

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

On Friday thirty-four Summerland youngsters, the class of '57, will graduate from Summerland's High School, and the ceremonies held here will be duplicated across the land. Graduation Day is a milestone of more than passing significance and as this milestone is approached it triggers off a flood of eloquence from our oldsters, a flood which is a conglomeration of exhortation, tinged with equal parts of pessimism and optimism and always of course, the peroration that these youngsters of today are the citizens of tomorrow and that Canada's future lies in their diploma clutching hands.

All of which is true, but to my way of thinking a trifle overdone. As for advice on these days of days — if we were truthful we oldsters would say — "well kids, we managed to muddle through — we hope you do better than we did."

To the Summerland High School class of '57, this columnist cannot think of any better advice to give than that extended by I believe it was, Kipling's Private Mulvaney, who admonished new recruits to Fear God, Honor the Queen, and to keep their mouths closed and their pores open.

Elections Aren't What They Used To Be

And, of course, for all those of voting age there is another important day coming up — voting day, June 10. Charlie (Young's Electric) Minter, chairman of the Board of Trade's "get out the vote" committee, is hopeful that there'll be a record vote in Summerland. Towards this end the committee has arranged for free transportation to the polls, same can be acquired by phoning 5661. But says Charlie Minter, "it doesn't matter whether you walk, run, ride, crawl or fly to the polls provided you get there and cast your ballot. To which we add our amen."

Election day though isn't what it used to be in my far off younger days. Then it was a day of bonfires, parades, bands — the fun and excitement of using opposition cars to take your own voters to the polls.

The Labor party organizations in the Old country used to be at a considerable disadvantage when it came to getting their old people, the sick and the infirm, to the polls — the other people had all the cars. So, on election day a lot of labor supporters would doll up in their Sunday best, attach themselves to an opposition party headquarters and direct cars to where there was a good labor vote waiting to go to the polls.

Nothing Too Good For the Voter

One election day I took more than 50 good labor votes to the polls in Conservative cars. Eventually the Conservatives caught up with me.

I got a call to get a car to Candow street. Candow street which could have been cartoonist Al Capp's inspiration for Lower Slobavia. A street of dingy tumble-down houses with towering coal pit slag heaps, tips they were called, rising out of the backyards to block out the sun. Most of the adults were consumptive and the kids all had rickets.

This was in the day when labor was working a 12-14-16 hour day, when labor could truly be said to be down trodden.

But to get back to Candow street. I asked for a car and I got one — a Rolls Royce complete with chauffeur, and the mistress, a Primrose League notable who was slumming for the day. And so we came to Candow street. The lady, stepped gingerly out of the car, put her dainty lace handkerchief to her nose — and looked at me in some alarm — "are you sure that we've come to the right place, that these creature people — support our party?"

"Absolutely," I lied without a blink of an eyelash — "they are all good Conservatives — true blue."

So out came the family carrying grandma — grandma was a haridan, horrible to gaze upon, maybe she had bathed at some time in her life but not in recent years.

The lady began to worry about her gleaming car, but she was powerless to stop the invasion as grandma was loaded and the rest of the family, kids included, swarmed into the gleaming automobile.

The lady tried to stop the kids — but grandma said no kids, no vote.

Grandma was somewhat inebriated — gin was cheap — she reeked of it.

"We're all good Tories," she hiccupped, "let the brats ride, they'll ne're ride in purple agin."

So we nosed out of Candow street, the lady now riding in front with the chauffeur.

Then Grandma forgot she was supposed to be a good Conservative and started to sing an election song which exhorted everyone to vote for Walker (the Labor man) and to put old Foster (the Tory) in the old tin can. The whole family took up the song including the kids.

She Forgot She Was a Lady

That did it — the lady ordered James to stop the car — she forgot she was a lady — "get out, get out," she screeched, — "You horrible creatures, oh, my lovely car — get out, get out, and you too — you wretch," she said meaning me.

We got out, but I think Grandma's son took the honors. "Ma'm," he said, "the old woman 'ere can't walk very far — but I'm tellin' thee, me and 'an all us'ns who can, and the old woman too are goin' to vote if we 'ave to get there on our 'ands an' knees."

And the chauffeur sitting poker faced at the wheel turned and gave me a solemn wink.

We got grandma to the polls — but we didn't win the day — but as losers in this election might note every dog and, so it seems, every political party has its day. British Labor was weak at that time years back when I borrowed the Rolls Royce — but look at 'em now — could be in power again almost over night.

Hammers and Saws Moving Faster As Spring Moves Into Summer

After rather a slow start this spring, building figures are catching up with last year. Last month 12 permits estimated at $41,050.00 were granted, according to the report just released by R. F. Angus, building inspector.

In May, 1956 there were 10 permits totalling $14,000. The 12 permits last month included four for new dwellings; two for new buildings in the commercial class; and six for alterations and additions.

Total permits for the first five months of this year are 57 in the amount of $134,575.00 compared with 44 in the same period last year amounting to $135,610.00.

THE CASE OF THE RELUCTANT VOTER

2,357 On Voters List, But How Many Will Vote?

A Memorable Day

Friday afternoon will be a memorable day in Summerland for it is then that the High School Graduating Exercises are to be held formally.

Thirty-four are in 1957's Grad Class, eighteen of them are boys, and sixteen girls, who have reached the point in their lives when their early education is finished and they are ready to go on to other achievements.

Up to now they have mainly been part of a family, governed by the family. Now they are growing up: their own ideals and determination will decide their future.

To them The Summerland Review extends congratulations, and the wish that they may carry with them in all their endeavours the memory of a community standing behind them and encouraging them to maintain the standards of usefulness, helpfulness, and fair-minded thinking that characterize Summerland.

Valley 'cot Growers Will Get Protection

Protection for valley fruits will be forthcoming this year if the Okanagan fruit industry is threatened by imports of U.S. fruits at abnormally low prices.

This commitment from Ottawa has been confirmed in a telegram from Finance Minister Walter Harris sent to Okanagan Boundary Liberal Candidate Mel Buter.

In disclosing this wire the Liberal candidate, said at a meeting in Oliver this week that he had used his time since his nomination in obtaining concrete action to protect the current apricot crop marketing and as a concrete measure of his success he read a telegram which originated with Mr. Harris, the minister of Finance in Ottawa. In part the telegram read as follows:

"I can assure you that if the situation which the growers fear should develop and fresh fruits should move into Canada at abnormally low prices the government intends to take action to prevent serious injury to the Canadian fruit growing industry. To this end should it prove necessary the government intends, to avail itself of the authority under the customs act as well as the emergency escape clause of the general agreement on tariffs and trade to prevent imports of fruits from moving into Canada at prices which would result in serious damage to Canadian growers."

This means, said Dr. Buter, that should the market be invaded by low priced American fruit that the government will extend one of several forms of protection to the apricot growers. A delegation of fruit officials from the Okanagan Valley is at present in Ottawa discussing with the minister the kind of relief which will best protect the industry, in marketing this season's crop, and to discuss further a long term policy in this respect.

Politicians across the land are firing the last shots of the 1957 election campaign. Here in Summerland the last shot will be fired by Liberal candidate Dr. Mel Buter who will speak at the IOOF hall along with Senator Tom Reid on Friday night.

Then, apart from radio blurbs, the voter will be left in peace to make up his or her mind.

Voting is Monday, polls are open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and here in Summerland there are two polling places. One is the Lakeside United Church at which voters listed in polls 125, 126, 134 will cast their ballots.

Others in the Summerland division will vote at the IOOF Hall, West Summerland, where polls 127, 128, 129, 130, 131 and 133 will be established.

Advanced polling will take place at 364 Main street, Pen-ticton, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 6, 7 and 8.

Eligible voters even though not on the voters' list, need not lose their votes, provided they take the trouble to attend the polls and swear out an affidavit as to eligibility.

For the convenience of those unable to secure transportation to the polls, the Board of Trade get out the vote committee, under the chairmanship of Charlie Minter, has organized a free transportation service. For transportation to the polls phone 5661.

Summerland Women Takes Top Honor

There is rejoicing among Summerland Women's Institute members, who have brought distinction to this community again. The Tweedsmuir competition which takes place every two years asked for three things this time: A Hope Chest, comprised of a group of articles supposed to be the choice of a bride for her home; an oil painting; and a village history.

Word came yesterday to the president, Mrs. L. W. Rumball that the Summerland Hope Chest has come first in the province, and that the painting, the top entries are sent to be adjudicated federally with winning entries from the other provinces.

Details of the contents of the Hope Chest and those who made the articles contained in it will be published next week. After provincial judging the work of Mrs. M. E. Collas, has placed second in B.C. The village history is not to be judged until later this summer, so the provincial results from this are not known.

Thirty-Four Students To Graduate Here On Friday

Graduation Day at Summerland High School is on Friday afternoon, June 7, this year. Speculation is high among students and townspeople as to who will win the valued Summerland Community Scholarship, one of the top awards of the occasion.

Nearly $1400 Goes To Cancer Society

The Kiwanis Club has announced that the sum of $1,301.89 was raised for the Canadian Cancer Society in the drive by their members.

This sum is about $300 more than was raised in Summerland last year for the same purpose. R. Alstead convened the campaign.

J. W. MITCHELL TO OLIVER
J. W. Mitchell, CPR agent at the wharf at Summerland, has received word of his appointment as station agent at Oliver. He succeeds W. Vanderburgh who is retiring. The Mitchells, who have been in Summerland 12 years, will be moving to Oliver and will be missed greatly here.

The Verrier Trophy, too, carries high honor, since it is given to that student who best typifies an "all round student". Summerland Teachers' Scholarship like the Summerland Scholarship and that of the Canadian Legion, which was established last year, carry with them a money award of $250.00. The P-TA annual bursary is for $100.00 and the Kiwanis Club scholarship is for $100.00. There are a number of other awards and honors including the Summerland Women's Institute Rose Bowl for the top home economics student; the Sharman marksmanship cup; P-TA industrial arts prize, the school grade eleven book prize, and the grade 10 proficiency award. There are athletic recognitions and other presentations to anticipate. Emphasis is on education in Summerland. Everyone looks (Continued on Page 8)

What Canadian politician was assassinated on an Ottawa street?

One of the very few victims of political murder in Canada's history was Thomas D'Arcy McGee, a talented journalist and poet and one of the Fathers of Confederation. Born in Ireland, he was implicated in the rebellion of 1848 and obliged to flee the country. After a career as journalist and editor in the United States, he moved to Montreal in 1857. A delegate to the Charlottetown and Quebec Conferences in 1864 and an eloquent advocate of Canadian union, he was in a very real sense a father of Confederation. His opposition to Irish extremists incurred the enmity of the Fenian Brotherhood and on April 7, 1868, just after he had made a speech in parliament, he was shot at the door of his boarding house in downtown Ottawa by a young Fenian who was convicted and executed. McGee was one of the most brilliant orators in Canadian parliamentary history, an accomplished writer and poet, and an able administrator.

T. S. Manning has been given permission by the municipal council for a fill on the property between the areas known as Sheldrake's and the Fudge lot on the lakeshore. The intent is to make a subdivision.

Summerland council has given permission to the AOTS to place a bench in the immediate vicinity of the West Summerland post office if this is acceptable to the property owner. The bench will be for the use of citizens.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE FIFTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY SEVEN

The People's Day . . . June 10

Vote as you please — but vote. The apathetic public, we suppose, is somewhat tired of that repeated admonition and yet, wearisome as the phrase has become through repetition, that six letter sentence is pregnant with meaning, for it shouts to the heavens of the freedom we the people in Canada and in other nations where democracy holds sway, enjoy.

Vote as you please — but vote, tells of a right and of a privilege which is still ours, thanks to those who down through many centuries fought and died that men might be free. Yes, "Vote as you please — but vote," is more than a catchy slogan, for it condenses within its six words the story of democracy.

It is to our shame that through the necessity for repetition such a phrase has become almost meaningless, for it is a shameful thing indeed that it should be recorded in our history that more eligible voters did not bother to cast their ballots in the last federal election than those who did.

On Monday of next week, June 10, the people of Canada will again go to the polls and elect a government — June 10 then is the people's day — in a country such as ours election day should be a gala day — a day when we the people proudly and joyfully exercise what is a right, and at the same time a privilege and a duty.

Every eligible citizen who fails to cast his or her ballot on June 10 is emulating the termites eating away at the wooden supports of a building which, in their blind unreasoning feast of destruction, are heedless of the fact that eventually the structure will crash down upon them and that the outwardly sound beams which house them will crumble into dust of their own making.

The eligible non-voter is democracy's termite. A nasty comparison, but a fitting one.

It is our hope that come election Summerland will not be found termite ridden and that after the verdict is known we in Summerland can proudly say, "we stood up and were counted."

Almost on the eve of the election The Summerland Review has no apologies to make for repeating that now hackneyed but pregnant phrase.

VOTE AS YOU PLEASE — BUT PLEASE VOTE."

Elections Never End

There is far less wear and tear on the Canadian voter and Canadian politician than there is on the American voter and American politician, as the following article, taken from the Christian Science Monitor, illustrates.

Ho-hum, says the public, glad the election is over!

But it isn't over; it never is in Washington; a new one is always coming up.

But surely, says the public, Mr. Eisenhower has been elected until 1960—?

Very true, but 435 members of the House have been elected only until November, 1958, and if they don't start campaigning long before that some of them will never return to the big square, lower chamber they love so well.

The fact is, for harassed congressmen who come from so-called "swing" seats (districts where they won election last November by only 5 per cent or less—campaigning never ends. They are hard at it right now. The wounds of one battle never quite heal before another engagement starts.

A fine thing, say some voters; keeps the boys on their toes, makes 'em realize who their masters are—the people back home!

Well, the issue is debatable. The suspicion cannot down that some of the lower house lawmakers never take their eyes off the home district long enough to lift them up to national and world affairs.

"How can I get time to find out about foreign aid?" asks a harassed representative from a big midwestern city district. "I just squeaked in last fall by 19,000 votes. What my district needs is federal aid for a new sewage system. If I get that, let the opposition do what it likes."

Up north, Canada is getting ready for a dominionwide election. It will occur June 10. It will be the 14th in this Century. Contrasted to that, the House of Representatives since 1800 has had 28 elections, including last year's, with the 29th coming up. Some congressmen just never touch ground before they are off again in the campaign cloud. In fact, those from closely contested districts, never do stop; it is chronic; they can never cease being politicians.

There is another effect of all these elections. The voters yawn. What, they say, not another election? In a big city, and in many smaller areas, there is an election of one sort or another every year: a municipal vote, then a midterm congressional battle; more municipal votes the year after that, or maybe election of a Governor, and after that it is 1960 and time for the presidential battle. Somebody is always running for something.

"I don't see how you Americans do!" said a Scandinavian visitor admiringly (she came from a land where they have the parliamentary system). "You must be the most politically conscious people on earth. It would drive any other nation crazy!"

Well, it doesn't work quite like that. The fact is that the percentage of those voting in the United States is relatively low — disgracefully low, some critics declare. Out of an estimated 102 millions of voting age only about 64 millions voted last November.

In August, 1953, Canada had its last election. A total of about 70 per cent voted of those eligible to vote. By law Canadians must have an election at least every five years, but it generally works out at closer to four. United States representatives would feel wonderfully relieved if they could hold their jobs four years without a campaign.

Now Canada's next election comes in June. A novelty is that the rival parties will get free television time over the government-owned networks as well as free radio time. There has been a lot of talk of such a plan for the United States but nothing has come of it. It is relatively simple in Canada, where public ownership is looked upon with more favor and where government facilities are available. After the conventions in the United States, candidates must buy their time.

ADVENTUROUS RELIGION

THOUGHT FOR TODAY: I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Phil. 3:14.

There is always something fresh to discover. The best picture of an artist is always his next one. A musician finds his greatest joy in discovering new melodies and creating new harmonies. The scientist engaged in research, finds that every new discovery is a spur for additional research. With the Christian there is always something brighter and richer out ahead.

If we want to interest young people in missions, we do not introduce them to a study of comparative religions; nor do we try to show them that Christianity alone will provide a sure foundation for social and economic reform and international relations. We simply give them human-interest stories. The work makes its own appeal because of the large measure of adventure in it. Through dedicated persons, who have vigor and vision, Christianity has been revealed as a religion full of action and movement.

The mark toward which Paul pressed is still far ahead. No council of men, however wise, can define the bounds and the limits of Christianity. There are rich mines of truth yet to be discovered; vast stretches of grace to be explored; heights to be scaled and depths to be plumbed. Every achievement enlarges our capacity for knowing God.

PRAYER: Almighty God, thou hast made us for adventure. May we measure up to thy expectation for us. We rejoice in the infinite possibilities still out ahead. Fit us for thy service. In Christ's name, Amen.

Miss Marilyn Wade, Don Cristante Married in Lovely Summer Ceremony

Summer and the first day of June was chosen by Marilyn Wade, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wade, whose marriage to Donald Cristante, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cristante took place on Saturday at five o'clock in the afternoon in The Church of the Holy Child, Rev. Fr. A. M. Meulenbergh officiating.

The church was decorated with white and rose peonies and flowers marking the guest pews. The lovely fair-haired bride wore a beautiful lace and net wedding gown over shimmering satin, the bodice having a lace scalloped neckline forming a V in the front and the back, and long sleeves. The skirt was fashioned over hoops and had lace inserts in the net making a delicate pattern. The bride's finger tip veil was fastened with a crown shaped headdress of seed pearls, and her bouquet was of white roses centred with pink roses.

Mr. Wade gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Glenn Heavysides of Vancouver was the maid of honour. Mrs. Gerald Washington and Miss Pearl Hooker, both of Vancouver were bridesmaids. Miss Vonda Wade was her sister's junior bridesmaid.

The three three senior attendants were gowned alike in floor length turquoise net frocks over matching satin, with matching bandeaux and long gloves. The maid of honor carried yellow carnations and the bridesmaids' flowers were carnations in a soft shade of pink. The junior bridesmaid wore a dainty floor length pastel green dress over matching satin with pink net inserted in a flower pattern, a flower headdress, and carried pink carnations.

Hector Bishop of Vancouver was best man for his brother-in-law, while Sandy Jomori, and Murray Elliott of Fruitvale, ushered.

The groom, best man and ushers' white dinner jackets with red boutonnières accented the pretty summer scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade, the groom's parents and the bridal party received the 200 guests in the IOOF Hall at the reception following.

Pink and white streamers, wedding bells and bouquets of flowers made the setting with the bride's table arranged with flowers and a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Tom Dewhurst of Vancouver gave a toast to the bride with the groom responding. Darryl Weitzel proposed a toast to the attendants to which the best man replied.

Wires of good wishes and congratulations were read from Mr. and Mrs. Norman Richards, Claresholm, Alberta; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Short and family, Vancouver; Mrs. Aitken, Kitimat; the J. McDonalds, Arizona; Mrs. F. Croft, Arizona; Wal-

Day, Vancouver. Miss Marjorie Campbell sang at the reception with Mrs. Norman Holmes, accompanist.

Marcel Bonthoux's orchestra provided music for an evening of dancing.

For going away on a trip to Banff and points in the U.S., the bride wore a becoming smart beige woven ribbon duster, with dress and hat matching, all of the same material, and the pink roses from the wedding bouquet in a corsage.

The young couple will make their home at West Summerland on their return.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hector Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Washington, of Vancouver; Mrs. Zanier and her son, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Bomben of Trail; Mr. and Mrs. L. Truant, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bazana, Kelowna; and Mr and Mrs. Nat Towe of Flin Flon.

Donald Allison to Be Married, July 5

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edward Steele of Vancouver have just announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Patricia Ann Steele to Donald Edward Allison, son of Mrs. Edward Freeman Allison of West Summerland and the late Mr. Allison.

The marriage is to take place in Dunbar Heights United Church on Friday, July 5 at 8 p.m., the Rev. J. H. Matthews officiating.

Miss Eileen Steele will be her sister's maid of honour and the groom elect's sister, Miss Carole Allison will be the bridesmaid.

Best man is to be Robert Galoway and the usher, Roger Smith. Both Miss Steele and Mr. Allison are graduates of UBC. Miss Steele has been doing social service work in Vancouver since graduating, and Mr. Allison has been teaching.

Live Stock Animates W.A. Rummage Sale

The Rummage Sale and tea arranged by the Evening Branch WA of St. Stephen's church on Saturday afternoon in the parish hall had many interesting things for sale including bantam chickens and kittens.

It was well-attended and those who came found something to take home with them, either from the assortment of articles offered as rummage or from the home-cooking stall, or the sale of garden plants.

Mrs. Adrian Moyle was general convener; Mrs. Gordon Beggs headed the tea committee and Mrs. R. C. Cuthbert looked after the tea tables, which were prettily arranged with low bowls of pastels.

Mrs. Fred Dunsdon convened the home cooking booth and Mrs. E. C. Bingham was responsible for the plant stall.

Advertising was done by Miss Gweneth Atkinson.

On Sunday afternoon, June 9, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Thompson celebrate 50 years of married life. On this occasion they will be "at home" to their friends from 3-5 p.m. at their residence on Jubilee Road.

Scout Activities

By GLENN FELL

Tuesday's meeting was the last regular meeting of the season owing to nearness of school exams. Scout camp is being tentatively scheduled for July 10-17 and there will be a meeting before camp for final instructions to boys. A prospectus dealing with summer camp will go forward to parents shortly.

Our meeting was honored by a visit from the District and Assistant District Commissioners and from District Scoutmaster G. M. Blewett. The DC presented Silver Arrowhead badges to Scouts Stan Krause and Roger Solly. Unfortunately Solly is out of town. Mr. G. A. Laidlaw on behalf of the District Association, presented Scouts Don McArthur, John Woolliams and David Woolliams with cheques to help with expenses involved in their forthcoming trip to the Centennial Scout Jamboree in England this summer.

Two new boys Dick Dunsdon and Gary Robertson made application to join the troop.

Activities at the meeting consisted of a trip up Giant's Head with instruction in map reading en route by Mr. Brinton. A game of prisoner's base was also played.

Next Tuesday, June 11, there will be a beach party at the Experimental Farm (Camp Sorec) beach at 6:00 p.m. Bring supper swim suit and softball equipment. Ice cream will be served. The Second Summerland Scout Troop have been invited to join us and play softball.

D. V. Fisher, Scoutmaster.

Summerland council has accepted electrical applications of A. E. Scott, D. H. Hill, Mark W. Smith, A. Stein and P. S. Dunsdon.

Summerland Macs made a clean sweep of a double-header here Sunday defeating the hapless Princeton Royals by scores of 13-7 and 11-5.

It was spotty ball with Summerland combining eight hits, including a double and a three bagger, with seven boggles by the Royals to pile up their impressive 13 run total in the first game.

Al Hooker pitched the Macs through to victory yielding eight widely scattered hits in the first game, one a circuit clout by Fritz with one man on base.

In the second game Hooker combined with Jacobs to hold the visitors to seven hits. Hooker was again winning pitcher.

Macs in garnering their 11 runs got to Princeton's McCarthy and Fritz for nine hits but life was made easy for the Summerland crew by an assortment of bloopers to the total of ten errors.

Aces Have Eye On Top Place

Summerland's Mac's Aces faltered here last Thursday night and dropped an Industrial League softball game 8-3 to Valley Motors, but the Aces had a healthy wallop left as they demonstrated Monday in Penticton when they took the league leading Chevrons into camp by a score of 9-4.

Mac's Aces are now tied with Valley Motors in second place. Chevrons are top of the heap with Greyhounds in the cellar.

This picture could change tomorrow night when the Aces play the Chevrons at the Summerland Memorial Park, game time 7 p.m. A win for the Aces would put them in a tie for top spot.

Juniors Lose Double Header Vernon, Armstrong Take Them

The Summerland Junior Red Sox came to the end of their winning streak on Sunday, dropping a doubleheader in Vernon against the Vernon and Armstrong Juniors.

In the first game against the Vernon team the Summerland boys showed why ball players can not stay up all night and still play ball the next day. Errors, sloppy play, walks, wild pitches and general poor ball were the cause of their downfall. Lemke, Robert and Sheeley all worked in the game which ended 13-1.

In the second game, which was much the same as the first, the boys went down 6-0 before the Armstrong Juniors. Summerland was hitting the ball hard but some sensational fielding held them scoreless. Lemke started on the mound but was relieved by McNabb who is just starting to pitch again after injuring his arm in the spring.

Penticton and Naramata were idle on Sunday but next Sunday league play resumes with Summerland at Penticton and Oliver at Naramata.

Fishing Notes

By BERT BERRY

Fishing has been good this last week except for Sunday when there was lightning and thunder. Okanagan Lake — good trolling with all types of tackle. Spinning off the rocks especially around Wilson's Landing was excellent.

Agur Lake — some nice catches from here up to 1 1/4 lbs. if you hit it right.

Fish Lake Camp — Fish lake excellent on fly and light troll mornings and evenings. Upper lakes getting better and should improve from now on.

Headwaters Camp — lots of fish here; a good family spot. Glenn Lake — no reports this week.

Brenda and McDonald Lake — only one report from here which was bad but should be good from now on.

Silver Lake — road good and fishing O.K. if you hit it right on a feeding period.

Boar Lake — slow on Sunday from one report but other days have been good.

Espron — road O.K. not many large fish, lots of 8-10 inches.

Shannon Lake — bass a little slow, should improve with this hot weather.

A Message to the Voters of Okanagan Boundary

On Monday, June 10th, the voters of Penticton and the rest of Okanagan Boundary riding have a vital choice to make, that of deciding the future of this wonderful Valley of ours. This Valley can not be allowed to fall by the wayside, but rather must be given the same chance as any other part of Canada, and not used as a tool to someone else's advantage.

Under John Diefenbaker and Dave Pugh (your Conservative Candidate) the orchardists, the farmers, the merchants, the working men and women, and housewives can be guaranteed the support that they need to keep this riding growing and prosperous.

Remember on June 10th that the Conservatives are the only party that can form an alternative government to the present Liberal rule. Don't be misled by the generous appeal of the various other political parties — anyone who can not hope to form a government can afford to offer anything.

On June 10th the choice is clear, vote for Okanagan Boundary — vote for DAVE PUGH.

ODDS and ENDS

BY M. VANDERBURGH

I have just heard of a good idea for storing winter things. Some dry cleaners are capitalising on it by putting all woollen clothes after cleaning in polythene bags sealed at the ends with the use of a warm iron. When they are called for they are all ready for storing, and next fall when looking for warmer clothes, they can easily be found because they show through the bag. The cost is slightly extra but certainly worth it since the packages can be taken straight from the cleaners ready and packaged for storing.

In Toronto the CNIB have established a lovely garden for those who cannot see. It is called the Fragrant Garden, and visitors who can see realize what they miss and the added pleasure in realizing what there is in a garden to smell, hear and even feel.

"Your garden's gay colors and nodding blooms may actually blind you too much of its beauty," says Jane Little, Garden Editor of Canadian Homes and Gardens. Close your eyes to give smelling, touching and hearing a chance. Once you realize what you've been missing you'll want to develop your garden with new emphasis to bring out these overlooked enjoyments. The Fragrant Garden, designed primarily to give deep pleasure without being seen, has many ideas you can copy for greater enjoyment in your garden.

A current feature in Canadian Homes and Gardens shows pictures taken in the Fragrant Garden of its raised planting beds, to let the blind feel the leaves and blossoms; but which in any garden bring the flowers up to waist-level for close-up enjoyment of color and pattern by the sighted. There is a lot of pleasure too, in learning the texture and feel of different plants, Miss Little says. A treat is in store for you as you explore the sensations of touching your garden plants... crisp boxwood leaves, smooth bark, and furry buds of willow or tickling needles of white pine. You will then realize the great diversity in leaves, branches and flowers in the plant world.

Throughout the CNIB garden are plants whose scents are released only when their leaves are crushed. If you bruise the finely divided leaves of artemisia, they spread a sharp, pungent odor. To surprise visitors to your garden, here's an idea from the Fragrant Garden you can easily use. Plant lemon thyme between flagstones — as the tiny leaves are crushed against the paving, a spicy scent is released.

In this garden, the rustle of trees in the slightest breeze is supplied by a grove of white pines and groups of aspens whose leaves move continually even though there appears to be no breeze. Another happy sound in the Fragrant Garden is running water, a delight to both blind and sighted. There are many walks to wander over, a sun-warmed cluster of benches to sit on and a roofed fountain for coolness and shade. A garden to a blind person is a compound of all these delightful sensations — develop your garden to bring out these overlooked enjoyments.

Art Club Show To Be June 22

Summerland Art Club is holding the fourth annual show in the IOOF Hall on Saturday, June 22, from 2 pm. until 9 p.m.

All of the paintings to be exhibited have been done since the show last June, and there will be 100 or more. Some are landscapes, some still life and others abstractions. There will be a section of lino cuts.

A number of Summerland people interested in painting are to attend the UBC extension course to be held at LTS, Naramata, next week, and no doubt some of the work done then will be shown.

Other seasons the local art show has aroused considerable interest, and it is thought this year's show will be an even better one.

Tea will be served for a nominal sum and everyone is invited to attend.

Holidays Started Now for Children Of Jack and Jill Kindergarten

School is out for 40 happy little girls and boys who have been attending the Jack and Jill kindergarten. Closing exercises were held on Friday, May 31, and for them summer holidays have begun.

It was a special morning, long to be remembered, with 43 adult visitors and 25 children — brothers and sisters to see what goes on at school, and others who will be attending next year. The children dramatised "Goldilocks and the Three Bears", and another story called, "There Was a Lovely Princess." They sang songs to everyone's delight and enjoyed the usual snack. Towards the end of the occasion they put on their uniforms and went on the platform to give Rhythm Band numbers conducted by Mrs. Howard Milne.

J. Cooke, principal of the MacDonald School, gave out the diplomas and spoke to the mothers. The children who are to go to elementary school in September were invited to attend on the afternoon of June 14, when they will be placed among those in the four grades 1 to get an idea of what it will be like in the fall.

Dale Clark won the perfect attendance award, and each child was given a leather pencil case on which his or her name had been burnt by Mrs. F. M. Steurt, the devoted teacher. The children received their report cards to take home.

Mrs. H. Braddick who was a helper in the kindergarten came from Penticton and assisted. Others helping were Mrs. Mel Ducommun and Mrs. George Washington.

Names of the 40 children who attended last year follow: Margaret Anderton, Alan Barkwill,

Lorraine Bennest, Joanne Berry, Edith Bonaldi, Jill Brennan, Dale Clark, Judy Clark, Margot Clark, Pat Downton, Alma Dunsdon, Janice Farrow, Judy Fountain, Lynn Gartrell, Elizabeth Giannotti, Roddy Hallquist, Raymond Halvorson, Brian Hanks, Karen Holman, Brian Kurda, Joe Lenzi, Bruce McIntosh, Keith McLachlan, Anne Miltimore, Patsy Moberg, Craig Moore, Joanne Newton, Edward Nield, Jean Pelletier, Robert Perry, Jill Pruden, Ken Roberge, Ronnie Ryman, Garth Sherwood, Marianne Simpson, Sheila Smith, David Steurt, Bill Walker, Ida Wellwood, Heather Wilson. Already 30 are signed up for the fall classes.

New Policy on Distribution Of Budwood for Propagation

By G. M. WEISS

It has been the practice of nurserymen and some growers for a number of years to come to the Experimental Farm for a source of true-to-name budwood of various fruits...

In the past, orders have filtered in from nurserymen and growers all the way from the middle of May until September, which made it very difficult to decide upon quantities of buds of different varieties...

RED STRAINS OF WINESAPS AND ROME BEAUTY

The Experimental Farm is hoping to make available an adequate supply of budwood of an improved, highly recommended strain of both Winesap and Rome Beauty to all nurserymen and growers this season...

Those requiring budwood should place their order as quickly as possible with Mr. G. M. Weiss of the Pomology Section of the Experimental Farm in Summerland...

GAS RATES

The application of the rates to the residential customer is as follows.

He will pay a minimum bill of $2.00 per month which includes the purchase of 1,000 cubic feet of gas. If the customer uses gas to cook and heat hot water, the monthly bill will amount to about $6.00. For hot water heating only the monthly bill will run about $4.50.

If the residential customer decides to use gas for space heating only, the average annual bill will be about 5 per cent less than annual cost for hand-fired coal and 15 per cent below fuel oil. A further saving in the cost of space heating can be had by using gas for cooking, hot water heating and space heating. The average annual bill for space heating will be about 15 per cent less than the cost of space heating with hand-fired coal and about 22 per cent less than fuel oil.

To the propane customer there will be a very large saving. The savings, percentage-wise, follow a similar pattern for the commercial customer.

Dear Friends:

I ask for your vote for myself and the Liberal party.

I ask for this in the belief that only by your being represented by an interested vocal advocate sitting on the Government side of the House will you obtain what you want.

There is little doubt that the Liberals will form the Government in the next House.

Do we want again to be among the Opposition? Surely, 46 out of the last 50 years in the Opposition is enough. Surely we in the Okanagan-Boundary want a hand in setting the Old Age Pensions, the Family Allowances, the Veterans' Allowances. Surely we want to influence the legislation respecting extension of Unemployment Insurance to farm workers. Surely we want to be heard and our influence felt in the revamping of the tariff structure. Surely we want to help legislate for peace.

The positive approach is to elect a Liberal, direct him to obtain the changes no opposition member has been able to obtain, and make that member obtain the legislation we require!

I am prepared to accept your directions and to go to Ottawa and fight for you! Your vote for me on June 10th will be my mandate.

Yours faithfully,

MEL BUTLER.

Alright, alright, so I missed by a mile — even so I used to do, pretty good predicting the outcome of hockey games.

In the mail this a.m. a clipping of this column the one where I predicted Dr. Mel Butler, Liberal, would win the riding. Pencil note on the bottom, "how wise do some folks think they are. "Author of that little billet doux, anonymous."

Got to take my hat off to member elect Frank Christian as a true prophet. Talking to me last Saturday a.m. Frank put himself on top, O. L. Jones second, Dave Pugh, third, and Dr. Mel Butler low man on the totem pole. But, said Mr. Christian, "it's going to be close — there won't be more than a hundred votes between Jones and I. So, with only a matter of 108 votes between the Social Credit and CCF candidates, Mr. Christian rates the title of the true prophet.

Dunno whether Mr. Jones will ask for a recount — but 108 votes is a hefty lead and I doubt if a recount will alter the situation.

So there it is — Liberals today, particular like C. D. Howe and other party giants, must be wondering what hit them. They have over a long period of years done well for Canada — but when the voter gets the bit in his teeth, one wrong move outweighs a bushel of good ones.

It happens, sooner or later to all who are at the mercy of the ballot. Take Winston Churchill, I always get a bang out of his comment in the "Gathering Storm".

Wrote Churchill . . . "on the night of May 10 (1940) I acquired the chief power in the state which henceforth I wielded in ever growing measure for five years and three months of world war. At the end of which time, all our enemies having surrendered unconditionally, or being about to do so, I was immediately dismissed by the British Electorate from all further conduct of their affairs."

At the graduation ceremonies here Friday — graduations are something like weddings, parents, mothers in particular, don't know whether to laugh or cry at the sight of their offspring stepping from the sheltering walls of school into a rough and tumble world. Watching some of the grads squirming as they waited to be called for their diplomas. In this world it seems the T, U, V, W, XYZees are born to sit and wait. In the army those who came at the tail end of the alphabet had to stand and wait. Oftentimes I thanked my lucky stars, particularly on pay parades, that my surname put me fairly low down on the list. I remember the consternation when the pay officer, an altogether too fair minded chap, suddenly switched and reversed the order of the payoff, starting at the back of the alphabet. Anyone would have thought from the grouching from the front end of the alphabet that day that the pay officer had violated an inalienable right.

Social Credit Topped Polls In Summerland

Nine-year reign of the CCF in Okanagan-Boundary federal politics was ended Monday when, in a record poll, the people of the riding gave Frank C. Christian, Social Credit candidate a 108 majority over O. L. Jones, who had represented the riding at Ottawa for nine years.

In a record vote of more than 75 percent, 24,242 out of a possible 32,094, the voters of Okanagan Boundary expressed in no uncertain terms their dissatisfaction with the Liberal government and Liberal candidate Dr. Mel Butler won only 3,201 votes. The Progressive Conservatives, who did not contest the 1953 election, showed a resurgence of strength, candidate Dave Pugh polling up 6,357. Mr. Jones was in the tight right up to the wire, polling 7,288 as against winner's 7,396.

The figures are not yet official and will not be official until after the soldier vote is received. The official count is expected about June 17.

The defeated CCF candidate has not yet made up his mind about demanding a recount and will not do so until the result of the Soldier vote is known and the number of spoiled ballots considered.

In Summerland, as in the previous election the voters remained Social Credit, but this time the Progressive Conservatives were treading on Social Credit heels with Dave Pugh polling 47 votes as against Christian's 576.

In the 1953 election Summerland gave 442 votes to the Liberals but on Monday they only gave the Liberals 213.

Across Canada the voters turned upon the government they had supported for 22 years and the Liberals huge majority vanished under avalanche of Progressive Conservative votes. The house standing today tells the story.

Progressive Conservatives .. 110
Liberals .. 103
CCF .. 25
Social Credit .. 10

The election result represents a stalemate and another election will have to be fought. There is some belief that this will be held in the fall of this year.

Public Opinion On Wading, Swimming Pool Sought

Social Credit Candidate Frank C. Christian — Member-Elect

Further to the matter of the suggested wading and swimming pool at West Summerland, G. Hallquist told yesterday afternoon's council meeting that he thought he could obtain volunteer help to build the pools amounting to between $2,000 and $3,000.

The pools have been proposed as a Centennial project.

Reeve F. E. Atkinson pointed out that the Centennial grant from the government is $2,400 matched by an equal sum from the municipality, or $4,800 altogether. The raw material required for the pools has been estimated at $10,000. Mr. Atkinson doubted if the Centennial committee would agree to a project based partly on voluntary (Continued on Page 8)

Meeting to Organize for Handicapped Children's School

A public meeting will be held in the High School library on Tuesday, June 18 commencing at 8:00 p.m. Purpose of the meeting is to elect a slate of officers for the proposed Handicapped Children's School. While a nominating committee has been set up to secure candidates for the various posts, nominations will be accepted from the floor.

All interested citizens are urged to attend since this project will require all the assistance it can get. Mrs. W. Goepel, executive director of the Association for Retarded Children of B.C., and Dr. L. A. Kerwood, medical superintendent of Woodlands School, New Westminster, will be the speakers.

Authority Given to Divide Scholarship

On Thursday afternoon, June 6, a meeting of the donors to the Summerland Scholarship was held to discuss affairs in connection with the trust deed. This year the Scholarship Awards Committee felt that the scholarship should be divided. Since this was not provided for in the original deed, the donor meeting moved to change the deed so that a division could be made, and so that a division can be made at any future date. It was decided, also, to put the surplus each year into a separate account to build up for another scholarship. The Awards committee consists of the two school principals and the reeve.

Election Afterthoughts

Canadian voters accomplished some startling things with ballots on Monday. First and foremost they turned upon the party which governed them for 22 years and their nationwide vote can be translated into Cromwell's contemptuous dismissal of the Rump Parliament. In effect the people of Canada said, as did Cromwell:

"You have sat here too long, in God's name go."
 Having thus expressed the definite opinion that "it is time for change," the voters fell down on the job insofar as they did not give any party a clear working majority.

It now appears that it will have to be done all over again. Another election will have to be fought, possibly in the late fall, for the situation is even more intolerable than that created by the people of British Columbia when they elected a minority Social Credit Government in 1952.

It could even boil down to the balance of power being held by the assortment of independents, six or eight in number, for as the parties stand today it would be possible for the Liberals to form an alliance with the CCF and with the blessings of the independents, continue in office. Likewise the Progressive Conservatives could accept the support of Social Credit and form a government but even then they would need the independents to retain office should the Liberals and CCF combine against them in opposition.

In other words on Monday the voters clipped the Liberals' comb but gave the Progressive Conservatives the headache, for the decision of whether or not to accept office rests with the Progressive Conservatives.

At this writing press reports indicate that there is some doubt that St. Laurent will resign but we can hardly imagine him doing anything else. It is true that with the latest tabulation, 103 Liberals elected, the Liberal Party is far from being wiped out, but a political landslide which along with the huge majority, buried nine cabinet ministers is not one to be ignored.

We believe that St. Laurent will heed the unmistakable desire of the people for a change of government and that he will in due course tender his Government's resignation. It could be that before this paper is on the streets that St. Laurent will have resigned and Progressive Conservative Party Leader John Diefenbaker will have been invited to form a new government.

We think Mr. Diefenbaker will accept what whether he will call an election in the late fall or try to weather a full session of the house will, in part, depend upon his judgment of the situation, and of course upon the willingness of the opposition groups to allow him to continue in office.

Here in the Okanagan Boundary we are again on the outside looking in, although to a lesser degree than before as the Progressive Conservatives for so long as they form a minority government will have to lean heavily upon the block of 19 Social Credit members.

The Review congratulates member-elect Frank Christian on his victory, certainly an upset victory and a narrow one to boot, and the losers can take some solace in the fact that they won't have to wait four or five years before having the opportunity to challenge Mr. Christian, for although our predictions as to the outcome of this election went sour, very sour indeed, we don't think one needs second sight nor the gift of prophecy to predict with confidence that there will be another federal election within a year.

Orchard Notes

By ALEX WATT

The warm spring weather has brought orchard pests out in full force. Here are some of the bugs which have been unusually active.

- 1. Fruit Tree Leaf Roller — A green caterpillar with dark head which chews leaves and fruit of trees. This pest rolls the leaves together in a web to protect its cocoon. Damage is now past but make a note to spray with DDT at the pink or cluster bud stage next year.
- 2. Bud Moth — Damage from this pest is similar to the Leaf Roller but the larvae are dark brown in colour. The new generation may cause damage to apples similar to Codling Moth. Where these larvae were present in the spring an application of Malathion at the beginning of August will help prevent losses in the fall.
- 3. Lecanium Scale — A wart-like scale on the twigs of apricots and peaches — also prevalent on many other species, including Walnuts, Filberts, Currants, Gooseberries, and a long list of ornamental trees. There are four strains. One of the worst is on apricots now and has a frosty-looking waxy coating. It gives off a sticky juice. Spraying now is of little help because the scales are too well protected. Very thorough spray applied in late summer or in the late dormant stage will give commercial control.
- 4. Grasshoppers have been giving trouble in gardens, berry patches and may cause damage to soft fruits if not controlled now. The bigger they are the harder they are to kill. Spraying the adjacent grass, weeds, waste places or cover crop in orchards with Aldrin 20 percent emulsion at the rate of 1 pint in 10 gallons water per acre will give excellent control if done early when hoppers are small. Chlordane sprays are also very effective. Do not spray edible portions of vegetables or fruits with these materials.

Air-blast or concentrate sprayers are ideal for applying grasshopper sprays in orchards or waste lands. Only the cover crop need be sprayed. Spraying alternate panels in an orchard can be very effective! If the fish-tail is directed at the ground and the upper jets plugged the operator can apply approximately 10 gallons of spray per acre more easily than you would imagine. The reason for the low gallonage per acre is so that the spray will go nearly dry and will adhere to grass leaves (where the hoppers feed) rather than flowing off as in the case of "wet" sprays.

5. Fall Webworm — A small hairy caterpillar, pale greenish yellow, congregating in masses on the underside of pear and apple leaves — ana, oh yes! — Roses! They feed on the green matter of the leaf leaving the leaf veins alone. Watch for this as it is just coming up now! DDT spray should take care of it if applied while the caterpillars are small.

Rotary Club Swimming Classes

Again the Summerland Rotarians are organizing for the summer swimming classes and registration forms are now being mailed to all households in the community. This is a community service of great value and one in which parents of small fry should be eager to have their children participate. Happy are the children who are able to swim, able to enjoy water sports without fear of the water.

That is the skill and the knowledge which the Rotary swimming class program seeks to instill in our youngsters. All parents have to do is fill out the registration form, see that the children arrive at the Rotary's own beach on time for the classes and the instructors do the rest — so register now.

Each year, summer vacations spell tragedy to hundreds of families as accidental drowning takes the lives of both children and adults. Next to highway, the lake, river or swimming pool is the most lethal hazard.

Swimming is fun and should be enjoyed. Safety is of utmost importance. The All Canada Insurance Federation, representing more than 200 Canadian fire, casualty and automobile insurance companies, recommends these rules for saving lives:

- 1) Learn how to swim and teach children to swim.
- 2) Do not swim alone.
- 3) Unless accompanied by a boat, do not swim far from shore. Swim parallel to the shore if you wish to try for distance.

4) Non-swimmers should not float into deep water on inner tubes or other inflated articles. If the float begins to leak the swimmer is in difficulty.

5) Do not dive into unfamiliar waters and do not swim beneath diving boards.

6) If a swimmer is in difficulty, try to rescue him with a boat, a rope or an extended oar. Do not swim to him unless it is absolutely necessary. Often the rescuer also becomes a victim.

7) At public beaches, swim near the life-guard stations.

8) Wait for at least an hour after meals before swimming.

9) Beware of undertows in rough water.

10) Do not swim during lightning storms.

11) Learn to administer artificial respiration.

40 YEARS AGO — JUNE 15, 1917

The following officers were elected at the general meeting of the Summerland Lawn Tennis Club at a meeting at the pavilion on Siwash Flat last Saturday. Hon. Pres. Mrs. R. H. Agur; President, E. B. May; Vice-President, E. G. Koop; Secretary-Treasurer, H. M. Lumsden; Committee, Mrs. Koop, Miss Cartwright, Miss Clouston, Messrs. Dodwell, Huddlestone and Theed.

The government at Ottawa is to put in force Daylight Saving throughout the Dominion. Sir George Foster has given notice of legislation to put all clocks ahead one hour on a day to be fixed later, and keep them so throughout the summer. Daylight Saving has been adopted in previous years by municipalities in Canada, but was not so successful as it would have been had the system been general as it will be under the new legislation.

10 YEARS AGO — JUNE 12, 1947

S. A. MacDonald, principal of the elementary school, has set a record few school principals can equal. He has not missed a day of school in 28 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Maddison who have been living in Mountain Park, Alberta, have returned to make their home here.

Mrs. Slater of London, England, arrived on May 30 to join her husband who is assistant in Fisher's Men's Wear.

Dr. Maurice Welsh is attending the plant quarantine meetings at Bowen Island this week.

Mid-Week Message

BUILD A HOME

THOUGHT FOR TODAY: The birds of the air have nests.

A young army wife had just returned from Japan. Each of her three children had been born in a different part of the world. Faced with a change of residence every two or three years, her one desire in life was to have a real home where she could raise her little family in some semblance of permanent security. What could it whose roots had always been firmly planted in one community. say to this frustrated young mother?

I remember the spring when our blue birds came back, only to find that sparrows had taken up squatter's rights in their house. We feared we would lose our long-term neighbors, but we did not reckon with their determination to build a home in spite of everything. In a matter of hours they were busily furnishing the hollow crossbar on one of our metal laundry poles. There they raised their family. They know that good homes are not just a matter of fine houses with fancy furnishings, but are built with sturdy twigs of faith and warm feathers of love.

Bless the roof-tree overhead,
 And every sturdy wall,
 The peace of man, the peace of God,
 The peace of love on all. (Guiterman)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, with whatever tools you have placed in our hands, may we build well our earthly homes. May Jesus always have a place at our family hearth. In his name we pray. Amen.

TEEN TOWN

By DOT CARSTON

The last meeting of the Summerland Teen Town was held at the home of Marny Bleasdale on June 9.

Ray Dunsdon gave a report on the Cemetery Cleanup staged on June 1 by the organization. He stated that it was a big success and other members told of the many compliments received.

Ruby Gronlund said that the School Board is not over-anxious to see Teen Town using a school bulletin board for our events. We see their point but still feel that we should have the same privileges as other Valley Teen Towns.

Dot Carston and Ed Matsu are to make a stencil for a poster.

Our next dance will be this Friday, June 14, at 9 p.m. in the Youth Centre. Admission will be 25c with your card and 35c without.

It was decided that we continue throughout the summers with a dance every second Friday from nine to one o'clock. Council meetings will be held every third week instead of every second week.

No records are to be added to our collection.

Ruby Gronlund, Dot Carston, Ray Dunsdon, and Richard Blagborne are to attend the next P-TA meeting.

The next meeting will be at the home of Dot Carston on June 30, and remember—these meetings are for everyone not just the Councillors.

SUMMERLAND HIGH SCHOOL

School Days End For Class Of '57

Two Students Divide Top Scholarship

Graduation Day has come and gone for another year. Last Friday afternoon, 34 girls and boys attained their 12 years of formal schooling required by the government an occasion marked by a formal ceremony and the commendation of the school, the municipality, and the provincial government, as voiced by their representatives.

Bob Schultz and Barbara Baker shared honors in a dual award, the first time that the Summerland Scholarship has been divided. Since they paced one another in all the things for which the scholarship stands, the awards committee felt that the scholarship should be given this way and a special meeting of donors was held to change the trust deed to allow such action.

Bob won also the Verrier trophy emblematic of those qualities which make an all-round student and Barbara won the $200 Summerland Teachers Scholarship given to one who intends to take up teaching.

Bob also won the mathematics prize and an athletic block award.

In making the presentation of the Summerland Scholarship Reeve Atkinson said that it is given for academic ability, moral character, power of leadership, and other things considered of note.

A. K. Macleod, principal of the high school was chairman of the ceremonies; R. S. McLachlan spoke for the school board; and E. E. Hyndman, school inspector, spoke for the government. Mr. Hyndman commended the community for the interest shown in school matters as shown in the attendance of some 500 interested parents, other relatives and friends.

John Tamblin, vice-principal gave a resume of different school activities, and Mr. Macleod introduced the graduating class.

John Cooke, principal of the elementary schools mentioned his interest and that of the staff in the progress of the pupils.

Tom Jomori read the class poem which he composed and Bob Schultz gave the valedictory address.

Miss Marjorie Campbell was the soloist, and her accompanist was Miss Lynne Boothe.

Cadet Doug Rumball won the Sharman Marksman Cup given by the late Magistrate Hugh Sharman.

House 4 won the inter-house trophy, received by the captains, Nella Huva and Harold Biollo.

Activity pins were won by Nella Huva, Barbara Baker, Jackie Watson, Tom Jomori, Ken Bissett and Bob Schultz. Big blocks were given Tom Jomori, Jackie Watson, Max Ongaro, Larry Kiehlbauch, and Doug Charles.

STAR STUDENTS Bob Schultz and Barbara Baker, shown above, as they received scholastic awards from the hands of Reeve F. E. Atkinson at the Summerland High School graduation ceremonies held last Friday.

The Women's Institute Rose Bowl, full of lovely roses, awarded for the top student in home economics was presented by the president of the W.I. Mrs. Lawrence Rumball to Margaret Lott.

Industria arts prizes went to Leonard Buden and to Glenn Manning for grades 11 and 12 respectively.

Nan Solly captured the grade 11 book prize for proficiency and Barbara Fudge, the grade 10 book prize for proficiency initiated this year by the P-TA.

The P-TA $100 bursary; the Canadian Legion scholarship for $250; and the Kiwanis Club $100 scholarship will be awarded later in the summer.

Dr. James Marshall, a distinguished High School addressed the graduated grad of Summerland. He advised them not to be afraid to be a non-conformist in things that will not harm others, are within the laws of Christian ethics, and that it is a "good idea not to follow the herd." Dr. Marshall wished all the graduating class "happiness good hard work, enough money, and a lot of fun."

Rev. A. A. T. Northrup pronounced the benediction.

A tea served by grade 10 girls followed in the new addition.

Later a banquet arranged by grade 11 girls and with catering done by the Summerland Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary was enjoyed, followed by the Graduation Dance.

Congratulations

The teachers of the province say "Good Luck and a Bright Future" to this month's school graduates!

B.C. education is a flexible, ever-changing process which has kept pace with the growth and development of Canada and the Province. We recognize that our educational system is one of the finest on the continent.

We are proud of the students graduating from our schools. After years of classroom association with these boys and girls, we rest assured that British Columbia's future is in good hands. When they choose their vocation, we hope that many will decide to enter the teaching profession.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Thompson 'At Home' Golden Wedding Day, Sunday, June 9

A well-known Summerland couple, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Thompson observed their Golden Wedding anniversary on Sunday, June 9. For the occasion they held a reception at their residence, Jubilee Road, during the late afternoon when many friends, old and new, called to congratulate them and to offer best wishes to them.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were married in Capetown, South Africa. The groom of fifty years ago was from Edinburgh, and his bride, Miss Louisa Fyffe, from London. They returned to England, Mr. Thompson having taken his discharge from the army. After living in London for a while, they moved to Edinburgh, staying there for three and a half years.

On March 26, 1911, they arrived in Summerland, where Mr. Thompson has engaged in farming and done electrical work.

During World War I he was overseas and during World War II he was in the service for four years.

At the reception Mrs. J. W. Clark and Mrs. Wm. Beattie poured tea from a table beautifully arranged with a three-tiered wedding cake with bouquets of golden-colored carnations on either side. Assisting were their daughter, Mrs. B. T. Washington; Mrs. George Washington, and their granddaughters, Mrs. J. G. McMynn of Midway and Miss Evelyn Washington who teaches at Osyoos.

Macs Unhappy About Umpiring As Kelowna Orioles Win 7-4

Fishing Notes

By BERT BERRY

Okanagan Lake — has been good this last week. Trolling most parts of the lake has been good. Fishing with spinning equipment off the drop offs starting to pay off now. Wilson's landing best reports.

Fish Lake Camp — Fish Lake still good on fly and troll. Not good still fishing. The upper lakes are improved and should be better from now on.

Headwaters Camp — Lots of fish but up to now no real big fish have been landed. This is a nice place to take the kids.

Brenda and McDonald — Brenda not good yet, spawning, but McDonald good.

Silver Lake — Two reports and both good.

Glen Lake — no reports.

Espron Lake — Most fish small and thin.

Bear Lake — Conflicting reports. Some good and bad but should be good from now on.

Augur Lake — Still some nice catches coming out.

Track Meet

Summerland schools were the hosts for the Annual Southern Okanagan Valley Elementary School Track Meet on Saturday, June 1.

Schools competing and final standings were as follows: Keremeos-Cawston, 83; Jermyn Ave., Penticton, 49; Carmi, Penticton, 40; Oliver, 39; Summerland, 38; Osoyoos, 22; Queen's Park, Penticton, 19; Kaleden-Okanagan Falls, 8.

This is Keremeos-Cawston's fifth win in a row.

Chairman of the track meet was Blake Brandon with E. F. Weeks assisting.

Macs Aces To Play Crack Kelowna Team in Exhibition Ball Sunday

It's exhibition softball at Summerland's Memorial Park on Sunday night when Macs Cafe Aces will play a crack Kelowna team. Game time is 7 p.m.

In league play the Macs continued their winning ways. Last Thursday they took the Chevrons into camp by a score of 15-14. The Summerland nine was on the short end of the score trailing up to the sixth when they exploded for nine runs.

At Penticton on Monday Macs Aces came through with an 11-9 victory over the Penticton Greyhounds.

Macs Aces are paying snappy ball and the game against Kelowna, Sunday evening, is expected to be a thriller.

Penticton's Bill Nicholson Heads Okanagan Senior Hockey League

Things are beginning to move in hockey circles, the Penticton Vees have already announced that burly defenceman Hal Tarala will be back again as coach. And now the annual squabble about inter league games with the Kootenays is on.

Bill Nicholson, popular Penticton sportsman, will guide the reins of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League for the 1957-58 season.

Mr. Nicholson succeeds Claude Small, of Vernon. The annual parley was held at Okanagan Landing Sunday afternoon.

In view of the fact it is Kelowna's turn for the vice-presidential post, a local representative must be named by next Sunday.

A great deal of business was shelved for another meeting, to be held in the Allison Hotel on Sunday, June 23.

Some of the items slated to come up for discussion are arena rentals, how many league games will be played; new league dues and salaries of referees.

Kelowna delegates at yesterday's parley were Allan Pollock, Hank Von Montfort, Dick Christian and Packers' coach Jack O'Reilly.

Roy McBride, of the Spokane Flyers' hockey team, Western Canada champions, attended the Okanagan parley yesterday, and offered $1,000 to help offset expenses of teams from the Okanagan in making the Kootenay swing this year.

KELOWNA OPPOSED
A quick show of hands indicated approval of all clubs except Kelowna which voted against the measure. As a result each club will take the problem back for study and vote at another meeting in two weeks. The Kootenay representatives said the swing would be fairly simple this year because Kimberley would not be back in the league.

In view of the additional expense in making the trip, Kelowna has for a number of years been opposed to making the trip. Another point for being opposed to the move is the time players have to take off from their jobs.

HEATED ARENAS
McBride, in discussing hockey in general claimed that television was a drawback the first year, in so far as attendance was concerned. However, after the novelty of TV had worn off, the attendance started to build up again.

Mr. McBride also referred to the heating system in the arena. He thought that the Okanagan could encourage attendance during the extremely cold weather if the arenas were heated. Valley delegates agreed the suggestion should be looked into.

Summerland Macs slipped another cog here on Sunday when they lost to the Kelowna Orioles 7-4.

The Macs played errorless ball, but the Orioles were hitting lively and they got to losing pitcher Eyre for nine hits and to relief hurler Hooker for four.

Big moment for the Macs came in their first time at bat when Parker boomed out a home run but, alas, bases were empty. Macs only tallied on the score sheet for four hits, including Parker's homer, and some forthright comments have been made about the eyesight of umpire Schlosser.

Mr. Schlosser aroused the ire of Parker to the extent that Mr. Schlosser's physical well-being was endangered. Parker was summarily ejected from the game.

Bill Johnson, a man who knows his ball, commented on the umpiring.

"The catcher was picking 'em up out of the dirt and the umpire was calling strikes on our boys. It happened whenever we had men on bases. He called strikes when the ball was wide of the plate by feet. No wonder Parker blew his top.

Thus spoke Mr. Johnson and those sentiments appear general among those who saw the game.

But the Kelowna Orioles are not doing at all badly, so far they've played eleven, won ten and only lost one. As for the Macs they've got to knit more closely as a team before they can start to go places.

In other OMBL action, Kamloops and Oliver split a doubleheader at Oliver. The Kamloops team eked out a 1-0 win over Oliver in the opener, but the OBC's came back to take a 7-1 decision in the second match.

At Princeton, the Princeton Royals walloped the Vernon squad 8-3 in the opener, but Vernon unleashed a four-home attack in the second game to win 15-10.

Summerland Juniors Set The Pace

The Summerland Junior Red Sox lost a close 5-2 ball game in Penticton on Sunday, but retained their hold on first place by one game. It was a fast, hard fought game with the nine innings being played in just under two hours.

Summerland started Roberts on the mound, but the right hander, who is down from the Macs didn't have it. After allowing three hits, six walks, striking out five and allowing four runs in five innings, he was relieved by Sheeley who went the rest of the game giving up one run on one hit and one walk. Sheeley has now gone 27 innings allowing only one run. Summerland had men in scoring position several times but could not get the hits to drive them in. Bone and Balfour, the two Penticton pitchers, held the Red Sox to three hits. Shannon and Sheeley each getting a double and McNabb a single.

These two teams meet in Summerland on Wednesday evening to play the game that was rained out earlier in the season.

Sunday the Red Sox go to Oliver.

Flowering Shrubs Have Great Value In Making An Attractive Community

The love and enjoyment of the beautiful is an inherent characteristic of every individual although some may develop this appreciation to a higher degree than others. Of all sources of beauty none are comparable to the landscape and none appeal more powerfully to practically all people. The love of country, love of community and the love of home are all very closely associated with the love of landscape. The development of pleasing rural landscapes and well-planted highways and homes is not simply a matter of our own taste and pride of ownership. It is the external sign by which we would have the country's health and beauty known. Citizens working as private individuals cannot generally accomplish the ideals of community improvement. It is only through co-operative and organized efforts of a community's many citizens. Therefore it offers a worthy and a desirable field of service for organizations such as the city parks' board, horticultural society, board of trade, junior chamber of commerce, or any other service club interested in improving the landscape of their community.

The work of such boards or organizations is to initiate and promote projects as well as direct the appreciation and interest of the citizens to the desirability and need of such improvements. Public desire and will of attainment rather than financial resources are the principal requisites of accomplishment in this work. It is never too late or too early to project improvements. Emerson says:

"There's never an end in nature, but every end is a beginning."

Every spring and every fall should witness a revival of associated efforts on the part of civic authorities of community associations and of able citizens to improve and embellish the external condition of their home grounds and localities. Those least appreciative of results in regard to beauty, may be aroused to the effects of increased value to property thus improved.

In the planting of city and suburban residence grounds there seems to be a large field for improvement. Those people who own their own homes in the city and suburban districts are the truest home lovers in the nation and as a class they have the means, the desire and the taste, but unfortunately often lack knowledge in this line of home improvement.

While a householder gladly puts $5,000 or $15,000 into his new house, he regards $50 or $100 as ample outlay for ornamentation of the surrounding grounds, and while he employs an architect or some experienced contractor and pays up to $200 for planning the house, he does not think of consulting a landscape gardener to design the surfacing and plantings, but leaves such things to the casual day laborer, or does it himself with the help of some cheap but misguided advice of his neighbors.

Some architects stipulate before taking a contract that at least one tenth of the cost of a suburban house shall be expended on its proper setting.

For filling in the angles around a house and the corners between its steps and side walls; for extending architectural lines that end too abruptly; for helping to conceal faulty design; for softening hard uncompromising masonry, such as basement and foundation walls and buttresses; for making entrances inviting and for hiding the broken fence or relieving the stiffness of woven wire fence, what should we do without shrubs?

Flowering shrubs as a class have been greatly neglected in this country. In the larger private grounds and in public parks where gardening is carried on as a fine art by professional gardeners, they have received a certain, although limited measure of attention, but in the smaller gardens cultivated more or less by their owners, their charms are now only beginning to be dimly appreciated. Of course there are those half-dozen kinds which meet one's eye everywhere, bridal wreath, lilacs, privet, barberry, caragana and mock orange, but the vast majority so far as the ordinary garden is concerned, are more often conspicuous by their absence. Yet if garden owners would but realize it, they have in the most valuable asset possible in beautifying and diversifying the garden. They give just sufficient variation of level to the general color lines. They break up the flat monotony that too often spoils a small patch of ground. They have none of the overshadowing effects and the abruptness of trees and the range of choice provides a great enchantment of interest.

For filling in the angles around a house and the corners between its steps and side walls; for extending architectural lines that end too abruptly; for helping to conceal faulty design; for softening hard uncompromising masonry, such as basement and foundation walls and buttresses; for making entrances inviting and for hiding the broken fence or relieving the stiffness of woven wire fence, what should we do without shrubs?

Trees cannot be planted next to a house without robbing light and air, but tall shrubs as a background for lower ones take off the sharpness of corners and yet let sunshine stream in at the windows. The home seems to be set in a nest of green instead of springing suddenly from the lawn like a Jack-in-the-box.

Whoever has walked through the grounds from which all the natural undergrowth has been cleared away by an overtly owner realizes that they have lost half their charm.

Shrubs are the natural complement of trees, filling in the gap between the branches and the ground. Intermediate shrubbery with a low growing flowering foreground makes a softly flowing line of descent from a boundary belt of trees.

Trees grow above the height of ones eyes, flowering plants below it, but shrubs that are on a level with the eye, like a well hung picture occupy the most important space in the garden gallery.

People who live on small suburban places where there is room for only a few trees find that tall shrubs planted as a boundary belt make an effective screen from the eyes of passers-by. Purple, golden or variegated leaved shrubs when isolated on a green lawn detached from all connections with the composition lines of planting are far more pleasing and are all the more distracting because this practice is commonly used.

Shrubs however, fill a distant destiny in enlivening masses of shrubbery which without them might be monotonous. They add emphasis, richness and variety of colour and form. Colour can be the chief charm or the greatest offence to the eye. So whenever applied it should be used sparingly and artistically.

Shrubs may perform other important functions under special conditions. Along abrupt slopes, or upon steep banks plantings are important in prevention of severe erosion of the soil and covering the bare and displeasing surfaces that otherwise mar the landscape. Much may be accomplished by planting hardy vines, shrubs and trees adapted to the particular soils and exposures. It is often cheaper to plant a bank with shrubbery than to grade it and seed it to lawn grass. The concavity of a steep hillside may be filled in with shrubbery that will prevent it from slipping or washing.

only nationally but also locally. It proved one thing, namely, that the public exercised a protest vote in respect to the government of the country. It served as a lesson to others that the people are sovereign and public representatives should be in close contact with the people, anxious to help and achieve as much as possible.

"In the Okanagan Boundary area the battle was extremely close. It was a hard and long fight — perhaps, too long, but at all times my good friends, Mr. O. L. Jones, Dr. Mel Butler and Mr. David Pugh were gentlemen, and kept the fight on a high plane. I congratulate each of them for their sportsmanlike qualities.

"Naturally, I am happy the apparent victory was won for Social Credit, especially as the Premier of the Province ordinarily resides in Kelowna.

"I sincerely thank the electors who supported me, together with all the workers, whose efforts made the victory possible. I will use my utmost endeavours to serve all peoples in Okanagan Boundary regardless of party. Something must be done to assist the Fruit and Vegetable Industry and this has caused me deep concern and thought. With natural gas at our doorstep we must do everything we can to attract new industries and co-operate in every way possible to bring this about."

AUTHORIZATION OF SUBDIVISION
Authorization was given at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting for subdivision of the Nurnberg property on Jubilee Road.

This is the land which has been mentioned as the possible site of the new Summerland Co-operative Growers' Packing-house.

It was mentioned that there is to be a bylaw this fall for the Senior Citizens' Home, and possibly another one next year to finance the Health Centre and library.

If the area west of the arena is developed, and there are ideas of this being done, then, the reeve said, the pools would fit well into this setup.

Mr. Hallquist was asked to try to get public opinion in the matter and the general impression of ratepayers as a preliminary step towards the project. He agreed to take this action.

Where Your

More Cents

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

So took up with the election that I didn't have time to be envious of the winners in the Irish sweepstake. I know it is wrong to be envious and particularly of such ill-gotten gains as those acquired in sweepstakes — but I just can't help being envious of someone who for the expenditure of two dollars fifty cents picks up umpteen thousand.

I never buy tickets — not that I object to people taking a mild flutter, but I'm inclined to believe that lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place and as far as I'm concerned lightning has struck.

Yes, I could have been on easy street these past 24 years if I'd had sufficient savvy to recognize dame fortune disguised as a garrulous, rather pathetic little man from a Cheshire racing stables.

Back in 1933 I was on a brief visit to the old country and on an overnight train ride to visit my brother in Wales I met up with Dame Fortune.

Hitler was little more than a comic opera name to most of us in those days and the English people were still stuffy (don't speak to me we haven't been introduced attitude, when travelling) but the pathetic little man who got on at Chester was just bursting to talk so this writer having acquired the Canadian easy going ways of acquaintanceship, surprised him by letting him talk.

This Canadian act evidently impressed the little man for he solemnly asked me to take out pencil and paper and write down what he told me.

Gist of it was that I was to take five quid and put it on a horse named, appropriately enough "Manitoba." Then I was to take my winnings and put it on another horse for the following day. This went on, and on, until I had five horses written down — "Now," said my companion, "them there 'orses 'll all come in an' they're all long shots — you'll pick up a pile of boodle — but nar thar must lissen to me, take every farthin' o' thee winnin's and put 'em on Hyperion for the Derby."

Dutifully I wrote all this down. My companion left the train. Later that day my brother asked casually if I knew of a good thing for the Derby. "Sure," I replied, "straight from the horse's mouth, 'Hyperion'."

That night enroute to London I glanced at a paper. Headlines informed me that Manitoba had won and at nice odds. Too bad I didn't put that five pounds on I mused to myself but I'll bet that's the only winner of the bunch.

And I kept thinking that as day after day the horses (outsiders all) my train companion had named, romped home winners.

I was in the middle of the Atlantic when the wireless message posted "Hyperion wins Derby." Yes Hyperion won the Derby at 33-1.

A character on the boat something of a mathematical genius, took the data I gave him and worked it out. Had I followed the advice I had received free gratis, to the letter, I would have won something in the nature of 80,000 pounds, pounds, mark you, not dollars, and a pound in those days was worth about four dollars fifty.

And when the SS Duchess of York docked at Montreal there was a cable from my brother, "Thanks old man, had twenty on Hyperion."

And so it is that at Derby time I always think of what might have been and then again I think that while life might have been easier I might have lost more than I gained — still I dunno — money isn't everything — but —

School Band Concerts Here And In Penticton

The Summerland High School band will end their musical year with two concerts, one in Penticton and one in Summerland.

The first concert will be held in Penticton Gyro Park on Friday, June 28 and the second will be held in Summerland Park on Saturday, June 29 at 8 p.m. immediately following the monster pancake supper to be put on that evening.

These concerts are in place of the regular spring concerts which, in the past, have been held just before exams. By waiting until the end of June it is hoped that more Summerland residents will be able to hear the concert without too great a loss of revenue to the band. A silver collection will be taken.

Legion Awards Scholarship to Margaret Lott

The Summerland Branch, Canadian Legion scholarship of $250 has been presented to Margaret Lott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Lott, a member of the Grad Class of '57 of Summerland junior-senior high school.

W. C. McCutcheon, president of the local branch, attended an assembly for senior students held on Friday afternoon to make the presentation of the cheque.

Mr. McCutcheon was introduced by the principal, A. K. Macleod, and spoke of the Legion's pride in Canada as a whole, and its interest in promoting and perpetuating the country's welfare through helping individual students.

Margaret won, also, the Women's Institute Rose Bowl, indicative of top work in home economics.

She intends to continue her studies.

Recreation Course Offered July 15-26

The Provincial Recreation Commission is holding a Summer School in Victoria for the week July 15-26, and J. P. Sheeley, chairman of the local Recreation Commission would like to know of anyone who wants to attend the classes.

There are 24 courses offered, having to do with various kinds of recreation including that for senior citizens, square dance calling, games, crafts, etc.

There is very little expense involved in taking a course, and Mr. Sheeley would appreciate hearing from anyone who would like to take advantage of it and to represent Summerland.

Alan Butler Takes Over Laidlaw Dairy

Alan Butler has announced that as of July 1 he is taking over the Noca Dairy Products business from Norris Laidlaw.

Mr. Laidlaw will return to farming.

Doug Dunsdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dunsdon suffered a fractured skull and abrasions at Fort Nelson, when a car in which he was piloting a driver, struck a soft shoulder and he was thrown out.

Doug and his father have been working on bridge construction on the Alaska Highway where the accident happened. He was flown by CPA to Vancouver, accompanied by a nurse, and X-rayed. His condition was found to be good, and Sunday he was flown home for a month's convalescence.

Need For Hotel Here Again Raises Question Of Liquor Plebiscite

W. C. McCUTCHEON, president Summerland branch, Canadian Legion, presents a cheque for $250 to Margaret Lott, winner of the annual scholarship.

Contending that a first class hotel is an imperative need if Summerland is to continue as a self-contained community and also to expand, the Summerland Development Committee of the Board of Trade secured approval of a resolution asking support for the holding of a liquor plebiscite, in the event that such a plebiscite should be requested by any individual or group who may be interested in building a hotel in Summerland.

The original resolution, which was submitted at last Thursday's regular meeting the trade board, asked that the Board of Trade urge a "yes" vote on a plebiscite, but this was amended after members of the development committee explained that what was sought was a means of approach to any person or group contemplating a hotel investment.

The committee pointed out that it was unlikely that anyone would be interested in building a hotel in Summerland unless it could be licensed and that the first issue to be faced would have to be the holding of a plebiscite.

The development committee as a result of the passage of the resolution, a near-unanimous vote, will be able to assure prospective hotel builders that the Board of Trade approves the holding of a plebiscite to ascertain the wishes of the people.

In the 1952 plebiscite, Summerland voters balloted 64 per cent against any change in the liquor laws with 1,099 casting votes against and 632 in favour.

In September 1954, Summerland voters by a slim margin rejected beer parlors and cocktail lounges in this district and with a firmer voice turned down clubs and liquor with restaurant meals.

Beer parlors found greatest favor with the voters. Affirmative vote totalled 574 with 601 against.

Cocktail lounges came next with 528 favoring and 609 votes opposing. Liquor with restaurant meals was rejected 645 to 360, while clubs were turned down 646 against 343.

A total of 1,224 voters turned out for the plebiscite, 61.2 per cent of the 2,001 qualified to cast ballots. There were 705 rejected ballots because voters were not clear as to how to mark ballots.

Needed for approval of any of the four types of licenses was 55 per cent of the valid votes cast on that particular question.

It is estimated that there are well over 2,300 now on the provincial voters' list in Summerland and West Summerland.

Plans To Aid Retarded Children Move Forward

Dr. T. H. Anstey was appointed chairman of the chapter of the Association for Retarded Children of B.C., which was formed here last night at a largely attended meeting held in the high school library.

R. S. Oxley was chairman for the meeting.

Mrs. J. Y. Towgood and Mrs. E. E. Bates are the vice-presidents; secretary, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh; treasurer, I. H. Solly. The directors are Mr. Oxley, W. H. Durick, V. Durnin and Rev. A. A. T. Northrup.

The indications are that a school for local handicapped children will be started here this fall.

Mrs. W. Goepel, executive director for the Association for Retarded Children of B.C. spoke of the needs, organization, and objects of the society, and stated that the government grant for the children attending could be obtained by September.

Dr. L. A. Kerwood, medical superintendent of Woodlands school, New Westminster, spoke interestingly. He said that he believed handicapped children were better in their own homes as a rule, augmented by special teaching.

Dr. Anstey's personal opinion was that the school would be started in Summerland in September.

There are tentative plans for a teacher and helper.

An Example To Be Followed

STAND almost anywhere in Summerland lakeside, or in West Summerland and lift your eyes beyond the immediate terrain and they will be met by a vista of trees, or mountain, or lake, or all of them combined in a magnificent panorama of breathtaking beauty. But what of the foreground?

Unfortunately neither Summerland lakeside nor West Summerland can be described as semitillating jewels, adding to the lustre of nature's handiwork and in many respects they detract rather than add.

Only time it seems, will be able to restore to lower Summerland the full beauty of a waterfront unimpaired, but here in West Summerland we could perhaps do something to improve the appearance of our town.

West Summerland's Main Street, for example, would hardly inspire an artist to seek his paint brush, but even so, it would be comparatively easy to beautify it.

One has only to journey to Osoyoos to appreciate what can be done with trees. The business district of Osoyoos cannot boast of anything more striking in the way of buildings than those that stand on Summerland's Main Street, but the harsh look of Osoyoos buildings is softened by the green of young elm trees.

We could do the same with at least two blocks of Granville Street. A stately avenue of trees extending from the high school to the IOOF hall corner on the one side and up past the Super-Valu store, Municipal Hall and Box-Factory office on the other, would serve to enhance the entire length of the street.

Osoyoos is very proud of its tree-lined thoroughfares. Some businessmen, we understand, opposed the idea of trees but down Osoyoos way they evidently set store on appearances and they are adding more trees and the young and stately elms are now being planted at 30-yard intervals.

Root damage to sidewalks and other installations is being avoided in Osoyoos by planting the trees in sunken barrels, which serve to send the roots straight down.

Osoyoos is to be congratulated on its tree-lined streets — and we see no reason why, to some degree, Summerland should not follow the example set by the pleasant village which, as the first community to be seen by visitors crossing the border into the Okanagan valley, is a credit to Canada.

Orchard Notes

By ALEX WATT
Apple Scab—
Frequent rains during the past few weeks have favoured the development of Apple Scab. The disease is recognized by sooty spots formed on the leaves and fruit. In the beginning stages only the leaves are affected and the spots are brownish grey raised areas which later turn black. Humid rainy weather and relatively high temperatures greatly favour the development of this disease. It is a chronic problem in humid areas such as on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Although past history has recorded very little Scab in Summerland even during the wet years of 1954 and '55 it is worthy of note that Scab has been making its appearance in the South Okanagan in recent years — often in places where it was not seen before.

This year some Scab has already been seen in the Summerland and also the Westbank area. Bearing this in mind it would seem wise for growers to take preventive measures for checking the spread of this disease.

An application of Ferbam Maneb or Ziram with the cover sprays now being applied will protect apples against further infection should more rain occur at the end of this month.

Hotel An Urgent Need

SUMMERLAND undoubtedly needs a first class hotel.

A community without a first class hotel, particularly a community within the tourist holiday belt, is hamstrung in whatever field of promotion it embarks.

It is, perhaps, unfortunate, that in these days a hotel is synonymous with "licensed premises," so much so that it is doubtful if Summerland will ever have an hotel unless it approves the sale of liquor.

The decision, of course, rests with the people, but we think that the Board of Trade was fulfilling its function of leadership when, last Thursday, it went on record as favoring a plebiscite on the issue, if and when the occasion arises.

In fairness to those who voted for this resolution and to the Board of Trade as a whole, it must be pointed out that in no way did the members of the Board of Trade commit themselves to vote "yes" or to advocate a "yes" vote. But the Board of Trade is committed to seeing to it that a plebiscite is held, should an individual or group come forward with satisfactory proposals for a hotel.

Slow Down And Live

BRITISH COLUMBIA has joined all other areas of Canada and the United States in a SLOW DOWN AND LIVE program on the highways, with special emphasis on the period from June 1st until Labor Day. Public observance of the program will lead to a reduction in the appalling highway toll now facing B.C. and the nation. Police forces throughout the province will be placing special emphasis on the problem of the speeding and the Motor Vehicle Branch will provide support to the police action by suspending the driving licences of motorists who repeat in receiving speeding convictions.

If we are going to SLOW DOWN AND LIVE, it will be essential for the drivers to realize it is they who will make it possible. Police action will admittedly deter some violators but the drivers will have to work hard to discipline themselves in habits of driving at speeds not in excess of those that are safe, nor in excess of the speed limits posted off our highways.

Accident statistics recently released indicate B.C. drivers continue to be involved in an increasing number of accidents. April figures have one bright light in that fatal accidents did show a substantial decline. Is this a result of a desire to SLOW DOWN AND LIVE? Possibly. If so, let's hope it continues!

Statisticians have arrived at some answers to the question of what the chances are of being killed at different speeds in motor-vehicle accidents.

From 41-50 m.p.h. chances are 1 in 88
51-60 m.p.h. 1 in 31
61-70 m.p.h. 1 in 7
Over 80 m.p.h. you don't have a chance!

Mid-Week Message

DO IT YOURSELF

Thought for today—Why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?

Luke 6:46

Millions of suburbanites have bought their own homes and are now responsible for the maintenance of their property. This has made it necessary for many of these people to learn some of the handicrafts, such as painting, carpentry and the skills of general house repair.

The "Do It Yourself" movement has produced many pamphlets, books and magazines which are designed to aid the office worker, bank teller, and the executive as he uses his hands and develops his muscles in general repair work about the house and yard.

It is quite easy to talk about Christ and Christian life, but it is much more difficult for the novice to apply Christian doctrines to the everyday affairs of life, Jesus says, in words that are all too clear and easy to understand that life is more than talk. It is certainly not easy to put Christianity into practice but it is required. In the area of behavior and social relations Jesus says in effect, "Do It Yourself."

Listen to Jesus' words:

Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father. — Matthew 7:21.

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we have talked too much and said too little. We have talked too much and done too little. Help us now as we determine to make our actions more effective. In Jesus' name. Amen.

New Look Is Given Peach Orchard

"Never underestimate the power of a woman" seems to be a well-known adage, and down Peach Orchard way, was proven last week. The municipal beach in Peach Orchard is so cleaned up that it looks like a different spot.

Mrs. McNabb, Mrs. W. Mortimer, Mrs. Melvin Pollock, Mrs. Ivar Nilson (and Mr. Nilson), decided that something should be done, and even were up at five in the morning to do it.

They tidied the spot up; the grass has all been cut down, and with paint supplied by the municipality the tables and furnishings are being painted.

K. M. Blagborne reports that the municipal crew, who helped in different ways, is delighted with the co-operation received, and the efforts show wonderful results. The same could be done in other places in the community, Mr. Blagborne says.

Two visitors from Vancouver staying at Ivar's Tent Camp, Mr. and Mrs. George Hinder, joined in the fun and worked along with the group to make the transformation.

Ken Hickson New Legion Secretary

Ken Hickson of Trout Creek has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the local branch of the Canadian Legion. Mr. Hickson succeeds I. P. Phillips, whose resignation was accepted with regret.

The new appointment was made at the regular meeting on Wednesday evening.

At the same session announcement was made that Miss Margaret Lott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Lott would be awarded the Canadian Legion scholarship for $200.00. This scholarship is for a graduating student was established last year, and the first award was made to John Cuthbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cuthbert.

The Baptist Women's Missionary Society met in separate session all day Tuesday, joining with the general convention on Wednesday. All phases of work and advance were considered. Thirteen missionaries are to go to the new Baptist African field of Angola this year, it was reported.

Mayor Carey of Nelson—a Baptist layman—brought greetings to the Baptist delegates on Wednesday evening as did Rev. H. A. Whitmore, formerly of Summerland United Church. Mr. Whitmore spoke for the Nelson Ministerial Association.

Encouragement that work in B.C. is advancing steadily and assurance that the needs consequent to B.C.'s rapid development will be met was anticipated in the appointment of a B.C. field secretary. Previously there was only one such secretary for all of western Canada.

Baptists of B.C. have entered a wider field of Christian service having acquired Buelah Garden Homes for senior citizens. This is a low rental residential property containing 22 units and four and a half acres of land to be developed.

Camping facilities throughout the province have grown and camps are a strong factor in leading many young people to a personal faith in Christ, it was reported, and often to make full-time service commitment.

A report of Baptist work among French Canadians was a thrilling story as presented by Rev. H. C. Wilkinson of the Grande Linge Mission of Quebec.

Christian Education in its many aspects was discussed by the B.C. Girls' Work Director, Miss Grace Barritt; the principal of the Women's Leadership School at McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario, Miss Lois Tupper; and the Christian Education Director, Rev. A. Murphy of Edmonton.

The convention was conducted by Francis Hadley, a layman from First Baptist Church, Vancouver, retiring president. Rev. R. F. Filler of Grandview Baptist Church, Vancouver, is the new president.

H. V. Stent Heads Teachers' Group

H. V. Stent was elected president of the Summerland Teachers' Association for the coming year at the annual meeting held in the room of the high school on June 11 in the home economy building. Clarke Wilkin, president, was in the chair.

Vice-president is K. D. McInnes; secretary, D. M. Loan; treasurer, W. Schwab; education, Mrs. L. Hunt, in-service education, Mrs. E. E. Bates; publicity, Mrs. C. W. Reinertson; salary, A. B. Brandon; social, Mrs. M. Bouey; welcome committee, F. J. Bevis.

It was decided to hold a picnic for members and their families after school on Friday, June 21. The social committee under Mrs. M. Bouey was left to plan final details.

The main feature of the meeting was a presentation of gifts to Mr. Wilkin and W. H. Durick, both of whom were leaving the staff of the local high school after many years of service here. In making the presentation, past president, A. D. Gately, expressed the warm appreciation of the whole membership for the many benefits the Association has enjoyed through the efforts of Mr. Wilkin and Mr. Durick. Mr. Gately's expression of good wishes to these teachers in their new positions was heartily endorsed by all present.

Paintings Shown By Mrs. A. Mann

A large number attended the one-man show of paintings by Mrs. A. J. Mann held for the past two weeks in the Board Room of the Okanagan Regional Library at Kelowna.

Various artists are invited to show their works during the year and anyone interested may attend.

Mrs. Mann's vigorous style is known in Summerland and besides a number of large canvases, two groups of small colorful paintings were shown and several silk screen pictures.

Mrs. Mann is an associate member of the Sereograph Society of Canada and is preparing five silk screens for the Society's exhibition in Toronto this fall.

Fire Blight

Fire blight is showing up in some districts. At this stage blighted shoots should be removed by cutting at least one foot below the last sign of the disease. Tools and cuts should be disinfected with formula 19 on your spray chart. Since new infections enter the tree through secondary blossoms, it is essential that all secondary blossom be removed.

MACS TAKE VERNON FOR TWO

Summerland Macs inched up on the league leading Kelowna Orioles over the weekend when they copped both ends of a double header against Vernon 10-9 and 7-2 while the best the Orioles could do was to split their twin bill with Oliver. At Kamloops, Princeton Royals and the Kamloops Okonots also stared honors in double-header play. Summerland Macs had to stave off a fierce three run Vernon rally in the last of the seventh which brought them to within one run of knotting the count, Summerland Macs winning 10-9.

Al Hooker pitched the distance, yielding seven hits, one a healthy three-bagger in the fourth by Russ Keckalcho which put Vernon back in the game. Summerland bats boomed for 14 hits, six of which were two-baggers.

Don Cristante poled out two doubles, with Weeks, Taylor, Hooker, and Jomori coming through with the others.

In the second game Don Cristante pitched a winner through nine innings, yielding only six hits, while the Macs got to Hays for 12. It was a scoreless game up to the sixth when with one away Weeks started the Macs on their way with a single, Robert nicked Hay for a second single, Parker went out, Taylor followed with a third bingle and Al Hooker cleared the bases with his timely two bagger and then Egeley came through with a second two base hit in the inning to drive in Hooker. Altogether a five hit hitting spree, three singles and two doubles, adding up to four runs. Macs added two more runs in the seventh on Al Hooker's second double of the game.

Vernon never did get going and when the smoke cleared they were on the losing end of a 7-2 score.

Summerland Softball Nine Continues Winning Ways

Macs Cafe Aces continue their winning ways but the Pentiction Chevrons are hard on their heels, only two points behind the league leading Summerland nine.

Last Thursday the Macs took the Pentiction Greyhounds 8-2 and on Monday they whitewashed Valley Motors 5-0.

Next scheduled game of the industrial softball league will be played Thursday, Summerland Macs vs. Valley Motors, game time 7 p.m., place Summerland Memorial Park.

Rifle Club Opens Season

Rifle shooting on the Garnet Valley Range officially got under way on Sunday, June 9, with 14 marksmen in attendance.

Ted Piers was high man with a score of 97 out of a possible 105. Other scores were as follows: Steve Dunsdon, 95; Ron Taylor 95; Bert Simpson, 93; Geo. Dunsdon, 93; Ray Blagborne, 92; Barry Piers, 90; Harold Richardson, 89; Art Dunsdon, 88; Phil Richardson, 83; Ron Dunsdon, 80; Wayne McCargar, 75; Cliff Dunsdon, 73; Cliff Shannon, 50 (two range only).

Nine members attended the practice shoot on Sunday, June 16, and it was decided to shoot two ten-shot matches, using the 200 and 500 yard ranges only. Art Dunsdon was top scorer with 48 out of a possible 50 at 200 yards, and 49 at 500 yards, for an aggregate of 97 points. Bert Simpson finished in second place with scores of 45 at 200 yards and 49 at 500 yards for a total of 94 points. Other scores were: Steve Dunsdon, 86; Ray Blagborne, 83; Harold Richardson, 82; Phil Richardson, 80; Cliff Dunsdon, 78; Ron Dunsdon, 78;

George Dunsdon 47 (shot 500 yards only).

It was decided that two ten-shot matches will be held each week instead of the usual three seven-shot matches, as it will eliminate so much changing of targets, thus allowing the men to be home by noon.

Next Sunday some of the local members will attend the Annual Invitation shoot at Kelowna, so there will be no shooting on the local range.

Fishing Notes

By BERT BERRY

Okanagan Lake—Some nice reports from trrollers. No large fish reported this week but a four and a three pounder caught last week. Best reports from up Wilson Landing area, both spinning and trolling.

Fish Lake Camp—Fish Lake reports still good, fly fishing has gone off, but trolling has held up good. Upper lakes are improving, best reports from Island Lake.

Headwaters Camp—Lots of fish, not too big but lots of action.

Glenn Lake—Still no reports but if the fry planted last year are growing they should be big enough now.

Peachland—Good fishing this last weekend up to 2-lbs. caught.

Silver Lake—Some good reports from here.

Bear Lake—No reports but should be O.K.

Espron—No reports from here.

Shannon Lake—Bass are biting better now.

Agur Lake—No reports but if you hit it right should be good.

Garnet Valley Dam—Some nice catches of Easterns, good if you know the holes.

Summerland's Junior Red Sox Continue to Lead Junior League

The Summerland Junior Red Sox picked up their second league win of the week by defeating the Oliver Juniors, in Oliver, by a 7-5 score.

Summerland opened the scoring in the first inning with a single and a walk and a long triple by Larry Lemke. Oliver got one back in the third and four big ones in the fourth to go ahead 5-2. Bruce Lemke, who had started on the mound was relieved by McNabb with the four runs charged to McNabb. Carlton Sheeley came in to pitch in the 6th and shut out Oliver for the rest of the game. Summerland tied up the game in the sixth with singles by Lemke, Pennington and McNabb. The go-ahead runs came in the eighth when, with two on and two out, Biollo connected with a long single to win the game.

It was a heavy hitting game with Oliver picking up 12 and Summerland 16. Summerland didn't make an error and Oliver made only one. In his third relief of the season, Sheeley pitched his 5th win. He has now pitched 39 innings, and allowed three runs. Larry Lemke was the hitting star of the day, hitting the ball solidly every time up and getting credit for three hits.

He shared the hitting honors with Harold Biollo. They both looked very good in the field.

Next Sunday these two teams meet in Summerland and a good crowd should be out to support the boys. They are playing very good ball and lead the league. After the league game an exhibition game will be played against the Vernon Juniors.

It was a well-played game, completed in just two hours. Pentiction made three errors and Summerland three. Summerland was hitting the ball well and got ten hits including a double by Bob Sheeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dyck

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dyck Going To Make Their Home at Kamloops

Peonies and delphiniums graced the altar of the Church of the Holy Child, West Summerland, when Fr. A. M. Meulenbergh united in marriage Teresa Caroline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kohlhauser and Frederick Dyck of Kamloops at an afternoon ceremony on June 8.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a beautiful gown of white net inset with Chantilly lace, with Peter Pan collar, fitted bodice, and lily point sleeves. The bouffant skirt over hoops gathered into panniers and fell to waltz length. Her chapel veil of silk illusion net was edged with rhinestones and pearls, and gathered to a halo hat encrusted with lace. Completing the charming ensemble was a shower bouquet of red roses, and stephanotis.

During the signing of the register Miss Linda Betuzzi sang, "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," accompanied by the organist, Mrs. H. Schaeffer.

Lace and net were posed over crinolined gowns of the bridal entourage, both cousins of the bride. As maid of honor, Miss Gerda Kahlert's attractive gown in ballerina length was yellow taffeta misted over with layers of net. The bridesmaid, Miss Linda Brindl, wore a ballerina length model of blue, fashioned with lace paneling in the skirt and a lace bolero worn over a strapless bodice. Both wore white blossoms for their floral headpiece and carried nosegay bouquets of carnations.

Alfred Kohlhauser, brother of the bride, was the best man while ushers were George Kohlhauser, brother of the bride and George Kahlert, cousin of the bride.

A three-tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table with vases of roses grown in Mrs. Cronan's garden at Port Coquitlam.

About one hundred guests enjoyed a turkey dinner served by the Catholic Women's League.

The bridal toast was proposed by the bride's uncle, Joe Mayrhofer, which was responded to by the groom. Grace was asked by Mrs. Anna Wolfe. Telegrams were read from Saskatchewan and Kamloops. Following the dinner dancing was enjoyed by friends of the young couple.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. Brindl, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mayrhofer, Mr. and Mrs. S. Erlenson, Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. F. Kahlert and family, Salmon Arm; Mr. and Mrs. J. Yaeger, Mrs. K. Engelman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Manarin, N. Kummer, D. Manarin, Mr. and Mrs. T. Schmidt, Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hafner, Mr. Bill Neumann and family of Naramata; Mr. and Mrs. F. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. I. According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

A friendly critic of mine asked me on Tuesday what I had dreamed up for this column this week. I told him that I hadn't yet dreamed up anything and hadn't the foggiest idea of what I was going to write about — and here it is at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday and I still haven't got the foggiest idea of what I'm going to put in this column.

I could, according to the mood, do a little bit of ranting at the choice of a centennial project about which I just heard. Frankly I don't think it a good choice, not that I'm against libraries and reading, but I don't think a library building, or room, in West Summerland makes for an equitable centennial project, embracing the entire community. But it so happens that the powers that be favored the library idea and the people hereabouts didn't, for the most part, appear to give a tinker's dam what project was decided upon so, there we have it, and those who don't like it, but who didn't bother to express opinion on alternatives, should now hold their peace.

That phrase "I don't give a tinker's dam" used so widely today as a more forcible way of saying "I couldn't care less," actually means something that is worthless. Back in the days of the travelling tinker, the man who repaired kettles and pans, used to make a mud or clay dam to catch melted solder and when the job was finished the little dam was brushed away. Yup! that's right, I just looked it up in Websters.

Having done a spot of griping and a spot of educating it is only natural that my thoughts should turn to the youngsters who this week say goodbye to their schools with two long months of freedom ahead.

Kids though, don't appear to be so excited at getting out of school as the kids of my day did.

From some deep inner motivation we burst out of school and ran and ran chanting "oliday, 'oliday school's afire three men set it afire — oray!" and we didn't stop until we had put a good distance between ourselves and the grim building called school.

Still I think schooling made a deeper impression on kids in those days than it does today.

Not so long ago I was trying to get the name of a teacher in a Penticton school. I asked a youngster who had come up through the school to run off the names of his teachers, knowing that when the name was mentioned it would ring a bell.

The youngster stuttered and stammered and finally gave up, he just didn't remember, and the kid is by no means a moron. Since then, out of curiosity I have quizzed several youngsters and I still have to get a clear cut answer.

I've lived a lot of life since I left school but I can still remember my teachers, going right back to infant school.

Miss Tingley was the first one. She had more than suspicion of a moustache and also carried a wart on her chin out of which grew four long hairs. She also had a ruler which seemed to be reserved exclusively for rapping knuckles. Miss Dawes was the head mistress of the infant school and she had a cane, the swishy kind. Discipline started right at the bottom, where it should. No frills, no games, the three "R's" in their simplest forms — but it was sound basic training. The infant school was the only co-educational schooling I ever got. Boys and girls went to the same school, but there was the girls' side and the boys' side. Only time together was at morning and afternoon assembly.

A Miss Armstrong, and believe me she certainly had a strong arm, was standard one teacher. We six and seven year olds didn't appreciate Miss Armstrong. She was a looker and always had escorts packing her books and parcels to and from school.

Miss Arnold, a Junoesque type blonde was next in the line. I think she was the only teacher I had who didn't use a cane. But her boy friend was the teacher of standard five, he was also known to us as a man of great strength who had picked up two unruly boys, the biggest and toughest in his class, one in each hand and bumped their heads together until they howled for mercy. He kept an eye on Miss Arnold's class and occasionally stepped in to look us over with a stern eye.

Then there was Mr. Pogson, "Poggy." A fiend for grammar.

We started the school newspaper in Poggy's class. I was, a grim shadow of things to come, the editor. I wrote a strong editorial demanding the right to comment without fear or favor on our teachers. The paper, two foolscap sheets, appeared. Poggy told me to stand up. I stood in fear and trembling, thinking the editorial had me in hot water — it had — but not for comments. "I am appalled, not at the sentiments expressed here," thundered Poggy, waving my first paper, "but at the atrocious construction."

Ah well, so much for school days — and so much for this column.

Work Party at Camp Sorec Prepares for Opening Day June 30

Today there has been a big work party at Camp Sorec making ready for the hundreds of boys and girls and adults who will be enjoying this lovely spot on the south side of Trout Creek during July and August. There are all sorts of things to prepare around the grounds, in the kitchen, and on the beach. Voluntary workers each year hospitably make the campsite habitable.

It is felt that these summer camps are playing a big part in Christian education and are particularly worthwhile.

On June 30 the United Church Junior boys camp starts. Already it is over-registered so that there will be a full camp. A newly-ordained minister, Rev. George Searcey, who is under appointment to Lillooet, will be the director. He will be assisted by Rev. Luther Schuetze of Keremos and others.

Mrs. Art Gronlund had agreed to be the cook for the United Church camps and will be assisted by her daughter, Ruth.

Following the junior boys' encampment there will be two junior girls' camps, then the intermediate girls' camp.

During July Baptist camps will be held.

Cherry Shipments Now Moving

Cherry shipments out of the South Okanagan Valley increased sharply last weekend.

First carload cleared on Thursday June 20th, and through Sunday June 23rd a total of over 8,500 crates have moved to Western Canadian markets. The volume is expected to increase sharply as crops northward ripen under ideal weather conditions.

Small shipments are expected out of the Penticton and Summerland areas during the next few days and officials of B.C. Tree Fruits look for carlot shipments from these points about June 28th. Cherries by that time should be in plentiful supply.

BARBARA BAKER tries her hand at conducting. The pony tail, it is said, operates in the best music conductor's traditional manner. Barbara will help to conduct at the 5th annual Spring Concert to be given by the High School Band Saturday evening, June 28, in the Memorial Park Playground, West Summerland.

New quarters for the West Summerland branch of the Okanagan Regional Library will be Summerland's Centennial project. This was decided at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting by unanimous vote of the council and representatives of the Centennial committee. S. A. MacDonald, chairman, and Lorne Perry, secretary.

The project has been debated at a number of council meetings with various ideas suggested which narrowed down to the library and the swimming pool.

Councillor F. M. Stuart, while not opposed to the swimming pool thought that financing of it presented a difficulty since the Centennial money only amounts to about $5,000 while the cost of the pool and change-houses has been estimated at $35,000.

"While I would like to see a pool," Councillor W. B. Powell said, "I do not think it feasible under this plan."

Councillor Norman Holmes said he would like to see some organization get behind the swimming pool undertaking, suggesting the Parks Board or a service club. He thought the idea should not be dropped.

Councillor E. M. Tait was not present but at previous meeting.

David Pugh To Try Again

A determination to capture Okanagan Boundary for the Progressive Conservatives at the next election was expressed at an enthusiastic nomination meeting of the Okanagan Boundary Progressive Conservative Association held in Penticton this week.

The delegates gave warm approval to David Pugh, Oliver businessman, who carried the standard in the recent election, by nominating him for a second try.

Jubilant over the resurgence of the party under the leadership of John Diefenbaker, the Okanagan Boundary delegates expressed confidence that next time, this riding will follow John.

All day Monday closing will come into effect in Summerland starting July 1.

Monday closing was adopted by the Retail Merchants Association after considerable deliberation and some difference of opinion.

Majority of local merchants believe, however, that in adopting Monday closing they are in step with the trend.

The Retail Merchants Association has also decided to continue with Saturday night opening rather than experiment with Friday. Stores will be open this Saturday until 9 p.m., continuing until the end of the year.

Regular shopping hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Summerland Rotary, Red Cross Swimming Classes Start July 3

Mrs. M. Hyde is to be the instructor assisted by Amy Berry and Barbara Baker. These teachers are the same as last year. Mrs. Hyde reports today that already 250 children have been signed for classes which run from Monday to Friday, inclusive, each week. Last year 300 children took advantage of the instruction and it is expected the number will be about the same this summer.

A new pier has been built by the Rotary Club and two new rafts, one of which has been permanently attached to the existing pier. The dressing houses have been moved and an equipment shed added. As well as this, the Rotarians have built a new pier and diving board, ob-

Legion To Hold Street Carnival

The Canadian Legion is planning to hold a Street Carnival at West Summerland on July 13 starting at 6:30 p.m. At Tuesday afternoon's council meeting, permission was granted for the use of Granville Street from the post office to Laidlaw's corner.

There will be Bingo and other games. All proceeds will be used to provide sports equipment for children.

Hot Cakes and Syrup All You Can Eat for 50 Cents

Something new in the way of a supper is being served from 4:30, to 7 p.m. on Saturday by members of the Kiwanis Club. It's being served right on the street at West Summerland in-between the Main Street at Lorne Perry's office and the lane behind. This area will be shut off and transformed into a giant-sized kitchen.

There Gerry Hallquist and John Dunn will cook pancakes and for 50 cents you may have all the pancakes, butter, syrup and coffee you can manage. If you want bacon with them and pie afterward, the bacon and pie will be extra.

Pancake men will be selling tickets on the street at West Summerland Saturday morning and afternoon, so it will be a good way to feed the family Saturday evening.

After that the High School Band is having a big concert in the park. Lots of people are planning to have supper in town and go to the Band Concert and enjoy a full summer evening's outing.

John Tait Talks on the Value of Hobbies to Local Scout Re-union

On a recent Reunion of Scouts of this district, the group had as their guest, John Tait, of Vancouver, one of the Scoutmasters in the early days.

Mr. Tait spoke to the boys and part of his talk was on the value of having a hobby. A section of his address follows:

One thing I would stress to you all as you grow up and enter your apprenticeship in whatever line you decide to follow: take my advice and be sure to take hold of some hobby, whether it be an indoors' one or an outdoors' one, if you wish to attain four score and ten years, which I am aiming for now, as I follow my hobbies of gardening, bowling, writing and reading.

There are many sports one can follow, but be a player at all times, not a fan nor looker-on. Personally, I love the game of cricket. It was my favorite game for many years — it, and football. In 1893 I helped to form the third football club in my hometown. I had it named the John O'Groats Football Club as we were not far from that location. You may all have heard the phrase — from John O'Groats to Land's End — the farthest north and south points in the British Isles.

When I came to Canada the two first years were spent in Ontario where I had the good fortune to play cricket. After that I wandered West and found Summerland where I spent 41 years. Cricket and football, as well as baseball, were in vogue the first few years I was here. But after the first World War more than half of the Cricket Club members were casualties and never returned. That ended the game in Summerland.

When the Legion boys laid down a bowling green on their grounds soon after the war, I became a member and took up bowling as a pastime, and that has become my chief hobby. I play lawn bowls the full 12 months of the year, outdoor on the green in summer and on the indoor "green" in winter.

Here is a maxim I would like to leave with you:

Do not worry, eat three square meals a day, say your prayers, be courteous to everyone, keep your digestion good, exercise, go slow, go easy. Maybe there are other things that your special case requires to make you happy, but, my friends, these I reckon will give you a good lift.

Okanagan - Boundary federal constituency official election figures place Sacred Frank C. Christian 125 votes ahead of C. F. candidate O. L. Jones.

Returning Officer Don H. McLeod told The Review final tallies show Christian with 7,465; Jones 7,340. Standing third was Conservative David Pugh, who garnered 6,368. Dr. Mel Butler, Liberal, ended fourth with 3,336. Mr. McLeod said there were 113 rejected ballots.

This, he said, meant that of 32,094 eligible voters, 24,622 cast ballots, with 24,509 having a say in the vote.

The official service vote figures are: Christian, 66; Jones, 51; Pugh, 40; Butler, 118.

Dr. Butler's hefty service vote follows the pattern of service voting generally. The forces gave a majority of their ballots to the Liberals.

Before the service vote was counted, Christian led Jones by 108 votes. His lead is now 125.

Returning Officer McLeod's corrected tallies for both the 1957 and 1953 general elections show Christian tallied 78 votes less than his Sacred predecessor Newman, in 1953, not two votes more, as previously reported.

Newman polled 7,543 in 1953 to stand second.

Also, government official records show Jones polled 8,086 votes in 1953 to his 7,340 this time.

Also, in 1953, a total of 20,860 persons voted from a list of 29,562 eligible electors.

Some little time ago an air pilot was scheduled to take a plane with a large number of passengers in an arduous flight over high mountains. Another air pilot, a capable and wise young man, was to be a passenger on the plane. The two got into conversation, and the one in charge of the plane, just before leaving, said he was going to take a "drink" to fortify him for the flight. The other urged him not to take it, but he persisted. During the flight the passenger pilot sat where he could observe the operator, and at the most dangerous part of the flight he noticed him faltering, and went to him and ordered him out of the seat and took control of the plane, and brought it safely to its destination. He presumably prevented a crash and the loss of the lives of those on board.

For the people of a town to desire a "licensed" hotel shows that they are morally blinded to the best interests of the town. Let every voter be assured that a "licensed" hotel would be a disastrous loss to the community and vote against it.

Yours sincerely,

Letters to the Editor
West Summerland,
June 21, 1957.

The Editor,
Summerland Review.

Dear Sir:

After reading the front page article in last week's Review on the need for a liquor plebiscite in connection with the building of a hotel in West Summerland, with the statement of the Summerland Development Committee of the Board of Trade that it is "unlikely that anyone would be interested in building a hotel in Summerland unless it could be "licensed" (that is, licensed to sell alcoholic liquors) something needs to be said about that question.

I agree with your editorial that "Summerland undoubtedly needs a first class hotel"; and with your statement that "It is perhaps, unfortunate that in these days a hotel is synonymous with 'licensed premises,' so much so that it is doubtful if Summerland will ever have an hotel unless it approves the sale of liquor."

The idea some people have of "a first class hotel" is that it is a place where they can go and freely indulge in their taste for liquor to the exclusion of all other interests. This is harmful to the material prosperity of our community; much more so to its moral and spiritual welfare. John Wesley said of the Africa slave trade of two hundred years ago, that it was the execrable sum of all human villainies. Leaving out of mind the slave trade and turning to the drink trade, it can be said that it is the greatest source of evil in our present day civilization. And from it stems loss of business prosperity, loss of physical ability, loss of manly honor, great evil to our children and young people, with many other attendant evils, and finally loss of soul; for the Bible says: "Neither thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God." (1 Cor. 6:10).

If Summerland should ever get a "licensed" hotel, which God forbid! it would inflict a great loss on the community. Summerland, twice in recent plebiscites, has said "No" to the liquor traffic, as well as on every earlier occasion when it was presented. The prophet Isaiah describes a two-day drunken orgy among the rulers of Jerusalem: "Come ye, say they, I will fetch wine, and we will fill ourselves with strong drink; and tomorrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant." (Isa. 56:12). Such a drunken orgy is repeated in towns which have "licensed" hotels, not for two days only, but perpetually. The sensible and discerning tourist will steer clear of such towns, and will replenish his supplies at one of the many smaller districts which have no "licensed" hotel. The fact that the drink trade has to be licensed by the government, proves that it is an evil that has to be kept under control.

A New Okanagan Industry FRUIT GROWERS MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY

Head Office - Kelowna

Facts of Importance to the Insuring Public

Formation of Company was authorized by Fruit Growers in 1955 Convention. Licensed in September, 1955 and, as of May 31st, 1957, has already underwritten 1,750 policies of automobile insurance and 400 policies of orchard casualty insurance and six millions of fire insurance. Orchard casualty policies were first underwritten in July, 1956.

The Superintendent of Insurance has licensed the Company to write insurance for all residents of the areas in which the Company operates.

The following questions have been asked about the Company and the Directors feel the Company should publicly list the questions and the answers thereto.

Q.: Why did the fruit growers start the Company when there were numerous other Companies represented in B.C.?

A.: Because they were unable to purchase satisfactorily the insurance they want in the form in which they wanted it and they felt the premium charge was too high for that which they did buy and they felt the profits from insurance should stay in British Columbia.

Q.: Has this new Company provided insurance coverages that were not readily available before?

A.: Yes, some that were not previously available and others that were available but of which the Public were not aware.

Q.: Has this Company commencing operations caused reduction of premiums for various insurances?

A.: Fire insurance rates have dropped and benefits improved and the Fruit Growers Mutual Insurance Company has further reduced rates in fire insurance effective June 13th, (not as a rate war but because the Company feels the rates can safely reduce further). Automobile insurance rates have dropped in the Fruit area each year since the Company commenced operations but in all other parts of British Columbia the rates increased in 1957. Casualty insurance rates have dropped and benefits improved.

Q.: Will further improvements be made in the coverage provided?

A.: Yes, institution of all possible improvements commensurate with safe operation will be considered.

Q.: Have the fruit growers had any past experience in the insurance business?

A.: Yes, the fruit growers have successfully operated a hail insurance Company for seven years and the average premium charge for hail insurance has reduced to less than half the premiums charged before inception of the grower-owned company.

Q.: Does the Fruit Growers Mutual Insurance Company have the financial strength to safeguard the people who insure with the Company? Can the Company pay all claims?

A.: Yes, the Company not only has a large security deposit placed with the Superintendent of Insurance for the province, but purchases reinsurance from large Canadian licensed insurance companies to guarantee its ability to pay. This is a general practice in the insurance business.

Q.: Are the shareholders of the Company assessable—can the Company assess the members in case of large losses?

A.: No, the Company cannot assess its policyholders or shareholders.

Q.: Can premium charges decrease further?

A.: Yes, but the Company's system will be to further decrease premiums by refunding surplus earnings as dividends. These refunds will be made as a percentage of premium and not based on shareholdings.

Q.: Is the Company being well supported?

A.: Yes, in view of the fact the Company has been busy organizing, the support to date is remarkably good.

Q.: Are losses excessive to date or normal or low?

A.: Losses are somewhat below normal. This is accounted for by good underwriting and the fact that the territory in which we operate is a better than average risk area.

Q.: Where does the Company operate?

A.: From Salmon Arm to the U.S.A. border and in Keremos-Cawston and Creston, but the policies of this Company are recognized elsewhere in Canada and the United States of America in the same manner as policies of other companies.

Q.: Can the average person save enough money to justify him supporting the Company and to warrant the Company having been established?

A.: Yes, many savings have been evidenced to date and it is expected there will be further savings in the future.

Q.: Who is eligible to insure with this Company?

A.: Any resident of the areas in which the Company operates may purchase insurance from the Company provided they meet the requirements and are the holders of a share of the Company valued at $25.00.

Q.: Are Share Certificates transferable and/or redeemable?

A.: Yes.

Q.: Is there an advantage to having a company with Head Office in the province of British Columbia?

A.: Yes, profits remain in British Columbia and it provides employment in British Columbia and protection can be adapted to local needs.

Q.: Can this Company provide lesser premium rates for any other reason than good underwriting?

A.: Yes, the Company has instituted many methods of saving expense. If overhead can be reduced to 20% or 25% of the premium dollar (calculated on basis of reduced premium dollars) the overall cost of insurance can be greatly reduced. This reduced overhead is partially attainable because agents of this Company receive only 8% of the premium dollar as a commission compared to 20% to 35% of a greater premium dollar previously paid as commission to other agents. Head Office expenses are kept to a minimum also.

Q.: How can a locally owned company compete with large, long established companies?

A.: Most of the large, long established companies commenced operations in a smaller way than this locally owned company and amassed their millions over the years. Various reinsurance companies are so confident of this Company's operation that they are willing to supply all the reinsurance necessary to enable this Company to compete with larger, longer established companies.

Q.: Does this Company rate automobile insurance in the same manner as do other Companies?

A.: No, this Company has instituted a new rating system in which the Company sets a basic rate and from there the drivers set their own rate.

Q.: Is this rating recognized as being a sound system of rating?

A.: Yes, the reinsurance companies approve it.

Q.: Does this Company make a special charge for male drivers under the age of twenty-five?

A.: No, this Company abolished that charge as being unfair and other outlets have been known to follow suit. This Company believes a careful under twenty-five driver is as much entitled to the same normal rate as is an over twenty-five driver and charges the premium in accordance with the individual driving record.

Q.: Will this Company issue a "Package" or "Composite" policy?

A.: This Company can issue a more "all embracing" package policy than any yet issued in the area; however the Company will not be issuing such a policy because a person should not be required to buy unwanted insurance in order to get a discount on what he does want. Insurance with this Company is purchased at ultimate cost.

Talmadge McDonald and His Bride Visitors in the Okanagan Valley

Summerland friends will be interested in a recent wedding which took place at Edmonton when Miss Maxine Wallace Bow wore her mother's wedding gown of cream satin and lace trimmed with seed pearls and brilliants for her marriage to Talmadge Brewer McDonald, in the chapel of Robertson United Church Saturday afternoon, June 15.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. R. Bow of Edmonton and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McDonald of West Summerland, B.C.

Rev. Dr. R. Douglas Smith read the marriage lines for the double-ring service which was performed in a setting of white gladioli and Shasta daisies. Mr. Douglas Millson played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's ensemble was complemented with a Colonial bouquet of pink roses and white carnations. Mrs. R. M. Douglas was matron of honor and Miss Dianne Douglas flower girl.

Mrs. Douglas wore a gown of mauve nylon with a bandeau of flowers in her hair. She carried a colonial bouquet of mauve chrysanthemums and pink carnations. The flower girl's frock was of pink nylon. She wore flowers in her hair and carried a nosegay of pink roses and white carnations.

Best man was Kenneth Craig of Calgary and guests were ushered by Arthur Southworth and Walter Boddy.

Presiding at the tea urns at a reception in the church Memorial hall were Miss Christine McIntyre and Mrs. I. Schwass of Lethbridge.

S. H. McCuaig proposed a toast to the bride.

Leaving for a honeymoon in the Okanagan Valley the bride changed to a navy linen suit with navy and white accessories.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. McDonald will reside in Edmonton.

Among the out-of-town guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McDonald, of Summerland.

Lovely Wedding of Anne Brlekovich, James Peel in the United Church

Miss Anne Brlekovich of Vancouver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Brlekovich, West Summerland, was united in marriage with James Frederick Charles Peel, of Vancouver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Peel, Penticton, in a pretty double-ring ceremony in Summerland United Church on Saturday afternoon, June 15, at half past four in the afternoon. Rev. C. O. Richmond was the officiating minister.

White orange blossoms with red and white Sweet William banked with fern indicated the summer season and made the setting for the bridal party.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was lovely in her wedding gown styled in tiers of lace and net over taffeta, crinoline and hoops. The molded bodice was designed with lily point sleeves and mandarin collar trimmed with pearl and sequins. Her finger tip veil was clasped by a pearl and sequin studded tiara. She wore dainty cross earrings and carried red roses to complement her ensemble.

Miss Mary Brlekovich as her sister's maid of honour wore a floor length strapless gown of nylon net and lace over taffeta, coral in colour with a matching stole and hair circlet. Her flowers were yellow roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Shirley Clark of Penticton, and the groom's sister, Miss Margaret Peel of Vancouver, wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honour with matching stoles and circlets. Miss Clark was in pale turquoise, and carried Talisman roses. Miss Peel wore pale yellow and carried pink roses.

The flower girl, Miss Janice son of South Burnaby looked charming in a pale blue short nylon dress with flowered crinoline as she walked down the aisle to the wedding march played by Mrs. Glen Morley, of Penticton, the organist of the church. The flower girl carried a nosegay of baby white mums and pink rosebuds.

Robert Peel of Penticton was best man for his brother, while the ushers were Joe Brlekovich, the bride's brother, and Lyle Scott of Vancouver.

Mrs. R. H. Estabrook of Penticton sang "The Lord's Prayer" prior to the wedding ceremony, and "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

"Open House" Sunday At the F. M. Steuarts'

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Steuart are holding "Open House" to mark the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Washington were married quietly at the United Church Manse June 30, 1932, with Rev. E. W. McKay, the United Church minister at that time, performing the ceremony.

The bride was the former Miss Lona Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Williams. She was attended by her sister, Miss Iris Williams, now Mrs. F. M. Steuart, and the groom's brother, B. T. Washington, was the best man.

streamers and white wedding bells were the decorations with the three-tiered wedding cake arranged with pink and white candles and roses.

D. T. Rollins of Vancouver proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded. The best man gave a toast to the bridal attendants. Harlie Brodie, of Penticton, master of ceremonies, proposed a toast to the parents of the bride and groom.

For motoring to northern parts of B.C. the bride chose a box styled black tweed suit with white accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds.

The young couple will make their home in Vancouver.

Tribute was made to the memory of a loved and loyal member, Mrs. E. L. Famchon, who passed away recently.

Summerland Red Sox Have Bad Day But They're Still On Top

The Summerland Junior Red Sox went down to defeat twice on Sunday; one, a league game, which they lost to Oliver 15-12, and the other an exhibition game against the strong Vernon Hydros 4-0.

The first game against Oliver was a real hard-hitting affair with Summerland picking up 12 hits including a double by McNabb and a double and a triple by Larry Lemke. Oliver collected 13 hits, all singles. Bruce Lemke started on the mound for Summerland and was charged with the loss. He was relieved by Shannon in the 5th after giving up 10 runs. Shannon was scored on four times and was relieved by Sheeley in the sixth. Oliver scored once more in the 9th to make the final score 15-12.

The second game which was seven innings of exhibition ball was a pitchers' battle between Carlton Sheeley and the Vernon pitcher, Bob Christian. Vernon scored all their runs in the 3rd on a walk, an error and two hits. Vernon collected 5 hits and Summerland 2. Summerland had runners on base in every inning but couldn't get the hits to score them.

In other league action Naramata defeated Penticton 4-3. This leaves Summerland two games out in front with over half the schedule completed.

Next Sunday there will be two exhibition games in Summerland against Vernon and Armstrong. The first game to start at 1:30.

The Hi Life

By DOT CARSTON

We'll believe it or not we have reached the end of another school year. Aren't we lucky? Just think you won't have to read this again until next year—that is if the boss rehires me!

It really has been a wonderful year and just think that we're all off into the wild blue yonder for more than two months! Yippee! A lot of us will be working. Some out of town and others right in Summerland. It is nice to see the merchants of Summerland hiring the school students and we really should give them a vote of thanks—here and now!

While I'm busy thanking people I'd like to thank Mr. Godber for putting up with this scatter-brain talk for a whole year and I hope he lets history repeat itself again next year.

Before I bid adios I would like to thank all those who supported the Ogoogan Times.

Enough chatter for this year. So-long

Fishing Notes

By BERT BERRY

Okanagan Lake Fishing has been pretty good this last week. Fish up to 3 lbs have been caught. Nice fishing up around Wilson's Landing both trolling and spinning off the rocks.

Fish Lake Camp Fish lake has been O.K. trolling in the mornings and evenings, not so active on the fly. Upper lakes starting to come on with best reports out of Island Lake.

Headwaters Fishing Camp Not too many reports from here this last week but indicate lots of fish though not any big ones caught.

McDonald and Brenda No reports from here but should be good.

Silver Lake If you can hit it right is well worth a trip.

Bear Lake High water storage has slowed fishing down but should improve from now on.

Richter Lake A few reports from here, fishing still O.K. Saw Mill Lake O.K.

Oyama Lake Fish up to three pounds on the fly.

I would like to comment on this coming weekend of fishing. If you are planning on a fishing holiday you should be sure of accommodations before you go; so as not to have your holiday spoiled. Better still, take a camping outfit with you.

CENTENNIAL PROJECT

The swimming pool setup could be built under a bylaw as a municipal project, Reeve F. E. Atkinson told the meeting. Mr. Atkinson felt that the Centennial money did not represent a big enough percentage of the cost and doubted if the provincial Centennial Committee would approve the pool under these circumstances.

He thought the time was not ready for it since the council plans to build a Senior Citizens' Home starting this fall and next year a Health Centre. Mr. Atkinson's idea was that it might be a long-range part of development of the West Summerland Memorial Park.

S. A. MacDonald, chairman of the Centennial committee didn't think the swimming pool was a practical Centennial commitment.

Lorne Perry was not against the pool but his opinion was that the library, with its increasing circulation, served all ages and would be the most acceptable to the majority of residents, worthwhile and permanent.

On motion of Councillor Stewart, seconded by Councillor Holmes, the library project was passed unanimously.

Reeve Atkinson thanked and commended G. Hallquist for the work he had done in getting statistics about swimming pools, and for his enthusiasm, suggesting that public opinion in the matter be sought, and plans made for it as a future development.

METZ, France — A two-year overseas posting with the Royal Canadian Air Force may occasion some barriers of language and problems of counting foreign currency, but for pretty Corporal Joyce Schmidt, 22, of Lemberg, Sask., and Summerland, B.C., the once-in-a-lifetime chance to travel abroad more than compensates for such difficulties.

Five years ago, Joyce was just finishing her high school education in the Summerland High School, when the training and travelling opportunities offered to young women in the RCAF caught her fancy. The following November she joined the regular forces of the RCAF and has since become a trained fighter controller operator.

After completing a two-month basic training course at St. Johns, Quebec in January, 1953, Cpl. Schmidt, daughter of Mrs. E. Schmidt of Park Royal, West Vancouver, took a further specialized course at RCAF Station Clinton, Ont. In the following four years she was stationed at various radar units across Canada.

In April of this year, she was posted to the radar squadron of the RCAF Air Division in Europe, where, as a fighter controller operator, she became part of the crew of men and women whose important duty lies in vectoring Canadian all-weather CF-100s and Sabre day fighters to unidentified aircraft. She will remain with the overseas radar squadron for a two-year period.

Important though her work is, Cpl. Schmidt has found that there's more to the Air Force than airplanes and working hours. Sight-seeing and travelling in European countries form an exciting part of the weekends and holidays. She has already visited Switzerland, France, Germany and Luxembourg.

Horticulturists Garden Visiting

Garden visiting made a delightful evening for members of the Summerland Horticultural Society on Friday evening, June 21. The lovely garden of Mr. H. G. Fisher on Hospital Hill, with its beautiful view, was the first on the itinerary, and the shrubbery and flowers were admired.

Next place of call was Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Elliott's garden in Parkdale, where the roses were beautiful and the lilies were beginning to bloom.

Finally the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Snow on Quinpoole Road. Mr. Snow had a fine border of polyanthus roses in flower, other specimen roses, and an eye-pleasing rockery full of bloom.

On going back to the Anglican Parish Hall a short business meeting was held. It was announced that the Rose Show would be on July 6, with other flowers to be entered as well.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. F. Ward and Mrs. K. B. Thomson.

Mayonnaise, salad dressing, French dressing and sour cream are all good with apple salads. A small amount of horseradish, ginger, cinnamon, peanut butter, crumbled cheese or chives may be added. Any added flavor should blend well with the salad.

Mr. and Mrs. E. White Travel 10,000 Miles

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. White returned Sunday evening from a seven-weeks' trip in which they travelled over 10,000 miles by train and car.

They went from Summerland by train to Toronto where they had arranged for a new car, and motored in it for the rest of the trip, first bit of which was to Montreal.

In eastern Canada they visited the factories, sources of supply for Macil's at West Summerland which they own and operate. They were in clothing, hosiery and yardage houses, noting trends and doing some ordering, so that Macil's and Summerland people in general will benefit from the trip.

Mrs. White's reaction was that the styles here are just about the same as those in the east, and there did not seem to be much difference.

They drove down the eastern seaboard visiting in each state, staying in New York and in Washington, D.C., where they were taken on a tour of the White House, government buildings and the embassies by a relative.

Then they went to Beebe, Arkansas, where Mrs. White's mother lives, and where it was very hot.

After a visit with her they started home by way of Texas to Salt Lake City, through Yellowstone National Park and home. The distance on the speedometer from Beebe to Summerland was 2,907 miles.

And what is their reaction? Both Mr. and Mrs. White say that they have seen no place where they would sooner live than Summerland.

The Canadian primary textile industry comprises the establishments engaged in manufacturing or preparing textile fibres—cotton, wool, silk, and the various synthetics — and in spinning, weaving, felting, knitting, dyeing and finishing these fibres and products made from them.

The general opinion was one of approval at definite advance in technique and quality. This opinion was echoed by professional artists and the remarks made that the Summerland Club is one of the most active painting groups in B.C., as well as having outstanding talent.

The art club was very fortunate that Vaughan Grayson (Mrs. A. J. Mann) added to the showing by her large canvas of an Okanagan scene. This work stood out as a focal point of the exhibit, its strong warm composition and broad manner of treatment delighted the eye. Irvine Adams, the well known local artist whose medium is pastel, very kindly loaned his painting of Revelstoke mountain, which has the finished quality of a craftsman.

The show offered many types of mediums, water-color, pastel and charcoal, also some delightful linos done last winter for greeting cards. In a show of this size it is hard to choose any one canvas for comment. The visitors, many of whom came from other points up and down the valley, enjoyed the portraits, several catching well the character and likeness of their subjects. Visitors also remarked with pleasure on seeing familiar local scenes, and portrayal of Okanagan color. Several still lifes and abstracts were much enjoyed, these being works done in studio throughout the winter.

Although, perhaps not appealing to the public as much, these studies prove very helpful to the artist.

Mrs. Mary Smith of Peachland, who joined the group last winter, showed some clear and appealing water-colors.

Tea was served through the afternoon, convened by Mrs. M. Babcock and Mrs. Gus Johanson. The beautiful flower arrangements throughout the hall were done by Mrs. M. Collas, and were much enjoyed.
