

We have something different in the sports news this week, with our curling team making a great showing over at the Provincial High School Bonspiel in Nelson, over the weekend. The boys got into the finals but were beaten out by Kelowna 9-7 and missed a chance to go to the bonspiel in Nova Scotia. At any rate, we are really very proud of them, for their great playing and for the good name they brought the school. Members of this swell team are: Garry Hackman, skip; Larry Lemke (3rd); Jim Eyre (2nd); and Don Skinner (lead). Mr. Bates was their very proud coach. There was as usual quite a few basketball games over the weekend, too. On Fri. Jan. 28th St. Andrew's hosted two senior basketball teams and a senior girls volleyball team from Penticton. All three Summerland teams won. Scores: sr. girls 27-20;

sr. boys 39-26; sr. girls volleyball 15-12. The turnout to these games was not very good. Let's get back on the beam kids—come on out to the home games! On Saturday two junior teams and a grade 8 boys team travelled to Oliver. All three teams fared very well. Scores: jr. girls 14-11; gr. 8 boys team 26-25; jr. boys 39-39. House basketball games are almost finished with volleyball games next on the schedule. This coming Fri. the Variety Concert will be presented for the students, the time 8 p.m. Be sure to come out to the variety concert—and please sell those tickets to your mum and dad. The play is progressing very nicely with practice for the second act starting Monday. See you next week—don't forget the Variety Concert.

To most people in the Okanagan, especially fruit-growers, the letters BCTF stand for British Columbia Tree Fruits, and are highly respected, because this selling agency has brought prosperity to the whole valley.

To teachers, however, those same letters signify British Columbia Teachers' Federation, which to them is a sort of B.C. Tree Fruits and BCFGA rolled into one, and respected, if possible, even more.

Non-teachers rarely know much about this organization, or if they do, often regard it as a body that blinks blink, teachers' union that is always forcing us to pay more money. Which is an understandable point of view, but ignores two important facts.

One is that all Okanagan fruit-growers themselves belong to a union which gets them a good income by forcing buyers of their fruit to pay more. A lot of consumers probably think of the growers' BCTF as a regular hold-up agency.

The other is that 20 years ago, teachers received a lot of praise as the noble leaders of the young, the benefactors of the race who are moulding the coming generation and similar fine phrases—but very little money. Like the fruit growers. So they turned to a strong union to get them a decent rate of pay—again like the fruit growers.

The BCTF has been in existence on a voluntary basis since 1919; in 1947 its membership was made compulsory—the union "check-off"

Now the teachers get less public appreciation but considerably more pay, and some of the nasty selfish creatures prefer it that way.

Much more than salary improvement, however, has been done by the BCTF. Because this organization can speak with the power of all 7,000 teachers in the province, it has far more influence than those teachers could ever have getting individually. It has been able to express the teachers' points of view in the department of education on such important matters as textbooks, courses of study, certificates, and training of teachers. It has been able to bring in laws preventing teachers from being fired for no reason at the whim of a school board. It has brought in a pensions scheme for teachers and a good medical services scheme, and a salary indemnity fund which has been a life-saver for teachers who were incapacitated from work by illness or accident. Recently a teachers' credit union and a co-operative housing scheme for teachers were also started by the BCTF.

Not all teachers agree with all BCTF policies, of course. Some are dubious about the frequent requests for salary increases. Some disagree with the policy of giving the highest certificates to teachers with the most academic learning instead of those with the most teaching ability, even though the latter is hard to assess.

But the BCTF has done so much to help all teachers that its loudest critics would never dream of trying to do without it. In that, too, it is like the BCFGA and B.C. Tree Fruits set-up for handling fruit; it may seem too arbitrary and overbearing at times, some of its schemes may be disliked by individuals, but the alternatives are chaos and red ink. Neither teachers nor fruit-growers want to go back to them.

All committee chairmen are reminded to have their reports in to Buck not later than next Monday.

Scout Activities

24 boys turned out in uniform at this week's meeting. Several boys wrote their first class topographical map test.

Next week, Feb. 7th, we will do 1st class 1st aid instruction and signallers tests, so don't forget to bring along your tenderfoot to Queen Scout book. New books can be had for 50 cents from Mr. Munn.

There are only a few boys who haven't paid their registration fees so let's clean up that item pronto. John Williams received his collector's badge. Let's see every boy in the troop getting proficiency badges.

By all accounts those boys who took in the scout hike had a mighty fine time.

Patrol standings are now: Eagles 208; Hawks 198; Buffaloes 170; Beavers 174.

Duty patrol next week: Hawks. D. M. Fisher. CUB CALLS There was a good attendance on Monday night. Several boys passed first and second star tests. Keep the Allswest carton ends coming in, also the stamps. Next meeting Feb. 7. Duty six: White Six. Golden Quill.

A special message to Home-owners

Do you need MONEY for HOME IMPROVEMENT?

There's no need to hold up improvements or repairs to your home for lack of ready cash. You can pay for them outright—at less expense—with a low-cost B of M loan.

If you want to add an extra room or two... erect a garage or carport... install a new plumbing, heating or electrical system... build a basement playroom or even paint your present one... or make any other home improvements or repairs—see the manager of your nearest B of M branch. He will be glad to discuss your plans with you and to explain how a B of M Home Improvement Loan can help you.

now is the time TO TAKE A GOOD LOOK AT YOUR HOME

Spring is just around the corner... and that's the best season to make repairs—or to modernize.

It pays—in hard cash—to give your home a careful "once over" every year.

Every bit of repair work neglected, every crack, every flake of peeling paint means a loss in dollar value—a depreciation of one of your most valuable assets.

Enlist the B of M's help... why not see your neighbourhood manager today.

St. Andrew's W.A. Officers Installed

A very successful year, with a challenge for greater efforts in the coming year, marked the first session of St. Andrew's Federation for the year. Present were members and visiting representatives of the Women's Association and recently-elected officers were installed by Rev. C. O. Richmond.

An invitation to attend the birthday tea was extended to the Federation by the W.A.

Devotional service was led by Mrs. T. Garnett, Mrs. W. Fleming, Mrs. C. O. Richmond and Mrs. V. Charles, the theme being the need the "door" of the new year.

A silent prayer was offered in memory of Mrs. F. B. Bedford and Mrs. C. A. Clark who passed away during the year.

Tribute was paid Mrs. M. T. Laidlaw for five years faithful work as treasurer of the federation. Her annual report showed collections totalling $820.40.

Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, secretary of the Christian Citizenship committee spoke of the policy of the United Church in regard to temperance.

Refreshments during the social hour were served by Mrs. R. Angus, Mrs. P. Austin, Mrs. E. Bancroft and Mrs. F. W. Ward.

Guest at the home of Fred Lenzi was S. Pasqualini of Vancouver.

Decorations Follow Arctic Theme For Eastern Star Annual Dance

Summerland Youth Centre Friday night took on the appearance of wintry northland when decorations followed an Iceland theme for the eighth annual Order of the Eastern Star dance.

Huge snowflakes dangled from the ceiling and walls were lined with igloos, penguins, icebergs, eskimos and caribons featuring other Arctic scenes.

Mrs. J. W. Mitchell was general convener for the event and committee in charge of decorations was headed by Mrs. Jack Dunsdon, Mrs. George Washington and Mrs. Doney Wilson with the assistance of members of the order.

During later intermission, refreshments were served by members of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Harvey Wilson being in charge of refreshment plans. In charge of invitations was Mrs. George Clark.

Guests were received by Mrs. J. R. Butler, worthy matron of the order, and Frank Maddocks, worthy patron.

Winners in a lucky partners dance was Mrs. Frank Doumont and Ken Boothe.

Saxie's orchestra was in attendance.

Report Growth At Church Meet

About 90 members of St. Andrew's United Church congregation were served at supper Monday night which preceded the annual congregational meeting. The supper was served by the Women's Association of the church with Mrs. James Marshall convening.

Reports of all church organizations received at the meeting, which followed, showed encouraging increases in memberships and financial support. During the year, 32 new members were received into the congregation by profession of faith or by certificate.

There are now 230 resident members of St. Andrew's and missionary giving for Lakeside and St. Andrew's combined totalled $1,078. New members elected to the session were Dr. T. H. Anstey, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Mrs. T. W. Boothe, George Harper, R. S. Oxley and E. E. Bates. Elected to the board of stewards were G. A. Laidlaw, J. Duguid, D. Munn, J. R. Campbell, H. Wright and Francis Steuart.

Projects considered for the year ahead will include a complete visitation of all families recorded as having any affiliation with the congregation. Discussion concerning alteration or rebuilding the church was entered into and will be continued at a meeting to be held before March 15.

Chairman of the meeting was Rev. C. O. Richmond and secretary was G. A. Laidlaw.

Dr. J. C. Wilcox Speaker at Coast

A visiting agriculturist from Hampshire, England, was the guest speaker at the annual B.C. Agronomists' Conference, which met Jan. 26-28 at the University of B.C. Rex Paterson, who has more than 20 herds of milking stock on his farm in Basingstoke, Hants., England, addressed the agronomists on "Grassland Farming" Jan. 27. Impressed with the need for low cost milk production, he emphasizes use of grass, rather than grain, for feeding stock.

Paterson is the inventor of the Paterson Buck Rake, utilized for handling silage, on a small or large scale. On his own farm he puts up 7,000 to 10,000 tons of long grass silage each year.

A conference on irrigation preceded the meeting on Jan. 24. Dr. J. C. Wilcox of Summerland conducted the meeting and led discussion on use of a moisture meter.

The irrigation talks also included moisture holding capacities of soil, evaporation of water, and the transpiration rates of plants.

Experts in the fields of crops, soils, plant disease, insect and weed control and engineering took part in the annual conference. The meeting also discussed plans to join the B.C. Institute of Agronomists and to incorporate a Horticultural Committee.

Abstracts of papers presented at the conference will be made available through the Extension Department, UBC.

Summerland Business
Under New Owners

A long established Summerland business, has changed hands with F. B. Bedford disposing of his interests in West Summerland Building Supplies Ltd. to Frank McDonald and Lockie McKilligan.

Mr. Bedford came to Summerland from Vancouver 10 years ago and took over the business and has operated it since then.

Mr. McDonald is well known in the community.

Both the new owners are former employees of the company, Mr. McDonald having worked there about eight years and Mr. McKilligan about a year and a half. Mr. McDonald came here about 10 years ago from New Westminster and has been engaged in the mill business for about 35 years. Mr. McKilligan came here from Choceland, Sask., at the time he joined the staff of the firm.

As enthusiastic curlers, both are well known in the district and this year, Mr. McDonald is president of Summerland Kiwanis Club.

T. E. Chester, left, manager of the CPR's Empress Hotel at Victoria, B.C., will retire at the end of January under the company's pension regulations, it was announced by R. A. Mackie, general manager of hotels. He will be succeeded by Cyril Chapman, right.

Must Re-Register
Small Firearms

Attention was drawn this week by RCMP Police Constable C. E. Piers to federal regulations governing the registration of small firearms.

"The laws of Canada require," pointed out Constable Piers, "that every person, with the exception of wholesale and retail dealers must register all revolvers, pistols and fully automatic firearms in his possession. This does not include the ordinary type of rifle, shotgun or air rifle.

"It is also required that any person, with the above exception, wishing to purchase a revolver or pistol, or to receive it into his possession by gift, loan, or any other means, must first obtain the necessary authority to do so from his local police department before receiving the firearm.

"In accordance with amendments to the criminal code of Canada, a new type of firearm registration certificate has been in effect since Jan. 1, 1952. For the purpose of re-registration on this new type certificate, registered owners are now requested to forward all copies of certificates in their possession bearing date of issue prior to 1952, to:

The Commissioner, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa, Ontario, marked: Attention, Identification Branch.

The admission of Germany to NATO including the re-arming of that nation aroused a heated debate in the house. But while many members expressed their fear and doubts as to the risk of the course we are taking, only twelve members of the CCF group voted against the protocols.

Now that we have made the fateful decision, let us pray and hope that we shall not again have to face a re-armed revitalized Germany in another world war.

Some of our British Columbia members have aroused the ire of Quebec by making references in the Commons to their status and its relations to the rest of Canada.

Mr. Regier of Burnaby-Coquitlam had to bear the brunt of the attack made by French-Canadian members mainly on his statement that he felt after visiting Quebec and observing the economic conditions of that province that it was almost ripe for Communism to take over.

The breakdown of Okanagan apples shipped to Scotland has received some publicity in the Ottawa papers and produced a question in the house by Mr. Herridge.

It would be very sad if this breakdown should be of such a scale as to effect our export to Britain where we have been working so hard for so long to re-enter.

Other farm products have been under discussion, particularly cheese. It seems that New Zealand cheese has been coming into Canada in large quantities and offering very stiff competition to the Canadian product.

Butter to the extent of millions of pounds is being disposed of by the government to registered institutions such as hospitals, prisons, rest-homes etc.

This huge surplus is stored in various cold storages from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Mr. Coldwell on Wednesday last endeavoured to have the house discuss the situation in Formosa on an urgency basis.

The action of the United States, apparently on its own, has caused quite an upset here in Ottawa. There is genuine fear that the action of the United States sending armed forces to the Formosa water may touch off a spark that could very well develop into a full-sized war.

The prime ministers' conference now taking place in London may agree on this course of action. If they do it will have the support of the majority represented at the United Nations.

While this conference may have far-reaching effects on international trade and commerce the prime minister before leaving was unable to tell us exactly what subjects would be discussed.

One of the results may well mean an improvement in our export trade with other members of the Commonwealth. It may be unfortunate that Canada is the only nation represented at this conference who belongs to the dollar area and not the sterling area.

He was trying hard but he did not seem able to make much headway with the pretty girl. "Those lovely hands," he murmured.

A coach at the tryout camp of a major league baseball team, impressed by the way one of the youngsters was hitting, called him aside.

Time For Courtesy . . . no jekyll-and-hyde act, please

ANY motorist who is looking for a good chance to practice courtesy will never find a better opportunity than right now.

The average driver afoot is a well-mannered citizen who observes all the social graces expected of a well-bred courteous individual but for some unaccountable reason he, or she, goes through some strange metamorphosis once behind the wheel of a car and becomes instead a complete boor.

While we know of no instance off hand where

White Cane Week . . . be thoughtful of your sight

OF all the specially designated weeks during the year, there is probably none which is set aside for a greater humanitarian purpose than "White Cane" week.

This year, the theme of "White Cane Week" is "Put the accent on ability - not disability" but its purpose is more than to just encourage people to become more conscious of the distinctive walking stick carried by the sightless to indicate their handicap.

With doctors claiming that half the blindness in Canada is preventable, and a CNIB registry of more than 20,000, prevention of blindness is of prime importance.

Many have lost their sight through accidents, and accidents are usually caused by carelessness. You can lose your vision in a matter of seconds.

Other farm products have been under discussion, particularly cheese. It seems that New Zealand cheese has been coming into Canada in large quantities and offering very stiff competition to the Canadian product.

From Early Files of The Review

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO - 1920

Mr. Hayes had fitted up on the lower floor of the Summerland post office building a neat and convenient sorting room for the rural route courier.

It was announced that 500 refrigerator cars were being constructed at a cost of $1,500,000 to take care of B.C. eastward fruit trade over the CPR.

Inspector J. Tait was giving demonstrations in budding and grafting to central school pupils.

At a Farmers' Institute meeting $20,000 was voted to erect a cannery and finance a season's pack with M. Steuart, J. L. Logie, O. F. Zimmerman, C. A. Walter and E. R. Agur elected as provisional directors.

D. H. McIntosh resigned as principal of the high school.

Summerland girls who were engaged to go to New Zealand to remain during the apple packing season were not able to go as the boat on which they were to sail was tied up in a New Zealand port because of a strike.

The Summerland Review had installed a linotype and was advertising it as one of the latest models.

THIRTY YEARS AGO - 1925

Eight hundred and eighty-five pounds of milk was the record made in her first month by the first to begin milking of the purebred Jersey heifers brought to Summerland by the calf club.

Summerland Poultry Association was a model for the whole province. Officers were: president, Mrs. Fosbery; vice-president, C. E. Pineo; directors, J. Tait, Geo. Graham and C. J. Amm.

For several weeks seven trumpeter swans had been wintering along the shore by C. P. Evans.

Three of the Tuxis boys, Shelley Knowles, Ronald White and Edward Smith acted as judges for the Scouts' debate. The negative side upheld by Scouts Jack Purves, Jim Purves and Cyril Mossop was victorious.

FIVE YEARS AGO - 1950

Assessment of properties in the vicinity of Jubilee and Hastings caused the greatest concern to the annual court of revision of the assessment roll.

Teachers' salaries throughout the Okanagan were to be increased four percent due to rising cost of living index.

Leslie R. Smith, son of Harold Smith, farm foreman at the experimental station, was appointed superintendent for the CPR at Penticton.

Mighty citizens of Summerland rose as one man at a meeting in the IOOF hall, to agree that a Summerland Rink Association should be formed to investigate all phases of a hockey-curling-skating rink for the district.

J. R. Butler was chosen president for 1950 of the Summerland and District Credit Union.

Dr. D. V. Fisher, scoutmaster, told Kiwanians at their meeting, pertinent facts about Boy Scout Week, which had commenced on Feb. 8.

The IOOF lodge donated its piano to the Youth Centre for the use of all the youth organizations meeting in the re-conditioned gym.

The new $5,000 addition to Summerland Baptist church was dedicated at a service held in the new Sunday school room.

a motorist was charged in court for inconsiderately splashing pedestrians, it would seem very likely that the section of the motor vehicle act which requires driving "with due care and consideration of others" could be applied in such cases and a person guilty of the offence could be penalized with a fine.

The time it takes to slow down when passing pedestrians is negligible and is more than compensated by the feeling of appreciation - even if unspoken - felt by the person walking.

And that goes too for all the little acts of courtesy within the power of a driver to extend to others.

Of Many Things

by AMBROSE HILL

Home Entertainment Santa brought a movie camera and projector to our home this Christmas, and my wife and I learned a lot because of it.

They had decided to make a picture show. I was to be the camera man; my wife was to be the producer. The pantomime was prepared by my son Bill; with his sister Sal playing the star role.

I used up ten dollars worth of film - somewhat less than the parties of old used to cost me; and I had the best New Year's Eve of my life.

Looking back over 1954 I realize that my wife and I have been guilty of the common sin of this generation. We've let others entertain us.

It came to pass on one of those days, that he was teaching; . . . And behold, men bring on a bed to the housetop, and let him down through the tiles a man that was palsied; . . .

In the midst of His teaching to a multitude of Pharisees and learned men, Jesus suffered an interruption. Some men removed a roof section to bring their palsied friend into the presence of Jesus.

Well situated in a thriving business, a dear friend suddenly sold out and located in another state. There he engaged in a new business venture in which he was not successful.

Heavenly Father, before we become too engrossed in business or in pleasure, by worries or by anxieties, interrupt us, we pray, help us to become aware of our need of Thee.

HOMEMAKER SPEAKS OUT

Recent rumors and some outspoken warnings of a coming depression must be good news for Moscow, and it is doubtless being promoted by Red and Pink agents who are always feeling the pulse and taking the temperature of our body economic.

There is no surer way of promoting a disease than by reducing the patient's resistance to it and telling him he is on his death-bed.

The latter pants-treatment was delivered the other day by "A Steelworker's Wife" in a letter to the Hamilton, Ontario, Spectator.

"This is a plea and a warning to the United Steel Workers of America, in their negotiations with the Steel Company of Canada for higher wages, etc., to stop and think what disaster they are trying to bring about to that plant.

"They and all concerned have been told again and again that the time has come to use common sense and to understand that products cannot be sold at higher prices in competition with other countries, and it doesn't take much study to figure this out.

"You all know what happened to the gold mines of the north. Unless you steelworkers wake up it will happen to you.

There is nothing new in this letter, except that it puts in plain home terms what economists and industrialists have been saying all along in technical language and statistics.

That applies not only to foreign trade. Hon. R. Douglas Stuart, U.S. ambassador to Canada, speaking in Toronto, put the whole thing in a nutshell when he said: "People create business, support business and enjoy its benefits. The real boss of business is the consumer.

A team composed of military police was playing a soccer game with a team composed of buck privates.

"If you can't kick the ball," he said, "kick one of the men on the other team. Now where's the ball?"

"Never mind the ball," shouted a husky young private. "Let's get on with the game."

"Stopped your grandma from sliding down the bannister yet?"

"Last week. Wound barbed wire around it."

"That sure her?"

"No. Sure slowed her down, though."

The sergeant really lost his temper with the recruit. But the more the sergeant stormed and raved the more blandly unconcerned was the recruit.

"Doesn't anything I say make the slightest difference," the sergeant demanded.

"No," said the recruit, "I'm a baseball umpire in civil life - I mused to it."

by TEACHER

Report cards have just been issued for the second time this year from both elementary and high schools. What do you, the parents think about them?

Vague and hard to understand? You may be surprised to learn that teachers think so too. In fact, we often wonder why the officials over us don't put practising teachers in charge of things like designing new types of report cards so that they might come a little closer to filling actual needs.

The high school report cards, indeed, are not too bad. That is, the marks A, B, C plus, C minus, D, and E form a regular series; it isn't hard to recognize A as a very good mark, E as a very bad one, and fit the others to their places in between. Probably, most parents of high school pupils know that for those taking University Entrance courses, an average mark of C or better throughout the year is usually necessary in order to be recommended.

But the elementary card is being changed so often that it is hard to keep up with, and the present marks are very easy to misunderstand. The basic mark is N, for Normal or satisfactory progress. Those who do better than average get a G, the few who are outstandingly better get an O.

As there are two marks above N, so there are two below, and one naturally concludes that they correspond to the two above: one a little worse than average, one very bad. Unfortunately, it doesn't work out that way. There is an S mark which means that the pupil hasn't earned an N in progress, but is doing well enough for his ability. It's a good idea, too, since it is unfair to mark slow pupils as unsatisfactory when they were working as well as the average of their class. But the only other mark below N is U, for Unsatisfactory, and as this, like O, is an extreme mark, it isn't used very often. Teachers are inclined to mark, and parents to understand, S for the intermediate mark between N and U; not satisfactory, but not very bad. And that is where the difficulty comes in.

Actually, the elementary card needs more marks. Few teachers would like to go back to the old percentage idea; it is impossible to judge accurately that one pupil has earned 78 and another only 77. A hundred marks are too many. The seven of the high school report would be fine; indeed, five would be quite satisfactory. Something like P and U below N, as we have G and O above. Or the simpler A, B, C, D, and E. It doesn't matter what the letters are, but we would like two above and two below the normal. The S mark for Slow but Satisfactory is a good idea, but let it be an extra, or sixth, mark.

Recently an American magazine suggested using only three marks in primary grades: an S for satisfactory, I for better (improving), and N for poorer (needs improving). But local teachers feel that three is too few marks, and that the changing meanings given to S teacher would want to admit SIN and N are confusing. Besides, what on a pupil's report card?

Another kick about report cards, both high and elementary, is that the left side is so vague. There are three places there to mark qualities of character as they develop; and so many things are to be covered by each mark that it is impossible to cover them. Either there should be fewer items, or more marks.

In all the arguments about letters and marks, however, one important fact stands out; that if any parent is dissatisfied with her child's report or does not understand it, either one, that parent should visit the child's teacher. Teachers are always glad to discuss a child's progress with parents because the work of both is so closely connected and interwoven; most teachers feel that parents don't come to see them enough.

There will be another chance for parents to visit the schools in Education Week, March 6 - 12. Summerland teachers sincerely hope that plenty of them will come.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

We had a very interesting meeting this week. Mr. Brinton instructed in how to put on a splint for a broken leg. Topographical maps were received and signalling tests were carried out.

Next week special points will be given for all boys who have their names in their hats. We will have another topographical map test and signalling next week so try and brush up on those subjects. Bring along your Tenderfoot to Queen Scout books.

There are still 5 boys who haven't paid their 50¢ registration fee, so lets have it next week.

Patrol points now stand: Eagles 240; Hawks 225; Buffaloes 205; Beavers 205.

Duty patrol next week Feb. 15: Beavers.

David Munn.

The Hi Life

Hi kids! I'm back again. Well this week we only had three basketball games. On Saturday, Feb. 5, S'land hosted two junior teams from Princeton. Scores: junior girls won 14-12; junior boys won 21-18.

The main attraction of Saturday night was the game between S'land Sr. boys and the Pentiction Lakers. This was a good, hard-fought game but probably, because of their advantage in "years" the Lakers came out on top of a 68-35 score. By the way, where were you Sat. night? Yes, I mean you. Let's have a bigger crowd out to the next game, hey?

On Sat. afternoon S'land also hosted volleyball teams from Rutland, Kelowna and Westbank. The S'land team did not do so well in this tournament - but better luck next year.

On Friday afternoon grades 11 and 12 of the high school heard a very interesting debate on "Should the federal government subsidize the public schools?" Members of the debating team are: Margaret Marshall, Dwaine Greer, affirmative; Eileen Wilcox, Carol Allison, negative. The affirmative "took on" the Pentiction negative team in S'land, while S'land's negative team travelled to Pentiction to debate there. Although S'land lost both contests they were beaten by a very small margin and we are proud of them anyway.

Fri. night the student's performance of the Grad Variety Concert was held. It proved to be quite successful even though backstage was a "riot". On Mon. night the second performance of the variety concert was held. This came off fairly well even though there was a small panic when the lights went off just before the performance was scheduled to begin. While we're on the subject the Grad class would like to thank all the kids who sold tickets and also the ones who turned out to the concert. Well bye for now - watch out for flying snowballs.

BROWNIE CHATTER

The 1st Brownie pack has met regularly since the new year with good attendance until last week when the mumps took a heavy toll. Two new prospective members Pamela Brinton and Rosalie Geies are visiting our pack and with their enrollment, there will be no vacancies until September.

Several of our pack have been doing badge work. Leona Keys has passed her house orderly badge, and Leona and Donna Powell have passed their skaters' badge. Many thanks to Mrs. William Laidlaw and Mrs. G. M. Dunsdon for testing them.

The next Golden Hand test will be held in May. All Brownies who are 10½ or over are working hard so as to be ready for this test. Such parts as knitting, growing a plant, cooking and semphore need a great deal of practice which can only be accomplished with the co-operation of the parents. We hope that all those Brownies who have been sick will be back with us real soon.

This is THE MARK OF A NEW AGE!

That big, bold Sweep-Sight Windshield - curving back to vertical corner posts - is easy-to-see evidence that Chevrolet has cast aside the tradition of the past to start a whole new age of low-cost motoring. It's smarter to look at - safer to look out of - and it's only part of Chevrolet's new outlook for '55!

Yes, Chevrolet brings you a whole new outlook in low-cost motoring for 1955! It's best symbolized, we think, by the sweeping expanse of windshield that widens your view of the road and lets you "see through" the corners for greater safety.

The car with the new idea! Besides widening your view of the road, the Motoramic Chevrolet broadens the whole horizon of the low-priced car. It was built around the idea that a car doesn't have to be high-priced to look, ride and perform like it. A lot of time and sweat went into the building. A lot of old traditions went out the window because they didn't measure up to this daring new concept. Trust Chevrolet to have the resources and the skill - yes, and the courage - to break so completely with the past.

Everything's new in Chevrolet! Everything - from its tubeless tires to its lower top. There's new beauty with that long, low "let's go" look! New fun underfoot with the new "Turbo-Fire" V8 and the new "Blue-Flame" six! A new choice of drives - new Overdrive, Super-Smooth Powerglide (extra-cost options), and new standard transmission! A wonderful new ride! New High-Level ventilation! But we can't even begin to give you the whole story here.

Look who's stealing whose thunder! Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars in more ways than one! Come in, drive it, and you'll see why the Motoramic Chevrolet starts a new and exciting age of low-cost motoring. This you're going to love!

MORE THAN A NEW CAR...
A WHOLE NEW CONCEPT OF LOW-COST MOTORING!

Sun Life Pays $26 Million In Policyholder Dividends

ters regarding the outlook for 1954. Despite the keen competition that existed among the various companies, however, 1954 was a year of expansion for life insurance and particularly for Sun Life. Mr. Bourke declared that the main reason the life insurance industry continued to forge ahead, was because a life insurance policy functions like a good investment...

Other highlights of the Report include a total life insurance in force amounting to more than $6,000,000,000. The Company has now passed another milestone and the two-year period taken to accumulate the last billion dollars contrasts sharply with the 54 years required for the first billion...

Mr. Bourke stressed the recent improvements in medical science with the ensuing rapid and continuous decline in death rates. He pointed out that accidents now account for a substantial proportion of death from all causes, especially in the younger age groups, and that Sun Life experience shows that approximately one-half of all death claims under age thirty are the results of accidents, while accidents are now the third most frequent cause of death at all ages...

MORTGAGE LOANS UP Assets of the Company now stand at $1,876 million, an increase of $48 million over 1953. Mortgage loans increased by more than any other type of investment, in keeping with Sun Life's policy of striving to further the economic and social interests of the community consistent with sound investment principles...

OUTLOOK FOR 1955 In his concluding remarks Mr. Bourke said that Canada's national resources should continue to support thriving industries which may well set new standards of prosperity in 1955. There should be no abatement of the national confidence, for a steady progress beneficial to everyone is to be expected. "Canada's future depends not only on its economic heritage, but on the use to which that heritage is put," he concluded.

A copy of Sun Life's complete 1954 Annual Report to Policyholders, including the President's review of the year, is being sent to each policyholder or may be obtained from S. R. Davis, Kelowna, District Representative.

He stressed the fact that this organization is strictly local and should not be confused with the provincial welfare services. Its purpose is to give quick, emergency help to local citizens caught in some crisis. All such cases should be reported directly to the committee for immediate attention.

In her report as secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. R. McLarty mentioned some of the emergency services provided and expressed appreciation for the quantity of woollens, nicely washed and cleaned, which had been given to make blankets, and also thanked the representatives for the splendid co-operation of themselves and their organizations in providing needed hampers, toys and transportation costs.

Mrs. R. G. Russel, in charge of clothing, expressed appreciation of the new municipal quarters and stated that in the latest civil defence exercise, the welfare committee had outfitted "refugees" needing clothing. A quantity of surplus and outdated garments had been sent to the "Save-the-Children Fund" who had expressed a desire to have it.

Mrs. Walter Bleasdale mentioned the dinner and party given by the Rebeccas for 70 old age pensioners and stated intention to continue the project. She stressed that this was not a charity but that the invitation includes all local citizens over 70 and their partners.

Mr. Richmond expressed to Mr. Calder the thanks of the committee and the municipality for his past services as chairman. Officers re-elected were: chairman, Mr. Calder; vice-chairman, Mr. Richmond; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. McLarty; clothing, Mrs. Russel, assisted by Mrs. S. W. Feltham; executive member, Mr. Duguid.

Install Officers At Legion Meeting

Recently-elected officers of Summerland Branch, Canadian Legion were installed in office by Zone Commander Graham Kincaid. Installation at the regular branch meeting in the Legion Hall last evening. Taking the office as president was Nat May, with W. C. McCutcheon installed as 1st vice president and George Clark as 2nd vice-president.

HOME AGAIN Mr. and Mrs. William Wootton have returned from a hunting trip in the East Kootenays, bringing back a four-point buck.

VISITING ABROAD

Clive Atkinson spent a few days in Vancouver early this week. Nick Solly returned on Tuesday from a few days visit to Vancouver.

Dr. Maurice Welsh is leaving for Edmonton where he will attend the meeting of the Associate Committee on Plant Diseases.

Rev. C. O. Richmond has been called to the coast owing to the death of his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf McLachlan left last week by plane for Los Angeles and will then travel through the southern states to Florida and then along the east coast to Eastern Canada. They will be away about two months.

Croft Rink Loses In Opening Match

Summerland's Croft rink got off to a bad start in quest of Macdonald-Briar dominion bonspiel position last night in Kamloops when they lost their first match in the B.C. round robin to the Miller Rink of Vancouver. However, the provincial championship will not be decided until all rinks have played off against each other so the loss of one match may not be too serious by the time the bonspiel is over the end of the week.

With Bill Croft on the Summerland rink are Herb Lemke, Bill Baker and Lockie McKilligan. Two members of this rink, Croft and Lemke, were on the rink which last year ended in second place for the provincial title.

Going on at the same time is the Kamloops bonspiel and the Croft rink is curling in two events and is in the 8's of the A event and 16's of B event.

Also from Summerland in the bonspiel is the Topping rink, also curling in two events, and it is in the 8's of B event and the 16's of C event. With Skip Topping on this rink are Walt Toews, Chuck Bleasdale and Norm Holmes.

VISITING HERE

Little Miss Mary Donaldson of Vernon visited at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Gayton this week. Mrs. Gayton left yesterday, with Mary, to spend a few days in Vernon at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson.

John Bernhardt of Salmon Arm was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bernhardt last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Bower of New Westminster were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bernhardt. Mrs. Bernhardt, who has been staying with her parents, accompanied them home with her three children.

He's helping to build houses by the thousand!

This trick is not as difficult as you may think. In fact, you have probably done it yourself.

Actually, this man is simply mailing a payment on his life insurance policy. And the houses he's helping to build are the result of investments made for him out of that money by his life insurance company.

In the same way, every life insurance policyholder renders many other valuable services to his fellow-citizens. For investments may also be made for him in ways that help finance new roads, schools, waterworks and other important projects. So, if you own life insurance, remember—while you're building security for your family and yourself, you're also helping to make Canada a better land to live in!

P.S. from your life insurance man

"Invested life insurance dollars earn interest that makes it possible for you and your family to enjoy the benefits of life insurance at such low cost. If you have any questions about how to make life insurance fit your own special needs, give me a call. I'll be glad to help you!"

Okanagan Telephone Company Plans Expansion to Summerland Service

Plans have been approved for the expenditure of $27,000 by the Okanagan Telephone Co. on its Summerland equipment — $10,000 for an 80-line equipment addition to the Summerland dial office and $17,000 on a telephone cable extension to Trout Creek and additional toll lines to Penticton.

These and other expansion plans were approved by company directors at a recent meeting in Vancouver when they passed a budget of over half-a-million dollars ($568,430) to be spent during 1955 on additions and maintenance to the Company's 15-exchange system.

At the same time authority was granted for the company to start the necessary preliminary planning and engineering work for converting its Salmon Arm exchange to automatic telephone service. "Cut-over" date for this exchange has been tentatively set as Dec. 1, 1957, and the estimated cost for dial equipment, new exchange buildings and converting subscribers' telephones has been set at $150,000.

The telephone company now has equipment on order for its Enderby and Revelstoke dial offices which will be "cut-over" in September and December of next year, 1956.

Of the telephone company's more than half-million dollar program of work for this year over $320,000 will be expended on major construction and installation programs in nearly all exchanges. In addition to local exchange improvements, a third of this amount, $112,000, is to be spent on additions to long distance calling facilities in toll "carriers" and operator toll dialling equipment. The Okanagan Telephone Company is the first communication utility in B.C. to use operator toll dialling in its operations.

Exchange by exchange this is the picture of the extensive works program the company hopes to carry out and complete during 1955.

Over $48,000 is to be spent in the Revelstoke exchange in preparation for dial in December, 1956; $15,000 of this for pole line, telephone cable and line additions, while converting subscribers' telephones for dial will cost a further $11,000. Plans for a new telephone building are also included in this year's program.

Included in plans for Salmon Arm is $8,500 for telephone cable and line additions to provide additional subscriber facilities locally, while $8,000 worth of "carrier" and operator toll dialling equipment is to be installed in the local office as a part of the long distance service improvements.

Nearly $20,000 is to be expended in the Enderby exchange for future dial service, $13,000 of this to be used in changing rural lines, with the remainder set aside for a new dial office and toll line equipment.

Armstrong has a major program of telephone cable additions and a construction crew is now working on this $20,000 project in that city.

$44,000 is to be spent on outside plant additions, mostly telephone cable, in the Vernon exchange, with a further $18,000 planned for a new long distance switchboard and an additional $20,000 for 2VF and "carrier" equipment to be installed in the Vernon office bringing the total program for this exchange to $80,000.

Major telephone cable additions much of it to be placed underground, are scheduled for the Kelowna exchange this year with nearly $20,000 to be expended on his and other line additions. The installation of 2VF, repeater, "carrier" equipment to long distance lines terminating in the Kelowna office is to cost a further $30,000 this year.

The extension of telephone cable and line facilities is planned in a $20,000 program for the Penticton exchange, while further additions to long distance facilities in the company's office will cost $6,500.

In addition to its major additions of long distance equipment in exchange offices $10,000 of the $112,000 toll-improvement program is to be spent in inter-exchange relocations and replacements during 1955.

The telephone company's program for this year shows a considerable increase over the $355,000 budget for its operations in 1954.

Interior Marksmen Here For Two-Day Shoot in May

At the ninth annual meeting of the B.C. Inland Rifle Association, held in Kelowna, Sunday, Feb. 6, members from the Kelowna, Vernon, Summerland and Penticton rifle clubs again re-elected Walt Cousins of Penticton as president by acclamation. Other officers elected were: Art Dunsdon, Summerland, 1st. vice-president; John Kalemach, Summerland, 2nd vice-president; Jack Wilson, Penticton, secretary-treasurer; Honorary presidents of the association are the officers commanding the B.C. Dragons, Rocky Mountain Rangers and the 117th Manning Depot, also the area commander and the president of the British Columbia Rifle Association.

Before commencing with the business of the meeting, President Cousins called for a few moments of silence in respect of the members who passed away during the year.

In his report, the president stated that the association had a very successful year, and was in good financial condition. The B.C.I.R.A. annual shoot was held on the Vernon range last year, sponsored by the Kelowna club.

This year, the shoot will take place in Summerland on May 22 and 23. This will be the second time it has been held here, the first being in 1951 when over 70 marksmen were in attendance from interior and coast rifle clubs. The local club hopes this record will be equalled or bettered at the 1955 shoot.

The very contentious matter of tyros was discussed at some length, and a motion by H. Palmer of the Vernon Club was adopted. The motion states that in future, the senior class will be made up of the 10 highest marksmen at the BCIRA shoots, and any competitor who has won an aggregate prize at any club shoot within the past three years. This will give the less experienced shooters a much better chance of getting in to the prize money, as they will not have to compete against the experts.

Those attending the meeting from the Summerland Rifle Club were Steve Dunsdon, John Kalemach, Len Shannon, Roy Desilet and Herb Simpson. The last two were chosen as Summerland delegates to the BCIRA when the affiliated clubs were asked to name their two representatives.

Clever Cooking...

Sometimes a person with years of life and experience behind them is heard to remark: "In our time we used to do it this way" or "Years ago we would not think of buying so and so." It is certainly not necessary to look very far back to realize the changes in the way of living which have taken place. If our grandmothers had the opportunity of seeing all the equipment and homemaking facilities now available, they would, no doubt, be astounded and many of them rather than gloating on the past would rejoice for the young homemaker of today. After all it is best to live according to the times, and try to get the most from it. It is indeed wise to adapt the optimistic philosophy of the man who always considered his cup half full instead of half empty.

Nowadays our cups are often really almost full — so much is available to us. Think of the progress that has been made in bringing us more and better foods for example, rapid transportation keeps fresh foods in good condition until they reach the shop counters. The conservation of many foods through commercial canning and freezing is something else that gives greater variety and simplifies work in the kitchen.

In many lines of food there is a much wider choice than was the case even a few years ago—take apples for example. It so happens that the quality of Canadian apples this year is particularly good thanks to a fine growing season.

The way apples are bought for use in the home has changed much with the times. Most homemakers have no place to properly handle a huge barrel or even a hamper or box of apples and so they buy the fruit in smaller quantities, very often by weight in five pound bags, which in measure is a gallon. The modern development of holding apples in cold storage plants for weeks, sometimes months after they are picked keeps the fruit in excellent condition and greatly extends the fresh apple season. A large proportion of the Canadian apple crop is still sold as fresh apples but there is a decided tendency toward processing more apples and today between one-quarter and one-fifth of the crop is being canned, frozen or made into juice. Frozen apples are now on the market to some extent in small containers of one pound or more but many more apples are available as canned apples, apple sauce and the newer apple pie filler. One of the main advantages of these various apple products is of course that they are ready to use and in many cases too they are an economical buy.

Canned apples which are graded

The Summerland Review THURSDAY, FEBRUARY TENTH

in order of quality as Canada Fancy, Canada Choice and Canada Standard are solid-pack. In other words they are apples canned with out sugar or water, so when the consumer buys a can of them he is buying apples only—apples which have been peeled, had their core removed, been cut into segments then canned.

Some canned apples are sold in the retail stores in 28 fluid ounce cans but for the most part they are put up in the large 105 ounce cans. Apple sauce is something else that is canned in large quantities and that compared to most canned fruits is quite reasonable in price both in the 15 and 20 fluid ounce cans. Apple pie filler which is made according to a standard with definite amounts of apple, sweetener and thickener in it is sold in the three sizes - 105, 28 and 20 fluid ounces.

Finally there is what is sometimes called the champion of all apple products - apple juice, the natural juice of the fruit. A fairly high proportion, about a quarter of all juice made in Canada, is vitamin C enriched which means that, to quote from government regulations, "Vitaminized apple juice shall comply with the requirements of Canada Fancy and Canada Choice apple juice and in addition the product shall contain not less than 35 milligrams of vitamin C per 100 c.c. of juice at any time within ten months from the date of packing."

With this amount vitaminized apple juice contains about twice as much vitamin C as canned tomato juice. More of the vitaminized juice is available in some regions than in others and more will be made available if homemakers keep insisting that it is the vitaminized juice they want to buy. Naturally a can of vitaminized juice costs a little more than one of regular juice.

One of the favourite charges made by critics of modern education is that schools today do not teach pupils how to spell. Not infrequently an old-timer will announce disgustedly:

"Why, when I was in Grade 3 or 8 or 10 or whatever it was — I could spell words like 'psychology' and 'medicinal' and 'constitutional' without a bobble, and today's kids can't spell 'c-a-t' without help."

Similar charges are made regarding reading, and sometimes — though less often — about arithmetic. The accusers usually ignore, however, the tremendous change that has come over education in the last few decades.

A generation or so ago, when schools were scarcer and money likewise, and school attendance not compulsory, parents did not keep children in school, beyond the first few grades if they did not show aptitude for book-learning. They were taken out of school and put to work. Only the brighter boys and girls stayed in school, so naturally the class ability to spell and read was fairly high.

Today it is compulsory for children to attend school up to fifteen years old, and it is the policy of the Department of Education to keep promoting them on the basis of age rather than accomplishment. So we have many pupils right up to senior high school age who are not interested at all in words, books or any other part of learning. It is no wonder if today's classes, therefore, containing a much larger proportion of pupils poor at spelling. Indeed, as Dr. Johnson said of dogs walking on two legs, the wonder is not that they do it badly but that they do it as well as they do.

It is a harder job to teach spelling to such pupils than it was to the classes of a generation ago. In those 'good old days' when education was restricted, the teacher could dictate the week's list of words to a class which had never seen them before, and most would already know how to spell fifteen out of twenty, or even more. They would have to learn only five new words that week. Today there will be pupils in the same grade who will get fifteen out of twenty wrong or even more; which means they have three times as much to learn. In other words, they have to work three times as hard.

We actually have in Summerland schools pupils who are not naturally good spellers, who are learning fifteen or twenty new words a week, whereas the "good spellers" whom we admire, learn only half-a-dozen. Who is doing the better job of learning spelling. On the other hand, teachers wonder if a pupil who is not naturally a good speller will long keep the knowledge of how to spell unaccustomed words correctly once he gets away from the urge given in school. How much of the considerable effort put forth by both teacher and pupil to get the non-word-loving child to spell is lasting, or worth while? We wish we knew.

What words do modern pupils mis-spell most often? If your mind runs at once to stinkers like

by TEACHER
"desiccate" and flocculent" or even those simpler old warhorses, 'moccasin' and 'tobacco' and 'receive', you are setting your sights far too high. The most often mis-spelled words are the tooz — pardon us for getting phonetic — that is, 'to', 'too', and 'two'. They are much more confusing to children than most literate adults realize; and they occur oftener than any other difficult words. Their only rivals in this respect are 'there' and 'their'. In all too many compositions teachers find one or other of them wrong on practically every line, and eliminating these errors is uphill work indeed.

There is this redeeming feature, however, about trying to teach spelling; the gloom which mis-spellings produce is shot through with numerous gleams of unconscious humour. When a pupil writes that 'Hunters are allowed to kill six male peasants per day,' or 'The admiral never recovered from that strenuous navel battle,' the most disgusted teacher can relax with a chuckle. Likewise with the announcement that 'The sickness most likely to affect the heart is romantic fever.'

The rewarding smile, the occasional glow of real effort from poorer spellers, the sureness of at least some proportion of good spellers, even if it is smaller than it used to be — these are the encouragements which keep teachers of spelling plugging hopefully along.

BOY SCOUTS ACTIVITIES

1ST SUMMERLAND SCOUTS

Considerable progress was made this week with the 1st and 2nd class groups. Stan Kraus' bike seemed to be in pretty good shape.

The signalling is shaping up fine and just requires a little more practice. What about asking Dad to help?

We are trying to arrange a class for tracking practice. It may be this Saturday.

If you have any more good games like the one we played last parade, bring them along. A change is always welcome.

Don't forget to practice your first aid.

If you can collect any old licence plates, drop them in at Butler & Walden for the Eastern Star. This is a very worth-while project for the cancer fund.

Lastly, to help raise funds for the Scout movement, all old stamps will be welcomed by the Cub pack, which sends them to England. Points: Hawks 331; Beavers 337; Buffaloes 357; Eagles 393.

The kids of old SHS have been looking pretty glum this week — especially the members of the basketball team. Even if we are out of the league, the basketball season is not over for us. Several exhibition games are scheduled, one in which the senior boys travel to Nelson for a return match against Notre Dame. (Good luck, boys)

On Saturday, two junior basketball teams and a grade 8 team travelled to Penticton. Jr. girls lost 13-12; jr. boys won 40-21; and grade 8 boys won 28-17.

The film showed at noon hour on Wednesday and Thursday went over with quite a bang. (Pretty funny, wasn't it?). The receipts from this will help the senior council quite a bit. (That's getting out kids!)

On Friday night a speaking contest was held, the winning of which could eventually lead to a trip to New York. Five SHS pupils participated in this competition. They were Anne Beggs, Lois Harbicht, Ann Solly, Sheila Bennison and Garry Hackman. Ann Solly came out victorious. (Congratulations, (nn.)

Track practice has begun for all those ambitious kids who are interested in that type of sport. This coming Saturday the High School band travels to Rutland for a "gathering of the bands". Bands from all over the valley will be there and each band will present a short concert. This is not really a competition as was stated in another valley paper but is just a friendly meeting. That's all for this time. See you next week!

How Banking keeps pace...

New ideas in bank premises give you speedier, more convenient, more informal banking service.

Modern machines help bank staffs keep up with greater use of services by more and more customers.

The chartered banks have opened many branches in recent years to meet the needs of growing Canada.

Today Canadians have 9,200,000 deposit accounts in the chartered banks—3,800,000 opened in the past ten years. Within the same period, branches have increased to 4,000; bank staffs have almost doubled to more than 50,000. Banking has grown in size and scope, continually adapting its services and improving its methods of operation, keeping pace with the greatly-increased banking requirements of the Canadian people.

For a long time the sergeant-major of the 22nd Regiment was baffled as to definite identification of the Casavant twins. After many capers and hoaxes were pulled on him, he came up with a positive idea for identification. "Private Joseph Casavant! You will grow a moustache," ordered confused Sergeant-Major Alcide Brochu of Metis Beach, Quebec, and as the moustache grew, the capers ended. Privates Aime, left, and Joseph, centre, Casavant, now serving with the 1st Infantry Brigade in Europe, are from Ville Jasques Cartier, Que.

Clever Cooking . . .

It certainly would be difficult to visualize a kitchen without potatoes. Despite the technicality that potatoes originated in this hemisphere the Irish long ago adopted this vegetable as their very own. It was on the Emerald Isle where potatoes pleased so many palates that they became a staple article of diet. The climate and soil there was particularly suitable for the cultivation of potatoes and they became the major food crop of the country—being served at breakfast, dinner and supper. In fact potatoes so dominated the Irish diet that when they had their crop failure it meant starvation for many. Because the Irish are partial to potatoes celebrations for St. Patrick's day which is coming along soon are likely to feature the hardy tuber in one favourite dish or another. But holiday or not most people enjoy them as a matter of course, since potatoes have their own place in just about any meal. Everyone has his or her own favourite ways of preparing potatoes, but baking is without doubt one of the tastiest ways to serve them and time-saving, too. On wash days when the hands of the clock seem to hurry a little faster towards dinner time, scrubbing a few potatoes and serving them with an oven dish is so much less work than cooking them any other way.

When there is a free minute set the oven rack on the centre rung of the oven or slightly lower and scrub the potatoes clean. Then when the right time comes all that is left to do is to heat the oven to 400.F. Place the potatoes on the rack and bake until they are tender when tested with a skewer. This will take from 45 to 65 minutes depending on the size of the potatoes and the oven temperature used. One of the secrets in serving good baked potatoes is this—as soon as they come from the oven make crosswise slits in the top to let the steam escape and pinch gently to make the potato fluff up. They are delicious served with butter or topped with a little grated sauce.

So far as boiling potatoes is concerned they have more flavour when cooked in their skins, and that is a pretty good indication that more food value has been kept in them as well. The skins are easily removed before serving but perhaps your family likes to eat potatoes skin and all. Use one cup of boiling salted water to cook six medium potatoes. Yes, just one cup and here is the reason why—a saucepan with a closely fitting cover is used so that very little water evaporates and as soon as the water reaches the boil the heat is turned down to keep the potatoes boiling gently for 20 to 30 minutes. Cooked this way even a mealy potato which is so good for mashing will hold its shape well. With a pressure saucepan very little water is used and the potatoes take only a few minutes to cook.

Even though potatoes are served mashed more frequently than any other way it is surprising the number of times we get poor mashed potatoes. To make them fluffy, light and free from lumps, drain the boiled potatoes well and remove the skins if they were left on, then hold the saucepan over low heat and shake the potatoes until they are dry. Mash them really well until there are no lumps left. Add a generous piece of butter, about two tablespoons, and about a third of a cup of hot milk, thin cream or evaporated milk. This is the right amount for six medium potatoes. Add the milk or cream a little at a time, for if it is put in all at once the potatoes may become soggy. Season to taste and whip the potatoes until they are very light and fluffy, and be sure to whip them just before serving. Serve Potatoes Often

Potatoes can be served in a different way each day of the week in the good traditional ways—baked, fried, boiled, mashed, creamed or scalloped or made into croquettes or pancakes. They can be served too with melted cheese, whipped into toppings for meat pies, added to stews, made into soups and salads or cooked around the Sunday roast to a luscious crisp golden brown. Potatoes are nutritionally important as well as being an economical food, and for both these reasons should be on the table every day in one form or another.

Rutland To Host High School Bands

The 85 members of the Summerland High School band will travel to Rutland this Sunday to participate in a valley band meeting sponsored by Rutland school band. Groups attending will include bands from Oliver, Penticton, Summerland, Kelowna, Rutland, Vernon, Lumby and Salmon Arm.

The young musicians will arrive in Rutland shortly after noon and the first part of the program will be an exchange of ideas, with each band playing two or three numbers for all of the other bandmen. This will give each group a chance to observe how others do things.

Following this will be a dance and films and supper. The music for the dance will be supplied by a dance group organized from the various bands attending.

A public concert will be given at night with all bands taking part. This will be an opportunity to see just what work is being done with bands in the valley. If possible a massed band number will be presented with Rex Potter, well known Trill bandleader, conducting. Mr. Potter will also be present to conduct a discussion for bandmasters in the afternoon, while the dance is in session.

It is expected that about 400 band pupils will take part and if this proves successful it may well be the start of an annual regional meeting.

The British Columbia team, 1954 Allan Cup winners, are considered a much stronger club than the East York Lyndhursts, who represented Canada last year. Ivan McLelland stars in the nets for the V's.

Telephone Company Now Serving 18,000

Indicating the continued demand for and expansion of telephone service throughout its system are figures released by the Okanagan Telephone Company showing 18,001 telephones in service at the end of January this year. On January 28th 1954 the Company installed its 17,000th telephone.

Going back to January 31st, 1946, when the Company served 7715 telephones, the present figures show that the heavy post-war demand and the expansion program carried out since that time has added nearly 10,300 telephones, an average gain of 1140 phones per year.

Coupled with the extensive increase of telephones in service has been the modernisation of its service by conversion to dial operation. First started in December, 1948, the Company now has eleven of its fifteen exchanges with 15,370 or 85% of its 18,000 telephones on fully automatic local service.

With automatic exchange equipment now on order for Revelstoke, and Enderby, and planning in progress for converting the Salmon Arm exchange to dial, the Telephone Company will by the end of 1957 be within one exchange (Arrowhead, with 52 telephones), of having an "all-dial" telephone system.

The Ship's Log

The meeting of the Rangers, held on February 10, was highly successful, especially to the older rangers, as they had the pleasure of initiating the new recruits. Those initiated were Gail Henker, Carol Reinertson, Diane Durick, Nan Solly and Leone Smith. These girls were taken up to Mac's Cafe dressed up in gaudy costumes. One girl asked for a penny match and the change for a twenty-dollar bill, while others, equipped with suitcases, asked when the next bus left for the airport in some silly place.

The next meeting, held Feb. 17, in the Youth Centre, brought a few more new recruits who had not been initiated the previous week. These were Marjorie Campbell, Diane Rumball and Judy Smith.

As it was definitely decided that we would become Sea Rangers, an election of officers was held consisting of: paymaster, Gail Henker; ship's writer, Diane Durick; ship's logger, Carol Reinertson; ship's steward, Marjorie Campbell; and petty officer, Carol Cornish. Carol Cornish sent in an application form for one of the Rangers to represent Canada on a tour of the United States during the summer. It was also decided that Diane Durick and Bonnie Wilson would be packies for Brownies. We were all urged to bring in all 1953-54 licence plates to be sold and the money to be used as a contribution to the canon society. The local girl guide association asked the rangers if they would like to have a stall of some kind at their St. Patrick Tea on March 19. For this we decided to sell the wood-fibre flowers the Rangers made some time ago. The Rangers were invited to attend the Municipal Council meeting on Monday, Feb. 21, and then Thinking Day is on Tuesday, Feb. 22.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Hospital Board Chairman S. A. MacDonald and finance chairman Jim Muirhead approached the municipal council to ask for a grant of approximately $1,400 to provide modern facilities in the hospital kitchen.

With delegates from both Naramata and Penticton speaking in favor of the motion, Summerland's resolution seeking support for the plan to build a bridge across Lake Okanagan from Westside to Kelowna was passed unanimously by the Southern Interior Associated Board of Trade.

Including two staff members, there were 107 cases of mumps in Summerland schools during the month of January.

Gordon J. Beggs was again elected president of St. John Ambulance Association at the annual meeting of the local branch. Other Officers were Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, vice-chairman; Miss Louise Atkinson, secretary-treasurer; C. Menu, C. H. Denike, A. D. Wilson, executive and H. Sharman, honorary chairman.

Officers elected by St. Andrew's Service Club were Mrs. A. McKenzie, president; Mrs. A. K. Elliott, vice-president; Mrs. A. Scott, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Leslie Rumball, secretary and Mrs. S. Feltham, treasurer.

Mrs E. C. Bingham was elected president of the Evening Auxiliary of St. Stephen's church.

Keen interest in promoting curling in Summerland was evinced by a general meeting at which Cecil Wade was elected president of the Summerland Curling Club.

Cub Calls

The leaders wish to thank the boys for the splendid turnout to Church Parade on Sunday in honour of the birthday of our founder Lord Baden-Powell.

Constable Piers was present at the Monday meeting and tested several boys for their guide proficiency badge. First and Second Star tests were given during instruction period.

The Tawny Six were winners of the six competition this month with a total of 510 points. A new competition starts next week so bring in as many stamps, licence plates and Allsweet carton ends as possible and win points for your six. We have collected over 3500 stamps to date — lets see how quickly we can collect 5,000! Remember any kind of used postage stamps are needed by the Boy Scout Association. Quite a few licence plates have come in, get out and canvass your neighborhood for more.

Next meeting Feb. 28. Duty sir: Brown Six.

Six scores: Red 331; Yellow 336; Green 441; White 299; Tawny 510; Brown 283.

BROWNIE CHATTER

It was nice to see so many Brownies out to church at St. Andrew's church last Sunday in honor of Thinking Day, February 22. I hope the Brownies remember to wear their uniforms on Tuesday.

The Tweenies are working hard in preparation for their enrollment which will be next month. The Golden Hand Brownies must work hard to get ready for their pre-Golden Hand test. Get mother to help you with your cooking and serving tea and toast. Also remember to remind mother about sending a letter off to her friends asking for a parcel for our parcel post sale on March 19. The 2nd Summerland Pack will get their notes about this next Friday. Hope all the "mump" Brownies are better and there will be no more for this year. See you on Friday, Brownies. . . .

In Whist Tourney

Wind up of the AOTS whist drive last week saw top honors in the open event go to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harper who topped Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young in the finals.

In the consolation event, Miss Elizabeth Edwards and Miss M. Harding won out over Mr. and Mrs. Vern Charles, to take the honors in that event.

AOTS committee in charge of the competition, headed by John Dunn and Dr. J. C. Wilcox, reported the event to be highly successful for the participants and suggestions as evidenced from the reports from many that the drive be repeated at an early date.
