

Wide Scope For Winter Works

Summerland needs a winter payroll.

That winter payroll can be provided through the Federal Government's winter works program which provides that the federal government will pay 50 percent of labor costs. The Provincial Government has further underwritten the winter works program by agreeing to pay 25 percent of labor costs for approved winter works.

This means that the municipality has to pay only 25 cents of every one dollar paid out in the form of wages.

The Summerland Review learned today from the National Employment Service at Penticton that, contrary to general belief, a person does not have to be on claim (drawing unemployment insurance benefits) to register for employment.

Any Summerland grower, for example, can go to the National Employment Service and register for employment.

The rest is largely up to the Summerland Municipal Council.

Red Cross Donors Expect Phone Call

Registered Red Cross blood donors will be receiving a telephone call sometime during the next few days reminding them of the forthcoming visit of the Red Cross Mobile Blood Clinic on November 20.

This will be the annual telephone canvass put on by the Summerland Kiwanians under the direction of the Blood Donor Campaign chairman Nick Solly.

Mr. Solly asks all donors contacted by telephone to try and state their time preference for attending the clinic Friday, November 20.

Even Ice Cream Survived Hallowe'en

Summerland's Hallowe'en was in the best tradition, a lot of fun, a little horseplay, but no damage of any consequence.

Corporal Martin, officer in charge of the Summerland RCMP detachment told The Review he was very pleased with Summerland's Hallowe'en behavior.

"The curfew bylaw undoubtedly helped. At 9:30 the youngsters were home"

Will Revise Trade Licenses

Trades' license bylaw in Summerland will be revised and brought up to date.

Councillor Norman Holmes reported to last week's council meeting that the bylaw should be amended as it is a number of years since any changes have been made in it and the act governing trades' licenses has been changed since that time.

A committee comprised of Miss Louise Atkinson, municipal collector, Reeve F. E. Atkinson, and municipal clerk G. D. Smith, was appointed to work with Councillor Holmes in revising the bylaw.

he said.

Corporal Martin told of one incident that could have been ugly. The Valley Dairy truck was making deliveries at about 8:45 and when the driver returned he found that a two-and-half gallon container of ice cream was missing.

The driver communicated with police and Corporal Martin went over to a gang of youngsters and pointed out that taking the ice cream was theft and that was going too far even for Hallowe'en. Furthermore, the Corporal pointed out, the driver would have to make good the loss out of his own pocket.

"Good guys", the Corporal said, "would see that the ice cream got right back where it belonged."

And, in less than ten minutes that container full to the brim of ice cream was back on the truck.

Helping patrol the community during Hallowe'en were several volunteer citizens and Corporal Martin expressed his appreciation of their help, "which materially assisted in keeping too boisterous Hallowe'eners in check."

And so, bouquets to the small fry, the bigger fry, the adolescents and the old-

Annual Memorial Day To Be Observed Here On Wednesday

Next Wednesday, November 11, the community will observe "Remembrance Day" with the usual Ceremonial Service at the Cenotaph.

Parade Marshall W. McCutcheon, M.M., requests that veterans (wearing berets and medals) will fall in at the McDonald School at 10:20 a.m. along with the Scouts, Cubs, Guides and Brownies and others taking part in the parade to the Cenotaph. The Canadian Legion will also observe the day at a Memorial Dinner to be held in the Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Legion Ladies Auxiliary, with Bishop A. H. Sovereign, guest speaker.

On Sunday at the Anglican Cemetery on Giant's Head Road and at the Peach Orchard Cemetery, 72 veteran's crosses provided by the Legion Ladies Auxiliary of Summerland 22, will be dedicated.

Rev. Canon A. I. Eagles of Penticton will conduct the service. The Legion, along with members of the Ladies Auxilliary will parade, and a Legion color party will be in attendance with John Betuzzi, bugler.

And Saturday is Poppy Day, when the artificial poppies, a reminder of the "poppies that grow in Flanders Fields", made by disabled veterans, will be sold by members of the Legion Ladies Auxiliary.

Nearly Half Of Apple Crop Sent To Market

Just under half of B.C.'s current McIntosh apple crop has been shipped to markets including the United Kingdom and the U.S., Tree Fruits Ltd., reported Thursday.

Mac shipments now total over 703,400 boxes including some 58,600 handpaks, 35,700 junior boxes and 42,900 cell packs shipped last week.

Total shipments of all apple varieties up to Saturday night was 981,382 boxes or about a quarter of the total estimated crop.

Orchard Run

By Wally Smith

Pear decline has caused heavy losses in British Columbia, Oregon and Washington and today constitutes a serious threat to the pear industry.

The conditions or disease (if it can be called a disease) is now widespread in the Oliver and Osoyoos districts. Few pear orchards have escaped and many pear trees have ceased to produce a profitable crop.

What to do about it is the big question for the grower who has decline. As a grower with some 300 pear trees of all ages I must admit that decline is causing me a lot of worry and I cannot decide what to do.

I have just been reading a progress report on pear decline research. The project is being carried out in the state of Washington near the Prosser Irrigation Experiment Station.

Hundreds of young pear trees were planted using various kinds of rootstock and the scion wood came from both healthy trees and from trees with decline.

It is too early in the experiment to draw definite conclusions but results to date show that many of the young trees in the plot showed evidence of disease

It Is Fitting

Time inexorably marches on. It is now 41 years since the bugles sounded cease fire at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, 1918.

It is 14 years since Hitler's "Thousand Year Reich" crumbled under the combined assault of the allies.

But we of the two generations who lived through one, or both of those world holocausts, and the generation that does not and we hope, never will know war, will not let the passage of time dim the memory of the sacrifice paid by the men of Canada who died in battle, or who lived on, shattered and crippled, part of the toll of battle.

Again on November 11, on Wednesday of next week, the people of Summerland at their Cenotaph, will join with all of Canada in paying tribute at the Cenotaphs across the nation, in honoring Canada's war dead.

It is fitting that these men and women who gave their lives in fighting the nation's battles should be so honored. It is fitting that we should wear poppies and that we should give generously for our poppy, for in so doing while honoring the dead, we are helping the living, veterans twisted and mangled by war, whose lives are made brighter by the receipts from the sales of the poppies.

It is Poppy Day in Summerland on Saturday. The Legion Ladies Auxiliary will be out in force — so buy a poppy and wear it, as tribute to the men who died, when attending the Cenotaph Memorial Service next Wednesday at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, here in Summerland.

Unpopular Types

A public relations type told us weekly newspaper editors that we weren't popular in our own bailiwicks, then that public relations type made out his own press release which naturally got wide circulation in the dailies, daily editors being jealous of us weekly men, so we weekly editors arrived home from the convention to find ourselves practically ostracised.

It's just another example of the truth of that saying "What we don't know If that public relations type had kept won't hurt us."

his big mouth shut we weekly newspapers editors wouldn't have known we were so danged unpopular and neither for that matter would our readers.

According to the Mood . . .

By SID. GODBER

These trips to the coast make me feel old. I run into smart up-and-coming newsmen all the time, men pulling down big money — men whom, years and years ago I taught their newspaper a, b, c's.

And worst of all they're beginning to call me Pop. One of 'em, now forsooth public relations for the PNE, even got up to let me have the armchair — poured me a drink instead of waving, as he did to the younger element to help themselves.

And then when one of the callow young visitors pulling down a modest $150 a week, 37½ hours a week, butted in to say "Old man Godber can tell you a better one than that — Hi Pop, tell 'em about the time you phoned the wrong paper . . ." well a man needs to take a long look in the mirror.

True the hair's a little thin — there is a suspicion of a double chin — but on the whole — not so bad.

Got thinking about this being old business and wondered what constitutes old.

I decided that years don't have so much to do with it. I think a man is old at 40 if he has lost his enthusiasm for living — if he isn't curious about what's going to happen next.

Right now I'm in the middle of a new adventure— doing something I've never done before — publishing a magazine — I'm frankly excited about it — on the big day when the first issue is off the press I'll feel as proud as the day when, as a lad of 14, I saw the first story I wrote on page one of a newspaper.

There's a lot of people round 'n about who are old, not in years, but in lack of enthusiasms, who don't get kicks out of living, who can't see that this is a fabulous age to be living in. Who is going to get to the moon first, and how soon?

Anyway, I know this, if I cashed in my cheques tomorrow it could be said I died a young man.

Sort of philosophizing a mite — what?

Having won the argument with myself and convinced myself, if no one else, that old man Godber isn't as old as a lot of much younger-in-years people, I'll borrow a line from Sun Columnist Harold Weir and point with pride to the fact that very often comments made in this column or editorially in The Summerland Review are often echoed at a later date in much larger spheres, by people far removed from my grass roots level.

Remember, some time back, I wrote a column airing my view on what I considered the idiocy of condemning the world to death on an issue like Berlin or of choosing world annihilation rather than accept communist domination.

I also wrote that instead of spending over 50 percent of the nation's tax dollars on useless defence expenditure we should spend it along with other nations in providing a merchantile fleet which could deliver the world's surpluses, at no cost for freighting, to where they would do some good.

Not so long ago President Ike Eisenhower was on the same theme of getting the world's surpluses to the have-not nations.

Just lately Star Weekly magazine argued for spending armament money on getting surpluses to where they will do some good.

Now, according to Eric Nicol in the Province, Mr. Lewis Mumford, writing in The Atlantic, has "roundly challenged this moral standard that destruction by atomic war is preferable to submitting to the greasy cad called communism."

Mr. Mumford says, "this moral standard was defensible only as long as this death was a symbolic one, confined to a restricted number of people on a small portion of the earth."

Tis said a prophet is without honor in his own land — so it's nice to once in a while to see ideas nurtured and expounded by oneself being mouthed by greater mortals.

Autumn Setting For Eastern Star Tea

In the IOOF Hall on Saturday, the rich colors of autumn made a lovely setting for the Eastern Star tea, which is always an October event in Summerland.

Mrs. George Washington, worthy matron, welcomed the guests. Mrs. J. Green and Mrs. George Clark were co-conveners.

Mrs. A. Stark and Mrs. George Harper presided alternately with Mrs. Gerry Laidlaw and Mrs. Tom Marsh at the tea table which was decorated with a huge bouquet of chrysanthemums in shades of gold and bronze, flanked by lighted silver tapers.

Mrs. J. Sheeley was kitchen convener and Mrs. Gordon was in charge of serving the delicious refreshments. Mrs. Harvey Wilson, and Mrs. Don Fisher arranged ed the individual table decorations, crystal stars filled with mums and a lighted candle in the center of each one. A bake table, presided over by Mrs. James Marshall, provided a wide selection of home baking.

Contributing to the success of the event were the posters and advertising arranged by Mrs. Art Dunsdon and Mrs. Jack Dunsdon. Mrs. Earle Wilson convened the raffling of two hampers and the lucky winners were Mrs. Fred Walker and Mrs. H. Charlton.

Cashmere Students On Exchange Visit Here

Four Cashmere students arrived here Sunday afternoon for one week of classes in the Summerland High School. They are Gary Low, Carol Twitchel, Gerry Flagel and Donna Decker. They are here on an exchange sponsored by the Summerland and Cashmere Rotary Clubs.

Local students taking part in the exchange are: Anthea Morgan, Leigh Trafford, Carolyn Reed and Wesley Schindal.

When the Washington students were buttonholed less than 24 hours after arrival they said: "There is more seriousness within the classe here than there is in Cashmere, but they are basically much the same. I find your community and school very friendly and co-operative towards us. Your organized system about school and in classes is very impressive."

It is hoped that this venture will provide students of both schools with a fresh and broader outlook on education.

Kelowna Wins Soccer Tournament Held Here

Summerland boys vied in the Okanagan Jr. Soccer Tournament held here last Saturday, scoring one goal in three games, while losing to Princess Margaret 1-0, Osoyoos 3-1, and managing a scoreless tie with Penticton.

On the same day, the girls were in Rutland winning over George Pringle, 2-1 on goals scored by Karen Johanson and Anne-Marie Bonthoux. The girls failed to produce another victory, however, as they tied Rutland 0-0 and lost to Vernon 1-0.

It took Princess Margaret until the dying seconds to score their goal against the luckless Summerland boys. Osoyoos were more convincing in building a 3-1 score, Fred Trussell preventing the shut-out with a goal scored ten minutes into the second half of play. The game against Penticton was a close contest providing the breaks for neither team.

Kelowna ultimately won the championship by defeating Oliver

I'm doing noon duty — not a soul in the halls
Save a bevy of beautiful teenage dolls.
So charmingly smooth,
They're balm to the eyes,
"Till one opens her mouth and raucously cries
"Hey listen, you guys!"

What do they do in the clothing room?
We stop and listen behind the door.
Stand back aghast — then hear some more.
But daren't go in lest we meet our doom.

Another one says that her neck must be slit.
They cut and quarter, rip and lay out,
What gruesome orgies can they be about?

Grade 10 Initiated At Successful Dance

The successful first annual grade 10 Initiation Dance showed good school spirit. The dance was sponsored by the Senior Council on October 30, from 9-12 p.m. in the High School Auditorium. Its purpose was to initiate grade 10 students into Senior High life.

Teachers in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Longmore, Mr. and Mrs. Tamblyn, Mr. and Mrs. Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Minchin, Mr. and Mrs. Storey, Mr. and Mrs. McCuaig, Mr. and Mrs. Gatley, Mr. Andrews and Mr. McInnis.

Teachers and students started the evening by dancing to a mixture of music ranging from the Mexican Hat Dance to waltzing and jiving.

The highlight of the evening was the Initiation Program wherein only grade 10 students participated. The grade 10 boys competed against each other in a bean race, having to get down on their knees and push or blow a minute bean from one wall to the other.

The girls got a slightly easier task. They competed against each other in trying to pick up with their mouths marshmallows buried in a plateful of flour.

Re-elected Prexy

Vic Blewett was re-elected president, and Irene Pennington, secretary treasurer of the High School Ski Club at the first meeting, held Wednesday, Oct. 28. There were twenty members present at the meeting

Three Times Of Year For Stem Cuttings

One of the most used methods of vegetable propagation is by stem cuttings. These are classed as soft-wood, half-ripe and mature or dormant, which shows that cuttings can be taken at three seasons of the year.

Soft-wood cuttings are the first to be taken. If artificial heat is available some may be taken as early as February but in the case of some outdoor shrubs it may not be until June.

Half-ripened growths are usually ready in July and August. Mature or dormant wood is found at the end of the season when leaves start to fall or have already fallen.

Of the three kinds of stem cuttings, the half-ripe kind is probably most often used and most plants have half-ripened shoots available in July and August.

Even these cuttings root sooner if kept close until rooted. For starting a few cuttings in the house, the covering should be an inverted, large glass sealer, or a tiny greenhouse improvised by using a few thin polyfilm or clear plastic material.

Another good method is to use glass cloches or boards placed on edge to form a low frame and these covered with sheets of glass. Provide shade from direct sun and break the soil down fine, also add some sand. The cuttings can be inserted fairly close together. They should be watered in and then kept close until rooted.

Coniferous plants and some evergreens are best propagated from wood that is slightly more than half-ripe and yet not fully ripened.

A hard or dormant cutting is a good method for many amateurs as no artificial heat is needed. Any convenient shady spot can be chosen and the cuttings inserted without cover or protection apart from such as is provided by a hedge or wall.

Hardwood cuttings are used up to about 12 inches long. They can be inserted into the soil by way of a slit trench, made by inserting the spade to the depth required, then wiggling the handle. At the bottom of the trench a little sand is placed.

The base of the cuttings should rest on the sand. When the soil is trodden a little less than half their length should be above the ground level.

Allow a little space between cuttings and leave alone for a year, afterwards planting the rooted ones in a row to continue growing.

After a severe frost, inspect to see if they have heaved and if so, firm them in again.

Library Review

by Freda Storey

Many and varied have been the comments on Peter Ochs' exhibition in the library this week. Although the majority have failed to understand his work, many have found his exhibits interesting, some even stimulating, and others just pleasing. There has been surprisingly little of the derisive criticism which one normally expects in an exhibition of modern art. This may be explained by the fact that most people seem to have recognized Peter Ochs' skill as a craftsman, even if they failed to appreciate his ideas as an artist. His 'mobile' in particular has received a great deal of 'mystified' praise. More of his work will be shown during the coming weeks.

A UBC exhibition, entitled 'Prints and Processes' was also on display for three days last week. Eighteen panels illustrating various types of 'prints' and how they were made provided an interesting study. Included among them were some outstanding wood engravings, and 'four colour' wood-cuts by Alistair Bell. Wood cuts are the oldest of the relief processes, and were used for printing textiles more than 1000 years ago. The process was introduced into Europe for the printing of pictures some time around 1400 A.D.

Linocuts too, were shown, both in process and in print. The principle here is the same as in woodcutting, only the softer material offers a greater freedom of line, and greater variety of surface textures, as by scraping and scratching.

Much interest was shown in the serigraph or silk-screen process, and also in the etchings. Each were illustrated by the display of many prints.

It was unfortunate that notification of the arrival of this exhibition came too late for publicity purposes, and in consequence many people will have missed it. Besides the usual times of opening, on Thursday and Saturday, the library was also open on Friday afternoon last week and tea was served by members of the Art Club.

Ron Wilson Installed As Councillor

Ron Wilson was installed as Master Councillor, of the Penticton Chapter, Order of DeMolay, by the Past Chapter Sweetheart, Mary Harden, at a colorful ceremony at the Penticton Masonic Temple, last Saturday. Approximately 150 parents and friends attended the event.

R. T. (Dick) Leah

district manager for Imperial Oil in the Okanagan and Kootenay areas, has completed forty years service with the company.

Now making his headquarters in Penticton, he joined Imperial as an office boy when he was 17 years old, and later worked as a service station attendant, warehouseman, agent, salesman and sales supervisor. He enlisted immediately on the outbreak of World War II and served with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps in Iceland, Britain, and continental Europe and was Lieutenant-Colonel when the war ended.

He is an ardent hunter and fisherman.

Hallowe'en

er teen-agers on their Hallowe'en behavior.

And there was a lot of Hallowe'en. Former Fire Chief Ed Gould dropped in to tell The Review that they kept track of the trick and treat brigade. They had 80 callers.

Another caller at The Review office was a very young Miss, as excited as all get-out — Miss Mary Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Morgan of West Summerland, who gathered in as part of her Hallowe'en loot a most amazing peanut, containing four nuts. Mary had the prodigal peanut carefully encased in cotton wool.

Orchard Run

similar to rapid decline.

So far in all the experiments trees on Ussuriensis and Serotina (both Oriental rootstocks) were the only trees wilting and dying.

In all the many trees examined the small to medium roots were dead and the larger roots appeared dry.

It is believed the small feeder roots of these affected trees begin to die and deteriorate before symptoms become apparent on the tops. On many of the trees examined which show red coloration or wilting of the foliage a brown line condition exists at the union.

The most vigorous trees be affected.

The whole tree is involved, not just part of the root system or one branch.

This disease has no correlation with the use of common insecticides.

While the experiments were not designed to determine the following points, the conditions which have existed in the plots indicate that the disease under consideration is not caused by (a) nutritional deficiencies nor excess fertilizer; (b) unusual cultural conditions; (c) low temperature injury, or excess irrigation.

These findings are interesting but apparently deal only with rapid decline. Slow decline is prevalent in Oliver orchards and it is uncertain whether this is a separate disease or a different phase of rapid decline.

It would seem there isn't a thing one can do to pull a tree out of decline. It may pick up a little one year and then slip back again the next under the same treatment.

A pear tree that has ceased to produce a profitable crop should be removed and replaced with a new tree. Be sure the rootstock is not of Oriental variety.

If you are weary of fighting fire blight, pear psylla and decline, then pull all your pears out and plant something else.

Winter works

The council, having first secured approval of various winter works projects, notifies the National Employment Service that it needs certain number of men for certain work. The Employment Service refers to it Summerland file, and supplies the men as required by the municipality.

Another misconception which appears to be abroad in Summerland is that there is a limitation to the extent of, or number of projects which can be approved.

The only limitation, with in reason, The Review learned from the National Employment Service today, that the winter works projects must come within the wide scope laid down by the Government.

This means that Summerland could enjoy a substantial winter payroll if the Municipal Council sees fit to take the required action.

Council, it is known, already planning several work projects, but the question, in view of the wide scope of the Federal Winter Works Project, is could not more and bigger projects be undertaken.

Another step in establishing better understanding between Canadians and Americans was made here last week when four students from Cashmere, Washington, spent a week attending Summerland High School when they were not being shown the sights by local Rotarians. The four visitors saw just about everything there is to see including the new radio telescope at White Plains, to which they were taken by Rotarians. Meanwhile four Summerland students were having a similar time in Cashmere. For further reports of these doings see the School Page.

No Freedom Without Sacrifice, Vets Told

Big Turnout for Remembrance

Summerland remembers. November 11, 1959, was a grey, cold cheerless day but hundreds of Summerland residents left their fire-sides on Wednesday to pay tribute to their war dead. The Remembrance Day ceremony was held in the High School Auditorium, culminating with the march to the Cenotaph for the laying of the wreath, by Legion branch president L. L. Trippe. The service was conducted by the Reverend Lyle Kennedy, Rev. W. Sooter, Rev. Philip Louie and Rev. D. J. R athjen. The Summerland Town Band under bandmaster Bud Stewart headed the parade. John Bettuzi sounded the "Last Post" and the "Reveille"

"You cannot have liberty without law, or freedom without sacrifice," Bishop A. H. Sovereign, guest speaker at the annual Summerland Legion Remembrance Day banquet, told the more than 300 who attended the event.

The Summerland Legion Hall was packed to capacity when the guest speaker rose to deliver a hard hitting address in which he reminded his listeners of their good fortune in being Canadians and also of their responsibility.

"One third of the peoples of the world are hungry", Bishop Sovereign declared and "you cannot have peace in the world while one-third of its people are hungry."

"Hungry people are impatient people."

Second Look Saves Ratepayers $31,000

Summerland Municipal Council's second look at Canyon Dam has saved taxpayers $31,000.

This was disclosed at Tuesday's meeting when a the reconstruction of Canyon Dam was authorized to money bylaw for $35,000 for be prepared for submission to the ratepayers at the forthcoming civic elections.

The original bylaw for the Canyon Dam work was for $55,000, repayable over a period of 20 years. The new $35,000 bylaw calls for repayment over a period of 15 years at 6 percent. Representing a total of $53,000 as against a total of $84,000 for the original bylaw.

The Water Rights Branch has given its approval to the work and is pleased with the plans, Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith reported.

Now it only requires sanction of the ratepayers for the borrowing.

Council is hopeful that the bond issue will be subscribed locally as was the $40,000 borrowed for re-vamping of the municipal power distribution system.

Handicapped Drive Still Short of Mark

Summerland Handicapped Children's Association's drive for funds has fallen $200 short of last year.

Anyone still wishing to give to the education of these children, please leave donations at the Bank of Montreal or mail to G. C. Johnston, treasurer, West Summerland.

Stewardship Meeting Here on Monday, November 30

Annual ratepayers meeting when the Municipal Council will give a report on its stewardship during the year will be held on Monday, November 30.

Nomination day is December 7 with polling day December 17.

There are three vacancies. Reeve F. E. Atkinson has declared he will run again. Councillor Francis Stewart has decided not to seek election and Councillor Eric Tait is still undecided.

Youngsters Warmly Praised by Council

There is still a curfew by-law in effect in Summerland but the curfew hour has been set at 11:30 p.m.

General opinion seems to be that we should have a curfew but not as restrictive as 9:30, commented Reeve F. E. Atkinson.

Warm praise for the behavior of Summerland's youngsters on Hallowe'en was expressed by Council.

Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith reported the RCMP very satisfied and that Corporal Larry Martin had spoken highly of the youngsters behaviour and their obedience to the 9:30 Hallowe'en curfew.

"It shows that our youngsters have a respect for law," said Reeve Atkinson.

Councillor Norman Holmes wondered how Council could get it over to the youngsters that Council was warmly appreciative of their Hallowe'en conduct.

Councillors Eric Tait and Francis Stewart also praised the youngsters.

Decision to continue the curfew as a means of controlling any unruly minority was made with curfew time set at 11:30 for youngsters up to but not including 18-year-olds.

Council also expressed appreciation of the work of the Summerland Key Club, a Service Club within the school sponsored by the Kiwanis, which, as in previous years was out after Hallowe'en cleaning smeared windows in the business district.

Council Approves Dimes Tag Day

Council approved application of G. E. Wooliams for permission to hold a March of Dimes Tag Day on November 20.

Ministerial Association Deals With Liquor Outlet

Will additional alcohol outlets improve our community?

The value we we place on things determines their importance.

Values in our society are determined by needs, desires and the opinions of the people who live in the community. A fair market of our products will bring us the returns so we can buy our needs, and have a surplus for a higher standard of living. We are all working to have these, but also we want to continue to build a reputation for our community of which we can justly be proud.

How will another liquor outlet help us in accomplishing these things?

According to scientific research, alcohol contained in all beer and liquors is:

1. A depressant, not a stimulant - slows down judgement, self control; takes away common sense, releases a person to senseless impulses. It is in the same class with heroin, morphine, cocaine, and marijuana. It is an addicting-producing drug. It can become so important, that one is unable to live without it.

2. Its work on the brain causes loss of muscle control, effects speech, sight, hearing and emotions - it causes sleepiness. It effects the heart and blood pressure when concentration in the blood is moderately high.

3. Alcohol is not a food, but does have calories. It has no vitamins, minerals, or proteins.

4. Alcohol works quickly, needs no digestion.

5. It causes a person to feel remorse and regret for drinking the day after.

6. Alcohol is not necessary in our diet to sustain life. Health and happiness can be achieved without its use.

7. Alcohol beverages are expensive. The needs of the bodies of the individuals of our community can be obtained much better and more economically by bread from the local grocery outlets.

Since children are a very important part of our community and represent our future, let us ask the question, "Will another liquor outlet benefit them?"

The following is a report from Kingsport, Tennessee when they had increased outlets for liquor, then de- Continued on back page

A Rewarding Donation

Giving blood is an act of Christian charity and those who respond to the Red Cross call for blood donors are observing to the full the admonishment to "love thy neighbor as thyself."

Even so, few acts of unselfish giving are so rich in reward and possible rewards.

For one thing the person who donates a pint of blood to the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic here on Friday, November 20 will suffer no ill effects before, during or after, and Mother Nature will quickly restore the blood so given.

But what of that blood — your pint of blood which you gave, but which you don't need, and which is replenished by nature's chemistry. That blood can, and in most cases does, save a life.

As a pint of blood coursing through your veins, it doesn't signify too much, you can spare it, but once in the blood bank with all its life saving potential it becomes beyond price.

Just think about it for a moment. Think of the child battling for life — think of your own family — think of yourself — modern living is dangerous living — every day there are accidents and illnesses which would prove fatal but for the blood donated by humanitarian citizens and gathered and banked by the Canadian Red Cross — perhaps for you.

And so, on behalf of the Kiwanis Blood Donor Campaign, on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross and on behalf of those unknown sufferers who will live through virtue of this great undertaking of mercy, we solicit your attendance at the Summerland Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic here on Friday, November 20.

Remember — you too can save a life.

According to the Mood . . .

By SID. GODBER

Those Legion Ladies sure carry their grudges. They've now changed their battle strategy, instead of starving me to death by serving potato salad, they're now trying to kill me by kindness.

Last night at the Legion Memorial Day banquet, and banquet is the right word, they served up a scrumptious meal. Tender turkey, delicious snow-white mashed potatoes, brown gravy, cranberry sauce, stuffing that was just right and peas and carrots, plain honest peas and carrots — everything straight, no camouflage. Turkey looked like turkey and tasted like turkey and so on down the line.

I'd been busy all day, hadn't got around to eating — so I was hungry and there it was. To make matters worse I was at the end of the table and there was no room for anyone else to sit, but there was this extra plate of white meat and dark. Well, as I said I was hungry. I confess I sneaked that turkey onto my plate — mind you I think I would have resisted the temptation if I hadn't seen Doug Campbell eyeing it.

Having got that turkey it followed that I should go for second helpings of creamy white mashed potatoes, more gravy, more cranberries — well more everything — I finished up feeling that I couldn't eat another thing and then came cake and ice cream and then I had to have two helpings just to keep John Selinger who appeared to have some pull around that end of the table, from getting a tummy ache from too much ice cream.

I didn't step on the scales this morning — I just daren't, although I suppose I'm not the only man to have these setbacks when fighting the battle of the bulge.

Now it's too near Christmas to climb back on the slimming wagon, but by golly wait until New Years — I'll shed pounds and pounds and pounds.

Minor Hockey League Now Underway

Minor hockey officially got underway on Saturday October 31.

There are four Pee Wee Pup teams, one Pee Wee team, two Bantam teams, and to date we have not had enough players register for a midget or juvenile team.

Three of the Pee Wee Pup teams have sponsors. The Black Hawks by Kiwanis and coached by Ed. Schneider. Ro'ary have the Bruins coached by Chic Davis. Red Wisgs are sponsored by Kinsmen and coached by Allas Howard. The Leafs are not sponsored but are being coached by Corky Haddrell and Joe Bullock. The Pee Wee team is under Tiny Hankins, and the two Bantam teams are under the management of J. Selinger, D. Wartz, P. Grycan and B. Chapman.

Tuesday, November 3 the Bantams travelled to Kelowna for a game and were defeated 5-3 by the Kelowna team.

Pee Wee Pup standings, up to November 7: Red Wings 7, Black Hawks 5, Bruins 2, Leafs 2.

Bowling News

Leaders in the mixed bowling league this week:

Occidentals 16, People Eaters 15 and Scandies 15.

Nan Thornthwaite bowled a 242 for the ladies high single and Eileen Fell rolled a 657 for the ladies high three. Al Hooker won himself double honors by rolling 295 and 707. Occidentals were the high team this week with 2959 pins.

I am pleased to report the bowling special put on for the students proved to be a great success last Saturday afternoon. Don Clark, Junius Johnson, George Williams and Don Mitchell had their hands full when more than 30 students came out for some good instruction in bowling. Linda Rumball bowled 146 to take honors as the highest game bowled among the girls and Bryan Charlton bowled 184. If last Saturday, afternoon was an example of the enthusiasm and eagerness of the students to learn how to bowl under proper instruction I would say our instructors have got a job waiting for them every Saturday.

Shower Honors Janie Smith

Two little misses, Nancy Barg and Barbara Jaster, assisted with the opening of parcels on Friday, November 6, when Miss Janie Smith, whose marriage to William Chapelle takes place November 14, was honored at a miscellaneous shower. Held at the home of Mrs. A. Arnt, Mrs. John Barg and Mrs. Ray Jaster were her co-hostesses. Twenty-two were invited.

Miss Joan Kilback Honored At Shower

Miss Joan Kilback, whose marriage to Mr. Bill Unterschultz takes place November 28, was the recipient of many lovely gifts at a miscellaneous shower held November 3. Mrs. N. Dickinson and Mrs. C. Wendel were hostesses for the event which was held at the

On November 5 the Co-op packinghouse workers presented Joan with a chenille bedspread and two pictures of Summerland.

Guidese Have Fun and Work

Work and play have been combined in good measure in our local Third Brownie pack. Griselda Evans, Carol Shannon and Jane Miltimore have been working hard to be ready for their Golden Hand tests. Girls who have received this award are adding to their collection of badges, Patsy Ryman winning those for gardener, swimmer, house orderly and minstrel; Jane Miltimore for house orderly; and Sharon McIntosh and Susan Wilson for swimmer.

Third year service stars, too, have been earned by Sharon McIntosh, Janet Tamblin, Janie Solvey and Patsy Ryman. Griselda Evans received her second star and Darlene Martin her first star.

But on one evening near Hallowe'en, the girls found witches, goblins and black cats awaiting them at the Youth Centre.

Winners of Mixed Bonspiel

Summerland Curling Club started the season off with a mixed bonspiel. This was run off last week with two draws each night. When the last rock was thrown and scores counted the Harry Hackman rink with Jim Eyre, H. Halquist, and Hazel Fountain beat out Ken Heales in the A event. Ken had Hilda Eden, Dan Ruthford and Rex Chapman. Nick Solly with Fred Walker, W. Budd and Bonnie Ganzeveld finished third. and Herb Lemke with John Dunn, Art Dunsdon and H. Kealy finished fourth.

The B event was won by Jerry Halquist with R. Towgood, Doreen MacIntosh and F. Kudoda. Jerry beat out the J. Raincock rink with Anne Dunsdon, J. Bently, and K. Dietrich. Third spot went to D. Wilson with B. Wilson, A. Crook and Darlene Dixon and fourth place was won by Al Menu with his rink of G. Stoll, Bob Bradley and Martha Ganzeveld.

Monday night the regular men's draw got underway. The club again has been able to fill the quota with thirty rinks.

If anyone who wants to curl but has failed to register, by contacting Steve Sakal or any of the executive a place may still be open.

Basketball Tourney at Gym This Week-end

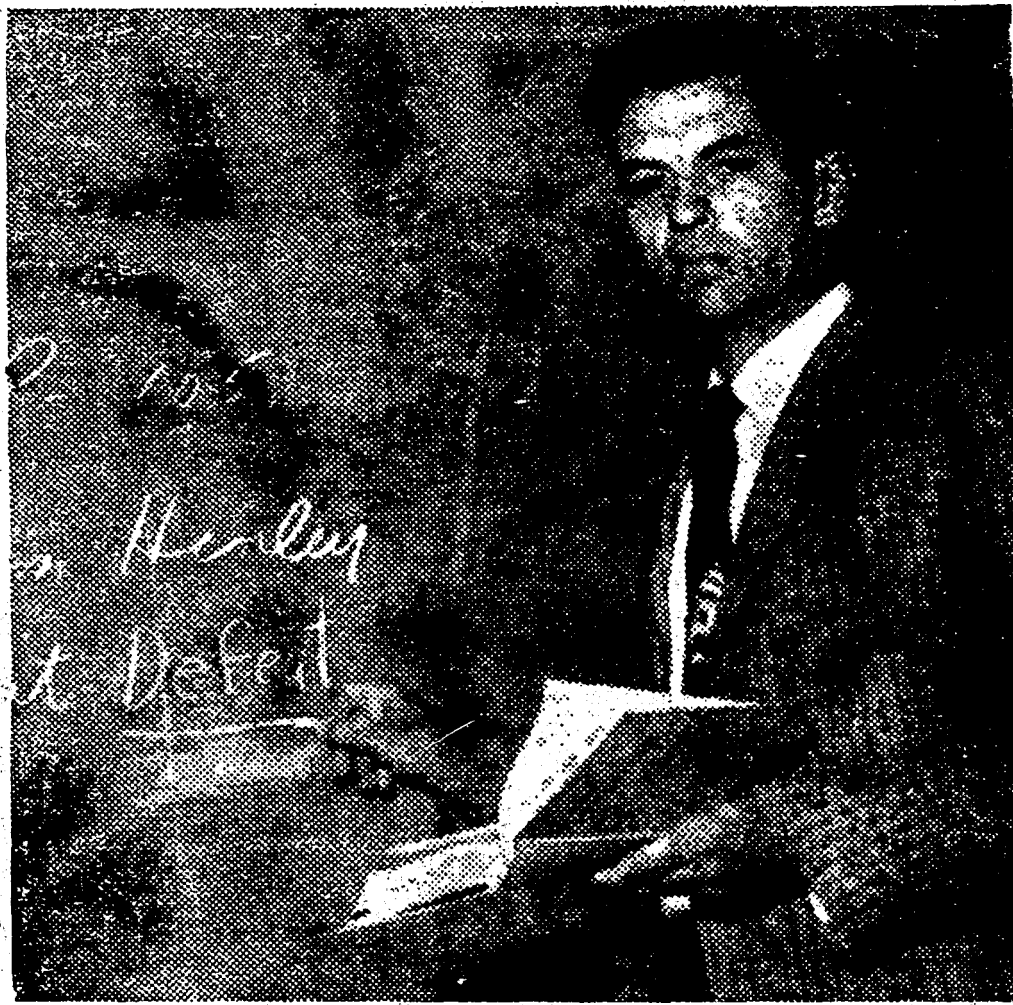

The high school gymnasium is the place to visit this week end. Eight teams will be competing in the second annual Summerland Basketball Tournament.

Teams from Oliver, Penticton, Similkameen, Summerland, Kelowna, Salmon Arm, Vernon and North Kamloops will be competing for the trophy presented by the Students Council, won last year by the Oliver Hornets.

The tournament will begin Friday night by 6:00 p.m., and continue all day Saturday, with the final game taking place Saturday night at 8 p.m.

Five smaller replicas of the large trophy will be awarded to the All Star team, players of which are selected by the coaches of the participating squads.

Cheerleaders, and a Pep Band, will add to the excitement, as will, we hope, a large crowd of spectators ready to give the Summerland Rockets the support they deserve.

Report On Students On Cashmere High

Cashmere is a friendly town, located approximately 12 miles west of Wenatchee. Its population is between 4 and 5 thousand and its total school population is 1000. The main industry is fruit growing. Located in Cashmere is the largest apple juice plant in the world and also the only apples and coddle factory. A new high school costing three quarters of a million dollars, is being built there.

Generally, the academic standard is lower than that of Canada. There are six periods each day, and every day the same subjects are taught. Only five subjects per year are required and government exams are not written in any course. However, they do write 9 weeks exams which are each an hour long. A student may fail the first half of a course and pass the last half in which case it is necessary to repeat only the half failed. No foreign language is required, students have many electives to choose from, but most of these are "filler" courses. There are very few required subjects. For example, English, one semester (1/2 year) of Washington history, and one semester of General Science are the only subjects a grade nine student must take.

The main sports are football, wrestling and basketball. Girls are not allowed to participate in interschool sports and Cashmere does not have an extensive intermural system.

The Student Council consists of both juniors and seniors, and meetings are held in school time. Students cards cost five dollars. There are only four school clubs.

Although Cashmere lacks in high academic standing, it shows tremendous school spirit.

EDITORIAL

Homework can be done while watching television.

This has been a very controversial question, with of course, the teachers and students having different opinions.

I agree to a certain extent, although it really depends upon the "depth" of thinking required. It is quite easy to do a simple routine exercise which you understand fully, but "deep" learning or memorizing is another story. When your mind wanders from Macbeth's contemplations to Paladin's Travels, or from "c'est homme au peches" to Dennis the Menace, strange results may occur. When your mind is on your studies, and also on the television, it is much harder and takes much longer to learn something. Usually when the programme gets frightfully exciting, you will pack up your homework until later.

One way to solve the problem of television, or homework, is to get your homework done before television comes on, after the good programmes are over, or as a last resort, during commercials.

Familiarity Breeds Respect For Concrete

Familiarity breeds not contempt, but respect for concrete block, as more home-owners and builders discover the many things that can be done with this basic building material.

One of the most inexpensive of building materials it will insulate, protect against fire and rodents, absorb sound and give years of maintenance free satisfaction.

It can be used to build basements, walls, partitions, garages, windbreaks, barbecues and refuse burners.

Available throughout Canada in dozens of shapes and sizes, several textures and weights, it is extremely flexible in creating patterns and designs, and attractive as a finished material in its own right.

It is easy to handle and to lay up, even for the amateur. With a minimum of instruction, anyone can mix mortar and build a finished structure.

Although simple building units, concrete blocks are manufactured to close, uniform tolerances by complicated, largely automatic precision machinery. They meet exacting tests for quality and compressive strength. Ingredients are carefully weighed and measured.

A home of concrete block requires little maintenance. Blocks are easy to keep clean, and special masonry paints, many with water-proofing qualities, can be sprayed or brushed on easily.

Concrete masonry combines well with other building materials. Thousands of block are used for back-up purposes, faced with other materials, every year. Many more homes combine block with wood, or cut stone, concrete block, or glass.

Concrete block derives its capacity to insulate a building from the dead air spaces formed by the cores of the block. Heat loss through walls can be cut a further 50 per cent by filling the cores with slag or rock wool or similar insulating material.

Concrete products manufacturers have plans for many of the structures that can be built with their products, and are glad to give advice on best methods of construction.

All dancers will be headed south to Penticton this week end when the Intermediate Night School Class under the direction of Bob Emerson will hold its first party night of the season. I note that a pot luck lunch will be served, so don't forget to take a sandwich, coffee will be served by the hosts.

The New Year's Eve dance mentioned two columns ago has definitely been cancelled by the Summerland club. Even so, I understand the hall will be offered to another club, so there may still be a square dance in Summerland come New Year's Eve.

Why Give The Burglar An Engraved Invitation!

"You might as well give a burglar an engraved invitation to help himself, if you leave valuables lying about," says Joek Johnston, manager of the Bank of Montreal's Summerland branch.

Mr. Johnston adds that behind the steel doors of a B of M vault is the safest place for valuables such as bonds, leases, stock certificates, insurance policies, deed birth certificates, passports and other important family documents.

"It costs less than two cents a day to rent a B of M safety deposit box," he says, and explains that hundreds of thousands of Canadians use B of M safety deposit facilities, an indication of the popularity of this service. "It pays for itself again and again in peace of mind alone," he says.

"Give the burglar a brush-off at your house," Mr. Johnston advises. "Keep your valuables in your personal strong box - it's exclusively yours - in the Summerland B of M vault."

Drop in soon and see Mr. Johnston about renting a safety deposit box . . . it will set your mind at rest.

No Freedom Without Sacrifice

day when we pay tribute to those who paid the supreme sacrifice and to those who came back maimed. Remembrance Day is also a day of Thanksgiving and it should also be a day of rededication to the task of carrying on. 'For if you fail we shall not sleep, although poppies grow in Flanders Field.'

"We cannot have well-being without labor, but today we seem to be getting a little soft, wanting something for nothing, and" said Bishop Sovereign "trying to get something for nothing usually ends up with getting nothing for something."

"Today there is too much trying to do things painlessly. painless education — too much of the let George do it spirit abroad. Elections where only 33 percent of the voters turn out. In a democracy people get the government they deserve."

The speaker spoke with the feeling and authority of a man who was there at Passchendaele, Ypres, Vimy Ridge and other names blazoned indelibly in Canada's war record.

He told of his pride in the Legion and quoted the Legion Motto "They served until Death — why not you." And he ended by repeating the words of the immortal poem already spoken by Ben Newton. "In Flanders Fields where Poppies Grow . . ."

A vote of thanks to the speaker was voiced by Comrade W. Hemmingway and Mrs. Howard Shannon president of the Ladies Auxiliary to Legion Branch 22, presented Mrs. Sovereign with a corsage.

Appreciated to the ladies auxiliary and convenor, Mrs. Ken Hickson for their excellent turkey dinner

Present Poppies to Younsters

As in past years Legion members Mrs. Ken Hickson and S. A. MacDonald talked to the pupils of MacDonald School on the significance of Remembrance Day. This was followed by the distribution of free poppies to every child in the school.

In Trout Creek School presentation of poppies was also made by Mrs. Hickson and Mr. MacDonald.

Displays in the hallways of both schools for the past week reminded pupils of the sacrifice made by soldiers in the past two world wars.

"Drinking of alcoholic beverages constitutes a threat to civic peace. It has a manifest relation to the incidence of crime." Magistrate Orr told the Vancouver Police Commission that 85% of the cases appearing before him in court stem from liquor.

It has been estimated that $85,000,000 annually is the cost of excessive drinking in British Columbia.

It confronts the community with a health problem of first magnitude. There are over 20,000 alcoholics in British Columbia.

One of the first methods used to control and stamp out an illness or disease is to eliminate its place of reproduction. Alcoholism is an illness - a disease. Are we going to control it by opening up a place for our young citizens and older people to become addicted to it?

You say "Controlled drinking - that's the answer." Can you control tuberculosis by opening opportunities for people to be exposed to it? An interesting fact was given by Dr. Victor I. Howery, director of the University of Washington Graduate School as quoted from the Seattle Times with regards to tuberculosis and alcohol: "Tuberculosis is curable, but not when it occurs in alcoholic patients."

The more outlets (places of exposure) the more disease. No medical formula ever will effectively prevent this self-inflicted disease. Drinkers and potential drinkers must be educated to avoid the problem. There is no cure.

Alcoholism is the nation's number 4 public health problem and it is the only one 100% preventable.

We have great campaigning to stamp out disease, but we have some who want to promote this disease - alcohol.

How will it help our citizens You say "By bringing employment." So does a tuberculosis hospital and research - so does our citizens in jail for crimes - so do our mental hospitals. The Pacific Great Eastern railroad says "Liquor is its biggest headache."

Will something that brings a serious hazard to public safety and makes a driver 55 times more likely to have an accident as a non-drinker, add something to West Summerland?

Studies indicate 45 to 50% of all auto accidents are caused by alcohol. Will this help our community? Will something that causes a man to be two times more apt to have an accident on the job add to our community?

Will another liquor outlet raise people's opinion of Summerland? Will a higher crime rate, added intoxicated citizens on the streets, liquor signs, a skid row add to our town? Money that would ordinarily go to the food market, clothing store, gas station, hardware store and the other places where necessities are purchased would be ringing the tills of the local liquor outlet. This is a logical fact.

We have a good, respectable, beautiful, friendly community. The question is "Will another alcohol outlet help our community? Your home? Your family?"

"Mom" Whyte Thinks She Has Found Have In Summerland - Moving In

Summerland, it is, will shortly be invaded by another religious group led by Mrs. Bertha "Mom" Whyte. A group consisting of a number of families, 15 children and 12 adults, the latter parents of the children. This group will, at least for the winter, make its headquarters at the Mountain View Home on Giant's Head, will live as a group and radiate from the Mountain View Home to spread its beliefs.

That is the information that the nationally known Mrs. Bertha "Mom" Whyte who made the headlines in her battle with the Ontario Government over her children's home, now closed at Bowmanville, Ontario, gave to the Provincial Superintendent of Welfare, Miss Ruby McKay at Victoria.

Mrs. Whyte, currently in Summerland, interviewed the Superintendent of Child Welfare at Victoria, but made no application for a license to operate a welfare institution.

Mrs. Whyte is reported to be leaving Saturday to meet her flock in Winnipeg.

Ask Improved Street Lights on Granville

Two years ago the Summerland Board of Trade recommended extension of the present type of light standard to the end of Granville Street. This will be brought to council's attention again with a suggestion that brighter luminaires be installed to make the main street more efficiently and generally brighter.

Occupied with seasonal business Don Randle and J. E. O'Mahoney were appointed to head a get-out-the-vote committee for the municipal elections, Dec 17.

Howard Shannon and Mrs T. M. Croil were elected to convene the annual Christmas lighting contest and the Santa Claus committee is composed of Wm. Fell, Bob Barkwill and Keith Marten.

Nominating committee for the annual meeting in January is the past president, Lloyd Miller, G. C. Johnstone and K. L. Boothe.

Information from Victoria is that the children are all travelling with their parents which takes the matter out of the hands of provincial welfare, insofar as licensing is concerned.

Under B.C. welfare legislation no more than five unrelated children are permitted in one home.

Mrs. Whyte states that her "charges are just visiting for the winter," but she also intimates that she has high hopes of making the new home permanent. She is quoted as saying that "We still have property in Nelson, but no building. This place would be ideal".

Temporary, or not, it appears that, if and when the group of 12 adults and 15 children move into the Mountain View Home that the historic old house will be unable to continue as an Old People's Home under government license.

Mrs. Whyte reported that she knew from the start that she couldn't run a home in B.C. on the lines which she was doing in Ontario. She said she plans summer camps on the property given her at Nelson on which there are no buildings. Before coming here Mrs. Whyte was in Vancouver and Victoria. She saw the deputy minister of health and welfare who told her that he thought there was room in B.C. for her type of operation, she said this morning.

Asked how her staff support themselves and their families, she said they had

Teen Town March of Dimes Day Saturday

Summerland Teen Town holds a tag day for the March of Dimes on Saturday, November 21.

This is the thirteenth year that Children's Hospital has appealed to the people through its annual March of Dimes for needed funds to carry on its work for crippled and sick children. Last year boys and girls from 194 British Columbia towns went to this hospital at 250 West 59th Avenue in Vancouver for care. A total of 2402 patients were treat-

New Tree Fruit Industry Magazine Produced Here

First issue of a new magazine, dedicated to the British Columbia tree fruits industry and called "The British Columbia Orchardist" will be on sale here next week. It is a quality magazine and it is a Summerland product compiled and edited by the Summerland Review Publishing and Printing Co. Ltd. It is, in effect, a new industry for Summerland, the best kind, insofar as it provides additional payroll while deriving its revenue from outside the community. The British Columbia Orchardist is printed on quality stock, has a colored cover and is full of interesting features and articles for the tree fruit grower. The first issue will be distributed to every registered grower free. If you want a souvenir copy of the first issue — order now as the number is limited.

B. of T. Wants Bus Terminal Back in Town

Summerland Board of Trade at last week's meeting voted unanimously to request Council to bring the Greyhound Bus terminal back into the town.

It is contended that the locating of the bus terminal on Highway 97 is creating considerable hardship for older people who use the bus line.

L. L. Trippe raised the subject and found complete support.

The long Greyhound buses, angle parked, on Granville Street were considered a serious hazard and it was to eliminate this that Council favored a new location.

Locating of the bus terminal so far from the town has, however, resulted in many protests and the Women's Institute, the Old Age Pensioners Association and now the Board of Trade have made formal requests for a location in town.

Board of Trade Critical of Merchant Absentees

Concern over failure of a business here and the loss of a substantial payroll was voiced at the November meeting of the Board of Trade and this in turn led to the spotlight being turned on the members present. It was pointed out that there was only one retail merchant present, and only a sprinkling of other businessmen. Out of a membership of 110 there was a total attendance of 18.

General opinion was that businessmen and merchants in particular, should support the Board of Trade. There is no reason, it was contended, that the Retail Merchants could not operate as a committee of the board in dealing with matters relevant to their own affairs but it was felt that the merchants and businessmen should be members of the Board of Trade working, together as a whole for the betterment of the community.

Electric Power Consumption Going Up

Consumption of electricity in Summerland has gone over a million kilowatts a month.

It was reported at last week's council meeting that October reading showed 1,013,280 kilowatts, highest on record.

Reeve F. E. Atkinson remarked that in 1953 the highest consumption was 480,000 kilowatts and that the electrician at that time T. P. Thornber, now residing in Scotland, was looking forward to half a million.

Be A Blood Donor On Friday

Orchard Run

By Wally Smith

Often it has been the boast of the Southern Okanagan that we are "The earliest fruit growing district in Canada." To be strictly honest that should be qualified by the word "sometimes."

The fact is that Southern Ontario growers frequently have their peaches and apples on the market before ours, and if you will take a good look at the map of Canada you can readily understand why.

The 49th parallel of latitude is the boundary between the United States and the western provinces of Canada, but from Manitoba eastward the boundary follows the irregular curve of the Great Lakes.

At the western end of Lake Erie it is so far south that it dips below the 42nd parallel of latitude.

Okanagan residents will find it difficult to believe that this is as far south as the state of California, but actually it is.

The 42nd parallel passes through Point Pelee National park on the Ontario shore of Lake Erie and on westerly through another bulge in the Ontario shoreline.

This same 42nd parallel forms the northern boundary of California, so there you have the lower tip of Canada as far south as the famous golden state.

The 43rd parallel is about 68 miles north of the 42nd and passes through the middle of Ontario's Niagara fruit belt where peaches, grapes, and apples grow in abundance.

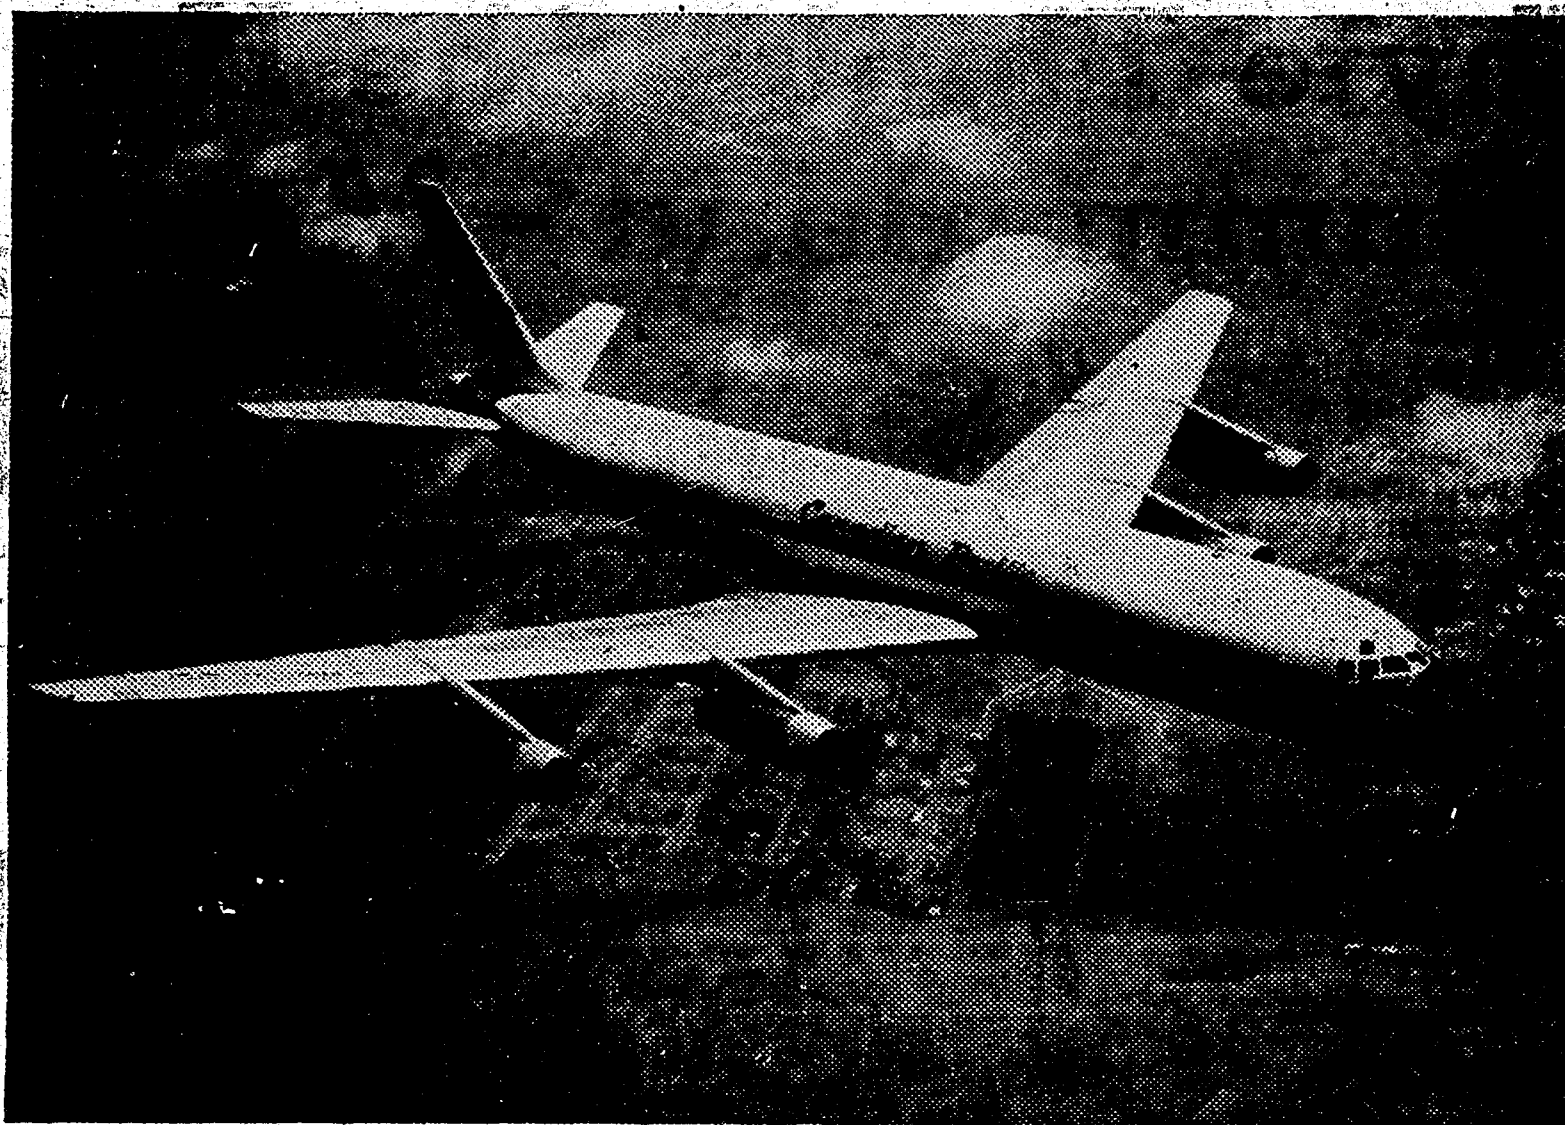

The Niagara fruit belt is approximately 400 miles farther south than the immigration and customs offices at Osoyoos. The climate of Niagara is tempered by the near presence of two large bodies of fresh water, Lake Erie, covering 10,000 square miles. The fruit belt has an altitude of about 650 feet above sea level which is some 650 feet lower than the orchards in Oliver and Osoyoos districts.

All these features combine to make the Niagara peninsula and nearby districts very good for fruit production and early in harvest dates.

And they have been taking advantage of it, for of late years Ontario frequently has been beating us into the prairie market with the first peaches and apples.

Michigan grown Macs also come from that Great Lakes area and they too, have been crowding into the Canadian prairie market. According to a recent bulletin put out by the Canadian Pacific Airlines has ordered four of these Douglas Super DC-8 jet airliners, with options for five more, at a price of $6 million each. The fleet of 159-passenger aircraft will be delivered early in 1961. The Super DC-8, powered by the new Rolls-Royce Conway Mark 15 engines will have a greater capacity and longer range than the DC8, first of the Douglas pure jet commercial airliners. It will fly more than 6,500 miles non-stop. The new jet airliner will fly Vancouver-Winnipeg in less than two hours, Winnipeg to Toronto in 97 minutes and will reduce the Tokyo-Vancouver flying time to eight hours. It will also fly from Vancouver to Europe in eight hours and thirty minutes. In announcing acquisition of the aircraft, G. W. G. McConachie president of CPA said, "This is the jet aircraft-engine combination we have been waiting for to meet the long range performance requirements of CPA's 44,000 mile Canadian trans-continental and global route pattern serving five continents."

PULL UP A CHAIR

Sporting Figures

by Ted Gaskell

The chances of Canadians becoming participants in sport rather than spectators are rapidly diminishing.

Because the trend today isn't only more and more towards spectator or watchmanship but the day is rapidly coming when people will no longer even watch football and baseball games but will simply buy or rent an electronic brain in order to learn the latest statistics.

There was a time in football and other games when only a handful of statistics was important, namely, who beat whom, by how many and who scored, how many and in what league position was which team.

In sport the trend is to figures, figures and more figures.

—Before me as I write is a book, the official record book of the western division of the Canadian football league.

In this book are listed the number of yards rushed, the number of yards lost; yards gained, yards in which the grass is greener; downs, penalties, passes thrown, passes missed, intercepted and made, punts, average distance of punts, number of punts on the river Thames on any given day including Swanupping Tuesday.

It has "Own" fumbles, whatever that means, opposition fumbles, fumbles recovered, fumbles for coffee money.

This isn't sport, its mathematics, designed so that people who didn't like football or had never heard of it until the Vancouver dailies told them, can quote figures to cover up their complete ignorance of the sport. Their motto is, "If you can't play it, count it."

Nobody will be going to games in future, they'll just switch on their electronic statisticizer and feed it little slips of paper and press buttons. There'll be a great grinding of gears and a whirring of works and the brain will reply.

When the B.C. Lions, in 1956 has the record for the most fumbles with 47 who was responsible?

Ans: Jonas Puntovitch.

Was he playing?

Ans: No. But he gave the party the night before.

Who has the record for the most passes between 4 p.m., October 15, 1947 and 11:45 a.m., November '49.

Charlie Touchstone with 138 but this included 75 made at the waitress in the coffee shop, 12 of which were intercepted by the manager. But that didn't affect his record. Or his confidence

What are the statistics of the blonde, third from the end in the front row of the $6 seats?

Campbell-Watson | wed

A granddaughter of a pioneer Summerland family, Jacqueline Margaret Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cecil Watson, West Summerland was a lovely petite bride on Friday evening, November 6, in Summerland United when her marriage took place to Donald William Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Campbell of West Summerland.

Among the guests was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. J. Blewett, who with her husband, the late J. J. Blewett, settled in Peach Orchard in the early days of this community.

Rev. P. K. Louie conducted the service at 7:30 in the evening.

Flicker of candlelight fell on chrysanthemums in bronze and yellow autumn colors used as decorations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was charmingly gowned in white nylon net with bouffant waltz length skirt appliqued with lace. The lace bodice had long lily point sleeves. A pearl tiara head-dress held the chapel length nylon net veil. The bridal bouquet was red rosebuds with maidenhair fern. She wore cultured pearl drop earrings, the gift of the groom and a tiny gold heirloom locket belonging to the groom's mother.

Three attendants, the bride's sister, Miss Anita Watson, maid of honor, another sister, Miss Dorothy Watson and Miss Patricia Menu, as bridesmaids were gowned similarly in apricot nylon chiffon, ballerina length, with rhinestone tiaras, elbow length gloves and shoes matching their frocks.

They wore rhinestone necklaces and earrings, gifts of the bride, and their bouquets were cascaded arrangements of white and blue tinted carnations with fern.

Kenneth Bissett was the best man. Ushers were the bride's cousin, Victor Blewett and Earle Smith.

Mrs. Delmar Dunham was organist for the service and Mrs. B. Greene sang "A Wedding Prayer".

At the reception in the United Church Hall the bride's mother received wearing a champagne nylon chiffon sheath dress with matching bolero, blue sequined small hat and blue accessories. Her corsage was of talisman roses. Mrs. Campbell, the groom's mother, was gowned in embossed turquoise and silver taffeta with feather hat to match and wore pale pink roses.

The bridal party received in front of a lattice of green leaves and mums arranged by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Blewett, and Mrs. Jack Dunsdon. A four-tiered wedding cake on a lace cloth with yellow tapers was surrounded by silver leaves entwined with flowers in a pretty table setting done by Mrs. John Tamblyn.

Allan Mather of Penticton proposed a toast to the bride and Colin McGillvray of Penticton gave the toast to the attendants.

For motoring to Spokane the bride wore a smart blue wool sheath dress with beige feather hat and accessories to match topped with a brown fur coat. On their return they will reside in Penticton. The groom is a member of the West Summerland staff of the Bank of Montreal.

Among out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Vass, Mrs. Betty Smith and daughter of Penticton; Mrs. E. G. McAndless, aunt of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Mather, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carse, Colin McGillvray and Nora, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Parmley, Mr. and Mrs. B. Skelton, Mr. and Mrs. C. Couzens, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Riley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Partington, "Bud" Watson, Willis White, Ed Watson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Erant, Miss Charlotte Partridge, Miss Margaret Wise man, Miss Joan Lockard, Miss Ruth Loiz, Miss Irene Tycholaz all of Penticton;

Summerland Hosts To Past Matrons

Mrs. Florence Stark of Summerland was installed as president for the ensuing year of the International Club of past matrons and past patrons of the Order of the Eastern Star following the luncheon held in the Masonic Hall, West Summerland on Friday.

A gracious welcome was extended to the 70 guests by Mrs. A. R. Dunsdon and the president, Mrs. F. Bushman of Okanagan, Washington, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Jack Dunsdon asked the blessing prior to the turkey luncheon convened by Mrs. J. P. Sheeley assisted by Summerland OES members.

During the afternoon meeting a trio comprised of Mrs. K. L. Boothe, Mrs. G. A. Laidlaw and Mrs. George Clark sang with Mrs. Delmar Dunham, pianist.

Fifty Guiders Attend Semi-Annual Meeting

"Pass the hat" turned into a charming gesture as it was done at the semi-annual Guiders' meeting held in Summerland's Youth Centre Monday.

A brand new tam hat was presented to district commissioner, Mrs. Nora Kopp of Peachland by Mrs. Ross McLachlan, president of Summerland LA to replace one that first belonged to former division commissioner, Mrs. F. V. Harrison of Summerland.

It has been passed on from commissioner to commissioner, growing a bit worn through the years. At the time Mrs. McLachlan read an original poem aptly fitted to the purpose, several lines being, "A Guider's hat that's made the rounds and now is getting old . . . I want to replace". The new hat was a gift from Peachland and Summerland LA.

Mrs. Bruce Blagborne of Summerland, division commissioner, was chairman for the sessions, morning and afternoon. Mrs. W. H. Durick, division secretary treasurer, recorded events. Fifty Guiders attended from Peachland, Naramata, Penticton, Keremeos, Cawston, and Summerland, leaders of approximately 450 Guides and Brownies.

Training sessions in the morning were conducted by Mrs. Ritchard Cawood of Keremeos, camp advisor; Mrs. Edward Touzea, Penticton, district Guide captain; Mrs. A. Paterson, of Penticton, Brown Owl and Brownie trainer; Mrs. B. Blagborne, division commissioner, spoke to LA representatives and Mrs. W. H. Durick addressed badge secretaries.

Each Guider brought her own lunch and at noon LA delegates went to the home of Mrs. Ross McLachlan, Summerland LA president; blue Guiders to the residence of Mrs. Leighton Lopatecki in Trout Creek; and brown Guiders to Mrs. W. G. Evans at the lower town where tea was provided in each case.

Warranted as Guiders during the afternoon were Mrs. E. H. Cotton, Mrs. Douglas Noel, Mrs. T. A. Stevenson, all of Penticton; and Mrs. C. S. Clarke and Mrs. John Wick of Princeton.

In the afternoon reports were heard and there was discussion on various business matters.

Mrs. Blagborne announced that on Thursday of this week final papers are being signed for the Okanagan Lake Guide campsite. There is still money to be paid and each centre's 1960 allocation was announced. The total sum is $892. This is obtained from the January 1959 Guide and Brownie census at $2 for each girl.

A new headquarters building is hoped for in Toronto and suggestion has been that payment of ten cents

Penticton Lakers Win Softball Tournament

The Penticton Lakers walked away with most of the honors last week end by winning the Summerland Invitational Basketball Tournament here. They won the trophy by beating the Kamloops Gremlins in the final game 56 to 51. Richard Skirmer led the Lakers with his fine rebounding and tip-ins. He and Larry Hale were both chosen for the all star team.

Other all star awards went to Brian Rattrey (Oliver), Jack Buckham (Kamloops), and George Henly of Summerland. Salmon Arm was selected as the most sportsmanlike team.

The Summerland Rockets were not so successful, placing fourth in the tourney. They swamped Vernon 72-12 but lost two down to the wire contests with Kamloops Gremlins (42-41) and Oliver Hornets (41-38). The Rockets, from their showing last week end, will be a strong threat to anyone in the Valley this year. All-star George Henly was outstanding for the locals, as was freshman centre, Dick Dunsdon, who in spite of his lack of experience did some remarkably good rebounding.

Christmas Concert Set For December 11

The annual band concert is to be held December 11 in the High School Auditorium. Featured are the junior band under the direction of Ken Storey and the senior band under the direction of Bud Steuart. The junior choir and the senior choir will also participate.

The date of December 4 has been set for a special afternoon performance by the drama club and the drama class. Two one act plays "The Emperor's Nightingale" and "The Courting of Marie Jnevrin" will be performed by the student body.

Curling Club Seeks Members

John Lott was elected as president and Judy McGilvary secretary treasurer at the first meeting of the high school curling club held two weeks ago.

Mr. Gatley and Sandy Munn were on hand Saturday morning at the curling rink when the activities of the club got underway. All of the young curlers present profited from the willing instruction given by Mr. Gatley and Mr. Munn.

The senior curling club has kindly donated three sheets of ice to the high school club on Saturday mornings. Since only eleven students were on hand, no real games could be played but it is hoped that more students will turn out next Saturday.

There is always room for more interested people and any students in grades nine to twelve who think they would enjoy curling are welcome.

Teachers Highlight School Pep Rally

A hilarious skit put on by a few male members of the teaching staff was the highlight of the Pep Rally staged on Friday in the gymnasium.

The newly formed Pep Band, under the direction of Lynne Boothe played a few rousing marches that helped to create enthusiasm among the students, as did the cheerleaders with their new and original cheers.

To the melodious strains of "This Old Man" sung by the quartet composed of Mr. Minchin, Mr. Tamblyn, Mr. Makse and Mr. Gatley and their accompanist, light fingered Storey, the members of the senior boys basketball team were introduced

The following clubs do not need a budget: Library club, glee club, future teachers club.

Concrete Brick Offers Wide Choice of Colors

Most building materials offer a limited choice of color for exterior walls.

A notable exception is concrete brick, which possesses a color flexibility wide enough to challenge the imagination of any home planner or builder.

Here is the perfect answer to the complaint often heard by subdivision planners that all buildings look alike in a new urban development. By using concrete brick, builders can choose a basic color from more than 100, then accent it with one or more contrasting colors.

Every house can be different in color and exterior wall pattern, yet all will blend through use of a common building material.

Deep rich reds shade through to a delicate pink; chocolate browns to a light sand; greens from olive to sea green; attractive greys and charcoals, all are available, as well as more exotic shades such as orchid.

A new contender is a concrete brick using a slag aggregate, which is gaining wide acceptance since its introduction about three years ago. Colors generally tend to be more intense and alive when slag is substituted for sand.

Three lengths have been established — regular 8-inch, 12 inch and 16 inch. The 12 inch, which were the last to be introduced, have become very popular with builders because of the ease and speed with which they can be laid up in a wall, and their attractive appearance in several patterns.

Concrete brick also combine well with other building materials.

Michigan State Apple Commission, Michigan sold about 250,000 bushels of apples in Winnipeg last year, nearly all Macs. They expect to sell at least half a million bushels from the 1959 crop.

Two of the reasons Ontario and Michigan have been expanding business in the Canadian prairies is because they have been selling at prices lower than Okanagan quotations and because they got there before we did.

It looks as though the only way for the Okanagan to get a bigger share of this prairie apple market is to produce a bigger tonnage of Macs at the earliest possible date in the season.

Osoyoos and Oliver are usually a week to 10 days ahead of harvest dates in the Kelowna districts where the bulk of Macs are presently grown, so it would seem Oliver and Osoyoos are the logical districts to produce Mac apples early enough to meet competition from Michigan and Ontario.

I know this kind of talk sounds like the rankest heresy and is contrary to the advice horticulturists and industry officials have been giving for years. We have been warned to keep away from Macs; to plant Wine-sap and Red Delicious. However, conditions are changing and changed conditions have to be met by a change in policy.

Right now our competitors in eastern parts have the jump on us in the early part of the Mac apple season. There is a possibility we can meet that competition by more Mac production from Oliver and Osoyoos.

One difficulty may be that of getting sufficient color on the fruit. We have been told lack of color is

WI Plans For Anniversary

Plans for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Summerland Women's Institute were finalized at the regular meeting Friday afternoon at the Anglican parish hall. An "at-home tea" will be held on Friday, November 20 from 3 to 5 at the parish hall. All members, former members and friends are invited to attend.

The president, Mrs. A. A. Fenwick was in the chair to conduct the business meeting.

Motion was made to pay the balance on the desk which was presented to the Summerland library as the project of jubilee year.

Plans were made to serve to the Old Age Pensioners Association following their meeting. Mr. Jack Kirk showed slides of Mexico to complete the afternoon.

Mrs. H. C. Whitaker was named convener of the nominating committee to bring in the slate of officers to the December meeting.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Gordon Ritchie gave a very interesting report of the ACWW conference held in Edinburgh in August. Mrs. Ritchie gave her impressions of the meeting and reported on the work accomplished. Mrs. H. R. McLarty thanked the speaker for her concise, comprehensive account which was enjoyed by all.

The annual meeting will be held December 11 when yearly reports are made, memberships paid and the executive named for the new year.

Christmas Seals Now In The Mail

The 1959 Christmas Seal Campaign is under way. Over 300,000 B.C. homes will receive their Christmas Seals, by mail, during the next few weeks.

The Rev. R. S. McDonald the minister of Hastings United Church, and the volunteer treasurer of the B. C. Tuberculosis Society thinks this year's Christmas Seal is the best in the 51 year history of this Society. Certainly there could be no more appropriate seal for Christmas than this one depicting the nativity scene. I am biased of course, but

The money raised through the annual sale of Christmas Seals is used in the B.C. Tuberculosis Society's tuberculosis prevention programs. Vancouver East citizens have seen at first hand one of the many projects made possible by Christmas Seals in recent weeks. Operation Door-Step a mass TB survey in the Grand View Mount Pleasant district has provided over ten thousand residents with a free TB test and chest X-ray. Dr. C. C. MacLean, the physician in charge of the project reports "at least 10 new cases of TB have been discovered as well as a number of other chest conditions."

"We are an undenominational missionary group" she said. "We make no public appeals."

The children will be educated as a private school group. Two staff members have Ontario certification. One is a qualified kindergarten teacher and another has a B.A. Ages of the children are from one year to twelve.

Dr. D. A. Clarke medical director of the south Okanagan health unit, has no knowledge of the mission to date. He said if a residential mission were established he would be interested in the health conditions.

Municipal Assoc. Meets Here Thursday

Okanagan Valley Municipal Association will meet in the IOOF Hall, West Summerland, Thursday. Summerland and Peachland are joint hosts. Reeve Ivo Jackson of Peachland will welcome guests and Reeve F. E. Atkinson will be the chairman for the luncheon preceding the meeting.

Red Cross Blood Drive Well Over Top Here

Summerland went over the top in a big way in the Red Cross blood drive, Summerlanders donating 328 pints of blood, 20 per cent more than last year. And Kiwanis blood donor drive chairman Nick Solly, proudly reports there were 70 new donors this year.

Chairman Solly expressed his sincere thanks to all the donors, new and old and to all the workers, the Kiwanians who conducted the telephone canvass and to the many ladies who helped at the clinic, and to those who provided transportation.

"A thing like this requires a lot of effort on the part of a lot of people," says Mr Solly, "And here in Summerland, that help was forthcoming and so, on behalf of the Kiwanis, the Red Cross and particularly of all those who will benefit from the gift of blood, I say a heartfelt 'thank you'."

By Freda Storey

Regency Oxford, Paris after Waterloo, the Italian lakes as Bryon and Shelley knew them, these are the varied and colorful settings to the lively action in Geoffrey Trease's new novel, "So Wild the Heart," just one of the many new books which arrived in the Summerland library this week.

"Our Man in Havana" by Grahame Greene is another. This is a melodrama with undercurrents, and provides the first full length entertainment Grahame Greene has written since "The Ministry of Fear" in 1941.

"Best American Short Stories of 1959" and "Love and Death", by Vardis Fisher, may please those readers who like their literature in small doses, whilst Thomas Costain's, "The Tontine", in two volumes may help to satisfy those who prefer a good long story.

There is one masterly first novel by a young Scotman, Troy Kennedy Martin. "Beat on a Damask Drum" is the title, and here the author sets out to show in the most dramatic contemporary terms, the old truth that all any of us can hope to hear of lasting significance must come from within ourselves. Joey Castle, a young woman on the brink of stardom, flies from a film location in Singapore to war-time Hanoi, in a desperate effort to find Adam Canning, the man who holds the key to her faith in herself. Her journey takes her into the interior of Indo-China. Dien Bien Phu has fallen, European power in the Far East is in eclipse, and she becomes isolated in an alien world. Her involvement with a new Adam, with the four strange men who surround him, and with Breveton, a man who has a quest which cuts across her own, sets a pattern for a struggle which can only be resolved through disaster.

Among the non-fiction of which there were six new publications, we have "Atlantic Anthology" by Bird, which was reviewed on the radio recently, and "A Passage to England" by Chaudhuri. Two older publications which are well worth reading, or re-reading are "Seven Years in Tibet" by Harner, and "Nautilus Ninety North", by Commander William R. Anderson.

For our younger readers we have a number of teenage novels, including some science fiction, mysteries, and horse stories.

Altogether between thirty and forty new publications and over a hundred older books have been added to our shelves this week.

The Lights Are Going Out

Summerland Board of Trade, at its November meeting, decided to ask the Corporation for better lighting on Granville Street.

"It looks pretty gloomy right now", was one comment.

But why does it look gloomy — because one by one the bright colorful neon signs, which serve so well to advertise a community's main street, are coming down.

Unfortunately, the white glare of municipal lighting, no matter how improved, no matter if a person with 10-10 vision could read the small type of a newspaper under them, could not compensate for the cheerful, prosperous look that colorful neon signs give to a community's business area.

This matter of the lights on the community's main street is, or should be, of serious concern to the merchants and business men. We don't profess to know the answer, but, perhaps, some form of co-operative endeavor could be worked out, perhaps in conjunction with the Corporation, for it would be far better for the Municipal Council to put its money, say by free power, into Neon lights than to spend money on stepping up the street lighting. It is the color, the flash, that is needed to keep our main business street attractive after dark.

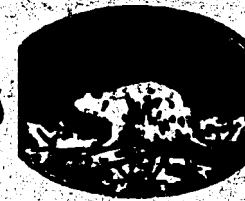

At the same Board of Trade meeting at which the street lighting was discussed it was also pointed out that Summerland has recently lost an important business and a substantial payroll, but the Board failed to follow through on this discussion. Perhaps it is this weakness of the Board of Trade which accounts, at least in part, for the lack of interest among the businessmen, particularly the retail merchants of the community who are with the very few exceptions conspicuous by their absence from all meetings of the Board. Mind you we're not excusing the absentees — staying away will never correct a situation. On the other hand the Summerland Board of Trade does not invite support by its policy of pussyfooting on controversial issues.

It seems that vigorous airing of opinion is considered bad taste and threatening to goodwill and harmony within the Board, but as Philip Wyllie wrote in his introduction to his reprint of "Generation of Vipers", "A little thought will show that no improvement can be made in any object or idea until a criticism has first been made. If there is no criticism, if no fault is found, the object or idea will be regarded as perfect, or as not subject to favorable alteration; its status quo will thus be assured automatically."

It is good that the Board plans for its annual Santa Claus, for its Christmas Lighting Contest, for beautification. It is good for the Board to concern itself with traffic problems and speed zones. It is good for the Board of Trade to run a "get out the vote" campaign. All these things are good and proper matters for consideration and action by the Board of Trade, but it still remains that a Board of Trade should be primarily concerned with the economic well-being of the community and any subject that concerns that economic well-being should be thoroughly discussed regardless of whether or not the subject is distasteful to some of the membership. Summerland's economy sadly needs a shot in the arm, perhaps more so this winter than at any time in its history. That is the challenge facing the Board of Trade.

For Beating, Not Eating

By Ted Gaskell

This is the end, the ultimate in gracious living, I'm sure.

I've seen doors which open when one approaches.

I've heard of garage doors which open when a signal is tooted on a horn.

But I never thought I'd live to see the day when the inventors brought out a phosphorescent rug which shines in the dark so that one can go to the bathroom without switching on the lights. But they have, according to the Sun.

And added to which there is also a rug which is edible and can be eaten by dogs and babies without harmful effects.

This rug, which illuminates the way to the bathroom, (no doubt to be advertised as a toilet aid, as the cosmetic ads say) isn't that a bit too much?

I mean, if the need is pressing enough, surely one can press a switch. Personally, if I get up in the middle of the night I am in such a stupor that if I see car headlights, I think it's the end of the world. Goodness knows what I'd think if I got up and saw the hall way floor alight.

If inventiveness can be carried to that extreme why not a small track-mounted cart from front door to bedroom so that when one rolls in, slightly incapacitated at four in the morning, one falls into the cart, trips a switch and the thing runs along the track to the edge of the bed and comes to a halt with a jolt which tips the reveller out of the cart and into bed?

And now to edible rugs. Personally I don't think people should have children or even dogs if they can't afford to feed them properly. And anyway the idea isn't practical.

With the rugs we have nowadays, one can paint or varnish the living room floor to a line just under the carpet and everything looks right.

But with an edible rug?

The baby wakes up hungry and mother is busy ironing or telephoning or something. She simply dumps the child on the living room floor and says, "There, have a Persian sandwich."

And what happens? Before you know it you're having to paint or varnish the whole of the living room floor because baby has eaten its way past the line, formerly hidden by the rug.

And the dog? No more will the dog be a household pet. It might make itself sick gnawing its way from one corner of the best Numdah to the other.

In future the dog's place will be in the basement with a dishful of Axminster leftovers.

And how does one clean these edible rugs?

You can't brush them, the place would be full of crumbs. You can't wash or shampoo them, the furniture would be spotted with gravy stains. And when you hung them over the clothes line to beat them you'd be worn out keeping the seagulls off them.

No. As Kipling might have said Rugs is rugs and mats is mats. And neither were meant to be et.

Christening

Nine children were christened during the morning worship service on Sunday, in Summerland United Church, Rev. Philip K. Louie officiating.

The junior choir of thirty girls, who sing at one service each month under the direction of Mrs. L. Fudge, led in the singing and presented the anthem, "Little Boy Jesus and I" and sang the baptismal hymn.

The children christened were Kathryn Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Taylor; Dean Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Chalmers; Bonnie Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Attend Wedding Anniversary In Calif.

A silver wedding anniversary "Danish Style" was a hi-light of their two week trip to California when Mr and Mrs. J. Biollo visited at the home of Mrs. Biollo's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Nelson in Watsonville.

The principals in the anniversary celebration October 24 were Mrs. Biollo's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Nelson. Festivities began at 5 o'clock in the morning when about 40 friends of the couple gathered to serenade them and were invited in for breakfast. Later about 140 guests assembled in a gaily decorated hall for a Danish smorgasbord supper and an evening of dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Biollo also visited for a few days at the homes of the latter's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Jacobsen in Bakersfield and Mr. and Mrs. Elton Nelson, Pixley, California.

The November meeting of the Women's Federation of Summerland United Church was opened by the singing of "The Lord is My Shepherd", the favorite hymn of our missionary prayer partner, Miss Elsie Bumer of Ndola, Northern Rhodesia.

President Mrs. A. J. Dundon then led in prayer.

During the business meeting Mrs. W. Ward reported two letters of thanks received for gifts sent to the Ahouse B.C. Indian Mission and to Korea. Also that a fifteen pound parcel of clothing for the children's orphanage at Seoul, Korea was ready to send and enough money was on hand for postage.

The president announced a request had come from Central City Mission in Vancouver for warm used clothing and shoes for men. A box will be placed in the church hall where donations may be put.

Federation members are asked to donate home cooking, especially pies, for the WA bazaar to be held in the church hall Saturday.

Mrs. Wallace Boothe led the devotional in which the hymns and Bible readings used were those from the wedding ceremony of the prayer partner, Miss Elsie Bumer who married Jeffrey Miller at Ndola, N. Rhodesia on October 20. Three short Bible readings were given by Mrs. A. J. Dundon, Mrs. Rex Chapman and Mrs. A. S. Fleming.

The prayer and benediction was given by Mrs. O. J. Lazenby. Mrs. Boothe told of the life and training of Miss Elsie Bumer in preparation for her work as a missionay, which she will carry on, unofficially after returning from a month's honeymoon in Durban. At the wedding service, hymns and a number sung by the choir were sung in two native languages as well as in English. For our meeting the choir number was sung as a solo by Mrs. K. Boothe.

After the devotional, the motion picture "I'll Sing, Not Cry", made at one of the mission stations in N. Rhodesia was shown to the members and their guests, twelve members of the Mission Band. The singing of the natives in this picture was especially enjoyed.

Tea was served by Mrs.

J. Clark, Mrs. H. Mair and Mrs. W. Ward. Members were greeted on arrival by Mrs. W. Hemingway.

Rockets Defeat Oliver In Fast - Moving Game

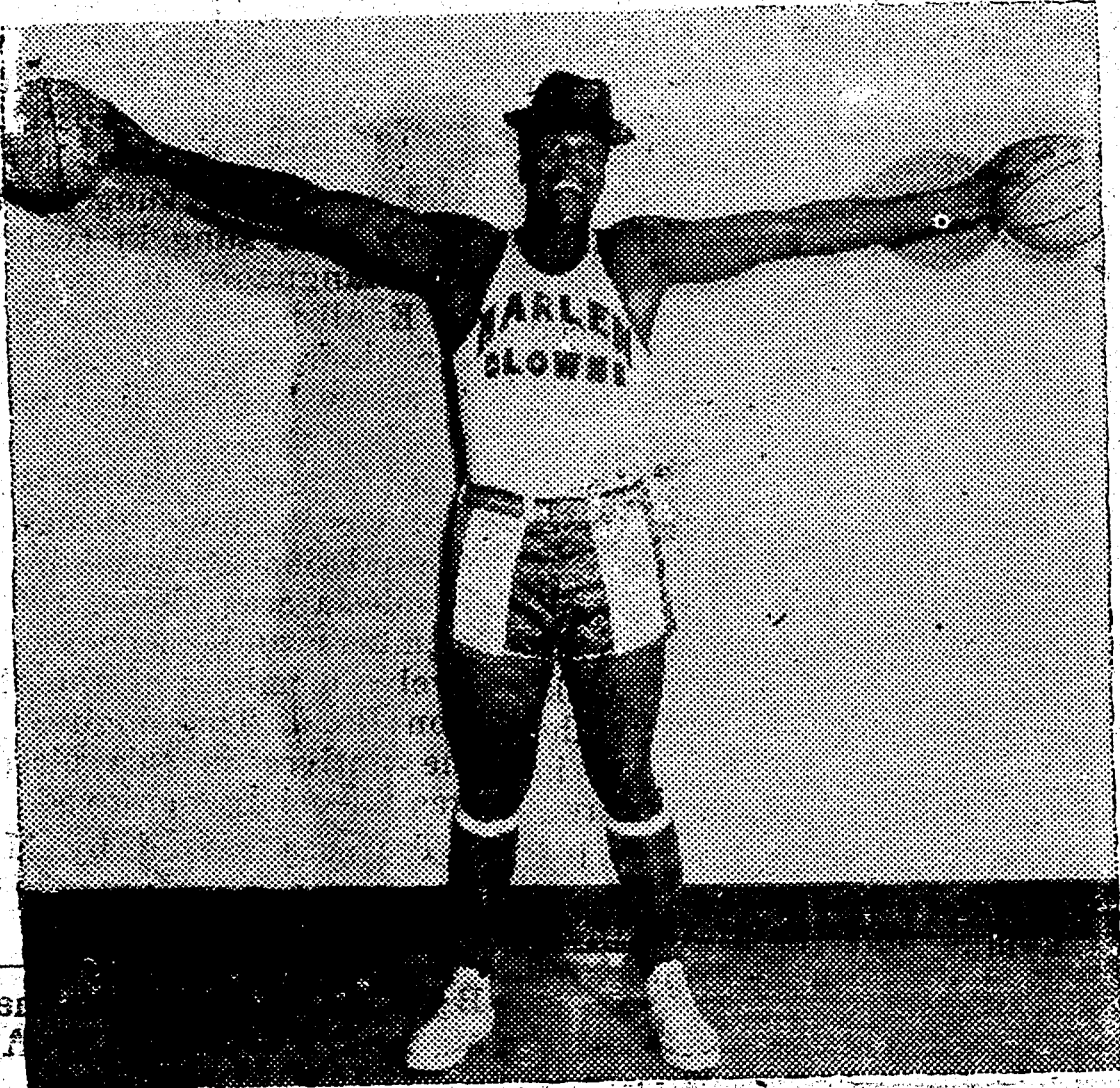

The fast moving combination of Frank Carey and George Henley led Summerland Rockets to their first league victory last Friday. They edged the home team, Oliver, 54 to 47. It was a close contest right up to the 4th quarter when Summerland took the lead and never looked back. Puddy's protoges were adequate on defensive but sparkled on defensive. Playing a tight zone formation they kept Oliver a safe distance from the basket.

The senior girls were not so successful however, losing to Oliver. The Oliver girls got away to a fast start and the game Rockettes were never able to overtake them.

The Senior B boys also lost their game against Oliver 26 to 20.

The zone system has been changed. The Senior girls and Senior B boys leagues are represented by Oliver, Penticton, Similkameen and Summerland in the south of a three zone set-up.

In the Senior A boys league Summerland Rockets oppose Penticton Lakers, Oliver Hornet's, Similkameen's Sparks and Kelowna Golden Owls in the south of a two zone split of valley schools.

Bob Woods, veteran comic star of the Harlem Clowns will lead the famed Negro team when they play here in Summerland tonight (Wednesday). Big Bob is recognized as one of the best comics in this type of basketball. The Clowns never fail to put on a hilarious show, which they enjoy just as much as the spectators. The players range from 6' to 6'9", and are always ready to put on a professional show to be enjoyed by all.

Boys' "Sock" Remarks Shocking

When the boys of SHS were asked for opinions on the knee-length stockings seen on a number of girls this season, their replies were extremely discouraging. "In summer they look phoney, but in winter they are practical", was the comment of Leigh Trafford. "They are ungainly, unsightly and atrocious. The colors approach the ridiculous stage. If the weaker sex must proceed to wear these sickly stockings, why can't they wear some conservative colors instead of bright blues, Elvis Presley pinks and fluorescent reds" Larry Freeman.

One boy even thinks that they look like the "garter broke on someone's long johns." Another stated that they were "OK" if the girls wanted to cover their varicose veins.

"The color schemes are a mess, but I guess they keep the knees warm," stated one male student.

One disillusioned male even stated that, "Girls legs are bad enough without emphasizing them with gaudy colored stockings."

EDITORIAL Short-Comings

STUDENTS?

Today's teen-agers are lacking sadly in aspects of life. Some of us are more guilty than others in this respect but no one is completely innocent.

This modern generation of teen-agers is pampered, spoiled and lazy. For example, Junior has to go to basketball practice. His mom drives him to the gym which is half a mile away — the poor boy would ruin his legs if he had to walk all the way. Most of us don't know what hard work is. Generally speaking, we're all becoming softies.

Wasting time seems to be the chief aim of many young people. Mischief and trouble result from idling on street corners. Gangs which give all teen-agers a bad name are another result.

Absence of manners and immature behaviour are inexcusable. One of the most frequent offences occurs as soon as the teacher leaves the room. Immediately, bedlam breaks loose. Let's grow up and not act like eight year olds

Lack of respect for authority whether parents, teachers, policemen, or our elders, is one of our greatest shortcomings. The way we talk back to our parents is atrocious. When parents object to certain undertakings, we label them as "old fashioned", some of us have the gall to tell them so. Let's grow up and not act like barbarians.

Some of you may think I have a screw loose somewhere. Maybe I have? But come on kids, admit it — there is plenty of room for improvement.

PARENTS?

Parents are the most unreasonable type of people I have ever known. Since they are quite unable to understand their offspring, their decisions are very one-sided. When we teen-agers point this out, they reply with the familiar, "When I was young I —", line. They seem to think this statement will excuse them from any poor decisions they have made.

They expect us to live as they did many years ago, failing to realize that this is now 1959, not 20 or 30 years ago. Thus, parents live in the past, refusing to open their eyes to a changed world.

The often-asked question of "Why can't I have a car?" is heard in many homes. To this controversial question, parents have many ridiculous answers, none of them being sound. The discouraging part is that we must accept their reasons as sound ones, whether they are or not.

It is unfortunate parents cannot be more reasonable or understanding towards their children. Some may argue though (probably the parents) that it is children who are unreasonable — but this is very improbable.

13 Brownies Become Guides On Wed.

In a traditional ceremony at the Youth Centre last Wednesday evening, thirteen Brownies became Guides. Eleven, who had grown Golden Wings through having passed the required Golden Hand test before the age of eleven, and having spent at least two years in the pack, "flew up" and two who were entitled to Golden Shoes "walked up".

Leaving the shelter of warm igloo nests, Brownies stole out into the icy polar night, running to awaken their leaders and fellow Brownies. Circling their Toad Stool, they were farewelled by their mates in song. Then, under the direction of District Captain, Mrs. Gwen Whittaker, they put on wings and shoes and left the Fairy Ring to go out for service into the Wide World of Guiding. At the gateway to the later, they were challenged by a Patrol leader and on being accepted, were taken to the Guide Captain Enid Maynard and then introduced into the Guide Horseshoe.

Brownies flying-up were Joan Dunsdon, Wendy Kaatz, Helen Liebert, Margaret McCuaig, Betty McInnis, Sharon McIntosh, Patsy Ryman, Janice Solvey, Trudy Schwab, Janet Tamblin, and Susan Wilson. Wearing Golden Shoes were Catherine Davies and Jane McGillvray.

Boy Scout Assoc. Meets in Penticton

The annual meeting of the Okanagan South Boy Scouts Association was held in the United Church Hall in Penticton on Monday night, November 16. Officers elected were H. R. McLarty, president; Dr. W. A. McIver, vice president; Harley Hatfield, secretary; T. McDermid, treasurer and A. F. Cumming, auditor.

District Commissioner, J. Laidlaw; assistant district commissioner G. Russel; district scoutmaster, G. Blewett; Act. Dist. Cub Master Dr. J. M. McArthur.

The district scout population is 360 Wolf Cubs, 210 Boy Scouts, 70 Scouters.

After the business session slides and movies were shown illustrating the activities of the boys in their various camps last summer. One of the favored camping spots was that developed by the 1st Summerland troop near Falder. Several troops and packs have held short camps there and all reported it to be one of the best.

This camp is made available to other troops and packs in the district through the courtesy of the 1st Summerland group committee, Dr. D. Fisher, chairman.

Promenade

A very successful party was held in the Youth Centre on Saturday. About 5 squares of dancers enjoyed a very well arranged program.

The workshop of the Okanagan Square Dance Association held November 22 was very well attended and two new dances were shown. Siesta in Sevilla and First Love. These dances will be taught in this area during December and January. The next workshop will be held January 24 at the Youth Centre at 3 p.m., Kelowna Wagon Wheelers in charge.

The Totem Twirlers of Peachland will be hosts to square dancers this Saturday with Ray Fredrickson as emcee.

In Oliver, French's Twirlers are sponsoring a dance for the March of Dimes. Bill French will emcee and many interesting callers are featured on the program. Shillelagh Shannon, popular radio announcer, will also be featured on the program. This sounds like a very entertaining and worthwhile effort.

The Fish and Game Club held a very poorly attended meeting on Friday evening. With the club now having a membership of eighty-five, it is unfortunate that there should be such a poor turn out. Surely a club that is worth joining is worth supporting, and it is not good policy for a few enthusiastic members to have to take the responsibility of formulating plans and programmes in any club. So, hunters and fishermen of the district, be sure to turn out to the next meeting of your club.

A news bulletin from the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game clubs was read concerning the military ammunition now being offered for sale. In part the bulletin states: "Although the use of altered ammunition is legal, there is a real danger connected with the use of altered shells. If too much of the tip is filed off the soft lead core may leave the barrel while the jacket of the bullet may be left in the bore of the rifle. When another shot is fired, the bullet will strike the obstruction. This could cause the barrel to split and might result in serious injury to the shooter. Game regulations make it illegal to use altered ammunition as issued by the army in hunting because such bullets do not expand or mushroom correctly upon impact with game animals. In addition to the danger involved when using altered army ammunition, it should be remembered that the bullets are not as effective as sporting ammunition in killing game. Animals may be wounded, escape the hunter and be left to die of their wounds. This is not good conservation".

A resolution to be presented to the next Fish and Game convention was passed by the meeting, requesting that the doe season be opened for one week only at the beginning of the season, and if such a season would not be practical, then the season on does be closed altogether.

It was decided to hold a turkey shoot at the Trap Club on Boxing Day, with competitions in trap shooting and .22 rifles. Further details will be arranged at a later meeting.

How to Winter Bees

Successful wintering of bees, says the Agriculture Division of the Canada Department of Agriculture, hinges on three important factors: strength of the colonies, an abundance of good stores, and protection from the cold.

To be strong, a colony must have a queen not older than one year which has been laying satisfactorily during the latter part of August and September. Such colonies will have a well balanced population of young and old bees to go into winter quarters.

Weak colonies should be united with colonies of medium strength early in the fall so that the bees of each can mingle and arrange their winter brood nest.

At least 60 pounds of stores are required for double-story colonies and of this amount, about 50 pounds must be in the upper hive body. In the fall, well ripened clover or buckwheat honey should be placed in the hives for the colonies. Fall honey or honeydew is unsafe for winter feed.

A few spare queens should be wintered over, and this can be done by placing a thin division board in a standard hive body.

Unless a ventilated cellar is available, it is safer to winter bees outdoors. Best temperature for bees in a cellar is about 35 degrees.

Bees should be moved into the cellar after the last good cleansing flight in the late fall.

For outside wintering, colonies may be packed singly, as doubles or four colonies in a row. When more than one is placed together there is some conservation of heat as each colony is protected on at least one side by another. There is also conservation of packing material, but there is the disadvantage in multiple wintering that the bees drift from one colony to another in the early spring, leaving one or more of the colonies weak.

Tar paper or building paper is the most economical type of outer protection. Tar paper should be cut into the required lengths for one, two or four colonies well in advance.

An ideal apiary site will have protection on the north and west sides, will not be shaded in the summer or winter and will have good air drainage.

Drawn combs are valuable and should be protected during the winter from the ravages of mice. A good plan is to place the combs in supers and then tier the supers one above the other with an inverted hive cover beneath the tier and one on top. There should be no open spaces left where mice can get in.

Queen excluders may be used instead of hive covers. To protect from wax moth, combs should be stored in a cold place. If they are already present, fumigate with carbon bisulphide — a highly inflammable chemical.

No Fairy Godmothers Need Apply For Job

Everyone has his own special dream — a place in the country, a trip back home, college for the boy. But for many people it's just plain hopeless.

But there's no magic involved to make your particular dream come true. You don't need a fairy godmother to do it — just a little determination.

Simply plan to set aside part of your income in a Bank of Montreal savings account. Do it regularly, and watch the balance grow. Watch the B of M's two and three-quarters per cent interest help swell the amount too.

Regularity is the secret, as hundreds of thousands of the B of M's more than two million customers know. They save as much as they can spare each pay-day, and their dreams are turning into reality.

Ask Earl Smith, accountant at the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal about it. He'll show you how easy it is — and how profitable — to open a savings account. See him soon!
