

Three accidents in three days

Three accidents in three days occurred near West Summerland and district recently.

On July 1 about 2:45 p.m. a 1959 Mercedes Benz driven by Allen Brown of Kamloops was in collision with a 1947 Buick driven by Arnold Haakerson of Vancouver. The accident occurred on the Antlers Hill near Peachland. The two cars were damaged to an extent of $175. Mr. Haakerson was charged with driving without due care and attention.

On July 2 at 8:30 p.m. about 6 miles north of Summerland on Highway 97 a 1953 Chev driven by Roland Craft of Peachland went out of control and rolled causing injury to four passengers. Three were hospitalized. Total damage to the vehicle was $500.

On July 3 at 4 p.m. near the entrance to the government picnic site a 1955 Chev driven by Yoshio Tamaki of Vancouver collided with a 1955 Studebaker driven by James Oakes of Peachland. There were no injuries but damage amounted to about $300. RCMP are investigating.

Under the Giants head

How many ball fans have turned out to watch the Macs Cafe Aces. The boys are going great guns so come out to see them Thursday nights in the playground park.

We were out driving the other night and being very tourist conscious became intrigued with an orange and grey licence plate. Managed to pull up behind it and saw the car was from Guatemala in Central America. Anyone else see it?

The large enrollment in the Okanagan Summer School of Fine Arts has necessitated a second instructor. Miss Paddy Sooter of New Westminster has arrived in Penticton to teach the extra class.

Here is a date change in the Overture Concert series. The Hart House orchestra scheduled to appear here on Wednesday, Sept. 28 will now appear on Saturday, September 24.

There's lots of water in the domestic pipe line this year but with everyone using their taps at the same time there just isn't enough capacity in the line. Municipal council have again put into effect sprinkling regulations for the domestic line. Details as to when you can sprinkle can be found in an advertisement in this issue. Council urge those who can to use the irrigation line even if it means buying a timer. Those using irrigation water we not only get the water but also the benefit of it. Only one dam has been opened up this year.

Volume 15 No. 27

If you see a baby deer wandering in the woods and it's lost, don't pick it up! This is the advice of George Vincent, Vancouver Island game warden. These three fawns being fed by Vincent's wife at their home near Alberni, B.C., were brought to him by persons who thought they had been abandoned by their mothers. "Leave them alone and does will reclaim them when you're gone," he says.

BACK IN 1910

Band earned Fame in New Westminster

Not long after Summerland was formed as an organized community the need for some esthetic entertainment was noted. Hence the formation of the Summerland Brass Band.

And just four years after its formation the band played a 3-day engagement at the New Westminster Fair.

For information on this gem of our community we have Roger Tingley to thank. Mr. Tingley and Howard Rounds (now of Naramata) are the only two living members of the band who made the trip to the coast. But of that, more in a moment.

First a word or two about the formation of the band. That was in 1906 and the group played under the baton of Archie Burnett. In 1907 Dan Williams became the leader; the membership at that time including the following (see how many of

Building permits down for June

Building permits for June were down again from last years. Seventeen permits were issued for a total of $32,120, as against 17 last year amounting to $48,300.

Four dwelling permits were issued amounting to $28,000 and two new commercial permits amounting to $4,120.

Ten permits were issued for alterations and additions on private dwellings for the amount of $2,220 and on one commercial building for $200. The total amount spent the first six months of this year as compared to $218,850 spent last year in the last six months.

them you can remember): Archie Burnett; Dan Williams; Ted Taylor; Tom Kelly; Jack Logie; Steve Thompson; Muir Steuart; Fred Brind; Charles Brind; Sid Sharp; Roger Tingley; Cam Robinson; Jack Robinson; Bill Robinson and Bert Wilson.

In the early spring of 1910 the band was reorganized and was then under the baton of Dave Watson with Cliff Borden as secretary. The latter made arrangements for the engagement in New Westminster for their spring fair, the band to get a fee of $100 per day for the three days.

The band travelled north on the old SS Okanagan to Okanagan Landing from which point a chartered sleeping car took them to New Westminster. (There was, please note, no Kettle Valley Division of the CPR in those days -- and not for five and a half years longer)

Arriving at the coast city the sleeper was parked on a siding on Columbia Street the band giving at least two concerts daily, playing both at the fair and also in front of the New Westminster firehall as well. They earned a great deal of praise for their efforts during the engagement.

At that time in Summerland the band did its practicing above Colter White's feed store on Shaughnessy Avenue. Concerts were given weekly during the summer months in the old band stand on Shaughnessy Avenue.

And perhaps some of our remembering readers can tell us which instruments were played by what bandmen? The Review would like to know.

Summerland to have new Yacht Club house

One of the finest aquatic units on Okanagan Lake will be in Summerland, according to plans now prepared for the Summerland Yacht Club. Club commodore L. A. Smith says the yachting center they are working for will be one the whole community can share in.

It can share in this project in more ways than one. It can help through membership and in the present plans for financing the club premises and then when these are complete, it can share in the use of them as well.

Proud of the new breakwater, the executive of the club feel the yacht basin deserves a building commensurate with the breakwater, view and setting. Plans prepared for the club show a building that will meet all of those requirements fully.

The building is designed so it will have a full front of glass facing out on to the lake to give members and others a complete view of the Okanagan. This is in a large lounge, which will be 30 by 48 feet in size. The

Rose Show this Saturday

Of interest to lovers of roses will be the annual rose show, sponsored by the Summerland Horticultural Society to be held this Saturday in the IOOF Hall from 3 to 9 p.m.

Committee members feel this is one of the outstanding rose shows in the valley and expect many out of town entries so competition should be kept.

This year has been a good year for roses and the displays should be well worth a visit.

Reserve this Saturday for the rose show. Admission is only 25 cents and tea will be served.

lounge will be equipped with a fireplace so a cheery blaze of driftwood, probably, will be possible on chilly nights.

There will also be a board room 16 by 24 feet, a kitchen 8 by 14 feet and other necessary facilities. On the shorewood side there will be a large patio, which will be equipped with a barbecue fireplace which, members feel, will see a lot of use.

To get construction underway $12,500 must be raised. Feeling the people of Summerland will be interested particularly in view of impending plans for the redevelopment of 'lower town' as a tourist center - the club is offering $100 bonds to the citizens of this community.

These bonds will pay six per cent interest as the membership fee commencing next year will be six dollars a year, it is considered those purchasing the bonds will allow the interest to

Paint in Park Classes here

The Federation of Canadian Artists are sponsoring the "painting in the park" classes for children age 6 to 16 years. Classes will commence in West Summerland July 25 under the direction of Mrs. Gwen Penney.

Registrations must be in to Mrs. Penney by July 20 and a fee of $8.00 covers tuition and cost of materials. "Painting in the parks" classes have been held in Vancouver for the past seven years with an enrollment now of 1500 students.

Local classes will be held in West Summerland in the Memorial Park on Mondays and Wednesdays from 1 to 3 p.m. and in Trout Creek Park on Tuesdays and Saturdays from 1 to 3 p.m.

Forms are available from the library or from Mrs. Penney phone HY4-7197. The course will last six weeks.

remain in the club coffers as payment on membership fees.

Those who would like to take a look at the drawings of the club building may do so by enquiring of the club commodore L. A. Smith or any others on the executive.

Some who have seen the plans of the new Summerland Yacht Club building say it will be the envy of many others - Kelowna and Penticton particularly!

Where was the red apple valley?

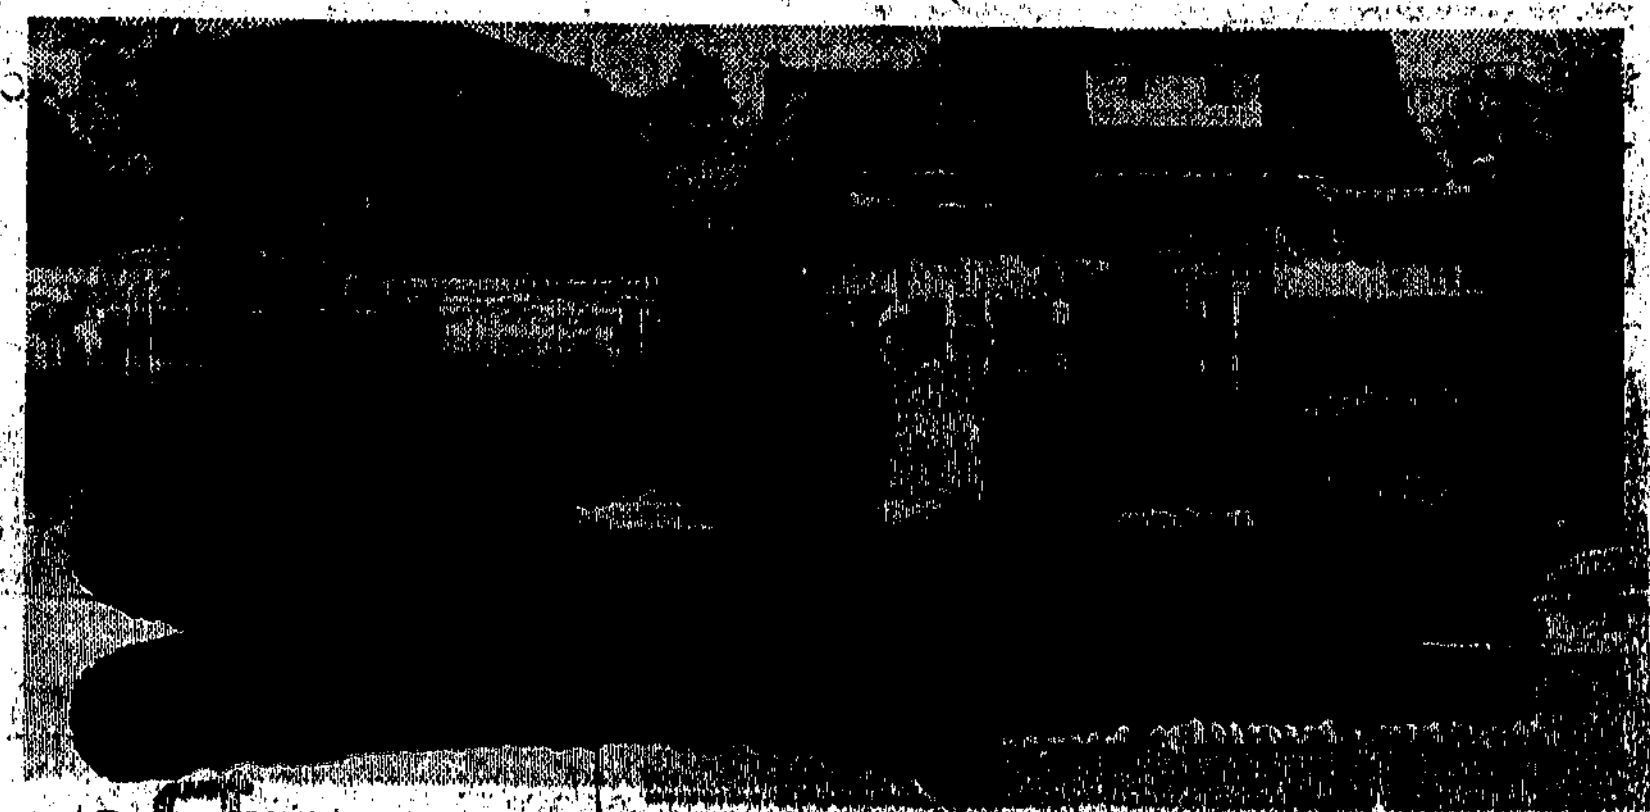

Do you possess any old books, letters, documents, dealing with the early history of Summerland? Best of all do you happen to have any old photographs of the early days of this community? If so the Summerland Review would like to see them to be free to quote from the papers and to reproduce the pictures.

For example W. W. "Bill" Borton brought in a little pamphlet that appeared before World War I, which includes material on both Naramata and Summerland as well as some pictures of each. It also contains some nostalgic items as well.

For instance who among you today knows where the Red Apple Valley was situated? Here's what the booklet states:

"About eight miles almost directly west of Summerland is a beautiful valley called Red Apple Valley. The name is very appropriate as the apples grown on the original homestead, formerly owned by S. R. Darke are magnificent specimens of fruit, being richly colored and of fine flavor."

There is more but we'll keep it for now. And we'll also let you guess - and if you know - tell us - what variety those Red Apples were!

David Walker, federal minister of public works, is the only minister in Ottawa - and probably the world - who goes to work by canoe. And he paddles it himself - from his home on the Rideau River downstream to the Tupper Building, now headquarters of the department. Trip takes 15 minutes - and no parking problem.

Tuesday night saw a goodly gathering at Doug Campbell's lawn in "Summerland by the sea" and he made good his threat of last week "to show them how to put on a steak supper". It was first class Doug and so were the steaks and all credit due must go to Carl of Frozen Locker Fame for the good meat provided.

The steaks are getting well known as no less than four visitors were up from Penticton. George Cady, Gordon Stenson, Howard Logan (who believes steaks are good for his bad leg) and Frank Wittner. We are pleased you were able to be with us fellows. Also present as guest was the president of the Nanaimo Club (The Hub City) David Hurn. Dave is an old member of the Summerland Club and was very welcome; on his birthday too.

Earl Smith told of his recent camping trip which was apparently marred by a good deal of rain. There is no place like Summerland, Earl!

The club thanks Doug Campbell for his standing invitation to use his lawn and be assured Doug; we'll be back again soon. Next week the club meets at Bill Laidlaw's house in Parkdale. Turn out in full force fellows for a good steak; a genial host and a good view of Giant's Head.

Canadian, American, or Can-American

The "glorious Fourth" is over and gone; prior to that, the equally illustrious -- for some -- Dominion Day was honored. All of which is linked with a little incident that happened in Summerland the other day. A local remarked that "a holiday was coming up"; another resident replied "Oh yes, the FOURTH OF JULY".

From that we turned to the current issue of the Toronto Star Weekly, where appears an article "Should Canada Become the 51st State?"

The article in question quotes extensively from Coyne, head of the Bank of Canada who dolefully depicts the dire fate of Canadians if they do not tighten their belts. They will, in his words, become part of the country below the 49th parallel, losing their identity.

Normally, we do not agree with Mr. Coyne; in the present instance we agree with him on only one account that Canadians are in danger of losing their national identity. This would occur, we think not from the financial reasons given by the head of the Bank of Canada but from the type of thinking manifest in the little item we have quoted above; namely, because we would have forgotten our own "glorious heritage"; built in peace by those who first settled and subsequently developed this vast country.

Mr. Coyne, as a good banker, is troubled over dollar matters; we are more concerned over the possible loss of that intangible, yet real thing that has made the Canadian what he is. Our financial difficulties have a neat habit of adjusting themselves, but the loss of our national self -- that inherent quality that makes us Canadians -- is irreplaceable and irreparable if it should ever occur.

If you want to know what it means to be a CANADIAN ask the little nations of the world. They do not trust the United States, although they'll take her money, but they welcome Canada with open arms; with implicit trust in our utter absence of self-seeking in our dealings with

If you want to know how this came about, study, not the dates but the motivations of Canadian history -- the home-building of the French in Quebec and Acadia; the pioneering in farming and industry by the British in Ontario; the sweep westward of the fur-trader and trail-builder; and in turn, those who build the railways.

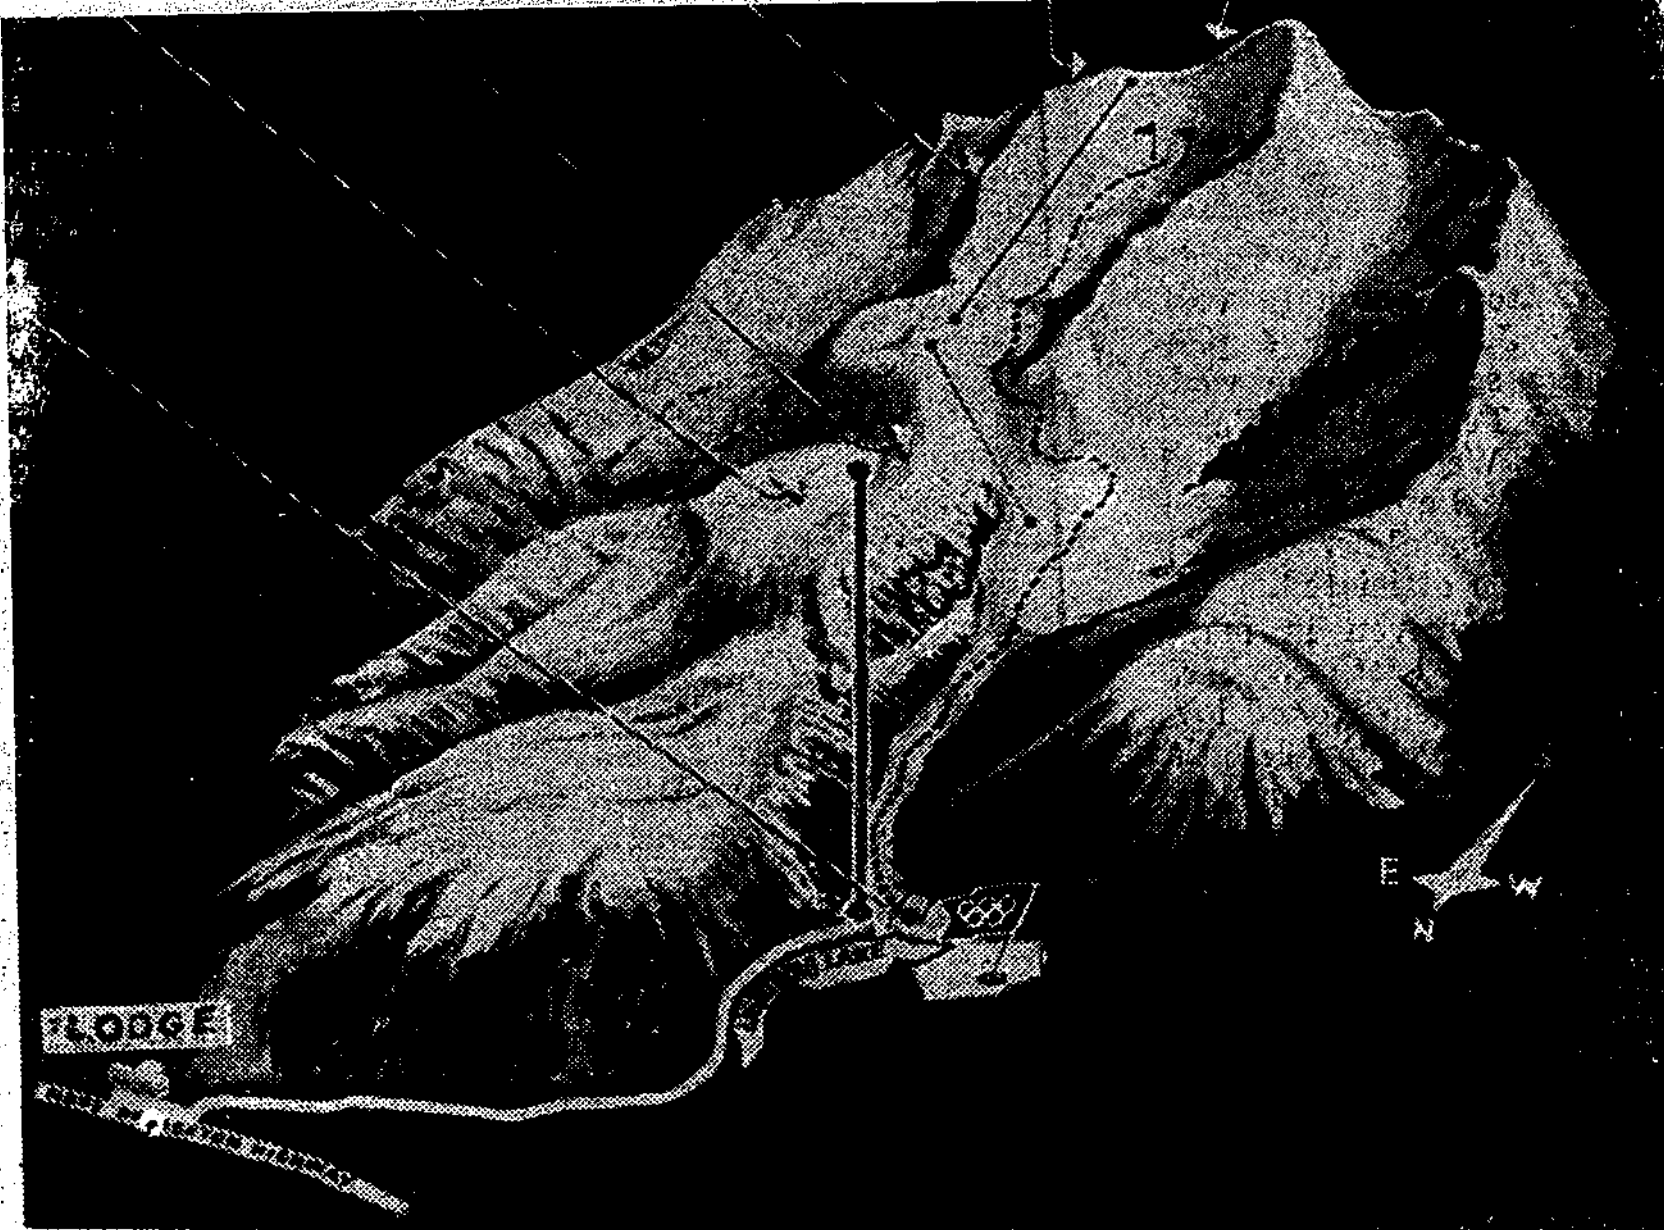

Find it in this British Columbia of ours, where the lawless made gold-seeker was transformed into law-abiding settler who well and truly laid the foundations of this great province of ours. Note it on the prairies too -- and in that yet unconquered wilderness to the north.

So, while our friend in this community honors the "glorious Fourth", we shall continue to connote "the FIRST." And in doing it we shall not be, nor will this land become American, Can-American; but shall remain ever, and always, truly CANADIAN.

Scholarships appreciated

The many scholarships recently given by Summerland organizations and private individuals has contributed greatly in helping young people attend the first session of the Okanagan Summer School of Fine Arts. We are sure this aid is much appreciated both by the students who won them and by the Summer School itself.

Summerland has again proved its interest in and support of the arts, and has lived up to its reputation as an artistic community.

Building Houses

by Rev. W. L. Sooter

"Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it." Psalm 127:1. This is the season when much building is going on. When we build we want the structure to last and be permanent.

"Take heed how ye build" we read. Houses are built from brick; mortar; wood; nails. These, if used properly, will make a dwelling for man that will last a lifetime.

Christ said while He was on earth that He had nowhere to lay His head.

Paul said he was called to preach a secret which was hidden, but was revealed to him for the gentiles which is "Christ in you; the hope of glory". Col. 1:25-27.

God wants to make an everlasting dwelling out of you -- a place for Christ to lay His head. He wrote to the church of Laodicea "Behold I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice and open the door I will come into Him."

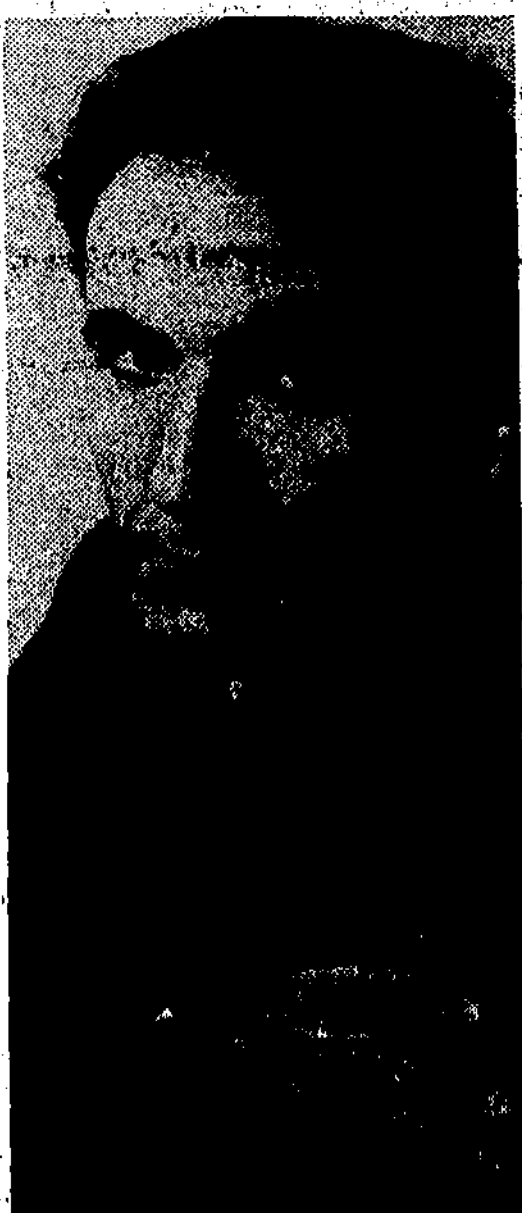

God's building materials are "love; joy; peace; patience; gentleness; self-control." He constructs his building from these.

Have you opened the door and let Him into your heart? Are you allowing Him to build His house out of you? God's building materials are permanent.

3 local Students In running

Two hundred and thirty six young British Columbia students are in the running for the five Bank of Montreal Canada Centennial Scholarships which are to be awarded in their province in 1960 the bank has announced. Applications for the scholarships -- each worth $750 in the first year have now closed.

Three Summerland students have entered the competition, local B. of M. manager Jock Johnson told The Review. Final selection will be made in August.

Barry Morse veteran actor of stage and television now appears in a regular weekly CBC television program Curtain Call every Sunday. One of Canada's most versatile actors he presents short dramatic readings on subjects ranging over the whole field of theatrical history.

Will Frosty for Olympics?

Shown to the left is, Manning Park's Mt. Frosty, claimed by ski experts to be one of the finest potential men's downhill courses in the world is shown here in an artist's drawing. Boards of Trade throughout the Okanagan and Fraser Valleys are pressing to have Manning Park chosen as the site for the 1968 Winter Olympics, on the basis that it surpasses every requirement. The enthusiastic backers of Manning Park, and they include many of the lower mainland and interior Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce say this area is far superior to any other B.C. site and they have the facts to back it up.

A delegation has inspected the valley that has 400 acres of flat land that could house the whole olympic village, speed skating, ice arena and huge parking lot.

Shown on the map are: (1) Lightning Lake; (2) Proposed aerial chair lift; (3 and 4) Connecting chair lifts; (5) Near 7,900 ft. peak (6) Top men's downhill.

Married in Vancouver

The chapel of the Kitsilano United Church in Vancouver June 18 at 4 p.m. was the scene of the wedding of Pearl Elsie Wakefield of West Summerland and James Louis Humpherville of Bjorkdale, Sask.; Rev. Kemlo officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harry Wakefield looked lovely in a white chapel length gown fashioned of nylon over taffeta. Her veil of net and lace was held in place by a pearl headpiece, and she carried red roses and stephanotis.

Her attendant, Mrs. Irene Humpherville wore a gown of teal blue nylon tulle and her headpiece was a matching blue bow. She carried pink gladiolus.

Best man was Robert Humpherville and Douglas Wakefield acted as usher.

A reception was held in Vancouver's Sherry Hall.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bratton and sons Walter and Elbert of Prince George and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jopp and daughter Kathleen of Langley.

Putting the fun in functional is this sturdy furniture for playroom or patio. Made out of Bourbon barrels the chairs are reinforced; given a swivel base and upholstered in Granada Fabrilite. The barrels are sandblasted and finished in white oak. The group consists of four chairs and a strong lazy susan or cocktail and games table.

Guide assoc. honors Leaders for work

At a meeting of the Local Guide Association held recently it was decided that cakes, pies and candied apples would be sold in the Guide booth at the Fall Fair this year.

It was pointed out that sufficient money had been raised by the sale of light hubs earlier in the year to cover expenses including

Summerland's contribution to the Campsite fund but it was suggested that any money gained at the Fruit Fair would help towards a fund now being raised for the building of a Brownie Retreat. Divisional Commissioner Mrs. Blagborne mentioned this new project when giving her report on the semi-annual conference held at Naramata recently. "The IODE in Penticton are donating a fireplace valued at $350" she reported; "and all districts are being asked for contributions." A piece of land has apparently been cleared at the campsite and it is hoped that the building of the "retreat" will commence in the next few weeks. Mrs. Blagborne pointed out that the Summerland Brownies will benefit perhaps more than those from other areas, as having two Brown Owls in Summerland qualified to lead Brownie Pack Camps there is an opportunity for more Brownies to attend camps from this district than from any other in the valley. Brown Owls Mrs. W. Evans and Mrs. George Ryman have both received their "Brownie Pack Holiday Certificate. There is only one other Brown Owl in the valley who qualifies."

At the close of the Guide Association meeting, which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Storey; refreshments were served and numerous presentations were made to Div. Commissioner Mrs. Blagborne; her husband who has helped so much with the camp site; and Ex-Captain Mrs. Gordon Whittaker who is leaving the district. To each of the Guiders a ditty was sung composed by members of the LA and each in turn was presented with a corsage. District Commissioner Mrs. Ross MacLachlan and Divisional Secretary Mrs. Bill Durick made the presentations.

Henly finishes seventh in coast track meet

Summerland's George Henly placed seventh in 4:06.8 in the July 1st Police Sports meet in Vancouver. This was about 1.5 seconds better than his run in Kelowna two weeks ago. He was the second junior age entry to finish, the other placed fifth.

Although disappointed in his own race George once again picked up valuable experience. In Kelowna he underrated himself - waited too late for his final effort and finished unspent. This time he tried to maintain too blistering a pace in the early and middle running. He was a well placed fourth with 200 yards to go, but by the time he reached the final stretch he has no run left in him. With a determined effort he managed to complete the race but lost several places in the last 50 yards.

Vic Reeves was selected to the B.C. team for the Canadian Olympic Finals to be held in Saskatoon later this month.

Dr. Fidel Castro gets a few pointers on sport fishing from 17-year-old Yolanda Zamora of Havana, International Queen of the Anglers World Series. Castro will compete in the Havana rounds of the tournament.

Promenade

Peach City Promenaders brought Bob Emerson of Omak to the Youth Centre in Summerland on Saturday night. Bob's wonderful singing calls were very much enjoyed by the nine squares of dancers in attendance.

July 1st week end was also the date of the Osoyoos Cherry Carnival. Bill French and Fred Proulx emceed a very fine outdoor dance there July 2.

On July 16 Oyama Twirlers invite us to "square dance under the summer sky" with them at their playground. Chuck Inglis is emceeing and Bar-B-Q will be on sale.

Jim Grycan figures it's time we were a little more badge conscious and has suggested that dancers who appear without their name badges be fined 10c for the first offence and 25c for any thereafter. We're appointing Jim official badge inspector so keep your badge in evidence folks. We're not responsible for what will happen to Jim the first time he forgets his!

Hilda and Harvey Eden invite all members to Pairs and Squares to come dance on their lawn on Thursday evening July 14 at 8 p.m. The phoning committee will contact everyone and we are looking forward to a happy evening together. There's something special about dancing outdoors on a summer evening. Maybe it's because in the Old Country this type of dancing originated on the village green; or "in the glen on a summer night". It was brought to America and many a square was danced under the stars when the covered wagon trains circled for the night. Hilda and Harvey haven't any covered wagons but they do have wagon wheels and a very attractive fence they make too. They also have a nice level lawn for dancing. So all you side-hill gougers who did so well at Munn's last month will have to do something about that short leg!

Cafe aces on winning streak

Mac's Cafe-Aces are beginning to look like last year's champions of the inter-city softball league winning four of their last five games.

Monday night at Penticton Macs came from behind to beat Penticton 10-9 with Kuroda hitting a home run.

Come out and see good softball this Thursday with Penticton being the visitors. Playground park at 7 p.m.

Thieves enter L. A. Smith's

Eighty dollars in cash, a transistor radio worth $60, and a Timex watch valued at $130 were taken from the L. A. Smith Service Station in West Summerland last Friday night.

Entry was gained by using a bar found in one of the Occidental trucks that was parked in the lot to break open a window screen and pry up the window. RCMP are investigating.

Accidents on the local scene

July 6 at 5:45 p.m. a two car collision occurred near Dunn's Zoo when a south bound car driven by Roger Solly of West Summerland in attempting to make a fast stop pulled over the white line and was nicked by a vehicle (oncoming) driven by Ernest Bush of Kelowna who was travelling north. Damage was estimated at $600.00

On Monday, July 11 at 4:15 p.m. a rear end collision occurred between two vehicles going south. Donald Turrigan of West Summerland stopped his car to let out a hitchhiker, Dick Butler. When the boy was half out, the car was hit by a vehicle driven by Barbara Braben of Summerland. Butler received a gash to his head and was taken to hospital by a passing motorist. He was later released.

Damage to the cars was estimated at about $150.00

AS OF 1909

"Reasons for coming to Summerland"

The Review has learned something decidedly new - and from something a half-century old. The title of this article is quoted from a little booklet entitled "Summerland", and bearing the imprint on the back cover "Published by the Summerland Board of Trade. Printed by The Review Publishing Co. Ltd., Summerland, B.C., 1909". The booklet was loaned to The Review by S. A. MacDonald.

Before we give the "reasons" we'd like to quote a bit from another booklet, one we mentioned a week ago, and loaned to the newspaper by W. W. Borton. Under the heading "Summerland" this booklet (issued about 1913) states as follows:

"Among the significant names aptly chose for the towns of the famous Okanagan none are more fitting than that of the unique little community called Summerland.

Water front stretches of shining sand, bottom lands of deep black loam, broad benches of fertile silt, radiating fruitful valleys, backed by monomalous areas of dark green timbered mountains, all lie open to the morning sun. Snow and sleet weather are rare and of brief duration; thunderstorms and sudden changes are a novelty; blizzards are unknown. It is a sunlit land, where summer dominates."

There is more, much more in similar vein, and we will quote from it in subsequent articles in this series. For the nonce, let us turn to the material that formed the basis of the headline above. "Reasons for coming to Summerland . . .

BECAUSE

It is favorably situated. It is beautiful and a thing of beauty is a joy forever. It is not cold.

It is not wet. It is magnificently healthy. It has some of the finest fruit soil on the planet.

Its fruit has a high color and flavor that make it sell. It, in fact, grows some of the better fruit of the world. It is near to the great North west market.

It is within reach of great foreign markets and the coast cities.

It has daily lake and rail communications with east and west.

Its transportation facilities are likely to be strikingly increased.

It will soon have canning and evaporating plants for fruit and vegetables.

Its land and trees grow in value while you sleep. It has had a start that promises well for the future.

It has a live municipal council of representative men.

It has a single tax, a low assessment and a low rate. Its destiny is one of wealth and culture judging by that of like favored localities elsewhere.

It has a good system of public schools.

It has Okanagan College - a seat of higher education. It has in it that something which affords a chance to educate that boy of yours.

It gives, likewise, a chance to the girl.

It has a clean moral record. The magistrate's gloves are white.

It has as yet no bar. Its climate is such that thousands who have means will come to it.

It has an abundant supply of water for irrigation. It has a noble sheet of water for pleasuring.

That is the end of the list of reasons. The strange thing is that 50 years ago some of them may have been "stretching things a trifle."

but today they are taken as matter of course, because they have become the facts of every day in Summerland.

Council hears plans on redevelopment

Town Planning Commission members Dr. M. F. Welsh, chairman; Jack Dunsdon and Lorne Perry with Russell Baxter, professional planner from Penticton attended Tuesday night's council meeting to present their ideas for a tourist centre and marina in lower Summerland.

Mr. Baxter presented preliminary sketch plans. The area involved is from the Felix Hotel to the Yacht club base on the east side of Main Street and from the motel on the west side of Ninth Street to the lakeshore. Also envisioned is a large marina near the Yacht club's breakwater.

Dr. Welsh in presenting the report, stressed that the aim is to create a superior type of resort. They do not wish to jeopardize the serenity of the community or spoil any orchard area.

This resort can be a nucleus for other community projects, stated Dr. Welsh and might well be the means by which this community can pull out of the slump it is presently facing.

The possibility of other of the mountain lakes being opened with a bus service was only one of the many interesting suggestions offered by Dr. Welsh.

Dr. Welsh stressed at the end of his talk that to make this project a success complete co-operation will have to come from the citizens of Summerland. One person attempting to profiteer could spoil the plan for redevelopment of lower town.

Means of development accepted by council is to turn the property over to private interests after being assembled through options and have redevelopment proceed within the scope of the new zoning plan. Council will now try to obtain year's options on the land involved and after obtaining the options offer them to real estate firms for bid.

Under the Giants head

Receive Letter

The Summerland municipal council received a nice letter from Mr. and Mrs. Len Morgan of Burnaby. The Morgans have holidayed for two years in Peach Orchard Park and they remarked on the excellent facilities and the kind and courteous service received at the hands of local merchants and residents.

Asks Permit

Mr. White of Mountain View home waited on council last evening at the regular meeting to ask for a business licence for the Home. The Whites hope to take in lodgers to help defray the cost of running their establishment.

Sprinkling

In conversation with Gordon Smith at the municipal hall, he again stressed to The Review the need for homeowners to limit sprinkling to the allotted time. There is definite policing by the municipal crew and offenders may well find themselves paying a fine. Mr. Smith urged using irrigation water for sprinkling wherever possible.

Gone Fishin'

Did you hear the laughter coming from Steve's barber shop about a local Izaak Walton who made a long, long fishing trip into northern B.C. and caught one squawfish.

Band Leader

In regards to our band story last week, Mr. Pearce was the band leader of the trip to New Westminster and Dave Watson was the band manager.

Art Club Hosts

Last Wednesday evening the Summerland Art Club entertained about 50 members of the art class of the summer school at a beach party at the A. K. MacLeod residence at Trout Creek. Following the supper the regular classes were conducted by instructors Reg Holmes and Miss Paddy Coester.

Entries in annual rose Show disappointing

Although the number of entries at the annual Rose Show sponsored by the Summerland Horticultural Society in the IOOF Hall last Saturday was rather disappointing, the flowers were up to the usual high standard. E. H. Bennett won the grand champion rose award with a lovely specimen of Karl Herbst.

Mr. Bennett also took first prize, the Summerland Rose Cup, for six named varieties, one bloom each in separate containers.

The Sammet Memorial Cup given annually for an artistic display was presented to Miss Doreen Tait.

Well did you figure out what it is? It's a bug. It has tried for this kind of picture and has a perfect example. Taken between Penticton and West Bank it shows the mountains reflected in Okanagan Lake. But when turned sideways faces appear as on a totem pole.

Figure skating started at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, July 13 in the Summerland Arena. Ice was made last week. Miss Delores Causier, professional from Penticton, is instructing again this year. There is still time to enroll and anyone wishing further details should contact either Doug Campbell or George Stoll for particulars.

Public skating will be started on Saturday evenings provided enough interest is shown.

The curling club is attempting to organize a bonspiel for the Labor Day weekend. Further details on this bonspiel can be had from Jerry Halquist.

Another project the committee has in mind is an evening of hockey for the "Old Timers" team.

A tremendous amount of work by Mr. Stoll, Mr. Campbell and all the people who have helped them has gone into the ice making and preparing the arena for these events. Everyone should make an effort to go skating and enjoy the arena during the hot weather. If you don't skate drop in and cool off.

Buy a Bond and be a booster for Yacht Club

There are some things that we pay out for, grudgingly; some we contribute to as a matter of duty, but there's also the third group, which we gladly aid, because we know both we, and others will benefit from them - and because they are for improvements in our own community.

The present bond sale for the Summerland Yacht Club falls into the latter class. You may say you'll never own a boat, or use its facilities - that may well be true; but some of your neighbors and neighbors' children will benefit from the yacht club building and its surroundings.

That may be too altruistic for you; if it is, then make up your mind to avail yourself of the privileges your purchase of a bond will provide for you. You may not own a boat, or even borrow one (but don't you go fishing sometimes?) but you - and certainly your family - will enjoy the splendid lounge and the patio the planned structure will provide.

It isn't much; it won't put a serious crimp in your budget - and it will do a great deal for all in this community. So phone right now, and let them know you're going to be on the list of bond buyers. You'll never regret it.

Watershed protection before sport fishing

No one would wish to deny either the local or visiting Izaak Walton his mode of sport and recreation. But if it comes to a choice - forests come before fishing.

This is particularly true in Summerland, which must protect its watersheds at all costs. In a flight made during the past week end over the Summerland watershed region, a contributor had this to say: "It would take just one careless match at the moment, to make the whole thing a barren waste."

Trees mean retarded run-off - and also a reserve supply of moisture that only gradually seeps through the soil into our reservoirs. The whole area of supply for the streams that provide Summerland with its storage is densely timbered. It is also an area dotted with small lakes and streams that contain fish.

We would therefore urge all fishermen to (a) leave smoking materials at home (which they are hardly likely to do) or (b) smoke only while out in a boat, or (c) regard the whole woods as your home. You would do a great deal to preserve your home from fire; well in a larger sense Summerland is your home - and if you cannot trust yourself to be woods-wise in the matter of forest fire safety, will you please, just stay home for a week or two; and save our water supply from being depleted or contaminated?

Partly to blame

"The performance of male drivers between the ages of 16-25 stinks. Girls in that age group have it all over them. While accidents and sudden death force insurance rates for young, male drivers toward the wild, blue yonder girls of the same age have compiled a safety rate equal to adult drivers." So stated a spokesman for the Illinois casualty insurance industry recently, and who is going to argue with that observation.

We thought however, that he could have added as a wry afterthought that a great deal of the erratic driving among the youthful, unmarried males in the 16-25 age group could be traced to a befuddled notion on their part that they are impressing the safety conscious female in the same age group with their recklessness. "Mixed-up" kid" writers call them. Dumb is the word they are looking for. - Canadian Underwriter

Here we are both together in a Toronto dog show. My name is Kobi and I'm a St. Bernard, weighing 230 pounds. You're just a little 2 1/2 pound chihuahua they call Camista. But never mind, m'dear, big dogs and little dogs can still be friends.

Want to be rich?

by Rev. D. M. Rathjen

"The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and He addeth no sorrow with it."

Most of us have aspirations to possess a little, or perhaps more of the riches of this world. This seems natural to the human nature. However, earthly riches do not always bring happiness with them. This is in evidence in many wealthy homes. Perhaps this is one reason why the good Lord has warned us not to labour to be materially rich and not to set our affection on things on the earth. He says riches can make themselves wings. Even if we do retain them in life and enjoy the benefits they bring, the time comes when they will have to be left behind.

The text we have from Proverbs 10:22 directs us to riches which have no added sorrow. They are God's spiritual blessings which have been made available to us through His Son, our Saviour. See Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians 1:3-14. Who can be richer than the ones spoken of here? "Chosen of God; redeemed from the enemy of our souls; forgiven our sins; made holy and without blame; adopted into the family of God; predestinated to adorn His Kingdom for the ages of eternity; sealed by His Spirit until He comes to receive us to Himself. These are the true and lasting riches which can only give full satisfaction. God waits to bestow them on all who will humbly acknowledge their need.

UNCLE DUD

by Harvey Johnson

HANDYMAN ABOUT THE HOUSE

By GORDON DONALDSON

Let me say at the start that I love my neighbor.

All of them — the curvy ones in their short-short shorts; the hairy shirtless ones and their layers of sun-tan paint; the energetic ones lurching around, bandy-legged behind their wheel barrows; the loud ones screaming like sea gulls over their Hi-Fi sets.

So when I talk about ways of finding privacy in one's own garden it's not because I want to get away from my neighbors.

I just want somewhere I can think kind thoughts about them in peace.

An enormous garden, thick with trees and bushes is the obvious answer.

But if you are the retiring sort and your backyard is like mine — the size of a baby's play-pen and thick as tundra — you'll have to build your own barriers or work indoors all summer.

Yesterday I helped build an erection which provides shelter from the wind, some shade and considerable privacy.

It is a two-sided windbreak made of basket weave board-

We dug three holes laboriously with a post hole digger and put in 8 foot, 4 by 4 cedar posts, projecting 5 1/2 feet above ground.

Then we rip-sawed sheets of 1/4-inch plywood into 10-inch-wide boards.

The size of the windbreak depends of course on how many people want to sit behind it and also on the size of the yard.

If it is too big it begins to look too much like a spite fence.

We made this one 8 feet long on one side and 6 on the other.

After the posts were in we placed 2 by 2 strips upright midway between each post.

The boards were nailed on alternate sides of the posts.

Each board was bent out and around the centre 2 by 2 to give the basket effect.

When the 2 by 2 was nailed in we cut it off top and bottom as it is not needed for vertical support.

Square capping pieces of 1-inch stock improve the tops of the posts.

The windbreak was soaked in clear wood preservative and stained a dull brown.

Plastic closet accessories pretty gift for bride

A practical yet inexpensive suggestion for shower gifts is plastic bedroom accessories. Any bride will welcome bags to keep her dresses, blouses and suits "trousseau new". Transparent hat-boxes will prevent her hats from collecting dust on the shelf and let her see at a glance which hat is in which

box. Polythene sweater bags not only keep sweaters clean and orderly but also discourage moths. Smaller notion bags avoid a jumble of stockings, gloves, scarves and hankies in the drawer. The shoe bags keep shoes off the closet floor where they can be kicked about and scuffed even before being worn. Polythene blanket covers protect new blankets while being stored.

With this type of shower gift it is a good idea for the hostess to do all the buying, each guest chipping in on the cost. This seems to be a new trend for bridal showers for it avoids duplication and matching articles can be purchased. If you find out ahead of time the decorating scheme for the new home, plastic accessory items come in such a variety of lovely colors they can be matched with the bedroom.

When dirty all they need is soap and water to make them as good as new. The larger garment bags are best dunked in the bathtub and hung on the shower curtain rod to dry.

Macs lose three over weekend

The Summerland Macs were on the short end of the score three times over the weekend and just about blew any chances they may have had to make the playoffs come September.

On Saturday night in Kelowna the Macs came from behind a 5-0 Kelowna lead and tied the score at 7-7 in the eighth. Kelowna came back strong in the last of the 8th scoring three runs. The Macs got one back in the 9th but it wasn't enough and Kelowna took the game 10-8. Each team got 12 hits. Bob Parker got the only home run.

On Sunday in Summerland before the largest crowd of the season the visiting Oliver team took two from a "fighting" Summerland Macs.

In the first game a two run homer by Bill Martino in the 1st inning stood up and gave Oliver a 3-1 victory. The Macs played very good defensive ball but just couldn't come through with hits when men were on base.

In the second game Oliver took a 3-1 lead and held it until the 8th when the Macs scored three times on some heads-up base running to go ahead 4-3 but Oliver came right back in the 9th after two were out to score twice on two hits and two errors to take the thriller 5-4.

The Macs will be in Merritt for a double header on Sunday. It is a very nice three hour drive for any of the Mac fans that want to make the trip.

Kiwanis Club Notes

A very enjoyable supper was had by the members at the home of Bill Laidlaw in Parkdale on Tuesday night, and an innovation by the Programme Committee was a surprise announcement that Brian Ebert would talk for three minutes on "Why Summerland should have and needs a Hotel" (nobody was more surprised than Brian) with Jack O'Mahoney called upon to state (also with a time limit of three minutes) why we should NOT have a Hotel. It is hoped that more of these impromptu talks can be arranged.

Two visitors were with us, Roy Murphy of the B.C. Telephone Co. and the Vancouver Club and Jim Argue from Winnipeg.

Next week the club will meet at Ken Heales' summer cottage at Crescent Beach.

Members are particularly asked to note that in two weeks time Elnore Philpot will be our guest speaker, and a full attendance is asked for. A notice of this event will be published next week.

SUMMERLAND REVIEW
Wednesday July 13, 1960

Promenade

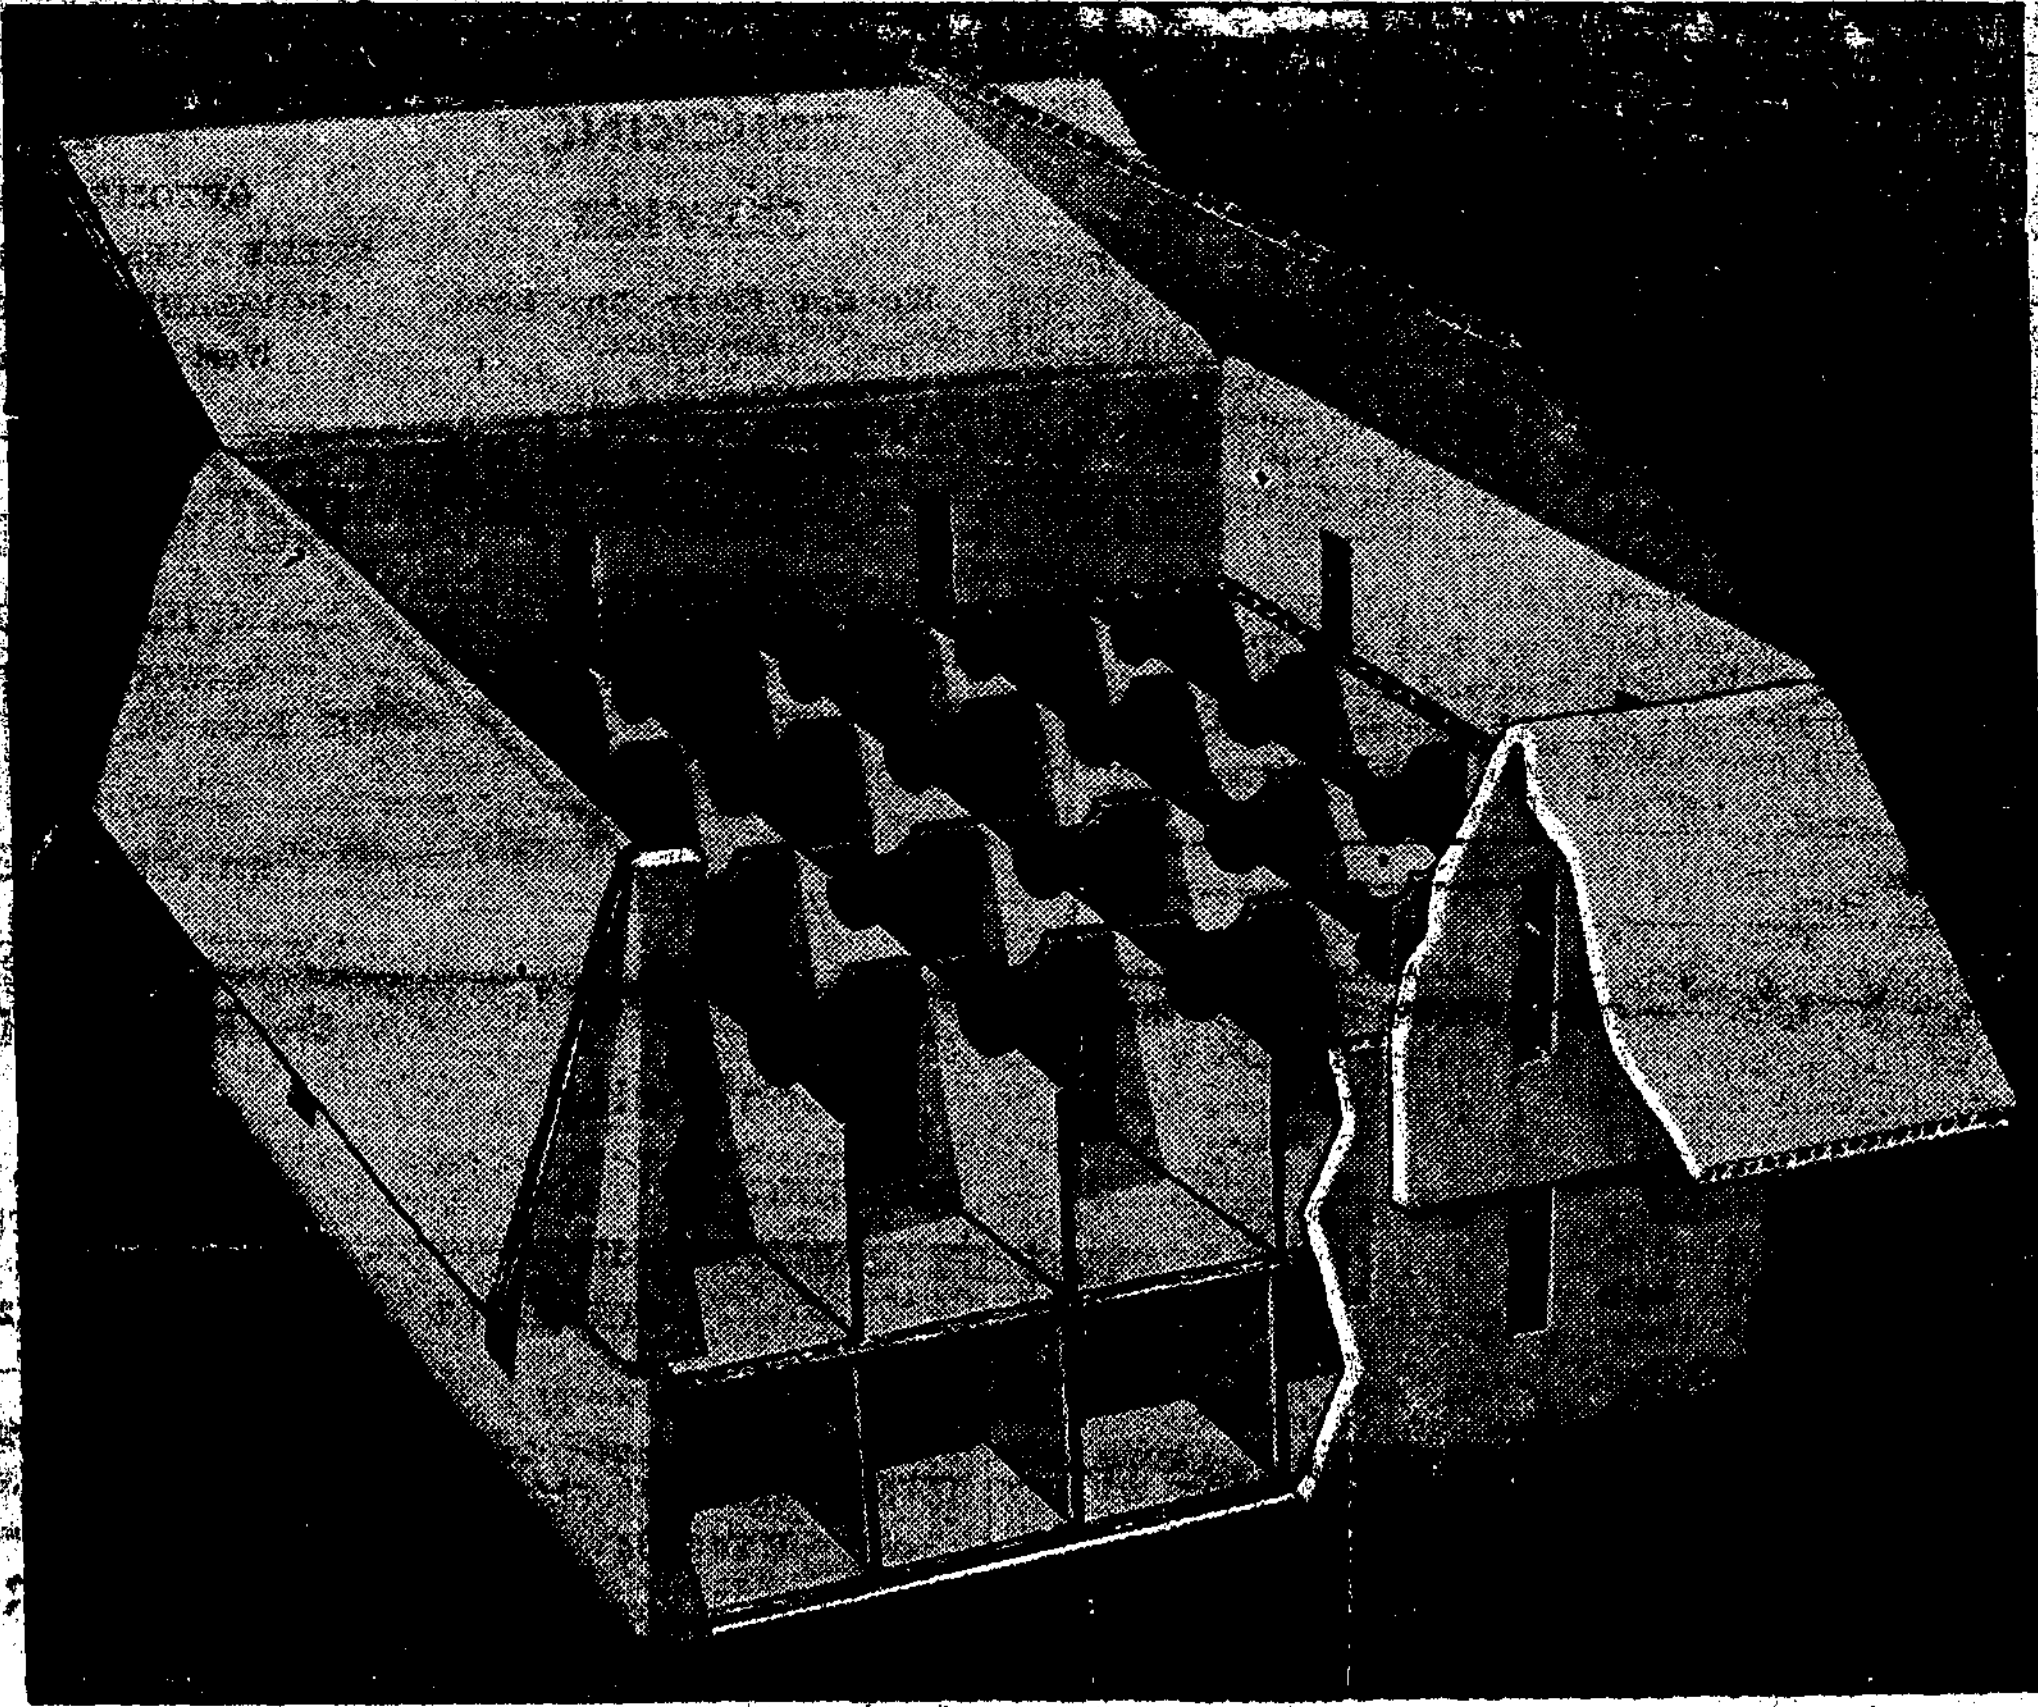

Eleven Summerland folks drove to Vernon-Jamieson on Saturday night to mingle with twenty squares of dancers and an equal number of spectators in the Memorial Arena. We felt a real thrill of pride when two of the best calls of the evening were made by our own Summerland callers. That big pleasant fellow with the big pleasant voice Lester Arkell, calls with a depth and clarity than can be heard distinctly even in such a large building as the Arena. Ray Fredrickson of the wide friendly grin, fine singing voice and smooth easy style, soon has the dancers relaxed and enjoying themselves. Thanks, both of you, for doing your part to give the club the kind of reputation we want it to have.

This Saturday July 16, in the Oyama playground Mr. Chuck Inglis is calling for "Dancing under the Summer Sky". They'll be squaring up on the big open air floor in Oliver again this each Saturday all summer, Saturday and continuing each Wednesday evening from 8-10 p.m. Pentstemon Promenaders' Pavilion Dancers will continue until Peach Festival Time.

Schedule of dances for the Peach Festival week will be announced in this column the week preceding the Festival.

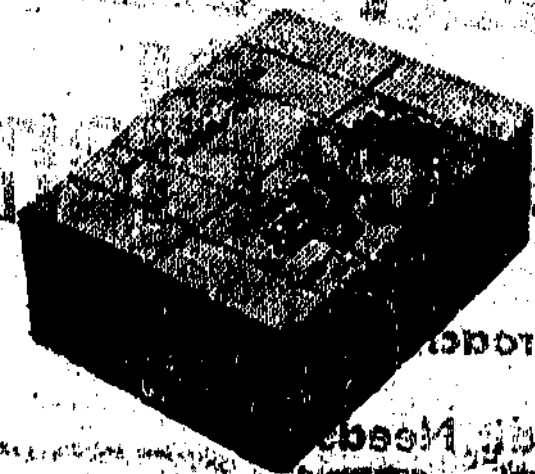

Mr. T. J. Gagnett has left for a bus trip through the States to Ontario to visit friends and relatives.

Second look essential on farm, city girl finds

Tom, the village philosopher says the best education does not come from books and blackboards and such, but from taking a second look at things. That's the one that counts, he figures, and a second glance can often save you from making a fool of yourself.

To illustrate his point, Tom tells the story of his niece, Dolly, who visited from the city a couple of weeks ago.

"I took her around to see my brother Ed, the one who runs a farm. 'Oh, what a strange looking cow,' says Dolly. 'Why hasn't she any horns?' So Ed says, 'Well, some cows is born without horns and never had any, and others shed theirs, and some we de-horn and some we ain't supposed to have any horns at all. There's all kinds of reasons why some cows ain't got horns, but the reason this one ain't is because she ain't a cow. She's a horse!'"

Which leads us to wonder if a second look is called for in personal planning sometimes. If you find your money slips through your fingers, consider regular saving with a Bank of Montreal savings account. Deposit a portion of each pay cheque into a B of M savings account. That way you make sure of getting your share of your own income.

Earl Smith, accountant of the Summerland branch of the B of M will be happy to tell you how easy and how profitable.

Radar trap in action

Thirteen speeders, two of them West Summerland residents were caught in an RCMP radar trap on Highway 97, south of Summerland last Saturday.

Mr. William Davies of Penticton was apprehended in Summerland and subsequently charged with having care and control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. He was fined $150 and court cost.

Under the Giants head

A number of local store people must be commended for their quick action in catching a shop lifter from Kelowna who had been having a field day in three West Summerland stores. Mrs. William Baldwin of Roy's Men's Wear deserves special credit.

The woman was tried in Summerland police court and having no previous record, was given a suspended sentence and fined $50.

We can always find some thing to scold about. Now it's the clover that is growing along the road sides. Along Station Road particularly just past the station, its reached the proportions to become a driving hazard. The road is rather narrow around the turns and the clover so high that drivers in small cars can't possibly see over it.

The Yacht Club bond sales for a new club house are going over very well. The executive have high hopes it will be "clear sailing" if you are interested in this worthwhile development, don't hesitate to contact Commodore L. A. Smith or any member of the executive.

Further details on tenders can be found in an advertisement in the classified section of this issue.

The building is to include a large activity room and stage; five classrooms; administrative offices; a small kitchen; storage space and washroom facilities.

Service for Mrs. Rau

Mrs. Rosa Amanda Rau of West Summerland passed away at her home on Wednesday, July 13 at the age of 94 years. She had been a resident of Summerland for the past 45 years. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Barbara Braun, three sons John B. Braun, Puyallup, Wash., Harry Braun, Oliver, and Charles Rau of Winnipeg; 9 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. Funeral services for the late Mrs. Rau were held in the First Baptist Church in West Summerland, July 16 at 2 p.m. Rev. L. Kennedy officiated.

If you think you have troubles, listen to Joe Petrie's tale. The two-year-old was nearly drowned in a wading pool at Hamilton, Ont. last Sunday. Monday a dog bit him and he was rushed to hospital; thus the bandaged forehead. Tuesday, his mother rescued him moments before his home burned down. Resting from the fire ordeal, he was stung by a bee—and then along came the doctor with a needle.

Robert Towgood heads local Kinsmen

Officers of the Summerland Kinsmen Club were installed by Deputy Governor Harley McCord at a meeting held in the Japanese Hall on Saturday evening. Robert Towgood will occupy the president's chair for the coming year, with Ernie Harrison as vice president; Edwin Leiki secretary and Earle Bryden as treasurer. Directors are Bud Greene and Frank Kuroda. Roy Hamilton is registrar.

Prior to the installation ceremonies, retiring president Bill Pollock introduced Deputy Governor and Mrs. Harley McCord, Miss M. Alexander, president elect R. Towgood and Mrs. Evelyn Pollock, president of the newly organized Kin Club. A toast to the ladies was proposed by Bud Greene to which Mrs. Pollock aptly responded.

Deputy Governor McCord then proceeded with the installation ceremonies.

In his report of the years activities, president Pollock told how the club had taken part in the Fall Fruit Fair; had conducted a very successful peanut drive and was equally successful with the Mothers' March. Two polio clinics were also sponsored; and he said that good progress is being made with the construction of a Little League baseball diamond. A Kinsmen team was entered in minor hockey and help was given by the club to the minor hockey association. During the year a Kinette Club was organized and the ladies are playing a very important part in club activities.

Deputy Governor McCord in a brief address, congratulated the club on its activities, especially the Mothers' March and the formation of the Kinette Club.

Good crop year forecast here

The Review after contacting local packinghouse managers finds that they agree that present indications are for a better than average crop year.

The late spring season slowed down the cherry crop and for the first time in many years picking will continue until the last week in July. But the quality of the fruit is very good and the tonnage has been right up to the estimate.

The intense heat of the past few days has brought the apricot crop in a little before it has had time to attain a good size but as the crop comes in the general feeling is that it will size up.

A few Transparent apples are on the scene now.

Mr. Jack Kirk of the Farm Labor Office told The Review that skilled labor is very scarce. At the present moment there is sufficient unskilled help but as the demand builds up and the picking peak is reached help will be in short supply.

At the moment the majority of the skilled workers are at the south end of the valley and can't be expected here for at least another ten days.

Orchard Survey completed

Minister of Agriculture Newton P. Steacy announces that the 1960 orchard survey has been completed and the records tabulated.

This the tenth survey of the interior fruit industry carried out by the staff of the Horticultural Branch since 1920, has been completed in record time through the co-operation of the growers and by use of mechanical tabulating equipment.

The survey covered 3,470 orchard units, extending to 34,560 acres in the Okanagan and Kootenay areas.

The number of trees of all types and varieties totalled 2,453,320 of which 1,290,308 were apple plantings. There is a marked trend toward the use of known rootstocks such as the Malling and Malling Merton series.

There are now 259,320 apple trees on these various rootstocks mostly planted in the last five years.

Leading apple varieties continue to be Red Delicious and McIntosh.

BCFGA to meet in Kelowna

At a meeting of the executive of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association held last week, it was decided to accept an invitation of the Kelowna Board of Trade to hold the next annual convention at Kelowna.

It will take place on January 17, 18 and 19 and will be the BCFGAs 72nd convention.

Just take a look around - see what pioneers noted

"In its physical features, Summerland is blessed with its full share of natural beauty" - so states the 1909 booklet from which we have quoted previously. The reader may well reply "Well, I know all that". Yes, you do - and you don't. Let's read on a bit and see.

"It has all the charm of a mountainous environment. The mountains have an open aspect that enables one to breathe freely." Just take a deep breath, no smog, excessive fumes or other pollution, either then or today. "They (the mountains) do not thrust themselves into one's face or tower so near and so high as to oppress one's spirit and hide the more homely aspects than is usually the case in the Province of British Columbia. On their faces sunshine and shadow play hide and seek in many a changing scene.

The contour of the land is so varied as to be picturesque. There is no monotony of surface. Every mile sees a change. (that obviously, was written for the benefit of the prairie people). In the centre of the municipality rides the peak known as Giants Head. On its hip rests Okanagan College. From its base, reach out in every direction over sloping "bench" and beautiful flat, those ten-acre orchard lots, improved and unimproved for which the place is famous. Northward from the junction of Jones and Parkdale flats, open out the wing known as Garnett Valley."

We will leave the description of Garnett Valley until a later issue. For the moment we will leap ahead a few years and again look at Summerland, circa 1913 just four years later. Great changes have come about and we learn that

"Summerland is the center of the Southern Okanagan and is the nearest point in the Valley to the Coast cities. It has a daily service north and south by palatial CPR boats, tri-weekly car barge, tri-weekly ferry to Penticton (and what would anyone want to go to Penticton for, we ask you?) thrice daily ferry to Naramata (obviously more important); two long distance phone lines; telegraph and local modern phone service to nearly all homes, by an exchange with five regular employees."

Pausing at this point again we'll call for anyone who has any data or memories about that old, early Summerland Telephone Co. We would very much like to print it, if you can dig it up

Summerland Review

Editorials

Let's renew our Youthful Spirit

Recently the Summerland Review has carried some interesting items of the "doings" of pioneer people. We are hopeful we can carry more of these in the future.

We want to publish them, not only for nostalgic and historic interest, but because they could become an inspiration to the people of today, an inspiration that we may well be in need of.

There are those of the older people, who reading and remembering, say the people of today are lacking something that of yester-year had in plenty. While this may not be altogether accurate as a bald statement; there is yet sufficient truth in it to supply grounds for considerable and deep thought on our part.

From the accounts we have published, it was apparent the people of Summerland had a virility; a buoyancy which is not quite so apparent today. In those days the world was Summerland's oyster - and we tackled anything even the provisioning of a "town band" to play at a Coast exhibition.

Complacency may have crept in upon us and the buoyancy given way to a stodgy middle-aged mentality. Some of course; will challenge this - and we are in no position to be arbiters in the argument. But we do say there is a difference in viewpoint today and in 1909, for instance. In that era few homes had modern plumbing, there were no refrigerators - only the occasional "ice box" and if anyone had what was then called a "washing machine" it was a hand-operated gadget.

Thus, with the goodly things of life around us; we may have grown slightly soft and with that lost the enthusiasm we had of old.

The point of all this is that we have no reason to become, as we have said, complacent. While the pioneers built well and truly; providing us with one of the best communities of any comparable size to be found anywhere they did not mean for us to rest on our oars and let things drift. For proof of that observe some of our senior citizens; how active they are in community improvement and welfare.

Some of the dreams of the past; the ideas held by people in 1909, are gone into the limbo - but there are others; and even more challenging objectives right at hand at the moment. And it will be The Review's purpose, in weeks to come; to present one or two of these to its readers.

We shall do so without criticism of any; but rather because in reading of the older days, we - as we hope has happened to you - were filled with a sense of urgency to build for the Summerland of 1960 as the pioneers did in 1909.

Fallout Protection

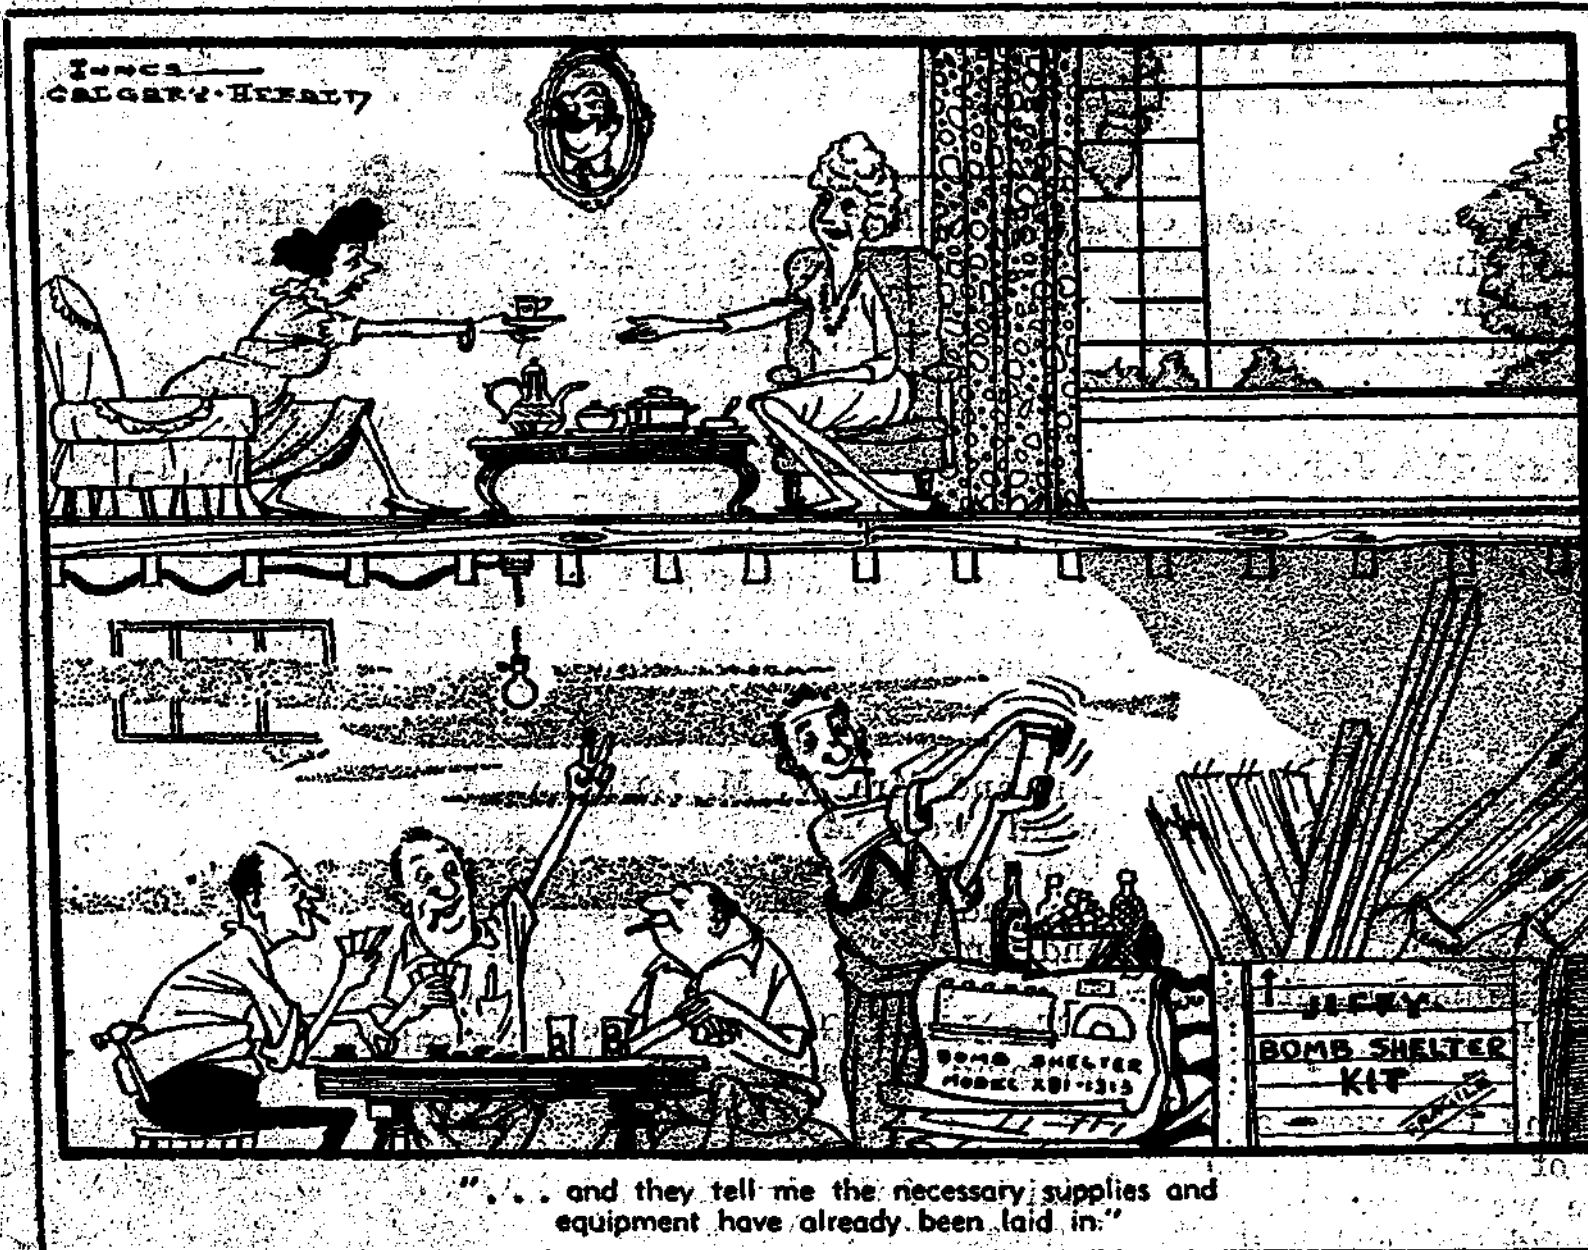

Fallout shelters are an essential feature of the nuclear age in which we live and should be incorporated in every British Columbia home, the Honourable W. D. Black Provincial Secretary, has stated in a news release.

Mr. Black's statement came as provincial and municipal civil defence organizations in conjunction with a national program; launched a campaign aimed for eventually providing fallout protection for every resident in the province.

A feature of the program is the federal booklet which contains detailed instructions and working plans for the construction of a basement fallout shelter.

Mr. Ivan Phillips, civil defence officer for Summerland told The Review he has received limited copies of the booklet, which also contains information on how and when the shelter should be used, and he expects more copies shortly. A few copies of the booklet have been placed in the local library.

Mr. Black in his report said: "The need for fallout protection is great and I urge every British Columbia resident to give it the most serious consideration."

Are you bored?

by Rev. P. K. Louie

"Vanity of vanities! All is vanity. What does man gain by all the toil at which he toils under the sun? What has been is what will be; and what has been done is what will be done; and there is nothing new under the sun." Ecclesiastes 1 (RSV).

Well, let me introduce to you the most bored man in history. His name is Koheleth, which is a Hebrew name. The name is translated Ecclesiastes in Latin and is mistakenly translated "Preacher" in English. On the sly you may admit that preachers sometimes are bored; I won't mind.

But this Koheleth was a king. King over Judea, in Jerusalem, he set out to make himself happy in every way a king could command. But he ended up every time in the same fuddle - bored. He's the fellow who said: "I have seen everything that is done under the sun; and behold, all is vanity and a striving after wind."

He applied his mind to seek out wisdom and concluded that it "is an unhappy business that God has given to the sons of men to be busy with."

So he tried in turn all sorts of pleasures and vineyards and houses and vineyards and singers and dancers. And he brags that in all his efforts he became great; and his wisdom did not leave him.

He sounds just like some modern movie star, who gets all that the world can offer and finds it not enough and cracks up.

Such is the dread disease boredom, which shows itself in the symptom of Ecclesiastes: "The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done; and there is no new thing under the sun."

Maybe you recognize the symptoms of the disease: you too, are bored. You grab at something new and it becomes old and boring.

Well, turn from your Old Testament to your New. There you will find a remedy for the disease.

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." Does it mean all old things are made new? Does it mean the old routine can take on a new look? The old frustration can become a source of pleasure?

It means that. Even pain, and hate, and rejection can be made new. They can become patience and tolerance and love.

So, if you are bored and have been looking for something new to tickle your fancy, look again. Stop your selfish, Koheleth-like demanding. See the wonder of God's gifts. Look to the spirit of Christ. Take him into the old, boring routine. He maketh all things new.

Kiwanis Club Notes

Ken Heales provided a lovely setting for Tuesday night's dinner meeting, at his beach cottage. The steaks as usual were all that could be desired and everybody seemed to have a thoroughly good time. Several members went in swimming before dinner but were not allowed an extra T-bone on that account. Thank you Ken, it was just right.

Owing to conflicting events in August it was decided to change the date for the Kiwanis Carnival from August 20 to Friday, August 19. Plans are well under way to make this year's carnival a really good one.

Walter Toeves celebrated a birthday and paid the usual penalty.

All members are especially requested to attend next week at the home of Claire Elsey. The occasion is our guest speaker will be Elmore Philpott. Mr. Philpott's presence with us deserves a full turn out and all will agree that he is certainly worth listening to, so be sure to be on hand fellows.

B.C. FOODS MAKE A MEAL TO REMEMBER

Plan your meals around B.C. foods in season . . . you'll feed your family better . . . more economically. Apples, peaches, plums, pears . . . from cherry-time through apricots to harvest time, every fruit that grows in our sunny B.C. valleys reaches a peak of excellence seldom matched elsewhere. Fresh B.C. vegetables are daily rushed to market during the season. Beef from Cariboo ranges, lamb from Alpine meadows, turkeys — little five pounders to mammoth holiday birds of forty pounds, B.C. chicken, B.C. fresh eggs and milk . . . the bounties of a benevolent nature are with us all year round.

You help yourself and you help our province when you buy B.C. food and keep your money here where it will do the most good.

AN IMPORTANT B.C. INDUSTRY

The farmers of B.C. are independent business men striving to produce the finest food at the lowest possible prices. They contribute some $147,000,000 to the economy of our province but their importance cannot be measured in dollars alone. A prosperous agricultural industry is the basis for the overall prosperity of our entire province.

The Indian would like to collect royalties on the pleasure the white man gets from smoking—and they have a case. Sir Walter Raleigh brought the habit from the Indians to Europe, and the white man has been on fire ever since. The idea for an extra one cent tax on a package to help the Indians was advanced by Rev. Andre Renaud, director general of the Indian and Eskimo Welfare Commission of the Roman Catholic Oblate order. HANDYMAN ABOUT THE HOUSE

By GORDON DONALDSON

Sitting one day in my basement—the only comfortable place to sit these days—I discovered a nice cool job for hot weather.

For a long time I have been meaning to do something about the noises in the heating system. As the system now stands there, dusty and disused during its summer vacation, this is obviously the time to do it.

I have a forced-air system. The furnace comes on, heats up painfully, giving out agonized creaks and rumbles; then moans, shudders, bit and begins to clank steadily like a Mississippi riverboat.

All this noise comes along the metal ducts and megaphones into the bedrooms.

How to stop it? Hacksaw or snip through the main ducts a few feet away from the furnace. Cut out strips about two inches wide and replace the cutout portion with a flexible sleeve.

This can be made out of rubber, heavy canvas or thick plastic, screwed or rivetted on to the metal. The sleeves should stop the worst noises transmitted along the ducts from the furnace itself.

Other creaks can be stopped—if you can trace them—by slipping rubber wedges under offending duct joints and supports.

Other annoying noises occur from time to time in water systems. The sound of at automatic washer may be broadcast all over the house through its connecting pipes. This can be stopped by cutting the pipes and clamping in pieces of hosepipe.

That hammering, banging sound in the regular water-pipes is caused by inadequate air chambers. Either there aren't enough chambers or they have filled up with water and need to be bled off.

So much for noises made by things. Noises made by people are worse. For years I have searched for a 100 per cent. efficient way of insulating a basement ceiling to keep out the thunder of tiny feet on the floor above.

Acoustic tiles are fine. But they are designed primarily to reduce the volume of noise INSIDE a room, rather than stop the racket from without. Rolls of foam and plastic sound-absorbent material are expensive and these, again, won't stop noise transmitted through the joists.

The best solution appears to be a "floating" ceiling of half-inch fibreboard, mounted on one by two inch strips which are attached to the joists above by spring clips. If the ceiling is then faced with acoustic tile or acoustic plaster life in the basement will be as peaceful as possible.

—Perfect peace just doesn't exist. My neighbor is now learning the trumpet.

Aces in second place in league

Summerland Macs Cafe Aces are currently tied with Pentiction for second place in inter-city softball.

This Thursday July 21 the Macs Cafe Aces meet league leading Osyoos here in the playground park at 7 p.m.

The league play ends on August 5; then play-offs start.

Square 'em up

A lovely setting - flowers, trees and green lawn; a beautiful evening - Tuesday July 14; a congenial group of people - the Pairs and Squares; and a gracious host and hostess - Harvey and Hilda Eden; all combined to provide a thoroughly enjoyable party for us all. Thanks to you both Hilda and Harvey and to Goldie and Paul Charles and May Mayne for your contributions too. Those delicious sandwiches and slices you made and the strawberries you picked in the heat for the sundaes; Hilda were very much appreciated as was the generous hospitality that went with them. The thirty members who were there to enjoy the party won't soon forget it and those who were not able to make it certainly begrudge missing it.

Three of our callers, Rita Hermiston, Lester Arkell, and Ray Fredrickson did their part in keeping the dancers happy and we were sorry Lloyd Shannon wasn't able to get back in time to come.

About halfway through the evening Sheriff Gryean completely with black stetson, star and shooting irons closed in on all members not displaying their name badges. They were forced at gunpoint to pay their fines of 10c and the Sheriff thinks his collections may not be so high next time.

Behind all the nonsense as Jim explained to us; is some very sound reasoning. Name badges were purchased in the first place as a friendly way of introducing ourselves to other dancers. Every year there are new dancers as well as visitors from out of town who don't know us no matter how long we may have been dancing. So our name badge is as necessary now as when we first got it.

In the second place our badge indicates what town we are from and if we are not ashamed of it, we'll want people to know we are a member of the Summerland Square Dance Club.

This is important both at our local dances and when we go dancing out of town. Darlene and George Ryman volunteered to take our Trail Dance notices to as many Pentiction motels as possible, asking them to display them to their guests. Announcements about the dance will be made also on the radio and in the press; and directional signs will be posted to guide dancers both from the north and south to the Youth Centre.

On Saturday, June 23 Ray Fredrickson will emcee a dance on the outdoor floor in Oliver. All of us who can possibly make it will be going south that night to try out the Square Dance Corral, next to the Super-Valu in Oliver and to show Ray his club is with him.

August 2nd our Trail Dance is the big night to remember. Not cot-picking, out of town guests; canning night shift work; hot weather or even quality control will stand in the way of us all being out that night. It's fun to meet dancers from other places and they will be looking forward to meeting us. Let's send them away saying "Wasn't that a wonderful dance in Summerland? Their caller is excellent; their dancers are so friendly; and they certainly know how to make strangers feel at home!"

Trail Riders

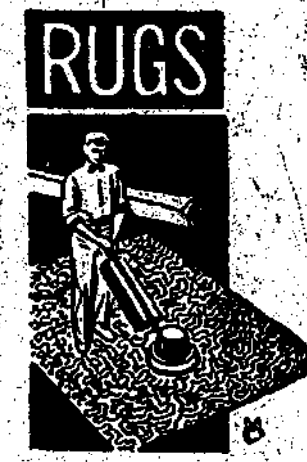

Despite the heat the Summerland Trail Riders enjoyed a ride and family picnic last Sunday afternoon.

From Garnett Valley to Three Lake Valley and from Paradise Flats by way of Prairie Valley the riders converged at Trout Creek near Kelly's Mine, there to be met by their families with the makings of a delightful picnic supper.

A lively game followed; and then the riders returned home by way of Conklin Mountain.

Those taking part included Mrs. E. Anderson, president of the club; and the Berg; Beuler; Jeffery; Reinertson; Ross and Wiens families.

Queens Ball
Friday evening
September 9th

Summerland has done it before and proposes to do it again this year and bigger and better.

The Summerland Board of Trade, which body sponsors the Fall Fruit Fair has plans well advanced to make this year's fair outstanding in every way.

Energetic committees have already been set up under a central committee to handle such events as entertainment, games, food and refreshments, raffles, agriculture, hobbies, the crowning of the queen, and lastly, but certainly not least of the attractions the Queen's Ball. This latter will be a gala affair and will be held Friday evening, September 9th, the fair being September 9 and 10.

Particular note should be taken of the Queen's Ball as it is already known that parties are being formed and groups of friends getting together and planning to attend what it is felt will be the dance event of the year. Groups and parties should start planning now so that all friends who wish to attend together will be able to do so.

The central committee is under the chairmanship of capable Fred Schuman, and the vice chairman of this committee is Lorne Perry. All committees are being headed by well known and able men of the community who as busy as they are have found time to undertake this work in order that the coming fair may be the best ever.

Police warn of fruit pilfering

Local RCMP have reported to The Review that pilfering of the picked fruit left in boxes on stands in the orchards has been going on from here to Osoyoos. This would indicate that some person or persons with a truck are making the rounds at night and grabbing what they can.

Only solution to the problem said RCMP, is to put the fruit in a safe place, preferably under lock and key.

Mr. Frank McDonald lost 22 boxes of apricots Monday night and other reports of losses are coming in.

At one time the growers could leave the fruit out in the orchard with no worry of theft but it appears that this is no longer the case.

BROCHURE ISSUED

The Summerland Board of Trade this year, for the first time in many years, has compiled a tourist brochure.

Compiled by board members and printed by The Summerland Review, pictures were by the newspaper and the detailed maps drawn by Mrs. Helen Waterhouse.

If you would like a copy to send to friends or relatives the brochures are available at board of trade secretary Lorne Perry's office or at local stores and service stations.

Water users will be checked

The majority of growers are not using excessive amounts of water, works superintendent Ken Blagberne reported to council Tuesday night. However some growers using more water than they need and could be harming their orchards.

Council decided that orchardists using large nozzles or open nozzles should be notified and instructed to switch to regulation one-eighth inch nozzles.

A letter was sent to irrigation users last week outlining water regulations.

RCMP Corporal Larry Martin attended the council meeting and discussed with council the changing of stop signs to yield right of way signs and the speed limit. Council decided to give further consideration to the placing of traffic signs.

Kiwanians hear Elmore Philpott

Not for a long time has the Summerland Kiwanis Club had the privilege of listening to such an informative talk as that given by Mr. Elmore Philpott on Tuesday evening.

Introduced by Bill Gilmour, his subject was China. Mr. Philpott has visited in China twice within the last four years and his talk was all to short as he described the stupendous advancement that is being made by the Chinese.

Everybody but everybody including students at school of all ages, works in China and their industrialization is taking place faster than that of any nation in the world. While it is true that Russia provides the experts in the first place, once the initial stages of any project are over the Russians withdraw, and the people of China "go it alone."

While the methods by Western standards can sometimes be called crude, they apparently are achieving by sheer manpower (650 million people) the results that are obtained in the western world by machinery. The speaker cited one instance he saw of a mountain being hacked away by hand, carted away, laid on the earth and literally thousands of women powdering the material for use as a lining for furnaces.

Another thought provoking example of what is happening in China today is that everybody between the ages of 15 and 25 years is a member of the local militia, who are armed with the very latest weapons.

A long question period followed this most interesting talk and Mr Philpott was thanked by Jerry Halquist.

Are you planning on building a fallout shelter

"Are you planning on building a basement fallout shelter as described in the Civil Defence booklet just released?"

This is a question the Review asked several residents of Summerland after an article on basement fallout shelters appeared in last week's paper.

These shelters, are for one family and designed for protection from radioactive fallout. Civil Defence authorities are urging every Canadian householder to give serious consideration to erecting a basement shelter.

When asked the above question, local Civil Defence co-ordinator Ivan Phillips said "it's something one has to prepare for. I will eventually be building a basement shelter for myself.

Reeve F. E. Atkinson said: "That for residents who have large houses, particularly 2-storey, with a large cement basement with very little cement above ground level, I think there would be adequate protection in the basement. For those who are not in this category serious consideration should be given to building a basement fallout shelter."

Dr. W. G. Evans: "I feel that the present root cellar under my home would be an adequate shelter for my family."

Rev. Norman Tannar: "The governments are getting us into this mess, they should provide the shelter and pay for them."

T. S. Manning: "I would not build a fallout shelter. But I think that anyone building a new home should give consideration to building such a fallout shelter."

Les Rumball: "I don't think fallout shelters are necessary in the interior."

Jack Kirk: "I'll stake my life against their ever using atomic bombs. The fear of retaliation is too great. I feel there will never be the necessity of using such a shelter."

If you are interested in finding out more about these basement fallout shelters Mr. Phillips has a number of booklets and plans available.

T. B. Young tells of pioneer homes

Quite a little has been said about some of the older places in lower town - and more of it will follow for this time we'll mention some of the older homes in the newer part of Summerland - what was known as West Summerland in an earlier day.

Information on this was obtained from T. B. Young, who said: "There were just four dwellings in West Summerland when I came (circa 1905). One of these is across the road from the Occidental and at that time was lived in by a family known as Mannel. They were a large family I recall. Mr Young wasn't able to tell where they had moved to or other particulars concerning them. But he did know about the house. "Louie Burnell lives in it now" he said.

"Another is the one we know of as the "Abbott" house and was in what is now the Solly subdivision. Tom Dale bought it in 1906 and moved it on wagons up the Baptist Church hill with a capston. It is now in the old Dale orchard and "Tiny" Ganzveld lives in it.

"The third house was across the road from this Dale house and owned by Jim Ritchie. This is now owned by our present reeve, Ted Atkinson and has been made into a duplex. That's all the real houses. But there was also a log barn on Wm. Ritchie's place that was lived in at the time by the Johnny Pierre Indian family. This building was sealed and frame roofed by Mr. Ritchie and used later as a warehouse" the pioneer stated. Another home owned by R. E. Abbott and built of concrete blocks was erected in 1906 in Prairie Valley and is where the Powell's now live, Mr. Young said.

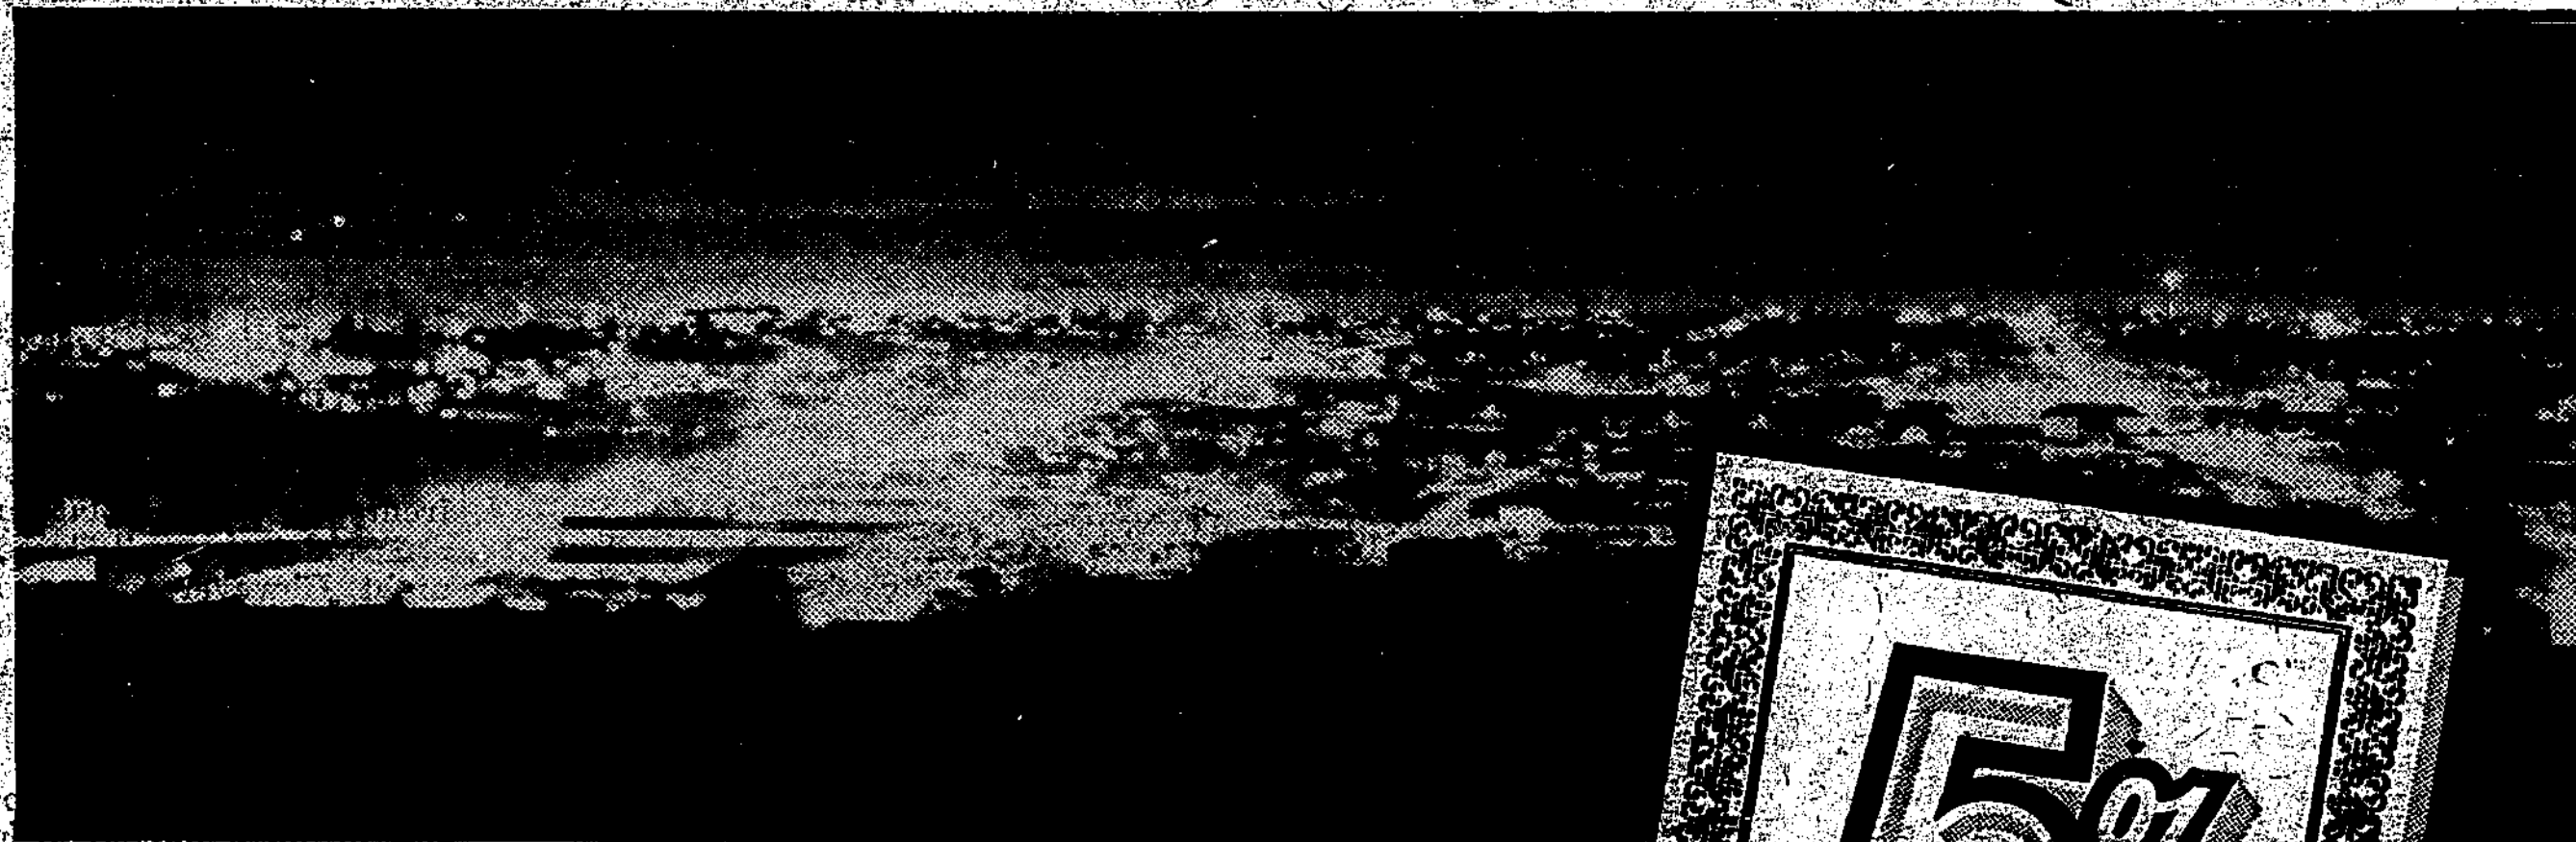

There certainly must be other old homes dating from a similar period. What's the history of the one you live in

Under the Giants Head

Saw another intriguing car licence the other day in town. It was oval shaped, white with black letters and painted right on the car. Jack Kirk set us straight - the car came from Great Britain.

Congratulations to Reverend Rathjen of the Summerland Pentecostal Church. He caught a ten-pound Kamloops Trout while fishing in Okanagan Lake near Wilson's Landing, where he and his family have been holidaying.

Dr. W. B. Munn and daughter Barbara are back from a fishing trip in the Shuswap area. The doctor, Barbara and Bill Bleasdale started out from the Bleasdale camp at Silvery Beach; travelled up the Narrows to the head of Seymour Arm, and visited the old home site mentioned recently in Lee Straight's column in the Vancouver Sun. While looking around an old deserted building they came upon an 1952 copy of The Summerland Review.

An interesting article entitled "Living With Diabetes" appeared in The Newsletter of the Canadian Diabetic Association recently. Written by a former Summerland resident the article gives some insight into the life of a diabetic. Following are a few excerpts:

"As I start my twentieth year as a diabetic it seems as if my entire life, as far back as I can remember has been diabetes, diet, insulin regular exercise etc. Most of the time it has been a friend but I sometimes thought of it as an enemy. My personal opinion is that it has made a better man of me.

"In those days sandwiches in lunches were unheard of as far as diabetes were concerned. This was one of the greatest problems we had to contend with. I had to carry raw vegetables, fruit or one of the few recipes that were then available. One slice of bread was a thrill to me in my lunch. This was the hardest on me when I went on picnics, as I was always given something different from anyone else. I imagine my parents, particularly my mother did not enjoy having to prepare them and to give them to me any more than I enjoyed trying to eat them.

"The teachers I had in school were all wonderful and were always told of my condition and what to do if I took sick. I learned afterwards that most of them always had something sweet handy and watched me like a hawk.

Being brought up in this fruit growing area had one disadvantage for me. Fruit was always plentiful and although it was part of my diet I always wanted to eat more of it and often did. Cherries were the worst for increasing blood sugar. I had to experiment until I was able to ascertain how many I could have in the morning and how many in the afternoon. Six cherries don't go very far.

"I am now happily married and have a darling daughter. I never feel I am looked down on because of my condition. By having diabetes I have a better understanding of my body and its functional parts and the many thresholds I have had to cross make anything possible if one keeps trying, hoping and living.

The Commission serves more than 250 growing communities.

The Geopola Thermal Unit serves Central Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands.

In 1958, the Campbell River hydro system was completed, adding another $100 million to the Commission's assets.

Summerland and tomorrow's agriculture

(This is one of a series of editorials on the challenge offered by the past to the people of the present.)

If you ask the average agriculturist — they called them "farmers" in 1909 — if there is any hope for expansion of any form of the "growing business" he will most likely scoff at you. But if you ask the self-same question of a man of science, one who has looked into the future food requirements of the inhabitants of this globe; you'll get an entirely different answer.

To reduce this to more familiar terms the fact is the world is today not producing sufficient food to keep itself fully fed. Always, at some point on the globe, and generally on two or three of them at once, there is a state of famine.

Bringing this nearer to home, we find that British Columbia is growing rapidly, and is even more rapidly absorbing what had been farm and fruit lands for manufacturing and living accommodation. We need go no farther than Penticton or Kelowna to get proof of this. The former city once had more than 2,600 acres of fruit and farm lands. Today it has a bare 2,000 — and more is being gobbed year by year.

This means that some other areas must meet the needs formerly supplied by those that have been diverted to other uses. And where could a better place for such development be than right here in Summerland? We have plenty of land that can produce good crops — not only of fruit but other products as well.

Merely talking about this will not be of much use, although it may keep the idea alive. What is required is long-range planning — and Summerland has the people who can do it, as the past has proven so well. That this ability is not dead is shown by the vision of the reconstruction of "lower town" which this paper outlined a few weeks ago.

We cannot ask the same group of people who have, and are still, putting in many many hours on this project to undertake the new one at this time, for they must concentrate on it for a long while yet, before it bears fruit.

Therefore, we must look elsewhere for leadership in placing Summerland's favorable agricultural position before the public when the proper time comes. We must look to this new group of men and women to first make a study of the situation, finding out how we shall be able to fit into the picture of the future, when our farmlands will be urgently needed.

And rest assured they will be required. And they will be developed, too, either by ourselves voluntarily or through some other channel that may not be quite so comfortable.

So, while you are talking about this to your neighbor, why not ask him and others, to get together with you and a few friends, to "talk this thing over"? That was how they did it in the older era — and we could not ask for a better example.

No Dogs Allowed On Beaches

Dogs do not belong on beaches, where people are gathered for picnics and swimming parties.

Your dog is as well off at home lying in the shade where he is cool and relaxed as tearing around among the sun bathers kicking sand in their faces.

A dog tearing in and out of the water with great puffs of sand flying, spraying water on those hapless individuals who are near, bumping into small fry near the edge of the water is a general nuisance.

So when you go to the beach this summer, please leave Rover at home where he belongs.

In Toronto, Rory Macdonald, a fiercely ambitious young Scot studying to be a naturalist, wins a summer job banding Canada geese to trace their migrations.

In the bleak muskeg country of James Bay, a Cree Indian girl, Kamina, educated with white people but rejected by the white community when she became a teacher is returning with bitterness in her heart to rejoin her illiterate family, and sink back into the harsh primitive life of her people.

Caught in the backlash of a hurricane, a wild barnacle goose is blown westward across the Atlantic from the Scottish island of Barra to Northern Canada.

The lives of these three are interwoven, and their story is dramatically told by C. F. Bodsworth in his new novel, "The Strange One" which arrived in Summerland this week.

Readers will be pleased to learn also that Joy Packer's more recent novel "The High Roof" is among the new arrivals. Set in the beautiful Cape Peninsular with its many social and racial distinctions, this is a novel of intimate human relationships. The central character, Kirsten has been disillusioned in adolescence by the second marriage of her lovely sophisticated mother, Terry to Pierre Delaporte, 12 years her mother's junior. There is no longer a place in Terry's life for her daughter and Kirsten is exiled to school abroad for four years. Her resentment at feeling "not wanted"; conditions her subsequent outlook on life, marriage and motherhood with far-reaching effects.

Slightly on the heavier side is one of the modern Yugoslav novels translated by Kenneth Johnstone, Ivo Andric's "Bosnian Story". This is a fascinating tale of Travnik, the capital of the Turkish Province of Bosnia in the early 19th Century. Here Napoleon sent a French consul to watch the interests of his ever expanding empire and avoid checkmate by an Austrian rival.

For non fiction readers a new biography on Delius by Sir Thomas Beecham may prove the most interesting.

These are just a few of the many new books to arrive at your library this week. For students of all ages there is also an admirable selection, so hurry along and make your choice, and cultivate the habit of reading during this long summer holiday.

Over 4,000 patients of the Provincial Mental Hospital, Crease Clinic and the Valleyview Hospital entertained approximately 6,000 relatives and friends during Essondale's 13th annual Carnival Day held July 13th. Highlights of the varied program were a colorful parade of 60 entries and a giant outdoor barbecue which served a ton of charcoal roasted beef. An outdoor stage with oriental backdrops (above) featured matinee and evening concerts with guest celebrities.

Ideal summer reading

by Rev. Norman Tannar

In the year 180 a group of Christians were brought before a Roman magistrate. When asked what they had in their church chest they replied "Ta Biblia" (The Books). This is the first reference to the scriptures as the Bible. The "To Biblia" were not like the books of today, but were manuscripts and scrolls. However, the name Bible gradually came into common usage and like so many of our customs and traditions became changed in meaning so that today we refer to the Bible as The Book. But the Bible is not a book or The Book, but a collection of books comprising a Divine Library.

It may well be that the reason the Bible is not so well read today, even though it still stops the "best sellers" list is because in this modern age of digests, articles, and short stories, and novels we are not conditioned to reading volumes running to about 1500 pages. However, if we consider the Bible as a Divine Library of 66 books, the longest being only 75 pages, the Bible for reading and study may be more readily appreciated.

We all plan to do some summer reading, why not a couple of books from the Divine Library of the Bible say one of the Gospels and a book from the Old Testament. The way to read the books of the Bible is simple. First read a book quickly and easily. Then read it chapter by chapter. Next read it verse by verse, and finally, word by word. Each reading will give you new insights into the wonderful word of God. Understanding the Bible is a process of growth — "first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear." Mark 4:28.

Arab Nuclear Engineer Advances Atomic Research

Argonne National Laboratory

Man's search for knowledge about the atom was advanced another step recently when an Egyptian scientist working at the Argonne National Laboratories in Lamont, Illinois, developed a revolutionary new device to speed up the flow of protons into atom smashers.

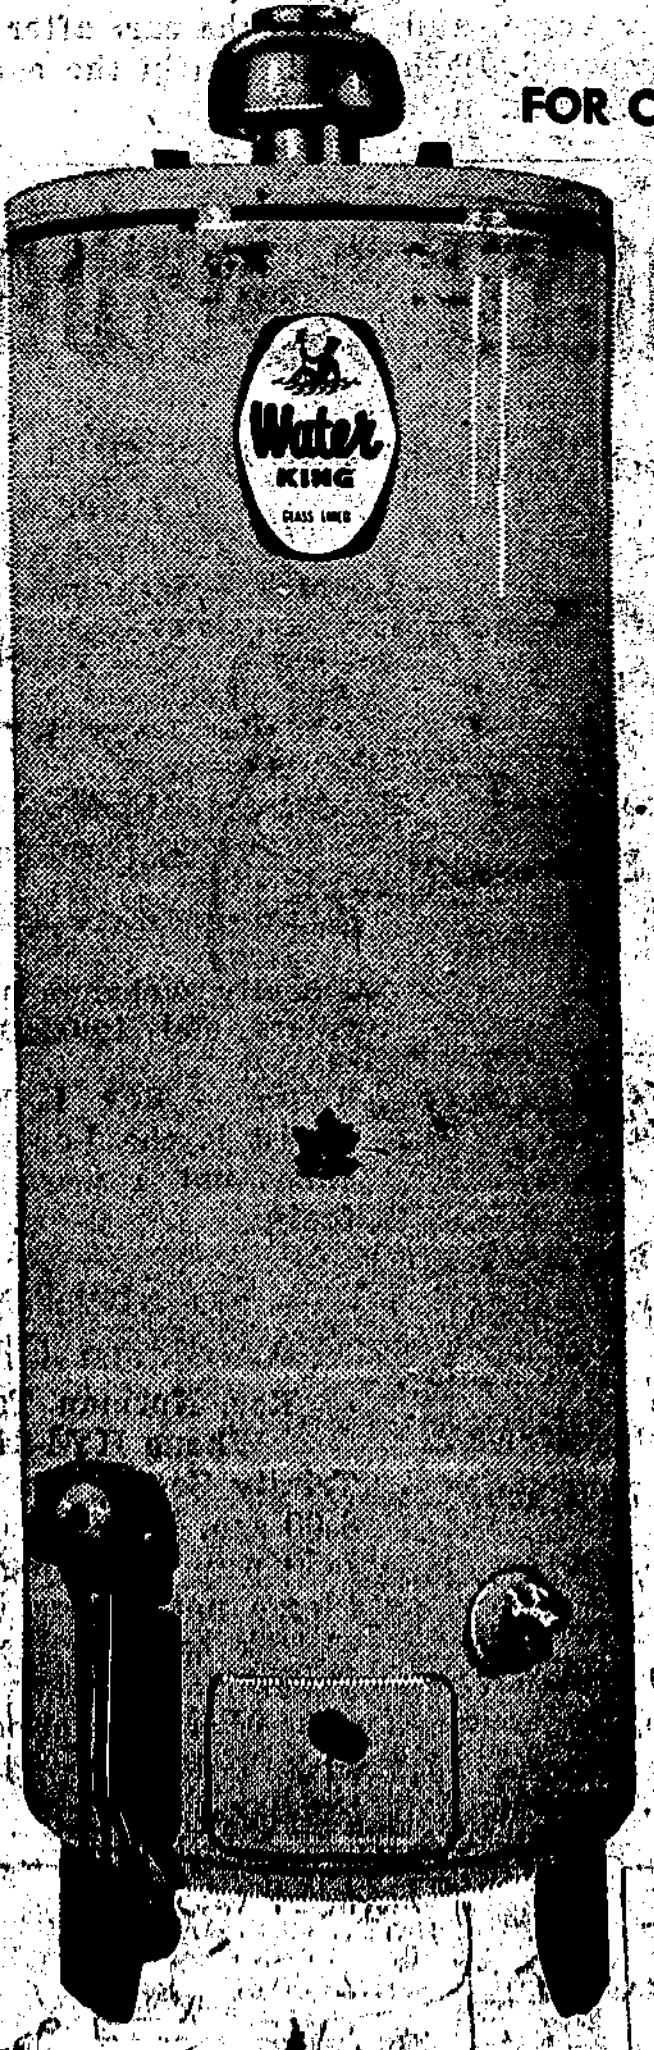

Intended primarily to improve methods of classifying unidentified atomic particles, the new device, designed by Dr. Mohammed Ismat Abdel-Aziz, a 30-year-old professor of engineering on leave from Helwan University in Cairo, is an injector for a synchrotron—an apparatus which combines high speed protons and other charged electric particles with electrical fields to split atoms.

The Arab engineer, who started his one-man project at Argonne last October when he was granted a fellowship by the International Agency for Atomic Energy, is conducting the research in cooperation with the laboratory's Linear Accelerator group. The new injector, which promises to be much more effective than previous types, now makes it possible for a beam of 50 million electron volts to be forced into the synchrotron.

Speaking of the project, Dr. Aziz, who studied electrical sciences at Durham University in England, will only admit modestly that he has enjoyed "some success" in his work.

Martyrs' Memorial

The Lebanese version of the Statue of Liberty has recently been designed for this Arab country by Mario Bazzacuratti, a world famous Italian sculptor. The huge bronze statue shows Liberty carrying a torch and guiding the youth of Lebanon. At the base of the statue, two Lebanese figures of the past cast off the shackles of colonialism.

The statue was set up Beirut late in April and was unveiled and dedicated by President Chehab in a formal ceremony recently.

Tunisian Waters Yield Precious Catch!!

The waters near the little-known Tunisian town of Mahdia, one of the most ancient seats of archaeological discovery, have yielded enough treasures to fill six rooms at the famous Bardo Museum.

More than 2,000 years ago, when Carthage was the center of Mediterranean maritime commerce, Tunisia had developed a thriving sponge and coral fishing industry. As the 900-mile Tunisian coastline, which varies greatly in form and depth, began to take its toll of heavy-laden merchant vessels, Tunisian underwater fishermen found their waters becoming even more profitable.

Perhaps the most important discovery made off the coast of Mahdia in recent times was an ancient ship which the sponge fishermen found three miles out and at a depth of 19 fathoms. This find sparked organized expeditions in search of sunken treasures. Five such expeditions were launched between 1903 and 1913.

One of the ancient vessels which was discovered in this area contained numerous pieces of Greek art which probably came from the pillage of Athens by Sylla during the 2nd century B.C. This find has been described by archaeological scholars as second only to the discoveries made at Pompeii.

Controlled atmosphere storage for MacIntosh apples in British Columbia

The storage life of MacIntosh apples grown in British Columbia can be extended by controlled atmosphere storage, says S. W. Porritt of the Research Station here.

Under controlled atmosphere storage the temperature is kept a little higher than in ordinary cold storage and the amount of carbon dioxide and oxygen in the storage room atmosphere is controlled.

This type of storage is relatively new in B.C. although it has been used for over 20 years in Eastern Canada.

The controlled atmosphere method of storage has not developed in B.C. because a large percentage of the apples grown are Delicious and Winesap, two varieties that generally do not benefit sufficiently from this method of storage to justify the added cost.

In conventional storage at 30 to 32 degrees F., tissues around the cores of apples turn brown, a disorder known as core flush. It is caused by the fruit aging too quickly and can be prevented by controlled atmosphere storage at 35 to 38 degrees F.

It appears that optimum temperatures and the amounts of gasses required for controlled atmosphere storage are different in different localities.

Experiments in controlled atmosphere storage were begun at Summerland in 1907. However no commercial development occurred until 1956 when two 10,000 bushel storage rooms were built in Kelowna.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

One of the fiercest competitors the game has ever known, Ted Lindsay announced his retirement after 16 seasons in the NHL. Ted is going to devote all his energy to business, a partnership with ex-teammate Marty Pavelich.

Macs split with Vernon

The Summerland Macs and league leading Vernon Carlings split a double header in Vernon on Sunday; the first game 12-2 for Vernon with the Macs coming back to take the night cap 8-7.

Macs opened strong in the first game as Al Hooker blasted a two run homer over the left field wall but Vernon came right back with the same thing on a homer by Wheelhouse and then added two more runs to take a 2 run lead. They got one more in the third three in the fourth and four in the fifth for a 12-2 lead. Eddie Menu relieved Hooker for the last two innings allowing only one hit and no runs. The totals for Vernon were 12 runs on 14 hits and one error while Macs had 2 runs on 7 hits and they made 3 errors. Hooker was the big man with the bat with a perfect 3 for 3.

In the second game Sheelie started on the mound and pitched good ball for the 7 1-3 innings he worked holding Vernon to 5 hits.

Vernon started fast getting a run in the first and one in the second. Summerland tied the score in the second only to have Vernon go one up in the fourth to make the score 3-2. The Macs came back in a wild 8th inning to score 5 runs; they got another in the 8th which turned out to be the winner as Vernon got to Sheelie in the 8th for four runs and had the bases loaded.

Menu came on in relief again and put out the fire getting Brummett on a sacrifice and striking out Hechalo. Big Ed Menu is fast turning into one of the better relief pitchers. On Sunday he went in twice for two innings each time, allowing only one hit and no runs. Al Hooker was again the big man with the bat getting 3 for 4. This game him 6 for 7 and brought his average up to .381 percent.

Next league action for the Macs will be a single game on Sunday in Summerland with Pentiction. Game time is 1:30.

SPORTS

Square 'em up

Summerland's Ray Fredrickson emceed the outdoor dance at Oliver's Square Dance Corral on Saturday night. Sixteen of us drove down to enjoy dancing in the pleasantly cool evening to Ray's customary fine calling. This was the first Oliver dance Ray has emceed and judging from the way the dancers responded, it won't be long before he is asked again.

On Sunday at Westside Beach Chuck Inglis put 5 squares through their Aquaducks course. Stella Martin passed her test though the going was rough in the wavy water. Six Summerland couples and their families had picnic supper there with square dancers from other towns and afterwards squared up on the blacktop strip by the ferry docks for a couple of hours.

My thanks to the girls who helped with the phoning this week. It takes a lot of time contacting people these busy days and we all appreciate your effort.

The final preparations for the Trail Dance are the important jobs for the next few days. Members who volunteered to street dance in Pentiction the morning of August 2 will be contacted and if anyone else feels they could manage it please phone David Munn.

If you have flowers to decorate the hall for the Trail Dance would you please leave them at the Youth Centre before 10 a.m. or let Ruth Munn know so they can be picked up.

Following is the schedule of dances for next week.

Saturday, July 30: Apricot Fundae Dance; Oliver Square Dance; Corral; MC: Bill French.

Monday, August 1: Peachland Trail Dance; Peachland Athletic Hall; MC: Chuck Inglis; Oliver Square dance corral; Ed Stebor MC Pentiction Promenaders, on outdoor floor; Elsie Barritt MC.

Tuesday, August 2: Pairs and Squares Trail Dance; Summerland Youth Centre; Roy Fredrickson MC; Wheel 'n' Stars dance; Pentiction outdoor floor; Les Boyer, MC.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday; outdoor floor Pentiction Promenaders dance; Percy Coulter MC; Peach Festival Committee dances with Bill Ireland; Les McConville and Dawn Draper as MC's.

See you all at the Youth Centre at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, August 2.

On The Rifle range

by Herb Simpson

It will be a big day at the range Sunday, July 31 as members from coast and inland clubs will gather here for the annual invitation shoot. Some of Canada's finest rifle shots will be competing for trophies and cash prizes. The major award is the Dunsdon Shield for the high aggregate score of the three matches held at 200, 500 and 800 yards. This shield was presented to the club several years ago by Pop Dunsdon and sons, and so far it has never been won by a local shooter. A five man team runs concurrently with the other matches.

A work party was held at Harold Richardson's home Monday evening to re-face all the targets as the size of the bullseye had to be reduced to conform with the new regulations. So with all preparations completed, or under control, we are looking forward to a very successful shoot.
