, juice, fried, boiled or poached egg, toast and a beverage. If we had the same lunch or the same dinner every day we would indeed get tired of it too.

If you want to put variety in the breakfast menu, cheese is right there to do its part. Try a cheese omelet—it is easy to make and very tasty. Or perhaps an open-face egg, bacon and cheese sandwich made by simply placing a fried or poached egg on top of a piece of toast, sprinkling with plenty of grated cheese, then topping with some diced bacon and slipping under the broiler for a couple of minutes until the cheese melts and the bacon broils. Then too a little grated cheese added to scrambled eggs gives a different flavor. Cheese pancakes are another favorite with most of us.

Cheese fits in with toast or rolls too. If you really love cheese then of course there is no need to mention how good it is spread on breakfast toast and topped with jam or marmalade. Cheese muffins or cheese tea biscuits are also good for breakfast and a welcome change from the usual toast.

When the clock strikes twelve many a worried homemaker is thinking—what can I serve for lunch? Having to prepare different meals everyday can be quite exhausting at times—exhausting especially where ideas for menus are concerned, and luncheon or supper seems to be the greatest headache. Have you tried using this idea? There are seven luncheons to prepare each week and there are seven, shall we say "types of luncheon foods." First there are the hot dishes made with eggs, secondly those made with cheese, thirdly those made with meat, fish or poultry and fourth those made with vegetables. Then you also have salads, sandwiches and soups. If Mrs. Homemaker will just try and have her luncheons around any one of these each day of the week, she should not have any trouble. There are literally hundreds of ways you can prepare each of them. Look at any cook book and you will find there are all kinds of egg dishes such as souffles, omelets, french toast, eggs a la king, scrambled eggs with diced meat or vegetables and a host of others. Now to see what luncheon dishes can be prepared with cheese!

Of course, it must be remembered that each of these main foods can be combined with one or two of the others. For instance the omelet mentioned might be a cheese omelet, or the eggs might be in a cheese sauce rather than a cream sauce.

Considering the real cheese dishes, there is always the old standby macaroni and cheese. Then there is cheese puffed, cheese souffle, cheese fondue, cheese rarebit, cheese casseroles and toasted cheese rolls. There are also some of the well known foreign cheese dishes like Lasagna, Gnocchi, Ravioli and so on. Then too there are the soups that make excellent luncheon dishes, onion soup with parmesan cheese sprinkled on top and potato and cauliflower soups with cheese in them.

Now to think about cheese for dinner—to start with—the appetizer. What could be easier and tastier than little crackers with cheese and icy cold tomato juice. It is simple enough and there is such a variety of Canadian made cheese that a different one can be served everyday of the week. Then the main course—the vegetable might be served with a cheese sauce, or the main dish maybe a casserole topped with cheese. The side salad could be made with cottage cheese or cream cheese or it may have diced cheese in it. And for the dessert what could be better than cheese cake or rosy red apples with cheese, or some juicy pears and need we remind you—with cheese.

Form Anglican Young Peoples

A group of young people ranging in age from 12 to 18 met at the Anglican Parish Hall on Friday, Oct. 8, to decide whether or not they would like to form an Anglican Young Peoples Association. Rev. A. A. T. Northrup read the history of the A.Y.P.A. and pointed out that there had once been such an organization here years ago. By a show of hands it was decided to re-organize the group. The meetings will be held on the 2nd and 4th Friday's of each month.

Entertainment in the form of two contests proved very enjoyable. They then proceeded with the election of officers. The results were as follows: President—Bill Wilburn; Vice-president—Anne Beggs; Secretary—Jean Northrup; Treasurer—John Adams; Reporting secretary—Anne Kersey; Entertainment Committee—Mrs. Baker, Joan Beggs, Barbara Baker; Social Committee—Mrs. Northrup, Pauline Cooper, Valerie Myers.

As Oct. 17 is Youth Sunday, four members of A.Y.P.A. will take part in the eleven o'clock service. They are Bill Wilburn, John Adams, Barbara Baker and Anne Kersey.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Mrs. Northrup and Mrs. Baker.

When you are buying a new rug for your living room, consider that cool colors, blues, greens and grays, make a room seem larger; warm colored rugs in red and gold shades give the cozy look.

When two mutual admirers, Barbara Anne Scott and Marilyn Bell met in Toronto, they found they had a lot to tell each other. Marilyn, the 16-year-old who was catapulted to fame by her conquest of Lake Ontario, asked Barbara, who has won world acclaim as a skater, how long it took to really relax and return to normal after becoming a world figure. Barbara thought for a few minutes then decided it took about three years. "Holy cow," said Marilyn, "I'm glad I went back to school."

Canned Crabapples
Add Color to Menu

The canned crabapple, long a desert favorite, now appears as a colorful and tasty decoration for many buffet meat dishes. The commercial process developed may be simply adapted to home processing in cans or glass jars, says J. A. Kitson at the Experimental Station.

Fruit selection is important to production of an evenly dyed glossy-skinned product, with a few large checks in the skin which are considered desirable. Best results in experimental packs have been obtained with fully ripe Transcendent or Hyslop crabapples.

For home processing the fruit is simply prepared by washing in cold water, leaving stems on and filling into fruit enamelled cans or scalded glass sealers. Five cloves provide sufficient spice for a twenty ounce or No. 2 can; with proportionately more being used for larger containers. A syrup consisting of three cups of water to two cups of sugar is colored by addition of red food dye. To produce a bright color in the finished fruit approximately two teaspoons of most common brands of red liquid food coloring should be added to each cup of syrup. For a variety a green dye may be substituted.

The home process for cans consists of heating the prepared syrup to boiling and pouring into the fruit-filled containers. Cans are partially immersed in boiling water for 3 minutes to exhaust prior to closing, then cooked for 15 minutes in a boiling water bath. If glass jars are used lids are applied according to the makers directions and the product is cooked for 20 minutes in boiling water.

A somewhat spicier pack is produced if a small piece of cinnamon bark is added to each container or if a teaspoon of distilled vinegar is mixed with each cup of syrup.

Keep Your Eye On This Good Buy; You Can't Go Wrong On This One

"Most people have an eye for a good buy," said Ivor Solly manager of the Bank of Montreal's West Summerland branch, "but just the same, there are probably some who will miss the best buy of the year." He was referring, of course, to the new issue of Canada Savings Bonds, now on sale at his office.

"Once in a while a man will make a poor buy—it happens to us all," Mr. Solly continued, "but you can't go wrong on a Savings Bond. Not only do the bonds carry a good rate of interest—3 1/4 per cent in fact—but the government guarantees to redeem them for the holder at any time, at full face value, without loss—plus interest to the end of the previous calendar month.

"You just can't ask for anything fairer than that," Mr. Solly said. "Furthermore, the bonds can be purchased by instalments if you haven't the ready cash. Only $2.50 down for a $50 bond, $5 for a $100, and the balance in easy instalments over a year."

If you want to end up next year with a nice little "nest-egg", this is a safe and sure way of achieving it. Mr. Solly invites you to drop in and arrange for yours at any time. But don't leave it until too late—you can't afford to miss out on such a good thing.

League Bowlers Will Meet Next Week To Draw Schedule For Coming Year

Summerland's league bowling season is just around the corner and plans for this year's schedule will be laid Tuesday night at a meeting of league members to be held at the Bowldome at 8 o'clock.

Last year 16 teams competed in two sections of the Kingpin league and a still bigger year is anticipated this season with most of last year's entries already signified they will be back on the alleys again and several new teams will be entered.

On the agenda for Tuesday night's meeting beside drawing the schedule will be election of officers. Present slate of officers is Mey Wells, president; Mrs. J. Litchenwald, secretary; Roy Desllets, treasurer and J. Litchenwald, Ralph Daniels and Herb Woods as executive members.

Team captains have been requested to advise the executive at the earliest possible date that they wish to be included in the schedule so that it can be drawn Tuesday night.

It is hoped first games of the new schedule will be played the following week.

Hunting and Fishing News

FISHING

Okanagan Lake has been better this last week again. Alf McLachlan landed a 3 3/4 lber on the lake a few days ago. Quite a few nice catches have been made of 3 lbs. or a little more. The weather is cool and the lake blows up pretty rough at times but it is getting time for the bigger fish to start biting. Casting off the drop-offs is good also with quite a few 2 to 3 lbers being landed.

Mountain Lakes are still good, but it is pretty cool and frosty. Still worth it though because some very nice ones are being landed. Richter Lake still holding good with more 4 and 5 pounders being landed on shrimp fly and flat fish.

HUNTING

Grouse hunting still spotty however a couple of reports from Snow Mountain say report larger coveys. There are still a few around in the usual spots but not too many. Hunters lucky to bring in three or four birds. Quail and Pheasants start here the 16th of this month, and there seems to be about the same number of birds as last year but a dog will be necessary to get good results.

Deer are not so plentiful as yet. Three more bucks were got this last week. The most deer seen were south of the tracks in a south-early direction from Kathleen Moun-

G. S. Thorvaldson, Q.C., Winnipeg, who has been elected President of The Canadian Chamber of Commerce at the national business organization's 25th annual meeting at Halifax, October 4-7. Mr. Thorvaldson is senior partner in the Winnipeg law firm of Thorvaldson, Eggertson, Bastin & Stringer. During the past year he has served as second national vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. Active in community and business affairs, and Chamber of Commerce work, Mr. Thorvaldson is a past president of the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce. He is also president of International Loan Company, North Canadian Trust Company, director of a number of other firms, and a member of the Manitoba and Canadian Bar Associations.

No sign yet as to the rut but it is due to start any day now and the hunters will get better chances.

No more reports in from the Caribou but the reports from last week indicate that the side roads are really tough.

Obtaining Bids On Cost of New Ice Equipment

Executive of Summerland Rink Association is hopeful that within a few days it will have a definite proposal on equipping the Summerland Arena with artificial ice and municipal council will be asked to put the proposal to the ratepayers at the same time as the municipal election early in December.

President of the rink association, C. H. Elsey this week said several manufacturers of ice-making equipment have been asked to submit bids on the cost of such installation in Summerland so that a comparison with the cost of installing second-hand equipment now available to the association can be made. Mr. Elsey said the association executive will not decide what form its recommendation to the council will take until after bids have been received.

It was previously estimated cost of installing second-hand equipment would be about $25,000.

The association members are confident the rink will be self-supporting once the artificial ice is installed and it can be operated for a full season. Last year with only about two and one-half weeks of ice, operation of the rink came very close to breaking even. The previous year weather remained mild throughout the winter and it was not possible to make ice at all during the season.

Municipal Council last year expressed willingness to place before the ratepayers a proposal that the municipality take over the rink but the association was unable to agree on any definite proposal to put before the council. Since then the executive has been active in preparing a plan which will be acceptable to all parties concerned so that the objective of having artificial ice installed in the rink may be achieved and give a full season of ice sport to the youngsters of the district as well as added entertainment facilities for adults.

Will Seek Approval For Special Rate To Experimental Farm

Ratepayers at the December elections will be asked to give an answer to at least two questions in voting for councillors.

Municipal Clerk at the council meeting Tuesday reminded the council the 20-year agreement by which the municipality supplies water to the Experimental Station expired last year and a new agreement must be drawn and ratified by the ratepayers to go on supplying water to the farm at a special rate.

Present rate to the farm is $180 a year and the special rate is set because water is not provided during the full year and is not a guaranteed supply.

Council debated whether the rate should be increased in view of the fact that water consumption at the station has increased since the agreement was drawn in 1933 and 13 buildings are now being served.

The matter of rate was left with the reeve to discuss with officials at the experimental station.

Other by-law on which ratepayers will be asked to vote will be for funds to carry out repairs and alterations to the Summerland General Hospital.

Popular Fairy Tale Dramatized In Holiday Theatre Production

Popular children's story "Puss in Boots" will receive a dramatic interpretation in the High School auditorium tomorrow by the Vancouver Holiday Theatre group.

As a result of Hurricane Hazel, which struck apple growing areas of Michigan and Virginia, as well as Ontario, market has again been flooded with salvage fruit at low prices.

This was the outlook expressed this morning by B.C. Tree Fruits in the weekly summary of fruit marketing conditions.

The report stated that approximately 70 per cent of the Appalachian apple crop was unharvested when hurricane "Hazel" struck.

Pear marketing picture is somewhat brighter with sales of d'Anjou to eastern Canada continuing steady and all markets generally firm.

The western Canadian demand for apples has remained steady through the week with all markets reporting sales as fair to good.

Summerland Girl Mild Polio Victim

Polio in one of its milder forms struck a 16-year-old Summerland girl this week and she is now reported to be well out of danger.

Dr. W. H. E. Munn, who has been treating the patient, stated there were no paralytic complications and suggested that while there is no cause for alarm because of the presence of the germ in the community, people would still be well advised to observe all sanitary precautions.

There has been no serious incidence of polio in the district this year, Dr. Munn pointed out, and with every case diagnosed, medical authorities believe there are about 10 very mild infections which manifest themselves only as upset stomach or something equally mild.

Trade Board Finds No Alternative To Granville Road Parking Problem

Summerland Board of Trade Thursday night gave consideration to the proposal of parallel parking on Granville Road but in the end ran into a blank wall.

Problem of the high curbs is not easily overcome. Other side of the street is already low and to build up the north side would create the danger of flooding basements on the south side when snow thaws.

Question was also raised whether crosswalks marked by yellow plastic buttons are defined as pedestrian zones and whether it was mandatory for motorists to come to a stop when they are occupied.

Test Pack Pears In Sealed Liners

Test pack of about 10,000 boxes of d'Anjou pears in sealed polythene liners is being carried out this season by B.C. Tree Fruits and it is expected this type of handling will extend the marketing season for his fruit by three months or more.

Normally all d'Anjous must be marketed by about the end of the year but it is expected the polythene sealed fruit will not be marketed until probably about February or March.

The pack is done by lining the box with a large polythene bag which is sealed and the fruit is held in cold storage. This permits carbon dioxide given off by the fruit to build up in the sealed container and suspends the ripening process.

The idea is not new, a similar pack having been prepared in the U.S. now for several years and the principle involved is the same as gas storage which has been used in England for a number of years.

Hospital Deficit Still Climbing

Hospital directors Tuesday night heard discouraging news that hospital operation went over $900 in the red during the month of September.

Since the beginning of October, however, business at the hospital has suddenly boomed, Administrator J. E. O'Mahony reported to the board, and the institution has been close to capacity since then.

Cost of operating the hospital for the month was $5,024.40. The board gave approval to a revised set of by-laws presented by Dr. J. C. Wilcox, chairman of a committee which has been studying revision.

'Senator's' Imagination on the Loose To Plan For Halloween Celebration

With "Senator" Charlie Wilkinson giving full rein to his imagination in planning Halloween celebration for Summerland, it looks as though anything and everything is likely to happen at the big fun fest being sponsored Saturday, Oct. 30 by the Youth Centre Association.

To get more elbow room for the monster party, the location has been switched from the Youth Centre to the Summerland Arena.

Everything goes according to plan, "Senator" Wilkinson will assuredly establish himself as "The Poor Man's P. T. Barnum."

"This year, everything's going to be different. We're going to have bronc busting, steer rassing, bear bait, bull fighting, turkey shoot, baseball game and a few more things that'll really put some fire in the show."

"Don't forget to say in the paper that this is going to be the biggest thing yet in the way of Halloween celebration. We're importing one bull from Mexico for the bullfight and we've got Chester Reinertson travelling all through the Cariboo country to round up another one."

"The wild boar we're importing from Africa. In the afternoon there'll be a big parade through town with two bands and all the livestock. It's going to be the biggest, don't forget to mention that."

"Be sure to say people are going to see things they have never seen before. There'll be an educational side too. We're going to have a couple of prominent members of the medical profession perform an operation right on the stage."

"And this isn't just a kid's party, it's going to be for the whole family. Everything's free, too. The Youth Centre's putting on the party and paying my fee for running it. Of course if you want coffee, or pop, or hot dogs, you'll have to pay for them because Teen Town's going to run a canteen."

"If you think of anything I've missed, put it in but make sure you mention it's going to be the greatest. Oh yes, save some space next week, too, because I'm expecting to have some more ideas before then."

Well, that's the "Senator's" story!

Rotarians Hear Talk On European Travels

Rotarians at their meeting Friday night heard from Dr. Maurice Welsh a travelogue on his recent trip to the United Kingdom and north west Europe. His talk was illustrated with colored slides.

Members were notified this week that they were invited to attend the annual meeting of the hospital society in February before they become effective.

President Ivor Solly reported on the convention of the B.C. Hospital Association which he attended last week in Vancouver. Mrs. T. B. Loft gave a brief report on the convention of Hospital Auxiliaries held at the same time.

Miss Leonie Reed of the teaching staff of Summerland High School is in hospital in Kelowna.

T. S. Richardson Fatally Stricken While at Work

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from Roselawn Funeral Home for Thomas Stokes Richardson, who was stricken by a fatal heart attack Monday morning while working on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denike in Parkdale.

Mr. Richardson was 75 years of age. He has been a resident of the Okanagan since he came from his birthplace in Kent, England to Penticton in 1910.

He was in apparent good health right up until the time of the seizure. He is survived by a son Cris in Penticton, four grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

H. E. Matticks of Jehovah's Witnesses officiated at the final rites yesterday afternoon and interment was in Peach Orchard cemetery.

He has been a resident of the Okanagan since he came from his birthplace in Kent, England to Penticton in 1910. He has resided in Summerland for the past six years and recently purchased a home in Victoria Gardens.

Plans were laid for a spring campaign to raise the assessment for this presbytery of the $400,000 to be raised for Union College at UBC.

Over Thousand Mark In CARS Campaign

With Rebekah's campaign on behalf of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society now completed, Mrs. Lloyd Shannon, chairman of the drive, has reported collections totalling $1,093.75.

The campaign this year netted nearly $200 over that collected last year and Mrs. Shannon on behalf of her committee expressed warm appreciation for the generous response to the appeal and to those who aided the highly successful drive.

Vacant Home Guttled In Sunday Blaze

For the second time in a week, fire struck Sunday in a vacant house and home of Walter Bednard on Giant's Head was severely gutted.

Indication was that the fire started in the front porch but there was no evidence to indicate how it started. Mr. Bednard has not been living in the house but had planned on moving back in shortly.

His loss was partially covered by insurance.

54 Years in Canada

Local Credit Union Members Join In World Observance of Anniversary

There's a patient in the Vancouver General Hospital Polio Ward whose loan for logging equipment was wiped out—just because he's a member of a credit union!

There's an elderly man living down in Ontario who came out to Prince Rupert to pay off his dead son's debts. He found that the son belonged to a credit union, and the debts were paid.

The fisherman tending his nets—the fruit grower gazing out over his acres of orchard, the dairyman in the Fraser Valley, the Farmer, the Logger, the School Teacher, and the Housewife, turning her radio dial—they are all members of credit unions.

They, soattered through the province from Fort St. John in the north to Cloverdale, Osoyoos and Rosland on the southern border— from Fernie and Field in the east right to Port Alberni.

They all have one thing in common, they are organized to help their members have, and to help each other when they need to borrow money.

Credit unions are not a new idea. The first ones were organized in Germany more than 100 years ago. Suppressed by the Nazi regime, they grew vigorously when the Second World War ended. They are active in all parts of Germany, East and West.

Alphonse Desjardins, a French Canadian court reporter formed the first Caisse Populaire (the name he gave his credit unions) at Lévis, Quebec in 1900. That first Caisse has grown steadily. Its assets are over six million dollars today.

The year 1939 saw the Credit Union Act passed in British Columbia, Powell River and Vancouver Federal Employees were the first two groups to obtain charters, and others followed quickly.

Summerland & District Credit Union was organized in July 1944, has progressed steadily and now has total assets of $528,297, with 1,252 members.

Summerland Credit Union will celebrate Credit Union Day with a party at the Youth Centre tonight. One of the most amazing services credit unions render is, insurance on member's shares and member's deposits and loans. In case of death or total disability, practically every credit union loan is paid off, 100 per cent by CUNA Mutual Insurance Society, owned and operated by credit union members.

Nobody knows the exact date that the first Credit Union was formed, but 9,000,000 credit unionists throughout North America, and others throughout the world know and recognize the third Thursday in October as Credit Union Day.

It's the day that they get together in friendly groups, the fisherman, the farmer, the dairyman, the teacher and the housewife, to honor the memory of the pioneers, the man in Germany, in 1848, the man in Quebec in 1900, and the man in Powell River back in 1939.

Anita Ruby Sharp, 4½ months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Sharp, captured first prize at the baby show held by the Women's Institute at Penticton. Judges were Drs. F. W. Andrew, Summerland; W. J. Knox, Kelowna; and H. McGregor and R. E. White, Penticton.

C. A. Mitchell was the first president of St. Andrew's church Y.P.S. Other officers were Ernest Adams, vice-president; Miss Arkell, secretary; Miss Elizabeth Ritchie, treasurer.

Inadequate transportation, lack of storage facilities and shortage of box material caused many headaches in the harvesting of the apple crop. The situation emphasized more than ever before the need of increased storage space at all points in the Okanagan.

Ten prizes with 12 entries of apples and pears were won by Greata Ranch at the provincial fair at New Westminster. Eight of the ten were first prizes, and cash awards amounted to $140.50.

Bylaws authorizing the borrowing of $4,800 for school site purchase and $5,000 for road equipment had passed three readings of the council. Ratepayers were to vote on the bylaws.

THIRTY YEARS AGO — OCTOBER 23, 1924

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King was to speak on behalf of Liberal candidate, Mayor D. W. Sutherland of Kelowna.

At the Tuxis Boys conference in Penticton, Harry Hobbs of Summerland was elected grand praetor and Shelley Knowles scription.

By the building of a large tank, the experimental station was providing ample water supply for fire protection and the running of sprinklers for lawns. The tank measured 20 by 20 by 10 feet inside, and its capacity was 25,000 gallons. Work had also started on the erection of a model dairy barn, and plans were being prepared for a two-story residence for the superintendent.

The thorough knowledge of political subjects, particularly those affecting Yale district, considerably surprised those who attended the political rally to hear Grote Stirling, Conservative candidate in Yale riding by-election for the first time.

Rev. Z. L. Fash, pastor of the Baptist church, resigned and left for Hantsport, N.S.

FIVE YEARS AGO — OCTOBER 27, 1949

Every available bit of cold storage space in the Okanagan was bulging to capacity as the last of the 1949 apple harvest was bundled in before any severe winter weather set in. There were some 6,000,000 boxes of apples under cover.

J. Y. Towgood was chosen as incoming president for 1950 of the Kiwanis Club of Summerland.

A meeting was convened by Mrs. H. R. McLarty at the request of the Women's Institute, to organize the United Nations' Appeal for Children campaign. A campaign committee was named with Mrs. McLarty, chairman; Mrs. Muirhead, secretary; and Mrs. C. H. Elsey, treasurer.

Forty-two young entrants were brought out to the Baby Show held in the Oddfellows' hall and sponsored by the Girl Guides' Local Association.

To Bore Or Not To Bore

"Take me away," said Thomas Carlyle at a dinner table where one of the diners had been monologuing to the extreme limit of boredom, "and put me in a room by myself and give me a pipe of tobacco!"

Many of us have felt this emotion; and some realize that we have occasioned it. The nice consideration for the happiness of others which marks a gentleman may even make him particularly susceptible to this haunting apprehension. Carlyle defined the feeling when he said, "To sit still and be pumped into is never an exhilarating process." But pumping is different. How often have I myself, my adieux seemingly done, my hat in my hand and my feet on the threshold, taken a fresh grip, hat or no hat, on the pump handle, and set good-natured, Christian folk distressedly wondering if I would ever stop! And how often have I afterward recalled something strained and morbidly intent in their expressions a glassiness of the staring eye and a starchiness in the smiling lip, that has made me suffer under my bed cover and swear that next time I would depart like a sky rocket.

The Bore Positive pumps; the Bore Negative compels pumping. Unlike Carlyle, he regards being pumped into as an exhilarating process; he sits tight and says nothing; he keeps his victim talking.

In the last analysis a bore bores because he keeps us from something more interesting than himself. Colbridge's Ancient Mariner, full of an unusual personal experience, that the leisurely reader finds most horridly entertaining, bored the Wedding Guest because at the moment the Wedding Guest wanted to get to the wedding. But the Mariner was too engrossed in his own tale to notice this lack of interest, and so invariably is the Bore Positive: everything escapes him except his listener.

But no matter how well we know we are bored, none of us can be certain that he does not sometimes bore. On the very occasion when I have felt myself as entertaining as a three-ring circus, I may in effect have been as gay and chatty as a like number of tombstones.

The first virtue that we who do not wish to be bores must practice is abstemiousness of self. I know it is hard, but I do not mean total abstinence. A man who tried to converse without his I's would make but a blind stammerer; at it; would become a Bore Negative of the most negative description. But one can at least curb the pronoun, and confine the personally conducted tour into and about myself within reasonable limits. Let me say, "I will not talk about myself for more than 30 minutes," then reduce it to 25; then to 20 — and so on to the irreducible minimum; and he will be surprised to find how his popularity increases with leaps and bounds at each reduction — provided he finds anything else to talk about.

Your Complete Bore, however, is incapable of this treatment, for he does not know that he is a bore. There is, however, one infallible rule for not being a bore — or at any rate for not being much of a bore — and that is, never to make a call, or to talk to a person, for more than 15 minutes. But to apply this rule successfully one must become adept in the Fine Art of Going Away. Remember: Two persons who do not part with kisses should part with haste.

But the 15-minute call followed by the flying exit is at best an unsatisfactory solution, it is next door to staying at home. Better far to come out of your cave, mingle, bore as little as may be — and thank Heaven that here and there you meet one whom you feel reasonably certain that you do not bore.

Happy is the life of Mr. Elmore Philpott, part-time Liberal M.P. for Vancouver South, part-time columnist for Vancouver Sun. In the latter capacity, Mr. Philpott described (September 25) his visit to NATO headquarters near Paris: "I have no taxi trouble, as I have a good RCAF car at my disposal, and an officer guide whose smile is as bright as his brass." Taxpayers back home in Canada may be excused for falling to snile.—Letter Review.

Superior Natives . . . what about their own ancestors

THOSE of us Canadians who take it upon ourselves to argue that there should be restriction of immigration and very close physical, moral and ideological checks on the immigrants we do let in, are guilty of an insolence and arrogance comparable only to that of the noble lord who once declared in the Parliament that colonists existed solely for the purpose of benefitting the home country.

The arrogance and insolence of Canadians who are native born,—one, two or three generations back—lie in the fact that they would not be here, the most of them, if the restrictions now applied to immigrants to Canada had been applied to their grandfathers, grandmothers, great-grandfathers and greatgrandmothers. The English immigrant of 50, 75 or 100 years ago may have brought with him a bit of capital; the Scottish immigrant of the same periods may have brought a few pounds and a sense of thrift; the ebullient Irish arrived with a truculent and cheerful optimism and the seat out of his pants. The Ukrainians of 50 years ago were welcomed because of their physical strength and because their translation from the Russian steppes to the Canadian prairies assisted in the settlement and development of the Canadian prairies.

In view of this, is it not an impertinence for anybody but a Red Indian to propose restriction of immigration?

In the Same Boat . . . the tenacles reach out farther

IT is odd that radio should have become a politically controversial matter in Canada, as the Conservatives invented the C.B.C., the Liberals have run it and the Socialists have received the main benefit from it. Even newspapers, which tend to think of radio as competition, do rather well out of it, as one has to buy a paper to find out what is worth listening to. The real danger to the press is not competition, but rather that publications are classed in the same category as a medium that is enslaved. The contagion might spread. This is also a danger to everybody, for when the Governmental alligators are being fed, it may come one's own turn to be the hors d'oeuvre.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics probably doesn't determine policy, but policy may sometimes be based on its findings. Its findings, as set out in the 1954 edition of the Canada Year Book, page 894, are that, "it has become more generally recognized that broadcasting is a form of publication." The logical extension of this would be for C.B.C. to take over the newspapers and magazines. It would be no vast change for officialdom to run these publications, as already there are so many turned out by Ottawa that the catalogue (price $1.00) takes up 500 pages. To keep track of the flood of all the Government publications issued each month one may pay an annual subscription of $3.00 for a monthly catalogue.

Some newspaper publishers feel that they were to blame for C.B.C., as, away back in the twenties, fearing radio and wishing to fix it so it couldn't function well, they recommended that the Government run it. Judgement at that time was probably based on the assumption that anything handled by a government would be inefficient. There is little in C.B.C.'s record to prove the publishers wrong on the inefficiency estimate. Their mistake was in overestimating the intelligence of the Canadian voter. Who could have supposed that people would be so generous with both their money and their freedom?

Communist Appeal . . . not to poverty and ignorance

SENTIMENTALISTS, who think poverty and ignorance are the cause of Communism, should study detailed study on this subject recently published by Princeton University Press. Entitled The Appeals of Communism, study was made by Dr. Gabriel Almond on basis of information gathered in France, Italy, UK and US.

It shows that people joining the Communist party fall into four main groups — skilled (and therefore well paid) workers, 24 per cent; students, 23 per cent; professionals, particularly teachers and journalists, 22 per cent; and unskilled workers 13 per cent, leaving 18 per cent unclassified. More than two-thirds of those joining had some secondary or higher education.

Dr. Almond finds that neurotic susceptibility to the Communist movement is strongest among American and British middle-class intellectuals. However, Communist party finds them of little use as leaders and officials; prefers, for this purpose, people of working class origin with limited schooling.

Most party members (according to this study) are neither Marxist nor Communist when they join up — working class people least of all — but become Communists by constant indoctrination. They are enrolled on the basis of false propaganda, or are drawn in through local welfare or trade union activity.

Amusing, in a macabre way, is Dr. Almond's finding that Communists hate Socialists much worse than they hate "Fascists."

Apple or Persimmon? All Los Angeles dog licenses, says a dispatch from that metropolis, bear the same expiration date. Current tags read thus: Exp 6-30-55.

A good lady in a contiguous suburb is asking for a new telephone number. She is being overwhelmed by phone calls reporting that her lost dog has been found. She has no dog. But her telephone number is EX 6-3055.

Her situation may be burdensome. But it sounds hardly as embarrassing as that of another good lady in a small Midwest city a few years ago. In lieu of exchange names the local phone company had adopted suffixes, using the names of colors. And her telephone number was eight-one-two-Green—Christian Science Monitor.

Mid-Week Message

The just shall live by faith. (Romans 1:17). Read Acts 22:4-10.

Unforgettable characters of Christian history have all been men and women who have had significant experiences. These experiences have largely typed their way of thinking and given direction to their lives.

John Wesley had such a determining experience in a room in Aldersgate Street, London, on the evening of May 24, 1738. His words describing it, "I felt my heart strangely warmed," have been repeated by Christians around the earth. But he used other words to describe what happened there: "I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone, for salvation; and an assurance was given me that He had taken away my sins, even mine, and saved me from the law of sin and death."

The Aldersgate experience of Wesley was an experience of faith. Whenever we do, with Wesley and multiplied thousands of others, we find pardon, and power, and peace.

PRAYER
"Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief." Grant to me pardon for my sins in act and thought, power for serving Thee this day, and Thy peace which passes all understanding. In the Master's name. Amen.

Try One Sprint

This is an invitation to adventure. Tomorrow morning, when you get out of bed, I would like you to try an experiment.

For one day, try sprinting. Extend yourself. Work harder, faster, and more efficiently than you have ever done before in your life. Just for the heck of it, pull out all the stops—live as though this were the last day you were given.

I will guarantee that you get so much pleasure out of this adventure, you will want to try it again. I have seen it work wonders for many men. I know one fellow who does it every other day. He says it gives him a delightful change of pace.

I learned the trick from an old scout master. We had decided to go on a long hike to a neighboring town. We could not run all the way; but if we walked, we'd never make it there and back in time.

"Here's what we'll do," the scout master said. "We'll walk twenty steps, then run twenty steps. I think you boys will be surprised at the speed we'll make that way."

That is what we did. We reached the town in plenty of time, and we were home again by nightfall. We had actually ran the distance from our camp to the town—but not all at once. By changing pace we had kept fresh.

Try sprinting tomorrow, and going back to your normal pace the following day. You'll be surprised what a change of pace can do for you!

A Discriminatory New Tax

A tax which will undoubtedly discourage new industry coming to the province is the proposed machinery tax of the provincial government. As the implications of the tax become more widely known, Fort Alberni is not the only community which finds itself concerned with the problem of having to secure money where they can get it without reference to well established principles of municipal taxation.

From where we stand there appears to be no equity in it. The act states that industrial machinery must be assessed for school purposes, which may increase the city's share of responsibility for educational costs, but because of the fixed assessments agreement with MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., will produce no extra revenue.

In the past municipal property taxes have been closely related to the value of municipal services. The money has been used to provide roads, sidewalks, street lights, police protection, fire protection and other services, which are either essential to property or which enhance the value of property. These taxes have been related to values in the belief that a large property benefits in direct relation to its size and value. And the one basic principle which has been applied at all times is the principle of equity. Properties which are alike in all respects pay equal taxes.

By no stretch of the imagination can the new machinery tax be made to fit these well established principles. There is no reason to believe that business which uses expensive machinery benefits any more from municipal services than one which uses little or no machinery. The principle of equity, therefore, is completely abandoned and the tax becomes discriminatory in the extreme.

In our opinion, the government drafted this piece of legislation in the belief that it was following the popular principle of getting at the rich. Now it is becoming apparent that not only the rich, represented by the big industries of the province, but the poor as represented by thousands of garages, butcher shops, small machine shops, shoe repair shops, printing shops and many others are going to be affected.

Right in this city there are two newspapers housed in the same block. The West Coast Advocate, because of its machinery will have to pay the tax. The other, because it has no machinery, will not have to pay the tax. No one could say that the one benefits from its municipal services more than the other. This one illustration shows clearly how unfair and discriminatory the new tax could be.—West Coast Advocate, Fort Alberni.

The Lighter Side

A five-year-old apologized for forgetting his aunt's birthday.

"I have no excuse and it would serve me right if you forgot mine on Friday."

"How did your wife get on with her reducing diet?"

"Fine. She disappeared completely last week."

Everybody Welcome

Clever Cooking . . .

Common to all of us is our love of beef. That is quite a broad statement to make because now many other foods are there that we can say everyone loves. Our meat consumption figures show that Canadians eat a lot of beef and pork, but not so much lamb and veal.

Statistics also show that Canadians prefer roasts to other cuts, but the butcher has to sell all the cuts and we cannot just ignore some of them. And so, we want to tell you about a type of meat that many homemakers do not buy very often, ground meat.

In saying that it is a type of meat which is not bought very often we are quite correct because after all every homemaker is very familiar with ground beef whether it is minced round steak or hamburger. But, it is the less common ground meats such as ground pork, ground veal and ground lamb they want to describe to you.

Starting with the ground pork—there are two types of ground pork available, sausage meat which is ground pork to which seasonings have been added and plain unseasoned ground pork. Both ground veal and lamb are usually sold unseasoned. There is a very good reason for mentioning the fact that they are unseasoned. All ground meats can be bought in bulk by the pound, but frequently the ground meat sold in butcher shops has been shaped into patties and sold as meat patties with a dash of parika on the top. These patties look very attractive and are a good buy, but Mrs. Homemaker should realize that she should add a little salt and pepper and other seasonings before cooking. We also suggest that these patties may be served with a spicy meat sauce or gravy.

As mentioned, ground meat can be bought by the pound and can be made up into patties. Here is an excellent basic meat patty recipe:

1½ pounds minced lamb, veal or pork, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ to ½ teaspoon seasoning, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce (optional), ½ cup finely chopped onion, 1 egg, 2 tablespoon water.

Mix meat and seasonings. Brown onions in a little fat if desired. Add slightly beaten egg and water. Shape into patties about ¼ inch thick. Panfry or Broil.

Season lamb with thyme or basil. Season veal with thyme, marjoram or savory.

Season pork with marjoram, sage or savory.

If desired patties may be dipped in dry bread crumbs than dipped in 1 egg slightly beaten with 2 tablespoons water, and dipped in additional crumbs.

Panfry—Brown 1 - 1½ minutes each side on moderate heat in a small amount of fat. Reduce heat and continue cooking 8 - 10 minutes each side. Drain fat off lamb and pork patties before turning them. Cover pork and veal patties after browning.

Broil—Follow general directions for broiling. Broil patties approximately 2 inches from heating unit 4 to 6 minutes each side or until well browned.

Brock Chisholm To Address Teachers At Annual In Vernon This Week

All Summerland teachers this week-end will be in Vernon for the 33rd annual convention of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association and will hear Canada's eminent psychiatrist, Dr. Brock Chisholm, recently retired director-general of the World Health Organization of UN, speak on the topic, "Learning to Live in a New Kind of World", at a meeting open to the public tomorrow evening and again on the final day of their sessions when he will speak on "Growth Toward New Standards of Maturity".

Previous to being Director of WHO, Dr. Chisholm was a psychiatrist, author and lecturer, serving on the Canadian youth commission and presiding over the national committee for mental hygiene. During the war he wore the uniform of a major-general as director of medical services. The dominion government retained his services after the war was over, employing Dr. Chisholm as deputy minister of national health. Ultimate recognition was given to his talents when United Nations appointed him to the highest position possible, director-general, World Health Organization.

Musical varieties featuring leading artists from Theatre Under the Stars will open the convention tonight in the high school auditorium. Dal Richards of Vancouver is presenting this show to set a lively convention tone.

For the first time in its 33 year history, the association will welcome the president of B.C. Teachers' Federation in her home town, Miss Hilda Crydorman, girls' councillor at Vernon Senior High School is the first woman to preside over BCTF affairs. She will address the teachers at their opening of the convention.

Another feature speaker will be Dr. J. K. Friesen, director of University of British Columbia's extension department who has been asked to speak on "In-Service Training for Teachers". This subject is in the foreground in BCTF affairs and it is anticipated that an interesting discussion will fol-

Ranger News

The first meeting of the year for the Ranger Company was held in the kitchen of the Youth Centre. We welcomed to our company Miss Holly and Mrs. Elliott as our new leaders, and Mrs. McIntosh.

Among the old business, the ties are being ordered and are paid for. The Rangers were reminded that full uniform is required at meetings, and those that do not have lanyards and whistles should order them.

The new business included the planning of projects for the year. Miss Holly showed us several, and we decided to send away for different types of flowers to make.

Carole Allison is in charge of the News this year. Fees are due.

It was decided to visit the Mountain View Home once a month. Isabel and Carole will be the first.

We are going to have our registration card framed.

We received two letters. One very interesting one from our former leader Miss Barraud, telling us of her trip to Mexico this summer. The other letter was from Victoria telling us of a camp including two or three Rangers from each company in the province. One of our projects will be to raise money towards this event.

Refreshments will be served at the next meeting.

Strutting in the eyes of the judges who carefully checked the 80 entries in the competition at Simcoe, Ont., was very different to baton twirling. Myrna admitted to be an indifferent baton twirler—but her strutting left nothing to be desired.

Scout Activities

This coming weekend the Troop will be staging its fall weekend camp at Faulder. The troop will leave by car Friday afternoon at 3:30 from the Youth Centre. Camping is on a patrol basis and all boys will be instructed by their patrol leaders what to bring. Hats, scarves and shirts must be worn. The camp will finish Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Attendance at the Tuesday meeting was 31 out of a possible 33. Ten boys completed their first class lashings test. St. Andrew's Service Club Hears Report on Senior Citizens' Home

Fairhaven, the senior citizens' home in Burnaby, was the subject of a very interesting and informative talk by Mrs. J. C. Wilcox at the Service Club of St. Andrew's United Church on Monday evening.
Mrs. Wilcox visited there recently and was able to give first hand information on this interesting undertaking which is one of the projects to which the missionary and maintenance fund of the church contributes.

The main building consists of three sections which house single persons and includes kitchen, dining room and spacious assembly room with a beautiful view of the surrounding area. The Hugh Dobson room, used for worship and entertainment, is downstairs as is the hobby room where equipment is available for both men and women.

Couples are housed in cottages, of which there are at present three rows of four duplexes. The building is now paid for but as there is a long waiting list a new unit of duplexes is under construction with more to follow as funds are available. Much thought has been given to the construction of the building in order to provide special safety features for elderly people while at the same time retaining the homelike atmosphere
so much to be desired.

Mrs. Wilcox reported that there are at present 107 guests, ranging in age from 65 to 93, 48 in the cottages and 59 in the main building.
While paying a certain amount for accommodation they are given supervision and companionship under a plan which has been designed to allow them to live happy and normal lives without unnecessary restrictions.

Under the direction of the matron
Mrs. G. Mohr, and Mr. Mohr, this has been very capably carried out, guests themselves contributing in a large measure to the success of the programme. As an example, the Women's Auxiliary of the home,
comprising women residing there,
last year raised $1,000 in two bazaars, while the men contribute labor for the upkeep of building and grounds. They also made a donation to the Burnaby United Church of $100.

In closing her informal remarks
Mrs. Wilcox mentioned that undertakings such as this, sponsored by the missionary and maintained fund of the Church, are many and varied and deserve the sympathetic interest and support of all members.

The business meeting opened with the Thanksgiving Hymn, "Now Thank We All Our God" and the devotional period taken by Miss Bertha Bristow, embodied the same theme.

Following the routine business the president, Mrs. George Washington, reported that over 100 jars of fruit had been collected for the Burnaby Home and these, with two boxes of apples, had been taken down by Mrs. Francis Steuart.
Shower gifts for the home were brought to the meeting and will be forwarded as well.

Mrs. W. H. Durick gave a resume of the Thanksgiving Supper, thanking the members for their co-operation and asking for any suggestions for further improvement.

Correspondence included a letter from Mrs. K. W. Kinnard, Vernon, of the Christian visiting and fellowship committee, stressing the importance of this part of the programme and including suggestions to be followed. A letter was also read from Mrs. Clark, President of the W.A. to the Kamloops-Okanagan Presbytery to be held in Oliver on October 28th. A number of members signified their intention of attending and Mrs. Colin Campbell was delegated to bring back a report to the members.

Some discussion took place regarding the fall bazaar to be held on November 27, final arrangements being left to the November meeting.

Eight members of the Junior
Choir, under the leadership of Mrs.
Lionel Fudge, then delighted the audience with the selection, "Take All Your Cares to Jesus." They were Lynne Bleasdale, Lynne Boothe, Barbara Fudge, Carole
Hackman, Mitzi Jomori, Judy Mitchell, Ebba Richmond and Louise Shannon.

It was decided to make another collection of clothing for Korea and also to send another parcel to Sum-Ona in Japan in time for Christmas.

Refreshments were served by a committee convened by Mrs. S. W.
J. Feltham.

Who's brightening your future these 4 ways?

1. Some people are helping to bring your community a new shopping centre, highway, school, power plant or other useful projects. Who are they? Life insurance policyholders! Money from the premiums they pay is invested for them in ways that help finance improvements like these.

2. A longer, healthier life may be yours, thanks in part to life insurance policyholders. Life insurance companies contribute funds to medical research studies designed to free Canadians from the threat of many dread diseases.

3. Everybody shares in the prosperity which expanding industries bring to a community.
Some industry in your community may have built a new plant and employed more workers because life insurance companies invested money in it on behalf of their policyholders.

4. Some day—perhaps soon—you may want a new home. If so, you may find yourself living happily in one of the thousands of new houses which have been built from coast to coast with the aid of money invested for policyholders by life insurance companies.

So, if you are a life insurance policyholder, remember—while you're providing security for your family and yourself, you're also helping to make Canada a better land to live in!

P.S. From your life insurance man "Invested life insurance dollars earn interest that makes it possible for you and your family to enjoy the benefits of life insurance at such low cost. If you have any questions about how to make life insurance fit your own special needs, give me a call. I'll be glad to help you!"

Four parts get together to compose this ensemble. A jacket and skirt in camel colored fleece is done up with a pert Johnny collar and leather buttons. The slim skirt has slant-wise slit pockets in front. Under this is a beige jersey waist-length jacket and under the jersey jacket a slip-over sweater blouse of dark brown worsted wool jersey. All parts are interchangeable, of course.

B.C.'s petroleum products output has been substantially increased with the official opening of the new $10-million fluid catalytic refinery of Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited, in North Burnaby, which has a designed processing capacity of 11,000 barrels of Alberta crude oil per operating day. At official opening mammoth plant was put "on stream" by Premier W. A. C. Bennett (centre), and more than 1000 guests were welcomed by Ralph D. Baker (right) president and managing director of Standard of B.C., and T. S. Peterson, San Francisco, President of Standard Oil Company of California.

The HI LIFE

By MARIE GRONLUND

Since we have been back at school for over a month now, everything is nearly back to normal. (Everyone has resigned himself to another year of hard work and stacks of homework.)

Basketball and volleyball practices have started, and inter-murals will soon be underway.

The soccer season is not over yet, but these are the scores of the senior games to date:

Girls—Kelowna 2, Summerland 0; Rutland 0, Summerland 0; Westbank 1, Summerland 0; Kelowna 2, Summerland 3.

Boys—Kelowna 6, Summerland 0; Rutland 3, Summerland 1; Westbank 2, Summerland 2; Kelowna 2, Summerland 0.

Marilyne Wade was elected by the council as correspondent to a series of school broadcasts heard over CKOV, Kelowna, every Tuesday at 5:30. Schools in the valley are competing by sending in news of school events. Points are awarded for each news item sent in, so be sure and tell Marilyne if you know of any news she could send.

The Athletic directorship in Jr. High has not yet been elected. The Sr. directorship consists of Ron Lawley as chairman, along with Sheila Bennison and Bill Austin. Social committee elections have been held and are as follows:

Seniors—Carol Cornish, chairman, Glenn Heavysides, Pearl Hooker, Bill Ward, Russ Morancy.

Juniors—Phyllis Fabb, Anita Watson, Marjorie Campbell, Yvonne Brind, Dorothy Carston.

This year's junior high officers are President—Phyllis Fabb, vice-pres.—Victor Uegama, secretary—Mitzi Jomori, treasurer—Bruce Brown.

A junior high dance, the first for the year has been planned for the 29 of this month. Grade sevens especially are asked to turn out and make it a big success.

"I guess that's all there is to report for this week. More news next week, for and about the Hi Life."

Next Tuesday Deadline For Bowling Loop Entries

King Pin Bowling League at the annual meeting Tuesday night laid plans for starting the new bowling schedule the first week in November and next Tuesday night will be deadline for entering teams in the league. Indication is that all 16 teams bowling last year in the league will be back in the competition and there will be at least five new ones entering.

Chosen as president of the league was Bert Simpson with Mrs. J. Lichtenwald re-elected as secretary and W. Hepperle as treasurer. Executive members are Fumi Inaba and J. Lichtenwald.

Adopted at the meeting was a new system of calculating averages. Instead of establishing averages in the first scheduled match, handicaps will not be set until after several weeks play and bowlers will be competing for points at the same time as they are establishing averages.

Bowlers will be permitted to bowl with teams in both sections of the league and last year's system of using "floating" spares will be again employed and all spares may be used in either section.

League financing was upset at the end of the year by a heavy assessment to pay up for players and teams who defaulted during the season and a new system of collecting for defaults was proposed so this cost would not fall back on the league.

Hunting and Fishing News

FISHING

Okanagan Lake has been pretty good again this last week to the trollers. Fish up to 3 pounds have been landed. Several nice catches on the east side across from Peachland. Tee-Spoon has been best this last week. No reports from casters this week but it should be OK.

Not much fishing done on the Mountain lakes this week. One party was at Richter and didn't have any luck but they saw a four pounder landed. Best lure was the shrimp fly and yellow and the orange flat fish. Any of the mountain lakes should be good if you can stand the cold.

HUNTING

Grouse: Poor reports of grouse this last week. A few birds around but very scarce.

Pheasants: Anyone with a good dog is having good luck but a dog is a must. A reasonably good number of birds to shoot.

Ducks: The local small lakes have quite a few ducks and hunters have done well so far. No north-erns in yet.

Deer: The rut is now starting and deer are moving around. There were nine deer shot this last week in this area that I know of. Bald Range, Baldy, Kathleen and Altermount areas have been best but deer sign is around all the local hills. Most of the deer are high yet and if we get some snow soon the main herd should be coming down.

Not much news on big game hunting this last week. N. Charlton and G. Pennington got a moose on the Stewart River and E. Gould one in the Nasco country. They report a lot of rain and very tough roads off the main highways.

Curlers' Annual Set For November 3

Plans for the coming curling season and election of officers will be on the agenda of the annual meeting of the Summerland Curling Club set for Wednesday, Nov. 3 in the High School library at 8 o'clock.

Another banner curling season is predicted this year with matches scheduled to start the middle of November and already there is a waiting list of applications for membership.

Some teen-age girls excel in cooking, sewing or some of the other fine arts of household science. But 16-year-old Mary Byers, top, of Tara, Ont., and 20-year-old Betty Opersko, above, of Waterford, Ont., have another forte. They are skilled plowmen, and to prove it they plan to pit their feminine skill against the world's best plowmen in the International Plowing Matches scheduled for Oct. 12-15 at Breslau, Ont. Both girls are no strangers to International matches, having entered before to claim several prizes. Neither are they strangers to farm as Mary has been running a tractor since she was six while Betty plows 100 of the family's 265 acres a year, right at home behind tractor she first turned a furrow at age of 12.

Robert Alstead Speaks

Civil Defence Welfare Chairman Reviews Details of Arnprior Course

Last Wednesday night, Robert Alstead, Welfare Centre Manager, gave a report to meeting of the supervisors of the various branches of the Summerland Civil Defence Welfare Organization on his trip to Arnprior Civil Defence College.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Alstead extended the congratulations of Maj.-Gen. Penhale, Commandant of the Civil Defence College on the splendid paper prepared by the Summerland Civil Defence Panel and presented by Dr. W. H. E. Munn at the exercises held in Kelowna, Sept. 11-12. Maj.-Gen. Penhale personally commented to Mr. Alstead on the fine progress made by the Summerland Civil Defence Organization and the exercise held here on July 7th. He said that Kelowna and Summerland were as good or better organized than any other districts in the Dominion.

Mr. Alstead said the course he attended was one covering General Welfare and dealt extensively with methods of organizing Civil Defence units and in matters dealing with reception, feeding, clothing and billeting of refugees from target areas, exercises in fire-fighting, rescue and evacuation, lectures on stock-piling of food, clothing and medical supplies. He paid tribute to the excellent instructors who made the work extremely interesting and promoted lively discussion between delegates from all the provinces.

The course of instruction stressed the importance of three primary aims; to keep people alive, to restore morale and to keep or get people back to work. "It must be realized," said Mr. Alstead, "that Civil Defence will be with us for 10 or 20 years—perhaps for the rest of our lives, and those of our children; that it must be accepted as a new and inevitable ingredient of modern life. Some of our public understanding has been slow in coming and some of it has been painful, but the sooner we realize that it is a case of "Preparation or Panic" the better.

"This fact was brought to light by films shown at the course of the devastation at Hiroshima and Nagasaki when the first atom bombs were dropped, and it was plain that a prepared Civil Defence Organization could have saved many lives. Also it must be realized that while these two bombs had a power equal to 20,000 tons of TNT, the bombs in the making today, some of which are in the hands of our immediate neighbor, Russia, have a TNT power of 450,000 tons.

"At Hiroshima, one bomb destroyed 65,000 houses, and if these people had escaped by going to shelters, etc., approximately a quarter of a million homeless people would have been in search of shelter, food and clothing. Can we not, therefore, pause for a moment and visualize what our duties would be in regard to caring for a portion of such refugees made homeless should a disaster such as this occur in any of our western cities? This threat is in existence. Also we must remember that we should be prepared to cope at all times with any local "natural" disasters not attended by war, such as the hurricane that occurred in the Eastern States early in September and floods, etc.

"Our responsibility is evident—we must not let our guard down. We must be ready to help in cases of such disaster, in peace or war, and be able to meet the problems of feeding and caring for mass numbers and varied groups such as injured, aged, infants and chronically ill. Civil defence workers can do this with a minimum of effort if we organize and prepare ourselves for it. Otherwise, no matter how willing we may be, if disaster comes, panic and wasted effort will inevitably follow."

In closing, Mr. Alstead said that Summerland has made a good start. "We have many facilities for caring for refugees already in existence, but it requires more than these; it requires the all out interest and help of every one of us. True, we cannot all be in training, but there are large numbers of capable men and women whose knowledge and intelligence could be of great help in making Summerland Civil Defence the model reception area of the Province.

"As your Civil Defence Welfare Centre manager, I would ask you to cultivate your interest and understanding of these problems. How could our fighting men carry on without the arms provided by the civilian population and without the assurance that their families at home are being cared for? Civil Defence and Welfare is not recognized as the Fourth Arm of the Services without which the Army, Navy and Air Force would not be able to operate.

In 1953 government transfer payments—money collected by taxation and paid out to the public in the form of family allowances, old age pensions, welfare payments, etc.—at all three levels of government amounted to $1,982 million.

A LABOR ECONOMIST TALKS TO BUSINESS

"I DON'T THINK WE HAVE MANY DOCTRINAIRE SOCIALISTS IN THE RANKS OF CANADIAN WORKINGMEN"

That statement by Dr. Eugene Forsey, Director of Research for the Canadian Congress of Labor, is noteworthy for two reasons.

In the first place, Dr. Forsey was one of the drafters of the Regina Manifesto, original policy statement of the C.C.F. Socialist movement in Canada.

Secondly, the Canadian Congress of Labor officially supports the C.C.F. political party.

Dr. Forsey was participating in a panel discussion of the subject "The Future Relationship of Management and Labor" at the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Halifax, October 6, 1954. He forecast that if working men felt that they obtained their fair share of the fruits of industry, they would not be greatly interested in changing the form of ownership of industry.

At the end of a conference with Prime Minister St. Laurent, in Montreal, Premier Duplessis evaded a direct answer to the question: "Will there soon be good news for the taxpayers of Quebec?" He said the meeting had been cordial and would lead to "satisfactory results." Belief is that the rebate on Quebec's provincial taxes by the federal government may be increased from five to seven and one-half per cent, which could be the first step in revising the entire tax agreement between all the provinces and Ottawa.

Roads, Education Will Top Agenda At B.C. Chamber of Commerce Annual

Lorne Perry, secretary of the Summerland Board of Trade, will represent this board Oct. 29 and 30 when representatives of 103 Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce gather in Vancouver for the third annual meeting of the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce.

Resolutions on such topics as, provincial taxation, education cost, highway administration, natural gas pipeline construction, establishment of town municipalities, submitted by member boards and chambers will be considered and voted upon. Each board and chamber has one vote, irrespective of size. Resolutions adopted by the annual meeting are presented in person by the officers and directors to the provincial cabinet, and become the platform of the British Columbia chamber throughout the year.

"The British Columbia chamber represents the widest possible range of vocations, professions and businesses, and the policies and resolutions formulated by the delegates to the third Annual Meeting can be of far-reaching importance to the province as a whole," stated President E. W. Arnott.

Panel discussions will feature two topics of "vital" interest to British Columbians — "Highway Administration" and "Which Way Education?"

Among the well-known speakers from business, education and government who will be addressing the meeting are: G. S. Thorvaldson, Q.C., president, Canadian Chamber of Commerce; Dr. G. M. Shrum, University of British Columbia; Evan S. Jones, deputy minister, public works; F. J. Lordan, Washington State highway commission; C. D. Ovens, general secretary, B.C. Teacher's Federation.

Will Public Opinion Purchase Proposal

Public Opinion Purchase Proposal

Summerland council at the December municipal election will test public opinion to see if ratepayers of the district favor the municipality taking over the Summerland Arena and installing artificial ice at a total cost of approximately $62,000.

Tuesday the council agreed to a request of the Summerland Rink Association to hold a referendum to get an indication of public opinion on the proposal that the municipality purchase the rink from the Rink Association at a cost of $24,000 and install ice making equipment at a cost estimated at $38,000.

The referendum might be classed as a "straw" vote because council is not under obligation to follow the direction indicated by the referendum. And if the result is favorable, and the council accepts the result as a mandate to go ahead with the proposal, still further balloting will be necessary before any definite action can be taken. Since money to finance the purchase would have to be raised by debentures, approval of a by-law by ratepayers would be necessary before purchase and installation could be carried out.

Council voted to hold the referendum after hearing a request for it from the rink association delegation headed by C. H. Elsey. Other members of the delegation were Norman Holmes, W. H. Durick and George Stoll.

Agreeing to the proposal, Reeve Atkinson made it clear that the referendum was only a "trial balloon" and it is not mandatory for the council to accept the direction given by a referendum.

Asked later why the council could not present the question in the form of a by-law and so eliminate the extra balloting if the idea should find favor, the reeve explained that a by-law before being presented must have the approval of the council and in this case, he said, the council does not wish to take a stand on the question until after the majority opinion has been expressed.

The reeve stated in reply to a question that if the vote is favorable that it is "very likely" that a by-law to raise the money will be presented to the ratepayers.

Asked if the estimated cost to the municipality included any further construction at the arena, such as seating accommodation, Mr. Elsey replied that this had not been included because this work could be done out of profits after the rink is operating for the full season. George Stoll pointed out that concrete footing to support bleachers were installed when the rink was built and the bleachers are designed to extend up over the curling ice with the footings being located between the sheets of curling ice.

Council lost no time in getting machinery in motion to have the referendum. Legal opinion obtained a year ago when the subject was under consideration was brought out and heard the wording of the referendum question suggested at that time and approved revision of it to suit the current proposal.

Anything Can Happen . . .

Even 'The Senator' Lost For Words To Describe Big Halloween Event

By Senator Charles Wilkinson
A long time ago I learned that if a man wants to get a thing done right, the only way is to do it himself so this week I'm writing the story about the Halloween party on Saturday night. You just can't trust that bird-brained editor of this paper to get anything straight. I told him last week to use adjectives like stupendous, colossal, magnificent, and words like that when he described what the party is going to be like at the Arena but all he said was that it's going to be big. I should have known he couldn't spell any words longer than that.

Well it's going to be bigger than that. In fact, it's going to be bigger than colossal.

We're going to start things rolling at 8:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon with a pet parade. So all you kids get down to the Memorial Playground in costume and get in the fun. Be sure and have your pet along and dress him up too, unless he's a she. In that case, dress her up. Doesn't make any difference whether it's a mouse, cat, canary, chicken, dog, horse or elephant. We're going to have prizes for the pets as well as the kids.

We're going to have two or three bands and we're bringing in the great bull, Ferdinand, from Mexico. We've had word from Chester Reinertson that he's bringing a wild bull from the Cariboo and he's got as far as Peachland and he's waiting there for a bunch of cowboys and cowgirls who are going to help him bring the bull into Summerland and are going to join in the show. The RCMP will lead the parade and we're going to have our own queen, you'll love her!

For you kids who like to see the movies on Saturday afternoon, I've fixed it up with the guy at the theatre to start the show at 1:30 this Saturday so you'll be out in time for the fun.

Now the afternoon pollack is just going to be a windup for the balls we're going to pitch Saturday night when everyone gets into town at 7 o'clock.

The parade is going to start off at 7 o'clock sharp so fall in and it will lead right into the arena for the granddaddyest passel of fun you ever split your sides at.

We're going to give out more prizes for costumes to get things started. And by the way, bring maw and paw along. This show's for them, too, and they don't have to worry about watching that old rusty gate. Nobody's going to touch it because everybody's going to be at the arena.

Town Town is going to operate a refreshment concession so bring along some dimes if you're likely to get hungry or thirsty. Otherwise, everything's on the house. The Youth Centre Association is footing the bill!

As far as the program is concerned, we're not saying a thing about it except that it's going to be a real scoldollage and anybody who miss it is going to be awful sorry. There's just one thing we want to ask you. Don't bring any blue crackers. It's against the law to shoot them off in there and it's dangerous and we don't want anyone hurt. But don't worry, there'll be lots of fun without them.

The LIBRARY Summerland Review

Placid New Brunswick farmland is being disturbed by the noise of power shovels, and all the other machines that grind and rumble in the construction of highways and hydro-electric power dams. The province is starting the biggest power development in its history, the $45,000,000 project at Beechwood on the St. John river, 100 miles north of St. John. When finished, the project will supply 135,000 horsepower at a low enough cost to attract industry and to develop mineral resources. To make maximum use of the river's potential, highways and rail lines will be moved. Engineers hope the project will be finished in 1957.

Pear Deal Moving Well

First Shipments to UK Being Loaded This Week

First shipments of apples for the United Kingdom market started on their way this week, B.C. Tree Fruits reported today and five boats currently loading at New Westminster and Vancouver will be carrying Okanagan apples for the first time in three years to ports in England and Scotland. These shipments are part of the quota allowed for delivery prior to Jan. 1 and will arrive at their UK destination between Dec. 1 and 15. Varieties now being shipped are McIntosh and Jonathan.

Market report this morning from the grower's marketing agency stated the pear deal is moving along nicely with a "good demand" for d'Anjou on most of the eastern and western markets. The trade, according to Tree Fruits, does not anticipate there will be any slackening in the demand while the fine weather prevails.

Apple shipments to Western Canada are well under last year at the same date although this is partially accounted for by the later start this year on McIntosh. However, it is believed wholesalers holdings are not heavy so there should be a steady demand.

General conditions on the prairies would appear to indicate a rather less receptive market than experienced last year. Shipments of Handypack McIntosh up to last night totalled approximately 350,000, which is considerably more than shipment a last year in this package. It is also interesting to note that shipments of junior boxes of Macos are almost as heavy as they were last year at this time, despite the total Mac movement being lighter and this demonstrates that the junior box is increasing in popularity. Shipments of Delicious to prairie markets is starting on Friday and Saturday.

Due to plentiful supplies of local apples at low values on the eastern Canadian market, shipments so far have been very light, the one exception being Newfoundland where slightly more than at this time last year have been sold. Tree Fruits are hoping for a normal volume of Delicious sales in Eastern Canada. United States sales have shown some improvement during the week and while the markets as a whole have not firmed to any extent, the undertone on the western markets for quality fruit is stronger. Eastern markets are still laboring under the load of weak fruit and under the damaged fruit has been disposed of, little or no improvement can be expected.

The apple export to the United Kingdom will be almost exclusively from B.C. orchards and importers in Great Britain expect to have their import licenses by the end of this week.

Arrangements are thus moving along and the Okanagan fruit industry will have sufficient time to handle the deal with dispatch, according to A. K. Loyd, president of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

The latest natural disaster in Eastern Canada, Hurricane Hazel, means that the very minimum share of the exports that was to have come from Ontario will likely not be available. Nova Scotia, hard hit by an earlier storm, will send only from 20,000 to 50,000 boxes.

In Ontario the Northern Spy crop was the hardest hit, with only about 30 percent harvested, when the hurricane struck. From 50 to 75 percent of the balance is on the ground.

Demand for Okanagan apples from the east is consequently light until local distress supplies are cleaned up.

Grand Forks Jaycees Elect Jack Dunham Charter President

At installation ceremonies at Grand Forks on Oct. 15, former Summerland resident Jack Dunham was installed as charter president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce there.

The new Grand Forks Jaycees' president was an active member of the organization in Summerland before he left here last year.

When Coffee's Your Bread and Butter There's No Turning the Other Cheek

Councillor Bill Barkwill didn't realize when he offered some criticism about municipal employees' coffee break a few weeks ago that he was squaring off against the whole coffee industry. He knows now that people to whom coffee is bread and butter don't let that kind of criticism pass without at least getting in their two-cents' worth.

After New Record For Blood Clinic

Summerland Kiwanis are out for blood—at least 300 pints of it when the Red Cross blood donor clinic visits Summerland on Nov. 23.

Kiwanis again this year have taken on the campaign to round up donors and are out to establish a new record this year. A year ago, 239 pints of blood were collected here and it is hoped to boost that number in the coming visit to over 300.

The Kiwanis committee is under the direction of J. Y. Towgood.

The clinic will be in Summerland for one day will have an afternoon and evening session. It will be set up in St. Andrew's United Church Hall.

WILL JOIN LEAGUE

Councillor Richards Tuesday reported an attractive proposition made to the municipality by J. R. Dooley, secretary manager of the Electric Service League, that Summerland can become a member of the league and benefit from the services of a field man to be located in the Okanagan for a fee of $250. The council voted to join the league.

Will Get Outside Opinion . . .

Council Will Question Increase Of 40% in Summerland Assessments

Summerland council Tuesday expressed dissatisfaction with the results of assessment samplings carried out here by the provincial assessor's office and will call in outside assessor to check on the figures produced in the sampling this summer.

Eric Tait, a member of the delegation, produced a detailed map of the area showing the soil profile. He indicated how the drains were laid from the gravel areas through the sandy profile which provided a block to seepage and in earlier years made much of the district a bog. If these drains failed, he pointed out, the area would not be suitable to live in.

The problem arises from the fact that when the drains were installed, there was no arrangement for a continuing authority to maintain them. The municipality, Mr. Tait argued, by permitting subdivisions in the area without making any provision for drainage, has placed itself in the position of being responsible for the existing drains. Properties through which the drain run have changed hands since the time they were laid and there is no right of way on any of them.

A check on the municipal act showed that before the municipality could take any action to take over the drains, they must first be requested to do so by petition containing the names of more than 50 per cent of the property owners in the district affected, representing more than half of the land value.

To start the action, councillors agreed to be present at a meeting of Trout Creek property owners to be held at 8 o'clock on Nov. 8 in Trout Creek Community Church of God to explain the drainage problem to the owners.

Other members of the delegation were Dr. C. C. Strachan and Ewart Woolliams.

Solution to Local Problem . . .

Will Open Campaign Here Next Week To Help Furnish Valley View Lodge

A new solution to the problem of providing accommodation for Summerland Senior Citizens presented itself this week with the decision of Newhope Benevolent Society to include Summerland in the area to be served by the new Valley View Lodge in Penticton.

Valley View Lodge is the former Penticton Hospital and has been taken over by the Newhope Benevolent Society to be used as a home for senior citizens. It is the intention of the home to accept residents from the South Okanagan area bounded by Westbank, Osoyoos and Princeton.

The possibility of constructing a residence for senior citizens has been under consideration several times but a recent survey indicated there were not enough applicants for such accommodation to justify the expense.

Next week, Newhope Benevolent Society will launch a campaign in Summerland to raise funds towards the purchase of furnishings for the home. It will cost $40,000 to furnish the lodge and Summerland residents are being asked to provide $5,400 of this amount. Local objective is worked out on a population basis.

Vacancies at the home will not be assigned geographically but will be allocated on the basis of providing accommodation to an applicant whose need is greatest at the time a vacancy occurs.

It is expected the lodge will receive its first residents within a few weeks. Chairman of the Summerland campaign is Reeve F. E. Atkinson and treasurer is E. R. Butler. Campaign headquarters is located at Butler and Waiden.

Said Reeve Atkinson: "The need for suitable accommodation for senior citizens of Summerland has long been recognized by those who have taken an active part in the affairs of the community. The number requiring accommodation is not, however, large enough to justify the establishment of a residence of this type in Summerland. We therefore welcome the decision of the Newhope Benevolent Society to include Summerland in the area to be served by Valley View Lodge. Because I realize the local need, it is with a great deal of pleasure that I accepted the invitation to act as chairman of the campaign to raise Summerland's share of the cost of furnishing Valley View Lodge."

Mr. Butler said: "The Newhope Benevolent Society in setting aside accommodation for Summerland senior citizens at Valley View Lodge has filled a long-felt need in this community. There can be no denying the prospect for those facing old age that the thought that they will have to spend it in solitude with limited provision of even basic needs. I am happy to have the opportunity to take part in this wonderful humanitarian effort as treasurer of the campaign committee and I know people of Summerland will experience a similar pleasure at being able to participate with their contributions to the fund for furnishing the lodge."

Mr. Mosher Talks Sense

President A. R. Mosher, in his presidential address to the Canadian Congress of Labor, gave some common sense advice to his fellow labor leaders. He warned them against the folly of excessive wage increase demands which he said could only result in pricing industrial workers out of employment. Mr. Mosher has held a prominent position in the labor movement for many years and should know from experience what he is talking about, but his advice was rather belated. If it had been delivered only a few months or weeks previously it might have dissuaded certain unions from insisting on their annual demands for wage and other increases at a time when high costs and prices had led to a general decline in sales of their products. Even a school-boy with a knowledge of simple arithmetic could have told those union leaders that an increase in costs and prices would result in a further decline in sales, a curtailing of production and fewer jobs for union members.

But the convention over which Mr. Mosher presided declared that "wage increases expand markets production and employment." That is utter nonsense on face of it, for it is tantamount to saying that if we could only raise the costs of production we could produce and sell cheaper. Higher wages would increase the cost of production, followed by higher prices, which would in turn cancel out the increased purchasing power, and would certainly reduce the selling-power of the products in both home and foreign markets. And that is what Mr. Mosher meant when he warned labor against pricing itself out of employment by excessive demands.

In the last analysis, the only way to maintain and increase employment is to maintain and increase trade. Merely to increase purchasing power by means of higher wages or by government subsidies would lead to inflation, which in the end would devalue the purchasing power of all wages and savings. We have seen the effect of inflation during and since the war when wages and prices were doubled and trebled, until the hundred-dollar Victory Bond and the thousand-dollar insurance policy are today not worth, in buying power, half of what we paid for them ten or fifteen years ago. That is one of the casualties of war from which we cannot recover, so far as the value of the pre-war dollar is concerned. But we can do our best to stabilize and even increase the value of our present incomes and savings by sensible cooperation between organized labor and industry.

The CCL convention called attention to the unemployment situation, but its recommendation for a reduction of working hours with the same take-home pay would not provide work for the unemployed; it would at once increase production costs per man, since an industry would have to pay for thirty hours work the same price it was previously paying for forty hours. This extra cost of labor would inevitably put more men out of employment.

Moreover, while the convention was urging the government to do something about unemployment, many of its local unions threatening and preparing to put thousands more out of work by means of strikes. Whatever may have been the rights and wrongs of those labor disputes, the workers were employed, and the purchasing power of their wages, to say the least, was sufficient to provide for their needs. By ordering a strike a union creates an unemployment situation, depriving its members of all purchasing power. Mr. Mosher might have given some good advice on that point, but refrained.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER TWENTY-FIRST, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY FOUR

Halloween Again . . . let's make it fun for all

GHOSTS, goblins and all sorts of weird characters on Saturday night will come out of their year-long retirement for an evening of fun and pranks on an all-too-suspecting public.

Psychologists no doubt are among the strongest supporters of Halloween on the theory that it gives us a chance to get rid of a lot of inhibitions by dressing in comic garb and, hopefully free of recognition, to carry out all the mischievous pranks that have appealed to us all year.

As long as Halloween activities are limited to pranks, everyone is happy. Anybody who objects to answering the door a few times for "the little man who wasn't there" or to cleaning some soap off their windows on Monday morning is a churl, a curmudgeon and a downright poor sport and will get no sympathy from us unless they can prove they were never young themselves.

But malicious damage is another thing entirely. Whether it occurs on Halloween or any other night of the year it is still vandalism and should be treated as such by the courts. Wanton destruction can never be justified on any excuse.

From all indications, however, it doesn't look as though there will be much to worry about in Summerland with the Youth Centre Association again sponsoring the party which has become so popular with all ages on Halloween night the past couple of years. This year a bang-up program has been promised for the event which has been moved to the Arena to accommodate the crowd. And for a big wind-up to entertain the older set, Teen Town will be staging its annual dance.

There is one news story we'll be able to get along nicely without next week and that is one reporting personal injury from fireworks or malicious property damage.

And this is not a problem of the youngsters. A little parental guidance on the handling of fireworks and on respecting the property of others will go along way in producing a Halloween that will be a lot of fun for everyone concerned.

Volunteers Needed . . . but some urging required

IN the past 12 months there have been two municipal elections in Summerland. Each drew several candidates for the vacancies open and interest in civic administration here was at all-time high. Turn-out of voters at the polls was, in fact, highest percentage of any place in the province for the regular December election.

Nomination day for this year's election is now little more than a month away which means it is time to start beating the bushes to flush out some candidates to contest the election.

The two councillors whose terms will expire this year have intimated they will be willing to run again for office and both have proven themselves to be competent administrators but, while it might be a form of compliment, it would be to them no satisfaction to hold office just because there was no other candidates to oppose them.

The best men usually do not seek public office on their own initiative. They enter public life only because they have been persuaded to do so by friends and associates who convince them that their particular talents would be of value to the community if made available.

So it's no good waiting to see who's going to toss their hat in the ring. It is the duty of voters to start thinking now who is best qualified to serve the community and urge those whom they believe to have the necessary qualifications to allow themselves to be nominated.

A community is made up of groups of widely diversified interests because of occupations or geographical location. A municipal council can operate most effectively in the interests of all the people only when these divergent points of view are represented at the council table. It's no good grousing between elections about any particular group being "forgotten men." The answer is to have the name of a candidate on the ballot who will be sympathetic to the problems of the particular group.

Summerland municipal business has become big business. It is the duty of every citizen to take a close interest in how that business is being operated.

The more candidates in the field, the stronger the likelihood of finishing up on election night with a council qualified to carry on in the fine tradition of former councils. But it can be done only if voters start now to clear away some of the bushes that are hiding some very promising lights.

And while considering what various interests should be represented on the council, the female angle should not be overlooked. Experience has shown the effectiveness, as well as the appearance, of all levels of government can be greatly enhanced by the addition of one of the "weaker" sex to their number.

Subsidized Advertising

I find the wrestling matches on television absolutely disgusting, and will no longer allow them in my home. In ordering my children not to listen to or watch them, I felt I had to put an end to the matter. If others wanted to look at them, that was their business.

But I received a shock today. I read in a responsible newspaper that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, a government agency, underwrites, or subsidizes, up to 40% of the production costs of many of these advertising programs.

As a taxpayer, I resent subsidizing those who sell their beer by sponsoring television broadcasts of wrestling matches. I cannot for the life of me understand how the government justifies this Canadian Broadcasting Corporation activity.

In the first place, I don't think the Crown should be engaged in selling beer. In the second place, I think any company that wants to use television should pay for it. They should pay the whole bill, not just 60% of it. Why should Canadians who detest many of these broadcasts be forced to pay up to 40% of their cost?

On the telephone, I put this matter up to some advertising men, and some companies which are advertising. They said they had to do whatever CBC told them, or stay out of television. But they didn't want their names mentioned—like many other people, they seem to be scared stiff of the CBC.

You run into this fear of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation everywhere you go. One of the few bodies with courage enough to complain, was the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association. Many writers on the big dailies are afraid to say "Boo" for fear they will no longer be asked to speak on the air or to appear on television.

It seems to me to be a terrible thing when large bodies of Canadians are forced to pay to subsidize programs they detest. And it is an even more terrible thing, when very few Canadians have the courage to complain! There should be no room for this kind of fear in a democracy.

Mid-Week Message

Quench not the Spirit. (1 Thessalonians 5:19.)
Read Isaiah 40:28-31 or Ephesians 4:22-32.

The fine art of being your real self, your good self, before God and man, means freedom from all attempts to keep up false fronts. When done in prayerful devotion, it means letting the Spirit of God rule your total life. It is the joy of doing what you can do best—be your real self.

"He tries too hard" was said of a talented missionary new on the field but already near nervous collapse. As he learned the secret of letting go and allowing God to work through him, his effectiveness greatly increased; he was able to do more with less.

It is well to remember Dwight L. Moody's rule for power and success: "Determine where God's Spirit is working and then work at the same job." By letting God work through the abilities which we have, we lose all fear and pretense. Positive Christian achievement results.

PRAYER

Gracious heavenly Father, forgive us for the times when timidity and fears have hindered the free outgiving of Thy Spirit through us to others. Give us grace this day to be our real selves before Thee and with our neighbors. In our Saviour's name. Amen.

Clever Cooking . . .

A few months ago we had some information about the Canadian sugar industry. At that time we had some general information about granulated sugar because right then we were all using pound after pound of it canning and freezing fruits, and making jams and jellies. But now that we have all these good things carefully stored away we are beginning to think more about baking cakes and cookies, making candy and so on. And so, here are some more facts about Canada's sugar industry, this time about the molasses and the brown sugar we buy.

Canadian sugar is made from two raw products, from sugar beets, which are grown in Canada, and from raw sugar cane which is imported into Canada. Molasses and brown sugar are made in both cane sugar and beet sugar refineries.

Molasses may be produced as a by-product of a sugar refinery which makes granulated sugar, icing sugar and so on or it may be made in a plant which is engaged in making syrup only—that is molasses, cane syrup and so on.

Most of the molasses used in our cooking is imported into Canada and has been made in plants which make molasses and syrup only. Now that does not mean that molasses is not produced in our Canadian refineries for it is, but most of this used by commercial industries like the baking trade, distilleries, the meat packing trade and so on. Molasses is also used as a cattle food.

An interesting thing about this molasses which is sold to industries, is that it is transported to factories in big steel, glass-lined railway tank cars. We often think of oil being carried in big tank cars but it was certainly news to hear that molasses was carried that way too.

The color and clearness of molasses depends on one or two things. First, the type of soil that the cane or sugar beets were grown on. And secondly the way in which the molasses was produced. However, one rule that generally applies is, the darker the molasses the stronger the flavor, and vice versa the lighter the molasses the milder the flavor. Most Canadian homemakers prefer the lighter colored mild-flavored molasses and that is the type that is mainly sold for table use in Canada.

Brown sugar is the general term used for the soft sugar which is brown or yellow or golden in color and which is used in baking, or cereals, in candy and so on. It is known as a soft sugar because it does not have the hard feel that granulated sugars have. This soft sugar is made from the mother liquid or what might be called the "syrup" which is produced in the process of refining sugar beets or cane to various types of sugars.

To get a light yellow or golden colored sugar more refining of the syrup has to take place than is needed to produce a dark brown sugar. Most of the brown sugar sold to consumers in Canada today is light brown or golden in color, and the sugar manufacturers say that that is the kind most consumers prefer. However, some dark brown sugar is produced and it can usually be bought in most shops. The darker brown sugar contains more molasses and of course, has more of the strong molasses flavor, whereas, the light brown sugar which is more refined is milder in flavor.

Homemakers often have a little trouble with this soft sugar caking and becoming dry and hard. There are several ways to remedy the situation! One good way to take out the lumps is to very slowly heat the sugar in a very slow oven, not hot enough to melt it but just enough to soften it. Another good way to take out the lumps is to roll the sugar with a rolling pin. Now, this is like putting the cart before the horse because it would be much better to know how to prevent the lumps in the first place. One good way is to keep the brown sugar in the bread box, for the moisture given off by the bread will keep the sugar soft. Another good idea is to put a piece of apple in the jar with the sugar. The moisture from the apple will prevent the sugar from drying out and lumping.

day afternoon beyond raider on the Fish Lake Road.

Arriving at the campsite along Trout Creek at 4:10 p.m. the boys proceeded to erect half tents with 10X12 foot tarpaulins. Each patrol was organized, settled down and cooking supper by 5:30, pretty good record since light rain fell in the late afternoon. Clear nights and bright weather for the next two days aided in carrying out an interesting program.

A number of outdoor games were played and some of the troop survived the famous Blewett hike to Poppy Lake. At the investiture ceremony before the "Scouts Own" service on Sunday morning recruits Beggs, Tavender, Skinner, Toevs, Guernsey, Dunsdon and Woolliams were welcomed into the troop and the World Brotherhood of Scouts. Twelve of the senior boys passed part of their 1st class practical test and a number of the younger scouts passed their Kimo Game.

The whole camp was organized on a patrol basis with patrol leaders arranging food supplies, equipment and general arrangements within their patrols. Proper camp cooking was carried out with no canned foods except milk. Pancakes, beef stew, hamburger and rice pudding were among the culinary accomplishments. Next week-end camp will take place in the spring.

Notices: Next meeting Tuesday Nov. 2. Full uniforms, including new scouts, if possible. Point score including points taken at camp: Eagles and Beavers 263, Buffaloes 278, and Hawks 241.

The HI LIFE

Since the teachers' convention is over for this year, we are back at school after a much appreciated holiday Friday. Incidentally the convention was also attended by four students, members of the newly formed "Future Teachers" club. They were Anne Beggs, Irene Carey, Lois Harbicht and Pauline Cooper.

Sports — A junior soccer tournament is being held in Summerland Saturday. Two teams from Rutland, Kelowna, George Pringle and Penticton, as well as two from Summerland will be playing.

In the games against Rutland on Tuesday, the scores were: Senior boys, 4-0 for Rutland; Senior girls, 3-0 for Rutland; Junior boys 6-0 for Rutland.

Social Events — Friday night is the night for the big junior dance. There will be several square dances and the whole evening sounds like loads of fun.

A senior dance is being planned and will possibly be held on November 12.

The Campus Chaff will be coming out soon. Any items should be handed in to the editor, Dwaine Greer, or to any other member of the publications club.

Well, that's all for this week; more

Mildred Irene Verrier Says Vows In St. Stephen's Candlelight Rites

St. Stephen's Anglican Church Saturday was setting for pretty evening nuptials when Mildred Irene Verrier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Verrier of West Summerland, became the bride of Arthur Elmer Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Val Keller of Oliver.

For the candlelight rites, the bride was gowned in white nylon lace over satin, featuring a fitted bodice, neckline outlined with seed pearls and sequins, lily-point sleeves and a bouffant skirt inset with frills of lace. Her chapel veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Attendants of the bride were her sister, Mrs. Pat Morris as matron-of-honor, Miss Ella Wileman, Miss Shirley McAdam and Miss Doreen Keller as bridesmaids and Mary Stick as flower girl.

The matron-of-honor and bridesmaids were gowned identically in shrimp nylon lace over taffeta with headresses of white flowers. The tiny flower girl was dressed in pale blue and wore a yellow headress.

Ernest Keller served his brother as groomsman and ushers were Mike Keller, Norman Keller and Pat Morris.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. A. A. T. Northrup.

Organist was Miss Ruth Dale and soloist Mrs. Alfred Letts who sang "Because".

To assist the justweds in receiving guests at the reception which followed at the I.O.O.F. Hall, mother of the bride was gowned in wine taffeta with navy hat while the groom's mother chose a grey suit and grey hat.

Confetti-filled balloons and pink and white streamers were used in decorating the hall. The bride's table was centred by the wedding cake which was surrounded by billowing tulle spotted with red rosebuds. The cake was decorated with silver leaves and rosebuds and was topped by a miniature bride and groom.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Dave Thompson.

Mrs. Letts sang several solos, accompanied at the piano by Miss Kay Hamilton. Lionel Guidi with his guitar was also featured on the entertainment program and music for dancing was provided by Freeman Reid's orchestra.

For going away, the bride changed to a blue suit with pink accessories, navy shoes and handbag. The couple will travel via Spokane to Vancouver where they will make their home.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Leone Witherspoon of Summerland and Noel Green of Toronto. Groom is the son of Mrs. Grace Turnbull, Summerland.

The rites were performed at the Presbyterian manse in Okanogan by Rev. Aiech.

The newlyweds have returned to Summerland and will make their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wright have returned from a holiday in Spokane.

St. Andrew's Federation Meeting

Describes Pressing Need for Funds To Train More Christian Leaders

Need for further financial aid to train more Christian leaders was the message brought to the Women's Federation of St. Andrew's Church by their president, Mrs. E. Chapman who reported at the regular meeting last week on the recent district rally held at Princeton.

Mrs. Chapman told members of the federation that $100,000 is needed each year for the training of replacements. Last year, she said, out of 41 who completed training, 23 were needed for Canadian fields while 18 were required to go abroad. These appointments were all as replacements and there were none available for new fields.

Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon, supply secretary, reported September and October parcels had been forwarded to Korea and a small sum of money on hand toward the November parcel.

Many beautiful and useful articles for the girls' home at Burnaby were on display.

Plans were laid to hold a quilting in the church hall on Thursday, Nov. 4.

Arrangements were made for the Thanksgiving meeting, Nov. 18 at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Irwin, of Enderby, a missionary from India, will be the guest speaker. A change in time of meeting may be necessary the suit the time of Mrs. Irwin's bus schedule.

Mrs. G. Harper, speaker for the afternoon, gave a review on the 1954 study book, 'Where'er the Sun' by Samuel Moffett.

Present at the meeting were 34 members and seven visitors who were welcomed by Mrs. Mowatt. Mrs. A. C. Fleming conducted the worship by reading the 23rd Psalm, followed by The Lord's Prayer.

Visiting committee, headed by Mrs. A. McLachlan, reported visiting 15 shutins and 33 hospital patients.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. A. Walden, Mrs. C. O. Richmond and Mrs. M. Scott.

Christmas Bazaar Set for Dec. 4

Plans for the Christmas bazaar which is to be held Dec. 4, were laid by the Evening Branch of St. Stephen's W. A. at the meeting held Oct. 18 in the Parish Hall. Stall for knitting, sewing, fancy work, novelties, home cooking, fish pond and flowers will be set up at the bazaar which is to be held in the IOOF hall.

The meeting heard a report from the president, Mrs. R. A. Frederickson on the archdeanery meeting which was held in Enderby on Oct. 7. Attending with Mrs. Frederickson were Mrs. A. A. T. Northrup and Mrs. W. Baker.

Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. J. Heavysides for convening the refreshments served following the induction service recently. Also commended were Miss Elizabeth Theed and her committee members, Mrs. A. W. Watt and Miss Gwenneth Atkinson, for the lovely church decorations for the harvest festival service.

The members voted to send a donation of $10 to the Ontario Flood Relief Fund. It was also decided that a project of Christmas hampers would be undertaken.

As November meeting will be partially devoted to the election of officers, a nominating committee consisting of Mrs. E. C. Bingham, Miss Gwenneth Atkinson and Mrs. A. W. Watt was appointed.

Mrs. M. Robinson reminded members the United Thanksgiving boxes are to be brought to the next meeting.

Following adjournment, delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Moyles and Mrs. J. Heavysides.

Keeping things humming...!

- Keeping things humming on an around-the-clock basis is the large responsibility your Telephone Company assumes in providing its thousands of subscribers with continuous telephone service—a service to which we are continually planning progressive improvements.
- In fact, right now your Telephone Company has planning in progress—with Progress in mind! As a part of our ultimate plan to have an "all-dial" system we are planning the conversion of our Enderby and Revelstoke exchanges to automatic telephone service. In the course of this modernisation more than $150,000 will be spent... in the erection of new exchange buildings and on intricate dial equipment... in the construction and addition of new poles, wires and cable... in the installation of new dial 'phones... all to be completed before the end of 1956.
- And local telephone service improvement is not all we have in mind... we're planning major additions to our Long Distance system, too! During 1955 we plan to spend over $35,000 in adding intricate Toll carrier equipment which will provide further channels, or voice pathways, from Revelstoke through to Pentiction... this extension program will add a dozen Long Distance lines to our present network—providing faster, improved Long Distance service on your out-of-town calls.
- This is just some of the planning we have in progress—with Progress in mind.

Hunting and Fishing News

FISHING

Okanagan Lake was good this last week with several nice catches made trolling. It has been rough and cold most of the time but it is well worth a try.

The Mountain Lakes all have been very good to the few fishermen that have tried them. Limit catches reported at Fish Lake Camp. A little slower at Richter Lake and Kil-poola.

HUNTING

Grouse are poor and seem to be getting worse this last week. Just a few birds brought in and no more than one or two to the hunter.

Ducks and Geese a fair number of mallards on the local lake around but not any of the northern flight yet. No reports of geese yet.

Pheasants a few cocks around but a good dog is needed to bag a limit. They seem to be holding to the wild areas above the flumes.

Deer are running now and a lot of bucks have been bagged this last week. Kills have been made on Bald Range, Baldy, Figaries, Kathleen, Bathfield Ranges. Bucks seem to be in good shape yet and if snow comes there will be good hunting in the back areas.

No more reports in from the big game hunters this week but several hopefuls are getting ready to try their luck.

Another very unfortunate hunting escapade has been reported this last week by Mr. Frank Johnson of Meadow Valley. Some hunter shot a calf of his in his meadow. It was shot with bird size shot so there was to my mind no earthly excuse to do it; a straight case of vandalism. Result, another rancher has closed his land to hunters, friends or strangers Frank informed me.

Film to Portray Bible Society Work

As a feature of the celebration of the "Third Jubilee" of the British and Foreign Bible Society there is being shown an outstanding motion picture, "The Living Word."

This film which is creating great interest throughout the province is being shown at St. Andrew's Church on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

This splendid motion picture, in color portrays the influence of the bible on the British way of life and its transforming power in the lives of native people of the South West Pacific.

The society's secretary for British Columbia, the Rev. J. A. Raymond-Tingley, Vancouver, will show this film at a public rally which will be held to commemorate the celebration of 150 years of amazing achievement on the part of the bible society.

This society which has the co-operation of all churches is the world's greatest missionary organization and has in 150 years published more than 600,000,000 copies of the scriptures in 825 languages.

Trout Creek Residents Ask Council To Take Over Drainage Problem

A serious problem in drainage at Trout Creek was brought to the council meeting Tuesday by a delegation from that community which asked that the municipality take over responsibility for maintaining the drainage system which was installed some years ago as a community effort.

The assessment sampling was carried out as part of the provincial government plan to equalize assessments throughout the province in an effort to effect a more equal distribution of school costs.

Result of the survey was made known to the council Tuesday in a letter from the provincial assessor that overall assessments in Summerland will be boosted by 40 per cent. This however, does not mean that taxes will be increased by a like amount. Mill rate will probably be reduced accordingly.

The council will endeavor to have municipal assessors from Kelowna and Penticton come here to check the provincial figures.

Reeve Atkinson was particularly critical. "They should have had experienced assessors doing the job", he said, "instead of sending out university students. I doubt very much whether they actually set the values. I think they just sent reports to Victoria and the assessments were set there."

He cited one example of a discrepancy in their work on two homes which could easily be compared and they had a higher assessment on the cheaper house.

Name Fred Thompson OAP Assn. President

Summerland old age pensioners had 23 members in attendance at their first regular meeting last Thursday and chose Fred Thompson as president of the newly-formed organization.

All officers elected will hold office until the end of this year when a new slate will be chosen.

Speaker at the meeting was H. Oke, of Penticton, president of the Port Arthur Police Chief Tom Connor had better hunting in the home of Gar Stead than Mr. Stead had on a duck-hunting trip. This bobcat invaded the Stead cellar and was wrecking everything wreckable when police shot it. When Stead returned, he admitted his four ducks couldn't compare as hunting trophies to the bobcat.

Old Age Pensioners' Association there.

Other officers elected last week were Mrs. Thaxton as vice-president, Mrs. Mary Stevens as secretary and Mrs. Mitchell as chairman of the social committee.

Next meeting will be on Nov. 18 when plans for social gatherings will be considered.

Best of 28 competitors in the Ontario mayors' plowing match at Breslau is Mayor William E. Cowley of Tilbury. Conditions in the fields were enough to cause half the competitors to give up in disgust as mud stalled tractors and marooned the plowers. The Challenge trophy displayed by Mayor Cowley will be contested for again next year.
