WEST SUMMERLAND, B.C.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1957 5c per copy

Last week, Warwick's Commodore Cafe in Penticton closed its doors. A prosaic enough happening, except that the occasion marked more than the closing of a place of business, it marked the vanishing of what had become to Penticton and to visitors to Penticton, an institution. The closure also marked the turning of the last page on one of the more spectacular stories written into the history of Canada's national sport — hockey.

SEEMS THEY'VE HUNG UP THEIR SKATES

Whether or not the Warwick brothers have hung up their skates for good remains to be seen, but that does appear to be the case at this writing and so, as one who wrote the Warwick saga, insofar as their Okanagan history is concerned, from first to last, it appears fitting as the Okanagan's last link with the Warwick brothers is severed with the closing of the cafe they made famous, that I should flip back the pages in tribute to three champions.

Actually the history of the Penticton Vees during the epic seasons from the fall of 1952 to the spring of 1955, during which the Vees won the Western Canada hockey championship, the Allan Cup and the World Championship, is largely a history of the Warwicks.

It is true that three players do not make a hockey team, but it is equally true that without the Warwicks the Penticton Vees would not, could not, have written the amazing record they did.

Hockey came to Penticton in the late fall of 1951 and with it came a Warwick, Dick Warwick. As a team the Vees were hopelessly out-classed, but they had fight and the spark plug of the team was Dick Warwick.

STATISTICS TELL AN AMAZING STORY

Statistics alone tell an amazing story and, perhaps, better than words, assess the Warwick contribution to Okanagan hockey.

Even in that first season for example, Dickie Warwick, although he only played 43 games out of a 50 game schedule came fifth in the league scoring race for a total of 67 points, only 12 points behind Kamloops' Bathgate, Clovechuk and Millard, who tied for top place with 79 points apiece.

In the Allan Cup year it was Bill Warwick who won the most valuable player award and it was Bill who set the amazing record, in the league's toughest competitive year to date of 50 goals and 45 assists.

And in the Allan Cup playdowns the statistics tell, very plainly indeed, the extent of the Warwick contribution.

Against Kelowna, in the five game series it took for the Vees to win the league championship, Grant scored seven goals and was credited with three assists. Bill Warwick scored four goals and earned three assists and Dickie rapped in three goals and came through with three assists. Against Nelson Maple Leafs Grant Warwick racked up a total of 15 points, five goals, 10 assists; Dickie Warwick, 13 points, five goals and eight assists; Bill Warwick, three goals and six assists. In the Western Allan Cup finals against the powerful Winnipeg Maroons it was playing coach Grant Warwick who again spearheaded the victory with four goals and the goal making total of 13 assists, a massive 17 points and the same pattern was repeated, Bill had 11 points and Dick seven.

Statistics don't tell of the agony voluntarily endured by Bill Warwick in that epic series against the powerful Sudbury Wolves. Bill was to all intents and purposes out of the series. He sat out two games and then at his own insistence got back into the battle, his knee frozen. He scored two goals in that game and suffered the agonies of the damned when his knee thawed out but he went through the torture again to contribute in no small measure to the Vees' winning of the Allan Cup.

BUT STATISTICS DON'T TELL ALL OF IT

But statistics, eloquent though they are, make cold reading.

Statistics don't tell of Dickie Warwick smashed and smashed again to the ice by Kamloops' rugged Terry in that final series with Kamloops in the late winter of 1953 and of how bruised and battered Dickie came through with the seven-seconds-to-go goal which tied the score and then popped in the winner in overtime to send the Vees on their way to their first Western Canada championship.

Statistics don't tell of the agony voluntarily endured by Bill Warwick in that epic series against the powerful Sudbury Wolves. Bill was to all intents and purposes out of the series. He sat out two games and then at his own insistence got back into the battle, his knee frozen. He scored two goals in that game and suffered the agonies of the damned when his knee thawed out but he went through the torture again to contribute in no small measure to the Vees' winning of the Allan Cup.

THEY WROTE A BLAZING HOCKEY PAGE

I could go on and on anecdoting, reliving those great moments.

I do know that of all those who went off in search of the world hockey championship none were so dedicated to that task as were the Warwicks.

Bill, practically a chain smoker cut out the weed from the day he left Penticton by air, that never-to-be-forgotten bleak February Saturday in 1955.

A recent letter from a German newspaperman in Berlin said, in part:

"We here still talk about the visit of the Penticton Vees.

"We would very much like to see them again, the three Warwicks and especially Bill with the what you call cow hat."

And I'll never forget Grant Warwick after sitting for what seemed hours in a brown study saying, "I think we could take them, Sid, (them being the Russians) I'd like to do it that way for Penticton, but this is bigger than Penticton, it's for all of Canada. I've just got to be sure."

That was when Grant phoned for reinforcements, Jack Taggart from Kamloops and Middleton from Kelowna.

As far as I'm concerned that one incident, one of many, stamped Grant Warwick as a big, little guy.

The Warwicks on the ice gave all they had. Off the ice they gave Penticton its finest Main Street cafe. All in all they gave to Penticton, to the valley and to Canada, their best, and they wrote a page in Okanagan and Canadian hockey that will long be remembered—we are not likely to see its like again.

I'll remember them as three champions and I certainly am not alone in remembering and in wishing the Warwicks luck in whatever spheres and clime they now venture.

CHAMPIONS THREE—the above historic picture was the first ever taken of the three Warwick brothers in the same hockey uniform and the picture taken late in 1952 marked the inauguration of the Warwick line, a line which became famous across Canada and throughout Europe. The Warwicks last week closed their cafe business in Penticton and are now planning a business venture in the north — the picture of Grant, Dick and Bill is as hockey fans of the Okanagan will remember them.

Bob Alstead Heads Kiwanis Drive in Cancer Campaign

Summerland Kiwanis Club, with Bob Alstead heading the committee in charge, will conduct the Cancer Campaign for funds beginning now.

Other committee members are E. F. Smith, George Henry and Lloyd Shannon.

Objective for the drive in Summerland is $1,500. Last year the sum collected fell several hundred dollars below the target, and it is hoped to bring it up this time.

Cancer is listed as the No. 2 killer disease and money collected is used for treatment, education, research, and other ways of fighting it.

John Tambllyn Made High School Vice-Principal

Summerland School Board has appointed John Tambllyn vice-principal of the high school effective April 1. In this new position Mr. Tambllyn becomes the first vice-principal of the Summerland High School.

Mr. Tambllyn is a well-known member of the staff whose qualities of leadership have been amply shown in his work in building up the High School Band from "scratch" to one of the premier school bands in the Okanagan Valley and in the province.

This new appointment will not interfere with his band duties.

Mr. Tambllyn attended elementary and secondary school in Forest Hill Village, a suburb of Toronto. He served in the Canadian Army during World War II, taking the Canadian Army University course at University of Toronto. He took officers' training at Brockville, Ont.

Later he graduated from UBC in mathematics and physics with honors. After taking teacher training he was an assistant in the department of mathematics at UBC and an instructor in mathematics and physics at Shaughnessy Military Hospital.

At present he is working towards his Master of Education degree.

Council Receives Plans For Senior Citizen Home

Ways and means of financing the Senior Citizens' Home are being looked into by the municipal council following a meeting with the Senior Citizens' Home committee prior to the council meeting last week.

Plans have been obtained from Roy W. Meldejohn, architect, Penticton and are being studied.

Miss Jean Bennest, a member of the committee reported that the Home at Oliver, now in use, was financed entirely by subscription.

At Kelowna, it was reported that the cost was met by Kelowna City paying two-thirds and the provincial government one-third.

It was said that a common way of financing such homes is by a community canvas for one-third; one-third paid by the provincial government; and the other third by the municipality or centre concerned.

No decision as to the method of financing the Summerland Home was reached. Further meetings will be held to pursue the subject.

In preparation for development, trees have been cut down on the site, which was formerly a cherry orchard owned by John Dunn adjoining Memorial Park Playground at West Summerland.

Watch Speedometer, Three Didn't—Fined

Three people were fined for speeding in Summerland Police Court recently by Magistrate Bob Alstead.

In Friday morning a Summerland man was fined $15 and $5 costs for speeding in a school zone. On Tuesday morning, one Penticton man and one Summerland man were each fined $20 and costs for speeding on Highway 97.

Maywood Studio Under New Owner

A business changed hands at West Summerland the first of this month when Louie Schindel sold out the Maywood Studio to Harry Killick, formerly with Cameo Studio in Penticton.

Mr. Killick plans to carry on the same type of service which Mr. Schindel gave and is competent along all photographic lines.

The Maywood Studio was started a number of years ago by Miss Mable Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Henderson. Miss Henderson is now a missionary in Cuba.

It was located originally in the building where Lorne Perry has his office now. Mr. Schindel moved to the present location.

Mr. and Mrs. Killick and their baby have moved into the apartment behind the Studio, and the Schindels have gone to live in Penticton.

DOT CARSTON WINS ELIMINATION CONTEST

In the IOOF elimination speaking contest held in the Oddfellows' Hall on Monday night, Dot Carston was chosen to enter the South Okanagan finals in Penticton tomorrow night.

Wayne Mitchell was the other contestant. The judges thought both speakers had great potentialities.

Judges were Mrs. J. L. Mason, Syd Hodge and Frank C. Christian.

QUICKER AIR MAIL SERVICE TO VANCOUVER

A letter received this morning by Lorne Perry, secretary of the board of trade, from the district director of postal services, states that effective, Monday, April 8, West Summerland will be included as a way office on the Penticton and Vernon Motor Vehicle service.

This means that mail between Vancouver and West Summerland will move more quickly. The board of trade has been pressing for this action for some time.

Ivar Nilson's New Tourist Camp

Another sign of Summerland's increasing tourist industry, is that Mr. and Mrs. Ivar Nilson are developing three acres along the lakeshore just north of Peach Orchard Hill, surrounding their home, and will have an excellent camp with accommodation for 100 tents.

The Nilsons have made a gravel fill in the area and intend to put fine sand over it so that it will be clean and suitable for camping.

Health authorities have been consulted and have given approval to the work which has gone into the site.

The property is nicely treed and an ideal spot for the purpose.

Until now the Nilsons have not made a business of the place, but this summer intend to charge a nominal fee for a night's camping.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL THIRD, NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-SEVEN

The People Are Responsible . . .

WE ARE SOMETIMES mildly amused and also somewhat bemused at the thinking of some people, in regard to lopsided majorities in our governments.

We know of some individuals who are seriously thinking of changing their political allegiance, not because they have changed their political beliefs but because they don't like to see one party hold ascendancy by overwhelming weight of numbers in government.

This strikes us as rather absurd thinking and contrary to democratic processes which is based upon the people's right to vote for whom they please.

According to the thinking of those who don't like big majorities, the voter should ignore party platform, performance and political beliefs, simply because his party is too popular with the voters.

But why? Why in the name of common sense should we make the winning of a big majority sufficient reason to ignore and to forego the very principles upon which we normally make our voting decisions?

It is true that a government with a safe majority is inclined to rule dictatorially. But it has, beyond a shadow of doubt, the voters' mandate to do so.

It is true that a government's huge majority steamrollers the opposition, but there again, why not? Some editorial writers comment sneeringly upon the "docile, obedient back benches" — but why shouldn't they be obedient and docile? A backbencher elected on his party's platform naturally follows the leaders he himself helped to choose and naturally follows the party policy approved in caucus and indeed, if a backbencher, or cabinet minister for that matter, can't see eye to eye with his party on major matters, then it is his duty to resign for he was, or should have been elected mainly on the acceptance of the party platform by the voters in his particular bailiwick.

Before people make up their minds about big majorities and deciding to vote against a party on the ground they don't like big majorities, they should first ask themselves if they are not, in actuality, setting themselves up against the will of the people.

After all, when B.C.'s Premier Bennett was swept back into office last fall with his huge majority—it wasn't Mr. Bennett's doings—it was the people. By voting overwhelmingly for Social Credit the people expressed the opinion, and a very decided opinion, that they believed the Social Crediters would give B.C. the best government.

So, we see the rather pitiful sight of a corporal's guard of opposition members steamrollered into submission by the government's large and obedient majority. Of course it's obedient — it's a Social Credit government and as such, the premier and his cabinet have their right to the backbenchers' loyalty.

The fabric of a democratic way of life is woven around our right to vote as we please for whom we please, the candidate getting the most votes is elected and the party with the most elected candidates forms the government.

But now it appears that political parties which up to now have gone all out to elect as many candidates as they could, should proceed cautiously. We can imagine the smoke-filled, back room boys planning the campaign.

"Lemme see now, if we're going to take South Slobavia we'd better see that Ed loses in North Slobavia. A sawoff there will give the green light to Tom in East Slobavia — he's a shoo-in anyway. The way it adds up, we should win but by not too wide a margin, so there won't be a comeback in the next election because we did too well in this one."

Yes, we can just imagine the politicians practically begging people not to vote for their party because they don't want too big a majority.

Absurd, of course it is absurd, people have the right to vote for whom they please and if it so happens a lot of them think alike and give a party a big majority—what's wrong with it — that is the way, must be the way, the people want it.

We agree that it is frustrating and hard on the blood pressure sometimes to see a government steamrollering its way along. But who can deny the government's right to steamroller and to dictate.

Governments with steamroller majorities are elected by the people — the mandate to govern was given freely and democratically at the polls.

A big majority in government, as in anything else, means only one thing—that's the way the most people want it. So why kick about it?

Pioneer Days

40 YEARS AGO — APRIL 6, 1917

Prospects for the early establishment of a creamery here and for the reopening of the jam factory were two of the topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the Board of Trade on Tuesday evening in Hotel Summerland.

Mr. A. E. Smith, one of Summerland's newer citizens, has leased the Rivington orchard, and, with Mrs. Smith and their little ones, is now established in his new home.

Gerald Roe of the Okanagan Lake Boat Co., who recently enlisted for the Inland Waterways Transport Service, has arrived safely in London, according to a cablegram received by his mother on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews of Enderby have rented the Moyes lot and house. Mr. Andrews came down some days ago and Mrs. Andrews and a friend, Miss Malpas, reached here Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Preston of Pilot Mound, Manitoba, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elsey.

10 YEARS AGO — APRIL 3, 1947

Forty-seven members were present at the annual meeting of Summerland AOTS Club at which Dr. J. C. Wilcox was elected president. Bob Butler is retiring president. Other officers elected were Les Gould, vice-president; Blair Underwood, secretary; and Ken Boothe, secretary.

Effective April 1 Syd Hodge has been appointed administrator for Vet's housing in Penticton.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Milligan returned from their honeymoon last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rydomske returned last week from a visit to Edmonton. The return trip was made by car, Mr. Rydomske having taken delivery of a new car in Edmonton.

Mrs. C. E. Snow and her sister, Mrs. Marie Hutchings, were visitors last week to Lomis, Wash., where they visited their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Gadbury.

Miss Muriel Barr travelled to Salmon Arm Thursday. She will attend Miss Dorothy Thompson's bridesmaid.

Miss Elizabeth Theed will leave on Monday for a holiday in Rothsay, New Brunswick.

G. Ewart Woolliams is at present in Vancouver where he is doing research work at UBC.

Letters to the Editor

This letter was written in Hungarian by one of the local refugees, and translated by Mrs. J. O. Likel of Summerland.

The Editor,
Dear Friends: I am one of the ones who had to leave their homes, and I would like to speak to you on behalf of all of us.

I would like to thank you all for your goodness and the kindness that you have shown us. We had to leave our home with the fears and the few belongings that we had with us. With grateful hearts we thank you for giving us a new home. You have given us work, food and shelter, so that we can start our new life more easily.

Our life has been a very hard one, because for eleven years we have been living under the pressure of the Communists. We revolted under that pressure and tried the impossible. With armour and tanks we went, with God's help, to fight the Red Devils who threatened the whole world. We knew that we were fighting against the impossible, but in the final analysis we conquered, because we took the lid off and exposed the type of oppression that existed. Now the whole world knows what the situation really had been in Hungary. I do not believe that a single decent man will now believe what the Communists say. I cannot call them anything but Red Devils. They took our young people and tortured and killed them. Now the situation is worse than it was before. They have put the Hungarians by thousands in jails and deported them to Siberia. The dear Hungarian blood is flowing.

We Hungarians who are here go to bed with fears and have to wait in fear, because our loved ones are still over there. Even here in the wonderful free land of Canada we remain fearful because of our loved ones. When we put the nicest piece of bread in our mouths it tastes bitter because of this. We would ask you to be patient with us because we are still very upset.

After eleven years of that kind of life we have to be born to a new life and learn to put our fears aside. That will take a little time yet, until we know the English language better and can understand each other better. We do know that your understanding and helpfulness are unceasing and that your hearts and your love are limitless. Let me try to thank you on behalf of all Hungarians for all of this. To the people of Summerland and Penticton and to Mr. Childerstone who is working very hard and doing his best to help all refugees, we Hungarians would like to thank you for your great sacrifices for us. We would like to show our appreciation in our work and by becoming good Canadian citizens. Canada is a wonderful land.

The Hi Life

By DOT CARSTON

Hello! How is studying going with you? Isn't it hard to "buckle down?"

Was up to Vernon Friday night to hear the IOOF United Nations speeches. They were really good. Four girls and one boy spoke and Bill Munro of Salmon Arm came off the winner of a trip to New York.

Over the weekend the Rockets lost to the Collingwood team in Vancouver. You fellows really did well to do what you did!

The Figure Skating Carnival on Friday night was by all reports very nice. A lot of hard work went into that. Congratulations.

I sort of slipped up last week. I'd like to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Loan (the stork brought a little girl).

Missionary Work In Novel Way

The favorite hymn of Mrs. F. E. Shepherd was sung at the opening of the regular meeting of the United Church Women's Federation on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. W. R. Powell gave an interesting, informative report of the WMS presbytery meeting at Vernon at which she represented the Federation.

Mrs. H. B. Muir led the devotional part of the meeting, taking as her theme, "Not Your Own Doing," assisted by Mrs. W. M. Fleming who read the scripture Mrs. J. Dunsdon, Mrs. R. Armour, Mrs. M. W. Juckett, and Mrs. F. Gould participated in the question and answer period.

The study period on Korea was led by Mrs. W. F. Ward, with Mrs. O. J. Lazenby, Mrs. M. T. Laidlaw, Mrs. A. C. Fleming and Miss A. Cochrane taking part.

This was presented in a novel way with the ladies holding imaginary telephone conversations with the missionaries in the field in various types of work.

It was decided that the annual Winter apron and home-cooking sale would be held on Saturday, April 6.

Miss Phyllis Hill and Arthur Kent Married in Vernon United Church

A wedding of great interest here where the bride lived for many years, was that of Miss Phyllis Hill, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hill, former residents of Summerland, and Arthur Kent of Penticton, whose parents live in Penticton.

The ceremony took place in Vernon United Church on Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. Rev. G. A. Affleck, the officiating minister.

For the happy occasion the bride looked beautiful and had chosen to wear a light colored tweed suit with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses and carnations.

The bridal couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. John Langstaff of Vernon at whose home on Kalamalka Lake, a small reception was held following the service.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blewett of Summerland, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ley, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Conroy and Mr. and Mrs. A. Hughes, all of Vernon.

The honeymoon is being spent at coastal points, and Mr. and Mrs. Kent will make their home in Penticton on their return.

Auditors' Report

March 20th, 1957.

To the Reeve and Members of the Council,
The Corporation of the District of Summerland,
West Summerland, B.C.

We have examined the attached Balance Sheets of the Corporation of the District of Summerland as at December 31st, 1956 and statements of Revenue and Expenditure and of Receipts and Disbursements for the year ended on that date and have obtained all the information and explanations we have required. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion the attached Balance Sheets and other statements of Revenue and Expenditure and of Receipts and Disbursements are properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of affairs of the Corporation as at December 31st, 1956 and the results of its operations for the year ended on that date, according to the best of our information, the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the Corporation.

We found all books, documents and accounts examined by us, to be in order and, in our opinion, the general forms of account used by the officials of the Corporation are appropriate.

RUTHERFORD, BAZETT & CO.
Chartered Accountants.

Local Curlers Win In Ogopogo 'Spiel

Curling in the Ogopogo Bonspiel at Kelowna last weekend, Don Turnbull's rink won 4th place in the "A" event. Paying with Turnbull were Herb Lemke, Eddie Lloy and Bill Snow.

Gerry Hallquist won 3rd, in the "B" event. Others in his aggregation were Howard Pruden, Bill McCutcheon and Ryan Lawley.

BOWLING NEWS

By GLENN FELL

PRELUDE TO THE PLAYOFFS! Yes, the last regular Tuesday evening mixed league was wound up this week and now that the smoke has cleared here are the results:

The Superchargers took 3 points off the Occidentals, the Boozers won out over the Newcomers by 3 to 1, the Rockets took 3 points off the Red Sox and the All-Stars gave 3 points to the Pilseners. The team standings in the league and the division they fall into are as follows:

Occidentals	51
Superchargers	51
Pilseners	50
Boozers	46
All Stars	41
Rockets	40
Red Sox	33
Newcomers	24

The Occidentals, Superchargers, Pilseners and Boozers will bowl off for the Merchants Trophy. The All Stars, Rockets, Red Sox and Newcomers will bowl off for the Hecker Trophy. The top team of the bowling season will be awarded the Solly Cup. You can see at a glance that there will be very keen competition for the Merchants Trophy and the Hecker Trophy — may be the best team win!

In the Ladies' Division this week Bernice MacDonald took double honors by bowling a 291 for the ladies' high single and a 651 for the ladies' high three! Congratulations Bernice, this isn't the first time you've topped the ladies' division! In the men's division, a couple of old pros dominated the field. Al Hooker bowled 354 for the men's high single and Foster Cunningham bowled a 730 for the men's high three. Congratulations are also in order to Bert Simpson for rolling a 306 — it's not often that two 300 games are bowled on the same league night. The top team this week is the Superchargers with a grand total of 3226 pins!

In the Ladies' League this week the Hangovers beat the Comics by 3 to 1 and the Can-Cans came up with a 3 to 1 win over the Headaches. Joyce Turk took double honors by bowling a 298 for the high single and a 646 for the high three. The high team for this week is the Hangovers with a total of 2510 points. League standing to date is as follows:-

Hangovers	22
Comics	19
Headaches	18
Can-Cans	16

In the Rotary Bowling this week Ken Blagborne again distinguished himself by capturing the men's high single and high three with a 183 and a 408. Hazel Ducommun bowled the ladies' high single with a 160 and Leola Mitchell won the ladies' high three with a 357. More news, views and comments next week!

Hockey is over and the Canadians came out on top. Now if any team should have won it should have been the Canadians. They were always out at practice and they were the cleanest team on the ice.

At Monday's game the Canadians beat the Bruins 8-7; the Canadians two amazing players did all the scoring while Perritt, Davis and Parker did the Bruins scoring.

At the Tuesday game the Canadians beat the Bruins 10-5. Braniff, Fowler and Parker did the Bruins' scoring while Gillard, Eden, Rennie and Schnieder did the Canadians' scoring.

Wednesday, which was the deciding game, the Canadians beat the Bruins 6-5. Rennie, Gillard, Eden and Oxley scored for the Canadians, while Robert Graham and Warren Parker did the Bruins' scoring.

First Annual Figure Skating Show Is Packed With Action and Color

Pretty girls, colorful costumes, and flashing blades made Summerland's first annual Ice Carnival a treat for everyone. It was held Friday night in the Jubilee Arena.

The young local figure skaters showed skill and ability in their "Cinderella" act. Other acts having local talent were "Home on the Range" and a cowgirl number, and "Dresden Dolls", a slow pattern act. Both of these delighted the crowds.

Planning and designing of the costumes for the Summerland acts was largely the work of Mrs. O. Egle and Mrs. George Pennington.

From Kelowna and Vernon, several outstanding skaters came down who thrilled the audience with beautifully executed solos, waltzes, and pattern numbers. Most of these skaters have several years of training and so made their part of the show polished and professional.

In a few years' time it is expected that our local skaters will have improved immensely and will be able to carry a whole show by themselves.

Enthusiasm of those who worked behind the scenes gave support to the skaters, and the whole organization was well integrated and a great credit to the club as a whole. Skaters were trained by Mrs. Jeanne Beaton, a professional skater from Kelowna.

New Tennis Court In Peach Orchard

Summerland may have new tennis courts this year, if a plan suggested by members of the Curling Club, made to the council last week, is carried out.

Don Turnbull was spokesman for a delegation, other members of which were Gerry Hallquist and Howard Pruden.

Mr. Turnbull spoke of the Curling Club's drainage problem, saying that they would like to use the land, presently taken up with the old wooden tennis courts, to put drains down to prevent uneven ice on the curling rinks, and to provide extra parking space for 50 or more cars. His suggestion was that this site be traded for land in Peach Orchard Park where the basement floor of Ellison Hall, now torn down, is in good condition and could be enlarged to make a tennis court or courts.

Mrs. R. C. Cuthbert attended in the interests of the Athletic Association of which the Tennis Club is a component member.

The Tennis Club would like the courts two evenings a week and Sunday afternoons. Other times the courts could be used by the public and would be a tourist attraction, it was thought.

The council did not disagree with the idea, and offered to excavate extra space on the north side of the basement floor so that two courts could be completed.

The matter will be taken up by the Tennis Club and it is expected a decision will be reached soon.

The Summerland Review

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1957

The Summerland Juvenile basketball team went down to defeat at the hands of a very good Ryerson team in the B.C. championship playoffs held at King-Edward gym last Friday and Saturday nights in Vancouver.

Ryerson, who play as the Prince of Wales high-school team during the season and have played 67 games, winning all but six of them, fielded a big fast team that had the height to control both backboards, and their shooting would have been a credit to a professional team. In both games they hit for 75% of their shots from outside.

Although the Summerland boys were out-classed they never gave up and fought right to the final bell. The crowd was cheering for them at the end of the game.

Carlton Sheeley was high man for both teams with 26 points, followed by L. Lemke with 17. Ryerson had five men with 18 each.

The Bantam team lost their first two games but won the third to finish seventh in the eight-team tournament for the B.C. Bantam championship.

7 Teachers' Exec. Meets at Kelowna

Representing the Summerland Teachers' Association at the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association executive meeting held in the Central High School at Kelowna on Saturday, March 30, were the president, W. C. Wilkin, and the public relations chairman, Mrs. C. W. Reinerton. Morning and afternoon sessions were held, and the delegates lunched as a group in the Sicomous Room of the Royal Anne Hotel.

Meeting separately in the morning, the Executive heard and discussed committee reports, while the public relations officers considered ways and means of bringing teachers' problems before the public. The latter group was most fortunate in having as guest speakers and consultants John Prior, former president of both the British Columbia Teachers' Federation and the Canadian Teachers' Federation, and Dick Collins, public relations officer of the British Columbia Power Commission.

Separate sessions were held for an hour after lunch, as well, after which the two groups held a joint meeting at which they heard the preliminary report of the committee in charge of arranging the Fall Convention, to be held this year in Oliver. This meeting was addressed by Mr. Prior, who stressed the need for doing a good job before expecting credit for it.

School Grants Are Increased

The School Board has received notification from the Minister of Education that, due to an amendment to Section 20 of the Public Schools Act passed at the recent session, there will be increased grant of $3,170.00 to the School District for 1957.

The basic grant will now be computed to include all approved teachers on District teaching staff and will not be restricted to the number employed in 1955. Formerly the excess over 1955 was shared 75% and 25% by the Department and District respectively.

The effect of this adjustment will be that the School Board requisition on the Municipality will be reduced by approximately $2,990.00 and on the rural area by $180.00.

SEVEN MORE ELECTRIC APPLICATIONS

Applications for electricity were granted to the following at last week's council meeting: Tom Joy, Mr. Turcot, R. M. Kent, Jack Young, R. N. Laidlaw, O. J. Lazebny and R. B. Pretty.

It was decided to make a line change on the Front Bench to give better service to George Allen and J. E. O'Mahoney.

Growth of Electrical Consumption

The healthy increase in the use of electricity in Summerland is shown in the number of those who are taking advantage of the service in putting in stoves, hot water heaters, and various other types of appliances.

Electricity is relatively cheap in Summerland, and the municipal council's policy has been to keep it that way, putting back all of the profits into operative costs and in building up the system, as well as maintaining a capital reserve.

A chart has been prepared which shows the growth in consumption in the past 14 years. In these figures it may be seen that the total number of kilowatts used has more than doubled in the past five years.

The chart is as follows:

	Total Population	Total Kilowatts Consumed	No. of Users	Annual per Capita Consumption	Annual Avg. per User Cons.
1941	2,007	813,341	672	405.3	1,210
1945	2,500	1,051,147	843	420	1,247
1951	3,567	3,392,527	1,316	951	2,983
1956	3,843	6,949,676	1,458	1,808	4,767

Scouts and Cubs Win Awards

Gilwell Beads were presented to F. E. Brinton, an assistant Scoutmaster, at the recent annual Father and Son Cubs and Scouts banquet, when many awards were given out to those who had completed work required for them. Mr. Brinton's award was for completion of the Wood Badge course.

Three Scouts, Roger Solly, David Woolliams and Don McArthur won first class badges and Roger Solly and David Woolliams were awarded "A" cords. Stan Krause won his "B" cord.

Second class badges were awarded to the following: Dennis Lackey, Fred Trussell, Ed Toavs, Murray McArthur, Jim Fiske, John Beaven, Norman Smith and Ted Burdon.

Alan Reid merited the Tenderfoot badge. Other badges were presented as follows: Gardeners', Bob Reid; Knotters' Stan Krause; Musicians' C. Leinor; Rescuers', Don McArthur; Fireman's Stan Krause, Roger Solly; Ambulance Man, Stan Krause.

The Troop received a Conservation Award from District Commissioner, J. B. Laidlaw, being one of ten Troops in B.C. to receive it for work done during the past year in conservation.

The 1st Summerland Cubs also received a Conservation Award.

Among the Cubs, Neil Mason, Leigh Moyls, Ricky Solvey, Billy Wilson, Jimmie Munn, Freddie Gartrell and Dave Mallett won their 2nd stars.

Billy Wilson and Freddie Gartrell were each awarded a Team Players' badge and Neil Mason, a Gardeners' badge.

Neil Mason and Leigh Moyls were made seconds and Billy Wilson was made a sixer.

Tuesday night was devoted to an innovation in Scouting in Summerland, a joint "Going Up" ceremony for the 1st and 2nd Scout Groups. Seven Cubs from the Second Cub Pack and four from the First Cub Pack went up to the two troops. Two Cubs, Laurie Reinertson and Jim Munn joined the 1st Summerland Troop and nine Cubs joined the 2nd Summerland Troop. They are, from the 1st Pack—Dave Mallett, Ricky Solvey; from the 2nd Pack—Ron Gibbard, Allan Bennison, Walter Ruteck, Billy McKenzie, Larry Fetterer, Ralph Henley, Wees Campbell. With the addition of nine Cubs, the 2nd troop is rapidly coming up to strength and we wish the 2nd Troop every success.

The annual Apple Day has been set for Saturday, April 13, and all Scouts are asked to keep this Saturday morning free. A full troop turnout is asked for next meeting so we can discuss arrangements for patrol camps or a Troop camp in the Easter holidays.

Rotary Convention Enjoys "Pinafore"

Summerland Singers' and Players' Club made their production worthwhile this year with five appearances, as well as the dress rehearsal attended by students.

In Kelowna an enthusiastic audience applauded them; twice the show was produced for the public in Penticton; and Pinafore was played for the Rotary International Convention in Penticton.

At the latter 280 delegates were present from B.C. and the Western United States and were delighted with the performance.

Firemen were called to extinguish a chimney fire at the home of H. C. Whitaker, Jones' Flat, about 6 p.m. on Tuesday. Mrs. J. McLachlan put in the alarm. The Whitakers were not home at the time. No damage was done.

Gas Pipeline Work Starts April 22

Plans Allow For Big Population Growth Here

Summerland's economy will receive a shot in the arm, commencing Monday, April 22, when contractors will start laying gas mains for the Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd.

C. E. "ED" TRUSCOTT

Dr. Kenneth Stark Returns to Africa

Dr. Kenneth Stark, whose work has been followed with interest by Summerland and Penticton friends, is giving his farewell message Sunday evening in the Church of God, Trout Creek, before returning to Africa, where he is a medical missionary.

Dr. Stark is a brother of Mrs. Wesley Davis and of Mrs. Archie Nicholson and with his wife and their three children, Linda, John and Helen, is visiting in Summerland.

They sail from Los Angeles on May 9 to return to Swaziland in Africa, where Dr. and Mrs. Stark have previously spent seven years, and where he is in charge of a 200-bed hospital at Acornhoek.

Originally from Penticton, Dr. Stark was graduated from McGill University in 1947. His wife is a graduate of Northwest Nazarene College at Nampa, Idaho.

Hank Laub, regional general manager, informed the municipal council yesterday that the work would be started and also that the company would open an office in Summerland.

The office will be located in the Review building and will be opened on Monday. Ed Truscott has been appointed manager for Summerland, he will be assisted by Mel Sager.

Where possible it is the intention of the company to employ local labor and it is expected that many local men will be hired for the pipe laying.

In planning for Summerland, the company has allowed for growth, classifying the community at 15,000. This means that the municipality of Summerland could almost quadruple its population before reaching the capacity of the big gas main.

Company plans call for progressive development. This year the built-up area of upper town will be first served, as the main bringing gas to Summerland traverses the back country, swinging up from Penticton at the back of the West Bench VLA development, crossing Trout Creek canyon at the railway bridge and coming into Summerland along the KVR road.

Company officials hope the gas mains will be extended as far as the hospital on their way to the down town area this year.

A branch will be carried a considerable distance down Giant's Head road and it is possible that the Milne cannery will be served.

Next year gas will be available to lower town and to the Trout Creek area.

Opening of the new office under Mr. Truscott will also mark the beginning of a new sign-up campaign.

In the earlier campaign there was considerable confusion as to just who could, and who could not be served in the first year of development.

Now the company has it all blue-printed.

Fruit Industry Could Learn Much From 'Down Under' Thinks Porritt

ODDFELLOWS' entry in the Potluck Concert Friday evening in the high school auditorium, comprised of Ronald Downes, violinist, Sheldon Doherty and Sandra Dunn, with their accordions.

Stan Porritt returned on Monday and has written a few highlights and impressions of the trip which he took through the fruit growing areas of New Zealand and the major apple growing areas of Australia, along with others from the Okanagan sent to study the fruit industry in those countries.

Mr. Porritt's interesting story follows:

The four of us: Don Sutherland, Vern Ellison, Frank Morton and myself made up the group from the Okanagan. In addition Babe Landers arrived in Auckland about a week after, and caught up with us in Wellington and Nelson on our way south, then left us for Australia.

In many ways we found much originality and independent thinking in New Zealand which was refreshingly different from North America.

If you would like a holiday in a country with a congenial climate, beautiful scenery and likable friendly people, we heartily recommend New Zealand.

On our arrival in Auckland we were a bit overwhelmed by the enthusiasm and efficiency of the New Zealand Fruit Growers Federation. Our complete itinerary, hour by hour, had been prepared for the entire tour through New Zealand. In addition to being a bit numb after the long plane journey we found we were already two hours behind schedule because our plane arrived a little late. For the next three weeks as we moved from one locality to another we were taken care of by local Federation members, officials of the Department of Agriculture and growers all with great enthusiasm and not a little pleased that people from North America should think it worth while to visit their country.

New Zealand grows a little over three million boxes of apples, half of which are exported mostly to the United Kingdom. Australia grows about twice as many and also exports.

Summerland's Centennial Project Still Undecided

Pros and cons of seven proposed centennial projects were discussed at yesterday afternoon's council meeting attended by S. A. MacDonald, chairman of the Centennial committee, Lorne Perry, secretary, and Roy Wellwood, president of the board of trade. The projects and some of the discussion on each was of considerable interest.

Municipal Electrician G. Graham Resigns

George Graham, municipal electrician, has resigned from the position, for health reasons. Mr. Graham's resignation was accepted at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting with regret.

The resignation takes effect at once. Mr. Graham will be paid a retainer fee until the end of the year so that his advice may be obtained when necessary.

No new appointment has been made to date.

First on the list presented by Mr. MacDonald was a swimming pool at the park at West Summerland. Councillor ... mentioned ... at the time of the ... the cost was between $8 and $10 thousand and now would probably be $16,000. Mr. Perry said that at a board of trade executive meeting the idea of a wading pool was considered as a possibility — one that would be fenced and supervised. Mr. MacDonald reminded the meeting that health regulations were strict for such a proposal and that a pool would have to be kept clean and drained at times. G. D. Smith, municipal clerk, remarked that this would be a continuing project, with expenses incurred each year.

Annual Pot Luck Concert Here This Friday

The annual High School Band Potluck Concert to be held on Friday evening promises some good and varied entertainment.

Proceeds from the concert in which community organizations are taking part will give momentum to the band's June trip to the Western States and parts of Western Canada.

John Tamblin, bandmaster, has announced some of the items on the program as follows:

Legion Ladies' Auxiliary are putting on a 20-minute skit called "When Women Meet." Starring in this skit are: Mrs. W. McCutcheon, Mrs. H. Shannon, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. H. Pruden, Mrs. E. B. Gerrard, Mrs. T. Fisher.

The Catholic Women's League are also putting on a 20-minute skit called "After the Club Supper," with Mrs. Hoyt, Mrs. H. Shannon, Mrs. Bellamy, Mrs. F. O'Leary, Mrs. P. Pelletier, Mrs. P. Soderberg, Mrs. A. McMechan and Miss Minnie Broekhof.

United Church Women's Association is sponsoring Mr. and Mrs. George Ryman playing bells, and the P-T-A is sponsoring Vera MacKenzie of Naramata singing Folk Songs.

The Scandinavian Society is putting on a Square Dance.

IOOF (Okanagan Lodge No. 58) item is three talented children; Ronnie Downes will play his violin; Sheldon Doherty and Sandra Dunn are going to play their piano accordions.

The Singers' and Players' Club will present a vocal duet.

A large attendance is anticipated as these concerts are always popular.

Councillor Holmes had noted that a similar pool in the park at Vernon was popular. Councillor Stewart thought there were sufficient bathing facilities here, though Councillor Powell's opinion was that they were out of the reach of many. Mr. Tait's reasoning was that a centennial project should be something widely used by all members of the community.

Second was a chair lift to Giant's Head to go up the west side at a cost of some $30,000, which was too much expense for the money available. At the 60 cents per capita rate the sum realized will be around $4,800, half of this a government grant matched by an equal amount by the municipality. Mr. Holmes said that Mr. Gould, road foreman had said a road to the top of Giant's Head could be made for half the cost of the chair lift.

"Tourists would benefit from this more than the community," said Mr. MacDonald.

Mr. Wellwood stated that Sid Godber, who had the original idea, thought that things that brought tourists here, benefited the community.

Reeve Atkinson questioned the community's responsibility for the third project—a school for handicapped children, asking why this was not the responsibility of the department of education. It was understood there were less than 10 children involved, and while the school would be of great value to them and their families, the scheme was not a general one.

Furnishings for the senior citizens' home was the fourth consideration, thought to be a good idea, but not too permanent. Furniture would be supplied by individuals and organizations, was the general conclusion.

Sprinkler application of Alex Kinross and domestic water applications of P. J. Austin and L. W. Campbell have been accepted by the Summerland council.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Must be that spring has sprung — anyway as the poet (some poet) wrote:

"I'm glad that the grass is green;
I'm glad that the sky is blue;
And I'm glad there's a lot of nice fresh air
All sandwiched in between the two."

I wouldn't give that top marks for poetry but at the moment it expresses the mood. Particularly am I glad that my brain isn't being eaten away by corrosive hatreds such as is happening to a certain radio commentator who, believe me, should heed the warning that he who lives in a glass house should not cast the first stone.

Yes, it's spring and don't forget in the spring, in April, while the young turn to thoughts of love, we oldsters think of income tax and income tax returns.

Met Mr. Pugh the Progressive Conservative candidate for Okanagan-Boundary this week. He's young, smart looking and evidently a fighter. The Conservatives are banking a lot on the ability of John Diefenbaker to lead them out of the political wilderness — well John Diefenbaker is a good man to bank on. I knew him years ago in Prince Albert, watched him in action in courts of law and, believe me, he's dynamite.

Can't see the Conservatives making much of a dent in this constituency or for that matter in B.C. Social Credit has captured too many erstwhile Conservatives — not forgetting Premier Bennett, and his attorney general.

One thing we can congratulate ourselves on in this riding is having four strong, able and personable candidates — on that basis it should boil down to a party struggle and that's the way I think it should be.

As for predicting — after the outcome of last week's civic election in Penticton who is to say that the voter is predictable? First time I knew of a man winning an election by stumping on issues long dead. New Mayor Charlie Oliver made a lot of hay criticizing the current administration for the sins of commission and omission of a previous administration, dead these past six years.

Decision of the municipal council not to take a vote to decide what is to be Summerland's Centennial project is understandable, but in many ways regrettable. The sum involved is, of course, very small and that respect does not justify the time, trouble and cost of making a vote.

On the other hand council could avoid a headache and undoubtedly criticism by submitting the question to the people.

It must be remembered that if the people are given the opportunity to vote and do not exercise that prerogative, they lose their right to criticize the choice of those who did vote, whereas decision by a central authority is always open to criticism and almost automatically engenders opposition.

And don't forget the regular meeting of the Board of Trade — tomorrow (Thursday) in the IOOF Hall at 6:30 p.m.

LADIES' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion are entering a skit, "When Women Meet," at the Potluck Concert Friday. Left to right Mrs. E. B. Gerrard and Mrs. Howard Shannon, members of the cast.

Scout Activities

This coming Saturday, April 13 is Scout Apple Day which is the only direct appeal to the public for funds made by Scout Troops during the year. Funds are used to aid in support of troop activities such as camp cook, camp transportation, etc. It is the finest opportunity in the year for Scouts to help their troop activities and every boy should turn out on Saturday morning. The meeting place is at Smith and Henry's and as much uniform as possible should be worn, at least hat, shirt and scarf. There will be a prize of five dollars for the Scout of the 1st Summerland troop bringing in the most money. Transportation will be provided to take Scouts around the district.

At Tuesday's meeting, second class rankings were emphasized and the troop is showing great improvement in this regard. The spring camp was discussed and will probably be a trek using horses to pack supplies and equipment.

Phillip Taylor was welcomed to the troop and assigned to the Maple patrol. Due to Easter exams there will be no troop meeting next Tuesday, April 16.

Oldest Building Was Torn Down

Perhaps not many people in Summerland know, or have not thought, that the oldest building in the municipality was torn down last week when Gordon Ritchie demolished the Bulletin office.

This information was given to The Review by Alex Steven, who thinks that it was erected probably in 1907, or about 50 years ago. It was the office of the Summerland Realty Co., which belonged to the late James Ritchie, an uncle of Gordon Ritchie, who, among his many activities, surveyed the town-site of West Summerland, and the lots in Garnett Valley.

Mr. Steven was his accountant, and had sleeping accommodation in the top floor of the building which served, also, as the post office.

So another link with the earliest days of Summerland has disappeared, making way to improvements on the main street.

Lecture by Mrs. E. Latimer

Mrs. Edith Latimer of Blaine Washington, spoke in Summerland under the auspices of the Fiat Lux Lodge, Theosophical Society. A condensation of her lecture follows:

To appreciate the real value of Yoga and approach the study without prejudice, its real meaning must be understood. The word Yoga is used in two ways—first to denote a state of being, a condition of consciousness; and second to describe various techniques for attaining that state of consciousness. Unfortunately these meanings are often used interchangeably, and we sometimes lose sight of its real meaning.

Yoga, as a state of consciousness might be likened to religion in its pure, abstract sense. The systems of Yoga, however, are something like the various creeds of religion, and because these systems cover a very wide range, we sometimes see the expressions of techniques of which we personally do not approve and this prejudices us against the idea of Yoga as a whole. But when we realize that Yoga actually means union and that, in its primary meaning as a condition of consciousness it has for its ultimate goal union with the Divine, union with God-Consciousness, we see that there must be all ways by which all the different types of individuals can work to attain that goal. But not all systems will appeal to all people. Each will choose the one most natural to himself, each will work in his own way, each will achieve according to his own effort. The important thing to remember is that we must always keep that ultimate goal in view—that whatever system of Yoga we follow, it must always be but a means to an end, not an end in itself.

The first requisite for Yoga is concentration, for only by properly concentrating our energies can we work to eliminate our faults and create in ourselves those conditions by which we can tune our finite minds to the Infinite. This is expressed in our Christian Bible in these words: "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God . . . Blessed are those who do hunger and thirst after righteousness for they shall be filled. Patanjali puts it this way: "They shall have mastery which extends from the atomic to the infinite."

Each person works towards this goal in his own way—some through religion, some through philosophy, others through science. Our modern scientists with the new concept of the world as a manifestation of dynamic energy are coming very close to the Oneness of Life, a basic teaching of Theosophy. God expresses Himself everywhere throughout the Universe, and once we realize the truth of this Oneness, we can work consciously to open the channel to the Divine. This is the goal of Yoga.

CCF Conference In Kelowna

The annual CCF Zone Conference was held at Herbert's Business College, Kelowna, on Saturday, March 23 with delegates attending from all parts of Okanagan-Boundary and Okanagan-Revelstoke ridings.

Representing the Provincial Organization Committee was James Rhodes of Cloverdale. With Walter Ratzlaff as chairman, Federal election issues were discussed with particular regard for the problem of Central B.C. The dire need for chronic hospitals in this area and the dumping of fruit from the U.S.A. received the full attention of the delegates. Public ownership of natural gas distribution was again demanded as the only way to avoid high costs to the buying public.

Delegates considered ways and means of informing the voters both of the CCF Federal program and also of the valuable work already done by O. L. Jones, M.P. and his CCF colleagues in the House of Commons.

Check Your Car, May Safety Drive

Sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, a "public awareness" campaign, aimed at riding the highways of vehicles in dangerous mechanical condition, is to receive national promotion in Canada during May. The drive will operate under the slogan-title, "Check Your Car, Check Accidents."

Co-operating actively with the Conference will be service clubs, junior boards of trade, provincial, community, industrial and other safety bodies, automobile manufacturers, oil companies, makers and distributors of car parts, service station operators and similar groups. Their target will be the vehicle, old or new, which becomes a death-dealing projectile the moment it goes into action. Their aim will be the owner of that vehicle, to have his car checked thoroughly and its defects corrected.

W. Arch. Bryce, general manager of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, refers to the phrase "Maybe tomorrow..." as "one of the most perilous a motorist can utter." Mr. Bryce pointed to the block-long lines of motorists at license issuers' offices late in March.

"Those people," he declared, "said 'maybe tomorrow' until it was too late. A driver who says 'maybe tomorrow' about getting a car checked for spring and summer driving may discover, also too late, that 'maybe tomorrow' his car will have completed its secret mission as a highway projectile with death and destruction in its wake."

Mr. Bryce urged all drivers to remember that even the most minor defect can cause a terrible accident and to participate fully in Canada's "Check Your Car, Check Accidents" drive.

INLAND GAS PUMPING STATION

Miss A. E. Harris, KVR Road will be given permission by Summerland council to subdivide her property, to allow the Inland Natural Gas Co., to erect a pumping station on part of it.

Announcements

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Uytterhagen announce the engagement of their daughter, Loretta Catherine, to Mr. Edward F. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin of West Summerland, B.C. The marriage will take place on Saturday, May 4th, 1957, at 4:00 p.m. in the Church of The Holy Child.

CUTWORM CONTROL IN HOME GARDENS

Every year cutworms cause a great deal of damage in the spring vegetable garden and occasionally their depredations extend to climbing the trunks of young fruit trees and eating the unfolding buds.

Before seeds are planted, is the time to protect the garden from cutworm damage. The British Columbia Vegetable and Field Crop Spray Chart gives directions for doing this. One week before planting the garden a dust containing 2½ per cent of Aldrin or Heptachlor is mixed with the top four to six inches of soil; 160 lbs. of 2½% dust is sufficient to do one acre. Thus in a home garden plot of say 50'x50' the amount needed would be approximately 10 pounds. Some means of distributing the dust evenly over the soil surface is needed. If a mechanical duster or pump gun is not available the material may be placed in a cotton sack such as a light flour sack and shaken over the ground. As soon as the dust is applied it should be thoroughly mixed with the soil either by hand cultivation or mechanical means.

Care should be taken to see that the dust is not inhaled or ingested. Overalls and gloves should be worn while applying the material and exposed parts of the body thoroughly washed afterwards.

The above method of treatment is effective for controlling Potato Flea Beetle and Wireworms as well as Cutworms. If the dosage is increased by 25% it will also take care of White Grubs. The material should be mixed with the soil to about 8 in. depth in the case of these pests.

ON YOUNG FRUIT TREES

The probability of young fruit trees being injured by Cutworms is not as great as in the case of young garden vegetables. However, damage to young trees can occur and almost every season some signs of the Cutworms' work are seen. Close observation of the young trees in late April or May can reveal that many of the developing buds have been chewed or eaten off. If this happens to a newly planted tree it may very well kill the tree. If signs of bud chewing are seen a quick check of the soil at the base of the tree should be made. If cutworms are found in the soil near the tree trunk they are probably causing the trouble.

Since a supply of 50% DDT is often most readily available, the grower may use this for controlling the cutworms. A liberal sprinkling of DDT at the base of the young trees will hand these pests a very effective set-back. Early detection and application of control is essential as once the cutworms are fully grown they may not be so easily killed with DDT.

Operators handling the 50% DDT should observe the same safety precautions as given for the Aldrin dust above.

Both have a bank account - and a purpose for saving

They work as a team, yet each has his own reason for saving, his own dollar objective, his own pace in achieving it.

A bank account takes care of every type of saving need. You can start with any amount you wish, add to it at any time you choose, keep on as long as you like.

Last year almost 500,000 new deposit accounts were opened with the chartered banks, making a total of nearly 10,500,000. The owners of these accounts know that a bank account offers the simplest, safest, most convenient means of safeguarding and accumulating funds.

Save at a bank — millions do!

Notes From Parliament Hill

In speaking in the House recently on the fruit industry, O. L. Jones, M.P. for this riding, spoke as follows, as recorded in Hansard:

Mr. O. L. Jones (Okanagan Boundary): Mr. Speaker, the last two speakers have used their time in this debate to cover practically any subject they wished. Under those conditions I am going to deal with a subject that I am very interested in, since my constituents are worried about it at the present time. I refer to the fruit industry. I feel the federal government has a direct responsibility to the industry because in the 1930s, when the industry started to build up in Canada, the fruit-growers received government protection and encouragement. I would draw to the attention of the government the fact that this was included in the horticultural council's presentation made to the government within the last month or so. I would like to quote it:

"The protection extended to the fruit and vegetable producers in the early thirties, provided the incentive for expansion of production in Canada; an abundance of supply resulted in very reasonable price levels for Canadian consumers. The extent to which that protection against 'dumping' has been whittled away, and the Canadian producer left exposed is the cause of the alarm today among Canadian producers, and prompts this request for action."

It is this question of unfair competition, or so-called dumping, that still plays havoc with our industry that I should like to deal with, particularly in connection with soft fruits and vegetables. The government's present policy, and its definition of dumping, have proved useless in stopping the practice. Actually, it continues to increase, much to the detriment of our producers each year. Early this year the British Columbia fruit growers association passed the following resolution covering the same point and with your permission, sir, I should like to quote from it:

"Whereas heavy crop years in soft fruits occur simultaneously in the western United States and British Columbia, and

Whereas experience has shown that in such years American soft fruit surpluses are dumped indiscriminately on the Canadian market, thus completely disrupting and demoralizing the orderly marketing of the British Columbia crop and

"Whereas provision to prevent such dumping is made in the general agreement on tariffs and trade yet, because of the inadequately defined anti-dumping clause, enforcement is practically impossible:

"Therefore be it resolved by this 1957 BCFGA convention that the executive be requested to petition immediately the federal government to have the anti-dumping clause of the general agreement of trade and tariffs rewritten and clarified so that the 'prevailing price' in the country of origin may not be the price prevailing in any isolated local market but must be the average price prevailing in at least six principal markets in the country of origin."

Last year I suggested that dumping could be defined by accepting the Canadian cost of production as a yardstick and any importation at a price below that should be regarded as dumping.

In view of the unanimity shown by the whole organized fruit industry as displayed through their briefs and resolutions which have already been presented to the federal government, I trust the minister will take steps immediately to carry out their very reasonable requests.

I would like now to quote from the brief of the horticultural council. They say:

"The nature or form of the competition to which our producers object most strenuously is imports at 'distress' prices at the peak or clean-up of American harvesting which frequently collides with the commencement of Canadian harvesting. Under these conditions the American producer may have received a premium price, at least a good average price on a large proportion of his crop but his 'clean-up' sales can set the market price for a very large proportion of the Canada crop of the same commodity, and prevent any possibility of the Canadian producer selling any portion of his crop at premium prices, or even benefitting to the normal extent from a short-crop condition that might exist in Canada.

"No one can convince the farmer of the fairness or equity of a trade agreement which makes no realistic provision to protect a primary producer against this type of importation."

I am not going to take a great deal of time in dealing with this problem because I have already mentioned it and I think the minister is aware of the serious plight of

Centennial

Fifth on the list was for the money to be used for new quarters for the West Summerland branch of the Okanagan Regional library. Mr. Tait spoke in favor of this; Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Perry said it would be of general use to the whole community, though Mr. Perry qualified his statement by saying this idea had been mentioned from the start and perhaps had tended to overshadow other suggestions.

"Inquiry should be made into the cost of other projects, such as the wading pool," was Mr. Perry's point.

Sixth and seventh proposals were development of the beach north of Evans Point and development of the bay north of the Sunoka Processing Plant.

As to the north side of Evans Point, a large fill is necessary and is being done gradually by the municipality. The $4,800 available would not complete this at all. It was learned that the beach by the Sunoka is now the property of the Trout Hatchery, the lots having been purchased from the former owner, Desiree Larsen, now living in France. Reeve Atkinson said that the owner of the Sunoka property, Walter Hoshka, had asked $25,000 for his property a year ago.

The Reeve challenged Mr. Wellwood's statement that the Lower Town had been "neglected." Mr. Atkinson named all the municipal services, asking which one had not been given to residents in the Summerland area. It was noted that in the matter of sidewalks a proportionately large sum had been spent downtown as compared to uptown.

Mr. Wellwood said that an original idea had been to make a fill in the bay from the Windy Point to the bottom of Peach Orchard as a beach area, but it was realized that this would be a very expensive proposition. The view from this point is a beautiful one with the unique Okanagan clay cliffs on the west side and the lovely hills across the lake on the east and a large lake expanse. The area has been zoned as industrial. Mr. Wellwood said that promotion would overlook Powell Beach; Rotary Beach is used for swim classes largely; and Peach Orchard Beach is limited. This was not considered within the centennial project scope.

No decision was reached though the centennial committee and the council tentatively favored considering the library or the wading pool, and felt that all suggestions had merit.

Decision was left for another two weeks and further ideas or thoughts on the ones already mentioned were invited.

farmers not only in British Columbia but in other parts of Canada through this unfair and unjust competition which is growing by leaps and bounds.

I would ask the minister to remember that at one time this industry flourished under the protection of the government and if they have the same interest now as they did then they should grant the industry the same protection which they accorded it in the past.

In line with my personal thoughts I would also suggest to the minister that a great deal could be done to protect the industry by setting up a board to provide for the orderly importing of fruit and vegetables, for instance through export-import boards, and the setting of appropriate quotas which will first enable the Canadian fruit and vegetable industry to plan for the future which they cannot do today; second, guarantee Canadian consumers an economical supply of good quality fruit and vegetables at fair prices; and third, provide security for the fruit and vegetable farmers and workers in the industry. This will also ensure fair trade practices and prohibit the unfair dumping of fruit and vegetables into Canada at distressed prices.

ports about half. Most of the apples and pears are grown in areas that receive sufficient natural rainfall and there are no killing frosts in the winter. In the Hawkes Bay area of New Zealand large blocks of trees all of similar size without a miss would be a delight to any grower in the Okanagan, but probably not to the nursery man. In Central Otago we saw apricot trees 80 years old, healthy and producing. In Tasmania many of the trees in one orchard visited were over 70 years old and producing 800 bushels per acre, much of which could be picked from the ground. Although they probably would vigorously refute the statement, fruit growers in New Zealand and Australia have it much easier than Okanagan growers.

The primary purpose of the trip was to study bulk handling which was initiated in New Zealand about four years ago. Since that time this revolutionary method of harvesting and handling fruit has been adopted enthusiastically by over 90% of the growers in the Hawkes Bay, Nelson and Blenheim areas where most of New Zealand's apples and pears are grown. Without exception, growers prefer the new mechanized method to the box system. They find it saves money, reduces bruising and is very much less tedious. In Australia more and more growers are adopting bulk handling or contemplating the change.

For the most part New Zealand and Australian growers pack their own fruit with the family participating. This is accomplished with a relatively small crew because the harvest season may extend over a five month period from Gravenstein in January to Bollarats in May. It is really quite a leisurely operation compared to McIntosh harvest in the Okanagan.

We had the opportunity to visit a number of experimental stations and other institutions where fruit research work is in progress. In some problems, co-operation with workers in the United States was providing two seasons' results in one year.

We saw Bristol Air Freighters that were used to transport stone fruits from the South Island to Wellington and Auckland in the north. The New Zealanders had developed a system that permitted 6.5 tons of freight to be unloaded and loaded in a record time of less than 10 minutes from landing till take-off. The same system could be used to load our large trailer trucks with fruit.

In these and many other ways originality of thinking was found.

Fast Mail Service

Use It

REPRESENTATIONS of the Summerland Board of Trade to the postal department have been crowned with success and today Summerland is linked by airmail service with outside points.

Some time ago, Vernon and Kelowna were linked with the airmail service by means of a car carrier, which takes airmail from Penticton to those points and then returns with outgoing mail.

Summerland, however, was not included in this service until the Board of Trade took action on the matter.

Some weeks and some vigorous representations later Summerland has now been put into direct air mail service. A letter mailed here up to one o'clock in the afternoon arrives in Vancouver the same day and, of course, makes the first delivery the next day. A letter mailed in Vancouver of an evening is in Summerland by 11 a.m. the next day.

Such fast service is well worth having, but, and it is obvious, there must be a sufficient volume of mail to maintain the service. Business men, in particular, and for that matter, everyone using the mails, are requested by the Board of Trade to take note of this new fast service and to make the maximum use of it.

Mid-Week Message

YOURS SINCERELY

THOUGHT FOR TODAY: Be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ. Phil. 1:10.

When it would have been safer for Jesus to keep his opinions to himself, he spoke frankly. He would have saved himself a lot of trouble if he had agreed with the Pharisees that since the woman he healed on the sabbath had been afflicted a long time she could wait another day.

Jesus left his listeners under no doubt as to the hardships they would encounter in following him. He never minimized the demands, never toned down the likelihood of sacrifice. Always he described the conditions of discipleship with utter honesty, sometimes with shocking realism.

When a man gives generously not because he is generous but because he wants to be praised; when a man prays not because he is genuinely religious but because he wants a reputation for piety, Jesus says that man is a hypocrite, acting as if he were what he is not.

Only by being what we appear to be can we look ourselves in the eye and not be ashamed. A workman may leave something unfinished or do shoddy work where it will not show, and still get his pay check, but he can have no satisfaction in a job well done, no pride of workmanship. Repeatedly Jesus spoke of "your Father who sees in secret."

PRAYER: O God our Father, help us to be so true and sincere that we shall never be ashamed in thy presence. We thank thee for the example of Jesus Christ, in whom there was no pretense, no deceit. In his name we pray. Amen.

BASEBALL OPENS

BOWLING NEWS

Well, the play-offs are under way and I must say there are some amazing results which could never have been predicted! In the "A" Division the Superchargers bowled the Occidentals and the Pilseners bowled the Boozers. In the "B" Division the All Stars bowled the Rockets and the Red Sox bowled the Newcomers. The playoffs are on the basis of a six game total pins basis and after three of those games the results are as follows:

"A" Division
Boozers	2874
Superchargers	2715
Occidentals	2702
Pilseners	2523

"B" Division
Newcomers	2744
Red Sox	2714
All Stars	2706
Rockets	2675

If my memory serves me correctly I believe there is an old quotation that goes something like this: "The last shall come first and the first shall come last." That pretty well sums up the situation at the present but who knows what will happen next week? In the ladies' division Sheila Bennison took double honors by bowling a 270 for the ladies' high single and a 642 for the ladies' high three! In the men's division Gordie Taylor also took double honors by bowling a 290 for the men's high single and a 694 for the men's high three!

In the Ladies' League this week the Hangovers beat the Can-Cans by 3 to 1 and the Headaches gave the Comics 4 points. Lilac Nelson won the ladies' high single with a 214 and Lil Renkel bowled a 495 for the ladies' high three. The Hangovers are the high team this week with a total of 2211 pins. League standing to date is as follows:

Hangovers	25
Comics	28
Headaches	18
Can-Cans	18

Final plans are now under way for the annual Bowling Banquet and Dance. Carol Christmas has requested me to ask all bowlers who plan to attend to please inform her by phoning 4101 during the hours of 9:00 to 5:30. It is expected there will be a good many non-bowlers present and it will be appreciated to know the number ahead of time.

In Rotary bowling Ruth Lawley took double honors by bowling a 193 for the ladies' high single and a 468 for the ladies' high three. In the men's division, Harold Smith won double honors by bowling a 220 for the men's high single and a 509 for the men's high three. More news, views and comments next week!

Summerland Macs vs Princeton At Local Park Sunday

Hockey has finally left the Okanagan for the season and the opening of the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League is scheduled for next Sunday, April 14.

Summerland is entertaining the Princeton Club, and the prospective players are getting themselves into shape for the summer season.

The Summerland Club under the leadership of Tommy Hooker and an able executive hopes to make a good showing in this seven team league, with George Stoll, the capable and hard-working general manager and Nan Thornthwaite an experienced secretary-treasurer and statistician. Many of the old standbys will be with us, such as Ollie Egely, a veteran catcher with lots of ability.

We expect to see George Taylor, the veteran of them all, patrolling the centre field garden and of the club, perhaps the most dreaded by opponent pitchers.

Sandy Jomori will likely be found near the keystone sack, while Al Hooker, also becoming an oldtimer, will be found somewhere about the infield. Al, at times has done some good relief pitching and wields a wicked bat. He might be classed as a long ball hitter. Darryl Weitzel is not new to the club and performs well both on the outfield and infield.

Don Cristante will maybe have to carry the heavier end of the pitching this year. He improves year by year, so should be real hot this season. Don is no mean outfielder and can score a wicked bat now and then.

Practically a newcomer from Oliver is Doug Weeks. Two years ago he played a few games with Summerland, last year with Oliver, and he developed into a real outfielder. Very fast, he has learned to swing a bat and looks like a good asset.

Robert Parker up from the juniors last year played a highly aggressive game in several different positions. This year he ought to be much improved.

Bernie Roberts who played some snappy ball last year will be a contender for an infield position, and Harold Biollo, up from the juniors, should add strength to the infield. Harold is a right smart junior.

Vern Berton will be in uniform again used mostly as a walk and utility player. Up from the juniors too, is Robert Bonthoux, a part-time pitcher and infielder. He's a keen lad and if he works hard should make some of the others hustle to hold their jobs.

Jim McNab is another up from the juniors — a promising young pitcher.

Of the other teams in the league not too much is known. Princeton was the weak sister, but with some bolstering could be right in there with what it takes. Oliver has lost some familiar faces, but Oliver is a good ball town and is always a good contender.

Little news comes out of Penticton though they always appear with a scrappy ball team.

Kelowna was a rejuvenated ball club last year under Hank Tostenon and from all reports is more than keen this year. Other clubs should watch out for Kelowna.

Vernon is another unknown having dropped out last year, they were very anxious to get back in this year.

Kamloops, the present champions, always have a strong contending ball club. Many of last year's players will be in full uniform again.

All in all, the prediction is that some mighty fine ball will be seen in the Okanagan this coming summer.

Summerland fans are requested to turn out this coming Sunday, April 14. The club needs local support both morally and financially.

Joe Sheeley Again Head of Junior Baseball in South Okanagan League

The South Okanagan Junior Baseball League held its annual meeting in Summerland on Sunday, April 7. Representatives from Oliver, Penticton, Summerland, Vernon and Armstrong attended. These towns will definitely field teams with the possibility of Osoyoos, Naramata and Kelowna also entering teams.

Joe Sheeley was re-elected president, Charlie Marshall of Vernon vice-president; Walley Moore of Penticton, secretary-treasurer. The president and secretary will draw up the schedule which will be a home and home series between all teams with the first game on Sunday, May 7.

The playoffs will start as soon as the schedule is completed with the 1st and 3rd and 2nd and 4th teams playing a best-of-three, the winners playing a best-of-three for the John Norwood trophy. The age limit will again be under 21 as of the 30th of June. Any player may play through senior league games and still be eligible for a junior team.

We All Write Letters But How Many Of Us Address Them the Right Way?

Ross McLachlan, the postmaster at West Summerland is emphasizing the importance of correct addressing of all mail.

The municipality of Summerland has grown to the extent that there are now more than 1,200 households. It is impossible for postal employees to know all of the families, or to which family little Johnny or Mary belongs.

The employee sorting your mail this month may not be the one who sorted last month and possibly the new employee may know only a dozen families in the municipality.

It is the responsibility of the mailers to address all mail completely and correctly.

The sorting of mail involves separation of all mail addressed locally is to three categories, General Delivery, Rural Route and Lock Boxes. If the correct box number or other designation is omitted your letter must be set aside until the sorter has time to refer to an index of approximately 630 names before completing delivery.

There are now 600 lock boxes in this office. Please make an effort to determine the correct address, Box No., R.R., or General Delivery before addressing your statements, bills, circulars or personal messages. By doing this you will assist the post office but more important you will make it possible for the post office to complete delivery of your mail without delay and with less chance of wrong delivery.

Mr. McLachlan particularly asks the merchants to determine the correct address of each of their customers to whom bills will be sent. It has been observed occasionally at month end that some statements are mailed without box numbers, or just "Town" or "R.R." without any post office designated.

If you address a letter "Summerland" it requires 5c and it goes to the Summerland Post Office. West Summerland requires 4c and it is held here for delivery. If no post office is indicated the letter will be returned to the sender or sent to the Undeliverable Mail Office at Vancouver.

In your correspondence with business firms or anyone with whom you are corresponding, the postmaster asks that you please include your complete and correct address so that mail to you can be delivered without delay.

BY
M. VANDERBURGH

We're starting a new feature, "Know Your Canada," prepared by the Research Staff of the Encyclopedia Canadiana, and it should be interesting. It doesn't tell who invented spring cleaning, though. I wonder who did? Some people (men anyway) think it's an invention of the devil himself to make people uncomfortable. Others say cleanliness is next to godliness, so it's hard to know.

I think it was started by the wind—some sluggish cave woman probably noticed that the wind swirled in and around the half-circle of her dwelling taking a lot of the winter debris with it—and thought, "I could improve on that!"

Immediately she started her contemporaries had to do the same thing—swoosh, and away things went—out the opening. Then, maybe the rain took a swirl of water in—and that gave another idea—and slurr—there the whole process was begun.

Well, we have improved on those methods—we don't sweep the stuff outside the door—we don't let the water run in and run out. We direct things, and have machines for taking up the mess—sponges for mopping up the water.

In the weekend sort of house-keeping that I do, I am sometimes embarrassed, especially when visitors two weeks in a row step over the vacuum cleaner on their way into the living room. Usually I remember to put it behind the chest-erfield for I've found out that everything doesn't have to be done in one day. The kitchen walls get cleaned if one wall is done at a time — It just spreads things out more — attenuated spring cleaning — and there is not the same uproar. You should try it—and it's not nearly so tiring. My mother wouldn't approve, because she has never allowed such a thing to be done in her house in her whole lifetime.

The rooms look nice and uncluttered with about half the furniture and the view looking out is better without curtains. As for kitchen curtains, I always think they're a kind of obstruction and nuisance.

We've gone such a long way from having only furnishings that we need, that some people are all worn out looking after the machines that are supposed to do the work, making everything easier for women. "The daily round, the common task," doesn't furnish all we ask—not by a long sweep—no daily round for us—no common task—instead the horrible noise of the vac, the polisher, the thump, thump of this machine and that, the timer sounds off, the light blinks on. Practically need engineer's papers to run a household these days. We can learn something from the beautiful pictures we see of houses in Japan, with so little confusion, and one or two beautiful things.

Lugging carpets around, and those mats that go under them, is hard work, but the new light-in-weight materials that go into comforters and bed throws are a joy—easy to handle—quick to dry.

Hanging lumps are to the fore in magazines, and in the stores again. Not the kind, necessarily, that come down over the dining-room table, though that gives a good vision, I think, and spotlights the purpose of the table, but an adjustable light that may be pulled down over a chair, or sofa, or desk, when needed and then pushed up again, out of the way when cleaning is done, and ready when wanted. They're pretty too, and one at either end of a chesterfield can look attractive. I found this latter type were expensive when I asked about them.

Anyway I'm getting on with the cleaning, and hoping to have an unobstructed route for visitors be-Hillard Merchant of Vancouver is visiting with his uncle, J. C. Witt and family for two weeks.

Mrs. Irene Hookstein of Seattle, Wash., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Chisolm and sister Mrs. Bruce Johnson and other relatives for a month.

Mrs. M. Ferguson entertained at cards in honor of Mrs. Aitken of Vancouver. Mrs. Garraway captured first prize.

Mrs. Leduke spent the weekend in Vancouver, visiting her mother, Mrs. Muir and sisters.

Kelth Watts from Vancouver made a short visit with his mother, Mrs. L. Watts and sister Mrs. Flint-off enroute to Vernon.

Mrs. W. D. Miller went to Vernon to visit her brother and also to attend the United Church conference which was held in Vernon on Friday.

Square Dancers Have Crowd at Party Night

Summerland Pairs and Squares hosted 160 dancers at the regular Party Night on Saturday, April 3, in the Youth Centre. Name callers were brought in, one to act as master of ceremonies and the others as feature callers.

Les Boyer of Okanogan, Washington, was the emcee, and Ed Stebor of Seattle and Bill French of Oroville, called.

Dancers were present from Kelowna, Peachland, Penticton, Oliver and Washington and Summerland, as well as those who started instructional classes with Mr. Boyer last fall. Nine of the latter group joined the local club on Saturday night.

Mrs. Lloyd Shannon was convener of the buffet supper which everyone enjoyed.

It is planned to hold a Party Night once a month and all square dancers will be welcomed.

Brownies, Guides Looking for Work

Brownies and Guides have taken on a Baden-Powell Centenary community project.

They are asking for 25c jobs and with the money they earn plan to buy needed articles for the kitchen of the Mountain View Home. Not only are they supplying things for the kitchen, but will buy the garden seeds and seed potatoes for the Home, they hope.

So if a Brownie or Guide appears at your door asking for a 25c job, you are assured that they mean to work for it, and that the money will be well spent.

The Hi Life

By DOT CARSTON

Well hi there! Our Council Meeting this week was at the Hackman residence.

We came to a final decision on the matter of the Bunny hop. It will be in the Youth Centre on April 27 at 9 pm. Dancing will be to some new records we have decided to buy. Admission is 25 cents with card and 35 cents, without, so for a small sum, you can really have some fun.

The Jiving Jamboree plans are meeting with a little trouble as the Band Conference is to be held in Kelowna on the planned date.

It was suggested that at one of our future dances we give a $5.00 Gift Certificate for records or other music. This plan was accepted but no date settled.

I mentioned last week about a community project and we have decided something worthwhile would be the repairing of the Community Cemetery.

We are all hoping that we will receive support not only from Teen Towners but from the adults too! Help us help the community.

Our Music Department has been given the 'go-ahead' to buy some long needed records!

fore the hot weather comes.

One of the nicest things to think about this time of year is tea under a shady tree on a summer afternoon, or in the sun on the beach.

It spurs one on to get through with the job in hand which is getting rid of winter's piled-up evidence, smoke, dust, papers, magazines, and—well, everybody has an accumulation of something to clear out. We may make that afternoon by June.

What is the highest city in Canada?

The famous mining centre, Kimberley, B.C., qualifies for this distinction with an elevation of 3,661 feet above sea level. The area was opened up in 1892 when Pat Sullivan staked the first mineral claim. The economy of the city and district still is based to a large extent on the famous Sullivan base-metal mine. It was named for the famous mining centre in South Africa.

Where and what is the International Peace Garden?

Straddling the Canada - United States border near Boissevain, Man., this beautiful 2,200-acre garden is kept up by both nations as a symbol of international amity. A cairn bears the inscription, "To God in His Glory, we two nations dedicate this garden and pledge ourselves that as long as men shall live we will not take up arms against one another."

Youth Centre Has Membership Drive

Now that spring is here the Youth Centre Association is planning the annual membership drive. The Youth Centre is unique in the Okanagan and serves all young people's organizations. It was renovated by local people's efforts and has largely been maintained in the same way.

The Youth Centre Association is proud of its success in providing suitable accommodation for Youth organizations since its formation in 1949. Those who drive past the building must realize that it is almost constant use by Scouts, Guides, Teen Town, Cubs and Brownies. The strength and accomplishments of these organizations in Summerland are in large measure due to the availability of the Youth Centre Hall. The Youth Centre also serves a need in providing a hall available for rental on certain nights for other community activities.

The main source of revenue for the Youth Centre is the Annual Membership campaign. Membership costs only one dollar per year, but if you wish to give more it will be most appreciated. Receipts for income tax purposes will be supplied on request.

Chairman of the membership drive committee is E. R. Butler. Others on the committee are Miss Doreen Tait, B. T. Blagborne and L. A. Smith.

Dr. D. V. Fisher is president of the Youth Centre Association.

CRIBBAGE WINNERS ARE MRS. THORNTWHAITE, AND C. MINSHULL

Last Wednesday's cribbage games sponsored by the Legion LA had seven tables in play with Mrs. Harry Thornthwaite winning the first prize among the ladies and Miss Hepperle, the consolation.

Charlie Minshull topped the men and W. C. McCutcheon was low man.

The draw was won by Mrs. Annie Johnson.

Everyone enjoyed the evening with refreshments served at the conclusion of games.

Federation Tea Has Easter Theme

Welcoming decorations with Easter and springtime as the theme and pussy willows, baby chickens, and Easter eggs, prettily arranged were a feature of the annual tea and sale given by the United Church Federation on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. A. C. Fleming graciously received guests.

Mrs. Jack Dunsdon and Mrs. O. J. Lazenby were responsible for the decorations, and Mrs. R. F. Angus was in charge of the tearoom assisted by the Canadian Girls in Training.

In the kitchen Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, as convener, was given help by Mrs. Melvin Pollock, Mrs. J. Heichert and Mrs. George Harper of Trout Creek.

In charge of the apron stall was Mrs. W. R. Powell assisted by Mrs. Wm. Fleming.

Mrs. W. F. Ward and Mrs. Alf McLachlan were busy in the home cooking booth.

A lovely day and a large attendance brought gratifying results.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

I sure hope our politicians have enough sense to avoid making an election issue of the Norman case. To do so would be playing into the hands of the nasty little men who, judging by all reports, think they did a mighty fine thing in hounding a man to his death. Mind you I haven't much sympathy with the late Canadian Ambassador to Egypt. He didn't help his friends nor his country by walking backwards off the roof. A man must be an appallingly weak character to let witch hunters harry him into taking his own life under such circumstances. Norman had the government of his country behind him — and when he took his own life he was kicking his friends in their teeth, not his enemies.

Now the U.S. Senate subcommittee is threatening to smear External Affairs Minister Pearson. One thing sure, Pearson won't nose dive — he's too much of a fighter for that. But think of the irony of a situation where a muckraking group in the United States government, just to make headlines, threatens to assail a man who is one of the free world's outstanding leaders in the battle against communism.

Those Senate gentlemen should go to church more often. They operate on the principle that once a communist, no matter how innocently, always a communist. I wonder how they reconcile that kind of thinking with the teachings of Christianity, which allows for a sinner's redemption.

There are times when, for a man whose roots go back to England, I think rather heretically that Canada, or rather the people of Canada, would be better off if Canada did become the 50th State of the Union—but always I balk at the American way of government. — no, I don't think I want to trade Canadian citizenship for the fleshpots of the United States — too many things, like this witch hunting committee, offend my olfactory organs.

Oldest building isn't the one which recently housed Verrier's meat market. At least Dave Thompson claims it isn't. He says the oldest building is the one now occupied by Laidlaw's. Roger Tingley dug that basement using his black team before there were any other buildings. I'm not going to get into the argument, although I seem to recall seeing an ancient photograph which showed the Laidlaw building standing alone in its glory.

And, because we had a blurb last week about fast mail service Jack Stewart was in to show us proof of a not-so-fast mail service. Jack had occasion to write C. P. Airlines in Vancouver. He wrote that letter on October 1, 1955. C. P. Airlines replied on November 1, 1955. The postmark proved beyond doubt that the letter was mailed in Vancouver on November 2, 1955, but when did Mr. Stewart receive it? April 11, 1957.

Oh yes, and Mr. E. Soderquist came back from the States and dropped in to show us some weirdly shattered glass. Came from the back window of his brother-in-law's car. Nobody was doing anything to anybody or anything when bingo! the rear window blew in. So much pressure, relates Mr. Soderquist that a flying chunk of window hit the driver on the back of the neck. Glass was completely shattered — spooky eh? More things in heaven and earth than are dream't of even at a Board of Trade meeting.

Salk Polio Vaccine Here Parents To Be Notified

A substantial shipment of 22,000 c.c. of Salk vaccine is arriving this week in Kelowna from the Connaught Medical Research Laboratories of the University of Toronto. In keeping with provincial policy, this means that the local Salk vaccination program can be greatly extended from last year when 9,500 school children in the area received two or more doses of vaccine. This vaccine is now available free of charge through Federal and Provincial Grants to the following age groups:

1. All pre-school children ages 1-6 years. (Estimated 7,000.)
 2. All Senior High School pupils — Grades 10-13. (Estimated 1,900.)
- PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN
Special Salk Clinics will be held in Health Centres and Halls throughout the Health Unit in the next four weeks for these 7,000 eligible children. (1-6 years old). Watch for announcements shortly in the press or on the radio. They will receive two injections one month apart with a third injection scheduled for late fall 1957 (seven months time). Parents or guardians will be asked to sign consent cards for each child at the time the first injection is administered.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS
Consent cards are being distributed to the 1,900 Senior High pupils in Grade 10-13 in the next few days. On the return of these signed cards through the teachers and Public Health Nurses, it is planned to administer doses of Salk vaccine prior to Easter Holidays and a second — one month later.

1956 SALK VACCINE
During the first two weeks in June, most of the 9,500 vaccinees who received their two doses of Salk vaccine in 1956, are to receive a third booster injection. Those who do not qualify in June (less than seven months interval from second injection) will receive their third dose in the Fall.

Domestic Water In Trout Creek Needs Divination

Ralph Downing and Rolph Pretty represented Trout Creek residents at last week's council meeting to discuss the domestic water situation in that area and the need of a domestic water system.

As spokesman Mr. Downing presented a strong case for the need of a domestic water supply. Some of the pertinent reasons cited were: the increase in population; the fact that well water is hard and stains walls when used for sprinkling; water used for dormant spraying has to be taken from the lake; subdivisions allowed by the council have complicated the water supply; the school in Trout Creek is said to be short of water.

Mr. Downing said that 75 residents had filled out forms agreeing with the council's tentative proposals in which residents would pay $56 per year for domestic water. The proposal is to pump water from the lake during the summer months and to obtain water from the West Summerland system during the fall and winter via the Sand Hill.

Reeve F. B. Atkinson explained that a slide in Trout Creek Canyon makes gravity water from this source impractical because the water is muddy. Getting water from the south Prairie Valley main is too expensive since pipes would have to be enlarged back to the reservoir. Mr. Atkinson said that Mr. Downing's report of the number who had signed was encouraging and Mr. Downing concluded with the hope that the council would "go active" on the project again.

The municipal council prepared a plan some time ago, but only a few residents signed applications agreeing with it. Recently the area was canvassed by Trout Creek people and the larger number of signatures obtained.

Rural Mail Change Coming Trade Board Wins Battle

Building Figures Pick Up During the Month of March

Eighteen building permits amounting to $43,250.00 were issued in March according to the report of the building inspector, R. F. Angus. This indicates greater building activity than at the same time last year when only nine permits were issued in March in the amount of $39,500 or nearly $4,000 less than this spring.

Total permits for the first three months of this year are 33 estimated at $55,500.00 as compared with 1956 when there were 15 for $63,035.00, indicating that the total amount of money being spent in building is down $7,535.00 so far this year, from last year's amount.

Permits in March were for two new dwellings, $17,000; 12 alterations and additions to dwellings, $11,000; one new under commercial and institutional, $13,000; and three under the same classification, $2,250.

Main Street Parallel Parking Is Considered

Summerland council passed on to the road committee comprised of Councillors W. B. Powell and F. M. SStewart, a report of the superintendent of works, K. M. Blagborne, last week recommending parallel parking on Granville St. from the Bank of Montreal to Laidlaw's corner.

Mr. Blagborne said that the street is just 66 feet wide and if two cars are backing out from opposite sides of the street after being parked diagonally, trouble could easily result.

At the present time, it is often difficult to "open doors" of a car parked diagonally beside another one.

Another part of the recommendation was to paint double white lines in the same area and on Hastings Pender and Kelley streets in an effort to make for safer driving in West Summerland.

The starting point of rural mail delivery in Summerland is to be changed to the West Summerland office according to word received this week from O. L. Jones, MP, and the post office department at Ottawa.

This change has been advocated by the Summerland board of trade as being advantageous to the larger number of people within the municipality and will eliminate the five cent rate for letters for rural mail delivery posted in West Summerland.

There will be a reversal in the times mail is delivered in the different areas. Those early now will be on the opposite end of the circuit and receive their mail later, and vice versa.

Date of changeover has not been announced but the letter states "The survey indicates that the proposal is supported by most of the residents in the Summerland and West Summerland area, and that there would be little objection from the comparatively few patrons who would be adversely affected."

Starting point of the route will be changed from Summerland to West Summerland post office. The number of patrons of the West Summerland office to around 1,100 and reduce the number of patrons of the Summerland post office to 125. Approximately 1,100 of the 1,225 householders in the Summerland-West Summerland area would be able to use the four cent "drop letter" rate on nearly all letters to be delivered locally.

At present, the route starts from the Summerland post office and operates over a distance of 33.5 miles round trip, serving 585 householders. Revenue from Summerland post office is $5,395.91 and West Summerland $18,768.47.

A temporary daily stage service for three months between the two post offices will be operated in order to give rural route patrons time to advise their correspondents of the new address and to avoid delay in delivery of mail in the meantime.

This announcement was also released by Hon. James Sinclair, minister of fisheries, through Dr. Mel Butler of Kelowna, Federal Liberal candidate for Okanagan-Boundary.

R. A. Johnston Resigns from ORT

Word has been received in Summerland that R. A. Johnston, general chairman of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers for western Canada, has resigned from the position, effective May 14.

Prior to holding this office, Mr. Johnston was the CPR agent at West Summerland for over 25 years served on the municipal council, and in the board of trade, and took a lively interest in all community efforts. He was local chairman of the ORT for the Kettle Valley division for a number of years.

He has been the general chairman for about five years. It is a four-year appointment, and he was starting on his second term when his resignation was received.

Vimy Supper Is Greatly Enjoyed

The Vimy supper arranged by the older members of the LA to the Canadian Legion in the Legion Hall was attended by 46 who enjoyed the evening to the full.

As well as Vimy veterans and their wives there were veterans of the Boer War. W. C. McCutcheon, president of the local branch of the Legion attended and Mrs. McCutcheon played for a sing-song which followed the dinner.

H. Howard spoke during the evening telling of his trip to Vimy last year. Others who spoke were Wm. Beattie, A. D. Glen, Dave Jack and W. C. Haddrell.

Potluck Concert Is Successful

The High School had fine co-operations from local organizations participating in the Potluck Concert on Friday night which was well-attended and added considerably to the funds for the proposed trip in June.

Harold Biollo was master of ceremonies for the evening announcing the various items on the program.

The Scandinavian Society contributed a bright square dance number with the performers all in costume, and the overseas Cub tripped about the stage delightfully, all dancers causing great amusement.

Two skits, one by the LA to the Canadian Legion and another by the Catholic Women's League were enjoyed.

Mrs. K.L. Boothe and Clive Atkinson in duet numbers represented the Singers and Players Club.

Dave Jack as a Story teller, recounted some of his experiences in the Okanagan in the depression days. Mr. Jack was the entry of the Canadian Legion.

Ronnie Downes, violinist, and Sandra Dunn and Sheldon Doherty with their accordians, sponsored by the TOOF Lodge, were a musical group on the program.

Hugh A. Miller Death at Princeton

Hugh Atwell Miller passed away in Princeton General Hospital on April 12.

The late Mr. Miller is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Atwell Miller pioneer residents who made their home at Faulder for many years. He attended Summerland schools as a boy.

He was born in Somerset, England in 1903 and came to Canada with his parents in 1910. In 1924 he settled in Princeton where he resided until his passing.

Surviving are his wife, Phyllis, his son, Tom, and two grandchildren, Glen and Diane, all of Princeton; his parents; Mr. and Mrs. F. Atwell Miller, and two brothers, John W. of Summerland and R. H. (Dick) of Vernon.

Funeral services were held in Princeton conducted by Rev. Dr. Goodfellow, on Monday, April 15 at 2 p.m., with interment in the Allison private cemetery.

pallbearers were E. Jacobson, R. Taylor, W. Sellers, G. Meston, J. Merrill, and S. Mills.

The late Mr. Miller had requested many times his desire to see a town clock in Princeton. Since his passing many donations have been received for this purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vanderburgh

Candelight Ceremony on Saturday Vanderburgh-Heavysides Wedding.

A lovely wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening April 13, at 7.30 in Summerland United Church. The bride was Merte Alice, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Heavysides who was united in marriage with John William "Bill" Vanderburgh, of Brookmere, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Vanderburgh of Oliver.

The altar was banked with ferns for the ceremony, with candelight flickering on baskets of daffodils, forsythia and narcissi reflecting the spring season.

Given in marriage by her father, the fair-haired bride was in a beautiful wedding gown of white taffeta, hoop skirted. The bodice had a wide, round neckline and tiny short sleeves. Lace decorated the neckline and was repeated around the skirt. Long matching gloves were worn. A veil of French silk illusion net was in finger-tip length, held in place with a circlet of white lace medallions encrusted with iridescent sequins and with seed pearls. The bride wore a pearl necklace and pearl earrings. White carnations with dark green foliage were in the cascaded bridal bouquet.

As her sister's maid of honour, Miss Glenn Heavysides of Vancouver was charmingly dressed in a spring green frock, floor length with ruffled skirt, made in a strapless style with a little lace bolero. The bride's younger sister, Miss Lesley Heavysides as flower girl wore a sweet yellow dress in similar mode to the maid of honour, floor length with ruffled skirt. Both attendants had headdresses matching their gowns fashioned in a tiara style, and they carried Colonial bouquets of spring flowers.

Edwin H. Lavender of Vancouver was the best man and the ushers were Alfred Letts and James Logie.

Mrs. Glen Morley was organist for the service. Mrs. Alfred Letts sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

Mr. and Mrs. Heavysides were assisted in receiving by the bridal party and by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Vanderburgh at the reception for 76 held in the church hall following the ceremony.

Guests were seated at long tables decorated with bowls of spring flowers and tall white tapers. A three-tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table which was covered with a lace cloth, and arranged prettily with flowers and tapers.

J. P. Sheeley proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded.

Congratulatory telegrams were read from Mr. and Mrs. D. Munro, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. D. Hughes, Castlegar, and the CPR group at Brookmere.

Nursing associates of the bride and members of the class which obtained their RN degree recently, assisting in serving were Miss Shirley Hughes and Miss Dale Haw of Vancouver, Miss Annette van Vorsveld and Miss Betty Glasier of Trail, and Miss Betty Ikeda of Vernon. Others serving were Miss Velma George of New Denver, Miss Marilyn Wade and Miss Pearl Hooker.

The bride and groom left for a month's motor trip to Alberta, then to the coast by way of the States, and to Vancouver Island. For travelling the bride wore a dark grey suit with satin edging on the collar and sleeves, a blue straw hat, blue gloves, black bag and shoes, and a light colored full length topcoat with pink rosebuds in her corsage.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Vanderburgh, Mr. and Mrs. D. Becker, Oliver; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lavender, J. Campbell, Mrs. Deles Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. M. Rentmeester, Mr. and Mrs. H. Knowles, M. Schaefer, J. Stellick, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. W. Gill, Mr. and Mrs. M. Giraldi, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cuzzocrea, Penticton; Mr. and Mrs. G. Coy, Brookmere.

Stephens-Ritchie Wedding at Coast

Mrs. Margaret M. Ritchie of West Summerland, was married on Saturday, April 13, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Maxwell, 3940 Oxford Street, Burnaby, to Melvin M. Stephens of Prince Rupert.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephens flew to Hawaii for a holiday.

BIRTHS

To Mr. and Mrs. John Cooke on April 1, a daughter, Sharon Anne.

On April 2, to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Betuzzi, a son, John Gregory.

To Mr. and Mrs. George Chadburn on April 2, a boy, Mark Kenneth.

At Grand Forks, to Dr. and Mrs. J. Henniger on April 9, a son, Richard Norman, 9 lbs., 9 oz. Mrs. Henniger is the former Miss Marion Richards.

Canadian Legion LA Greet New Members

Two new members, Mrs. Herman Caates and Mrs. Eddie Lloyd were initiated and welcomed to the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion at the regular meeting on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. H. A. McCargar, the president, agreed to be the official delegate to the provincial convention to be held at Nanaimo. Two fraternal delegates, Mrs. Annie Johnson and Mrs. Clarence Adolph were authorized to attend, also.

The raffle for the evening was won by Mrs. J. A. Read.

Everyone enjoyed the social hour following the meeting with refreshments served by Mrs. Read and Mrs. H. W. Fiske.

Kiwassa Club Plans For Retarded Children

On Friday afternoon the Kiwassa Club held the second in a series of social afternoons for handicapped children, much to the mutual enjoyment of the children and those in attendance.

Five boys and girls, Sonny Bergstrom, Wayne Prior, Evelyn Krause, Lucy Uchida and Nancy McCuaig were being taught handwork by Mrs. Gerry Hallquist, president of the Kiwassas, helped by members Mrs. Brian Liebert, Mrs. N. O. Solly and by Mrs. Flora Bergstrom.

A story, games and refreshments made a complete afternoon for the children and more such afternoons are planned.

Weitzel-Carlile Attendants Named

Miss Connie Carlile and Daryl Weitzel have chosen the members of their wedding party for their marriage which is to take place April 20 in St. Stephen's Anglican Church, West Summerland.

Bridal attendants will be the bride's sister, Mrs. R. K. Seale of Calgary as matron-of-honor, Miss Janet Naylor and Miss Wilda Lane of Vancouver as bridesmaids.

Robert Weitzel of Vancouver, the groom-elect's brother will be best man. Ushers will be Gilbert Jacobs of Vancouver and Donald Cristante of West Summerland.

Miss Carlile is a graduate of Victoria Normal school and is a member of the staff of the Summerland High school. Mr. Weitzel, groom-elect, is employed by Inland Motors, Penticton.

As this will be my last report for the current session of Parliament I would like to take this opportunity to thank the newspapers in my riding who have so generously given their space to carry this weekly report.

I have tried to make a factual report of the proceedings during the current week and from comments and letters received I know many of the readers have appreciated this little extra service that I as your member have been able to give during the last nine years.

Through a decision in the Ontario courts a few months ago the who policy of marketing boards was legally questioned and representations were made to the Minister of Agriculture for enabling legislation to allow marketing boards to assess levies, etc. In other words to legalize what some of the Provinces have already been allowing. This bill has general support in the House and will become law before this session concludes. Some objections to this bill have been registered, one of which came from the Canadian Foods Association of B.C. who wired various members their objection to this legislation.

The leader of the Opposition moved a motion of non-confidence in the government, that contained a demand for legislation at this session to assure a flexible system of price control for Agriculture.

Mr. H. A. Bryson speaking on behalf of the CCF group proposed an amendment asking for parity prices. Parity is a system whereby farmers receive the same return for their products, in terms of purchasing power, as they had in a base period, generally regarded to be 1949. Mr. Bryson went on to explain the CCF's conception of farm parity is not only support prices, but it is a combination of things which together shape a national agricultural policy. They include such things as crop insurance programs, long and short term loans, cash advances on farm-stored grain and marketing boards. All these combined to assure a farmer parity returns for his products.

Mr. Bryson quoted an example of how other industries receive government protection which differs entirely to that given to agriculture. The case was Canada Packers which receives an average return of 27 1/2% on its capital investment of $30,750,000. That return, he said, is 25% greater than the return to agriculture which had a capital investment of approximately $10,000,000,000.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the government had allowed agriculture to fall into economic inferiority and social inequity. He therefore called for controls on agriculture imports from the United States, a country which he claimed quickly imposed quotas on Canadian exports when they had a detrimental effect on the U.S. general economy.

Mr. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, in a speech lasting 1 1/2 hours claimed that the farmers had received the protection of the government and things were not as bad as the opposition suggested in their attacks on government policy. Both the Progressive Conservative motion of non-confidence and the CCF's sub-amendment asking for parity prices were defeated, the Liberals voting in a solid block and the opposition voting as the other block. The debate was terminated with many speakers, including myself, still anxious to have a few words to say but as previously

WHERE IS THE WORLD'S LARGEST RAFT?

The world's largest raft is the floating community of Holberg, B.C., situated at the head of Holberg Bay, on the northwest coast of Vancouver Island. It is a quarter-mile long. This logging camp is owned by the Alaska Pine and Colubise Company and the first units were towed into place in 1942.

WHAT CANADIAN IS KNOWN AS "THE FASTEST MAN ON FOUR LEGS"?

The fastest man on four legs has been used to describe Johnny Longden, who grew up in Alberta. He lived in the Taber district as a child, worked in a southern Alberta coal mine after leaving school and later became a cigar store clerk. He began riding at the age of 15. In 1936, on successive days, he won both the Illinois and Louisiana Derbies. Two years later he became America's leading jockey by riding 236 winners. He now has won more than 5,000 races — more than any other jockey in the history.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL SEVENTEENTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY SEVEN

All For One - One For All... a good motto

DISCUSSION in last week's Municipal Council meeting regarding choice of a Centennial project for Summerland led to Reeve C. E. Atkinson taking exception to a comment made by Board of Trade president Roy Wellwood to the effect that lower town is being neglected.

The exchange was reported in last week's Review as follows:

"The Reeve challenged Mr. Wellwood's statement that the Lower Town had been neglected, and he named all the municipal services asking which one had not been given to residents in the Summerland area. It was noted that in the matter of sidewalks a proportionately large sum had been spent downtown as compared to uptown."

We think that Reeve Atkinson took Mr. Wellwood's remark literally and from that point of view he did perfectly right in pointing out that lower town is certainly not being discriminated against, insofar as the expenditure of the taxpayers' dollar on civic services is concerned.

But we are inclined to believe that Mr. Wellwood was speaking more of intangibles than of physical things.

It is the Review's opinion, and we think, Mr. Wellwood's, that Lower Town is being neglected — it is being neglected in thinking and in planning — it is being neglected because there is a growing tendency to think of West Summerland and Summerland as two distinct and separate entities.

West Summerland by virtue of the concentration of business and population is, of course, the big brother of the two although not the elder and, as usual in such cases, where younger brother outstrips the older brother in size and muscle there is trouble in the family until adjustment is made.

The blame for this cleavage appears to rest equally between the two communities. Older brother, somewhat resentful and suspicious of the younger, faster growing brother has withdrawn into his shell. Any action older brother may take is likely to be limited to attempting to maintain the status quo. An illustration of this attitude is demonstrated in lower town's opposition to suggested changes in post office names, which, if implemented, would do away with the very serious confusion created by the existing West Summerland and Summerland post offices. The Board of Trade which, incidentally, should be much more representative of lower town than it is, a representative lack which also underscores the schism, has sought to eliminate the name West Summerland, seeking to have the West Summerland post office renamed simply "Summerland" and the Summerland post office, the downtown post office, as "Summerland Lakeside."

Why such a change should be opposed is beyond us. The name Summerland Lakeside is euphonious, delightfully so, and is truly pictorial. It appears, however, that lower town is suspicious that West Summerland is out to eliminate the lower town post office altogether and so, mans the barricades.

In West Summerland thinking is also reprehensible. Here too, it seems, lines have been drawn. Thinking on the centennial project is a case in point. A wading pool, swimming pool, library building, if located in West Summerland can hardly command the enthusiastic support of the people of lower town who it must be remembered will be paying their per capita share of the cost.

The centennial project then, could be one more irritant between upper and lower towns or, wisely chosen, it could become a bridge across the gulf.

It all boils down to this — both sides must reorient their thinking and, although we said earlier that the blame rests equally between the two sections, it is largely up to West Summerland. West Summerland holds the big stick of democracy by virtue of the larger population. Consequently it is the responsibility of West Summerland to think in all embracing terms, to think less in terms of self and more of others — that is the responsibility which goes with power, otherwise power becomes tyranny.

It is certainly time that in all our thinking we think in terms of one community SUMMERLAND.

Why Of The Sign Up... It's Insurance

OFFICIALS of the Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd., in Summerland, are busily engaged these days in a new sign up campaign. This campaign is in dead earnest. In a matter of days, work will be started on burying the gas pipe lines which are to serve the community.

The company plans a progressive installation. This year the upper levels will be largely served, next year gas will reach the lake front. Those domiciled or in business in the upper town area who want natural gas should sign up as soon as possible.

The signing up of sufficient households can ensure gas lines along any given street within the overall area which is to be serviced. Failure to sign up now could possibly lead to rerouting of the pipeline to serve those who have given concrete evidence of a desire to have natural gas in their homes or businesses. The reason is simple. The company is engaged in a mammoth program entailing the burying of thousands upon thousands of feet of pipe and the expenditure of millions of dollars between Savona and Trail and including the entire Okanagan Valley. Each community on the gas line route has been allocated so much pipe and so much money, and naturally the company is interested in making available supplies serve the most people, so the route of the gas lines in all communities is constantly being changed towards this end. The premise is simple: There is neither sense nor profit, nor is there satisfaction for the largest number, in planting 2,000 feet of pipe into the ground to serve one household when the same length of pipe installed in another street could usefully serve 20 households. That is the reason for the company's drawing and re-drawing of its service maps — that is why it is important to sign up now so that the company's objective of serving the largest possible number of people with the available pipe will be facilitated.

Pioneer Days

40 YEARS AGO — APRIL 13, 1917

John Clements, an old country gardener, who has been with the parks' commission in Calgary for the past five years, has come to make his home in Summerland. For the first year he will work with Mr. A. Derrick, living on the Dr. More property, which orchard and also the Wilcox orchard to the south of it, Mr. Derrick will work along with his own. Mr. Clements plans to have his wife and two children join him in June.

A mammoth hen's egg weighing a quarter of a pound and laid by a White Wyandotte at Balcombe Ranch, is on view in the Review office window this week.

Summerland friends of Miss Marjorie Williams, sister of Mrs. H. Rivington, will be interested to learn of her marriage to Mr. Oswald Crawford of Vancouver.

The orchard in Prairie Valley immediately east of the Secret property, and until now owned by the Hadley estate, has been bought by Mr. J. Hormiston, formerly of Brandon, who with his niece arrived last weekend.

Mr. L. J. Block has completed his course at Woolwich and is returning to Canada. He will be met by Mrs. Block who is now in Kaleden.

10 YEARS AGO — APRIL 10, 1947

The Miss Jocelyn and Daphne Boyd arrived home last week from Sunthoona Lodge school for the Easter holidays.

Miss Sybil Smith left last week for Silvery Beach, Squilax, after a holiday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith.

Miss Marietta Embree is a visitor for the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Embree.

Mrs. Cook of Toronto arrived last Friday to spend a month's holiday with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Mayne.

Miss Lavella Day and Wally Day left on Wednesday for Vancouver where they are enjoying a week's skiing at Grouse Mountain.

Mrs. McClement returned last week from California and other U.S. points where she spent the winter months.

Letters to the Editor

RR1 Summerland, B.C. The Editor,

Dear Sir: In the Review of March 20, in a column reporting a talk given at a Rotary dinner, it was stated in part that two active cases of T.B. were found in Summerland in the fall of 1956. And it was inferred that this was as a result of "contact" with raw milk.

The health authorities did not report their suspicion of T.B. to the Federal Veterinarian, Dr. S. M. Thompson, at the time these cases were found. As this is a T.B. free area, it is a serious matter to man and beast alike if a case is allowed to go unchecked.

The Summerland Jersey Club, on reading this report in the March 20 issue, requested Dr. Thompson to take the necessary precautions. A test was made of the animals in question, and these were declared free of T.B. on April 13, proof that the people referred to did not contract their illness from the use of raw milk in Summerland.

Yours very truly, Summerland Jersey Club.

The Editor,

Dear Sir: With regard to the third suggestion for the Centennial Project I would like to point out that the people in Summerland interested in helping our handicapped children are not asking for a school to be built for them. We are only asking for funds to enable us to buy equipment and supplies to train the children in existing facilities until there is room in the public schools for them.

One criticism voiced when the Centennial Project was discussed at the Council meeting on April 9, was that it was a department of education responsibility rather than a community one.

It is one of the chief aims of the Association for Retarded Children of B.C. to have the handicapped children integrated into the public school system. They feel the Department of Education has tacitly admitted responsibility by making the nominal grant of $250 per child per year. This grant was only made last year after several communities had opened their own schools, and it is likely to be anything from five to 20 years before the department of education will assume full responsibility for all Canadian children. It will only come when so many handicapped children are operating that the department is forced to act in accordance with the wishes and demands of the public.

There are already 22 Chapters for Handicapped Children in B.C. with three more schools in the process of being formed. Summerland would be joining the more progressive communities by training her own "Forgotten Children." This is happening not only in B.C. but all over Canada and North America. New Zealand and Australia are also dealing with their problem in much the same way.

These Chapters formed by the Community are the "stop-gaps" until the department of education shoulders full responsibility. Had no chapters been opened the grant would not have been made.

There can be little doubt that this is a community responsibility. If our handicapped children by society there is a possibility that through inferiority complexes they will become "tough guys" or delinquents. Better to spend money training them and give them a fair chance rather than to have to keep them in jail at the community's expense. The handicapped children need to be prepared for adult life the same as our normal children do. Only when they go to school and are treated like normal human beings will they become adjusted to their life in society. It is equally important for normal children to learn to accept and understand them.

The Kivassa Club will be calling a meeting shortly after Easter to hear the views of the people who attended the recent meeting in Penticton. Anyone else interested in promoting training of our handicapped children is very welcome to come and put forward his or her views.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

Mid-Week Message

REVEALING THE CAUSE

THOUGHT FOR TODAY—Let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another. Gal. 6:4.

It is not the speed of the train that causes the defective fall, it only exposes it. It is not the sorrow which comes into your life that is the cause of lack of trust, it only reveals it. It is not the temptation which assails the citadel of your soul that causes your weak will, it only brings it out into the light.

A new model automobile or a new bridge is put through a rigid test, not in order to break it, but to prove that it will not break. If in the testing, weaknesses are revealed, improvements are made before human lives are entrusted to the car or the bridge.

It behooves us to make our characters so strong and dependable that trials will not reveal any moral flabbiness, and temptations will not force us to yield our honor.

Paul says that if we think we have inner fortitude to win through to victory when we are not adequate for the task, not only do we deceive ourselves, but we fail to gain the joy of those who rely upon God.

When trials and struggles come, we are inclined to cry "Why?" The answer may be that God is not trying to break us but to reveal to all concerned that we will not break and we can be trusted.

agreed between the various parties only this one day could be allowed for the debate.

The National Health Plan moved one further step forward but has not yet completely passed all stages. But I understand before we close, the final stage will be reached. There is general support for this plan from all parties.

The only opposition is on the ground that the government retain a rigid condition regarding its operation that is it will not become operative unless six of the provinces, which must include either Quebec or Ontario, agree to go into the scheme. So far only five provinces have agreed. Other provinces thus hold the power of veto over implementation of this Health Plan.

This was strongly objected to by Stanley Knowles who claimed that already in the five provinces agreeing they have a total population of 55% of the whole of Canada, therefore, he claimed that this rigid demand for six provinces should be altered and that now the majority has expressed a wish to go ahead.

Mr. Martin, on the other hand, claimed that he wanted a majority of the provinces so that it would insure the plan being a national one and not a regional one. A concession has been made that when the sixth province does agree that assistance will be immediately available to the provinces. It was first suggested that the scheme would not become effective until every provincial government was ready to start on a combined program. This would mean that at least the scheme would not become effective until every provincial government was ready to start on a combined program. This would mean that at least the scheme would not be effective for about two more years. The Province of Ontario claim they will take about that time to get started while the three Western provinces have already such a scheme in effect and obviously it would not be fair to have them waiting one or two years before they could receive financial benefits from the Federal government which are already available.

Meditation and Music Good Friday Evening

A Good Friday Meditation with the words by Rev. C. O. Richmond and music by the choir will be presented on Friday evening in the United Church at 8 p.m.

This is a drama with musical accompaniment. Mrs. John Tamblin will take the part of Mary Magdalene and Bob Chalmers is cast as Joel.

The organist of the church, Mrs. Glen Morley, will be the accompanist.

Two services will be held on Easter Sunday, one at 9:45 and the other at 11:00 a.m. At the first service the Junior Choir led by Mrs. L. L. Fudge will sing, with Mrs. C. V. G. Morgan accompanying.

Handicapped Children is not the ideal suggestion for a Centennial Project. It would only benefit a small number of children and parents, but then so would furniture for senior citizens only benefit a few, and quite a few of us are past the paddling stage. What we need for our Centennial Project is something which will either benefit Summerland as a whole, or something we can be proud of as a landmark in our local history, such as opening a chapter for our handicapped children.

May I remind you these parents pay their rates to the Council. It includes 15.1 mills for education; their children receive no education. Is it fair? They don't ask for a reduction in taxes, they ask to have their children trained and accepted by you and me.

I very much regret we did not acquaint the public with more facts before this project was discussed by the Centennial Committee. I cannot presume on the editor for any more of his space, if anyone requires further information please contact Mrs. J. Towgood or myself.

Yours truly,
Brenda Liebert,
(Mrs. J. B. Liebert),
Sec., Kiwassa.

Hefty Wrestler Challenges All Comers at Gayland Shows

A feature attraction, apart from the dizzy rides of the Gayland Shows Ltd., in Penticton on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week is Logger Earl Forslund, a potential challenger for the world's wrestling championship who will take on all comers during the three-day Penticton show.

Forslund weighs 230 pounds, stands six feet, six inches and is described as a hunk of man.

The Gayland show this year is reported to be tremendously improved over last year's edition. J. "Ab." Greenway and E. "Tiny" Nichols, president and vice-president of Canada's largest motorized midway have spent a lot of time planning the improvements.

Best guarantee we can give our customers of a top flight show, explain Mr. Greenway and Mr. Nichol, is that we're not just a one night stand, here today and gone tomorrow not to be seen again — we're here this year and back again next year and every year.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL FIELD DAY PLANNED

BOWLING NEWS

The final half of the playoffs are over and the "end results" are almost as anticipated on the basis of what has occurred up to the present. In the "A" Division the Pilseners bowled the Occidentals and the Boozers bowled the Superchargers. In the "B" Division the Newcomers bowled the Rockets and the Red Sox bowled the All Stars. The results are as follows:

"A" Division
Boozers 5621
Superchargers 5421
Pilseners 5378
Occidentals 5285

The Boozers finally won out and are now the proud possessors of the Merchants Trophy. The members of the team are Don Cristante, Marilyn Wade, Bill Austin, Carol Christmas and Ivan Austin. Congratulations to Don and the rest of his team for a nice finish.

"B" Division
Red Sox 5515
Rockets 5360
All Stars 5336
Newcomers 5261

The Red Sox triumphed in the "B" Division and now hold the Hecker Trophy. The members of the team are George Williams, Joan Zimmerman, Ida Turnbull, Allen Pearson and Joan Britton. Congratulations to George and the rest of his team for a "strong" finish.

In the ladies' division Nan Thornthwaite took double honors by bowling a 257 for the high single and a 625 for the high three! Nellie Newton deserves honorable mention for bowling a 256. In the men's division Ashley Austin captured the high single with a 331 — nice bowling Ashley! Gordie Taylor won the men's high three with 685.

The Occidentals and the Superchargers bowled a separate game to break the tie for the Solly Cup. The Superchargers won with a total of 2936 pins! That means the Superchargers are the top team for the year. Members of the team are Bill and Betty Hepperle, Foster and Thelma Cunningham and Len Jackson.

In the Ladies' League the Comics bowled the Can-Cans and the Hangovers bowled the Headaches. Eileen Fell won the ladies' high single with a 270 and Kay Smith won the ladies' high three with a 5597. League standing to date is as follows:

Hangovers 28
Comics 27
Headaches 19
Can-Cans 18

All the bowling awards were presented at the banquet on Friday night and a good time was had by everyone. Alma Lekei won Ladies' High Single for the year with a 314, Bernice MacDonald won the Ladies' High Three with a 711. In the men's division, Bill Hepperle won the men's high single with a 365 and Foster Cunningham won the men's high three with a 776. Nan Thornthwaite was awarded Ladies' High Average with a 190 and Don Clark was awarded Men's High Average with a 211. A new executive was elected for next year with Foster Cunningham as the new president, Ashley Austin as the new vice-president, Kay Smith is the new secretary and Bill Hepperle is the new treasurer. Al Hooker, Alma Lekei and Don Clark will be on the executive board.

That pretty well sums up the bowling news this week. I'll give a full report on the ladies' league playoffs which take place next week! More news, views, and comments next week!

Mrs. J. P. Sheeley Entertains for Miss M. Heavysides

Mrs. J. P. Sheeley entertained at her home on Tuesday evening, April 9, for Miss Merle Heavysides, R.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Heavysides whose marriage to W. Vanderburgh of Oliver took place on Saturday.

Lovely gifts were brought for the bride-to-be and a small stretcher complete with simulated patient was carried in concealing the parcels which were presented to the honoree as a miscellaneous shower. Guests enjoyed playing bingo and small prizes were awarded to winners.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess as the happy event concluded.

Others present were Mrs. J. Heavysides, Mrs. Frank Beiven, Mrs. W. Birtles, Mrs. A. P. Crawford, Mrs. L. L. Fudge, Mrs. T. B. Lott, Mrs. K. L. Bontho, Mrs. Alex Kean, Mrs. Gordon Beggs, Mrs. J. McLachlan, Mrs. K. M. Stewart, Mrs. Ross McLachlan, Mrs. Fred Mullett and Mrs. Bob Barkwill.

FLUORIDATION ESTIMATE GIVEN

Total cost per capita per year for fluoridation in Summerland has been estimated at 24 cents by Dr. D. A. Clarke, who gave the report to Tuesday's council meeting.

The census population here was 3,843, so cost to the corporation for fluoridation would be $922.32 per year.

SPORT

Kelowna Downs Oliver 4-3 at Oliver Though Other Games Called for Rain

Rain washed out most Okanagan Mainline Baseball games which were to have started the season last Sunday.

Owing to the rain the season will be opened for Summerland Maes when they play Oliver in Oliver on Sunday, April 21, at 2.30 p.m.

Down at Oliver though the game went on as scheduled. There were a few showers, but a good crowd watched a good game between Oliver and Kelowna, with Kelowna coming out on top 4-3.

Pitchers were: Oliver, Dresden; Kelowna, Bill Martino. Gilchrist caught for Oliver.

and Culos for Kelowna.

Oliver was ahead 3-2 in the ninth when a home run by Bill Martino brought in men on bases to give Kelowna the lead.

IRRIGATION ALL READY BY MAY 1

All major irrigation jobs are finished and the water department will be ready to run water by May 1, Councillor F. M. Stewart reported at Tuesday's council meeting.

Jake Barg of New Westminster visited during the weekend at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Barg.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Weitzel of London, Ontario, are arriving tomorrow for the Weitzel-Carlile wedding which takes place on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Weitzel and Tom Carlile will come from Vancouver the same day. Another guest is C. B. Snow's sister, Mrs. Eric Parmenter of Port Mann. Miss Carlile's mother, Mrs. M. Carlile arrived yesterday.

Miss Sandra McPherson of Kelowna is in Summerland to stay with Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Fudge and their daughters during the Easter vacation.

Eight normal school students will be doing practise teaching in the MacDonald and Trout Creek elementary schools following the Easter holidays. Seven of them are students whose parents live in Summerland. Those coming from Victoria are Austin Rahem, Pauline Cooper, Anne Beggs, Kathleen Yamabe and Jean Johnston; from Vancouver, Medori Matsu, Lillian Cauty and Eugene Bates.

Bud Green of Nelson is returning to the Fish Hatchery at Summerland. Mrs. Green and Wally will come a bit later and the family will take up residence at the Hatchery.

Mrs. Reid has returned to Summerland and is staying with Mrs. George Egglis after spending the winter in Penticton.

Mrs. M. E. Collas has returned from Santa Barbara, California, where she spent the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. K.M. Stewart left Vancouver by air on Sunday for a ten day holiday in Hawaii.

Mrs. C. Wilkinson of Cache Creek has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Turnbull in Parkdale.

The high and elementary schools will close for the Easter holidays on Thursday, April 18, and re-open on Monday, April 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wright are motoring to the coast to spend Easter with their family. Mrs. David Wright and her little daughter of Port Alberni will accompany them to Summerland on their return.

Miss Jill Sanborn of Vancouver will visit her mother, Mrs. D. L. Sanborn for Easter.

Everdien Wouters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Wouters, aged 10, has just won second prize in a coloring contest for pupils in Baptist Sunday schools in the four western provinces. The prize which she has received is a doll from Bolivia in costume of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Braddick and family are moving to Penticton on Saturday. They have sold their home in Jones' Flat to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Reinertson.

Miss Betty Ferris, PHN, will spend Easter at her home in Saanichton, V.I., and attend the Public Health Institute in Vancouver Easter week.

Mrs. F. Waldie of Trail is visiting with Mrs. H. L. Jones and assisting in the Fashion Wise Shop which Mrs. Jones is establishing in the former Linnea premises.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Eisey are on a holiday in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Johansen and Mr. and Mrs. George Forster attended the funeral of the late Hugh A. Miller in Princeton on Monday afternoon.

Les Stutt, Director of Country Organization for the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, a featured speaker at the Canadian Co-operative Congress in Penticton last week, was re-united with an old friend from back home through an announcement over the radio. Harry Hackman of Summerland, who had left the prairie fifteen years ago, heard the broadcast and telephoned Mr. Stutt. The two enjoyed supper together in Summerland and talked over old times.

Mrs. O. N. Woods is expected to return from Vancouver at Easter time.

Well, this week there is big news—EXAMS! And as everyone is so very busy studying I'll keep this very short and sweet.

At senior assembly on Friday afternoon we passed some new amendments to the constitution. I was sorry to see that the motion to raise points for big blocks was defeated. After all, the way it is now just about anyone can get a block and there is no thrill to it. Maybe next time you'll pass it!

The new addition to the school looks very bright and shiny and I hope it stays that way for

Mrs. Ralph Blewett and Susie, and Miss Nan Thornthwaite are going to the coast at Easter where they will attend the wedding of Miss Thornthwaite's brother, Basil Thornthwaite to Miss Joan Dyer of Langley, which takes place in Langley on April 20.

T. W. Boothe left on Monday for Ontario because of the illness of his sister, Mrs. George Dickie of Galt.

A large group of people from Summerland attended a meeting held last week in Penticton for the purpose of arousing interest in establishing a school or schools for handicapped children in the south Okanagan. Speakers were Dr. Kerwood of Woodlands at New Westminster, and Mrs. Goepel, executive secretary for the Retarded Children's Association of B.C. awhile. I can't wait until after Easter when we move in. Don't you like the color scheme?

A Sadie Hawkins Hard Time Dance is planned for May 3, so all you senior girls be sure and get your fella and come to have a good time!

Teen Town would like to invite you right here and now, to the Bunny Hop on April 27. There is going to be a raffle of music worth $5.00. Tickets will be 25c each. Admission to the dance will be 25c with your card and 35c without. Hope you all come.

Well, guess that's all for this week. Be back after the holidays. So-long!

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Dream of living on an island in the South Seas is, I think, common to most men at some time in their lives, but few men ever get down to serious thinking about pulling up stakes as I did, only last Saturday morning.

Maybe some readers of this column will recall a yarn I ran in this space some months ago about a character named Bob Bellamy, who went adventuring among the head hunters.

It's all of ten years since I interviewed Big Bob to get that head hunter yarn for the Vancouver Sun, but who should breeze into town last Saturday and look me up, but Bob Bellamy, looking not a day older, and as chock full of yarns as an egg is of meat.

Bob is just back from what he calls "a stretch" on Canada's DEW line. He told of whale hunting, seal hunter, Eskimo dancing. Bob plays the banjo, and attended a dance at which the fiddler could play only two tunes. He told his yarns in robust Elizabethan language, strong without being profane, nor obscene, but certainly strong and certainly vivid, like his blunt description of an Eskimo house... "It stank like an open sewer."

And now the urge is on him again. The poet must have been writing of men like Bob Bellamy when he wrote:

"For there is no end to wandering,
When once the voice is heard,
And the stars call, and the trees call,
And hark! the call of the bird."

The frigid Arctic though is not for Bellamy... "Up there — throw a stone and you'd hit the north pole — isn't for humans," says Big Bob.

"But the south seas — a-a-a-h mister that's the place.

"What's the money — surely not everything —

"Look I've got a car and trailer, we go to the east coast, sell it and buy a fishing schooner — maybe have to finance a little — but we'd get one, rip out the fish hold, fix up the cabin accommodation and away we go."

"And so for a mystic hour on Saturday morning I sailed the south seas picking up a cargo of copra here, a cargo of pearl shell there — not much money in it but enough to keep going."

Bellamy incidentally is a master mechanic. "There's always machinery to fix — always a dollar coming in — there are wild cattle on the islands for meat, fish in the ocean, about all we'd need money for is to keep the ship shipshape. New sails and suchlike.

"We'd sail into the Zulu sea, maybe sometime take another crack at that treasure on Cocos Island. All good writing material for you if nothing else." And so Big Bob Bellamy rambled on — but insofar as Bob Bellamy was concerned he wasn't just daydreaming, I'm betting that before very long he'll find his way back to the south seas — or to some other far corner of the earth, for with men like Bob Bellamy it will always be.

And to the east the sunrise
And to the west the sea
And east and west the wanderlust
That will not set me free.
For there is no end to wandering
When once the voice is heard
And the stars call and the trees call
And hark! the call of the bird."

Council, Board Of Trade Discuss Parallel Parking

A joint meeting of the Board of Trade, Traffic and Safety Control committee and the council's road committee has been called for May 8 to discuss parallel parking between the Bank of Montreal and Laidlaw's corner at West Summerland. Consequently no action will be taken in the matter by the council until after this meeting.

Local Allocation Of Cancer Funds

The Summerland branch of the Canadian Cancer Society have a $100 revolving credit at the local branch which is used to help those who need help financially to get treatment, or as an aid to buy expensive drugs. In the case of a mother with small children, a housekeeper may be put into the home.

The local fund takes care of transportation to the Consultive Clinic in Penticton for anyone who needs it. Four patients have used this service this year, one three times. Free boarding care has been given for two Summerland residents with free treatment for one for some time. Part of a drug bill has been met and a patient is being sent to Vancouver every two weeks for treatment.

The Klwanza Club with the assistance of Summerland ladies has made pyjamas, nightgowns, surgical shoes and hot water bottle covers for the new boarding home for cancer patients at the coast. At present this group has a host of material which they are making up.

The local Order of Eastern Star, who work in, and finance their dressing station along with similar orders throughout the province of British Columbia, do an impressive amount of work in supplying all cancer dressings free of charge.

These are some of the reasons for supporting the local drive for funds for the work of the Cancer Society now underway.

In a much larger field, funds pay for building boarding homes; opening consultive clinics, of which there are now 12 in the province, assisting in construction of health centres; the lectureship in the field of cancer at UBC Faculty of Medicine; and in research.

The Board of Trade asked for this meeting to give the subject full discussion following recommendation of parallel parking by the superintendent of works, K. M. Blagborne, which was passed on to the road committee for consideration.

Mr. Blagborne thinks that diagonal parking is dangerous since the street is only 66 feet wide. Parallel parking would limit the number of cars that could be parked in front of the stores, necessitating parking elsewhere and would mean that motorists would have to walk a little distance to stores.

Money from Motor Licenses Increases

Increase in the number of cars and consequent parking problems was further emphasized at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting in the report given by municipal clerk, G. D. Smith. Revenue from the Motor Vehicles' branch of the government is now $960.00 per annum or $80.00 per month. This is a percentage from license issuances, and is a sum that has grown rapidly.

BULK BIN METHOD of handling fruit as practised in New Zealand, and to a lesser degree in Australia, has favorably impressed a team of Okanagan Valley growers who were sent by the BCFGA on instructions from the 1956 BCFGA convention, to investigate the bulk handling system. First word of the system was brought back by Dr. James Marshall who, during a visit "down under" was also impressed with the method. Reports are being filed by the various members of the investigating team and Don Sutherland in his report makes a recommendation that the BCFGA executive set up a means of studying and planning that will expedite the adaption of bulk harvesting here. The above picture taken in the packing shed of A. A. Wakes, Hastings, New Zealand, shows a 90-bushel trailer bin of Golden Queen peaches being inspected by the Okanagan team, and some of their New Zealand hosts. Left to right, Harry Osborne, grower, Tom

Wading Pool And Library Appear Favorites For Centennial Project

The Centennial project was discussed again at yesterday afternoon's council meeting with members of the Centennial committee and the board of trade.

The two projects talked over were a wading pool in the Memorial Park Playground at West Summerland and the addition of a room for the West Summerland branch of the Okanagan Regional Library to the proposed new Health Centre.

Jim Pantou of Kelowna, regional director of the Recreation Commission, and of the Centennial, was asked to give his opinion on wading pools. Mr. Pantou pointed out that they are fine if properly built, kept clean, and supervised when in use. He thought that "good library facilities were almost an essential."

Gerry Hallquist had been in touch with Enderby people who are enthusiastic about their wading pool, and gave estimates as to cost. Mr. Hallquist said, "The town won't be getting any smaller," and went on to say that he thought the pool would be used a great deal by small children in the area when it was not convenient to take them to the lake.

K. M. Blagborne and S. A. MacDonald both mentioned the drainage problem involved since water is about 18 inches below the surface in certain places in the park. This difficulty could be overcome but would add to the cost of the pool, Mr. Blagborne said.

The suggestion is to make the pool 30 feet by 40 feet with a cement walk surrounding it and grass outside the walk. It would need to be fenced to keep dogs out and to prevent pollution in other ways. Supervision whenever in use was thought to be essential. Filling and draining each time used was another fact.

Councillor W. B. Powell thought there should be room adjoining for a swimming pool to be built in the future as the town grows.

Councillor N. Holmes suggested that the centennial money be split with part of it used for the pool and part for the library, since the pool is not a large expense.

Finally a committee consisting of Gerry Hallquist, K. M. Blagborne and Cecil Wade was appointed to visit places in the Okanagan where there are wading pools and bring back a report as to construction and cost. Some members of the council

Park Litter Deplored By Councillor N. Holmes

N. H. Anderson Wins Honors

Norman H. Anderson, who was at the entomology lab last summer and will return soon, has been recognized for his outstanding scholarship by being listed on the winter term scholastic honor roll at Oregon State college.

To be eligible for honor roll listing, students must make at least a 3.5 grade point average, with 4 points equalling straight A grades.

Anderson, a graduate student majoring in entomology, was one of 71 students who made straight A grades. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Anderson of Langley and is a 1950 graduate of Langley high school.

Conciliation Officer Named

John C. Sherlock of Kelowna has been appointed as conciliation officer by the department of labor in the dispute between the municipal council and the IBEW over recent demands by the Union.

Summerland council at first refused a wage increase but since has offered five cents an hour across the board and is awaiting a reply from the IBEW. The union asked for a hike of approximately 59 cents an hour across the board.

thought the pool could be built with other funds, and the money used for the library as a complete Centennial project and marked as such.

The Centennial project does not have to be decided until the end of the year and would not be undertaken until 1958 whatever the decision reached.

Councillor N. Holmes regretted at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting that the Memorial Park Playground at West Summerland is often littered with papers following the lunch hour, left by school children who go there at noon.

This matter is to be taken up with the chairman of the Parks' Board. A suggestion was made that a patrol system by students be instituted similar to that used to control traffic, so that lunch papers are not strewn all over the grounds.

A copy of the letter sent to the Parks' Board is being sent to the board of school trustees.

Fall Beginners To Register Soon

John Cooke, principal of the Elementary schools, has announced that shortly after Easter grade one registration forms will be sent out to parents. It is hoped that these will be filled out early so that plans can be made for September classes.

Mr. Cooke hopes that parents who have a child with any known physical defect that requires observation or treatment, will let that be known to him, so that necessary care may be taken of the child.

Children who will be six when school opens on September 4 are eligible to attend school this fall. Parents are asked to fill out a form for a child who will be six by the end of November and Mr. Cooke says that he, or she, will be accepted if there is the necessary accommodation.

Help is being obtained from Mrs. F. M. Stewart, supervisor of the Jack and Jill kindergarten, and from Miss Betty Ferris, PHN, in finding out how many children will be commencing school this fall.

Kelowna Choir Here Thursday

A special inter-church choir of some 30 voices will sing in the Baptist Church on Thursday evening, April 25. Their program is a cantata, "Immortality" by Stoltz, and starts at 8 p.m.

Organist is Walter Bresch; pianist, Mrs. W. Goerzer; and director, I. K. Epp. Mrs. R. Wood and Mrs. A. A. Aichelle are the soprano soloists and W. Goerzer, and B. Patterson, tenor and bass soloists, respectively.

The choir is being brought to Summerland by the Couples' Club of the Baptist Church.

Twenty to Attend Gideon Convention

The Penticton and Summerland Gideon Camps are hosts this weekend (Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 26-28) for the B.C. Zone 3 annual convention. This zone includes camps from Whitehorse in the Yukon, through the interior to the Kootenays. The Auxiliary to the Gideons meets at this time also.

One of the highlights of the convention will be the Saturday evening banquet meeting in the Prince Charles Hotel with Gideon George Abbott of Vancouver as guest speaker. Gideon Hugh Coldridge the general secretary for Western Canada will be present. This banquet meeting is open to the general public and tickets may be obtained from any local Gideon.

Sunday is the climax of the convention, which is recognized in the area as Gideon Sunday. Many local churches will have Gideons as guest speakers at their services, to give an account of the Gideon Stewardship. The convention concludes with a Fellowship luncheon aboard the Sicomous at noon Sunday.

Mrs. Ed. Danallanko of Summerland will be a soloist at the convention.

Those who will attend from Summerland are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wellwood, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Manning, Mr. and Mrs. V. Durnin, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Milne, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Cashman, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Danallanko, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bloomfield, Mr. and Mrs. B. Farrow, Mr. and Mrs. E. Miller.

Gifts were on a table under a decorated umbrella, and a tea table from which delicious refreshments were served was centred with a little school-house.

St. Stephen's Church Setting for Weitzel-Carlisle Easter Wedding

West Vancouver and Vancouver Island share interest with West Summerland in the wedding of Constance Marie, younger daughter of Mrs. Muriel Carlisle of West Vancouver and the late Thomas W. Carlisle and Daryl Hugh Weitzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Snow of Summerland.

The marriage was solemnized on April 20 at 7.30 p.m. in St. Stephen's Anglican Church which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, with a variety of spring flowers, tall pastel candles and Easter lilies adorning the altar.

Rev. A. A. T. Northrup officiated at the double ring ceremony, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother T. W. Carlisle. Miss Marjorie Campbell sang "The Lord's Prayer," and during the signing of the register "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Miss Barbara Baker at the organ.

Gleaming white satin sweeping into a train fashioned the wedding gown of the lovely bride, while the tight fitting bodice featured a net yoke with soft chantilly lace ruffles and similar lace ruffles edged the lily point sleeves. The full skirt was caught here and there with sweetheart bows and sprays of lily-of-the-valley. Her train length embroidered Brussels net veil cascaded from a scalloped seed pearl headdress, while her bouquet of pink and white rosebuds was outlined with dainty sprays of lily-of-the-valley.

The three bridal attendants were Mrs. Keith Seale of Calgary, matron of honour, sister of the bride, Miss Janet Naylor and Miss Wilda Lane, both of Vancouver, as bridesmaids. A portrait gown of iridescent blue taffeta with contrasting yellow picture hat and gloves, was chosen by the matron of honour. The bridesmaids chose identical nylon net gowns in shades of coral and turquoise with gloves and coronet headdresses entone. All the attendants carried bouquets of spring flowers.

Robert Weitzel was his brother's best man and the ushers were Gilbert Jacobs and Donald Cristante.

As the bridal couple left the church they passed through a guard of honour, formed by the senior girls' basketball team which the principals had coached.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the IOOF Hall, West Summerland, where guests were received by Mrs. Carlisle, mother of the bride, who was gowned in a rose beige lace and net dress with accessories of pink and beige, and corsage in shades of pink. The groom's mother, Mrs. C. B. Snow wore a two piece suit dress of beige boucle with straw coloured hat and beige accessories and corsage of yellow and bronze.

Toast to the bride was proposed by A. K. McLeod and the reply was given by the groom. Mrs. D. A. Jay, aunt of the bride and Mrs. W. G. Snow, aunt of the groom, poured at the reception. Serviteurs were Miss Pat Crickmay, cousin of the bride and Misses Sheila Bennison, Edna Glaser, Ruby Gronlund, Ruth Gronlund, Elsie Karlstrom, Anne Emery, Mitze Jomari, Carole Hackman, Marny Bleasdale, and Rosalie Hoffman, all members of the basketball team. The lovely three-tiered wedding cake had been made by the bride's mother. During the evening Miss Marjorie Campbell sang "Because" accompanied by Miss Barbara Baker at the piano.

Miss L. Uytterhagen Given Shower Party

On Wednesday evening, April 17, Miss Juanita Ketter entertained at her home on Prairie Valley Road in honor of Miss Loretta Uytterhagen who is to be married on May 4 in The Church of the Holy Child to Ed Martin.

The bride-to-be was asked to sit in a special chair with streamers from it to the ceiling. A decorated umbrella in front of her, and a table beside her, held many lovely gifts, prettily wrapped.

After they were all opened and admired games were enjoyed and the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Frank Ketter, served delicious refreshments.

Other guests included Mrs. Joe Uytterhagen, Mrs. Herb Blumhagen, Mrs. Jack Howard, Mrs. Nora Wakefield, Mrs. Clara Moberg, Mrs. Leon Schepens, Mrs. Eric Karlstrom, Mrs. Frank Deitrich, Mrs. Ron Andall, Mrs. Peter Schramm, Mrs. Ed Martin, Mrs. George Braniff, Mrs. Jack Wilson, Miss Beverley Dowds and Miss Pearl Wakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith

Miss Shirley Wilson, George Smith Exchange Vows in Lovely Ceremony

The United Church in West Summerland was the setting on Saturday, April 13, for the lovely afternoon wedding of Miss Hila-Mae Shirley Wilson of Naramata and George Douglas Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith.

Rev. C. O. Richmond officiated at the 4 p.m. ceremony, as the bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Douglas H. Hill.

Amidst spring flowers, the bride looked charming in a gown of imported Chantilly lace and net over taffeta, featuring a floor-length skirt fashioned with wide panels of lace and a fitted bodice of lace styled with a scalloped off-the-shoulder neckline finished with a pointed, stand-up collar. A lace half-cap outlined with seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of illusion net, and she carried a cascading bouquet of pink and white carnations. Her only jewellery was a pair of tiny pearl earrings.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Garnet Grimaldi of Penticton as matron-of-honor, Mrs. Philip Salting of Naramata as bridesmaid, and petite Miss Jeanette Hill as flowergirl. Mrs. Grimaldi wore a ballerina-length gown of coral colored nylon net over taffeta with a white flower headdress and white accessories and she carried a cascading bouquet of pale yellow narcissi and jonquils. Mrs. Salting's gown also ballerina-length, fashioned in pale blue net with a tiered skirt and a matching headdress. Her accessories were white and she carried a cascading bouquet of deeper yellow narcissi and jonquils. Miss Hill wore a dainty blue dress with matching headband and white slippers and gloves, and her flowers were pink roses with cascading ribbons.

Best man for the groom was Garnet Grimaldi of Penticton and ushering were Larry Lemke and Victor Smith.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Arnold Pedersen of Naramata sang "Because."

Following the wedding, over 90 guests gathered at the IOOF hall for the reception. Spring flowers decorated the tables and the bride's table was beautifully appointed. It was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake, and pale pink candles in silver holders and bowls of daffodils completed the arrangement. Receiving the guests were the bridal party, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith. Major A. H. Grant of Naramata gave the toast to the bride to which the groom responded and the toast to the attendants was given by the best man. Friends of the bride assisting in serving were Miss Rosemary Partridge, Miss Sharon Hill, Miss Iris Hill and Miss Anne Day.

For the honeymoon trip by car to the U.S.A., the new Mrs. Smith donned a dove grey tweed suit with a fleck of pink and turquoise, pink accessories and a corsage from the wedding bouquet.

On their return the happy couple will reside in West Summerland.

Guests were present from Naramata, Penticton and Summerland.

Nat May Speaks on Spring Care of Lawns at Horticultural Meeting

United Church WA Shower, April 27

At the Summerland United Church W.A. meeting on April 15, Mrs. W. F. Ward and Mrs. J. Marshall were appointed to convene the Bazaar Shower tea being held in the church hall on April 27. A personal invitation to attend this tea is being sent to all ladies of the congregation.

Included as part of the devotional "Ministries of Love," led by Mrs. L. Wright, was an inspirational Easter poem, "Mary Magdalene."

Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, Mrs. S. W. Feltham, Mrs. E. Brinton, Mrs. A. J. McKenzie, Mrs. G. Washington and Mrs. C. Campbell attended the Presbytery W.A. Spring Rally at Vernon, April 5. Mrs. Wilcox and Mrs. McKenzie attended the Conference WA in Chilliwack on March 21 and 22.

A donation of preserved fruit and baby wear was delivered to the United Church Home for Girls in Burnaby. In addition, several boxes of good used clothing were turned over to the local Hungarian Relief Committee.

Members were requested to bring along their coupons and used Christmas cards to the May meeting.

A busy round was reported by the visiting committee, with a total of 19 calls being made, as well as flowers taken to several shut-ins.

Six WA members offered to supply transportation to and from night school for two Hungarian couples in Summerland, for the following month.

Following the Mizpah benediction, tasty refreshments were enjoyed with Mrs. Colin Campbell as convener.

E. H. Bennett reported on the Okanagan Valley central Horticultural meeting when the local Horticultural Society met on Friday night in the Anglican Parish Hall. There was a suggestion from Vernon, Mr. Bennett said, that more district displays be held probably in Kelowna. No opinion was given here until more is heard about the project.

Nat May's Timely Topics was on the care of lawns. Mr. May said to cut the lawn short the first spring cutting, then rake and fertilize. For setting out shrubs in burlap bags, he said to open them at the top, break the hard clay, if any, on the roots, but it is not necessary to remove the bag.

In the parlor show: Easter arrangements, Mrs. E. C. Bingham was first, Mrs. Donald Orr, second; for the bowl of catkins and spring flowers, Mrs. E. M. Hookham, first, Miss Doreen Tait, second. Next month's parlor show will be a spring flower show with nine or ten classes.

Dr. James Marshall won the door prize, a daphne bush donated by Wm. May.

Wm. Gallop spoke on polyethylene covering in greenhouses, not recommending it for the whole house, but as a covering for flats. He showed how to make improvised hotcaps from plastic bags and how to disbud mums to make them branch out.

Two pictures obtained from UBC were shown by J. E. Britton, one on vegetable growing and one on landscape gardening.

Mrs. Gordon Rithie and Mrs. W. F. Ward served refreshments.

Varied Activities of Women's Institute

During the business meeting of the WI on Friday afternoon, Mrs. L. W. Rumball was in the chair.

Mrs. V. Charles reported that another shipment of 100 knitted squares for Hungarian blankets had been sent in and Mrs. R. M. White received a prize from the Women's Voluntary Service. The Institute wishes to thank Mrs. White and Mrs. Geo. Allen for their generous donations to this project.

Work on the Tweedsmuir Competition entries was reported progressing well and only a few items are still required for PNE exhibits.

The annual District Rally will be held at Oyama, Thursday, May 2. Mrs. L. W. Rumball will act as delegate and 15 members plan to attend. Resolutions which will come up at the rally were discussed and the delegate instructed how to vote on them. Two resolutions were submitted by Summerland. One asks that trading stamps be barred from B.C., the other asks that yard goods have a label stating type of fibre used and the percentage.

Summerland council has raised the stand-by fee for volunteer firemen on Sundays and holidays from $1.00 to $2.00.

Auditors' Report

Kelowna, April 5th, 1957

To the Chairman and Members, Board of School Trustees, School District No. 77 (Summerland), Summerland, B.C.

We have examined the Balance Sheet of School District No. 77 (Summerland) as at December 31st, 1956, and the Statements of Surplus, Revenue and Expenditure and Receipts and Disbursements for the year ended on that date and have obtained all information and explanations we have required. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion the accompanying Balance Sheet and Statements of Surplus, Revenue and Expenditure and Receipts and Disbursements are properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the School District's affairs as at December 31st, 1956, and the results of its operations for the year ended on that date, according to the best of our information, the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the School District.

BOWLING NEWS

By GLENN FELL

The ladies finished their league with a flurry of activity and much hilarity. When the activity ceased the results were as follows:

Hangovers	5285
Comics	4769
Headaches	4656
Can-Cans	4292

The Hangovers win the ladies' league trophy and a social evening is planned at Betty Had-drell's on April 30th when the winning team will receive their trophies. The members of the team are Kay Smith, Joyce Turk, Lil Renkel, Adeline Frazer and Mary MacKay. Kay Smith took double honors by bowling a 316 for the high single.

and a 677 for the high three. Incidentally, Kay also has the distinction of having the high average (being 177). Congratulations Kay!

As a special item this week I would like to report that Summerland was well represented at the Okanagan Bowling Playoffs at Armstrong last Sunday. Summerland was represented by Don Clark, George Smith, Ashley Austin, Bill Austin and Ivan Austin. The boys came in fourth with Kelowna, Penticton and Revelstoke ahead of them. Incidentally, their first game with the Penticton team was a close one — they lost by only thirty points! All in all, I think they deserve a pat on the back for a job well done!

Weather being what it is — and results so far being what they are, I'm as happy that we won't be opening the ball season in Summerland until a week Sunday, May 5, to be exact.

This isn't baseball weather — not for me anyway. Baseball is a hot weather game and this starting the season before the snow is off the tops of the hills is for the birds — I welcomed that rainfall which cancelled out the baseball opener here more than a week back.

I think baseball would command a lot more fan support and make more money all round if the season was started later and finished earlier.

Any ball club should spend at least four weeks training before they open for the paying customers. Fans shouldn't have to pay to see out of condition athletes getting into the groove.

But with the Summerland Macs having a bye for next Sunday and with the calendar registering May, Summerland's big opener scheduled for Sunday, May 5, Vernon playing here, should make for a slam-bang opener.

In case you haven't heard the Macs went down 9-5 against Oliver last Sunday.

But it's early in the season — in fact as I have been complaining up ahead, it's too early.

In condemning early baseball we can also condemn too late hockey. Here they are just playing off the Allan Cup finals. Again it appears that the West got a raw deal. Those Spokane Flyers will have to be really good to absorb the long layover in the humid east and win the Allan Cup.

Somewhere along the line there was a lot of mismanagement. Playoffs out west are rushed without teams being given a chance for a reasonable breather between series, and then the western champions have to sit back and wait for two weeks.

I'm sure pulling for Spokane to win that Allan Cup, but if they do they'll be miracle men.

BLOSSOM THINNING OF PEACHES

The acute shortage of help will mean that all possible labour saving angles will be employed this year.

Thinning represents a big item in the labour cost of producing peaches. Thinning can be speeded up and the period of thinning extended by employing blossom thinning techniques.

With peaches, thinning can be started as early as the pre-pink stage if the brush method of removing the bloom is adopted. At this stage of development the peach flower-buds are showing pink tips and are swelled up to the size of a pea. They are loosely attached and can be easily brushed or rubbed off.

Various techniques have been developed for removing the buds. Among the most popular are the use of brushes made from apple prunings bound together like a witch's broom — the use of a wire claw made from unravelling a wire cable and also the simple use of a gloved hand.

Because of the possibility of later injury to the developing peach and of the greater capacity of the tree to size fruit which has been blossom thinned, the flower buds are not spaced out to the extent that would be necessary when thinning in May or June. In fact it has been found that when about 75 per cent of peach bloom is removed this gives sufficient size and leaves a margin of safety for frost and insect injury which may occur later on.

Blossom thinning of peaches may be carried out from the pre-pink stage until the full pink is reached. Once the flowers are opened and the fruit is setting the blossom becomes much more firmly attached making its removal quite difficult.

The speed with which the season opens up will have a bearing on how much of the peach crop can be blossom thinned. If a hot spell comes at the pre-pink stage the buds may go from the early pink to the bloom stage in less than a week but if cool weather prevails as much as ten days to two weeks of pre-bloom thinning can be done.

Your Horticultural Office is prepared to give demonstrations to growers who are interested in this technique.

BADMINTON OVER FOR THE SEASON

The senior badminton club held an end-of-the-season social evening on Wednesday of last week when Naramata players joined with the local group.

There were plenty of games for entertainment and the pleasant occasion concluded following serving of delicious refreshments.

LEGION CRRIBBAGE ENDS SEASON MAY 1

Lois Hepperle won the ladies' first prize at the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary cribbage party on Wednesday evening in the Legion Hall. Mrs. J. Minshall took the consolation.

Mr. McPhail topped the men and E. Molvin was low and the draw was won by W. C. McCutcheon.

The last games of the series will be played on May 1.

Successful Season for Figure Skaters

The Summerland Figure Skating Club has finished operations for this season.

Of the 66 members enrolled 18 have passed their preliminary test; one has passed first test one has passed second test.

The last group to pass preliminary tests included Dianne Hannah, Vonda Wade, Diane Gillard, Jane Solly, Linda Munro, Janet Munro, Lorraine Egle, Alynne Munro.

Teresa Keys passed the first test and Leona Keys passed the second test.

Mrs. Jeanne Ross Beaton, instructor, is very pleased also, with the progress made by all figure skaters during the season.
