Nineteen Finalists In Six Classes To Compete For Six Kiwanis Music Scholarships Friday Night

Carrying out their policy of encouraging and giving assistance to young people, the Kiwanis Club of Summerland is busy with the 2nd annual Music Festival. Taking the school census at approximately 1,000 and the fact that 60 were entered in the elimination contest, at least six per cent of Summerland boys and girls are studying music of one kind or another, another interesting fact brought out by the competition, though, no doubt, the percentage is higher than these figures indicate.

Eliminations were held Saturday from 9.30 in the morning until noon, and from 1.30 until about 3.30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Judges for the instrumental and vocal numbers, heard in the morning, were Mrs. Glen Morley of Penticton; Mrs. Bob Alstead, Trout Creek; and Herb Pohlmann, former conductor of Summerland Town Band. In the afternoon for the piano entries, judges were Mrs. G. C. Harper, Mrs. Alstead, Trout Creek; and Dr. T. H. Anstey, superintendent of the Experimental Farm.

Final competition is on Friday night in the High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Harold Ball of Oliver will judge the piano class; Glen Uegama, Ronnie Downes, Eddie Morley, Penticton, instrumental numbers; and Mrs. Monica Craig Fisher of Penticton, the vocal performers.

Following is a list of classes and finalists, not in any particular order as no grading was given: Instrumental 10-14—Sheldon Doherty, Linda Wilkin, Sharon Hansen; Instrumental, 14 and over, Walter Matsui; Vocal 10-14 Helen Farrow, Iris Willis, Marilyn Farrow; 10 and over, Viola Ganzeveld, Walter Uegama, Marjorie Campbell.

There were 21 entries in the 10-14 piano class and the judges chose four to enter the finals: Lynn Boothe, Marjorie James, Darlene Miller and Anthea Morgan. In the over 15 group those selected were Barbara Boyd, Grace Johnson and Carol James.

Bob Alstead is the enthusiastic chairman of the project. His committee members include the president, Doug Campbell, who was chairman for the eliminations, Jack Dundson, John Tamblin and Percy Wilson.

G. Hallquist Heads Retail Merchants

Gerry Hallquist was elected president of the Retail Merchants' Association at the annual meeting on Friday evening. Mr. Hallquist succeeds Norman Holmes.

Vice-president is L. M. Rumball; secretary, Howard Pruden; treasurer, Mel Ducommun.

Other executive members are W. A. Laidlaw, Charlie Minter, Howard Shannon, Tom Fisher and Cecil Wade.

The meeting followed a delightful dinner served by St. Stephen's Branch WA in the Parish Hall when 30 were present including merchants and their wives and Mr. and Mrs. George Gay of Penticton, the former, the guest speaker.

Mr. Gay showed pictures of a trip he and his wife took through Europe recently, making an interesting commentary on the scenes and telling about places visited.

Summerland Flyer Cracks Sound Barrier

Squadron Leader C. P. Dodwell has been awarded a "Machbuster of America" pin, given to pilots who, as part of their training, exceed the speed of sound, approximately 760 m.p.h. The awards are given to reserve pilots in the RCAF, who break the sound barrier flying Sabre jets.

Mach 1 is the speed of sound, named after Dr. Ernest Mach, a German pioneer projectile scientist, of the 19th Century.

Squadron Leader Dodwell is the son of P. G. Dodwell, Prairie Valley, and a graduate of Summerland schools. He was a pilot during World War II.

At the annual dinner of the 19th Wing, Lieutenant Governor Ross said, "The world hopes your training will never be necessary in the cause of war, but the only way to prevent war is to be prepared."

Group Captain A. E. Alexander, Commander of the 19th Wing gave out the pins, awarded by Canadaair, Ltd.

Air Commander Arthur E. Ross of the 5th Air Division, Jericho, told the reserve pilots from the lower mainland and Vancouver Island, "You are my first and immediate reserve. In case of war, it would be necessary to call on you in a matter of hours."

Hospital Reports Only Small Loss;

L. M. Rumball was re-elected as president of Summerland Hospital Society at the annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

First vice-president is R. Alstead and 2nd vice-president is Norman Holmes.

J. E. O'Mahoney was re-elected as secretary-treasurer.

Re-elected as board members were Dr. M. F. Welsh, J. Betuzzi, and I. H. Solly. Other members are H. L. Wilson, S. A. MacDonald and Mrs. T. B. Lott. Mrs. C. R. Adams represents the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary on the board; F. M. Steuart, the municipality; and Sid Godber, the provincial government.

Mr. Rumball expressed concern at the lack of interest in the hospital, regretting that only 25 people attended the meeting.

The auditor's report showed an operating loss of only $299.36, a great deal less than in many centres. Rutherford Bassett and Co. were re-appointed auditors.

Gross earnings were reported as $73,973.00, and the total revenue was $76,296.55.

Number of adult patients during the year was 689, fifty-seven higher than the average for the past eight years, which was 612.37.

Number of days' treatment was 5,370.

The matron of the hospital, Mrs. J. R. Butler, gave an interesting report of the past year to the meeting.

Mrs. Earle Wilson, president of the Auxiliary, introduced Mrs. Ken Williams, who presented the Auxiliary's treasurer's report and Mrs. C. R. Adams, who gave the Dorcas resume, showing the large amount of work done by their society in helping with furnishings and equipment for the hospital.

Fire on Saturday At O. J. Lazenby's

Fire, which started in a sawdust hopper in the utility room, did considerable damage to the home of O. J. Lazenby, Jones' Flat on Saturday afternoon, necessitating cutting a hole in the roof.

The Lazenbys were at home at the time. When it was discovered Mr. Lazenby put a water hose on the blaze and Summerland Volunteer Fire Department called to the scene quickly extinguished the fire.

The adjoining kitchen suffered from heat and smoke, the paint blistering, and the plastic face of the clock on the far wall, melting.

Originally put up by Capt. V. Webb and later occupied by Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Barnes, Mr. Lazenby has done a complete remodeling job on the house since living there.

Fred Smith Chosen New Engineer-Janitor

Fred A. Smith, formerly employed at the Summerland Box Co., has been engaged as engineer-janitor of the Summerland schools.

Mr. Smith was selected by the school board from among six applicants and assumes his duties April 1.

Debert Murphy has had the job, leaves at the end of March. It is understood that the Murphy's will return to Pender Island shortly.

Expert Advice Given At BCFGA Forum Monday

A panel discussion on the care of young fruit trees was the highlight of a BCFGA meeting held Monday evening in the Oddfellows' Hall, West Summerland.

Those on the panel were W. E. Powell, J. Y. Towgood, Hans Stoll, Dr. D. V. Fisher and A. W. Watt.

All the growers on the panel had found that in replanting trees in old orchards it was necessary to haul in fresh top soil for the young trees.

The need for adequate fertilizing of young trees in old orchard soil was stressed. Dr. Fisher pointed out that the chief need was for nitrogen and that this was the case sometimes even when trees were planted in new land. The panel stressed that care should be taken in applying growth stimulants such as nitrogen and cultivation so that application was made early in the season and not delayed. Late applications of fertilizer could delay the ripening-off process in the tree and render it more likely to winter injury.

PRUNING

Pruning of young trees came in for considerable discussion. All members of the panel agreed that heavy pruning was common on young trees and that it was a mistake. Heavy pruning of young apple trees particularly in the three-year to 10-year old category, delays bearing and can stunt tree growth, the panel felt.

Earlier in the evening Charles Lapins of the Experimental Farm in Summerland, and A. W. Watt, District Horticulturist, spoke on the problem of old apple trees and winter injury. Mr. Lapins pointed out that the terminal growth of the tree was a guide to its condition and might be used in determining the probable future of the tree.

A. W. Watt drew attention to the high percentage of apple trees over 30 years old in the Summerland district. Replanting of old orchards had lagged in the war years and late 1940s but since 1950 it had been accelerated. Sundry "off" varieties had been reduced to a tenth of their former volume in the past decade but there were still enough around to produce 5,000 boxes in 1955. These could be quite a problem to handle and sell, he pointed out.

In conclusion, he warned against hurried or haphazard re-planting of old or winter-injured apple orchards, stressing the need for careful planning with regard to hardy framework stocks and the right varieties.

Ralph Downing, Entomologist with the Summerland Entomology Laboratory, answered numerous questions put to him on dormant and pink spraying.

B. T. Washington Heads Town Band

B. T. Washington was elected president of the Summerland Town Band at the recent annual meeting.

Charlie Bernhardt is the vice-president and Stan R. Skippings, the secretary. Treasurer is Alex Keon and librarian, C. V. G. Morgan.

Ralph Downing, Jim Schaeffer and Jim Brown are the other executive members.

In summing up the year's activities, it was felt that the band had a comparatively busy, enjoyable year. Functions in Merritt, Greenwood, Penticton, Peachland and Summerland were attended under the able direction of Band Conductor, W. A. (Bud) Steuart.

Plans for the coming year included the decision to enter the Okanagan Musical Festival to be held at Kelowna in May.

Building Rather At a Standstill

Building seems to have slowed down a bit this past month with only three permits issued in February. These were, one for a new dwelling in the amount of $5,000, and two for additions and alterations costing $300.

In the same month last year six permits were given out amounting to $18,335.

Comparative figures for the first two months of this and last year are as follows according to the report just issued by Roy F. Angus, inspector: 1957, five for $12,250; 1956, eight for $23,537.

THE THREE competitors in Friday night's final Kiwanis Music Festival concert in Class I B, Vocal, 14 and up—left to right, Marjorie Campbell, Walter Uegama, Viola Ganzeveld.

INSTRUMENTAL, Class III A, 10 to 14 years old—Those selected to enter the final left to right, Sharon Hansen, Sheldon Doherty behind the accordion, and Linda Wilkin.

Red Cross Circles World Helping Any In Distress

This is the time of year when the annual Red Cross drive for funds is started. Summerland, through the 18 years since the Red Cross was re-organized in 1939, has done well in giving, not only money but to the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic, and in making supplies of sewing and knitting.

From time to time headquarters has recognized this in commendations. At other times when local families have lost their household possessions through fire, the Red Cross has supplied blankets and other bedding as emergency relief. During World War II a number of Summerland people heard from their relatives in Europe only through the medium of the Red Cross.

We have reason to be proud of our record, relatively second to none in the Okanagan.

This year the Summerland Rotary Club is heading the campaign. T. B. Young is the president. Rotarians in teams of two will canvass the municipality during the next couple of weeks.

The quota is $2,800 and this is the objective. Rotarians will be out to reach through the donations of Summerland people.

Orchard Notes

BY ALEC WATT

PRUNING

In last week's column two printing errors occurred, the ladder referred to should obviously have been a 14 foot one. In the latter part of the column where large pruning cuts were being discussed it was suggested that the pruner leave on the smaller shoots adjacent to large cuts in order to aid the healing process. Unfortunately the word "roots" appeared instead of the word "shoots."

WINTER INJURY OF 1955-6 STILL HAS A BEARING ON APPLE TREE PRUNING

Owing to the 1955 freeze most apple trees received very light pruning in 1956. As a result most trees are quite thickly covered with two and three year old branches which are well provided with young spurs and fruit buds. By pruning lightly last year you aided the trees to produce a maximum of leaves for food manufacturing and you aided the formation of many fruit buds on the younger wood.

What then should be the pruner's aim during this 1956-57 pruning season? The fact that old spurs were heavily damaged in 1955 might be kept in mind and an effort made to eliminate some of the weaker spur wood particularly on Delicious and Newtowns. At the same time rather more of the younger wood could be left on the tree to take advantage of its greater vitality and superior cropping ability. The new wood should be lightly thinned out to prevent limb rubbing and admit air and light, otherwise it would be best left alone to bear.

This means that on older trees the "risers" or upright shoots on the scaffold limbs of the tree should be left strictly alone wherever possible. If there are too many crowding risers they can be thinned out by removing some of them completely. The remainder will then swing down with the weight of crop and leaves. They will do this much better if they are left alone. They will not do it if they are cut back. Cutting back a "riser" often removes the bearing wood near the end thus changing the branch from a limb about to bear into an upright pole, which will have little but sucker growth on it next year and may form an umbrella of shading leaves blocking the light from the interior of the tree.

Local Delegates At Presbytery Meet

Rev. C. Richmond, A. C. Fleming and Mrs. J. C. Wilcox representing the Presbytery W.A. of Summerland were among the thirty-two members of the Kamloops-Okanagan Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, when many corresponding members and visitors met at Penticton United Church February 19 and 20.

A contingent of fifty students from the Naramata Christian Leadership Training School attended.

Rev. Roy Stobie, Naramata, as devotional leader, stressed the priority of the claims of Christ in all areas of life. Rev. A. L. Anderson, Kamloops spoke of the progress and plans of the National Evangelistic Mission to call Canada to Christ. Rev. E. Rands spoke of increase and consolidation on the Home Mission and Student Fields. A delegation from Lilloet urged that a minister be settled there as soon as possible, and Presbytery agreed to ask Settlement Committee to make every effort to grant their request.

A highlight of the sessions was the reception as a candidate for the Holy Ministry of Gordon William Brown, of Vernon but now studying at UBC.

Rev. R. S. Leitch, Kelowna, was elected Chairman of Presbytery to succeed Rev. Percy Mallet, Rutland, and Rev. J. M. Alexander will become Treasurer in place of Rev. Walter Little of Armstrong. Rev. Bryson Boyle was returned as Secretary. Rev. E. Rands will head the Christian Education and Naramata School committees. Among other committee heads are Rev. C. O. Richmond, Summerland, Home Missions, Rev. L. L. Schuetz, Kamloops, Evangelism and Social Service, Missionary and Maintenance, Rev. A. O. Clements, Salmon Arm, A. C. Fleming, West Summerland, will head the Union College Fund committee.

SUBDIVISION PLANS TO HAVE 90 DAY CLAUSE

Subdivision permits will be granted by the municipal council in future on the basis that the plan for registration be submitted within 90 days of approval.

If this is not done, then the subdivision will have to be re-submitted to the council.

This was decided at Tuesday afternoon's council meeting last week.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY TWENTY-SEVENTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-SEVEN

Practice It By Giving . . .

PERHAPS the most difficult to fulfill of all the commands laid upon us in the Ten Commandments is the command "To love thy neighbor . . ."

The sorry state the world is in today is an unhappy tribute to man's failure to live in the spirit of this command, a command which, if obeyed to the full, would transform this world overnight from a world of suspicion and hate and envy into such a Utopia of well-being that man would truly have found heaven on earth.

And so, it is somewhat comforting to know and to realize that man is slowly making headway towards a world wherein love of fellowman will be the dynamic force governing the world. That day, unfortunately, is far distant, but it is coming. Its coming can be recognized in the increasing recognition given the world over to that organization which knows no boundaries, which does not recognize race or creed, as it pursues its great task of helping those in need.

We speak, of course, of the Red Cross Society, undoubtedly the world's most humanitarian organization.

Where disaster strikes, there you will find the Red Cross. Politics, religion, apportionment of blame do not concern the Red Cross. The cry of stricken humanity, whether stricken through natural or man-made catastrophe, is all that is required to galvanize the Red Cross into action.

It is the Red Cross which is always first in the field; it is the Red Cross which, thanks to the generosity of people almost everywhere, is blunting the sharp edge of disaster while governments argue responsibility and seek to shrug off blame.

Mid-Week Message

Thought for today: For whose findeth me findeth life, and shall obtain favor of the Lord. Prov. 8:31

My friend was recuperating from a serious illness and for weeks had to rest in bed. As I looked from her bedroom window I saw nothing but lines of wash flapping in the breeze. I thought, "How awful to look upon such a dreary scene day after day."

She must have read my thoughts. Smiling gently she said, "I've learned much about my neighbors since I have had to lie here."

She pointed to the highest line of washing, "You see that line? Every morning she washes several pairs of dungarees. She has three active boys. Her mouth may be full of clothespins, but she takes time to nod and wave 'hello'."

"And see that one over there?" she went on, "there's a new baby in that house. See all the diapers? One morning she held the baby up for me to see."

My friend gave a little chuckle. "That line on the left must belong to a very methodical, efficient housewife. First the socks are in order, then all the undershirts, then the larger items."

My friend of the lame and sick body had learned a great secret, the secret of zestful living under discouraging circumstances.

Hers was a rare and wonderful gift. Prayer: Dear God, forgive us when we feel sorry for ourselves. Grant us the ability to find cheer and comfort in ordinary things. Teach us this secret so that we may pass it on to others. In Jesus' name. Amen.

In flood, plague, fire, famine, in revolution and in war and in peace the Red Cross stands as a great humanitarian organization recognizing no barriers in its endeavor to interpret in full measure the command "to love thy neighbor . . ."

This month, March, is Red Cross month. It is the month when the Red Cross appeals to the people for funds — appealing in effect to us all to practice the commandment which is the key to a better world.

Any day now, and on through this month members of the Summerland Rotary Club will be knocking on your door and we have no doubt that the people of Summerland, who have so generously responded in the past, will respond again — giving to the extent of their power for the furtherance of this humanitarian work.

Summerland Telephone Co., announces the following additions to the directory as of March 1: 563, Donald J. B.; 523, McCutcheon C. E.; 7, Riley Thos. H. Office; 922 McAlpine T. J.

There was considerable excitement for a time at the CPR wharf last night when a horse and democrat went over the edge into the lake. The horse was a large black one, frightened by the whistle of the boat, backed the rig over the wharf. The driver, a Japanese living on the Goldsmith place, went over after it, freeing the horse from the tangle and leading it ashore. Some baggage and the democrat, minus the seat, which had floated away, were rescued later.

A. Rutherford was named as irrigation superintendent at Monday's council session.

Ben Mayne has recently placed an order for a new Ford according to street reports and W. C. Kelley has placed an order for a new car which he hopes will be delivered shortly.

10 YEARS AGO — MARCH 6, 1947

West Summerland now has a provincial egg grading station. The Westmore Poultry Products, G. W. Jaggard, proprietor, received the appointment this week. A trained grader is in charge. Eggs from this plant will be shipped to Armstrong for the overseas business. All Summerland eggs will now have to pass through this plant.

A sweeping enquiry into the whole framework of school taxation has been initiated by the Penticton council. Indications are that the Summerland municipal heads who have been faced with similar problems are supporting this action.

Miss Shirley Caldwell, a bride of this week, was guest of honor on Friday evening February 28, when a miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. H. Lemke.

Born to Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Whitmore, West Summerland, on March 2, a son, Alan Crosfield.

Donald Johnston and Bride to Live In New York After Jamaican Trip

Chosen as a setting for the lovely afternoon wedding of Moira June Harris and Donald Ross Johnston of Vancouver was St. Matthew's Anglican church, Abbotsford, where the bride had been christened and confirmed in her childhood. Pale pink almond blossoms and deeper rose tulips decorated the altar for the ceremony, with bouquets of daffodils adding springtime color to the windows.

Rev. Norman Calland officiated at the marriage Saturday of the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Harris of Matsqui and the only son of Mrs. Lydia Johnston of West Summerland, and Wm. Johnston. Mrs. L. Creelman was organist.

The springtime touch was charmingly continued in gowns of the bridal entourage. Designed by the fashion-artist bride, the ballerina length skirts were topped by bouffant overskirts. The bride's fitted sheath of ivory, delustrated satin styled with a bateau neckline, had floral cutwork orandy forming the bustle-full overskirt and covering the short satin sleeves. Her chapel veil was caught by a real pearl coronet glistening with rhinestones and sequins, and her bouquet was of yellow rosebuds sprigged with white hyacinth blossoms.

Lemon-lined bouffant skirts opened over the floral spring print sheaths worn by Miss Beverley Rogers and Miss Sierid Dudley of Vancouver, former fellow art students. Fashioned with deeply-tricked cowl necklines, the lime-and-white cotton gowns had mauve daisies picked out by the mauve marguerites used for their spray bouquets and coronets. White shortie gloves and white slippers completed the spring-fresh ensembles.

Daintily frocked in yellow orandy, the flowergirl, little Miss Sheila MacLachlan of West Summerland, the groom's niece, wore a circlet of yellow hyacinth blossoms and carried a nosegay of yellow feathered carnations and white hyacinths.

The best man was Douglas Hogarth of Vancouver, while ushers were Gordon Hogarth and the bride's brother, Michael Harris.

During the signing of the register, Miss Linda Staf and Mrs. James Wightman sang "Till Walk Beside You."

For the reception which followed, the Mission Rod and Gun Club had pussy willows used with masses of almond blossom and other spring blooms grown and arranged by the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. MacLachlan of West Summerland.

The bride's mother received in a silver blue brocade sheath dress with hat and gloves en tone, while the groom's mother had chosen a pink-and-floral print ensemble accented by pink hat and gloves.

The bride's table was lighted by tall white tapers, centred by a three-tier wedding cake. Asked to pour at a candlelit tea table were the bride's godmother, Mrs. Edgar Trethewey, and her aunt, Mrs. Roy Willson.

The toast to the bride was entertainingly proposed by Thomas Lindsay.

For going-away, the bride chose a white linen blouse top suit with which she wore white accessories and a black Persian lamb coat.

She formerly attended the Vancouver School of Art and Art Centre School in Los Angeles. The groom, a graduate of the University of B.C., where he took post graduate work in geography, was a Flying Officer in the RCAF Coastal Command during World War II.

After a Jamaica honeymoon, the young couple will make their home in New York.

OKANAGAN TO HAVE AUTOMATIC TOLL SERVICE

Okanagan Telephone Company subscribers will probably be the first in Canada and among the first on the continent to have what is called Subscriber Automatic Toll Ticketing equipment. This means subscribers in the Okanagan centres will be able to dial long distance station-to-station, direct. Only if a call is to be made person-to-person will an operator be needed. Already on order, the equipment will be completely installed and in operation within two years.

Hospital Auxiliary Is Busy Continually

Two new members, Mrs. Bob Barkwill and Mrs. Jim Heavysides were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Earle Wilson, at the regular meeting of Summerland Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary on Monday evening when 26 were present.

Mrs. A. F. Crawford reporting for the Dorcas committee said that the bathrooms in the hospital and in the Nurses' home had been redecorated and that 13 chairs had been recovered for use in the wards.

The matron, Mrs. J. R. Butler asked for linen, including bedspreads and pyjamas, and was authorized to obtain these supplies.

A tentative tag day has been set for May 11, pending council approval. This date is during annual Hospital Week.

The R. G. Russels Host Hungarians

Three more Hungarians have come to Summerland and are staying with Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Russel. They are Mr. and Mrs. George Docza and the former's brother, Nandor Docza.

Their home formerly was about 30 miles out of Budapest.

Macs Play Coast Team in Weekend Doubleheader

Although the Summerland Macs have no further interest in Coy Cup hockey, losing a best two out of three series to the Kamloops Balcos they have not yet hung up their skates.

An exhibition double-header has been arranged for next Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday night the Summerland All Stars will host the Vancouver Commercial Hockey League Champions and on Sunday the Summerland Macs will play the coast team. Game time Saturday is 8 p.m. and on Sunday the faceoff is scheduled for 2 p.m.

Last Sunday before a fair crowd the Summerland Macs made a gallant bid to stay in the Coy Cup playoffs. Down one game to the powerful Kamloops Balcos, the Macs struck hard and fast in the first period scoring three goals to the Balcos one. The Macs were still leading when the smoke cleared at the end of the second by a score of 4-3, but the Balcos came back strong in the final frame, running in two goals and holding the Macs scoreless.

Local Rink Loses In B.C. Playdowns

In the British Columbia Canadian Legion curling playdowns held in Penticton Saturday, March 2, the Summerland rink representing the south Okanagan zone lost out to the powerful Kamloops rink by a score of 7-12.

The Summerland rink was skippered by Don Turnbull, with Eddie Lloyd, 3rd, Bill McCutcheon, 2nd, and Everett Bates, lead.

The Kamloops rink will now represent B.C. in the Dominion playdowns, and leave next week to fly to Winnipeg where the play will take place.

The Summerland team eliminated New Westminster and Nanaimo for the right to play Kamloops, which proved too much for the local four. Branch 40, Penticton, played host to the visiting teams and a banquet was held later, it was voted that this 'spiel, the first of its kind held in B.C. was a grand success, and that bigger and better 'spiels are in the making in years to come.

Minor Hockey

By DAVID KAMPE

The mother of one of the Pe Wee players, Mrs. Bentley, has been taking home a set of sweaters every week washing and mending them. The members of the Minor Hockey Association and Mr. Stoll appreciate this very much. We wish there were other mothers who were kind and generous in spending time to fix the sweaters as Mrs. Bentley does.

On Thursday the Black Hawks who are one point behind the third place Maple Leafs came back to take the Maple Leafs for a 6-3 win. Dundson scored the first two goals and Sheeley scored also for the Black Hawks making the score 3-0 for the Black Hawks. Lee Parker then scored for the Maple Leafs. Then Dundson scored for the Black Hawks making the score 4-1. McCutcheon and Bonthoux then scored for the Maple Leafs making the score 4-3 for the Black Hawks. Dundson came back along with Sheeley and each scored again making the final score 6-3 in favour of the Black Hawks.

On Saturday morning the Canadians and Bruins played and tied the game up 3-3. Gillard scored the Canadians' three goals and Fowler scored two of the Bruins' and Perritt also scored one, making the 3-3 score.

On Saturday morning Sheeley, Gillard and Dundson scored in succession for the Black Hawks. Perritt, an imported player, then scored two goals for the Maple Leafs. Gillard scored again for the Black Hawks making the final score 4-2 in favor of the Black Hawks. This puts the Black Hawks one point behind the second place Bruins.

Ladies' Bonspiel Using Club Rinks Keeps Most of the Trophies at Home

By HILDA EDEN

The ladies' fifth open bonspiel was a huge success as far as the local rinks were concerned. Out of 14 local club rinks entered, ten went home with prizes. We think that is a wonderful showing.

There were 28 rinks entered, nine coming from Penticton, three from Peachland and two from Osoyoos.

We had a buffet supper in the club rooms of the rink on Saturday night, which was enjoyed by everyone.

This is the first time that Summerland has ever won the "A" event. Annie Dunsdon's rink did some very nice curling to come out on top. After this when we go out of town to a bonspiel I'm going to curl for Annie, not Annie for me, as we always do.

The prize winners are as follows:
A Event — Macil's Trophy
First — Annie Dunsdon, Amy Beggs, Marg. Wilson, Irene Varty won the Sunbeam electric fry pans donated by CKOK.

Second — Satin comforters donated by Hudson's Bay Co. and Ladies' Curling Club, won by Myrtle Ferguson's rink of Peachland. This will be the first year that Myrtle hasn't had her name on our trophy.

Third — Electric clocks, donated by Taylor, Pearson and Curson, won by Irene Eyre, Beth Birtles, Jean Dunsdon, Louise Atkinson.

Fourth — Towel sets donated by Macil's Ladies' Wear, won by the Bens rink of Penticton.

B Event
Esther Carse of Penticton won the Drs. Munn and Day Trophy and overnight cases. Second was colored sheets donated by 5c to $1.00 Store and West Summerland Building Supplies, won by Hilda Eden, Nora Munn, Ruth Lawley and Rose Skinner. Third prize, tea sets donated by Holmes and Wade won by Olive Hackmann, Nettie Shannon, Doreen MacIntosh and Marion Kean.

Fourth — Silver curling butter dishes donated by Bill Croft and Chuck Bleasdale, won by Bobbie Hannah, Louise Lemke, Lil Marshall and Alice Gillespie.

Third, carving sets donated by the Vancouver Sun, won by the Morgan rink of Penticton. Fourth, curling butter dishes donated by Walt Toews and Cec. Wade, won by the Sinclair rink of Osoyoos.

D Event — Ladies' Club Trophy

Fourth went to Ma Greenlees, Ethel Bleasdale, Lil Dunsdon, Muriel Walker. They won slippers donated by Family Shoe Store.

The Asay rink of Penticton won a prize for being the first rink out of the 'spiel and the Brown rink of Osoyoos won the hard luck prize. LAST 'SPIEL OF SEASON

Tuesday night will see the beginning of the last 'spiel of the season. It is a mixed 'spiel and we have 30 local rinks entered. Should be some good curling. Some of the rinks look pretty strong on paper. We'll see how they do on the ice. HIGH SCHOOL BONSPIEL

The High School is planning a little 'spiel for Saturday. They do some pretty good curling and are such good sports. I like to watch them curl. Every rink usually gets a prize.

MRS. E. BATES' CLASS

A Surprise Ride
Over at my friend's place on Sunday we were horseback riding. When I had my turn I rode out to the middle of the field.

I think the horse disliked me because all of a sudden he reared and jumped around. I was hanging on the reins real tight, and I think that is the reason he reared.
John Garland.

GRADE 1 —

Too Many Teeth
When we were away on our trip we saw some big green alligators. They were long and they had rows and rows of big sharp teeth.
I wouldn't want to be an alligator because I'd have too many tooth-aches.
Marilyn Parker.

A Pet Rabbit
I have two pets at home. One pet is a rabbit. We called it Mike but it had some babies so now we call it Mrs. Mike. Mrs. Mike came to school for a week. We learned a lot from her.
Sharon May.

My Fish Story
One day when we were down in Mexico we went fishing. I caught a cat fish and it really "Meowed."
Bruce Milne.

GRADE 2 —

Dan
There was an old man
Called Dan.
He ate bacon
Till his tummy was achin'.
Deborah Stoney.

Our Dog Mitzy
When Daddy was going home after taking us to Sunday School he saw Mitzy down at the bottom of the hill. He opened the door and let her into the car. That was the first time she had a ride in the car. When Daddy let Mitzy out of the car, she wagged her tail, just as if she was saying thank you.
Susan Wilson.

GRADE 3 —

Spring
In the spring when the birds arrive
And the bees start to hive,
Bears come awake.
If I slept all winter, I'd feel half baked!
David James.

The Flying Saucer
Last summer my three brothers and I were playing on the sunporch with blankets. We had a rest and were going to play again but it was lunch time.
After lunch we were playing again for awhile when my little brother saw us and threw a saucer at me. I had to go to the hospital and get clips on my forehead. I you want to see the scar just look at me.
Paul Northrup.

The Fish Hatchery
Once I went to the fish hatchery and I saw many fish there. There were big fish and little fish, and I saw a man put a little fish in the water. They take care of the little fish until they are big enough to swim away. Then they put them in the lakes so they can grow into big fish.
Dale Stevenson.

My Dog Happy
When I went home at Christmas time last year, I walked into the living room to see the gift from my Uncle Con. I was overjoyed at the sight of seeing a baby pup. I named him "Happy." We kept him at home for a month or two. Then he went to the kennels. But oh how he did howl when I took him from my arms and put him in Mr. Price's arms. Mr. Price was the man that trained the dogs and looked after the kennels. Happy was able to come home three months later. The next morning my Mother got up and brought him into the house. I was so happy to see my dog back home. I think he was happy too.
Terry Coope.

GRADE 4 — Trout Creek

Stanley Park
I have gone to Stanley Park many times. We have seen monkeys, birds, snakes, and some porcupines. A few years ago when we went to Vancouver, we saw a very very old monkey. She died the next year. When we saw her she was very clever. We would feed her for the man who tends the animals. I was very sorry she died.

Last year we went to Vancouver to my cousin's wedding.
We went to the park again. We saw quite a few seals. The snakes were very ugly looking. We also saw the tigers and they looked very fierce. Each time I go to the park I see more interesting things.
Pat McCutcheon.

GRADE 4B — Trout Creek

The Fairies
There was a little gnome,
Who didn't have a home.
One day he found a rug,
And settled down quite snug.
There was a little fairy,
Who lived by a dairy.
He drank up all the milk,
And outgrew his coat of silk.
There was a little elf,
Who climbed upon a shelf.
He found a piece of candy,
And, boy! it was a dandy.
—Trudy Gurtrell.

GRADE 4—MACDONALD SCHOOL

FUN ON THE LAKE
When the lake was frozen over, Aidan Morgan, Terry Gidlow and I used to go out on the lake and have lots of fun. Once when we went out on the ice I found a mud hen half frozen in the water by the Summerland Fish Hatchery.
I go out by the barge when it is in dock. We talk to the men on the barge. The men said the ice in the middle of the lake is about eight inches thick. Down at Pentiction, they said there was about twelve inches of ice.
On the way home from the CPR wharf we fed the mud hens apples. But now we won't have any fun on the lake because it is too warm and all the ice is just about melted.
—Jimmy Etter.

A BIG FIRE

One morning I woke up early. I had a funny feeling. I went to the window, and as I looked out I saw a big red spot on the horizon. I asked Mom what it was. She said it was a fire. I went back to bed. I just couldn't sleep. When I went to school I saw it was the Occidental My, it looked horrible!
Now a beautiful new building stands on the same spot. There hardly is a sign that there ever was a fire.
—John Bennest.

SKIING

Sometimes I go skiing,
Down a slippery hill.
Sometimes I go skiing,
Oh, it's such a thrill.
—Margaret McCuaig.

GRADE 5

POEM
I wish I were an aeroplane,
I'd fly across the Equator,
(And maybe see an alligator.)
I'd fly into space,
And have a comet as a race.
I'd ride the Milky Way,
And play with stars all day.
Sometime I'd fly to the moon,
But would be home on the dot o' noon.
—Leigh Moyle.

A NICE TRIP

We started out in the S.S. Aleutian from Seattle on our way to Alaska. We went up the inland passage until we reached Juneau which is the capital of Alaska. From there we went out in the Pacific Ocean. On the second day we saw a school of whales. Two whales were racing and they looked like a ski trail along a blue hill. Another whale came streaming towards the boat and it looked like a streak of white lightning through the blue sky. When it hit the boat it rooked it quite a bit. We saw whales five different times. After that the trip was finished.
—Jay Hunisor.

HISTORIC PRISON

The old prison in Yuma, Arizona which we visited last summer is a very interesting place. It was opened in 1875 and was in use up to 1909. It was called the Hell Hole of America. The walls were made of adobe and were approximately five feet thick. The lifers' cells were six feet by eight, and held six men, who were chained to a ring in the floor. Imagine being cooped up in there when the temperature reached one hundred and twenty and more! They hadn't much regard for the women who were in very tiny cells facing the western sun. The insane cells weren't large enough to lie down in. You can see where the prisoners clawed indentures in the adobe. It made us all a little sick and we were glad to go across to the museum.

—Mary-Dawn Grazley.

POEM

We all belong to MacDonald School.
We're here to learn and obey the rule.
Sometimes we eat at the cafeteria
And also get shots for bacteria.
—Ken Smith.

WINTER

When the sun shines on the snow
It gives the earth a silver glow.
It shines on houses, hills and lake,
And frosts them like a wedding cake.
—Linda Rumbal.

THE DAFFODIL

This morning in the sunlight,
I saw a lovely sight.
It was a yellow daffodil,
Shining there so bright.
—Darlene Campbell.

THE HARBOUR

The harbour is the place for me
Because, when I go there I see
Great ships, big gulls and sailors,
Fishing boats, nets and whalers.
—Noreen.

POEM

The King was sick... His cheek
Was red,
And many a pain went through

Is the infection in or out?
And to this day they wonder still,
Whatever made the King so ill?

POEM

I love to read of long ago,
Of animals large and small.
How cavemen first found fire,
With flint and stone and bough.
—David Mallett.

A DIFFICULT MOMENT for Miriam, on sofa, played by Carol Reinertson, when left to right, her mother, Mrs. Wilkins, portrayed by Amy Beggs, Bob Schultz, as father, and Patricia Boyd, the elder sister, Ruth, discover that she has been writing letters to Lt. Seawright over her sister's signature.

Summerland High School's Drama Club presentation of the play "Dear Ruth," by Norman Krasna, directed by Desmond Loan and Mrs. Fern Barnard of the High School staff and produced Friday evening gave good entertainment to the large audience in the auditorium.

The plot revolves around the situations created when the younger sister in the Wilkins' family, Miriam, played with ease by Carol Reinertson, writes letters to a young airforce officer who is overseas and signs the name of her sister, Ruth. Patricia Boyd, cast as Ruth found herself in many difficult spots calling for versatility and poise which she conveyed well.

Amy Berry, as Mrs. Wilkins, and Bob Schultz as Mr. Wilkins, gave fine finished performances. As the young officer, Lt. Seawright, returning to claim Ruth, Ken Bisset, had one of the heavier parts which she conveyed well.

character throughout in an outstanding way.

Dot Carston as the maid, Dora, was a top performer. Magda Wouters showed considerable promise in one of the smaller roles portraying Seawright's sister cleverly. Other bit parts were taken by Ron Wilson as Sgt. Chuck Vincent and by Richard Blagborne.

Voices were good and lines could always be heard distinctly. The performance was spirited and bright with plenty of convincing action.

Previously it was presented in Oliver, Pentiction, and at a dress rehearsal, and received with enthusiasm, as it was here.

Ray Dunsdon and Dick Armstrong made a stage set professional in appearance. W. C. Wilkie was stage director; stage crew was comprised of Ray Dunsdon, Dick Armstrong, Terry Turnbull, Barry Hargrave, and Bill Ross.

The programmes were produced by Joyce Harbicht, Pat Morrow and Barbara Fudge; make-up by Mar-

A Teacher Comments

Education in Canada is facing a crisis which, like the Devil's pitchfork, has three prongs.

The sharpest of these is the shortage of teachers. Officials are combing every community for ex-teachers who might be pressed into service, sending as far away as England to recruit new material, and still it is a struggle, even in as attractive a district as Summerland, to keep schools staffed. There are many less fortunate places, and it has been estimated that unless we can get more young men and women to go in for the profession, there will be thousands of teacherless classrooms in Canada within ten years. Some of them may be here.

Our high schools are trying to channel more of their graduates into teaching by devices like the Future Teachers Club, but they need help from the pupils' homes. You wonder what parents can do?

Here's one suggestion: try to be pro-teacher instead of anti-teacher in your home. Even if you were a regular hellion in your own school days, and led your teacher a merry dance, don't run down the poor boob too much in front of your kids. Likewise, before you begrudge the teachers' salaries 'because they are too blamed big a burden on the local taxpayer,' inquire how much of a burden they really are.

You'll find out that there is a generous government grant for each teacher, varying according to experience and whether the teacher is in elementary or high school with the recent increase, the maximum municipal contribution to an E-B (elementary school) teacher's salary is only $350 per year, to an S-B (high school) teacher's salary only $750.

The law of supply and demand, so well known to all fruit-growers works with teachers too; if the supply of these animals does not equal the demand, their occupation must be made more attractive.

The second prong in the educational crisis is the matter of building schools fast enough to keep up with our booming population. We have experience of that here in Summerland. And although the new addition will take care of the present needs of the high school, the elementary school still has classes in the basement, no gymnasium, no auditorium or activity room, and classes containing up to 43 pupils; a heavy load for any teacher.

We're not alone in our building needs, either. To erect all the educational buildings required across Canada in the next ten years will require two hundred million dollars a year, according to the latest estimate.

Now let's look at the third prong about which you have been hearing a good deal lately; Canada's lack of University-trained professional and technical personnel. We just don't have enough of our high school students going on to University. In the United States it out of every 1,000 people go on to University; Russia, as you have heard sends more, nearly 20 out of every 1,000. Canada? Less than 5 out of every 1,000.

Why so few, it isn't that Canadians haven't the brains; we have. But we just don't make the effort to see that they get there. Our Universities are comparatively few, and costly; the majority of our brightest students cannot afford the $1,000 or more a year that it costs to attend them. More and cheaper Universities, more scholarships and bursaries, are a crying need in Canada.

We may need a new attitude toward education as well. At present official policy in Canada is that every child has a right to go as far in school as he likes or can afford. It sounds truly democratic, in theory.

In practise it turns out that pupils are being promoted, in our elementary and high schools, without so much regard for whether they have done or try to do the work of their class or not. This is not the teachers' doing; it is prescribed for them. The result, as the editor of this paper pointed out in last week's editorial, is that many classes are clogged with pupils who have no interest in studies. They hold back the brighter students, and use up teaching time which could be devoted to earnest students. Even our universities suffer from them.

As a result, there is talk now of keeping these 'free-loaders' out of universities by selecting only the better students for entrance there. Might it be a good idea to discourage these drones even earlier? It certainly doesn't do bright students any good in high school, or even in elementary school, to be in the same class with the lazy, the indifferent, the trouble-makers. Is it really good for the latter to be given promotions they do not earn? Education Week is a good time to consider things like these, to ponder and discuss and form opinions. Don't hesitate to tell your views to teachers, and in return. It is in the interests of all, parents, pupils, and teachers together, that this business of education shall surmount the crises now threatening it, and carry on to better things.

Rebekahs, IOOF Anniversary Fete

A delightful arrangement of Valentines and flowers was the setting for a party held by Rebekah and Oddfellows Lodges in the IOOF hall on Wednesday, February 13. The party also commemorated the anniversary of the founding of Oddfellowship.

Novelty dances were enjoyed with J. H. Dunsdon as master of Ceremonies, Music for the evening was supplied by Freeman Read and Miss Hazel Carrier.

A delicious buffet supper was served from a prettily decorated table of hearts and flowers.

Acting on the committee for entertainment were Mrs. J. H. Dunsdon, Mrs. Bert Bryden and Mrs. Fred Downes. Social committee members were Mrs. Frank Benison, Mrs. Steve Dunsdon and Mrs. W. S. Ritchie, Mrs. K. M. Blagborne and Mrs. Lloyd Shannon were in charge of decorations.

WHEN A COUGAR KILLS A COUGAR DOG its number is up for sure. That happened to the powerful looking feline pictured above. It killed a much loved 12 year old Cougar hound belonging to Sam Lee of Kelowna. The tracks showed that it was a big cat and the way it had turned on and killed the dog showed it to be a menace. Joining in the hunt was Summerland's Jim Varty, an employee of the game department, and it was his dog five-year-old Rex who was relied upon to corner the quarry. Rex did, but the hunters couldn't pump lead into the animal and he charged down out of the tree. The big cat circled and came up behind Rex and pounced. Rex went over a 50 foot cliff into a snow drift, but came back. Aided by Duke, a two-year-old novice, belonging to Game Warden Ellis, the dogs again treed the cat and this time the hunters got him — Spot was avenged.

The Forgotten Child

The purpose of Education Week is to make people think of education for our children. Education is the right of every child regardless of his ability. Until recently the handicapped child has been the Forgotten Child — not only in the community but in the scheme of education.

The handicapped child needs and deserves consideration in being helped to develop to the best of his ability — just as a normal or gifted child does.

As it is impossible for a handicapped child to compete with normal or gifted children, special schools for him are required.

Such schools are now operating in numerous parts of British Columbia. Last year the B.C. government recognized this need by providing a grant for each child wherever such a school was started.

On Thursday a group of vitally interested parents met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ian McCuaig to discuss their problems and to listen to a talk by J. Cooke, principal of Macdonald School. Mr. Cooke was instrumental in starting a school for Handicapped Children in Prince George and is keenly interested in this work.

The parents feel their children would greatly benefit by suitable training but also feel the need of moral and financial support from the community. Anyone interested in promoting a school in Summerland for handicapped children, or any parents who could benefit from such a move are asked to contact Ian McCuaig, J. Prior, Ed Krause, H. Uchida or Mrs. F. Bergstrom.

Council Relieved IBEW Has Not Asked For Moon

Summerland council gasped as one man at the demands of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, received at yesterday afternoon's council meeting.

These would affect all electrical employees in Summerland, if implemented, except the foreman.

A. O'Keeffe, bargaining agent for the IBEW, is to be here next week to talk the matter over with the council.

Some of the things asked for follow:

Hiring—the union to do all the hiring of employees; at present the council has a yearly agreement with electrical workers.

Overtime—Asking double time for all overtime, with meals to be delivered every four hours; now get time and a half for the first four hours, double time thereafter and double time after midnight.

Overtime for work on holidays—double time plus regular holiday pay, that is triple time; now get-time and a half for the first four hours, after that double time, and after midnight double time. Two extra holidays—Easter Monday and Boxing Day with pay are asked for; last year Summerland electrical workers were paid for Boxing Day.

Vacation holidays—asking for three weeks holidays with pay after five years' service; four weeks holiday with pay after 10 years' service; after 10 years asking for four weeks with pay plus one day for each

Co-op Opens New Office Now Planning For Future

Summerland suffered a grievous loss last week when the Summerland Co-operative Packing plant was razed by fire, but, as often in such cases, things could have been much worse. No lives were lost, no one was injured and the loss was covered by insurance which means, in effect, that the cost of replacement will be shared by many rather than a few.

Yes, it could have been much worse — much worse. It was fortunate indeed that there was no wind on the night of the fire. Wind would have undoubtedly meant the destruction of a large part of lower Summerland.

Even so, the danger of the fire spreading was very great and this community owes a tremendous debt of gratitude to the members of the Summerland Volunteer Fire Brigade, but for their efforts the tale of destruction would have been multiplied.

And Summerland, in tipping its hat to its own fire-fighters, also pays tribute to the Penticton fire department for its timely assistance.

The need was there, evidenced by the crimson glow in the sky. Penticton's response was fast and generous. Summerland regards the action as real neighborly and says "Thank you neighbor."

Kiwanians Encouraging Musicians Of The Future

The interest created by the 2nd annual Kiwanis Festival was mirrored in the large attendance at the final, excellent concert on Friday evening when the 19 finalists competed in six classes for the six scholarships awarded.

Judges Harold Ball of Oliver, Glen Morley and Monica Craig Fisher, both of Penticton, commended the local club on its activities in stimulating musical development in this community and gave helpful, encouraging adjudications.

—Mrs. Douglas Campbell, wife of Kiwanis president, presented each winner with a certificate. The $50 scholarships are held in trust by the club for the winner's further music study; to buy a new instrument; or for attendance at a good summer school of music.

Following is a list of those selected in the 10-14 age group: instrumental, Sheldon Doherty; vocal, Marilyn Farrow; piano, Lynne Boothe.

Those who won out in the 15 and over group are: instrumental, Walter Uegama; vocal, Marjorie Campbell, piano, Carol James.

No attempt will be made to rebuild the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Packing house and cold storage this year. This was announced on Monday following Saturday morning's disastrous $750,000 fire, by the president of the board of directors, J. Y. Towgood.

Mr. Towgood said that use would be made of the generous offer of help from all phases of the industry, to take care of the 1957 harvest.

The Co-operative Growers' Packinghouse handles 50 per cent of Summerland fruit and has 250 growers signed. George Washington is the manager of the big plant.

In the meantime plans for rebuilding will go ahead. Offices have been set up in one of the Co-op cabins south and across the street from the Fish Hatchery.

The $750,000 fire destroyed the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Packing House and cold storage plant early Saturday morning in one of the largest fires ever seen in Summerland.

The spectacular blaze lit up the cloudy skies with a pink light for miles around and the surrounding hills were filled with spectators who watched during the rainy night as the fire blazed away in many colors, now and then sending up great rockets of flame. Although there was no wind, soot and cinders

Sod-Breaking Ceremony Makes Today Historic

A history-making occasion was formally observed at 3 p.m. this afternoon as Reave F. B. Atkinson broke the sod for the new $200,000 soils laboratory at the Experimental Farm. It is to be situated just east of the present main office building.

Contract has been let to Kenyon and Co. of Penticton. This firm has recently completed a similar building for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., at Trail.

Architects are Smith and Partners of Trail. It is expected that the structure will be completed for occupancy this fall. Dr. T. H. Anstey, superintendent of the Farm reports.

Dr. J. C. Wilcox is the officer-in-charge of the Soils Laboratory which is situated now in the same building as the Fruit and Vegetable Processing Lab. Dr. Wilcox and his staff will move into the new structure. It will house the offices, also.

Summerland council has granted permission for the Girl Guides to hold a Tag Day on Saturday, May 4 and to have a booth on the main street for the sale of cookies.

BLAKE MILNE'S FILMS

A large crowd attended the showing of Blake Milne's films held in the Youth Centre on Monday evening, with proceeds going to WOTU Education Fund. The films were excellent and of great interest.

According To The Mood

This is an anniversary of sorts — three years ago by the date, March 13, 1954, I turned my back on Lady Nicotine. Yup, from a three pack a day man I quit cold and I've stayed quit. Want to quit? It's easy. True for about three months you know what people are talking about when they speak of hell on earth. — true you're irritable and hard to live with for about a year — true you eat more and shorten your life by putting on avoirdupois and have to go through frequent agonies reducing. But, if you really want to quit the way I did, just make up your mind to do it, then to kill the habit, just smoke cigarettes without lighting them. I did that for about three months — dry smoking, so to speak, and using up more cigarettes than when I was burning them up — but that was a passing phase and today here I am, three years later completely divorced from Lady Nicotine, and for the life of me I don't know whether I'm any the better off for it.

As things stand today I've no intention of going back to the weed — it is a foolish, untidy habit but for all that I've still got a sneaking sympathy for the man who wrote: "Tobacco is a dirty weed; I like it. It satisfies no normal need. I like it. It makes you thin, it makes you lann. It takes the hair right off your bean.

It's the worst darn stuff I've ever seen. I like it!"

One big thing though about quitting smoking, I must confess to being healthier. When I was smoking I was plagued with colds, they were knockouts and usually took me from work, but since I quit smoking I've been comparatively free of colds and what I've had have not been severe.

Seems the Wenner-Gren deal is not near as bleak as painted. The uproar seems to be dying down and now it appears that everything hinges on that $5,000,000 survey. The Rocky Mountain Trench Country can be compared to a discarded toy at a children's party. Children romp and play heedless of the toy, until one child picks it up and then everybody wants it.

I'm for anything that will put population into Canada, in particular into B.C. The more people we have the more customers we have for our fruit and the closer they are to source, the better.

So I'm all for Mr. Wenner-Gren. I hope his gamble pays off. Incidentally it could be that Summerland had something to do with the Swedish financier having a soft spot in his heart for B.C. Howard Milne tells me that when the money man was here in 1940, cruising in his yacht the "Southern Cross" that the Milne cannery kept the yacht supplied with delectable Summerland grown and Summerland canned fruits.

There's a meeting of the Board of Trade Thursday, IOOF hall, 6:30 p.m. Several important matters — one dealing with the advisability of having parallel parking on Granville Street. Then there's the question of the silent policeman at the intersection of Granville and Hastings. And there is the entire question of Summerland's future, due for airing. So for a good dinner, a good speaker and a good debate, attend Thursday's Board of Trade meeting.

St. John's Lutheran Church Setting For Vogel-Lekei Wedding Saturday

St. John's Lutheran Church was the setting on Saturday afternoon, March 9, at four o'clock, for the wedding of Alma Doris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lekei, Garnett Valley, and Rudolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Vogel, West Summerland.

Bouquets of flowers decorated the church and the ceremony was performed by Rev. L. A. Gabert, with sweetheart neckline and a bolero.

The bride wore a white satin wedding gown. The bodice was covered with lace, and the skirt with net. Her wedding veil was floor length and the bride carried red roses.

Mr. Lekei gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Elsie Glaser and Miss Alice Vogel, the attendants, were in pretty lace and net gowns, the former's pink, and the latter's green.

They wore matching flower bandeaux in their hair.

The groomsmen were Richard Lekei and Arick Trackl and Ervill Felker, Carl Schramm and Ted Hollinger were the ushers.

Miss Ruth Dale was organist for the service and while the register was signed Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilkin sang a duet, "O, Perfect Love."

Parents of the bride and groom received at the reception held in the Oddfellows' Hall, assisted by the bridal party.

Blue and white streamers, white bells, daffodils and narcissi, were arranged as lovely decorations. The bride's table had the same spring-time flowers and a beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake topped with a pair of doves.

R. Meiklejohn of Penticton proposed the toast to the bride, with response by the groom. Edwin Lekei, the bride's brother, gave the toast to the attendants, and Arick Trackl replied.

A phone call was received from the bride's brother, William Lekei, in Winnipeg, who sent congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkin sang, "I'll Walk Beside You," and 150 guests sat down to a supper at 6 p.m. followed by dancing to the music of Noblick's orchestra.

For a motor trip to Seattle the bride wore a pretty pale blue suit with pink accessories and corsage. The couple will make their home in Penticton.

As long ago as 1919 the Liberal party at that time promised Canadian people that it would inaugurate a National Health plan. At every convention since they have repeated this promise and each year while I have been a member, this matter has been brought up before Parliament and the old promise has been renewed. But only this week had Health Minister Martin taken a definite step towards implementing the promise. This he did by introducing a resolution for later discussion establishing a National Health Plan. Even the discussion will be delayed until the necessary six provinces agree to participate in the scheme. So far, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland are definite. Ontario is still hesitating but talks taking place this week between the two governments will iron out some of the disagreements regarding the details and it is fairly certain Ontario will be the fifth. Three other provinces, Manitoba, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are still negotiating agreements. When one or more of these three consent to enter the scheme, we will then have the necessary six.

It is too early yet to say what the scheme will cover. Whether it will cover hospitals, medical services, dentistry and so on will only be decided when the Bill itself appears before us. In the meantime, Mr. Martin has shown great reluctance to divulge any details. However, I feel that this is the most progressive step and brings us in line with some of the other leading world democracies that have operated National Health Plans for many years. The plan will not interfere in any way with the operation or ownership of hospitals whether they be municipal institutions, owned by a community or hospitals directed by religious or other voluntary organizations. Mr. Martin pointed out that no government has any right to assume that financial support to a hospital carries with it any entitlement to usurp the authority of those who direct its affairs. He went on to say, "I'm sure that the idea of state ownership or control of hospitals would be repugnant to the vast majority of the people of Canada."

The plan would also support the general practitioner and help him to serve his patients better. Mr. Martin said that it would make it possible for him to take advantage of diagnostic services he now hesitates to recommend for some patients and he would be assured that all his patients would have access to hospital care regardless of ability to pay.

A grant of $10,000 has been made to carry out a survey of general medical practice in Canada. This survey will be carried out by the college of General Practice and the School of Hygiene of Toronto University. The object is to gather information regarding the type and volume of illness treated by general practitioners. Mr. Martin said there are some 12,000 physicians in private practice in Canada, 7,000 are general physicians and 5,000 are specialists.

On Monday last, we had Prime Minister Guy Mollet of France speaking to a joint meeting of senators and MPs. He spoke of the close relationship between France and Canada and paid tribute to the Honourable L. B. Pearson for the excellent work he had done at the UN. Then he dealt with his own problem in Algeria. He said that Algeria has been an expense to France for some time as the revenue derived from the country itself have not met the expenditures, the balance being contributed by the French government. He said that if France walked out today this country might be under some form of Communist rule within five years. There is no simple division between Arabs and Frenchmen in Algeria. Arabs are divided among themselves and the Europeans residing in Algeria include Danish, Italians and many other racial types besides French. He stated the step that would be taken to give this country self-government in the future. He dealt with Egypt's claim to the Suez Canal. He warned that the word sovereignty no longer means what it meant a century or two ago. Today, the world is too interdependent for any one country to be allowed to control a service or a commodity that is necessary to all. Further that all countries must be prepared to surrender part of this sovereignty for the benefit of other nations. Based on such a theory is a common market plan for the European countries called Euratom. Under this scheme tariffs and trade barriers that now exist will be eliminated progressively so that ultimately the signatory nations in Europe will act as one economic entity.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH THIRTEENTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-SEVEN

Go Legion... Now!

HERE'S a saying that if you scratch a Russian you'll find a Tartar. That saying may, or may not be true, but it is certainly true that if you scratch a Summerlander chances are that you'll find a veteran.

Yes, most of the men of Summerland are veterans of one or other of Canada's wars, but although veterans, many of them do not belong to the Canadian Legion.

The Canadian Legion needs no introduction, it is Canada's topmost veterans' association. It is an organization of which veterans can be proud. Far too many people and this includes many veterans look upon the Legion more as a social organization revolving around the canteen, but this viewpoint is narrow in the extreme and is, in fact, doing an injustice to the Legion, the majority of its membership and to the memory of those who gave their lives in battle.

The true work and the true purpose of the Legion is to promote for and to protect the welfare of the veteran. The Legion, it might be noted, is not discriminatory. It works for all veterans, whether they are or are not members of the organization.

For example, Canada has every reason to be proud of its veterans' legislation, of its veterans' hospitals, of its veterans' land settlement schemes and of its veterans' pensions, but we doubt if such a high standard of veterans' welfare legislation would now be on the statute books but for the efforts of the Legion, and the benefits won are granted to all.

In other words there is not a veteran in the land today who has not, in one form or another benefitted from the efforts of the Canadian Legion.

It follows then, that all veterans should

Question of Trade Policy...

IN VIEW OF the many arguments being advanced before the McPhee Royal Commission for increased protection against American soft fruit imports, the following editorial which appeared in the Ottawa Citizen, shortly after the conclusion of the recent meeting of the Canadian Horticultural Council, should be of interest to growers.

"The recent annual meeting of the Canadian Horticultural Council produced one more example of that old question — to what extent should an industry be protected against outside competition? The fruit and vegetable growers already receive a certain amount of protection through seasonal duties, but they claim it isn't enough.

In a brief presented to the Federal Minister of Agriculture, the Council said that Canadian growers have suffered serious losses during the past few years from the dumping of American fruits and vegetables. It called on the Government to set a fair market value on imports during the marketing season to discourage any unloading of American supplies at distress levels — cleanup sales, the Council called them.

The complaint raised by the horticulturists is somewhat similar to that brought by the textile industry a few years ago. In that case "end of line" shipments from mass production United States factories at bargain prices were said to be causing hardship to Canadian manufacturers. Canadian anti-dumping legislation was tightened as a result, though that industry remains far from satisfied with the overall tariff treatment accorded it.

No further legislation appears necessary to meet the latest proposals of the horticulturists, for the Minister of National Revenue already has wide powers to fix values of fruits and vegetables for duty purposes. The

Letters to the Editor
The Editor,
Summerland Review.

Sir: I am addressing this letter to every fruit grower in the Summerland area. I would like to express what I consider to be a very serious situation that exists here today. This situation is even more serious as a result of the disastrous fire which destroyed the co-operative plant here on Saturday. It has been apparent for some time that packing and storage facilities in Summerland greatly exceed the supply of fruit. This has been caused by a number of reasons, chiefly frost injuries, subdivisions, tree replanting, etc. I also believe that the production of fruit in Summerland is not going to materially increase and quite possibly will decrease in the foreseeable future.

The cost to the grower by having their fruit handled in packing plants operating considerably below capacity amounts to thousands of dollars annually.

The picture since Saturday has changed. At the present moment there are not sufficient packing and storage facilities. Was there ever a more timely occasion than now for the growers to re-assess their position in relation to packing and storing of fruit?

I feel sure that there will be some concerted effort by some growers to try to correct this situation. I think we should all give this question very serious thought and by so doing help any efforts which may be made to improve this important phase of our industry.

I do wish to emphasize very clearly that I have no axe to grind. I have consulted no one in regard to the contents of this letter. I am in this fruit business and I feel that this fire is a challenge to the growers of Summerland to get together with a common purpose towards a planned efficient packing and storage program.

Yours truly,
N. O. SULLY,
RR Summerland.

The Editor,
Summerland Review.

Dear Sir: The local Hungarian Relief Committee has been encouraging a variety of reactions to the arrival of refugees in the community. Many Summerland people are showing typical Summerland kindness and hospitality. At the other extreme is the local store clerk who has promised that if any refugees enter his employer's store he will "boot them out the door." Narrow prejudices of this sort are probably rare, but a few regrettable misconceptions still exist commonly in the community. First, these people are here because they fought some battles against Communism for us last fall, and have probably reduced the danger that we may have to do the same thing here eventually. Most of them have narrowly missed being shot or shipped to Siberia. In the process they have lost everything they owned. We all owe them something.

Second, once they arrive in Summerland the Hungarians received nothing from the government. Neither do their hosts. The much-publicized $3.00 a day is allowed only to cover their expenses in transit across Canada.

The Canadian government is (spending large sums) transporting them from Austria to their Canadian destinations. That is essentially all it is doing. Once they reach their destination they are on their own, just as immigrants from other countries would be.

Third, the local volunteer committees are being organized to ensure that these people have roofs over their heads, food to eat, and clothes to wear. The committees also help to find and furnish homes for them as soon as they are settled in steady work. This is proving a lot of work for a few people.

Fourth, most of the refugees are give their support to the Canadian Legion. This support is best given by taking out membership in the local branch.

At the moment a nation-wide membership drive is being carried on. Summerland Branch No. 22 is participating — its objective is to double its membership. It can be done if every non-member veteran in the community recognizes that he, or she, has an obligation to fulfill.

In many communities the local branch of the Canadian Legion leads the community, and that is the way it should be. The men who were prepared to fight for home, community and country should surely be in the forefront of the battle to build up their community and country in times of peace.

Summerland today is at the cross roads. If Summerland is to advance, something dynamic in the way of leadership is required. That leadership could and should come from the Canadian Legion, because no other organization in the community is so representative of every cross section of the community.

It is now more than a decade, except for Korea, since Canadians marched shoulder to shoulder in war. The bonds of comradeship have slackened somewhat, and a force for the good of Canada is in consequence considerably weakened.

We repeat that a country worth fighting for is a country worth working for. In working for the betterment of the community a veteran is working for the betterment of the country as a whole — he can best do this by making his local Legion branch a factor in community life, but before he can do that he must be a member of the Legion.

The membership campaign is now in full swing — GO LEGION.

Largely as a result of greatly improved shipping techniques, produce from the Southern U.S. can travel long distances nowadays and offer strong competition over a large part of the year to fruit and vegetable growers, both in the Northern States, and in Canada. Those in the Northern States have no recourse, for they can't clap on a tariff against the products of their own country.

While a moderate degree of protection may be warranted as a compensation for the climate in which Canadian producers have to operate, more perhaps might be done by the industry itself to improve the quality of home-grown fruits and vegetables, and also to improve merchandising methods. In spite of progress in some parts of the country during recent years in these respects, there seems room for further efforts.

REV. Wm. STURGESS

Rev. Wm. Sturgess, BA, BD, formerly president of the BYPU convention of the Baptist Churches of Ontario and Quebec, and an assistant pastor in Walmer Road Baptist Church, Toronto, now a missionary in Bolivia, is to speak in the Baptist church on Friday evening, March 15, at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Sturgess are on their first furlough since going to Bolivia in 1952, where they have been in the Oruro area with supervision of 12 churches.

He is said to be an exceptionally fine speaker and will show colored slides.

Parliament Hill

Mr. Mollet received an ovation from the House and later on the members had an opportunity to meet him. It was during this informal meeting I was introduced to the French Ambassador who mentioned that he hopes to visit the Okanagan during the coming summer.

The Canadian Farm Loans Board had a bill before Parliament to increase its financial resources by 20 million dollars from the present 60 million to 80 million dollars. Several members were critical of the Board because of the length of time it takes to process a loan application. It was also criticized for its policy of evaluating the farmers' land for loan purposes. The mildest criticism charged them with being too cautious. Invariably the Board's land appraisal is well below the sale value of that property. This is particularly so with the valuation of fruit orchards. It seems the policy of the Board is to discount entirely the value of the trees. I brought this to the attention of the government as I feel that we have many farmers whose request for a loan has been turned down to my mind unjustly. In fact, I know of cases where the Farm Loans Board turned down farmers who with the same assets and exactly the same conditions were able later to secure a loan from the orthodox banks and it seems to me that the operation of the farm loans board should be less stringent than the requirements of an orthodox bank when making a loan to our farmers.

New Tax Rebate Creates Problem

The $28 new refundable tax gives local councils something of a problem as their estimates are based to a certain extent on local revenues, one of which is the property tax.

Using 1,000 as the approximate number of property owners in Summerland, the refundable tax amounts to $28,000, which the municipality would not receive until such time as it was refunded by the government. In one way this means that the local councils are penalized in the amount of the refundable tax since they do not have the use of the money between the period when it is allowed to the taxpayer and the time when the government repays it. This could mean that councils have to borrow money to carry on their operations. This would cost them interest rates.

After this matter was discussed by Tuesday's meeting, the council decided to take it up at the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association, asking that the tax money be paid in quarterly instalments by the government.

AOTS Notes

Most people are interested in money or acquiring it. The subject of money or currency, was made quite interesting to a group of AOTS members and guests when I. H. Solly gave a well annotated history of our present bills and coins at the regular monthly supper meeting.

Some strange forms of currency in other parts of the world were mentioned by Mr. Solly, these being shells, stones and waxes. Two factors were necessary in choosing currency. One was that it should be attractive or desirable, and another that it should be relatively scarce.

The early Canadian Indians obtained their wampum (shells) from the Gulf of Mexico. Later on, the French intendants used ordinary playing cards, cut into pieces, wrote on the amount that it was worth, signed and sealed the piece to make it legal currency.

After explaining several details of the engraving of the present day notes Mr. Solly kindly advised us that only currency made at the government mint was legal.

In the business meeting the treasurer reported an increase in membership since the last meeting. It was noted also that the attendance was up fifty per cent over last month.

Teenage Road-E-O Will Be April 13

Entry forms for the Jaycee National Teenage Safe Driving Road-E-O to be held at Pentiction on Saturday, April 13, are available from A. K. Macleod, principal of Summerland junior-senior high school, at the school.

Closing date for entries is March 30, and they should be sent to Wally Harrison, Pentiction Agencies, Pentiction.

The contest is open to any teenage driver with a license or permit who has a clean record or no moving traffic violation in the past six months.

Local prizes have not been announced. In the regional finals in Vancouver the first prize is $100; second $75; and third, $50.

Last year, the national finals were held in Ottawa.

If there is a good response from Summerland a Road-E-O may be held here, according to Wily Carter, publicity chairman for the Pentiction Jaycees.

Refugee Family To Grand Forks

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Polcz and their children, Agnes and Charles, the Hungarian family which has been staying at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. V. Fisher, has moved to Grand Forks.

Mr. Polcz, who was a printer in Budapest, before fleeing to Austria, and later coming to Canada, is employed at the Grand Forks Gazette. He is learning English quickly.

One afternoon on publication day he worked in the Summerland Review, and the staff was surprised at the rapidity with which he was able to work in spite of the language barrier.

Agnes and Charles, who have been in the high school here, will attend high school at Grand Forks.

Free Scoring Hockey Here

The All-Stars kept a strong hold on the game Saturday night when the fast skating Vancouver boys were never more than one point behind them during the game. A fair crowd cheered the All Stars on when, with but a few minutes left to play and the score 11-11, the fast skating Summerland boys came down the ice and made a spectacular play to put them one point ahead of the Vancouver team. Close checking and strong skating kept the Vancouver fellows at bay.
Summerland sparked by Hryciuk's five point count came ahead to beat the Vancouver boys 8-6 in Sunday afternoon's encounter. The game was nearly a repeat of the Saturday game, scoring for Summerland being divided by Roberge, Parker, Hooker, Taylor and Hryciuk's five-point performance.

Readers' Forum

intelligent, reasonable people. A few are agitated and difficult when they arrive. For these people there is plenty of excuse. All groups of immigrants, including some of our forebears, have had trouble adapting themselves in Canada. These Hungarians have just finished a losing battle, essentially with their bare hands, against a mechanized army. This has been followed by nerve-racking escapes and by months of life in staging camps. They have lost relatives and friends. It is surprising that most of them are proving so co-operative and sane.
Lastly, whether we approve of the Hungarians or not, we have them, now, 25,000 or so. If they are treated well they will make good Canadians. Most of the first arrivals are proving that already. If they encounter prejudices and misunderstandings they have a right to, and will, become embittered and remain problems in our midst for a long time. Treating them firmly but well is the smart thing as well as the decent thing to do.
Summerland will soon have six or more additional Hungarian families or single people. The Committee hopes that Summerland people will give any help they can, and at least will avoid making their establishment in the country more difficult.

In the first game of the Interior Juvenile Basketball finals, played in Kamloops on Saturday night, the Summerland boys came up with a 46-33 win, to give them a 13-point lead in the two-game total point series. The second game is to be played in Summerland on Saturday night with the winners playing a coast team, in Vancouver, for the B.C. crown.

Substitute forward Ron Fisher led the boys to their big victory on Saturday, playing well on defence and keeping them in the game with his deadly shooting. He piled up 13 points for the high individual effort. Not far behind was Johnny Menu, the tall centre man, with 10 points. Usually high scoring Carlton Sheeley was held to only four points. It was not hard to spot the boys who had been up all night the night before watching the packing house fire. They had trouble keeping their eyes open, let alone playing basketball.

On Saturday night when these boys play again it is hoped there will be a large crowd in the gym to lend them a hand both morally and financially. The game will start at 8.30 with a preliminary game between the Summerland Bantams vs. the Revelstoke Bantams at 7.30.
In this game Summerland holds an 11 point advantage in the total point two-game series. Both teams, if they win, will be going to Vancouver on March 29.

Bruins, sparked by Parker's eight point performance, kept a strangle hold on second place. Sheeley and Brown scored the Black Hawks first two goals and then Perritt came back for the Bruins. Sheeley again talked for the Black Hawks but Parker soon came back for the Bruins and scored. Brown then counted for the Black Hawks. The high flying Bruins, suffering from a two-goal deficit went on a wild scoring streak. Parker pumped three in rapid succession and Gronlund then aspired in a brace. Perritt and Fowler and Perritt then scored again making the count 9-4 in favor of the Bruins.

The Black Hawks in a final attempt to catch up in vain scored two more goals making the final score 9-6.

The Canadians left no doubt in anybody's mind when on Saturday morning they handed a 9-0 shellacking to the Maple Leafs. Gillard definitely a main stay when he came through with five goals for the Canadians. Rennie and Holme each scored doubles which accounts for the Canadians' 9 goals.

The closest game of the weekend was played when the count was 8-4 in favor of the Bruins. Sheeley scored two for the Black Hawk and Parker and Shannon also scored. The Bruins Rocket Parker scored five of their goals and Gronlund received the other goal. Final score 8-4 for the Bruins.

H.M.S. PINAFORE

People Have Enjoyed Gilbert and Sullivan for Nearly Eighty Years

In spite of a brilliant and promising first night at the Opera Comique in London on May 25, 1878, seventy-nine years ago, and the almost unanimous delight of both critics and public, it seemed that at first "HMS Pinafore" would be a dismal failure.

Prospects of its success were not improved by the discomforts of an unprecedented heat wave which persisted through the months of June and July. Nightly receipts dropped to £40 or less; the cast voluntarily cut their pay by one-third; Richard O'Oyly Carte persuaded the Directors of the Comedy Opera Company time and again to extend the ill-fated run for at least one more week and both Gilbert and Sullivan were sufficiently discouraged at the outlook to be seriously considering other fields of activity — and apart; Gilbert again to serious drama and Sullivan to oratorio and grand opera.

In August, however, public fancy was at last aroused by the inclusion by Sullivan as conductor of "Selections from Pinafore" in a Promenade Concert at Covent Gardens. By demand, he played it again and again. Business at the theatre flourished, and the opera went on to conclude a record first run of seven hundred performances. Touring companies were organized and ten thousand copies of the piano score were sold in one day.

Within a few months the "Pinafore mania" spread to the U.S.A. and "What never? — Well, hardly ever!" became the catchword of New York as well as London. Eight companies were presenting various and pirated editions in New York alone; all without any benefit to the English owners of the opera since the copyright laws of the time did not protect them from unauthorized use of the work in America.

Finally Gilbert, Sullivan and O'Oyly Carte decided to present the authentic opera in New York under their own supervision and although many months had elapsed during which the pirated editions had been playing there, the venture was a riotous success.

Since then "HMS Pinafore" has remained a favorite of Gilbert and Sullivan opera lovers and ranks second only to the "Mikado" in popularity.

Nine years ago "Pinafore" was presented here; prior to that it was performed here in 1924; and now is to be seen again in the Singers' and Players' Club production, Monday, March 25, with a cast and crew of over 60. It's a big show.

PLOT OF THE OPERA

The entire action of the opera takes place on the quarterdeck of "HMS Pinafore" off Portsmouth, 1878.

Act I—The crew are busy getting shipshape for the visit of the First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B. A diversion is caused by the arrival of Little Buttercup the bumboat woman with her basket of goodies. In the general excitement Dick Deadeye, a bitter and grotesque seaman, is the only dissenting voice.

Buttercup is struck with remorse at the appearance of Ralph Rackstraw who, though only an able seaman confesses that he loves Josephine the captain's daughter. Ralph says he will declare his love at the first opportunity. This all his shipmates, except Dick Deadeye, approve.

Captain Corcoran comes on deck greeting his crew, expressing his pride that he is "hardly ever" sick at sea. In face of their persistent "What never?" he is forced to admit "Well—hardly ever!" The crew go below to prepare for Sir Joseph.

Buttercup is worried by the Captain who discloses to her that his laughter is sought in marriage by Sir Joseph Porter but the daughter does not seem to take kindly to the idea. They retire as Josephine appears and sings of the heavy lot of one who loves too well. The Captain tries to comfort her but Sir Joseph's barge approaches accompanied by his admiring boy of sisters, cousins and aunts. Captain and crew welcome the ladies aboard followed by the great Sir Joseph.

Sir Joseph says his present emnence as "Monarch of the Sea" is due to the fact that he has stuck to his desk and never gone to sea. He inspects the crew, warns the Captain that foul language and abuse is not to be used in the navy; gives the sailors a song of his own for them to hum; finally withdraws with the captain to discuss the matter of his betrothal to Josephine.

Ralph and Josephine encounter each other on the deserted quarter deck. Ralph tells his love for her and is rejected in no uncertain terms. Josephine haughtily leaves him. He calls his messmates — the ladies also answer the call — and tells them that as life without Josephine would be unbearable he will shoot himself on that account. The boatswain provides a loaded pistol but Josephine, overhearing, relents, consenting to elope with Ralph that very night. This is opposed by Dick Deadeye. All others being in favor, he is chased off deck. The act ends hilariously, in song and dance.

Act II—It is night aboard "HMS Pinafore." The Captain serenades the moon bewailing his loneliness. Buttercup reminds him that she at least is his friend but tells that she can read destinies and she knows a change is in store for him.

Sir Joseph enters from the cabin complaining that Josephine is cool towards his suit. The captain suggests it is perhaps his exalted rank which deters her. Sir Joseph assures Josephine that it is his official opinion that love levels all ranks. This only persuades her that she cannot therefore be wrong in eloping with Ralph Rackstraw.

Dick Deadeye reveals the elopement scheme to the Captain. At the hour arranged they conceal themselves as the elopers and their wellwishers steal out on deck. The Captain springs out and is so incensed at the suggestion that a seaman should aspire to the hand of his daughter that he breaks into regrettable profanity. Sir Joseph overcomes with horror at hearing such language addressed to a British seaman and an Englishman orders the Captain to his cabin.

Josephine tells Sir Joseph of the true state of affairs. He orders Ralph to be incarcerated in the ship's dungeon. Buttercup saves the situation by confessing that as foster-mother many years ago, she had been entrusted with the care both of Ralph and the Captain, but that she had unfortunately mixed the babies up. She knows now that Ralph was the wellborn babe and the Captain was the other. It being quite unthinkable that Sir Joseph should marry the daughter of a common seaman, he withdraws his suit. Ralph by virtue of his birth is installed as Captain of the "Pinafore." The Captain is demoted to the rank of able seaman.

This solves all difficulties. The Captain, being of her social level may now marry Buttercup; Josephine may accept Ralph without loss of dignity. Sir Joseph makes the best of a bad job and falls into the designing arms of his own cousin, Hebe.

Battle On To Eradicate Oriental Moth

Pest Which Sneaked In Must Be Exterminated

An all-out effort to eradicate the Oriental fruit moth larvae is underway in Summerland, the attack being made at Barkwills cannery which last year became innocent host to the larvae, believed to have entered Canada and arrived in Summerland along with a shipment of peaches from the United States.

As a first step in the fight, eight acres of fruit trees surrounding the cannery have been destroyed. The cannery itself has been covered with a huge plastic tent and fumigation of the cannery and cannery grounds under the two-acre tarpaulin is being carried on in this all-out effort to prevent the dangerous fruit moth getting a hold in the Okanagan.

Columbia Pest Control Co-op, California is doing the fumigating.

Spraying All Summer Against Pest

The department of agriculture has purchased a Trump AF 36 sprayer with fibre glass tank to carry out a spray program throughout the summer in Summerland and Osoyoos. Sprays will be put on acreage at Barkwills and some 16 acres at Osoyoos every week or ten days as a precautionary measure against the Oriental moth.

The sprayer will be kept at the Canada Entomology Laboratory. The estimated cost of the eradication project is approximately $55,000. This included besides the various treatments described, compensation for the 8 acres of orchard removed, special spraying of 50 acres of surrounding orchards, labour and tractor costs and compensation for unsaleable fruit.

Work and Costs Are Being Pooled

Both the work and the cost of the project is being shared by the Canada and British Columbia departments of agriculture. Activities include fumigation of the buildings, soil fumigation, and supplementary soil treatments, orchard spraying and the trapping and banding of trees during the summer; the removal and burning of the orchard; fumigation of ripening rooms in which the fruit was stored at one plant; payment of compensation to growers for loss of trees or crop; oiling of roadways and participation in the general supervision of the project.

Tremendous Loss If Not Checked

Agricultural scientists, including entomologists, chemists, horticulturists and fumigation experts, pooled their knowledge in a campaign to prevent this small introduction of the Oriental fruit moth from spreading through the fruit producing Okanagan Valley.

Before a decision was made to proceed with the project, the estimated cost of attempting eradication was assessed against the loss to fruit growers, and to consumers that might be expected should the insect become widely established in the Okanagan Valley. On the basis of costs for extra sprays, etc., in other peach growing areas where the Oriental fruit moth has become widespread, it was estimated that it would cost Okanagan Valley fruit growers $137,000 to apply two extra sprays and $68,000 in fruit losses per year, or an annual loss that could well exceed $200,000.

Many Methods of Attack Required

Complete destruction of the larvae, or pupae in affected areas requires several methods of attack. Buildings and the land immediately around them are being fumigated. For this purpose special plasticized coverings are placed over the buildings. The edges of the covering are buried in trenches under 12 inches of sand to prevent escape of the methyl bromide gas fumigant. Coverings must be sufficiently gas proof to retain the fumigant at specified concentrations for 48 hours. Gas concentrations are checked at various points under the cover every two hours and additional fumigant pumped in at any points showing a drop.

Will Know Results by End of Summer

C. E. Emery Goes to Toronto Convention

C. E. Emery of Summerland and Harry Gladwell of Victoria have been elected to represent the Meteor-Mercury, Lincoln dealers of British Columbia at the annual Dealer-Ford Motors Company conference at Toronto on March 25.

They will fly east for the conference.

W. WILSON FATALITY IN AIRCRAFT ACCIDENT

Ted Wilson has received word that his brother, Bill, aged 28, of the RCAF, was killed in a jet aircraft accident over Germany on March 14. The flyer attended school in Summerland for awhile some years ago.

Nat May Is Surprised By Gift, Life Membership

Nat May was honored by Summerland Horticultural Society in a surprise presentation of a life membership certificate and a Ronson lighter at the regular meeting on Friday evening.

A large number attended. The presentation was made by Mrs. Alex Inch for the Society with Mrs. May receiving a corsage, through the courtesy of Don McLachlan's Greenhouse.

Mr. May's timely topics are a feature of each monthly program and his professional, seasonal advice is appreciated.

At Friday's meeting, the honored member, gave a talk on the new varieties of daisies, and the new dwarf 'mum, which is only nine inches high. In his humorous way, Mr. May suggested a white 'mum of this type would make a good path border for those going home late at night.

Mrs. Alex Inch won the most points in the Parlor Show, for the past year, and was given a pot fern and a certificate for purchase of tuberous begonias or 'mum plants at a local greenhouse, as well as a bouquet given by Gallows' Greenhouses. Names of all who had entered in the Parlor Shows were put in a hat and one drawn. Miss Nellie Holder was lucky in winning the token prize.

As entertainment Joe McLachlan showed pictures of the operation of his ten acres of greenhouses, making interesting comments on pasteurization of the soil, starting daffodils, etc. Mr. McLachlan invited members to visit his place.

Dr. James Marshall gave the commentary on some lovely gardens in Victoria, slides of which were obtained from the Victoria Horticultural Society.

In the March Parlor Show, Mrs. Doreen Tait won first for her theme arrangement "Okanagan" and Mrs. Alex Inch, second for "Woodland Scene." Miss Tait took first for a potted plant and Mrs. Wm. May, second.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. H. C. Whitaker and Mrs. Gordon Ritchie.

Swim Pool As Centennial Project Not Supported

Suggestion that a swimming pool should be considered as a centennial project for Summerland failed to win support at last week's Board of Trade meeting.

Reeve Atkinson estimated the cost at between $15,000 and $20,000 and wondered where the money would come from. J. O'Mahony was of the opinion that a swimming pool was unnecessary in view of the excellent swimming facilities provided by the lake.

Reeve Atkinson spoke strongly in favor of a library as the suitable centennial project.

Discussion was limited and no action was taken by the meeting.

Board of Trade president Roy Wellwood extended a warm welcome on behalf of the board of trade to perennial treasurer E. F. Butler, just returned from an extended vacation.

George Henry reporting for the traffic and safety committee recommended that a flasher light and white lines be placed at the intersection of Granville and Hastings to reduce traffic hazard.

The board decided that it could not participate in the pot luck evening to be held by the school band as a means of raising funds for the proposed tour. President Wellwood pointed out that such activity was outside the scope of the board and that as most members of the board also belonged to service clubs, they would be participating in any event.

A letter from Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, informed the board that nothing has yet been decided regarding the proposed Penticon by-pass, but that the matter is receiving active consideration.

NARAMATA CLUB PLAYS BADMINTON HERE

On Friday evening Naramata Badminton Club were hosts to the Summerland club in the Badminton Hall here on a return visit. Twenty-four games were played with Summerland winning 13-11.

New Buildings on Granville Street

Granville Street is to be further improved in appearance with the new buildings which are to be started the first of April in tearing down the buildings housing Verrier's Meat Market, the former office of the provincial agriculturist, and the front part of Read and Pruden's.

It is understood that Mr. Ritchie will erect three new buildings, the Read and Pruden part to be added to the new structure housing their machinery, which was erected a year or so ago.

Mr. Verrier is to conduct his business meetings in the Lockwood building on Hastings St., the former site of Penney's Beauty Shop, which is now in the new Atkinson block next to the Bank of Montreal.

Read and Pruden's office part will be in the former barber shop which is part of the Nuway Hotel.

Report is that Colin Campbell has the building contract.

Pessimism Accentuates Orchard Labor Problem

"Chronic pessimism of fruit growers is one of the reasons it is difficult to keep orchard labor," members of the Summerland Board of Trade were told at their regular meeting here last Thursday.

Guest speaker of the evening was Richard Childerstone, immigration officer for the southern interior. In reviewing the problems of settling immigrants Mr. Childerstone ascribed the turnover in orchard labor to the pessimistic talk of the growers. Naturally a man wants to be working at something that appears to have stability and some future, but after hearing his employer talk, all he wants to do is get out as quickly as he can.

"This valley is cursed with pessimism, insofar as agriculture is concerned," Mr. Childerstone said. "Pessimism of the boss reflects on the employees, as a result he doesn't stay and that is one of the reasons we have a farm labor problem. Maybe the farmer can't pay top wages, but he could give employees an interest in the work."

Mr. Childerstone told the meeting that 30,000 immigrants are scheduled to arrive in British Columbia during the summer months and that most of them would be from the United Kingdom.

He pointed out that this influx should be beneficial as these immigrants were not broke and under U.K. regulations are allowed to take out one thousand pounds.

"We hope to place many of these new immigrants in agriculture, the speaker said and then went on to speak of pessimism and its effect on farm labor.

Of the Hungarian immigration Mr. Childerstone said that about 100 have been placed in the valley and that only eleven or twelve are not earning.

He classified them as follows: 70 per cent will just naturally make good Canadians; 20 per cent will have to be worked upon, guided; 10 per cent could go either way.

Red Cross Drive Is Progressing

No progress report is possible on the Red Cross campaign as Rotarians have not turned in their totals yet.

At last Friday evening's Rotary Club meeting, six members reported having completed their canvassing and that they had met with success. This is a small proportion of the number who will be out collecting in the annual Red Cross drive for funds.

High Rating For Grad Concert

The sixth annual Grad Concert was a great success with Ken Bissett acting as a capable master of ceremonies and Donna Eden, convener of the event.

An enthusiastic audience applauded for many encores and the skits, two by students of the junior high school and one by the teachers, were enjoyed. The latter was especially appealing to the student section of the audience.

Elaine Dunsdon and Janet Bullock gave dance numbers and others taking part in instrumental, piano or vocal selections were Carol James, Sharon Hansen, Viola Genzeveld, Walter Uegama, Marjorie Campbell, Dot Carston, Eddie Matsu, Ken Stoll, Lynne Boothe, Johan Bergstrom and Barbara Baker.

Home cooking and candy sales added to the general proceeds which are used to assist with graduation expenses.

Programs were made in the High School's commercial department.

Legion Member Drive Going Well

Report of the membership drive of the Canadian Legion given by chairman of the campaign, Bruce Blagborne, showed that there is good indication that the objective would be reached. This was heard with interest on Wednesday evening at a well-attended regular meeting of the Summerland branch.

During the next week or so, members of the committee will try to enrol every known veteran in the Summerland district. It is hoped that any other veterans will contact the Legion members themselves without waiting to be approached. Every member of the branch was asked to undertake to speak to each veteran known to him or her.

The first of the new members as a result of the drive were initiated.

Letters were read concerning the new LA flag, to be dedicated in a ceremony at St. Stephen's Church, Sunday, March 24. It was unanimously agreed that the branch would parade to join in the service.

The Auxiliary's invitation to a "Vimy Night" supper was accepted with pleasure, and all World War I veterans were to be contacted in good time.

W. C. McCutcheon, president, H. C. Howis and L. L. Trippe were chosen representatives to the provincial convention to be held at Cranbrook, May 19-22. Harold Smith was elected as an alternate delegate. The secretary regretted that he would be unable to attend.

It was agreed that David Jack should be delegated as Story Teller at the Potluck evening to be held by the Summerland High School Band.

Reports were given by various committees, including a very interesting one by Dr. D. L. McIntosh on the Scouts' present and future activities.

Frank Daniels won the door prize.

Hungarian Couple At the V. Charles

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Charles have a Hungarian couple, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horvath, staying with them. They arrived Tuesday morning after being two months on the way from Hungary, and are looking for work. Mr. Horvath was employed formerly in a gun factory. He is 25 years old and his wife just 18.

They have left their 15 months' old little daughter with Mr. Horvath's mother, and hope when they are more settled to send for her. They have been given help along the way by the Red Cross, as everything except the clothing they wore was taken from them as they left Austria.

The local Hungarian Relief Committee of Summerland Central Welfare is giving help in obtaining clothing needed.

Mr. Stanley Knowles of the CCF drew the attention of the government to the situation of the CNR Pensioners. He said that 6,699 persons or 31.8% of Canadian National Railway Pensioners receive less than $40.00 a month. A total of 3,075 receive $25.00 or less. This he claimed was terribly inadequate as many of these pensions were granted some years ago when the general rate was very low and have not been increased to compensate for the higher cost of living. Mr. Knowles demanded that the government should ensure that every CNR Pensioner should receive a minimum of $60.00 a month. Low pensions to the retired employees are not confined to the CNR, both CPR and other railways are in the same situation and I hope that the continual pressure by Mr. Knowles will relieve the anxiety of these pensioners, many of whom reside in the Okanagan.

My recent request for a review of a postal service in Summerland and West Summerland brought results. The Deputy Postmaster General has informed me that his Department will immediately contact the various interested groups in both Summerland and West Summerland and try and arrive at an amicable solution and I hope that a postal district will emerge where the combined area will have a four cent rate and mail delivery will be speeded up. This is now a matter for the citizens of Summerland and West Summerland to decide.

The government is working closely with the chartered banks trying to have their savings deposits invested in mortgages, government bonds, and other long term investments. Primarily, the plan was proposed by James Coyne, Governor of the Bank of Canada with a view to checking inflation. Apparently the banks brought their mortgage loans almost to a dead halt at the end of 1956. In fact so heavy was the demand for short term loans that banks even sold their holdings of government bonds at a loss to raise sufficient funds. I am not going into detail on Mr. Coyne's proposals but I do heartily support the channelling of savings deposits with the chartered banks into mortgages that would provide new homes for our people.

The Housing plan has suffered a set-back during the last year because of the tightness of our money policy. On the other hand, the need for housing is almost as great as ever, apparently owing to the large influx of new Canadians from Europe which will reach a record this year and there also has been a healthy normal growth within Canada itself. Added to this would be the steps taken by the provincial and federal governments to eliminate slum areas particularly in our large towns. This in turn has created a need for new homes for those people with families occupying the dwellings in the slum areas.

The bill dealing with the Prairie Farms Assistance Act (PFMA) was discussed by the Agricultural Committee. During the discussion a great deal of time was spent on the Administration costs of this particular department. At the same time, tribute was paid to the good work it had done in relieving distress in drought areas or areas where for some reason or other the production per acre was between three and eight bushels. Certain lands are exempted from the coverage such as crown land, although the farmer on the land must contribute his levy imposed on each bushel he grows. Members of the Committee felt that no one should be called upon to pay a levy for a service that he cannot avail himself of. The farmers union delegation suggested that the PFMA be enlarged in its scope to cover other crops. I promptly asked if they meant that fruit and vegetables should also be subjected to crop insurance. With this they agreed and I proceeded to explain to the Committee the great need for some such protection for the fruit and vegetable growers in my riding. Actually the loss on fruit farms through frost or similar cause could and does mean a loss of revenue for several years.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH TWENTIETH NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-SEVEN

Lull In The Storm . . .

EVERY TYPHOON has its "eye," a sector of calm in the centre of the raging circle of storm and so it seems that the typhoon which struck the fruit industry has reached the "eye," the centre of the storm and, while the McPhee Royal Commission is in recess, the orchardist is out in the orchard pruning, and in general preparing for another season, thinking, perhaps, more of the task in hand than of the Royal Commission.

The Royal Commission has, of course, only just started its task of probing the fruit industry, but sufficient representation has been heard to make it clear that the growers of the Okanagan still have their feet on the ground. By and large, the submissions so far made before the commission have been constructive rather than destructive. And looming large, above all else, is the preponderance of support which has been given to central selling.

It is true that some individuals have stood forth and attacked central selling and the officials entrusted with its management but this type of submission must be considerably nullified by the repeated expression by responsible grower after responsible grower, of faith in central selling and the men who administer it.

There has been much argument pro and con these past few months regarding the growers' selling agency and related organizations. But we have yet to read a stronger argument in support of B.C. Tree Fruits than the one unwittingly set out in a letter from the Prices Support Board in reply to a resolution from the BCFGA asking a subsidy of 25 cents a box on the 1955 crop.

The reply is, we think, about the best testimonial to the growers' selling organization and to the personnel of that organization that could be given.

The letter from the prices support board also serves to point up the fact that while conditions in the British Columbia fruit belt are bad, they are worse elsewhere.

Writes the Prices Support Board over the signature of its chairman, Mr. A. M. Shaw:

"Your letter of January 31st to the Minister as well as the presentation of the Brief by representatives of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association has now been given attention.

Pioneer Days

40 YEARS AGO — MARCH 16, 1917

The Fruit Union has been advised that the Central has closed a contract for some 200 tons of onions for preserving that will net the growers at least $14 a ton.

A picture postcard of more than usual local interest reached Summerland lately. Mrs. Faulder thought she discovered a familiar face and took it to Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Elliott who, too, quickly recognized none other than the picture of their own son, who with others was administering first aid to the enemy's wounded. Keith's face was full of sympathy for the suffering prisoners.

Roscoe McWilliams has been made wireless operator of the "Harold Dollar" a trans-Pacific liner.

W. E. Morsch is visiting in Peachland for a week.

Mrs. C. J. Thomson and her daughter, Miss Mae, left last week to join Mr. Thomson in Alberta.

After an absence of six years at the Coast and on the prairies, Mr. A. Kercher, accompanied by Mrs. Kercher and two children, came last week to establish his home here again.

10 YEARS AGO — MARCH 13, 1947

Ed Brennan burned his arm last week while at work at the Sunoka plant. He slipped and went into some hot glucose, causing a bad burn from the hand to the elbow.

Louis Smith has sold his home and orchard in Summerland and has purchased the business formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pledge, who have moved to Penticton.

Mrs. J. Clark and Mrs. Elmer Johnston left on Monday, March 3, for Ontario where they will visit friends and relatives.

Miss Pearl Leitch returned last week from a holiday with her parents in Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Coyne left on Wednesday for a trip to Vancouver.

First of all what is "a desirable form" for the tree? In most types of trees, with the possible exception of pears, we need three main limbs, located at equal distances around the tree and well attached to the main trunk by wide angle crotches. The leader may be one of the three main limbs. If possible the main limbs should be 12 to 18 inches vertical distances above each other on the trunk. Vertical separation minimizes loss if one limb breaks out.

How do we go about achieving the goal of a well shaped tree? Here are a few suggestions:

- (1) We need to promote early vigorous growth by planting well grown stock and seeing to it that irrigation, fertilizing and cultivation are adequate. If growth is inadequate there should be a good selection of limbs to choose from at the first pruning.
- (2) At the first dormant pruning one or two of the better limbs may be selected as permanent branches. Occasionally all three may be selected if there happen to be three well placed strong branches.
- (3) All branches having weak narrow angles with the trunk

After consulting with the Minister, which the Board agreed to do at the time the representatives met with them, it has been considered that due to the fact British Columbia producers received an average of more than 70 cents per box for all apples as compared with returns of approximately 40 cents per box in Nova Scotia and Quebec and 66 cents in Ontario it would not be advisable to consider further payment to the British Columbia grower for the 1955 crop.

In making this decision the Board has carefully considered the suggestion that something more than one cent per pound on Fancy grade apples might be desirable. However, according to the representatives the return on all apples to the growers was approximately 75 cents per box which would mean a somewhat higher return on all Fancy or better grade apples. It was further indicated that in the case of British Columbia practically all apples were harvested whereas in Quebec, Nova Scotia and Ontario a considerable number of apples were allowed to fall on the ground and were not marketed.

The Board in rejecting this application is not unsympathetic to the position of the British Columbia apple grower, but based on a broad national viewpoint it would appear that it was reasonable to reject the present request.

While we do not agree with the Board's rejection of the request, our contention being that some form of price support should have been forthcoming, not only for British Columbia growers but for the harder hit growers in the east, we do welcome the Board's point of view insofar as it reflects upon the efficiency of the fruit growers' organizations in this province.

We hope that the letter published above will be filed with the McPhee Royal Commission. We think it speaks volumes.

Mid-Week Message

DAILY BREAD
Thought for Today: Give us this day our daily bread. Matt. 6:11.

How concerned we are for our stomachs! Of course we are. And God, as our Father, knows our needs and is concerned for us.

When we pray for daily bread, I'm afraid we mean more than just bread. We want that bread buttered, and if possible, jam, too. We want meat and vegetables, milk or coffee, and as much more as we think the traffic will bear.

Oh, sure, we send food to starving countries, but not enough so that we must do without. It is hard for us to sit down at our tables and imagine half the world going hungry day by day. Jesus' feeding of the multitude played an important part in his ministry — but not the most important part. He was more concerned with feeding spiritual hunger than a craving for food. So it is comparatively easy for us to blithely believe "daily bread" to mean spiritual food, as long as we are not the ones who are physically hungry. But for the world's hungry people, "daily bread" means exactly that — a crusty loaf.

Christ was made known to his disciples after the resurrection "in the breaking of the bread." In giving for the needs of others, both physical and spiritual, perhaps we, too, may know Christ.

Prayer: Gracious God, we are grateful for bread. We pledge ourselves to do what we can to feed the hungry in body and spirit. In the name of him who said, "I am the Bread of Life." Amen.

Letters to the Editor
The Summerland Review.

Sir: Summerland's young musicians and their elders have just enjoyed another Kiwanis Music Scholarship Festival, and six grateful young students have received awards to the amount of three hundred dollars as a result of the adjudication on their work. I know from contact with many of them, that this affair has been a real source of inspiration — and there are many of them already diligently working towards next year's event! Students and parents alike join me in saying "Thank you—all members of the Kiwanis Club."

Perhaps this is the opportune time to discuss the acoustics in our auditorium—which are not good. It has been noticeable in previous concerts that there is some flaw in the sound that has detracted from even the best performances. In this Kiwanis contest it was obvious in the piano work, that any student playing music that called for rapid finger work was accused of blurring—and over-peddaling. This happened to two students who purposefully did not use the pedal. There is a noticeable "drag"—or echo which results in rapid work deteriorating into a blurred jumble of sounds.

Summerland now has a good auditorium and a grand piano, and with the correction of this fault in the acoustics, it is quite possible that in the future, our home town could handle its own Celebrity Concerts—and hear performers of the calibre of Gary Graffman, who thrilled a South Okanagan audience in Penticton this past week.

Summerland is noted far and wide for its community spirit—and with that "let's-get-together-on-it" spirit surely the money could be raised to correct the trouble — to the benefit of all of us.

Sincerely yours,
KAY HAMILTON ATCM

The Editor,
Summerland Review.

Dear Sir: When an "Oldtimer" who was visiting Summerland during our Golden Jubilee last summer was interviewed over the radio, he said he had attended several jubilee celebrations but he had never encountered such a wonderful Community Spirit as ours. It seemed to him the entire community of Summerland had worked hard, was participating, and enjoying every moment of our celebrations.

We should be justly proud of his remarks — which brings us to Canada's Centennial next year. How is Summerland going to commemorate this auspicious occasion? Can anyone think of a better project than a school for Summerland's Handicapped Children?

Oh, yes, we do have them. Six or seven, possibly more children who are so physically or mentally handicapped they will never be able to attend our public schools.

As our community grows there is every likelihood of the number being increased as about one in every thousand births is a tragedy — cerebral palsy or some other crushing defect for a family. Do you have a mongolian child? Don't be shocked at the question — there is no social stigma. It could happen to you or I.

The institutions are full — the waiting list is several years long. In fact the Government has realized the pressing need for something to be done, and has set up an "Association for Retarded Children of British Columbia" in Vancouver who give help and advice to communities starting their own schools. The Government also makes a grant of $500 per child per year. But this is not enough! Such a project needs the moral and financial backing of the community. It is a community problem so why not let's face it as one?

The Government grant would hardly be sufficient to pay the salary of a teacher. Suitable premises for a school have to be found. Funds for rent, heating and lighting and school equipment will be required. Also it may be necessary to raise funds to send a suitable person to the summer training course for teachers of retarded children at the UBC this summer.

The Kiwanis Club has started social afternoons for these "Forgotten Children." The United Church is kindly allowing us to use their hall twice a month, or oftener if the club can manage it, to entertain them for a few hours. What Kiwanis is doing is so little it won't benefit the children or the parents very much, but we are starting the ball rolling . . . a gesture . . . a challenge . . . We feel they should have a school, what I want to know is do Mr. and Mrs. Summerland feel they are ready to found such a school?

Some vital questions have to be answered.

- 1) Do we have a prospective teacher in our community? — one who has had experience with handicapped children.
- 2) When the Health Centre is built could a room be set aside for a school? It would be an ideal location.
- 3) Is there a church hall that could be used as a temporary school meanwhile?
- 4) What do the Service Clubs, Lodges, Women's Institute, Legion, Hospital Auxiliary, etc., etc., think about making this their project?
- 5) Does the Council think there is need for such a school?
- 6) Could a committee representing all Churches, Lodges, Clubs, etc. School Board, Health Dept., be set up to investigate the need and possibilities of such a school?
- 7) What do the individual people of Summerland feel about such a project?

On Wednesday, April 10, a public meeting is being held in Penticton. Mrs. W. A. Goepel the executive director of the Association for Retarded Children of B.C., and Dr. L. A. Kerwood the Medical Superintendent of Woodlands School, New Westminster, the Provincial Institution for mental defectives will be speaking to acquaint the public with the problem of mental retardation and the way in which it is being met.

Kiwanis of Summerland will be well represented at that meeting, also the parents of our handicapped children. We are asking all who are interested to go there.

Do you feel it is time to have a school for Summerland's "Forgotten Children." Mrs. Flora Bergstrom and I will be very pleased to hear your views, and will endeavour to answer your questions or seek any information you may require.

We could go on forgetting these children generation after generation, but why should we. We look after our senior citizens and do so much for our normal children, and give money to every cause under the sun, so why not try to socialize these handicapped children and fit them for some part in life, be it ever so small. Can't we make the burden a little lighter for these brave families? After all CHARITY DOES BEGIN AT HOME!

Yours truly,
BRENDA LIEBERT,
(Sec. Kiwanis Club)

Teachers' Assoc'n Plans Scholarship

A committee comprising John Tamblin, E. E. Bates and Gordon Lee was appointed to arrange for the Association's participation in the H.S. band's Potluck Variety Show scheduled for April 12.

These were appointed at the regular meeting of the Summerland Teachers' Association, held last Tuesday in the Home Economics room of the High School, which drew an almost complete attendance of members.

Staff representatives reported favourable progress in the collection of assessments to provide a scholarship for a graduate of Summerland High School who enters the College of Education next Fall. A letter was read from Miss Anne Beggs, last year's winner, expressing her thanks for the receipt of the January instalment.

Notice was given that the Table Officers of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association were prepared to visit in early April, so it was decided to hold a second meeting in March to take care of resolutions and other business connected with the BCTF Convention at Easter.

Following the regular business, the meeting was addressed by Stan Evans, of the BCTF headquarters staff in Vancouver. Mr. Evans gave an interesting and effective presentation of the Pensions Act now in force, clarifying its workings agreeably. He indicated changes which it is proposed to ask for, so that delegates to the convention would be better prepared to consider the resolution to be presented there.

What Use Is a Health Centre? What It Will Do Here Explained

Need for a Community Health Centre in Summerland has been outlined a number of times. Recently Dr. D. A. Clarke, director of the South Okanagan Health Unit spoke to Summerland Rotary Club on the subject.

In order that a more effective health program may be carried out here, Dr. Clarke felt that adequate quarters for the health personnel, including office space for the public health nurse, sanitarian, clerk, and medical health officer.

Clinic space should be provided in the building, he said, so that weekly child conferences may be opened. It would be here that immunizing programs would be carried out for pre-school and school children. The TB travelling clinic could operate in the Health Centre, and injections for walking TB patients given. Any dental clinic could also be held in the Centre, Dr. Clarke continued. Included would be a lecture room for conferences, community health planning and health education — films, etc.

The workers' room, mentioned as a usual feature of Health Centres in other places, would give suitable accommodation for Red Cross work; Eastern Star members, who make cancer dressings; St. John Ambulance classes; the Hospital Auxiliary; CNIB meetings; and work required by the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society or any other health auxiliary.

Financing of Health Centres, Dr. Clarke explained, is done by a three-way program. The federal government pays one third; the provincial government one-third. The other third is made up of donations from the headquarters of the major voluntary groups that would be using it—whose custom it is to make grants towards Health Centres, and by the municipality. The site is provided by the municipality or town where the building is to be constructed.

Operating cost is paid by the South Okanagan Health Unit which has rent-free use of the building.

Ideal location here and that which meets with general approval seems to be on the property across from the Memorial Park Playground if it can be obtained. This is a central location with plenty of parking space, easily accessible.

Summerland council is considering the matter and has already taken some steps towards getting a site.

Such a Health Centre would contribute towards Summerland's development in many ways and facilitate all health services.

ODDS and ENDS BY M. VANDERBURGH

These days we're used to paradoxical things being put together, and when I heard of silk and steel being part of a crash barrier, it seemed at first to be just one of those things!

A crash barrier doesn't mean much to the average person, but to some few it means their lives.

To start the story properly — Two pilots Capt. Stan Green and Laurence Chada were returning from a patrol flight from No Man's Land in South Korea. They had been aloft for three hours and the airfield below was a wonderful sight. It seemed as, if they could smell the food in the chow hall, and feel the cold shower.

Capt. Green made a perfect three-point landing and the co-pilot relaxed, waiting to hear the primary braking as they rolled along the runway at about 127 knots. The sound didn't come, but a flashing red light mixed with Stan's voice, both said that the brakes were out. Reassurance gave way to panic. The feverish thought came: Is this three-ton jet going to be crumpled against a rock wall? The few seconds left seemed like hours.

Suddenly there was a terrific stopping sensation. They really stopped short of a wall. They were halted by an odd-looking thing called a crash barrier. It didn't matter what it was called. It was one of the finest things they had seen.

The next day they went out to examine it. They had not known of its existence, nor the details of its operation or construction.

The barrier which extends across the active runway, is composed of a net of silk bands spaced approximately three feet apart, connected on the top by a heavy silk band and on the bottom by a one-inch cable. This webbing, or net, is attached to one-hundred feet of heavy chain on both sides of the runway.

It may be raised or lowered by electricity, the control operated by the men in a control tower. The barrier is raised during take-off and landing of any jet aircraft. If the aircraft develops trouble, either in taking off or landing, the pilot can head towards the barrier with assurance of a safe landing. At contact with the webbing, the silk strands lift the cable, bringing it in contact with the landing gear above the wheels of the plane.

As the aircraft proceeds down the runway, more links of chain are added, increasing the drag until the aircraft comes to a full stop. The total stopping distance of the jet plane, from contact with the barrier to a full stop, is generally about one hundred and fifty feet.

The crash barrier's operation was explained to them by the mechanic — its components silk and steel.

But to them it was something more than a paradox — something more than silk and steel.

Canada Year Book At Review Office

The Canada Year Book for 1956 issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and has just been received at the office of The Review.

The book had its origin in 1897 when the Year Book and Almanac of British North America was printed to give information on economic and social development. It was published privately but with official blessing.

In 1905 the year book was remodelled and issued under the title, Canada Year Book, Second Series.

The 1956 issue contains special features of current interest such as "Scientific Management of Game Fish in Canada's National Parks", "Polio-myelitis Vaccine", "Marketing Farm-Produced Foods," and much handy reference material to mention only a few things.

The volume is available to anyone wishing to use it.

New Standard Fire Fighting Equipment

Civil defence personnel from the Fire Marshal's department were in Summerland recently changing over the threads on all hydrants, stand pipes, and hose, in the municipality, in a province-wide effort to standardize all fire fighting equipment.

Considerable work has been done and the men will return to finish the job in two or three weeks.

It is understood that the cost is met by the federal and provincial governments as part of civil defence

Will YOU have an independent income?

Now is the time to arrange through a CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNUITY for the little it will take to brighten the days when you must stop working. You can purchase an Annuity NOW to come due at age 50, 55, 60 or 65, or other ages.

HERE IS AN EXAMPLE — Suppose you are a man of 28 and want an Annuity of $100 a month, beginning at 65. Your monthly premium would be $16.44.

AT AGE 65 the Government will begin paying you $100 a month as long as you live! If you die within 10 years after age 65, the monthly payments will continue to your heirs for the balance of that 10 years. Thus, you will have paid $7,299.86 for a minimum return of $12,000.00 — which will be even greater if you live past 75!

IF YOU DIE BEFORE 65 the Government will pay your heirs the total sum paid up to the date of your death plus 4% compound interest.

Lovely Pentiction Ceremony Unites Norman Richards and Eileen Kerr

A lovely ceremony in Pentiction United Church on Saturday evening, March 9, at half-past seven united in marriage Eileen Elizabeth Kerr of Vancouver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kerr, 567 Ellis St., Pentiction, and Norman Hillary Richards of Claresholm, Alberta, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. R. Richards of Summerland.

White tulips and narcissi decorated the church and the guest pews were marked with white ribbon bows.

Rev. Ernest Rands performed the ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The fair-haired bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white moire bengaline, the fitted bodice having a boat neckline and long lily point sleeves. A flowing train of the material fell gracefully from folds at the hipline and the skirt was crinolined. The bride carried a white Bible marked with deep red rosebuds, trailing stephanotis and white ribbon. The charmingly arranged fingertip nylon net veil was fastened to a little lace cap, and she wore a single strand of pearls with matching earrings.

Miss Lorraine Hill of Vancouver, maid of honor, was gowned in a pretty ballerina length gown of shrimp colored lace over taffeta, the sleeveless bodice having the same type of neckline as the bride's. The skirt was shirred to the dropped waistline and she wore a matching headpiece in a leaf design, matching elbow length gloves and carried a cascading bouquet.

Wally Day of Vancouver was the best man. Keith McLean of New Westminster and William Hanlon of Pentiction were the ushers.

Mrs. Monica Craig Fisher of Pentiction was the organist and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. E. C. Hill of Kamloops, who sang, "O Perfect Love."

At the reception in the Glen-garry Room of the Hotel Prince Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Richards were assisted in receiving by the bridal party.

The bride's table was beautifully arranged with low bowls of spring flowers and tall tapers, while the tiered wedding cake was cut from a smaller table.

L. E. Hill proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded. The best man gave a toast to the attendants. Cables from England and other congratulatory telegrams were read.

Friends of the bride, Mrs. V. De West, Miss Beverly Clarke, Miss

Donna Pollard and Miss Marjorie Betts served.

For motoring to points south the bride wore a smart brown tweed suit with chocolate brown velvet trim and honey colored accessories. The couple will make their home at Claresholm, Alberta where the groom is with the RCAF as a jet pilot.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's brother-in-law and sister and niece, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Heninger and Barbara from Grand Forks, and relatives and other friends from Summerland.

Legion Auxiliary 30th Anniversary

Mrs. Pearce of Enderby, who with Mr. Pearce is coming to reside in Summerland, was welcomed as a guest at the regular meeting of the Legion LA on Thursday evening.

Final arrangements were made for the May bazaar, and emphasis is still to be given to the membership drive.

Raffle prize was won by Mrs. Taylor.

Evening Branch WA Corporate Communion

Guides Have Great Success With Tea

The Guide St. Patrick's Day tea was one of the largest, if not the largest to have been held by this organization. Tea tables filled again and again, and the stalls well-patronized.

Durick was convener of the decoration committee. The traditional motif of shamrocks and other things associated with the day were used.

Rummage was sold by Mrs. H. A. McCargar, Mrs. T. Inaba and Mrs. E. McGillivray.

Mrs. H. H. Dunsdon, Mrs. Colin Campbell, Mrs. D. M. Wright and Mrs. Mel Ducommun were kept busy preparing tea. Brownie sixers and seconders served with Mrs. Bruce Blagborne in charge of tea tables.

Mrs. Eric Bullock assisted Guides with the fishpond and the treasurer, Mrs. Leslie Rumball was at the door to take tea money.

In the candy stall Mrs. Fred Bevis, Brown Owl, was assisted by Mrs. G. Anderton, Tawny Owl, and Miss Margaret Lott. Guiders, Miss Betty Ferrie and Tawny Owl, Mrs. R. S. Oxley and others lent a hand in the home cooking department. Both booths were well-stocked. Rangers hooked a rug, used as a door prize and won by Mrs. R. H. Wright.

Summerland's Young Hoopsters Reach B.C. Finals

Finals Will Be Played at Coast March 29

Both of Summerland's basketball teams that are in search of B.C. titles, advanced to the provincial finals in action at the high school gym on Saturday night.

The preliminary game between Summerland's Bantams and Revelstoke failed to come off when the Revelstoke team defaulted the game. Summerland now goes to the coast to play in a provincial tournament on the 29 and 30 of March. In place of this game the George Pringle High School team came down and met defeat at the hands of the local Bantams by a 52-25 score. DeWitt was high man for Summerland with 22 points.

In the main game, which was the second game of a home and home, total point series for the Interior Juvenile title, the Kamloops "Grem-lins" put up a tight zone defence along with sensational shooting in the first half to come up with a close 36 to 33 victory. This was not enough as Summerland started the game with a 13-point lead and thereby took the series 79 to 69.

Both teams played a fast-breaking, hard checking game and it was close all the way. Referees Cristante and Parker called them close and kept the game well in hand.

Kamloops was hot in the first half and hit for 75% of their shots, but cooled off in the second half and Summerland held on to their advantage. All the Summerland sharp shooters were off in their shooting and the scoring was well divided. Lemke was high man with 7 points, closely followed by Matsv and Sheeley with 6 each. Fisher had 4, B. Lemke 3, Menu 5 and Jomori 2.

Larry Lemke, Summerland all-star guard, fouled out with two minutes left, but Summerland controlled the ball, giving Kamloops no chance for rebounds.

Summerland now will wait for a winner to be declared between Ryerson (Vancouver) and Cumberland (Van. Island) and will play the winner in Vancouver or at the Island city on the 29 and 30 of March for the provincial juvenile championship.

The Summerland Junior Boys after capturing the zone title against Rutland and Kelowna played last Saturday to determine an Okanagan Champion, playing at Rutland.

In the first game Summerland was edged out by Salmon Arm by a score of 10 to 15. Osoyoos then tallied 37 points to Summerland's 25, and captured the title by defeating Salmon Arm.

A. K. MACLEOD—repeating this year as Sir Joseph Porter K.C.B. which he sang nine years ago in the last performance by Summerland Singers and Players of "H.M.S. Pinafore."

FLORA BERGSTROME—who plays Josephine, the heroine in "H.M.S. Pinafore" played Casilda in "The Gondoliers" and has had a number of leading roles.

K. L. BOOTHE—Boatswain's mate in H.M.S. Pinafore, a newcomer to a Gilbert and Sullivan principal role.

LAURA (TOOTS) BOOTHE—was Cousin Hebe in the last production of "Pinafore" nine years ago, this time will sing Little Buttercup.

DAVID STOOKS—whose first principal part with Summerland Singers and Players was as Luiz in last year's production of "Gondoliers," has the leading part as Brack Weaver in "Down in the Valley."

OLIVE ATKINSON—Ralph Rackstraw, tenor soloist who has appeared before in a number of Singers' and Players' Club productions.

'Down in the Valley' Is Folklore

As well as the rollicking favorite "Pinafore" by Gilbert and Sullivan, the Singers' and Players' Club is producing the one-act Folk Opera "Down in the Valley" with text by Arnold Sunsgaard and music by Kurt Weill. It is an example among many recent works of music and drama that have drawn upon the all-but-forgotten art forms of the early Middle Ages as a basis for their construction. It is, in effect, a modern counterpart of the twelfth-Century "Mystery Play" in which a group of travelling singers and pantomimists, headed by a

"Master Singer" or Troubadour, recounted in song and action an Heroic Legend or perhaps a simple tale of the countryfolk. The popularity of the "Mystery Play" in its time could be compared to the movies of today, and many a troubador and actor became a "star" throughout the whole of civilized Europe and the British Isles.

"Down in the Valley" adheres in style and action to its mediaeval counterpart. The locale is the primitive Appalachian Mountain country of the South-Eastern United States, and the story is a simple tale of a boy and a girl in love. The boy, Brack Weaver, is to die for the murder of a man who, by our own enlightened standards, is better off dead. However, the strict code of the backwoods law recognizes no such familiar legal angles as "Self Defence" or "Justifiable Homicide." Our hero, "killed a man." So he must die for his sin. On the night before his execution, Brack escapes from his cell . . . not to save his life, but merely to see his beloved Jennie once more before dying. The lovers meet and spend their last precious hours together recalling the happy days of their brief courtship and the violent, disastrous climax when, at a country dance, Brack is goaded into a fight with the bullying, drunken Tom Bouche . . . a fight which results in the death of Bouche.

New Fabrics Talk By Mrs. Bouey

"The New Fabrics and Their Uses" was the subject of a very interesting talk by Mrs. Mary Bouey to the members and guests of the Summerland Women's Institute at their regular meeting Friday afternoon at the Parish Hall. Mrs. Bouey, who is the Home Economics teacher in Summerland has had experience as a dressmaker and teacher and proved to be well-informed on her chosen subject and kept her audience entertained and interested as she spoke in her pleasant manner.

On behalf of the members Mrs. Myrtle Scott thanked Mrs. Bouey for her enjoyable talk.

During the business meeting the president, Mrs. L. W. Rumball was in the chair.

Roll call was answered by giving the name of members' favorite pie. Lemon pie proved to be first choice.

Mrs. E. Hookham, welfare convener, reported attending meetings of the Cancer Society and the Central Welfare Committee. Mrs. Rumball reported for the Cultural Activities' Committee that work on the PNE exhibits is progressing well and only a few items are still required.

Knitted Squares for blankets for Hungarian relief were turned in and will be sent at once to Ottawa.

A letter from a loyal member who has been ill, Mrs. E. Farnchou was received thanking the members for cards, flowers and visits. Another member, Mrs. Jean E. Sheldrake was reported being in the Vancouver General Hospital. Two members who had been ill were present. They were Mrs. W. Boothe and Mrs. M. Pollock.

A cash donation will be made to the local Girl Guide Association.

Following the business meeting a delicious tea was served by Mrs. E. M. Tait and her committee from a tea table tastefully decorated with shamrocks in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

Panel Discusses Education Needs

The regular meeting of the Summerland P-T.A. was held Thursday March 7, in the high school library. After a short business meeting, a panel discussion was held on the subject "Is our educational system fulfilling the needs of our modern society?" under the chairmanship of Rev. A. F. Irving. This was broken up into four headings; students who leave school after taking grade 9, headed by W. H. Durick; students who complete grade 12, headed by I. H. Solly; students who attend university, headed by Dr. T. H. Anstey and the well-balanced citizen, headed by W. A. Gilmour.

Mr. Durick commented that, "Students who drop out of school before grade 12 generally stop at grade 9. All they have to offer employers is youth and desire for work either unskilled or for further training. Employers find their spelling poor and they are slow to make change but do have a background for learning. They may make good money and think school a waste of time."

In Mr. Solly's opinion, "The group that leaves high school after grade 12 is a cross-section of the community. Employers look for sound grounding in the three "R's". Graduates are inclined to look down on those with less education and should be taught tolerance. This should probably be taught at home rather than at school. A high school graduate cannot be expected to be specialized but is willing to learn. The high school should help guide members of this group in their varied vocations."

"The university group finds it is having its needs fulfilled," said Dr. T. H. Anstey. "High school is the drilling ground but the university has a different function from drilling. The university turns out technicians and those who think independently, namely around the five basic questions—how, where, what, when and why. The first four can be asked and answered in high school. "Why" is more difficult and the university student tries to answer it. The student should never be taught "why." The student fulfilling the modern society need is to a large extent, the result of university graduation."

Mr. Gilmour queried, "Are the educators providing the leaders in society?" and answered in part, "Today we are lacking in convictions. There seems to be a lack of respect for elders. A number of truths are not being impressed upon students. For example, going out every night—students get into the habit of going just for the sake of going. Teachers should stress the fact that their bodies cannot take it. On the problem of discipline, the teachers' hands are tied. Parents are probably more to blame. Discipline stems from respect. If teachers came out resolutely, they would have the respect of pupils and parents."

The meeting was opened to a question and answer period after which everyone adjourned to the home economics room for coffee and an informal social period.

Pasteurization Needs Explained

Summerland is the only municipality in the South Okanagan which permits the sale of raw milk. No raw milk producer in Summerland is licensed by the department of agriculture to sell raw milk, though one is licensed to ship milk for pasteurization. All the others could ship the milk for processing, such as for making cheese, according to Dr. D. A. Clarke, director of the South Okanagan Health Unit in a recent address given to Summerland Rotarians.

Summerland council passed a by-law last year permitting the sale of raw milk to give milk dealers a chance to "get their houses in order," that is to comply with government regulations. This bylaw is still in force, but Dr. Clarke feels that pasteurized milk is the only safe milk, since pasteurization kills all known pathogenic bacteria, that is those that are harmful to man, and that it is the only means of assuring protection against milk-borne diseases.

Dr. Clarke said that pasteurization is the most significant public health measure of the 20th Century and has sharply reduced illnesses and deaths in children from the

CLAUDE MONRO FUNERAL AT COAST

Funeral services were held on March 2 for Claude William Monro, son of Mrs. E. S. Monro, who passed away in Vancouver, February 27, aged 63.

He leaves his wife, Susan, three daughters, and seven grandchildren. His two brothers, Alex of Penticton, and Melvin of Summerland, attended the funeral diseases of: infectious diarrhoea, bovine tuberculosis, undulant fever, typhoid and diphtheria, and streptococcal sore throat.

He feels that there is a definite need to educate people in the dangers from drinking raw milk, and thinks it is everyone's duty to insist upon only pasteurized milk at home and abroad.

Dr. Clarke quoted Chief Justice J. V. Clynne's Report of the B.C. Royal Commission on Milk in 1954-55 which stated "compulsory pasteurization of milk throughout the province is necessary in the interest of public health."

That the matter is of importance locally is brought home by the fact that in 1956 there was an instance of two people in Summerland who were having direct contact with raw milk, who were found to have serious active cases of tuberculosis and are now in a sanitarium.

MRS. WILSON, third from left, discusses a pottery problem with Miss Doreen Tait, while other students, Mrs. G. A. Gayton, right, is busy with her project, and Mrs. L. McKilligan profits from the conversation.

A STEP in pottery making with Mrs. Wilson, centre, and Mrs. D. V. Fisher. H. Wouters concentrates on his work. In front is a candlestick which he has made.

Pottery Making: Pleasure or Profit

Pottery making is having a revival in Summerland this winter in night school classes being taught by Mrs. Doney Wilson in the high school home economics room on Thursday evenings.

About 1923, stimulated by the late Jack Logie, whose idea it was, and working under the B.C. Art League, a group of people made attractive useful articles from the local clay. Several methods were employed including the wheel. Among the more prominent potters were the late Miss Doris Cordy, and her sister, Mrs. C. Noel Higgin, Mrs. M. E. Collins, Miss Marlan Cartwright and Mrs. Eckerley.

Local clay when fired turns a lovely shade of red. At that time it was augmented with ten per cent Saskatchewan clay to make it more binding.

Mrs. Wilson studied at Pentiction night school under Mrs. Nora Dorrow and in a summer school class at Pentiction with Reg Dixon of Vancouver instructing. She continued to work at home where she has a kiln. During the Jubilee last year Mrs. Wilson found ready sale for local souvenirs which she made. These included the moustache cup presented to Mayor Hume of Vancouver by the publishing committee accompanying the school band to the coast.

Those taking the course are enthusiastic and turning out some fine examples of pottery.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

O. L. Jones, MP Asks for Action on the Post Office Issue in Summerland Area

O. L. Jones, member for Okanagan boundary, spoke with some force on the Summerland, West Summerland post office issue during a recent discussion on the Post Office Department estimates in the House. Mr. Jones' remarks as they appeared in Hansard follow:

Mr. Jones: Mr. Chairman, I should like to take this opportunity to make two suggestions to the department. On the whole today the service to the Okanagan valley is quite good, especially when you compare it with what it was two or three years ago but I would suggest that still better service could be given that would satisfy practically all our people if more use were made of the planes from Pentiction north. The delay is usually with the plane run to Pentiction from Vancouver. The service from there north is pretty good, but it could be improved if more use were made of the available planes that already fly north from Pentiction.

The suggestion I should like to make is really in connection with Summerland. This matter has been outstanding for years and years. Nothing has been done, and I am satisfied that nothing will be done or can be done unless the district director of postal services is directed, not asked, to meet with the principal representative bodies of the two areas, both Summerland and West Summerland. I suggest that the board of trade, the municipal council, and so on, should be called in to thresh this thing out and come to an amicable solution so the people of this area will get decent service. Today if you address a letter to Summerland and it is meant for West Summerland there is a 24-hour delay, though it is only a few hundred yards away because of the manner in which the postal areas are divided.

I think the municipal council and the board of trade have a solution, but the district director thinks he has another one. I believe the people who live there and who have to enjoy or suffer this service know best. I would suggest that this man be instructed to meet with these groups and thresh out the problem that has been with them for many years. Unfortunately the municipality of West Summerland is a small area surrounded by Summerland proper, but the population lives in that small area and there is confusion once you start sending mail to people still in Summerland but on the outskirts of that municipal area. I think the problem could be solved, and I hope the minister will give instructions that an effort be made as quickly as

Summerland Youngsters After B.C. Hoop Titles

Summerland is in the sports spotlight this week, thanks to Summerland high school athletes who have fought their way through to the provincial basketball finals, juvenile and bantam, which will be played in Vancouver Friday and Saturday.

The Summerland Juvenile (under 18- and Bantam (under 16) basketball teams leave for Vancouver on Thursday afternoon to play coast teams for the B.C. championships.

The Juveniles entered the finals by eliminating Kelowna and Kamloops while Ryerson of Vancouver defeated a team from the valley and Cumberland from Vancouver Island. They defeated the Island city in two close games and took the series by five points after overtime.

The finals are a two-game total point series to be played at King Edward gym on Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 p.m.

The only indication of the relative strength of the two teams is that they have both played Kistilano of Vancouver, Ryerson defeating them by one point for the city title and Summerland losing a close overtime exhibition game to them during the Christmas holidays.

Along with Sandy Jomori, coach and Joe Sheeley, manager, the following players will make the trip: L. Lemki, E. Lemke, C. Sheeley, L. Burdon, E. Menu, E. Matsu, R. Fisher and T. Jomori.

The Bantams, under Wendell Schwab, will be playing in an eight team double knockout tournament starting Friday at Sunset Memorial gym in Vancouver. The winners to be declared B.C. champions.

In a tune-up game on Saturday night in Summerland they defeated Revelstoke 50 to 26 to take the home and home series 86 to 51.

Vern DeWitt was high man for the series with 29 points.

The players are taking cases of Okanagan apple juice donated by Summerland Board of Trade to serve at the get-together following the games.

TERESA KEYS, left, and Leona Keys, right, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Keys, who have leading parts in the Summerland Figure Skating Carnival which will be presented on Friday night, March 29, in the Jubilee Arena here. An exciting program with 55 local girls and boys participating and other skaters from Kelowna, has been prepared, theme of one of the larger portions being "Cinderella." The two young ladies, above, will be competing in the Okanagan Mainline Figure Skating competition to be held in Penticton, March 30 and 31.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Batting average of this column is slipping — two misses out of three issues and, believe it or not, some complaints.

It's springtime — at long last — and while young folks might turn their thought to P-o-o-ve, this ancient turns his thoughts to politics for this springtime is election time.

Battle lines are drawn and what a battle it is going to be. My guess is that the Liberals will be returned, I don't even think there will be much of a dent in their majority, although the government as constituted today could do with some trimming down to size.

Seems I'm sticking my neck out, so I might as well go all the way. Here in Okanagan-Boundary I think incumbent O. L. Jones is in for the battle of his life. In fact my guess is that he'll go under and Dr. Mel Butler will carry the riding.

The Liberals made no mistake in their choice of a candidate. Dr. Mel Butler is a popular man in the Kelowna area and he's also well known and liked in the other big centre of population in the riding, Penticton. Furthermore he has the advantage of running for the government. That is the next government which, sure as shooting will be Liberal again.

Here's my prediction:

Government Liberal, but with a reduced majority.

For Okanagan-Boundary, Dr. Mel Butler (Lib.), with Frank C. Christian pulling a large Social Credit vote to place second in the polls.

I'm assuming that Penticton lawyer Frank Christian will win a lot of votes by sheer force of personality and I'm also assuming that with this riding so solidly for provincial Social Credit that a lot of those provincial social crediters will go along with their party standard bearer in the federal election.

That, of course, pulls O. L. Jones from the top of the polls into third place. My reasoning on that one is that here in the Okanagan-Boundary we've been voting for the man regardless of party. Mr. Jones has and still does command a high respect throughout the riding, but I think people are beginning to think more of party and program and the likability, ability and record of the candidates, while important, are not important enough to weigh the scale. In politics it should be the party that counts more than the man — and I don't think this riding, by a long shot, is overwhelmingly CCF.

I don't know the Conservative candidate, Mr. Pugh, but I'm afraid that so long as Social Credit holds sway in B.C. that the Conservatives aren't going any place. Still it's good to see them keeping the party alive. Down east of course and perhaps from as far west as Saskatchewan I can see the Conservatives under John Diefenbaker making gains, but not here in B.C.

And that's the election picture as I see it.

Of course — now I've got to wiggle like a politician — it could be that the main battle will be fought between Liberal Dr. Butler and Social Creditter Frank Christian and CCFer Mr. Jones will slip back between the two.

Or it could be, considering the strength of Social Credit that the Socreds will follow through federally and elect lawyer Christian. For that matter, with the voter being so unpredictable these days it could be that the Conservative candidate will emerge on top of the polls.

Anyway it should be a good fight.

Press release over the dock this week. One comment caught my eye. The comment was to the effect that there's no difference between the kids of today and the kids of yesterday, it's just that the kids of today got away with it. I'll buy that.

Suggestion for the Centennial, born of the, as usual, success of the Summerland Singers' and Players' Club, that a bowl for an open air theatre would make a suitable centennial project. It's an idea worth considering. If local talent would stage events frequently enough it would serve to attract visitors as well as local residents and Summerland certainly needs something to attract those tourist dollars.

Council Repealing Bylaw Allowing Raw Milk Sales

The sale of raw milk in Summerland is to be prohibited. First reading of a new bylaw, to repeal the one enacted last July allowing raw milk sales, was given at yesterday afternoon's council meeting. Councillor F. M. Steuart registered the only dissenting vote.

When the new Milk Industry Act came into effect on July 1 of last year, the local council wanted to give raw milk dealers time to bring their premises up to standards required by the act and passed a bylaw allowing milk producers to sell raw milk here. At that time the Union Board of Health requested towns and municipalities to enforce pasteurization laws.

Now almost nine months have elapsed and the council feels that if these standards have not been met, raw milk should not be sold within the corporation.

With Summerland falling in line all centres with a population of 500 or over in the South Okanagan are a 100% pasteurization area.

It is understood that the Minister of Health will now be approached by the Union Board asking that unorganized areas be asked to comply along the same lines.

Beekeeper Course Well Attended

There are a lot of people who are not afraid of getting stung, for 40 of them are taking the beekeepers' course being given this week by the Department of Agriculture in the high school library. Summerland and Peachland apiarists are learning the rudiments of the business, how to make hives, putting in wax, how to introduce packaged bees to the hives, and on through the whole process of obtaining honey from bees.

Instructing are J. Corner of Vernon, the provincial apiarist, who inspects bees for diseases and gives advice through B.C. on beekeeping; A. J. E. Saunders of Vernon; and J. Stann.

Rolle Pretty Elected President of Trout Creek Community Association

At a meeting on Monday evening Rolle Pretty was elected president of the Trout Creek Community Association for the coming year. John Kitson was made vice-president; Mrs. N. H. Charlton re-elected as secretary; and Phil Monro elected as the treasurer.

Other directors are Mrs. J. E. Penney, Stan Porritt, and newly elected are J. Ramage, Eric Brinton, Gordon Dinning and N. H. Charlton. Mr. Pretty, Mr. Kitson and Mr. Monro are also now to the directorate, members of which are elected for a three-year term.

It was announced that spraying for mosquito control has been arranged with Bartlett and Co. of Penticton to take place from April 1 until August 31 at a cost of $175.

Concern regarding beach erosion at Trout Creek was expressed at the annual meeting of the Trout Creek Community Association held last week. It was thought that the lighthouse on the point at Powell Beach should be braced. This and many other items were on the agenda.

Councillor E. M. Tait commended the group on the good work done in the area, and the fact that through its activity contact was kept with the municipal council. It was reported that domestic water applications are being taken around Trout Creek Point to residents. The meeting seemed to be in

Singers And Players And Another Big Hit

That "HMS Pinafore" is still a favorite (Gilbert and Sullivan was amply shown in the capacity crowd attending the Singers' and Players' Club presentation on Monday night in the high school auditorium. It was a "Pinafore" that gave splendid entertainment, to a responsive audience.

Added to this was Kurt Well's "Down in the Valley", the music based on five Appalachian folk songs, dominated by the title song. A burst of applause followed the performance in appreciation of this moving bit of music and drama.

No comparison can be drawn between the two presentations since one frolicked along in the best tradition of the incomparable pair, and the other depicted folklore using a narrator chorus and principals who enacted small spotlighted episodes as the story unfolded.

Glen Montley's musical direction was paired with Stan Gladwell's dramatic leadership in both productions giving outstanding performances.

Mr. Gladwell's ability as a dramatic director maintains a high standard in all productions of Summerland Singers' and Players' Club.

Kelvin Macleod as Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, First Lord of the Admiralty, and done again, adeptly with wonderfully clear enunciation

Jack Stocks, a handsome Captain Corcoran, commander of the Pinafore gave a poised portrayal. Delmar Dunham as Dick Deadeye showed his sense of comedy and upheld his reputation as an excellent character actor.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Sid Godber, Editor, Summerland Review.

Sir: We would appreciate your publishing this letter in your Review as we know of no other way to effectively get our message over.

Last summer we moved to Trout Creek Point and in the Fall our son Vic, age five, became ill and has only recently returned home after several months in the Summerland Hospital. He seems well on his way to complete recovery at this time.

We would like, through your paper, to thank the dozens of Summerland people who were so kind to Vic. Many of you gave him gifts and we have no idea of who gave what. Several ladies and men read to him on many many occasions and the kindnesses to him and us from the people of Summerland will be long remembered. Church workers, Hospital Auxiliary Members, everyone was wonderful to him.

Medically we are very grateful for Dr. McDaniel's constant care and for the kindly interest of Dr. Mann. Especially we would like to thank all the staff of the Summerland Hospital. Nurses, Administrators, Maintenance Men, Cooks, everyone, all of them were kind and competent. We feel Vic had the finest of Hospital attention right in Summerland's own hospital in every regard, an excellent blend of competent efficiency with old fashioned genuine personal interest in the patient's welfare.

Sorry, Mr. Editor, for taking so much space but these feelings are hard to express in cold words. Vic tells us every day of some new experience and a new visitor he had (you know, it was that man called "Tom") and we have no way other than through your paper of acknowledging the many kindnesses we have experienced. Several of the Hospital Staff came back on their own time to read to this boy. At Christmas time and Valentine's he was well looked after and we have a debt of gratitude to people we don't even know. So from Vic and ourselves, we sincerely wish to say "Thank you."

A BOY AND HIS DOG

The Editor,
The Summerland Review.
Sir: Last Saturday evening around eight o'clock a thoughtless driver hit and killed a lad's dog. I hope the driver is proud of his doings Sat. evening. If it was an accident and I use the word loosely, why didn't he stop and find out if the dog was still alive.

This dog was a Pal to a little boy and girl—that is a large word and it covered "Duke"—for eight years. Anything I can say about Duke is "just good."

This is the second dog killed at this corner, the first a golden Labrador, a lad's pet, three months old. Again no driver stopped. "He" or "she" must be a fiend not to stop and see what they had hit. I only thank God it wasn't a child.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH TWENTY-SEVENTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-SEVEN

Suggestions Wanted For Centennial Project

A DECISION must be reached in the very near future on what is to be Summerland's B.C. centennial project. The question is bothering the Municipal Council which, of course, must make the final and irrevocable decision. Council requires citizens' help on this problem and, in an advertisement carried elsewhere in this issue, is asking residents to send in suggestions for a centennial project.

What it actually boils down to, apart from marking the centennial, is the opportunity for Summerland to get a 60 cent per-capita grant from the government, provided this is matched by a similar amount from the municipal coffers. This adds up to around $5,000, consequently, in thinking of a centennial project, one must necessarily think of the financial limitations.

Five thousand dollars of itself won't buy much in the way of a centennial project, but $5,000 could be utilized to advantage as the down payment on a community project of some size.

In Princeton, for example, a vote is to be held to decide upon the project and residents have been asked to make their choice from the following impressive list, a memorial arena, an auditorium, parks' development, swimming pool, health centre and old peoples' home.

In passing we point with pride to the fact that Summerland has its arena, Summerland has its parks, Summerland has its auditorium and as for a health centre, well, that seems to be already near the drawing board stage and plans are also in being for a senior citizens' home development.

But Summerland still needs many things, we have not yet reached that stage of sufficiency which leads the spouses of the ultra-rich to buy mink golf club hoods for their husbands, because "dear George has everything."

So, The Review joins with the municipal council in asking residents to put on their thinking caps.

The centennial project is a community project, and, whatever the project decided upon, it should receive the full backing of the community, furthermore, as they say in the marriage ceremony, "speak now or for ever after hold your peace."

Having thus wagged a stern finger at the citizenry it is only fair, we suppose, that The Review should air its opinion on the centennial project.

That opinion is this — that whatever the project, it should be one that will serve to bolster Summerland's sagging economy. The Review would like to see the $5,000 invested as the start of a project which will pay dividends in the years to come — that is a project tied in with the development of Giant's Head.

Summerland, if it is to maintain its entity as a community and not become a suburb of that fast-growing city to the south, must seek some method of replacing the fast dwindling orchard revenue. That can best be done by doing what Penticton has done and is doing, replacing lost orchard dollars with tourist dollars.

Consequently we think that Summerland's $5,000 centennial money should be earmarked for a project designed to attract tourists to Summerland.

Our vote is for the $5,000 to be used either for a swimming pool at the foot of Giant's Head, or better still, as the initial payment on a chair lift to the top of Giant's Head.

A chair lift on Giant's Head would, we believe, become a big tourist attraction leading quickly to other development.

There are of course many other projects which could be launched with $5,000 with an eye to developing the tourist trade and there are many other projects to be considered, such as the suggested library building, which would certainly help to make Summerland a better place in which to live.

The main thing is for all of us to register our suggestions, then let the municipal council make the final choice and then, let us all get behind the project chosen.

Of Which We Can Be Proud Well Done

SUMMERLAND may well be proud of the Singers' and Players' Club dual bill on Monday evening when HMS "Pinafore," the rollicking Gilbert and Sullivan favorite was presented again, and added was Kurt Weill's "Down in the Valley," with an orchestra of some 25 persons.

Included in the cast and orchestra were musicians from Summerland, Penticton, Oliver and Naramata, with a large supporting organization of local people who handled lighting, stage, make-up and costuming expertly.

Glen Morley's musical direction combined with Stan Gladwell's dramatic leadership not only produced a memorable evening, but gave many in the audience reason to think of the tremendous dramatic potentialities available in the south Okanagan, probably unequalled in an area the same size in all of Canada.

Mid-Week Message

"OUR FATHER"

THOUGHT FOR TODAY—When ye pray, say, Our Father, Luke 11:2.

To some "father" means a gentle kindly man, worn a little with years of work. Father can also mean a suave, well-dressed man, complete with ulcers and a monthly liquor bill. The term "daddy" calls up thoughts of a big lap, comforting arms, the pleasant smell of after-shave, a dime for an ice cream cone or even the loan of the family car and a couple of dollars for gas.

Surely you and I in our comfortable homes would have a different idea of a father than the child born in one of our cities' blighted areas. How could that child picture an ever-loving Father when his own might be a drunkard?

I think that an important part of Jesus' mission was to help us see that we can all become brothers—that we may accept God as our Father. If we accept this relationship we become reconciled to God through Christ. If we pray the prayer as Jesus taught us, can we allow or practice segregation and anti-Semitism? In praying "our Father" are we not pledging ourselves to live as his children with all the world?

Trying to conjure up a God-image we can recognize with our physical senses may cause us to miss the very Spirit of God working within us.

PRAYER: Eternal God, we are grateful that we can call thee Father. We desire to be children well-pleasing to thee. Teach us to live the practical implications of brotherhood. In Christ's name. Amen.

The Hi Life

By DOT CARSTON

Well here I go again, making excuses for not writing a column last week. I guess the only one I have is that I didn't have time.

I'd like to start off by congratulating our boys' basketball teams for their splendid show of basketball last weekend. It was nice to see such a big crowd out and I hope you all enjoyed the games. All the success to you fellows going to Vancouver this weekend. Good luck!

The Campus Chaff suggestion box netted only a few suggestions for an annual name and theme. Some of them were: Bluebird, Okanagan and Blounttime, Thunderbird, Apple, Annual, and The Comet. You can see for yourself that we haven't much to choose from. We could also stand a few more candid photos. Look through your wallet; you've probably got a couple that would get a laugh.

The Grad Concert was a big success and all concerned are to be congratulated. Wasn't the home-cooking attractive?

Sorry this is so short this week but time is flying.

REMEMBER: Exams are only 19 days away! So-long.

I never considered a difference of opinion in politics, in religion, in philosophy, as cause for withdrawing from a friend.

Orchard Notes

By ALEC WATT
DORMANT SPRAY SEASON RAPIDLY NEARING CLOSE
 Following the 1956 season when no dormant spraying was done the 1957 season opened with a roar of spray machines as growers commenced the task of cleaning up Blister Mite infections on pears and apples. As usual, wind and boggy orchards have hindered the application of this spray which has to go before buds swell appreciably. Late dormant applications for Blister Mite are usually much less effective than true dormant sprays!

Rust mites which have been extremely prevalent during the past two years will be receiving dormant sprays too. Cherries and prunes have been particularly hard hit, and yes—even peaches. Where peaches have been affected by Rust Mite the use of lime sulphur dormant is suggested as this will check the mites as well as controlling leaf curl.

Zinc Sulphate dormant spray MAY NOT be combined with either lime sulphur or the sodium salt of dinitroresol. It is a separate spray. Application of Zinc Sulphate may be delayed until after buds swell but should not on any account be applied after leaf tips are showing.

COMPATIBILITY CHART
 A compatibility chart for insecticides and fungicides commonly used in the Okanagan is now available. It was prepared jointly by officials of the Canada and B.C. Departments of Agriculture. This chart tells what chemicals can be mixed in the spray tank. Copies are available from the Horticultural Office.

TEEN TOWN
 Well, folks, the new Teen Town Council is hard at work and our first meeting was at Mayor Ruby Gronlund's home.

Members on the council were appointed to different jobs and here they are:

Mayor, Ruby Gronlund; deputy mayor, Carole Hackmann; secretary, Marney Bleasdale; treasurer, Richard Blagborne; music, Ed Mats; refreshments, Carlton Sheeley; doorman, Edna Glaser; advertising, Ron Wilson, Ilana Steuart; chief of police, Ray Dunsdan, Richard Blagborne; Teen Town Column, Dot Carston; decorations, Mary Campbell.

It was decided that meetings will be every second week and they will be held in the homes of the councillors.

Several names have been put on our "hoping" list for future chaperones. If you are approached by a Councillor and asked to chaperone, please come — you'll have fun and help us too!

We are, at present, trying to arrange to do a "good deed" for the community. If anyone has any ideas of what we might do, call one of the councillors or come to our meeting. We'll be more than glad to have you.

Motions passed have given the "go ahead" on a "Jiving Jamboree" to be held here on May 26th and "The Bunnyhop" to be held April 27.

One of the rarest things that a man ever does is to do the best he can. Revenge holds the cup to the lips of another but drinks the dregs itself. Do as well as you can today, and perhaps tomorrow you may be able to do better.

Tommy Hooker Heads Summerland Ball Club

A big baseball season is in the offing with a seven team league in action this summer.

This was disclosed at the annual meeting of the Summerland Baseball Club held last Friday in the Jubilee Arena.

Vernon has come back to the Okanagan Mainline Senior Baseball League and Princeton also stays in. Making up the seven team league are Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland, Penticton, Oliver and Princeton.

Heading the Summerland club is Tommy Hooker with Harold Cartwright, vice-president and the executive consists of Ollie Egely, Tiny Hankins, Perry Farrow and Bill Eyre, senior.

Tiny Hankins, incidentally will coach the junior club.

Tentative date for the opening of the season is April 14.

In the meantime the executive is in a huddle pondering ways and means of raising money to buy new uniforms.

BOWLING NEWS

In league play this week the Pilseners won out over the Rockets by 3 to 1. The Superchargers took all 4 points off the Newcomers, the Red Sox and the All Stars tied their game with 2 points each and the Boozers took 3 points off the Occidentals. In the ladies' division Joan Zimmerman took double honors with a 297 for the ladies' high single and a 654 for the ladies' high three. In the men's division Gordie Taylor took the high single with a 274 and Al Hooker took the high three with a 702. The high team this week is the Superchargers with a total of 2730 points. League standing to date is as follows:

Occidentals	50
Superchargers	48
Pilseners	47
Boozers	43
All Stars	40
Rockets	37
Red Sox	32
Newcomers	23

It looks like the Superchargers have broken the second place tie and are sneaking up for a crack at the number one spot in the league.

In the Ladies' league the Headaches won out over the Hangovers by 3 to 1 and the Comics came up with a 4 to 0 win over the Can Cans. Betty Haddrell bowled a 208 for the high single and Vi Mitchell bowled a 557 for the high three. The Headaches are the high team this week with a total of 2314 points. League standing to date is as follows:

Hangovers	19
Comics	18
Headaches	17
Can-Cans	13

A meeting of the Ladies' League executive was held last week and it was decided to hold the bowling finals on April 15th and 17th. It was also decided to make final presentations and hold a social evening on April 30. More news, views and comments next week.

My item of special interest this week concerns the Rotary Club of Summerland. Each Friday evening the Rotary Club has reserved the alleys for a social get-together. Those in attendance were Leola and Mitch Mitchell, Helen and Bland Munn, Phyl and Les Rumball, Hazel and Mel Ducommun, Louise and Leo MacRae, Ivor Solly, Joe McLachlan, Gerry Laidlaw, Ken Blagburne and Harold Smith. Hazel Ducommun bowled a 223 for the Ladies' High Single and a 512 for the Ladies' High Three. Ken Blagburne also won double honors by bowling a 202 for the men's high single and a 665 for the men's high three. I might add that although Hazel and Ken dominated the two divisions there was very keen competition and it was a very successful and enjoyable evening!

Summerland Box Co. Wins Trophies

Summerland Box Co. Ltd., has achieved a high rating safety record during the past year and been awarded the B.C. Logger and Lumberman Safety Award trophy which is currently displayed in the window of the Box Factory office on Granville St.

W. A. Stewart, manager, received the trophy for the company from E. V. Ablett, Workmen's Compensation Board commissioner, at the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' banquet held on Thursday evening at the Prince Charles Hotel during the convention.

The Summerland Box Co. won a second sawmill award in Group C—that is mills running 50,000 to 100,000 man hours, which was presented to Mr. Stewart the same evening.

Co-op Directors Report on Fire

An official report of the Co-operative Growers' Association recent three-quarter of a million dollar fire was given at a meeting called by the board of directors on Friday evening in the TOOF Hall.

The meeting was well-attended and growers were told that the loss was covered by insurance.

J. Y. Towgood, the president was in the chair. Mr. Towgood and George Washington, the manager, submitted the report.

Directors were present and general discussion took place with many questions answered.

Growers were told that there were facilities in the Okanagan to pack and cold store this year's crop. In the meantime plans and information are being obtained regarding rebuilding. It is expected these will be ready to be submitted at the annual meeting, for growers' decision as to the future program.

Summerland Centennial Project

Suggestions will be welcomed before April 9th by the Municipal Council regarding a suitable Centennial Project for this Municipality.

Bear in mind that approximately $2,400.00 will be forthcoming from the B.C. Government, if matched, by $2,400.00 locally. The total of $4,800.00 should be an appreciable percentage of the completed project.

Delegations or individuals supporting projects will be welcome at the Council Meeting at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, April 9th.

F. E. Atkinson, REEVE.

Will YOU have an independent income?

Now is the time to arrange through a CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNUITY for the little it will take to brighten the days when you must stop working. You can purchase an Annuity NOW to come due at age 50, 55, 60 or 65, or other ages.

HERE IS AN EXAMPLE—Suppose you are a man of 28 and want an Annuity of $100 a month, beginning at 65. Your monthly premium would be $16.44.

AT AGE 65 the Government will begin paying you $100 a month as long as you live! If you die within 10 years after age 65, the monthly payments will continue to your heirs for the balance of that 10 years. Thus, you will have paid $7,299.36 for a minimum return of $12,000.00—which will be even greater if you live past 75!

IF YOU DIE BEFORE 65 the Government will pay your heirs the total sum paid up to the date of your death plus 4% compound interest.

There are several plans to choose from. For detailed information, consult your DISTRICT ANNUITIES REPRESENTATIVE, or mail the coupon below, postage free.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

Pollination Requirements Listed For Cherry Varieties by K. Lapins

The severe winter of 1955-56 has greatly damaged cherry orchards of British Columbia. In filling the gaps in the old orchards, or in planning new plantings, the need for pollinizers must be considered. In some orchards, the old pollinizer variety—Deacon—may be lost by winter damage and must be replaced. In plantings involving certain of the newer varieties, such as Van, Sam or Star the varieties must be selected and grouped in such a way that successful pollinization is assured, says K. O. Lapins, Summerland Experimental Farm, Canada Department of Agriculture.

It is well known to cherry growers that the varieties Bing, Lambert and Royal Ann are intersterile—they cannot successfully pollinize each other. Also the Star cherry belongs to this intersterility group. Each of these four sorts, however, can be fertilized by such varieties as Van, Sam, Hedelfingen or Deacon.

The Van cherry, which has become fairly popular as a pollinizer and as a variety possessing a certain degree of frost hardiness, is fertilized by Bing, Deacon, Lambert, Royal Ann, Star and Sam, but not by Louisa. The latter is an introduction from Idaho.

The Sam variety is successfully pollinized by Bing, Lambert, Royal Ann, Star and Van, but not by Deacon.

It is considered that the trees of the pollinizer variety should occupy about ten per cent of the planting and be well distributed in the orchard. Good distribution of the pollinizer is more important in cherries than in other self-sterile fruits, since cherries bloom early in the season when the number and activity of the pollinating insects may be insufficient to cross-pollinate distant trees. A good plan is to plant as the pollinizer each third tree in each third row.

Singing of Flora Bergstrom's Josephine and Clive Atkinson's Ralph Rackstraw delighted the audience. Laura Boothe in Little Buttercup's role, tripped lightly along, threading an easy way through the seamen, sisters, cousins and aunts.

Ken Boothe in a principal role for the first time gave interest as the boatswain's mate, while Maurice Braniff as the midshipmite left nothing to be desired in this position.

Bit parts were taken by Ken Bissett, sergeant of the marines, Ed Danalanko, carpenter's mate, and Fran Johnson as Hebe, the first cousin of Sir Joseph.

A supporting chorus of 30 men and women, colorful costuming and a bright set effectively lent themselves to the production's success.

Vera McKenzie, leader and teacher in the thirty-minute show, "Down in the Valley," held the place well, her story telling linking the plot together, with the chorus group moving from place to place, forming an impersonal background for the tale. The acting of David Stocks as Brack Weaver and Shirley Lets as Jennie, done with simplicity and straightforwardness, were highlights of the musical drama.

Restraint of Kelvin Macleod as Jennie's father was another highlight. Delmar Dunham scored again as Tom Bouche, Jennie's spurned suitor.

The whole evening reflected a tremendous amount of work and months of concentration.

The orchestra was comprised of musicians from Summerland, Penticton and Oliver. Singers came from Summerland, Penticton and Naramata.

Colin McKenzie is president of the club; Flora Bergstrom, secretary; production and dramatic director is Stan Gladwell; musical director, Glen Morley; Isabel Dunham the fine accompanist.

Sets for "Pinafore" were made by Henry Abeling and for "Down in the Valley" by Gwen Penney and Ivy Mason.

Lighting was done by Ken McIntosh, Bill Ross and Barry Hargrave.

Stage crew was comprised of Ken Bissett, Bob Sheeley, Gerry Hunt, and John Adams.

Make-up was by Mollie Russell, Alma Fudge, Marion Cartwright, Kay Solly, Kay Agur, Lucy Trafford, Beatrice Macleod and Anne Macleod.

Costumes were arranged by Laura Boothe, Flora Bergstrom and Ida McLaughlin. The sailors' costumes were from Mallabar, Vancouver.

Muriel Holman was the prompter. Repeat performances will be held tonight in Kelowna, and Friday and Saturday evenings in Penticton.

Polluck Concert To Be on April 12

Friday, April 12, has been set for the Pot Luck Evening presented by various organizations in the community in aid of the Summerland High School Band.

Band Secretary, Marny Bleasdale, reports that the returns have been most gratifying and a very worthwhile evening's entertainment is assured.

The money raised will be used to help the School Band on their trip to the prairies and North Western states the end of June and first of July.

Charge for the evening will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Those organizations signifying they will take part are the Canadian Legion, United Church Women's Federation, Oddfellows, Rebekahs, Parent-Teachers' Association, Scandinavian Society, Catholic Women's League and Summerland Teachers' Association. Other groups are planning to take part but as yet no official word has been received from the groups.

Other groups that are going to be able to help the young musicians by presenting a short portion of the program are asked to contact Marny Bleasdale, Summerland High School Band Secretary, c/o the High School, as soon as possible.

Suggestions For Centennial Project

Summerland's Centennial project has not yet been decided upon. There have been various projects mentioned, such as a swimming pool at West Summerland; a bench playground at the north side of Evans' Point; the use of the Centennial money as a donation to new library quarters for the West Summerland Branch; and a school for retarded children.

The provincial grant is 40 cents per capita for a celebration, but 60 cents per capita if the grant is matched dollar for dollar by the municipality to be used for some permanent scheme.

S. A. Macdonald is chairman of the Centennial committee and Lorne Perry, the secretary. They and the municipal council, are welcoming suggestions, as to what form the Centennial should take in Summerland. At a meeting of the council on April 9 all the ideas received will be discussed by the committee and the council and a decision reached.

that mosquito control measures would be done earlier this year; that the tennis court will probably be paved in June; and since a land surveyor has not been available, the drainage system improvements will not be carried out this year.

The meeting decided against open sessions, but thought that more than one public meeting should be held in a year.

Some discussion was given regarding changing the name of the organization to Trout Creek Ratepayers' Association, but this was not carried out, as it was thought it might be considered a "pressure" group under such a title.

It was mentioned that UBC courses in beginners' dressmaking and in tailoring will be held April 29-May 4, and that there is room for a few more in the classes, which will be in the basement of the Church of God.
