

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Temporarily, only temporarily mind you, this columnist has been completely eclipsed by the women around this newspaper.

Last week Mrs. Vanderburgh, who runs the Review's front office, including the publisher, was named Summerland's Good Citizen of 1956 and also last week, the wife rocked me to my foundations by clipping off a reply to the ladies as if she had taken a course in public speaking, studied the bon mot and Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

Naturally, I was tickled pink to have Mrs. Vanderburgh named good citizen. A happy choice and no one in these parts is more deserving of the honor.

Summerland's new Good Citizen is a little flustered by it all and withal modest — she blushes deeply when I quote, which I have been doing quite often of late, "Vanity thy name is woman." You see, it was Mrs. Vanderburgh who phoned photographer Schindel and instructed him to get two or three good pictures of the Good Citizen being presented with the cup.

And then she gets mad at me when I suggest that maybe she knew she was going to get it.

Actually it was a well-kept secret to the last but most people at the Board of Trade banquet had the name on their lips before Ivor Solly had finished outlining the services rendered to the community by Mrs. Vanderburgh.

So, now here I am working alongside and with Summerland's Good Citizen and The Review will have to try to live up to it. Board of Trade President, Ken Boothe wisecracked, "and we hope some of this good citizenship will rub off on Godber, — maybe it will."

As for the wife and her public speechifying. When I first passed on Lorne Perry's invitation for her to reply to the toast to the ladies she fluttered all over the place and gave with the "Oh, I couldn't, I just couldn't" routine.

I sternly explained about duty and all that kind of stuff and magnanimously promised to help her.

I did, I outlined a tremendous speech for her—to the effect that while it was nice for the men to toast the ladies it would be much more fitting for the ladies to toast the men.

"Tell them," I said to the wife, "that after having been married for almost 20 years you know how wonderful a man can be and then wind up by saying, and so I propose a toast to the men and to one in particular — my husband."

As the hour drew nearer I became more and more nervous, until when I finally sat down at the banquet, I was quaking inside.

I've always been jittery when someone close to me is in the public eye.

It was sheer nervousness which caused me to embarrass my older sister who was a fair enough singer. First time she sang at the church concert. I sweated for a week ahead and then, just as she hit the first note, my nerves broke altogether and I dashed out of the church hall creating something of a rumpus. Sis went home in tears, broken-hearted that her kid brother had bolted from under her very eyes. So, all the family was made to me and Dad gave me a healthy clout on the ear 'ole and threatened the razor strop if it ever happened again.

I came close to bolting when the wife stood up to reply to the toast to the ladies wittily proposed by Jack O'Mahony. But I bit on the bullet and was I surprised.

The wife couldn't have been listening when I outlined her speech for her. She coined one of her own and, although I say it myself, as shouldn't, it was pretty neat.

So, temporarily, but only temporarily, mind you, this columnist is very much woman ridden.

Speaker Paints Vivid Picture Of Northland

The Board of Trade's annual banquet is noteworthy for the excellence of its speaker and this year it was felt that the speaker, Dr. Ian McTaggart-Cowan excelled. His discourse was brilliant, witty and highly informative and it was delivered by a man who, as was obvious, loves the Canadian northland.

Acting Reeve Eric Tait spoke on behalf of the municipality. He extolled the spirit of co-operation which exists in Summerland and expressed the hope that it would continue.

George Lang, newly elected president of the Pentiction Board of Trade, was also a guest of honor and spoke briefly, complimenting the local board on its many activities and expressing the hope for close co-operation between the Pentiction and Summerland groups during the year.

If there is anything useless in this world it is a septic tank when buried in frozen tundra of Canada's northland. Members of the Board of Trade, their wives and guests learned this fact at the annual banquet of the Board held in the IOOF Hall at which Dr. McTaggart-Cowan, head of the Department of Zoology and one of Canada's outstanding authorities on Canadian wild life, was the guest speaker.

The septic tank story was just one of a hundred anecdotes told by the speaker which, pieced together, presented a vivid picture of Canada's northland, its way of life and its tremendous potential.

Dr. McTaggart-Cowan used colored slides to illustrate his talk including some magnificent pictures of caribou and reindeer herds.

Dr. McTaggart-Cowan believes the name these days. From February 1, Friday, until February 4, Monday, five and nine-tenths inches of snow fell, blanketing the whole municipality as recorded at the Experiment Station in a wintry covering. The figural Farm are: February 1, .80; 2nd, 0; 3rd, .41; 4th, 1.0.

George Henry Honored By Board of Trade

A man who has worked untiringly for the community through the Board of Trade was honored at the annual banquet held in the IOOF Hall last Thursday. George Henry was awarded a life membership, an honor not given lightly by the local trade board.

Roy Wellwood, vice-president of the board, made the announcement and spoke in glowing terms of Mr. Henry's endeavors on behalf of the Board of Trade.

Mr. Henry was unable to be present at the banquet, but Mr. Wellwood finally caught up with him at the curling rink and made the award.

Retiring president Ken Boothe reviewed the year and paid high compliment to press and radio for giving publicity to the many activities of the board, "without which they could not succeed."

Mr. Boothe paid particular tribute to the former publisher of the Summerland Review, Gordon Crook, for his promotion of the board growing contest which did so much to publicize Summerland's Golden Jubilee.

BILL CROFT'S RINK IN SEMI-FINALS

At press time Bill Croft's rink, playing in the Nelson hospital, was in the semi-finals.

The Brier playdown starts tomorrow.

Loelke McKilligan couldn't go because of illness and his place has been taken by C. J. Measdale.

Think is as follows: Bill Croft, skip; lead, C. J. Measdale; 2nd, Walt Toews, 3rd, Herb Lemke.

Royal Commission Here Tuesday, February 19

Dean E. D. MacPhee

The Royal Commission investigating the multi-million dollar fruit industry of the Okanagan Valley will meet in the IOOF Hall, West Summerland, on Tuesday, February 19, commencing at nine a.m.

In each of the 17 regional hearings any person, or parties, interested in any phase of the industry in that area, are invited to present statements or briefs for the Commission's consideration.

Dean E. D. MacPhee, Commissioner, has adjourned investigations until February 14, when a session will be held at Oliver. Preliminary hearings have been held at Kelowna and Salmon Arm.

When the name of the 1956 Good Citizen of the year was announced at the Board of Trade's annual banquet held last week, the person honored, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, was not present to receive the Reid Johnston Good Citizen Cup. The reason she was not present to receive the trophy was, in part, the reason she won the honor. Mrs. Vanderburgh at the time she was proclaimed "Good Citizen of the year" was engaged in an errand of compassion, typical of this bustling woman, who has served Summerland for many years, in many and varied fields.

In winning the Good Citizen award Mrs. Vanderburgh became the nineteenth Good Citizen to be so honored.

"This person," said Ivor Solly, who announced the award, and who kept the winner's identity secret until the last, "This person," he said, "has served beyond the ordinary call of duty in working for the well-being of Summerland and its citizens."

Mr. Solly spoke of Mrs. Vanderburgh's nine years service with the school board and that she was chairman for the last year of this period.

An active member of the Red Cross, Mrs. Vanderburgh is secretary of the local branch. She was also on the Board of Directors and a chairman of the South Okanagan Health Unit.

The Good Citizen for 1956 played an important part in bringing a branch of the Okanagan Union Library to Summerland and represents Summerland on the executive of the library board.

In other cultural activities Mrs. Vanderburgh is an active member of the Summerland Art Club winning distinction as a painter of some note. In the world of theatre Mrs. Vanderburgh is also prominent having taken part in local presentations as producer and actor.

Publishing Summerland is one of Mrs. Vanderburgh's favorite occupations. The Golden Jubilee booklets came mostly from her pen which has also produced short stories and poems.

When the Reid Johnston cup was installed at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, it was not for the first time, Dr. Vanderburgh having won the signal honor in 1951.

SUMMERLAND COUNCIL will increase the rates for thawing out pipes to match local commercial rates, Monday's council meeting decided.

S. Porritt Member Antipodes Team

As a direct result of a resolution submitted by the Summerland local at the recent BCFGA convention in Pentiction a team of fruit men is being sent to New Zealand and Australia to investigate their methods of fruit growing, bulk handling, and marketing.

This grew out of an address given to the Summerland BCFGA meeting by Dr. James Marshall, officer-in-charge of the Canada Entomology Laboratory in Trout Creek, when Dr. Marshall recommended that this be done.

On a trip to the Antipodes he saw methods which he thought could be advantageously applied to fruit handling in the Okanagan Valley.

S. W. Porritt of the staff of the Experimental Farm, a research horticulturist, will be a member of the team. Mr. Porritt will represent the Canada Department of Agriculture.

He will be especially interested in packing house and storage methods and in the culture of fruit trees and the varieties being grown in the Antipodes.

Others who will leave Vancouver on February 17 for the trip south are D. J. Sutherland of Kaleden; Doug Glover of Vernon; J. E. Lander of B.C. Tree-Fruits Ltd.; and Frank Morton, Kelowna, a member of the staff of the Horticultural Branch of the B.C. Department of Agriculture which he will represent.

Play Rehearsals In Final Stages

Rehearsals are in final stages for the Singers and Players play to be presented February 15, in the High School Auditorium.

The plot concerns a fateful day in the quiet Marden household when "Mr. Pim Passes By." What dreadful secret has he to disclose? Skeletons rattle in respectable family closets in A. A. Milne's delightful comedy which describes the lives and loves of George and Olivia, Brian and Dianna. Anne remains aloof and imperturbable. The domineering Lady Morden pronounces judgement but Olivia...!

To find out what Olivia does be sure to see this intriguing production "Mr. Pim Passes By".

W. R. Boyd Funeral Service

Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon February 2, at 2:30 p.m. in St. Stephen's Anglican church conducted by Rev. A. T. Northrup, for William Roberts Boyd, aged 59, whose death occurred on Thursday afternoon.

The late Mr. Boyd came to Summerland from Toronto in 1926 and engaged in orcharding since that time.

He took an active interest in community affairs, serving as a member of the Summerland General Hospital Board for some time, and with the local Scouts, and the South Okanagan Scout Association. He was a member of the Summerland Branch, Canadian Legion, and a veteran of World War I.

Surviving him are his wife Dorothy, and five daughters, Mrs. K. M. Stewart, (Joelyn); West Summerland, Mrs. Donald Rand, (Daphne), Vancouver, Patricia, Barbara, and Rosalind, at home. A sister, Mrs. F. M. Payne, lives in Boston. There are six grandchildren.

Funerals were conducted by Capt. A. M. Temple, J. E. O'Mahony, T. M. Croll, P. Guidi, A. W. Nisbet, all of Summerland, and Alastair Campbell of Vernon.

Graveside services were conducted by the Canadian Legion with interment in the Anglican Cemetery, Giant's Head Road.

Summerland Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements, R. J. Pollock and J. V. Canberry, directors.

Letter to Editor

We are still receiving bits of history remembered by old-timers, following the interest roused during the Jubilee year. The following letter to the editor will, no doubt, revive amusing memories for many Summerland residents. Owing to the length of the letter, it is to be printed in two parts. Signature is that of T. G. Marcham, who lives at Victoria, and is married to the former Mrs. Ernie Mountford.
2613 Forbes St.,
Victoria, B.C.

Mr. Sid Godber,
Editor, Summerland Review,
Dear Sir:

Being a reader and subscriber of your Summerland Review, also a former resident and property owner of Summerland from the spring of 1901 to the fall of 1909, I am writing to you about the great improvement in the paper since you took over control. It is full of pep and choice humor. To me it looks like an old sleepin' dog, just blossomed out in new life and energy. Also that in yourself is a man after my own heart.

Now after these sincere compliments, you must try to be patient with my meanderings.

After reading your edition of Jan. 5 and comments on your distinguished name of "God be here" I felt I must write you at once, as I really think it is "God be here." I will tell you why. Sixty years ago when I was a young man of twenty I was working at a butcher shop in North London, Eng. We had a new manager come to us, his name was "God be here." He told us that at the last store he worked, his name was put up over the window in big letters. Next to him was a baker and his name was "Hallday." A gentleman one day was walking down the street looking for the baker's name, coming to our friend the butcher he read the name, "God-be-here" glancing at the next, he said, "and Hallday too."

Another item of interest was your visit to the Cat and Fiddle at Buxton and your remark that it was the highest point in England, which was promptly denied by Mr. Wm. Beattie. I want to go on record, as supporting you in your assertion. I was at Buxton at the Canadian Hospital during World War I. I met Wm. Beattie there and it was understood by most of us that it was "the highest point in England" and you can tell "master Willie" from me that he had better be the future or I may be forced to tell you of the humorous incident of how he met his second wife in Summerland.

Billy and I were in the same outfit CAMC and went overseas, together. When he saw me in camp (I enlisted in Victoria) he pathetically said "Tommy, please don't tell the boys how I met my wife or they will rag the life out of me." I have kept my promise up till now, but tell him to go careful with you, as it would make delightful reading.

Another item was by Alex Steven, telling of his friend Jimmy Gaffney. I remember when Jimmy and I had a friendly wrestle, I got Jimmy on his back alright but I had trouble holding him there and in the scrimmage I planted my nice English hobnailed boots on the back of his hands, breaking the flesh. (Historically speaking.)

In Your Community

The RCMP have just issued a booklet, "Crime in Your Community", dealing with the issuance of bad cheques, precautionary measures, counterfeit money, etc.

For six weeks The Review will carry a page from the book in the interests of public safety, the first of which follows:

CRIME PREVENTION BAD CHEQUES

Each year Canadian business loses an estimated two million dollars by means of forged cheques, raised cheques and money orders much of which could be saved if employer or employee exercised a few precautions.

About 85 per cent of fraudulent cheques are cashed in stores and other places of business. Banks, because of their precautions, are well down on the swindler's list of victims.

In 1955 the Fraudulent Cheque Section of the RCMP received advice of a total $450,000.00 of forged negotiable paper and it is estimated that only twenty-five per cent of such forgeries are reported to the Section.

The law is adequate to punish the offence of forgery and uttering but it is better to prevent crimes than to punish them.

The most effective method for the prevention of crime is education and the object of this booklet is to enlist your aid to reduce crime by prevention. Have your staff study this booklet.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY SIXTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-SEVEN

Good Citizen . . .

To say of a person that he, or she, is a good citizen is to pay that person a high compliment indeed. It follows then that to signal out any one person as "the Good Citizen of the year", is a compliment of much greater degree, a compliment that is awe inspiring in its significance.

After all little more can be said of a person than to say simply, he, or she, is a good citizen. For to be a good citizen one must necessarily practice most, if not all of the virtues. To be a good citizen demands more than doing ones duty at the polls. It demands an embracing interest in the community and in the people who make up the community. It demands unselfishness of a high degree. To be a good citizen one must be humble and yet have pride without arrogance, and above all to be a good citizen one must have deep feeling for humanity as a whole, and the capacity to "love thy neighbor".

It is no small event when the Board of Trade names the good citizen of the year, as it did last week, and it should be remembered, that in making this award the Board of Trade and through it, the community, is honoring not only The Good Citizen of the Year, but all those, and there are many in Summerland and District, who can in truth be called Good Citizen.

In naming Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh as the Good Citizen of 1956, the Board of Trade chose well. The honor has been well-earned, not over the period of one year, but over a score of years.

We congratulate Mrs. Vanderburgh on the high honor she has received and we might add that we of The Review are proud to have with us Summerland's 1956 Good Citizen.

Mid-Week Message

THOUGHT FOR TODAY: I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come . . . shall be able to separate us from the love of God. Rom. 8:38-39.

We are often at the mercy of moods. Shame on us for judging things, not as they really are but as they look to us through the murky mist of our feelings. Our feelings people our world with cheaters, scamps and sharks. A young man loses his position at the office or factory, or fails to maintain the affections of his sweetheart, and through the mists of despondency sees nothing worth living for and ridiculously talks about suicide. A wife has had what seems to be an impossible difficulty with her husband and concludes that nobody loves her, not even God.

Why cannot we understand that it is a sound principle to stand by the judgments of our best hours? For surely, just as the eye sees most clearly when the air is clear of mists and the visibility is good, so does the soul see most clearly when it is free from its darkest moods.

What are we to do: go down enveloped in bleak mist, or use what faith we have left to burst forth our hand into the waiting hand of God? In so doing we shall be reassured of the unshakable, incontrovertible fact of Jesus Christ, the mightiest, most glorious fact in all history.

1957 Fruit Growers Chautauqua Has Interesting Variety In Addresses

BY ALEC WATT

Fruit growers of the Summerland area gathered at the IOOF Hall on Wednesday to hear the 1957 series of Chautauqua meetings which have been held annually for the past several years.

In the afternoon Dr. T. H. Anstey, Superintendent of the Summerland Experimental Farm spoke on World Apple Production. Dr. Anstey illustrated his talk with slides showing the major areas of apple production and the trends prevailing in different parts of the world.

Although North American apple production has remained fairly constant at 115 million bushels over the past twenty years, European apple production has more than doubled and is now 250 million. North American areas showed wide fluctuation in production due to severe winters from time to time. Although certain countries notably USA were heavy producers they did not export many apples. Canada has remained an apple exporter but her apple exports have declined in the past twenty years. B.C.'s exports to Eastern Canada have declined partly as a result of smaller crops and partly because of competition from bigger crops in Eastern Canada, which reached a peak of 9 million in 1955, the speaker said.

Dr. Anstey concluded his talk by cautioning the growers to keep certain factors in mind when planting out apple trees. (1) Whether the variety would bring a price sufficiently high to leave a profit for the grower after freight and other charges were deducted. (2) Whether the variety would produce consistently under our climatic conditions.

The second speaker of the afternoon was J. A. Smith, Supervising Horticulturist of the Provincial Department of Agriculture at Kelowna. Mr. Smith pointed out that on the average, one winter out of every seven was severe enough to kill or seriously injure apple trees. "Fruit trees," he said "should be tough enough to withstand the coldest winters the Valley has experienced. We should think in terms of what will withstand the worst of winters and not just what will come through an average winter."

Mr. Smith described how frost damage usually strikes the trunk, crown and crotches of a tree and does not injure the smaller branches or tops so much. One of the best answers to this was the replacement of these portions of the tree with a hardy variety. Either the seedling or the clonal rootstock can be budded to a hardy sort in the nursery. When ready this is planted in the orchard. After 2 or 3 years in the orchard it has formed a framework of branches. These branches are then budded to the desired variety (such as Red Delicious) at points about 24 inches out from the trunk, he said. Mr. Smith recommended the use of the McIntosh variety for the hardy intermediate stock since it is hardy in almost all areas of the Okanagan and is more readily available than some of the lesser known stocks.

At the conclusion of Mr. Smith's talk Dr. D. V. Fisher of the Summerland Experimental Farm, exhibited samples of "Super" Red Strains of Delicious and Winesap being propagated in Washington State. He told of the BCFA's decision to purchase the rights to a Super Red strain of Delicious and have it propagated by the Summerland Experimental Farm. While the strain was being propagated as rapidly as possible it could also be evaluated. By 1959, if satisfactory, it should be available to the industry.

At the evening session M. Oswald, District Horticulturist of Vernon spoke on changes that have been made in the 1957 spray recommendations. Mr. Oswald also covered the control measures and life histories of many of the well known insect pests and diseases as well as the physiological disorders such as boron and zinc deficiency. Mr. Oswald's talk was very well illustrated with slides. A lively question period followed.

Final speaker of the day was Adrian Moyle of the Fruit Products Laboratory at Summerland. He spoke of the trends in modern fruit processing, illustrating his talk with graphs showing the upward surge in frozen foods and processed foods since the last war. He noted a slump in these products a year or two after the war. This occurred because the manufacturers got ahead of reliable technological information. Later when proper methods were adopted processing started to go ahead again and is continuing to do so. Mr. Moyle touched on two new methods of preserving food stuffs — the use of radiation and of anti-biotics.

Trans-Canada Air Lines took another step forward in its re-equipment program recently when it ordered 20 Vickers Vanguard propeller-turbine airliners and took an option on four more. The $67,100,000 order represents the largest single commercial dollar export purchase ever placed in postwar Britain. Built by the same company which produced the popular Viscount, the Vanguard will have a normal cruising speed of 420 miles per hour and will accommodate either 82 first class or 102 tourist passengers. The lower section of the Vanguard's "double-bubble" fuselage will provide space for some 10 tons of freight. The big planes will be powered by Rolls-Royce Tyne engines and will be delivered and in service towards the end of 1960. By the following year TCA's fleet will be all turbine-powered consisting of DC-8 jets for long-range routes, the Vanguard for medium-range routes and the Viscount for short-haul service.

SPRAY CALENDAR FOR 1957

A new spray calendar is being issued this year. It should be in the hands of the growers in the next few days.

The major changes in the 1957 calendar were thoroughly covered at the recent Chautauqua meetings by Mr. G. Oswell, Horticulturist from Vernon. For those who were unable to attend this interesting meeting the main points of change in the new calendar follow:

Diazinon a 25 per cent wettable powder has been added for control of Black Cherry Aphid. This material should be applied at the pink or petal-fall stage of cherry and may still be effective if applied up to two weeks after petal-fall. Diazinon may also be used to control Bud Moth of cherries if applied at the pink stage.

Dinitroresol Sodium Salt 75% a water soluble powder has been added as a dormant spray for Blister Mite, Black Cherry Aphid, Mealy Plum Aphid and Rosy Apple Aphid. No oil is needed with this material. It may also be used for Spray Thinning.

Oxev is the new generic name for the material formerly shown on the calendar as Ovotran.

Fensone a 60% wettable powder has been added for the control of European Red Mite and Clover Mite at the pink bud stage. It is less likely to cause injury to pears at the pink stage than is Oxev.

Dichloro which was formerly mentioned only on the centre sheet has now been included in the main body of the Calendar. It is recommended for Apple Scab control up to and including the pink stage. It may also be used as an eradicant spray for Apple Scab. That is to say it may be applied after rainy periods occur provided it goes on within 60 hours of the start of the wet spell. Dichloro should not be used in the cover sprays.

The amount per acre recommended of Zinc Sulphate has been increased to 40 lbs. of 32% material. For the first time in its history the Spray Calendar contains Sealing Surfactants, Bees and Stop Drop Sprays.

The Hi Life

By DOT CARSTON
Hello all you wonderful people!! And what did your report card say Or should I say, what did your Mom and Dad say?

In sports over the weekend we hosted George Fringle. Not daunted by bad marks, our teams ran away with high scores! The girls won 43-5, and the boys ran off with a 87-20 victory. Good stuff kids and I hope you do the same thing this coming Friday. By the way, we travel this weekend, so how about coming along to cheer your teams victory at Similkameen High?

From all reports, the Junior Snow Frolic was a big success. Congratulations to Queen Ruth Lapins and her Princesses.

Reports from Rutland show pretty good results for our teams. Good stuff kids!

Wasn't Dr. Inn McTaggart-Cowan's talk on the Arctic interesting on Friday? I wish I could speak like that!!!

Every week the team standings and the top scores will be published in Minor Hockey as of January 31. At the beginning of January juvenile hockey was cut out because of lack of players and most of them were too young. They have been placed in Midget teams which has made a great change in team standings.

On Thursday, 31 of January, the Bruins played the Maple Leafs and the score was 7-5 in favor of the Bruins. This was rather irregular because the Bruins were the weakest in the league and the Maple Leafs the strongest. On Saturday the Canadians beat the Black Hawks and the Maple Leafs beat the Bruins.

Bruins	1	1	0	2
Canadians	1	0	0	2
Maple Leafs	1	1	0	2

This is "Young Canada Hockey Week" Feb. 4 to 11. Come out and watch your boys play.

Bowling News

By GLENN FELL
Well, just as I predicted last week, the Superchargers are the dark horse in the Commercial League, because they took 4 points off the Rbk 'N Rollers and now stand number two in league standing. The Red Sox took 3 needed points off the All Stars, the Occidentals won all 4 points off the Boozers and the Rockets took 3 points off the Pilseners. League standing to date is as follows: Boozers 32, Superchargers 30, Pilseners 29, Rockets 28, Occidentals 28, All Stars 27, Red Sox 20, Rbk 'N Rollers 14.

In the ladies division, May Rogers won the high single with a 300 (welcome to the 300 Club, May) and Nan Thornthwaite took the high three with a 680! In the men's division, Len Jackson took the double honours with a 292 for the

Curling

By HILDA EDEN
Summerland Lady curlers did pretty well at the Penticton bonspiel.

In the "A" Event Hilda Eden's rink with Annie Dunsdon, Bobby Hannah and Mary Dunsdon won third prize, which was four hammered copper Trays.

In the "C" Event Gladys McKilligan's rink with Bev. Fleming, Lola Day and Lois Ried won second prize which was four Boudoir Lamps.

Helen Tilbe's rink with Louise Kennedy, Martha Gronlund and Doreen McIntosh won fourth, getting pillow cases.

Theo Young's rink of Marty Carter, Mildred Clark and Amy Beggs got the Bloopier prize which was four boxes of chocolates. They lost going into the fours in both the A and B events.

Mrs. Greenlees got a black handbag donated by the Fashion Centre for being the oldest curler at the spiel. We had a very nice time and will be looking forward to our own Spiel in March when we will welcome the Penticton ladies to Summerland.

Bill Croft and his rink are away to Nelson Bonspiel which started on Monday. They have been plagued with misfortune. Lucky has been in the hospital and was unable to go with them. One day last week Bill chopped his finger as well as breaking a bone. He has a cast on it and we hope it won't affect his usual good game. Bill took with him Herb Lemke, Walt Toews and Chuck Bleasdale. We hope that all their troubles are over and they will come out on top. The Brier Playdowns start on Thursday.

On the 9th and 10th of February will be the Ladies Zone Playdowns at Osoyoos. Last year we had fourteen rinks but there will only be half that many this year. Gladys McKilligan is representing Summerland. She is talking with her Bev. Fleming, Margaret Milne and Lola Day. Hope you come out on top and a chance to go to Nannamo. Good Luck.

Les Boyer Comes To Square Dance Club

Summerland Square Dance Club is having lessons from Les Boyer of Okanagan every second Thursday evening in the Youth Centre. Mr. Boyer was here last week and everyone enjoyed his visit.

The previous Saturday there was a local square dance with George Washington as master of ceremonies and some eight to ten callers. Saturday evening, February 9, is to be a Party Night with visitors expected from points in the south Okanagan, Kelowna and Peachland.

Mrs. J. D. Hornblom is president of the Summerland Square Dance Club. Newcomers or any others interested in square dancing will be

Sports Pourri

By Sid Godber

Summerland Maes took another licking, losing to Kelowna Packers 11-5, but Summerland's hopes in the Coy Cup competition for the intermediate championship of B.C. had no cause for shame in their showing here Sunday. It was a good, fast game with the Packers showing the margin expected of a team competing in the hot Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League.

Maes will likely be playing at Kelowna on this weekend. But it won't be long now before Coy Cup time and I've got a hunch that seasoned by the games against Penticton and Kelowna, the Maes, playing in their class, will show us a thing or two

Next week is "YOUNG CANADA HOCKEY WEEK". It is an opportunity for folks around here to give the youngsters a little better support than they have been doing. The kids play games on Thursday, and all teams play Saturdays. Next week would be a good time to start showing a little interest. Big trees from little acorns grow and National Hockey League stars grow out of kids. The midget league in Summerland needs coaches, timekeepers and general helpers. Any volunteers?

Looks as though the Vees are going to stay in that cellar, as for the playoffs I can't see anything but Vernon, even though Kamloops beat them last night. Those Canadians are showing a lot of class. Could be that we're going to see Vernon vs. Trail in the B.C. finals. The Smokies have a tough nut to crack in Spokane, but I think they can do it. And, if Trail does beat Spokane and if Vernon does finish up on top of the heap here in the Okanagan, timid souls had better take to their beds and duck under the blankets until the series, which will be a series, is over — and I'm picking Trail Smokeeaters to win.

men's high single and a 749 for the men's high three! It's nice to see new names in this section of the column — nice going, Len! The high team this week is the Occidentals with a grand total of 9050 points!

The Ladies League is made up of four teams. The Can-Cans, the Hangovers, the Comics and the Headaches, Anne Geres, Lilac Nelson, Gladys Dronsfeld, Beryl Fleebe and Marth Chalfoux represent the Can-Cans; Kay Smith, Joyce Turk, Mary MacKay, Diane Franklin, and Peggy Mohoruk are the Hangovers; Betty Haddrell, Vi Carty, Lorraine Irving, Dorothy Bullock, and Joan Britton are the Comics; Nellie Newton, Vi Mitchell, Donna Charlton, May Rogers, Irene Tycholed make up the Headaches.

As a result of the first week of play Kay Smith took double honours with a 263 for the high single and a 640 for the high three! The Can-Cans beat the Hangovers 3 to 2, the Comics tied the Headaches with two points each. The high team for the week was the Can-Cans with a total of 2247 points. League standing for the first week of play is as follows: Can-Cans 3, Headaches 2, Comics 2, Hangovers 1. More news, views and comments next week!

Another group will be ready for the preliminary test in March. Casting will begin on Monday, February 11, for the Carnival to be held in March.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Went to bed Sunday p.m. telling myself to get cracking early on Monday a.m. I promised myself that I would be two jumps ahead on getting out this paper, instead of my usual two jumps behind. My plans, laid Sunday, called for this column, the editorials and a couple of news stories to be written before 9 a.m. Monday. It was a good idea, except that I didn't get up at the hour called for and so getting out this paper followed the usual frantic pattern.

There is always a penalty to be paid by the sluggard, by the sleepy heads.

I remember back in the thirties, a plane ride I took which because of sleeping late, gave me more agony and more embarrassment than I ever experienced, before or since.

The occasion for the flight was inaugurating of a new airmail route in Northern Saskatchewan. Among the points of call were Montreal Lake, Fort Stanley, Lac La Ronge, and Il de Crosse.

Walter Gilbert, a name which loomed large among the bush pilots of the day, and at that time superintendent of Canadian Airways out of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, was pilot.

It so happened there was a party on the night before the flight and yours truly consumed a few beers. Came the dawn and I vaguely remembered hearing the alarm clock. Next thing, I was startled into wakefulness by being lugged out of bed. It was the aero-mechanic sent by Walter Gilbert to roust me out. I jumped into my clothes, into the car and rattled to the river.

Gilbert spoke caustically and at some length about the delay and bundled me into the ship. A single engined Waco.

There were two other passengers, a Nun and a nifty looking, (female) school teacher going to the Indian school at Fort Stanley.

Five minutes after I was aboard we were airborne. I sat alongside the pilot and the two female passengers sat behind us. A big trunk stood on end between the front and back seats. I was to be thankful for the privacy that big trunk gave me.

Remember, I'd partied a little the night before, slept in, jumped right out of bed and hadn't even washed or shaved — hadn't been near the bathroom.

It was a case of "please teacher, I want to leave the room" from the minute we were airborne.

"How soon before you make Montreal Lake," I asked pilot Gilbert.

"Half-an-hour, or thereabouts," he replied.

I felt better, half-an-hour, I could last that long.

Montreal Lake came into view. Gilbert dipped the plane, looked at his watch and made a notation on his log, then kept buzzin' merrily along.

"Hey! Aren't you going down?" I asked in anxious horror.

"No — this is just a time check run — service doesn't start until next week," replied Walter.

"We won't be going down until we hit Fort Stanley."

That tore it, insofar as I was concerned.

"But Walter you've just got to go down — I've got to go to the bathroom."

Gilbert laughed. "There aren't any up here — hang on."

I squirmed in silent agony for awhile — then appealed again to Gilbert to go down any place.

"You shouldn't go on parties and you shouldn't sleep in," grinned Walter unfeelingly then seeing that I was in really bad shape he handed me a paper bag, carried for air sick passengers.

"But I can't, jeeppers there are women aboard."

Gilbert shrugged. "It's your bellyache," he said, a statement I recognized as the truth.

"Put her down, put her down, I pleaded."

"No can do — tell you what though — I'll climb, then I'll put her in a steep dive. The ladies will shut their eyes for sure and won't know nothing from nothing — and there you are."

And there I was.

Come to think of it, that school teacher (female) a red head, who concaved and convexed in all the right places, was something of a hoodoo.

I flew with her once more after the incident related above.

This was a mid winter — the girl was returning to her school after being out for the Christmas holidays. It wasn't too cold — only a few degrees below zero. We had oil line trouble and landed on the ice of a small lake. We finally got the oil line cleared, but by then the weather was acting up, with a healthy blizzard in the making and the pilot decided to stay put. It was a night under the pines for us.

Now, as everyone knows who has travelled the northland, a Woods, four-star eiderdown sleeping bag will keep a person snug as a bug in a rug, even in sixty below weather. But we only had two sleeping bags between the three of us. Now one sleeping bag will hold only one person, but two sleeping bags opened up down the sides and then buttoned together makes room for three. So, Miss Curvaceous blushed prettily but with below zero temperatures and wind, driven snow, she didn't argue about hopping into the middle.

Came the dawn, clear and cold. We thawed out the engine with a blow torch and took off.

Summerland To Plan Aid For Hungarian Refugees

Dr. J. C. Wilcox back row, left as Mr. Pim, central figure in the English comedy, "Mr. Pim Passes By", to be presented Friday evening, February 15 in the High School Auditorium by Summerland Singers and Players Club. Others pictured above, back row, left to right, Miss Marian Cartwright as the maid, Anne; Mrs. Lorne Perry, Olivia Marden; Alan McKenzie, George Marden. Front row, left to right, Mrs. R. G. Russel, Lady Marden; Mrs. J. B. Liebert, Dinah Marden; Gordon Lee, Brian Strange. Mrs. A. K. Macleod is directing the play.

Refugee Father Reunited With Family Here

More than four months of long-guished waiting and wondering ended last Monday for the Polcz family. On that day this Hungarian refugee family was reunited here in Summerland, the long missing husband and father joining his wife and children, Agnes and Charles, who arrived in Summerland two weeks ago to find a home with Dr. and Mrs. D. V. Fisher.

The Polcz took an active part in the Hungarian revolt, the stirring fight for freedom which last fall excited the admiration of the Free World.

When it became evident that Soviet might would prevail, Mr. Polcz got his wife and family across the border into Austria, then went back and from that time on, a grey day in November, nothing was heard of him.

Mrs. Polcz and the children worked for a time in Austria before coming to Canada, working, waiting and hoping for the return of a husband and father.

Last Monday was a happy day for the Polcz family, first Hungarian refugees to arrive here, for on that day, the father, Charles Polcz, arrived in Summerland and the family was reunited.

Mrs. Polcz and the children escaped from Budapest to Austria, last November but were separated from Mr. Polcz. Then, last Friday evening, a radio broadcast was heard asking anyone knowing of Mrs. Polcz' location to get in touch with the telegraph company in Penticton.

Mrs. D. V. Fisher with whom the family is staying had several telephone calls following the message. She took the wire down laboriously in Hungarian and had to give it to Mrs. Polcz, not knowing if the news was good or bad.

It was soon evident that it was good. Mr. Polcz, in Ottawa for the past three weeks, had been trying to find his family in all the large eastern cities in Canada, and finally sent a wire to B.C.

Later wires came from immigration officials. He came by train to Kamloops and down the valley by bus, getting into Summerland during the noon hour, he saw his son Charles walking on the main street with other boys.

They found each other and it was starry eyed Charles who took Mr. Polcz to the high school where he introduced him by saying, "Mr. Macleod, —Father."

Mr. Macleod carried on from there, fetching Agnes from her classroom and phoning for Mrs. Polcz.

In the meantime steps are being taken to organize a committee to help further refugees and Reeve F. E. Atkinson has issued the following appeal.

The Summerland Review. Dear Sir: There are now two Hungarian refugee families living in Summerland, both guests in private homes where their hosts are trying to teach them English and acquaint them with Canadian ways.

They left their homeland with nothing but a few clothes, but have been outfitted by the Red Cross and have benefitted greatly in clothing gifts from various Summerland residents and by the Catholic Women's League.

Neither they, nor their hosts, receive any government, or other financial aid once they pass through a Canadian Immigration office, except for emergency medical-dental treatment. After three months in Canada $5.00 per month for each child under 16 years is provided in (Continued on Page 2)

Second Refugee Family Here

The second Hungarian refugee family to come to Summerland is staying at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. F. Welsh in Trout Creek.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Laszlo Vaszi, young people and their four year old son, Laszlo. Mrs. Vaszi was a railway inspector in Hungary and the family lived near the Austrian border.

Relatives in Austria provided them with clothing, and they sailed from Genoa, Italy, on the liner Venezuela, landing at Halifax.

From that port they went to Quebec, then to Abbotsford. After a day or two in Vancouver they were sent here.

They have been about a month in Canada, are learning the language, and anxious to obtain work.

George Dunsdon Heads Rifle Club

The Summerland Rifle Club's sharpshooter, George Dunsdon, was the unanimous choice as president for the coming season at a meeting held at the home of Art Dunsdon, last Tuesday evening. He replaces Steve Dunsdon who held the position for the past two years. Pop Dunsdon and Ed. Gould were named as Honorary Presidents.

Other executive members and officers are vice-president, Harold Richardson, Secretary - treasurer, Art Dunsdon; Range Captain, Ted Piers; executive, Ted Piers, Bert Simpson and Len Shannon.

George Dunsdon is in charge of ammunition and equipment. Art Dunsdon will care for all records and scores, and Bert Simpson is press representative.

Dr. J. C. Wilcox, left, as Mr. Pim in the English comedy, "Mr. Pim Passes By", by A. A. Milne, in a scene with Alan McKenzie, playing the part of George Marden, and Mrs. Lorne Perry, Olivia Marden, which will be seen here on Friday evening in the High School Auditorium as presented by the Singers and Players Club, directed by Mrs. A. K. Macleod.

F. R. Ganzeveld Heads Credit Union

F. R. Ganzeveld was chosen chairman of the Summerland and District Credit Union at the annual meeting held on Friday evening in the Youth Centre.

Mr. Ganzeveld was elected as a director for a three-year term as was Dr. J. J. Mason, J. Litchfield was elected for a one-year term. Other directors are the past president, Mrs. John Caldwell, Lloyd Shannon, Don Blagburne and Dr. J. M. McArthur.

Elected to the supervisory board were Ken Williams, three years, Ian McQuinn, two years, and Clarence Lackey, one year. Others on the board are W. M. Wright, who will be the chairman, and John Selinger.

Harry Hackman will be chairman of the credit committee, with J. R. Butler continuing as a member, and Gordon Baggs elected for three years.

Walter Blomdale is the manager. Tribute was paid to his excellent work, and to that of the past president, Mrs. Caldwell, an efficient and charming chairman for the annual meeting.

Mrs. Harvey Mitchell remains as secretary for the local branch. Reports showed a successful year. Profits for 1956 were $28,422.00 of which 20% or the sum of $4,684.41 was put into the reserve fund.

A three per cent dividend to share members was declared which amounted to $13,802.44, and a patronage refund to borrowers of 10% amounted to $4,787.80. Two hundred dollars was voted to the educational fund, and bonuses were given to the office staff.

Frank Humphreys, field representative of the Credit Union League of B.C. addressed the meeting on Endowments, speaking of the Credit Union as "Business With a Heart."

Other guests were Mr. Blogg of the southern interior chapter, Kerameos; Stan Reynolds and Ken Potter; Oliver; Lloyd Reade and Art Andrews of Penticton.

Enjoyed the meeting about 200 people had a pot luck supper in an atmosphere of friendliness. The tables were decorated with lovely potted plants lent by Wm. Gallop.

Second Kiwanis Music Festival

The second Kiwanis Music Scholarship Festival will be held in the Summerland High School in early March. The eliminations will be all day Saturday, March 2 with the final adjudications the following Friday evening, March 8.

The committee of Kiwanians headed by Bob Alstead are very pleased to announce that the same adjudicators. As last year, the eliminations for the final evening adjudications. As last year, the eliminations will be adjudicated by a panel of experts who will narrow the classes down to three or four contestants who will take part in the final concert and be in line for the $50.00 scholarships.

Last year's Festival was so successful that the classes have been broken down into age groups and are as follows: Group 1 — At least 10 years but not more than 14 years as on January 1, 1957. Group 2 — Fifteen years and older as on January 1, 1957. There will be these two groups in each of the three classes Piano, Vocal and Instrumental. This will mean a total of $300.00 to be awarded. The dancing class has had to be dropped as there are few Summerland pupils taking dancing this year with no teachers in the community. The Festival is limited to Summerland students, not necessarily attending Summerland schools, but they must be residents of Summerland.

Last year's winners will not be eligible to enter this year's Festival in the class in which they received their scholarship as it is the wish of the Kiwanis Club to assist as many students as possible and encourage the improvement of music training in the district. It is understood that the $50 scholarship will be awarded only towards some goal that will definitely improve the pupils' musical interests whether to take extra lessons, attend summer music camp or perhaps purchase instruments or music.

He is travelling on a National Research Council Fellowship (available at the Summerland Experimental Station where he will do postdoctorate work with the Fruit and Vegetable Processing Laboratory. The scientist will be here for a year.

Juvenile hoopsters Out for laurels

In Juvenile Basketball, 18 years and under, the Summerland Hoopsters, coached by Wendell Schwab, are a definite threat for provincial honors.

Playing in a league comprised of Kamloops, Kelowna and Summerland, the Summerland boys completed the regular league season without a defeat.

On Saturday night they knocked over the powerful Kamloops "Gremlins", in Kamloops by a score of 53-44. Kamloops now play Kelowna with the winners meeting Summerland in a home and home total point series with the winners playing the coast winners in Vancouver some time in March.

In winning the league Summerland had a total of 179 points for and 122 points against. Following are the players giving their points and game average: Carlton Sheeley, forward, 16.5; John Menu, centre, 10; Larry Lemke, guard, 7.75; Ron Fisher, centre, 5.5; Eddie Matsu, forward, 3; Bruce Lemke, guard, 1; Len Burdon, forward, 1; Tom Jomori, guard, 0.

Meadow Valley Skiing Is Good

Summerland Ski Hill was in great shape last weekend and has been good for three weeks. An estimated 100 people were out at Meadow Valley on Sunday enjoying the skiing so close to Summerland.

The road is in good condition, and Mrs. Florence Larabie of Penticton is operating the refreshment concession in the clubhouse.

J. D. Hermiston is president of the Summerland Ski Club this year, and he thinks skiing should be fine for at least another three weeks.

Midget Hockey League Clubs Battling Hard for Leadership

By David Kampe

Thursday, February 7 the Bruins played the Canadians and the score was 10-3 in favour of the Bruins. The skating dynamo from Trout Creek, Warren Parker, scored five of the Bruins' goals while doubles were awarded to Bruiser Blewett and Davis with a single to Perritt. Assists were awarded to Perritt, Davis, Fowler, and Hannah in this game for the Bruins. On the Canadian side, things were rather gloomy until Rennie popped in two goals for the Canadians with Bissett also scoring one. Close checking and strong skating on the part of the Bruins stymied the Canadian scoring punch.

On Saturday morning the Canadians beat the Maple Leafs 3-2. Gillard of the Canadians scored two and one immediately followed from Schneider making it 3-0. Things worked pretty tough for the Leafs until Leigh Parker scored one and their hopes were soon revived. A blistering shot by McCutcheon from the blue line caught the upper left corner. In a strong bid to tie the game up McCutcheon again drove a blistering shot from well in which looked like a sure goal, Ken Pushkarenko saved spectacularly.

The 9:00 game Saturday was also a good contest when the Black Hawks popped out of the cellar and took the Bruins for a 4-2 victory. Lawrence Ono who appears at the most unexpected times scored two of the Black Hawk's goals, with R. Sheeley and Lott each receiving a single. For the Bruins Braniff and Jomori each scored. The high flying Bruins suffering from a two goal deficit ended the game with considerable rough play.

Curling

By HILDA EDEN

While this is going on at home the ladies' rinks skipped by Theo. Young, Marg. Milne and Hilda Eden will be going to Peachland to curl in the Ladies' Spell which starts on Friday morning.

By the way, my local club rink of Nora Munn, Ruth Lawley and Rose Skinner now have the challenge pins. We took them from Annie Dunsdon's rink a couple of weeks ago.

Our ladies are working on our Bonspiel and tell me they have a lot of nice prizes already, and a couple of weeks to go. Thanks to Bill Croft's club rink we will have eight silver butter dishes as prizes. Very nice.

Mrs. L. McKilligan and her rink of Bev. Fleming, Margaret Milne, and Lola Day came out on top of the zone playdowns at Osoyoos and a chance to go to Nanaimo to play in the Provincial Playdowns. Two rinks go from this zone. The other rink going will be skipped by Mrs. M. Topham of Peachland.

Bill Croft and his rink are back from Nelson with lots of blisters and aches and pains and a prize. They won second in the Grand Challenge event. They got heavy outer shirts.

WALTER M. WRIGHT

Over 40 years insuring the people of Summerland

Fifty-four rinks entered into a four day battle Thursday as the Summerland Curling Club's annual bonspiel got underway.

The spiel will continue through, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Curling Club president Gerry Hallquist will welcome curlers from Osoyoos, Oliver, Naramata, Penticton, Peachland and Kelowna.

Four trophies are at stake. The Occidental in the "A" event; B.C. Shipper's trophy in the "B" event; Walter's trophy in the "C" event and the Holmes and Wade trophy in the "D" event.

Owing to the large entry, some games are scheduled for Penticton ice.

When time comes round for next year's Spiel the rink will have a different appearance as the Summerland Curling Club in a letter received at Tuesday's council meeting indicated agreement with erection of Arena Seats.

Last year the Curling Club objected on the grounds that the seats might create a dust hazard on the curling ice.

The Club is quite satisfied now that seating can be put in satisfactorily.

Plan is to build six rows accommodating approximately 100 each, to make a seating capacity of 600.

OS AHL Nears End: Vernon At Penticton Friday

Some bewildering scores and some bewildering hockey has featured the Okanagan Senior Hockey League this season and it appears that it is going to continue that way down to the wire.

With the league almost history, (last games will be played at Penticton and Kamloops on February 19, next Tuesday), the respective playoff positions have been clarified, Penticton's 5-1 loss to Kelowna last night leaving them in the cellar.

This means that the Vees will play off in the semi-finals against the Vernon Canadians who last night gave an impressive demonstration of power against the Kamloops Chiefs, winning 10-0.

And on Friday night the Vees meet the Canadians in league play. The result won't affect the league standing, but as the Canadians will hardly be inclined to loaf on the eve of the playoffs some indication of what the playoff series will be like should be forthcoming.

The Vees, although they lost to Kelowna last night appear to have recovered from the slump, and some people are even speculating on their chances of taking Vernon in the playoffs.

Last game of the league season at the Penticton arena is scheduled for next Tuesday — and then the playoffs.

Bowling News

There are some very interesting results in this week's Commercial League. The Red Sox beat the Rockets by 3 to 1, the Pilseners won out over the All Stars by 3 to 1, the Occidentals scored a 3 to 1 victory over the Superchargers and the Rock 'N Rollers blanked the Boozers 4 to 0. League standing to date is as follows: Boozers 32, Pilseners 32, Superchargers 31, Occidentals 31, Rockets 29, All Stars 28, Red Sox 23, Rock 'N Rollers 18.

Taking into account there is a two way tie for both first and second place in the league I believe the top teams will be buckling down to outdo each other in earnest next week! In the ladies division Leona McNabb captured high single with a 234 and Nan Thornthwaite came up with a 578 to qualify for the high three. In the men's division Al Hooker took double honors by bowling a 283 for the high single and a 755 for the high three! The high team this week is the Occidentals with a total of 2741 pins.

In the Ladies League the Can-Cans whipped the Comics 4 to 0 and the Headaches beat the Hangovers 3 to 1. Vi Mitchell took the high single with a 230 and Gladys Dronfield won the high three with a 598. The high team this week is the Can-Cans with a total of 2548 points. League standing to date is as follows: Can-Cans 7, Headaches 5, Hangovers 2, Comics 2.

More news, views and comments next week!

HS Basketballers Much To The Fore

During the weekend they travelled to Kelowna when the girls won 29-26 and the boys lost to the Orchard City team, 37 to 53.

In Association basketball, Summerland juveniles played Kamloops Gremlins, in Kamloops on Saturday, winning 53-44. Carleton Sheeley of Summerland was the high scorer with 22 points.

THE BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT in the Okanagan has multiplied three times since the end of World War II, it was stated at the third post-war conference of Scout executives, held in Penticton on Sunday. The gathering was for the purpose of demonstrating methods of handling executive duties, and Summerland representatives took a keen part in them. Included in the group shown above of Okanagan South officials are, left to right: Commissioner J. B. Laidlaw, Penticton; district secretary A. D. MacDonald; district president Dr. T. H. Anstey, and Assistant Commissioner A. G. B. Russell of Penticton.

fall which still had a life-line of live bark amounting to 1/3 to 1/2 of the total tree circumference. In these trees the remaining segment of live tissue will hold the tree alive while grafts are getting started. In such cases, where young trees are unobtainable and where the framework of the injured tree is still sound, I believe grafting is warranted.

However, to come back to the subject, all this boils down to a probable high demand for scion wood in about two months time.

Collecting and storing scion wood is an easy and often profitable operation for the grower. A good supply of scion wood held dormant may be like money in the bank when spring comes revealing the winter's scars.

McIntosh and Yellow Transparent make good scion wood for apples. In pears, Anjou is about the hardest and does well for bridging. Scion wood should be collected now. It should be taken from the terminal branches on the outside of the trees. Watch out for winter injury on the tips of the more vigorous terminals! Avoid watersprouts as these are more frequently winter-injured. In collecting, set shoots that are as long as possible because you may have some long bridges to do.

Scions should be taken while still dormant and stored in a cool, dark place until they are ready for use. The usual practice is to wrap them in slightly dampened sack and bury them below frost line on the north side of a building or in a sawdust pile. A root cellar is ideal for storing. Some operators wrap the cut ends of the shoots to prevent drying out. This is helpful but not essential.

Summerland Cost Per Circulated Book Lowest In Library Region

Cost per circulated volume, excluding school circulation, is lower in Summerland than in any other place served by the Okanagan Regional Library. This was reported at the annual meeting held in Kelowna on Thursday.

Average cost to circulate one volume is between 25 and 28 cents. In Summerland the cost is 10.45 cents. This is because such a large percentage of the people make use of the three branches of the library in Summerland.

John Fowler, of Spallumcheen, was elected president succeeding W. B. Hughes-Games of Kelowna. Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Summerland, is vice-chairman, and G. C. Hume of Glenmore begins his 22nd continuous year as treasurer. Executive members for 1957 are George Game, Armstrong, Ald. Elsie McCleave, Penticton, Ald. Geraldine Coursier, Vernon, and Mrs. C. W. Aitkin, Peachland.

This year the library celebrates its 21st birthday. Mr. Hume is the only member of the first board still serving. Mrs. Muriel Foulkes, the regional librarian, was engaged by the original board. Tribute to their excellent service was given at the meeting.

Capt. C. R. Bull gave a report from the committee set up to try to find out a reasonable figure for the population in rural areas. This committee recommended that the 1956 census figures be taken for organized areas. For unorganized areas the population figure was obtained by multiplying the rural school enrolment by 4.84. Formerly the figure was six. This factor was arrived at by adding the total population of the organized area and the school enrolment for that area, then dividing the school enrolment into the population. This corresponds almost entirely with the figures used by the public health department. This was passed although it will cut the revenue somewhat.

The deficit was taken care of by raising the per capita grant from 90 to 95 cents.

Resolutions were passed and committees set up to look into the matter of receiving Revelstoke into the library region; the purchase of a new library van with custom built chassis; and to find out the proportionate costs of custodian and maintenance in branches within the library system as requested by Mrs. Vader of Okanagan Falls.

Keremeos has voted to come into the library area, and Vernon, also. Vernon representatives were present and are attempting to find a suitable building.

Budget passed amounted to $77,902.85. Including Vernon a population of 82,003 is served by the Regional Library.

Natural Gas Here By Fall

General contractors, Dutton-Williams Brothers, have now started off the Interior's largest construction job, the 304 mile Inland Natural Gas Pipeline that will bring gas to Summerland and 40 odd other B.C. communities this Fall.

The coming of Natural Gas to Interior B.C. is bringing hard dollar benefits long before the first cubic foot of gas can fire the Interior's new industrial potential. In ever increasing tempo the preparations for construction and gas distribution are ringing up a pleasant increase in the growing economy of the valley.

The awaited $5,000,000 construction payroll is now very close to a reality as the first thirty of the proposed one hundred engineering families move into the Interior areas. This addition to the increasing population and payroll is now being joined by a steadily mounting total of general construction personnel largely being recruited in each local area.

Some 1,000 men working with the newest equipment from huge boom tractors to the small quick and neat back-yard ditcher, will be living and eating largely in the Interior's commercial establishments. Working, playing and staying in the Interior area this year, this influx of men and material will directly affect the local transportation personnel, the suppliers of accommodations, food, petroleum products, parts supplies, local contractors and their personnel, and many, many others. This, of course, reflects and increased community dollar income that will be a welcome boost to the municipalities along the service route.

More and more, permanent Inland Natural Gas Company personnel are opening offices and service departments along the system as 'Construction Start Day' is passed. It now becomes increasingly important to 'Inland's' personnel and the Engineers that they find out, through their present 'Sign-Up' for gas campaigns, how many gas services are wanted for early Fall.

SCION WOOD

The recent heavy snow fall combined with considerable drifting has put the snow line well above tree guards in many orchards. Past experience has taught us that whenever snow is deep some mouse damage to trees may be expected. It is therefore quite likely that some bridge-grafting will have to be done this spring especially on younger pears and apples.

There is also little doubt that some of last winter's frost-damaged apple trees will benefit from bridge-grafting over the more confined areas of bark damage. Little hope can be held for trees that were completely frost ringed or were heavily damaged in the crotches. In the long run the wise course is to pull out these trees. Nevertheless, the author saw many younger Delicious and Winesap last

Her first stop — the bank

When Mrs. Wilson planned to go shopping, her husband Tom said: "Meet you at the bank." It was a natural thing to say, for going to the bank is just a part of everyday life.

In the bank, Mrs. Wilson noticed Miss Ellis the schoolteacher . . . Mr. Cooper the storekeeper . . . and her neighbour's son Bobby, adding to his savings account.

When Tom arrived, he grinned: "Seems like everybody goes to the bank." It's true. Canadians find the chartered banks such a safe and handy place to keep money that practically everybody has a bank account. There are now more than 10 million deposit accounts in the chartered banks—more accounts than there are adults in the country.

Red Cross Workers Are Congratulated

Summerland branch of the Red Cross has often been complimented on the quality of sewing and knitting done in the workroom.

Mrs. A. K. Elliott, president of the local branch received a letter from Mrs. Mercer, provincial chairman of women's work, when the last shipment was sent in. This will be of interest to Summerland women and a satisfaction to those working again for Red Cross. The letter follows:

Mrs. Gillespie and I have just checked in your marvelous shipment. Everything you sent in was beautifully made, especially those most artistic quilts. Will you please thank all your workers for me? We are always delighted to see quilt tops pieced, but you have all gone many steps further and made a work of art of them.

Will you please give a message to Mrs. T. W. Boothe, your workroom convener who wrote telling me that she has a person who would undertake to sew one quilt a year for the Outpost Hospitals? Please tell her that we will certainly see that it goes to one of these hospitals, and I know how much it will be appreciated.

Your "Red Cross" quilt is really very smart. I got Col. Scott, the provincial commissioner and Mrs. Mawer, past president of the division, to come down to the warehouse to see all your lovely quilts and they were most impressed.

Women's Institute Valentine Party

Following the annual custom of many years the February meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute took the form of a Valentine party held Friday afternoon at the Anglican Parish Hall.

Members brought guests and the executive arranged games, prize winners of which were Mrs. A. Holler, Mrs. H. C. Whitaker and Mrs. Alex Inch.

The tea table was decorated by a Valentine centre piece and heart-shaped cakes. A delicious tea was served by the directors.

In the business meeting preceding the party, the president, Mrs. L. W. Rumball was in the chair. Reports were given by all conveners of standing committees.

Mrs. V. Charles spoke on the competition for knitted squares for blankets for Hungarian relief. This is sponsored by the Women's Voluntary Services. Mrs. R. M. White contributed 50 squares to be used in the blankets and other squares will be sent soon.

Mrs. E. Hookham will represent the W.I. at the Annual meeting of the Summerland branch of the Cancer Society and the general meeting of the Central Welfare Committee.

Letters will be sent to O. L. Jones, our member in the federal house, to endorse the pensions for blind over 18 without the means test, and also to protest the continued rise in the cost of living.

It was announced that the Ceylon conference of the ACWW which was postponed is planned for July 3 to 13.

The March meeting will be postponed one week to the 15th because of the World Day of Prayer which will be held on the Anglican Parish Hall on March 8.

The Home Economics committee will be in charge of the March meeting and Mrs. M. Bouey, H. S. home economics teacher, will be guest speaker. Her subject will be "The care and use of the new materials".

Another Service Club Special

Summerland is fortunate in its Service Clubs and it is not an exaggeration to say that much of what is worthwhile in Summerland stems from the efforts of such organizations.

A case in point is the Kiwanis Club's Musical Festival — a festival which serves a threefold purpose: one, discovering and developing local talent in the related arts of instrumental and vocal music; two, the festival serves to provide incentive in the form of money scholarships to talented residents to further studies in their particular fields; and, lastly, the festival serves to provide a series of entertaining concerts for the community, delightful to the eye and to ear.

Such is the Kiwanis Musical Festival, originated last year, and now an annual event. It is a Service Club effort deserving of everyone's unstinting support. Remember, the first week in March is Kiwanis Music Festival Week.

The Time To Talk

Next Tuesday the McPhee Royal Commission will hold a hearing in Summerland. Here then is the opportunity for the growers to "sound off," for we understand, according to previous sessions, that Commissioner McPhee is allowing considerable latitude in regard to granting permission to individuals to address the commission without the formality of first having submitted a brief. It is to be expected, of course, that those who have filed briefs, or requested permission ahead of time to address the commission will come first on the agenda.

This tolerance on the part of the Commission should be appreciated, above all it should not be abused.

Growers who have something to say — something that they sincerely believe will assist the Commission in assessing the industry, its strength and its weaknesses should most certainly lay it on the table before the Commission, but those who haven't anything worthwhile to say should not take up the commission's valuable time to say it.

Summerland, as an important segment of tree fruits' industry, welcomes the Royal Commission.

Summerland also hopes that from the hearings here; the Commission will derive a healthy respect for the growers of this community who, in the main, during the recent turmoil within the industry, have kept their feet on the ground.

place of family allowance.

The calibre and courage of these people, striking out into the unknown, is hard for Canadians living in a free, peaceful democracy, to appreciate. Given a reasonable time to learn English these people will enrich Canada with their vigour, courage and skills. The least we as citizens of Summerland, can do, is to extend to them, feeling and understanding. In each family there is a father, mother and children, lish, are willing and anxious to work at any employment.

When they launch out on their own, either here, or elsewhere, when equipment, bedding, etc., when they will need basic furniture, kit that time comes. I feel sure the generosity of Summerland citizens will not fail them. Already two organizations are planning means of helping them.

As the policy of the Canadian immigration department is to disperse Hungarian refugees throughout Canada in order to provide rapid assimilation, we may expect additional refugees in Summerland. A special Hungarian relief committee may have to be set up as in Penticton, or the Summerland Welfare Committee may co-ordinate efforts in aiding these new Canadians. This matter will be discussed Thursday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Summerland Welfare Committee. Those wishing to aid these people in any way may obtain particulars at present from G. D. Smith, municipal clerk, municipal office.

Miss Kathleen Selinger Married To John Littau In Kingdom Hall Rites

A quiet wedding took place in Kingdom Hall on Saturday, February 2, at 2 p.m. when Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Selinger, was united in marriage with John, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Littau.

J. Thatchuck of Kelowna performed the ceremony. For the occasion the bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely ballerina length wedding gown of white net over satin. Her short chapel length veil was fastened with a scalloped headdress embroidered with seed pearls, and had applied flowers on the edge. Her bridal bouquet was of red roses.

As bridesmaid, Miss Loena Littau, sister of the groom, wore pink net with matching headdress, and carried a nosegay of Wedgewood iris and pink carnations.

Tony Matkovich was the best man.

Following the ceremony a family dinner was held at the bride's home, and in the evening "Open House" was held in honor of the newly married couple at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Littau, Giant's Head Road.

Amusement was created among the 80 guests when the pet deer of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Matkovich, who live nearby, was allowed to come in. It went to the newly-married couple and seemed to offer its congratulations.

For motoring to Omak where the honeymoon was spent, the bride wore a grey suit with matching accessories.

P-TA hears about Those report cards

The regular meeting of the Summerland P-T.A. was held in the high school library Thursday, February 7. A discussion took place as to how many delegates from each P-TA should attend the convention which is to be in April. A committee was appointed to look into resolutions to present to future conventions and to study resolutions which will be presented at the coming convention.

Following the business meeting an explanation of the report cards used in the high school and elementary school was given by School Inspector E. E. Hyndman. He said parents often asked if percentages would be better than the present rating by letters; percentages sometimes give false appearance, but basis of marks should be comparable. He then gave the standard basis for unselected students: Top 5% A, 20% B, 15% C, 20% C, 15% C-, 20% D, 5% E. It has been proven scientifically that the same result can be obtained with percentages but the department of education felt the seven point system better, he said. The top 25% are very good students and have to earn their rating. It is easier to get high marks in Industrial Arts, Home Economics, and Music than the regular academic subjects, Mr. Hyndman stated. He said the "remarks" must be used carefully and to try to provide encouragement to the student.

The ratings for unselected groups in grades 4, 5 and 6 were given as follows: 5% A, 20% B and C plus, 50% C and C minus, 25% S-satisfactory U-unsatisfactory, according to the child's endeavor, Citizenship — needs encouragement.

Grades 1, 2 and 3 were O, G, N, S, U. It is difficult for the teacher to know when a child is working to capacity in these first grades. They cannot be rated on a competitive basis but most students were rated G and N and Slow where capacity is limited and progress as good as possible, it was reported.

Mr. Hyndman pointed out that the report cards were the link between school and parents and urged parents to discuss their problems with the teachers.

The meeting was then open for general questions to be answered by Mr. Hyndman, A. K. Macleod and John Cooke, principals of both schools. After some interesting discussion the meeting adjourned to the Home Economics room for a few minutes of social time over coffee.

Children's Education Guaranteed By Saving Government Allowances

Family Allowance Cheques Can "Roost" for Future Use at the Bank of Montreal

While your Family Allowance Cheques are intended, first and foremost, to help you pay for your youngsters' day-to-day expenses, they can also be used to give them a good start in agricultural or other college courses, later in life.

If you deposit every Family Allowance cheque for one child in a B of M savings account, there will be over $1,300, including interest, in it by the time the age of 16 is reached, points our Bill Reid, West Summerland's Bank of Montreal, accountant. And, through the years, this nest-egg will always be immediately available, should emergency or opportunities arise.

By this means you can do much to, make sure that your youngsters will have every chance to earn a good living when they start their own career or when your orchard is passed on to them. If you can't manage to set aside the whole cheque, try to bank at least a part of it regularly. You'll find the practice will pay off in the future.

So, next time you receive your Family Allowance cheque, why not drop into the B of M and open a savings account in your youngster's name. When you do that, you'll be building security and opportunity into his or her future — and that gives any parent a wonderful feeling!

—Adv.

In the evening some 35 to 40 friends called to congratulate the couple.

Present for the occasion were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. Vaccaro of Kelowna and their younger daughter, Emma, who attends High school here. Their grandson, Johnnie Vaccaro was present, also.

Best wishes were expressed by Sam Turri, C. Turri, and Mrs. A. Martinelli, all of Kelowna. The bridegroom of 25 years ago responded.

The couple received many lovely gifts to mark the event.

Principle Of Central Selling Argued Before Royal Commission Sitting Here

Summerland Growers Have Day In Court

Criticism and defence of central selling; discontent with packing house practices; what is an economic fruit unit; and complaints regarding nursery and root stock were some of the things discussed at the Royal Commission hearing in Summerland. Packing house cut on cannery fruit is an unnecessary charge, many thought.

Throughout the enquiry held here in the IOOF Hall starting at 9 a.m. and continuing until 1:30, the fairness and unhurried atmosphere created by Dean E. D. MacPhee's attitude gave everyone confidence and assurance that the Commission is doing everything in its power to try to bring in some solution that will relieve the situation and give economic relief to the industry.

The importance of the right varieties, that is those that the consumer market will absorb became of increasing importance on hearing arguments contributed by growers.

That there are far too many varieties; areas that badly need replanting, were other points amply shown to contribute to financial losses.

Certified Nursery Stock Sought

J. B. Liebert agreed with the idea of producing fancy and extra fancy grades for an assured market, with some competition when a grower wants to grow a particular brand and feel a pride in it.

He thought marketing of this type of product should tie-in with the packing house in Summerland, where small orchards are the rule.

Mrs. Anton Holler grouped her brief into three main difficulties: That the grower has too many apples which are Cee grade which she said was partly due to no assurance that the proper nursery or root stock is obtained. When the stock is uncertain crops may not be produced or at best may be delayed, she said. Mrs. Holler thought that nurseries should be compelled to have definite standards.

In cases where growers have to work out to help in making a living, sometimes orchards suffered, she felt, and the inferior fruit from these orchards goes through the packing houses affecting the whole market.

The speaker indicated there was no incentive to cut down the cost of packing when the grower has no control over the fruit going through packing houses operating at a cost plus basis or at cost.

Challenged by Commissioner

Mrs. Holler suggested that since packing house operators can estimate a fruit crop within a few boxes, that an estimate be given, say in July to create competition among growers and to retain their patronage. Another idea was that some type of checking system be worked out as now, she felt, the poorer grower often gets a better packout in the United States, she said an automatic checkout system seems to be fairly satisfactory.

Central selling in principle was agreed to, as of special benefit in years of large and late crops, but its hopes have not been fully realized, in her opinion. With an estimate a reasonable prospect of profitable sale to the grower could be assured.

Mrs. Holler thought that the grower should have the right to direct his fruit to the processing plant if desired, and that the packing house came in for a large share for handling cannery products, which is unnecessary if the direct method is used.

A new thought advanced was that an educational program be undertaken to acquaint the consumer with the cost of putting fruit on his table. "The consumer pays," the speaker declared.

She thinks he pays too much for apples. L. E. Trippie who came to Summerland in 1952 and operates a small orchard said to be "better than average" to quote Mr. Trippie, stated that his five crops since coming to Summerland have not averaged the cost of production. He thought he would lose more money on 10 acres. A person in this situation, if he had no other income, would have to give up and seek other work, he opined saying, "This is a bad symptom in boom times."

Most Troubles Are Our Own

"Trouble is mostly of our own making," he continued. "We have not been able to supply the market with apples for which it is prepared to pay." Poor varieties, small sizes, poor packaging and grading were blamed. He said money could be made in depression times if the right varieties were grown.

"Pooling brings the desirable and undesirable apples in the same class; the cost of replanting into the same setup as the orchard where old and injured trees were left untouched." This he cited as cause for grower discontent.

Allocating some varieties to markets and withholding others, creating false values was another cause for trouble, in Mr. Stoll's opinion. He suggested that the policy of marketing be retained and strengthened. Another suggestion was no unjustified sniping at officers in processing plants since they do only what is requested. "Cliques have developed in the BCFGA and influenced some growers."

"The packing house has been handed the industry on a silver platter, with the cost plus which invites waste, and excessive costs. It handles all returns from which may be deducted all costs; for services rendered. A competitive code could remedy this," he said, and thought the business should be governed by the free enterprise system.

He questioned the need for as many packing houses as we have ending with the hope that the commission could find a remedy for a sick industry, and with the quotation, "God helps those who help themselves."

Overproduction Poor Varieties

He thought that rules that applied to other commodities did not apply to fruit growing, and that fruit is not necessary, since there are healthy people who eat no fruit. No agricultural product is subsidized in Canada unless it is a basic product of benefit to all Canada, he said, and that he was against government relief. Advertising was too expensive, he averred, and said officials' expenses should be reduced. He thought information could be had by correspondence rather than by expensive trips.

Regarding his statement that the charges levied on fruit to the cannery, by the packing houses, were in some cases double what is paid for the same service in the country to the south of us, the commissioner asked if Mr. Trippie would collect evidence of this and make it available to the commission. The speaker said the difference was between $15. and $30. per ton.

A. R. Garrish registered taking exception to statements by Mr. Trippie that large quantities of fruit had been dumped since 1952, and the Stamen variety was not selling as an individual variety or the agencies cannot sell them.

Hans Stoll declaring he was "an apple man", said the only trouble with fruit growing was the low financial returns.

George Stoll blamed the overproduction of poor apples for some of the troubles the fruit industry is in today, saying that "replanting in the past would have meant we have nothing to worry about now."

He complained that final returns were only given out seven or eight months after fruit was delivered, and thought that one packing house working three eight hour shifts could handle all the fruit grown in Summerland.

One of the fruits of the industry in Mr. Stoll's opinion was that in experienced growers are elected to run a multi-million dollar industry and that the entire business should be employed.

He thought government assistance was not wanted by most growers.

Roy Wellwood 1957 President Board of Trade

Roy Wellwood was elected president of the Summerland Board of Trade at the annual meeting held in the IOOF Hall last week. Mr. Wellwood succeeds Ken Boothe.

Other officers are: Lloyd Miller, vice-president; Lorne Perry, secretary; R. Butler, treasurer. The executive consists of J. Biollo, V. Durnin, W. Gilmour, G. Laidlaw, C. Minter, C. Wade and H. Pruden.

Summerland Board of Trade is asking the proper authorities why Summerland is not being served by the air mail courier service established between Penticton and Vernon.

It was also disclosed at the annual meeting of the trade board that efforts to have a consolidated postal service for Summerland are being continued and that a letter had been written to the postal authorities, suggesting that in view of change of personnel at the Summerland post office consolidation could be accomplished now without hurt.

A letter from O. L. Jones M.P., with regard to a CBC booster station held out some hopes that a booster could eventually be secured for this district. The letter was ordered filed.

Lloyd Miller reported on the activities of the traffic safety committee and disclosed that it had been successful in getting a single line on sections of the highway hill to permit cars going south to pass where it was safe. The committee had also secured a pedestrian crosswalk at Trout Creek.

Mr. Miller admitted there was still an unsolved problem at the junction of Hastings and Granville.

Many other reports were presented.

Mr. Miller, retiring president Ken Boothe and secretary Lorne Perry reported with some gusto on the battle of the bypass, fought at the associated board of trade meeting held in Oliver last Wednesday. The battle ended with a victory for Summerland over Penticton in securing approval for a resolution, asking government consideration of a truck bypass from the Eckhardt avenue bridge to the foot of Kruger's Hill.

Chuckle-filled 'Mr. Pim' To Be Repeated Saturday

Summerland Singers and Players Club presentation of A. A. Milne's English comedy, "Mr. Pim Passes By" was played to a responsive audience, delighting in an all-star performance on Friday evening in the High School Auditorium.

One of the most even productions to have been shown here, the cast of seven gave outstanding entertainment as directed by Beatrice Macleod with fine intuition. Lines were spoken clearly; pace was good.

The play was so much enjoyed, and such a popular choice that the Singers and Players Club has been asked and has agreed to repeat it on Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the High School Auditorium when the entire proceeds will go to Summerland Hungarian Relief.

As the short-sighted, slightly bewildered Mr. Pim, Jack Wilcox, kept the audience chuckling from the moment he came on the stage until his final appearance at the end of the third act.

Alan McKenzie as the irreproachable George Marden, J.P., finds himself in a situation, inexplicable, and difficult. Mr. McKenzie carried through superbly in a heavy character part, convincing and winning the sympathy of the audience in his difficulties.

As Olivia Marden, the wife of George, Sylvia Perry supported excellently taking up her lines and carrying through with charm, ease and naturalness.

Juvenile leads were played by Brenda Liebert and Gordon Lee in light-hearted beguiling fashion, as Dinah Marden, George's niece, and ward, and the young artist, Brian Strang. They become engaged after Olivia's help and the complexities of her former life have assisted in breaking down George's unwillingness to give consent.

Mollie Russel, as Lady Marden, Aunt Julia, always a favorite with Okanagan audiences, proved herself again in a type part played well.

As Anne, the maid, Marion Cartwright was excellent.

An authoritative attractive set designed by Stan Gladwell and Gwen Penney presented no difficulty to the cast and added to the interpretation of the play.

Annual Hospital Society Meeting

Annual meeting of the Summerland Hospital Society will be held on Wednesday, February 27, starting at 8 p.m. in the IOOF Hall.

Reports will be presented and a board of directors will be elected. This is an important meeting and it is hoped that Summerland residents will turn out in force.

Chairman of the Board of Directors, Les Rumball, points out that the hospital is a community project and, despite government participation, the hospital must be managed by the community. "The hospital should be everybody's business," said Mr. Rumball in appealing for a large turnout.

Tea will be served by the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary following the business section.

Postmaster Pro Tem

Ivan E. Phillips has been appointed temporary postmaster at Summerland as of February 15.

C. B. Gidlow, former postmaster, has accepted a position in the Income Tax office at Penticton.

Mr. Phillips has been assisting in the postoffice since the beginning of the year.

Kiwan's Prepare For Another Big Festival

Adjudicators for the final evening of the Summerland Kiwanis Club Music Scholarship Committee were announced this week. The Festival committee feel they have been able to secure three competent musicians who are trained adjudicators in their fields. Those are Harold Ball from Oliver, who will adjudicate the Piano class, Monica Craig Fisher from Penticton who will handle the vocal groups and Glen Morley, also from Penticton who will judge the instrumental students.

The judging at the Saturday March 2nd eliminations will be handled by well-known local musical figures whose names will be announced next week.

The application forms are now available from the Elementary and High School offices, Laidlaw's, West Summerland, Tank & Turmy, Trout Creek and Doug Campbell's house in Lakeside. The deadline is on page 8

Set construction was by Henry Abeling. Prompter was Lucy Trafford.

Clarke Wilkin was the able business manager. Others assisting were: make-up, Marion Cartwright and Mollie Russel; lighting, W. Ross.

Stage manager, Ken Bissett; and his stage crew, E. Hargrave, Roy Dunsdon and Dick Armstrong, handled this part of the show with despatch.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

The tragic death of Vancouver newspaperman Sam Cromie this week, shook me up. Sam was one of those virile types, aglow with health, something of a human dynamo. It's difficult to accept the idea that he is gone — and one cannot help but wonder about the why of it. Why, and how come one man can walk in the shadow of death and escape, whereas another is taken?

A newspaper sidekick of mine served with Canadian Navy. He spent his war years aboard a Corvette crossing and recrossing the stormy Atlantic on convoy duty.

On one occasion a big wave, the daddy of all waves, engulfed the Corvette and the officer of the watch, my newspaper sidekick, was swept off the ship.

"I figured I'd had it," he relates.

And, as far as the hand of man was concerned, he had had it.

But what happened? One minute he's gulping for air on top of a wave. It was blacker than the inside of a sooty chimney, and he couldn't see a thing.

Then, whoosh, his feet strike something. He grabs and hangs on — another wave had carried him back aboard. He was for'ard when the wave took him, but he landed back in the fantail mixed up with the depth charges.

That's what I mean, some can walk right into the arms of death and escape — others . . . kaput.

No use pondering on such things, I suppose. Read a newspaper filler the other day which informed me that farthest distant stars that can be photographed are 500,000,000 light years away from the earth.

So then think back beyond those 500,000,000 light years to more and more stars beyond our ability to photograph and then laugh at our conceit that this earth of ours is the one and only — that we are the most advanced form of life.

I wouldn't have to more than see a flying saucer to believe in it — but so far I haven't seen one — come to think of it, though, I haven't seen Ogopogo, but I half believe in him.

Following is a continuation of a letter written by T. G. Marcham, first part of which appeared in our issue of Feb. 8.

I came out to Trout Creek from England in the spring of 1901 at the age of 24 and stayed at my cousins' Harry and Jim Dunsdon's. Shortly afterward I went to work at the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. James Gartrell where I worked for a year. On my first Sunday there, I was asked to drive Mrs. Gartrell up to the little church on the Flat — not far from Giant's Head. When we arrived there we found the church door locked so we sat down and waited for the rest of the congregation. Shortly afterward we saw a horse and democrat and two horsemen approaching. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barclay, Rev. Greene and another person were in the democrat. Mr. Fosbery (who was Barclay's foreman) and his brother, the late Wm. Fosbery, were the horsemen. When they arrived at the church door they found to their dismay that they had forgotten the key, so one of the Fosberys had to ride back to the ranch (now known as the Ritchie place) to get the key. Eventually we got the door opened and the service started. It was quite a change from the London church I had attended where we had 300 members.

I might mention we had only one service a month as the Rev. Greene had to come from Kelowna on a Friday and could not return till Monday evening. This was the church where Mr. Harry Dunsdon was married and of course all we young bachelors escorted Harry and his bride on horseback down to Mr. and Mrs. Gartrell's ranch, where we had a real festive time.

Speaking to Harry or "Pop" as he is familiarly called when I was in Summerland five years ago, he said to me "Well Tommy, I sure started something, didn't I?" and he sure did. You only have to look and see his numerous offspring and their offspring too. Then his brother Jim got married and more offspring. Then my own marriage — no offspring. The other day I counted 33 bachelors who were living in Summerland between 1901 and 1909. Out of this number 30 got married, 3 didn't. One of these I remember speaking to when I was about to be married. I said "Tom, answer me this. There are lots of nice young ladies around but where do the cranky old ones come from?" "Well he never married and died around your district not long ago. A very fine man, just the same."

1902. The Summerland Development Company started operations so I went to work for them under R. H. Helmer, the horticulturist and helped to plant the first trees. First we had to take the hay off Jones' Flat. Mr. Helmer was a tall Yorkshire man with a pink tender skin. One day while working there and just as Helmer and myself had a cock of hay on our forks to put on the load, he suddenly dropped his fork and left me to load the hay. I looked around to see what had happened and there was Helmer jumping around and yelling like an Indian, frantically tearing at his shirt. Then down came his overalls. It seems there were some red ants attacking him in the middle of his anatomy. There was another time we were haying together, the mosquitoes would go for his delicate skin, which prompted him to say "Tom, I won't work with you anymore. Those pesky insects all leave you and come to me."

By the way did any of your historians tell you about "Gartrell City"? It was about the fall of 1902 when I went to work around the Summerland Hotel and among other things I was picked out to help the bricklayer — Mr. Gumnow from Peachland. I had never carried a hod before but I soon caught on, by the time we came up to the second floor I was going up the ladder with a hand sliding on each side and the hod of bricks resting easily on my shoulder which prompted the bricklayer to say "Look at that young fellow, he takes to it like a pro." Incidentally when I was in the butcher shop with the Fosberys I had to carry one of these hodmen's four handled wooden hods on my shoulders laden down with joints of meat, so that's where I got my shoulders in shape. We were about through at the end of one evening a man rode up with a couple horse and saddle. He had just come from the Gartrell place and was a friend of mine — Mr. Fred Anderson (guess you know him). He lives at Penticton and must now be about 85 years of age. I saw him five years ago and he was still going strong, drove his own car and had a billiard table in his basement. Well, Fred had come to say he was leaving the ranch next day and wanted me to catch up with him and see the ranch.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY TWENTIETH, NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-SEVEN

Terrific Twin Bill... On Saturday

Mr. Pim passed by in Summerland last Friday night but his passing was so delightful to the large audience attending the Summerland Players and Singers first presentation of the New Year, that Mr. Pim will pass by again, the time and place for the passing being the High School Auditorium on Saturday night, February 23.

The Summerland Singers and Players, as usual, did a good job and their interpretation of play and the subtle humor of A. A. Milne, was, as Mr. Pim might say, "Ah, ah, ah, — absolutely top hole."

And so public demand will cause the curtain to rise again on the play "Mr. Pim Passes By," and this time the play will be staged as a charitable effort, in aid of the Summerland Hungarian Relief fund.

Altogether a terrific twin bill — a good show and a good cause.

All that we, the people, have to do is see to it that it is a good house next Saturday night.

Help Your Hospital —

In summertime people do not give a thought to the snow shovel leaning in a dark corner of the basement, but when they wake up on a mid-winter morning and find the snow crisp and deep they immediately think of the snow shovel and they're thankful it is on hand to enable them to dig the car out and get about their business.

Likewise, few people in the full glow of health and strength give a thought to their hospital, but come disaster, epidemic, accident and holocaust whether of war and peace, and the hospital looms large in the minds of people.

It is when catastrophe strikes in a community that the work of a few individuals is revealed and can be measured. And, usually, thanks to the few, the hospital is equipped to meet the emergencies. But today, owing in some measure to government participation in local hospital affairs, community interest in the hospital is decreasing. This situation is general and includes Summerland.

Summerland, a community noted far and wide for its community mindedness, is nevertheless lacking in this regard in respect to its hospital.

In fact, it is only the faithful service of a few which makes it possible to retain a hospital here.

A well-equipped hospital is a necessity in a community the size of Summerland and a well-equipped hospital should be a source of pride to this community.

Today, Summerland has the hospital, but the interest of the people the hospital serves is sadly lacking.

We suggest that Summerland residents, old and new, do a little soul searching in this regard and then resolve to think more of the hospital and to do more to help in maintaining it.

A start could be made by attending the meeting of the Summerland Hospital Society, to be held next Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the IOOF Hall.

Let's make it a date.

Why All the Uproar?

We cannot help but wonder how much of the indignation generated over the Wenner-Gren deal can be attributed to politics. Frankly, we cannot see anything particularly wrong with an agreement which at its best will result in the economic development of a large section of the B.C. hinterland and which, at the worst, will leave several millions of dollars in B.C. along with blueprints of an area of the province which at the present is an unknown wilderness.

Objection can of course be made to creation of a colossus by the handing over of the timber and mineral rights of such a large territory to the one concern, but it is certain that development by one concern is more efficient more thorough and more profitable all around than hodge podge development.

Premier Bennett can, perhaps be accused of high handedness in committing the government to such a deal without first making some attempt to ascertain public opinion on the matter. Here again, however, Premier Bennett can point to last year's smashing victory at the polls as his justification for acting on behalf of the people without first consulting them, for beyond argument is the fact that the people gave Mr. Bennett and his government an impressive vote of confidence.

Other than that we cannot see where critics of the Wenner-Gren deal have any solid foundation for their criticism. The Wenner-Gren interests will, undoubtedly make huge profits if their gamble pays off. And it seems to us that they are entitled to profits if, in making those profits, they take a wilderness and make it productive.

The development of this province has been based on just such investments of private capital and the initiative of private citizens.

The Wenner-Gren interests in investing in the Rocky Mountain Trench country can be likened to the lone prospector who invests his capital in a grub stake and goes off prospecting. It has happened and it still happens that some prospectors strike it rich and parley a few hundred dollars into millions — they are the lucky few who gamble and win.

As we understand it the Wenner-Gren people are also gambling, but with a few million dollars — if they win they'll get a magnificent return on what will then be termed their investment, rather than their gamble.

But what will British Columbia get if the Wenner-Gren gamble pays off? B.C. will get hydro-electric power, pulp mills, mines and the populating of a large area of the province, which today is roamed only by the trapper and fur trader.

Frankly we don't see how the province can lose. And the agreement between the two parties seems to amply safeguard the interests of the people of B.C.

The Wenner-Gren interests are committed to the expenditure of five million dollars in surveying the Rocky Mountain Trench area and when this is complete to the satisfaction of the government the agreement provides that, "The government of the province of British Columbia shall forthwith cause a reserve to be placed on the lands and timber comprised in the proposed area of development, with the intent that right to certain of the lands and timber shall be granted to the principals, or companies contemplated hereunder, upon appropriate applications being made therefore under the relevant statutes, subject however to the furnishing of satisfactory plans and undertakings for the development of the resources referred to in this memorandum.

Read those last lines again. — "Subject, however to the furnishing of satisfactory plans and undertakings for the development of the resources referred to in this memorandum."

In other words the government hasn't, at least, as yet, been guilty of the "give-away" charged by its political opponents. The government is still in the driver's seat and in a position to prevent undue exploitation of the province's natural resources and to secure for the people of British Columbia a quid pro quo.

Mid-Week Message

Thought for Today: Their houses are safe from fear. Job 21:9.

One reason home means much to people is the associations that are there. Psychologists have pointed out that frequently the person who talks about food "like mother used to bake" is talking about more than merely food. Certain foods have been eaten regularly in an atmosphere of security, love and joy; and when they are eaten they bring back those strong associations of affection.

Those who are wise will endeavor to make of their homes sanctuaries of love, havens of rest, and a fellowship of mutual respect. Home ought to be a place where dad can come from work, mother can come from buying groceries, the children can come from school, all feeling that home is the most, blessed place on earth.

Being a part of a church family carries with it unique blessings just as being a part of a regular family. It has meaning to the degree that the individual shares in the worship, the activities, and the planning of the family.

And for the person who is part of the family of God, a Christian, the universal event of family life here on earth is not something filled with fear and foreboding; it is merely "going home."

Prayer: O God, if our homes are a blessed haven that nothing else can equal, we are grateful. Help us to be at our best at home. May we reserve our kindest words and deepest love for our homes. In Christ's name. Amen.

With the wooden orchard box on the way to becoming an outmoded container, it could be that bulk handling of apples in a big way will become an effective economic move. Summerland Co-operative Growers pioneered in one of the forward trends in the fruit industry when they arranged a bulk handling demonstration on Wednesday afternoon to some 200 interested persons, including growers, packing house managers and personnel from Westbank to Oliver.

This is the first time this method of handling fruit has been shown in Summerland or the south end of the Valley.

It was staged at the Co-op packing house. This educational experiment was opened by the president J. Y. Towgood, welcoming guests and introducing Dr. James Marshall.

Dr. Marshall saw bulk handling used in New Zealand and Australia and because of his recommendations to the BCFGA local, a resolution was passed at the annual provincial BCFGA meeting resulting in a team being sent to those countries to observe and report back on the latest work being done along those lines.

Illustrated with slides, Dr. Marshall talked of and showed what he had seen.

Mr. McBirney, agriculture engineer with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Wenatchee, there to study bulk handling, spoke briefly on progress in the Wenatchee Valley, saying that experiments had been done and would be enlarged, and that the possibilities of the new method were recognized.

George Washington, Summerland manager of the Co-operative Growers, gave the demonstration. The apples were put over a grader from a 25 bushel box, approximately four cubic feet in size, having a trap door at one end. The fruit flowed easily and smoothly with no bruising.

Mr. Washington's reaction is to explore all the possibilities. From the orchardist's point of view he sees no difficulties that cannot be surmounted. Loading presents one of the first problems and would require a tractor with hydraulic lift, he says.

In the packing house, any packing house already equipped with modern packing facilities such as lift trucks, etc., would have no difficulty in his opinion.

During the afternoon Parker Motors showed a tractor equipped with hydraulic lift to handle fruit in the orchard.

Coffee was served by the Co-operative Growers following the program.

The Hi Life

by DOT CARSON

Hi there youse guys! Another busy week finished and by the look of things another one on the way.

The place (school) had a near riot Friday noon hour when the senior boys and girls challenged the teachers to a Volleyball game! Upon entering the spectators went wild, for the teachers were dressed up in costumes. I wonder if they were portraying their secret ambitions — pirates, farmers, gardeners, engineers, professors and best of all — cheerleaders! Waving their tassels and cheering heartily they encouraged their team on to a 15-10 win over the girls but lost to the boys 15-9. Fine entertainment and the money raised will go to a good cause — the school Annual!

Senior basketball teams travelled to Kelowna on Friday. The girls won 29-26 and boys were defeated 54-37. There was good support from both Kelowna and Summerland, and the teams appreciated it. So did the cheerleaders.

Annual dues payments of 50c are due now kids. Be sure to get one to have in future years!

Well must scot along for now — So long!

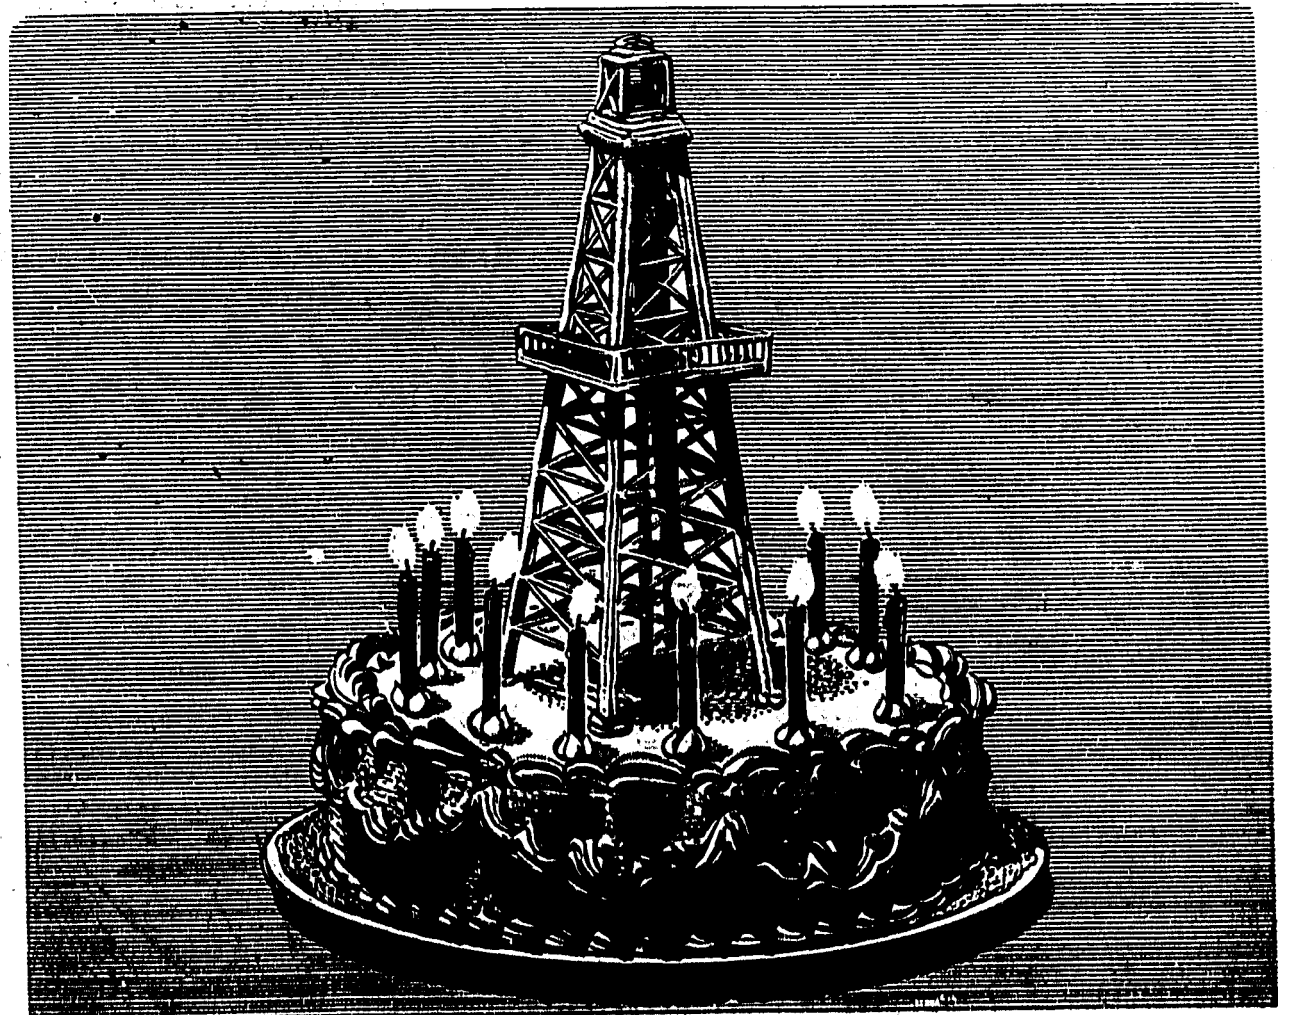

Something wonderful just happened — Charles and Agnes Polcz have been united with their father and the look of happiness on Charles' face filled our hearts with gratitude. Welcome Mr. Polcz from the students of Summerland High School.

TWO BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED IN JANUARY

There were two permits issued in January, according to the report of building inspector Roy F. Angus. One was for a new dwelling valued at $5,000.00, the other for alterations and additions in the amount of $1,950.00.

The number corresponds to those given out last January though the estimated cost is up $1,750.00.

Penticton City will celebrate the B.C. Centennial which falls in its Golden Jubilee Year the week ending May 24, 1958.

Happy Birthday, Leduc!

TEN YEARS AGO AN IMPERIAL DRILLING CREW DISCOVERED OIL NEAR LEDUC, ALBERTA. THAT DISCOVERY HAS AFFECTED THE LIFE OF ALMOST EVERY CANADIAN

SINCE LEDUC

In 1946, Canada's own oil fields met only nine percent of her demand. Today, they produce about 70 percent of a demand which has increased by three times. In 1946, Canada's proven oil reserves were 72 million barrels. Today, there are almost three billion barrels, a 40-fold increase. In 1946, there were just 435 miles of oil pipe line in all Canada. Today, there are more than 5,000 miles.

The crew at Imperial Leduc No. 1 that winter's day knew that very few wells drilled in unproven territory find oil in commercial quantities. This could be just another well in a long series of failures... 133 of them at a cost of $23,000,000... which Imperial had drilled in western Canada. When Imperial Leduc No. 1 "came in" on February 15, 1947, the elated crew knew they had made an important discovery. What they couldn't know was just how important their discovery was, for Imperial Leduc No. 1 encouraged not only Imperial but hundreds of other companies to look for... and to find... more oil in Canada. What were the results?

A fast-growing oil producing in-

- dustry, employing thousands.
- New refineries, and expansion of old ones.
- Birth of dozens of new industries.
- Large savings of foreign exchange that would have been spent on oil imports.
- A surer supply of oil for Canada.

Nor has this development reached its peak. Though about four billion dollars have already been invested in finding and developing Canadian oil, experts predict another 20 billion will be spent during the next 25 years, bringing us still more industries, more jobs, and, of course, more oil. Leduc's birthday was a happy day for us all!

Coy Cup Hockey Here Next Week

Summerland will have its own hockey playoffs next week. On Sunday the Summerland Macs journey to Kamloops for the first game of the Coy Cup playoff series.

Return games will be played in Summerland next Wednesday and a third game will be played here the following Sunday, March 3.

Venue of the fourth and fifth games of the best of five series, if necessary, have not yet been decided.

Extent of the support given to Summerland fans in the section playoffs here next week may determine whether Summerland will see the Coy Cup semifinal series, should Summerland's Macs win out over Kamloops.

Cop Cup semifinals are scheduled to be played between the winners of the Okanagan Mainline section and the Vancouver Island and Mainland section.

This semifinal series is allotted to the home ice of the winner of the Okanagan Mainline section which could very well be Summerland, but as it costs money to allow the Coy Cup contenders to travel, it is possible that the series would be switched if the BCAHA judges that support is lacking.

Winners of the semifinal between the Okanagan and Vancouver Island Mainland sections will play off against the winners of the East and West Kootenay section for the Coy Cup.

George Stoll, manager of the Macs, says the team is in good shape and all set to make a determined bid to bring the B.C. Intermediate hockey title to Summerland.

Baseball Chatter

Weather being what it is, only men with a lot of vision are thinking about baseball these days, but there is news for baseball fans to digest.

Dougie Weeks, far from unknown to Summerland baseball fans, is here from Oliver. Dougie is mechanicing at the Co-operative Services Garage—in fact he's foreman—and this summer, when he's not mechanicing it is a safe bet he'll be baseballing and this season, and he hopes for the next and the next, ad infinitum, he'll be doing his baseballing with the Summerland Macs.

And that brings us to the item of information that the annual meeting of the Summerland Baseball Club will be held in about two weeks time.

A good turnout is requested, the grapevine has it that some of the people who have been carrying the load and who have given Summerland baseball year after year are getting a trifle browned off at the lack of interest.

So, watch for the date of the annual meeting. Summer is coming and what would summer be without baseball?

Vees win over Vernon to lead in playoffs

It's hockey playoff time in the valley and in Summerland and suburban Penticton there is rejoicing. The rejoicing stems from the Penticton Vees dazzling 5-4 victory over the powerful Vernon Canadians, who until the Vees showed their playoff mettle, were odds-on favorites to cop the series without too much trouble.

Opening game of the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League playoffs at Vernon on Monday was a thriller-diller, climaxed by a 14-second-to-go goal which broke a 4-4 tie to give the Vees a one-game lead in the series.

Whether the Vees can maintain the pace they set Monday, remains to be seen, something of the answer should be told tonight when Hal Tarala's youngsters will be given wings to their skates by the thunderous chant of Go Vees Go.

It is in the cards for the fast skating Penticton youngsters to take Vernon tonight and, if they go two games ahead, then it could happen that they'll score the upset of the season by eliminating the defending Allen Cup champions.

Yes, a lot hangs on the game tonight.

And last night the Kamloops Chiefs tossed their hats into the ring serving notice that they're going to be rough, tough and corrugated opposition. The Chiefs shattered the Kelowna Packers 7-0.

And while the Penticton Vees played David to the Vernon Goliath on Monday, the Rossland Warriors hung up their sign as giant killers by defeating the Kootenay league champions, the Spokane Flyers, 7-4. The Warriors were all over the Flyers from the first to the final whistle.

In the opening game of the Kootenay league playoffs the Trail Smokeeaters surged into the lead against the Nelson Maple Leaf winning by a score of 4-2.

Playing coach Grant Warwick of the Smokeies scored a hat trick.

And so it's playoff time in the valley—but with only one round played it's still too early to start picking 'em.

Canadians Lead Midget Hockey

By David Kampe
On Thursday the Canadians took the Black Hawks for an 8-7 win. For the Canadians, Ezeard, Gronland, Renhie, and Holmes each scored making it 4-0 for the Canadians. One and Sheeley each scored twice making the score 9-4. Holmes then scored for the Canadians, and then Shannon, Brown and Dunsdon scored for the Black Hawks making the score 7-5 in favor of the Black Hawks. The Canadians suffering from a two goal deficit went on a wild scoring streak with Gillard scoring three goals in succession ending the game with a score of 8-7 in favour of the Canadians.

Saturday the Maple Leafs played the Black Hawks to a 3-3 tie. For the Black Hawks Sheeley scored twice and Brown also scored. Sheeley, Hutton, One and Brown received assists on the Black Hawks goals, making a score of 3-0 for the Black Hawks. Things looked tough for the Leafs until the Maple Leafs' indispensable forward, McCutcheon sent a gizzling shot from well in which caught the lower-left corner. Two goals from well in by Irving made the score 3-3. Four minor penalties were awarded to Smith and two to McCutcheon of the Maple Leafs and one to Shannon of the Black Hawks.

The 9:00 game when the Bruins played the Canadians was also a good contest. Verne Dewitt the Bruins new player scored the first goal of the game, another goal soon followed by Davis making the score 2-0 in favour of the Bruins. Gillard, in an attempt to score, shot a blistering shot from well out which caught the lower left corner. He again shot and scored which tied the game up 2-2 which it remained. Seven minor penalties were given out plus one 10 minute misconduct. Eden received the Canadians only penalty, while Blewitt received two and Graham and

Commission

A chuckle went through the audience at Mr. Stoll's statement that that fact that this constituency has never elected a Liberal candidate makes a very impractical joke out of any request for financial assistance.

FREE ENTERPRISE

Declaring himself a firm believer in free enterprise, his opinion was that pooling holds a man down. He ended his talk by answering the question, "Do you find any virtue in pooling?" with an emphatic, "No."

J. Y. Towgood, president of the Summerland Co-operative Growers, traced through a bit of the history of fruit merchandising, and spoke in defence of central selling.

"I have confidence in the selling system", he affirmed.

"I believe that a lack of confidence in the grower body impedes progress," Mr. Towgood said. "The component parts must agree."

NEW SYSTEM OF PAYMENT

One suggestion made by him was that a system of grower payments be instituted, whereby the packing houses render to the central selling agency accounting for each grower's fruit and pack, and the central selling agency would disperse the money. Requisitions for costs could go to Tree Fruits and growers' contra accounts to the packing houses; then fewer channels for money to pass through might inspire more grower confidence.

Mr. Towgood, while recognizing the system of overage, did not think it was a healthy one, and said that it brought grower criticism. It this were overcome, discontent on the part of the grower would be narrowed down, he felt.

A substantial upheaval in the industry, was not wanted by the speaker.

He disagreed with a statement made at the Penticton hearing that hard and immature peaches discourage consumer buying, saying that canners do not want a fully matured peach. "A far greater amount is picked in good condition although a small quantity of poor peaches can and does damage the market," he stated.

BETTER SUPPORT

John Holman, a former BCFGA president, regretted the small percentage of growers at the hearing since it is within the growers power to pick the men to represent them and to change any part of the industry not liked. He regretted, too, the difficulty in getting men to Gronland a single with Brianiff getting two minor penalties and one 10 minute misconduct.

On Friday Mr. Stoll, the manager made up a new rule that:

"No wild shots or high shots which might endanger the goalie's head or face are allowed." A minor penalty will be given to anyone not abiding by this rule.

stand for executive positions in the fruit industry.

"I have confidence in the system of central selling, and in the men representing the grower," he declared.

Mr. Holman is a soft fruit grower, who has 5 1/2 acres of his own and four acres which he operates on shares. This he does economically with the help of his family. The importance of variety comes into the financial picture, he claimed.

J. G. Mayne, president of the BCFGA local, spoke of recurring frosts and resultant orchard damage, urging that frost resistant stock be planted.

"Everything is bought at retail price, and at times the product sold below wholesale," was one of his points. "Purchase of sprays by a central agency would effect a saving, as the purchase of cardboard boxes by Tree Fruits has benefitted the grower."

"Packing houses do not work to capacity, partly due to freeze-ups, so there is a higher cost per unit pack," said he, and mentioned, too, the high cannery charge in order to carry packing houses.

Mr. Mayne said there should be a maximum pack for each 100 boxes delivered; each packing house labelled, and a good pack would bring repeat orders; a border line pack is doing the industry harm. He thought the number of packages might be limited in each packing house and the different kinds spread around.

PAYMENT BY TREE FRUITS

He was in favor of payment by Tree Fruits; overage wiped out; damage in one packing house should be the responsibility of that house, for soft fruits and for apples.

Elimination of the three-party contract was advocated and a two-party contract between the grower and Tree Fruits desirable in his opinion.

In the matter of tariff control, Mr. Mayne believed that the canned product as well as the fresh fruit market should be protected.

H. J. Wells, a governor of B.C. Tree Fruits spoke about apple areas and soft fruit areas in Summerland.

He thought any excess in soft fruit packing house charge for the cannery should be returned to the grower through the pool for which the fruit is being sold, not for example, through an apple pool.

Mr. Wells expressed confidence in the capability of BCFGA men.

M. K. Munro deplored consignment shipping, to packing houses since "their mistake is passed on to growers through packing charges."

"Money is lost through thousands of wooden apple boxes unaccounted for and charged back to the grower," was another of Mr. Munro's points.

Harvey Mitchell and W. C. Baker filed briefs with the Commissioner. Other hearings are to be held in the area in April and still later public hearings will be held.

The Commissioner flew back to the coast on Tuesday afternoon.

Business was more or less suspended in Summerland during the latter half of last week as the Summerland Curling Club's annual bonspiel held sway for four days and five nights.

Winner of the fifth annual 'spiel considered the most successful held here so far, was the Arthan rink, skippered by Bert Arthan with Jim Green, lead; Lloyd Hayes, second and Bill Eyres, third.

It was an all Summerland final with the Arthan rink defeating Dell Carter's rink for the Occidental trophy.

Fifty four rinks entered the big event made up of curlers from Osoyoos, Oliver, Penticton, Summerland and Peachland.

Dick Parmley of Penticton defeated Bill Carse's rink to win the "B" Event. Parmley took the B.C. Fruit Shippers' trophy home.

The Coughlin foursome of Oliver swept to the "C" Event crown, defeating Eden of Summerland. The Oliver team won the Walters Ltd. Trophy.

Bill Croft of Summerland beat Turnbull in the "D" Event for the Holmes and Wade Trophy. The last rock in the final end was the deciding factor in Croft's win.

Car Accidents Cost $1,000,000 Annually

Well over a billion dollars has been paid out by the fire, automobile and casualty insurance business to reimburse Canadians involved in accidents and misfortunes over the past 10 years, R. W. Harris of the All Canada Insurance Federation told members at the Annual meeting of the Summerland Board of Trade last Thursday.

Speaking on behalf of the Federation, which represents more than 200 fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies, Mr. Harris said the insurance business protected Canadians from severe financial loss against nearly every conceivable risk.

Fire losses still claimed a large proportion of the total insurance bill, but automobile claims now hold first place, he said. Fire continued responsible for the deaths of nearly 500 people each year, and about $90 million in claims.

Mr. Harris urged greater attention to safety in the home in an effort to reduce fire danger.

"Tragic loss of life through fire in Canada is, unfortunately all too common", he said.

Every effort is being made by the insurance companies, he continued, to improve safety measures by encouraging municipalities to introduce better water systems and fire-fighting services through lower insurance rates.

Turning to the traffic accident problem, Mr. Harris warned against complacency in our attitudes. The fact that the insurance business pays out more than $100 million annually to meet automobile accident claims emphasizes the need to tackle the problem with determination, he said.

"During the past 20 years, automobile accidents have taken the lives of 38,900 Canadians — almost the entire population of a small city. Every year more than 2,500 people are being killed on our highways.

"The insurance companies are doing everything possible to reduce the staggering toll of the highway by offering the safe-driving incentive of lower insurance premiums for claims-free car owners, he said. Considerable time and effort is also being devoted to safety work and public education aimed at making drivers more aware of their responsibilities."

Curling

By HILDA EDEN

Gladys McKilligan and her rink of Bev Fleming, Margaret Milne and Lola Day are off to Nanaimo and the thrill of a lifetime to do some curling in the Provincial playoffs. Their first game will be on Wednesday in the Collinson Event which prepares them for the big event, The T. Eaton. The winner of this event gets an all expense trip paid by Eaton's to Saanichton. Good luck girls, we hope you win.

My rink of Annie Dunsdon, Bobby Hannah and Margaret Wilson had a very nice time at Peachland. We were fortunate in winning the first in D event, and 3rd in the A.

The Men's local 'spiel was a big success and the winners will be found elsewhere in the paper.

This weekend is the men's open 'spiel at Peachland and several rinks are going from here.

This weekend will also be the Osoyoos Ladies' Open 'spiel. There are three rinks going from our club.

I believe the high school are holding their 'spiel on Saturday in Summerland.

Canadian Sales up 40% in Record Year for Sun Life

New insurance during 1956 largest amount ever sold by a Canadian company in any year; policy dividends again increased; $7 billion insurance in force.

New life insurance sold by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada in 1956 amounted to $854 million, an increase of $93 million over the previous year and once again the greatest amount of life insurance ever sold by any Canadian company in one year. In Canada, a 40% increase was reported. Sun Life's 86th Annual Report to Policyholders, just released, also discloses that life insurance in force has now passed the $7 billion mark, an all-time record. The Company is again adopting new and increased dividend scales which will further reduce the cost of insurance to policyholders. As a result of these increased scales, Sun Life will pay out $31 million in dividends to policyholders during 1957, or $2,700,000 more than in the previous year, and more than twice the amount paid out only nine years ago. During 1956, the Company paid a total of $137 million in benefits to policyholders, largest amount ever distributed by the Sun Life in any year. Living policyholders and annuitants received $94 million of this amount. Benefit payments since 1871, when the first Sun Life policy was issued, have now exceeded $3,140 million.

George W. Bourke, Sun Life President, in reviewing Company results for the 12-month period, stated that full advantage had been taken of favourable conditions for a record sale of life insurance by the Sun Life. By mobilizing the savings of millions of policyholders, life insurance is playing a vital part in providing the funds needed for the tremendous capital expansion that is taking place today.

GROUP BUSINESS NOW OVER $2½ BILLION

Included in new business during the year was $259 million of group insurance, or 30% of the total, bringing group insurance in force to more than $2½ billion. Sun Life's worldwide total of insurance in force now has reached $7,030,000,000, an all-time high. Annuities payable currently and in future under group pension plans and individual contracts totalled 162 million per annum at the end of 1956. Life insurance and annuities combined are the equivalent of $9,175,000,000 of life insurance. The division of this figure among the major territories in which the Company operates is: Canada, 49%; United States, 36%; Great Britain and other Commonwealth countries, 13%; elsewhere, 2%.

$80 MILLION IN NEW MORTGAGE LOANS

An increase in assets of $60 million took place in 1956 and Sun Life assets now stand at slightly over $2 billion. During the year 1956, even though tighter credit conditions existed in Canada and the United States, the Sun Life advanced $89 million in new mortgage loans throughout the two countries. Mr. Bourke said: "Our mortgage loan account now stands at $460 million."

Sun Life's Report revealed that the success of the year's investment operations was reflected in the gross interest rate earned on the Company's assets, which increased from 4.17% in 1955 to 4.32% in 1956.

CONTINUED GROWTH

Mr. Bourke concluded by saying that with the prospect of continued expansion, the volume of new life insurance will continue to grow. "In the highly competitive atmosphere in which we operate," he declared, "the Sun Life will continue to be responsive to public needs and anxious at all times to improve the service we have to offer."

A copy of Sun Life's complete 1956 Annual Report, including the President's review of the year, is being sent to each policyholder. Further details may be obtained from S. T. Wilson, District Supervisor, Penticton.

Notes From Parliament Hill

by O. L. Jones, M.P.
Okanagan-Boundary

This letter is written in New York, where I shall be for a while attending the United Nations as an "observing delegate" from Canada. Six M.P.s are attached to the Canadian delegation — all observers while the permanent delegates headed by Mr. Pearson carry on the work.

Each morning we all meet to discuss policies from a Canadian point of view and to formulate plans for the day. This is a most interesting meeting where we gather a great deal of information. After that we attend the U.N. meetings, usually three or four are sitting at the same time.

First we listened to the debate on the Middle East, each Arab Nation making an attack on Israel demanding her withdrawal from the Gaza strip. The withdrawal demand was general but Israel remained adamant demanding certain specified protection against Egypt, as well as the right to use the Suez Canal.

Honourable Lester B. Pearson speaking for Canada also urged Israel to withdraw to the "original border."

King Saud of Saudi Arabia spoke to the Assembly in his native language which was translated in English. The reception to the king was warm in the U.N. but hostile in the city. The mayor of New York refused to entertain him on the grounds that he is anti-Jewish, anti-catholic, and allows slavery to flourish in his realm.

Other interesting debates were on the quarrel between India and Pakistan, also the South African race problem was discussed, with the South African delegates refusing to attend. The Nations generally condemned the South African policy, many refused to vote on the ground that it was a domestic matter beyond the competence of the U.N. to deal with human rights.

The status of women in certain nations was also discussed. The Delegates' Lounge is a babel of voices brightened with the colourful dresses worn by some of the lady delegates from India, Ceylon, Cuba and other countries. Watching these people mingling freely and peacefully offers hope that someday the countries they represent will achieve universal peace and harmony.

While this letter is not a report on Parliament I feel that the U.N. is part of our administration, Canada being a full member therein. Mr. Pearson is regarded very highly by all delegates. The Canadian point of view is generally accepted as we are one of the few nations without territorial ambitions, and usually enter a debate from an unbiased point of view.

The U.N. is passing through a tense and trying period just now, its rulings have been ignored and defied by nations large and small. It will take a great deal of skillful guidance to weather the storm.

In spite of those who deride the U.N. I still feel that it is the world's one hope of permanent peace.

Last week was an exciting week, most of it taken up with a full dress discussion on the Israeli problem. About 70 nations took part in the debate and I listened to many angry charges made against the Israeli government. Many of the Arab states demanding the elimination of Israel as a nation.

While the bitter debate was carried on in public, behind the scenes we saw earnest talks going on between smaller groups where the real work of the U.N. takes place. There was Mr. Cabot Lodge of the U.S., Mr. Pearson of Canada, Mr. Menon of India, Mr. Gunewardene of Ceylon and many others working hard to ensure a favourable vote on two resolutions that were before the Assembly.

These two resolutions were sponsored by the USA. The first one demanding the withdrawal of Israeli forces from the Gaza strip. The second that U.N. troops should immediately take over the area and police it. Both resolutions were a compromise, in order to try and achieve unity. At first the majority of the Arab states agreed with both resolutions, but suddenly changed their minds and would only support the first. This caused quite a panic among the United States, Canadian, Commonwealth and other democratic states, that is when the private talks really got started.

The result, after several days of bitter argument, on the withdrawal of Israeli troops was overwhelming, but the second resolution saw a vote of just over 50 nations in support and the rest abstaining from voting. In other words, the Arab states, led by Egypt have no intention of turning over the Gaza strip to the U.N. Neither has Israel any intention of withdrawing under these conditions. The Israelis demand freedom from raids, freedom to use the Suez Canal and freedom of access to their ports without the interference that has up to now been injected by the Egyptians.

I frankly admit that the most logical realistic speech in the whole debate was made by the representative of Israel, followed closely by the point of view expressed in a able speech by our Canadian representative, Honourable L. B. Pearson, Mr. Cabot Lodge of the U.S. and Sir Leslie Munroe of New Zealand. On the other hand the Opposition was ably led by Dr. Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt, who outlined the case of a nation whose integrity had been violated by not only Israel but Britain and France as well. Now the vote has been taken it seems to me that nothing has been settled and the division remains. The U.N. can only enter into a country with the consent of its government, if that is withheld then nothing can be done. In other words the U.N. has no power to enforce its will only by the consent of the governments involved. The solution must of necessity be that someday a U.N. force must be established that can enforce the majority of agreement reached by free nations acting in unity.

After the episode in Hungary I realize that the stumbling block is the USSR. They seem to be a law unto themselves. While appearing as a willing partner in UN affairs it is obvious to us observers that they have their own pattern to follow, in many cases it is obvious in others hard to follow. I am very impressed with the role Canada has to play in all this, we have no territorial ambitions and are genuinely seeking world peace and international agreement, with the result that the Canadian delegation at the UN is regarded very highly by all the other nations. In this letter, so far, I have dealt with the Israeli problem. I would like to remind my readers that there are several other committees sitting at the same time and, that I try to divide my time so that I can get an outline of what is going on.

One such committee was dealing with a charge that Spain and Portugal were not living to the UN standards in the operation of their colonies. Several speakers charged Portugal, for instance, with keeping millions of natives in abject poverty and ignorance in some of their protectorates while they enjoyed the revenues from natural resources, there was general condemnation of Portugal on this point but their answer was that it was a domestic matter and beyond the competence of the UN to deal with. However, I feel that after listening to the debate, it must follow that Portugal must take action to remedy some of the terrible conditions still remaining in its colonies, or withdraw from the UN.

There is a general feeling of frustration here, partly because the edicts of the UN can not be enforced as we have no international police force to do so. Secondly, that before an edict can be enforced it has to have the consent of all the governments concerned. One can readily see that this is very difficult if not impossible. However, I still feel that the very fact that these discussions take place, and information is made public, the result will ultimately be that public opinion will force the Nation involved to change its policies. Serious charges were laid against both Spain and Portugal of violating the democratic government of dependent peoples, many of them still classified as being totally uncivilized, and still ruled by an autocratic parent government. Both Spain and Portugal seemed to rely on the simple answer that what they did with their colonies was their own business and should not be discussed by the UN. However, as I said before, it is a good thing to have these matters aired in public and the outcome may be a better deal for the natives concerned, our representative on this committee is Professor Soward of the UBC.

Associated Boards Meeting, Oliver, Urge Truck By-Pass At Pentiction

OLIVER — Support for district efforts in obtaining a truck by-pass road constructed at Pentiction was given at the annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of the Southern Interior in Oliver Wednesday night.

At the Oliver session, the delegates re-elected their officers for a further term; discussed the change of date for Labor Day; and accepted a notice of motion from Summerland delegates for changing the name of the organization.

In the debate on the by-pass question, the Summerland delegates presented a resolution calling for some means of avoiding the necessity for autoists to pass through crowded down-town area of Pentiction.

Pentiction delegates said the local board had been working on the matter for about a year, and had several conferences with representatives of the provincial department of highways. More recently the city council had asked for a truck alternate route.

The following resolution was adopted:

"Be it resolved that the B.C. Southern Interior Associated Boards of Trade request the minister of highways to immediately investigate ways and means of constructing a truck by-pass at Pentiction on Highway 97, between Okanagan River bridge on the north, and Gruger Hill."

Cancer Society To Aid Health Centre

Dr. J. C. Wilcox was re-elected as president; Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh, honorary president; Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, secretary; E. R. Butler, treasurer.

Representatives from various organizations in Summerland who make up the executive, attended the meeting.

Oil Production and Demand Ten Years Since Leduc

Canada's demand for oil has risen rapidly in the 10 years since the discovery of oil at Leduc, but Canadian oil production has increased even faster. In 1946, Canada was producing less than 10 percent of her total oil needs; in 1951, about 31 percent; and by the beginning of this year, nearly 70 percent.

Prelude to Spring Amusingly Shown As Program for WA Birthday Party

The thirteenth Annual Birthday meeting of the Summerland United Church Women's Association, held Monday, was well attended by members as well as visitors from the Federation and Lakeside W.A. Mrs. M. D. Proverbs received, welcoming members.

The devotional, led by Mrs. Proverbs was based on John 15, verse 4, using the theme "Prayer — not my will, but Thine be done."

During the business session reports on the January AOTS supper meeting and recent congregational meeting were submitted by Mrs. J. P. Sheeley and Mrs. C. Campbell respectively. Mrs. A. J. McKenzie reported the visiting committee had made ten hospital visits and three house calls.

Mrs. A. F. Crawford was in charge of the evening's entertainment featuring "Hats of Tomorrow." Mrs. E. E. Bates, suitably adorned in an original spring chapeau and wearing an edible cranberry necklace and lifesaver earrings, acted as commentator, while Mrs. J. P. Sheeley, Mrs. A. D. Wilson, Mrs. L. Fudge, Mrs. M. Ducommun, Mrs. C. Campbell, and Mrs. A. F. Crawford modelled "Dorothea's Creations." These unusual hats and matching accessories were clever combinations of baking utensils, scouring pads and cleansers, edible decorations and other household utility items. Suitable music was furnished by Mrs. Geo. Ryman who wore a clever treble clef and bell hat, with matching jingle bell earrings.

Application of H. Westerliken to subdivide his Prairie Valley property was granted at Tuesday's council meeting.

Committee for Hungarian Relief

A committee has been set up for the purpose of taking care of the needs of Hungarian refugees who may be sent to Summerland and money from the Central Welfare Committee voted for immediate purposes.

Following the annual meeting of the Central Welfare Committee on Thursday afternoon in the municipal hall, this organization was set up as a sub-committee to the Central with power to add to its numbers.

Mrs. R. G. Russel is chairman with Dr. M. F. Welsh, vice-chairman, and Mrs. W. Likei, who speaks Hungarian, a member.

Reeve F. E. Atkinson introduced the subject and Dr. Welsh spoke. He said that most of the communities in the Okanagan Valley have set up groups to take care of the refugee problem presented at a time when there is little work.

The two Hungarian families now in Summerland have been placed in the homes of Dr. and Mrs. D. V. Fisher and Dr. and Mrs. Welsh. Dr. Welsh said that the Trout Creek Association thought the situation should be approached by the community as a whole, although Trout Creek people had given assistance as much as possible. He appreciated help from the Catholic Women's League.

Mr. Childerstone, immigration officer from Penticton, said that he had placed 54 Hungarians to date ranging in ages from 17 to 64. They are not agricultural people, but from cities, where they had been in various trades, such as electricians, etc., and most of them seemed well trained. Some had been placed on farms where they were doing good work. He thought they were the type of people the Okanagan would do well to absorb, although the present need is more humanitarian than economic.

The language barrier is one of the greatest problems, the officer thought. This is easier taken care of when they are placed in homes where the people give them help.

In reply to a question regarding the British immigrants expected, his opinion was that they present no difficulty since they speak English and most of them have money.

The Hungarians who come are given $5. at Vancouver, and that is all the money they have, and most of them have only the clothes they are wearing.

Those who take them into their homes must be prepared to house and feed them and generally look after them until they can earn money. They are eager and willing to work at anything.

In the 17-22 age group, the threat of conscription into the Russian zone had caused their families to send them to Canada.

The new committee will help with clothing, housing, etc., until the families become economically independent.

It was thought that the people of Summerland would assist with furniture, cooking utensils, bedding, and other necessary things when the time arose.

Mr. Childerstone said he did not expect to send more than a few families or individuals here.

Mrs. A. Wolfe asked anyone willing to take the two Hungarian families here now, to Monday Night School and home again, to phone her at 4472.

At the Central Welfare meeting A. F. Calder was re-elected president, Rev. C. O. Richmond, vice-president, and Mrs. A. G. Bissett, secretary-treasurer. Executive members are Mrs. S. W. J. Feltham, Mrs. R. G. Russel and J. E. Jenkinson.

Miss Ruth Adams of the provincial department of social welfare thanked those who had given fuel, food and clothing.

line for return of these application forms to any of the above places is 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, February 26.

The Festival has been broken down into age classes this year but the judges and adjudicators have still been asked to take into consideration the length of time the pupil has been taking lessons.

This means that someone who shows promise may be awarded the scholarship if in the opinion of the adjudicator they show more talent for the length of time they have been training. In this way it is hoped to help anyone who shows real ability.

Marks will be given this year for stage presentation as well as musicianship by both the elimination judge and the adjudicator.

The Summerland Kiwanis Club urges all Summerland residents to assist this worthwhile effort by attending both eliminations February 27 and the final night's adjudications, Friday, March 8, 8:00 p.m. in the High School auditorium.

It's Guide Thinking Week

Mrs. B. T. Blagborne, who is the District Commissioner has written this story of Guiding in Summerland. Mrs. Blagborne is one of the "stalwarts" in the success of the movement.

The story of Summerland Guiding is one of weaving together personalities and talents to present Summerland girls with a well-rounded program, character training primarily through the medium of the great outdoors.

Guiding was started originally in the early 20's in Summerland by the late Mrs. Helen Pares assisted by Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony and others. Mrs. Pares' memory is perpetuated in a cup donated by her brother, C. E. Bentley. This cup is awarded each year to the most outstanding Summerland Guide.

The Guide movement became an important part of youth training nine years ago in Summerland when a small nucleus of interested people were called together by Mrs. F. V. Harrison who had been prominent in Guiding in the Cranbrook area for many years. Emerging from this meeting came our first Local Association or Mothers' Group under the presidency of Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, and ably supported by Mrs. K. Sanborn, Mrs. T. Lott, Mrs. C. Adams, Mrs. J. Marshall, Mrs. E. Wilson, Mrs. W. Hack, Mrs. F. Birtles, and Mrs. T. Washington. Mrs. F. V. Harrison was Division Commissioner. As an offshoot of this gathering, yet another meeting got under way this time of the potential Guides for the Brownie Pack and Guide Company and from this Mrs. K. McIntosh was appointed, at Guide Captain with Lieutenants, Mrs. B. Blagborne, Mrs. R. Huvs, Miss Elizabeth Theed, Miss G. Atkinson and Miss P. Hill, Mrs. L. Perry became the first Brown Owl.

At the first meeting of interested girls who would comprise the newly formed Company and Pack, 60 enthusiastic little people met. Many and varied were the projects for raising money to buy equipment, the Red Cross donated a large trunk to store our newly acquired treasures in, the Rebekahs gave a flag for ceremonial occasions and the Women's Institute, financial support.

Behind this now flourishing organization stood our hard working Local Association whose initial efforts laid the foundation of what Guiding in Summerland means today — a membership of 115 covering two Brownie Packs, a Guide Company and a Sea Ranger Crew. And what of our young people who have passed out of Guiding due to age and occupation? Many of our original Guides have grown to become Leaders of today's young girls. Frances Atkinson our only Gold Cord Guide is sought after for advice and assistance, Margaret Lott is an active Tawny Owl in the 1st Pack, Barbara Baker as Fiona in the 1st Cub Pack; and Myrtle Harbicht and Mildred Verrier were qualified Lieutenants in the Guide Company to mention only a few.

The first Guide Camp of this post-war era was held at Deep Creek, Peachland with Mrs. K. McIntosh and Mrs. D. Blagborne as Guides. Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh and Miss Gweneth Atkinson held another at the K.A.T. Ranch and there established the custom of Totem Pole painting which has been carried on throughout the years until now. Pertaining to the latter camp, rumour has it that these new aspiring campers slept armed to the teeth with a baseball bat and cudgels of varying kinds, — whether it was to discourage the local livestock, or the effervescent Guides was never known.

Girl Guide

The International angle of Guiding has had its share in the moulding of our girls. Representatives from Summerland's young people have attended Camps in Vancouver, Trail, Quesnel, Wenatchee, Great Britain and Jill Sanborn's memorable visit to the Canadian Camp at Ottawa cannot be overlooked. During the ravages of flood in East Anglia, England, the girls raised money to send to a Sea Ranger Crew and the funds were used in replacing a boat lost in this disaster. Guides felt both proud and privileged to present the Community's Visitors' Book to The Hon. Vincent Massey for his signature and to attend the Rally to meet Lady Baden Powell who spoke to each girl present, personally.

It cannot be stressed too highly just how much Guiding has depended upon the time and patience of so many people who were never in the Movement, people who have taken our girls into their homes and given our Brownies and Guides the benefit of their skills and understanding. To all these people, Guiding will ever be indebted to Mrs. F. V. Harrison upon whose advice we leaned so in those early days, Mrs. Vanderburgh and Mrs. Sanborn who gave of their time unselfishly to further the aims of Girl Guiding, to Mrs. W. H. Durick, whose planning and decorating for the Brownie Golden Revel has been adapted throughout the other Packs of the South Okanagan and to Mrs. K. McIntosh, Miss G. Atkinson, Miss M. Barrard and all the other Guides both inactive and active whose devotion to their charges never wavered.

Municipality Must Shoulder Full Cost Of Teachers' Salary Hike

Summerland School Board, District 77, and the Summerland Teachers' Association have concluded a salary agreement for 1957.

This gives an approximate nine percent increase on the total payroll amounting to the sum of $12,250.00.

This increase will not be shared by the department of education and falls entirely upon the taxpayers of Summerland. It is estimated the increase will cost the municipality 2.1 mills.

Although most school districts in the South Okanagan area had a two-year contract with the teachers for 1956-57, the North Okanagan had no such contract, and granted substantial increases to teachers. Because of the acute shortage of teachers the South Okanagan districts were forced to fall in line in order to obtain replacement teachers at the end of the present term.

The salary scale now in effect in Summerland is exactly the same as the Penticton salary scale.

There is a total teaching staff in Summerland of 36 including the two principals. Nineteen are in the High School, 15 in the MacDonald School and two in Trout Creek Elementary School.

The total teacher payroll for 1957 including two extra high school teachers commencing in September is estimated at $159,123.00. The cost per pupil for teacher instruction is approximately $167.00. Enrollment is expected to increase by at least 50 in September to bring school enrolment to 962, and the total number of pupils to over 1000.

F. E. Atkinson Is OKVMA Pres.

Reeve F. E. Atkinson was elected president of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association at the annual meeting held at Vernon on Thursday.

Reeve Atkinson takes over the position well conservant with its requirements. In September of last year he represented the OVMA at the conference of Mayors and Municipalities held at Hamilton, Ontario, where he heard problems of many areas discussed.

Mr. Atkinson succeeds Mayor N. E. Johnston of Enderby.

G. D. Smith, Summerland municipal clerk, was elected as the new secretary of the Association. Mr. Smith takes over from H. J. Watt of Enderby, retiring secretary.

The new vice-president is Ald. Art Jackson of Kelowna.

Executive members are Ald. C. H. Day, Kamloops, A. Potheary, Armstrong, and F. V. Harwood, Vernon.

RCMP To Enforce Two-hour Parking

Summerland council will ask RCMP to enforce the two-hour parking by-law on Granville and Hastings Streets immediately.

Summerland council heard a report that 18 cars had been counted parked six hours at a stretch on the main streets recently, and it is believed that this is a common occurrence. Consequently the two-hour parking will be enforced.

Parallel parking on these streets is under advisement by the council and a committee consisting of Councillors F. M. Stewart, W. E. Fowell and K. M. Blagborne, works superintendent, was appointed by Reeve F. E. Atkinson to bring back a report in the matter to the next council meeting.

Dr. D. R. McGregor of Sault Ste. Marie Appointed To Succeed Dr. Strachan

Dr. Douglas R. McGregor, of McGrigor St., Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, has been appointed to succeed Dr. C. C. Strachan who left last fall to become the superintendent of the Experimental Farm at Morden, Manitoba.

Dr. McGregor has been working at Forest Biology Station at Sault Ste. Marie.

He plans to come to Summerland with his wife and five children, April 1.

A 1950 graduate of UBC in food technology, he obtained his masters' and doctorate at Oregon State College, Corvallis, Oregon, where he majored in bacteriology and minored in bio-chemistry. He had a research fellowship at the same college and was a teaching and research instructor for three years at Corvallis.

Dr. McGregor is a nephew of Mrs. Ted Wright of Trout Creek.

Mrs. B. T. Blagborne, Division Commissioner, is appreciative as she presents Ruth Lapins with the Helen Pares Memorial Cup at the Mother and Daughter banquet held Friday evening in the Youth Centre. The Cup, given by C. E. Bentley, in memory of his sister, is awarded annually to the Guide or group of Guides considered to have contributed the most to Summerland Guiding during the year.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Only consolation newspaper folk have about making a mistake in the paper is that everyone tells them about it, proving that the paper is read. Last week in the outlines of a curling pix we identified Mr. Eden as Mr. Croft, as we were told time and time again. ... sorry.

I've had my share of bloopers. On assignment one time I hooked up with a character from the opposition paper and to get the business out of the way we each wrote a story from the press release left them at the telegraph office with strict orders not to file until almost midnight and then went our merry way. Next day we learned to our utter dismay that the V.I.P. of the occasion had been unable to attend, but by then his speech was appearing on the front page of two daily newspapers.

In this business it doesn't pay to take anything for granted. Covering a women's golf tournament back in the old country should have taught me that fact of newspaper life. A dark horse did right well and made the final, but she wasn't even given a long shot chance of beating the defending champion. This reporter got side-tracked and so about the time I figured the match would be over, I phoned the club house and asked the result.

"Four up and three to go for Miss ..."

Thanks, I cut in, being in a hurry to file and so I sat down and wrote a short, snappy story about the champion retaining the title, defeating the dark horse challenger four up and three to go.

It was a good little story. — nary a thing wrong with it, except that it was the dark horse who defeated the champion.

There was a reporter looking for a job the next day.

Gremlins cause a lot of trouble in newspaper plants. One little gremlin had himself a time playing around with a story I had written. It was a follow up story to a disastrous hotel fire. It told of a commercial traveller who usually spent Friday night at this particular hotel sharing his room with another commercial traveller but he missed the train by seconds, and so escaped being burnt to death. That was the way I wrote the story, but the gremlin playing around with the matrices on the linotype dropped a series of "S" matrices in all the right, or rather the wrong places. Result, the story read that Mr. So and So was in the habit of spending most Friday nights at the hotel, sharing a room with Mrs. Such a Such. As Mr. So and So was a respectable married man, a pillar of the church and highly respected in the community the mistake was a ghastly one. Fortunately it was noticed just after the mail run was dispatched. Cars headed north, south, east and west and every paper was retrieved and so the publisher escaped what could

Suggestions From Town Planning Body

Report of the Town Planning Commission to Tuesday's council meeting offered three suggestions as follows: 1 — That the proposed new Health Centre be located preferably at the north-west corner of the Stuart property behind the municipal hall.

2 — That the council consider the advisability of making an effort to obtain the remainder of the property east of the Memorial Park Playground as far as the Arena.

3 — That the council meet with the Town Planning Commission to consider a master road plan.

Regarding the first suggestion, the council has considered the site suggested. W. A. Stewart, owner of the property was reported to have made an appointment to be at the council meeting at two o'clock, but did not attend.

SILENT POLICEMAN AT LAIDLAW'S CORNER?

A silent policeman with flasher light may be erected at the corner of Granville and Hastings Streets, known as Laidlaw's corner.

This idea, advanced by K. M. Blagborne, superintendent of works, was discussed at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting. Mr. Blagborne said that a number of people with whom he had talked had considered this a solution to the traffic hazard at this corner.

The Okanagan Valley Musical Festival is to be held at Kelowna this year, April 29 — May 4.

Mrs. H. W. Arbuckle, 1908 Abbott Street, Kelowna, phone 6004, has announced the deadlines for entries as March 1.

KVR ROAD DRAINAGE PROPOSAL TURNED DOWN

Residents of the KVR Road have notified the superintendent of works, K. M. Blagborne, that they do not wish to co-operate with the council in the drainage proposal which had been suggested.

The Parks' Board estimate for $5,100.00 for 1957 was accepted at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting.

J. P. Sheeley, President Okanagan Assessors

The quarterly meeting of the Okanagan chapter, B.C. Association of Assessors was held in Vernon on February 21, with ten assessors from Kamloops to Penticton present. Election of officers was held and the following elected: president J. P. Sheeley, Summerland; vice-president J. E. Wood, Salmon Arm; sec.-treas. B. Corriock, Penticton.

The purpose of these meetings is to discuss assessing problem and to further equalization between the municipalities.

At this meeting it was decided to set up a library of technical books, dealing with assessments and appraisal problems which is to be available to all assessors. Conducted by the Assessment Commissioner's office, will be held in Victoria during the Easter Holidays, with the provincial government paying part of each assessor's expenses.

After listening for several days to the acrimonious debate on the Algerian situation I was very much surprised that eventually a compromise was reached whereby the French were requested to bring about through an open vote a condition of peace into their troubled area. I know that definition sounds confused but it is not more confusing than the debate that took place on this subject started by the Chief French delegate to the UN who outlined the French point of view regarding Algeria.

He claimed that Algeria had benefitted materially under French rule and that this material benefit had been progressive for the last 126 years. Immediately he finished, we had another four hour speech by Dr. Farid Zeineddine of Syria, who outlined the case against France on behalf of not only Algeria but all of the Arab states. He claimed that the best land in the country had been taken over by French settlers leaving only the marginal and poorer land for the natives of the country. He also claimed that over 400,000 acres of their best land had been taken over for the production of grapes to manufacture wine for the French people.

The French ambassador pointed out that it was this export of wine that brought stability to the economy of Algeria and that it was a greater benefit to the country to produce exports than to over-produce for home consumption.

There are approximately 9 to 10 million natives living in Algeria and about 1 1/2 million French people. This minority, however, apparently controls the government and the economy of the country. Serious charges were made against the French administration. For instance, it was claimed that metropolitan France have one doctor to every one thousand habitants, but in Algeria, particularly the rural area, they have one doctor to every 6 thousand residents. And of course they claim this also applies to the hospital beds available for the natives. The Arabs claim that true views of the Algerian people cannot be placed before the UN by the French representative and in the absence of an Algerian spokesman they had undertaken to place before us the complaints of the Algerians.

Naturally, they brought up such subjects as housing, roads and certain other facilities. They also claimed that what has been designated by the French as rebels are actually true patriotic Algerians who are determined to have self-government and who do not believe in the colonization policy of France. Naturally, such a division of opinion created quite a tense situation. The members of the Commonwealth; England, Australia, New Zealand, Canada and others, felt that the promise made by France, that immediately hostilities ceased they would have a free and open election, satisfied them. It was on this understanding that a compromise resolution was reached whereby the opportunity will be given the french government to carry-out this promise.

France being one of the charter members of the UN had to agree with the principles established in the charter, relating to Colonies and their right for free election, could do nothing but agree with the compromise amendment being offered.

So after several days of hectic argument the resolution was carried unanimously, much to the relief of all the delegates who had taken part in the discussion. During the debate many referred to the same situation that exists between India and Kashmir, also England and Cyprus. These two subjects are to be brought up in discussion this week. Actually, the status of Kashmir has already been partially discussed and the debate will continue during the rest of the week.

Pakistan in this case claim aggression by India. India, on the other hand, claims that Kashmir is geographically an integral part of India. Its economy is closely tied up in the same channels. Pakistan claims that Kashmir is its territory because a vast majority of the population are Moslems. Pakistan being a Moslem state claims that the religion of the people should be paramount and not geographical. However, the Indians have already occupied a part of Kashmir and apparently intend to stay. They have also served notice on the UN that they do not intend to abide by any decision unless it coincides with what they have already done.

In other words, this is general impression one gets after attending several similar meetings that the UN is frustrated and powerless unless its edicts are acceptable to the Nations affected by such edicts.

Education Week . . .

Education week will be observed next week and, although as a general rule, we dislike many of the special weeks set aside for this and that, we can make an exception in the case of Education Week.

Education, as the slogan goes, is everybody's business and it goes without saying that it should be everybody's business not just for one week out of the year, but for 52 weeks.

However, it would hardly be conducive to good conduct and discipline within our halls of learning if parents and other interested adults were invited to poke their noses into classrooms any day and every day in the school year.

So, we have education week when parents and others can take a close look at our educational machinery in operation.

That education should be everybody's business, at least those bodies who pay taxes, is borne out by the purely co-incidental story on this week's front page of the Review which reports that our teachers have won another salary increase and one which must be paid for entirely out of municipal revenue.

As always when discussing education, the question arises, are we getting value for our education dollars? The Review thinks not, as it is our opinion that education is carried too far and that only a comparatively small percentage of our youngsters are mentally equipped to benefit from the complex curricula of the day.

The education system of today is producing some fine young men and women indeed, but at the same time it is producing, young men and women who, unable to digest the rich and varied educational fare served in our high schools, emerge unequipped to meet the challenge of a competitive world.

Pioneer Days

40 YEARS AGO — MARCH 2, 1917

Members of the 1917 board of directors of the Summerland Fruit Union elected at a general meeting yesterday are F. W. Rolt, representing the Naramat section, E. R. Simpson, Matt Wilson, S. M. Young, G. Thornber, W. H. Hayes and J. A. Kirk.

The Vancouver Board of Trade has lately been urging upon the officials of the B.C. Telephone Co., the necessity of linking up the telephone systems of the coast with those of the Interior. The telephone company is understood to have given a very sympathetic hearing to the request.

Mr. F. M. Buckland, Highland Farm, Shingle Creek, is returning to Kelowna to reside. It is stated that he has leased the Highland Farm to Mr. Brent.

Miss Dancer has returned from a stay of some weeks in the south.

Miss Flora Phillips, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Phillips on Tuesday became the bride of Mr. Albert Moore of Penticon. Guests from here were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ritchie and two daughters.

10 YEARS AGO — FEBRUARY 27, 1947

W. and C. Snow and H. Clark attended Monday afternoon's council session to ask permission to erect a fish ladder at Deer Lake. Permission was granted.

At a well-attended meeting in the Legion Hall called for the purpose of forming a Summerland (Film Council) the following officers were elected: President, C. E. Bentley; vice-president, B. H. Robson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Joe McLachlan; executive, Dr. R. C. Palmer, Roy Smith, Walter Bleasdale. Several donations have been received and a number of organizations have joined. The school projector will be used.

Fred Schumann was elected president of the Board of Trade at the annual meeting Thursday night. Result of balloting for directors was as follows: F. Steuart, George Henry, Joe McLachlan, J. R. "Tim" Armstrong, E. R. Butler, Art Advocate, C. V. Nesbitt, Gordon Beggs.

Alex Munn and Dr. L. A. Day attended Monday's council meeting to ask permission to rent some land on upper Trout Creek for skeet shooting. The council was not averse to the proposal.

The problem of Israel and Egypt was not resolved when I left the UN and will be brought before the Assembly in a few days. In the meantime, leading delegates from all nations are working hard to arrive at some form of compromise whereby peace can be restored in the Middle East. Israel apparently is quite willing to withdraw from the Gaza strip providing adequate guarantees are given to her that her seaborne trade will have the same freedom of movement as all other nations both in the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aquaba. This to me seems a very reasonable request but so far Egypt has not indicated any intention of granting this freedom of movement. The United States made a tentative proposal that she would undertake to guarantee freedom as far as the Gulf of Aquaba was concerned by the proposal was in such vague terms that Israel was not willing to accept it.

Mr. Pearson has indicated that Canada does not favour sanction to force the Israelis to accept the UN withdrawal proposition but would prefer to continue negotiations for some agreement between Egypt and Israel of the voluntary withdrawal of their troops from the troubled area.

Thinking Week

Today it seems we pay allegiance to the idea that all children should have the benefit of an equal education, at least up to and through high school. That to our mind is muddy thinking. Equal opportunity, by all means, but if, when given the opportunity, the student is found incapable of absorbing the knowledge fed to him, then why continue? Why overload the brain beyond capacity any more than we would overload a boat, already shipping water.

Education might be just as costly in total outlay, perhaps costlier, if a system of technical training was introduced which would divert students into fields of learning in which they are mentally equipped to graze, but although such a system might be costlier it would, we believe, pay far richer dividends on the education dollar, insofar as the finished product is concerned and that is what counts.

We read only recently that a scientist challenged impossibility by creating a silk purse out of a number of sow ears.

A remarkable feat, but we are inclined to think that the scientist's self-imposed task was comparatively simple in comparison with the task imposed upon our teachers, the task of fitting square pegs in round holes, a task, which in so many cases, is the equivalent of trying to compress a full measure of learning into a vessel with only half the capacity for holding it.

And so next week is education week — and if nothing else — it serves to make people think about education — witness the foregoing editorial, which although you may not agree with it, will we hope, set you thinking.

Mid-Week Message

Thought for Today: The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever.

Rev 11:15

Our four-year-old son, Monty, was playing with his toys the other evening. While engrossed in play he would sing first one and then the other of his two favorite songs; "Jesus Loves Me" which he had learned at home and Sunday school, and "Davy Crockett" which seems to be popular with people of all ages.

He evidently became absorbed in his play and, without realizing it, mixed the lines of both songs. As a result he sang, "Jesus, Jesus loves me! King of the wild frontier."

As we listened we were amused. Then the thought came to me what he had sung in his unassuming childish way was true! Jesus loves us, all the people of the world. And he was King of the wild frontier. In Canada, as the frontier moved west, horseback riding evangelists and missionaries and circuit-riding preachers were in the forefront. Churches were established in villages and at crossroads.

Christ should be allowed to rule on every type of frontier. Christianity is a forward movement. It breaks up old ways and constantly moves into new areas of truth.

"And of his kingdom there will be no end."

Prayer: Our Father, we look to Thee for strength and courage. Lift us up into new areas of faith. Help us to teach children to allow Thee to rule in their hearts. We pray in faith and hope and love, in Jesus' name. Amen.

Horticulturists Invited To Attend Victoria Garden Festival In May

An enticing invitation to attend the Spring Garden Festival, May 2, 3, 4, was received from the Victoria Horticultural Society and read at the regular meeting of Summerland Horticultural Society on Friday evening. Some 30 Victoria gardens will be visited, and Miss Doreen Tait, secretary of the local society, volunteered to give further information if anyone would like to have it. It is hoped to have a set of colored slides of some of the gardens for the March or April meeting.

Nat May in his Timely Topics said that this is the time for gardeners to sit by the fire studying seed catalogues. Mr. May told of some of the new plants on the market, and of hardy varieties of 'mums.

Don McLachlan and J. S. Mott judging the parlor show gave Mrs. Alex Inch first for her decorative arrangement of fruits and vegetables; Mrs. E. C. Bingham, second. For the centrepiece of natural evergreens, Mrs. Bingham took first; Miss Doreen Tait, second.

A. Hornby, formerly at the Experimental Farm, spoke on Landscaping. He cautioned that small trees grow large and that this should be thought of in the original planting. Low growing junipers were recommended, and a suggestion was to frame a view, not hide it. Especially where there are children, Mr. Hornby said, "Don't chop up a lawn with flower beds." Keeping an open plan was advocated.

J. McLachlan will speak at the March meeting, and a film on bulbs is anticipated. An enlarged Parlor Show will exhibit spring flowers. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bingham and Mrs. Inch.

Newcomers and anyone interested in gardening is invited to join the Horticultural Society.

PETER GUERNSEY ON ALL-STAR TEAM

Scotty Bergstrom has had an interesting bit of news in a letter he received from Peter Guernsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. M. Guernsey, former residents, now in Victoria. Peter has been playing in the Pee Wee Division in the capital city.

Out of 175 boys he was one of 15 picked for an all-star team to play in the Pacific Coast finals.

Orchard Notes

BY ALEC WATT
(District Horticulturist)

PRUNING

The pruning season is now well advanced. Most growers are finishing up mature apples and pears. Next will come soft fruits and last of all young trees. As this is the usual order in which the pruning is done it seems appropriate to mention mature trees before going on to young trees.

The pruning operation is being given a long hard look by many growers this year. Reducing the time taken to prune a tree is one aim. Another is to use pruning as intelligently as possible to cut the cost of spraying, thinning and picking.

SPEEDING UP PRUNING

The hand snips so much used in the past are rarely used nowadays excepting for peaches and even then are not used as much. Practically all the pruning of mature apples and pears can be done with a pair of limblopers (Shears with wo-foot handles) and a saw. Speaking of saws, a most useful addition to the pruner's kit is a pole-saw. This is a curved pruning saw fitted on the end of an eight foot wood or aluminum pole. It saves time and conserves the pruner's strength.

SPEEDING UP THINNING AND PICKING

Trees cannot be sprayed satisfactorily if low limbs have to be lifted each time the sprayer passes, nor can they be thinned and picked speedily if ladders spaces are narrow and crowded with crossing limbs. Tall trees are a curse to pick excepting for the owner who uses a power platform. A few apples on the end of 20 foot limbs are a temptation to the grower but at $1.10 an hour they are simply not worth placing and climbing a 24 foot ladder.

Even more important than ease of handling is the maintenance of good yields of best quality fruit.

MAINTAINING QUALITY AND YIELD

To maintain the productivity of the tree one must keep a supply of new wood coming. Everyone who has picked fruit on older trees knows that the best apples come from the younger bearing wood on the top and outside of the tree. The old drooping spurs hanging from the inside of the tree usually carry small poorly coloured fruit. Very briefly then, a renewal system is needed for mature trees in which a good percentage of new wood is left in to fruit and a portion of weak pendant wood is removed each season.

In many of our older apple trees the larger scaffold limbs bear no fruit excepting on the end of the limb and are barren poles from the trunk to the last couple of feet on the end. This is a result of too many main limbs. Shoots arising from these large limbs crowded the space between. The tendency has been for pruners to trim the small side branches from these limbs to make room for working in the tree. Actually this is no solution to the problem as it leads to a non-bearing limb. What is needed in this case is the removal of the entire large limb. The small shoot growth on the two adjacent large limbs can then be left on to spur up. Light and air will penetrate through the large gap and ladder space will be provided automatically.

One objection to this is the rather large cut entailed in removing a large limb. There is the hazard of imperfect healing and dry-rot setting in. Cutting flush and leaving small root growth to grow near the cut can help the healing process.

In order to minimize the shock-effect to the tree the opening-up process should be carried on over several years, limiting the number of large cuts per tree to one or at the most two per season.

Finally, the prevention of the crowded limb situation just described is better than the cure. This is the reason for the general agreement among pruners that young trees should be started with a maximum of three main limbs.

Convention Last Week Jehovah's Witnesses

Summerland was well represented at the three day convention of Jehovah's witnesses held in Pentaton last weekend. Jack Prior, presiding minister here, announced that 702 attended the widely advertised discourse "What will Armageddon Mean for You?" by speaker, A. F. Danley, district supervisor for Western Canada. Bob Langstroth of Summerland was in charge of the decorating of the platform, with a beautiful backdrop. Potted flowers flanked the speakers' stand.

Legion L.A. Given A Memorial Flag

The daughters of the late Mrs. John Ritchie, a former life member of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, have presented the LA with a new flag in memory of their mother.

The society is arranging to have the flag dedicated on Sunday, March 24, in St. Stephen's Anglican Church.

These plans were made at the regular meeting on Thursday evening.

A membership drive is planned to run in conjunction with the Legion's effort to bring back those whose membership has lapsed and to obtain new members.

Following the meeting tea was served by Mrs. J. A. Reid and Mrs. Harry Howard.

R. M. WARD GETS JANITOR APPOINTMENT

R. M. Ward was appointed as the new janitor for the municipal hall at last week's afternoon council meeting. Salary is $40. per month for all of the building including the quarters of the RCMP and Magistrate.

Six applications were received.

Canadian Legion Membership Drive

The Legion meeting on Wednesday last was the first meeting under the chairmanship of the new President, W. C. McCutcheon.

As sponsors, the branch agreed to donate $100.00 per year for the rent of Youth Centre for the use of the Scouts and Cubs meetings. A donation was approved to the Salvation Army appeal.

The branch would organise a big membership drive during the next four weeks, with target set at least for 80 new and lapsed members. A full meeting of the executive discussed this at a meeting on February 18.

Help in pension matters, welfare, community affairs etc. is carried out by those who are members of the Legion. Figures of veterans assisted in pension matters, welfare etc. prove that approximately 75% of these veterans are non members or lapsed members of the Legion when assistance is sought by them in rush matters. Legion members are fighting the battle of all veterans but without the support of approximately 75% of them. The excuse of non-members that they cannot attend meetings and therefore there is no need for their membership carries no weight if it was thought. Their support in numbers for representation in branches, Zones and Commands is essential if the Legion is to speak on behalf of all veterans. Although the Legion welcomes all members at the Club and meetings, those who cannot attend are urgently needed.

Thanks were read from Mrs. Dorothy Britton on behalf of the Guides for donation made.

Dr. F. W. Andrew's letter of thanks for having been re-elected to the honorary presidency was read.

The purchase of new flag for Ceremonial occasions was approved.

Appointments made were to Sick Committee, H. C. Howis; Scouts, A. Watt; Civil Defence; Ivan E. Phillips; House and Grounds, Harold Smith.

ODDS and ENDS

BY
M. VANDERBURGH

We all know that it's a good thing we don't all like the same things but along eating lines, Canadians from coast to coast have pretty much the same diet. Maybe a little more fish in the Maritimes, near the Great Lakes, and on the Pacific coast; perhaps more fruit in the Okanagan Valley — slight regional variances. Holiday dinners are about the same — in every province. Birthday cakes have pink icing, wedding cakes are tiered. We know what to expect, and like it.

Now, I have just been lent a most intriguing Cook Book by Mrs. Mel Cousins. It belongs to Mrs. Glenn Fell who taught school in Juneau.

It was prepared by the students of Shismaref Day School, Shismaref, Alaska. It is an Eskimo Cook Book. The teacher, Isabelle B. Bingham, had been talking with the children about the foods needed for good health. They listed the native foods available in that locality. She asked how the moher prepared and cooked them — how they kept the food gathered in summer for winter use.

The names were fascinating, and it was suggested that a cook book be made so that others would know how to prepare this food.

One little boy spluttered, "Eskimo don't have cook books". The teacher told him that long ago white man didn't have cook book; how they were started; the old cook books written by hand were prized.

Each one was asked to bring in a recipe or little story of how the mother cooked the meat, fish or other food. The response was slow at first but as recipes were read, others tried too.

It became a contest and they were offered points in school for bringing in a recipe.

Then the little book was started. It became so successful that the Alaska Crippled Children's Association has produced many thousands of copies, and requests come in daily for it. The project has given the children many interesting contacts.

In a preface 23 children give their consent to have the book printed and agree to share the profits with the Alaska Crippled Children's Association. Laura Sockpick is the secretary of the Student Council. Surnames of the children are very different to ours. There is Nellie Oikpowruk the president and Bert Kuzuguk, the vice-president. Daisy Koonuk is the treasurer. One little girl is Anna Olanna and one boy Junior John Okie.

Here are some of the recipes. No, they are not the things that we prefer!

Seals Bare Feet (Seals Flippers)
—Put the seals bare feet into a cooking pan. Cover them with blubber and keep in a hot place until the fur comes off. Then it is time to eat the seals bare feet. You can cook them or eat them without cooking.

Loon — Take off feathers and clean the loon. Wash and put into cooking pot with plenty of water. Add salt to taste. Do not make the loon soup says Bert Tocktoo's recipe.

Clam Soup is one we might enjoy — Put the clams in a pot of hot water. Take the clam shells out when they are open. Take the meat and wash it. Put the clams meat in a pot. Add water and salt. Bring to a boil; then add flour and water that has been mixed. Always stir. There is caribou, ptarmigan and duck soup and many others.

There is a recipe for Sourdough Hot Cakes with the reminder that some of the sourdough batter is always kept for a starter for the next time. Then you don't need yeast. This, of course, isn't confined to Eskimo cooking.

Shortening — Eskimo make shortening from blubber: Melt the blubber in a pan to get the oil. This is good shortening for doughnuts, (it says!).

In several places things that old people like to eat are mentioned.

Agnes Kiyutelluk writes honestly of Soured Seal Liver — Soured seal liver is made in the summer time. Place liver in enamel pot or dish and cover with blubber. Put in a warm place for a few days until sour. Most of the boys and girls don't like it, except the grown-ups and old people. I don't like it either. I'm sure I would agree with Agnes.

Cranberries, blueberries, salmon berries, Tomcod liver with berries have many uses.

The recipe for Eskimo Ice Cream is — Grate reindeer tallow into small pieces. Add seal oil slowly while beating with hand. After some seal oil has been used, then add a little water while whipping. Continue adding seal oil and water until white and fluffy. Any berries can be added to it.

Sea gull eggs are cooked by putting them in boiling water, until done, then drained, and cooled in cold water.

There are uses for Pussy Willow Greens and other plants. We wouldn't like many of the things, I imagine, but no doubt, an Eskimo suddenly dropped here, might find our food distasteful and long for meals made from birds, animals and plants indigenous to his country.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER, TO BE HELD MARCH 8

The Women's World Day of Prayer is to be held this year on March 8 in the Pentecostal Church. The Summerland executive met on Monday at the home of Mrs. W. A. Henderson to arrange the program for the service.

Fourteen representatives of five Protestant churches were present.

High School Play "Dear Ruth", Fri.

On Friday, March 1, the High School Drama Club presents the well-known play, "Dear Ruth." This, as you may recall, is the story of a love-sick teenager, portrayed by Carol Reinertson, who writes love letters to a Lieutenant in the Airforce, played by Wen Bissett. In writing these letters, our love-sick teenager signs her older sister's name, and to top it off sends her sister Ruth's picture. Coming home to see the girl he has fallen in love with, the Lieutenant finds himself in one big, and unexplained mix-up. Patricia Boyd plays the part of Ruth.

This play, directed by two capable members of the Teaching staff, Desmond Loan and Mrs. F. Barnard, is one of the funniest, exciting, and most promising plays that has ever been produced by a High School Club.

For the last two weeks the stage crew under the direction of Ray Dunsdon the Properties' Director, Joyce Harbicht and the cast itself, have been running themselves ragged to make the play a success.

Produced in Oliver on Friday to a student audience, it was received enthusiastically, as it was at the dress rehearsal Thursday night. A finished production is expected Friday.

We must find our duties in what comes to us, not in what we imagine might have been.

Macs In Coy Cup Hockey Here Sunday

Anything Can Happen Tonight In Okanagan League Playoffs

At this stage of the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League playoffs all that can be written is an "if" story.

If Vernon wins tonight, if Kamloops wins tonight and so on. It is far from being over. The Penticton Vees, hopped up as they undoubtedly will be by home crowd support, could take the Vernon Canadians to force a seventh and deciding game.

Vees have had some tough breaks in this series and had luck ridden with them they, and not the Canadians, would have entered the sixth game tonight two points ahead.

It hardly seems likely that the Vees can take Vernon two in a row, even though they did at the beginning of the series. It is in the cards that the Vees can win tonight and if they do — well who knows!

The writing is also far from being on the wall in the Kamloops-Kelowna series. The Packers are back to strength and it is possible for them to prolong and even win the series against the Chiefs.

If, as I said before this is an "if" story, if that happens, if Packers take the Chiefs and if the Vees take Vernon then the 1957 OSAHL playoffs will go down in history as the big upset playoffs.

Down in the Kootenays the battle lines are clearer drawn. Trail Smokeaters did a workmanlike job of disposing of the Nelson Maple Leafs four games to one and it looks as if the Spokane Flyers will dispose of Rossland Warriors the same way, winding up that series tonight.

Then it will be Trail and Spokane for the finals with the winner meeting the Okanagan league champions.

The B.C. finals, Vernon Canadians vs. Trail Smokeaters?

Summerland Macs, contenders for the Coy Cup, dropped the first game of the zone playoffs against the Kamloops Balcos by a score of 5-2.

The game was played at Kamloops last weekend with the return game scheduled for tonight (Wednesday). This was based on the assumption that it was to be a best of five series, but now it could possibly be a best of three so, the second game of the Coy Cup playoffs, Summerland Macs vs. Kamloops Balcos, will be played at the Summerland Jubilee Arena on Sunday afternoon, game time 2:30 p.m.

Manager George Stoll reports that the win by Kamloops last Sunday is nothing to worry about. The Macs held them to a 2-2 tie until the third period and despite the score in the third period played them even.

Hooker and Hergesheimer scored the Macs' goals.

The playoff schedule is now awaiting clarification. Reports are that Nanaimo is dissatisfied with the BOAHA arrangements and may drop out of the playoffs.

If this happens, then the winner of the Summerland, Kamloops series would advance into the finals against the Kootenay intermediate hockey champs.

So, it's Coy Cup hockey in Summerland on Sunday. Summerland vs. Kamloops Balcos.

Minor Hockey

By David Kampe

On Saturday morning the Canadians played the Black Hawks and beat the Black Hawks 6-4. Oxley scored first for the Canadians and then Gillard scored four goals also for the Canadians and one from Ezeard made the Canadians six goals. Dunsdon scored three times and R. Brown once for the Black Hawks which accounts for their four goals. Stoll and Brown received penalties in this game.

Warren Parker the sensational defenceman for the Bruins scored the five only goals of the Bruins Saturday morning. L. Parker, Bonthour, Lackey, and Irving scored the Maple Leafs goals. Once the dynamic defenceman, Parker of the Bruins got going nothing could stop him from scoring at every breakaway. Lackey and L. Parker were the only ones sent to the "sin bin". Final score 5-4 for the Bruins.

On Thursday one of the roughest yet best games of the season was played when the Maple Leafs and Canadians played and tied the game 5-5. Doug Holmes scored first and Rennie next for the Canadians making it 2-0 for the Canadians. Irving then scored for the Maple Leafs. Gillard and Rennie each scored for the Canadians making the score 4-1 in favor of the Canadians. The Maple Leafs who had started the game with some of their dirty tactics soon found themselves in the penalty box. About this time Smith started pushing Rennie around. Rennie didn't stand there and take it. He got rid of his gloves and gave Smith a few uppercuts which soon calmed him down. McCutcheon who was rather peeved and suffering from a three-goal deficit banged in two goals in succession. Rennie came back to score for the Canadians and banged a goal in between the goalie's legs making the score 5-3 in favour of the Canadians. Bonthour came back and scored for the Maple Leafs. A hot headed argument between Laidlaw and Holmes resulted with but three minutes to play. One hundred and eighty pound Laidlaw charged into Holmes which resulted in a fight. Both were sent off the ice. With the score 5-4 in favor of the Lanadians and one minute left to play McCutcheon came down the ice, aimed the puck and flipped it in the corner of the net. The goalie was stupefied. Ten minor penalties were given out in this game.

Protect your engine with Heavy Duty RPM Motor Oil

Heavy Duty RPM Motor Oil protects gasoline engines against three basic causes of damage: carbon deposits, rust, and wear. A detergent washes away deposits — keeps them from adhering to engine surfaces. Other compounds prevent rust formation, crankcase foaming.

A tough film of oil stays on vital parts, whether engine is hot or cold, running or idle. So for longer engine life, drain and refill regularly with Heavy Duty RPM Motor Oil.

Record Crowd At Guide Banquet

Lighting over 200 individual birthday cake candles in an impressive ceremony, and then seeing these tiny flames throughout the hall made a memorable occasion of the Guide Mother and Daughter banquet on Friday evening which commemorated the 100th birthday of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Scout and Guide Movement.

Candle lighting arranged by Guide Lieutenant Mrs. A. G. Bissett and Range Skipper, Mrs. Murray Elliott, and Mrs. Elliott's delightful solo, "Follow The Gleam," preceded ed the banquet. Guides and Brownies assisted in the ritual.

Places were laid for 260, the largest Mother and Daughter banquet ever to have been held here, and was indicative of the growth which has taken place in the past nine years since Guiding was taken up a second time in Summerland.

Mrs. C. E. Piers, president of the local association, as the competent chairman, welcomed the guests to the big party, saying that the part of the Mothers in the Guide family, was in the work of the Local Association. Mrs. Piers paid tribute to the Guiders mentioning that a great deal of preparation is necessary for each Guide and Brownie meeting.

Climax of the banquet was reached in the presentation of two Gold Cords, one to Nan Solly, the other to Diane Durick. In asking Ranger Skipper, Mrs. Elliott, to make the presentation, Mrs. B. T. Blagborne, District Commissioner, said that the Gold Cord represented five years of work and was not won without a great deal of effort. Another highlight was the presentation of the Helen Pares Memorial Cup to Ruth Lapins. This award is given annually to the Guide or group of Guides considered to have contributed the most to Guiding in Summerland during the year.

The Pares' Cup is given by C. E. Bentley in memory of his sister, Mrs. Pares, who established the first Guide Company in Summerland. Since Mr. Bentley, a patient in Shaughnessy Military Hospital, was not able to be present, Mrs. Blagborne made the presentation. A card signed by those present is to be sent to him.

Brownie Penny Piers gave the toast to the Mothers with Mrs. R. S. McLachlan replying, saying, "I am proud and happy to be the Mother of a Brownie, I appreciate the motto, 'Lend a Hand'. You are learning things under expert leadership which will be valuable to you all your lives."

Guide Diane Haggman in giving the toast to Guiding mentioned that on Thinking Day Canadian Guides think of their sister Guides throughout the world. In her reply Captain Dorothy Britton said that each Guide has an individual responsibility in the great Guide movement. Relating it to the birthday theme, Miss Britton said each one must keep the light of Guiding burning.

Ranger Nan Solly appreciated the facilities, educational, cultural and economic in Summerland in her toast to the community. Reeve F. E. Atkinson, who replied, said he believed the community's greatest asset was its young people, and the community's first duty was to them. He thought that Summerland was second to none in the Okanagan in the opportunities for its young people, and that Guiding was one of the finest ways to build strong character.

Rev. A. A. Northrup, the guest speaker, referred to Thinking Week, saying, "It's how hard you try that counts, not how well you do." Mr. Northrup traced a bit of the history of the life of Lord Baden-Powell, who, he said saw his idea grow from small beginnings to a World Jamboree. He said that Guides should be proud of their uniform, remembering its significance, and that "great people, including Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II have worn the uniform."

He spoke of the importance of the Mother and Daughter relationship.

Guests included Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Northrup, Reeve and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, representatives from groups who have assisted Guides, Kiwanis Club president, D. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. J. L. Brown, Rebekah Lodge, Mrs. H. A. McCargar, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, Mrs. H. V. Harrison, former Division Commissioner who reorganized the movement here nine years ago, Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, a guider of the earlier company, past district commissioner, Mrs. G. L. McIntosh, Guides present included Mrs. B. T. Blagborne, District Commissioner, Ranger, Skipper, Mrs. Murray Elliott, Guide Captain, Miss Dorothy Britton, Guide Lts. Mrs. A. G. Bissett, Miss Enid Maynard, Brown Owl, 1st Pack, Mrs. M. Hyde, Tawny Owls, 1st Pack, Mrs. D. McInnis, Miss Margaret Lott, Brown Owl 2nd Pack, Mrs. Fred Bevis, Tawny Owls, 2nd Pack, Mrs. G. B. Anderson Mrs. R. S. Oxley, Packees to 1st Pack, Nan Solly, Marjorie Campbell, Packees, 2nd Pack, Diane Durick, Ruth Lapins; Paakee's helpers, Jane Solly, Sheila Green.

Tables were beautifully decorated with blue candles, birthday cakes, trefalls, flags and spring blossoms. Lovely table arrangements were made by Mrs. W. H. Durick. Mrs. Colin Campbell was convener of the banquet.

A special thanks was given by Mrs. Piers, the chairman, to the ladies of the Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion who annually help serve the banquet and wash the mountains of dishes, so that Mothers and Daughters may sit together at the tables. Guiders Miss Betty Forrie and Miss Bev Fleming were unable to attend.

Fire Saturday At Fred Thompson's

Fire on Saturday evening about 8 p.m. almost completely destroyed the home of Fred Thompson at West Summerland. Believed to have started in the chimney the blaze went up through the partitions to the roof. There was a high wind at the time.

Mr. Thompson carried some insurance.

Ken Brawner, Veep; UBC Student Council

A recent edition of Ubyssay publishes the news, of interest here that Ken Brawner, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Brawner, a law student at UBC, has been elected as vice-president of the student council. The student council is made up of 12 members, and four ran for the veep position in a close contest with Ken winning out.

Prior to this he was president of the Fort Camp student body.

Surveys Needed For Trout Creek Drains

Trout Creek drainage improvements have been held up because the corporation lawyer thinks that the municipality should have right of way for the existing drains on private property.

This was discussed at Tuesday's council meeting.

K. M. Blagborne, superintendent of works and a surveyor, were empowered to go ahead with getting surveys, but the surveyor, R. A. Barton, has been on a holiday.

As soon as Mr. Barton returns the plan will be undertaken.
