

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

The curfew tolls the knell of parting day - but the curfew is not yet tolling for the Summerland Review.

To borrow somebody or other's immortal phrase, the report of my death is greatly exaggerated.

True, there has been a lot of smoke, and where there is smoke there is fire, but regardless of reports to the contrary I had no intention of suspending publication unless absolutely forced into it.

For almost a month now I've been wrestling with the problem of whether to cut my losses here in Summerland and take a sure fire job. Had I decided to do so I was endeavoring at what would have been a considerable financial sacrifice to ensure that the Summerland Review would continue publication.

Now the decision is made - the die is cast - I'm staying on - gambling a sure fire job on the belief that Summerland needs a newspaper and that Summerland will support a newspaper.

That's about all there is to it - without local advertising no paper can survive - unless that advertising brings customer response the merchants can't afford to advertise - it's a sort of daisy chain - the merchants support the newspaper, the readers support the merchants.

So in the final analysis it is up to the subscriber - who is, beyond a shadow of doubt - the arbiter of any newspaper's fate.

Actually, the only question to be asked and answered is: do the people of Summerland want their own community newspaper enough to support it?

I feel perked up since making the decision to stay put, but I regret, deeply regret to announce that Mrs. Vanderburgh has left The Review. Mrs. Van had the opportunity to rejoin the staff of the Penticton Herald. The uncertainty regarding the Review's future and the harsh reality of economics, hardly left either Mrs. Van or myself with any choice. As the Herald goes daily next week there will hardly be a clash of interests, so I'm looking forward to continuing a firm friendship with Mrs. Van, established in over a year of getting out the Review.

Hundreds Attend Our First Fruit Fair

All the fun of the fair was available at Memorial Park last Saturday, and hundreds of people, including many visitors from other valley points and elsewhere in B.C., enjoyed a lively day of entertainment.

A feature attraction was the Summerland Horticultural Society's 32nd annual fall show which turned the Summerland arena into a fragrant garden.

Only criticism of the horticultural show was that it closed doors too early and that it should have been carried on through Sunday.

Peaches and cream and tea served by the Ladies Hospital Auxiliary proved popular as did the Giant Barbecue. More than 600 giant sandwiches were sold.

The midway, the Leader Shows, and the Rotary Bingo were well patronized and concerts by the Summerland High School Band and Summerland band were warmly received.

British Columbia's accordion champion gave an impromptu concert and this was followed by square dancing, which filled the interlude between the long-awaited arrival of the Giant of Giant's Head.

The Giant first appeared on the bluff to the north of Mountain View home. His appearance brought about by much heaving, hauling and grunting of a devoted few who raised the 30 foot figure, which was flare lit.

"C" Squadron B.C. Dragoons maintained radio communication and plotted the Giant's trip down the mountain for the benefit of the multitude. More things went wrong than went right in staging the first appearance of the Giant, but, surprisingly enough, it turned out to be a good show all round.

The Giant himself an imposing more than 20 foot high figure looked everything a giant should look.

Even the horseshoe players who came from far and near to take part in the interior championships gave up their tireless pitching to see the coming of the Giant.

The show was enlivened by the killed Dragoon's pipe band.

'A. W. Vanderburgh Memorial Cup' New Junior Baseball Trophy

A silver cup now bears the inscription of a name, well-known and not to be forgotten in and around Summerland. This cup, bearing the engraved words, the "A. W. Vanderburgh Memorial Cup", has been given in memory of "Doctor Van" by his widow and family.

Doctor Vanderburgh was for many years an ardent fan and promoter of baseball in our community and now, although he is no longer with us, his memory remains along with this silver cup, to be awarded to the Most Valuable Player on the Summerland Junior Baseball Club. It is indeed, a high award for the fellow who proves himself worthy of the Cup. A small replica of the cup will be presented to the winner each year as a permanent trophy.

Presentation of the Cup will take place at the Sunday afternoon baseball game between Summerland and Naramata.

the crashing volleys of rifle fire, and was graced by Summerland's Queen and Princesses and the Royal Party from Penticton. Also presented to the Giant were Reeve Atkinson and Frank C. Christian, M.P. for Okanagan Boundary.

The fruit market was the only failure of the whole event.

Sunday saw the horseshoe tournament concluded, and a two day softball tournament was played off on Sunday and Monday.

The Summerland Band also gave a delightful hour-long concert on Sunday afternoon.

Weather was ideal and all-in-all the Summerland Board of Trade is very satisfied at the success of its first venture of this kind.

Summerland W.I. Triple Success

Summerland Women's Institute has three entries in the Canada wide Tweedsmuir competition. The biennial contest this year asked for a village history, specified article suitable for a hope chest, and an oil painting of a defined size.

The entries are sent first for provincial judging and those placing first and second in each province are then forwarded east to be judged with winners from the other provinces.

The WI is being congratulated on its success in the Tweedsmuir contest, for having won a cup for grand aggregate points at the PNE for articles entered in the home arts textiles class. (Continued on Page 5)

Bursary Awarded By Local Kiwanians

Summerland Kiwanis Club has made its bursary award of $100 to the most deserving student of the year. It was announced today. The winner is Alan Pearson, who was selected from seven applicants.

It is understood that Alan will attend school in Vancouver. He plans on a career in accountancy.

The Giant Of Giant's Head

Summerland's Royalty came up against something considerably bigger than they, when last Saturday they were introduced to the Giant of Giant's Head. Queen Marjorie Campbell and Princesses Dot Carston and Ruby Gronlund are shown as they curtsied for the Giant in his first appearance at the first annual Fruit Fair sponsored by the Summerland Board of Trade on the Labor Day weekend.

The B.C. horseshoe pitching champion, Stan Dalh of Vancouver, can now claim the Interior horseshoe championship. Dalh is shown, left, receiving the trophy from Gerry Laidlaw, chairman of the Board of Trade horseshoe tournament committee. The horseshoe tournament was one of the most successful events of the first annual Fruit Fair. Bill Cook, Oliver, was runner-up. In the "B" group, J. B. Monkman of Trail was the winner with B. Cassidy, Penticton, second. Ed Phillbrook, Kamloops, came first in the "C" group with Gerry Laidlaw second. Vancouver's Roy McCann and G. Norman came first in the doubles with Stan Dalh and R. M. Blount, second.

Disappointment No Protection For Local Prunes

Prune growers of the Okanagan Valley are expressing keen disappointment over the refusal of the Federal Government to establish a Minimum Fair Market Value on prunes to protect against "distress" quotations and imports.

The B.C. Fruit Growers' Association Tariff Committee made application to the Minister of Finance, through the Canadian Horticultural Council, on Aug. 16th for the establishment of a Minimum Market Value of 7c per lb. on the gross billing weight of American prunes which is usually 17 lbs. per lug. This would be equivalent to $1.19 per-lug in Canadian funds.

American prunes were quoted and sold to Canadian importers at 95c F.O.B. shipping points in American funds, equal to about 90c in Canadian funds, or approximately 30c below the level which the B.C. Fruit Growers Association felt should be regarded as an emergency minimum.

The B.C. Fruit Growers' Association Tariff Committee supplied to the Minister of Finance, data published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture on the price of prunes in the three Northwest prune producing states, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, over an eight year period 1949 and 1956 inclusive. These data indicated that the average FOB price for the standard lug of prunes for the eight years under observation would have been (Continued on Page 8)

Kiwanis Launch Key Club Friday

A service club within the school is the objective of the Summerland Kiwanis Club and with this object in mind a banquet will be held in the IOOF Hall on Friday at 6:30 p.m. at which a "Key" club will be inaugurated.

Kiwanis dignitaries from other clubs in the valley and from Washington State will attend the inauguration banquet.

The Key Club is patterned after senior service clubs but will be run entirely by the students under supervision of the Kiwanis.

No License, No Plates Juvenile Driver Fined

A Summerland juvenile was fined $50 and costs on two counts at Friday morning's police court by Magistrate Bob Alstead. The charge was driving a car with no license plates, and without a driver's license. The car, of the "hot rod" variety, was in such poor shape as to be unregistrable.

Magistrate Alstead pointed out that these cars are a menace on any road and that he intends to give the maximum sentence to those driving them who are not complying with the law.

Mr. Alstead mentioned, also, that dealers who sell cars of this type will be watched closely, as they have a responsibility in the matter.

The previous week, another juvenile was fined $25 and costs for driving without a license.

Cambridge Student Works In Orchard

A civil engineering student at Cambridge University, Brian Parker, of Suffolk, England, has been employed at the orchard of F. M. teurt.

Mr. Parker has left to visit relatives at Notch Hill.

He is one of a party of 54 students who chartered a plane to fly to New York this spring. They separated and he saw friends in Michigan, was in Los Angeles and Seattle.

The boys are travelling with little baggage seeing the world and working their way as they do so. Brian drove a car part way across the States.

From Vancouver he came to Notch Hill worked at Celista, then headed down the valley.

The group flies back to England from New York on September 23.

Time To Start Planning Is Now

Summerland's first annual Fruit Fair is history.

Now we can take stock. On the whole, the affair, despite some rough spots, despite some glaring errors and despite the failure of the fruit market, can be considered to have been a success.

It was to be expected that a first attempt of this magnitude would be found wanting in many respects and indeed, those behind the scenes are congratulating themselves that it went off as well as it did.

The Giant, created literally out of rags and paper, was a splendid creature, but nothing we can say to the talented people who created it can surpass the praise bestowed upon their handiwork by the hundreds who witnessed the tableau.

It would be impossible to mention all by name who gave unstintingly of their time and talents to the staging of the big event, but we do think that we should extend a special vote of thanks to the officers and men of "C" Squadron, B.C. Dragoons, the personnel of the Dragoons Pipe Band and to the Royal party, all from neighboring Pentiction, who contributed so much to the success of the Giant's coming.

As for Summerland, as in the past, volunteers sprang, so it seemed, out of the ground, as the need arose.

Now it behooves the Summerland Board of Trade to review the whole situation preparatory to planning for a bigger and better show next year. And it might be just as well to remember that the months have a habit of slipping by almost unnoticed. One of the factors contributing to many sins of commission and omission, of which the planners were guilty this year was the short period of time

A Matter Of Thanks

Elsewhere in this issue is an advertisement thanking the people of Summerland for their courtesy, patience and co-operation during the time that natural gas pipelines were being installed here. We are sure that this gesture of the construction company, Dutton-Williams, Bros. Ltd., will be appreciated, although we are inclined to think that the shoe should be on the other foot.

It is, we believe, the people of Summerland, who owe thanks to the construction company, which, with a minimum of inconvenience, with speedy efficiency and with the utmost in consideration installed the gas pipeline system in Summerland. Beyond that the company helped strengthen our somewhat sagging economic structure at a critical time by employing many Summerland workers.

In fact, a revolution has taken place without us hardly being aware of it. Miles of gas pipeline, now underground in Summerland, await the arrival of natural gas scheduled for this fall. And so, with low cost electric power, available to translate a jumble of ideas into reality.

The time to start planning for next year's show is now.

'I Did Return'

B.A.T.T.I.E.R.
"I did return! the Giant said,
Clasping his hands to his aching head,
And oh the wierdest things I saw
Throwing hoops of iron with Jerry Laidlaw
Women in trousers and the men — oh my
In colors that rival a rainbow sky.
Then there were games with a club and a ball,
And it didn't seem to matter at all
Whether the ball was hit or missed
The huge crowd roared and booed & hissed.
Peaches, apples, prunes and pears,
And all the good things that go with fairs,
Games of chance and a ferris wheel
That made all the young ones giggle and squeal.

I tried to get into one big hall,
But they said "Mr. Giant you are much too tall"

So I peeked through the nail holes in the roof,
And what I saw was ample proof
That my people certainly know how to grow
The garden produce for a great show.

I met all the fellows who govern my land,
And men in skirts who govern my lanand'
And men in skirts who play in a band.
And oh the young beauties that courted to me
As I stood in the park for all to see.

Now it's all over. Twas a wonderful fair
And this tired old Giant goes back to his lair.

To sleep if he can, on his rocky bed,
In a hidden cave on Giant's Head.

with low rates and with natural gas awaited, Summerland stands ready for expansion.

The thanks of the construction company are accepted and we hope the company will now accept the community's thanks for helping to bring to us, with a minimum of inconvenience, what is undoubtedly one of the blessings of modern living — natural gas.

Naval Wedding At Coast Of Interest In Summerland

Helen Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Price, former residents of Summerland, now living at 2438 Millstream Rd., Langford, was married August 16 at 7 p.m. in St. Andrew's Chapel, HMCS Naden, Esquimalt, to Laurent Provost, of 142 Bushby St., Victoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Provost, 162 1/2 Berry St., orwood, Manitoba.

Bouquets of pink and white carnations with sprays of baby's breath and fern were placed on the altar while the pews were marked with white lace bows and paper bells.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and had chosen a beautiful wedding gown of white lace over taffeta, with a scalloped V neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The gown was in ballerina length with scallops around the bottom of the skirt and the net veil was held in place by a diamond studded coronet. Red roses and white petal carnations fashioned the bridal bouquet.

Sisters of the bride, Miss Barbara and Miss Marjorie Price were the bridesmaids, and Miss Diane Wood was the flower girl. Alike in mint green taffeta were the gowns of the senior attendants, having net overskirts styled after the bride's dress. They had pale green feathered head-dresses and carried pale pink gladioli.

The flower girl was a pretty picture in pink taffeta and net with a feather headdress similar to the bridesmaids. She carried a nosegay in shades of pink.

Marvin Matthews was best man and ushers were R. MacKay and L. Wood.

Mrs. M. Matthews was organist and "O Promise Me" was sung while the register was signed.

Mrs. Price received the 65 guests following the wedding at a reception held at Club Tango, Oak Bay, where the room was decorated with pink and white streamers, wedding bells and baskets of summer flowers.

Bouquets of white peonies encased in pink tissue were a charming note on the bride's table with the three-tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional replica of a bride and groom in the place of honor in the centre.

J. Dellan proposed a toast to the bride with reply by the groom. R. McKay gave a toast to the groom.

A congratulatory telegram was read from Mr. and Mrs. Victor Smith, West Summerland.

Recorded music was provided, guests played the piano and guitar, and A. McKay sang several songs.

For going away the bride wore

Teen Town News Services

by Dot Carston
Sponsored by Teen Town, an organization fastly becoming known as a "good will group" a gathering of Teeners bade "farewell" to Richard Blagborne. Richard has been active in Teen Town as the treasurer, he served on the school council, a member of many sport teams, a Key Club promoter and was voted "top" on the school spirit list last year.

His many friends gathered at the IOOF Hall along with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Fisher and other relatives, to give a true-to-fashion "Surprise Party."

Under the guidance of Bruce Crawford Richard was pulled away from working on his car to deliver a package to the hall. Richard walked into the trap, carrying a big package where his hair combs and snickers were suppressed. Suddenly the lights flared and the place came to life with "SURPRISE". Richard was prompted to open the package revealing a load of rocks covered with a sea towel. Later in the evening Bruce Crawford presented Richard with a Parker 51 pen and pencil set. Farewell again Richard and hope you enjoy living at Salmon Arm.

Picking Rates Set For Apples

The Orchard Labour Committee of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association at a meeting held August 19th, set a rate of 12c per box to be paid for picking this year's apple crop.

The Committee urges all growers who have not indicated their labour requirements to the National Employment Service or Local Farm Placement Officer, to do so immediately. Indications are that the employment Service will be able to fill all requirements placed with them at an early date.

Junior Red Sox Must Cut Mustard Against Naramata Here On Sunday

Summerland's Junior Red Sox must do or die on Sunday.

The Red Sox are up against it; they've got to get out at the Athletic Park on Sunday and take the Naramata juniors two in a row if they are going to advance into the junior league finals against Vernon.

Last Sunday the local juniors dropped the first game of the semi-finals played at Naramata 6-1. So now they've got to win both heads of the doubleheader starting here at one o'clock.

Between games Harry Vanderburgh will present the A. W. Vanderburgh trophy, a new trophy presented in memory of the late Dr. W. A. Vanderburgh, who throughout his life was a keen baseball fan and in his last years a strong supporter of the youngsters.

Marguerite Menu Married To Murray Douglas White of Penticton

St. Anne's Church, Penticton, was tastefully decorated with tall spikes of pink and white gladioli on Saturday, August 31, at half past four in the afternoon, when Marguerite Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Menu, Summerland, was united in marriage with Murray Douglas White, son of Mrs. Douglas White of Penticton and the late Mr. White.

Rev. Father Quinlan officiated at the ceremony.

The lovely dark-haired bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a beautiful floor length wedding gown of white French lace and net. The neckline was trimmed with tiny seed pearls and the sleeves were lily-pointed. A matching finger tip veil of net and French lace fell softly to the tiered skirt and was caught to the head with a pearl and brilliant (studded wedding coronet. The bridal bouquet was of cascading red roses.

Dressed alike in gowns of pale pink and sky blue, Miss Irene and Miss Patricia Menu were their sister's bridesmaids. Their gowns were of nylon chiffon and they were wearing matching picture hats and gloves. Colonial bouquets of white carnations sprayed with touches of pink and blue completed their ensembles.

Willis White, brother of the groom was best man, and ushers were Dennis Jeffrey and Eric Boulbee.

Mrs. Louis Delacherois of Penticton was the organist and Miss Cecile Savoie of Vancouver, the soloist.

Due to illness in the family the reception planned was cancelled.

Wires of congratulation were received from Mr. and Mrs. O.

Van Walleghem of Winnipeg and Andre Van Walleghem of Watson Lake, Y.T.

The bride's going-away costume was a pearl grey worsted suit with pink and black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McMahon, Mr. and Mrs. E. Quesnel, Mrs. M. Sparrow, all of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nourse, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. F. MacDonald, Oliver; Mr. and Mrs. W. Van Walleghem, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Menu, Calgary; Mrs. B. Frith, Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Houtteghem, Miss Donna Weir, Miss Rosalie Marron, Miss Audrey Moase, Miss Jeanette Lambert, Miss Cecile Savoie and Mel Park, all from the coast.

The couple will make their home at the coast.

Mrs. C. T. Derbyshire and her daughter, Miss Marjorie Derbyshire of Vancouver were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Cruickshank.

Mr. and Mrs. George Denike have been guests at the home of the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Denike in Parkdale.

B.C. Fruit Processors Call 1951 Bonds For Redemption

Bonds issued for the 1951 crop year by B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. are being called for redemption on August 31st, according to a statement issued by R. P. Walrod, General Manager of the grower-owned company.

B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. was formed in 1946 by growers for the purpose of developing by-products as a means of salvaging cull apples on a basis equitable to all growers within the Central selling scheme.

During ten years of operation the Company has attained outstanding success in reaching its basic objective of utilizing all surplus apples, both commercial and cull, for which it accepted responsibility. Losses through this period from all causes, including elective dumping, have amounted to less than one per cent.

The history of the Company has been one of rapid expansion and development. From a modest beginning, under the Chairmanship of Gordon DesBrisay, of Penticton, and with R. P. Walrod, first as production manager and subsequently as its general manager, B.C. Fruit Processors has grown in a series of steps from a capacity of 6,000 boxes daily when the plants were first acquired, to 23,500 at the present time.

During the past four years the company has invested over half a million dollars in plants and equipment in extending its facilities to accommodate surplus in stone fruits for which a variety of new processed forms has been developed.

B.C. Fruit Processors' capital is raised by deductions from the pools of those fruits participating in the by-products program. Five-year, three percent bonds are issued covering these deductions. Those issued on the 1951 crop are now called for redemption.

Bonds when being redeemed must be surrendered to the Head office of the company, 1165 Ethel Street, Kelowna, and may be presented either in person or by mail.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wismer of Vancouver are visitors at the home of Mrs. Wismer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis in Trout Creek.

Miss F. Atkinson Honored At Party

Miss Eileen Wilcox and Miss Margaret Marshall were hostesses on Thursday evening, August 29, at the home of the Marshalls, Quinpoole Road, when they entertained for Miss Frances Atkinson, whose marriage to Peter Beulah of Victoria is an event of September 14.

A lovely array of daintily wrapped gifts in a large variety were presented to the bride-elect in a box decorated for the occasion.

Those present were Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Mrs. T. B. Lott, Mrs. K. H. McIntosh, Mrs. B. T. Blagborne, Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, Mrs. J. Marshall, Mrs. Don Cristante, Miss Dorothy Britton, Miss Medori Matsu, Miss Kathleen Yamabe, Miss Margaret Lott, Miss Diane Durick, Miss Carole Allison, Miss Sheila Bennisson, Miss Anne Beggs, Miss Jean Johnston, Miss Ruth Laidman of New Westminster. Those unable to attend who sent gifts were Mrs. Carl Jeffrey, Miss Gweneth Atkinson and Miss Diane Berg.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses as the happy evening concluded.

Disappointment

about $1.19. They also supplied evidence that in five of those eight years prunes were abandoned in those states because of "economic conditions." It is assumed that "economic conditions" referred to prices which did not warrant harvesting. Abandonment of prunes occurred in each year when the average price fell below $1.20.

The Committee also showed the Government officials that the average declared value of American prunes imported into Canada during the months of August and September for the past seven years 1950 to 1956 inclusive, was $1.60 for August and $1.18 for September. This indicates the extent to which the U.S. price usually drops by the time the B.C. prunes are ready for the market.

This year with a large crop in sight, the sales office, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., appealed to the trade not to import, and having made such an appeal they felt it necessary to meet the American quotations. This meant a reduction in the B.C. price from $1.30 on August 15 to $1.10 on August 26 for the standard lug.

It is admitted that after B.C. met the American quotations, not many carloads were imported, but had B.C. maintained its original price $1.30 the western Canada market would have been flooded with American prunes.

The B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, therefore, contend that their prune-growers lost at least 20c per lug by reason of American quotations and by actual importations.

It is therefore difficult for the B.C. prune growers to comprehend how the Government can suggest that B.C. producers have not suffered because of American prices or imports. Neither can they understand why it should be considered a violation of GATT when it was not so considered in the case of the Minimum Fair Market Values for cut flowers and for textiles, and more recently on strawberries.

However, it is agreed by officials of the fruit industry that by the time the Government made its decision on August 30, the damage had been done to the point that little, if any, increase in prices would have been possible. As one official put it: "the horse is gone, why look the stable door now".

Council Aids Co-op Solve Water Supply Problem

Tenders for construction of a five packinghouse on property located on the east side of the Solly subdivision in West Summerland, are expected to be called within the next few weeks.

This was indicated by George Washington, general manager of the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Association, when he interviewed the Municipal Council on Tuesday on the question of an assured water supply for the new plant's cooler system, and for fire protection.

Mr. Washington disclosed that the Co-operative was considering construction of a 60,000 gallon cement storage tank, if no other assured supply of water could be provided.

The tank would serve also as a safeguard in the event of fire and its existence would materially reduce the rate of fire insurance.

Reeve Atkinson was of the opinion that a tank would be more expensive than an eight inch pipe to the property and after works superintendent Ken Blagborne had pointed out that council would eventually be faced with having to supply water to subdivisions in that area indicated its willingness to go along with the Co-operative in installing the required diameter pipe.

Cost of installing the pipe to the Co-operative property line is tentatively estimated at $5,000.

Mr. Washington informed council that the architects would be on the ground next week and that he appreciated council's readiness to assist in solving the knotty problem of an adequate water supply for cooling purposes and for the all important fire protection.

Seven Permits For New Homes

Building permits for the month of August totaled $63,550, compared with $74,000 for August, 1956.

There were seven permits for new dwellings totaling $55,800, eight for alterations and additions for commercial buildings amounting to $4,250 and mounting to $3,500.

Total permits of 103 for the first eight months of 1957 amount to $339,230, show an increase over the same period last year, which had 87 permits issued amounting to $309,020.

Ranking Kiwanians Inaugurate Key Club

Banquet and installation of the High School Key Club sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Summerland, took place on Friday, September 6, in the IOOF Hall. The Club is a service organization for boys within the school with an aim of service to the school and the community. At present there are 23 members, with an executive formed of boys from the different grades.

The banquet was attended by 125 members of the Key Club and their parents and members of the Summerland Kiwanis Club. Following the banquet, Doug Campbell, president of the local Kiwanis Club, presented the Club Charter to Ed Matsu,

President of the Key Club. Officers of the Club were installed by Chuck Martin, Governor of the Northwest Key Club, and Lieut. Governor Earl Robertson of Omak, who presented the insignia to officers and members. District Governor Mel Dennis and District Secretary Harold Jones addressed the members, pointing out the fellowship the boys would enjoy in belonging to the Key Club. ## Advance Tax Payment Plan Again Discussed

Councillor Norman Holmes reported to Council Tuesday that there appears to be an increasingly favorable public response to the suggestion advanced in council two weeks ago, that taxes be made payable at any time during the tax year and even in 12 monthly installments.

Such a scheme, Councillor Holmes again pointed out would obviate the necessity of the municipality borrowing from the bank and those who paid their taxes early, or by installment, would benefit by drawing four percent interest on their advance payments.

The advance payment plan with the payees collecting the interest is already in effect in Kelowna where under the plan 50 percent of the taxes were collected before the half year was up. Kelowna is now setting up a monthly installment plan.

Voted the most valuable player in the junior baseball league Carl Sheeley, above, is shown proudly displaying the most valuable player award, a new trophy donated in memory of the late Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh. Sheeley demonstrated this right to the award on Sunday afternoon when he pitched through a doubleheader, yielding only five hits to win the junior league championship against Naramata.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Having turned my back on the daily newspaper world and embraced forever and ever and ever the weekly end of the business I suppose it is not to be wondered at that I've been thinking a lot about newspapering, daily newspapering that is, and not without some yearnings.

It is supposed to be every newspaperman's ambition to get away from it all and to become the owner of a small weekly paper far from the madding crowd, far from the hustle and the bustle and the deadlines and ulcer ridden city editors and the cutthroat competition.

But when the daily newspaperman is dreaming about escaping all that, he doesn't know enough to look on the other side of the coin. Maybe there was a day when a weekly newspaperman could shut up shop and go fishing when they had the urge, but that day is gone for ever.

Golly, last week we didn't publish until Thursday and it seems that about half the people on our subscription list phoned in to complain that they hadn't got their Reviews.

Mind you, I like it that way — shows that people are keenly aware of their paper — but that doesn't let me shut up shop and go fishing.

But what I miss most about daily newspaper work is the unexpected.

Like the morning in a Cardiff hotel. (South Wales) I got a wire to get back pronto to the office. Three weeks later I was aboard the S.S. Doric, Canada bound, to do a series of articles on how British emigrants fared in Canada. That was the unexpected, for I had not the foggiest notion of going to Canada — or for that matter to any other of His Majesties Dominions beyond the seas.

Another unexpected which came my way in the old country during a flu epidemic when I was sent to cover a double hanging. I was only a cub reporter, but most of the staff were off sick so I drew the assignment. Two brothers hung by the neck until they were dead, for a particularly nasty spot of murder.

Reported to the office one morning for the daily drudgery but that night I was camped on the far end of Wasquesiu Lake, Saskatchewan, as guide and mentor to a member of the British Nobility and her companion. They wanted to meet Grey Owl and they also wanted to do it the hard way by canoe and paddle. No outboards for them. Must admit that the paddle grind was pleasanter than the office grind.

So Lady Veronica Bruce met Grey Owl and his beavers. Jellyroll and Rawhide and I got blisters on my hands and a good story. Must do a column on Grey Owl one of these days.

Another morning on the same newspaper, Prince Albert Herald, I stepped into the office and was chased out again to catch a plane. That night was in Churchill, Manitoba — this was before its development as a port.

Yes — the daily newspaper game, particularly in the big cities, is full of the unexpected.

A quiet day — no news — nothing breaking and then you're off to walk into an axe murder. A man gone haywire had carved up his wife and four children. Gruesome — but certainly unexpected and, of course a big story.

There was the day when I thought I was the forgotten man running the North Shore bureau for the Vancouver Sun.

I got a phone call from the then managing editor, Hal Straight.

"You're going to meet the warrior," he said without any preamble.

"The warrior?" I queried, "what is it a racehorse?"

"Jumping cats — what kind of staff have I got,?" roared Straight. "No it isn't a racehorse." Then he banged down the phone without telling me what it was.

Discovered later the Warrior was the HMC Aircraft Carrier Warrior which was enroute from the Atlantic, via the Panama Canal, to the Pacific, first Canadian aircraft carrier to visit the Pacific Coast.

So, I thought maybe we would be meeting the Warrior somewhere in the Straights of Juan de Fuca, a few hours sailing from Vancouver.

I did a pier head jump aboard the Cruiser Uganda to find we were headed not for a few hours jaunt, but for a few weeks — Mexico bound. A Mexican trip that included Acapulco, Mexico City, the inauguration of a new president, a bull fight, flight off a carrier and an expense account that nearly broke the Vancouver Sun.

Of course the unexpected pops up on weeklies too. I didn't expect for example, when I moved to the Penticon Herald that I'd run into the biggest continuing story of my newspaper life — the story of the Penticon Veas. I certainly didn't expect I'd be covering an Allan Cup final in Kitchener, Ontario.

No Time Off For Fruit Picking

The School Board has announced that no provision is being made for the absence of students to work in the fruit industry.

Any student remaining out of school does so at the risk of possible promotion failure at the end of the school year.

It is also possible that a student returning late will be denied entrance to certain subject sections which may be filled in the meantime.

Should an orchard emergency arise, the School Board will give all reasonable co-operation and assistance.

New Gas Station For Corner Of Granville Street

West Summerland is to have a new gas service station.

On Tuesday the Municipal Council approved plans of George Clark and W. F. Evans for construction of an Imperial service station on the property on the south east corner of Granville street, opposite the High School.

The partners in the new venture have the option to purchase the corner lot, 100 feet by 155 feet from Bud Steuart.

Council accepted the plans after Mr. Clark and Mr. Evans agreed to dedicate 4 feet extending the full length of the property as a right-of-way. This was to ensure that council plans for a through street could eventually be realized.

Reeve Atkinson promised that the property dedicated would be blacktopped.

Council Approves New Subdivision

A new subdivision is in the making for West Summerland.

On Tuesday Municipal Council gave approval to plans for a new subdivision on the orchard property of Del Carter, Giant's Head Road.

Summerland Board Of Trade First Fall Meeting Thursday

Summerland Board of Trade will hold its first regular monthly meeting since the summer recess on Thursday night at the IOOF Hall.

Considerable business has accumulated during the long summer vacation and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance on hand to deal with it.

A full full report of the first annual fruit fair will be presented by the committee chairmen involved, and it is expected that will lead to a general discussion on the event and its future.

Dinner will be at 6:45 p.m.

in the second year of the Veas' existence and I certainly didn't expect to be covering an Allan Cup final in Penticon, much less did I expect to be chasing around Europe, London, Berlin, Prague, the cities of the Ruhr and Paris, with a hockey team from Penticon.

Yes, there's a lot of drudgery to this newspaper business but more so, perhaps, than any other business, there's always the unexpected to break the monotony.

And something that seems to belong strictly to big dailies, the big morning dailies, is that moment late in the night when the big presses roll and even high up in the city room you feel the building vibrate and hear very faintly the rumble of the presses.

Then the city room packs up. Of course I can still get a thrill out of hearing the Review's old press start up—but it doesn't roll, it goes clunkety, clank, clunk, clunk, and then when it does start, instead of putting on my coat and dropping in for a pint and an hour of newspaper talk with the gang, I turn to and start folding and stuffing papers.

And here I am, getting nostalgic over old newspaper days when there's advertising to be sold, a job to be estimated, a parcel of job work to be delivered, news items to write, bills to be paid — shut up shop and go fishing — that will be the foggy Friday.

Like their grandparents — Ashnola Boot and Ashnola Slipper — the two cuties above, Ashnola Tinker, left, and Ashnola Peggy, are on their way to championships. They are progeny of the Summerland Ashnola Kennels, from which more than 100 cockers have been distributed from coast to coast.

Many Awards Are Won By Summerland Kennel

When is a dog not a mongrel? A safe answer to that one is when the dog comes from Summerland Ashnola Kennels.

Again this year at the PNE, at the spring show of the ladies' Kennel Club in Vancouver, the American Cocker spaniels raised by Mrs. Helen Munn have won high honors.

And they've been winning honors for years — Mrs. Munn has enough multi-colored, gold lettered ribbons to line a large room.

Mrs. Munn has been raising these splendid black and white and red and white American cocker spaniels for eight years — and perhaps more important than the ribbons, most of them firsts, are the accolades the dogs receive from hunters from coast to coast.

There are more than one hundred owners of these famous dogs. Keen hunters, never gun shy and packing more courage than most dogs of their size, these gentle spaniels have proved highly popular. They are unafraid and have been known to tackle bears. As for stamina, it's not so long ago that one swam the Kettle river in flood.

This show business doesn't mean much to the average dog owner, or the man or boy who wants to buy a pup, says Mrs. Munn, but if one can win with a dog in one of the big Vancouver shows under an American judge over entries from Washington to California, then we know that we're keeping up with the best sporting dog standards.

The dogs have won 52 first prizes, along with such titles as the best Canadian bred, group 20; Best of Variety; Four best cockers in show and five championships.

Mrs. Munn shows the dogs herself in the ring and is a noted handler. She has completed the championship on three dogs and has two more that she is confident will finish in another show or two.

Should The South Grow More Macs?

An interesting viewpoint on increasing the production of Mac apples in the south end of the valley (Oliver and Osoyoos) is expressed in his column "Orchard Run" by Wally Smith, Oliver grower. It would be interesting to know what growers hereabouts think about it — would earlier Macs tend to take the edge off the market by the time the main crop began to move. It is such questions as this which need to be thoroughly aired. As Mr. Smith says "every grower is free to produce what he pleases, but by the same token every grower should be reasonably sure before planting that what he plans to produce is in long range demand.

Mr. Smith's column follows:
ORCHARD RUN
by Wally Smith

Mac Shortage

For years they have been telling the growers in the Oliver and Osoyoos districts "Don't plant Mac apples; we have all the trade we can handle in the central and northern parts of the valley."

Growers here were told to plant Red Delicious and Wine-sap varieties, and this was good advice, but warning us away from McIntosh has turned out to be a mistake.

Now we have the sales agency crying for one hundred carloads of Mac apples before the first of September and falling far short of that mark because there are so few Macs at Oliver and Osoyoos, the only districts physically capable of maturing Mac apples so early in the year.

Early Market

There appears to be a pretty healthy early market for Mac apples, a market that Penticton and Kelowna districts find it impossible to fill because of their late season. Ontario and Minnesota Macs have been crowding into this early market and this has been causing considerable worry to our sales officials in Kelowna.

Only one way for Tree Fruits Ltd. to meet this kind of competition, and that's to get a sufficient supply of Macs from Oliver and Osoyoos. That's going to take a few years to build up even if growers start planting more Macs next spring.

The Mac is a popular apple. It has been popular for many years and likely will continue in popularity for many more years. The tree is hardy, it bears at an early age, and it bears heavily. Some, but not very many, were planted here in the south end of the valley when the project was opened for settlement, but since then every effort has been made to discourage further plantings of Macs in South.

Now if the sales agency really wants sufficient Macs to meet competition from other apple growing districts they should recommend the planting of more Macs at Oliver and Osoyoos. Will they do it, and if they do will Kelowna growers condemn this as heresy and a threat to their economic existence.

No telling how extensive Mac plantings may become at Oliver and Osoyoos if Tree Fruits come right out and recommend Macs, even though they qualify it by saying "in limited quantities." But every grower is free to produce what and as much of it as he wishes. Kelowna has no sacred monopoly on the Mac apple, and if we find it profitable to grow Macs for the early or for the late market, then by all means let's go ahead. It's worth looking into.

Apples Advertised On CNR Trains

Passengers on Canadian National Railways dining cars these days are noticing that their meal checks have acquired a "new look" — each one bears on its reverse side an attractive apple advertisement.

Desirous of promoting an important Canadian industry, officials of Canadian National approached groups of apple growers in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia with the idea that meal check advertising would be just the ticket for their type of business.

Never one to hide their light under a bushel of apples, the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association decided that there was no better way to promote their produce right across the country than by having it brought directly to the attention of the thousands of Canadians who travel each day on Canadian National trains.

So far, apple producers in other provinces have not made a decision on using this novel method of advertising.

Hunting Season Opens End Of Month

A record number of British Columbia sportsmen will take to the woods at the end of this month. With them they will carry the responsibility for the safety of one of the Province's greatest assets.

The forest industry earns more for British Columbia than any other. Loss of the basic raw material — the trees in the forest — means dollar loss to British Columbians all the way from the actual woods worker to the white-collar man or the corner grocery store keeper.

To the sportsman the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs throws this challenge: "Leave the forest as you found it."

It is not difficult to be considerate of the forest. Just the basic thoughtfulness of civilized people is all that is required.

As you step from your car into grassland or woods remember to do these things:

(1) Put out your cigarette. Clean out your pipe. Promise yourself you will sit down when you next have a smoke. When you do have that smoke make sure you have destroyed all source of fire before you get up and move again. The rest will do you good and you will have done your duty to the forest.

(2) If you camp out make sure your fire is first of all in a safe place and of a safe size. When you are finished with it float it away in water so that it cannot possibly re-ignite.

(3) Respect the law. Obtain all necessary permissions and permits.

This year more forest land than ever before will be open to the public. Through the efforts of the Federation of logging operators and forest managers have been convinced that the sportsman is the safest traveler in the forest. To make the argument convincing hunters and fishermen and campers too must prove the Federation's claim.

Safety of every description is a very personal thing. Danger is the property of the whole community. If each individual takes care of his share of safe travel, safe camping and safe gun handling no one will be hurt or lost. History has proven that danger need only be in one pair of hands to bring tragedy where good sportsmanship belongs.

If You're Lost Follow Water

With hunting season near the following editorial from the Kelowna Courier is worth repeating:

Down around Wenatchee the other day there was re-enacted an oft repeated story. An army officer went fishing in the hills and was out for twelve days. He finally stumbled out of the woods into civilization near Cle Elum after he had been given up as a victim of some hitch-hiker he had picked up.

He must have been a very bewildered fisherman to walk over a week in a 10-mile circle. The route took him up hillsides and down, through brush and undergrowth.

The incident brings to mind the advice of an experienced mountaineer — advice that anyone who hikes or fishes or hunts in the back country should always remember. If you're lost, go downhill. In this country, if you follow the downgrade of a stream you are bound to come out in civilization. Every stream in this area eventually finds its way to Okanagan Lake while if you should have crossed the crests of the ridge down hill will bring you out into another habitated valley. If you can't find a stream, follow a ravine or canyon down hill. Or if the going is easier follow a ridge on the downward slope.

If you go across country, the chances are you will go in a circle; to the left if you're left handed, to the right if you're right handed. Had the army officer down in Washington gone down stream, he would have been lost, not twelve, but less than two days.

People Are Welcome In Canada

Although most Canadians have been generously willing to welcome the thousands of Hungarian refugee to this country, some are worried about how the influx will effect our prosperity.

There are questions being asked about the possibilities of Canadians losing their jobs to the newcomers, or at least having our high wage scale reduced by the competition.

The economic experts of our country feel that these are normal questions but claim that Canada's record proves that heavy immigration encourages prosperity and boosts expansion.

Professor David C. Corbett, of the University of British Columbia, author of a new book, "Canada's Immigration Policy," argues that this country is under populated and can absorb a heavy flow of immigrants for at least another 10 years.

He points out that if the size of our population increases our transportation industry can increase its capacity and cut costs per unit the more people it serves.

In manufacturing too, he says, Canadian industries would reduce prices if their operations were on a larger scale made possible by a bigger population, and thus a bigger domestic market. Industry would have more opportunity for specialization, more mass production and more use of modern techniques of automation.

Professor Corbett also claims that the per capita cost of government services could be reduced if the population were larger.

Immigrants who have come to Canada since the end of the war have become integrated in a broad range of occupations, almost as varied as the Canadian labor force itself.

This, he said, should calm fears that immigrants would find job opportunities restricted for them to the less-skilled and lower-paid fields, a situation which might have lowered our standards of living generally.

Logie informed his relatives that he had arrived in France. Since going over to England he has transferred to the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders.

Owing to the fact that there is now a box for late letters on the CPR wharf, Postmaster Hayes does not consider it necessary that the postoffice be held open for late mail. Therefore on and after the first of September, nine o'clock, the old hour of closing the north mall, will be resumed.

Mid-Week Message

Scripture: 2 Corinthians 10:1-7

THOUGHT FOR TODAY: Bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ. 2 Cor. 10:5.

In England I stood before a large door which was reputed to be the only remaining physical evidence of John Bunyan's prison. These words came to my mind:

"Stone walls do not a prison make Nor iron bars a cage."

I could see this door as part of a stronghold that could imprison the physical body but could not stifle the indomitable spirit of one who was determined to tell the story of Pilgrim's Progress. Although John Bunyan spent twelve years of his life in jail for his religious beliefs, the allegory of the soul's adventure which he wrote, first published in 1678, has been translated into a hundred languages and has encircled the globe.

It would seem that Bunyan was meagerly equipped to write a book. He was a tinker and the son of a tinker. He was poorly educated. In spite of discouragements, frustrations, and sorrows, he was used of God to write a story which has inspired millions to become followers of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Whatever may form the confines of our prison, there is available an inner freedom.

PRAYER: Our gracious heavenly Father, help us to manifest in practical living the freedom which we have in Christ Jesus. Guide us in our pilgrimage to the Celestial City. Amen.

Plan To Allow Teachers More Time For Teaching

A new concept of school staffing designed to give the teacher complete opportunity to teach will be presented to the B.C. School Trustees Association 53rd annual convention at the Empress Hotel Sept. 23 - 25. Known informally as the "teacher aide" plan it will be described by Charles B. Park, director of special studies at Central Michigan College, and one of the leaders in education in North America.

"Teacher aide" experiments and investigations are known formally as "Co-operative Studies for the Better Utilization of Teacher Competencies."

Reduced to simplest terms, the plan proposes to use non-professional assistance for routine school room tasks and by removing this load permit the teacher to devote his or her whole time to teaching.

The experiments have been centered so far around Bay City, Mich., and have been under the direction of Mr. Park. They are financed by the Ford Foundation and carried out by Central Michigan College in co-operation with Bay City schools.

Mr. Park obtained his bachelor's degree at Michigan State University; and his master's at University of Michigan.

He took advanced training at Northwestern University, Colorado Teachers College, University of Michigan and Michigan State University.

A teacher for 14 years and a high school principal for three years, he then served for 23 years as superintendent of schools at Reading, Mt. Pleasant and Bay City, Mich.

He became assistant director of special studies at Central Michigan College and after nine years in this post, was appointed director of the department.

During this active professional career he has served with many of the associations and groups in education.

Mr. Park was originator of the Michigan Parent Institute, where parents go to school and students take over the home.

He developed a "pay as you go" building program in Bay City which, over a 15-year period, will provide all new elementary schools and improved secondary schools with no bond interest cost.

Mr. Park developed the neighborhood plan of school organization in which a number of small elementary schools surround Grades 5-8 intermediate schools, a plan which has proved educationally sound and economical in cost and travel.

He originated the Teacher Aid plan in co-operation with Central Michigan College and Bay City Schools.

Mr. Park also originated the "Experimental Scholarship" for recruitment of teachers, a plan which provides at-home training and includes classroom experience.

He is now developing a five-year program of off-campus recruitment and teacher education pointed toward superior high school graduates who can't afford to attend college.

NEW BREWERY IN THE CARIBOO

Caribou Brewing Co. Ltd.'s new plant in Prince George was officially opened Sept. 6 with the company playing host to business and civic leaders in the area. President is Don Lauder.

The plant, B.C.'s newest brewery, has been in production since July and its "Caribou Lager" is expected to be on sale in government liquor stores this week.

The brewery is located on a 7½ acre site on the Nechako River, just outside Prince George. It is adjacent to the new bridge at Mile Zero on the John Hart Highway.

The plant has a capacity of 200 barrels (5000 gallons) per brew and all equipment is the most modern obtainable. It has its own artesian well and the final filtration equipment for the beer is the first of its kind produced and installed in Canada.

"Caribou Lager," said Brewmaster Gene Zarek, "is characterized by a rich malt flavor and mild hop aroma, blended especially to appeal to the outdoor appetites of British Columbia."

Sales manager for "Caribou" beer is J. G. "Jack" Haywood who has been connected with the brewing industry in B.C. since 1944.

The Hi-Life

by Dot Carston

Well, can you imagine that we have a whole ten months of that wonderful experience called school? The new addition has certainly helped to deflate the rush hour traffic tie-up! You will observe, I hope, that there are only 3 minutes instead of 5 in between periods in which you must make a wild dash to your next class.

I see quite a number of new faces in both the student assembly and the faculty. I hope to get some time later on to interview a few of the newer additions to the student body.

The Senior Student Council held its first meeting on Friday and Bruce Brown presided over his first meeting as President. The main part of the meeting consisted of a discussion on the Student Council Conference to be held in Summerland in early November.

I'd like to welcome the grade seven students and we all hope that you help to make High School enjoyable for yourselves and the older students by sticking to the rules and regulations. That seems to be about all for this week. So-long.

Shower Held In Honor Of Francis Atkinson

Frances Atkinson, a September bride-elect, found a Pot of Gold at the foot of a rainbow containing many varied and useful gifts when a shower given by Mrs. H. R. J. Richards and Mrs. A. F. Crawford was given on September 4, at the latter's home.

On the table from which refreshments were served was a prettily decorated twin heart cake centred by a tiny musical bride-doll.

Guests included, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, mother of the bride, Mrs. Les Gould, Mrs. Lionel Fudge, Mrs. Regina Cornish, Mrs. A. K. ## Salmon Steak

A large, delectable, cooked salmon, artfully and tastefully garnished, is always a popular buffet feature. As will be demonstrated at the buffet luncheon held by the Fisheries Council of Canada in Ottawa to open National Fish Week, Sept. 18 to 28. The chefs at the Chat. eau Laurier will do themselves proud with a luscious array of fish and seafood specialties, one of the most outstanding of which will be a whole decorated salmon.

It is an excellent time of the year to enjoy this fish, so rich in flavor, color and food value. And if a whole cooked salmon in the manner of haute cuisine doesn't fit into your scheme of things, salmon steaks are a reasonable facsimile. Broiled or poached, and served hot or cold with a subtly-seasoned sauce, they have wide appeal. And — they don't strain the budget. Sauce Remoulade has long been a favorite for fish. This version makes a natural teammate for rosy-hued salmon steaks, also is a nice accompaniment for other fish steaks and fillets or canned fish.

SAUCE REMOULADE

2 cups mayonnaise
1 clove garlic finely chopped
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 hard cooked eggs, finely chopped
1 tablespoon capers

Blend ingredients thoroughly and let stand two hours before serving.

RED SOX WIN LEAGUE TITLE

Here is Ashnola Slipper, Summerland born and raised, who two years ago won the best Cocker in show at the PNE and who this year won a special award for her championship, having her name engraved in gold on a rosette. Mrs. Munn, owner, is handling the prize winner.

Carl Sheeley emerged hero of the Sunday doubleheader which saw the Summerland Red Sox win the junior league championship and advance into the Okanagan Valley finals against Vernon.

The Red Sox, behind iron man Sheeley's pitching won the doubleheader 4-0, 4-3.

Sheeley's brilliant performance in which he yielded only one hit in the first game and only four in the second was nicely timed to demonstrate his right to the title of the most valuable player in the Red Sox roster.

Carl was presented with the A. W. Vanderburgh trophy, a handsome cup donated by Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh and family in memory of the late Dr. Vanderburgh, a Summerland Good Citizen, a baseball player of some repute and a strong booster for junior sports.

The presentation was made by Harry Vanderburgh, brother of the late Doctor Vanderburgh.

It was do or die for the Red Sox when they took the field against the Naramata nine here Sunday. The Red Sox had dropped the first game of the best of three series 6-1 at Naramata. To stay in they had to win two in a row and they did.

The Summerland crew played errorless ball in the first game behind Sheeley's one hit pitching while they clouted Naramata for eight hits. Sheeley struck out 14 in this game allowing only four bases on balls.

In the second tilt Sheeley was nicked for four hits, gave one walk but retired 12 batters by the strikeout route.

Red Sox got to Naramata for 10 hits to score four runs.

Summerland travels to Vernon on Sunday for the first game of a best of three series.

Results of Rotary-Red Cross swimming tests held recently in Summerland have been announced.

Amy Berry, one of the teachers at Pottery Beach this summer and Wayne McCarger and Caroline Reid won their bronze medallions for life saving.

Dianne Haggman passed her senior swimming test at Empire Pool in Vancouver recently. Barbara Fudge received a bar for her bronze medallion, also passing the test at Empire Pool.

Fishing Notes

By BERT BERRY

There has been a let down on fishing this last week but the few reports we have had have been good.

Fish Lake Camp—Upper lakes all report nice catches.

Esperon Lake—A couple of reports, not too big but lots of fish.

Bear Lake—Only one report that it was slow but should be better now.

Headwaters Camp — All poison out now.

Brenda and McDonald Lakes —Some nice fish here especially in Brenda.

Silver Lake—No reports but should be OK.

Richter Lake—Big news from here. G. Pennington caught five fish from 2½ lbs to 8½ lbs one afternoon last week.

Several parties going up the Thompson River to the salmon run. Fish over 40 lbs. have been landed.

As a general rule fishing should be improving from now on in all bodies of water. The Okanagan has been rough and fishermen have had only fair fishing but will be worth the try again this week especially around Wilson's Landing and the east side of the lake.

HUNTING—
Saturday the grouse season opens in this district, bag limit same as last, 6 of any one kind or 8 total. Season opens on bucks on Sunday with two bucks the limit on opening day.

Various reports in on grouse, not too many reported and best reports seem to be from lower levels. Not too many reports on deer but a fellow could be lucky and run into some. Best spots should be on Bald Range and Baldy Mt. Quite a few black bear on both these spots.

Farm Labour Report

The Federal-Provincial Farm Labour Service for British Columbia has not had any serious problems to date during the 1957 season. Operations commenced in May and will continue until the tree fruit crop is harvested in the Okanagan and Kootenay areas.

Harvesting Small Fruit

With the exception of an occasional day, sufficient pickers were available for harvesting the strawberry, raspberry, and other small fruit crops on Vancouver Island and in the Fraser Valley.

The strawberry crop of 650 tons in Saanich Peninsula required every available picker during the height of the season. Eight special buses were used to transport pickers daily from Victoria to Saanich. A considerable increase in farm placements from the Victoria National Employment Service office is shown as follows.

Year	Misc.	Fruit	Total
1954	18	731	749
1955	119	1060	1179
1956	111	752	863
1957	5	1760	1765

Available Labor

For the first time in several years there has been an adequate supply of farm labor in the Okanagan districts during June, July and August. The supply proved adequate to harvest the cherry, apricot and peach crops. It is imperative that every effort be made to provide sufficient labor to harvest the apple and pear crop. Growers are urged to keep a available labor employed so that pickers will be encouraged to remain in the fruit districts.

Tree Fruit Crop

Estimates by the British Columbia Department of Agriculture indicate approximately 6,000,000 boxes of apples, 115,000 boxes of crabapples, 726,000 boxes of pears and 526,000 boxes of prunes to be harvested this season. The fruit is maturing earlier than usual with good color and size and it is anticipated that harvesting will be in full swing earlier than for several years.

Reduced railway fares were available from Alberta and Saskatchewan to points in the Okanagan and Fraser Valley but the Federal-Provincial Farm Labour Service did not find it necessary to bring in any labour for harvesting the small fruit crops or stone fruit crops.

A considerable number of people came to the Okanagan on their own initiative which boosted the available labour supply.

Employment of Students

Considerable number of students were employed during July and August in harvesting cannerly crops and fruit crops.

It may be necessary to employ some during September to harvest the late cannerly crops and the anticipated large McIntosh apple crop. Every effort is being made to reduce the number to a minimum and local school boards, Federal-Provincial Farm Labor Service officials, Department of Education officials, etc., are co-operating to this end.

Emergency Measures

If emergencies arise in any district, extra labor will be recruited from other districts and sent in. Assurance has been received from the Department of Immigration that they will co-operate in every possible way.

Local Kiwanians Feed Multitude

A mammoth job of feeding the multitude was done by the Summerland Kiwanis Club which was host to more than 1200 Kiwanians at a Smorgasbord held at the Summerland Experimental Station on Monday evening.

The Smorgasbord was the Summerland Kiwanians contribution to entertaining visiting Kiwanians attending the 40th annual Pacific Convention held in Penticton.

Highlight of the enjoyable event was a concert by the Summerland High School Band under the baton of Bandmaster John Tamblin, and a pipe concert by the Vernon girls' MacIntosh Pipe Band.

ENJOY TOMORROW'S VACATION
— BY PLANNING FOR IT TODAY!

For most of us, it's a bit late to talk about saving for this year's holiday. But it's never too soon to plan for those you've just been hoping for next year.

Many Bank of Montreal customers have found that the easy way to save for first-rate yearly vacations is by starting early. Before they get the sand out of their shoes this year, they'll be saving for next summer's holiday jaunt! They keep a special Savings Account for the purpose — their "Sunshine Account."

Good sense? Of course it is. Most of us have endured a "pinch-penny" holiday or two. Every day we've wondered how much we could afford to do and still have just enough money left for the trip home. And we've promised ourselves "never again!"

The way to keep that promise is a program of year-round saving, putting aside enough for a day or two's holiday every month. And the best way to carry out a program of regular saving is through Personal Planning, the Bank of Montreal's system of money management for the family or individual. Personal Planning has shown many Canadians how to save despite today's high cost of living, and it can help you, too. Any member of the staff at the Summerland Bank of Montreal will be pleased to give you literature on Personal Planning and help you open your "Sunshine Account." Why not drop in next time you are passing?

Asinola Boot, with owner and handler Mrs. W. H. B. Munn, proudly awaits his championship ribbon won at the B.C. Ladies Kennel show.

Church Asks For Tax Exemption

Church buildings not wholly under the new Municipal Act, used for Church purposes can still be exempt from taxation. This was disclosed by municipal clerk Gordon Smith in council meeting Tuesday, who said that the portion of the building used for church purposes could be exempt.

Council was considering a request from the Pentecostal Church that the church building, other than that portion used for living quarters, be exempted from taxation.

The municipal assessor will inspect the church and report back to council.

Mr. Smith also reported that under the new act any new application for church tax exemption must be made before the end of November.

BIGGEST "DOPES" TOP DRINKERS, HEAVY Smoker — YOU NAME IT, CANADA HAS IT

While Canadians enjoy a high standard of living some of the other high statistics aren't so good. Are we better than other people? The Financial Post recently gave some statistics on the matter.

Canada stands topmost among the nations in drug addicts per million population. (Part of the reason for the eminence here is merely that we are pretty good at counting our addicts. Some countries are very casual about it.)

To suicide Canadians are not prone. Our score is 7.1 per 100,000 population. Only Greece at 3.6 is materially lower. Comparatively the figures for some other parts of the world are astonishing: West Berlin 29.6, Japan 25.2, Denmark 23.3, U.K. 10.6 and U.S. 10.1.

Canada's beer consumption per head of population is 13.3 gallons, about the same as the U.S. The British put down 17.8 gallons and the Belgians lead with 30.8 gallons, followed by Australia with 23.8 gallons.

On spirits the Swedes lead with 1.08 gallons. America comes next with 0.89 which is twice the Canadian consumption of 0.40, about the same as for the Netherlands, New Zealand, Germany and France.

On tobacco consumption, Canada leads the world in all forms of tobacco. We use 6.8 pounds a year — just a shade more than the Americans. Australia is 5.1, United Kingdom 4.8 and Italy 2.1.

Figures are not available for comparison with communist con-

ZONING BYLAW IS MAINTAINED

Summerland council will back the zoning bylaw, which states that gasoline pumps must be set back 40 feet from the highway.

The Royalite Co., on behalf of J. C. Sproule asked that pumps be allowed at 25 feet. Yesterday afternoon the council instructed the clerk to tell the company that they are not prepared to make any change in the bylaw requiring the 40 foot setback.

VISITORS OF KEY CLUB VISIT SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

The Senior Department of the High School held their first assembly of the school year on Tuesday. Guest speakers introduced by Ed Matsu were Richard Nix and Chuck Martin of Washington. The two boys gave an outline on the new Key Club that has been formed in the High School. Richard Nix is Trustee of the Northwest Key Club and Chuck Martin is Governor. They mentioned that the Club's main projects are concerned with improving the appearance of the schools and communities.

The Dallas, Texas group spearheaded a drive to obliterate a crime wave of juvenile delinquency, and in Portland, Ore., the club staged a Youth Rally to show the adults that not all teenagers were involved in juvenile delinquency. At the rally 2,000 young people pledged allegiance to Key Club projects all over the North American continent.

Before closing the Assembly, Mr. Macleod announced the executive of the Summerland Key Club: President - Ed Matsu; Vice-President - Carl Sheeley; Secretary - Dale Gunnarson, and Treasurer - Mayne McCutcheon.

Cost Of Providing Rest Rooms ?

Estimates from the Works Department on the cost of installing permanent rest room facilities adjacent to Memorial Park were requested by Municipal Council.

"We're not going to do anything about it right away, but it is something that will have to be done and it will be just as well to have some idea of the cost," commented Reeve Atkinson.

The Summerland Board of Trade would like the people who haven't yet claimed the prizes they won at the Agricultural Show in the Arena to do so as soon as possible at Alec Watt's office.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

KURFURSTENDAMM — Here we go again, back junketing in Europe with the Penticton Vees, but it seems there are so many sparks floating around to explode the magazine of memory. Like seeing the name Kurfurstendamm in print this morning. No, it's not a swear word. Kurfurstendamm is the name of West Berlin's big shopping street, a broad avenue lined with ultra-modern office buildings, swish stores and what have you. The Kurfurstendamm is West Berlin's great, white way, the street on which, it is said, anything that can be sold, can be bought. Among other things this famous street is part and parcel of the cold war. It is a show case for the Western World in tragically divided Berlin. It's quite a street, starts out from the rubble of a bombed out church and ends in rubble. As for the name, you would think that once having known it, you couldn't forget it, but I did.

On this trip I was covering for BUP as well as the Penticton Herald and as there was no guarantee that I could get hold of a person who could take dictation in English, it was thought better for me to hop along to the United Press office, located on the Kurfurstendamm, to write and file my stories. So this reporter in a hurry, dashed out of the Berlin Sports Palast after the first exhibition game and hopped into a taxi. The driver, an old codger, jolted off, then looked back for directions, "United Press . . . on the . . ." "I couldn't remember Kurfurstendamm."

"UNITED PRESS" I shouted, in the belief, most of us English-speaking people have, that if you shout loud enough the foreigners will understand.

"Ja" rumbled the driver.

I peered out of the taxi window and figured we were going the wrong way.

"UNITED PRESS" I hollered still wracking my brain for the magic word Kurfurstendamm which would put the driver on the right track.

I tried by sweeping gesture of the arm to show the driver that we were headed wrong.

"Nein! Nein!" he shouted.

UNITED PRESS!

JAI JAI!

I was beginning to worry. We were in a dreary district of slatternly houses and factories and rubble. This was West Berlin and it seemed to me we were headed for East Berlin. I had visions of newspaper headlines "Canadian newspaperman disappears behind Iron Curtain."

"United Press" I shouted and the louder I shouted, the louder the driver shouted "Ja" and the more he stepped on the gas. I don't think he was any happier with his passenger than I was with my driver.

We were scuttling through some mean streets, twisting and turning, and I was seriously thinking of conking the old gaffer and making my escape. "United Press" I kept shouting without hope. "Ja, Ja" he would reply and then suddenly we slammed to a stop.

The driver was out in double quick time spouting a torrent of German as he crossed to what looked to be a small general store. He went in, but was out in a jiffy with another old character. This old timer was evidently supposed to know English, but I could not make him understand. Then a big fat frau joined the debate until the whole danged family was out. Each in turn would come to the car window. I would try to explain, then they would all go into a huddle. Neighbors joined in. But no one could make sense of my bleatings about United Press. Then at last another man came along and there was great rejoicing amongst the crowd. They almost mobbed him. Here at last was a man who understood some English. He agreed to go along with the driver and do the translating but two others also decided to come along.

We all jammed into the small taxi, the smallest of the Austin car family, and the air quickly became redolent with the scent of garlic and liverwurst. But, at least, my chances of getting to the United Press office were brighter than they had been since I'd left the Sport Palast. The old driver, unable to make sense out of anything I said, had, I gathered, simply bolted to his home to find a translator.

My new-found, but skimpy English speaking friend, could understand that I wanted the United Press Office, but he had no idea of its location. So I described the bombed out church with the clock tower still intact that stands at one end of the Kurfurstendamm. That was our objective when to the chorus of "Auf Wiedersehen" we moved off.

We arrived at the church — it was the wrong church. There was another council of war, still we weren't getting anywhere and time was ticking on and then, out of the blue came a lightning bolt that lit up my mind. I said something about "First dam" — the German said "Firstendamm" — there was a great chorus of "Jas" the taxi lurched off and there within one block — the blazing white way of the Kurfurstendamm.

The payoff—taxi fare from the hotel to the Sport Palast which was a longer ride than the direct route from the Sport Palast to the United Press office, was only one and half marks. But the taxi bill to get back was 25 marks, I settled for 15 marks.

Reports Indicate Summerland Legion Branch Very Active

Present at the well attended meeting of Summerland Branch No. 22, Canadian Legion, last Wednesday were A. Calvert, of Sidney, B.C., a former president and secretary of the branch and J. Bolton, Zone Commander of Penticton.

The branch will attend Divine Service at St. Stephens Anglican Church on Sunday and it is hoped that the Ladies' Auxiliary will also join with the Legion at the parade and the service also.

Branch Chaplain Rev. A. A. Northrup offered prayers prior to the opening of the meeting.

It was agreed that the branch make a donation to assist in the establishment of a home for boys in need of guidance and help, and to generally assist in their welfare. This project has been sponsored by headquarters of the Legion in line with the aims and ideals of the Legion of service to the community and the youth of Canada.

Reports were given by the chairmen of the various committees, sick, canteen, membership etc. It was reported that membership is still making headway and in this connection two candidates were accepted for enrollment, the initiation being carried out by A. Calvert, H. C. Howis and President W. C. McCutcheon.

Complete coverage of scouting activities to date was given by D. V. Fisher and mention made of plans for the future.

Former secretary Ivan E. Phillips consented to act as chairman of this year's Poppy Day campaign.

Gun Blast Brands Car And Stops Chicken Theft

DON'T SHOOT — that's a bottle fed baby you see pictured above asking Mrs. George Stoll not to sleep the day away but to get up and romp. As a fawn the healthy looking critter shown above was separated from its mother and was found near to death. Nursed back to life, the deer was taken back into the mountain, but evidently the fleshpots of civilization were more attractive than the wide open spaces and so, the deer showed up on the Stoll orchard, liked what it saw and adopted the Stolls forthwith.

First Fruit Fair In "Red" But Another Is Planned

Tame deer on George Stoll's lawn pauses for a breather. Dog and deer play together as a matter of course.

Summerland Brings Home Fair Share Of Fair Awards

W. F. Ward of Summerland was a winner of many prizes and a trophy at the Armstrong Fair recently held in the northern community. He was awarded the Dr. R. C. Palmer Memorial Trophy for box exhibits; top prize in the fruit plate classes, first for Flemish and Anjou pears and second for Bartlett's. He was also presented with a special prize for three plates of fruit and for his McIntosh which were the best plate in the show.

Mrs. James Darke and Mrs. J. Heichart brought home prizes for beautiful hand made quilts and Mrs. George Inglis won prizes won prizes in the fancy work division.

Mrs. E. C. Bingham and Wm. May took flower awards while Mr. Ingham won a number of prizes for his fruit.

The Muir family of Faulder who recently placed third in agricultural exhibits at the P.N.E. also won awards at the Fair.

Annual Meeting Midget Hockey League Friday

More than 140 youngsters participated in Midget hockey in Summerland last season and it looks as if there will be more than that during the coming season.

"That is why," says George Stoll, "we need lots of help."

The Midget Hockey League is to be held on Friday night at 8 p.m. in the Summerland Arena. All interested in helping to organize the youngsters for another big year of hockey are invited to attend.

PLAN REVIVAL SUMMERLAND'S SENIOR BASKETBALL TEAM

A revival of interest in basketball appears on the cards this season.

Summerland's senior basketball team is to be reorganized after four years of inactivity.

A reorganization meeting has been called for Monday at 7 p.m. in the Nu-Way Cafe and all players and others interested in reviving the game are requested to attend.

Summerland has been invited to join the interior league, playing against Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton.

The Summerland Recreation Commission will sponsor the team.

Summerland's first annual Fruit Fair ended up in the red, but despite the $260 loss, the Summerland Board of Trade indicated at last Thursday's meeting that it would go ahead with plans for a bigger and better Fair next year, to tie in with Summerland's Centennial celebrations.

Board of Trade president Roy Wellwood expressed satisfaction at the large turnout for the first meeting since the summer recess.

Reports on Summerland's labor day weekend celebrations which saw the first appearance of the Giant of Giant's Head were given by the chairmen of the respective committees.

Considerable emphasis was given to the assistance received from outside the Board of Trade in the staging of the event, and a hearty vote of thanks was officially extended by the board to all who assisted.

Jerry Laidlaw, reporting on the Horseshoe tournament, stated that it had been an unqualified success, drawing horseshoe players, including the B.C. champion and ex-champion from Vancouver, Trail, Lavington, Vernon, Kelowna, Penticton, Oliver, Osoyoos and Trail. Mr. Laidlaw indicated he was looking for a bigger and better tournament next year. Visiting players informed Mr. Laidlaw that the Summerland tournament was among the best they had attended.

Cece Wade, chairman of the stalls committee, reported that the fruit stalls had not been patronized to extent and that this aspect of the fair would have to receive serious consideration before another year. We cannot expect growers to stock and man stalls for no purpose. Roadside fruit stands did a roaring business over the labor day weekend, Mr. Wade pointed out. (Continued on Back Page)

Careless Smoker Believed To Have Started Bush Fire

A grass fire, believed caused by a carelessly thrown cigarette started a two alarm blaze on the property of Miss Marion Cartwright on the hillside above West Summerland Tuesday afternoon. The Summerland Fire Brigade quickly brought the blaze under control.

"Red" Beggs' chickens stayed on the roost Friday night last week, but chickens came home to roost for two young Summerlanders on Tuesday when they appeared before Police Magistrate Robert Alstead and were fined $75 and costs on a charge of theft.

RCMP had no trouble picking up the culprits, Eric Karstrom and Albin Doran Francis Logie, who were caught in the act by Mr. Beggs who was able to identify one of them. Apart from that Mr. Beggs left his mark on the culprits car when he blasted it with his shotgun, after they had already loaded some chickens.

The Summerland poultry raiser had suffered from chicken thieves some weeks earlier and fearing another raid Mr. Beggs maintained a night guard, sleeping in the loft.

His vigil paid off.

Commenting on the case, Magistrate Alstead declared that this poultry thieving had to be stamped out. He warned Logie and Karstrom that this is an indictable offense with a penalty ranging up to $500 or two years imprisonment or both, and also that if the value of the stolen property in their possession had exceeded $50 a prison term would have been mandatory.

On the same night of the Beggs raid, and at approximately the same time, there was another raid on another poultry house with more than 30 birds stolen.

Car Shears Off Power Pole Here

A power pole was sheared off on Giant's Head road just south of the cemetery on Sunday morning when a car driven by Stuart Raymond Monro, Penticton, smashed into it.

Monro appeared in Summerland police court Tuesday and was found guilty of driving without due care and attention and was fined $75 and costs.

No one was hurt, but the car suffered $600 damage and property damage is estimated at $200.

In the same police court Harold Riske, Summerland, was fined $25 and costs for driving without a license.

Sheila Bennison Wins $100 Bursary

Miss Sheila Bennison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennison, has been awarded a $100 Oddfellow and Rebekah Joint bursary.

Five $100 bursaries are given each year in B.C. to worthy students wishing to further their education.

Sheila is presently attending the Herbert Business College in Kelowna, and will also be playing basketball with the Kelowna sr. girls team.

Visiting Rotarians Receive Keys To Summerland

Roeve F. E. Atkinson, a Rotarian, presented several recent guests from New Zealand with a golden key to the community engraved with "Summerland" and bearing a red-coated RCMP on the top.

The young business men from New Zealand Rotary district 39, were brought to Summerland by Penticton Rotarians and were entertained at the regular supper last night in the Masonic Hall.

The leader of the group from New Zealand told of the purpose for this golden anniversary project of international youth exchange. Each visitor then introduced himself and told of his particular business.

Gordon Smith showed an interesting film of the St. Lawrence Seaway while R. S. McLachlan, president, presided in the chair.

Roadside Fruit Stands Not Wise To Cut Prices

ORCHARD RUN
by WALLY SMITH

Cut Prices
If the price tag is kept on an article long enough, that price will become the standard of value for that article. It doesn't matter whether the price is actually below cost of production, or whether it is high enough to show a handsome profit.

Whatever it is, the buying public soon comes to accept as the standard of value the price fixed by the seller. And this brings us to the subject of this week's column—the retail prices roadside and orchard fruit stand operators are charging for their goods.

For the last two or three years apricots, peaches, cherries, apples, pears—just about everything—have been sold on the highway at ridiculously low prices. Price signs prominently displayed have shouted figures of "Peaches - $1.00 a Box," and so on.

Share the Wealth
You'd think the fruit growers were enjoying an era of boundless prosperity and were anxious to share their wealth with the passing motorist. The truth is a royal commission is investigating the fruit industry to find out why the fruit grower is going broke.

Price cutting, even to a point below cost of production, has become an annual affair. There is no co-operation to maintain fair prices, and the buying public is coming to accept as the true value the cut prices seen on the roadside stands.

The other day I ran across a story about The Prophet and The Asses. It seems that a famous sheik owned a great herd of donkeys which were exceptionally clever and were the pride and joy of his life. One time a learned prophet came to visit the sheik and to see if the asses were as wise as they were reputed to be.

Co-operation
He addressed the asses: "Let us test our wisdom. Answer me this question: what would an ass require for a three days' journey?" And they counselled among themselves and then replied: "For a three days' journey, O Prophet, any ass would require six bundles of hay and three bags of dates."

"Very good," quoth the Prophet. "That soundeth like a fair and proper price. But wait, I have for one of you a three days' journey, but I will not give six bundles of hay and three bags of dates for making it. Let him who will go for less stand forth."

Price Cutting
...And behold they all stood forth and all began to talk at once. One would go for six bundles of hay and two bags of dates. Then another for three bundles of hay and one bag of dates, until finally one especially long-eared ass agreed to go for one bundle of hay.

Then spake the Prophet, "Fool," quoth he, "you cannot even live for three days on one bundle of hay, much less profit from the journey."

"True, O Prophet," said the long-eared ass, "but I wanted to get the order."

Then shaking his head sadly, the Prophet said, "This ass is indeed a price-cutter, and a price-cutter is indeed an ass."

Promenade

The tinge of fall is becoming evident around us and once more our thoughts turn to the square dance season. All square dancers and those who might be interested will be contacted by mail. We would like to have a good class this year so you are urged to come out on September 26th and find out what we are planning to do.

This warm-up party will be conducted as part of a refresher course and there will be basic instruction in square dancing. It will be sponsored by the Pairs and Squares and there will be no charge. Time and place will be announced later.

Why not take a look at this activity that has become international, and if you like it, stay with us for the winter dancing. A cordial welcome is extended to all past, present and future dancers. Les Boyer will be the instructor.

Summerland Man Top Orchardist

Such headlines as the foregoing carried in a widely circulated coast newspaper represents just about the best publicity, paid for or free, that any community could wish to get.

It means something — here we are in the Okanagan Valley, a valley with a world-wide reputation for its high quality fruits and what happens when growers of these top quality fruits in the valley and elsewhere in British Columbia come together in competition? Well as the headline tells a Summerland man emerges as champion — that champion that veteran fruit showman W. F. Ward — and that is not all; running close to Mr. Ward were other Summerland growers. And so once again, as in year's past, the Armstrong Fall Fair has served to demonstrate that when it comes to fruit growing Summerland growers know their business.

The Review congratulates Mr. Ward, Mr. E. C. Bingham, Mr. William May and the Muir family, who did so well at the PNE as well as at the Armstrong fair, on their successes and, on behalf of the community, we extend to them our thanks for the time and effort expended in maintaining and enhancing Summerland's high reputation as a producer of top quality fruits and other agricultural products.

We've Just Begun To Live

Man has been on this earth about a million years, according to archaeologists.

The first 999,900 years of this time he didn't accomplish much. It took most of his energy to exist.

It took him a million years to discover the power of electricity; to unleash the power of the atom; to send messages and pictures through the air; to fly, and to develop most of the things which make life more livable for us today.

Most of these things were unknown a century ago.

And we are moving at an almost breathless pace in discovering and developing further new things.

Of all the discoveries and developments made by man, electricity is the most important in its effect on his everyday life and progress.

It lifted the work load off his shoulders, and gave him leisure. With this leisure, he had more time to think and to make further discoveries.

Each new discovery and development has freed man further from his work load. As he was thus freed, he could step faster.

Now we are moving into the age of automation, where machines not only do our work, but are controlled by other machines. There seems little that the electronic age is coming, and that it will mean less physical work for everyone.

So fast do we move ahead that we already take for granted devices that control our furnaces, refrigerators, electric and gas ranges, pop-up toasters, coffeemakers. Everyone is a form of automation.

In factories, a man, or woman, at a desk can now press a pushbutton and control the operation of a machine doing the work of many men.

Of the million years that man has inhabited the earth, the most exciting period is right now. But the things that lie ahead, yet to be done, dwarf any that have happened in all our history.

It will be fun living the next 25 years. There won't be a dull moment.

We have just begun to really live.

Ten Commandments Of Hunting

1. Thou shalt not employ others to kill thy game for thee, or count game killed by others.
2. Thou shalt speak to the farm owner of land in a gentle grace and kindly entreat him to let thee hunt on his premises, lest he boot thy north end from his domain.
3. Point not thy gun toward any living thing that thou dost not wish to kill. Lo, there are fools and idiots wandering to and fro on the earth, but he who fails to observe this rule is verily the King Imbecile.
4. Shoot not thy shotgun toward cattle, swine, or farm livestock within one-fourth mile of thee. If thou shalt disobey this, the farmer will jab thy pants with his pitchfork till thou roarest for help and thereafter must eat thy meals standing.
5. Unload thy gun before thou enterest an automobile. Then may thy days be long and thy funeral postponed.

6. Take not thy gun by the muzzle to draw it toward thee. Verily so, we foolish human may love thee, and why shouldst thou die?
7. Look not into the muzzle of thy gun whether it be loaded or empty. Verily, an empty gun shooteth out an inquiring eye, and the undertaker groweth rich thereby.
8. Thou shalt not carry thy gun cocked. Verily thou art a mighty hunter, but the hides of thy friends will not turn shot.
9. Climb not fences with thy gun in thy hands. Pfit thy gun through first with the muzzle pointing away from thee and all living things. Better to miss a chance at one crow than to return to thy house with guilt in thy heart and thy friend's hind leg in a basket.
10. All these rules thou shalt obey and live three score and ten. If thou failest, thou shalt sleep in thy nice new coffin or in the prison cell while the mourners go about the street.

Mid-Week Message

Scripture: Colossians 3:12-17.
THOUGHT FOR TODAY: Indeed I count everything as loss because of the surpassing worth of knowing Jesus Christ. Phil. 3:8.

The idea of losing weight is a popular one today and many people struggle to maintain their slimmness. Most efforts are made by strict dieting and calorie counting. A daily check on the scales tells how the battle is going.

We need to examine ourselves daily by the chart of spiritual standards set for us in Christ. There is a lot of flabby self-excess we can afford to lose so our weight will consist only of Christ-likeness.

After an intense examination of the bathroom scale, our young son announced, "I know how the scale works. If you get on it and it says zero, you're nothing!" To those who would really be something for God, the secret is this; Christ must be everything.

Speaking of spiritual development and power and effectiveness, John the Baptist said of Jesus, "He must increase, but I must decrease." He felt that was the way it should be.

The Apostle Paul learned to decrease his own importance and was able to say, "For me to live is Christ and to die is gain." "Whatever gain I had I counted loss for the sake of Christ."

You feel better and are worth more when you have become nothing and Christ has become everything.

PRAYER: Help us, Lord, to yield to Thee. Teach us how to keep our lives in proper balance. Enable us to put first things first, knowing that we shall not want for anything necessary. In Jesus' name, Amen.

Experimental Station Bi-monthly Report

July - August, 1957
Experimental Farm,
Summerland, B.C.

General—

Considerable time has been spent by staff during the past 2 months in preparing briefs at the request of Dean McPhee, Royal Commissioner investigating the Tree Fruit Industry of B.C. These briefs deal with irrigation, winter hardiness, variety adaptability and ecology.

Dr. Fisher, Dr. Mason, Mr. Lapins and Mr. McGibbon attended the A.I.B.S. meetings at Stanford, California. Mr. S. W. Porritt has proceeded on educational leave to O.S.C., Corvallis, to work toward his Ph.D. degree. He has chosen C.A. pear storage as his general field of work.

Dalapon damage to fruit trees M. McGibbon

Experiments with chemical herbicides are being carried out in an attempt to find safe methods to control weed growth around fruit trees. One of the chemicals under test is Dalapon (2, 2-dichloropropionic acid). It has been of interest because of its capacity to control grasses, especially couch grass (Agropyron repens).

In one experiment at Summerland in 1957, weed growth around spring-planted Elberta peach trees was sprayed with Dalapon in June. The material was applied to a five-foot diameter circle around each tree varying from 5 to 40 pounds per acre. Within a month, definite symptoms of damage were visible on trees sprayed at the 5 pound per acre rate and damage was progressively more severe at the higher rates.

Dalapon damage has also been observed on apricot, cherry, plum and some young apple trees. Some older trees that have been treated with light applications of Dalapon for two years do not show any visible symptoms of damage.

Observations at Summerland to date indicate that Dalapon should not be used around any stone fruit trees or young apple trees. It cannot be recommended for use around older apple or pear trees until there has been more time to assess its possible long term effects.

Changes in Firmness of McIntosh Apples at 32 and 70 degrees F. — S. Porritt

Under certain circumstances flesh firmness of McIntosh is a useful measurement of condition or ripeness. More information, however, is required to show trends in pressure change at different temperatures. This work was begun last year using temperatures of 32 and 70 degrees F.

A composite sample of medium size Fancy or Extra Fancy McIntosh were used in the tests. In making the tests the average firmness was obtained from two punches on the pared surface of each of ten apples using a 7-16" tip. Fruit held at 70 degrees F. and 80.90 R.H. was tested daily until minimum firmness was reached. The fruit stored at 32 degrees was tested each week.

Results—

The results of these tests showed quite distinct trends. At both 70 and 32 degrees F. firmness of fruit dropped more or less uniformly to a low value then remained steady. At 70 degrees F. this minimum value (9.8 lbs.) was reached after a reduction in firmness of 8.4 lbs. in only 7 days. At 32 degrees F. firmness dropped 5.0 lbs. before leveling off after 79 days. For fruit to reach a firmness of 10.6 pounds rate of softening was 20 times faster at 70 degrees than at 32 degrees F.

It is evident that Star belongs to the intersterility group of Bing, Lambert and Royal Ann. Sam, an introduction of the Summerland Farm, was found to be intersterile with Deacon. A new introduction from Idaho, Lamida, is intersterile with Van.

In fertile cross-combinations, reciprocal crosses usually gave similar percentages of fruit set. However, combinations of Sam and Van with other varieties appear to be exceptions. Over several years both varieties have given higher set when used as male parents than when used as female parents. For practical purposes the percentages of fruit set have been converted into score values of 1 to 10, giving a fruit set of 1 to 10% the score of 1, a 11 to 20% set the score of 2, etc. The average fruit set involving the above two varieties recorded in score values has been (1945-1956):
Bing x Sam, 5; Lambert x Sam, 5; Star x Sam, 4; Sue x

Sam, 6; Bing x Van 5; Lambert x Van, 6; R. Ann x Van, 6; Star x Van, 4; Sam x Bing, 2; Sam x Lambert, 3; Sam x Star, 2; Sam x Sue, 3; Van x Bing, 2; Van x Lambert, 2; Van x R. Ann 3; Van x Star, 2.

Irrigation Requirements of Tomatoes — J. C. Wilcox

Field tests were made at Summerland in 1956 to determine the irrigation requirements of tomatoes. The tomatoes were put out on May 31 in a sandy loam soil and were given an initial irrigation.

Gypsum electrical resistance blocks were placed in the soil to use as a guide in determining when to irrigate and how much water to apply. For the first month they could not be used for this purpose, as the tomato roots had not spread far enough. During this month, the soil moisture status around the plants was determined by a trowel. Following that the gypsum blocks were found to be a reliable guide.

The irrigation procedure used was to allow the soil in the upper part of the root area to dry down until 80 percent of the available moisture at that point had been used up, then to apply sufficient water to wet the soil down to where it was already wet. This produced good growth and heavy yield of tomatoes.

A summary of the results obtained is given in the accompanying table. During July and August, one-inch irrigations were needed about every ten days. Longer intervals proved satisfactory in September.

Teen Town News

by Dot Carston

Hello there for another week. Teen Town held their regular meeting at the home of Ruby Gronlund a week ago Sunday and as usual I'm just a "wee bit" late. Please excuse the delay.

It was decided to begin again holding our dances every second week. The day however, has been changed to Saturday instead of Friday and the place has been changed also from the Youth Centre to the I.O.O.F. Hall. The next dance then will be held this Saturday evening, September 21st, in the I.O.O.F. Hall beginning at nine o'clock. That then will give you guys time enough to scrape up some dough and ask your favorite girl to the big wing-ding this week. See you all there.

How do you like this for a short "how-do-you-do?"

The Hi-Life

by Dot Carston

Hi there for another week, kids This is going to be my farewell column as far as High School goes. I've done a bit of fast talking this week and finally came up with a solution. I would like to introduce your new reporter — Marj Campbell. I know Marj will do a good job and it will take a job off my hands. Not that I haven't enjoyed being a writer this past year! It's been just scads of fun. At the present moment, however, I just don't see when I would find time to write a big newsy column each week. So to my successor, the best of luck.

This week in school has been pretty well routine but we'll soon get a few clubs going. Fire drill went off very well last Friday with no casualties piling up in the halls or on the stairs.

Oh yes, I almost forgot. The Juniors are going to have their own newspaper reporter this year. Things were kept pretty well Senior last year, so Karen Johanson, a grade seven student, has consented to do a Junior Column this year.

Well, I better bid adios for now. Best of writing to both

New Residents For Summerland

Miss Florence and Miss Eva Howden of Blue Acres, Trout Creek, have sold the house they built next door to the one in which they live during the summer, to G. R. Dent, a lumberman from Squamish. The Howden sisters are leaving next week to spend the winter months at their home in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Dent plan on moving into their new home by the first of November.

"All aboard for Barkerville" will be the 1958 cry of Jack Turnbull, veteran Cariboo and Fraser Valley horseman, who is to drive the Victoria-Barkerville stage run which will be among British Columbia's Centennial highlights.

To Relive Stage Coach Days During Centennial Celebrations

Jack Turnbull, one of British Columbia's most colorful horsemen, will drive the 1958 Centennial stage coach run from Victoria to Barkerville.

Turnbull's career spans more than three decades of ranching in the Cariboo and Fraser Valley, and he is looking forward to the Centennial stage run as the most exciting of all his adventures.

Jack is to supply the stage and six horse team which will carry important Centennial mail, cargo and half a dozen special passengers on next year's historic re-enactment of pioneer B.C. stage coaching.

He is already searching for the coach he wants to use in 1958. "It must be authentic," Turnbull says, "and it must be sturdy enough to stand up to the run." Jack expects he may have to practically rebuild the coach he selects, to strengthen it sufficiently for the 1958 trip.

He will be all through the interior this fall, inspecting old coaches and looking for suitable horses for the 1958 run. He plans to winter them on his Sumas Prairie farm, to be sure they are in condition for the big run. Schedule and final details will be worked out by B.C. Centennial Committee and Mr. Turnbull in the near future.

One thing Jack promises is that the stage coach run will be authentic in all its staging. "The coach, running gear and personnel will measure up to 1858 standards," he says. "We must make this trip ring true historically. We want no movie cowboy touches to it."

Jack expects one of his biggest problems will be putting horses over modern highways. "The roads are one thing we cannot have correct for our purpose. About 90 per cent of the run will be over blacktop. Caring for the horses feet is going to be a tricky job."

To do this Turnbull plans special shoes for his animals, and will carry his own portable blacksmithing equipment with the stage.

A native of Sudbury, Ontario, Jack came to British Columbia in 1925. He trapped, mined and homesteaded in the Cariboo through the hungry thirties, finally shifted his operations to Sumas Prairie in 1940 when he was brought down to stage a rodeo at Chilliwack Cherry Carnival.

When the John Hart highway was opened to traffic Turnbull trucked the first load of Alberta cattle out to market at Vancouver.

A noted horseman, he has been active in Chilliwack Riding Club's famous mounted square dance troupe, and with his wife directs the light horse show at Abbotsford's Central Fraser Valley fair each year.

For years Jack toured Pacific Northwest states and British Columbia, clowning at fairs with a trained saddle horse and donkey. He plans to take a trick horse on the Centennial run, "for fun at the stopping points."

"But there will be no fooling about the trip itself," Jack says. "I am going to be busy all winter getting ready for it. We have got to do the job right."

Homemaking Clinic A Feature Women's Institute Meeting

A clinic on homemaking proved interesting and enjoyable to the members and guests of the Summerland Women's Institute at their first fall meeting, which was held at the Anglican parish hall on Friday afternoon. Questions and answers on household problems were featured, helpful hints in cooking were given, hints in sewing and in the care of house plants were also included. Recipes and apron patterns were exchanged. Members enthusiastically entered into the discussion of the various problems and exchange of ideas.

Mrs. L. W. Rumball, president, was in the chair for the business meeting. Following the reading of the Club Women's Creed a fitting tribute was paid to the memory of a loyal member, Mrs. T. J. Garnett, who passed away recently.

Mrs. Rumball reported that the Summerland Institute had won first in the Village History and the Hope Chest and placed second in the Painting in the Tweedsmuir Competitions in B. C. and these entries have now been sent to Ottawa for national judging. Summerland also won the Grand Aggregate Cup at the P.N.E. having won prizes in twenty exhibits.

Reports on the meeting for the school for handicapped children were given by Mrs. Holler and Mrs. Towgood. Mrs. Vanderburgh asked that anyone having toys or children's records to donate please call her.

Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, convenor of the International Picnic, which was held at Osoyoos on July 19th, reported on the success of that event and thanked the local members for their help. Those who attended from Summerland were Mrs. Ritchie, Mrs. H. C. Whitaker, Mrs. M. E. Collas, Mrs. E. Hookham, Mrs. E. H. Bennett, Mrs. Pearce, Mrs. W. M. Wright, Mrs. Bancroft, Mrs. Rumball, Mrs. W. Plans for the annual Fall Sale which will be held on October 19th at the IOOF hall were discussed and all were urged to help make it a success. Mrs. M. Collas will handle the publicity.

The next meeting will be in charge of the Cultural Activities committee, and a display of fine needlework from foreign lands will be featured. Mrs. J. H. Blackey of Westbank will be invited to tell of her recent trip to Ceylon.

A delicious tea was served by Mrs. E. M. Tait and her committee to conclude the pleasant afternoon.

Summerland Red Sox With Back To Wall: Must Take Vernon Two Straight For Title

Summerland Junior Red Sox have their backs to the wall—they've got to take the Vernon Hydros two straight here on Sunday afternoon if they're to win the Okanagan Valley Junior Baseball championship.

Summerland lost the first game of the series to Vernon 18-2, but the lopsided score seemed to be more the result of nerves than anything else. The Summerland youngsters were only outhit 9-6 but a rash of free passes and errors helped Vernon's cause.

But the Red Sox can't be counted out. They dropped the first game to Naramata, playing for the league championship, and then came back to win two straight.

Sunday's doubleheader starts at one p.m., the winners will be presented with the John Norwood Memorial trophy by league president J. P. Shulz.

FISHING & HUNTING

By BERT BERRY

Not too much activity on the fishing front. Last week end seemed to be a bad week for most fishermen as very few good reports have come in.

Okanagan Lake — Only good reports are from Wilson's Landing. Two or three trolling reports out of Summerland were only fair. The lake has been rough and stopped most of the trollers.

The mountain lakes were definitely off this last week-end, with very few fish being landed. Salmon fishing was bad on the Thompson with very few being landed though there are lots in the river. Fishing should be better this coming week.

HUNTING—

DEER — John Dunn got a white-tail over at Bridesville, and I heard the Mitchell boys got one, somewhere up Fish Lake way, but the weather was hot and the deer were scarce. This is normal for the start of the season and we will have to wait to see if any numbers of deer will be coming in from the summer range.

Grouse are not plentiful this year from all reports. Most parties out got one or two but have only heard of one party getting his limit and that was behind Peachland.

No reports back from the big game hunters out after moose or elk but should have some reports in by next week.

I would like to put in my two-bits worth of advice to hunters again this year. Already in B. C. there have been fatal hunting accidents. It is a tragedy marring good sport. Application of safety rules or common sense would stop all this. Don't pull the trigger unless you know what your target is; handle your rifle or shotgun safely and enjoy your hunting trips.

George Fudge Shares Tennis Tourney Honors

Summerland's George Fudge and Penticton's Ted Cardinal combined at Skaha Lake Tennis courts over the weekend to win the Birks trophy and title of men's double's champions of the Okanagan.

Eight teams from Trail, Kelowna, Vernon and Penticton competed in the two day tourney.

Fudge and Cardinal defeated Ernie Winter and Chester Larson of Kelowna in a gruelling final match 7-5, 6-4, to win the doubles.

Bowling News

by GLEN FELL

Yes sir, it's that season again so once again I take pleasure in reporting to you the Bowling Highlights for the coming season. I would like to take this opportunity to thank Sid Godber for spotlighting Bowling News once again in the Summerland Review. From the comments I received from the bowlers last season I know they more than appreciated having a section of the sports page devoted to their sport.

On September 10th the new bowling executive held a meeting to iron out plans for the General Meeting which will be held at the Bowladrome at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 20th. The new executive this year consists of Foster Cunningham, president; Ashley Austin, vice-president; Kay Smith, secretary, and Bill Hepperle, treasurer. The executive intend to organize league bowling for the coming season at the General Meeting. The executive also wish to point out that it is not the purpose of the general meeting to elect any officers but merely to organize the teams for league play and sign up new bowlers. If you are interested to get on a team or put your name on a spare list come along on Friday evening because there will be free bowling for everyone after the meeting. If it is impossible to attend the meeting you can contact the bowling alley at 6591, Foster Cunningham at 2972 or Kay Smith at 5101.

The Garage Goes Modern

Modern home designers long have recognized that the family garage can and should make a contribution to the overall appearance of the house. In this detached garage, the designer uses the same materials used in the construction of the house and adds a touch of crisp beauty with a panel of glass block in one of the walls. The glass block panel assures plenty of daylight for the interior and a minimum of maintenance problems because there is no sash to rot or rust.

Orchardists Interested In New Apple Strain

Orchardists are showing considerable interest in what appears to be a whole tree of super-red sport, Starking Delicious, in the orchard of A. M. Thompson, at Westbank. Its existence has been known for some time but not publicized until now.

Other very good super-red sports have turned up in the Okanagan this year. Two are in Kelowna and there is one at Oliver. They are caused by mutation of a bud. This may be due to a number of reasons such as radiation, injury or cutting, or even to radio-active fall-out though the latter does not apply in these cases.

Dr. D. V. Fisher, officer-in-charge of the pomology section of the Experimental Farm here, says that sports of Starking Delicious appear here and there wherever the variety is grown. The color of these sports develops earlier and with a deeper intensity than Starking Delicious. They are called super-red Starking is a sport of common Delicious first planted in the Okanagan about 30 years ago.

Many of the red color mutations in Delicious and other varieties appear identical, Dr. Fisher reports, although they fall into definite color patterns. Most of these are tied up with United States plant patents and there is a gentleman's agreement against infringement across the line.

The Experimental Farm is interested in the Westbank tree because it has a large amount of propagating wood. In fact the Farm has already taken 600 buds from it and now has 600 trees started in the nursery at the Farm. They were taken in case future performance continues to be as good as promised which would make this sport valuable to the industry.

Dr. Fisher says that before an assessment of real value can be given the tree should perform consistently for several years. The Thompson tree is about 12 years old. The bud from which it was started was apparently a mutation one, since all the fruit on the whole tree has the same color characteristics. In cases of small branch sports, the amount of wood which can be obtained for propagation is small.

When Dr. Fisher was in Washington last fall he heard of a similar tree in the orchard of Wayne Harrold at Zillah, Washington. He went to see it after State agriculturists had recommended it as an outstanding strain in which consistent performance had been noted.

The British Columbia Fruit Growers at their annual convention voted a sum of money to purchase exclusive rights on this strain from Mr. Harrold. It was brought into Canada, and the wood is now being propagated at the Experimental Farm in quantity and expected to be ready for distribution in 1959.

Red Delicious is a dessert apple prized for its color and general attractiveness and a popular market variety at the present time.

Apples Disappear

It rather looks like Miss Marion Cartwright's property has been invaded by a family of brown bears.

Frank Haddrell, who is employed by Miss Cartwright, noticed that a few apples were missing from the Mac trees. Next day he saw what appeared to be bear tracks and then on the third day, Alex Kean, truck-driver, saw a bear on the hillside of the orchard.

From all reports the bears are still enjoying the delicious apples that they have been sampling.

Junior Hi Jottings

by Karen Johanson

We grade sevens are finally getting accustomed to the high school. At first we did everything we weren't supposed to do. We were always getting the wrong books from our lockers. But now we are pretty well arranged. I guess we like everything now, except the homework which we find much heavier than last year.

The High School is really nice and sure has lovely rooms. It is all new and different from the Elementary School.

We all elected class representatives the other day. Grade seven is Kenny Heales, Florence Johnson; 7B Judy Betuzzi; 7A Linda Rumball, Rodney Killback; 8C Dorothy Watson, Teddy Bergen; 8B Leona Keys, Bob Reed; 8A. 9C Berry Piers; 9B Diane Parker; 9A Phyllis Mundle.

We are all looking forward to the dances, sports, band and other attractions in the auditorium. I don't know many of the grade eights and nines yet, but when I get to know you I'll have more news than just grade sevens. It sure is nice to be able to eat in the park and go over town any time we want to.

Well this is about all I can think of now, but I hope to have much more next week.

Seagram Appointment

The appointment of ROBERT E. STEBBING as a representative of Joseph E. Seagram & Sons, Limited has been announced by Harold D. Batty, British Columbia sales manager. Mr. Stebbing will make his headquarters in Kamloops and will cover the interior of British Columbia.

Mr. Stebbing returns to his native city after spending a number of years in the Yukon, where he was with the Territorial Government with headquarters in Whitehorse.

Dr. and Mrs. H. R. McLarty who are in Europe have been enjoying a trip on a canal boat in England. During this month they will tour Scotland, sailing for Canada about the middle of October. They plan to visit their son in Nova Scotia and their daughter in Montreal before returning home in November.

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith are Mr. and Mrs. Plank and family of Winnipeg.

Mrs. D. L. Milne, June and Marilyn have returned home to Summerland from Newport Beach, California.

First Fruit Fair

Lloyd Gilmour, expressed confidence that next year the Giant barbecue would operate at a profit. We learned a lot this year apart from the fact that some items of expense would not recur.

Lorne Perry reported on a highly successful arena show, and made recommendations for a bigger and better arena show next year.

Sid Godber, chairman of the Fruit Fair committee pointed out that although the affair had not shown a profit, considerable assets which could be used again and again had been acquired by the board which in actuality reduced the dollar loss.

Many valuable lessons had been learned, the committee chairman stated and he urged that planning for next year's event should be started immediately.

Considerable discussion took place regarding the entrance fee of 50 cents but majority opinion was that the charge was reasonable except that there was too much of a lag in the afternoon program.

There also exists as a variance of opinion as to the best day to hold the event, Saturday or Monday of the Labor Day weekend.

It is hoped that a meeting will shortly be arranged between the Centennial Committee and the Board of Trade executive to thresh out plans for next year's event.

Mr. Jan Creighton has returned to his home at the coast where he will attend 1st year University.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. White were visitors attending the Armstrong Fair during the week.

Staying with her daughter, Mrs. Bob Barkwill, is Mrs. W. Cook of Vancouver.

Mrs. S. W. Taylor has returned from a few days holiday in Seattle.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Didn't intend to run another man's sport column in this space — but time and balky machines caught up with us at The Review today and so this week's mood will be next week's mood, sounds Irish, but that's the way it has to be. Anyway the sports column by the sports editor of the Kelowna Courier, George Inglis, is, as far as I am concerned, one for the book — so take it away George — and readers please remember it's George Inglis, you're reading, not "Sports Pourri."

Sportlight

By GEORGE INGLIS

The color kids are back in the OSHL, thanks to the sophomore signing owner of the Kamloops Chiefs.

When "Canny Kenny" McKenzie, boss of the club from the Mainline City, announced the signing of two members of the famous Warwick trio — Der Wilder Bill and brother Dick — turnstiles started to click in people's minds.

For no matter how much they may be reviled by hostile homers who see them carving up one of their fair-haired boys like the Thanksgiving turkey, or flinging that little rubber disc by the local netminder, they are BOX OFFICE.

In addition to that, they are fierce competitors, who believe in trying right up to the moment the curtain falls in their protesting faces and they are dragged from the stage.

Be they ever so cantankerous, they lifted the city of Penticton out of obscurity and placed them on the world Atlas, a distinction other more favored but Warwickless cities have yet to claim.

Whether of pure sheer ornerness or not, they fought, wrestled and scored their way from behind through a blazing series of contests that ranged from behind their own league, through the best senior company in the country; and on over the Big Pond to capture the world championship and vindicate Canada's claim to hockey supremacy.

And no city in the world ever had more active campaigners in the matter of publicity. They lifted the name "Penticton" from its pre-Warwick obscurity and made it a household word across Canada.

Volatile and mercuric, they never do anything the easy way however, and they fell out of grace with the people who had previously extolled them. But even while they were sliding from the picture in the Peach City they were giving its fading publicity budget a shot-in-the-column with stories about pseudo trophies in Moscow and other imaginative trifles to stimulate the tired newsmen.

They left their city the right to claim to be the "Home of the World-Champion Vees", something many another city far

Dr. T. H. Anstey Talks To Horticultural Group

Winners of the parlour show held at the September meeting of the Summerland Horticultural Society on Friday the 20th were: Class 1-4 annuals, 3 stems each, 1st Mrs. Bingham; 2nd D. Tait; Class 2, arrangement of September flowers, 1st Mrs.

Nat May gave his timely topic, titled "Preparing to prepare for winter". Anyone who is going to lift English Mums for indoor blooming should now cut down on 3 sides of them about 10 inches from the plant. Roses and other shrubs should be encouraged to go dormant. Esther Reed daisies, aquilegia, and pyrethrum should be transplanted.

Dr. T. Anstey was the guest speaker, and his subject was "Recent studies in weather-crop relationships." He illustrated his talk with colored slides. The members present learned of the interesting and important work carried out at the Experiment Farm concerning all aspects of the weather and its effects on plant growth. Dr. Fisher and Mr. Lapins are studying the effect of frost on growing tissue. The amount of frost injury to a plant cell can be measured by an electric current. New varieties of plants are tested to determine their winter hardiness.

At the weather station, near the cow barn, are instruments to measure hours of sunlight, wind mileage, rainfall, evaporation, and another that registers the heat energy of the sun even on cloudy days. This knowledge of heat energy is helpful in forecasting when crops will bloom.

Dr. Wilcox's department, which studies soils and their requirements, has plots of various plants which are used to determine how much water the plants use. When it is known how much water the plants use and how much evaporates than a farmer or gardener will know how much water to put on their land.

Another instrument at the Farms there in connection with studies of rainfall in the Columbia River Basin. Many people in the Okanagan Valley may not realize that they are in that area.

The Farm is also co-operating with the Royal Commission investigating the fruit industry. The Commission wanted to know something about variations in the temperatures in the fruit growing areas. The Farm could supply facts only for the places where definite records have been kept. Only facts must be presented so an effort is being made to record temperatures at various places in the Summerland area. This is called a "topo-climatic survey". If you see a Farm car driving around with 2 tubes on it in the next few months it will be recording variations in temperature.

The tubes are shelters for two fine platinum wires set at a specific distance apart. An electric current passing between these wires records the temperature in about 20 seconds. An ordinary thermometer takes about 10 minutes to record. There are over 100 places where records will be made and these can be compared with the records kept at the Farm for the past 40 years.

B.C. Assessors Elect J. P. Sheeley 2nd Vice

The B.C. Association of Assessors held their 8th annual convention at Prince George on September 11-12-13.

There were 76 delegates from all points of B.C. in attendance. The theme of the convention was "Professionalism — what it requires and how to attain." Professor J. W. Wilson of the UBC was the keynote speaker. Other speakers were J. C. Boird, Supervisor of Municipalities; K. E. B. Wildman, Assessment Commissioner and J. R. Lakes, Association lawyer.

At the annual meeting, E. A. Anderson of Nanaimo was elected President. R. E. Geofor of Chilliwack, Vice-President; J. P. Sheeley of Summerland 2nd Vice-President, and R. Merce of Burnaby, Secretary-Treasurer.

The 9th Annual Convention will be held in Chilliwack the second week in September, 1958.

The Summerland Review

Vol. 12 No. 39

WEST SUMMERLAND, B.C.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 25, 1957

Littered condition of Summerland's Memorial Park after it has been used for picnic style lunches (see picture above) provoked the municipal council into asking school authorities to do something about it. Council also requested that soccer playing be confined to the school grounds. In this regard Works Superintendent Ken Blagborne pointed out that it would be quite easy to set water from the fume across to the school grounds to make the grounds more attractive to the young athletes.

Ed note—It is understood that the student body has not waited for the official complaint to be registered about the litter bugs, and has organized a patrol to police the park area.

Must Register By Month End To Vote In Civic Elections

Reeve F. E. Atkinson and Councillors Francis Stewart and Eric Tait are due to retire at the end of the year, their terms of office having expired. It is not known at this time if they will seek re-election.

Possibility of having to elect three new members to the municipal council for 1958 does, however, serve to point up the importance of all those who are eligible to do so, registering before the month end in order to be able to vote in the December civic elections.

There should be an increase in the number of voters in the next election in December, providing they get their names on the Voters' List.

The new Municipal Act which came into effect July 1, makes a great many more people eligible to vote providing they file declaration with the municipal clerk before September 30.

Under terms of the new act, only those persons whose names are on the voters' list will be able to vote. However, the new act makes it possible for tenants and residents to get on the voters' list.

The new act eliminates the old classification of spouse, householder and licensed holder. Persons who voted under these classifications in previous elections are now being advised that their names are being taken off the voters' list, they must re-apply under the new classification.

The new act lists three classifications of persons entitled to vote. There are owner-electors, tenant-electors and resident-electors.

Owner-electors, listed as property-owners under the old act, are the registered owners of real property in Summerland. These persons do not have to file any declaration to be put on the voters' list. Their names will automatically be recorded on the list as received from the Land Registration office at Nelson.

Tenant-electors and resident-electors wishing to vote file declarations of their status on or before September 30th. To qualify as tenant-electors a person must be a British subject 21 years of age or over and must have been renting premises in the municipality for at least six months prior to the date of the declaration.

To qualify as resident-electors a person must be a British subject 21 years of age or over who has lived in the municipality as a roomer, boarder, head of a family or member of a family for at least six months prior to the date of the declaration.

The declaration for use of tenant-electors and resident-electors can be obtained free of charge from the city hall. They can be completed before the clerk.

The declarations must be in the hands of the clerk not later than 5 p.m. September 30th and must be submitted within 30 days from the date they were completed.

It is important to note that the voters' list closes Sept. 30 instead of the October 30th deadline which prevailed in the past.

It is also emphasized that only those persons whose names are on the voters' list will be allowed to vote.

Persons will no longer be allowed to vote by merely appearing at the poll and presenting evidence that they are qualified. Their names must be on the voters' list.

Names of companies registered as property owners will not be put on the list unless the companies have named agents to vote on their behalf. These authorities must also be filed at the municipal hall by September 30.

Calls for Volunteers to Help Finish New Seating in Arena

Framework of the new seating in Summerland's arena is now in place. George Stoll reported to the Municipal council Monday. Mr. Stoll also told council that volunteers were required to finish the job.

Work is going on every night and the more hands we can get the quicker it will be done, Mr. Stoll said.

Council agreed to Mr. Stoll's request for advancing the opening date for the arena to October 15 instead of November 1 as last year, provided the arena association approved.

Test Patterns Herald Opening Of TV Station

Television set owners who tuned in to Channel 2 (CHBC-TV) saw their first test patterns last week.

Okanagan Television Company Ltd. through Roy Chapman, managing director, announced that actual tests will continue and light programs will be carried for further tests before the official opening date.

The Kelowna main station (Channel 2) started operating Saturday.

Vernon and Penticton, Channel 7 and 13 respectively, will not be ready by that date, but should be telecasting by the end of the month.

"We are extremely happy with the picture so far," Mr. Chapman commented.

He said the Okanagan setup was the only one in Canada where there is a master station and two satellite transmitters. There are other stations in Canada that have one satellite, but none with two, according to Mr. Chapman, who is also general manager of CHBC-TV.

FARM FORUM

Farm Radio Forum in B.C. is to be given one more chance. After all, it appears rather absurd to hire a secretarial staff and buy half an hour radio time every week just to bring Farm Radio Forum to 5 or 6 groups of farm neighbors, representing no more than 75 persons in B.C.

That's all the Forum has amounted to here during the last two or three years, and never at any time in the previous dozen years did it have much more than that; a poor record indeed. Before going any further let me give a brief outline of Farm Radio Forum, how it works and what it does.

WHAT IS IT?

Basically, it is a nation-wide educational and discussion program carried on during the winter months for the benefit of farm people in all parts of Canada. Farm Radio Forum goes on the air for a half hour every Monday about 8.30 o'clock. The program is usually in the form of a discussion with a panel of three or four persons.

Programs are prepared during the summer months, and subjects chosen for discussion are of vital interest to the farm people. Subjects covered include tariffs, trade agreements, health insurance, farm subsidies education, international trade, fire insurance, father-and-son agreements and so on.

GET TOGETHER

Farm neighbors organize a group of six, a dozen or more interested men and women, and meet every Monday night at one of the farm homes to hear the radio broadcast. After the broadcast, the group discusses the subject of the radio program and everybody has a chance to express an opinion or bring in new ideas.

To help the group and supply further information on the subject each member is provided with a copy of Farm Forum Guide. This is a weekly four page folder containing stories and sidelights on the subject for the evening. Finally after the group has gone over all the points they can think of, they express their opinion by answering two or three questions in the Farm Forum Guide. Answers to these questions are sent to the provincial secretary who forwards them on to the national secretary in Toronto.

With this information coming from farmers all across Canada it is possible to tell what the farmers are thinking about floor prices, state medicine, or whatever the subject may be.

APATHY HERE

On the prairies and in Ontario Farm Radio Forum has received widespread support, but in B.C. it just hasn't caught on. Nobody seems to know why. True, farming in this province is not the major industry, it is on the prairies, but it certainly is of sufficient importance to have a better representation of Farm Radio Forum groups than the meagre half dozen now in existence.

Whatever the reason, it's just too bad that B.C. farmers do not show more interest in an effort that can be of so much help to the cause of agriculture.

LAST CHANCE

As I said in the opening paragraph, Farm Radio Forum is to be given one more chance in B.C. A new provincial council has been formed, and plans are shaping up for a drive to create more interest in Farm Radio Forum and to organize more local groups. If this is not successful, then we can expect the movement to fold in B.C. through lack of interest.

Promenade

We are now entering the square dancing season, and once again we are getting enthusiastic over the prospect of a full winter of entertainment.

The Summerland Pairs and Squares Club is holding a get-acquainted clinic on Thursday, September 20, in the Youth Centre with Les Boyer as instructor of the workshop. Les will give basic instruction in square dancing and it is hoped that every one interested will come and see how much fun can be derived.

A short summary of square dancing in Summerland will be presented during the evening.

All dancers are invited as well as those who would like to learn the art.

See you at the Youth Centre on Thursday, September 26th at 8 p.m.

A Black Eye For The Students

Many of the students who are enjoying their lunches in Summerland's lovely Memorial Park should be thoroughly ashamed of their untidy habits which have compelled the municipal council to order a letter written to the school board, asking that body to do something about removing the litter of discarded paper and candy bar wrappers which after every school day lunch hour turn the park into something that looks like the city dump.

Such litterbugging amounts almost to vandalism. We would like to write it off as thoughtlessness, but fail to see how students other than the most moronic, could survey the littered park and not relate the picture to the cause — themselves.

The Link Between School And Home

Last week, September 15 to 21, was observed by the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation as "Better Parenthood Week." This is the week when P-TA's make a special effort to interest parents in the work being carried on by their organization.

Although late for the general observance the Summerland P-TA is planning to promote "Better Parenthood Week" next week when the first fall meeting will be held, and when it is hoped that many parents who hitherto have not participated in P-TA activities, will turn out for a social evening and take the opportunity to meet the teachers.

Newcomers will join other parents as well as teachers in a concerted effort to construct the best possible life for their children at home as well as at school. "Better Parents" will take their place in promoting the objectives of "Better Parenthood Week" right through the school year by pledging themselves to promoting the objectives of parent-teacher work. Every parent who has a child enrolled in a British Columbia school is invited to attend the first meeting of the school year.

Parent-Teacher Associations in British Columbia enter into all community projects which affect the health and welfare of children.

Wanted - More Voters

Provisions contained in the province's new Municipal Act have made a greater proportion of citizens eligible to vote in civic elections than hitherto — provided they get their names on the voters' lists before the end of this month. And it should be remembered that only those whose names appear on the lists are eligible.

Under the new act, three classifications of persons are entitled to be on the list — owner-electors, tenant-electors and resident-electors. They must be British subjects and must have resided in the municipality for six months.

In Canada, as in most of our so-called "free countries" we are pleased to refer to our systems of government (federal, provincial or municipal) as "responsible" or "representative". What many citizens fail to ask themselves is: "To whom are our governing bodies responsible and whom do they represent?"

It is a curious anomaly that elected representatives do not represent the taxpayers nor the citizens in general; nor are they responsible to these groups. The painful truth is that Summerland's Memorial Park is a pleasant place for young and old to enjoy their lunches. Students and all others who use the park for this purpose should show appreciation of the privilege by having the common decency to deposit their leavings in the many trash cans that are available.

Summerland's Memorial Park after a school lunch hour certainly is not a good advertisement for Summerland, for the school, or for the student body as a whole.

It is unfortunate that, as in many other things, the actions of a few can bring discredit to the many.

Perhaps the students should do some policing themselves.

Representatives sit on local, municipal and provincial committees that consider such matters as school education, crime comics, television, civil defence, health, and recreation. During Better Parenthood Week the Parent-Teacher Federation emphasizes the responsibility of both parents, the father and the mother, to the child, and brings before the community the work of "Parent-Teachers" towards the mental, moral, spiritual social and physical development of the child.

The objectives of "Better Parenthood Week" are simply stated as follows:

1. To promote more co-operative understanding between parents and teachers, and between the school and community at large.
2. To lend active support to all community efforts for better schools, children's health, recreational facilities, vocational guidance, and prevention of delinquency.
3. To encourage the formation of groups for study and discussion.
4. To make fathers and mothers more fully aware of the importance of using the best possible methods in the care and training of their children, and to acquaint them with the many sources of help and information available.

the people who make our laws, administer our affairs and spend our money represent and are responsible only to those persons who take the trouble to see that their names are on the voters' list and then go to the polls on election day.

Government is everybody's business—and that includes YOU. You would never dream of permitting your private business or personal affairs to be handled by a person or group you did not approve. No. You would use the utmost discrimination in selecting your man. The same discrimination should be practiced on selecting the representatives who are going to handle your public business.

Anyone failing to see to it that his name is on the voters' list is simply delegating someone else to name his representative. This is downright poor business. And the old saying that every country an democracy gets the kind of government it deserves still holds true. In government, as in everything else, you only get the best by striving for it. The only way to get the best in government is by voting for the best, and you can't vote for the best if your name is not on the voters' list.

Mid-Week Message

I COULD FACE ANYTHING

Scripture: Mark 11:19-26

THOUGHT FOR TODAY: Jesus answering saith unto them, Have faith in God. Mark 11:22.

In April, 1952, a number of GI's sailed from the San Francisco Bay area for the South Pacific. For many this was an unforgettable occasion. As I stood on the ship's bow and saw land disappear, a sudden fear of the unknown came over me. It was a natural and probably unavoidable fear. We live in an uncertain world and there is always the risk that mischance may befall us.

It was fear of death that rested like a blight upon my mind as I leaned that day upon the ship's railing. Will I ever return to my loved ones or will my body remain on some Korean battlefield.

At that moment I began to re-think my Christian experience. I had faith in God. The realization came over me with tremendous force that I did have something which would uphold me in all dangers of life. God's love and care as revealed in Christ became a reality in my life. As long as I had faith in God I could face anything. The thought gave me inner strength and courage.

Whenever I rest upon my faith in God the more real it becomes. This is something the world cannot give and the world cannot take away.

PRAYER: O God our heavenly Father, may our faith give us assurance and enable us to meet life's stern demands. May we see thy salvation. May our insecurity add to our faith and our trust in thee. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

School Children To Hear Story Of British Columbia On Radio

VICTORIA — The story of British Columbia will be told to its roughly 250,000 school children in three series of education department radio broadcasts.

The broadcasts are planned as a contribution to the celebration of the British Columbia centenary. They present the province's growth, music, literature and geography through the spoken word.

The broadcasts start with a series of seven 20-minute programmes designed to give a panorama of B.C. history from the point of view that the rivers — the Fraser, Columbia and Skeena have seen from the earliest days the most important development. This is for grades V, VIII, April 15 - May 27. The Saga of Victoria will be told on a supplementary half-hour programme for this group May 26.

Four 15-minute programmes will be held for Grades IV - XII, Jan. 13, 27, Feb. 10, 24, in which choirs from Vancouver schools conduct a province-wide rehearsal for the special centennial music. April 27 - May 29 will feature B.C. Signposts for Grades VI and up, seven 10-minute quiz programmes featuring important places in B.C. Nine story dramatizations will be devoted to B.C. stories by B.C. authors Sept. 30 to Dec. 9 for Grades III to VIII.

Other broadcasts are:

A two part series, one for intermediate and one for upper grades, with nine 15-minute programmes giving incentive to creative writing particularly connective with B.C., past and present.

Pictures In The Air, Grades IV - VIII, Jan. 6 to April 14, regular art series telling the story of transportation in B.C.; Ecoutez, Grades V - XIII, Jan. 13 to April 21, conversational French programmes based on B.C., past and present.

Indian Tales of The West, Grades III - V, April 28 to May 12, three 15-minute programmes of Indian legends.

Living Geography of B.C., Grades VI and up, April 15 to May 27, seven 10-minute news programmes telling of interesting developments in various parts of the province.

SCHOOL FASHIONS . . . for young misses

Let's Have a Chat . . .

by Dot Carston

Hello ladies of Summerland and the surrounding area. I would like to introduce myself — Dot Carston. I am, in a much lesser degree, succeeding Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh since she has joined the Pentiction Herald. I have been installed here as more or less a permanent fixture to keep you, the ladies, up to date in fashions, social reports, new recipes and general news, and would certainly appreciate hearing from you in any of these departments.

Fall is certainly here now — canning is about done for another year, school is in, the leaves are turning, clubs and organizations have started and winter is just around the corner. That is an unbearable thought, isn't it?

Glancing through "News for Women" put out by C-I-L, I found a few tips that might interest you.

When you're repainting that ladder you want absolutely slip-proof, sprinkle a bit of sand on the varnish or paint before it dries.

This might sound stuffy but it works. Put a polythene bag over your head when you're slipping on a dress to prevent lipstick and make-up marks.

Next time you have some dampened ironing left and no time to do it, slip it into a polythene bag and place it in the fridge. Prevents mildew — even if it does freeze!

Fill up the hole with plastic wood when a knob pulls loose from a drawer. When the glue hardens, screw the knob in place and end one more annoyance.

Rally Day In United Church Sunday School Very Successful

Rally Day was held in the Summerland United Church Sunday School on Sunday, September 15th with a good attendance in all departments. Primary, Junior and Senior departments meeting at 9:45 a.m. and the Nursery at 11 a.m.

The Nursery, with Mrs. Francis Stewart as Superintendent, had forty pupils enrolled. Other teachers are Hazel Ducommun, Marilyn Washington, Donna Eden, Mrs. Campbell and Carol Reinertson.

Mrs. W. H. Durick is Superintendent of the Primary department, with Mrs. F. Tilbe, Mrs. H. McLachlan, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. E. Tait, Mrs. Saby and Dr. T. H. Anstey on staff.

The Junior department meeting in the Oddfellows Hall for the next few weeks until the new hall is ready, has Mr. J. Tamblyn in charge with eight teachers: Mrs. A. Crawford, Mrs. J. Sheeley, Mrs. D.

I see also that manufacturers have put liquid detergent in "squeeze rans". While they're working on the clean-up problem they might tackle the production of throw-away dishes that look like Wedgwood!

Clay Curios, Curious - But Cute

Hundreds of mysterious clay "Models" are being shown by residents of Prince George following their discovery by workmen employed on the PGE right-of-way project north of the town.

The curios, most of them resembling caricatures of animals and humans, were found when bulldozer crews cut through a clay bank in the Salmon River Valley, about 12 miles north of Prince George.

Samples have been sent to UBC to determine their origin. Meanwhile, residents who have been making special trips to search for them, have suggested several explanations.

Some feel they may have been formed in a bygone age by the action of water, while others are speculating that they might have been clay models carved by hand by some lost generation.

Regardless of the real reason, the comical little "things" have been responsible for a few chuckles.

The foregoing was quoted from a Vancouver paper that Mrs. E. E. Bates dropped into the office. Along with the clipping, Mrs. Bates brought one of the above mentioned curios. It was a fascinating rounded shape with a flat bottom and small "arms" jutting out.

Mrs. Bates said residents and visitors alike, were clamouring to dig the figurines out of the clay banks as souvenirs. Indeed — curios but cute!

Dunham, Mrs. J. Dunson, Mrs. V. Fudvo, Miss Nella Huva, Miss Ruby Gronlund and Miss Dot Carston.

The Senior department with Mr. G. Oyman as Superintendent has Mr. A. Osday, Mr. F. Rovis, Mrs. E. Bennett, Mrs. L. Shannon, Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, Mrs. V. Foster and Mrs. S. Fenwick.

The Lakeside branch of the Sunday School will continue at least for this month meeting at 9:45 a.m. Staff at Lakeside are Mrs. D. Orr, Mrs. A. B. Caldwell, Mrs. J. Raincock and Mr. A. D. Glenn.

Promotion Sunday was held September 8th when all departments met in the church. Pupils being promoted to another department received their certificates.

Mrs. Liebert Speaks At First W.A. Meeting

The highlight of September 16th meeting of Summerland United Church W.A. was a very informative and interesting talk delivered by Mrs. J. B. Liebert concerning Summerland's School for Handicapped Children. In thanking Mrs. Liebert on behalf of the W.A., Mrs. W. H. Durick said the school had the interest and support of all the members.

Mrs. J. Tamblyn led the devotional period using as her theme "Thankfulness" based on Psalm 104.

The President, Mrs. J. C. Wilcox welcomed six newcomers as well as thirty-six regular members to the first meeting of the fall season.

A reminder to set aside a few jars of homecanning for Burnaby Girls' Home was made and any contributions can be left at Family Shoe Store.

There will be no Thanksgiving Dinner this year, as adequate kitchen facilities will not be available.

Gustavson - Schindel Rites Held At Penticton

Pastel colored gladioli banked the altar in the Bethel Tabernacle at Penticton and roses were tied with white satin bows to mark the guest pews for one of the prettiest ceremonies of the late summer season on Saturday afternoon uniting in marriage Ruth Ada Schindel and Alan E. Gustavson. The charming bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schindel of Penticton and formerly of Summerland, was given in marriage by her father to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Gustavson of Penticton, Rev. W. C. Irvine officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The lovely dark-haired bride chose a full length gown of lace over satin, styled with a very bouffant hooped skirt en train, and molded bodice with long sleeves in lily point and Peter Pan collar. Tiny seed pearls and sequins dusted the demure collar and enhanced the halo-style hair bandeau clasping her chapel veil of illusion net. She carried a white Bible with a mauve orchid, six white orchids and stephanotis to complement her wedding ensemble. The bridal gown was designed by Regina Cornish of West Summerland.

The bride's attendants wore yellow chiffon frocks styled with identical long full skirts and stoles. They wore matching elbow-length gloves and floral hair-circlets, and carried bouquets of mauve colored gladioli. Miss Evelyn Schindel was maid of honor for her cousin, the groom's sister, Miss Jean Gustavson and Miss Erica Stienke of Kelowna were bridesmaids. The petite twin flower girls, Hazel and Helen Lynn of Summerland, wore short full-skirted frocks of yellow chiffon and floral hair bandeaux and carried pastel colored gaisies. Allan Schindel, the bride's young cousin, was ring bearer.

Attending the groom were best man, Ken Hustler, the bride's brother, Wesley Schindel, and Micky Madge. Ushers were the bride's uncle, Rienhold Schindel, and Ken Krogel of Kelowna. Wedding music was a group of duet selections by Mrs. Orvine at the organ and Miss Arlene Embree of Summerland playing the piano. Soloist Miss Alice Lockhart sang "I'll Walk Beside You" as the wedding entourage entered the church and, "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

A reception for more than a hundred guests was held aboard the Sicamous. Assisting in receiving were the parents of the principals. The bride's mother was attractively attired in a suit of mauve and pink mixture, white accessories and white carnation corsage, while the groom's mother wore a blue afternoon dress with white accessories and corsage.

A three-tiered cake beautifully decorated by Mrs. W. G. Gibbard of Summerland centred the floral arranged reception table. The toast to the bride was proposed by Fred Kay and to the attendants by Mr. Hustler.

When the newly married couple left for a motor trip honeymoon to Portland, Oregon, the bride wore a charcoal suit with pink accessories and black and white velvet hat. Her corsage was styled of orchids.

Fishing & Hunting

By BERT BERRY

Okanagan Lake — was fair this last week. Some 16 to 18 inch fish landed but on the whole there wasn't too much action. Should be getting better. Fish Lake — Camp — upper lakes good up to 1/2 lb. Fish Lake. Richter Lake — nice catches here up to 2 lbs. Smaller fish caught at Kilpoola.

Woods Lake — out of Westwood was off again this week.

Fishing on mountain lakes from now on till freeze up should be good.

Hunting —

Grouse — reports on grouse seem to be pretty good, if you can locate the level the birds are feeding on. Bald Range, Baldy and Bathfields have the best coveys from reports. The general picture on grouse in country south of here is good.

No more reports on deer this week. In this area there are not too many deer. Last week there were a couple of bucks came in but up to now I haven't heard of any more. Cold weather and snow will bring more in later.

The reports on moose coming this month have been good. Quite a few have been checked out at the Cache Creek check point.

Bowling News

by GLEN FELL

Monday, October 7th, was decided as the starting date for league play this year. League nights this year will be Monday and Tuesday evenings. It was also decided at the general meeting that for the month of October starting times will be 8:00 p.m. and 10:00 p.m. in order to make it possible for bowlers working in packing houses and canneries to enter in league play. However, starting November 4th, starting times for league play will be 7:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. as usual. All teams must be entered for league play by the week ending October 5th. These entries may be left at the Bowladrome.

The general meeting decided that they would bowl as a league on an open schedule until Christmas. After Christmas the league will be divided into two parts. The "A" Division will bowl for the Bryden trophy and the "B" Division will bowl for the Olly Trophy. The top four teams of each division will bowl off for the Merchants trophy. The team with the top total pins for three games during league play will be awarded the Hecker Trophy.

Bowling president Foster Cunningham disclosed to the meeting that many merchants and individual business men had donated certificates or gifts which can be won during league play. Following is a partial list of merchants who have contributed: Laidlaw & Co., Sport's Centre, Texaco Service (Bon-thoux Motors), Quality Cafe, Roy's Men's Wear, Hepperle's Poultry Farm, Bert Simpson, Watkins Products, Frank Daniel's Grocery, Bowladrome, Bud's Garage, Fashion Wise, Steve's Barber Shop, Family Shoe Store and 5c to $1.00. League play if a score of 350 is made you have a choice of one prize, if you make 375 in league play you have a choice of any two prizes, if you make 400 in league play you have a choice of any three prizes. If you roll a perfect game (450) you take the works. You can also win one prize by bowling 800 for three games, or you can win two prizes by bowling 850, or you can win three prizes by bowling 900 during league play. I sincerely believe that this new innovation will greatly add to the enjoyment of bowling and will also be a great help in improving individual averages.

Bill Hepperle distinguished himself after the meeting by rolling a 317 — nice going. Don Gilbert also got into the "300" Club this year by bowling a 301.

Free instruction will be given to new bowlers and anyone wishing some help with their

Baseball season came to an abrupt end in Summerland on Sunday when the Summerland Junior Red Sox bowed at the might of the Vernon Hydros, who took both ends of a double header, 18-2 and 15-8 to make a clean sweep of the three game series, winning the John Norwood trophy, emblematic of the valley championship.

Ideal weather prevailed and despite the lopsided scores the games were crowd pleasers. Both teams came in with some solid hitting and fans were treated to some spectacular fielding.

Vernon collected 16 hits and the Red Sox garnered 14 in the crucial first game which decided the championship issue. The Red Sox hammered the first Vernon pitcher out of the box in the fourth inning but reliever Mycuik had them baffled.

It was a good year for the Red Sox. They are a young team and if they can be kept together the experience gained this season will make them a hard team to beat when next they play ball echoes in Memorial Park.

Bowling. Bowlers from the league will be here to give what help they can. This instruction will be given Thursday, Sept. 26th, Monday, Sept. 30th, and Thursday, Oct. 3rd.

Be sure to get your team entries into the Bowladrome by October 5th. More news, views and comments next week.

Trio A Duo Now

Last year they remained together as a Warwick entity, in spite of many offers to journey to various places as solo acts, or duos, and went to the Trail Smoke Eaters club, once world champions themselves.

Their idea there seemed to be to lift the crumbling organization back into prominence, and their attempt at so doing was a valiant one, albeit a trifle short of achieving success.

This year the most enigmatic of the three, the coach of the famous Vees — Grant — has left the act, and the duo of Dick and Bill did all the shopping around the western circuit.

There is no question that Grant will take with him some of the color and showmanship of the brother-act, but what's left will still provide Canny Kenny with value for value.

As long as "Wild Bill" can park himself on the corner of an enemy crease, his leather helmet topping his lowering brow and his busy stick trying to keep disturbances to a minimum while he waits for that chance at the black-rubber disc that counts for two points for every injection, that is.

Those fans can holler themselves hoarse, fill the ice with litter and yell "Get that Warwick!" all they like, Bill is a master of the art of making them turn out for the privilege of shouting. He may be losing some of his zip and ginger with the advancing years, but his appeal is still there, and people still pay for the privilege of watching his famous antics.

Anyone who hasn't seen Bill score a goal and watched the ensuing pantomime has just never lived.

And anyone who thinks it has been easy for the blocky little brawler should take a reading of his scar — background, which numbers around the century mark. It has been a long rough road, and he still gives with all the enthusiasm of youth.

Another member Dick, the original member of the trio to play in the OSHL, and one of the first teams of Vees, is not quite the color boy the other two are, but he is a first-class workman at the trade of the Warwicks.

A smooth stick-handler, lightning-fast breakaway kid, Dick was long the sinner of the line, and has the ability to fit in with any other trio, so long as they play the game of hockey.

They're a double dose of dynamite.

The rumors that the Packers' exec were dickering with the boys was not entirely unfounded either.

Players' committee Bob Giordano had a few conversations with Bill, the business man of the firm. The stumpy crease-camper has always had a soft spot in his heart for the Orchard City and said so, but he wasn't willing to break up with brother Dick, and there wasn't any attractive business proposition here.

Bill has proven his liking on more than one occasion, also coming up to referee an exhibition ball game here, and taking part in the mid-summer ice hockey game here.

On learning of McKenzie's announcement, Giordano commented: "We would have liked to have Bill on our Club, but we weren't able to get together. However, we're certainly glad to see them back in the OSHL. Them, and a whole lot more hockey fans."

Penticton Bypass Will Be Built Within Year

The Penticton bypass will be constructed within the next year or eighteen months; the Trepanier section of Highway 97 will be reconstructed probably next year and a six-mile stretch of relocated highway immediately north of Kelowna will be built within the next two years. Evan Jones, deputy minister of highways for British Columbia, told the Okanagan Cariboo Trail Association convention in Wenatchee recently.

"British Columbia," he told the 200 delegates from two states and this province, "has two important highways—Highway 97 and the Okanagan Cariboo Trail."

The province spent $92 millions on roads in 1956 and will spend slightly more in 1957. There are no federal assistance grants in this country on any roads other than the Trans-Canada. On 97 the province must bear the whole cost excepting on 56 miles between east of Kamloops and Cache Creek, where it operates jointly with the Trans-Canada.

TREPANIER SECTION

The contract for reconstruction of Kaleden to Kruger Hill at Penticton has been called. The Penticton bypass route will be reconstructed within a year, it is hoped. Arrangements have not yet been finalized with the Indian department because Penticton is objecting. That city wants to use the property desired by the highway department as a sewerage disposal ground. The Trepanier section will be rebuilt and a six-mile diversion from Kelowna north. A bridge and bypass at Quesnel is planned. From Quesnel to Dawson Creek will be finished and paved next year.

Highway 97 to Dawson Creek stretches 174 miles through B.C. Of this mileage 517 is now paved and 257 is gravel.

Mr. Jones said that in the north country rain had hampered construction greatly this year. After a rain machinery cannot move for five days and this year the rain came at five-day intervals.

The Trans-Canada will be completed by 1960, including the Rogers' Pass section. Replying to a question Mr. Jones said it was not a question of wanting to but "We've got to" complete it by that date.

HIGHWAY COSTS

Highway costs in British Columbia have increased 25% since 1940. The average cost of highway construction in this province is $250,000 a mile while in Oregon and Washington the average cost runs around $60,000.

W. A. Bugge, director of highways for the State of Washington, told the convention that the bridge across the Columbia at Biggs would be built; that the Status Pass section north of Goldendale would be reconstructed; that 3A between Toppenish and Yakima would be made four lanes and that the 97 section south of Yakima would be rebuilt.

Work is accelerating on re-land Ellensburg and both of construction between Yakima these cities would be bypassed.

Blewett Pass reconstruction will continue while the section between Brewster and Okanogan will be relocated and rebuilt. South of Tonasket the highway is being relocated on the east side and this section and a new side of the river for some six bridge will be opened this fall.

The Washington plan is to rebuild the present 97 with a water-level grade down the Okanagan River to its junction with the Columbia. A new bridge will be constructed to link with a new east side road down the Columbia to Olando where it will join with the present U.S. 2 south to Wenatchee.

The twisty twenty miles immediately north of Wenatchee on the present west side road is due for immediate reconstruction.

W. C. Williams of the Oregon department of highways, said that a survey had found that 97 was the main north-south route for tourists. He himself had been surprised. Over a three month period, traffic on 97 had averaged 2,010 cars per day of which 733 or 18.2 per cent were out-of-state vehicles. U.S. 201 carried 17.6 per cent foreign cars; U.S.—30, 17.8; U.S. 20, 13.6; U.S. 26 9.6, and U.S. 99 only 10.6.

Key Personnel Will Be First To Be Offered Flu Vaccine

Influenza vaccine is to be made available for certain selected groups in the South Okanagan Health Unit area early in October. Health Unit Director Dr. D. A. Clarke has announced. Dr. Clarke's press release says the selection of persons who are to be given priority in the vaccination program is geared to prevent or minimize disruption essential services. Experience in European and Asiatic countries where the influenza reached epidemic proportions, showed that the disease has a high infectivity but low mortality rate.

"It is further known that the age distribution of influenza in the Far East indicates to one age group to be especially susceptible to attack or mortality," Dr. Clarke adds.

SPECIAL CLINICS

The vaccine is to be distributed through the Health Unit at special clinics in the Valley Hospitals and community health centres where the vaccine will be offered to the selected groups as it becomes available. There will be no charge for the vaccine itself. It will be administered intramuscularly in one dose.

Top on the list of priority for the vaccine are all valley physicians, all employees of hospitals and nursing homes and all health unit personnel. This does not include any patients.

Official police and fire services are next in line for the vaccine followed by operators and maintenance personnel of water departments, and gas and electricity departments.

Fourth on the list are operators and maintenance personnel of telephone, telegraph and radio services, followed by local bus transportation personnel.

The priority list will be further developed and extended according to the amount of vaccine available and the extent of the disease.

FROM MONTREAL, TORONTO

The vaccine is prepared by the Institute of Microbiology, University of Montreal, and the Connaught Medical Laboratories University of Toronto. It is being purchased jointly by the provincial and federal governments.

To produce immunity for an eight-month period, one cubic centimeter of the vaccine is required.

Although the Health Unit has taken steps to prevent or minimize any extensive outbreak of the "flu", Dr. D. A. Clarke emphasizes there is little cause for alarm.

In a statement at Kelowna he urged local residents to stop worrying about the flu. So far, he said, no confirmed cases have been reported in the Okanagan. Most important preventive measure, he said, was to carefully check travellers and immigrants for flu symptoms.

He emphasized that Asian flu is quite similar to any other type of flu lasting only three to four days.

Japanese 'Shoji' Screens Adapted In Glass Block

The Japanese invented it, but they never had it "so good." Using modern glass block, the designer has adapted the Japanese "shoji" idea to provide a floor-to-ceiling source of daylight for this attractive bathroom. Wood framing on the face of the panel gives it a feeling of depth and provides support for knickknack shelves. A planter at the base of the panel is protected from vagaries in the weather by the high insulating value of glass block.

Borrowing an idea from the Japanese, Canadian home designers are making use of the "shoji" principle to add interest and functional beauty to interior and exterior walls.

The traditional Japanese "shoji" usually consists of light wood frames covered with rice paper and is ideally suited to the fragile construction of Japanese homes and the island's humid climate.

Canadians, however, prefer something more substantial and designers have found that modular glass block lends itself perfectly to the "shoji" concept and also provides the sturdiness and permanence demanded by our more rigorous climate.

Provides Insulation
Available in eight and 12-inch sizes, glass blocks consist of two pieces of pressed glass hermetically sealed together with a partial vacuum between. The vacuum assures insulation protection against weather and noise equivalent to an eight-inch brick wall. Glass block patterns range from clear glass through prismatic, light directing varieties which control and direct the amount of daylight transmitted through them. For decorative purposes, there are several ribbed patterns and some which resemble the bulls-eye glass of Colonial days.

With glass blocks as the basic material, the "shoji" principle can be applied in any room in the house, either as an exterior wall daylight source or as a room divider or partition.

In the living room or dining area, a glass block "shoji" in an exterior wall will add an Oriental touch of glamour. If there's an unsightly view outside or if the next door neighbors are too close for privacy, a translucent pattern will hide the view without sacrificing daylight.

For unusual effects, hooks or shelf supports can be anchored in the mortar seams of the glass block panels for planters, knickknacks or other accessories which will show to good advantage against the panel background.

Serve As Dividers
In open plan houses, "shoji" panels of glass block can serve as dividers in living room areas, foyers or other areas of the house where a suggestion of separation is desired without loss of the feeling of openness. For interior installations, the glass block can be set in wood frames and easily taken apart and rebuilt if it is necessary to relocate the panel.

The same "shoji" principle for glass block panels can be used in other areas of the home. Impervious to moisture or condensation, glass block is a perfect material for daylighting a bathroom. A translucent panel will ensure complete privacy. In the kitchen, a glass block "shoji"

Mrs. J. B. Liebert and Mrs. Flora Bergstrom who attended special classes at UBC this summer, are the students able teachers.

This is just the start of the training for these small children and they deserve all the local support that can be given them.

Mrs. Stewart outlined the program and told of a day's routine. Mrs. H. Milne, who teaches the Rhythm Band beginning after Christmas, displayed and explained the instruments.

Mrs. Jack Stewart was appointed snack convener. Mrs. Roy Kuroda will remain as Treasurer, who along with Mrs. Mel Ducommon will assist the teacher.

Thirty six registrations have been received to date and four more will be accepted.

Junior Hi Jottings

by Karen Johanson

The junior soccer teams are really on their way. Practices have started and there has been a fairly good turnout. The lines are now on the grounds and practices are after school, Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The 1st Assembly of the school year was very interesting and Mr. MacLeod spoke to us on behaviour in an assembly while Bruce Brown spoke on the coming Senior Council Conference to be held November 1st and 2nd. He asked the juniors to support the seniors in this big event coming to our school.

The buses have taken on the appearance of a sardine tin for us—at least you have to squeeze quite hard to get a seat.

That is about all I can think of now so you will hear more of me next week.

Archdeaconry Meeting To Be Hosted In Summerland

Shopping Around

by Mrs. A. F. CRAWFORD

We can still buy a "Miracle for a Dime" — right here in Summerland, too!

Yes, with everyone busy squirreling for the winter, it's time to also lay by something of beauty for Spring. Bulbs in all sizes and shapes are on hand and when we look at them, some round and sleek, others gnarled and nubby or squat and fat, we don't see them as they are, but we see them behind our eyes as they will look come Spring, when their bloom brightens the garden and perfumes the air.

What better way to indulge ourselves than in a spot of beauty that we can anticipate all winter long and realize when Spring sunshine warms and thrills us once more? Or if we just can't wait and would like a preview of Spring for ourselves or for someone else who would appreciate such a thoughtful gift, here's how:

Scatter a little bone meal over a small patch of good garden soil and work it in. Fill flower pots or other containers and plant bulbs about half covered with earth. A 6 inch pot will nicely hold about 3 daffodils. Have them almost but not quite touching. Bury pot and all to depth of pot and leave until the really cold weather sets in, covering with leaves if a heavy frost threatens. Bring pots in the house when desired and water and watch the bulbs grow. "That's all there is to it!"

It was announced at the regular meeting of the Evening Branch W.A. that the Archdeaconry meeting for the whole Okanagan Valley will be held in the Parish Hall and St. Stephen's Anglican Church on October 9th.

Bishop Phillip Beattie of Kelowna, Bishop of Kootenay, will be present and conduct a special communion service for the delegates from all over the valley.

Mrs. W. G. Baker, the president, was in the chair as fall work was resumed. Treasurer is Mrs. D. M. Wright and Mrs. Eric Smith is Secretary.

Refreshments were served at the meeting concluded.

The Hi-Life

By MARGE CAMPBELL

This is my first week at this, so if the column is mixed up, I've got a good excuse.

Our assembly Monday morning went off pretty good didn't it???? Let's all take the tips that we were given to heart, and I think we'll have better School Spirit than other years.

The Fire Drill last week showed good results — one minute and twenty seconds. Fast walking after over two months with nothing to do.

The Senior Cheerleaders had their first practice for this year on Wednesday. Anyone who might be interested please let me know.

Both senior boys and girls soccer teams have started practice and their first game will be in Kelowna on Friday.

That's all for this week but you'll hear from me again soon. Meanwhile — get all that homework done!

Pensioners

By LYDIA JOHNSTON

The O.A.P. Club met in the IOOF Hall on September 16th. Our main discussion dealt with the problem of encouraging some of the younger members to join. After all, they are the ones who will benefit by any progress we should make. At present, we do need a few to help fill the offices and better our organization.

The Rotary Anns served us a delightful tea, with Mrs. R. Mc. Lachlan, Mrs. C. Bleasdale and Mrs. J. Green working at the helm. Mrs. F. Steuart showed a variety of pictures. Attendance was about 28.

The August meeting report was neglected by your reporter and was worthy of more consideration, as we were taken to the Farm by the Kiwanis Club, in the school bus. As our secretary said, we were taken back to our school days). We were entertained with a real banquet, including ice cream, and were allowed a long stay in order to visit and see the beauty of our Experimental Station.
