

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Saw a seagull this a.m. They do say that when seagulls fly far inland that there's a big storm kicking up at sea.

I don't believe that one -- I've watched seagulls in calm and in storm and it always seems to me that the bigger a storm the better the seagulls like it.

And of course any mention of seagulls, or the sight of one, always reminds me of Sammy, and a trip through the hole-in-the-wall.

Sammy was a pre-war friend:

He came into our life one evening in the Gulf of Georgia. The good ship "Dixie" with its one lugger engine was chugging for harbor. The wife was brewing tea below and I was cleaning the evening's catch of blueback. Seagulls, scores of them, were following in the wake of the boat, screaming and swooping.

Seagulls are uncanny creatures -- you can be chugging along on an empty sea, nothing but sea, sky and distant mountains, not a gull in sight, then start cleaning fish and seemingly, out of nowhere, come the gulls.

This night, one seagull was snapping the innards out of the air almost before they had been thrown and finally this same gull swooped down, and settled on the stern, and demanded to be fed.

I called the wife out to see him and finally he came and took a small grilse right out of my hand.

Sammy, as we christened him, adopted us that night and although he got the best of the pickings, he took a terrific beating from the other seagulls. They were jealous of Sammy, just as a lot of humans are jealous of more favored people than themselves. While Sammy stayed deckbound on the Dixie he was safe, but when he took to the air the other gulls took after him. But Sammy was tough and always came back. Then the blueback vanished overnight and we set out for more northerly waters.

Sammy lost us, but it only took him three days to find us again and we were more than a hundred miles north of his particular stretch of saltchuck.

I have a soft spot for Sammy. Sammy flew over us like a guardian angel the night we went through the hole-in-the-wall.

We were fishing on the south side of Thornton Island. Weather forecast was for a southeaster, so I decided to run right through Welcome Pass and ride out the blow in Buccaneer Bay, a snug shelter when the wind howls in from the southeast.

I informed the first mate, cabin boy, cook, deckhand, relief helmsman, all represented in the person of my wife, that we'd head for Buccaneer Bay.

It so happened that was the day that the first packer, just out from Vancouver, had fresh meat aboard and we had brought a small roast. It was to be roast beef and Rorkshire puddin' -- a blue ribbon event when following the salmon in the Gulf of Georgia.

The wife decided to put the roast in the oven, planning things so we could eat as soon as we made anchor.

But I hadn't bargained for the westerly which was blowing when we cleared Welcome Pass. There had been a moderate westerly wind all day, but as the sun dipped it really howled and with a fair sea running it didn't take long to pile up the breakers.

I had two choices for making shelter, either run out better than a mile-and-a-half and circumnavigate the reef, or to follow the shore line and cut through a gap in the reef which fishermen call the "hole-in-the-wall."

Now the Dixie was a wallower from away back and if she's still afloat she's still a wallower like a lady. She acted contrary even when quartering the seas. She tried to turn turtle on every roll when taking them broadside, and when running with the sea she behaved worse than the worst bronco ever forked by a top cowhand.

It was the dread of taking 'em for two miles on the tail that made me decide for the rough, broadside-on but shorter route through the hole-in-the-wall.

The light was almost gone and the big waves stood out grim and angry looking -- inky black, etched with combbers of foamy white against the last angry red streaks of a stormy sunset.

I hollered to the wife to douse the fire and sit tight and swung the Dixie broadside to the seas. Over she went, so far over that the exhaust outlet was buried in the waves and the engine coughed. How I hated that portside roll, fearing every time that the engine would choke and stop and that would be curtains. I glanced aloft to see how my trolling poles and gear were standing up to the whipping see-saw and there I saw Sammy flying, mast-head high, with us.

It is an ugly, rocky shore line, and then stretching away the reef with glimpses of craggy rocks, as the waves sucked back and then following waves smashing onto the reef, hurling huge fountains of spray into the air to be whipped into smoke-like vapor by the screaming wind.

Then was the time I wished I had stayed on the bald-headed prairies and wished myself in the middle of the Sahara desert far from water of any kind.

I was scared -- good and scared -- but one thing for sure -- there was no getting out and walking home.

We rolled on in sickening lurches with the Dixie cavorting like a double-jointed snake dancing to rock and roll.

There it was, the hole-in-the-wall. It was a maelstrom of creamy lather foam. We were in the gap and then the seventh wave of the seventh wave hit us. The Dixie surged up, she rolled over, the port pole snapped against the rock. The Dixie was flung rudely to starboard -- the propeller raced as she nose-dived, the wheel spun in my hands with no bite for the rudder as the water fell away.

We didn't roll, we went into a series of vicious side to side jerks.

Above the screaming of the wind, above the pounding of my heart, I heard a tremendous crash and clatter below.

I stooped to peer down in the cabin as my wife's voice floated upward, clear as a bell.

"DAMMIT -- there goes the roast."

And so it had, that last vicious jerk as we slid out of the maelstrom into the rough, but now more serious and regular seas on the other side of the reef, had snapped loose about everything that wasn't a permanent fixture attached to the hull, bang went the oven door, out shot the roast and it ricocheted into the oily bilge under the engine.

Splattered over the cabin was the batter for the Yorkshire pudding.

The wife couldn't understand my laughing -- loss of a very special dinner was nothing to laugh at in her opinion, but then she had been down below and I don't think to this day she realizes just how close we were to cashing in our chips.

But the worst was over as I put the Dixie's tail into the wind I glanced aloft and there was Sammy still flying masthead high. He followed right into the cove, before screaming a farewell and his promise to be back the next day.

I don't know what happened to Sammy. He was with us for some time after he found us up north and then one evening I saw him for the last time high tailing due north up Johnston Strait with a big herring in his bill and with about fifty of his kind chasing after him.

And so, as I said in the beginning, I saw a seagull this a.m., and, of course, when I see a seagull I always think of Sammy, of roast beef and Yorkshire pudding and of our never-to-be-forgotten short cut through the hole-in-the-wall.

Annual Regatta Now Underway At Kelowna

The 51st annual Kelowna International Regatta kicked off last night with, of all things, an ice hockey game. Alert arena officials, sensing the wonderful possibilities of having such a game, made sure the summer figure skating mistress left the date open for them.

Intermission entertainment was provided by members of the Hawaiian troupe attending the regatta, playing in three of the four night shows and making regular appearances at the authentic Hawaiian village the regatta directors are setting up in Kelowna's beautiful city park, site of the regatta.

First afternoon of competitive events in the Ogoopogo Pool will feature the Western Canadian diving championships, with some of Canada's finest divers competing from the metre "Dr. George Athans" tower, first of its kind in Canada.

A competitive first for the regatta will be established on Wednesday, also, with Mrs. Irene Athans, former rhythmic champion conducting the first rhythmic swimming competitive events in Canada.

Open water events for Wednesday will be the western Canadian water ski championships. Official opening of the regatta, with Commodore J. E. Brown of Montreal, director of Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, sharing the spotlight with reigning Lady-of-the-Lake Pageant.

Apricot canning is in full swing at the four Summerland canneries with full crews working at all plants, Ryan Lawley, manager of the Cornwall Cannery reports that one of the largest crews in the history of the Cornwall Cannery during the apricot period, is working now.

At the beginning of the run, all canneries say the cots were small but there has been some improvement in size. The quality is good, and except for size there are no complaints about this year's cannery cots which are Blenheims, Tiltons and Sun-glos. The Moorparks are large but they are not classified for cannery use.

Tree Fruits Ltd., cut the quotas from 10 to 15 per cent in July, otherwise all canneries report they are receiving their tonnages.

Barkwills Ltd., never receive the tonnage they could use, and at times import fruit to fill their orders. This fruit, they say, is not any better than the local product but fills the gap.

The short quota has been caused in the past by lack of production and applies to all canneries.

Mr. Lawley said that the first peaches, Jubilees, arrived from Oliver on Monday morning. A fair peach crop is anticipated in Mr. Lawley's opinion; they are still a bit on the small side but may size.

At the present time the cannery pear crop is reported as excellent.

Garnett Valley Cannery is working to capacity and will not start peaches for a couple of weeks.

Milne's is working at top speed with the regular crew.

There is no shortage of labor at any cannery in Summerland this year.

Diane Durick, Nan Solly Off To World Guide Camp

Miss Diane Durick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Durick left on Friday, August 2, and Miss Nan Solly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Solly, went on Monday, August 5, to the Girl Guide Centenary World Camp. The Centenary recognizes the 100th birthday of the late Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the movement.

It is being held at Doe Lake, near Parry Sound, Ontario, and is to be attended by 1,500 girls. There will be 400 Girl Scouts from the United States, Alaska and Hawaii; 250 from 36 other countries, and the rest will be Canadian Guides.

Camp is to be held from Aug. 8-19. At the first Great Campfire, marking the opening, fagots brought from home will be put on the fire by the various representatives.

The whole camp will be divided into four "Tribes" -- Crees, Bella Coolas, Micmacs and Iroquois. Each section will have eight or nine units, and each unit will have four patrols.

Theme of the camp will be "World Fellowship".

Mrs. W. Rankine Nesbitt, Chief Commissioner for Canada, will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. D. Bruce Wilson, chairman organizing camp committee.

Among the distinguished persons attending the camp will be Countess Estelle Bernadotte, widow of Count Folk Bernadotte, nephew of the late King Gustav of Sweden.

The Summerland girls went to Kamloops to meet other B.C. Super-Continental to Emsdale, Guides and travel by the CNR Ontario.

During the camp a trip to Algonquin Park will be arranged for the Guides.

GIANT'S HEAD TRIP POPULAR

Trips by jeep to the top of Giant's Head are quite popular. Some people are taking their visitors on the tour and enjoying the wide, impressive view from the top. The trips leave from Bud's Garage at West Summerland every hour on the hour. This trip is recommended by Summerland Board of Trade.

Local residents who have never climbed Giant's Head are surprised at the splendid panorama to be seen.

An Early Morning Crash Wrecks Car

A 1955 Chev Station wagon owned by Charles William Fuller, 702 Patterson Avenue, Kelowna, is a total wreck as a result of an accident on Highway 97 at 2:30 a.m. today.

The car driven by Joseph Ulrich of Okanagan Centre was travelling north on Highway 97 when just beyond Beggs' Fruit Stand it struck the guard rail at Peach Orchard gulch, tumbling 200 feet to the bottom and stopping at the edge of the creek.

All four tires were flat, all windows broken, all fenders off.

Building Here Continues To Increase This Year

Building continues to be higher this year than last, in the number of permits issued and in estimated cost, according to the statement issued at the end of July by R. F. Angus, building inspector.

There have been 88 permits given out during the first seven months of 1957, sixteen more than in the same period last year, at an estimated cost of $275,680.00 as against the estimated $234,120.00 cost of the 70 last year, or $21,560.00 more than in 1956.

During the month of July five new dwelling permits amounted to $41,680.00; two in the commercial and institutional class were for a total of $18,000.00; and four alterations added up to $5,100.00. Total for July is 11 amounting to $64,780.00 compared with 14 in July last summer, totalling $51,000.00.

1957 Peach Festival Bigger And Better

VERRIER'S MEATS BACK TO GRANVILLE ST.

W. Verrier has moved his shop from Pandor Road where he has been located during the time several business places on Granville St. were rebuilt. Mr. Verrier has returned to the main street and is open for business. Verrier's Meats is now located in the former drug store, in larger quarters with good accommodation.

Peach Festival time is nearing -- next week, August 15, 16, and 17, will see one of the most spectacular Penticton and District Festivals ever staged.

The Rotary Industrial show is reported to be not only bigger but much more varied.

Spectacular crowning ceremony to be staged in the Peach Bowl of Queen's Park on Thursday night 7-8 p.m. will officially open the big event.

This year will also see the revival of a popular feature of the Penticton Peach Festival, the Grandstand Show, a spot where everyone will want to reserve a place.

Here you will meet the genial Master of Ceremonies--Howard Hardin, whose satirical impressions, humor and juggling acts will keep the show in high gear. He will be introducing troupers from all parts of the entertaining field, including Wilbur Hall and Renee, an outstanding musical comedy team who will entertain the show with their ready wit and thrilling music; Al Hammond and Company featuring the acrobatic father and two boys, age six and eight; the Four Kings with a Teator-board and

Kiwanis Street Carnival Set For Saturday Night

The annual Kiwanis Street Carnival is to be held on Saturday night from 7 p.m. and promises to have interest for everyone. Pony and Trump giraffe rides have been arranged for the children, as well as a fish pond and children's games, one of which is "Knock The Cat Over".

Weight guessing will be by "the mad Frenchman", who has been surprisingly accurate in former years. Men will enjoy games of skill planned to test them and there will be darts and other sport of this kind, with Bingo going on continuously.

Vegetables are to be sold and the Kiwanis Club is having a stall of home cooking to help out those who have weekend guests.

Summerland Band will be playing to add to the carnival air, and late in the evening draws will be made for the tent, two wool Ayres' blankets and the General Electric pop-up toaster.

Permission has been obtained from the Municipal Council to rope off the street from the Perry's to Laddlaw's corner, the area in which the event will be held.

the villager and the city dweller out here. There is nothing at home to which it can be compared.

So far all of our travelling has been in South India but already we have seen something of Indian Mountains as we have been to the Nilgiris or Green Mountains for three seasons. These rise some 8,000 feet up from the plains in almost perpendicular hills. Ootacamund the largest city, is at 7300 feet up so you can imagine the vast change we experience going from our present location, which is at sea level with the Bay of Bengal about half a mile away, to holiday in 'Goty'. The year after next we hope to go to Darjeeling in northern India and perhaps even get a look at Everest which is visible from near there. Maybe I'll remember to write you a letter from Darjeeling and share with you the experience of seeing the Himalayas.

Thanks very much for continuing to send the Review. It is good to keep in touch with Summerland for although we were there for only a brief time we fell quite in love with the place and with the people who were so good to us. The members of Summerland Baptist Church still correspond with us and of course our church membership is still there. May we through The Review, pass on our good wishes to all our Summerland friends. Our new address below.

Sincerely yours,

Rev. K. Knight To New Mission

Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Knight Baptist missionaries in India formerly resident in Summerland where Mr. Knight was the pastor of the Baptist Church, are moving from Pheemunipatnam, Visakha District. Mr. Knight wrote The Review recently to tell of the change of address. The letter, which will be of interest to many, follows in part:

"Another reason for dropping you a line is to tell you that our address will need changing."

Recently one of our couples had to fly home to Canada due to illness. It is highly unlikely that they will ever get back. Their going has meant that someone must go to their station, and plug the gap. We've been elected to do so and that means we're now in the midst of packing. Our new field of endeavour will be somewhat larger in responsibility than this present area. One of our tasks will be to see just where we can help out in the leadership of ten churches. Some of our time will be spent in teaching and training pastors most of whom have seminary training very similar to seminary training at home. A good part of the time will be spent in training Christian laymen. An interesting aspect of the work will be among caste Christians and Hindus who wish to learn more about Christ. All of this work presupposes that we will be able to express ourselves intelligently in Telegu, the musical language of this area which is called the "Italian of the East." I can tell you from personal experience that some of the sounds we produce as we learn are distinctly unmusical. It is a real sense of achievement when we begin to converse and comprehend.

Our stay in India has only been a short one but we have already begun to see something of the almost unbelievable contrasts of this country. For the most of the year we spend our time in and among villages here in Andhra State. This has to be seen to be appreciated. So many of the people are very poor and so illiterate that conditions in many villages are almost unbelievable. Sanitation is unknown and disease and filth go hand in hand. Surprisingly enough other villages will be nicely laid out and well-kept. It is during our holidays in the hill stations that we see the other side of India. Seeing such cities as Madras, Bangalore, Mysore and Ootacamund give one a look at the modern, wealthier side of India. In the hill resorts the number of chauffeur-driven cars is increasing year by year. Rajahs are not the only wealthy people today, but industrial and business people are now reaping the profits of modern methods of distribution and production. Seeing beautiful homes, cars and Indians in western dress makes one realize just how big the gap is between

A Welcome Judgment...

The Boa Constrictor which is the Teamsters' Union has found the small federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union somewhat indigestible. The teamsters did, in fact, swallow the federation whole, but thanks in large measure to a small group of determined men and women, "rebels" they were named, the Boa Constrictor was never quite comfortable with his meal, for that same group acted like Kipling's sagacious mariner who on finding himself -- "truly inside the Whale's warf, dark, inside cupboards, he stumped and he jumped and he thumped and he bumped and pranced and he danced and he banged and he elanged and he hit and he bit and he danced the hornpipes where he shouldn't."

And so it was that the powerful Teamsters' Union swallowed the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers, but the "rebels" refused to accept the swallowing -- they challenged the teamsters -- they carried the issue to the courts and there in our courts it was proven once again that in the eyes of the law all men are equal. The teamsters lost the legal battle with the handing down of a judgment by Mr. Justice Maclean in which he declared the merger null and void.

The Fabulous Irishman...

When Governor Furcolo of Massachusetts held a breakfast for the visiting Lord Mayor of Dublin he invited a Father Manton to offer the invocation. We feel deeply indebted to Walter A. Dales Writing Services for publishing the text of this invocation in the June issue of The Station Break. This is as bright and witty a piece of writing as we have seen for a long time and we couldn't resist the impulse to share it with our readers. Since this toast was delivered Robert Briscoe has been replaced as Lord Mayor of Dublin, the first Jew to hold that high office in the city's thousand year history.

"Almighty God, Our Good and Gracious Father, we find ourselves a bit bewildered this morning. You know that the first President of the Irish Republic was a Protestant; the present Lord Mayor of Dublin is a Jew; the Lakes of Killarney belong to a Yank and the historians keep hissing in our ears that St. Patrick was a Frenchman.

"Help us this morning to hold high the brimming cup of hospitality to a good and great man and to greet him not as a stranger but as a treasured friend. And while he is over here, make him in the best sense of the word a fair-weather friend, with none of those "soft" days they sometimes have in Ireland, where, of course, it never really rains -- those are only silver harp strings coming down -- just a few drops of holy water sprinkled on the windshield. Deign to give him serene and mellow weather so that he will go back as bright and fresh as the colors in the Book of Kells:

"And, dear God, stay the man up with monumental patience as he heroically endures a hundred toastmasters who will gaily imagine that the very fillings in their teeth are fragments of the Blarney Stone, as they ring all the obvious changes on a Jewish Mayor of Dublin. Help the poor man not to be 'banquet weary' of all these glib attempts to paint a green beard on Moses, or by the end he will be seeing little Lepra Cohens.

"Deliver him, O Lord, this real Irishman, who risked his life for the land he loved, from any professional Irishman with an angle. These are mercifully very few, but spare him from these, the sham shamrocks, the bogus bog-trotters, the synthetic Sinn Feiners and especially the psycho-Patricks who love too loudly through a green base an Ireland that never was.

"Instead, let him meet our wonderful best, the many genuine practical people who appreciate that the purpose of this trip is not merely the wearin' of the green, but the sharin' of the green, by touring in Ireland and by trading with Ireland.

"Finally, dear God, bless this man, our friend, and this meal, our food, and today let the blessing come down even on the English muffins and the orange juice, so that having broken our fast at the top of the mornin' we may rise thanking You from the bottom of our hearts, Amen."

Hawaiian Singers To Add Colorful Note To Penticton Peach Festival

This year's Penticton and District Peach Festival, August 15, 16, 17, will have as a major attraction a group of 12 Hawaiian entertainers, singers and dancers and musicians who will perform continuously on the Peach Festival grounds. The presentation of this group in Penticton was made possible through the courtesy of Canadian Pacific Airlines, and Hawaiian Visitors' Bureau.

Pauline Kekahuna has been a professional entertainer for the past fifteen years. She is a comic dancer and musical leader of the group. Her group played at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel and was in Japan to entertain the Armed Forces.

Emily De Los Santos has been a professional entertainer for the past ten years and toured Japan with Pauline Kekahuna's group. Napau Stevens Poire is overall leader and emcee and is an authority on Hawaiian lore.

Gordon H. Poire manages the touring players, coordinating their activities and managing construction and display work.

Elizabeth Lovely Loui plays any stringed instrument and is known as the foremost female Hawaiian steel guitar player.

She is also a vocalist and composer.

Lani Rodrigues is a dance director and teacher and has her own hula group.

Victoria Rodrigues is a vocalist on "Hawaii Calls" and is the foremost authority on Hawaiian music. She coaches Pauline Kekahuna's group and arranges music.

The Royal Hawaiian Maids travelling to Penticton are four Hawaiian girls trained by Lani Rodrigues and members of her hula troupe.

We knew we had a "honey" of a car

BUT...

... this year's Pontiac has even us running out of praise for the good looks that have put it at the top as Canada's most wanted car. Could be good styling always comes out on top.
Remember when all the male fashion magazines were full of pink shirts? Store windows blushed pink on every side and, for a little while at least, shirt dealers were very happy. Then the clearance sales began and dealers tried everything they could to dispose of the pink shirts that people weren't buying any more. One more fancy fad had come and gone.
We think there's a moral in this that applies to the car business, too. And when we take a look at Pontiac's sales record this year, we're sure of it. Canadians everywhere appreciate Pontiac's quiet, graceful beauty, the absence of flash and gaudiness. They recognize and appreciate the sort of workmanship in every detail that only General Motors can put into a car. They like the friendly treatment and the efficient service they find whenever they deal with a Pontiac dealer.
But see for yourself as you drive. Just count the Pontiacs... and you'll agree the rising tide of Pontiac popularity is turning into a veritable torrent.

Flichel Hurls Macs To Double Win Over Kamloops Okonots

KAMLOOPS A young right-hander, Morley Flichel, put the hex on Kamloops Okonots Sunday, blanking the Kamloops club twice, 4-0 and 2-0 as the Summerland Macs took both ends of a double-header.

Flichel limited the Oks to three hits in the seven-inning opener and stingily doled out

Oliver Juniors Default Sunday

The Summerland Junior baseball team won a game on Sunday by default, when the Oliver Juniors failed to show.

As a result of their action the Oliver team has been suspended by league president, J. Sheeley.

If they have a good explanation and deposit another default fee with the league secretary, they will be allowed to complete the schedule. Play-offs are due to start on the 25th of August.

In other league action third place Naramata defeated second place Pentiction 13-6.

five in the nine-inning second game.

The twin victory moved the fifth-place Macs to within 30 percentage points of fourth-spot Okonots, whose record is now nine wins and 20 losses. Macs have an 8-10 win-loss mark.

Len Gatin was the hard-luck loser of the first game, hurling three-hit ball, but having three runs score on him in the first inning on a hit, an error and an interference play.

Flichel, whose control was excellent, and whose change-up worked well against the hard-swinging Okonots, was the surprise choice for mound duty in the second game.

The young right-hander handcuffed the Kamloops club for five innings, allowing only two walks in that time.

Summerland shortstop Al Hooker turned in a sensational performance, forming an iron curtain across the hole.

Over Production Cling Peaches Reported in U.S.A.

day by Dr. E. W. Braun, chief of the Department's Bureau of Markets. He said the cling peach crop will be about 680,000 tons, a record and too many to be used. Last year's tonnage was 635,000.

Braun said consideration had been given to turning the excess peaches into vinegar or brandy but that it wouldn't be very economical. He said there may be more surplus trouble ahead because new peach groves are being set out.

featuring the ten lovely young misses seeking the honor this year, and set in the Oriental splendor of the 'Arabian Nights'.

The skiing championships will continue for Thursday and Friday afternoons, with the Pacific North West swimming and diving events, taking place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The regatta parade featuring ten Canadian and American bands, as well as a host of floats and comedy routines, takes place on Thursday at 6 p.m.

Night shows Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will be professional vaudeville, staged under the stars on the floating stage in the blue Lake Okanagan.

The shows, while featuring the same entertainers, will be called "Starlight Varieties", "Kelownian Capers" and "Aqua Rhythms of 1957."

Headed by master of ceremonies Howard Hardin, the shows will boast such entertainers as the Four Knights, Capitol recording stars; Wilbur Hall and Renee, Musical Comedians, and the Hawaiian group under Polly Kekahuna, most of whom have entertained on name programs in the Islands.

Water ballet numbers, staged in striking color with effective use of black lighting, will be staged on all four nights by a group of Kelowna girls, trained by Joan McKinley of Kelowna and Hollywood.

Midway rides, free park concerts, band music, drill teams, puppet shows, pole acts, armed services displays and industrial exhibits will all augment the afternoon and evening shows, rounding out the entertainment.

Kelowna Orioles and Penticton Red Sox, the two leading teams in the Okanagan-Mainline Baseball League, will stage an exhibition ball game in Kelowna's Elks Stadium on Friday night at 8 p.m. to give more sports flavor to the shows.

Grand finale of the show is the Lady-of-the-Lake Ball on Saturday night in the Aqua Ball Room by the lake. The city dances that night, with competitors' dances, kiddies' dances and open dances.

And for the die-hards, "Hang-over Breakfasts" on Sunday morning are order of the day.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

This said that when a man feels that what he wants to do is right, then he should go ahead and do it. To that advice should, however, be added the warning that, if it turns out to be not right, but wrong, then he should be prepared to pay the penalty.

For example there was the driver of the car, Vancouver bound last week, who below Hope on a stretch of road over which the sorry Hon. P. A. Gaglar must be positively weeping, decided to pass a small caravan of cars joggling and jiggling along at a bone-shaking 20-miles-per-hour.

Mused the driver these people can't ever have driven over a gravel road before — they can't know that it is much easier on man and vehicle to zip it up a bit.

So as the road at this point was about six traffic lanes wide, and as there was no oncoming traffic and as this particular stretch of the road was better than many a so-called first class gravel highway on the prairies, this intrepid driver swung out, stepped on the gas and breezed past the plodding caravan.

Leading the caravan was a police car. I was the man who thought he was right and who did what he thought was right — I am the man who is now preparing to pay the penalty.

A very polite constable of the RCMP informed me that I was charged with exceeding the speed limit of 20-miles-an-hour.

No argument about it. I was — but what a miserable way to get nicked and for the first time in years and years of driving.

And being at the coast I saw, of course, flocks and flocks of sea gulls and crossing Lion's Gate bridge I yearned once again for "the throb of the screw beneath me and the wide blue sea outside."

A man can have more fun and experience, more chills and thrills, in one season of commercial fishing, than most men can garner in a lifetime of city dwelling.

The unexpected, it seems, lies always around the next headland.

Like that day we chugged serenely across from Lasquita Island intending to do a spot of evening fishing in the Seymour Narrows.

It was one of those days — not a breath of wind — not a catspaw rippling the surface of the blue, blue sea under a blue, blue sky. The fish were deep and not biting.

I lay jackknifed in the cockpit, feet up on the deck, at peace with the world.

Ahead lay Cape Mudge marking the entrance to the Seymours.

Below was the first mate — doing the things that women are for everlastingly doing to make a home whether it be in the cabin of a small fishing boat, a log cabin or a mansion.

I hollered a suggestion that a mug of tea would not be unwelcome and then I must have taken forty winks.

I came to life when the boat suddenly started pitching. The calm flat blue, blue sea had given place to steep, angry waves rising almost like pyramids straight out of the water. It was strictly a local disturbance, there was no wind, but this was a tide rip.

Our little ship bounced like a Mexican jumping bean. Then a bell on the starboard pole rang. Coast fishermen have bells rigged to their trolling poles so they'll hear when a fish strikes.

"Jingle went the bell, the pole bent, I snapped in the gurdy (power gear for hauling in the lines).

"Jingle went the pole to the port — we were into fish.

I was busy, both poles were lashing furiously as it seemed that the big salmon down below were fighting to find a hook.

Suddenly there was a piercing scream from the cabin. I looked and saw a sheet of flame — the gas stove was on the rampage.

I made the cabin in a hop, skip and a jump, grabbed the flaming stove and hurled it overboard — no damage done except that with my guiding knee off the rudder the ship (this one was named the "Freelance" — had veered sharply and the fishing lines had almost crossed. The hooked salmon, of course, had a field day weaving the bobbers around the main lines.

It was a bad day — I lost my temper, I lost most of the salmon, I lost the gas stove, I lost a lot of gear and also the evening's fishing.

Altogether a lost day. Now I'm salvaging a little of that lost day in using that experience to fill this column.

Safer Boat Channels Discussed At Council

R. Pretty and G. Parker attended the council meeting on Tuesday afternoon regarding the boat channel which they have constructed north of the former's residence in Trout Creek. Summerland council has received complaints about the channel, which were forwarded to the government.

The men reported that they have written to the department of lands asking what steps are to be taken to legalize the channel. They stated that they want to comply with regulations in every way to have the channel safe and acceptable.

Mr. Pretty said that the stream drained a swampy area, eliminated a mosquito hazard and that several people use it, and that it is only three feet deep at high water time.

Councillor W. B. Powell thought that such channels constitute a danger even if shallow.

It was mentioned that the sides may be graded and it is planned to build a bridge with railings.

Reeve F. E. Aitkinson said that foreshore rights may have to be obtained, but that conditions laid down by the government would likely be acceptable to the council. Foreshore rights are obtained from federal authorities.

VOLUNTEER HELP NEEDED AT ARENA

Beacher seats are being erected in the Arena now. Work is going on during the day and in the evening. It is being speeded to finish before the Fruit Fair, August 31-September 2.

Volunteer help would be appreciated any night from 7-12 p.m. Anyone who can lend a hand is asked to do so.

Plans Made For Farmers' Market

A delegation from the board of trade attended the council meeting Tuesday afternoon asking for co-operation in planning the Fruit Fair and Farmers' Market to be held during the Labour Day weekend.

Some of the things sought were adequate temporary toilet facilities, with the suggestion that some sort of accommodation of this kind be made permanent; colored street lights and decoration of the light standards; extra lighting in the Memorial Park Playground; and closing of some of the lanes leading to the Park and Arena during the three-day period.

Councillor N. Holmes suggested that all business firms and the main streets be lighted well for the entire time of the Fair.

It is expected that at least 1,000 people will attend.

ELEVEN APPLICATIONS FOR POWER ACCEPTED

Applications for electric power were granted at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting to Mrs. A. Fetterer, L. G. McKiligan, W. M. Jenkinson, H. F. Farrow, R. P. Munro, George Stoll, W. C. McCutcheon, Mrs. K. Adams, Mrs. Grace Nisbet, F. M. Trussell and A. C. Johnson.

Domestic water application of W. M. Jenkinson was accepted.

By Alec Watt
In addition to the Flower Show which is being held in the Arena by the Summerland Horticultural Society, the 1st Annual Fruit Fair will also feature competitive classes of fruits, vegetables and poultry products. Anyone can enter this show. All that is necessary is that the produce shown be from your own garden or orchard. Exhibits must be staged by 11.30 a.m. on Saturday morning, August 31. Prize lists (lists of the classes of flowers, fruits, vegetables and poultry products which can be shown) are available from Lorne Perry's office, the Review office or the Agricultural office or at many of the stores.

It is hoped that many fruit growers, gardeners and poultry farmers will take part in the show. Besides displaying to advantage the fine products of the area it gives everyone a chance to enter into a friendly competitive show and to learn something about exhibiting in Fairs. And oh yes - there will be prizes for the 1st and 2nd in each class.

A series of articles on how to exhibit flowers, fruits and vegetables is planned for the next few issues of this paper.

The first of these on how to exhibit plates of fruit follows: HINTS ON HOW TO EXHIBIT PLATES OF FRUIT

1. Get hold of a Prize List for the show. This will tell you what local rules apply to the show. What types of fruit may be exhibited. How many fruits to a plate. Where. When. Etc. FOLLOW THE PRIZE LIST to the letter.

2. If possible get a copy of Horticultural Circular No. 50 "Exhibition Standards of Perfection" from your Horticultural office. Study this too. It has valuable information on all phases of exhibiting.

3. In showing plates of apples, pears, peaches five on a plate is the required number. Be careful not to break the stems. Pears should not be tree ripened. Use cooler or cold storage to keep early sorts prime.

Judges base their decisions on five main factors;

- (1) Fruit size.
- (2) Freedom from blemishes.
- (3) Trueness to type or form.
- (4) Colour.
- (5) Uniformity of individual fruits.

Each factor is given points according to importance. A total of 100 points is awarded for a perfect score.

In actual practice there is usually not time for the judges to score every Class but the five main factors are kept in mind all the time.

4. When showing plums, prunes and crabapples 12 to a plate are required. Prunes and plums should be shown with the natural bloom preserved, not polished off. Here again — size, colour, trueness to type, freedom from blemishes and uniformity of sample all count in the final decision.

5. FINALLY LETS STRESS THAT PRIZE LIST AGAIN!

Failure to follow the rules properly has led to the downfall of many an otherwise good exhibit. For example the Prize List calls for 12 Italian Prunes on a plate. If by accident only 11 prunes are on the plate the entry is disqualified regardless of how good the fruit is.

Tourism Benefits Noted Campsites Are Popular

Councillor N. Holmes speaking at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting said the increase in tourist trade is remarkable. He added that he has sold more frying pans this summer than any year since he has been in the hardware business.

Going into the matter more thoroughly he reported that tourists are enjoying Peach Orchard Park. Councillor Holmes visited the spot a few mornings ago and talked with campers, asking them their opinions.

Everyone thought it was a lovely place and suggested several things that might make it more attractive and convenient. One of the ideas suggested was a bulletin board, stating recreation facilities here, such as what shows were on; drives that might be taken, beaches, etc. Plug-ins for electric razors was another thought, and shower baths even if a charge were made for them. It is known that more toilet facilities are needed.

The driveway is quite dusty so that any car coming in or going out stirs a cloud of dust which drifts over food, tables, etc. An improvement would help, the visitors thought.

These ideas will be turned over to the parks' board for their consideration.

Max Ongaro In Good Condition

Max Ongaro is recovering in Kelowna Hospital from injuries received when the car in which he had been invited to ride went off the road at Westbank around midnight Saturday.

Reese Morgan Warren of 3804 West 37th, Vancouver was instantly killed in the accident when the Thunderbird convertible he was driving missed the curve at the Westbank postoffice travelling south on Highway 07. Mrs. Mary Franklin, Vancouver, the other passenger in the car, who was also in Kelowna Hospital, has returned to the coast.

The car went over the embankment. (Continued on Page 8)

Horticultural Show In Arena On August 31

Summerland Horticultural Society's 32nd annual Flower Show, originally scheduled for August 24, has been postponed until August 31, to coincide with the Board of Trade Labor Day weekend celebrations. Officials of the Horticultural Society believe that the condition of the flowers for most classes will still be good on August 31 and they urge everyone who takes an interest in gardening to obtain a copy of the prize list and make up as many entries as possible. Tips on preparing entries will be printed in a later edition of The Review. This year there will be no entry fee for exhibits.

Cash prizes of $1.00 and 50c will be given for 1st and 2nd places in all classes except the arranged basket and bowl classes, for which the prizes will be $1.50 and $1.00. There will be a special class of an arranged bowl of any kind of flowers, either wild or cultivated, for children 13 years and under. In addition to the regular 1st and 2nd prizes, 25c will be awarded to each exhibitor in this class.

The show will be staged in the Arena instead of the High School auditorium, adding still another attraction to those being arranged in the Arena for the Fruit Fair celebrations. Prize lists will be available at the District Horticulturist's office and from local merchants. How about it gardeners? Let's all support this show and help make it the biggest and best in Summerland's history.

The Hall of Flame Gas Co. Display

"The Hall of Flame," a display of the latest type of home gas appliances sponsored by Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd., and a group of appliance manufacturers and distributors will open at the Penticton Peach Festival on August 15 and will continue to three days. The show is part of the Industrial Exhibition in the Peach Festival.

"The Hall of Flame" is designed to both demonstrate and explain modern gas home heating equipment, hot water heaters, washers, dryers, incinerators and all the automatic no-effort living which natural gas can bring to the home.

A complete kitchen will be on display to the ladies. It will include built-ins of every description from space saving oven and table top burner to free standing ranges suitable for use in present kitchens which require no modernization.

For the men gas appliance dealers will feature cutaway models of automatic furnaces fired with natural gas, automatic controls showing the ease with which home temperatures can be maintained at the comfort level through the use of gas fired equipment and demonstrations of low cost high efficiency venting which in new buildings eliminates the price of chimneys.

Natural gas will be available to Penticton in a few weeks. To make the show equipment completely operative local dealers have supplied propane for the purpose. Appliances will be connected and actual cooking demonstrations will take place in the display kitchen.

To bring this modern home show to Penticton, Inland and distributors of gas equipment have co-operated all the way from building a portable kitchen exactly as it would be in a home, to supplying foodstuffs so that they may be cooked right within the display.

Special lighting has been installed in the display, and three major truck lines will take part in transporting the 10,000 pounds of equipment on its tour.

Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. will have representatives on hand to outline the economy of conversion to natural gas for all household heating, cooking and the operation of labour saving equipment.

The kitchen on display will have the ultimate in natural gas appliances, including a refrigerator which makes ice cubes to order at so small a cost it is almost impossible to budget. The automatic dishwasher will work with an unlimited supply of hot water heated almost instantaneously with gas. Over the cooking areas, built-in fans exhaust all steam and odour, and table top burners that actually add to kitchen decor will be shown.

A Reputation To Maintain

Summerland, over the years, has built up a high reputation as a community that pulls together — as a community that does things well.

That high reputation is now at stake in relation to the Labor Day weekend celebration, which is being sponsored by the Summerland Board of Trade.

Interest in the Summerland Fruit Fair is widespread. Many are interested in the fruit market, an innovation not only for Summerland, but for the valley. Others are interested in the horseshoe tournament, others in the proclaimed coming of the Giant of Giant's Head. And many others are interested and are coming because as it is so often said, whatever it is, it will be worthwhile if Summerland is putting it on.

So now it is up to Summerland. Co-operation is not lacking. The Horticultural Society, for example, has generously set back the date of its fall show to allow of this attractive event being staged in conjunction with the Fruit Fair.

Service Clubs are taking part as are women's organizations. The Packing Houses and the Canneries, despite the fact that this is their busy time, are exploring ways and means of participating in the big event.

But staging of a show of this kind requires the help of many willing hands and the Board of Trade is hopeful that there will be many volunteers who will come forward during these last weeks in August and offer to help in the many tasks.

It is the hope of the Board of Trade that this first Summerland Fruit Fair, scheduled for August 31, September 1 and 2, will be the forerunner of many.

To ensure this, however, interest of the community is required.

This is a fruit growing centre and this fact should be proudly demonstrated in the number and quality of fruits entered in the better fruit contests sponsored by the Agricultural Committee of the Board of Trade, and in the number of fruit-selling stalls.

The Board of Trade can, and is, doing much — but, in the final analysis, success or failure of Summerland's first Fruit Fair depends in large measure upon the extent to which the community gives its support.

Summerland's high reputation for community co-operation and for doing things well must be maintained.

Highway Hypnosis

Some of the very safety features that have been built into super-highways are partly to blame for Canada's increasing number of traffic fatalities.

So says an article in the August issue of the Imperial Oil Review.

It says "highway hypnosis," brought on by the monotony of driving over mile after mile of near-perfect highway, is often the cause of serious accidents.

While built-in safety features, such as limited access, have reduced the actual number of accidents, those that do occur on super-highways are usually worse than on conventional roads.

Furthermore, says the article, super-highway accidents often have chain reactions. A single smashup between two cars can cause four or five additional cars to pile up in rear-end collisions.

What happens, apparently, is that the super-highway driver allows himself to be lulled into an exaggerated sense of security to the point where he can't handle his car when an emergency does arise.

The Imperial Oil Review suggests a number of ways a driver can head off highway hypnosis. The motorist should avoid driving when sleepy, wear loose, comfortable clothing and pause occasionally for a hot drink.

He should vary his speed periodically, and keep lively music on the radio. Running the windshield wipers briefly helps relieve the monotony. So does intermittently changing the headlight beam.

The safe driver makes regular checks. Aware that speeds can creep up unnoticed, he checks the speedometer needle at least once a minute. Every few seconds he glances at the rear-view mirror particularly on curves and when passing. He keeps an eye on the gas gauge; running out of gasoline on a super-highway can be serious.

"Tail-gating" is a common cause of accidents, the Oil Review claims. The wise driver stays a reasonable distance behind the driver in front — at least one car-length for every 10 miles per hour of speed.

The article concludes that super-highways should eventually bring safer driving, but motorists must learn to follow a new set of driving rules.

Mid-Week Message

THOUGHT FOR TODAY: If anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away, behold, the new has come. 2 Cor. 5:17.

From the high school chemistry I remember that a change would be one of two types it would be what is called a physical change or what is called a chemical change. If physical then the chemical composition of the substance would not be changed, but only the state in which that substance existed. The substance would retain its chemical formula and properties. Water when frozen still has the same chemical content. What happens when you put a spoonful of sugar into coffee? The sugar, a compound of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen remains the same.

If, however, the change was a chemical change the substance would be formed into a completely new chemical with new characteristics and properties it would be different. Usually energy such as heat, light or electricity is needed to bring about the chemical change.

When a person becomes a Christian the process should be more like a chemical change. He becomes a new creature in Christ. Just to take on the name "Christian" is not enough. Just to "turn a new leaf" is not enough. In conversion God must do something for you which you cannot do for yourself. We should be different in word and thought and deed.

PRAYER: Almighty God our Father, we thank Thee for the transforming power of Christ. We desire to be more like him in word and actions. May the change be so evident that others may be helped. Guide us always in Jesus' name. Amen.

GIANT OF GIANT'S HEAD PEERS FAR INTO FUTURE

By B.A.T.

It was in the last days of the Giant regime. The birth rate was extremely low and sickness and death were very prevalent in the area. The Giant king was so worried that he consulted his magician upon whom he relied for direction and counsel in all emergencies. So, one dark night, the magician took the Giant up the mountain and, after they were both seated on a rock, the Giant was told to look out on the scene below.

"But I can see nothing," he said. "It is too dark."

"That is because you are trying to see with your eyes alone," said the magician. "You must use your mind as well."

And immediately the landscape below was suffused with a dim light which gradually became brighter. "Now I can see," said the Giant in amazement. "but what does it mean?" "That is the land and race you will rule in the distant future," answered the magician. "The beings look like pigmies but, believe it or not, they have brains too."

For the flat below was peopled with tiny men and women rushing to and fro. Miniature black streets were laid out, crossing and crisscrossing each other and tiny, brightly coloured vehicles seemingly driven by these men and women, dashed about. These tiny cars were hurrying from intersection to intersection, stopping, starting, meeting and passing, all in a marvellous way. At cross streets the vehicles would crowd together until it appeared they would crash but the tangle would straighten out without accident.

"Why do the people ride in these toys?" asked the Giant.

The magician explained that this form of locomotion was used in order that certain cities in the east might throb with industry and finance, companies might make enormous profits. There were also the matters of prestige and high cost of footwear.

"It will take me a little time to fully understand their economic system," said the Giant, and, as an afterthought, "I may put them on their feet again." The magician chuckled, "I foresee that you yourself, will be Cadillac-conscious before long." But the Giant did not understand this comment.

The hills and valleys appeared much as usual but no longer was the land forested with noble pine and fir and no herds of deer or moose were visible. The flats were laid out in small plots planted to bushy trees, with a cottage nestling among the foliage in each block. "These plots are orchards," explained the magician, "and the people are engaged in fruit-growing when they aren't bewailing hard times."

"And that is the race I will rule," marvelled the Giant, "tell me more about them."

So the magician explained about taxes - federal, provincial and municipal, of toll bridges, bank interest, L.C.B., and other forms of gouging. "I'll correct all that," said the Giant. Then the magician told of the baby bonus and how parents received a monthly allowance for each child. "That's a splendid idea," enthused the Giant. "Give me half a chance and I'll be able to make a fortune."

"What is that sprawling, many-windowed building in the foreground?" asked the Giant. "Here," said the magician, "there is maintained a fountain from which the youth may drink of a beverage called 'Education.' 'Is it beneficial?' asked the Giant. 'Very much so,' answered the magician, 'but the trouble is that many of the children are not thirsty.' 'If it does them good, why do they not drink regardless?' queried the Giant. 'That is a good question,' was the reply, 'and many parents will seek the answer in the years ahead.'

The Giant pointed out a quonset-shaped building with a gleaming roof and asked its use. "There the people make ice," said the magician, "and spend the winter playing a game with stones and brooms." "An amusement for the simple-minded, no doubt," said the Giant. "You should not judge hastily," replied the magician, "some quite normal people indulge in the game and become so enthused that business almost ceases during a tournament." The Giant marvelled anew.

"But the people are so small" said the Giant. "I do not understand why the Ogopegos do not devour them." "The Ogopegos are finished," said the magician. "There is only one specimen left and he lurks in shady inlets in the lake and is rarely seen." "How different from the old days," commented the Giant, "do you remember when we had desperate battles every spring when they would try to invade my domain?" The magician well remembered the days before the Ogopegos were finally vanquished and driven to the north end of the Lake.

"The Giant race is rushing to extinction," said the magician. "I, myself, am leaving soon to become adviser to the Pharaohs of Egypt and you will be left the last survivor of your race. Then you must go into your palace cave, block up the entrance and await the appointed day. You will go into a trance that will last for centuries and, at a time which will be revealed to both you and the pigmy people, you will awake, emerge from your cave and be welcomed as ruler by your new subjects."

And so it shall soon come to pass!

Hamilton, Ont., is often called "the Pittsburgh of Canada" because it is this country's steel-making capital. Raw materials for the industry are not immediately adjacent to Hamilton but are easily available by water transport.

TELEPHONE CALL FROM ENGLAND

On Saturday, August 10, Harry Dunsdon celebrated his 80th birthday. A few days previously Mr Dunsdon had the pleasure of receiving a telephone call from his sister, Mrs. A. Vaughan, who lives at Chorleywood, Herts., England, and from her daughter, who offered congratulations across the Atlantic.

OLD-TIMER RETURNS AFTER 43 YEARS

Ralph Kent, who left Summerland in 1914 to join the Canadian army, visited old friends in Summerland last week, the first time he had been back in 43 years. With Mrs. Kent and their family, he was on a trip from their home near Lethbridge. He is a farmer.

Mr. Kent formerly owned the property where the S. A. McDonald's have their home now; the two acres part of which is where the Legion Hall stands, and part of the Bentley lot; and the land now the site of the Memorial Athletic Park. At one time he worked for T. B. Young and for E. R. Hookham, and worked with George Henry.

The federal government first collected income tax in 1919. In that year Canadians paid a total of $8 million in personal income taxes; annual total now is nearly $1.3 billion.

Famed Canadian poetess Pauline Johnson was the daughter of a Mohawk Indian chief.

Summerland Juniors End Up Leading League

The Summerland Junior Red Sox ended the regular league schedule on Sunday with a 9-7 win over third place Naramata. This gives Summerland a league record of 8 wins and 2 defeats, good for first place, two full games ahead of second place Pentiction, who defeated Oliver 7-1.

Naramata started off the game with a bang, scoring three runs in the first inning, on three hits. The Red Sox came right back with three runs in their half of the first and five more in the third to make the score 8-3. Huva replaced Sheeley on the mound at the start of the 4th but was wild and got some poor support. Naramata scored four times before Sheeley came back in and put out the fire. The Red Sox scored once more in the 8th to make the final score 9-7. Hava was the big gun for the Sox, banging out a pair of long triples.

Pentiction and Naramata now battle it out for the next two Sundays for the right to meet Summerland in the finals of the Southern Division. The winner of this round will then play the North for the John Norwood trophy.

RIFLE CLUB

By H. M. SIMPSON

Apologies to all readers of this column for not writing up the results of practice last week but just didn't have time to do it. However, here it is, better late than never. Twelve members took part in the shoot with George Dunsdon being declared top man after a shoot-off with Art Dunsdon and Bert Simpson, all having scores of 91 points out of a possible 100. Other scores recorded were: Ted Piers, 88; Wayne McCargar, 87; Harold Richardson, 84; Al McCargar, 83; J. Kalemback, 83; B. Piers, 82; Ron Dunsdon, 78; C. Shannon, 75; Dick Dunsdon, 74.

On Sunday morning, only eight marksmen came out to practice, and although the weather didn't look very promising, conditions were very good all morning. Ten-shot matches were fired at 200 and 500 yards.

High score for this week was made by Al McCargar with 96 points out of 100. Other scores resulted as follows: G. Dunsdon, 94; B. Simpson, 91; A. Dunsdon, 90; R. Dunsdon, 81; W. McCargar, 75; D. Dunsdon, 70; P. Richardson, 69.

Practice will be held as usual next Sunday, then on August 25 the Pentiction Rifle Club will hold their invitation shoot on the new rifle range, and it is hoped that as many local members as possible will attend the meet.

CCF PICNIC ENJOYED BY 60

About sixty people enjoyed the CCF picnic held at the home of Mrs. M. E. Collas at Crescent Beach on Sunday, August 4. The weather was quite pleasant although the anticipated speaker, Mrs. Rupert Haggan, MLA, Grand Forks, was unable to be present because of weather conditions in the Kootenay area.

Big Crowd Sees Kiwanis Carnival

Although rain held up preparations for the Kiwanis Street Carnival on Saturday night, the event turned out to be a huge success with a big crowd attending.

Gerry Hallquist was general convener assisted by Frank McDonald, E. F. Smith, Doug Campbell and Ken Heales.

E. F. Smith was in charge of the Bingo games which were started about 8.30 p.m. F. Cunningham looked after the horse-shoe pitch and Alphonse Menu was the weight-guesser. Jack Dickson assisted with other games.

Trump giraffe rides provided by W. S. Ritchie were popular with the children and so were the pony rides arranged by Anne Emery and Garry Bennison. Games of skill were under W. Toews and Ed McGillivray and N. O. Solly was emcee of the hoop toss. J. Y. Fowgood and Jack Stewart were responsible for the dart game.

Corn on the cob was delicious as part of the refreshments served during the evening by the president Doug Campbell assisted by John Dunn.

Kiwanis members helped, with Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony convener of the home cooking stand, and Mrs. Del Carter and Mrs. E. McGillivray behind the scenes at the fish pond. Mrs. J. M. Betuzzi managed the vegetable stall.

The whole busy scene was enlivened with music by Summerland Town Band directed by W. A. Stewart.

In the draws Mrs. Alex Smith won the tent; J. W. Miller, the two blankets and Leo Bonthoux the pop-up toaster.

DRAINAGE COSTS PRETTY HIGH

Discussion of the cost of draining the area south east of the area showed that the estimated cost as prepared by the superintendent of works, K. M. Blagborne totals $468.90.

The council is prepared to pay $200.00 for this job.

The Curling Club is to be informed of the difference in price the club is willing to make up before work is started to see if the deficit.

The weather has made tough fishing and with muddy roads thrown in, Kamloops area most lakes have been good. The Princeton Merritt lakes have good reports.

Miss Mary Brichovich Married In Pentiction Ceremony To E. John

St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church was the setting for a pretty summer ceremony on Saturday afternoon, August 3, in fitting marriage Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Brichovich of West Summerland, and Edwin Francis John of Pentiction, son of Edwin John of Beaver Lodge, Alberta, and Mrs. Thomas McWhinnie of Port Moody. Rev. Francis Quinlan officiated at the double-ring rites performed before the altar banked with a profusion of pastel colored gladioli. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Net over satin was lace trimmed to fashion her lovely full-length gown worn over crinolines. Lace edged the tiered net styling the bouffant skirt and was draped to define the deep V-neckline of the fitted bodice. Elbow-length gloves were of matching net. The bride's chapel veil of illusion was clasped by a double tiara of seed pearls and she wore pearl earrings and carried red roses to complement her ensemble.

Full-skirted princess frocks made alike of pastel nylon with net bustles were worn by the bride's senior attendants; Mrs. James Peel, her sister from Vancouver, was in pale pink, while the bridesmatron, Mrs. Victor Smith, Summerland, and bridesmaid, Miss Shirley Clarke of Pentiction, wore pale blue. Hair bandeaux of nylon matched their frocks. They carried bouquets

World Jamboree Interest-Crammed

The three Summerland boys, David and John Woolliams and Don McArthur who are at the World Scout Jamboree at Sutton Coldfield, England, are having a wonderful time according to letters received here by their relatives.

Leaving from Vancouver they had a splendid view of the Okanagan and the Rockies. The plane flew over the North Atlantic and not over the pole because of bad weather and they could see icebergs in the ocean as the clouds opened here and there at times.

David and John were billeted with the head farmer on the Duke of Sutherland's big farm and all three scouts tall of the kindness and hospitality of the English people.

Relatives of Mrs. S. Peters of Summerland live at Sutton Coldfield and have entertained them at their homes, taken them all for drives around the countryside and shown them interesting places. Boys from most parts of the world are present and the camp is from August 1-12. Tents are arranged in a mile radius, with shopping centres, stores of all kinds, banks, camera and book shops, and refreshment booths. It is said that the Canadian black and green uniform looks smart. The majority of the Scouts are in khaki. The Duke of Gloucester officially opened the Jamboree and Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II has visited it, with the boys eager to get pictures of her. On the opening day there was

Of Interest To Women

ODDS and ENDS
BY M. VANDERBURGH

Nowadays with mixes so convenient for everything, we noticed that it's news when anyone really makes a cake. In a recent Vancouver paper, the headlines were: "Bride's Mother Bakes Cake".

We think it's all wrong to list Atlantic hurricanes by girls' names in alphabetical order. After this year Audrey may well be regarded as an ill omen in the southern States, and think of all the inconvenience to parents looking for names for their female offspring.

These wild women are establishing something of an unenviable record.

You remember Hazel who made a reputation from the Gulf of Mexico to away up into Canada. At the present time the second half of the alphabet seems to be fairly safe. As a rule the annual hurricane season is ended before Moira, Nora or Olive get into the headlines. It would seem, too, that Rosamund, Sara, and Theodosia are almost out of the danger zone.

Already feminists are complaining about this naming system, saying that men should be given their share of the odium attaching to tropical storms. One understands the complaint, but somehow Charles, James and Percival suggest little violence. The Printed Word has said cynically that although Arabella, Barbara, Coralie and Daisy, may suggest feminine virtues, yet when given to hurricanes they are a reminder that feminine virtues are never to be taken for granted.

Overheard: "Yes, sir, our household represents the whole United Kingdom. I'm English, my wife's Irish, the nurse represents Scotland, and the baby wails."

Visitors are here from far and near, with friends, or in tourist camps, or with tents, which to them are homes wherever they are pitched. The last issue of Forest and Stream, that outdoor magazine, tells of all the various types of tents — some twenty of them — by whom they should be used and the performance which may be expected of them with suitability even into the Arctic circle. It seems to me to be fully informed would help make a camping trip of real, comfortable enjoyment. These local people who are catering to travellers' needs must be hospitable at heart to have tourists come again and again as they do. It is largely through them, and the reception given in the business places that they receive their impressions of Summerland, favorable or otherwise. The fact that so many come back must mean that our camp and motel operators are representing us well.

(Continued from Page 1) bankment, cutting off a power pole, overturned and skidded 150 feet cutting off another pole, a corner post and two sign posts. All three were wearing safety belts. It is understood the two passengers were thrown clear after the car first collided with a telephone pole.

With a group of Summerland boys on the ferry when Warren offered a ride in his sports car, Max accepted.

Modern replica of the old swimmin' hole is seen every day just now at Rotary Beach where 350 children are being taught to swim and are instructed in water safety practices.

Rotary Beach has improved on the swimmin' hole — no weeds, no water snake to make shivers go up and down the spine — clear, clean water, excellent facilities, floats, diving boards, houses in which to change — none of this peeking from behind a tree to see if anyone is looking while anxiously wiggling into swim clothes.

Mrs. M. Hyde, Barbara Fudge and Amy Berry are instructing and it's hard work.

Mrs. Hyde reports that it takes about two years to complete each classification — beginners, juniors, intermediates and seniors. The children start at the age of six and go on until they are 13.

The senior certificate is not given until a boy or girl is 13. Mrs. Hyde says that younger children just haven't the strength to go through with the requirement. In order that parents and everyone interested may know the qualifications necessary for each class, they follow, making up a complete program of water safety:

BEGINNERS: water safety knowledge test, (theory); three reaching assists; open eyes under water bobbing six times continuously; jelly fish float; front glide, roll over, stand up; back lie, roll over, stand up; swim on front 20 feet, turn about, return 20 feet; flutter kick and finning on back 20 feet; jump in swim in place or tread water 30 seconds.

JUNIORS: water safety knowledge test; (theory) five reaching assists; front dive into deep water; 20 yard swim on front, 20 yards return; bobbing ten times continuously; jump into deep water; 20 yards elementary back stroke; tread water or float three minutes.

INTERMEDIATES: water safety knowledge test (theory); reaching assist; artificial respiration; standing front dive; 40 yards side or breast stroke; 40 yards elementary back stroke or back crawl; 40 yards front crawl or trudgen; stride jump into deep water; 25 yards arms only on the back; 25 yards legs only on the back; 20 yards arms only on the back; surface dive and under water swim 15 feet; tired swimmers' tow, 20 yards; float or tread water for 10 minutes.

tread water for five minutes. SENIORS: water safety knowledge test, (theory); reaching assist including throwing ring buoy; artificial respiration; shallow dive; 100 yard side or breast stroke; 100 yard elementary back stroke or back crawl; 100 yard front crawl or trudgen; stride jump into deep water; 25 yards arms only on the back; 25 yards legs only on the back; running water swim 15 feet; tired swimmers' tow, 20 yards; float or tread water for 10 minutes.

Local Float Takes Third Spot Kelowna Regatta

Summerland Board of Trade float won third prize in the Community float class at Kelowna Regatta in Thursday evening's parade which started at 6 p.m. with the rain stopping just as the parade moved along Bernard Avenue.

The trophy is being displayed in the window of Roy's Men's Wear at the present time.

Kelowna won first place with their pretty entry made with gladioli in great quantities and lovely colors. Pentiction came second in the judging.

The Summerland float was beautifully done in gold, blue and silver. On the sides the words, Summerland Fruit Fair, Aug. 31-Sept. 2, were printed in old English lettering. Gold sun rays semicircled the dais where Queen Marjorie Campbell was seated. On her right and left at a lower level were Princesses Dot Carston and Ruby Gronlund. In the centre of the float a large cluster of outsize peaches shimmered and moved with the least breeze adding an original touch.

Before the parade the float got slightly wet in the rain, but any damage can be repaired and it will carry Summerland's "royalty" in the Peach Festival parade at Pentiction tomorrow.

Members of the board of trade executive with Mel Cousins supplying a number of ideas and much help, and Earl White and H. B. Mair, prepared the lovely decorations and tailored them to the chassis which the board of trade obtained last year for these occasions. Lloyd Miller drove the vehicle.

Queen Marjorie and Princesses Dot and Ruby attended the big square dance held last night in the Youth Centre, making their official appearance at 10 p.m.

At Pentiction they will attend the crowning ceremonies of the Peach city's Queen.

Mrs. A. McLeod is chaperone for the girls who represent Summerland and accompanied them to Kelowna and will accompany them on their other official engagements.

WILL YOUR HOME ALWAYS BELONG

TO YOUR FAMILY?

Here's how you can be sure:

For only a small amount in addition to your normal mortgage repayments you can have the comforting knowledge that should anything happen to you, your family will have a home they can call their own.

The Mutual Life of Canada mortgage policy insures your life for the entire time you are repaying your mortgage. Should you die during that period, the outstanding amount can be paid off immediately, thus giving your family debt-free ownership of their home.

Should you live and pay off the mortgage yourself the policy will continue to provide protection and savings. It will still share in Mutual Life of Canada dividends, thus constantly increasing in value.

There is a skilled, experienced Mutual Life of Canada representative in your area. He will be glad to call on you — without obligation — and discuss mortgage insurance or any of your other insurance problems with you. Give him a call soon.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

To those about to be married and to those who eventually will get married and to those who are married but who are still young enough to catch up, I say plan on large families.

Depression and war years pushed a lot of people into an age bracket where it was neither practical nor sensible to have large families. I think they have missed a lot.

The foregoing profound comment follows upon playing host for a week to four tiny tots, stepping stones from a three-year-old up.

The four tiny tots added to our own daughter and two of the neighbors' children made for pandemonium — but I don't know anything more contagious than the happiness spread by happy children.

Work-a-day worries just haven't a chance against the insistent demands and clamour of children.

It's true there are times that I wanted to emulate Inky, the big black tomcat, who took one look at the horde and took off for the duration.

I did try to escape once. I had a thriller-diller I wanted to read, so hid me to the bathroom and ensconced myself in the bath.

Dripplle of the comic strips makes a habit of escaping to the bathtub for a quiet read. I must say it's a sadly overrated luxury.

First I had trouble with my glasses — they steamed up. Found I couldn't recline. Lighting in the bathroom isn't designed to facilitate reading in the tub, so switched ends, jagged my back on the faucet.

Started to change back, slipped and dunked — thriller-diller went under with me — a soggy mess, glasses had to be dried off. Tried again, sitting with ramrod back. I read a page and then gave it up.

Found it much more fun romping with the kids.

Thought provoking encounter with an elderly woman on Penticton's Main street the other day. Dunno whether she is from Penticton or Summerland but she certainly reads this column.

"Young man," she accosted.

I beamed, I always beam when people call me "young man."

"Young man," she said. "I've been reading about your narrow escapes at sea — but you don't give thanks to God for saving you."

I didn't want to get into an argument and I certainly didn't want to hurt the lady's feelings, so I just let her ramble on — mumbled agreement with her final peroration which ended with the statement, I should be ashamed of myself, and fled.

The incident reminded me of one of, if not the most obnoxious character it has ever been my lot to meet — and a Church of England minister at that. That same minister stands very high in the hierarchy of the Church in Canada today.

Circumstances had me breaking bread with this gentleman of the cloth just after he had driven out from eastern Canada. He took all of ten minutes to say grace — a grace which seemed to glorify him rather than God. Then he took control of the conversation and turned it into a monologue. His meek little wife was obviously terrified of the man. She hardly dared to eat because he expected her to come in at intervals to support his stories of hardship endured all apparently in the name of the Lord, in driving out from Toronto to B.C.

But what made me choke was when the minister told of having a blowout on a prairie road in Saskatchewan and then, many days later, travelling in Washington State on a mountain road, they came to a stretch with a drop-off at one side.

The minister told how he stopped the car and then asked his wife what they should do. His wife wasn't up to the workings of her husband's brain — she didn't know. Then he asked her, evidently with a lot of dramatics at least he rolled his eyes when telling of it, if she remembered the blowout on the prairie road in Saskatchewan and how the car had wobbled and how thankful they should be that the blowout had not occurred in the mountains.

So he evidently bundled his wife out of the car and they knelt by the roadside while the minister thanked God for engineering the blowout on the prairies instead of in the mountains.

God was watching over us," the minister said unctuously in concluding the story of this so narrow escape.

I sort of upset things when I told his nibs bluntly that on the basis of his reasoning had the blowout occurred in the mountains and he had gone over the cliff then undoubtedly while falling he would have blamed the Lord.

He came back, of course, with the statement that "It would have been God's will."

I can't go along with that thinking. All of us have our own conception of God but my own conception certainly doesn't think of God carefully placing a rock on a road in Saskatchewan to cause a blowout and then carefully removing possible causes of blowout off the mountain road to give safe passage to the minister.

There are hundreds of incidents in all our lives which if they had happened at the critical moment in time and in certain places would be fatal.

Only recently Canada suffered her worst air disaster. But there are thousands of people travelling by air every day, does that mean then that God singled out that particular plane for destruction?

No, I can't go along with it. When I elected to take my boat through a narrow gap in the reef I was responsible for the decision, and when I found myself in a tough spot I didn't blame God for it.

Thanks to my own skill in handling the rudder and to the fact that the engine didn't conk out we made it. And frankly, I don't think God had anything to do with it. I certainly don't think that he imposed his will on me and made me go through the hole-in-the-wall in the teeth of a westerly gale.

We can thank God for the gift of life — but it is a mighty conceit which can picture him engineering the time and place for a tire blowout.

Wm. Snow Wins Honor At Penticton Festival

Summerland residents took a number of prizes at the Penticton Peach Festival.

Wm. Snow won many honors in the Penticton and District's Horticultural Society Show held last Saturday, capturing the Penticton Herald Challenge Cup and the Herald trophy for high aggregate in the border flowers' class.

As well as this Mr. Snow took two Agricultural Society cups, one for six named varieties of gladioli and one for six named varieties of annuals.

He also brought home to Summerland the prize for top aggregate score in the glad section of the show.

In the agricultural and home arts' show Mrs. W. R. Powell took first prize for weaving - loom - any article and Mrs. C. E. Orr was awarded the top prize for her hooked rug entry.

Mrs. G. E. Johanson proved her ability to make pie by winning the first place in the Monarch peach pie contest, and Mrs. J. H. Johnson confirmed her position as a good cook by winning first in the fancy rolls' class, six required.

Mrs. J. Barrett topped the list in any article made from copper and in petit point needlework. Ruth Manning won a first for six onions, Spanish type.

SUMMERLAND BOARD OF TRADE PRIZE-WINNING FLOAT

Summerland Float Wins At Penticton, Kelowna

"It's the meat in the sandwich that counts," so the saying goes, and Summerland between the larger cities of Penticton and Kelowna, finds it has added zest to the Peach Festival and to the Regatta parades by taking first place for the community float under 5,000 in the former, and third in the latter. Summerland Board of Trade may well be proud that, though the smaller section it was an outstanding one.

A silver Rose Bowl trophy received at the Festival is on display with the Kelowna award in the window of Roy's Mens' Wear.

Summerland was well represented, too, in all the ceremonies connected with the crowning of the Peach Festival Queen: The charming Queen Marjorie Campbell and her Princesses Ruby Gronlund and Dot Carston were at the Incola Hotel at p.m. on Thursday where they were each presented with corsages and taken by bus with the other visiting royalty from nearby towns to the crowning ceremony.

At the exhibition grounds, preceded by pipers and passing between an air cadet guard of honor, many of the Summerland boys, the girls followed their other royal parties in order, each group separated by flower girls, making a lovely array in the well-ordered pageant.

Tach royal party was introduced to the record crowd by the master of ceremonies, and Queen Marjorie spoke, giving everyone a gracious invitation to come to Summerland's Fruit Fair which opens on August 31, and also giving them an invitation to meet the Giant of Giant's Head, on the evening of August 31.

The various groups were seated on either side of the retiring Queen to see the crown placed on the head of the new Queen. A coke party followed at the home of the F. O. Bowsfields on Fairview Road where the girls met their dance escorts and played amusing games until 10.30.

At that time they went to the Queen's Ball at the Hotel Prince Charles taking part in the Grand March and the Queen's Waltz, with the rest of the evening to themselves. The dance was well-conducted and nicely arranged for all.

On Friday Summerland's Royal party rode on the Board of Trade float which won first prize in the community under 5,000 class, and was a bright scintillating spot in the parade. As the parade disbanded they were met at the Sicomus by bus and taken to have lunch at the Prince Charles with all the other visiting royalty.

At 2 p.m. they visited the Penticton Hospital and later attended the Queen's Tea held on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cumming on Johnston Road.

At 5 p.m. their official chaperone, Mrs. A. K. Macleod, who was a guest at the tea, brought them home by car.

Plans are being made for the Queen and her attendants to preside at the Fruit Fair and to meet the Giant of Giant's Head.

Ogopogo In Home Waters

Ogopogo is said to have made an appearance at Trout Creek on Sunday afternoon just before 5 p.m. in the water not too far off shore in front of the cottage owned by the Misses Ritchie.

A number of the family had been in swimming and the water was quite calm when Mrs. A. Jensen of Vancouver, the former Miss Isabel Atkinson, saw an unusual triangular shape sticking up out of the water which looked like a big fin. Soon there was a great churning of water and the humps associated with the Okanagan Lake monster appeared, dark and shiny, sort of brownish grey like an eel.

Ogie was in the water just where it suddenly becomes deep.

There were two cameras at the cottage but Mrs. Jensen was so fascinated she couldn't take her eyes off the unexpected sight.

Miss Joanne Ritchie and Mrs. John Newton were others present who vouch for the appearance.

Former Thornber Home May Be Part of Park Development

In regard to the development of the area surrounding Evans' Point as a future park Reeve F. E. Atkinson "sees the three pieces tied together."

At last week's council meeting he made this remark in referring to Rotary Beach Park, the Thornber property, right to which is being obtained from the provincial government, and the new beach area which is being filled north of Evans' Point up to the Plunkett holdings.

Discussion arose when the beach committee of the Rotary Club asked to meet council members to talk over potentialities of the Thornber house, possibly as a winter storage for beach equipment.

Already Rotary Beach is serving the community as an ideal place for swimming classes since the largest numbers in the history of the swim project were taught there this year. Enlarged dressing room and toilet facilities might be possible if the Thornber house were used as an adjunct to the park. Mention was made that a parks caretaker might live in the house.

There is some land in the Thornber block opposite the part that is being filled, and in time the "three pieces" may be a valuable aid to community and tourist recreation facilities, it was thought.

Councillors will meet with the Rotary beach committee for further talk on the matter.

Okanagan fruit growers are anticipating a bumper fruit crop. Preliminary crop estimates released by B.C. Tree Fruits today indicate the apple yield will be up 50 per cent over last year; peaches up 60 per cent; pears up 20 per cent while the prune crop will show a jump of 40 per cent.

This year's apple crop will nudge the 5,000,000 box mark compared with the 1956 yield of 3½ million. However, this is far short of the all-time record of 1946 when 8,000,000 boxes bulged valley cold storage plants.

Total value of the 1946 fruit crop was $24,584,490.92, of which apples realized $17,876,161.36. The 1955 apple crop grossed $12,343,739.66, while the overall total was $18,596,784.01. Last year's total value was $15,722,559.72 of which apples realized $10,359,819.73.

B.C. Tree Fruits point out however, these figures are gross, from which must be deducted packing, selling and other sundry charges. Packing charges alone for apples run anywhere from one dollar up. The figures also do not include early apples and culls.

PEACH DEAL

The peach deal is just starting to hit volume movement and judging from early market demand, tree fruits will have a tough job filling orders for the next week or ten days.

Wealthy apples are late reaching picking maturity and the McIntosh variety promises to be about a week or ten days earlier than last year. With the result there may be some overlapping to the detriment of the early varieties.

There's also a diminishing demand for early cooking apples, due to the changing pattern of modern living. Today's housewife is not using the fresh variety of fruit for baking apple pies. They prefer processed products in cans.

HAIL DAMAGE

This is the time of the year when growers also cast anxious eyes toward the sky, especially in late afternoon. It's a four letter word H-A-I-L and this could spell disaster overnight.

Last week some peach growers in the Westbank district reported an 80 per cent loss of their crops. Apples, pears and prunes were hit to a lesser degree. However, the overall peach loss, valley-wide, would not amount to more than one per cent.

Growers also have one eye cocked on the anticipated recommendations from Dean E. MacPhee, the one-man commissioner who recently investigated the valley's multi-million dollar industry.

Two Cars Collide Sunday Afternoon

RCMP are investigating a car accident which occurred Sunday afternoon at about 2:45 p.m. on the hill on Highway 97 entering Summerland. A car going south driven by Henry Knoblauch of Kelowna hit the rear end of a vehicle, driver of which was Donald Lloyd Skinner, of Summerland.

Skinner had slowed down to talk to two pedestrians when Knoblauch hit the rear end of the car.

No one was injured but damage to both cars is estimated at $300 each.

The church was decorated with tall spikes of gladioli in mixed shades for the occasion.

Entering on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage, the young dark-haired bride was gowned in a lovely floor length wedding dress of nylon net and lace over satin with a lace bolero having lily point sleeves. A three-quarter veil completed the bridal ensemble and the bride carried a bouquet of red roses.

Baskets of gladioli in lovely colors with pale blue and white streamers and white bells were used to decorate the reception room. On the bride's table a three tiered wedding cake accented the centre prettily, arranged with white candles in silver candlesticks and bowls of roses and begonias.

W. G. Gillard was the toastmaster, Channon Snow proposed a toast to the bride with response by the groom in the traditional manner. Elmer Harbicht gave a toast to the attendants with the best man replying. A congratulatory cable was read from the bride's uncle, George Marshall of Northampton, England.

During the reception Miss Marjorie Campbell sang with Miss Barbara Baker accompanying.

For motoring to Victoria and points in the USA on the honeymoon the bride wore a smart navy-blue duster over a red striped nylon dress and had white accessories.

West Summerland Building Supplies

By ALEC WATT

There will be classes for vegetables at Summerland's 1st Fruit Fair on August 31st. Here are a few pointers; on exhibiting vegetables for competition.

(1) As mentioned last week, first obtain a copy of the Prize List. This will tell you what vegetables may be exhibited, how many to a plate and when and where to have them entered. Prize lists available at The Rev. Lorne Perry's office, local Horticultural office.

Horticultural Circular No. 10 gives instructions on showing garden vegetables. Copies available with the prize lists at the locations.

In showing vegetables competition should be given to the wing:

(a) UNIFORMITY — The various specimens comprising an entry should be uniform in size, form, color and quality.

(b) SIZE — Size should be moderate. Oversize vegetables are often coarse, small vegetables are often tough, misshapen.

(c) COLOUR — Colour should be bright, clear and attractive.

(d) FORM — Vegetables should be so formed as to give as little waste as possible when prepared for cooking.

(e) FREEDOM FROM ALL BLEMISHES — Vegetables should be free from bruises and breaks in the skin.

(f) CONDITION — Vegetables intended for long keeping must be firm and properly matured.

(g) QUALITY — This is most important. It ranks higher than any other single factor. Such qualities as tenderness, crispness and freedom from stringiness are involved, depending on the type of vegetable.

PREPARATION FOR SHOW: Root vegetables should be washed with fibrous roots and tops removed. DO NOT SCRUB or BUFF roots. Handle all vegetables so as to make them as attractive as possible.

Prepared by the Research Staff of ENCYCLOPEDIA CANADIANA

WHAT IS A WHISKY-JACK.

A distinctive Canadian name for the Canadian jay is whisky-jack. Many specific articles that are known over a large area have gradually been prefaced by Canadian placenames. Examples are Quebec heater, the Winnipeg couch, the Red River cart, and the York boat. The word "Mountie" for a member of the RCMP is also distinctly Canadian.

Who Was Known As The Greatest Matchmaker In The World?

The most successful matchmaker of his generation was Ezra Butler Eddy, who began making matches by hand at Hull, Que. in 1854. He also built and operated a sulphite mill. Despite several disastrous fires, the business prospered and in 1886 it was reorganized as the E. B. Eddy Company, with Eddy as president. He was the first man in Quebec to use trucks for commercial purposes and he installed the first electric plant in eastern Canada. He served as mayor of Hull on six occasions and was instrumental in giving that city its waterworks and sewage system. He also served in the Quebec legislative assembly.

Wage Talks Planned Despite Okanagan Valley Union Strife

The Okanagan Valley's union shows no signs of abating. Latest move in the bitter dispute over which union has the right to represent the valley's 600 packinghouse and cannery workers, was an announcement in the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers Unions that it would begin negotiations shortly for a new wage agreement.

To which a spokesman for Teamsters Union Local 48 at Kelowna retorted: "They can start bargaining if they like. It won't do them much good. We have the majority and we're definitely staying in the valley," declared D. R. Leckie, business agent for Local 48 in a telephone interview. "I don't think the so-called Federation will have much effect in its bargaining."

CONSIDERING APPEAL

Mr. Leckie added that Local 48 is considering appeal of the

The Laborer's Hire

A career as a leader of labor unions may not have much appeal for the average youth, but in the United States, at least, it can produce handsome financial rewards. Recently Fortune published an article on union organization, in which the salaries of presidents of leading unions were listed. The highest salary shown was that of George M. Harrison, president of the railway clerks, who gets $60,000 a year. Nearly in the same salary bracket were David McDonald, who gets $50,000 annually from his steelworkers, and John L. Lewis, whose mineworkers contribute the same amount to him. Nineteen other union presidents in the list draw salaries ranging from $25,000 up to $55,000. All these, as well as the comparatively poor ones like Walter Reuther, who gets only $22,000 a year, are treated quite liberally in the matter of expenses, which amount for some to almost as much as the salaries they draw.

The unions that pay these salaries are nearly all international, which means that

New Horror Looms

Trial of a new gadget is reported from Allentown, Pa. It is a "vest-pocket, radio-controlled whistle that can inform a person he's wanted on the telephone even though he's miles away from his phone." The gadget, about the size of a packet of cigarettes, may be carried in his pocket by the subscriber to the service. When his number is called and not answered, the telephone company operator sends out a radio signal, which sounds the whistle if the subscriber is within an eight-mile radius. The subscriber then goes to the nearest telephone, dials a prearranged number and is put in touch with his caller.

The Pennsylvania company says it has already signed up several customers for the new service. These include doctors, television

DIFFERENT MUSIC

Scripture: Titus 2:11-15. THOUGHT FOR TODAY: Come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord. 2 Cor. 6:17.

Peter Martyr, preaching in Naples, was trying to get his hearers to see how futile the "natural" understanding is when confronted with spiritual truths and experiences. He said, that if a man, riding in the country, happened to see a group dancing in the distance, without hearing the music, he would probably think they were a group of fairies or madmen striking antic poses. But if the man came near enough to hear the music that inspired their dancing, he would know that their motions were art and not madness.

Peter Martyr pointed out something like that happens when a non-Christian observes a Christian's daily walk. The Christian keeps a different set of rules, treasures another set of values, successfully struggles against habits that enslave others, and acts like a man with a mission. But if the non-Christian could hear the music which they follow, he would not only Canadian members are contributing a share of their weekly wages to help pay them. Perhaps they are contented with the situation, and are convinced that the salaries are earned. Yet, as Canadians, they have no more chance of working up to the presidency of their union than they have of being elected president of the United States. A Canadian might become head of the Canadian branch of his union, but probably at a much lower scale of salary and expense allowances than his big boss gets. He would not have the opportunity for lucrative sidelines by which some union leaders in the United States can add to their earnings.

When unions, many years ago, were small and struggling, there might have been some advantage to Canadians in the foreign connection. It is worth considering, now that the connection is virtually foreign domination, whether the advantage might not now lie in becoming independent, and saving the wage tribute that flows southward across the border.

repairmen and insurance salesmen. These may find the service worth the cost quoted of $5 a month for 80 calls, plus an additional five cents for each call over the eighty. Others may hesitate before subscribing.

Judging from some telephone users' experiences elsewhere, about twenty calls out of the eighty will be wrong numbers, ten more will be from women trying to sell tickets in aid of some charity in which the telephone subscriber is not interested, another fifteen will be to tell the lucky person that he has lessons by the Mary Arthur Studio and seven or eight will be inquiries about what radio or television programme he is tuned in on. To quote the moral of one of Benjamin Franklin's parables, one can pay too much for a whistle.

40 YEARS AGO — AUGUST 24, 1917

Leaving on Wednesday morning with E. N. Rowley as guide, Councillor Johnston and A. W. Hobbs, one of the municipal staff, are on a trip to the headwaters of Trout Creek for the purpose of getting more water to distribute over the irrigation system.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Nelson are enjoying a few days' outing in the scenic Coquahalla Pass, having left on Tuesday night. No doubt Mr. Nelson will bring back with him a number of fine plates bearing prints of some of the beautiful views of that marvellous mountain canyon.

During the three years since the outbreak of the war the Okanagan has contributed 21 per cent of its entire population to the fighting forces of the Empire.

understand but he too would be inspired.

Because we belong to Christ, is there any ways in which we are "at odds" with the world about us? Are we challenging the easy-going morality of the world? Have we slid comfortably into the pattern of our neighbors? God and Mammon pipe different tunes.

PRAYER: Gracious God our Father, tune our souls to the music of thy will and grant us ability to keep its cadence. Help us to walk as consecrated men and women before the world to whom we witness. In Christ's name. Amen.

Softball Finals All Tied Up Now

The softball finals are all tied up. Mac's Cafe Aces are to meet the Greyhound team from Penticton on Thursday night, August 22, at the Memorial Park Playground at 7 p.m. J. B. Bullock says it should be a good game to watch.

Mr. Bullock is working on the Softball Tournament schedule for September 1-2, part of the entertainment in the Labour Day weekend Fruit Fair.

To date he has a Kelowna team lined up; the Greyhounds from Penticton; Osoyoos Commercial; Osoyoos High School; and the Mac's Cafe Aces. He is trying for six teams to round out the play.

having fired a heavy rifle before, she had some difficulty in finding the target, but when she shot the 600 yard distance she found her mistake and started putting them where they should be. Good going, Louise; twenty four rounds are a lot of shooting for the first attempt. We hope you will be with us again at our next practice.

Several members are going to attend the invitation shoot at Penticton next Sunday, so let's hope that some of the trophies and prize money will come to Summerland.

Family Fruit Cannery Upsandowns Operation

By M. Vanderburgh

If you drive along the Switchback Road you'll see a sign which says L. L. Fudge, Upsandowns, then in little letters on a left bottom side of the sign "annery".

When we went to visit it, for we'd just heard that the Fudges had bought out the Bates' Custom Cannery, and talked about the sign, Mrs. Fudge said, "Oh that applies to our orchard, it goes up and down hill, you know, and it might apply to our finances, too". We agreed that the name fitted the site and that upsandowns might apply to anyone's finances in this valley of fruit. As to the cannery's name Mrs. Fudge thought it might be called "Fudge's Family Pack," since almost all the family are working there — herself, her husband, Lionel, who took a winter course in canning some years ago at the Experimental Farm, their daughter, Barbara, Mrs. Fudge's sister, Dorothy, (Mrs. J. P. Sheeley), and their niece Sharon Beeman who was here for a while from the Fraser Valley. There is also part time help from two other women.

Fudge's Family Pack then it is going to be called, although there isn't any label yet! and the cannery — similar to other custom canneries is like a home canning operation but on a bigger scale.

We thought it should be called The Cannery With A View, as there is a wide, wonderful Okanagan panorama from every window. Since psychologists say that women who have a window over their sink so that they can look outside hardly ever have nervous breakdowns, no one working at Fudge's should go to pieces. There's something to delight the eye all the time.

Another difference from ordinary canneries and custom canneries, we learned, is that in the smaller business the fruit is prepared in basins and not sinks. Actually it gets more personal attention.

The Fudges had worked with the Bates and knew something about a custom cannery and Everett Bates keeps a paternal eye on this offspring of his and gives a helping hand when it is busiest.

When they decided to go into such activity Lionel added to the garage. The room housing the operation is 36 x 18 feet with an outside balcony for holding fresh fruit in boxes 16 x 10 feet. There is the usual scalding, capping, cooking and cooling vat. Cooking is done with propane gas piped from storage in a great big tank outside.

Fruit is custom canned for anyone, and private orders are taken for people. Orders have come from the coast, the Nicola Valley and Calgary.

During the rainy days a week or so ago tourists from the local parks brought their families and canned for themselves, using the Fudges' equipment and help, and everyone had a lot of fun.

Considerable help has been obtained from the Experimental Farm in going into processing on this scale and more and more orders are arriving. This family adventure seems to have more ups than downs at the present time, with everyone enjoying the new experiences it is bringing.

Mrs. A. Jensen with her children David and Linda, of Vancouver, is spending a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Atkinson and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Solly and their younger daughter, Jane, are on a vacation at Vancouver. Miss Nan Solly is attending the World Guide Camp in Ontario.

Miss Bonnie Wilson has returned after spending the summer in Calgary. Barry Wilson of Calgary is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wilson. Other Calgary guests of the Wilsons are Mr. and Mrs. Don Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. M. Beable, Miss Edna Leggett, Miss Noreen Coddle, John Gunn, Ernie McCullough, and Jimmie and Gordie Johnston.

Several Kelowna artists will exhibit their paintings and drawings in the board room of the Okanagan Regional Library from Aug. 19-31, as part of the two week series being shown during the year.

Wage Talks

Mr. Leckie reiterated a previous statement that he personally felt the court decision was a "blessing in disguise."

"If we had won the case, the Federation would have thrown it back into the courts and the Labor Relations Board couldn't have touched it," he explained. "I doubt very much if the so-called Federation is a union within the meaning of the Labor Act."

He charged, (1) Federation does not represent the majority of the fruit and vegetable workers unions; (2) is not policing its agreements; and (3) is not affiliated with any national or international labor body.

Mr. Leckie added that the Federation cannot get certification from the Canadian Labor Congress because there are already two chartered unions representing the fruit and vegetable workers in the Okanagan. These are the Union Packing House Workers of America and Teamsters Union Local 48. The CLC will not grant further charters without the consent of both the chartered unions, Mr. Leckie said, and he doubted if this will be forthcoming.

He charged further that it is doubtful whether there is an agreement still in effect between the Federation and employers because "the shippers have broken it in so many instances."

He added that the Federation's organization was questionable also because "they haven't elected their officers properly and never called their conventions according to the constitution."

"Their officers have been elected in absentia," Mr. Leckie charged, "and have been changed by appointment rather than by election."

FEDERATION CONFIDENT

These charges are countered in the Federation statement.

Regarding CLC affiliation the Federation admits that it doesn't have this but declares, "We are sure that a certificate of affiliation will be issued in due course as we know that we have the support of most of the other trade union movements in our struggle."

"The long awaited decision on the Supreme Court case," the statement continues, "is a vindication of the stand of the delegates who walked out of the 1956 convention. Sure of the reactions of the greater proportion of the members of the Federation to this attempt to force them into the Teamsters by rigged procedure and misrepresentation and also sure that this same majority would expect them, as their representatives, to take proper steps to upset the vote of the convention, they chose to walk out and reconvene the Federation convention to fight for their right to local autonomy and control of their organization."

Noting that the result of this action has made "labor history" the statement declares that organized labor is well aware of its weaknesses and will prove capable of correcting these and setting its own house in order "without government intervention or interference."

"The stand taken by this small and independent organization in the face of overwhelming strength," the statement adds, "will most certainly give a tremendous boost to all members of the trade union movement. This is an example of courage and unwavering resolve to see that right and not might should triumph."

"Anyone who can now say that this group is not a trade union and one with a strong and courageous leadership must indeed be bigotted and small by nature," the statement declares.

Spartan Apples And Van Cherries Good Performers

Dr. G. L. Slate and R. C. Lamb of the Geneva, N.Y., Experimental Station were visitors this week at the Summerland Farm.

Both men are fruit breeders and were pleased to see the original Spartan apple and Van cherry trees developed at the farm here by A. J. Mann and the late Dr. R. C. Palmer.

Both the Spartan apple and the Van cherry have been widely accepted in New York state, they reported.

All The Fun Of The Fair At Summerland's Fruit Fair

The big news this week is the Fruit Fair and Farmers Market, reminiscent of the fall fairs that used to be a culmination of the harvest and where top quality of the season's produce was displayed with justifiable pride.

Highlighting the event will be the coming of the Giant of Giant's Head. Legend has it that he stands three times as high as a tall fir tree, but experts, after studying footprints and length of stride estimate that the Giant will not stand more than 20 feet in his stocking feet, if he wears stockings.

Problem of the Board of Trade is to get the Giant to appear on the stage being prepared for him at the Memorial Park.

"C" Squadron B.C. Dragoons has already reconnoitred Giant's Head and tested radio communications.

This is a "something for everybody" show, a community and family event at which it is hoped to attract tourists to take home some of the fruit to be offered for sale in various booths.

As part of the show peaches and cream will be served and a big western style barbecue will provide hot sandwiches, so that one can comfortably spend the day at the Memorial Park Playground on Saturday, with plenty of food and entertainment and not miss a thing.

There are to be band concerts as advertised in other parts of the Review, by the Town Band, High School Band and Penticton Legion Pipe Band.

In the Arena the Horticultural Society is staging its 32nd annual Flower Show. Side by side with this, the board of trade is arranging a competitive fruit, vegetable and poultry show which should be of interest.

The arena will be open at 7 p.m., for exhibitors who wish to set up displays. The Committee will provide plates for exhibiting fruits and vegetables.

In another spot in the Arena the Summerland Art Club will have an exhibit of paintings and The Muffin Tin School of Art will show their summer work in conjunction with the adult display.

The B.C. Processors' display will be held in the Arena also, and promises to be a good one. A softball tournament will draw a large crowd in itself and the Interior Horseshoe Tournament (Continued on Page 5)

New Students Register At H. S. Aug 29-30

Any students new to the district intending to start to high school next week, or any pupils who have withdrawn and intend to re-enter high school are asked to register at the high school on Thursday and Friday of this week, August 29-30.

The principal, A. K. Macleod will be at the school from 8:30 to 3:30 both days to register these students. While it is not essential, it is desirable that parents bring a list of books to be taken home with their children.

Parents should bring a list of books to be taken home with their children. There is no need for a rush on Wednesday to obtain books, etc.

Water Rates To Be Equalized

Summerland council intends to review charges made to packing houses for water for cold storage purposes.

George Washington, manager of the Co-operative Growers' Fruit packing house, attended Tuesday's council meeting to get particulars regarding water for the new Co-operative cold storage to be erected in connection with the new packing plant.

At this time it was pointed out that local packing houses get water at one of the cheapest, if not the cheapest rate, in the Okanagan. Most industries in the Valley are charged on a consumption basis rather than a flat rate. The council will go over the situation to at least pro rate all local plants.

GIANT'S HEAD, West Summerland, from whence cometh the Giant on Saturday night August 31st.

First prize for the second successive year was won by this district exhibit from the Okanagan in the Pacific National Exhibition Horticulture show. Second and third prizes went to Peace River and Langley displays.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Don't believe everything you read in the newspapers and over the air — wait until you read it in The Review. Maybe there is a silver lining behind yon dark cloud — Full story will be told next week. Guess that's all the column for this week. See you at the Fruit Fair.

Record: Over 1,000 Commence Fall Term

Indications are that all Summerland schools will be well filled with over 1,000 boys and girls starting back on Wednesday, September 4.

High school supplementals will be written on September 3, starting at 9 a.m. J. Cooke, principal, reports that over 500 will be attending the MacDonald School, and at least 50 will go to the Trout Creek school, which means that both elementary buildings are crowded.

In the high school A. K. Macleod, principal, Oknow 52, 400 students and there may be more as last minute registrations often come. The same applies to the elementary schools as Mr. Cooke is receiving new registrations every day.

New teachers on the staff of the MacDonald School are Mrs. Lucy Douss, and Austin Rahom. Miss Joyce Elgert has been appointed to the Trout Creek teaching staff.

New staff members in the junior-senior high school are: A. Bigsby, industrial arts; Mrs. A. M. Boutbee, home economics; P. W. Mitchell, physical education; Jean Parmley, home economics; H. M. Parker, K. L. S. and Mrs. H. M. Whitfield. These are teacher replacements and three are additions.

High school students will be released early on Wednesday following registration and organization, so that pupils may obtain necessary supplies.

Method Of Collection Of Local Taxes May Change

"I Will Return"

By B.A.T.

"I will return," the Giant said,
When noisy jeeps profane the Head;
When drivers speed in gaudy cars
To spend more time in cocktail bars."
"When homes are mostly built for show
While owners to amusements go;
With taxes high and surplus made
A minuscule refund is paid."
"When all the world arms in a race
And atom blasts mushroom through space;
When millions, idling, now are seen Intent before a showy screen."
"When aeroplanes ascend so far
That angels hide behind a star;
When L.C.B. in bottles tall,
Sell water scented with alcohol."
"When things have reached this hectic stage,
It will be time to turn the page,
Re-live the virtues almost dead,
And bring the virtues back to life."

There may be changes made in the method of collecting taxes in Summerland. The council is interested in the plan in effect in Kelowna since the start of this year. By this plan ratepayers who pay all or part of their taxes before the due date receive four percent of the money paid.

Councillor Norman Holmes has been at Kelowna to see Mayor Ladd and the city clerk, G. H. Dunn, and found that as of the middle of the year over 50 percent of Kelowna's taxes were paid. This gives the city extra working capital which otherwise would be borrowed at a higher rate than the four percent paid to the taxpayer by the city.

In talking to local taxpayers regarding the scheme, Mr. Holmes found most of them agreeable to the plan. In fact, he says, many would like to see a plan whereby taxes could be paid in 12 monthly instalments. A local governing body may pass a bylaw to collect taxes in any way deemed expedient.

Progress Price; Council Problem

Ironing out a peculiar wrinkle which has occurred regarding an entrance road to a new subdivision, Summerland council heard the plea of A. W. Nisbet and Syd Hodge regarding a new subdivision planned by the former at Trout Creek.

While the subdivision was approved in principle by the council, it is served by a 20 foot road. Now all roads are 40 feet wide in the municipality, and Mr. Nisbet has been asked to purchase land from Dr. C. C. Strachan to meet the local bylaw. Mr. Nisbet's contention is that he is giving the municipality some property to comply with the bylaw and should not be asked to buy more for the purpose.

Legal advice given the council is that no subdivision plan may go through unless adequate provision is made for a road conforming to adjacent roads.

Councillor Eric Tait's opinion was that Mr. Nisbet is paying for past mistakes made some 35 years ago when the property was originally subdivided.

Centennial Grants

Centennial grants for Summerland have been approved by the provincial government on a population of 4,093.

The local was congratulated by letter from Victoria, received at Tuesday's council meeting, for the choice of a project, which is to be new library quarters for the West Summerland branch of the Okanagan Regional Library.

Cost of the project is estimated at about $7,500. As soon as the government is assured that the balance above the grant money is paid, a cheque will be sent for the grant. This assurance will be given.

The council was congratulated by letter from Victoria received the Health Centre in which the library will be located, and also has funds allocated to match the government's 60 cents per capita Centennial grant.

You Can't Vote Municipally Unless Your Name Is On The List, Sept. 30

There should be an increase in the number of voters in the next election in December, providing they get their name on the Voters' List. The new Municipal Act which came into effect July 1, makes a great many more people eligible to vote providing they file declaration with the municipal clerk before September 30.

Under terms of the new act, only those persons whose names are on the voters' list will be able to vote. However, the new act makes it possible for tenants and residents to get on the voters list.

The new act eliminates the old classification of spouse, house holder and license holder. Per- (Continued on Page 8)

A GIANT TALE

XIV.—The Founding of Honolulu
A land of sunshine far, far south
With breakers noisy roar;
They left behind a clime unkind
And saw the head no more.

The giants of ancient times
Are a prolific race and the cause of their extinction—if they are extinct—is something that has puzzled modern scientists. For the Giants did not have inflation government control or sales taxes, three things which are driving many of the present generation into an early grave. Certain facts have recently come to light which prove that our Giants' descendants still flourish on a southern island—Hawaii.

The Giant of Giant's Head had forty children so far as the records show and since he named the fourth one, Nomora, he has hope that the wish was father to the thought.

The first child, Achilles, was killed by Jack the Giant Killer, a history relates. Being a daughter, she was so called because she was loud. The third was Cunard—he liked to sail boats.
Next Darwin—he had a theory.
Eligible was the fifth and her name was appropriate. (It was she who, when asked what she wanted most for a wedding present answered, "A husband".)

Next came the famous twins, Lora and Fauna, followed by art. The latter was a clever d—he invented the garter and then always named in alphabetical order, was Hono and about him there is a tale to be told.

Hono was such a handsome boy that his youthful life was made miserable by the pursuit of the fair sex. Girls could not buy him neckties or collars in those prehistoric days but they always had ways of showing preference.

Hono was not content to settle down in the shadow of the Head.
He was ambitious. He wanted to see the world—to explore new lands beyond the far horizon. He was the Columbus of his era.

When Hono was eighteen, he gathered a group of young men of similar views around him and together they worked out a scheme to explore the Pacific Ocean. It was known that the Red Giants inhabited a land to the west so the adventurers planned that after they had left the western coast they would head south. As the birds migrated south every fall, there must be a land of warmth and sunshine in that direction.

With the Giant's blessing, the party of twenty set forth one spring. They arrived at the coast without incident and, aided by friendly Giants there, proceeded to build a boat.

The youths from the Okanagan were so manly and handsome (it is always so) that the coast girls were not going to let such prize specimens escape.
Lulu, daughter of the Chief of Lulu Island, swept young Hono off his feet (and head) by her impetuous wooing and the other boys from the Valley were as easily captured.

Before the boat was finished a mass marriage took place and then there were forty to sail into the unknown. Lest there be still further additions, preparations were speeded and on the first of November, the happy travellers set sail upon the uncharted sea in their ship which they christened the "Sunflower."

When the maze of islands near the coast had been left behind, the ship was pointed south and for two weeks, with favoring winds, they sailed without sight of land. It was a pleasant voyage. No sea serpents, no pirates, no radio.

Finally land was sighted and as they neared the shore a beautiful scene unfolded before their eyes—a shining white beach, graceful palm trees and flowers in abundance. The party landed and to celebrate their successful voyage they made garlands of flowers which they hung around each other's necks, a custom which still prevails on that same island today.

The new country was as ideal as a land of dreams. Fruit was plentiful, fish abounded in the lagoons and the climate was mild. It seemed as if an earthly paradise had been found. It was almost as good as a politician's promise.

Hono, the leader, claimed the island in the name of his father, the Giant of Giant's Head. A banner was raised upon which there was a drawing of the home mountain.

The young giants commenced to build a city, naming it by combining the name of Hono with that of his bride, Lulu.

Further information on this colony is lacking but it is be-

Come One - Come All

It's D Day plus three — three days to go before the first annual Summerland Fruit Fair opens its doors.

It is an ambitious effort, perhaps Summerland's biggest effort of this nature with the exception of the Jubilee celebrations held last year.

The objective to publicize Summerland and at the same time provide fun, frolic and profit for residents and visitors alike.

The Board of Trade has planned an interesting program of events, which should appeal to young and old, the frivolous and the more staid.

The Board of Trade is now asking the solid support of all the people of Summerland and there are, according to the last census, almost 4,000 of them.

Take in the colorful Horticultural show, the art show and Fruit Processors display in the arena. See the fruit industry films in the IOOF hall. Listen to the Summerland Band, the High School Band and the skirling pipes of the Dragoons pipe band.

Enjoy the colorful mid-way partake of peaches and cream and then fortify the inner man with barbecued beef. Join in the square dancing. Watch, if not take part, in the horse-shoe tournament, the softball tournament and, of course, don't forget on Saturday night to witness the coming of the Giant of Giant's Head.

Also remember, there is the fruit market, which we hope will be of considerable interest to the visitors within our gates.

The Summerland Board of Trade extends a hearty invitation to all to enjoy the first of what is hoped will be an annual event, featuring Summerland's produce and that legendary figure, the Giant of Giant's Head.

The Summerland Board of Trade appeals in particular to the people of Summerland, all 4,000 of them, to turn out for the big day, Saturday, August 31st.

T.V. Is Coming

With TV coming soon to the Okanagan, there is reason to give some thought to the fact that the nation's penchant for book-reading has sagged distressingly in the past few years.

There are many reasons. Certainly it is not the lack of books. The Institute of Public Opinion found recently that only 17 percent of the people today are reading a book, fact or fiction. The world's best books, too, are readily available in paperbacks.

This weak reading—the lowest proportion of any English-speaking country — is particularly lamentable in a world where the voices of propaganda are ever multiplying. A nation of mentally alert and discerning citizens is less likely to embrace the demagogue, or the blandishments of mass media and the hidden persuaders than a nation that pauses occasionally to exercise its wits with some healthy, reading diversion.

But reading as diversion is under heavy competition. Television has virtually closed many a home library. And an untold number of youngsters would be genuinely puzzled by the sight of their parents settling down quietly for an evening of book-reading. As these youngsters grow into high school and college, educators are discovering to their increasing dismay that students do not know how to read. The institute survey points out, too, that only a slim percentage of college graduates continue reading, once out of college. This does not augur well for the nation's general intelligence. Saddest fact of all, a vast source of enjoyment is being missed by those who thus disinherit themselves.

Anyone interested in local facts and legends should own a copy of C. P. Lyon's "Milestones in Ogoopogo Land". It is packed with stories of the early days. Little pen and ink sketches illustrate the book throughout.

It would be an interesting companion on any trip from the coast here or during any drives in the Valley, covering, as it does, the Hope, Princeton, Okanagan, Kamloops and Nicola areas, telling things of interest, past and present.

Mr. Lyons who is known as "Chess" was born in Regina but moved with his family to Penticton when he was a small child and obtained his schooling here. As a boy he roamed the south Okanagan hills — their fascination sometimes keeping him from classrooms, since he says on the cover of his book, "It became a matter of fine judgment of balance playing hockey against the passing requirements of high school."

He made the grades however, and later graduated from UBC in Forest Engineering.

For some time he did forest surveying, reforestation work and logging engineering, then joined the Parks Division of the B.C. Forest Service. Through this he was in many of the loveliest spots in British Columbia which strengthened his fondness for the province and the people who live in it.

He is a member of the Association of B.C. Foresters and a Senior Fellow in the American Institute of Park Executives. He has lived at Victoria since 1940. Three previous books by this author are, ("Milestones on the Mighty Fraser"; "Trees, Shrubs and Flowers to know in B.C."; and "Trees, Shrubs and Flowers to Know in Washington"). The four publications form a guide to this section of the Pacific Northwest.

"Milestones in Ogoopogo Land" should lead many people to take exploratory trips with someone in the car to read out bits which explain Indian names, stories of settlers and other things which enrich any tour.

For instance did you know that the cone-shaped husk of sumach (rhus glabra), when soft was mixed with water to make Indian lemonade? Neither did I until I read this book, and at that would you like to try it? "St. Stephen's church in Summerland," the volume says, "cannot rightly be called quaint, pretentious or modern in design. Constructed of stone in 1909, it has a simple charm and dignity that will remain a picture in the memory though it be given only a quick glance."

Quoting again, "The Mountain View Home is on a "grassy dimple" on Giant's Head, and "is in a setting that might be envied by any millionaire."

Of Trout Creek Point we read "the fertile soils of the flat were chosen in 1890 for the first commercial orchard planting in the Okanagan. The name Gartrell is still a prominent one in the vicinity, even as it was 60 or 70 years ago when James Gartrell chose this vicinity for his special attention. The Gartrell log cabin, near the foot of the Sandhills is the oldest structure in Summerland.

Since we're all agog about our particular Giant and his reappearance soon, it is apt to hear that the word "head" is embodied in the Indian word for Okanagan according to Mr. Lyons. He says "some natives believe it may refer to physical features or mean Big Head, eulogizing a people having exceptional skill and qualities. There is a good possibility it may have resulted from the numerous Big Heads fashioned in rock mountains which the Indians held in awe as special symbols. Such heads occur near Mission Creek, Westbank, Summerland, White Lake and Okanagan Falls."

Pollock - Harrison Rites

One of the loveliest weddings of the season was that, on Saturday evening, August 24, in Summerland United Church at 7 p.m., when Rose Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Harrison, West Summerland, was united in marriage with Alan Robertson Pollock, of Vancouver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel R. Pollock, 2229 East 40th Avenue, Vancouver.

Yellow and white gladioli and bronze chrysanthemums glowed in the candlelight as the double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Rands of Penticton.

Mr. Harrison gave his daughter in marriage in her portrait gown of white chromespun taffeta, the bodice of imported Chantilly lace encrusted with white sequins and pearls, and the skirt falling gracefully into a sweeping chapel train with appliques of lace, sequins and pearls. A double wedding crown with sequins and pearls held the chapel length tulle veil in place. The bridal bouquet was of white gardenias and white feathered carnations.

Presaging the autumn's golden shades the four attendants were charmingly gowned in yellow. Mrs. E. O. Henniger, Jr., of Grand Forks, was the matron of honor, Mrs. L. A. Campbell of Vancouver, the bride's sister, was bride's matron. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Barnes of Vancouver, and the little flower girl, the bride's niece, Miss Beverly Bednas of Montreal. The three senior attendants wore identical yellow nylon frocks over taffeta with yellow velvet at the waistline and crownless picture hats of matching material. They carried bouquets of Esther Reed daisies and bronze mums. The flower girl was in yellow nylon, also, with bronze and yellow flowers and a matching headdress.

Gordon Gervin of Vancouver was the best man and ushering were Ronald Thom and Larry Eckersley, both of Vancouver.

Mrs. Delmar Dupham was organist and prior to the service Mrs. L. L. Fudge sang "The Lord's Prayer". While the register was signed Mrs. Fudge sang "A Wedding Prayer".

The same flower pattern used at the church and in the bouquets of the attendants, yellow gladioli and bronze mums, graced the Japanese Hall where a reception for the 125 guests was held. The bride's parents, assisted by the groom's parents and the bridal party received.

Gracing the bride's table a three-tiered wedding cake was enhanced with candles on either side and flowers in golden tones. The cake was cut with an heirloom knife belonging to the groom's grandmother.

W. K. Dowds of Summerland was master of ceremonies and L. A. Lewis of Kelowna proposed a toast to the bride with the groom responding.

Marcel Bonhoux's orchestra provided music and the father and the uncle of the groom played the bag pipes, piping out the bride and groom.

For motoring along the Oregon coast to San Francisco and the southern States the bride wore an attractively smart beige sheath with matching jacket accented with avocado green and white polka dot cummerbund, avocado and beige accessories

Summerland Macs Drop Both Ends Of Doubleheader Against Okonots

Summerland Macs dropped both ends of a double header to the Kamloops Okonots here Sunday losing the first game 5-2 and the second game 7-1.

Summerland is now definitely out of the playoffs and it appears that OMBL president Leo McKinnon of Oliver may be in possession of a king-size headache with the playoffs looming in the near future—slated for September 8, if things work out.

*First problem is the Kelowna Orioles situation. They have one game to play, with a win meaning the league title, and a loss meaning a tie for top with Oliver. This is a game with the Summerland Macs, now knocked out of competition.

The Oliver club is sitting on the fence in second spot, with the above mentioned possibility of a tie for top their only possibility for change.

WHO'S ON THIRD

The Penticton club is in third but have two games to play—against Princeton and Vernon. Two wins could tie them with Oliver, one win would consolidate them in third spot. However, a win in both games, plus a Kelowna loss would result in top spot—and a king-size headache for president McKinnon.

The only safe and sane club is the Oliver nine, definitely in fourth place, after knocking off Summerland in both ends of a crucial double header.

Ten American missionaries were deported to Puerto Rico from the Dominican Republic August 3, J. R. Prior, presiding minister of the Summerland congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced Sunday. Action came on the heels of a wave of persecution equaled only in Communist countries' climaxed by a total ban proscribing the work of Bible education conducted by the Witnesses in the Dominican Republic since 1954.

Valley TV Station To Be Operating By Sept. 21, Network Almost Ready

Television in the Okanagan will soon be a reality, and CHBC-TV, the valley's network, should begin operating on schedule, according to managing director Roy Chapman.

Deadline for completion of the entire setup is September 21. The company's 6,400 square foot square in Kelowna will be ready for use by the end of August, Mr. Chapman said. Work on the construction of satellite stations in Vernon and Penticton is now underway. The transmitter on top of Blue Grouse Mountain has already been installed. Television will be transmitted from the Kelowna headquarters microwaved across Lake Okanagan to Blue Grouse Mountain, and from there sent on Channel 2 to transmitter in Vernon and Penticton where it will be boosted to channels 7 and 13.

LOCAL RECEPTION For the most part, Mr. Chapman said, local reception could be covered by the use of indoor antennae.

Reception will be free of charge apart from the initial cost of the television set. No licence is required.

Present TV program schedules call for viewing Monday to Saturdays from 4:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. and Sundays from 1:30 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Programs will be similar to those carried by television stations in Calgary and Edmonton, and viewing hours will be enlarged as the company progresses.

Arrangements are being made to handle some of the top-flight U.S. and Canadian television programs.

These films are syndicated throughout the country and appear on networks usually one week after being shot.

As soon as the trans-Canada micro wave link is completed, the TV company will be able to carry network shows.

Planned each day from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. is a live show. Included in the hour will be local broadcasts, sports and weather roundups.

LOCAL TALENT Local talent will occupy one-half hour of the program each day.

A spokesman for CHBC-TV said announcement of shows to be carried will be made early in September.

CHBC-TV is jointly owned by the three valley radio stations, Vernon, Penticton and Kelowna. Among the well known TV announcers at work at the station will be Stan Lotner, recently of CFUN in Vancouver, and Al Jordan of CKWX. In Kelowna sales manager will be Dick Sharp, formerly of the Penticton Herald.

The studio will have one film camera, a live camera, and seven cameras. Approximately 15 persons will be employed in various capacities around the studio, increasing to 40 in several years' time, Mr. Chapman predicts.

Marshall-Hoffman Wedding A Late-Afternoon Ceremony

Gladioli in all their lovely shades arranged with tapers were the decorations in the United Church on Saturday afternoon, August 24 for the marriage of Pauline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoffman to Kenneth Marshall, son of Thomas Marshall of Linaria, Alberta.

The ceremony performed by Rev. Ernest Bands of Penticton took place at five o'clock in the presence of about 78 guests. The pretty dark-haired bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white, nylon wedding gown posed over taffeta softly misted by a finger-tip veil. She carried a nosegay of pink roses surrounded by pink carnations and white lace, tied with ribbon streamers.

Miss Evelyn and Miss Rosalie Hoffman attended their sister as maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively. The former wore a waltz-length pink formal gown with a pink feather bandeau and carried glads in violet tones. The latter wore yellow net over taffeta with a bandeau of white feathers.

Travis Marshall was the best man and Doug Taylor ushered. Mrs. Delmar Dunham was the organist and Miss Ruth Schindel of Penticton sang "A Marriage Prayer."

sons who voted under these classifications in previous elections are now being advised that their names are being taken off the voters' list, they must reapply under the new classification, THREE CLASSIFICATIONS

The new act lists three classifications of persons entitled to vote. There are owner-electors, tenant-electors, and resident-electors.

Owner-electors, listed as property-owners under the old act, are the registered owners of real property in Summerland. These persons do not have to file any declaration to be put on the voters' list. Their names will be automatically recorded on the list as received from the Land Registration Office at Kamloops.

Tenant-electors and resident-electors of their status on or before September 30th. To qualify as tenant-electors a person must be a British subject 21 years of age or over and must have been renting premises in the municipality for at least six months prior to the date of the declaration.

To qualify as resident-electors a person must be a British subject 21 years of age or over who has lived in Summerland as a roamer, boarder, head of a family, or member of a family for at least six months prior to the date of the declaration.

The declaration for use of tenant-electors and resident-electors can be obtained free of charge from the municipal hall. They can be completed before the clerk.

must be submitted within 30 days from the date they were completed.

It is important to note that the voters' list closed on September 30 instead of the October 30th deadline which prevailed in the past.

It is also emphasized that only those persons whose names are on the voters' list will be allowed to vote.

Persons will no longer be allowed to vote by merely appearing at the poll and presenting evidence that they are qualified. Their names must be on the voters' list.

Names of companies registered as property owners will not be put on the list unless the companies have named agents to vote on their behalf. These authorities must also be filed at the municipal hall by September 30.
