

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Indian, Half breed, or white? Whatever blood coursed through the veins of the man pictured above, no one will deny that he looked every inch an Indian. Actually "Grey Owl" claimed by some to be white, by others an half breed, and yet by others a full blooded Indian, was a blood brother to the Objways and he lived the life of an Indian. Few Indians could match his knowledge of the Canadian north or of Canadian wildlife and few men ever equalled his understanding of wild animals. Grey Owl could literally talk to the wild creatures and they trusted him and loved him.

Some time back I said I'd do a column about that fabulous character, Grey Owl. Since that time Grey Owl has been subject of a nation-wide radio broadcast and a week back an Ottawa columnist took note of the fact that Grey Owl died twenty years ago, and proceeded to write a column about him. As most of the stuff on the radio and in the column was hearsay I think I'm justified in devoting a column to a man who has sometimes been called the great phoney.

There are so many stories purporting to give the true origins of Grey Owl that one could not repeat them all in this space.

I always accepted Grey Owl as a full-blooded Indian — he was, as has since been revealed, a white man — one story goes that Grey Owl, lecturing in London on Canadian wild life in all the glory of long plaits of hair and fringed buckskins and beaded moccasins was interrupted by a Cockney woman who suddenly stood up at the back of the hall and screamed — "That ain't no bloomin' Hindian that Harchie — mi 'usband."

Be that as it may, Grey Owl could and did out Indian the Indians. I don't think any Indian knew more of the ways of Canadian wildlife than did Archie, blood brother to the Objways. I first met Grey Owl in a bootleggers' — chasing him for a story shortly after he had taken up his abode in a small cabin on a remote lake in Prince Albert National Park.

Grey Owl occasionally came into town, and he could certainly out Indian the Indian when it came to knocking back the white man's firewater.

That first time I met him, Grey Owl was in deep sorrow, he had a magazine article ready to go but felt that he hadn't got it right. I thought then that his impassioned plea for just the right word was a combination of wish and poseur. But that wasn't so — I saw Grey Owl many and many times, sitting like a graven image on the lake shore, brooding, immovable as stone, searching his mind for expression. It took him a week — seven days — to write one foolscap page about dawn over the lake, but it was a polished gem when he had finished.

But the most interesting thing about Grey Owl was his control over animals.

He arrived at the cabin in Prince Albert National Park with two young, adult beavers — Rawhide and Jellyroll, Mr. and Mrs. respectively.

They'd been trapped in Manitoba. Grey Owl turned them loose. They had all of Northern Saskatchewan and on up to the North Pole in which to roam in a land of lake and forests made to order for beaver. But Jellyroll and Rawhide kept coming back to Grey Owl. Came time for them to build their winter den. They did, engineering their tunnel to such good purpose that one afternoon up popped Rawhide from the tunnel right under the dirt floor of the cabin.

Then the Beavers figured they had to make for privacy and so they trailed in mud and twigs until there was a huge mound of tamped earth and twigs occupying about a quarter of the cabin.

Grey Owl hinged the bottom part of his door to allow the Beaver unhindered passage in and out of the cabin.

Naturalists from many parts of the world made the long journey into Grey Owl's sanctuary. His books, incidentally seemed to have made more of a stir in England and Europe than in Canada. Lady Veronica Bruce, grand daughter of Lord Elgin, a governor general of Canada, and a direct descendant of Robert the Bruce, made that trip to Grey Owl's remote fastness, with me tagging along.

Naturally, Lady Veronica wanted to see the beaver, the beaver remained stubbornly in their den — they didn't like it when strangers came around.

It began to look as if their regular evening visit to see Grey Owl wasn't going to materialize so Grey Owl moved a branch from the mass of earth and sticks that was the roof and wall of their den.

It didn't take long, clunk, and the swing section of the door shot open; Rawhide was in; clunk, Jellyroll followed.

All of us, except Grey Owl, tucked our feet out of the way. It was obvious that the beaver were angry and incisors that can chew down a fair sized tree could make mincemeat of a dangling foot.

Straight to the back of their den they went, unerringly they spotted the branch Grey Owl had moved, swiftly they put it back, exactly on the spot from where it had been taken, then they converged on Grey Owl and told him what they thought about such foolishness. They ignored everyone else, Grey Owl mollified them with an apple and away they went back under the lake and up into their den.

Yes, quite a character Grey Owl. I think the world was the better for his having lived in it.

Summerland Macs, Kelowna Orioles Both Undefeated, Here Sunday

The two, so far, undefeated teams in the Okanagan-Mainline Baseball League, the Summerland Macs and the Kelowna Orioles will dust off home plate at the Athletic Park here Sunday afternoon, game time 2:30 p.m.

The Kelowna club has played one more game than has the Macs but that's just a technicality — after the dust settles Sunday it will be either the Macs or the Orioles sitting on top of the league.

Macs are playing good ball — the game this Sunday should be a humdinger.

McPhee Report Will Need Time BCFGA Wants Interim Contract

Executive of the Summerland local of the BCFGA met last night in special session to study a request from the parent body that suggestions for the drawing up of an interim contract until the end of 1959 be submitted.

Reason for the interim contract is to allow for full and comprehensive action to be taken upon the Royal Commission report which is expected to be handed down early in September.

The BCFGA executive feels that with only three months between issuance of the McPhee report and the annual BCFGA convention, there will not be sufficient time to fully study and frame legislation related to the recommendations for betterment of the industry, which the report is expected to contain. It is further considered that the interim contract will serve to stabilize the situation in the period of upheaval, mild or drastic, which will undoubtedly follow upon the heels of the findings of the Royal Commission set up to probe the fruit industry.

It is expected that the matter of the interim contract will be discussed at a meeting of the Summerland BCFGA local, which it is planned to hold on May 23. E. S. Walls, secretary-manager of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, will be guest speaker.

Work is proceeding right on schedule and where only a few short months ago was orchard, now stands an imposing building, the new Summerland Co-operative Growers' packing-house — a half million dollar structure that will be ready in time to handle this year's crop.

In fact the association is confident that it will be in full operation by June 15. Since the above picture was taken some giant strides have been made in construction, the scene changing from week to week.

Summerland Generous In Aiding Fire Victims

The roaring flames which on April 29, rendered a Summerland family of nine homeless and practically destitute also served to illuminate again the generous and neighborly spirit of this community.

Before the flames had finished consuming the Muir farm home at Falder, the Summerland Red Cross and welfare people were on the job.

Food and blankets were provided, temporary homes found for the young children and an appeal was launched.

The response was magnificent.

At the municipal hall, Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith reports cash donations totalling $161 have been received.

As for donations of household furnishings, dishes, utensils, stoves etc., A. F. Calder reports being snowed under. The only thing we haven't got is a washing machine, Mr. Calder told The Review.

A big factor in the rehabilitation program for the Muirs is in the hands of the newly organized Summerland Kinsmen Club.

Kinsmen helped from the beginning, while making larger plans, and next week will start a building bee.

Substantial donations of lumber, including board lumber and two by fours, doors and windows have been received. More lumber has been salvaged from a barn on the property and now the Kinsmen are ready to go.

The Kinsmen plan to utilize their full strength on the building project and it is hoped that within a short time, the Muirs will be able to move into the first section of a new home.

Bugs! Ugh!

The children of Trout Creek have formed a "Bug Club" and are on a mission to find the biggest bug in the area. So far Christopher Penney is leading in the presidential race with a three inch water beetle.

Bryce Parker is runner-up with a two inch June bug. UGH.

School Board Co-operates With Centennial Plan

Mart Kenney Dance will be held on September 22 in the School Auditorium. While school board policy has been and will continue to be the same regarding using the Auditorium for public dances the Board has kindly co-operated in providing a suitable hall and stage for this Centennial event.

Another attraction offered to Summerland by the B.C. Centennial Committee is an Arts and Crafts caravan in co-operation with the University of B.C. displaying work made by British Columbia Craftsmen, showing Jewellery, Mosaics, Woodwork, etc. The Caravan will be in Summerland on July 21 and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh has consented to act as liaison officer with this presentation.

Added to the full day of entertainment planned for June 4 will be a performance of "Pirates of Penzance" by the Summerland Singers and Players. June 4 has been declared a civic and school holiday and the Centennial committee hope that all employers where possible will mark the Centennial by providing their employees with a holiday on this date.

Legion To Hold Victory Banquet

May 8, 1946 — A day to celebrate — a day to remember — the day V-E Day — Victory in Europe — to be followed little more than 8 months later by V-J day when Japan capitulated under the awesome threat of the Atomic Bomb.

Veterans in all parts of the world will celebrate the anniversary of Victory in Europe on May 8. Here in Summerland Branch 22 of the Canadian Legion will hold a victory banquet in the Legion Hall.

Many distinguished people beat a path to Grey Owl's remote cabin on the shores of a Northern Saskatchewan Lake within the confines of Prince Albert National Park. One such visitor was Lady Veronica Bruce who was snapped by your "According to the Mood" watching one of Grey Owl's beaver people as Grey Owl feeds it. In the background is the cabin and easily discernible is the cement block which had to be put in after the beaver weakened the foundations through tunnelling into the cabin.

Summerland School Band Off To Spokane

An invitation to take part in the spectacular Lilac Festival, Friday night concert and Saturday parade has been received by the Summerland High School Band. Appearances at these events are by invitation only and only a few bands are invited to take in the festival each year.

The young Summerland Musicians will play before thousands of visitors at the Friday evening concert, May 16, and the Saturday morning parade. After the parade, the band will be the guests of the Festival Committee at the giant fair grounds.

Saturday night the band will travel to Grand Coulee where they will present a concert and where they will be guests of the town at the annual band dance. Summerland's young ambassadors will return home on Sunday, May 18.

The band will start on their travels on Thursday, May 15, stopping off enroute as guests of the Omak High School Band. They will present a concert in the Omak school in the afternoon and another in that night.

The Summerland Band has taken several trips through B.C. but this is the first time they have been through the States.

The trip will help to increase student knowledge of the big, friendly neighbor to the south, and will help to promote better understanding between the two countries.

Hospital Tag Day Here Saturday

Final arrangements for the hospital tag day to be held in West Summerland, on Saturday, May 10, were made at the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Hospital Auxilliary, held Monday in the Parish Hall.

President Mrs. Earl Wilson presided over the meeting at which 27 members were in attendance. Members of the auxilliary will be tagging all day on Saturday in the business district of West Summerland. Proceeds of the tag day will go towards the cost of supplying the hospital with an Autoclave (sterilizer).

Mrs. A. K. McLeod will be in charge of arrangements. The auxilliary will also cater to two banquets during May.

Career Day

There was, so it seemed, the plumber, the baker, the candlestick maker and representatives of almost every other trade and vocation wandering in the cloistered halls of Summerland's High School last Friday.

The occasion was Career Day, an innovation at the Summerland School but one which has been highly successful in schools at the coast.

Career Day is an effort to bring young people who are nearing graduation face to face with the realities of various trades and professions.

There is nothing theoretical in what the students learn on that day, for they are given the lowdown by men and women who daily earn their livelihood at the many careers represented.

In our own wanderings from classroom to classroom we were impressed by two things — one, the complete attention and absorption of the students and two, the number and calibre of the men and women, who gave freely of their time to discuss their own specialties with the students.

Career Day strikes us as a worthwhile innovation and we hope that the school authorities will see fit to continue it.

Our congratulations to all concerned, including the Summerland Kiwanis Club which helped in its organization.

Still The Best In The West

Okanagan hockey fans swallowed a bitter pill last Thursday when the Kelowna Packers withered under the onslaught of the Bellville MacFarlanes to lose the Allan Cup, the battered old trophy which represents senior amateur hockey supremacy in Canada.

The defeat was hard to take because it appeared that the Okanagan champions had nothing much left to do than uncork the champagne bottle and celebrate.

A three to nothing lead should have been sufficient leeway — but the Bellville Macs, reminiscent of the Penticton Vees in their heyday, were not prepared to accept defeat and they tied up the score, dropped behind again, tied it up again and then romped on to an impressive victory.

There is no doubt about it — the best team won — but that doesn't mean that the Kelowna Packers or the Kelowna and Okanagan hockey fans need to hang their heads — we lost — but in the losing we were certainly not humiliated.

In fact it is a source of wonderment that here in this rather thinly populated valley we should be able to produce with almost monotonous regularity, serious Allan Cup contenders.

Look at the record, starting with the Penticton Vees, which won the Western championship, losing the Allan Cup to Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Then the following year the Vees won the Allan Cup, defeating one of, if not, the strongest teams ever to come out of the east, the Sudbury Wolves.

Then a world championship won by the Vees, and while the Vees were winning the world championship the Vernon Canadians battled to the Western Allan Cup finals, before fading out of the picture and the next year those same Vernon Canadians won the Allan Cup.

Think of it, the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League has had a contender in four Allan Cup finals in the space of six years — and twice it has won the trophy.

We would have liked to see the Allan Cup back in the Valley — we would have liked to see a valley team back in the world competition but disappointed though we be at the Packers' demise, we see no reason for sackcloth and ashes — that the Packers were in the final, that they came within a handspan of winning it — is itself a matter for pride.

We congratulate the Bellville-Macs on a well earned victory — we congratulate the Kelowna Packers on having kept the Okanagan Valley's reputation for high calibre hockey bright and shining — insofar as the east is concerned, they must still look to the west and say — the Okanagan Valley has the best in the west.

Build The By-pass Now

Politicians who win elections are very happy to talk glibly about it being the will of the majority — that the majority has given them a mandate to do this and that — yet those same politicians will often and arrogantly override the expressed wishes of the majority if in the process of wooing support they think it will payoff to pamper the minority.

A case in point is the attitude of the Minister of Highways in regard to the Penticton by-pass. All valley communities to the north and south of Penticton are anxious to see the by-pass constructed, but Penticton considering solely its own interests, is stalling, and the Minister of Highways is going along with the stall, so much so, that the president of the Penticton Board of Trade was, so we understand, able to report that the Honorable Mr. Gagliardi would postpone action on the by-pass as long as possible.

As Summerland's Reeve Atkinson pointed out, it is understandable in this, our Centennial Year, when a greater than usual influx of visitors is to be expected that the highways department is reluctant to start on a road project of the magnitude required in eliminating the dangerous Kruger's Hill. But we go along with Reeve Atkinson in his contention that the actual by-pass could be constructed this summer without inconvenience to one single traveller.

What is most disturbing about this delay, we think, the Highways Minister's evasion of what is clearly the wishes of the majority, in favor of a minority motivated in opposition to the by-pass on purely selfish grounds.

The Review can understand Penticton's fight to transform a by-pass into an alternate route within the city limits, as we are inclined to believe that a by-pass will, to some extent, hurt Penticton, but what we cannot understand is the attitude of the Minister of Highways in siding with selfish interests against what is undoubtedly the best interests of the majority.

Construction of the Penticton by-pass is long overdue and now, with need for employment growing in the valley, is the time to build it.

Appointment ... With Fear

by Jim Onley

My wife made the appointment for me — 4:30 Friday. It seemed ages away so I dismissed the whole unpleasant business from my mind, in fact I completely forgot about it. But not Florence.

On Friday morning as I was leaving for the day she said: Don't forget your appointment with the dentist at 4:30.

Let's face it... I am a craven, snivelling coward when it comes to dentistry, but at 4:30 I took a deep breath, girded up my loins and presented myself for the treatment.

A very pleasant receptionist greeted me and invited me to "Take a seat". I tried to appear nonchalant, pretending to be absorbed in a 1955 edition of the Christian Science Monitor, completely oblivious of the fact that it was upside down.

Twenty minutes later the Very Pleasant Gal invited me to "Come this way". I followed her with leaden feet into the dinkiest surgery, I sat in the chair as though it were the Hot Seat at San Quentin, the Very Pleasant Gal pinned the cutest little bib around my neck, and after a reassuring pat on my trembling hand, left me.

The Warden... sorry... the dentist was treating a patient in the next room. I looked around at the array of particularly vicious looking probes, forceps and drills. I lay back in the chair and concentrated on the electric light fittings until I nearly went blind... Months later the chief executioner came in and armed with a hypodermic about a foot long advanced towards me with saliva dripping from his fangs.

Licking his chops he said: "This won't hurt, only a little mosquito sting" then he rammed six inches of needle into my mouth. I neighed like a startled horse and the immortal verse from Macaulay's "Lays of Ancient Rome" flashed across my mind:

Thro' teeth and skull and helmet
So fierce a thrust he sped,
The good sword stood a hand-breadth out
Behind the Tuscan's head.
My tormentor yanked the needle out saying "Relax, I will leave you to cool your heels for a few minutes. I will be right back". He disappeared, and a moment later I heard a hollow groan... He had resumed work on his victim in the next room. The sounds of anguish that followed were reminiscent of the Spanish Inquisition. I followed the poor wretch's torment from the first turn of the thumb screws till he mercifully expired on the rack.

Suddenly I was conscious of icy fingers gripping the right side of my face. I quickly put my hands up and felt... nothing. I tried to yell but too late. I had lockjaw. After the groans of the victim next door had faded away to a shuddering sigh, my tormentor returned. Slowly and deliberately he selected a villainous pair of forceps, and seizing me by the jaw he fastened on to my wisdom tooth. I tried to scream...

when suddenly I felt the softest hands gently stroking my cheeks. I looked up and there leaning over me was Jayne Mansfield. She continued to stroke my face whispering softly "There now, relax, it will soon be over". Then we were walking hand in hand along the shores of a beautiful lake, the full moon had laid a golden path across its placid surface. Suddenly she left me and walked out along the path of the moonlight and vanished among the stars, leaving me alone... Years passed... alone I waited...

One day she returned, walking towards me down the moonlit path, holding in her outstretched hands a great golden goblet. She held it up to my lips... murmuring softly "Spit in this."

I slowly clawed my way up from a bottomless pit into the light of day again, to find the Very Pleasant Gal smiling at me and a Very Pleasant Guy in a white coat ramming a huge wad of gauze in my mouth. "Just clench your teeth on this" he said. "You can remove it in fifteen minutes, there probably won't be much bleeding... My nurse will give you a receipt for four dollars as you pass out."

I parted with four bucks, and very quickly passed out.

Transplanting

If you are transferring seedlings from your own coldframe to vegetable plot or flower bed or buying them from your local greenhouse, have the garden ready to receive the plants beforehand; and waste not a second on getting them into the ground. Sunshine and drying wind, particularly if they reach the exposed roots, can be fatal. Set the plants at correct distances apart then dig each hole as you set the plant in—not a row of holes. Set the plant with the crown unburied, and making certain there are no air pockets under or around the roots, firm the soil well but gently. Water the plant thoroughly and cover the wet soil with dry top soil or leafmold, to act as a mulch.

th at night, so warm nights insure a much better growth on tomatoes, zinnias, marigolds, salvias, begonias, geraniums, cucumbers, peppers, eggplant, and, of course, melons.

Now is the time to set out Dahlia roots. If you are dividing a dahlia clump, and want some especially attractive groupings of the variety, try placing three roots in each hole, spacing them eight inches apart. Dahlias are strong feeders and will need extra fertilization. As the flowering period advances, late July, it is often wise to feed them with a low-nitrogen, high-phosphate, high-potash mixture to encourage tougher, harder growth and better flowering.

Greenhouse plants set outdoors while the nights are still cool (below 45 degrees) frequently stand still for more than a month while becoming used to the change of conditions. Plants make most of their grow-

Macs Crush Clippers: Top Spot Battle Sunday

League leadership will be at stake when the Summerland Macs tangle with the Kelowna Orioles at the Athletic Park here Sunday afternoon.

While the Macs were taking both ends of a double header here 3-1 and 17-0 against the Vernon Clippers the Orioles were dishing out the same treatment to the Kamloops Jay Rays.

In other games Oliver saturated Princeton winning 25-3 while the Pentiction Red Sox dropped both ends of a double-header to the Kamloops Okonots.

At Summerland it was all glory for the Macs.

Don Crisante pitching crisp ball in the opener held the Clippers to five hits while Al Hooker had the northerners baffled, pitching a shutout second game.

It was Egeley's big and timely three bagger in the bottom of the sixth with two on which broke up the one-all deadlock to give the Macs a 3-1 win in the opener.

Parker singled, stole second and was advanced to third on Taylor's one base hit. With two away, Egeley clouted out his three bagger to drive in the winning runs.

Vernon Clippers were outthit, outpitched and completely clobbered in the second game, when the Macs, behind the four hit pitching of Al Hooker poled out 15 hits and in a mad merry-go-round crossed the home plate for 17 runs.

Hooker struck out 12 while the Macs came through with errorless ball to throttle efforts of the Clippers to get on the score sheet.

Leading 6-0 going into the seventh the Macs opened up wide bunching eight hits, including two baggers by Parker and Hooker and a home run by Burton to blast in ten runs.

Clobber Junior Red Sox

Summerland's Junior Red Sox took a trouncing Sunday when they lost their first game of the new season to Vernon Hydros — the score, believe it or not, by Ripley, a juicy 21-3.

The Red Sox played a fighting game up to the fifth inning and then the balloon went up.

The Hydros took Sheeley's measure and clouted him out of the box with nine hits and ten runs. Sheeley gave out five walks.

The opposition had no respect whatsoever for Sheeley's successor, Skinner, and they boomed 13 hits off his offerings which aided by four free passes to first added up to 13 runs.

For the Red Sox it was a nightmare.

Bowling News

The Ladies League finished off the season last week with the Totem Cuters coming in first, the Hi-Lo's were next, then the Spudniks and last, but not least the Dudniks. The ladies had a get-together at Lorraine Bradley's home in Peachland. The awards were handed out to Lorraine Irving for the high single for the season, Evelyn Spelsberg for the high three and Eileen Fell for the high average. A new executive was elected for next year with Evelyn Spelsberg elected as president, Shirley Smith elected as secretary, Berly Flebbe elected as treasurer and Ethel Smith, Nellie Newton and Lorraine Bradley were elected as executive members. The gals tell me it was a very enjoyable get-together!

Before I get too far along with this article I'd like to mention that the newly elected executive of the mixed league are Alma Lelak as president, Len Jackson as vice-president, Nellie Huva as secretary, Bert Simpson as treasurer and Foster Cunningham, Don Gilbert, George Taylor and Phil Wakefield as executive members.

I would like to mention in this article the following Merchants who gave so generously throughout the bowling season gifts for the big leagues: Laidlaw's, Fashionwise, Family Shoe Store, Roy's Men's Wear, Watkins Products, Thelma's Beauty Shop, Hepperle's Poultry Farm, Quality Cafe, Frank Daniels, Bud's Garage, Sport's Centre, and Bert Simpson's Garden Nursery Stock.

In conclusion, Eilee and I would like to thank all those who made last season such a memorable season and as I mentioned at the Banquet we will be looking forward to another successful bowling season with you next September.

Badminton Jr's Conclude Season

Supervisors of the Club have been Mrs. C. E. Emery, Mr. H. Parker and Mrs. H. Mosley.

Executive elected at a recent meeting are: president, Arnold Mosley; secretary, Nora Emery; treasurer, Diane Parker; Executive, Jim McArthur, Garry Matkovich and Ron Downes.

Engraved silver spoons were awarded to Edgar Mosley, jr. boys; Karen Moore, sr. girls; and Verne Dunsdon, sr. boys; who were winners of the finals.

Tennis will be started soon and all Juniors who are interested are asked to come out.

With the season at a close the members would like to thank all those who have assisted

Sheeley Presides

"Next case please!" Judge Carlton Sheeley banged an Industrial Arts hammer on the garbage basket as he presided over an unruly court attended by over 200 students on the occasion of "Slave Week" at Summerland High, last week. Girls did the asking and paid their guys way into the Dogpatch Drag and the boys then paid a fee to the Senior Council to have the girls act as their slaves for weeks.

The boys were real slave drivers, making the girls carry books to classes, remove coats, bring flowers, clean lockers, polish shoes and even insisted that the girls walk three paces behind the master.

At a court of appeal held on Friday noon, cases of desertion, criminal inefficiency and cruelty were brought before the judge and jury. Those found guilty paid fines or were sentenced to extra "slave" duties.

The Friday night dance was attended by over 80 members of the senior student body.

Dogpatch "critters" entered the happy atmosphere decorated with lively and colorful cartoons of the Lil Abner comic strip. Vegetable corsages were given to the boys. Hot dogs and pop were sold at Charlie's Chuckwagon, and everyone was invited to guess the weight of the cake.

SUMMERLAND, B.C.

Timely Travel Tip Can Save Worry — Money, Too

It can be mighty embarrassing when you run short of ready cash while travelling. Yet no one likes to carry around large sums of cash because there's always the danger of loss or theft.

What's the answer then, on your next vacation or business trip?

More and more people are finding the easiest and safest way to carry funds for travel purposes today is in the form of B of M travellers cheques. Any bank in Canada and most hotels and stores will cash them readily — because you counter-sign each cheque only when you cash it.

Thus the person cashing it knows right away that you and only you are the rightful owner. This feature makes B of M travellers cheques useless to everyone except their purchaser. What's more, if your B of M travellers cheques are lost, destroyed, or stolen, the bank replaces them.

So before you set off on that next trip, stop at the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal and buy as many travellers cheques as you think you'll need. The service charge is negligible and the peace of mind is wonderful.

Doug Galloway, the accountant, or any member of the staff will be glad to help you make any other arrangements for your travel financing. If your trip is an extra long one and you need a large sum, travellers letters of credit are available from the B of M, and if you are going abroad, there are special travellers cheques available at every branch.

Young Addresses A.O.T.S. Meeting

T. B. Young, only recently returned from a vacation in the Hawaiian Isles, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Summerland A.O.T.S. Club, held on Thursday, April 24. Mr. Young gave a brief talk on the history and origin of the Hawaiian Islands, then delighted his audience with a showing of colored films which vividly portrayed the beautiful flora of the Islands, along with pictures depicting the life and work of the natives.

The showing of the pictures was accompanied by a most interesting and often humorous commentary on the source of the picture and why the particular subject was selected for the camera. Many of the young people who heard Mr. Young left the meeting with a fixed determination to visit the famed Islands at some time in their lives.

A short business meeting was held and matters of interest discussed. Guest speaker for the May meeting will be announced at a later date.

Fruit Delegation Reports Government About To Act

Officials Coming To Obtain Crop Statistics

Fruit industry officials are awaiting the arrival in the valley of two representatives of the Department of Agriculture to obtain statistics on both the 1957 and 1958 crops.

This was reported to the industry at a meeting in Kelowna Tuesday, as the outcome of talks held in Ottawa between May 5 and 8 between a fruit industry delegation, members of the Canadian Horticultural Council and the government in relation to securing assistance for the industry under the Agricultural Prices Stabilization Act.

The delegation was composed of Eric Tait, W. G. Wight, R. P. Walrod and J. B. Lander.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

Why do they do it — take good food, proud handiwork of nature and muss it around until it looks like anything but what it is, and, worse, tastes like nothing that nature put on this earth?

If I was important enough to rate such attention, I would swear that Ladies Auxiliaries lie awake nights planning menus to help me slim down, but which, if they represented sole access to edibles available to this columnist, would spell death from starvation.

The foregoing outburst stems from the Legion's VE Day banquet on Thursday. Ninety some odd sat down to that banquet — eighty-nine of those people enjoyed a whale of a meal the lone and miserable exception — yours truly.

I've moaned and groaned and regretted and protested over this, to my mind, vicious ruination of good food before.

Let us consider the case of the potato—the humble, but very useful spud — often the backbone of a meal.

Well, what the Legion Ladies did to that poor spud was a shameful thing. Eventually the spud appeared as a yellowy looking paste, speckled with green, unrecognizable by sight, or taste, as the national fruit of Old Ireland — and worse, it was served cold and clammy — and what, I ask you, is more revolting to the palate than a cold clammy spud?

Nothing in my book is any more revolting than a cold potatoe-not even when it is recognizable as such.

What's wrong with creamy, mashed potatoes, hot, with rich beef gravy, or for that matter with a boiled spud likewise hot, and with spot of butter if there's no gravy to go along. Then a spud can always be scrubbed and roasted in its jacket, or it can be baked, but with all those respectable ways of doing up a spud, the Legion Ladies Auxiliary and, so it seems, every other ladies auxiliary across the land goes hog wild on turning the spud into something they call potatoe salad, a horrible concoction which eighty-nine people consumed with gusto and relish at the VE Day banquet, while this columnist sneaked an extra bread bun to stave off the pangs of hunger.

Eggs, likewise, are subject to fearsome treatment by ladies auxiliaries, which robs the noble egg of all its dignity, and here too, it is served cold — and if anything is worse than cold, tater it is, undoubtedly, a cold egg.

There are only three decent things to do with an egg, fry it, boil it, or scramble it. But no, the ladies auxiliaries of the land must under some form of strange compulsion muss and maul it around, slosh it with vinegar and lo, behold, egg salad which eighty-nine people at the Legion VE Day banquet partook with great gusto, while this columnist stole another bun.

Even the poor radish had to be mutilated to play its part in this mad orgy of food camouflage. Now radish, red, and whole is a pleasant sight and with a modicum of salt makes a tasty morsel. But the Legion Ladies carved the radish into the form of tulip and rooted it in the gooey, green speckled paste, to which they had previously reduced the humble spud.

And of course there was the green salad. Here the ladies go really wild, tomatoes lettuce, radishes, gooey salad dressing everything it seems but the dishcloth — yum-mmmmm murmurs the wife as she loads her plate with a second helping and I reach for another bread bun.

One thing I'm happy to report, the Legion Ladies left the ice cream alone, although for the life of me, I don't know why — after all if it makes sense to make a spud taste like a sour something or other, why don't they try to make ice cream look like spud and taste like a boiled onion?

Cost Of Spray Materials To High Growers Claim

Ready and willing are the youngsters shown above, to do their bit in strengthening the bonds between Canada and its giant neighbor to the south. The Summerland High School Band starts off tomorrow under Bandmaster John Tamblyn to fulfill a coveted invitation to play at the Spokane Lilac Festival. They will also play in Grand Coulee and Omak.

Don't Use Open Irrigation Flumes For Garbage - They're Not Sewers

Chickens could fly in, snakes could crawl in — but by golly the only way a mass of rhubarb leaves could get into the flume was because they were dumped in.

That was part of a hotly worded complaint by Ken Blagborne, municipal superintendent of works, who informed council that a dangerous situation was being created by people dumping everything but the kitchen sink into the open flumes.

We're cleaning out everything, from dead chickens to dead snakes and the other day masses of rhubarb leaves, deliberately dumped into the flumes. Some people must think they're for sewage disposal.

Mr. Blagborne warned that unless the practice was stopped there was danger of a washout which could be very costly to the municipality.

Reeve F. E. Atkinson commented that it was an old problem and appealed to residents to stop using the flumes for garbage disposal.

Prison Terms For S'land Youth

A Summerland youth, Douglas Joseph Larrett, was sentenced to two years hard labor on two counts in Penticton Police Court this morning, the sentences to run concurrently.

Larrett was charged convicted with a Penticton youth, Bradshaw, of breaking and entering at Oliver. They pleaded guilty to a charge of committing theft over the value of $50. Bradshaw was remanded and will appear for sentence tomorrow.

Retires

Municipal Council accepted with deep regret the resignation of Fire Chief Ed Gould, who has served Summerland as fire chief and fire marshal for 18 years.

Joe McLachlan, another veteran of Summerland's Volunteer Fire Brigade, will assume the fire chief's duties at least for the balance of the year, with Mr. Gould carrying on, as fire marshal.

Council Think Youth Should Be Served

"Kids are not criminals until they've proved themselves as such and when a group of our young people ask for such as this, we've got to give them every consideration and fair play."

The foregoing comment by Reeve F. E. Atkinson about summed up Municipal Council's reaction to a petition signed by 30 residents protesting the proposed establishment of a stock car racing track in the Paradise Flats area.

Spokesmen in support of the petition, Harvey Mitchell and Mrs. G. E. Grazley stated that they had no desire to curb the activities of Summerland's youth but Mr. Mitchell argued that the road was hazardous, that the increased traffic would add to the hazard and to dust on fruit and further cut up the road and also that the noise of traffic night and day would be a nuisance.

The delegation was assured by council that it recognized the arguments against the proposed stock car racing, and also was sympathetic to the suggestion that if a suitable area of land could be located in a less sparsely settled part of the community that the stock car racers should give it consideration.

Council disclosed that it had met with a delegation representing the "Cavalliers Rod and Custom Club" and had been impressed with their eagerness to establish the organization and with their determination to see that it would be run right.

To ensure strict control, council has, the delegation was informed, insisted that the club executive contain at least three or five responsible adults, that a constitution be adopted that is acceptable to council and that it would be clearly understood that any nuisance arising from the project would mean an immediate shutdown.

Council is inclined to go ahead with these young people who seem anxious to abide by the rules of the stock car association and we're impressed with the calibre of youngsters who want to participate in this sport, the Reeve said.

Both Mr. Mitchell and Mrs. Grazley repeatedly stressed that they and the other residents who had signed the petition were not against stock car racing in such — "my own boy will be in there in a year or so," Mrs. Grazley said, but the delegation and the petitioners did feel that with some looking, a more suitable location could be found.

The outcome of the discussion was that Councillor Norman Holmes was instructed to confer with the youth organization, and survey the municipality for an alternative site — but it appears clear that council will give the young car enthusiasts solid backing, unless the youngsters prove unworthy of it.

Music Lovers; An Opportunity

For the first time a ranking Symphony Orchestra the Vancouver Symphony is visiting in the valley and opportunity knocks for music lovers in Summerland with giving of two concerts in Penticton on Saturday, May 17.

The Orchestra under direction of Irwin Hoffman will give a matinee concert starting at 3 p.m. in the Penticton Memorial Arena, and an evening concert, commencing at 8:15.

The 75 piece orchestra has been commanding large audiences and tremendous ovations wherever it has played in its province-wide tour. Youngsters are reported to be especially delighted and thrilled with the experience.

Student's matinee tickets and general tickets can be had at the High School and also at Fashionwise.

Can Be Bought For Much Less

Executive of the Summerland BCFGA local meeting last week, discussed the cost of spray material to the grower and some of the executives were surprised to learn that most growers are paying more than they need to pay for their spray material.

This hinges on two factors, one the growers insistence on buying in too small quantities and, two, in not shopping around for the cheapest source of supply.

This, as one member of the executive pointed out at a time when a major factor in the depressed condition of the tree fruits industry is the ever increasing costs of production.

Some of the best brains in the country are concentrating on the problem of reducing production costs in the industry, but here is where the grower could and should help himself, one executive member said.

The situation bluntly is this: the packinghouse charge for spray material is considerably higher than can be obtained elsewhere.

A Summerland packinghouse sells DDT in 50 pound lots for 29 cents a pound; the Oliver Chemical Co. Ltd. in Penticton sells DDT at 25.8 cents a 50 pound lot.

Similarly, with Malathion. One Summerland packinghouse sells one pound of Malathion at $1.61 cents a pound in four gallon jars.

Oliver Chemical sells Malathion in four gallon jars for $1.37 a pound.

Growers can however save considerable, even though continuing to buy through the packinghouse by buying in volume. For example to buy a four pound bag of DDT costs the grower 33 cents a pound, but the same DDT in 50 pound bags can be bought for 29 cents a pound, and then, if the grower wants to save even more he can go to an independent concern, in this case the Oliver Chemical Co. in Penticton and buy the same DDT in 50 pound lots at a cost of 25.8 cents a pound — a cool saving of $1.60 on a fifty pound bag.

The same goes for Malathion, in fact even more so. The lowest price available through the packing house in Summerland is said to be $1.61 per pound of Malathion in four gallon jars at ten pounds of Malathion to a gallon.

Ten pounds of Malathion can be bought at the Oliver Chemical works in four gallon jars for $1.37 a pound of Malathion. This is a saving of 24 cents a pound on Malathion and $2.40 saved on a four gallon jar.

This possible saving mounts up when it is applied to acre-

New Motel Coming Here Board Of Trade Informed

The oft-mentioned subject of additional hotel and motel accommodation if Summerland is to take advantage of Okanagan Tourist trade was discussed at the monthly meeting of the Board of Trade last Thursday.

The Board's New Development committee have followed up two interesting leads on prospective hotel builders in the last few months. It was reported that a large motel is to be constructed here in the near future, but no details are available as yet.

The Board decided to write a letter of commendation to the Provincial Parks Board for the excellent Park and Camping sites they are establishing all through the Province. Summerland businessmen noticed an attractive increase in business from Okanagan Lake camp last year as well as from the Municipal and private camp sites.

Reeve F. E. Atkinson, Bob Barkwill, chairman of the New Development Committee, and Board secretary Lorne Perry met with Mr. W. M. Underwood district engineer of the B.C. Highways Dept. from Kelowna last Friday and discussed several matters regarding traffic control and landscaping of the five corners crossroads on Highway 97. One of the major Board projects this year will be to landscape the island at the Northern entrance to West Summerland.

President L. Miller urged all members to assist with the many projects planned for the summer, including the Fruit Fair, construction of floats, Queens Ball and Queen Crowning on Centennial Day.

Legion Auxillary Report On Education Week Survey

Cribbage Winners

Summerland's Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thornthwaite together and separately won the aggregate prize for the highest number of points in the fall and winter cribbage games, held under the sponsorship of the Ladies Auxillary to the Canadian Legion, Branch 22.

The auxillary is planning a spring tea and sale to be held May 31. Mrs Frank Young is convener of tea arrangements and Mrs. William Milne will convene the tea tables. Other conveners for the social event are, Mrs. William McCutcheon, Mrs. H. A. McCargar, Mrs. Tom Fisher Mrs. Dave Taylor, Sr., Mrs. Clarence Adolph, Mrs. A. Johnson and Mrs. D. Strachan.

Results from the Education Week opinion poll have been tabulated by the Future Teachers' Club. The survey questions were as follows:

1. Are you in favour of having "Rank in Class" re-established on report cards?
2. Are you in favour of returning to a system of percentage marking?
3. Do you consider it advisable for a high school student to have part-time work?
4. Should students who have neither the ability nor the desire to learn be removed from the high school?
5. Are you willing to pay higher taxes for the extension of present school extension facilities?

6. Are you satisfied that the present high enrolments in our elementary schools allow our children to get everything they should out of school?
7. Have you a "pet beef"—a criticism you would like to express, or a suggestion you would like to make regarding our educational programme?

More than a hundred parents registered their opinions on these questions. The results are given below.

Question 1: 71 Yes, 31 No.
 Question 2: 84 Yes, 18 No.
 Question 3: 63 Yes, 34 No.
 Question 4: 75 Yes, 17 No.
 Question 5: 52 Yes, 37 No.
 Question 6: 43 Yes, 43 No.

Comments from question 7 indicate an active interest in our local situation. These comments are, of course, too numerous for complete publication, but they might be summarized as follows:

Some opinions indicate that too little homework is assigned, while others find that school-work claims too much of their children's time.

The lack of a full-time school nurse for rheath tests and looking after minor accidents is criticized by several parents.

"Athletics are over-emphasized", is also a recurrent criticism.

Other comments range from the need for a full-scale agricultural program to the statement that "Parents should send disciplined children to school, rather than children to be disciplined."

The interest of the many parents who registered their opinions is appreciated by the Summerland Education Week Committee. Our school system, like any other, has ample room for improvement, and the suggestions of parents and other citizens are always welcome.

April Building Permits Down

Building permits issued by the corporation in the month of April showed a drop from the corresponding month of 1957, but building for the first four months of 1958 is still substantially above the first four months of last year:

Permits to the value of $26,330 were issued last month as against $38,025 in April 1957. Total value of permits issued to the end of April this year amounts to $167,505, as against only $93,525 issued in the first four months of 1957.

Promenade

A very successful round dance jamboree was held in the Penticton Memorial Arena on Saturday night with Les Boyer in charge. About 11 squares of enthusiasts from Vernon south to Omak and east to Calgary were in attendance. Marg and Wes Houchin flew in for the affair.

New officers for the club for the coming year are as follows: President, Don Hermiston; Vice-President, Pat Agur; Treasurer Mrs. Harve yEden; secretary, Mrs. Lester Arkell. Directors: Enid Maynard, Kay Agur and Harry Williams.

On Saturday night, May 17th, Summerland will hold their regular party night at the Youth Centre with Lloyd Shannon as emcee. Local and visiting callers will be featured on the programme. Bring a sack lunch.

On Thursday, May 15th, the Peach City Promenaders are holding a square dance jamboree in the new Centennial Pavilion on Okanagan Lake. Dancing to live music will be highlighted. Visitors welcome.

The younger you are the easier it is

That's what the middle-aged "duffers" say on the golf course when a teenager breaks 80 for the first time.

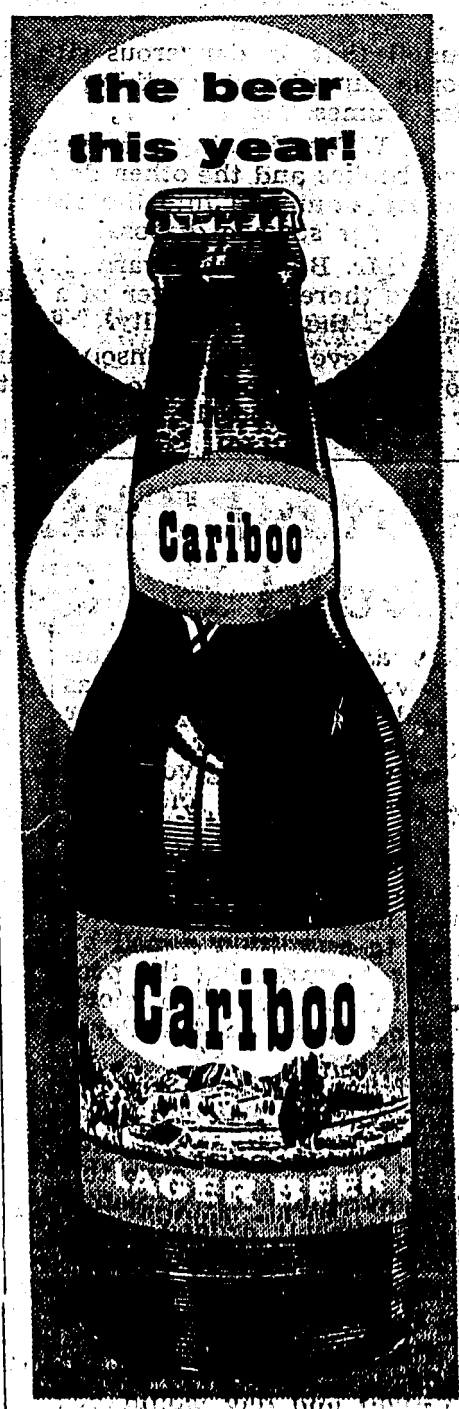

It's the same story with family protection. The younger you are when you first arrange it, the more likely you are to be insurable. And the younger you are, the lower the premiums, too.

The Mutual Life of Canada is helping thousands of young Canadians plan for future security. Talk to a Mutual of Canada man soon and he'll show you how Mutual's outstanding dividend record really pays off for the young man on his way up.

What does it mean to be rated?

Not long ago men and women with coronary artery disease, tuberculosis or diabetes were unable to obtain life insurance. Today it is possible for many of these people to be insured in a special premium classification. Technically speaking they are said to be "rated" policyholders. For many years Manufacturers Life has contributed leadership in this special field. Today we are well known for our progressive outlook and for the favourable premium rates being offered.

Actually 90% of the people applying for Manufacturers Life policies today are accepted at regular rates. Another 8 1/2% are offered insurance at the lowest possible cost considering their particular physical condition, while only 1 1/2% are declined. Whatever your needs, you can be sure of progressive life insurance service when you call the Man from Manufacturers.

IN YOUR ORCHARD

By Alec Watt

District Horticulturist

The 1958 season is running about one week earlier than average. Light frosts experienced towards the end of April damaged cherry petals in some orchards, but do not appear to have affected the set to any extent.

Codling Moth

With the season advancing rapidly it will not be long before the first Codling Moth spray.

Throughout the Valley horticulturists and entomologists have hung out bait pots to catch the first adult moths. As soon as a significant flight of moths is detected growers will be advised when to start spraying. Be sure to follow press, radio and TV for these announcements.

If you cannot get these bulletins keep in mind this first brood schedule: three applications, two weeks apart, commencing the week after petal fall.

DDT continues to be the material recommended for Codling Moth work. This is because of effectiveness and low cost.

Check your spray chart for amount and timing schedules.

Mixing Malathion and DDT
Occasionally someone has difficulty mixing emulsified (liquid) malathion with wettable powder, DDT. When this occurs a wad of putty-like substance is formed which clogs the screens in the sprayer and brings operations to a halt.

The chances of this misfortune occurring can be greatly lessened if the materials are well dispersed in the water at the time of mixing. It is suggested that the wettable powders be added slowly as the tank is filling and that the Malathion be added gradually as the last thirty or forty gallons are entering the tank. Keep the agitator running while filling.

S.E.U. Suggests Master Agreement

Suggestion of the Okanagan Valley School Employees' Union to the effect that a master agreement blanketing the entire Okanagan area be negotiated to avoid piecemeal negotiations was received by School Board, District 77, at last week's meeting. The trustees voted to table the matter until the opinion of other school boards had been ascertained.

The School Board will ask the Committee to provide a Centennial flag, to be flown in the school grounds as a reminder to students of Centennial year and its significance.

Exception was made to the school board's policy of refusing use of the High School Auditorium for public dances. In the face of the Centennial Committee request for permission to hold a dance featuring Mart Kenny's famous orchestra in connection with Centennial celebrations.

Also in connection with the Centennial celebrations, the school board agreed to the use of the school auditorium by the Summerland Singers and Players who, on June 4, will present "Pirates of Penzance."

WEDNESDAY, MAY 14, NINETEEN FIFTY-EIGHT

Generous To A Fault

Summerland has many things to be proud of, but, perhaps, its finest attribute is in the quiet untrumpeted generosity of its people.

Summerland's response to the need of a family who lost their all in a fire was, without exaggeration, magnificent.

Summerland's response to the recent Kiwanis sponsored cancer appeal was equally in step with Summerland's response to the Red Cross and to the many other calls made upon the generosity of Summerland folk during the course of a year.

In fact it can almost be said of Summerland that its people are generous to a fault.

Consider what happened last week — Penticton with its 14,000 people was having trouble meeting the challenge of much smaller Vernon and Kelowna in the Red Cross

Something Wrong Somewhere

At a time when growers are hard pressed, at a time when considerable preachment is being made regarding the necessity of cutting costs of production, it comes as something of a surprise to learn that growers are paying more for their spraying materials, buying through the packinghouses, than if they were to pursue an independent course and buy from a private concern.

This disclosure, details of which are contained in the story on page one, must not be misconstrued, however, as a criticism of the packinghouses.

Insofar as we can learn and we are satisfied that it is so, the packinghouses do not make any more than an almost nominal handling charge on spray materials.

The fault goes beyond the packinghouse. It, apparently rests with inertia somewhere higher up.

Those responsible for buying spray material in bulk for distribution through the Blood Donor rivalry between the three valley cities.

Penticton despite the exhortations and appeals was losing out but along came Summerland to the rescue.

Penticton required quite a few pints to go over the top — finally it won the contest with seven pints to spare.

How come they went over the top — thanks in large measure to 38 Summerland residents, who made the trip to Penticton and gave their blood and it is a safe bet that those 38 Summerland residents will be among the first at the Red Cross Clinic when it is once again in Summerland.

Yes, Summerland has many things to be proud of, but what greater source of pride than the knowledge that our community stands ever ready to help those in need.

packinghouses appear to be content to warm the seats of their chairs without going out into the market place to see if what is offered to them over their desks can be bought cheaper elsewhere.

This must be the case, or it would not be possible for a comparatively small concern to sell spray materials at substantially lower prices than are obtainable through the packinghouses, although the growers' agents purchase in much larger quantities.

At one time it was suggested that the growers' organizations should take over the job of bulk buying of spray materials for distribution to the grower, but for some obscure reason this suggestion was not acted upon.

Now, with clear evidence that under the present set-up the grower is having to pay more for his spray materials than he would, if bought on a competitive market, appears to be the time to set up a grower buying agency to handle this very necessary duty.

A Tax Dollar We Don't Begrudge

Some fellow with a statistical mind has figured out that May 7 was the first day of this year that the money we earned was really ours to spend.

He bases his figures on the average earnings of the average Canadian, and the average amount paid out in taxes. All that Mr. Average Citizen earned from January 1 to May 7 had to be paid out for taxes, direct or indirect.

Almost everyone feels that taxes are too high, and almost no one likes to pay them, but there is another phase to the problem. Our taxes are a service charge we pay for services rendered.

The amount seems high. Four months work out of each year, just to meet our tax bill, is one day out of each four. And this applies to the man in the low income bracket as well as the few in the upper brackets.

The one tax for which we get biggest value for our dollars however, is our local tax. If you are an average resident, you pay somewhere around $100 a year for your real estate tax. This figures out about 28 cents a day, counting Sundays, holidays and all.

Just count up the service you get for 28 cents a day.

You get your schools, scores of trained teachers and school administrators working for you.

You have fire protection, police protection, law enforcement.

You have a public library, hundreds of books that are yours, with trained personnel to keep the records.

You have your parks, where you can go, enjoy yourself, and even leave your picnic debris for someone to pick up for you — although we hope you don't do it.

We'll pass up such items as your water and sanitary service, because you pay for these direct as a user.

But you do have your streets, roads, your employees, your health department. If you live on a paved street, it is swept for you. In the wintertime the snow is removed so you can use it.

All these services paid for out of your local tax dollar, and there are more we have not mentioned.

How many of these would you like to have eliminated, or curtailed?

It's the biggest value for 28 cents a day we know of.

Today In Your Garden

The treatment of spring bulbs after flowering is important if the same bulbs are to be used again. It must never be forgotten that the flowers and resources for the next season are stored within the bulb after blooming, through the agency of the roots and foliage. Therefore, imperfectly developed and matured foliage this year means poor flowers or none at all next year, so it is best to leave the bulbs alone until the leaves have died down. When summer bedding plants are to be planted, it is sometimes necessary to remove bulbs before ripe; in such cases they should be carefully taken up with a spade, disturb the roots as little as possible, and do not cut nor crush the leaves, "heel in" the plants in a shallow trench in some semi-shady out-of-the-way place until ripe. However annual bedding plants may be set in among the bulb foliage if the soil can be prepared to receive these small plants without disturbing bulbs which haven't yet matured.

Now is the time to set out annuals such as petunias, geraniums, marigolds, zinnias, salvia, etc. Also begonias, glads, dahlias and cannas. Check your lawn and mow, feed and weed the grass. Start caring for roses — spray at weekly intervals against aphids and mildew. See that weeds are never allowed to go to seed. Spend a minute a day looking for trouble in BUG form. Happy gardening!

Operation Basement

The clutter and confusion in these days is enough to make most unimproved basements even the most optimistic handyman shudder, but it doesn't require any skill to clean up this mess and throw out all that old junk you've been accumulating for years — only courage. If you have the time to spare, and only a nodding acquaintance with the five basic tools, a saw and hammer, a screwdriver, a block plane and a spirit level, you can nail a few 2 x 4s together for a wall, and nail plywood panels to the walls. And before you know it, you've built a room.

You'll need a yardstick, but you can get one free at almost any hardware store. And you'll need a work surface; two saw horses and a couple of planks makes an excellent and convenient work table for marking, cutting and planing sheets of plywood.

You don't need the skill and experience of a cabinet-maker to panel with plywood. A strip of quarter round around the bottom of the room and a small moulding strip around the top where the walls and ceilings meet will put the finishing touches to the room, and at the same time, hide a lot of rough and wobbly saw cuts. This method also reduces fitting to a minimum without sacrificing appearance.

Women's Institute Hear Of Centennial Work

One of the most interesting programs of the year was presented at last Friday's regular meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute, held in the Parish Hall. Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, Citizen Convener, chose the timely subject, "The B. C. Centennial", telling of the work started in 1956 to plan the many and varied types of celebrations that are being held this year. Mrs. MacDonald gave many interesting descriptions and personal observations of the early days in the province comparing them to the present time. Many colorful placards and posters were displayed and added interest to the enjoyable program. The business meeting conducted by the president Mrs. L. W. Rumball included reports of standing committees. Cultural activities convener, Mrs. G. Inglis asked members to make pot-holders for the fall sale and Mrs. M. E. Collas, Agriculture convener, reminded members of the plant exchange to be featured at the June meeting and suggested that plants be started at once. Mrs. D. I. Gilman reported attending the annual meeting of the local branch of CNIB.

The silver spoon which was awarded as second prize for the Village History in the Tweedsmuir Competitions was presented to the convener, Mrs. H. C. Whitaker.

A very interesting, comprehensive report of the District Rally held at Oliver, May 6th, was given by the delegate, Mrs. A. A. Fenwick. Fifteen members attended from Summerland and there were 130 women present including several members of the Homemakers clubs of Washington. The 1959 Rally will be held in Summerland to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Summerland Institute.

Resolutions to be presented to the Provincial Convention at Vancouver, May 27, 28 and 29 were discussed and the delegate, Mrs. W. R. Powell was instructed how to vote.

A delicious tea was served by Mrs. E. M. Tait, Mrs. V. Charles, Mrs. M. Collas, Mrs. A. Fenwick and Mrs. A. C. Lleming.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. E. Collas, Crescent Beach, Friday, June 13, and the Peachland Institute has been invited to attend.

CENTENNIAL PROGRESS

Is Marked At The
MILNE CANNERY
By Conversion To Natural Gas

Another Important B.C. Plant

MILNE CANNERY

converts to economical

natural gas

This year above all years with pure, low-cost natural gas at hand, Interior B.C. has the opportunity to fully utilize its natural resources. Progress-minded Milne Cannery has converted its Summerland plant to natural gas because of its high efficiency . . . precision controllability . . . unmatched low operating cost . . . and ability to provide continuous service with minimum maintenance. Its extensive distribution by Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. has marked a great new chapter in the economic growth of the Province and heralds a future of BETTER LIVING for thousands of B.C. families.

Two Of B.C.'s Greatest Natural Resources Combine

Keeping pace with the times is the Milne Cannery at West Summerland, which started practically from a kitchen stove has, in the space of 30 years, developed into one of Summerland's ranking industries with its products selling far and wide.

The Milne Cannery, a name always synonymous with progress, advanced another step in keeping pace with the times this week when the plant was converted to natural gas.

The two huge coal fired boilers which supplied the steam for the fruit processing at the Milne Cannery are no longer coal fired, in fact one of the boilers has been retired from active service, the remaining boiler has been converted to natural gas and will deliver enough steam to take care of all the processing.

The gas burner, manufactured by Flame Master, is of the in-shot type and has 28 firing tubes, the capacity of this burner is 3,000 cubic feet of natural gas per hour or 3,000,000 BTUs.

The Flame Master is fitted with a modulating control which adjusts the burning rate in relation to the demand for steam in this way the burner does not turn on and off but maintains a steady steam pressure. The boiler is fitted with a device which replaces the water in the boiler as it is used, this device will also shut the burner down if the water level gets too low, a pressure control shuts the burner off if the demand for steam ceases, and automatically starts again if steam is required. The entire installation is guarded by an Electronic "Watchman" which will react in eight tenths of a second to shut off gas in the event of a flame failure.

Installation was made by Pacific Pipe and Flume Co. Ltd. of Penticton.

Mrs. D. L. Milne began her cannery 30 years ago in 1928 by canning in her own kitchen for friends and relatives on the prairie. More orders came in and her son Blake fixed up some machinery to help and the back porch was used, then in their spare time the two sons, Howard and Blake, built a small cannery in the yard and their friends and neighbors came in to help Mr Milne was teaching High school and Blake and Howard were working at the Occidental packing house but would work on the cannery evenings and early mornings, finally they enlarged the plant by degrees to its present size and after the death of Mr Milne, Mrs. Milne and the two boys formed a partnership and carried on. Shipping is done under their own label, "Milne's" syrup pack and "Summerland" brand diet pack, without sugar.

Asparagus is processed in the spring followed by cherries, apricots, peaches, pears, prune plums, tomatoes. Four sizes of cans are used, 12 oz. asparagus cans, 105 oz. cans for hospitals and institutions, 15 oz. and 20 oz. cans. There are 30 employees in the peak season.

The canning season extends from about May 1, on asparagus to the end of October, with some time off between fruits while ripening. Canned goods are shipped directly to firms as far east as Winnipeg, and north to Grande Prairie, the largest market being at the coast, Calgary and Edmonton.

From kitchen stove out on the house porch to a modern cannery and a thriving business built up over the space of 30 years is the success story of the Milne family, which passed another milestone in their onward march this week, by converting their plant to natural gas. The above picture shows the cannery as it was when started by Mrs. D. L. Milne in 1928. The lower picture shows the cannery as it is today — geared for further expansion with the turn over to natural gas.

King Coal lost another segment of his Kingdom this week, when natural gas was turned on at the Milne Cannery. From now on steam will be generated with gas fuel in the huge boiler pictured above. Part of the installation is shown above as it was supplied and installed by Pacific Pipe and Flume Ltd. The gas burner, manufactured by Flume Master, has a capacity of 3,000 cubic feet of natural gas per hour. It's all automatic, water is automatically supplied to the boiler as required and a pressure control automatically shuts down as steam demand decreases.

Mac's Lose Leadership To Kelowna Orioles

Summerland Macs were defeated Sunday in what turned out to be a close and thrilling game in the final innings.

In the first inning Kelowna Orioles went out in front with 7 runs while Summerland was unable to score. Then in the 2nd Kelowna came in with one more run before Ray Scott went in to replace Al Hooker on the mound. With one down and two on bases Ray struck out Culos, hit the next batter to load the bases and then came through with another strike-out to keep the Kelowna runners from scoring. In Summerland's turn to bat in the third, they came up with three hits, a walk and a hit pitch to bring in 3 runs.

The Orioles scored once more in the fifth to make it 9-3 but the Macs were far from beaten yet and came back in the seventh for three more runs and then in the ninth, scored two more runs to tie the game. In the third inning when Hooker grounded out to Fritz on second for the third out.

Both teams played exceptionally good ball with Kelowna committing five errors and the Macs two.

Ray cott pitched a wonderful game giving up only four hits and having 10 strike-outs to his credit for seven innings. Top batting honours went to Burton who collected two doubles and a single and Egely who collected one double and two singles.

Single hits went to Bonhoux, Parker, Taylor and Seigrist.

This next weekend the Macs play a double-header in Kamloops against the Okanots.

Softball

The Penticton and Summerland Senior Softball league started play last week. The league is made up of three teams from Penticton and one from Summerland.

At present Macs Cafe Aces are at the top of the league. Last Thursday Macs Cafe Aces beat Clark's 9-8 at Summerland.

This Summerland Macs Cafe Aces play a pickup team at 7:00 at the Band Shell Park. All home games are every Thursday at 7:00 p.m.

Junior Red Sox Beat Naramata Sunday 6-4

Summerland's Junior Red Sox battled through 11 tense innings of tight ball at Naramata on Sunday before defeating the Naramata nine 6-4.

Chapman was the winning pitcher after he took over from Sheeley in the eighth with two away Sheeley struck out 12 allowing four hits, while Chapman struck out seven, yielding only three hits. Kozak struck out 17 and allowed 11 hits.

The Naramata team picked up two runs in the first and one in the fourth while the local boys picked up their tally in a double by Chapman, single by Sheeley and bases on balls to Gillard and Trupp with Parker hitting a sacrifice fly and a base on ball. A wild pitch produced 3 runs to tie up the ball game.

It was an even game until the 11th when Summerland pushed three runs across home-plate on three hits a base on balls and an error.

Naramata scored their last run in the ninth inning.

The next game will be played on Monday, May 19, in Summerland with the Vernon team travelling down for what should prove a very good game.

Come To The Parade

For those who enjoy a parade with floats, pretty girls and bands, Penticton is the place to be on Saturday noon, May 17.

The Summerland Town Band will be representing Summerland and hope that many local residents will come along to enjoy Penticton's Centennial Day Parade.

Rifle Range

By Bert Simpson

Here we are again with another season of rifle shooting underway. Rather a slow start, with only four members out for the first practice. However things have improved during the past two weeks and it is hoped that they will continue to do so.

Two new members were welcomed to the range on Sunday morning, Barbara Baker, shooting for the first time and Bill Barkwill, who was a member some years ago.

There are still several rifles in the district that are still gathering dust, so, how about it you fellows? Why not clean them up and come out to the range on Sunday morning. With only two matches being shot each week, you are sure to be home in time to take the wife and kids for drive, go fishing, or catch up on some work around the home.

On Sunday morning although weather conditions were favorable, the scores were not outstanding. George Dunsdon was high scorer with 92 out of a possible 100. Other scores were as follows: Art Dunsdon, 91; Bert Simpson, 88; Wayne McCargar, 88; Bill Barkwill, 84; Ted Piers, 81; Louise Atkinson, 80; Ron Dunsdon, 75; Three members shooting at the 500 yard range scored the following: Phil Richardson, 45; Ted Dunsdon, 39; Dick Dunsdon, 34.

There will be no shooting on the local range next Sunday as several members of the club intend to take in the annual shoot of the B. C. Rifle Association, at Vernon on Sunday and on Monday.

Will be back in this space next week with the results of the big B.C.I.R.A. meet.

VE Day Observed By Veterans Here

Veterans of two world wars, comrades united through the Canadian Legion, Branch 22, celebrated VE Day last Thursday with a banquet and dance.

Branch president William McCutcheon presided. Particularly well received was the entertainment provided by Mr. and Mrs. George Rymán one of the few couples practising the art of bell ringing in this country.

Dave Jack in a brief talk carried his audience, most of whom could only remember khaki, back to the days of the red coat and the thin red line.

Sid Godber, editor of the Review, also spoke.

The Legion Ladies Auxiliary under the convenship of Mrs. Humphrey Fiske provided the dinner and later coffee and sandwiches.

Spray

(continued from front page) age and the number of sprays. For example a grower can save as much as $1.32 cents an acre by buying Malathion from Oliver Chemical as against the highest priced Malathion available through a Summerland packinghouse and he can still save 80 cents an acre over the lowest priced Malathion sold through packinghouses in Summerland.

This saving is further increased by the fact that the spray sold through packinghouses is in American gallons and consequently the grower actually gets less Malathion for his money, apart from the spread in price, as the Malathion sold through Oliver Chemical is sold in Imperial gallons. And with all this, according to the best advice available, there is no difference in quality or effectiveness.

When using DDT a grower can cut $3.20 off his four sprays over an acre, by buying from the cheaper source.

Packinghouses, of course, handle sprays as a service to growers, they are the logical distributors and furthermore the grower has the advantage of credit — but the packinghouses are not considered responsible for the higher cost. They charge only a nominal handling charge — the fault, apparently, rests with bulk buying of spray material for distribution through the packinghouses.

It is now believed that the matter will become an issue at the next BCFGA convention when growers who are now paying a high tariff for spray materials will demand the setting up of some agency dedicated to buying and supplying spray materials at the lowest possible cost to the grower.

Social Welfare Plan Approved

Municipal Council on Tuesday gave unanimous approval to a new provincial government scheme for sharing social welfare costs. The new plan based on a per capita sharing of costs, with all costs now shareable, will cost the municipality $417 more than last year, but there will be considerable saving in administration costs.

Approval of the scheme was strongly urged by the UBCM as being excellent — there will be an overall saving to the municipalities of $370,000 although in the readjustment not all would gain, the UBCM executive pointed out in a letter to Council.

The new scheme cuts through a lot of red tape eliminating many of the headaches involved in previous administration.

Robert Mountford, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Mountford, left for Victoria today to take up garage work in that city. He will reside with his aunt, Mrs. Emily Hassell.

CAR SET ON FIRE

A welding torch operated by Bill Gates in wrecking an old car behind the L. A. Smith store caused a minor blaze shortly after one p.m. today. The Summerland Fire Brigade quickly doused the fire.

Cub & Scout News

The Summerland Cub Packs have a project of collecting stamps of any kind and sending them off to the Boy Scouts International Bureau in Ottawa. The stamps are sold and the proceeds used to help bring Scout and Cub training to the physically and mentally handicapped in every country of the world.

The last shipment assembled by the 1st Summerland Cub Pack and sent off by Cubmaster J. M. McArthur weighed 30 pounds and was estimated to contain 120,000 stamps. We think you will be interested to read the following letter received from the Boy Scouts International Bureau:

"Dear Dr. McArthur, We were extremely pleased to receive the large parcel of stamps which you so kindly sent us and are most impressed with the fact that they were collected by the cubs of your pack.

This is indeed a wonderful effort on their part and I hope you will be good enough to pass on our very grateful thanks to all those who helped. As you know, the proceeds from the sale of these stamps are devoted to helping our brother scouts in every country of the world, who are physically or mentally handicapped. I know you will agree that this is a very worthwhile project.

Thank you again for this "Good Turn" — I do hope your cubs will make every effort to repeat it.

Good Scouting to all,
Yours sincerely,
R. T. Lund,
Deputy Director."

This is a project that everyone in Summerland could assist. Stamps of any denomination and from any country are of value and if you tear off the stamp from each article you receive in the mail, put it in a bag and then phone J. M. McArthur, 6456, when the bag is full, he will have a cub collect them from you.

On April 22 Mark Tamblin was invested into the 1st Summerland Scout Troop by Scoutmaster G. M. Weiss and he was awarded the Leaping Wolf Badge because he has completed his Cub training and was a Two-Star Cub.

The attendance at the 1st Summerland Troop meetings has been very good with almost every boy in full uniform. Now that warmer weather is here we expect everyone in short pants.

Dick Dunsdon, and Howard Oxley have passed their hand-axe and knife test and Ted Burdon, Dennis Lackey, Jim Flske, Barry Piers, and John Beavan all went on their first class journey on May 3-4. We are very pleased to have two new assistant Scoutmasters, Ken Bisset and Rob Towgood. They are exceptionally popular with the boys and we hope that they are enjoying the work. Ken Bisset has been attending the course on "Playing Safely Outdoors." Cubmaster J. M. McArthur and S. R. Cannings have given lectures at this course.

The 1st Summerland Cub pack is collecting storage batteries and we hope that any Summerland citizen who has an old battery will phone J. M. McArthur, 6456 for it to be picked up. The Cubs were out for a ramble to Little Pines Mountain on May 10 and all had a fine time.

A Cub Pack for Indian boys is being formed in Penticton and the Summerland Cub Packs would like to help out by providing at least one uniform for a boy. If any parents have parts of Cub uniforms that are no longer needed, J. M. McArthur and Isobel McCargar would appreciate hearing from you if you wish to donate them to the new Indian Cub Pack. Certainly your donation would make some Indian boy very happy.

Price Spread On Spray Claimed Offset by Rebate

Exception to charges contained in a story which appeared in the Summerland Review last week under the heading "Cost of Spray Material Too High..." has been taken by some BCFGA officials and officers of the Co-Operative Growers Association.

They in turn charge that the full story was not told.

Accuracy of the story, or the figures quoted for cost of Malathion and DDT bought through the packinghouses and bought through Oliver Chemical, is not questioned, but it is claimed that this spread is offset by the packinghouse practice of giving a rebate.

A letter signed by George Washington, general manager of the Summerland Co-operative Growers Association, sums up the packinghouse side of the story: The letter in full follows:

Editor, Summerland Review
Dear Sir,

I read with great interest the report of the BCFGA meeting, dealing with the excessive prices of spray materials charged to the growers by the packinghouses.

I noted by the prices quoted that the reference was to the Summerland Co-operative Growers Association along with other Shippers.

I admit quoting these prices, unfortunately however, I did not explain that we would be rebating the grower at the end of the season.

We invoice our spray material to the growers at a normal price and ultimately rebate to the fullest extent possible. We are quite sure this year's rebate will reduce our DDT price to 50¢ per 50 lbs.

This has all been brought about by price adjustments since the early part of the season.

Malathion will be substantially reduced, bringing it close to competitors quotation.

We fully realize there is always the possibility of some organization quoting a very low price on any commodity but that situation is almost impossible to meet.

It has been our policy and the policy of the Associated Growers to acquire all supplies at the lowest possible prices through the benefits of bulk buying.

Your report suggests the BCFGA consider the setting up of an agency to bulk buy materials. This I believe is now in practice and has been for a good many years by the Associated Growers of B.C. Ltd.

It hardly seems necessary to sound a general alarm when there are shippers giving a satisfactory service.

I feel that reports of this kind only tend to cause mistrust of the packing houses, when unfortunately all sides of the situation are not fully known.

I wish to thank you for this opportunity of expressing my views on this vital grower problem.

George Washington,
Mgr. Summerland Co-operative Growers' Association.

Summerland Students Receive Degrees At UBC

Among the 1,104 students of the University of B. C. who received degrees at the 43rd annual spring congregation held on Wednesday, May 21, were Summerland students: Kenneth LeRoy Brawner, (B. A.), son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Brawner of Garnett Valley, who received his Bachelor of Laws; Alan Gerald Dent, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Dent, of Trout Creek who will receive his Bachelor of Applied Science; and Maxwell McGibbon, (B.S.A., British Columbia) son of Mr. and Mrs. M. McGibbon of Hill who will receive his degree for Master of Science in Agriculture. Alan Dent will also receive the Canadian Forest Products Ltd. prize of $100 which is awarded to two students for general proficiency in forest engineering.

School Band Spring Concert Here Friday

The Summerland High School band, recently returned from a most successful tour of Washington, will end its school activities with the 6th Annual Spring Concert.

A most interesting evening is promised as over 150 students will participate in the evening's entertainment. The same concert will be given that was received so well last week when the Senior band went to the Spokane Lilac Festival.

The Senior band will be assisted by the Junior High School Band which will play Festival March and Orion Overture; Lynne Boothe will play the piano and Marjorie Campbell will present vocal numbers. Quite a lot of work went into planning a series of slides of the Okanagan which were shown at the various Washington concerts in order to give them an idea of our community. These were gathered by Mr. Desmond Loan with the help of the Summerland Camera Club and Killicks Photography.

These slides will be shown to add interest and variety to the programme and also a set of slides on the recent trip to the States if they return from the developers in time.

The Senior High School Band numbers range from marches, waltzes, classical numbers to Sambas and Tangos. Many novelties are also on the programme.

The price is 75 cents for the concert but the holders of Band Booster tickets will be admitted free. The time is 8 p.m. Friday evening and the place is the high school auditorium.

Bush Fire Disturbs Firemen's Sabbath

A bush fire which at one time threatened to break away and race clear to the top of Giant's Head was quelled by Summerland's Volunteer Fire Brigade shortly after noon Sunday.

The fire originated behind the Dunham home on Giant's Head Road which had just been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robin Wright and family. Mr. Wright is the Inland Natural Gas Company Representative in Summerland.

Summerland's Big Centennial Celebration Geared To Go

Summerland's big Centennial Celebration is all geared to go, S. A. MacDonald, chairman of the Centennial Committee said today.

Only one pioneer scroll will be presented in this district and that to Summerland's Fred Gartrell, here since before 1886.

The big day is Wednesday, June 4. A full program starting at 10 p.m. with a decorated bike and pet parade and continuing throughout the day and on into the evening and concluding with a dance, the Queen's Ball, promises entertainment for young and old.

The Day has been declared a civic holiday.

Walter's Ltd. Goes Into Voluntary Liquidation

Walters Limited, a name associated with Summerland since 1920, is to all intents and purposes no more.

The firm has announced this week that it has gone into voluntary liquidation, owing to a combination of circumstances, chief of which is the impracticability of continuing operations without a tremendous capital investment to provide adequate cold storage.

Walters had been making use of the Co-operative cold storage facilities right next door to the Walters' packinghouse, but when the Co-op was lost by fire last year, this amicable arrangement perforce came to an end.

W. L. Peaker, who has been appointed liquidator, says that decision to enter into voluntary liquidation was the only practical course open, but the decision was not arrived at without considerable searching for a practical alternative.

The packinghouse, a landmark on the Summerland lakefront, was opened in 1925 when Walters moved from the original plant which was started in Summerland in 1920.

A meeting of growers who patronized the packinghouse will be held tonight. More than 100 growers are affected by the closure.

A meeting of creditors of Walters Limited is to be held on May 30 at 8 p.m. in the company office at Summerland.

H.S. Fashion Show Monday, May 26

The Fashion Show is the last means of the 1958 Graduating Class has of raising money for expenses. It will feature 99 girls of the senior classes with Mrs. Bouey as commentator along with many girls acting part in "between time" features.

The theme of the Fashion Show is based on the seasons of the year. Decorations will be done by Bonnie Wilson, a graduate, and the grade 12 boys will be unshering.

Unusual Features At Art Show Here Saturday

Summerland Art Club's Centennial Show and the fifth annual one is on Saturday from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. and will have some unusual features.

A clothesline exhibit of unframed sketches will be held in the entrance room and these will be for sale for small sums.

An oil painting by a Summerland artist will be a lucky number prize.

All the pictures will be by local artists and have been painted since last year's show.

Among the guests coming for the exhibit are Miss Sophie Atkinson, the well-known watercolorist who lives at Revelstoke and her sister, a visitor from England, both of whom will be guests of Mrs. H. C. Whitaker.

Admission is free. Tea will be served, 25 cents.

Truck Over Bank Driver Killed

Killed when the logging truck he was driving turned over on a soft shoulder and plummeted 140 feet down the hillside, was Arthur E. K. Goldsmith, of 1481 Government Street, Penitction.

The accident occurred Tuesday on the Kirton Road, about 13 miles west of here. Mr. Goldsmith, who was 42, was employed by Elliot Brothers of Penitction.

An inquest was to be held in Penitction today.

Kiwanis Concert Aids School Band

Summerland Kiwanis club handed over a cheque for more than $180 to the High School Band to help finance their recent Washington State trip. The cheque marked the proceeds from the Kiwanis sponsored Radio show, staged by CKOK on the occasion of Radio Week. The concert which again demonstrated the wealth of talent in Summerland, was played to a capacity house in the High School Auditorium.

Shoppers round and about town, last Wednesday were startled out of their wits when they first sighted the lanky figure casually strolling down Main Street. First impression was that the Giant of Giant's Head had bestirred himself. Closer inspection, however, revealed that the Giant was advertising the Sportsman show being held in Penticton. The giant, a very skilful operator on twelve foot long stilts, is shown making a pigmy out of bank of Montreal accountant Doug Galloway.

According To The Mood

By Sid Godber

"Hell hath no fury like the wrath of a woman, whose cooking is scorned." And I'm the lad who knows it.

Last week's column, which I considered only a very small squib, turned out to be not a squib, but a giant fire cracker.

Ladies! Ladies! R-I-e-e-a-a-s-e!

I was only writing the truth in jest.

And it wasn't criticism aimed at one Ladies Auxiliary, but at all Ladies Auxiliaries and at all women, including those of my own household who insist on and persist in mussin' up food. MY apologies to those Legion Ladies who took the column as a personal affront, and as an attack aimed specifically at the Legion Ladies. That was definitely not the case, but I can not and will not go back on the thesis of the column, to wit, that in the concoctions they dream up, women are seeking to gild the lily. And ladies, you would be surprised to know how many men agree with me, even though they long ago gave up the battle and meekly eat the stuff which resembles nothing on earth after women folk have finished mussin' around with it.

"How true, how true," commented one man, whose wife is a Legion lady, after reading the column, "but you're going to get it in the neck for saying so." And so I'm getting it in the neck.

And after all what did I say except in more words other than that one woman's salad is some man's poison?

And the thought comes to us, injected by one, Jim Onley, a man newly come to these parts, that had Godber lived in Shakespeare's day and had the ladies of Shakespeare's day dared mutilate the humble spud, then Julius Caesar might have said:

"Let me have men about me that are fat, Sleek headed men and such as sleep at night; Yon Godber hath a lean and hungry look."

Chucked at a Norris cartoon showing the Princess boats tied up at the wharf and a striking seaman on picket duty, and an irate woman, angry at being unable to get back to her home on the Island, warns the picket, "Don't you realize that Gagliardi builds bridges at the drop of a hat?"

Well Mr. Gagliardi won't bridge the Gulf of Georgia, but he's certainly building a lot of bridges and eliminating quite a few ferries. The North Vancouver ferries, the Kelowna ferries, extinct or due shortly for extinction.

I'm one of those who mourns the passing of the ferries. Aboard ferry a landlubber can dream his dreams of far away places, for there is something about ferry, no matter how small, or how small a puddle it travels that smacks of the sea.

Years back when ever I was in Liverpool, I spent a lot of time riding the Liverpool to New Brighton ferry and on winter night crossings I'd stand on the bow with the lookout and invariably the lookout would think I was balmy, for who but a crazy man would leave the nice, warm saloon to stand staring into the teeth of a rip-smorting westerly, bansheeing in from the Irish sea.

The North Vancouver ferry was another favorite ferry of mine. Fast running tides, tide rips and a lot of big and little ships criss-crossing the harbor, made for thrilling ferry ride.

And the fog, pea-soup thick, but the ferries kept going. And not by God and by guess, but because of skill and experience. Often I've ridden the bridge and watched the skipper smell his way across. Three minutes on that tack, five minutes on this course, then Wh-o-o-m, a big freighter crossing our bows, hard a-stern the wheel spins, off on another and this time unplotted course, but somehow we're back on course and eventually the yawning mouth of the ferry slip. Real ship handling, while the passengers gripe because the ferry is running late.

So help me I wrote, if you'll pardon the conceit, a poem on the subject. Called it the "Man up on top."

Fog down on the harbor; the ferry she's docking, Ten minutes late by the clock; Passengers mumble, some openly grumble, At being so late at the dock; Whistles are wailing; A flood tide is making; Harried the face of the man up on top; Traffic's thicker than thistles; Hark at them whistles! Which way for the man up on top;

So stop watching your watch mate, be glad you're near. Docked safe, and give thanks to the man up on top

Yes, the man up on top, mate, he brought you to port safe, Despite the grey mantle of fog.

There was more, but I can't remember it, maybe just as well — and now back to the doghouse.

1958 Mill Rate Goes Up 3.04 Mills

An increase of 3.04 mills in the 1958 mill rate was disclosed by Municipal Council, last week when it introduced the budget, for an estimated expenditure of $286,835.86.

Increased school costs, largely attributable to teacher salary increases have boosted taxes by one and three quarter mills.

The municipalities share of the cost of building the Health Center and Centennial Library, accounts for the major increase in general revenue taxation, to the amount of one mill. Total tax increase this year, 3.04 mills, 28.37 mills in 1957 and 29.41 mills this year. The increase is general over the province and in most cases is attributable to the rise in school costs. Oliver, for an example is levying for an increase of 1.04 mills to meet increased education costs.

Council has provided for 9.52 mills for general expenditure; 18.75 for schools; and 1.14 for debenture interest. The breakdown for last year: 8.2 mills for general purposes; 17 for schools; Taxation, general — $50,011.64; School Utility $104,086.00, one per cent utility debenture, $6,018.00; school, $413.61. Trades Licenses, $4,500; dog tax, $800; building permits, $1,400, Rents $1,400, fines and costs $2,000. Interest (taxes, rates and investments), $1,200. Service charges (M. V. L.) $980; penalties, $400. Local government grant, $60,716; fire service, (Experimental Farm) $650; commission (S.S. tax), $175; miscellaneous, $50; recoveries nil, social welfare $16,325. Debt charges, utilities, $17,556.61; school, $16,930.

Sale of cemetery plots, $150. Total of revenue estimated, $286,835.86.

Estimated expenditures: Council's remuneration, $2,709; general government, $14,800; other general government, $7,595; protection to persons and property, $15,250; public works, $34,750; sanitation, $850; health, $6,250; social welfare, $20,540; education, $104,986; recreation services, $650; community services, $13,331; debt charges $41,553.01; capital expenditures, $22,835; miscellaneous, $450.

Youth Centre Assn.
Hold Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Youth Centre Association held on May 2, the year's activities were reviewed. The hall is used weekly by one Cub pack, one Scout troop, one Girl Guide company and three Brownie packs. In addition, the Square Dance Club rents evenings fairly regularly. This is the only hall devoted solely to youth work in the Valley and is a great credit to Summerland. Regular janitor service is maintained and the hall is heated continuously during the winter months.

The major improvement to the building during the year was the addition of an institutional model electric range and installation of automatic hot water tank. These changes make the Youth Centre kitchen, with its two double sinks, ideal for large scale catering.

Mr. Ralph Blewett reported on behalf of the Building Subcommittee contract prices for making a number of extensive renovations to the building. These included relocation of front entrance steps to the west side of the building, refinishing all walls of the main floor and stage in hardboard and pre-painted fibre-board, re-roofing the north side of the roof which is still in wood shingles and increasing the fire protection of the furnace room. These changes came to $2,000.00 and a motion was passed recommending to the incoming executive that these improvements be effected. The work, if undertaken, is to be completed by Sept. 1. It was reported by Chairman D. V. Fisher, that the financing of this project would be based on a community wide appeal in November. For this purpose, and because of the numerous

Pirate Gold In Our Dollars Family Tree

No one knows for sure, but our modern dollar sign, $, is believed to have originated with the figure 8 stamped on "pieces of eight" which Long John Silver and others of his breed coveted as they scoured the seas in bygone days.

Whether this is a tall tale or a true one, we do know that the $ sign was in use in the United States before the introduction of federal currency and before our own decimal monetary system began in 1853.

But more interesting to most of us than the $ sign itself, are the figures that come after it, especially if those figures are in a savings account passbook from the Bank of Montreal. It's quite a thrill to watch them grow and grow as we save regularly. Interest payments of two and three-quarters per cent also help to swell the amount.

It makes sense to save regularly at the B of M and it makes for success in life, too.

To start your own "success fund," visit the West Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal soon. Doug Galloway, the accountant there, will show you how easy it is to open a B of M savings Account. It takes just three minutes and one dollar to start.

Roam the romantic Cariboo and see the West as it was!

Progress—development—expansion: these are the words that tell the world of the goings-on in our Province.

But time has played a delightful trick by standing still in the Cariboo. And for that, every visitor is grateful. For here you can live in the Old West again, following the footprints of the pioneers and the prospectors.

From Ashcroft and Lillooet in the south up to Prince George in the northern part, the Cariboo country is dry and high, with cactus and sage, with prairie and hill and lake, with real ranches and dude ranches.

All the old sights are here: cattle ranges, old trail hotels, old timers who tell tall tales around the evening campfires. But best of all, the Cariboo can give you a new view of B.C. — rolling range plateaux, spectacular canyons, parklike wooded sections. Here, fish and shoot and camp out, or live a vacation life of comfort and ease, with the whinny of a spirited horse or the chuck wagon dinner bell as the only sounds to disturb your rest.

Roam the Cariboo this year — go by car, bus, train or plane. And come in time to see the special Centennial events, too: parades and picnics, banquets and barbecues, fairs and rodeos. Ask this newspaper for the newest programme of Centennial events in the Cariboo — and get ready for a holiday of fun and relaxation in British Columbia's Old West!

ORCHARD RUN

By Wally Smith

Locking up the hens at night is one of the little chores that has to be attended to. Ours is one of those farm flocks of some two or three dozen birds—just enough to keep the Smith family in eggs and of course we have the occasional bird for Sunday dinner.

We don't follow all the rules for a scientifically managed flock, so the gate of their pen is opened around 4 p. m. and the birds are allowed out to scrounge around through the orchard until roosting time, and how they enjoy that short freedom every day.

It was dark enough to need a flashlight when I went down to lock up the hens this time and after closing the gate of the wire pen, I moved along to the corner of the henhouse, opened the door and stabbed the dark interior with the beam of my flashlight, just taking a last look to see if the old biddies were all right.

They weren't, and no wonder, for a skunk was right up on the roost with the birds. There was no screaming or squawking, just little throaty sounds of protest as the skunk shouldered the hens aside, while he moved to the front of the dropping board to get a better look at the intruder with the bright light.

It was a skunk all right; no mistaking those white stripes, but left hastily, leaving the henhouse door open to provide exit for the polecat. The henhouse floor is of concrete, so what was he doing there? Just looking for mice, his favorite food.

After the lapse of a respectable time to allow the skunk to make a leisurely departure in its own good time, I returned for an inspection of the henhouse. The skunk was gone and there were no casualties, all was quite and the hens were settled down for the night.

I wasn't surprised. Skunks have been in my henhouse before and never injured a bird. The last time was a few years ago and the circumstances were similar to the incident related except that I didn't discover the skunk until late the following day. He was locked in the henhouse all night and all the next day, and again there were no casualties and the hens were not in the least disturbed as they went around their daily routine.

After those experiences I find it difficult to believe all those stories about skunks raiding a henhouse and slaughtering chickens, although such stories are common. A family spends the afternoon down town or out on picnic and returns home to find dead and injured chickens lying around and the rest of the flock roosted in the trees the reaction is, "Oh it must have been a skunk".

Ten to one it was somebody's dog, or two or three dogs. I have had that happen to me.

Twice I have caught the culprits in the act, but couldn't get my hands on a rifle fast enough to administer punishment.

Coming home late one night the headlights revealed a small dark animal crawling out of the little wire pen, where usually we keep our baby chicks for the

Let's Show An Appreciation

Summerland's School Band, just back from what can be rightly termed a triumphal tour of Washington State, presents its annual spring concert on Friday of this week.

This band won acclaim in its appearance at the Spokane Lilac Festival and was twice featured on television. This, of course is all publicity of high order for Summerland.

It is, we think, a safe assumption that as the result of the Summerland High School bands' across the line tour, we will have many visitors whose curiosity about this Summerland has been aroused. We can imagine them planning their holiday and saying, "we must go and see that place with the nice name — y'know, the one where that school band came from the one we enjoyed so much — SUMMERLAND."

Yes, Summerland can well be proud of its young ambassadors — and a good way to show appreciation, is for all who can possibly do so to attend the spring concert of the Summerland High School Band, on Friday night in the school auditorium, at 8 p.m.

Soil Treatments

By J. C. Wilcox

Following severe winters in the Okanagan Valley, much killing of roots of fruit trees has been found. This has indicated the need for using hardy rootstocks, especially in the colder areas: It has also indicated the need for further information on factors effecting soil temperatures in the winter.

In the fall of 1957, thermistors were placed at depths of six, twelve and twenty-four inches in two apple blocks at Kelowna and a peach block at Summerland. Different cover crop, or cultivation treatments were applied to different plots in each of the three blocks.

In block A (apples), blue grass was mown at different frequency but was not cultivated in three treatments. It was cultivated in the late fall in a fourth treatment. During the winter the temperatures were warmer with greater depth in the soil. At a depth of 12 inches the cultivated plots were consistently two to three degrees F. lower in temperature than were the other plots. The winter was a mild one, and at no time were killing temperatures recorded in the soil.

In block C (apples) and block kinds of cover crop under test in the one case and four kinds in the other. There were also E (peaches), there were six plots cultivated until the end of July, and plots kept reasonably clean with herbicides. The effects of the depth on temperature were similar to those noted for block A. In neither case was there any consistent effect of kind of cover crop or other treatment on the soil temperature. It appears from this that cultivation is not likely to be harmful in this regard if it is discontinued by the end of July.

Enjoy Spokane Trip

On Sunday, May 18, at 4:15 in the afternoon, two American Greyhound buses deposited 68 tired but happy band members at the Summerland High School. Another successful band trip had just been completed.

It began on Thursday, May 15, when we boarded our buses at 10. The first lap of the trip took us to Oroville. As we crossed the border just before lunch time we were reminded to set our watches back an hour. One comment was, "But I can't set my stomach back!" We were very fortunate in having American bus drivers. They were not only very familiar with Customs procedure, but they were able to answer all our questions about the surrounding territory as we drove along. From Oroville we went right on to Omak, arriving there about 2 p.m. We played a short afternoon concert at the school, marched through the town, and after supper played the evening concert.

Friday morning saw us playing a short programme in Okanogan for the High School Band there, and spending a little time in the park, where we were given free soft drinks.

From Okanogan we left for Spokane, one bus stopping at Coulee Dam for lunch, the other going straight through via the Chief Joseph Dam and stopping at Wilbur. We arrived at Spokane early in the afternoon, were assigned rooms in the Galax Hotel, and had free time until 6:30. At 7 the buses drove us out to the Spokane Memorial Stadium, where each of the 15 bands taking part in the Lilac Festival paraded onto the football field. After the massed playing of O CANADA in honour of us Canadians and THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER the bands went to their seats to watch the pre-festival Queen Crowning Ceremony.

Saturday morning we marched the 29 blocks of the Festival parade route. We were met at the end by our bus and taken to the Natatorium Amusement Park where we spent two hours having lunch and "riding the rides." After returning to the hotel to collect our belongings we left for Grand Coulee. There we had supper at our billets, played the evening concert, and attended the "Band Blaire," their annual band dance. Those not wishing to attend the dance were entertained at one of the church halls. The following morning we were taken on a very impressive tour of the Dam and then headed for home. We stopped for lunch at Oroville, and for a few minutes at the border, arriving home, as planned, at 4:15.

Our thanks go out to everyone who made this trip possible; the people who billeted us, the American Greyhound Lines and their drivers, and above all, Mr. and Mrs. Tamblin and Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers. We had a large helping of "real American hospitality," as we brought Summerland, B.C., Canada to the attention of many who had never heard of it.

In enjoying this wonderful outing we were able to bring the name of Summerland and a reference to B.C.'s Centennial to people of five U.S. counties. Considerable interest was shown in the coloured slides of Summerland and the Okanogan which we showed during our performances.

Finally, even though we were away for only a short time, it was nice to see the faces of our "ain folk" when we least expected them: the Lemkes in Spokane, Mr. Macleod and the Boothes at Grand Coulee, the Hallquists and Flukes at the Dam.

Community
Concert Drive
Opens May 26

Final details for the new memberships campaign of the South Okanagan Community Concert Association to be held beginning Monday, May 26 are completed, according to Mr. H. D. Pritchard, President of the Association.

Mrs. J. B. Feeney and Mrs. A. Shipton who head the membership drive, and Mrs. H. Cleland, Dinner chairman of the Association, are making a last minute checkup of all the preparations for attendance at the dinner meeting to be held on Monday, May 26 at 6:30 p.m. on board the S.S. Sicamous to insure that the drive will be a complete success.

Mrs. Cleland said that she is expecting 100 per cent attendance of the approximately 70 volunteer workers. Honored guests who are being invited include the acting Mayor Mr. Erant and Mrs. Erant, as well as representatives of the Press and Radio. Another important visitor will be Mrs. Inga Williams, representative of Community Concerts, Inc., who will address the meeting and be present for the entire week to assist in the campaign.

The campaign will close Saturday, May 31, after which no membership can be taken. The artist committee will meet immediately after the final results have been listed and choose the series of concerts from a list including the most celebrated names in the music world. Each membership entitles the holder to attend all the concerts both here and wherever Community Concerts are held.

Mrs. G. E. Woollams and her eight workers will be in charge of the Summerland area.

TO AVOID FOOD POISONING

Care should be taken, especially during warmer weather, to keep food cool. Moist fillings, soup stocks, gravies, cooked poultry with dressing, mayonnaise and creamy pie fillings are all foods that should be carefully stored until ready for use. When preparing for a picnic or large gathering, the food may have to be prepared well ahead of time, but it can be dangerous unless it is kept in a refrigerator or other cool place.

Today In Your Garden

The perennial problem . . . how to get rid of thick-stemmed, coarse-leaved grasses that come into the lawn . . . is vexing hundreds of home gardeners as it does every year.

All of us like to encourage only the fine-leaved grasses, the ones that give the velvet-like texture to a good lawn.

It is disheartening when the tufts of things like orchard grass, wild bents, perennial rye grass, velvet grass, as well as quack and crab-grasses, become too prominent.

For those who are where true crabgrass is right at home, this is the time to begin combatting it.

THE SEEDS germinate as weather warms the latter weeks of May, and through June. Any of the recommended crabgrass killers will work best if applied during this period, even before you see the first crabgrass plant penetrating through the turf.

Also, since it has been demonstrated in a test on a 100 per cent Merion bluegrass lawn that high cutting will thwart crabgrass, it would probably be wise to set the mower blade up near two inches, keeping it there the rest of the summer.

IF YOUR LAWN is mostly creeping red fescue you may not be able to keep the blade set quite as high as you could for either Kentucky blue or Merion blue. But do the best you can.

With the close-textured clumps of various perennial grasses in the turf, it is an open question that are already too prominent how they may be handled to best advantage.

Frankly, we hate to recommend that you go to all the expense and work of applying a grass-killing chemical to each individual clump.

BUT YOU CAN start that way if you wish, especially if you can find one of the amino triazol mixtures at your garden store.

Here is the way you can proceed:

- Let the tuft of coarse-foliaged grass grow so it has plenty of leaves (avoid mowing it for about a week).

- Make up the dilution of amino triazol in accordance with directions on the label.

- Paint, swab or otherwise apply the mixture . . . but just on the clump of grass you want to kill.

- In about two weeks it will have turned color, first becoming white, then browning and drying as it dies.

- Rake it out.

- Three weeks after treatment you can then go right ahead with whatever topdressing and reseeding is necessary.

IF IT SEEMS undesirable to use such a chemical weedkiller, the next most logical approach is to dig out each clump, roots and all, of course, then fill the hole immediately with fresh clean soil and sow new seed right away.

With the first long weekend of the summer just over, we are back again to bring you up-to-date on the square dance, news, past and future.

Last weekend was just crammed with square dances. The Penticon Peach City promenaders made the big kick-off on Thursday night with a jamboree in the new Centennial Pavilion on Okanagan Lake. About 12 squares of dancers enjoyed the mixed program, with a variety of callers. The whole affair was very well organized with Bob McMoreland, Elsie Barritt, Cecil Scott and Percy Coulter doing a very fine job of emceeing.

Saturday night square dancers came to Summerland to the party held in the Youth Centre with Lloyd Shannon as emcee. About five squares of dancers were in attendance. On Monday, Peachland and Westbank had combined celebrations with square dancing in the afternoon and evening.

This week the square dance road leads to Oliver, where French's Twirlers are sponsoring a dance in aid of the building fund for the new arena. This sounds like good cause for a dance, so let's allhead that way come Saturday night.

Summerland Macs were defeated twice Sunday by hard-playing Kamloops Okonots, but put up a tough battle all the way. On only 5 hits off Hooker on the first game, Kamloops came across with 4 runs to defeat the Macs 4-0.

Then in the second game with the score tied after 9 innings Summerland scored once in the 10th and then with 2 out and three men on bases for Kamloops Fowles hit one into centre field to score two runs and win the second game 6-5.

The top ball player of the day was Len Gatin of the Okonots who pitched shut out ball in the first game and then came on to win in the second game as well. He pitched 17 innings altogether and was really in top pitching form.

Junior Red Sox Take Trouncing

Summerland Junior Red Sox lost their second game of the new season to the Vernon Hydros, by a score of 9-6.

The Summerlanders tried every pitching combination they had to smother the Hydros big bats but the Vernon crew pounded the Sox hurlers for a total of eleven big hits that added up to nine runs.

It was a see-saw battle on into the fifth inning. Chapman's home run tying the score at 2-2 in the fourth.

Vernon made hay in the sixth and seventh, scoring three runs in each inning.

Summerland made a fighting try to pull the game out of the fire in the ninth but could only tally four runs.

Another twelve months has slipped by and, across the nation, excited young people are impatiently awaiting what is one of the big days of their lives — High School Graduation Day.

Here in Summerland the class of '58 holds its commencement exercises on Friday with the usual afternoon presentation of diplomas, the graduation banquet and the graduation dance.

To some, and we hope a goodly number, the day marks only a stepping stone in their efforts to achieve an education. They will go on to University and, others will enter the work-a-day world.

Friday, May 30, for the class of '58 should be a happy day for it marks advance along the highway of life, but it is also a day tinged with sadness — for on the whole High School Days are happy days.

And so, as we have done so many times in the past, we wish this year's graduation class — smooth sailing in the years ahead.

Water In The Hills Not Enough Down Here

With the municipal water reservoirs brimful to overflowing, the Municipal Council finds it necessary to appeal for water conservation and in some cases to restrict volume use.

This anomalous situation arises from the rapid expansion of Summerland and the demand created by new subdivisions and also, of course, the prevailing hot spell.

Superintendent of works Ken Blagborne has expressed concern over the situation. He informed council on Tuesday that there is ample water in the reservoirs but that the distribution system can't move it in sufficient volume to meet the demand.

Mr. Blagborne recommended to council that it act immediately to retain an engineer to survey the water system and to recommend a suitable course of action to ensure that an adequate flow of water is available at all times.

The extent of the problem is illustrated by the figures Mr. Blagborne quoted to the council meeting. During the winter we were using three hundred thousand gallons, these days we are using three and a half million.

Council may have to impose restrictions in the Peach Orchard area, but these will not be necessary if water users co-operate with council both by conserving water supply and using sprinkler pressure systems where such are available. The Municipal works department will gladly co-operate by hooking systems up to the irrigation main. Those who can use irrigation pressure systems and who are not hooked up are asked to help out the situation by supplying only the control valve and leader pipe and phoning Ken Blagborne at 3456 or 6361 and the Municipal work crews will do the rest.

Council Approves Plans For New Auto Court

Work will start immediately on the first ten units of a modern auto court to be developed on an acre lot just north of the Lutheran Church on Highway 97.

Plans for the proposed development were presented to the Municipal Council by R. Alstead on Tuesday, on behalf of Jacob Hepner, of Richmond, B. C., and were given council approval.

Mr. Hepner hopes to have the first ten units of the auto court, which will be Pan-A-Bode construction, in operation in time for the current tourist season.

A further nine double units are planned for construction early next year. In addition, Mr. Hepner intends to build a three-bedroom home for himself and family.

Driveways will be blacktopped and the property landscaped.

A total expenditure of some $80,000 is contemplated.

Road Allowance To Lake Shore To Be Opened

With seven miles of lakeshore there are too few access points for the general public, commented Reeve F. E. Atkinson during consideration of a petition asking that a road allowance to the lakeshore be opened in Summerland.

The petition was presented by Mrs. Norman Reid and asked that a road allowance bisecting the properties of Mrs. Florence Stark and Mrs. C. G. Bennest be opened to establish a boat launching ramp.

Council gave approval to the petition. Superintendent of Works Ken Blagborne said that it had been customary to open such road allowances to the lake front on request.

Kootenay Bombs Threaten Valley Power Supply

Municipal Council, on Tuesday, approved suggestion of Reeve F. E. Atkinson that a letter be written to Premier W. A. C. Bennett and to Frank Richter, MLA, protesting the bombing outrages in the Kootenays.

The letter will point out that this bombing of power poles could result in serious trouble in the Okanagan through cutting off of power.

The Reeve pointed out to the council that one of the poles at which a bomb had failed to explode carried important power lines in relation to the Okanagan.

It almost seems as if the culprits are trying to isolate the Okanagan commented the Reeve.

Hail Storm Sweeps Area Damage Reported Heavy

Summerland's Queen and her Princesses Carol Hackmar, Gail Penney, Elsie Karlstrom for the year 1958-59 will be chosen from the and Dian Young. The Queen and princesses will be chosen on Wednesday and the crowning will be held at 4 p.m. as part of the Centennial Celebrations at the Athletic Park.

STOP PRESS — First reports of hail damage have been found to be somewhat exaggerated, according to Roy Smith who with other BCFG Mutual Hail Insurance company officials surveyed the affected orchards.

The hail marking is widespread, Mr. Smith told the Review, but insofar as the fruit that has been checked, we only anticipate a 40 per cent financial loss.

Hail damage up to 90 per cent loss was suffered by some growers in Wednesday's hail, rain and wind storm which lashed this area at shortly after 12 noon.

The storm appeared to come in from the south, rather than following the usual track for this type of storm, along the Trout Creek canyon.

The hail damage was spotty with the Trout Creek point, back from the lake, the south front bench on the Sandhills and Prairie Valley, bearing the brunt of the destructive down-pour. In some orchards hail covered the ground to more than an inch in depth.

Adjusters arrived in Summerland at noon today and were assaying the extent of the loss.

Most of the growers in the hailed out areas were covered by hail insurance, Roy Smith, of the BCFG Mutual Hail Insurance Company said today.

So far, only a guesstimate of the loss has been made. In the case of peaches the extent of bruising cannot be ascertained for two or three days.

The hail was accompanied by heavy rain, driven by high winds.

It's a day coming up next Wednesday, June 4, when Summerland holds its first observance of British Columbia's Centennial Year.

It's Centennial Day and the committee under Chairman S. A. Macdonald and his right hand man Doug Campbell, have arranged for a cracker-jack of a program which starts at 10 a.m. and winds up sometime in the early hours of Thursday morning.

Almost it is a case of name it and you can see it, at Summerland's Centennial Day.

Did you miss the Summerland Singers and Players presentation of the Pirates of Penzance? or are you thinking you would like to see that top-hole performance again? Then there it is, coming up, and all for free on Wednesday night in the High School Auditorium.

Who will be Summerland's Queen for the forthcoming year — you'll get to know on Wednesday next, when from a bevy of Summerland teen-agers the Queen and her Princesses will be chosen and the lovely crowning ceremony performed.

The whole show starts off at 10 p.m. with a decorated bicycle and pet parade.

There's children's sports, band concert and baton twirling with crack twirlers from Enderby.

But it is all in the program. And no one will hunger with the Kiwanis Club putting on a pancake supper.

It's fun and frolic starting at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday, June 4 with the Summerland Athletic Park the scene of the big show.

Then the evening entertainment includes the Rotary Club bingo; the Summerland Singers and Players, there's an old time dance in the IOOF hall and the Jucee's Ball.

Here's the full program — and its mostly for free.

Entomologist Warns of Codling Moth

The extremely warm weather experienced in May in the British Columbia interior orchard area has been most favorable for a serious codling moth infestation.

Orchard inspections indicate that codling moth entries in poorly sprayed orchards is heavier at present than for several years. Unless precautions are taken the situation can become much worse, if the weather remains warm.

The last several years have not been favorable for the development of the codling moth. In some orchards there has been virtually no cullage from worms. In such cases even an exceptionally low dosage of DDT, or poor spray equipment or improper operation of the spray equipment may result in little if any loss from the codling moth even if 1959 should prove to be a favorable year for the insect.

But, sooner or later, poor spray practice is likely to prove costly. Growers should recognize the wisdom of being careful about attributing good fortune in pest control to (continued on back page)

Member Reports

Well what has happened in the first week? Parliament opened on the 12th and it was a very colorful affair indeed.

The events of the first day followed the time honored pattern, which gave a warm feeling to all new members. The election of the Speaker and his being led to the Speaker's Chair by the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition, the welcome of the crowds at the arrival of the Governor-General (the scene in the Senate Chamber during the Speech from the Throne, all left a vivid and never-to-be-forgotten impression in the minds of those present. Interlaced with all this, however, a new member could not help but realize that there was much to learn and much to be done. The opening took place on a beautiful spring day; the sun shone brilliantly; the lawns were freshly mown and the tulips were in full bloom. Ottawa is proud of her tulips and justly so. Ever since Queen Wilhelmina of Holland made her gift of these beautiful flowers, the city has taken to cultivating them in profusion and the beds at the parliament buildings are a sight to behold. I watched the crowds arrive from a point of vantage, immediately in front of the House. The guests had been arriving for some time and the never-ending stream entered the buildings. To my feminine readers, I might say that the dresses were lovely indeed and added greatly to the colorful showing. Finally the Governor-General and his aides drove up in an open carriage. The Guard of Honor was inspected and the party moved into the House.

Members of the House of Commons then attended in the Senate Chamber for the traditional reading of the Speech from the Throne. Parliament was now open for business.

Canada's twenty-fourth parliament is unusual in many respects. Not only has the Government a majority unsurpassed in Canadian history, but also of the 265 members of the House of Commons only 82 of them have had parliamentary experience prior to June 10 last year.

You are all aware of the legislation forecast in the Speech from the Throne and will realize that if the session is to conclude on the predicted date, that is the end of July, little time will be wasted. Already two important measures have been passed in addition to a vote of interim supply. The first of these measures was the extension for a six week period of the season benefits under the Unemployment Insurance Act. The purpose of this legislation was to continue the payments in certain categories under the Act in order to assist as many as possible who have not yet been able to secure steady employment.

The second major item of the week was an amendment to the National Housing Act to provide a further $350,000,000 for housing construction. This bill was debated at considerable length by members of parties in Opposition. They supported the bill in principle, but were to some degree critical of certain applications of the National Housing Act and introduced a number of suggestions for revision in the conditions under which the loan may be granted. The Minister of Public Works stated that all these suggestions would be given consideration.

SEASON CONTINUES WARM

Exceptionally warm weather in May has prevented any tendency for the season to get behind. Continued development at the present rate would mean an early harvesting year.

As an indication of the earliness of the season, one local strawberry grower picked a crate of berries on May 22!

APRICOT THINNING

Apricots are now being thinned. The fruits are now large enough to work with and are loose enough for stick thinning.

Stick thinning is done by striking the clusters of fruit with a rubber tipped club. This method speeds up the work and extends the reach of the thinner considerably. The stick may be a piece of handle with a six inch length of garden hose on the end. It is light to handle and is easy to make.

Don't be fooled by apparently large apricots right now. If the trees are bending down with the weight of fruit, they need thinning. Small apricots are worth nothing. So, it is grow large apricots or don't bother growing them at all.

WATCH FOR THESE PESTS. Lecanium Scale is still causing trouble in some apricot orchards. The trouble is worse where the August spray was not applied.

Spraying right now will not effectively control the scale. The best time for control sprays is in August right after the apricot harvest. If possible, applications should be made in hot weather and with a concentrate sprayer. Malathion is very effective.

At present the Lecanium Scale is giving out considerable quantities of honey dew which adheres to the fruit causing marks and interfering with thinning. Where there is danger that this will affect the crop some growers are now applying sprays of Malathion at increased strength. Because of the danger of Burn this practice should be considered only in an emergency.

Fear Psylla is causing concern in some orchards in the southern part of the Okanagan Valley. Diazinon or Malathion are recommended for control. At present Diazinon is reported to be more effective pound for pound against Psylla than Malathion.

Requires More Space

One did not have to be an artist, to appreciate the display which the Summerland Art Club put on in the IOOF Hall here last Saturday. The scope of the exhibits was in itself amazing.

Interest was held from first to last, the first being the striking Summerland Centennial Map prepared by the Art Club and which in due course will hang in the Municipal Hall, a gift to the municipality from this talented

More Than Just A Building

In any Community, when a business closes its doors, regardless of the cause, there is a certain sadness and a very definite sense of loss.

And so it is with WALTER' LIMITED, a Company of 38 years standing, the original site being in Peach Orchard. In 1926 the present building was erected in its convenient location.

Many will remember the late Mr. Walters whose name the Firm has carried since its inception in 1920, and who was acting Manager until his passing in 1948. Mr. Nisbet and Mr. Charles who had been closely associated with the Company since 1926 were then appointed to the posts they have held until recently. WALTERS' crew has been largely local over the stretch of time, but latterly some outside help was necessary. "It fair breaks my heart to turn a laddie away from the door," these words—often spoken in a wonderful brogue, have been heard many times from the lips of Mr. Charles, Mary Wollfer, Floor Lady for a number of years, and as well a valued packer, has played a prominent part in the history of the Plant.

Time and progress have changed to some extent the method of packing fruit, the cardboard carton is taking prestige over the wooden box, Mr. Coddler and other pests fight a losing battle, B.C. TREE FRUITS has replaced the old SALES SERVICE days which held sway from 1927 until 1940, truck transportation vies with railroads, modern machinery is easing labour and shortening hours... but what has been done to replace the good old fashioned times such as were held under the roof of WALTER' LIMITED?

Good fellowship abounded, humorists and harmless pranksters were in their prime, if you didn't think of it someone else would. Dragging a bit on a hot day after fruit and more fruit when one might look for edgy remarks, the amazing gang who packed and sorted from the benches would often burst forth into the most delightful harmony, which could last for some time as they continued working—with Alma Fudge and Flora Bergstrom in the lead.

Rowell Beach was the scene of a yearly group.

There was one cause for criticism—the hanging of the exhibits left much to be desired, a fault attributable to the fact that there were too many exhibits for the amount of wall space.

We hope that before another show comes around that an additional wall will be provided so that full justice can be done to the excellent work of our artists.

corn roast, participated in with gusto by the Walters family. For many years the packing season was culminated by an evening of dancing and entertainment, held in either the Legion or Ellison Hall. One Autumn a locally written and enacted play involving most of the crew, made real history—with Ted Logie as Playwright and Alma Fudge as Director—as they attempted to sell the Summerland apple crop in China through personal contact. Their lengthy absence causing alarm, the Inspectors—Mr. Rippin and Mr. Theed were sent to investigate—they found the Gullible Gang held spellbound by the Geisha Girls.

"This Old House" has many memories, faithfully recorded by possibly the most travelled clock in Summerland. "According to the mood" Mr. Nisbet has regarded its white and black face, impersonally, darkly, or gladly since Dominion Bank days in New Westminster, North Vancouver, and finally Summerland. When the Dominion closed its Summerland Branch, the clock was purchased by Grace Whittaker who being an employee of Walters at that time, and having no special use for a timepiece of that nature, sold it to Mr. Nisbet for $5.00.

Old Faithful was one of the first articles to be carried to safety when the Co-op fire appeared imminent, and was the first to be reinstated. It hangs on the office wall and blandly awaits its fate. Ticking away the years, it could speak not only of cherries and cots, the peach and the pear, but also of romance—which budded and bloomed equally as well beside a stack of boxes as it might in a rose arbour.

Summerland has lost a Packing House, but the spirit that was the very essence of this Plant will live on in the hearts of those most closely associated with it. This building which held at bay the tongues of flame on that memorable night in February, one year past, must surely be slated still for duty.

Yes—Summerland has lost a Packing House, but we hope the public spirited men who were behind it, will remain with us for many years, for they are still very much a part of our Community and its endeavours.

Annual Art Show Wins Praise

Summerland's Art Club scored another success with their fifth annual Art Show on Saturday at the IOOF Hall. This also was the Centennial exhibit of the Club.

More than one hundred pictures, painted during the last year, were exhibited, the majority from Summerland artists, with several paintings from Peachland artists who work with the Summerland Art Club and exhibit with them.

The show drew more than 200 visitors from points in and around the Okanagan Valley Penticton, Peachland, and visitors from Oroville, Wash., as well as many Summerland residents. There was a constant coming and going throughout the afternoon and evening. It was very gratifying to note the tie between the community and the Art Club as evidenced in the appreciation expressed and the obvious interest shown in the attendance and time spent in the exhibition by the visitors, also in the number of paintings sold.

The "Clothes-line Exhibit" of unframed paintings in the entrance hall proved very popular and a good number were sold.

A notable feature of the show was a decorative, or pictorial map of Summerland, which was a concerted effort by various members of the Club. It was painted on a 4' by 8' panel of plywood and the effect was striking. The border consisted of our wild flowers, birds and the fruit raised in Summerland. There were pictorials of the local points of interest; packing houses, the Experimental Station, and the Happy Giant of Giant's Head sitting on his mountain in the centre of the map with the other mountains and valleys of Summerland also portrayed. Deer, fish and game were included. Garnett Valley was represented as a hunting paradise and Prairie Valley by cows.

Trout Creek point showed Powell Beach, water sports, the school and a skunk, the latter fortunately appearing at other points on the map. Crescent Beach showed a man fishing, motor boats and bathing beauties. The Indian Reservation showed Indians and their horses. Main roads and the railroad were outlined in red and Trout Creek in blue. The picturesque cliffs of Summerland appeared as part of the border. Churches and the schools of West Summerland showed up well. The Entomological Laboratory was represented by a green caterpillar and the Fruit Processing Laboratory by a bottle of cider. Pictorials of apple, peach, pear and prune trees were at the base of the map with boxes under the trees waiting to be filled. The lettering on the map was skillfully done.

This truly beautiful and interesting map will be presented to the Municipality as a Centennial gift from the Summerland Art Club and will be kept in the Municipal Hall for all to see. J. E. Britton won the door prize, a painting by Mrs. M. E. Collas, portraying a typical bowl of Okanagan fruit. Outstanding features of the show were beautiful paintings by two of Summerland's professional painters, Vaughan Grayson (Mrs. A. J. Mann) and Irvine Adams. These very well-known artists consider themselves members of the Summerland Art Club and always they exhibit at the annual Art Show.

Several other painters from outside the club accepted the club's invitation to show their work and these exhibits added greatly to the interest of the event. Two children accepted the invitation and a boy of 12 brought his painting, done especially for the show. Such interest from the young people is greatly appreciated by the club. Mrs. Durick added to the variety and interest with display of efforts by very junior artists, of the Jack and Jill Kindergarten.

Your reporter has seen all but one of these annual Art Shows, and each year has been increasingly impressed with the steady improvement and the advance toward professional standards made by our Summerland artists. Summerland is well-known for the number of artists resident here and in the quality of their work. Summerland has an art group of which the community can be justly proud.

BULK BINS

There now appears no doubt that bulk handling is here to stay, but it is not an unmixed blessing. For some growers and some packing houses it could be an added expense rather than the savings it is intended to be. Bulk bin handling was first introduced in the Okanagan Valley last fall when several houses in the central area tried it out. The bulk bin met with favor and it was claimed the savings to the grower was 3 to 4 cents a box.

NECESSITY

This year some packinghouses in the south end of the valley are going in for bulk bins, although through force of necessity rather than by choice.

B. C. Tree Fruits Ltd. has issued instructions that this year extra fancy Winesaps will be packed in paper boxes. The reason given that the "trade" likes the paper box, which has been used for Macs and Delicious, and is asking that it be used for Winesaps.

The switch from wooden to paper boxes for Winesaps is the immediate reason for some of the south Okanagan packinghouses adopting the bulk bin handling this year.

CHEAPEST WAY

In the past years it has been the custom to pack all Winesaps in the conventional wooden box. New boxes were made up each year and most of the Winesap crop was picked into these new boxes. The remainder of the crop was picked into "corner" or "orchard" boxes.

This was a very convenient and economical arrangement because no money was tied up in orchard boxes to handle the Winesap crop.

Now comes the order to pack all extra fancy Winesaps in the paper boxes. You can not use a paper box in the orchard, so it becomes necessary with either bins or orchard boxes.

A bin holding 25 bushels of apples costs about $9.50; 25 orchard boxes at 70c each cost $17.50 — just about double the cost of bin. Of course there are other expenses in connection with the switch to bins. The grower will need a cheap fork lift, (costing something less than $100) for attaching to the hydraulic arms at the rear of his tractor. Some special equipment will be needed by the trucking firm for picking up the load of bins and the packing house will require equipment for unloading, moving the bins in and out of cold storage, and dumping bins onto the grader.

MORE INVESTMENT
All this costs money and there appears no certainty that any savings can be effected in the packinghouse by the change.

Some savings may be possible in some plants through the ability to store more apples in a given cold storage area by the use of bins instead of boxes. It will depend upon the dimensions of the building and the arrangement of the supporting posts. There is a savings too in the cost of paper boxes as compared with wooden boxes. This is because the paper box with the tray pack does not need wraps on the apples when used for Macs and Delicious. This results in a saving of about 7c a box.

MUST WRAP

Winesaps, however, have to be packed in oiled wraps to prevent storage scald. The extra cost is about 8c a box, which cancels out any savings there could be in using a paper box for this variety.

The average packinghouse in the south of the valley handles a crop that is about thirty percent stone fruit. This means orchard boxes have to be provided to pick the stone fruit crop. The 25 bushel bin or even the 12 bushel bin would appear to be impractical for the south of the valley where so many growers have small holdings and send most of their cherries and apricots, peaches and prunes to the packinghouse in lots of 4 to 14 boxes at a time.

Having to carry a supply of orchard boxes for stone fruit the packinghouse gets double service out of them by using the same boxes for apple picking. But, when it comes to the Winesap crop, however, there are not enough orchard boxes and the new wooden boxes have been used first to pick the crop and then for packing the crop.

MAY COST MORE
Nothing beats the combination for low cost operation, but now the day of the wooden box seems about over. To sum up, it would appear that so far as the packinghouses in the south end of the valley are concerned, bulk bin handling is not going to save much, if any expense, in the cost of operation. It could, in fact, increase the cost of packinghouse operation.

A packinghouse with nearly all the crop apples might find itself in better position to cut costs.

BACK SAVER

In the orchard we have been told by those who watched the central Okanagan tests last fall to expect a saving of 2-4 cents a box. We will know about that after the 1958 crop is harvested but from here it would appear one of the big savings in the orchard will be in the speed and ease in hauling the bins out of the orchard to the platform or yarding area. This mechanical handling should save the grower a lot of heavy work at the end of a hard day.

Are you using your settlement options?

At one time life insurance policyowners had no option. Policy proceeds were paid in cash — in one lump sum. Beneficiaries faced all the dangers and problems that go with managing a large sum of money.

Today most life insurance policies have "built-in" income options that will give your beneficiary a continuous income without investment worries. For example — you can arrange with your life insurance company to pay a monthly income for 10 years, 15 years or for a lifetime.

The Man from Manufacturers can show you how settlement options can increase your policy benefits as much as 25% without increasing premiums. Give him a call today for more information on this valuable life insurance "extra".

Radiologist At AOTS Meeting

Regular meeting of the AOTS was held on May 22 with better than average attendance. Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Bryon Williams of Penticton.

Dr. Williams is a native of Wales, where he resided until coming to Penticton recently. He is an expert on X-ray and chose his topic "Radiation and How It Affects The Body."

X-ray is a wonderful aid to the medical profession in making a diagnosis but there is a definite limit to how much radiation the human body can absorb before it becomes lethal.

Dr. Williams gave his audience some very interesting facts on the subject and a brief outline of approximately how much radiation is absorbed when different parts of the human body are x-rayed and also spoke of the folly and danger of unnecessary and indiscriminate use of x-ray.

A brief question period followed and the type and variety of questions showed the keen interest taken by the audience and thanks of the club were extended to the speaker.

A short business meeting followed.

Annual meeting and election of officers will be held at the June meeting. Guest speaker for this meeting will be announced later.

Promenade

By E.R.H.

About ten squares of dancers from the surrounding area of Oliver attended the party sponsored by French's Twirlers in aid of the Arena Fund. Bill French was emcee for the evening and was assisted by local and visiting callers. A very interesting feature of the evening's entertainment was a square dance performed by four Oliver couples to a "do-it-yourself" record. This dance was very expertly executed by the dancers. The pattern was very interesting and the catchy little tune was in the Dutch theme. The timing and rhythm were a pleasure to watch. Since "do-it-yourself" is catching on with so many things these days, who knows, maybe it may be the coming thing in square dancing too.

Another Oliver event to look forward to in the future is the Oliver Apricot Fundae on July 19. Bill French will be the emcee and you can bet there will be more interesting features on the program.

Next thing in the square dance line for Summerland is on June 4 when there will be dancing at the Athletic Park between 5 and 7 o'clock.

A new club in Penticton called the Wheel-N-Stars are sponsoring Cal Golden at their inauguration dance on June 9.

The Totem Twirlers of Peachland are holding a party night on Saturday, May 31 with Les Meyer as emcee.

Summerland billed some of the ministerial and lay delegates in the Okanagan to attend the United Church of Canada Conference being held in Penticton during the past week ending Tuesday noon May 27.

The ladies of the Summerland United Church provided breakfast in the church hall for three of the visitors who stayed in the A. McLachlan cottage at Crescent Beach and any others desiring it.

Billed here were Mr. Roy Fahni, Kaslo, Mr. Wm. Samuel, Vancouver, Mr. Chas Lock, Vancouver, Mr. B. Doldon, Vancouver, Rev. C. G. McKenzie, Ganges, Rev. J. K. King, Victoria, Mr. A. F. ## Home Economics Girls Stage Fashion Show

Monday evening the Senior Girls Home Economics Department played host to over 200 people who attended "Golden Days," the first style show of its type to be presented in Summerland.

The auditorium was decorated with lovely trees covered with blue and pink artificial flowers. A runway extended into the centre of the auditorium where pilot lights emphasized the garments modelled. A blue background of paper was decorated with white daisies and placed along the foot of the stage and runway. A flower and ivy-covered trellis served as an entrance for some of the models.

Eighty-seven of the eighty-nine Home Economics students took part in the highly successful show.

Mrs. Marion Bouey was commentator and Mrs. Lionel Fudge played delightful and suitable music as the girls modelled and took part in the "in-between" acts.

Two skits were presented and musical renditions were heard between the scenes featuring every season of the year.

Macs Take Princeton 10-8 Play Jay Rays On Sunday

Summerland's Macs pulled back from a disastrous double loss against the Kamloops Okonots, two Sunday's back to climb back into a second place tie with the Okonots by defeating the Princeton Royals at Princeton on Sunday, by a score of 10-8.

Ollie Egeley, the Macs' veteran catcher, clouted out two home runs and a two bagger to lead the Macs' hitting parade. Hooker and Taylor each collected two hits, both singles, and two baggers were scored for Biollo and Cristante. Burton poled out a homer, his second home run of the season, while Sett contributed to the winning of his own game with a single in the second that scored Cristante. Scott worked for eight innings holding the Royals to six hits, with the old mainstay, Al. Hooker, taking over in the 9th to curb a Princeton last ditch rally.

Macs wobbled some in the eighth, when leading by score of nine to two, they caught a bad case of the jitters, committing a flock of errors that enabled the Royals to climb within two runs of the Macs' winning 10. Next game for the Macs is on Sunday against the Kamloops Jay Rays at the Athletic Park. Game time 2:30.

Red Sox Take Keremeos 10-1; 10-1 In Double Bill

Summerland Junior Red Sox copped a double bill at the expense of Keremeos here Sunday, winning both games by scores of 10-1.

In the first game, Sheeley pitching the distance yielded four hits and a base on balls to give Keremeos their lone run. Sheeley struck out seven.

Bush started on the mound for Keremeos but was clouted for four hits and three runs to be relieved in the third by Glada, but the Summerland youngsters got to him for five big hits and five runs before he was sent to the showers.

Davidson was nicked for another two runs.

The locals big inning came in the sixth when they hammered in six runs.

Chapman was the winning pitcher in the second game and again Keremeos dredged to find pitchers to smother the Red Sox bats.

Chapman had Keremeos eating out of hand yielding only one hit and striking out ten.

The Summerlanders play at Penticton on Sunday.

Local Track Team In Valley Meet

A small but enthusiastic team represented the Summerland High School at the Okanagan High School's Track and Field meet held in Kelowna last Friday and Saturday.

In Friday's elimination heats Summerland qualified in three of the four events they entered.

Our Saturday finalists were led by Norman Smith, who took second junior broad jump, third junior seventy-five yards; Carol Harkman, took third senior one hundred yards, intermediate seventy-five yards, and Dianne Hannah, who took fourth intermediate high jump.

Others on the seven member team were Karen Johansen, Teresa Keys, Alice Downes and Sharon Haficht.

Although we failed to win an event, two of our sprinters bettered this school's records: Norma Smith ran the 75 yards in 8.6 seconds to break the 9.2 mark set some years ago by Warren Parker; Carol Harkman ran the seventy-five yards in 9.5 and the one hundred yards in 12.3 to break the record of 9.6 and 12.9, both set by Pearl Hooker.

Poison ivy comes into leaf in the spring, well armed to make life miserable for anyone who comes in contact with any part of the plant. It is easily identified if you remember that it resembles Virginia creeper, except that it has three leaves instead of five. After contact, the skin should be washed with water and strong household soap as quickly as possible.

Today In Your Garden

In choosing shrubs for home beautification it is important to consider the purpose each shrub is to serve, foliage characteristics and flowering and fruiting habit, to give variety and a complete appearance to the grounds.

H. T. Allen of the Lacombe Experimental Farm, says the kinds of plants to use about the house itself depend upon the type of building, but generally the larger shrubs should be confined to the corners or to cover expanses of blank wall. Smaller shrubs should be used under windows or to help blend larger plants into surrounding landscapes. Plants that have long-lasting qualities, such as evergreens or deciduous kinds with colorful foliage, can be used to emphasize some architectural feature such as the front entrance.

Color in the landscape need not be confined to annual or perennial flowers, since many shrubs are very colorful during their blooming period. For early bloom, such shrubs as the flowering almond, flowering plum and nanking cherry can be used. These are followed by the spiraea, mock orange, flowering currant, shrub roses, the honeysuckles and lilacs. The more tree-like plants such as rosy-bloom crabapples, Mayday tree, chokecherry, pincherry, native mountain ash and lilac species could also be added to this group. Not too many shrubs provide bloom late in the season but often some of the shrub roses blossom for a second time in late August and such shrubs as the shrubby cinquefoil, and Frebel's spirea, bloom throughout most of the summer.

Some kinds are noted for their foliage characteristics and will provide color from late in the spring until fall. Included in this group are: golden elder, ninebark, silver leaf dogwood

Schubert cherry, buffalo berry purple leaf plum, red barberry and the purple leaved Rose rubrifolia.

Plants such as: high bush cranberry, burning bush, cotoneaster, mountain ash, cherry prinsepia are noted for their fall foliage colors. To add further to the beauty of the fall season there are such kinds as: black and red cotoneaster, red elder, mountain ash, highbush cranberry, ornamental crabapples and hawthornes that produce colorful fruit, much of which remains well on into the winter period. To provide some color during the long winters there are the red and golden twig dogwoods and evergreens.

cut rate methods. The dosages set out in the official spray chart are arrived at after much experiment and observation. Sometime you can reduce them but as a general practice reduced dosages are inadvisable.

The most important steps for all apple and pear growers, especially in a season such as this, is to see that a regular spray schedule with recommended amounts of insecticide is followed. A saving in spray materials at this time of year could prove to be very costly by this fall.

The only purpose of any orchard spray machine is to apply spray materials to the trees. Cool spray machines distribute the spray chemicals evenly. It is the spray material that gives control of the orchard pest. There are several good makes of spray machines available and any of these can do the job if enough spray material is used. There are several good makes ever, that have magical properties that will give control with reduced amounts of spray material against a tough pest.

In the case of DDT for codling moth control 12 pounds per acre are recommended. If this amount is applied at the correct times good control can be expected. Tests over several years with varying amounts show that this quantity is required for protection.

Spray programs that may have been adequate during recent cool years could be far short of requirement for a hot season. This is especially true following a mild winter which ensured a heavy carry over of last year's worms.
