

The Flame Of Remembrance

It is confidently expected that this November some six or seven millions of Canadians from every walk of life will be wearing a replica of the blood red poppy of Flanders, that symbol of a nation's homage and gratitude.

Over the long, long years memories are apt to dim, but how many who have seen the blaze of scarlet poppies are likely to forget or even wish to forget the sight or the significance of this humble yet poignant flower. Strange, but true it is that centuries ago the poppy in the mythology of China was known as the flower of forgetfulness since from its capsules the potent drug of opium was distilled. Even today morphine which is contained in the drug is of much value for the relief of pain when used by the medical profession the Doctor usually being the best judge as to the wisdom and extent of its administration.

How was it then that the poppy came to convey quite another meaning to so many and with an entirely different association? During the wars of Napoleon it was noted that the vivid scarlet of poppies seemed to blossom most profusely on the graves of those who had fallen in battle. However, it was in the first World War that this phenomenon was observed more closely. Springing up from the shell torn earth and appearing on the graves of the fallen, they made a sea of color and of beauty almost seeming to challenge the waste, the ugliness and horror of war.

It has never been actually proved how this widely known symbol came to be accepted, neither is there any certainty of the source whence came the idea of its association with the remembrance of those who made the supreme sacrifice.

However, there is no shadow of doubt that much of this association is attributable to a Canadian namely John McCrae, a member of the Canadian Medical Corps who hailed from Guelph, Ontario. During the first World War whilst serving on the Western Front he penned his immortal poem on a scrap of paper, and although it is familiar to almost everyone the reprinting of it shall again remind us of our obligations, not only to those who have passed on but also those who survive, the dependents, the wives and the children of the last three wars.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing,
Fly
Scarce heard amid the guns
below.
We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved, and were loved, and now
we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you from failing hands we throw
"The torch"; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

Each year the numbers of poppy emblems distributed throughout Canada has steadily increased. Through the Canadian Legion's National Poppy Campaign this symbol has come to stand for more than mere remembrance of the dead. In the hands of this organization it has come to mean a source of solace in time of trouble and hope for the future. It has become a means of useful employment for disabled veterans both in the Vetcraft Shop and in the homes of those unable to stand the strain of regular employment.

In the face of this it is not surprising that John McCrae's poem has come to be more and more associated with Poppy Day for it seems to speak of all those things which the poppy symbolizes.

HOW TO PACK for PARCEL POST

You're face to face with the B-58 BUICK

It looks and feels like flight on wheels

IT RUNS on gasoline and rolls on wheels. But beyond that, all similarity between this 1958 Buick and any other car you've ever known comes to a decisive end.

This B-58 Buick is literally born of aviation principles—starting with a greater use of aluminum than ever before, and going on from there.

With this stunning automobile you're in the forefront of styling's freshest advance.

With it you boss the B-12000 engine—command through a transmission that's the big talk of the automotive world—feel a modern miracle in buoyancy of ride, plus the never-before wonders of Buick Air-Poise Suspension.*

With it you can drive with more magnificent advances in automobile design and engineering than history shows in any single year.

This B-58 Buick is ready now in look and line and lift and life to thrill you to a tingle. Go see—at your Buick dealer's.

* Air-Poise Suspension optional on all Series, Flight Pitch Dynaflo standard on LIMITED and ROADMASTER 75, optional on other Series.

—ALL IN ONE YEAR
IN THIS BIG, BUOYANT BUICK

Miracle Ride Plus Buick Air-Poise Suspension*—You ride on four self-levelizing columns of compressed air—stay on a constant level, regardless of passenger load or road conditions.

Flight Pitch Dynaflo*—Lets you switch the pitch a million ways for exact power delivery at every phase of travel—gives smooth, instant response.

B-12000 Engine—Up to 10 to 1 in compression, and with 12,000 pounds of thrust behind every piston's power stroke. Most modern engine possible to build for today's fuels.

Sparkling Fresh Styling—From wide-sweeping Dynastar Grille to steeped tall towers, this is the bold face of fashion for '58.

Air-Cooled Aluminum Brakes—Heavier-lined, extra-powerful brakes with 45 radial fins that fan in cooling air. Smoother, more positive braking and longer lining-life. (Standard on front wheels only on most models.)

Magnificent Changes Through and Through—"Velvet-wall" sound silencing, hidden exhausts, centre-of-percussion vibration control, ball-joint handling—plus many others.

I found out some facts about the amazing talents of the actors and actresses who appeared in "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp" a couple of weeks ago. Peter Moore, who played Aladdin, was born in Duncan. His boundless vitality and enthusiasm certainly seemed to convince his audience that he was a natural for the role. He has appeared in several of the Duncan Musical Club productions and is really stepping along in the acting world.

Marie McCooey, who appeared as Aladdin's mother also played Gretel in last year's play. Her dramatic work is well known throughout the Western Provinces. Her portrayal of Aladdin's mother, although a radical change of roles, is certainly a tribute to Marie's versatility.

Bena Shuster played Princess Adora. She has just recently returned from a two-year stay in England where she appeared on TV as well as numerous other performances, one including a leading role in an Israeli play in London.

The Sultan, played by Des Norman, came originally from Winnipeg and lost no time showing his acting ability in Vancouver. He has been a member of Vancouver's Little Theatre and has appeared in many of their productions including the recent production of "The Tempest".

Ann Lidstone, playing Noona, has been making an enviable impression on the Vancouver dance and theatrical scene since she was seven years old. She recently took top awards in a Junior Chamber of Commerce Speaking Contest. Ann placed third in international auditions for the film production of "Saint Joan".

George Patey, playing the Guard and Clown, entered show business in 1944 entertaining the Armed Forces. He has appeared on stage, in motion pictures and on TV with such well-known stars as Milton Berle, Nat "King" Cole, and Marilyn Monroe.

The Magician was portrayed by Ion Berger. Hailing from Creston, he has appeared with Vancouver's Little Theatre's production of "Mr. Roberts" as well as many other performances. He won the Best Acting Award in the Dominion Drama Festival.

Ed Hanson, who played Graspino, also is the Tour Manager for Holiday Theatre. Last year he played Hansel in a sparkling performance. Following his election to the Board of Directors of Holiday Theatre, he appeared in "Cinderella." Ed gained valuable professional experience as stage manager for Vanguard Theatre in Vancouver this year.

Really then, we have had some very important actors and outstanding actresses playing "in person" on stage here in Summerland. All of this year's cast were playing double roles, acting as their own stage crew, lighting and costumes departments, as well as giving a brilliant performance. Their genial director and producer was Joy Coghill. I'm hoping they will return again next year, when they are on tour of B.C. How about you?

Comings & Goings

The staff of Milne's Cannery had their closing party at the home of Mrs. D. L. Milne, combining it with a shower for Miss K. McDonald of Penticton, whose marriage to Mr. Meade Siegrist takes place November 16. Pictures of their trip to Mexico were shown by Mr. Blake Milne and games and refreshments completed an enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilkins visited this weekend at the home of Miss Ruth Dale.

Mr. N. Ross visited his home at Trout Creek this weekend. Mr. Ross is presently employed at Salmo.

P-TA Rummage Sale, Saturday

Everyone enjoys a rummage sale. Come to the IOOF hall this Saturday afternoon and see for yourself. The P-TA is having a rummage sale in aid of the junior-senior high school piano fund.

Coffee will also be served. How about looking in your basement for odds and ends. It is surprising what you might discard someone else might want. Donations can be left at the hall in the morning. The P-TA would appreciate your support and who knows you may find a bargain or two.

Shrieks of delight were heard as the Giant of Giant's Head raided the Halloween supper party to carry off one of the nine guests. Maureen McLachlan was entertaining Thursday night October 31 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross McLachlan. The little guest was rescued and the party continued with games and refreshments.

Mr. Frank Beaver has returned from Ashcroft where he spent the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alstead have returned from the coast where they spent a few days last week.

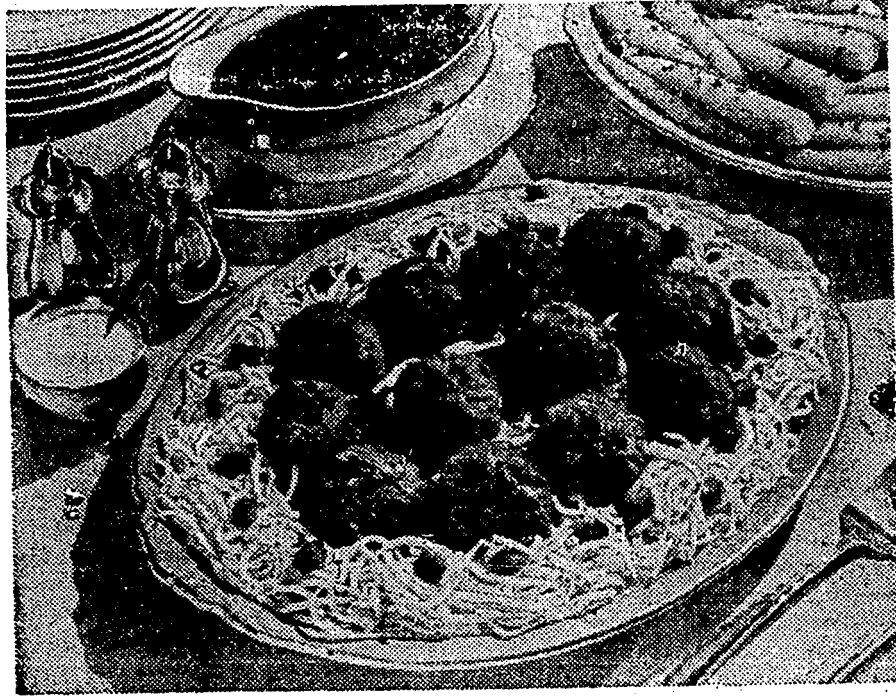

Mrs. R. H. Scott of West Vancouver has been visiting with her mother, Mrs. J. A. Darke. Also visiting with Mrs. Darke were Mrs. S. E. Tedder of Kamloops and her daughter, Marjorie and Mrs. Darke's son of North Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mitchell of Kelowna visited in Summerland this weekend. Mr. Mitchell's is the well-known voice heard on radio on behalf of the BC Tree Fruits.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT
Eleven couples turned out Friday evening to take part in the first round in the Bridge Tournament sponsored by the Summerland Badminton Club.

SHOPPING AROUND

by MRS. A. F. CRAWFORD

Names given to pets can usually be traced to something peculiar in their appearance or habit. Imagine what some of us would come up with if humans acquired their names that way. Bet there'd be some dillies.

Leaving the humans out of it and looking over the cats originating in our own neighborhood — and their number is legion — their names fire the imagination. There's "Glamour," obviously not an ugly cat, and "Mr. Milquetoast," who speaks for himself — or does he? There was "Figaro" and now "Sputnik," so called because he has a habit of running around in circles and "Rocket" because he follows "Sputnik." One litter included two yellow cats — one a pretty yellow kitten, and the other no beauty contest winner — their names "Hornhound" and "Taffy." You guess which was which — or have you never tasted the candy called hornhound?

Don't know whether dolls are considered pets, but they too, are members of our households and also acquire odd names sometimes for strange reasons. Like the time the little girl was playing with her doll and, obviously having trouble with her, was provoked to the point of wanting to use a cuss word. Only trouble was, believe it or not, she didn't know one, so burst out with a vehement "Ratta Tatta Obadiah." Being heard by other members of the family they exclaimed "Did you hear what she called her doll?" and from that day forward 'Bessie' was called "Ratta Tatta Obadiah."

For the dolls on display in Summerland names would have to be beautiful for that's what the dolls are — just beautiful! There's great variety and every one of them will thrill some little girl's heart at Christmas. There are baby dolls, so soft they feel almost real, bride dolls, sister dolls dressed exactly alike, only one a little smaller than the other, very suitable for two little sisters. There are character dolls and dolls with rooted hair that can be combed and styled. There are walking dolls, talking dolls in fact every kind of doll you could wish for.

A little early shopping will secure the very one you want if you are fortunate enough to have a little girl to buy one for and there are lots of dolls' clothes and accessories available too, to accompany the new member of the family.

During 1955 the average Canadian family income went up eight per cent to $4,460.

Bowling News

By GLENN FELL

That old flu bug reaped its harvest from the Bowling League to the extent of two complete teams. The Canco's and the Aylmer Cocktails were absent this week due to the flu. In league play the Cackleberries beat the Hilltoppers by 3 to 1, the Legionaires also beat the Baby Austins by 3 to 1. The Slo-Mo's and the Diehards who were scheduled to bowl the Canco's and the Aylmer Cocktails bowled more than 90% of their opponents average and obtained 4 points each. The Tweeters were outbowed by the Whizbangs by 3 to 1, the Occidentals took 4 points off the Tooters, the Misfits won out over the Spitfires by 3 to 1, the Pioneer Feeds also won out over the Minnie-Ha-Ha's by 3 to 1, and the Vikings and the Westbankers split their game with 2 points each.

League standing to date is as follows:

Occidentals	14
Diehards	12
Legionaires	12
Cackleberries	12
Slo-Mo's	10
Baby Austins	10
Pioneer Feeds	10
Whiz Bangs	9
Minnie-Ha-Ha's	7
Misfits	7
Vikings	6
Westbankers	6
Tweeters	6
Tooters	6
Canco's	6
Spitfires	5
Hilltoppers	4
Aylmer Cocktails	2
Kay Smith	1

Kay Smith won the Ladies high single with a 377. Foster also won double honors by rolling 846 for the men's high three. Eileen Fell won the ladies high three with 657. It is worthy of note to mention that not only did Foster win both the men's high single and high three but he also won three merchandise certificates for his outstanding performance. Congratulations Foster, it looks as if you have set a real pace for those who have their eye set on the League's Yearly High Single and High Three! The high team this week is the Diehards with a total of 2898 pins!

Having personally attended the Bowling League Hard Time Dance I can assure all those who were unable to attend due to the flu that it was a great success. George Williams won the door prize which was a beautiful lamp and Doh and Elsie Archibald were judged the "best dressed hard time couple." There were numerous other prizes awarded during the evening and there was a capacity crowd in attendance. Karl Schramm and his O. K. Valley Ranch Boys provided lively entertainment and a good time was had by all. Hats off to Foster Cunningham for engineering a very successful Bowling League Dance! TEEN TOWN

Teen Town held their last meeting at the home of Ruby Gronlund, November 3.

Members have decided to have a dance Saturday, November 9, at 9 p.m. in the IOOF Hall. Let's all get out and support Teen Town, this weekend.

Teen Town mayor, Ruby Gronlund will place a wreath on the cenotaph this year on behalf of its members.

Because the flu bug hit Summerland last weekend, our delegates were unable to attend the Teen Town Conference in Oliver. It is understood however that the Conference was a big success.

Short and sweet this weekend, but one last word — come to the dance this Saturday.

Junior Hi Jottings

by Karen Johanson

Well here I am again! I guess you must of thought I died or something. Well the Junior soccer ended with the girls losing to Westbank 1-0. Basketball practise starts this week. We want all juniors out. Most everybody had the flu but almost all are better now. There were 17 away from one grade 7 class last week. Mr. Macleod and teachers were pleased at the way the council members entertained the visiting billets. Report cards are coming out this week. Good luck to those who need it! We had assembly about a week ago. With Dot Carston, Marge Campbell and Ruby Gronlund speaking about the council and what they intended to do at the banquet. Well I guess that's about all for now. Adios till next week!

Conference

Convener, Secretaries of the various workshops reported before the delegates. It was voted that Rutland host the Conference next year and that registration fee of $2.50 be raised to $5.00 per school.

The Conference was well run by the students and Mr. Macleod announced congratulations to working officials at school Monday morning.

Special recording gauges have been installed to measure both steam production and fuel consumption and accurate cost comparisons will be maintained.

Responsible officials will be watching these records carefully. They are hopeful of effecting economies in plant operation as an added advantage in using this new fuel.

Labeled "the car of the year" by enthusiastic viewers, the new model 1958 Chevrolet was unveiled October 31 at Durnin Motors Ltd.

ALL NEW FEATURES FROM BUMPER TO BUMPER

The 1958 Chevrolet is new from bumper-to-bumper and from frame to roof line. The all new features include:

A completely re-styled car which is longer, lower and wider and emphasizes flowing sculptured lines from the dual headlamps to softly flared rear fenders.

A G-shaped frame which allows a lower silhouette but retains ample head room and increases leg room and luggage space.

Two suspension systems for a more luxurious ride along with remarkable handling stability and durability. Sturdy coil springs, front and rear, are standard. A new "Level Air" system which automatically adjusts to all load weights is optional.

A 348-cubic inch engine which is new from fan to flywheel. Designed primarily around a new combustion chamber, the optional Turbo Thrust V8 offers greater torque for improved mid-range performance.

Chassis-body design integration to supply exceptional structural strength and greater rigidity.

Forward-mounted steering linkage which provides more responsive action and reduces road vibration to the steering wheel.

FRESH NEWNESS IN BODY GROUPINGS

Some idea of the fresh newness of the Chevrolet line is suggested by the new body groupings and identification.

In recognition of the growing popularity of station wagons, an exclusive five-unit series of this body type has been established.

The Bel Air series is continued, but adds among its six models a sumptuous sport coupe and convertible under the Impala nameplate, introduced on a "dream car" at the General Motors Motordrama in 1956.

In the middle range of the low-priced car bracket is a Byescayne series, with two sedans. The bottom end of the price spread will be occupied by three models making up the Delray series. In 1957 comparable series were known as Two-Ten and One-Fifty, respectively.

Roominess and quality of the new line, says the company will be immediately apparent.

Over-all lengths have been extended a full nine inches to a new measurement of 209 inches. The wheelbase is up two and one-half inches to 117-1/2. Roof lines have been lowered by to 2 1/2 inches, yet design skill has retained ample passenger headroom.

NEW CARS HAVE AIR OF LIVELINESS

In looks, the cars have an air of liveliness. Because of the thoroughness of the transformation, stylists and engineers were able to correlate their ideas into single unit of bumper-to-bumper progress.

COMPLEMENTS ADVANCES IN CHASSIS ENGINEERING

Chevrolet is quick to explain that the longer, lower lines of the 1958's were not inspired alone by a desire for beauty. The form complements advances in chassis engineering that promise to heighten immeasurably driving and riding enjoyment.

Important in the broad gains along the mechanical front is the rear wheels as a standard fixture. Long a front end feature on Chevrolet, the coils cushion shocks far better than previous suspension systems.

As optional equipment, the company additionally pioneers in its field a new "Level Air" suspension, employing for the first time rubber bellows at all four wheels. Through an interconnected air supply and exhaust system with leveling valves, this suspension assures precisely the same resistance to shock regardless of car load.

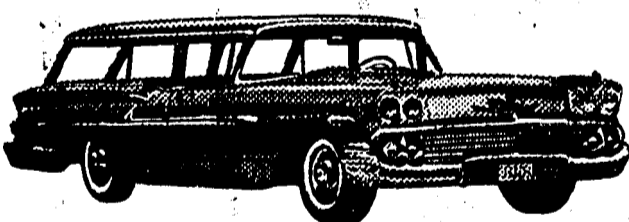

The new Turbo-Thrust engine is still another highspot that illustrates the magnitude of the engineering job behind the 1958 Chevrolets. Predominant is a completely new combustion chamber design which assures uniform combustion. The new engine is one of five V8's and a six-cylinder carried in the new line. Ramjet fuel injection which Chevrolet introduced last year, is again offered as an option on the 283-cubic inch V8. Automatic Turboglide, Powerglide, an improved three-speed Synchro-Mesh and the overdrive are again available.

Impala Sport Coupe — such luxury never came out of the low-price field before!

ALMOST TOO NEW TO BE TRUE ...

'58 CHEVROLET! The biggest, boldest move any car ever made!

The eye-filling new Nomad... 4-door, 6-passenger station wagon.

Meet the beautifully moving '58 Chevrolet! It's so panther-quick, so silk-smooth it goes far beyond even the great Chevrolet performers of the past. Here are radical new departures in power, ride and body-frame design, a V8 unlike any other, a Full Coil suspension system and a real air ride! Even two new super models! See the '58 Chevrolet today!

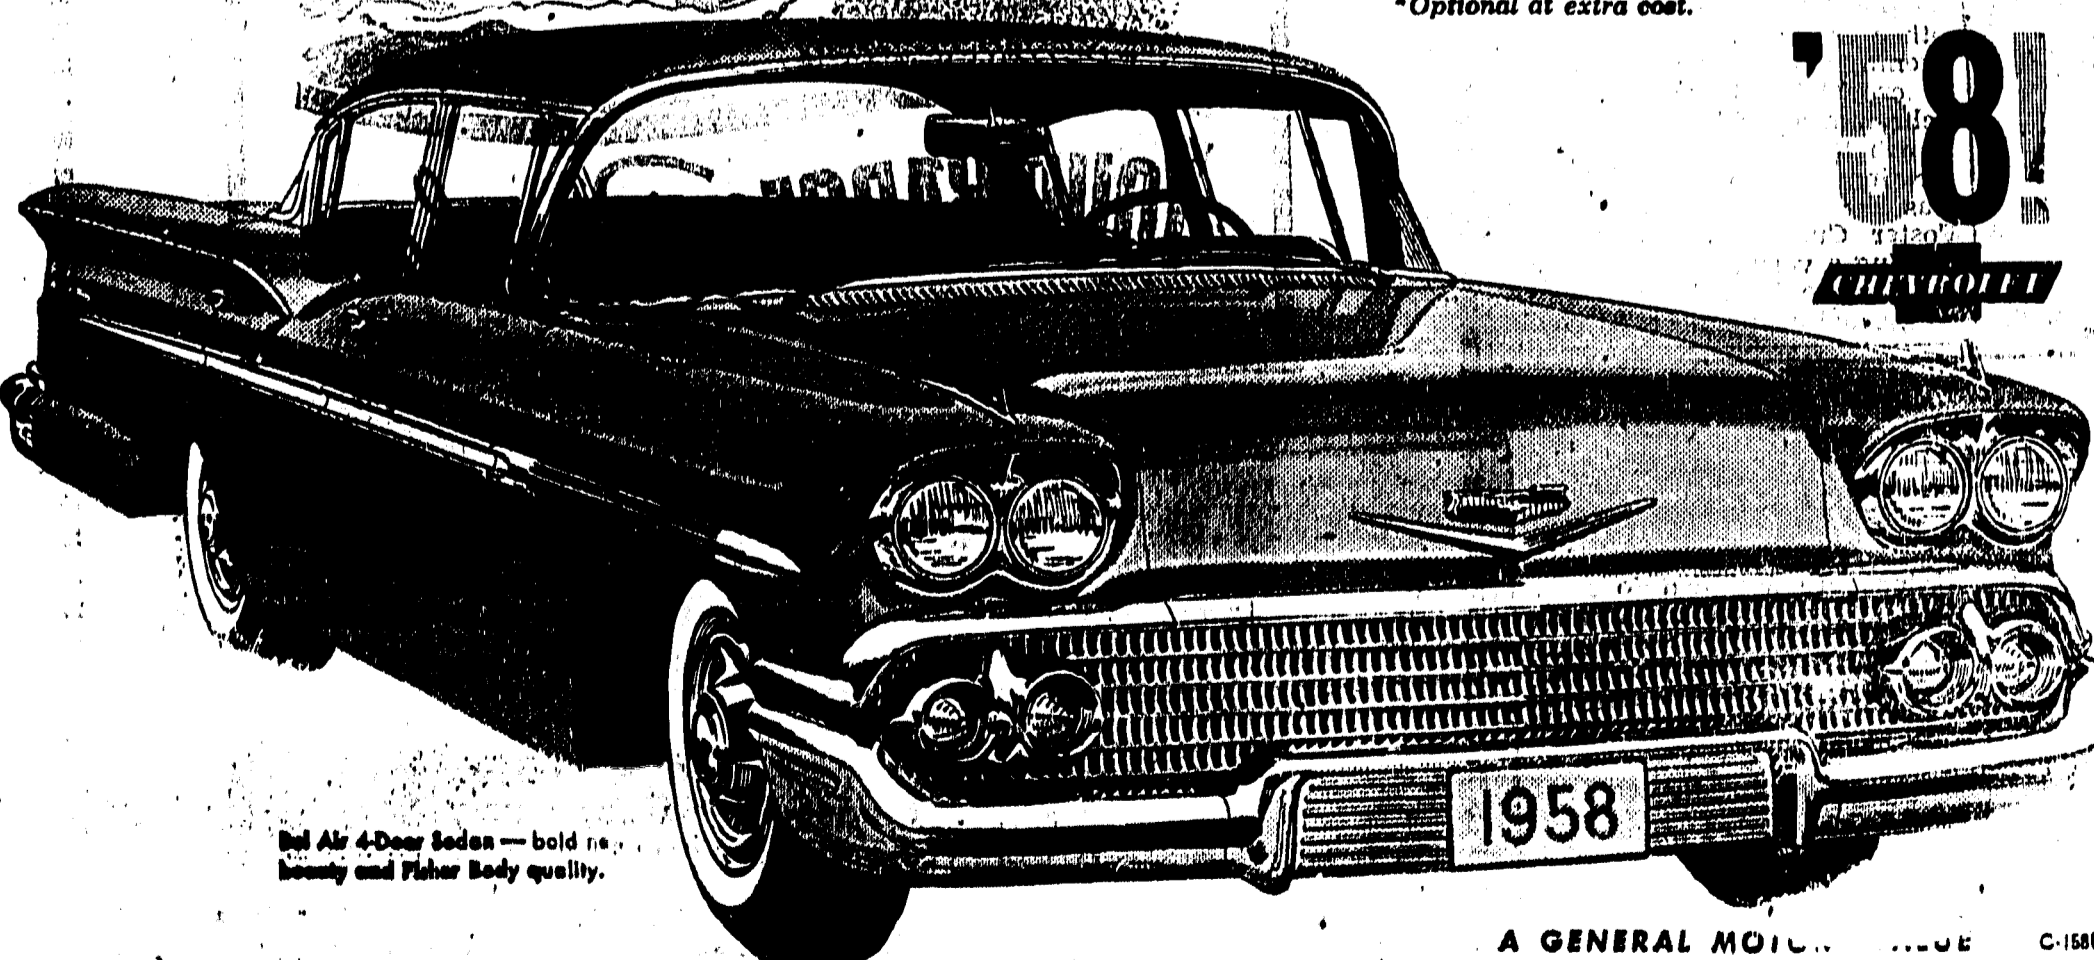

Look at Chevrolet's new styling, airy new gull-wing fenders. That's how new Chevrolet is all over. It's lower and wider — and nine crisp inches longer.

There's an all-new Turbo-Thrust V8* engine with a new brand of velvety action. Pair it up with Turboglide* and you'll command the quickest, smoothest combination on the road! There are two new rides — cradle-soft Full Coil suspension — and the first real air ride* in Chevy's field. The body-frame design is new, the wheelbase is longer, for a sweet new handling feel.

There's plenty more — a new 4-headlight system for safer seeing, new 6 and V8 power, a new foot-operated parking brake. Improved transmissions include a smoother-than-ever Powerglide*. And two new super models make their debut — the Impala Sport Coupe and Convertible. They're the lowest, most luxurious Chevrolets of all.

See all that's new at your Chevrolet dealer's! *Optional at extra cost.

South Okanagan CCF Lay Stress On Un'ployment

At the regular meeting of the CCF South Okanagan Constituency Association a resolution was passed supporting CCF Provincial Leader Robert Strachan in his fight for action in the face of growing unemployment and the serious housing situation in Canada. The CCF Constituency Association also decided to write to CCF Federal M.P.s asking them to urge the following measure in the House of Commons: that the Federal Government, through the Bank of Canada should channel more low-interest funds into home-building and low-cost rental housing to provide housing at reasonable cost to low and middle-income groups and to provide employment during the coming winter both in the building trades and in the entire lumber industry, which was already in a serious depression.

M.P.s To Speak On Free TV Time

Frequent political broadcasts by the four major political parties in British Columbia began on CBC radio on Monday, and begin on television Monday, November 11. On radio the series will run for 30 occasions, and will be heard from 10:15 - 10:30 p.m. every Monday. On television (Channel 2, Vancouver) the series will be seen for ten occasions 7:30 - 7:45 p.m. every second Monday, alternating with the network program "The Nation's Business."

The CBC and the parties agreed to the following allocation of time for the provincial parties.

RADIO: Social Credit 12, CCF 9, Liberal 6, Progressive Conservative 3.

TELEVISION: Social Credit 4, CCF 3, Liberal 2, Progressive Conservative 1.

Both series will be produced in Vancouver by the Talks and Public Affairs Department of the CBC.

In addition to the provincial party broadcasts, the national series, "The Nation's Business," started Monday, at 7:30 p.m. (TV) and on Friday, November 8 at 8:30 p.m. (radio). Time has been allocated as follows: Progressive Conservative 5, Liberal 5, CCF 3, Social Credit 1. Speakers are to be arranged for by the parties concerned. The first speaker on "The Nation's Business" was the Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker for the Progressive Conservative Party on television November 4 and on Radio November 8. All programs will last for 15 minutes and originate in Ottawa.

Miss Joan Fitzpatrick of Windsor, Ontario, Miss Canada, 1957, learned about the valuable work of CARS from one of her predecessors, Kathy O'Flanagan (nee Archibald).

Correct Maturity For Golden Delicious

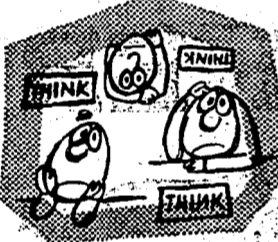

In spite of the demand for red varieties of apples, Golden Delicious is increasing in popularity.

In the Okanagan Valley 'Golden-ens' are arousing considerable interest, accompanied by some increase in planting, states S. W. Porritt, Canada Department of Agriculture Experimental Farm, Summerland, B.C.

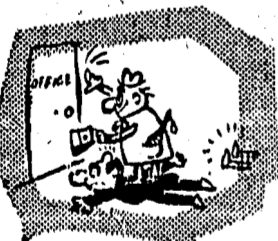

people compete in the oil business

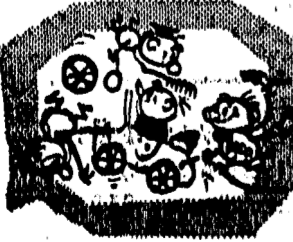

Did you know there are more than 10,000 people engaged in the search for oil in Canada? We know it, because we run into plenty of them each time we try to lease promising oil lands.

Did you know there are hundreds of skilled chemists and engineers in Canada's 42 refineries? We know it, because our own technical people have to work hard to stay ahead of the others in producing better products at lower cost.

Did you know Canada's oil companies employ thousands of salesmen to market their products? We know it, because every day our own sales people are competing with salesmen from other companies.

Canada's hundreds of oil companies wage vigorous competition. The result is increased efficiency, and benefits to the consumer.

Controlled Atmosphere Storage Tried In N.S.

Those who have ever felt that farmers are slow to put into practice new scientific ideas should pay a visit to F. C. Welch, the owner of Welch-Lo Farms Limited, Wolfville, N.S. He has a habit of adopting every innovation which might conceivably increase the revenue from his 7-acre apple orchard.

As a result, about half of his crop will be housed this year in what is probably the first controlled-atmosphere storage to be lined with plastic film.

It's more than coincidence that the first storage of this nature should be built in the heart of one of Canada's best-known apple districts — the Annapolis Valley. Each year this apple paradise produces, in the neighborhood of 2,000,000 bushels. Approximately half the crop ends up in processing plants. The remainder is divided fairly evenly between the local and overseas markets.

A few years ago it looked as though King Apple might be dethroned in the Valley. With overseas markets dwindling and uncertain, production began to exceed demand. Encouraged by the provincial government, many owners tore out their trees and turned to other branches of farming. Those who remained in the apple business found one of the answers to their market-problems in cold storage plants. Refrigerated storages sprang up all over the Valley and experiments with controlled-atmosphere storage units got under way. Results of those experiments are today setting a pattern for apple growers everywhere.

Mr. Welch was one grower who didn't give up. He kept his faith in the apple business and over the years sought various ideas for storing his crop until it could be sold advantageously. McIntosh apples were a particular problem. Although the most popular of all Canadian apples, the McIntosh develops core browning after three months in refrigerated storage at 32 degrees Fahrenheit. Also it, loses its flavor after four months.

Last year for the first time Mr. Welch rented space in a gas storage unit for some of his crop. Not only was there a delay in the onset of core flush, but the fruit retained its flavor for a month or two longer. These results were sufficient to encourage him to construct a similar storage at Welch-Lo Farms.

Technical assistance for his building project was provided by C. A. Eaves, senior horticulturist at the nearby Kentville experimental farm. It was at Mr. Eaves suggestion that plastic film was used instead of metal sheeting to line the walls and ceiling of the storage.

His suggestion was based on the results of experiments conducted last year with "Mylar" polyester film both at the experimental farm and in the storage of A. R. Stirling, a prominent apple grower from Grand Pre. "Mylar" had been selected for the tests because it was the strongest of all plastic films and had a very low gas permeability.

During the five-month testing period at the experimental farm a temporary gas storage unit made of "Mylar" proved it was able to hold the concentration of oxygen and carbon dioxide required for gas storage as well as a metal-lined storage. When removed, apples stored in the "Mylar" unit showed less than one per cent of fungal rotting and only slight development of core browning. The flavor was good and the fruit reasonably firm.

From a grower's point of view the use of "Mylar" means a reduced storage cost per bushel of apples. Not only is the plastic film less expensive than traditional materials, it is also much more easily and swiftly installed.

The new storage is 96 feet long, 24 feet wide and 12 feet high. It has four separate rooms, each with a capacity of 2,500 bushels. Each room is constructed as an independent unit to permit the removal of apples from any one room without disturbing the temperature or atmospheric control in the others.

The walls were constructed in much the same way as any other refrigerated storage. There is a layer of moisture-proof board on the outside lined with aluminum foil. Then come four inches of "Fibreglas" insulation next to the inside wall which is also wooden. The storage was made gas tight for rigid control of its atmosphere content. This was the task assigned to "Mylar." Sheets of the plastic film were glued to the inside wall with "Perma Seal" adhesive. The adhesive was also used to bond the sheets together with a three-inch overlap. While the "Mylar" used in the Kentville experiments was only one mil or one-thousandth of an inch thick, it was decided to use sheets five times that thickness in the permanent storage at Welch-Lo Farms. This was done partly to ensure greater strength and partly as a precaution against rodents.

Wall-blower refrigeration equipment was installed by Mr. Welch to maintain a constant temperature of from 38 to 39 degrees — the temperature recommended for controlled-atmosphere storage. Because this is several degrees warmer than the temperature at which apples are normally stored, it was necessary to regulate the content of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the storage to check the rate of ripening and eliminate break-down of fruit texture.

This will be done at Welch-Lo Farms by a controlled-ventilation system. As rapidly as a staff of 30 pickers can remove the apples from the trees, they will be placed in boxes and transferred without grading to the storage. Mr. Welch plans to have each room sealed within five to seven days after the first box of apples reaches the storage.

After the room is sealed, the fruit will be allowed to absorb oxygen until the normal 21 per cent in the surrounding air is reduced to 14 per cent. Since the apple breathes out carbon dioxide during this process, the carbon dioxide content increases to seven per cent. At this point outside air will be admitted through ventilation ports — one to each room — in sufficient quantity to maintain those concentrations. Since the rate of respiration of the fruit is largely dependent upon the temperature, maintenance at the desired level without excessive fluctuation will be necessary at all times.

With this new storage Mr. Welch expects to be able to keep his McIntosh apples six weeks to two months longer than he could with ordinary refrigeration. They will be removed from storage around the middle of March or the first of April, a time when demand far exceeds supply.

Most of the apples will be sold locally. They will be carefully graded after removal from storage and packed in cartons or bags made of polyethylene film. Mr. Welch is not concerned about the length of time his gas-stored apples will keep at ordinary temperatures. Tests have already shown that gas-storage apples can be kept in better condition than those taken from regular cold storage plants.

Although results of other tests with plastic-lined storages are being reported, they are still in early experimental stages. The Annapolis Valley has earned the right to claim the first permanent storage of this type. C. A. Eaves and F. C. Welch have set a pattern of progress which may soon be copied in many other fruit-growing areas.

Names Make News

We have no apologies to make for reprinting this editorial from the Powell River News as the Summerland Review considers the policy sound and in keeping with public interest. In fact it would be remarkable indeed if The Review did not agree with the policy outlined below, insofar as the publisher of The Review established the policy and wrote the editorial when he was editor of the Powell River News in 1949.

During the past months — in fact, ever since the local RCMP started their well-planned crack-down on traffic offenders — the 'News' telephone has been busy with calls asking: "Would you leave my name out of the paper because..." To this end we're reiterating our policy.

Reports of what amounts to misdemeanors, rather than crimes, will not be published, or if published will not contain names.

For example, the person haled into court for drinking in a public place will not be further penalized by reports of his offence and conviction.

On the other hand, the drunk, who, by fighting or otherwise disturbing the peace, is haled into court, and convicted will have the dubious satisfaction of seeing his name in print.

Likewise, minor prosecutions under the Motor Vehicles Act will not be reported, but more serious offences published will contain the names of the offenders.

The 'News' believes that petty offences which stem in many instances from asinine laws, or too rigid enforcement of laws, are not of interest to the newspaper-reading public, other than the minority which delights in gloating over the misfortunes of others. Reports of such cases in the public press are, we believe, tantamount to a further penalty over and above that imposed by law.

The 'News' has no sympathy with the law-breaker, the brawling drunk, the speedster who endangers the lives of others, or those who deprecately flout the laws of the land, but in regard to culprits appearing on minor charges, the 'News' feels that if everyone examined his own conscience he would murmur, "There but for the grace of God go I."

With regard to traffic offences we feel that anyone guilty of an offence for which the fine is $50.00 or over — or who has his driver's licence suspended — has committed a serious — enough offence to warrant the printing of his name.

With this policy, the 'News' believes it can keep faith with its readers in the matter of reporting legitimate police court news without pillorying those who err rather than sin. — The Powell River News.

Autumn Obituary

A large number of hunters are returning with the smile of success, others slight return with the smile of success; others slightly the worse for wear and minus a trophy; temporarily browned off.

And some will never return. A few, more fortunate, will return when discharged from hospital.

Every year, during the hunting season, there is a toll that is quite unnecessary. Every year, Canadians die, usually through the criminal carelessness of those who do not keep in mind that the firearms they carry are lethal and that everything that moves in the bush is not a deer, moose or bear.

It isn't considered criminal if you are so confused by your buddy's resemblance to a deer that you shot him. Of course, he may have been foolish enough to go into the bush wearing an outfit of the same tan shades that are considered comme il faut among the better dressed deer and he may have moved and thrown his pal into such a state of excitement that the pal impulsively pulled the trigger — of course, it was purely an accident, without malice aforethought, even though he was too irresponsible to ensure that his target was a wild animal.

It may, of course, have been a valuable animal from the farmer's herd of cattle. It's all the same to the hunter who doesn't care.

Anyone who fires a gun at a movement in the bush without definite evidence that the object is a wild animal, anyone who hunts knowing that his sight is impaired even with glasses to the extent that he cannot distinguish the animal he hunts; or anyone who hunts knowing that he suffers any impairment of sight or muscular control, is guilty of criminal carelessness, whether or not the law so regards him.

To ensure your own safety in the bush during hunting season, DON'T wear clothing of the same browns and beige as the leaves and the animals. Red is not necessarily a protection—there are a large number of men who are color blind, particularly red-green blind. To them, the red cap and jacket are colorless. Brilliant blue and yellow are more conspicuous and less confusing against the woods background. Anyone who is slightly color blind and who has taken the dot-test, will recall how the red figure that should be so plainly seen is quite invisible but the blue stars out brightly. Try a bright royal blue and test it against the autumn bushes. Large blue and white squares are also conspicuous, not being identifiable with anything in the woods background or the animals.

When you are in your hunting territory, don't celebrate your success with a bottle during the day, or just before hunting at any time. Don't fire unless you can see the animal distinctly and with no possible doubt as to its species. Don't forget that horses and cattle stray into the woods—there's no sport in shooting one of these animals.

JUST MAKE SURE BEFORE YOU FIRE

ORCHARD RUN

By Wally Smith

CARNAGE

It's a quiet weekend indeed when the newspapers fail to report a list of traffic deaths from head-on collisions, side swiping, or excessive speed. We have had safety weeks, editorial pleadings, and warnings of a crackdown on traffic violators. But the carnage goes on and on.

It has been said that if every motorist would determine to live until his car was paid for, accidents would be almost nil. That may be, but there actually is a way for all of us to help reduce the number of highway accidents.

SELF DEFENCE

Every time you see a traffic violation, report it. If a car passes you on a curve where passing is prohibited, or passes you as a car is approaching from the opposite direction and you have to slam on the brakes to avoid an accident — or if you witness any other traffic violation which might endanger life and limb — report to the police.

Take the license number of the offending car, make, color, and other details. You may be too busy keeping out of trouble to get details, but passengers in the car can help you out. Other information you may find useful is the name and number of the highway, location of incident with respect to distance and direction from nearest town, location of the incident with respect to known farm or other property. Go to the police and report everything.

That's not being mean or sneaky. Just remember that the driver of the offending car is breaking the law, and in doing so he is endangering your life and the lives of others. In reporting him you are doing the only thing you can in self defence.

CAREFUL SOMETIMES

The reckless driver is a careful driver when he knows he is being watched by the police, but there are not enough policemen so let every driver protect himself by reporting traffic violators to the police and the accident rate would drop like the temperature on a January morning.

That fellow in the fire and flame sports car behind you isn't going to cross the solid white line and pass if he knows you are going to report him; that teenage driver wouldn't pass a police car on a "no pass" curve, and he won't pass you either if he knows you are going to bring him to court for a traffic violation.

There are not enough policemen to cope with highway traffic violations, so it's up to the motoring public to protect itself by lending a hand with the highway patrol. Remember, it's your highway, you are paying for all the property damage through car insurance rates, and that may be you on a stone slab at the morgue after the next highway accident.

Wage Accord In Processing Plants

It was announced jointly Friday afternoon by officials of British Columbia Fruit Processors Limited and the Teamsters' Fruit and Vegetable Workers Union, Local 48, that the decision of the Arbitration Board dealing with wage increases for the employees of the five processing plants has been brought down Wage increases of 10 per cent to all employees will be retroactive to August 15, 1957.

Chairman of the Arbitration Board was Professor E. H. Morrow. Mr. J. C. Munro was the Company appointed, and Mr. John Brown sat on behalf of the Union. Both open and closed meetings have been held over the past month and a half. With this increase basic female help will now receive -1.00 per hour and basic male help will receive $1.38. All other points in the agreement were mutually and amicably settled by the parties, with the only issue before the Board being that of Wages.

Mrs. Gordon Ritchie Interviewed on TV

A recorded interview, broadcast from Kelowna's CKOV, was heard with great interest in Summerland on Monday afternoon, Nov. 4.

Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, attending the first Dominion-wide Conference of Women's Institutes in Ottawa recently in celebration of their 10th anniversary, was interviewed by Mrs. Baldwin and was questioned as to what for her were the highlights of the Exhibition of Art and Handicrafts, etc. which were displayed in Peacock Alley, Chateau Laurier, and also about the work carried on in her own group in relation to those all across Canada.

Highlight of the event for Summerland was the winning of the Tweedsmuir Cup for the Bride's Hope Chest, winning second place with the Village History, convened by Mrs. H. Whitaker and honourable men-

TEEN TOWN

By DOT CARSTON

Teen Town staged a very exciting in the IOOF Hall. A good crowd attended with refreshments available and Mayor Ruby Gronlund calling several bingo dances to add variety.

Representatives attended the last P-TA meeting, held last Thursday evening to request them to sponsor the Teen Town group. Due to sickness, very few people attended the P-TA meeting and so discussion will be held at the next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Doney Wilson have been sponsors of Teen Town for the past two years. Their help has been greatly appreciated by the Teen Towners and their absence will be felt.

Because Teen Town helps to keep the community hopping, especially the younger set, and does charity and community work, we would certainly like to have the support of our parents in future efforts and dances.

Please go to P-TA and support us — the teenagers of Summerland.

In Memoriam—

MacKENZIE—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. A. J. MacKenzie, who passed away November 9, 1953. Always remembered by her loving family, Mrs. Grace Farrell and family of Powell River; Mrs. Ella King and family, Summerland; Muriel and Dad Peachland; Wallace and family, Peachland; Gordon and family, Greta Ranch. Always so good, unselfish and kind,

None on this earth your equal we'll find,
Honorable and true in all your ways,
Loving and faithful to the end of your days.
Honest and liberal, ever upright,
Just in your judgement, always right;
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew.
One in a million, that Mother was you
Four years have past, our hearts still sore.
As time rolls on we miss you more. 46p1

New Direction STYLING

Here's a fresh new look in automobile styling—and only Pontiac has it! From classic grille to bold rear end, Pontiac makes a decisive break with the fade and frills! And despite its silhouette that's inches lower, there's more room inside than ever!

Quadra-poise ROADABILITY

Only the wheels know where the bumps are! Pontiac's new suspension geometry ends dive, sway and bounce to bring you the smoothest ride, easiest handling you've ever known!

Circles-of-Steel SAFETY

Pontiac's completely new body construction surrounds you with girder steel protection—above, below, fore and aft. Now you can drive with wonderful new peace of mind!

Aero-Frame STABILITY

Here is the biggest basic construction change since the early days of motoring. Pontiac's revolutionary new frame design is lighter, stronger, more stable than the conventional box type used on other cars.

Astro-Flame PERFORMANCE

Try Pontiac's new jeweled-action response! Scores of exclusive engineering innovations make Pontiac's hefty power plants miracles of smoothness... and the finest of them all is the new Astro-Flame VR.

TOP OF PEACH ORCHARD — WEST SUMMERLAND — PHONE 3606 · 3656

Calling All Adults

Oldsters who look with somewhat jaundiced eye on the activities of youth may simply from force of habit frown upon the hi-jinks planned at the Summerland High School, Friday, when the student body holds open house. More understanding and more sensible oldsters will smile at the program of hi-jinks and make a mental resolve to be there on Friday and to participate wholeheartedly in the program.

According to reports the "open house" event was planted as rather a small potato in the annual crop of high school activities but somehow, like Topsy, it just grew. Last year an unqualified success it now bids fair to become one of the highlights of the school year.

There'll be entertainment to suit every taste and, apparently, bargains galore at the many stalls and for those with eyes to see, the modern education system at work will be visible.

The program reads like a lot of fun and frolic, a lot of worthwhile entertainment and, above all it presents an opportunity for parents and for adults in general to get down off high horses and become neighborly with youngsters learning, perhaps, what makes them tick, and also giving the youngsters the opportunity to learn that oldsters aren't so stuffy after all.

Almost needless to say, go reasonably well-heeled. Opportunity to live a brief hour a millionaire comes seldom to anyone but that's the way the student body has it planned and, of course, the more you spend the more the student body will benefit and the more they will be able to finance their many activities without recourse to father's pocket-book.

So, The Review hopes that they will be a good turnout for the Friday night open house which starts at 7:30 p.m.

The kids have done their share — but without a good turnout of adults the affair cannot be a success.

So don't be a stay-at-home on Friday — it's important that you be at the Millionaire's Open House.

ORCHARD RUN

By Wally Smith

When the final box of apples is picked and you see the tail end of the truck going through your gateway with the last of the crop, you can sit down and heave a big sigh of relief. It's the close of a long and strenuous season for the man who grows tree fruits on irrigated land, and especially for the grower whose crop runs the whole gamut of fruit from cherries to late winter apples.

Starting with cherries about the third week in June it's almost a continual harvest through apricots, early apples, early peaches, mid-season peaches, pears, prunes, late peaches, and apples, winding up with Winesaps about the third week in October.

This type of operation has the advantage of distributing the risk over a number of different fruits. It also has the advantage of spreading the harvest over a long period so as to avoid the need of employing a large number of pickers for a short period of time.

Some growers prefer the single crop orchard because they object to having a picking bag around their neck all summer. They would rather grow just one kind of fruit and take a chance on getting enough help for the harvest.

Whatever the type of operation, this is a good time to review the last year's activities and make plans for the future. Many growers have already ordered trees for planting next spring, and it is wise to order early to ensure spring delivery of the kind of trees you want.

The hardy apple stock named Antanovka is receiving a lot of attention from growers who are conscious of the frost hazard. Antanovka is capable of withstanding 40 degrees below zero. It and the also hardy McIntosh are being planted for framework of the tree to be grafted over later to the desired variety.

This means a lot of extra work but it lessens the risk of fruit growing.

One thing more growers should do is raise their own nursery trees. This is not a difficult task, and can save the grower hundreds of dollars. We have seen a couple of local nursery plots, and the trees are very good specimens the equal of those produced in commercial nurseries.

I'm not raising any nursery trees myself, but I know I should. It's one of those things on the drawing board that I haven't got around to converting to an action project.

This is one of the most important periods in the grower's year for he should give a lot of thought as to what trees to remove and what kind of trees to plant. What he plants next spring he's going to be stuck with for a good many years, so the fruit grower should give it very careful consideration as to production in his locality and on his own particular type of soil.

they'd be cheaper by the gallon

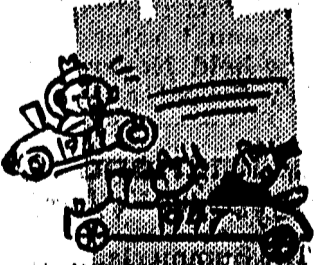

It costs plenty to raise a family these days. But if youngsters, like your car, ran on gasoline you'd be better off.

Want to know why? Today everything costs more, including the scores of things a growing family needs. Gasoline costs more, too.

But government figures show that since 1939 the cost of living has gone up more than 130 percent while wholesale gasoline prices have risen about 40 percent — less than a third as much.

And what's more — today's regular gasolines are far superior to the premium grades sold only ten years ago.

Frank C. Christian M.P. Makes Maiden Speech

Frank C. Christian, Social Credit member for Okanagan Boundary made his maiden speech in the House of Commons last month. The speech in part, follows. Apart from matters pertinent to the Okanagan Mr. Christian discussed Senate reform, Old Age Pensions, Income Tax and also pleaded for the life of Calvin Klingbell sentenced to death for murder of a Vancouver grocer.

Mr. Christian said:

The hon. member who preceded me mentioned Fort William and described it as the hub of Canada. I would say there is another hub of Canada known as the Okanagan Boundary area. It is sometimes called the California of Canada by many people. Nevertheless like the rest of the people of this great Canada of ours, we have our problems there also. Basically our industries consist of farming, ranching, mining and logging. In addition there is also the tourist industry. The farmer complains because he is not getting a sufficiently high price for his products. Similarly the rancher complains because the price of beef has come down substantially. In our particular area a number of mines actually have been closed down. The small logger also is bitterly complaining because he cannot get a proper price for his logs. That is the situation which exists.

May I say this respectfully. Having been in this house for the short time I have been here, I feel that there should be less and less of politics in this House of Commons and that we should come as Canadians, trying to assist our government. I feel that we should try to rise above personalities and obstructionist methods. Let us try to get here with an emergency. But I certainly hope that this matter is and will be treated as being in the nature of a temporary expedient.

And that we are dealing things done for the Canadian people.

I commend the government of this country for having the foresight and zeal to try to stabilize the prices of agricultural products. As to the matter of cash advances against farm-stored grain, I think the principle is good and I personally am going to support it. However, I would say this: While cash advances to prairie farmers will be in the nature of an emergency measure, after all it is a temporary expedient. I think there is the danger, namely that sometimes these temporary expedients can develop into matters of a permanent nature. It may very well be that when some of the hon. members of this House of Commons later on go back to their respective constituencies, the people there—as, for example, in my own constituency of Okanagan Boundary—will say, "When are we going to get cash advances on our apples," or "When are we going to get cash advances on our various fruits." However, in this particular case, so far as the prairie farmers are concerned, I think a definite case is made.

As to a national development policy I again commend the government. It is about time, and I think the government saw this, that the Dominion of Canada and the provincial governments throughout this great Canada worked together to develop this nation. There is only one suggestion that I should like to make. As I came from the Okanagan valley down here to Ottawa I could not help being impressed for the first time by all the land that is idle and not being used in this great dominion.

I think it would be a good thing if we, the government and everyone concerned, tried to bring about decentralization of industry throughout this Canada of ours. Why, after all, should the industries of this should industries be concentrated in the large cities. Some day there may be an emergency, and we might be very sorry that industry is concentrated in this manner. Would it not be much wiser if industry were distributed more evenly over this land. If this were done the result would also be helpful to smaller communities such as the Okanagan valley, for example, where we can and do welcome new industries into our midst. Basically we are a fruit growing centre, but if we had industry established there the economy of the whole area would be improved.

Having mentioned the subject of farming I would like to say, Mr. Speaker, that the farmers in the Okanagan valley are not happy, and would like in particular, to bring one matter of importance to the attention of the house. The fruit growers in the valley are keenly disappointed over the federal government's failure to establish a minimum fair market value for prunes to protect against distress quotations and imports. The tariff committee of the British Columbia fruit growers' association supplied to the Minister of Finance data published by the United States Department of Agriculture on the price of prunes in the three north-west prune-producing states, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, over an eight-year period from 1949 to 1956, all years inclusive. This data indicated that the average f.o.b. price for the standard lug of prunes for the eight years under observation would have been about $1.19 per lug in Canadian funds.

American prunes were quoted and sold to Canadian importers at about 90 cents in Canadian funds, or approximately 30 cents below the level which the British Columbia fruit growers' association felt should be regarded as an emergency minimum. Our fruit growers found it difficult to comprehend how the government should suggest that British Columbia producers have not suffered because of United States prices or exports. Neither could they understand why it should be considered a violation of G.A.I.T. when it was not considered so in the case of the minimum fair market values set for cut flowers, for textiles and for strawberries. By the time the government made its decision on August 30 the damage had been done to the point that little if any increase in prices would have been possible.

I know that a good many of our prune growers in the valley did not even bother to pick the prunes off their trees because they were not getting the price that they should receive, and consequently it did not pay to pick them. That is one of the problems, to obtain a fair price for our various farm products throughout this country, and we as members of parliament, irrespective of party, should seek to ensure that farmers do receive fair prices for their products.

I wish to conclude by briefly dealing with the question of the tight money policy. I noticed in the throne speech there was nothing whatever mentioned with regard to this policy. I heard the leader of the C.C.F., I believe yesterday, mention that he did not think a solution of our problems could be brought about by a change in monetary policy.

Mr. Coldwell: Mr. Speaker, might I say immediately that if the hon. member will read my speech he will find that I did not say that.

Mr. Christian: What did you say, may I ask?

Mr. Coldwell: I said a change in monetary policy was no solution to the general economic problem.

Mr. Christian: Well, that is basically how we differ. We say there must be a change in the monetary policy of this country, because as a result of the tight money policy we can see evidence today of things levelling off. Times are not as good as they have been, and this winter we can expect to see increased unemployment in Canada.

Mr. Winch: Under the government you now support.

Mr. Christian: There is a beginning to everything.

Mr. Winch: Also an end, thank God.

Mr. Christian: In the course of time the Canadian people will realize that the monetary policy of this country is not what it should be. What party in this house today is trying to improve our own monetary policy.

Mr. Winch: The C.C.F.

Mr. Christian: The Social Credit party is attempting to give leadership in that regard. Let me read to the hon. member for Vancouver East (Mr. Winch) something that has been said by one of the greatest Liberals we ever had in Canada, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, which appears in the September 1957 issue of The Canadian Social Creditor:

The Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prior to the election of 1935 which returned the Liberal party to power said: "I plead for a sweeping Liberal majority in order to carry out my policy of public control of currency and credit. Until the control of currency and credit is restored to the government... all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and democracy is idle and futile."

Those words were spoken by one of the greatest Liberals we have had in Canada. After all it is the people of this country who are the supreme authority, and they should control the country's monetary policy. When that policy does not work to the satisfaction of the Canadian people then the Social Credit party, the Liberal party, the Conservative party and even the C.C.F. party should put their shoulders behind the wheel and examine our financial institutions to see if they are working for the benefit of the citizens of Canada. We cannot assume that any existing condition is working perfectly and in high order. Let us scrutinize our monetary policy and observe it in the future with a watchful eye to see that it meets the needs of the existing situation.

The leader of the C.C.F. party mentioned that a serious world problem today is under-consumption. We are able to produce ample goods in Canada, but unfortunately many Canadians cannot get the goods and services they require. This situation exists under the tight money policy. Is it not reasonable, therefore, to put the finest financial minds in Canada to work on the problem in order to bring about a solution

NEW PERFECTION GREATER SELECTION

HANDIEST, HEFTIEST TRUCKS ON ANY ROAD... GMC EXTRA-VALUE MONEY-MAKERS FOR '58

They're here... and how! A brand-new crop of GMC Extra-Value Money-Makers with a raft of rugged improvements that make them really big news in trucking. Some models offer a new 9000-pound front axle for even bigger loading performance... there's a bigger-than-ever range of GVW's—up to 36,000 pounds...

there are new engines, new styling, new handling ease.

In fact, there's a whole host of new reasons why you should make GMC pave your way to bigger profits. Your nearby GMC dealer has all the answers to your trucking problems. See him—soon!

Smart new functional styling

Dual headlights, new trim and new grille are just the beginning of GMC's smart, practical new styling. The windshield is bigger and wider—gives you an all-round better view of the road ahead. Wide, wide fenders help the driver in turning and parking. And even in the smaller details, GMC styling improves them all.

Brand new Utility Panels

The most exciting newcomers to the GMC lineup in many a long day. GMC's new Utility Panels are exactly what truckers have been asking for... Forward Control models with steel van-type bodies in 8 and 10 foot lengths. Gross ratings go up to 10,000 pounds. And smaller wheels and tires give low loading and step heights.

GVW's up to 36,000 pounds

Gross vehicle weights go to new highs to give GMC a commanding lead in the heavy-duty field. Up to 36,000 pounds GVW is now available in W-91000 Series... ruggedly-built trucks that can really take a pounding from both the load and the road. Check body styles and features at your GMC dealer's.

New Workmaster "348" V8

This new V8 will spark a revolution in truck engines... a power plant that develops 230 horsepower and has a governed engine speed of only 3700 rpm. The engine works easily, without straining, gives you plenty of power with less wear and tear. New cylinder head and piston designs also help to increase engine efficiency.

Improved Powermatic

Powermatic was last year's big news in transmissions... an automatic unit that brought new ease and convenience to truck handling. And, in addition, Powermatic's exclusive Hydraulic Retarder made it safer on hills than any other. Now, Powermatic goes itself one better with the addition of an extra range for city conditions.

A General Motors Value

Full Air Brakes

Extra-large brake shoes mean better, safer, surer stops, especially when they're powered by GMC's new full-time compressed air chambers. Even biggest loads are handled easily and safely under emergency conditions. GMC's full Air Brakes are optional at slight extra cost on all Heavy Duty models.

Let's Have a Chat...

by Dot Carston

What with all this nippy weather we're having the past few days (no sun up there — the Ruskies must have hit it out of the sky) maybe we can while away the hour and talk about handbags.

Fashionably speaking, the plastic handbag used to be a mere substitute for a leather one and was definitely a social outcast.

Today however, the picture has changed and we see a variety of textures, lovely colors and all economically priced. Plastic bags are well styled and well made and every bit as fashionable as leather.

Back in the days when they were considered "imitation leather" they were treated as gently as a laundry bag. They were over-stuffed, yanked open, jammed shut and carelessly dropped and thrown. They probably didn't last more than one session.

This fall they are being made with long service in mind. Elegant, tall and slender models and tweedy sporty bags are on the market in a fabric designed to resist cold-weather cracking although manufacturers admit they may crack.

Whether you pay a high price or not try not to be a "typical" woman and overstuff your handbag. With bulging seams and straining fabrics, it's bound to show wear and tear. Clean it out occasionally!

Plastic coated fabrics don't scuff and when they become soiled it can be washed with soap and water.

Make sure YOUR handbag compliments your fall ensemble and maybe matches your sew fall hat Mrs. Crawford spoke of last week

Future Nurses Club Organized At School Here

An enthusiastic group of the grade eleven and twelve girls in the Senior High School, who are seriously considering nursing as a career, has been organized into a Future Nurses Club.

Officially sponsored by the RNABC (Penticton Chapter), their local sponsor is Mrs. Thelma Heavysides, R.N., who is well qualified to guide and direct such a group. The club meets each Wednesday noon, in the school.

The primary objectives of the club are to give the girls a clearer picture of what nursing entails, the qualifications and standards of training schools, and a practical idea of actual nursing responsibilities.

Activities planned for the year include: field trips to the Summerland Hospital for observation and discussion of hospital nursing; talks from individuals concerned with various fields of nursing; demonstration and practice of simple nursing procedures; observation of child health conferences, conducted by the public health nurse; films on nursing; and general orientation to the whole field of nursing and nurses' training.

The executive consists of the president, Anne Iverson; vice-president, Marilyn Embree; and the secretary-treasurer, Barbara Beaven.

SHOPPING AROUND

by MRS. A. F. CRAWFORD

Bought your Christmas cards yet? If you have a Christmas cactus in your home, it's no doubt jogging your elbow. Wonder how they KNOW it's almost Christmas.

Here it is — just a little over a month until that host of merry friends from far and near gathers once more around the fireside to bring us their cheery greetings.

Often this is the only contact continuing through the years with friends whose lives were once much more closely aligned with our own, and we wonder as we read the familiar signatures just how they have fared through the years. Each one brings a warm feeling of being remembered by an old friend and, although it's a sizeable chore at this time, we'd hate to miss out on the annual get-together.

Christmas cards have never been prettier, with their lovely velvet, beautiful scenes, some in soft pastels and others a glitter with sparkling snow. Most of us still prefer the gay Christmas cards with the cheery greetings.

Perhaps you bought yours through one of the many organizations using that project as a means of spreading Christmas Cheer even farther than just from one person to another and maybe you DID get them, all done early this year as you vowed you would, but if not, there are lots of Christmas cards around yet and the selection is still very good.

Summerland Macs Win League Opener 7-5; Midgets Lose 9-5

Oliver Hoopers Emerge Victors In School Basketball Tourney

Senior Boys Basketball teams representing schools from Pentiction, Kelowna, Similkameen, Kamloops, Oliver, Rutland and Summerland attended the First Annual Basketball Tournament here over the weekend.

The tournament was run on a double elimination basis where everyone plays until they lose two games.

The games began Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. and ran continually in exciting and close competition.

The final game was played between Oliver Hornets and Pentiction Lakers on Saturday, when the two top teams bombarded each other with baskets. At the end of a hard, keen game, Oliver emerged the victor with a top score of 32-25 over the Lakers.

The senior girls played an exhibition game Friday evening, coming out on top over the Pentiction Lakettes.

At the end of the final game, Mr. M. E. Mundle presented the trophy to the winning team, as well as individual cups to the players to both first and second teams in the tournament.

Coaches of the teams were asked to choose by preferential ballot, an All-Star Team. Members of this team received trophies. On top spot of the team was Elroy Jacobs of Oliver; second, Don Robb of Pentiction; third, Al Hocksteiner of Oliver; fourth, Carl Sheeley of Summerland; and fifth, Wayne Highland of Kamloops. All of these boys played hard, fast games and showed good sportsmanship on the floor.

During the entire tournament, the Senior Social Committee under the direction of Barb Fudge, served refreshments to the teams and cheerleaders.

The first annual meeting of the Anglican Young People's Association was held at 7:30 p.m. November 13 in the Parish hall. The meeting was opened with prayers and Bible reading. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read, followed by the Treasurer's report.

Two officers for the term were elected as follows:

President, Len Burdon; vice-president, Ron Wilson; secretary, Anne Macleod; treasurer, Barb Beaven.

The officers were installed at Sunday's service.

There will be a 'Parish Party' on Wednesday November 27th at 7:30 in the Parish Hall.

S'land Macs 7 - Pentiction Jr's 5

Okanagan junior league hockey opened here Sunday with the Summerland Macs, a hybrid team of intermediates and juniors battling an aggressive Pentiction Junior squad to emerge victors by a score of 7-5.

The Macs walked all over the Pentiction Juniors for two periods. The first Summerland goal came late in the first period Bob Parker scoring a neat passing play with Hooker. Then Moore picked up goal number two with an assist going to Gordie Mundle.

Smummerland opened the second period with another goal by Parker and with another assist going to Hooker. The period ended with the score 4-0.

Pentiction juniors came to life in the final stanza running in five quick goals but Summerland rapped in three in reply to take the game.

Pentiction Midget All Stars 9; Summerland All Stars 5

Hockey got off to a flying start in the Summerland Jubilee arena here last Wednesday, November 13. That is that the Pentiction Midgets got off to a flying start defeating Summerland All Star Midgets 9-5.

Pentiction literally flew for the first two periods, running in seven goals to Summerland's two and then Pentiction rammed in two more tallies before the Summerland gang really got the feel of their skates in the third and came through with three unanswered goals — but for Summerland it added up to too little and too late.

Midgets play again tonight November 22.

Bowling News

By GLENN FELL

There were a few upsets this week in league play which has considerably altered the league standings. The Westbankers won out over the Pioneer Feeds by 3 to 1; the Spitfires took 4 points off the Occidentals; the Slo-Mo's took 4 points off the Whizbangs; the Tweeters won out over the Legionaires by 3 to 1; the Hilltoppers beat the Tooters by 3 to 1; the Diehards took 4 points off the Vikings; the Baby Austins also got 4 points off the Aylmer Cocktails; the Canco's split their games with the Minnie-Ha-Ha's and the Cackleberries split with the Misfits.

The new league standings fall into the following categories:

Slo-Mo's	17
Baby Austins	17

Don Gilbert bowled a 304 to win the men's high single and Daryl Weitzel won the men's high three by bowling a 743. The high team this week is the Spitfires with a total of 2831 pins.

Something new has been added to the Bowling League this week! As an added incentive for all bowlers a weekly prize will be given for a Hidden Score which is changed each week. Terry Tooley won the first weekly prize by bowling a 127. You might be the lucky winner next week — good luck good bowling — More news, views and comments next week!

"Cheaper By The Dozen" To Be Produced Here

Clubs in the school are now under way and the Drama Club is no exception. On Monday, the group elected officers for the year and decided at their meeting to have their weekly club day at Monday noon hour.

Director this year is Mr. Desmond Loan with Mr. I. B. McCuaig looking after stage directions. The stage crew will be separate this year from Drama Club.

Elected officers are: President, Dot Carston; vice-president, Bonnie Wilson; secretary, Audrey Henley; treasurer, Patricia Boyd. By the look of the election of officers, it seems that the club consists of "Girls Only" although that is not the case. Several boys have made an appearance but we would like a few more senior boys to stick their noses in on meetings.

We would like very much to present "Cheaper by the Dozen" this year and if everyone goes about it as enthusiastically as they did for "Dear Ruth" last year, it's sure to be a big success. Come and support Drama won't you??

Horticultural Society

The Horticultural Society held its November meeting in the Anglican Parish Hall on Friday, November 15.

Highlight of the evening was a showing of the colored slides taken by Mr. Wm. Snow. There were many beautiful scenes of Brent Mt., Vancouver harbour and the gardens at Little Mountain. Close-up pictures of flowers in Mr. Snow's garden and general views were also enjoyed.

Mr. N. May gave his timely topics for November saying that orders for nursery stock should be sent in early to ensure delivery of varieties wanted.

In the parlour show the winners were: class 1, potted 'mum D. Tait. Class 2, arrangement of fruit; 1st, Mrs. A. Inch, 2nd, D. Tait. Class 3, collection of pressed grasses, mounted, 1st Mrs. E. C. Bingham; 2nd, D. Tait. The third class was a special one and prizes were given. The first prize was a large cut-leaf Philodendron and the second prize was an aluminum plant.

The December meeting will be held on December 20 and will have Christmas decorations as the parlour show. There will also be an activity part to the program when members will make Christmas decorations suitable for trays or table markers. To round out the evening there will be a showing of colored slides taken last spring at the Victoria Garden Festival and also of local wild flowers.

Tea is always an enjoyable ending to the horticulture meetings and this month was served by Mrs. K. B. Thompson and Mr. W. Ward. An invitation is extended to anyone interested in gardening to come to the meetings. Anyone wishing to hear talks on any special line of gardening can make their wish known to the programme committee of Don McInchlan and Dave McIntosh and they will do their best to get a speaker on the subject. Fees for the year are one dollar and a lot of entertainment can be had during the year for that dollar, also a lot of interesting information. Come for a visit and we hope you will join.

Our Trip To The World Jamboree

By David Woolliams

This past summer Don McArthur and John and David Woolliams were fortunate enough to represent Summerland at the World Scout Jamboree in England and the following report of their overseas jaunt was prepared by David Woolliams.

We were three of the 35,000 Scouts who attended the Jamboree from 82 countries from all over the world. The Jamboree was situated in a very beautiful park at Sutton Coldfield, just north of Birmingham. The total area of the park is 2400 acres. The 15000 Scout tents occupied 750 acres of the park. We were away a month.

The Jamboree took up about 15 days. It was a wonderful experience for us all. We met Scouts from Japan, India, Great Britain, Jamaica, Sweden, Switzerland, Australia, and many other places. About the only countries missing were Russia and her satellites. Many of the Scouts couldn't speak English. Those who had taken French in school got some practice when they traded with French Scouts. There was a very large shopping centre in camp — there were seven banks, a post office, a laundry, camera shops book stores, Scout shops that sold everything from sleeping bags to souvenirs, and many others. We also had display tents, an industrial exhibition, a theatre for different countries to put on shows or typical ceremonies, and a very large outdoor arena.

The Duke of Gloucester, president of the Boy Scouts Association, opened the camp in this arena in front of all the Scouts and thousands of people from Birmingham and Sutton Coldfield. One evening the RCMP performed their famous musical ride there. On the final day Lady Baden Powell closed the camp. After she had closed it the sky was suddenly filled with rockets and very loud fireworks and numerous flares traced the Scout Emblem.

The Queen and Prince Philip came to see us one day. We were fortunate enough to have her drive right past our camp. About 100,000 visitors came inside the gates that day to see them and there were at least another 100,000 outside the gates. On the same day the British Air Scouts put on a Glider Display. Two Gliders were towed at quite a high altitude and then released. They performed graceful loops and various feats before landing in the arena.

For about four days before the Jamboree and about a week after we were billeted near Guildford, Surrey. As we were only thirty miles from London, we were able to take the train into this great old city and see some of the well known sights. We visited Kew Gardens, the British Museum, Madame Tussaud's and the Chamber of Horrors. We saw the changing of the Guards at Buckingham Palace, Number 10 Downing Street, Trafalgar Square and Piccadilly Circus. We visited Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, the Houses of Parliament, the Tower of London, passed by Scotland Yard, and saw many other interesting sights.

One day 40 of us were driven by bus to Brighton, were given supper at Chichester, visited their lovely Cathedral and an ancient Cheese Market. Later on we stopped at Arundel Castle, the home of the Duke of Norfolk. Another day, John and David journeyed to Windsor castle and watched the swans on the Thames. Don visited Bournemouth and Christchurch on the south coast. He also saw Brownsea Island, nearby, where Lord Baden Powell held his first Scout Camp in 1907.

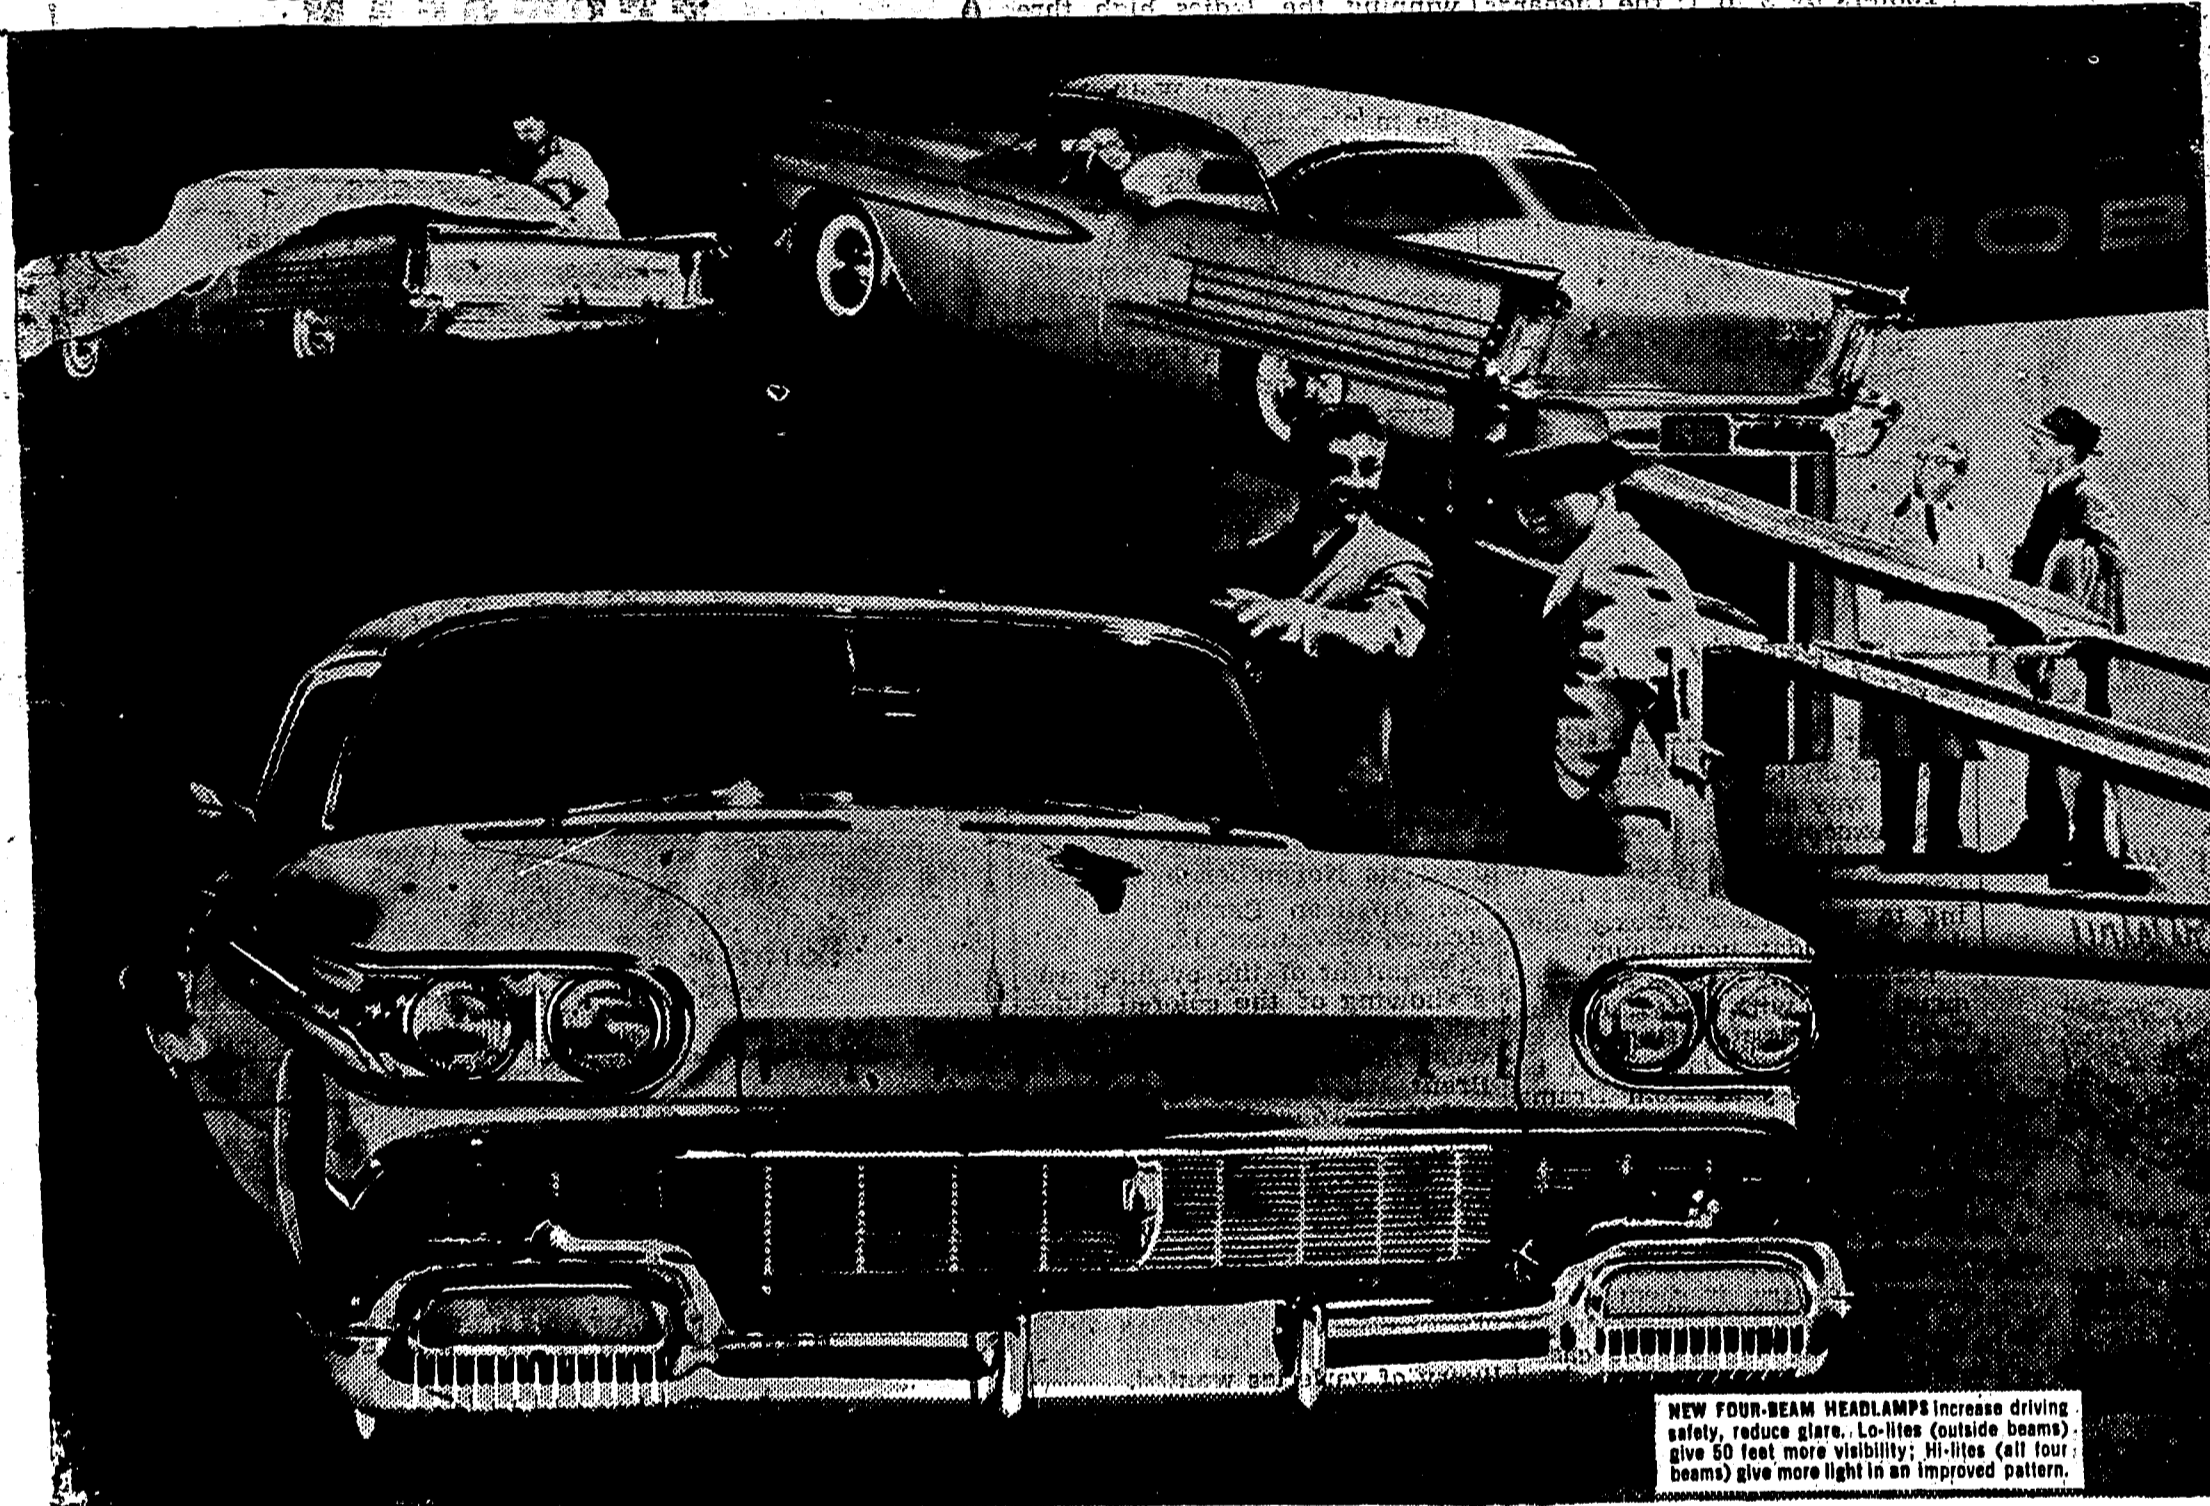

The plane trip was a thrilling experience. The trip each way took about 20 hours, including an hour's stop at both Edmonton and Goose Bay, Labrador. We were especially fortunate to have perfect weather right across Canada. We saw clearly Vancouver and the nearby coast, the Okanagan Valley right down to the border, the Columbia Icefields in the Rockies, Edmonton and the Prairies, also the vast unbelievable maze of lakes of northern Canada. There was a colorful sunset on Hudson's Bay. Two hours later while in mid-Atlantic, we watched the sun rise. The pilot was kind enough to take us over London before landing which is not generally done. We had a marvellous view of all London as we descended to London Airport.

We found England an extremely friendly country. Everyone was so kind and each one seemed to want to help us in every way possible. John and David were billeted with a very charming couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lee, on a farm near Guildford, and Don was with another fine family, Mr. and Mrs. Reading nearby. We are very much in debt to all the people in England who helped us to have such a wonderful time.

TEEN TOWN

By DOT CARSTON

Last Teen Town meeting was held at Marney Bleasdale's home on November 17.

Mayor Ruby presided over the meeting. She reported that she had placed the wreath on the Cenotaph. No treasurers report. Door charge was discussed and suggested that it be watched more carefully. Ed Menu will look after this.

Teen Town Council will attend the next P-TA meeting. Gail Penney is getting nominations for a new Council member.

The next dance will be held on November 30 in the IOOF Hall after a day of tagging for the March of Dimes.

It was suggested we go caroling to raise money for the

P-TA News

The regular meeting of the P-TA was held in the high school library on October 2 with Mrs. V. Parker the new president, in the chair. She announced the new executive for the coming year which are as follows: Mrs. V. Parker, president; D. Loan, vice-president; Mrs. D. Turnbull, treasurer, I.

McCuaig, treasurer, R. Chalmers, program; Mrs. W. Ross, membership; Mrs. J. Sheeley, publicity; W. Schwab, education and Mrs. C. Adams, social.

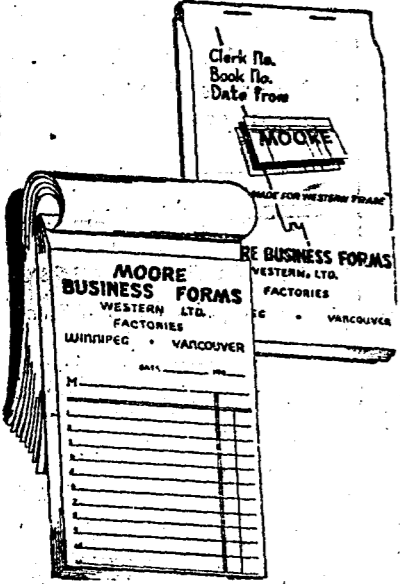

It was decided to hold a rummage sale in aid of the school piano fund and letters were to be sent home by the students. It was recommended that the Resolutions committee consider four resolutions and pass them on to the P-TA convention committee.

Ruby Gronlund, Teen Town mayor, asked for sponsorship from the P-TA for Teen Town which was shelved for further discussion.

Three members of the high school Key Club, Dale Gunnarson, Mayne McCutcheon and Victor Uegama, spoke on various aspects of the club.

Mr. Chalmers introduced Mrs. W. Bonin, who spoke ETIAON W. Bonin, who reported on the Border Conference held in Penticton October 18 and 19. The theme of the conference was "Citizens in the Making." P-TA members from as far north as Kamloops and many towns across the border were in attendance.

Meeting was adjourned to the home economics room for coffee.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

HANDICAPPED CHILDREN

The Editor, Summerland Review.

The recent financial campaign held by the Summerland Association for Handicapped Children, has been a success. We felt that your readers would be interested in learning that over 175 individual donors assisted in making this school possible.

The school has been in operation since the 15th September, with five students in attendance, and a sixth having started just a week ago. The teachers report distinct progress has been noted in the social attitude of these children. This fact is most encouraging to both the teachers and the Association.

With careful planning, the Association expects the school to operate until the end of June, with the financial assistance so generously given by the residents of Summerland, and aided by the school grant. We wish to take this opportunity in thanking each of the donors for their generous donations to this worthwhile social endeavour.

Yours very truly,
T. H. Anstey,
President,
Summerland Association for Handicapped Children.

Icelanders Now Munching Apples From Okanagan

This year as winter prepares to lower its grip on far-off Iceland, Reykjavik's population of just over fifty thousand will be able to enjoy Okanagan fruit for the first time in nearly fifteen years.

Seventeen carloads, or approximately fifteen thousand boxes of prime Jonathans, Deliculous and Winesap apples are now rolling to New York for offshore shipment to Iceland's capital city.

This interesting sales development for grown-owned B.C. Tree Fruits Limited is the result of several weeks negotiation on a market that is normally closed to British Columbia fruit.

The Icelandic market was first opened to Okanagan fruit during the 1942-45 period and no question has ever been made of this far Northern country's preference for Canadian quality, but in the intervening years European apples have won out due to favorable freight rates.

A. F. CALDER,
RETURNING OFFICER

By Frank C. Christian, M.P.

Here in Ottawa we hear daily about a possible early election. I note how many Members of Parliament spend so much of their time trying to improve their chances of re-election and also in the House they are engaged in building up their own political stock, and fighting for political power. Many Members give long speeches complaining of economic conditions in the country and yet very few of them ever suggest to the Government the steps to be taken to make Canada a healthier and stronger nation. Actually, elections should not concern us too much — except, perhaps, that the last Federal Election cost the people of Canada about $6,991,822.00. We should be mindful of the fact that we are in Ottawa to do a job and, accordingly, we should represent our constituents to the best of our ability and help them one and all, irrespective of their political affiliations.

Today in the House of Commons the people of Canada are getting legislation for which they have been clamouring for a long time but the impression I get is that there is still a big task ahead for all of us.

I find that our working people believe that the tight money policy has brought untold hardships on the lower paid wage earners by raising the cost of living and aggravating the living conditions of workers by bringing about housing shortage due to the unavailability of money and many other things. There is a need for a review of Canada's financial system.

Another problem of concern is the base metal mining industry. In the Okanagan Boundary area there are at least three base metal mines that have closed down. The Britannia Mine is having great difficulty operating and closure threatens. The Government must protect these industries. What can be done?

First of all, it must try to recover Overseas markets and develop new ones and consider whether floor prices should be established for copper, lead and zinc as in the case of certain agricultural products.

Whether I can be of service to my constituents depends upon their writing to me and acquainting me fully with their problems. No postage is required on letters addressed — Frank C. Christian, M.P., Box 117, Parliament Buildings, Ottawa. May I be of service to you, no matter how small the problem may be?

On Monday, Nov. 25 the executive of the Summerland Pairs and Squares met to make further plans for the winter dancing season. It is thought that we may have to make some changes and as the whole outline of new plans would take too much space here, we would urge all interested dancers to attend the Thursday night class in the High School Auditorium for further information on finances, facilities for dancing etc. The President will be asking for your suggestions and preferences on future plans. Try and make it a point to attend, even if you are not presently attending classes, as the points discussed will be of interest to all dancers.

With two dances in the area this weekend, dancers will have a choice of going to Penticton or Peachland. In Penticton Bob McMoreland will be in charge, while in Peachland Ray Fredrickson will handle the program.

NATURE'S WATERWORKS

The root system of a tree extracts an enormous quantity of water from the soil, making the tree a very active waterworks. On a single summer's day a middle-sized apple tree will lift 800 lbs. of water out of the ground spraying all but a small part of that water into the air.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO CUSTOMERS OF THE B OF M

"MY BANK"
PRESENTS ITS 1957
PICTURE OF PROGRESS

Starring YOU and 2,000,000 other Canadians

Canada's present-day progress is very much a "moving picture"... one that you can be proud of because it's all about the part played by the money you have on deposit at the Bank of Montreal.

In this major production, your Bank puts the money through its paces by making it work hard at establishing, expanding and improving Canadian enterprise of every description and size. The results benefit Canadians in every walk of life, enable them to achieve important goals, continue to improve Canada's high standard of living.

The significance of the B of M's role in Canada's over-all progress in 1957 can be seen in the following highlights taken from the main picture — the B of M's Annual Report for this year.

SPECIAL FEATURES OF THE B OF M'S ANNUAL REPORT ON ITS 140TH ANNIVERSARY

PREVIEW

With the focus being largely on future events, facts and figures such as these form the solid framework on which the promise of the future is based. In the years to come — as it has done since 1817 — the B of M will play a major role in helping to make the picture of Canada's progress grow even brighter.

BANK OF MONTREAL
Canada's First Bank

working with Canadians in every walk of life since 1817

DEPOSITS: At the end of the Bank's year, October 31st, 1957, over two million Canadians had $2,632,251,291 on deposit at the B of M — the highest year-end total on record. Although much of this money belongs to institutions and business firms, well over half of these deposits represent the personal savings of Canadians in every walk of life — savings that the B of M puts to work for you and for Canada.

LOANS: Your savings at the B of M provide much of the basic framework for our country's expansion... in the form of loans to farmers, miners, fishermen, oil men, lumbermen, ranchers, to industrial and business enterprises and to Provincial and Municipal Governments. As of October 31st, B of M loans totalled $1,437,636,447 — all of which played their part in making Canada a better place in which to live.

INVESTMENTS: At the close of the year, the B of M had $657,153,040 invested in high-grade government bonds and other public securities which have a ready market. This money is helping to finance government projects for the betterment of the country and the welfare of all Canadians. Other securities held by the Bank — which include a diversified list of high-quality shares — industrial issues — bring total investments to $873,679,800.

Let's Have a Chat...

by Dot Carston

"27 days 'til Christmas" These words are shouted in our ears, forced before our eyes and greet us in nightmares as the shopping list grows longer and time and money more scarce.

What could make a nicer present for our feminine friends than a dainty apron made by you?

At the yard goods counter you are bound to find a wide variety of interesting materials. What about nylon for a pretty apron? There are criss-cross weaves, floral patterns and tiny dot designs. It's easy to sew and doesn't require any special washing; doesn't even need to be ironed.

If you make a trip to the notions counter before you choose material, many of the items will inspire new and original ideas. You could use a Greek key design in bands, or trim the edges with a ball fringe, or sew on row after row of gaily colored rick rack or bias tape. Or outline a cocktail glass in embroidery thread and stud it with rhinestones for bubbles; applique a big lace rose just off centre, or cut out a juicy red apple for a pocket. You can come up with many unusual variations.

No one ever has enough aprons — especially pretty ones — so why not make aprons for a Christmas present for the person who has everything.

Guess what I'm giving this Christmas? You guessed it!

SHOPPING AROUND

by MRS. A. F. CRAWFORD

We hear a lot about our apples having to acquire a high percentage of color to be acceptable on the market yet when we in turn shop for vegetables we don't use the same standards, often picking the least colorful rather than the more mature ones.

It was refreshing to see some grown-up looking carrots in the store the other day. They were in bulk, not as pretty as the almost skinless ones in pillow bags, but under their rough exterior you could be sure there lurked a vitamin or two. They were clean but, like junior after he's washed up for supper, you could still see there'd been some recent contact with Mother Earth.

Somehow they made one think of substantial things like carrot Pudding, a favorite down through the years and so handy to have on hand to warm up for a quick dessert. They keep well, but not as long as real Plum Pudding of course and many of us prefer them with a little added fruit, marachino cherries, peel and a few nuts for Christmas to the richer traditional Christmas puddings.

The sauce recipe included here is exceptionally good and a favorite with almost everyone who tries it.

CARROT PUDDING

5 Tablespoons shortening
1 Cup brown sugar
1 Cup grated carrot
1 Cup grated potato
5 Tablespoons flour
1 Teaspoon soda
1/4 Teaspoon salt
1/2 Cup raisins
1/2 Cup currants
1/4 Teaspoon each of cloves and mace (or nutmeg)
1/2 Teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup rolled oats or dried bread crumbs.
Steam three hours.

PUDDING SAUCE

Beat 2 egg whites until stiff.

TAG DAY SATURDAY

Request of E. E. Bates for permission for the AOTS to hold a tag day in aid of the Children's Hospital on Saturday, November 30, was approved by council this week.

Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith will attend a meeting of the Okanagan Municipal Officer's Association to be held in Vernon, Thursday.

Beat 2 egg yolks until light and blend in 1 cup sugar. Add 1 tsp vanilla and fold into egg whites.

Whip 1 cup cream and blend in with egg mixture.

Trout Creek P-TA Officers Installed

The Trout Creek P-TA held its monthly meeting in the school on Thursday evening, Nov. 24th with 20 members in attendance.

Mrs. Bowen-Colthurst of Penticton conducted the installation service of the executive members of this new organization as follows:

Hon. Pres., Mrs. Powell; president, S. Hodge; vice-president, P. Miller; secretary, Mrs. N. Charlton; treasurer, Mrs. G. Halvorson; program chairman, Mrs. Anstey; historian, Mrs. Soberge; hospitality, Mrs. Milmore; ways and means, Mrs. Penney; social, Mrs. J. May; safety, Mr. Sobel; membership, Mrs. Downing; publicity, Mrs. Hackman.

Mr. Hodge reported having contacted the Minister of Highways regarding more adequate signs being placed on the highway to mark the crosswalk at Crawford's store.

Mrs. Morgan presented a cheque to the president from the disbanded Peter Pan kindergarten. This money to be used for a piece of equipment for the school.

A survey to ascertain the number of children to be commencing school at Trout Creek in 1958 is to be made under the chairmanship of Mr. Rabel. A discussion followed concerning the number of grades in one classroom. The majority were in favour of having no more than four grades in the school until more classrooms are provided.

Following the business meeting the three Scouts who visited the World Jamboree in England this summer, namely John Woolliams, David Woolliams and Ronald McArthur, showed slides and gave a talk on their trip. These were very interesting. Lunch was served by the social committee.

$1,300 BUYS A LOT

Putting your youngster through high school and college is a costly business. And, if you're like most people, you will have to prepare for that expense well in advance.

An easy way to do it, should you not need the Family Allowance Cheques for their primary purpose of paying for the youngster's day-to-day expenses, is to earmark all of them for his later education. The cheques for one child, saved in a B of M account until the age of 16 is reached, total more than $1,300, including interest. It's a handy start toward a higher education. And it means you have ready money in the bank available for any unexpected opportunity or emergency.

Start while your youngster is still tiny, and you'll have a sum which will really count when the first college bills arrive. Why not drop into the B of M next time you are passing, and open your child's "Fund for the Future." Jock Johnston, manager of the 1-775 West Summerland, B.C. branch, says any member of his staff will gladly welcome the opportunity of assisting you in putting this good idea into practice. advt.

Hauser-Schindel Vows Taken In Pretty Fall Rites

Autumn shades of beautiful mums and green fern decorated the Pentecost Church November 10, for the marriage of Emma Schindel to Fred Hauser. Rev. Rathjen officiated.

The bride, wore an afternoon length dress of rose with beige chantilly lace sleeves and transparent sequins and seed pearls embroidered around the scooped neckline. The flared skirt featured a loose panel of lined lace. Her accessories were a close fitting satin hat and gloves and a crystal necklace, a gift of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride carried a white bible which held a spray of feathered white mums centred by a white orchid.

Her only attendant, Mrs. Fred Schindel of Vancouver, wore a similar gown of pretty blue chantilly lace in sheath style with matching hat and gloves.

Best man was Fred Schindel of Vancouver and ushers were Lawrence Schindel and Earnest Rathgahu.

Wedding music was played by Arlene Embree and Mrs. Wilbert Hauser sang while the register was being signed.

The bride's parents and the newly-weds received over one hundred guests at a reception in the IOOF Hall which was prettily decorated in pink and white streamers and bouquets of mums and ferns.

The bride's table was centred by a three tiered cake flanked with tall tapered candles and streamers.

Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Albert Hansen of Vancouver read several telegrams of congratulations to the couple. Ralph Blewett proposed a toast to the bride, to which the groom fittingly replied.

Several musical selections were enjoyed by the guests including an instrumental duet by Rev. and Mrs. Rathjen, a solo by Mrs. Allan Gustavson, a duet by Miss Evelyn Schindel and Mrs. Alice Lockhart of Penticton, a piano solo by Arlene Embree and a reading by Mrs. Lawrence Schindel.

For going away the bride wore a smart black woolen dress topped with a back coat with turquoise feather hat and accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The newly married couple will make their home in Vancouver.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hall and family; Mr. and Mrs. Doug Downey; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hauser and family; Mr. and Mrs. George Hauser; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hauser; Mr. and Mrs. John Niebel; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hauser; Miss Martha Hauser; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hauser; Mrs. Katie Schnieder; Mrs. Adam Jothie and Joyce; Mr. Laurence Schindel; Miss Shirley Shram; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kathgaber and Sandra, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schindel; all of Vancouver. From Kelowna: Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gobel, Mrs. Emma Bismyer and Betty.

Last Rites For Mrs. A. Linteris

Funeral services were held on Saturday for Mrs. Angeline Linteris, 73, a resident of Summerland who died in the Summerland hospital on Thursday.

Born at Saint Giovanni, Province of Udine, Italy, Mrs. Linteris came to Summerland from Vancouver a little more than a year ago.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. James Elliot of Edmonton, Mrs. Carl Franceschi of Stavelly, Alta., and Mrs. S. Fabbi of West Summerland; two sons, John of Lethbridge and Pete of Port Kells, B.C.; 19 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Requiem mass was sung in Church of the Holy Child, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, by Rev. Father A. Meulenbergh. Burial was in Peach Orchard cemetery.

ON THE PIGGYBACK TRAIL. Canadian highway finds the Canadian Pacific Railway operating solid piggyback trains in both directions between Montreal and Toronto, carrying the trailers of a number of well known trucking firms to and from their destinations in Canada's two largest cities. Fast over-night service permits pick-up of trailers after close of business every evening and guarantees their delivery in the other city before the start of next day's business. Popularity view of a Canadian Pacific of the service is attested by this "piggy-backer" at Hristie Lake, Ontario. Specially designed roller-bearing flatcars carry the trailers. Piggyback trains are diesel-hauled.

FFVW Seeks Court Action Against LB

In a statement issued today, Business Agent A. L. Kanester of the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union announced that the F. of FFVW had once again been forced to ask the courts for a writ of prohibition against the Labour Relations Board.

"While the U.S. Senate is busy exposing the Teamsters' Union," Mr. Kanester stated, "the B.C. Labour Relations Board is doing all it can to help the Teamsters destroy a small, independent union."

The statement was supported by Business Agent Murdo McKenzie, who reported that the latest move of the Teamsters was a series of applications to decertify the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Unions.

"At the hearing before the Labour Relations Board," said Mr. McKenzie, "Teamster witnesses rehearsed the stale old charges which had already been discredited in the Supreme Court action which we won. We have been notified by the Board that the hearing was being held to ascertain whether or not the Federation and its locals were trade unions under the terms of the Labour Relations Act. When it became apparent that the Board was proceeding on an entirely different matter we withdrew from the hearing and took steps to obtain a Court order prohibiting the Board from proceeding with the hearing."

The Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union, it was stated, has been forced to take legal action because there is no appeal from the decisions of the Labour Relations Board.

As an outcome of the Supreme Court Action, Teamster officials were instructed to turn over to the FFVW all their funds and equipment. "The Teamsters are now attempting to get around this," Mr. Kanester stated, "by claiming that even though they signed Teamster cards, they were still members of the Federation, and so they should turn the funds over to themselves."

Mr. Kanester went on to say, "Resolutions passed at a Special Convention of the Federation on November 9, 1957 have clarified the fact that such claims by the Teamsters are, of course, completely ridiculous. It is extremely doubtful if such a claim could stand up in court. The actions of this convention, however, now make it absolutely impossible for any member of a union, hostile or dual to the Federation, to hold Federation membership."

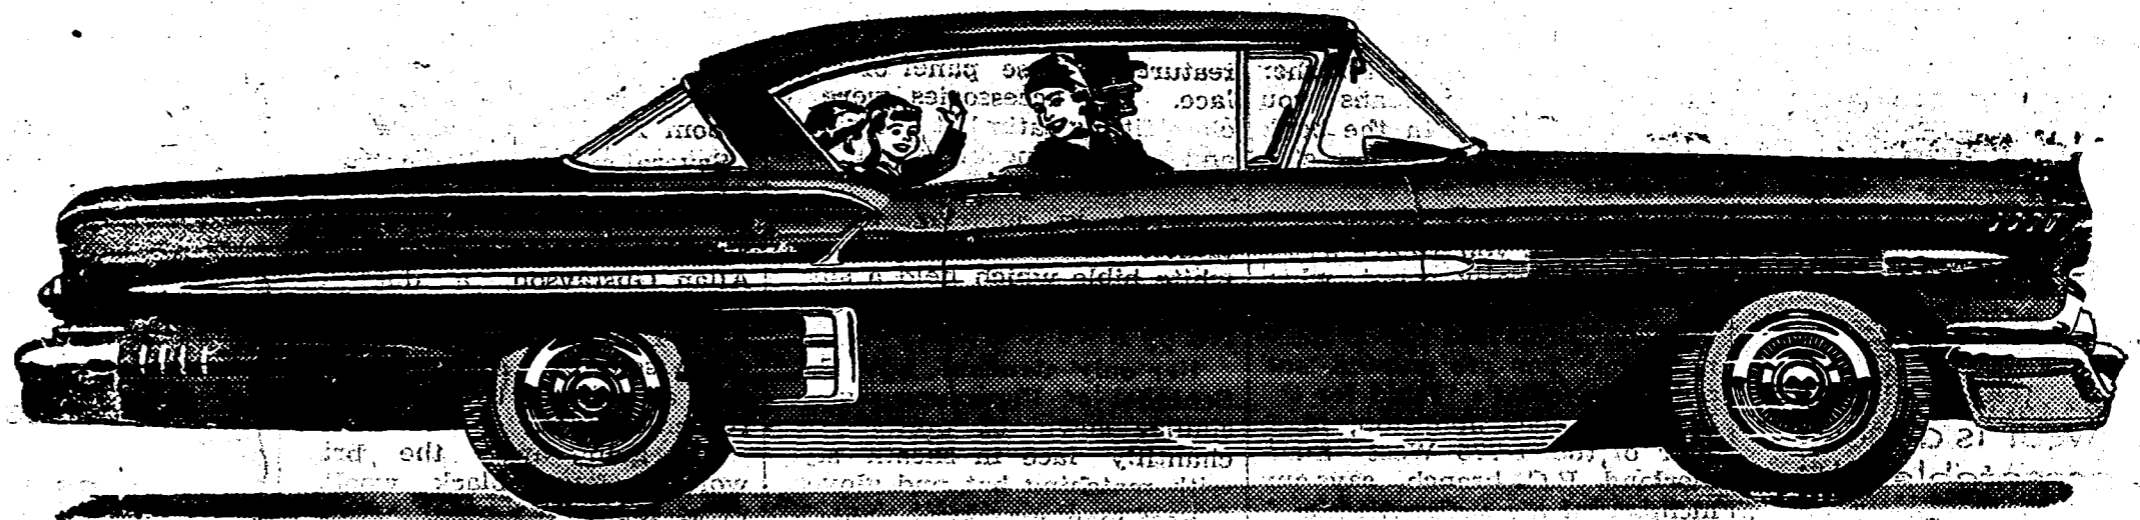

CREDIT UNION PHILOSOPHY

We believe in the integrity of the human race. We know that if the average man wasn't honest, there could be no credit unions. And therefore, it seems to us that we are enlisted in a cause that is very great, that has the possibility of international spread which will some day engulf the whole world and which will carry forward, consistent with the purpose of God, the great ideal of human progress.

Member for Okanagan-Boundary Urges Action on Unemployment

Frank C. Christian, federal member for Okanagan-Boundary, made the following suggestions in the House of Commons regarding the rising unemployment crisis. Mr. Christian's remarks as they appeared in Hansard follow:

"After all, it is the people of this country who are the supreme authority, and they should control the country's monetary policy. When that policy does not work to the satisfaction of the Canadian people then the Social Credit party, the Liberal party, the Conservative party, and even the CCF party should put their shoulders behind the wheel and examine our financial institutions to see if they are working for the benefit of the citizens of Canada. We cannot assume that any existing condition is working perfectly and in high order. Let us scrutinize our monetary policy and observe it in the future with a watchful eye to see that it meets the needs of the existing situation."

"The leader of the CCF party mentioned that a serious world problem today is under-consumption. We are able to produce ample goods in Canada, but unfortunately many Canadians cannot get the goods and services they require. This situation exists under the tight money policy. Is it not reasonable, therefore, to put the finest financial minds in Canada to work on the problem in order to bring about a solution that will benefit all Canadian people."

"I should like to suggest that the federal government initiate an all-Canada work project."

"At the present time the situation is favourable for that project because I believe that on November 25 and November 26 of this year there is to be a meeting between the various officials of the Federal government and the premiers of the various provinces of Canada. I am more particularly concerned at the present time with those men in our country who are in destitute circumstances. What is going to be done in the next six months, twelve months or eighteen months to help those men who, through no fault of their own, cannot find employment? As you know, Mr. Speaker, unemployment is not a good thing for the country. It leads to increased crime. It means a waste of manpower. Not only that, but men who are not working suffer both mentally and physically."

I would suggest that the federal government initiate a works project and that men who are in destitute circumstances be given the opportunity to work on roads, to work on parks, to work on bridges and to work wherever they can serve a useful purpose for the country. It might be that when the government gives consideration to this matter it will say that these men who are in destitute circumstances should be paid a sum of money by way of a wage that is slightly in excess of the average amount paid to people who receive unemployment benefit. That would, indeed, be a great step forward. As the House knows, in time of war and national disaster there is never any trouble about getting money, and in this time of peace, when we have in our midst people who are in poor circumstances financially, I think the least we could do is to look after our own citizens and give them employment."

Mr. Christian wishes to hear from his constituents as to what suggestions they have to solve or contribute towards the alleviation of unemployment. Write F. C. Christian, M.P., Box 117, Parliament Building, Ottawa, Canada. No postage required on your letters."

A very short Continental crop this year made it possible for British Columbia to re-enter this market and, with a fairly heavy crop in hand, the grower-owned Sales Agency has also been able to make sales in Sweden, West Germany, Venezuela and Honolulu. Some of these markets have been closed to Okanagan fruit for several years, mostly because of price competition and currency restrictions."

Summerland Well Represented In Scout Ass'n

Summerland's strong participation in Boy Scout activities was exemplified at the tent annual meeting of the Okanagan (South District Council of the Boy Scout Association) which was held here last week. On the executive from Summerland are: Dr. T. H. Anstey, past president; and Ewart Woolliams, District Scout official. Re-appointed include J. B. Laidla, Gordon Blewett and Mrs. Isabel McCargar. Mr. Blewett is district Scoutmaster. Three of the scouts who related their experiences at the World Scout Jamboree held in the United Kingdom last summer were: Summerland boys, Don McArthur, David Woolliams, John Woolliams Phil Workman, and Ron Ramsay.

A. F. Cumming of Penticton was elected president of the Association.

E. C. Tennant of Naramata was re-elected vice-president with John Erlerdson voted in as treasurer and A. D. MacDonald as secretary.

Executive members are Dr. T. H. Anstey, past president; Ewart Woolliams of Summerland and A. A. Swift, J. D. Southwood, R. C. Cawood, W. J. McArthur and C. J. McKeen, all of Penticton. Honorary surgeon is Dr. J. R. Parmley and honorary counsel, H. H. Boyle.

Dr. T. H. Anstey presented a bowl suitably inscribed to A. A. Swift of Penticton in recognition of his many years service to Scouting in this district.

Five district Scouts who attended the World Scout Jamboree in Sutton Coldfield, England last summer showed slides of their trip and gave a commentary on their experiences.

Cards Authorize Immunization Shots

Permanent immunization cards have been issued to grade one and grade five pupils within the South Okanagan health unit area. These have been signed by the parents and returned to the school where they are filed.

Booster doses are to be given to children as required without further consent of parents.

Dr. D. A. Clarke, medical director reported this to the quarterly meeting of the South Okanagan Union Board of Health at Summerland last Wednesday.

Senior Girls Lose Tourney by Two Points

The Senior Girls basketball team travelled to Rutland over the weekend to attend a basketball tournament. They played three tough games in a row before losing to Rutland in the final game, 14-12. Teams attended the tournament from Vernon, Kamloops, Oliver, Kelowna, Similkameen, Rutland and Summerland. This Saturday night both Senior boys and girls teams travel to Similkameen High School for regular league games.

The latest league results to date are as follows: the Occidentals won out over the Diehards by 3 to 1; the Whizbangs beat the Pioneer Feeds by 3 to 1; the Baby Austins bowled a 3-1 game with the Tooters; the Spitfires beat the Tooters by 3 to 1; the Legionaires took all 4 points off the Minnie-Ha-Ha's; the Misfits also took all four points off the Hilltoppers; the Slo-Mo's and the Canco's split their games; the Westbankers won out over the Aylmer Cocktails by 3 to 1 and the Vikings beat the Cackleberrys by 3 to 1.

Juveniles Lose To Penticton 11-4

In a clean hard game last Wednesday night here in Summerland, the S'land Juveniles were trounced by the Penticton team 11-4.

continued from front page. wrote two books. One, "The Story of Summerland," went into two printings and the entire proceeds were donated to the Red Cross. The other was "Klinker, a Country Doctor's Dog." He also contributed articles frequently to the Okanagan Historical Society's quarterlies and had just completed one on the Summerland Trout Hatchery for the current issue. He is survived by his son, W. J. Andrew, West Vancouver, who is with the Dominion Lumber Survey Co. His wife, Nora, predeceased him.

Dr. Andrew was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., receiving his early education there and in Toronto. He graduated from Toronto Normal School and taught for four years in Manitoba. He bought and sold several farms there and with the profits put himself through the University of Manitoba medical school, graduating in 1907. He won many medals and scholarships during his student days, including one from the Ontario Art School, and was the only student ever to take all the possible scholarships at the University of Manitoba.

CORRECTION

In the Memorial card published last week in memory of George Stoll, jr., who lost his life as a result of a shooting accident a year ago, the victim was inadvertently referred to as the "only" son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stoll. This is incorrect as the Stoll's have a second son, "Carl."

Junior Jottings

by Karen Johnson

Well I wasn't here in print last week mainly because I couldn't find the boss and she couldn't find me. I guess that's no excuse though!

Junior basketball players are urgently needed at practises as not too many are turning out. The senior girls came in second at the Rutland tournament last Saturday. Pretty good!

The exchange students have returned to Twisp, Washington and our students have also come back to us.

The High School Open House went off really well to my eyes last week. I don't know how much money we made yet but I suppose we will find out soon!

Well there isn't much to do these days but I hope for snow soon! Christmas is not so far away so do your Christmas shopping early.

Shorter and sweeter each week isn't it?
