

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Hello, sniff, everybody, sniff, sniff, atchoo-o-o-o-o. You're no sicker of my cold than I am. Of all the girl friends I ever had, none clung tighter than this cold.

I've been battling this flu bug five weeks now and the end is not yet in sight — sniff, sniff.

Feeling so miserable I thought nothing could rouse me but an irate parent crashed into the office the other day and thrust a billet-doux from the school board under my nose. Said billet-doux informed sundry parents that, as of December 2, the school bus would not stop at Russel's and Wilson's on Highway 97 and that no conveyance will be provided for children who formerly embarked at these stops.

Overcrowding on the bus is the reason for the edict. Obvious remedy is to have the bus make another swing — obvious answer from the school board is that it is too costly.

Department of Education will only pay so much it won't pay to transport children from within a two-and-a-half mile limits. School Board looks askance at adding more to the budget it must submit to the municipality.

Frankly I don't go along with penny pinching on student transportation.

It is too far for kids, especially the real small fry, to walk two-and-a-half miles to school. And, of more concern than the distance is the danger.

A highway without a sidewalk and on a steep grade and a 50 mph speed limit is dangerous for any pedestrian and particularly for small fry, especially these winter days.

We're spending so much on education so much of it on frills that it seems we should be able to afford to transport the kids to school.

I don't go along with the argument that, "when I was a boy I walked five miles to school every day, and often in 40 below zero weather."

I know a lot of today's adults did just that — but by the same token they used outside toilets, whereas today they use the bathroom no one suggests because they used the backhouse when they were kids not to mention Eaton's catalogue in 40 below zero weather, that they should do so now.

By the same token when they were kids they used to have to run messages for the neighbor, today they use the telephone. Point is that all that stuff about how far I walked to school when I was a kid hasn't got any bearing on the subject today. Automobiles have revolutionized a lot of things. Toddlers shouldn't have to face highways going to school.

I don't know what the cost of another flip around with the school bus would be to solve the present problem in Summerland but I'm sure the cost would be sanctioned by the ratepayers, if the matter was presented to them.

Schools were centralized in the interests of efficiency and economy, but if that is a forward move, it shouldn't mean we have to put the clock back and put the kids back in the days of the little red school house when they dragged their feet miles along country lanes but mind you the only traffic danger then was from dobbin.

So, now we have Rutland growers coming up with the bright suggestion that officers of the BCFGA be elected by grower ballot. That resolution should get short shrift when it comes to the floor of the BCFGA convention, maybe its sponsors will have enough sense to withdraw it.

The Rutland growers argue that the present method of convention election isn't democratic. That is just about as stupid an argument I've heard in many a long day.

It is true that officers are elected by the convention, but they are elected by the delegates to the convention and the delegates to the convention are instructed by their locals at the annual meetings of the local, who to vote for.

Most BCFGA locals have already held their meetings and every one has nominated the men it wants in office. That is election from the grass roots and is democratic in theory and in practice.

If growers are too indifferent to what is going on to attend the meetings of their locals then they have nothing to complain about.

In a democracy it is the people who vote who elect governments, but to vote, people have to make the journey to the polls. If they can't take the trouble then they can't or shouldn't kick at the government they get.

Likewise every registered grower has the opportunity to vote for the men he wants to run his affairs. If he doesn't want to exercise that privilege by attending the meetings of his local — it's just too bad — but that's democracy.

An attendance of 78 percent at practices is the record of Summerland's Volunteer Fire Brigade as reported by Councillor F. M. Steuart at the annual ratepayers' meeting. There were 21 practices so far this year.

New Insurance Office Opened In S'land

During the weekend The McAndless Insurance Co. of Pen-ticton opened an office here in the Lockwood Building located on Hastings St.

T. W. Campbell of West Summerland will be in charge of the office which will be open during the usual business hours. Mrs. McAndless will be in the Summerland office each Thursday.

Auxiliary Holds December Meeting

The December meeting of the Summerland Hospital Auxiliary was held Monday evening in the Parish Hall with the president, Mrs. Earle Wilson, in the chair. There were 22 members present.

Mrs. A. Crawford reported that the linen and chinaware had arrived and the meeting authorized the ordering of four bedside tables.

Doreen Tait reported the Horticultural Society will make floral decorations for the Christmas trays for the patients in the hospital. Miss Tait also reported that the potted bulbs are ready and may be obtained in time for the Christmas season.

Summerland Box Factory Sold Now Under New Management

For the fourth time firefighters across Canada, on their off-duty time, are marching for Muscular Dystrophy, the mystery cripple which afflicts 10,000 Canadians. Object of the annual march is to raise funds for increased medical research and patient services. Here Captain Bird shows Frank Smallwood, 13, a victim of the disease, how banners will be displayed on fire trucks. (Photo by Robert Crane)

Summerland's box factory, one of the major industries of Summerland changed hands this week.

The factory which has been owned and operated by the Steuart family since 1925 was purchased by the S. and D. Holdings Company. The company also owns the Oliver sawmills.

Announcement of the sale was made by Bud Steuart who relinquished control of the factory on Monday to Merv Davis, general manager of the S. and D. Holdings Company.

Mr. Steuart expects to continue to reside in Summerland and continue his activities here.

Mr. Davis told the Review that his company considers the box factory a good investment and they hope as soon as the lumber market returns to stability to plan for expansion.

"The company fully realizes what the factory means to the economy of Summerland and will do everything in its power to avoid a shutdown," Mr. Davis told the Review.

Family Night Big Success

"Family Night" with spaghetti and meatballs thrown in, attracted more than 300 to the Youth Centre last Friday night.

The affair was sponsored by the Youth Centre Association to raise funds for overhead expenses. Scouts and Guides assisted in serving while members of the executive and leaders, Mrs. C. E. Piers, Mrs. W. M. Toevs, Mrs. C. Meadows and Miss Doreen Tait were also kept busy helping.

W. M. Toevs was master of ceremonies. Following supper John Tamblin led in a spirited sing-song, with Mrs. L. L. Fudge, pianist. John Betuzzi played trumpet solo accompanied by his daughter, Miss Linda Betuzzi. David Woolliams and Don McArthur showed pictures of the World Scout Jamboree which they attended this summer in England.

Candy, popcorn and bird-houses, were sold in booths and there was a fishpond for the gala night.

Fred Lenzi and his daughter, Mrs. Amerigo Roschiccioli prepared the spaghetti, meatball supper.

Junior Red Cross Gives Viewmaster

June Blagborne and Herbie Wilson were proud bearers of gifts this week.

Representing the Junior Red Cross, the two youngsters presented the newly created handicapped children's school in Summerland with a viewmaster and screen.

Funeral Services Held Today For H. D. McIntyre

Mr. Henry Duncan McIntyre of West Summerland, 84 years of age, passed away in Summerland Hospital November 30.

He is survived by three brothers: Witt of Roblin, Manitoba, John of Nipawin, Saskatchewan, and Owen of Kelowna, B.C. A half-brother, Frank and a half-sister, Mrs. Emily Kellett, both of Haliburton, Ontario.

Funeral services for the late Mr. McIntyre were conducted from St. Andrew's United Church, Summerland, Wednesday, December 4th at 2 p.m., Rev. C. O. Richmond officiating. Interment Peach Orchard Cemetery, Roselawn Funeral Home entrusted with arrangements.

Acclamations For All Civic Vacancies Here

Summerland's municipal administrators received a vote of confidence this week when, as nominations closed on Monday, not a single name was put forward in challenge to the three incumbents seeking re-election. Returned by acclamation are Reeve F. E. Atkinson, and Councillors Francis M. Steuart and Eric Tait.

All three are veterans of council. Reeve Atkinson served on the council from 1945 until he assumed the Reeveship in 1954. Councillor Steuart entered the municipal council in 1950 and has served continuously ever since. Councillor Eric Tait served from 1946 to 1951, then dropped out until pressed back into service in 1953 and dropped out again to re-enter council last year.

T. S. Manning was re-elected by acclamation to the school board and Kenneth L. Bopthe was elected by acclamation to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of the chairman, Ross McLachlan.

E. K. Bennett, former secretary of the parks board, succeeds T. H. Brown as parks commissioner.

Indicative of the confidence held in the administrators was the sustained applause and vote of confidence which the officials received at last week's stewardship meeting, one of the best attended in many years.

Finances of Summerland municipality are in good shape, Councillor Norman Holmes reported to the largest ratepayers' meeting held here in years last Wednesday night.

The meeting was followed by a vote of thanks to the reeve and council and a hearty round of applause for the good accounting given in all departments of the corporation.

Mr. Holmes mentioned the high total of tax collections and said that although the domestic and irrigation sections and electrical department had been over-expended, overall financing would practically balance.

Major unusual expenditures were increased council remuneration, higher administrative costs, extra fire protection and equipment, greater health expenses, higher police protection costs, library tax costs and big payments under the Sheep Protection Act. These had all contributed to a larger budget during the past year and are not expected to recur next year.

MORE FOR EDUCATION
Mr. Holmes said that while the increase in taxes was over $15,000 this was balanced by school needs of almost the same amount, but he commented, "If we raise families we must educate them."

He spoke of prepayment of taxes which he advocated earlier in the year with four per cent interest paid to those who pay their taxes in advance. As chairman of the finance committee he believed it sounder to do this than to borrow money and pay interest for it. In Kelowna this has been successful for a number of years. Suggestion was that taxes might even be paid in 12 monthly payments.

Nov. Bldg. Permits Total $279,000

Summerland building figures took a tremendous jump last month thanks to a $279,000 permit taken out for the new Summerland Co-operative Packing Plant. This figure was substantially increased by seven permits to the value of $42,000 for seven new dwellings and three permits for alterations and additions to the amount of $500.

The impressive November building permit total $321,500.

This brings the total permits for the eleven months of this year to $710, 430, which building inspector Roy Angus describes as a tidy amount for a small community.

In November last year building permits totalled only $14,600 and the total for the first eleven months of 1956 stood at $44,415.

Without the new Co-op plant it can be said that building in 1957 has kept pace with last year.

School Population Like Topsy It Just Grows

"If every business expanded like school business, everything would be moving rapidly," remarked R. S. McLachlan, school board chairman in giving his annual report to Summerland ratepayers' meeting last week.

School population has jumped from 960 last year to 1,032 this year, with four more teachers added to the staff making a total of 39. The budget is over a quarter of a million and expected to go higher next year, the chairman said.

The elementary school opened in September of last year in Trout Creek, is so overcrowded that a new room is to be added for use in the fall of 1958. It is expected that an addition to the MacDonald elementary school will be necessary within two years since two basement rooms are in use now.

The school board has money for the Trout Creek school addition from debenture funds, Mr. McLachlan added, but said it was hopeful that next year's government formula may lighten the school financial burden for the taxpayers.

CARS Drive Here Realizes $940

Summerland's response to the appeal for funds in the annual Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society drive was again excellent, with $940.10 being raised.

This was about the amount raised last year Mrs. Lloyd Shannon convener of the drive reported. The drive is staged annually by the Faith Robekah Lodge No. 32, assisted by the Oddfellows.

Pictured above is George Brake, Engineers, UBC, who won a cross country race held at UBC recently. Over 260 runners started the race with only 170 finishing. George is a former student at Summerland High School, where he took a keen interest in sports. He placed in several of the track meets held up and down the Valley and always held a prominent place in trackmeets within the school.

Frosted Trees And Candles At United Church Bazaar

Summerland United Church Hall was beautifully decorated with frosted Christmas trees and coloured lights, over which hovered Christmas cherubs when the Women's Association of the Church, of which Mrs. J. C. Wilcox is president, held their annual bazaar, Saturday, November 30. A dainty tea was served at tables centred with red candles and evergreens. The decorations had been arranged by Mrs. W. Durick and Mrs. D. Wilson.

Convening the tea was Mrs. C. L. Wright. Pouring were Mrs. A. C. Fleming, and Mrs. R. Chapman.

Mrs. J. Marshall convened the Home Baking Table and was assisted by Mrs. R. Oxley. Mrs. J. Mayne, Mrs. C. Morgan and Mrs. J. Holman.

Mrs. Geo. Washington looked after the knitting, Mrs. C. McKenzie and Mrs. A. Robertson the Fancy Work.

The aprons were convened by Miss M. Ritchie and assisting her were Mrs. W. Ward, Mrs. K. Boothland and Mrs. W. R. Chalmers.

Helping Mrs. C. Campbell with novelties were Mrs. L. Fudge and Mrs. A. Crawford.

The children enjoyed fishing in the Pond where Mrs. R. McLachlan and Mrs. G. Smith were in charge.

Mrs. A. Kean together with some of her CGIT girls sold candy.

All stalls were kept busy throughout the afternoon and a very successful sale was reported.

Faith Rebekah Holds Successful Bazaar

The Summerland IOOF Hall was the scene of a very successful bazaar and tea last Saturday afternoon. Members of Faith Rebekah Lodge, No. 32, were well pleased with the large turn-out.

Chrysanthemums with bright Christmas decorations added to the gay atmosphere of the attractive displays of homecooking and suggestive articles for the Yuletide season.

The social event was opened by Mrs. W. L. Brown, Noble Grand. Mrs. J. H. Dunsdon convened the annual event.

A pretty table lamp was won by Miss Maida Morrill, and Ken Heales won the doorprize, a woolen blanket.

Convenors for the various stalls were: fancy work, Mrs. Charles Denke, Mrs. William Snow, candy, Mrs. Frank Ben-nison, Mrs. S. H. Dunsdon; homecooking, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson. Mrs. H. R. J. Richards, Mrs. Ivar Nilson; rummage, Mrs. John Caldwell, Mrs. Harvey Mitchell; aprons, Mrs. J. Rain-cock; Mrs. George Inglis, and tea, Mrs. Jack Young, assisted by Mrs. H. Lemke, Mrs. J. L. Brown, Mrs. H. H. Dunsdon and Mrs. Leslie Gould.

Shopping Around

by Mrs. A. F. CRAWFORD

The Hunting Widows can have a sigh of relief to have their men home safe and sound again. Also Mrs. Deer will be glad to know the Old Man and Junior are safe for another year.

It seems the take was not too good, with not many hunters bringing home the baron. However, a good time was had by all and they really didn't care whether they got a deer or not — they keep saying — and their wives, in most instances are jolly glad they won't have to think up ways to cook the meat so that the family will eat it.

At any rate wild game won't seriously compete with the turkey trade at Christmas time and turkeys will be in good supply with prices expected to be much the same as last year.

To make the dressing a little easier there's a prepared stuffing on the grocer's shelf. The directions say to use it as is, but the seasoning is strong enough so that it can be added to bread crumbs, making the required quantity and eliminating much of the work at a very busy time. There are two kinds — one a Parsley and Thyme — the other Sage and Osius. A bit of chopped celery could be added if desired.

There's a pyrex syringe type of baster that should make the job of basting a lot easier, too. Cover turkey with a cloth wrung out of the water and melted butter used for basting and armed with this baster, it should be easy to keep your turkey well moistened during cooking.

Well ladies, this column started off with a boom but didn't quite finish the way it should have. Now though, nearing Christmastime, would be a good time to start again. The idea is to exchange your favorite recipe with some of the other readers. If you would like to send it along we'll be more than happy to publish it.

This week our favorite recipe was chosen by Mrs. A. Doney Wilson who lives on the Front Bench, and is busy raising a family of four, so finds this Quick Peanut Slice just the thing for a quick dessert.

QUICK PEANUT SLICE

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in an 8x8 pan and set aside. Break 2 eggs into bowl and beat well. Add 1 packed cup of brown sugar, 5 tsp. flour, ½ cup cocoanut, ½ cup ground peanuts, f.g. salt, vanilla, and ½ tsp. soda. Mix well and pour into buttered pan. DO NOT STIR. Bake 20 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

Let's Chat

Hello ladies! That 'white stuff' has arrived and with a wild flurry the kids are out throwing snowballs, making snowmen and even rolling in the delightful stuff.

Just like the kids, my kitten Sailor and Mrs. John Bentley's Tim, were rolling in it, jumping at the bigger flakes as they fell gracefully to the ground and even flicking it in each others snow covered faces. I watched with amusement as they clumsily climbed into an oval-shaped clothes basket — half filled with snow and doused themselves as though they were having a bath. Then they would run in and out in dizzy circles trying hard to get the whole neighbourhood's attention.

As Sailor, the tubbier of the two, tried to craftily sneak up on Tim he was caught in a surprise attack of snow which fell from a nearby crabapple tree. He gazed skyward as if to say, "Who did it?" and then continued on his attack.

As if trying to get even with Sailor for the last mittful of snow he had received in his face, Tim hid carefully behind a tall weed then caught Sailor's attention. When Sailor jumped, he was slapped in the face by the snow covered weed and literally covered from head to foot with "white stuff."

The really had fun romping and playing in it though even if they were a bit wet when they came to take refuge in the house.

Pensioners

HUMANE TREATMENT OF ANIMALS

Your Member of Parliament and many Members in Ottawa have received letters from their constituencies complaining of the cruel slaughter of animals. Public anger against this cruelty has been growing across Canada for some months now. It is only proper that federal legislation should be introduced at the earliest date requiring that all animals must be rendered unconscious in a humane and proper manner before being killed for food.

The Minister of Agriculture reported to the House on October 30th last that the question is under study by a Joint Committee of the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the Meat Packers Council of Canada. The services of a top-ranking veterinary research officer of the Department of Agriculture has been put at the disposal of the Committee to assist it at its study. The Government feels that until this Committee has reported, it should not make any recommendations to the House.

On November 27, 1957, the Minister of Justice reported to the House that about ten days to two weeks prior to that date the Government met with the Committee, which has been working in Ontario, and it examined very fully the contents of their report and the results of their investigations. He went on to say that the Government at the moment is continuing studies of the matter because it recognizes the great seriousness of the problem and the importance attached to it by so many people.

Apparently, one of the chief reasons why the legislation has not heretofore been introduced is because of the question of either ethnic or religious procedure in slaughter intervenes and is used as an excuse for exemptions. We know that for years now humane killing has been established by law in many countries of Western Europe and in Britain and has proved workable. I understand that one of the largest packing plants in the United States has been using humane killing methods for five years and by carrying on a successful business have proved that cruelty in the slaughter of animals is not necessary.

It is up to the Government to introduce the desired legislation without delay. I suggest you write letters to the Minister of Justice and the Minister of Agriculture urging them to give this matter their prompt attention as it is definitely their responsibility to introduce the bill to the House of Commons. In the meantime, I know that Members of Parliament, including myself, will fight for effective legislation which is long overdue.

Pioneer Days

50 YEARS AGO

Nomination day is fixed for the 8th of January, and elections on the following Saturday, the 13th.

Mr. Fred Demuth, lumber operator and mill owner west of here on the K.V.R., was admitted to Vancouver General Hospital. His son, Dr. Otto Demuth, a graduate of McGill, home on sick leave after being wounded at the front, accompanied him.

Statistics Tell A Story

Figures released by the Summerland General Hospital Board last week disclosed that almost 1,000 persons, men, women and children of Summerland, required hospitalization during the past year. This is rather an astounding number representing as it does almost a fourth of the population of the municipality.

Statistics, cold as they are, can still tell a story and the statistics given in the foregoing paragraph tell, and forcibly, of the importance of a hospital to any community.

Unfortunately Summerland's own hospital is not as well patronized as it might be with only 60 per cent of those requiring hospital treatment during the past year using the Summerland hospital.

It would be absurd to expect a 100 per cent patronization of the local hospital as there are cases requiring specialized treatment that is only available in large centres but it is reasonable to expect a much larger percentage of admittances to the Summerland hospital.

Bear in mind that it would not take much of an effort in the current percentage of patronization to force the Summerland Hospital to close its doors.

It is of course, unthinkable that a community of 4,000 people should be without a hospital — but Summerland Hospital requires more local patronage than heretofore if it is going to keep operating with the maximum of efficiency and giving the maximum of service.

A community is like a lot of other things — it cannot exist without support — if Summerland people went to Kentleton for church rather than attend their own churches, our churches would soon close their doors.

Likewise, if Summerland folk did most of their shopping in other and larger centres and through the mail order houses the Summerland business district would cease to exist and, eventually the community would fall apart.

The moral of all this, of course, is that wherever possible Summerland people should support Summerland institutions — including the hospital.

ORCHARD RUN

By Wally Smith

As a suggestion that might help solve the problem of cee grade sales the Oliver Local BCFGA will present a resolution at the next annual convention of fruit growers

The resolution was passed at the annual meeting of the Oliver local Nov. 21. It would simply eliminate the term "cee grade" and call it something else, such as "choice", or "Economy", or "household" grade.

OPPROBIUM
 In support of the proposed change it is argued that "cee" grade is a term that has fallen into disrepute, and that it tends to disparage a product that has a lot of merit, a product that would sell more readily were it not for its opprobrious handle.

I see little hope for stimulating the sale of cee grade apples through this simple expedient of calling them by another name. A rose by any other name would smell as sweet, and a cee grade apple by any other name would look and taste no better.
 "Call them 'choice' or 'economy' they still will look the same poorly colored, unattractive apples they were before they went through the purification treatment at the BCFGA convention.

LOOKS COUNT
 Eye appeal, we are told, is the most important factor in food store sales today. The customer buys largely by appearance, especially fruits and vegetables. Even packaged goods require a bright, attractive wrapper or label to catch the customer's eye.
 Eye appeal is something an extra fancy apple has abundance, but cee grade hasn't got it and that's the principal reason cee grade is so difficult to sell.

A LOSER
 Our only permanent solution to the cee grade problem is to quit growing this poor quality fruit that nobody wants. It may be fine for the processing plant but the grower loses money on every box of process apples.

The fact must be faced that to stay in business the apple grower will have to virtually eliminate the growing of cee grade fruit by a combination of the best orchard practice and the use of new and more highly colored strains of apples.

HOW TO DO?
 It's the latter step that is going to be the most difficult — how to make a switch-over to the new red strains with a minimum of pain. I wish I knew, for I have my own cee grade problem — not a big one but serious enough to require attention.

For most growers the change-over will probably come gradually, but it now seems fairly obvious that the sooner it comes about the sooner the grower will put his operation on a sound basis.
 Orchard squirrels and gaffes and bulk handling will help cut production costs, but all these are of no avail unless the grower produces the kind of fruit the customer wants. If he can't buy it from the Okanagan grower he's going to buy it elsewhere.

Dances in the area on Saturday night were well attended when the Macs meet the Penticton Promenaders held on their regular class night with Arena.

A very enjoyable evening of dancing to local callers was under the able direction of Bob McMoreland, who turned out a very creditable job. At Peachland, Les Boyer in charge of the evening's entertainment and about nine squares gathered to enjoy the play and the Macs have won the both games.

Summerland Midgets Just Can't Get Going, Lose to Vernon 9-3

by Bob Graham

Summerland cannot seem to get started in their midget league. Part of this is due to the lack of a good experienced coach for the boys but most of it is due to lack of league experience.

In the game played at Summerland Jubilee Arena on Wednesday, Nov. 27, Summerland lost by the lopsided score of 9-3 at the hands of the Vernon midgets. Vernon has, I understand, a coach that has played for the Vancouver Canucks and their boys have experience.

The scoring in the first period was Vernon midgets 3, Summerland midgets no score. It was all Vernon as Morris banged in the first goal of the game at the thirty second mark of the first period on a pass from Ouchi and Sakakibara. Then at the two minute mark McCall tallied for Vernon on a three man rush from Sturn and Gunn. Summerland then held the hard skating visitors scoreless for fifteen minutes but Sakakibara scored at 17:03 on a pass from Ouchi. At 19:13 Bob Sheeley of Summerland got a penalty for slashing as Summerland tried frantically to catch up to the visitors.

The Summerland midgets came out in the second frame with a different outlook as Martin Shannon scored unassisted at the 32 ark. But, Vernon outscored them four o two. Vernon's Wayn Morris also scored unassisted at the eleven minute mark. Three and one-half minutes later at 14:30, Hamilton of Vernon scored with the assist going to McDowell. Then about a minute later they scored again and it was Von Dresor assisted by our friend Sakabara. Warren Parker of Summerland scored our second goal of the evening on a pass from Gillard and Rennie at the 16:00 minute mark. But Vernon again scored at 19:22 as McCall notched one on a pass from Samartino and Freeman to end a clean hard-fought period.

A few players began to get hot headed in the third period as the tempo of the game increased. Warren Parker of Summerland got a major penalty for fighting along with Dale Gunn of Vernon who earned the same time in the sin bin at 7:03 of the third period. Samartino scored from McCall at the ten minute mark. Then McCall got his "hat trick" at 13:50 on a three man rush with only one man back. Rennie of Summerland scored at 17:41 from Gillard and Warren Parker for the last goal of the game. The final score. Vernon Midgets nine; Summerland midgets three.

Bowling News

Hats off to all league members who so generously contributed to the "March of Dimes" blow-pot this week! The final figure was $13.25 collected in the blow-pot! In league play this week the Occidentals and the Misfits split their game; the Hilltoppers took 3 points off the Minnie-Ha-Ha's; the Canco's beat the Aylmer Cocktails by 3 to 1; the Diehards won out over the Westbankers by 3 to 1; the Baby Austins split their game with the Cackleberries; the Tooters took all 4 points off the Slo-Mo's; the Legionnaires split their game with the Whizbanys; the Pioneer Feeds took 4 points off the Vikings and the Tweeters took 4 points off the Spitfires.

League standings to date are:

Baby Austins	22
Diehards	21
Legionnaires	20
Occidentals	20
Slo-Mo's	19
Cackleberries	19
Pioneer Feeds	19
Whiz Bangs	17
Tweeters	17
Misfits	16
Westbankers	15
Tooters	15
Spitfires	14
Canco's	14
Vikings	13
Minnie-Ha-Ha's	12
Hilltoppers	11
Aylmer Cocktails	4

Nan Thornthwaite won the ladies high single with a 287 and George Taylor (from Penticton) rolled a beautiful 355 to take the men's high single. George is now eligible to choose one of the 15 merchandise certificates available to those in the 350 and above class - congratulations! Alma Lelke bowled a 679 to win the ladies high three and Foster Cunningham came through with 747 to take the men's high three! The Occidentals and the Pioneer Feeds tied for the high team this week each having a total of 2731 pins. Sepha Hoskins bowled a 119 his week which was the Hidden Score for the week!

Of interest to all bowlers in Summerland Kay Smith, Don Clark, Foster Cunningham and Ashley Austin have entered the 27 game playoffs in Penticton in hopes to be chosen to represent the Okanagan at the 5-Pin playoffs at Regina next Easter.

More news, views and comments next week!

POWER USE ZOOMING
Reporting for the electrical department, Councillor Eric M. Tait, related the greatly increased use of electricity here. Fifty-two ranges were installed this year up to the end of October, 85 hot water heaters and nine space heating units. Altogether there are 546 electric ranges in Summerland, 663 hot water heaters and 42 space heating arrangements, as well as other types of electric installations.

THIS WEEK'S SPECIAL

tions. Total consumption by the end of last month was 7,533,878 kwt hours. In one month there were over 836,000 kwts used. From January to October of this year, an increase of 11.7 per cent in consumption was reported even though the Summerland Co-operative Growers' packinghouse, one of the largest users, was not in operation this summer.

PERSONNEL CHANGES
Major department changes were putting the department under the works' superintendent, K. M. Blagborne, the retirement of the electrician, George Graham, because of poor health, and promotion of Gordon Blewett to the electrician's position.

Mr. Tait said that negotiations with the IBEW took up more time in this department than any other one thing. He reported that as of January 1 twenty-seven out of 29 municipal employees will be under the MSA on a 50-50 contributory basis.

Future improvement was seen in the Trout Creek-Paradise Flat line, and the engineer is to be here shortly to survey this system which needs increased delivery.

Switching from metal to concrete flumes is underway in Summerland. It is hoped to put the whole irrigation system into concrete soon, Councillor F. M. Steuart reported to Thursday evening's annual ratepayers' meeting. Use of concrete has cut maintenance of this type of flume to a minimum he said.

Mentioning the nine dams on Trout Creek and the four on Aeneas Creek which supply water to Summerland, it was noted that all had been checked this year with work done on several.

During the year 3,000 feet of domestic water pipe was laid and 48 new connections made. Due to the wet summer, demands were not as great on the system, but if the weather were hot some restrictions might have had to be made on lawn sprinklers, Mr. Steuart said.

WATER RATE BOOST
As of Jan. 1 there is to be an increase of 50 cents per month in domestic water rates, the first rise in years.

Questions were asked regarding the proposed Trout Creek domestic water system, and it was reported that Tessie and Son of Vernon are surveying this problem now. There was a suggestion that a tank to serve the area might be installed just below the E. F. Smith property on Trout Creek Canyon. This would give gravity water. If there were a marked increase in population, water could be fed into the tank from the large pipe at the box factory. The water would be chlorinated.

SMOOTH OPERATION

W. B. Powell, councillor chairman of roads, reported smooth working in the department and gave praise to K. M. Blagborne, superintendent. Mr. Powell said the policy during the year had been to get the roads in shape for surfacing, rather than a blacktopping program.

Damage done to roads when the Inland Natural Gas Co. laid pipes, was repaired by local crews with the company paying for it. Complete blacktopping of the alley by the United Church was paid for by the gas company, Mr. Powell reported.

Safe Driving Week Is Now

THIS WEEK is Safe-Driving Week.

Sponsored by Canadian Safety Conference each year at this time, December 1st to 7th has been chosen for an all-out campaign in reducing the 'savagely' toll on the nation's highways.

The campaign has the active support of all organizations and bodies in its dual targets:

- To reduce the number of accidents and deaths in traffic during the week of the campaign;
- To forcefully and sharply bring to the attention of the motorist and pedestrian the basic fact that he — the individual — is the only one with the power to prevent traffic accidents and fatalities.

The challenge is yours. Be out to stop accidents not just this week but every week.

Where Your Dollar Has More Cents

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

December 13 and a Friday too. No. I'm not superstitious. Mind you I take sensible precautions, such as not walking under ladders, turning back when my path is crossed by a black cat and throwing a pinch of salt over my shoulder when salt is spilled, but that's not being superstitious, that's just playing safe.

I must admit though, to feeling uneasy on the days when 13 and Friday combine in unholy alliance on the calendar. The cross-eyed look I get on such days — and this Friday is one of them — dates back to pre-war days — pre-war II.

Those days I was pounding out a skimpy living by freelancing. My home was on a dinky little island, a two acre rock and bush pile in the Gulf of Georgia. So to add to my experience grist for the writing mill and to add a few dollars to the cheque I bought a boat and went fishing. I didn't know much about boats then and the one I bought, the "Dixie", a 27 footer sat so high out of the water that if a man on a neighboring boat just happened to spit overboard the resultant ripple would set her to rolling. Still, she looked nifty in her grey and white paint; black and white trolling poles with yours truly at the wheel.

"the throb of the screw beneath him and the wide blue sea outside."

Came an early morning in June and I mean early. About 2:30 a.m., and I was chugging out of Rouse's Bay on Lasquita Island. Trick is to get your lines in the water before the first crack of dawn, hence the ungodly hour. The day started off well, came the dawn and the salmon! (bluebacks), went for my gear. Dingle, dingle went the bells, the poles danced and I was busy. I was trolling 20 spoons, fishing four lines and as fast as I hauled 'em in, more were striking.

"Life on the ocean wave" I carolled although the sea was so flat not even the Dixie could muster a roll.

During a lull I steered for Texada Island and to play safe followed in the wake of another troller. He angled across close to the point of land and I blissfully followed. Suddenly the bells on one pole jingled, then the bells on the other jangled. Then they jingle jangled together. The poles started to bounce like mad and then bent.

I was on bottom, all my lines hooked and the engine continued chugging, driving the Dixie at a steady two knots.

I like every other greenhorn when hooking bottom for the first time, was paralyzed. The poles continued to bend, no English bow at Agincourt was ever bent like those poles, then the inevitable! Bong! went one deep line, bong- went the other deep line, bong! bong! went the two light lines and the Dixie ploughed on, leaving some 50 pounds of lead, 20 brand new spoons, hooks, leaders and bobbers on the sea floor.

What were you saying dear? asked the wife as she made her first appearance of the day. Oh what a lovely morning — oh what happened to the lines?

I explained with some forcefulness after looking up the chart that I'd gone over a reef with about two fathoms of water, trouble was I was fishing my lines at five and three fathoms.

Nothing for it but to head for the packer and replace the lost gear and my morning's work showed in the log as six dollars received for fish caught and $19 paid out to replace gear lost.

"We'll slay 'em this afternoon," I told the wife as I rigged my gear and so in the afternoon we set out again. Barely were the lines in the water than the bells gave tongue.

"Here we go! We're into them!" I shouted. We were too — dogfish. The most loathsome and in that day, before they were chased for their livers, the most useless fish ever to get on a hook. They are like miniature sharks in appearance and after they're hooked they don't act like self-respecting fish and make a fuss, they just lie back on the hook and twist and twist and what they do to a man's gear is heartbreaking. It took two hours to clear my lines of dogfish. Then still the optimist I got out my killer spoon every fisherman has his killer spoon. I polished it up, spat on it for luck. "Now we'll slay 'em I told the wife and I tossed it over board — but I'd omitted to fasten the leader to the bobber and the killer spoon of mine just kept on going, down, down.

I've got a sensible wife, she never said a word — not then, although sometimes even today she bursts out laughing and then, explains she just happened to remember the look on my face as I watched that spoon twinkling into the depths.

But the Dixie couldn't stand still for a spoon and I continued fishing. Not a bite and then crunch! The engine gave off with a hideous pounding. I'd run into Jap weed, a stringy substance that wraps round a propeller and has to be shredded off. Then up came a nasty easterly. That did it, I turned tail and headed for the harbor. The engine labored against the binding Jap weed but didn't stop. We bucked and heaved into quieter water.

The wife ducked below to put on the kettle. I stood scowling at the wheel. We entered the narrow entrance to Rouse's bay. I saw a couple of fishermen on the scow waving frantically but it didn't register that they were waving at me.

Crrump, the Dixie hit her bow shot out of the water, crash! she came down solid, there was a horrible tearing sound, then the Dixie seemed to make a gallant effort and lurched over the reef and into deep water. The rule is hug the port side entering Rouse's bay — or else, I found out what they meant by "or else".

I made it to the scow not knowing whether the Dixie was going to sink under me, but she was a stout ship, and later inspection revealed I'd only torn off the false keel.

"Mon," said a bewhiskered Scotsman, "We thought, at first ye must be plain daft and then mo and McGrigor here decided that it was the woman who was steerin' — it was the woman wasn't it laddie?"

"No it wasn't the woman," said the wife tartly, still a little unnerved from the shock, "it was the master mariner here."

Yes, that's about all there is to it, except that figuring on having to go on the marine ways to get the keel fixed, I planned on a good night's rest and so let out lots of anchor line to allow for a high tide. But the tide had to run out first, a big run out, and I woke up to feel the boat bump gently. We were on bottom, then she settled gracefully on her side in the mud and so we had to spend three hours trying to sleep with the boat listing about 45 degrees.

Suddenly I heard the wife sit up — "you know something?" she said.

"Nothing," I growled bitterly.

"But I know why all this happened — it just struck me it's Friday and it's THE THIRTEENTH."

WEST SUMMERLAND, B.C.

Xmas Concert Friday; 200 Students Preparing

Carols ringing through the halls and strains of Christmas music fill the auditorium this week as Summerland High School Students prepare for their fifth and biggest annual Christmas Concert. On the program will be the High School choir under the direction of Mr. Des Loan and the instrumental groups conducted by Mr. Tamblin.

A quick glance at the program shows a variety of interest and talent on display. The evening will start with the High School Senior band playing several numbers followed by the choir with several carols. This in turn will be followed by the Junior Band and then the combined junior and beginners band. After intermission the choir will appear again, with more carols followed by the Senior band with Christmas Music.

The entire evening will see over 200 students on stage as well as many others in the wings. Tickets are 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for students. Thursday evening there will be a dress rehearsal starting at 6:30 p.m. at a charge of 25 cents for children.

The evening's entertainment has been designed to set a holiday tone to usher in the Christmas season and the music has purposely been kept on the light side with many novelty and entertaining numbers on the programme. It is hoped that a large turnout will show the students at the school that their efforts to give the municipality a worthwhile Christmas show are not in vain. Tickets will not be sold throughout the area this year as in the past. All seats are rush and the concert is only going to be held one night, instead of two as in the past.

BCFGA Group Submits Resolutions To Council

One of America's younger generation of master pianists, Leonard Pennario (above) will appear at the Penticton High School auditorium on Tuesday, December 17th at 8:15 p.m. in the second of the Community Concert Association's concerts of the season.

A delegation from the Summerland Local of the BCFGa, including J. Mayne, president, Hans Stoll, vice-president, and J. G. Caldwell, secretary-treasurer of the local, waited upon the Summerland Municipal Council Tuesday to submit two resolutions passed at the recent annual meeting of the Summerland BCFGa.

One resolution requested that more attention be given by the municipality to roads over which fruit had to be transported to the packing house. It is contended that many unsurfaced roads become washboarded with the result that fruit particularly soft fruit, is bruised. Effectiveness of grading in dry weather was questioned, but the delegation was assured by council that the grader would be made available when requested.

In regard to the resolution asking compulsory spraying, a resolution designed to ensure that all areas are sprayed for complete elimination of pests, it was pointed out that regulations to this end would require careful thought and study. The growers' request will receive further study by council.

P-TA Agrees To Sponsor T'n Town

Mrs. J. B. Liebert and Mrs. Flora Bergstrom, teachers of Summerland School for Handicapped Children were guest speakers at the PTA meeting held in the school library last Thursday evening. They outlined the work and the aims of the school, giving interesting demonstrations of the teaching methods. They emphasized the great value of music in the school which students are so interested in.

Among the subjects discussed was a ways and means of interesting more parents in P-TA work. It was thought that a telephone canvas could be organized in the near future.

Following a request from Teen Town representatives at the former meeting, it was announced that Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bigsby will act as Teen Town Counsellors with the full support of the local PTA.

Cutting Christmas Trees Without Permit Costly

Magistrate Robert Alstead has been laying some heavy fines of late. In police court here Tuesday he fined four Hungarians a total of $225 and costs on a charge laid under the forestry act.

The four men, residents of Summerland were found guilty of cutting Christmas trees without a permit. They had 800 trees cut. These were confiscated by the forestry branch.

Another heavy fine was slapped on Clifford Allan Ironmonger of Vancouver who was fined $200 and cost for driving while his license was under suspension.

Implications Of Sputnik Topic Rotary Address

"Implications of Sputnik" is the subject of an address to be presented to the Summerland Rotary Club here on Friday by Professor Stanley M. E. Read of the English Department of the University of B.C.

Professor Read is well known for his talks on CBC. He is currently touring the Okanagan Valley as part of a program of publicity for the UBC development fund drive, which begins in January.

Small Bore Rifle Club Organized For S'land

After considerable planning and study by Corporal Ted Piers and others interested in small-bore shooting, the Summerland Sporting Rifle Club was organized at a well attended meeting in the cafeteria of Barkwill's Cannery on Monday evening.

Officers elected to guide the club operations during its first season are: President, Bill Barkwill; Vice-President, Mrs. Bill Barkwill; Secretary, Corporal Piers; Treasurer, Miss L. Atkinson; Range officers: H. Richardson, K. M. Blagborne and Peto Andrews.

The indoor range is being set up in the warehouse at Barkwill's Cannery, and shooting will commence next Monday evening. Only sporting rifles of .22 calibre, weighing not more than seven pounds will be permitted in the matches which are being held under the regulations of the Dominion Marksmen's Sporting Rifle competitions.

Anyone interested in this sport is asked to contact any member of the executive for full details.

Observations

From 645

by Frank C. Christian, M.P.

Perhaps you would like to know my views with respect to what I think is one weakness in House of Commons procedure. It is the matter of "talking out" private resolutions and public bills. There have been three such examples lately. To illustrate, a liberal member introduced a resolution asking the House to consider the establishment of a system of simultaneous translation of a language which is not that used by the member then speaking for all debates in the House of Commons. The majority of the members speaking were in favour of such resolution, yet it was talked out and placed at the foot of the list after about 54 other resolutions and may not be discussed again for a long time, if at all, and definitely not this session. A further example is with respect to the matter of Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic services when an amendment was put to a Supply Motion by a CCF member. It was voted down in my opinion because it was moved by a member of an opposition party and not because the House did not agree with it. Again a public bill was introduced by an opposition member to provide a minimum wage for federal employees. This was also talked out of the House and it could very well be that later the Government will introduce a similar measure. Under the House Rules one might speak on a resolution or on a public bill until such time as the House adjourns for the day but no longer and if the speaking continues until that hour, there is no time for a vote and the matter becomes deferred and might not be dealt with again for a long time, or at all. According to the practice in some of the western provinces of Canada — but not in the House of Commons in Ottawa — the Government declares its stand through the appropriate Minister that it is either for or against a Resolution or a Bill even if introduced by a private member of any party. As a result of the present procedure not only time but public money is wasted — approximately $80,000.00 as that is the estimated daily cost to operate the government and the various departments in Ottawa. The present procedure to me shows an inherent weakness. If the Government declared its intention on a resolution or a bill in advance and announced beforehand that in the event the government was not upheld on the voting, such vote would not be a vote of confidence in the government then the present practice would be much improved with the result there would be less politics and greater efficiency at less cost to the taxpayer.

A Nasty Business

The older generation is forever, so it seems, raising its voice in complaint or criticism of the younger generations, but it must be conceded that the younger generations are giving the oldesters considerable justification for their wailing.

Frankly, some of the antics of the younger generations are beyond us — take the latest of these antics as they apply not to slum dwelling youngsters, products of evil environment, but to some of our own youngsters here in Summerland.

The latest sport apparently, of some of our youngsters is stealing of colored Christmas light bulbs where such can be reached without too much trouble. Summerland Groceries lost, in one night, 28 colored electric bulbs from under the canopy outside the store. That same night, light globes at the Municipal Office were smashed.

Whether plain vandalism, destruction for destruction's sake, or whether theft, it is an ugly thing.

Undoubtedly some of the youngsters involved will, this Christmas rejoice over their own illuminated Christmas tree — we wonder what their reactions would be if, on coming down Christmas morning, they found that some one had entered their home and stolen some and smashed other of the Christmas decorations.

Basic Market Problem

Apple growers in the United States are having a bad time of it this year and it is reported that in Washington few will receive the cost of production. In British Columbia, while it certainly has not been a boom season thus far, it would appear that Okanagan growers will fare better than their Washington counterparts.

Basically, however, what affects the U.S. markets has its effect in Canada also and thus U.S. apple news is of interest in the Okanagan. For this reason we believe that the following editorial from the 'Wenatchee Daily World' will make interesting reading for Okanagan apple growers:

Mr. B. B. Byrd of Berryville, Va., is an apple businessman with a strong idea. The son of Virginia's Sen. Harry Byrd, and vice president of Virginia's Byrd Apple Orchards, he has undertaken a campaign urging apple growers all across America to join in a giant unified advertising campaign. He says that if every grower would contribute 10 cents per bushel into a fund, $10 million would be available each year for a mighty advertising campaign, the kind of campaign needed to get Americans to eat enough apples.

He made some sobering observations about apples the other day.

Since 1920 the per capita apple consumption in this nation has been declining at the rate of about one pound per year.

"Today," he said, "there are 170 million people in the United States. At 45 pounds of apples per bushel, we are losing an apple demand equivalent to 3,777,000 bushels. And at 500 bushels per acre, this means that we are losing demand from over 7,000 acres per year. Next year and each succeeding year it will be worse, because our population is expected to increase by about four million people per year."

The pros and cons of juvenile delinquency have been debated at great length and some argue that the primary responsibility rests with the parent.

Our contention is that in this instance the responsibility rests with all of us. Persons young or old, should not hesitate if they should happen to see and recognize any of these vandals at work. They should report the matter to the authorities immediately and be prepared, if need be, to make identification in court.

Our teachers should make note of these incidents and appeal to the sound element in the schools, which we are thankful to say is in the majority and a healthy majority at that, to crack down on the delinquents.

And, any parent who sees his young hopeful with stolen Christmas decorations, should, we think, apply painful correction.

Vandalism and petty thievery is bad enough in all conscience, but when it is aimed at such things as Christmas decorations, nullifying the work of people who are trying to make the community a little brighter — then it smacks of complete viciousness.

The mental workings of some of today's youngsters are indeed frightening — well might we of the older generation ask, "what is the world coming to?"

With Summerland's streets gayly bedecked with colored lights and the stores presenting a veritable bazaar of lovely things to buy for Christmas, everyone is getting into the mood and lists are being ticked off in a hurry.

One Home Economist wrote a whole column recently on how making lists instead of trying to tax one's brain with a lot of details can add greatly in reducing tension. Could be — but not if you have gone to town to shop, leaving your list on the kitchen table. It can happen! Anyway the lists that are being compiled right now would make a sizeable mountain. In themselves reminders are not a bad idea for gifts. There are in the leather and simulated leather goods quite a display to choose from. Shopping lists to remind you what to buy — pocket books to remind you that you either have or have not money to buy with. There are birthday books, address books, to mention a few, and diaries, from one to five years, a particular good gift for the young lady on your list. Diaries don't lie and even, if she doesn't write the whole truth, she will still be able to remember between the lines. And of course sparkling jewellery will enter a young girl's heart as "top gift."

The toys are better than ever and offer an invitation to blow the works on the youngsters. There will be lots of starry eyes on Christmas morning when Junior finds first the tractor, truck, hockey stick or skates that he wanted under the tree and Sis finds a doll even lovelier than the one she's been dreaming of.

For the ladies there's just no end to the gifts that suggest themselves. Lingerie, downy, soft and warm sweaters, blouses, some with the very popular metallic thread running through their fabric, making them very pretty and festive looking. Costume jewellery is more attractive than ever, with a wide range to choose from. Toilet articles, soaps, perfume, toilet water, bath salts, all beautifully packaged, will solve many a gift problem. Cups and saucers, silverware, pottery and glassware are very tempting.

Giving something you'd like to receive or to keep for yourself is a good idea. Twice within ten minutes while shopping the other day I heard someone say — "There, I'd like to keep that myself." Once it was toilet soap, the other time a little individual casserole with a handle!

The men are not quite so easy to buy for, but there are still many choices in the things they really like to receive as gifts. Bedroom slippers are good for any member of the family, but it's traditional to think of Dad in connection with bedroom slippers that look comfortable and inviting for those cosy evenings by the fire, reading or watching TV. Dad loves to get socks and ties or a nice new shirt or sweater.

For the photographer there are many things that will suggest themselves when you visit the stores. Records too, make a nice gift but with the great diversity in tastes in music a gift certificate might be a good idea here, allowing for personal selection later.

Everywhere you look in Summerland the stores are looking their best and doing their best to help make it a Merry Christmas.

TEEN TOWN

by Dot Carston

It was announced last Thursday evening that Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bigsby will act as our counselors with support given by the local PTA. This follows a request made at the former meeting by Teen Town representatives.

The previous Sunday evening meeting was held at the Bigsby's home to enlighten them on our activities. Mr. and Mrs. A. Doney Wilson, our retiring advisors, were present.

Teen Town will go carolling on Sunday, December 22 to raise money for March of Dimes. All carollers are invited to the Wilson residence for a big party, so be sure to come carolling.

Teen Towners canvassed on November 30th for the March of Dimes and proceeds exceeded the expected amount. Thank you for your support. The dance for that same evening was cancelled because all school basketball teams went to Keremeos for the evening.

Next meeting is this Sunday evening at J. P. Sheeley's.

Ketter - Evan Rites Solemnized At Rutland

Rutland Catholic Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding when Juanita Margrite Ketter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ketter, of Revelstoke, formerly of West Summerland, and Nicholas William Even, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Even of Rutland solemnized vows.

The wedding took place on Sunday, December 8, at 3.30, with Father McCarthy officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white semi-formal of ballerina length with three-quarter length veil cascading from a sparkling head piece. She carried a bouquet of pink roses with white mums.

Mrs. Ed. Martin of West Summerland was the bride's only attendant, wearing a blue semi-formal with a very pretty head piece. She carried a bouquet of white mums centred with pink carnations.

Mr. Jimmy Weddel was the best man.

The bride and groom will reside in West Summerland.

Masons Xmas Party Enjoyed by Over One Hundred Guests

J. W. Mitchell, formerly of Summerland, and now residing at Oliver, welcomed over one hundred members of the Masonic Order and their wives to the annual pre-Christmas dinner Thursday evening in the Anglican parish hall.

A. J. Braun, taxidermist of Oliver, showed some beautiful, colored slides of scenery in the south Okanagan and wild flowers on Mt. Baker. He also showed some outstanding pictures taken in trophy rooms of Americans for whom he had done work, along with others taken on the farm of a Spanish nobleman in California. Miss Lynne Boothe accompanied by Miss Marjorie Campbell, who sang "Danny Boy" and Ronnie Downes, violinist, was accompanied by Mrs. Delmar Dunham.

The interesting program was arranged by Gordon Beggs and Louis Burnell acted as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. E. E. Bates and H. R. McKee won contest prizes arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wilson.

Well, how is that Christmas shopping going along? Are you just about finished or are you like yours truly — just about started! Time is really flying so I guess we late-birds had better hop to it.

Just to get away from the Christmas theme for a while, I saw a cute Chinese tale which accounts for the origin of the word "paint." Once upon a time in China there lived a craftsman who became famous for his jewel boxes and cabinets. These he finished with the juice from a tree, giving them a satiny gloss. His name was Ting Pain and it became synonymous with smooth and gleaming surfaces. Written in western style, Ting Pain became Pain Ting. And that, the legend claims, is the origin of our word "paint."

If you're washing a duster, place a teaspoon of raw linseed oil or two tablespoons of kerosene in the last rinse water and hang it up to dry. The result — a "dustless duster."

Did you know that the average shower bath adds between a quarter and a half pound of water vapor to the air in a bathroom and a tub contributes about a quarter that much? That is one good reason why the paint should be a high quality enamel which resists moisture.
 Enough chatter!

Bowling
Headlining bowling news this week are the plans that the Bowling League will sponsor a Giant Turkey Bowl! The Turkey Bowl will take place at the alleys on Saturday, December 14 from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. and from 7:00 to 11:00 p.m. This event will be open to the general public and refreshments will be served at the coffee counter. You don't have to be an expert bowler to enter because there will be hidden score games as well as high score games. There will also be hidden and high score contests for chickens and hams.
Results from league play this week find the Cackleberries taking 3 points off the Sio-Mos, the Occidentals beat the Hill-Toppers by 3 to 1; the West-bankers took 4 points off the West-bankers; the Tweeters took 4 points off the Vikings; the Die-hards and Whizbangs split their games; the Mistis won out over the Minnie-Ha-Ha's by 3 to 1; the Cansos beat the Baby Austins by 3 to 1; the Legionnaires outbowled the Aymer Cacktalls by 3 to 1 and the Splits and the Pioneer Feeds split their games.
League standings as of date are:
Baby Austins 23
Legionnaires 23
Occidentals 23
Diehards 22
Cackleberries 22
Tweeters 21
Pioneer Feeds 21
Mistis 19
Whiz Bangs 19
Sio-Mos 19
Cansos 17
Splits 16
Westbankers 15
Vikings 13
Minnie-Ha-Ha's 12
Hilltoppers 5
Aymer Cacktalls 5
Eileen Fell bowled a 274 for the ladies high single and George Williams rolled a 294 for the men's high single. Rolling a 694 for the ladies high three and Buzz Buzzell won the men's high three with a 673. The Cansos were the high team this week with a total of 2808 pins. Nan Thornwale got the hidden score this week by bowling a 180.
George Taylor (from Penticton) received a nice sports shirt as his prize for last week's 355 game from Roy's Men's Wear. Congratulations George and thank you Roy!

CCF's Twenty-fifth Anniversary Celebrated by Local Adherents

Nearly 200 CCF members and supporters attended the 25th anniversary celebration of the CCF party in the Legion Hall, Penticton, last Tuesday night. After an enjoyable banquet, they heard guest speakers Mrs. Lois Hagen, MLA for Grand Forks-Greenwood, Mr. O. L. Jones, and Robert Strachan, leader of the CCF Opposition at Victoria. Mrs. Hagen, first speaker, expressed her appreciation of Mr. Strachan and his leadership of the CCF group in the house. "No one," she said, "could doubt his sincerity when he criticized the present government at Victoria and suggested changes which would safeguard the wealth of B.C. for the people of B.C."

Mr. O. L. Jones recalled the early days of the CCF movement 25 years ago, when its supporters had to counteract lies and false propaganda from every side. In spite of setbacks and lack of daily press which supported them, they had worked through the years to bring the truth to the people and to show them that the abundance produced in Canada could be equitably shared by all under a sound, sane and Christian economy.

Robert Strachan, CCF Provincial Leader, stated that B.C. for the last 50 years had suffered from an overdose of private ownership of its public and mineral wealth had been wealth. Water power, forest given away by past liberal and conservative governments to private ownership. Last year Mr. Wenner-Gren, Swedish industrialist and supporter of the Nazis in the last war, had been handed almost half of northern B.C. by the Social Credit government, which had promised a new deal for B.C. and a return to "competitive enterprise." The results of this private ownership and production for profit only had resulted in high prices, unemployment, and insecurity for all those who had worked with hand and brain to produce the wealth. Replying to the Vancouver Province challenge as to how B.C. would have fared if the CCF had been in power, Mr. Strachan replied that we would be free people in a free country, with the right of access to our own resources, with the right to work in our own province and to buy back what we had produced. At present, a group of share-holders in New York now made the decisions about what mills or mines should or should not work in B.C. Mr. Strachan called for an end to this foreign domination under the protection of Social Credit, and urged all CCF members to re-dedicate themselves to the education of the voters in order that democracy and security should return to B.C.

WHY EMPLOYERS LIKE CREDIT UNIONS

CREDIT UNIONS MAKE FOR BETTER, MORE PRODUCTIVE WORKERS. Surveys by industrial psychologists have shown time and time again that employees who are worried about money are less efficient, more prone to sickness and accidents. Credit unions help employees solve money problems, independently and with self-respect, and relieve financial strain.

Peach Orchard Park Revenue This Year $1200

Eleven hundred feet of plastic pipe have been laid in Peach Orchard park with stand pipes, a pump and a motor also installed, so that there will be water available in all parts of this attractive tourist spot. This was reported by W. H. Brown, chairman of the Parks' Board at the annual ratepayers' meeting.

Revenue from this park was $1,200 in the past season. One dollar per night was charged for the first time last summer, and made the area self-supporting. An office has been built along with an extra washroom.

Other sections of the town under the Parks' Board, all receiving attention during the year, were Powell Beach where attempts are being made to prevent erosion at the point; the Memorial Park Playground and Athletic Park and the Peach Orchard Cemetery, where roads were blacktopped.

E. H. Bennett, secretary, said he believed that for every dollar of the budget a dollar and a half's worth of value had been obtained. He commended the work of John Graham in connection with the parks.

CHILDREN'S EDUCATION GUARANTEED BY SAVING GOVERNMENT ALLOWANCES

Family Allowance Cheques Can "Roost" for Future Use in the Bank of Montreal.

While your Family Allowance Cheques are intended, first and foremost, to help you pay for your youngsters' day-to-day expenses, they can also be used to give them a good start in agricultural or other college courses, later in life.

If you deposit every Family Allowance cheque for one child in a B of M savings account, there will be over $1,300, including interest, in it by the time the age of 18 is reached, points out Jock Johnston, West Summerland's Bank of Montreal manager. And, through the years, this nest-egg will always be immediately available, should emergency or opportunity arise.

By this means you can do much to make sure that your youngsters will have every chance to earn a good living when they start their own career or when your farm is passed on to them. If you can't manage to set aside the whole cheque, try to bank at least a part of it regularly. You'll find the practice will pay off in the future.

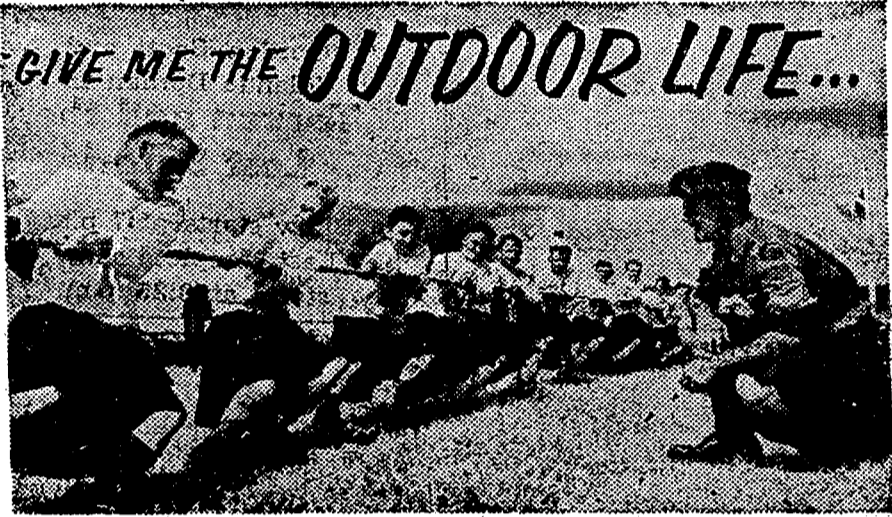

So, next time you receive your Family Allowance cheque why not drop into the B of M and open a savings account in your youngster's name. When you do that, you'll be building security and opportunity into his or her future - and that gives any parent a wonderful

Civil Defence

Representatives from various organizations attended the first of the fall and winter meetings held at Civil Defence headquarters on Thursday last.

Opening the meeting the Civil Defence Officer extended a warm welcome to those attending. We in Civil Defence need your help urgently he declared and we hope to establish a liaison with all the organizations in Summerland. Sketching in brief outline the role that this community would be expected to play in the event of a national emergency he mentioned that within this district we would have to firstly — Receive and accommodate approximately 12,000 evacuees for an undetermined period of time.

Secondly — Provide traffic control on all roads within the district. Thirdly — Arrange to feed in transit evacuees routed through the district to other centres.

Lastly — provide on a 24 hour basis, a tow-truck equipped to make minor repairs to proceed to any point on the highway where breakdowns may occur.

Continuing Mr. Phillips said that he was painfully aware that Civil Defence was not a glamorous job but, there was no gainsaying that it was an urgent and a necessary one. The organizations could, if they would give a strong lead in the efforts to generate in the community that spirit of service which was an essential in Civil Defence.

In response to the invitation of the Civil Defence Officer

Nativity Scene Will Again Be on View

A. H. Stevens has again granted permission for the "Nativity Scene," executed by the Summerland Arts Club, to be placed on his lawn as part of Summerland's Christmas Decoration.

Mr. Steven's lawn overlooks Granville Street and the "Nativity Scene," illuminated by spotlights is a striking addition to Summerland's Christmas scene.

IN SUMMERLAND

On Thursday last to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the C.C.F., the local members held a social evening at the home of Mrs. E. M. Hookham, at which Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Woodworth, of Westbank, were special guests.

After card games, followed by refreshments, Mr. Woodworth gave an informal talk. Bruce Woodworth is the son of the late S. Woodworth, founder of the CCF.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

It's been a long and bitter fight but I think I've got the flu bug licked.

Now I've got to lick the Christmas gift problem. Ideas, I've a million of 'em, all derived by reading the ads I've been drawing up for the Review.

I know I can get the frothiest, frilliest of lingerie at Macil's — but frothy, frilly lingerie isn't of much use to me, I don't wear it. As for giving lingerie for gifts, I've no doubt that it's very very acceptable but it does curb a man's bragging.

A man can't say, "I bought the wife the frilliest, frothiest ruffled and bowed and laced pair of fancy panties" — or "you should see the merest wisp of a slip — light and lovely peignors — softly feminine good nighties — I bought for my womenfolk this Christmas . . ."

That may be good advertising copy but a man can't spout that kind of stuff: This Christmas gift business is a headache — I always have one big problem — what to use for money and, of course, the problem of making up my mind —

I can see it shaping up as usual. Despite all my editorial exhortations to "shop early" and so forth if you're on Granville street at about five minutes before closing time Christmas eve in all likelihood you'll see yours truly madly dashing from store to store spending like the proverbial drunken sailor, breathlessly grabbing parcels (gift wrapped) and blurting out those magic words which pack a hangover "charge it."

I don't intend it that way — but sure as shooting that's the way it will be.

Speaking of shooting — the Review's Dennis Martin went down to the Turkey Shoot at Oliver a week or so back. Three shots — two turkeys.

Some of the comments I've been reading of late, regarding Russian hockey ability are keyed to the same note of hysteria to which a lot of American comment on Sputnik's one and two are tuned.

Sure the Russians can play hockey — what's surprising about that — they've been playing a game called "Bandy" for centuries. They play it on frozen flooded fields about the size of a regular soccer pitch and they use a ball and eleven men to a side — a game like that must naturally develop skaters and stick handlers who take to hockey like birds to the air.

But where most of the comments on Russian hockey ability have gone astray is that the commentators have, from the time the Russians first defeated the Canadians in world hockey competition, persistently mixed up politics and sport.

Foster Hewitt, for example, claimed in a recent article which appeared in the Star Weekly that he experienced one of his greatest thrills in 33 years of broadcasting.

I don't doubt that friend Foster did thrill to the victory of the Pentiction Vees — I know I did, and I know that I'll never forget that game — but it wasn't the hockey game that thrilled me—it was the implications of the game and of the result.

Put that world championship game on an Okanagan ice sheet and with an identical performance and with the tag of an ordinary scheduled league game between say the Vees and the Packers, and the fans wouldn't be very stirred up.

The Russians play a good brand of hockey and are certainly on a par with our best amateur teams, so why the hysteria when they send a team over on a Canadian tour which knocks off a few mediocre teams down east?

The answer is, of course, that we're not interested in the game so much as we are in national prestige — it's politics — not sport.

I didn't realize just how much politics were involved in this Communist-free world hockey rivalry until I landed in Prague, Czechoslovakia, with the Pentiction Vees.

The entire diplomatic corp representing the free world in Czechoslovakia was stunned when, the best the Vees could do in an exhibition game against the Czech's top team was a 3-3 sawoff.

The importance placed upon victory, or defeat, in sport can readily be understood by anyone who goes behind the Iron Curtain. There is tremendous emphasis placed on sport. For the Vees' game in Prague, Czech hockey fans were waiting from early morning until seven o'clock at night, thousands of them waiting in the cold, the snow trampled to thick mud under their feet, waiting, waiting, although they knew that only a few hundred had a chance of getting in when all the ticket holders were taken care of.

Naturally when the Iron Curtain athletes win over the free world, the drums begin to beat — but that is no reason why we should get hysterical about it.

At one time we played the game to the best of our ability to win, but we could also take a licking at the hands of a better team.

It's about time we got back to that sport philosophy. What's the percentage in sack cloth and ashes every time we get licked in a sporting event?

Politics and sport are like oil and water — they don't mix.

Let's keep our sackcloth and ashes for something more important than losing a game — such as a Russian-manned Sputnik up there ahead of the free world's ability to duplicate it or to destroy it. In the meantime if we want to play games with the Russians let's keep our perspective and keep politics out.

Full report of Professor Stanley M. E. Read's talk on the "Implications of Sputnik," given to the Rotary club last Friday evening will appear in the Christmas Greeting issue which will be published next week. The report should have appeared this week, but honest I planned for a ten page paper, then it looked like a nice eight and then at the last, too late to switch back to ten, there's a rush of ads. Anyway the Rotary Club, at least Rotary Club president Ross McLachlan is in my black books. He invited me to the Rotary dinner. I, a busy man, arrived late, speaker was just about to speak. Secretary Roy Angus spoke up manfully for this hungry-eyed columnist, but the flinty hearted president snapped, too late.

Later I suggested reasonably enough, that as the president had invited me to eat and as I didn't eat and he didn't have to pay my shot, then he should pay me cash in lieu of eats — but whoever heard of a Yorkshireman winning that kind of an argument with anyone whose name begins with Mac?

Electrical Changes For Trout Creek

The Trout Creek electricity system is to be changed over from 4,700 volts to 8,000 volts, increasing the capacity three times. This was decided at last week's Tuesday council meeting on the recommendation of Councillor E. M. Tait, chairman of the electrical department.

M. A. Thomas and Associates, electrical consulting engineers at the coast, are to be asked to prepare working plans and council.

It is understood that the West Kootenay Power Co. is putting in two new transformers next year and Councillor Tait thought that this was the time to increase power in the rapidly growing Trout Creek area. G. S. Smith, municipal clerk, will write to the company, asking for discussion of the matter.

Mr. Tait felt that the Trout Creek situation is not so serious that it cannot carry on for part of next year until changes can

Canneries Of Great Importance To Summerland's Economy

Summerland's economy is considerably augmented by its four canneries.

Facts and figures supporting the foregoing statement were presented to the Board of Trade by H. J. Barkwill, of Barkwill Canneries Ltd.

Mr. Barkwill, a member of the board's agricultural committee, pointed out that fruit going through the canneries leaves more dollars in the community. One ton of peaches packed for the fresh fruit market leaves only $22.24 in the community, whereas a ton of peaches processed in the canneries leaves behind $109.

The canneries furthermore bring in fruit for processing, adding to the wage bill. At the peak of the season 400 persons are gainfully employed in Summerland's four canneries. Pack totals $1,000,000 of which $200,000 is distributed in wages.

Reeve F. E. Atkinson commenting on Mr. Barkwill's report, pointed out that the widespread between what fresh fruit and canned fruit left behind in the way of dollars could be gathered from the fact that of the United States $90 billion Agro-business $16 billion went to suppliers of farm machinery and other agro supplies.

Sixty billion dollars went to transportation and retail processing and the producers, the farmers, receive $14 billion.

Just about now he's leaving the North Pole for points south, including Summerland.

Annual Xmas Concert Again Wows Audience

A capacity crowd filled the High School Auditorium on Friday 13, to hear an outstanding performance of the 5th Annual Summerland High School Christmas Concert, directed by bandmaster, John P. Tamblin.

The Senior Band started the varied programme with a novelty number, The Whistling Shoemaker. Several marches were enjoyed before three trumpet players Max Ongaro, Leonard Burdon and Diane Rumball played a trio selection of Bright eyes.

The crowd seemed to enjoy especially the Descriptive Fantasy of Stormy Weather which was very cleverly presented. A number of Irish melodies were included in the concert before the Junior Choir directed by Mr. Desmond Logan sang several Christmas carols.

The Junior Band and the Beginners' Band made an excellent performance for which they spent many hours rehearsing.

After intermission the Choir sang several more spirited Christmas numbers before the Senior Band made their final appearance playing marches and a novelty number arranged by Leroy Anderson.

The curtain closed on another very successful concert as the Senior Band played three very lovely Christmas songs.

Trumpeter Eddie Matsu who played solo in "Stormy Weather" at the recent Christmas Band Concert.

Employees Honor W. A. (Bud) Stuart

Representatives of the mill employees, the logging staff and the staff of the business presented W. A. (Bud) Stuart, former president of Summerland Box Factory with a wrist watch.

John Keyes made the presentation at the home of Mr. Stuart Tuesday, last week, in appreciation of the happy relationships the employees have enjoyed with him.

Summerland Box Factory was sold last week to the S. and D. Holdings of Pentiction, after being in the Stuart family for many years. The factory was started by W. A. Stuart's father, the late Murr Stuart.

Canada's 1957 Apple Crop 13.5 Million Bushels

The third estimate of Canadian fruit production issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics places this year's commercial apple crop at 13.5 million bushels, an increase of 1.1 million bushels or nine per cent over 1956 production. British Columbia production is placed at 6,301,000 bushels; Ontario at 2,584,000 bushels; Nova Scotia at 2,150,000 bushels; Quebec at 2,100,000 bushels and New Brunswick at 375,000 bushels. The estimate for British Columbia is 53 per cent above that of last year, indicating a substantial recovery from the winter damage which cut production of the 1956 crop. Production this year is close to the figures for 1954 and 1955.

This year's pear crop is estimated at 890,000 bushels, 36 per cent below last year. Production in Ontario of 246,000 bushels, will be 70 per cent less than last year. Reports indicate, however, that the sizing of fruit in Ontario was extremely good, and insect damage light. The British Columbia pear crop, estimated at 621,000 bushels is 16 per cent higher than last year. A light yield in Nova Scotia, almost all of which was harvested by the end of September, was set at 23,000 bushels, 49 per cent less than in 1956. However, quality and size were good in this province.

Plums and prunes are expected to yield 582,000 bushels, nine per cent more than in 1956, while an excellent peach crop in all districts will total 2.7 million bushels, or 60 per cent above that of last year. The 1957 crop of apricots is set at 284,000 bushels, 200,000 bushels greater than last year when production was severely reduced by low temperature damage the previous winter. The sweet cherry crop is estimated a 139,000 bushels, 45 per cent above that of last year, and sour cherry production at 322,000 bushels. Grapes are expected to yield 87.0 million pounds, or eight per cent more than last year.

Christmas Concert Credit To All

Last week in this space we were bemoaning vandalism and petty thievery and storming at the younger generations blamed for the depredations.

In that editorial we did, however, state that we are thankful that the majority of our school population is sound.

The truth of that belief was confirmed again last week at the annual Christmas concert, in which more than 200 students participated.

Many hours, outside school hours, were credit to the students, to the teachers and to the community.

Many hours, outside school hours, was required to produce the concert a near-capacity house applauded last Friday night.

And, beyond being a very entertaining event, it serves to remind us that, while juvenile delinquency is a serious and growing problem of our day, it is still a minority problem and a small minority at that.

ORCHARD RUN

WAGE FREEZE

I was astonished to read in a news despatch Dec. 2 that a high union official at a convention in Atlantic City, N.J., said the unions should not ask for wage increases this year.

The story didn't say they threw the man out of the convention hall, but that is a quite possible result of such a brash suggestion.

He was Richard J. Gray, president of the building trades department of the AFL-CIO, and he said that a moratorium on wages in 1958 would be a major step in the war against inflation.

These are strange words indeed coming from a prominent union official. We are more accustomed to hearing union men talk about the "huge profits" of industry, and labor's "right" to a larger share of those profits.

GOOD IDEA

But Gray's words do make sense to anyone giving serious thought to present-day economics and the way the cost of living index keeps going up.

During recent years unions have made tremendous gains in wage increases and other benefits. Very few year union workers have been getting more and more money for doing less and less work. Every round of wage increases has been followed by higher prices for goods.

FARM COSTS UP

Farmers, in contrast to union workers, have been getting less and less money for producing more and more goods. As farm prices sagged the farmer's operating costs have been getting higher and higher. Machinery costs more, lumber costs more, gasoline, wages, everything is up in price.

Shrinking foreign markets have had a depressing effect on Canadian agriculture. The United States farm policy and imports from that country have tended to keep down Canadian farm prices.

This has been good for the Canadian wage earner, but bad for the Canadian farmer. In other words, because Canadian farm prices have been kept down by one means or other, the wage earner has had more money to spend on automobiles, automatic washers, tiled bathrooms, TV sets, deep freezers, portable radios, and fancy electric hobby tools.

WON'T WORK

Nobody knows where the rising price spiral is going to end, but the suggested voluntary wage freeze could go a long way toward stopping it. There's one thing wrong with the idea. It is such a drastic about-face policy that no union is likely to adopt it.

So we'll go on and on up the price spiral, with the farmer getting pinched tighter in the squeeze, until the farming population is so depleted by a drift to the cities that production falls to a low point and farm produce prices rise again to their proper level.

That's the way it loops from where I sit unless the government steps in with parity prices, deficiency payments, or some other aid for the agricultural industry.

UBC Fund Campaign Begins In January

Starting the second week in January, the drive for funds for UBC will be under way in Summerland. The provincial government has promised to match local donations dollar for dollar in this province wide campaign.

H. J. Barkwill will be chairman of the community canvassing. Dr. M. F. Wells has been organizing the drive among UBC alumni living here while Dr. D. V. Fisher, who was appointed local committee chairman some time ago, is visiting in California. Dr. Wells has been assisted by Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Macleod and G. E. Woolliams.

Dr. Neil McLean, plant pathology professor has spoken to Kluwanis clubs in Penticton, Summerland, Kelowna and Vernon about the University's needs. S. E. Roads spoke last week at the Canadian Club in Penticton and on Friday evening to Rotary Club in Summerland on the "Implications of Sputnik."

He will address other Rotarians in the Valley to further publicize the campaign. Films of UBC will also be shown.

Let's have a Chat

Whatever is customary in one's home, or a tradition in the family, is a suitable decoration for the Christmas. One of our friends for example, has always had a centre piece of red carnations with white narcissi arranged in a silver bowl. Beautiful arrangements of fruit are always suitable but sometimes a different theme is welcome. Something which would be very effective for a holiday dinner or supper table is the star centrepiece.

Arrange sprays of natural evergreens, holly or mistletoe to completely cover a tray. Bring a string of Christmas-tree lights to this centrepiece. You can hide the cord under the cloth. Then slip the lights through aluminum foil star cutouts. When lighted, the shimmering star effect is charming.

And here's a decoration children will love to make — the Cookie Tree.

You will need a low green or silvered fir tree on a stand. Set the children to stringing nuts, gumdrops, popcorn and cranberries on wires to hang on the tree. White peppermints with holes make delightful snowdrops.

And the youngsters can help make doughnut-shaped sugar cookies, too.

That ladies is about all the chatting I will be doing for this grand year of nineteen hundred and fifty-seven. I'm taking a jaunt down to sunny California this Friday for the Christmas season and so will be away next week when our Christmas edition is published. May I then take this opportunity of wishing all my readers very best wishes for a merry Christmas and holiday season.

While I'm gone, please don't eat too much turkey, but I do hope Santa is good to you. Marjorie Campbell will be taking my place next week — so good luck Marj.

Bowling News

Between Christmas and New Years there will be a Cash Tournament for all interested bowlers on December 27 and 28. Bowlers who enter their name on the sheet in the Alley will be put on a team determined by drawing names out of a hat. I think it should be a lot of fun so let your name on the sheet which is posted in the alley.

In league play this week the Whizbangs took 4 points off the Westbankers; the Cackleberries beat the Spitfires by 3 to 1; the Canco's outbowed the Tweepers by 4 to 0; the Tooters won out over the Baby Austins by 3 to 1; the Misfits took 4 points off the Aylmer Cocktails; the Legionnaires beat the Vikings by 3 to 1; the Diehards won out over the Hilltoppers by 3 to 1; the Occidentals took 4 points off the Minnie-Ha-Ha's and the Pioneer Feed won out over the Slo-Mo's by 3 to 1. League standing to date is as follows:

Occidentals	27
Legionnaires	26
Baby Austins	25
Pioneer Feeds	24
Whiz Bangs	23
Misfits	23
Cackleberries	23
Tooters	21
Tweepers	21
Canco's	21
Slo-Mo's	20
Spitfire	19
Westbankers	15
Vikings	14
Minnie-Ha-Ha's	13
Hilltoppers	13
Aylmer Cocktails	5

Alma Lektie won the ladies' high single by bowling a 280 and Bill Hepperle took the men's high single with a 308. Alma also won ladies' high three with a 878 and Bill took the men's high three with a 7351. Congratulations to both of you for those double honors! The high team this week are the Pioneer Feeds with a total of 2843 pins. John Dunn bowled a 183 this week which was the hidden score! More news, views and comments next week!

I would like to mention in this column that league bowling results are broadcast every Friday at noon on the CKOK Sports-cast! The league also got a nice plug on Al Jordan's Sports-cast on CHBC-TV the other day when he announced the results of the "March of Dimes" Blow-Pot the league so generously contributed to last week!

Mrs. L. W. Rumball Again Heads W.A. Here

An interesting and comprehensive report of the National Convention was presented to the Summerland Women's Institute at their meeting Friday afternoon at the Parish Hall by Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, who was the delegate for the South

Okanagan and Similkameen District. This was the first National Convention and the 60th anniversary of the founding of the W.I. From a small beginning it has 90,000 members in Canada at this time and Mrs. Ritchie stated she was proud to be a representative of the vast organization. Every day and evening of the convention was filled with activities and from Mrs. Ritchie's report the diversity and extent of Women's Institute work clearly showed why it has reached its present prominence. Following her report Mrs. Ritchie was presented a W.I. pin by the president, Mrs. L. W. Rumball.

During the business meeting Mrs. Rumball was in the chair. The urgent need for 25,000 layettes for Arab refugees was discussed and it was decided to collect used baby clothing to send to the Cnitarian Service Committee for this project. Anyone having such clothing to donate is asked to notify any W.I. member.

The fund for furnishing the W.I. ward of the new Solarium was considered and members voted to send a $25.00 donation.

Members brought donations for the Christmas hamper and a turkey will be added before it is turned over to the Welfare Assn. for distribution.

A lovely song "The Summerland Hymn" was beautifully sung by Mrs. Flora Bergstrom. Mrs. Ken Boothe and Mrs. Lionel Fudge who responded with a happy encore.

A letter of thanks was received from the Old Age Pensioners Club thanking the women for serving tea following their November meeting.

Mrs. H. C. Whitaker reported that the Village History had been presented to the city fathers and Mrs. Whitaker was presented with a W.I. pin by the president who thanked Mrs. Whitaker for her work in connection with the Tweedsmuir competitions.

After a short intermission while tea was served by Mrs. E. M. Tait, Mrs. J. Y. Towgood and Miss Mary Scott, the annual meeting was called to order. Annual reports showed a busy, profitable and successful year and the president thanked

ANNUAL MEETING WEST SUMMERLAND CCF CLUB

The annual meeting of the West Summerland CCF Club was held at the home of Mrs. E. M. Hookum. Officers elected A. J. Shaw as Chairman, Olof Gronlund as Vice-Chairman, Thomas Granett as Secretary and Mrs. E. M. Hookham as Treasurer.

all members for their Co-operation and help.

The executive for 1958 was chosen as follows, Mrs. Rumball, re-elected president, Mrs. A. Fenwick vice-president, Mrs. W. S. Rothwell secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Myrtle Scott and Mrs. Gordon Dinning, directors.

Plans were made to hold a pot-luck luncheon preceding the next meeting on January 10.

Curling News

I think it is time we had some curling news in the paper so you will have to put up with my chatter for another season. The curling rink has been a busy place this season with all sorts of upsets, six, seven and eight enders with some of the A division rinks down in D division for this round. The men have 32 rinks in the club this year. Mr. Mitchell the draw master was moved to Oliver so Gerry Laidlaw is learning to do the draw. If you have a few mistakes it is all in the learning.

The ladies have two rinks practising for the Brier play-downs to be held in Penticton in January. I won't give you the personnel of the rinks because Gerry Hallquist told us yesterday if you didn't make 50 per cent of your shots, kick them off the team, so my rink will likely be looking for a skip.

The men are busy getting ready for the Provincial Brier play-downs to be held in Penticton this year. They have fair rinks, and will play down to one winner. The skips are Cecil Watson, Walt Toews, Bill Croft, Gerry Hallquist.

The Legion are also busy practising for a prov. play-down. They have three rinks.

The men this year are divided into four sections of eight each.

"A" SECTION
Hallquist, Toews, Holmes, Hackman, Beggs, Mitchell, Litchewold, Dunsdon.

"B" SECTION
Croft, McKilligan, Eyre, Munn, Sorkal, Towgood, Gonzweld, Gillespie.

"C" SECTION
Turnbull, Baker, Johnson, Carter, McCutcheon, School Boys, Bryden, Setter.

"D" SECTION
Eden Lemke, Watson, Snow.

Summerland Macs 4; Kamloops Intermediates 10

The score told the story last Sunday as Summerland Macs were walloped 10 to 4 in an exhibition game. Clarence Brown, Smautz and Burtch scored for the home club. The penalties were evenly divided but a fight in the second period sent Brown and Kuzimoti to the sin bin for five minutes.

Next Sunday the Macs play a "grudge" match against Vernon.

Last Wednesday in a home game the Summerland Midgets lost a close one 6-4 to Kelowna. Warren Parker scored two and got one assist. Myles Gillard scored one and worked for two assists and Bruce Rennie notched one. Of 12 penalties 8 went to Kelowna.

In a game played on Thursday Summerland Midgets lost by a decisive 8 to 1 score. Summerland's lone tally was scored by Doug Holmes unassisted. The game was played in Vernon.

Ritchie, Welwood, Henly, Stewart.

In the draw games we were surprised to see that the Gordon Beggs rink worked up a win over the Harry Hackman rink. Gordon must have his boys in pretty good trim.

Curlers be sure to get your name on the list if you want to curl in the Family Bonspiel between Xmas and New Years.

Any ladies wishing to curl after Christmas be sure to let the president Ethel Bleasdale know, it saves a lot of phoning.

SHOPPING AROUND

by MRS. A. F. CRAWFORD

Out our way Santa Claus is already on the roof tops and looking very real and as jolly as ever! Really a work of art!

This week will see Christmas trees, beautiful with their gay and colorful lights and sparkling ornaments, once more taking the place of honor in the decorations for the festive season and awaiting the mysterious packages that will arrive one way or another.

In the kitchen, mother will be busy with at least a million details on her mind and maybe wondering if everything will get done. It always does and her reward will lie in hearing at the end of a happy day, "That was the best Christmas ever!"

Summerland stores can supply all the trimmings and, whether yours is to be a traditional Christmas dinner with Turkey and cranberry sauce, plum pudding and all that goes with it or more simple fare, a bit of imagination can make it a feast.

Fresh vegetables will be there in great variety and will be plentiful.

Mandarin oranges are in good supply, but we are warned to not leave ordering them too long. Once existing stocks disappear, that's it.

Nuts are cheaper than last year. There don't seem to be quite as many used nowadays altho' a few years ago mixed nuts in quantity were a must. One of the nice things to look back on was the nut cracking around the cosy open fire on Christmas night when family and friends enjoyed this relaxing pastime and accompanying chatter after a day filled with almost more than one day could hold. So don't forget a few pounds of nuts this Christmas!

And be sure you buy some of those candies that almost spell "Christmas"! French creams and jellies in the mixture and of course, candy canes!

For the last minute gift there's a great assortment of boxed chocolates and very attractive tins of cookies.

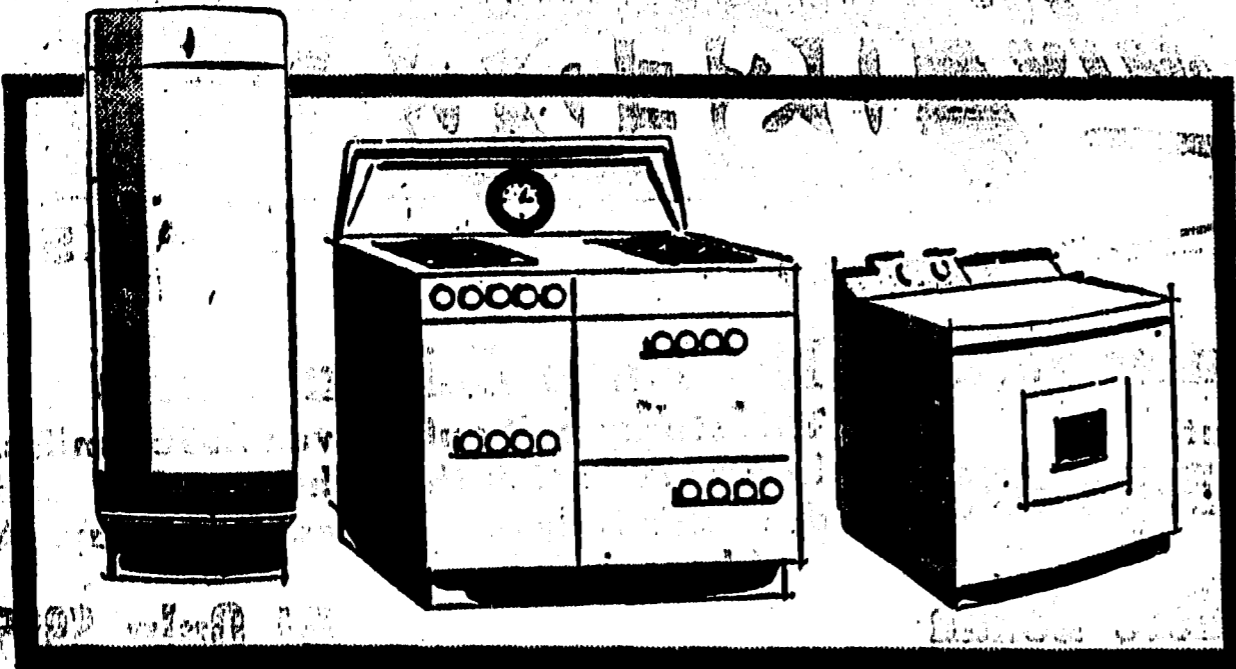

Don't forget that carton of ice cream and also, if there are youngsters involved, a package of cones.

Promenade

At last the day has rolled around and once again the Christmas season is upon us. For square dancers that means dancing. This weekend the Summerland Pairs and Squares will be hosts to fall square dancers at their annual Christmas Party in the Youth Centre with Les Boyer as emcee. Callers bring records.

On Thursday, December 19 we will hold our regular class in the High School Auditorium.

This will be the last class until after the Christmas holidays. On Boxing night, December 26 the Summerland Club will hold a dance in the Youth Centre Hall with local callers in charge. Everyone is invited and callers are asked to bring their records. Also if you like to eat bring along something. Coffee will be provided. Circle this date on your calendar as your correspondent may take a holiday from the typewriter, and this column may not appear to remind you Merry Christmas.

 Terminal 2
 South 8

- Temple 7 ... Tennyson 8 ... Terminal 2 ... South 8 ... these are new Central Office names identifying some of our telephone exchanges in the latest 1957 Telephone Directory which becomes effective on December 19th.
- Telephone listings in these newly-identified Central Offices now consist of 2 Letters and 5 Numbers. Known as "2-5 Numbering" ... this change is the initial step in your Telephone Company's plans to provide system-wide Direct Distance Dialing on out-of-town calls. (The remainder of our exchanges will be changed to 2-5 Numbering in our next Directory.)
- It is extremely important in placing a Long Distance call to a 2-5 Number that the called telephone be properly identified by its full Central Office name and number - for example: to call a Westbank telephone listed as SO8-1234, ask the operator for "SOuth 8-1234". (It is equally important when calling from a 2-5 Number to give the operator your full Central Office name and number.)

TEEN TOWN

This Saturday evening, December 21, in the IOOF Hall, Summerland Teen Town will be holding its first dance since P-TA agreed to sponsor the group. They are looking forward to a large crowd of not only students but their parents as well.

Looking back in the year we find that Teen Town has catered to many community affairs and now they are asking your support by turning out to their last 1957 dance.

Admission is only 25c with a membership card and 35c without. Cards will be on sale and remember this is how Teen Town gets its finances.

All Teen Towners are asked to turn out for carolling on Sunday night. All proceeds will be given to the March of Dimes. Remember after carolling everyone is invited to a party. Where? Come carolling and find out!

BIRTHDAY OFFERING

Once again this year, Christ's Birthday Offering will be received at the Trout Creek Community Church of God. Last year the Women's Missionary Society of the Church of God, through this widespread effort raised $165,000 for the work of spreading the gospel.

The service at which the offering will be received will be on December 22 at 10 a.m. when the Sunday School and Church Service will be combined. That same evening at 7:30 the Church choir will present the Cantata "Wonderful."

The annual Christmas programme will be given on December 23, at 7:30 p.m.

ISCF Members Hold Skating Party

The Interscholastic Christian Fellowship Club of Summerland Jr.-Sr. High School entertained members of the Club from Kelowna and Penticton High School Clubs at a skating party.

Mr. Ron Manning, President of the local club was in charge. Ninety-eight students attended the party, which was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Milne. Refreshments were served at the Arena.

A regulator could be put in which would be a temporary alleviation too. A used regulator could be purchased from the City of Penticton at a cost of $500 with -1,500 added for installation and housing to cover it, while two new regulators looked like a better deal at 2,000 each, with installation costs small.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Twas the night before Christmas:
Stores Closing Down,
And Godber was frantic,
Ransacking the town.
And store clerks they muttered:
As poised to depart,
They waited and watched him,
Tear counters apart.
His last, frantic dash:
To the government store,
Brought forth a wild howl,
As they closed tight the door.
So let this be a warning:
To all far and near,
Next year shop early,
Or no Christmas cheer.

W-e-ell it isn't quite that bad yet, but the clock fingers seem to be racing around the dial — and no Christmas shopping done.

Christmas always seems to sneak up on me, but somehow this year it has snuck up on me more suddenly than ever. Nary a thing done, nary a thing planned — not a Christmas card sent — as usual I'm hoping that the wife has looked after those pre-Christmas chores. But soon now there'll be nothing to do but drool over odors of roasting turkey — ah me and my 209 pounds.

Worst Christmas I ever had was when I did straight guard duty from Christmas Eve to the day after New Year's. Sergeant of the Guard at Signal Corp camp at Cove, which, as most old sweats know is not so far from London and I was due for a long leave. But a couple of days before Christmas we did another of those brushing up musketry workouts.

Range officer was a fierce product of the Imperials, lately of the Guards. He started off by blistering our officer in command for the sloppy way we marched. Then he laid down the law — any man who lay on the wrong target was to be put on orders and he personally, would see to it that he got the book.

Our officer passed the word down to me — the old army game. "Sergeant," yack yack yack, "and if any man lays on the wrong target I'll have his hide."

So, I passed it on to the rank and file — "any man who lays on the wrong target — I'll grrrrrr."

We all had to shoot — even the officer. We shot first at 300 yards. Five rounds — I glowed with self satisfaction as the signals came back — two right on the button and three inners.

We advanced to the targets and suddenly I gasped, I realized I'd laid on the wrong target.

The target which should have been mine was unmarked.

To complicate matters the guy whose target I laid on had made five complete misses — it was later found that the guy was left handed and couldn't hit a barn shooting right handed, but he could shoot like Daniel Boone when they let him shoot left handed.

But I didn't know anything about that as I trudged forward red-faced, the question, should I admit to laying on the wrong target, but make claim to some nice shooting, or should I just keep quiet and let the unmarked target tell its own story? Trouble was, I didn't know that the other guy had missed completely and so I edged over to our officer, and told him the awful truth —

That's how come my long leave Christmas pass didn't come through and I spent nine days on 24 hour guard duty.

And now as the Review will not be publishing next week the next edition of The Review will be out on January 8, allow me to extend to all our readers and to the merchants of the community, who by and large make this paper possible, a very Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

And when it comes to counting out blessings, let me remind you that it is not most any place that one can pick apples off the trees the day before Christmas and find them not only unfrozen, but edible. Anyway that's what M. M. Stevens of KVR road bustled into the office to tell me this morning. Mr. Stevens, just recently from the cold side of the Rocky Mountains was just bubbling over with enthusiasm for a place where apples can be picked off the trees on the day before Christmas.

A REMINDER — don't forget the New Year's Eve Frolic at the Youth Centre — Youth Centre Association is really sweating to make this a bang up affair and says Walter Toews, "It sure will be if we get the crowd."

Men Lagging Behind

Father A. M. Meulenbergh last Tuesday evening gave a very inspiring and thought provoking address to the Summerland Kiwanis Club.

We are living in a period of technological advances which are far outpacing the capacity of man to make use of these advances in a way which will be beneficial to the human race, the speaker declared.

He cited what he considered the two most important developments to the world since world war two. First was the Korean war. This "incident" proved that even comparatively local hostilities cannot be confined to local borders but result in the awakening of millions to realizing their potential.

The "Satellite" proves that man has not developed spiritually, socially or politically to a degree that he can handle these scientific advances in order to make use of them to benefit mankind rather than to his destruction.

Ratepayers Approval Will Be Sought Jan. 9, For Health Centre

Editorial

It is difficult to believe that our modern mode of celebrating Christmas is of very recent origin. The incredible Christmas card is only a little over a century old. Christmas trees for people of British origin date only from 1840 when Queen Victoria married a German prince, who introduced the delightful custom of the evergreen into the Royal household. Christmas presents, however, are a very much older aspect of the celebration of the Christ-child's birthday, and undoubtedly arose from the example of the Wise Men of Biblical tradition.

Many rightly deplore the commercialization of Christmas with its frenzy of buying and selling and the perversion of many of the beautiful customs and traditions of the festival for commercial purposes. Unquestionably this perversion has gone much too far, but the significant thing about it is that it has so far failed to overwhelm the origin and basis of Christmas. Despite all the furor, the ultimate reason for the most present-giving is the impulse of generosity, and the natural desire to give someone else a moment or more of pleasure. This cannot be bad.

Perhaps to some people the receiving of presents and the other materialistic aspects of the modern Christmas are more important than its spirit. But even they, unavoidably and inevitably, are bound to acknowledge the ultimately religious element in the festival. Even in the amount of work some do to give others pleasure, this may be seen. The whole end and purpose of Christmas is contained in the message of the angels, promising peace on earth and good will toward men, as a result of the Divine event on that significant night.

So powerfully has that message been burned into the hearts and minds of the people of Western civilization that for a little while, even a little while, men withhold their cynicism and bitterness. Strangers are greeted with friendly words who on other days of the year would never be seen or spoken to. Even in international affairs, the customary tensions are relaxed. For every increase of friendliness, anywhere in the world, at home or far away, we should be deeply grateful.

Christmas is, primarily and always, a family festival. It is a great day for the children, with the excitement of presents, the color of the decorations, the beauty of the Christmas music, and not least, the joy of the Christmas dinner. It is a sad fact that many children are denied these privileges, through poverty or indifference, and while some are given pleasant parties by great-hearted people, the number who pass from childhood without the thrills and memories of a real Christmas cast a dark reflection on the selfishness of the people who do not care.

For all who will find this Christmas a sad occasion, through misfortune, bereavement, a loved one's absence, the bitter tea of failure, the loneliness of old age, or many other reasons which might intervene to crush enjoyment, there will be sympathy. But while sorrow may endure for a night, joy cometh in the morning. The fact of Christmas is greater than all the sadness of life. Among the Wise Men's gifts was the Myrrh of tragedy, but even from tragedy there emerges triumph, or our religion is false.

Christmas means the birth of hope, the unconquerable belief that some day, somehow, men will live together as brothers. Even to think about such a thing can fill the heart with joy. It is no wonder that Christmas is a season of happiness. In that general spirit of goodwill, this newspaper takes pleasure in wishing all its readers a good old-fashioned Merry Christmas.

Summerland's Municipal Council is only waiting for the green light from the ratepayers to let contracts and to turn the sod on the proposed new Health Centre which will also incorporate Summerland's Centennial project a library building.

Ratepayers will be asked to give their approval to the health centre library project at the polls, voting to take place on Thursday, January 9 at the United Church building, Summerland and at the Municipal Office, West Summerland.

To ensure that the ratepayers will be fully informed the municipal council has also called a ratepayers' meeting to be held on Monday, January 6 at 8 p.m. in the library of the Junior, Senior High School.

The Health Centre and Library is to be located on property adjoining to, and immediately east of Memorial Park and has been designed to fit into the setting.

The Health Centre part will cost approximately $33,800, the library $8,700, and $1,500 has been allowed for landscaping.

Federal and provincial grants towards the health centre are just over $12,000 each. Grants have been promised from the Canadian Cancer Society and others. It is estimated the municipality's share is $7,800. This is offset by money raised for the library, Summerland's Centennial project.

On the 60 cent per capita basis, the provincial government pays $2,400 towards the library matched by the local per capita of $2,400. Taking this total of $4,800 from the $7,800, about $3,000 will have to be met at the local level.

The Health Centre section will be 4 by 32 feet and the library 40 by 24 feet. The library will be at a walk-in level. There will be a few steps up to the Health Centre. A large workroom for service clubs will be under the Health Centre where a full size basement will be made. Washrooms will be on the mezzanine between the main and basement floors.

The following statement by Dr. David A. Clarke, head of the Okanagan Health Unit, relates to the Summerland Health Centre — writes Dr. Clarke: "In 1957, your Health Unit is again giving leadership by

Community Says Sorrowful Farewell To "Ned" Bentley

Summerland in particular and the Okanagan Valley as a whole today mourns the loss of "Ned" Bentley, who died at the age of 74 following a long illness in Shaughnessy Hospital.

Charles Edward Bentley, twice Reeve of Summerland, a winner of the Good Citizenship award, a soldier of the first World War and long active in veteran and municipal affairs was laid to rest in Peach Orchard in St. Stephen's Anglican Church conducted by the Rev. A. A. Northrup. A Canadian Legion service was conducted at the graveside.

The late Mr. Bentley came to this valley in 1908 from London, England. He joined his family here and started his almost half-century of interest in community and valley affairs.

He was a highly trained mechanic and had a boat building early days of that place. In 1911 he operated a garage in Ponticton, later moving to lower town here where he had a garage for a number of years.

In 1915 he went overseas in World War I, with the 54th machine gun battalion as an officer. He was invalided home and took up his garage again and operated the family orchards.

German Can'dians Have Old Custom

German Canadians, like most of our newer citizens, celebrate a Christmas that clings to homeland customs, but accepts many modern day influences and ideas.

Until the 5th Century, Christmas in Germany was not celebrated on December 25. Now, although the day of celebration has been changed, St. Nicholas remains as the patron saint and secret giver of children's gifts.

Church services are attended faithfully on Christmas Eve, usually preceded by a fish dinner, plenty of coffee and decorating of the Christmas tree with fanc ycookies and candies.

German families visit back and forth and always there are refreshments — coffee, Christmas stollen, rye bread and cheese, and an endless variety of small cakes and cookies.

Christmas dinner, after morning church service, is a gay and plenteous occasion. Traditional is the Christmas goose, stuffed plump with bread dressing, rich with apples and prunes. Small whole potatoes, spiced red cabbage, brussel sprouts and a jellied cranberry, pineapple and applesauce salad complete the first course. Rye bread and plenteous occasion

Christmas stollen, with honey cake, fresh fruit cake, spritzkuchen (similar to cream puffs), cookies, marzipan fruits, jellied apricots and fresh fruits and nuts provide plenty of variety for succeeding courses. And, of course, there's coffee, over each cup of which there is visiting, singing, laughter and gaiety until the festive day is ended.

Bell Ringer Casserole

At no other time does entertaining hit the peak it will during the forthcoming holiday season, and a buffet supper is one of the most enjoyable of festive parties. A casserole of fish fillets and plump, pink shrimp is a happy change for a buffet feature at this time of the year when there is a surfeit of rich, heavy food. In Bell Ringer Casserole the seafoods are blended together with a savory sauce which is studded with parsley, pimento and green pepper. There's a topping of crispy potato slices and the whole is crowned with grated cheese that melts to mellow goodness during baking. It can be kept in a warm oven without any detrimental effect on its superb flavor and attractive appearance should the supper hour be delayed.

Bell Ringer Casserole is highly complimented by a table decorated in holiday mood and surrounded with one or two other hot or cold main dishes, crisp salads and crunchy relishes. Spicy holiday tarts and cookies, assorted cheeses and crackers, a large bowl of fresh fruit and nuts and steaming coffee round out the festive buffet menu.

BELL RINGER CASSEROLE

- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 small onion, sliced thin
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 pound fish fillets
- 1 cup cooked shrimp
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimento
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1-1/2 cups medium white sauce, seasoned
- 3 tablespoons dry sherry
- 1-1/2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 3 raw potatoes, thinly sliced
- Salt
- 1/2 cup grated process or cheddar cheese
- 1-1/2 tablespoons lemon juice may be used instead of dry sherry

Melt butter or margarine. Sauté onion and green pepper in butter until soft. Cut fish fillets into one-inch pieces. Add with shrimp to onion and green pepper mixture. Stir in pimento and parsley. Blend sherry and mustard into seasoned white sauce. Blend half of white sauce mixture into fish and vegetables. Place in greased casserole. Cover with sliced potatoes, sprinkling potatoes liberally with salt. Cover with remaining sauce. Bake in preheated moderate oven of 375 degrees F. about 40 minutes, sprinkling cheese on top about 20 minutes before cooking time is completed. Makes about 6 servings.

Christmas Tree Can Become Fire Menace

The gaily decorated tree, can be the cause of tragic death and heavy fire loss this Christmas. But not if you heed the warning of Summerland Fire Chief Ed Gould.

"The main thing to watch for is careful handling of electric decorations on the Christmas tree," the chief warns. "Overloading of circuits with tree lights, apparatus, toys, tools and appliances should be guarded against."

To minimize the danger of fire and accidents, the following rules should be followed:

AVOID FIREPLACES

Choose a small tree rather than a large one and keep it outside until you set it up. Take it down as soon as needles start to drop off.

If possible place the tree in a pot of water and never put it near a fireplace, staircase or doorway.

Don't place presents under the tree until Christmas Eve. Get rid of wrapping paper as soon as gifts are opened. Never use candles as tree decorations.

Keep burning cigarettes and portable heaters away from trees.

REARRANGE LIGHTS

Rearrange electric tree lights when they start to dry out the tree needles and check to see that the decorations do not overload the circuits.

Turn off tree lights when the house is unoccupied.

Hockey

Summerland Macs won a close one Sunday in the Jubilee Arena, defeating Vernon Canadians Juniors 8-7 in a hard fought even-steven game.

It was good clean hockey and the fans who stayed away by the hundreds missed one of the best games so far this season. Lack of fan support is felt keenly by the Summerland players, who are hopeful this season of going places in intermediate hockey, but if the Summerland team is going places it will have to have more support than it has received from Summerland hockey fans to-date.

In Sunday's game, goals were scored by Bob Parker, who netted two, Richards, Taylor and Doug Moore picked up sinletons and Mundle got a hat-trick.

Only two penalties were handed out by referee Harry Harris. In midget hockey the Summerland Midgets won their first game in an exhibition tilt with Westbank.

To win, the Summerland youngsters rapped in four goals in overtime after the teams played to a 5-5 tie in regulation time.

Gillard was the scoring ace with five goals and McCutcheon and Warren Parker scored two each.

And that just about wraps up hockey for this year with only one Midget game scheduled.

So the best of the season to everyone.

Shopping Around

Anybody for apple juice? It's good for you and is very handy especially at this time of year for parties, grownups or children. It keeps well this cool weather or may be bottled and sterilized or frozen, in which state, it keeps perfectly. It's easy to get in any quantity — no fuss, no muss. Just bring your own containers to the local Custom Cannery. L. L. Fudge, 4847, 75c a gallon if apples supplied; 50c a gallon, if you supply your own apples. Could be very useful during the holiday season!

Christmas is here — The turkey's ready (we are warned not to put the stuffing in and let it stand overnight before cooking or to leave it in for any length of time after it is cooked). The Christmas puddings are cooked and mince pies, too!

We're thrilled to candlelight services, the children have had fun at their parties, the carolers have been out to do their bit and every hour more "folks" are arriving home for Christmas.

The shopping spree is over and lots of surprises await eager hands come Christmas morning when the youngsters waken so early and just can't wait for that big event "the tree." So about all that's left to do is to repeat again the familiar and sincere "Merry Christmas to All."

Letter To The Editor

The Editor:
Summerland Review.
Dear Friends,

It seems that the temperature in the Ottawa Valley is to become more frigid. Similarly, the atmosphere of the House is gradually losing the genial spirit of brotherly love, co-operation and kindness which has marked this Session to date.

Liberals, CCF and Social Credit spokesmen took lusty verbal swings at the Minister of Finance the other day — NOT because he brought in tax changes, but because of the method he employed in doing so.

The story was a long one but shall make it as brief as I can. During the 1955 Parliament, the Committee on Privileges and Elections had brought in a series of sweeping changes in the rules governing the procedure to be followed in carrying out the work of Canada's Parliament. It was felt that we had our own Parliament for sufficient years to have our own set of rules. The recommendations were accepted by Parliament and passed by it.

Rule I, specifically says that where the Canadian authorities had not had occasion to rule on a point of order, then we were to refer to the rules of the United Kingdom to establish what the rule or decision should be.

The question, of course, is a procedural one and has to do with the Rights of Parliament.

The Minister of Finance, Mr. Fleming, had brought in certain changes in the tax structure of the country in the course of introducing his estimates.

This meant that the members of Parliament were automatically denied the right to amend the government's proposals — a right that has not been denied a Canadian Parliament since 1880.

The Standing Orders governing procedure in the House of Commons had been changed in 1955. At that time, it was decided that the rules respecting ways and means should be separated from those respecting supply. It was decided that there should be but one, and only one, eight-day debate on a resolution to go into Ways and Means before any increase, decrease or other changes affecting the taxes to be paid was to take place; but there was to be one such motion in each session of Parliament.

The danger of the action that the government is now following is not so apparent as it possibly should be, but you will probably recall that the history of the supremacy of the people over the taxes they are to pay dates back to the time of King John 1st of England.

No one is denying the changes in taxes as proposed by Her Majesty's Ministers in Ottawa. These are desirable changes.

The argument is that the course of conduct of the Minister of Finance establishes a precedent — a bad precedent. If the government has the right to reduce taxes in this way, it then has a similar right to increase taxes in the same manner.

The taxpayer of Canada has a right to have these tax changes debated, amended if necessary, and voted upon. They should be brought before the House in the proper fashion by a resolution to go into a Committee of Ways and Means. In that way, and in that way alone, can we keep the government responsible to parliament and through it to the people.

The government still has time, and it is to be hoped it will have a change of heart — that is, not yet too late to bring in a resolution to go into a Committee of Ways and Means to allow for proper debate and amendment of the motions, and so vote the changes as they should do.

F. C. CHRISTIAN,
M.P. Okanagan-Boundary.

United Church W.A. Retells Christmas Story In Song and Verse

Events leading up to and surrounding the birth of Christ were presented in song and story at the December sixteenth meeting of the United Church W.A. Mrs. J. Mayne gave the narration and Mrs. L. Fudge accompanied the choral group. Solists were Mrs. H. Milley, Mrs. K. Boothe, Mrs. E. E. Bates and Miss C. Mair. The original script was written and presented five years ago by Mrs. O. C. Whitmore.

Forty members answered the roll and Mrs. J. C. Wilcox welcomed two new members and the visitors present.

A sincere thank you was extended by the president to all those who assisted in making the bazaar such an outstanding success.

Mrs. C. Campbell and Mrs. B. Brandon volunteered to pack the Christmas Hampers. Mrs. L. Fudge reported that a Christmas parcel had been sent to Suma Ona and her family in Japan.

Elections were held and the executive for 1958 are Mrs. J. H. Holman, president, Mrs. W. H. Durick, first vice-president, Mrs. E. E. Bates, second vice-president, Mrs. S. Blazeko, secretary, and Mrs. J. P. Sheeley, treasurer. The retiring president, Mrs. J. C. Wilcox conveyed her appreciation for the co-operation received from the executive and members during the past year.

The meeting concluded with the serving of dainty Christmas refreshments.

Okanagan Telephone Completes Millionth Long Distance Call

At 3:27 p.m., Wednesday afternoon, December 4, the Okanagan Telephone Company marked another service milestone with the completion of the one millionth Long Distance call! For the Telephone Company, which serves some 22,300 telephones in 17 exchanges, it was the first occasion that a year's Long Distance calling had reached the million mark. Total calling for the year 1956, for example, was 940,343 completed calls.

The millionth call was placed by Mr. Gerald C. Niemi of the W. H. Steele Lumber Co. Ltd. to Vancouver - BA 1558, through the Vernon exchange switchboard and was handled by senior operator Mrs. Jean Bell. As the call was set up Company Traffic Supervisor Mrs. Evelyn Tebo informed the party's that the call was the one millionth Long Distance call and would be completed as a complimentary free call.

The first telephone company in the province to provide system-wide Operator Toll Dialing to its subscribers, the Company has enjoyed a continual increase in its volume of Long Distance calling and is now working on the initial phases of its program to provide Direct Dialing throughout its system.

This program, to be completed during 1959 and early 1960, will enable telephone subscribers to dial their own Long Distance calls directly to any other dial telephone in the Company's system. Ultimately, and in cooperation with other telephone Companies, Okanagan subscribers will be able to dial to practically any other dial telephone on the North American continent — all without the service of an operator!

Bentley

Mr. Bentley established the first group of veterans here under the Great War Veterans' Association, and when the British Empire Service League was formed he became the first Summerland Canadian Legion president. He was a zone commander at one time, and was awarded the King George VI Coronation Medal. At the time of his death he had just been made the honorary president of the local branch of the Legion by acclamation.

In World War II he was a civilian instructor in mechanics to army and other service personnel at Vancouver.

He became a municipal councillor in 1932 and served as reeve of Summerland from 1936-39 and from 1951-53. He was active in the works of the OKMA.

The Okanagan Valley Historical Society counted him a valuable member, and he was busy in BCFGAs endeavors.

In 1939 he was awarded the Summerland Board of Trade Good Citizen Cup. He furthered the aims of the trade board at all times.

Pall bearers at his funeral, were Harry Howis, Harry Thorthwaite, J. O. O'Mahony, Capt. A. M. Temple, G. D. Smith and Jim Bolton of Pentton, Legion zone commander.

He is survived by a niece, Mrs. Roy Heuchendorf of Burnaby, a nephew, Larry Higgin of Kamloops, and relatives in England.

A modern health centre, suitably located and designed enhances greatly the work of your health personnel, by making the services more available to the public. Likewise by providing proper health facilities a community will obtain many far reaching health benefits. Modern public health strives through health education rather than legislation to safeguard and improve the health of people.

The Hi-Life

Yes, Summerland High has been a busy place for the past four months.

The successful Student's Council Conferences held here in November started the ball rolling. It was felt by all schools attending that the conference was well worthwhile.

Next on the list of events was Summerland's First Annual Basketball Tournament. It was at this tournament that Carlton Sheeley was chosen as one of the players on the "All Star Team."

After the Tournament, basketball really got rolling and in spite of some minor losses, I think the wins made up for them.

The Annual Open House held shortly after this tournament, was, as the previous year, a huge success. A lot of the success came about because of the help given by the teacher sponsors. Thanks teachers, from SHS students.

About this time, along came the Summerland High Band Concert. In the varied programme of Band Music, lead by Mr. Tamblyn, and Choir Singing, lead by Mr. Loan, Ed Matsu, our High School Trumpeter played "Stormy Weather."

Last but not least on our "School Schedule" came Christmas exams. These were things almost dreaded by most students, (including myself) but I think that when you come right down to it, they did everyone of us a lot of good.

That's about it for the happenings at SHS since September '57.

"Merry Christmas" to teachers, parents and kids.
See you back at SHS in '58.
