the student council, and shows qualities of leadership. The Summerland scholarship is a cash award of $200 and is presented for high academic standing.

The Cranna awards are watches given to the boy and girl with the highest academic standing.

The home economics award is a rose bowl presented by the Summerland Women's Institute to the home economics graduate with the highest standing.

The Kiwanis bursary is $100 to be given to a student. If they plan to attend UBC, the university matches the $100.

Later in the year bursaries are given from the Summerland and District Credit Union and the Summerland branch of the Canadian Legion.

The address to the graduates will be given by Mr. F. C. Boyes.

Congratulations Graduates

The British Columbia Teachers' Federation offers congratulations to this month's high school graduates.

Teachers are proud of the students graduating from our schools.

As graduates of an educational system which is one of the finest, our boys and girls have received the grounding necessary to prepare them to meet the challenges of further study or immediate employment.

Never has the need for teachers been greater. When they choose their vocation, we hope many of this year graduates will decide to enter the teaching profession.

Prize winners in Horticultural meeting

The Summerland Horticultural Society met in the Parish Hall on May 20 with vice president Dr. McIntosh in the chair for a very short business meeting.

The few members who were present produced a colorful display of spring flowers to make up eight classes of prize blooms: 21 kinds of flowering shrubs, and 23 kinds of wild flowers. Prize winners were class 1, Narcissus, Mrs. Bingham; Mrs. Tait; Class 2, tulips; Darwins; W. Snow; Mrs. Ward; Class 3, tulips, other type; Mrs. Ward; W. Snow; Class 4, bowl of polyanthus, W. Snow, Miss Tait; Class 7 iris; Mrs. Bingham, Miss Tait; Class 8, bowl of spring flowers; Miss Tait, W. Snow; Class 9, decorative arrangement of rockery plants; Mrs. Bingham; Class 10, any other variety flowers; W. Snow, Miss Tait.

Miss Tait arranged a display of wild flowers containing 23 kinds of interesting and lovely flowers found on local hillsides in May.

Twenty-one types of flowering shrubs were named and displayed by members in whose gardens they were grown.

The annual rose show was discussed and it was thought that due to the recent retarding weather it would probably be July before the roses were at their best for show purposes. The prize lists will be ready for distribution at the June meeting and date of show advertised in the paper as soon as possible.

A sale of plants donated by members, distributed some new varieties of mums and snaps and other plants among the possible summer and fall flower show exhibitors.

The pleasant evening was closed with tea served by Miss Tait and assistants.

The Torch is Yours

On Friday of this week 51 young people of the Summerland High School will be honored with closing exercises. To this class of graduates go congratulations and very best wishes.

These young people who are tomorrow's business men and community leaders are graduating at a vitally important period when the challenge of youth in our country is at its peak. They will have great responsibilities to shoulder but there are great opportunities for them ahead. The future is theirs to determine.

They have just passed a milestone in the preparation for that future. The torch of freedom is in their hands to carry and uphold. We have confidence in them and feel that our future is in capable hands.

May each of them adopt these ten points which every true and loyal Canadian should live by:

Live at all times in fellowship with God; Live in true comradeship with humanity; let all your dealings with your fellowmen be generous and just; Scorn that which is petty and contemptible; Be careful in speech and act; Be loyal to your own convictions, yet tolerant of others; Keep your self respect, self control and self reliance; Have the courage to face ingratitude and not be bitter; Have the heart to lend a helping hand; Extend the handclasp of sympathy and speak words of encouragement; Keep up your personal appearance; Have the strength to live up to the fullness of your possibilities.

So, to the graduate we say:
A toast to you my young graduate;
With glory of youth in your soul;
With your eager longing for service;
And your quest of a worth-while goal.
There are hills and mountains to traverse;
There is much to desire and do;
On some high peak of an unknown crest;
A star has been fashioned for you;
You'll reach it steadily by climbing;
The paths may seem rugged and bleak,
But you'll find the most gorgeous sunshine
As you work toward that distant peak.
You can light the star when you reach it
No other will make just that goal.
Find the path! Go upward! Be steadfast!
You carry the torch in your soul.

Should learn to swim

With the sun putting in an occasional appearance and the weatherman showing an inclination to waft balmy breezes our way, grown-ups and youngsters are again beginning to dream of long, happy hours along the banks of rivers and streams and on the beaches and waters of lakes.

A finer, healthier pastime than this is hard to imagine. At the same time, parents and adults generally should keep in mind the extreme hazards encountered by children playing unattended in or near water. Last year, 28 children nine years of age and under lost their lives in this province through water accidents.

Once again swimming classes sponsored by the Summerland Rotary Club will be starting on Wednesday, July 6 at Rotary Beach. Under the instruction of a competent instructor, free swimming lessons will be given to all children 6 years to 15 years inclusive.

An advertisement containing a registration form and giving further details of the swimming classes, appears on the back page of this week's Review.

We urge parents to take the initiative in seeing to it that their child is not included when the 1960 figures on accidental drownings are tabulated.

Report from Parliament Hill

By David Pugh, MP

This week in parliament has been interesting in that it saw the completion of the fourth supply motion. During each session there are six of these and each one provides an opportunity for the Opposition to lambaste the Government on any issue on which they feel so inclined. Each debate is two days in duration and this year we have had motions on the Atlantic provinces, Canada's trade position and transportation in the country. The last one covered the advisability of setting up an advisory board on economic development and automation. It was quite an interesting debate.

Of particular interest to the province of British Columbia was the speech made by Mr. Browne, MP, Vancouver-Kingsway who pointed out a great many things the Government has done, all of which is set out in Hansard commencing at page 4152. A summary of grants both conditional and unconditional shows this and it is interesting to note that the total of such payments by the Federal Government to the Province of British Columbia has grown tremendously. In 1956-57 it amounted to $75,917,000 and in 1960-61 it will be $136,701,000.

Another interesting point shown is that income tax has decreased comparing 1956 and 1959 filings. This is true for all persons with a taxable income of $4000 or less. You must remember that a taxable income is your gross income less your own personal exemptions. You might find it interesting to check these figures on the 1956 and 1959 returns.

Yesterday I spoke briefly in the House of Commons on what I felt was an injustice in the Cawston-Keremeos area; namely the lifting of freight assistance on feed grains which are brought there by American railways. This area is served by one railway only the Great Northern and I believe it is unique in Canada in that it is the only area where cattlemen and poultrymen are adversely affected.

A Safe Refuge

(This week's message by Association is written by the Summerland Ministerial Rev. D. M. Rathjen.

Have you a place of refuge in this earth that is rocking, crumbling and threatened with atomic destruction? It would seem now that there is little certainty of safety anywhere on this old globe. Hope of escape to another planet is little more than a fanciful dream even with all our modern inventions. Where can we turn for shelter?

The Psalmist, David, was certain of a sure place of safety and he writes of it again and again in the Book of Psalms. Psalm 46 reads: "God is our refuge; and strength, a very present help in time of trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed and though the mountains be carried in of the midst of the sea; though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof. What a wonderful thing to know that the Almighty God is our refuge for time and eternity. The assurance of that fact should relieve us of all our fears.

God waits for us to avail ourselves of His gracious protection and possible through the work of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, our Saviour.

Renovations Completed at Bud's Garage

The renovation, and expansion of Bud's Garage, operated by Mr. and Mrs. E. (Bud) Rusaw has considerably improved and brightened the business district of West Summerland. The confidence they have expressed in the future of Summerland by their expansion is most gratifying.

The large modern, white garage with its large show-room windows will better enable Bud's Garage to display its complete line of car accessories and parts. A complete line of Goodyear and Dominion Royal tires is stocked by Bud.

The modern gas pumps, located off the street, enable the motorist to fill up his car with famous Home gas and oil.

Bud's Garrage has modern equipment and skilled mechanics to handle all car, truck and tractor repairs and a towing service is available.

The garage is open daily from 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and closed on Sundays.

A unique service of Bud's Garage is the Giant's Head Tour. This tour, recommended by the Summerland Board of Trade, is an exciting ride by jeep to the top of Giant's Head Mountain. Tours will leave anytime and it is a worthwhile trip to get a wonderful view of the Okanagan.

General contractor for the renovations to Bud's Garage was John Berg; building material was supplied by T. S. Manning, electrical work by Schaeffer Electric and heating units installed by Selinger Plumbing and Heating.

Kiwanis Club Notes

Tuesday night saw the usual meeting of the Kiwanis Club. The club singing was led by Ken Heales and two important dates were mentioned by the president. The fall conference this week end in Prince George on Saturday and Sunday and the visit to Summerland this coming Thursday of the district governor of Kiwanis, when a luncheon has been arranged at the usual club meeting place. All members who can be asked to attend with their wives.

Will members please take note, that next week the club will meet at the usual time at Hilly Smith's house and NOT at the cafe.

A long discussion was held on the subject of fluoridation and the matter was left in the hands of the directors with the club expressing their opinion in the matter. It is interesting to note that nine medical associations in Canada have given it their unqualified approval as have twelve medical associations in the USA and no less than seventy-five universities also state that this is the first practical attempt to avoid the enormous amount of dental trouble that is so prevalent today. It would seem that it is an excellent project and should be thoughtfully considered by all.

A directors meeting was held after the club meeting. The Scribe.

Mrs. Emil Bonthoux and Mrs. Tom Fisher leave this week end to attend the B.C. convention of Auxiliaries to the Canadian Legion.

Dog recovering from gunshot wound

Last Sunday morning the Frank Bennison's dog Pepper came home with a gunshot wound in his side. Perhaps the little fellow had been trespassing on someone else's property but it only takes a moment and it could have saved a lot of heartache for the children who loved him. Incidentally, for animal fanciers who dislike this sort of thing, the dog is still living and has a good chance of pulling through. RCMP are investigating.

Miss Jean Bennest R. N. is substituting as district welfare worker for Mrs. Preddy who is ill.

LA meeting held

At a meeting of the Local Guide Association last Wednesday evening Mrs. Ross MacLachlan was introduced as the new district commissioner for Summerland and Peachland, taking the place of Mrs. Nora Kopp of Peachland who has recently resigned. It was pointed out that the district commissioner acts not only as liaison officer between the LA and the Guides, but is actually chief executive officer of the Local Association itself. As such Mrs. MacLachlan is well fitted for her new position having already experienced three years as president of the association during which her efficiency and devotion to Guiding proved invaluable.

Treasurer Mrs. B. Swinerton gave a comprehensive report on the budget pointing out that with a balance of $452.78, the LA now has sufficient funds to meet all present commitments including its annual contribution to the Girl Guide camp site fund. The Guides and Brownies themselves have raised approximately $72 towards this fund and the LA will make up the balance to the required amount of $264 which is Summerland's quota.

Cookie Day this year was reported to have been an outstanding success by Mrs. Mel Hyde who convened the effort. $373.55 was collected in all, but a certain percentage of this is sent away for use by provincial headquarters. It was decided that next year more cookies should be ordered for sale, as this year was a "sell out" and supplies were not quite sufficient to meet demand.

Thanks were expressed to those noble Kiwanians who spent the recent holiday week end at the Girl Guide campsite laying linoleum and making improvements to the kitchen and surrounding areas. Messrs. Tamblin Halquist; Scottie Ritchie; Bill Laidlaw, Ed McGillivray and Earl Sfitz were mentioned; also Bruce Blagborne who has spent most of the past week working on the spot.

The next meeting of the LA will be held at the home of Mrs. Ken Storey on June 22 at 8 p.m. This will be the final meeting before the summer holidays and refreshments will be served.

How is your SCQ? standing

How is your SCQ? This is the central idea of the house 2 assembly on Friday afternoon. SCQ stands for your "School Citizenship Quota" or your general school spirit.

Mr. Slouch, the accused, was found guilty of a lack of school spirit, littering the park at noon hour and sticking gum under desks. His punishment was compulsory pep club membership and attending all the school functions.

Slight revisions to the new constitution were made and passed at the assembly before final approval. The assembly closed with "The Queen."

Fine Arts Ministry Presents Band Concert

On May 27 the Fine Arts Ministry presented a successful band concert with approximately 300 present.

First on the program was the senior band, in which Cliff Dunsdon, trumpeter, soloed in "The Holy City".

Next was the junior band under the direction of Mr. Storey.

The Summerland queen candidates all did very well in their speeches in the half hour allowed for them before intermission.

After intermission the senior band played again, using a Spanish theme.

The profits of this concert will be used for furthering the work of the band.

Constitution changes okayed by 81 percent

An 81 per cent majority passed the new school constitution on Monday.

The old constitution was completely revised by a committee of three headed by David Davis, and with Audrey Henly and John Bergstrom. The committee sent to six other schools for their constitutions to use as a guide. This new constitution is representative of a year's hard work on the part of the three.

It was read to the classes for approval and the final revisions were made at the Friday assembly and at Monday noon.

The major change is the setting up of ministries with the students council president as the lead. The three ministries are: the athletic, in charge of all sports and athletic functions; social, in charge of dances and parties; and fine art ministry, in charge of band, drama and all club activities.

Girls win Tournney

Summerland was host to four senior girls softball teams on May 28. Summerland won the first game against Penticton by a wide margin and entered the playoffs against Kelowna who had beaten Oliver and Rutland. In this game, Summerland trounced Kelowna to retain the trophy for the second year.

The senior boys placed second in the tournament in Rutland. They beat Oliver and George Pringle, but lost to Rutland who won the tournament.

Macs lose to Kelowna

The Summerland Macs got a bad game on of their systems Sunday and went down to a 10-6 defeat at the hands of the Kelowna Labatts.

The Macs started strong, scoring one run in the first inning and holding Kelowna scoreless until the fourth.

Sheeley was on the mound for the Macs and pitched good ball until the fatal 4th when 5 hits and an error gave the Labatts 5 runs. Hooker came on in relief and gave up four runs in the five innings he worked.

The Macs came to life in the fifth to score a run on a long home run over the centre field fence by Al Hooker. They scored three more in the 8th. Although they loaded the bases in the 9th they could only score once.

The Macs matched hit for hit with the Kelowna team each getting 14, but errors were the story as the Macs had 6 and Kelowna none.

O'Neill with two beautiful drag bunts and a single over 2nd played heads up all the way. Christante with 2 for 4 and 3 RBI's and Al Hooker with 3 for 3 including his home run were the men with the big sticks. Taylor with 2 for 4 has started to hit the ball again and will be a big threat from now on.

The Macs are off to Trail

for a Saturday night and Sunday afternoon double header this week end. On Thursday they are in Kelowna under the lights and the following week end Trail is here for two Sunday games.

Promenade

With dances at both Oliver and Peachland last Saturday, dancers in all parts of the valley didn't have too far to drive for an evening's fun.

At their meeting Sunday afternoon the Callers and Teachers Association drew up a constitution. No further meetings will be held until the fall.

June promises to be a busy one for party goers with some fine callers lined up by the various clubs.

Peach City Promenaders have Barry Garland of Seattle to MC their dance in the Youth Centre in Summerland this Saturday. Refreshments will be served.

There will also be a party in Bridesville that night, with Fred Proulx emcee.

Other dances to look forward to are: June 11 at the Westbank Community Hall Westsyde Squares; with Ray Frederickson of Summerland MC.

June 18 in Summerland Youth Centre Pairs and Squares summertime party night, Chuck Inglis MC.

Sign contracts

Mrs. Campbell reported that the summer skating program is shaping up well, members present.

Either signature valid, modern mates decide

Time was when the "obey" part of the bride's marriage vows was a pretty literal undertaking. Now more generally a quaint morsel of tradition, most modern couples making mutual decisions instead.

One major convenience in operating today's family finances, which more and more people are discovering, is a Bank of Montreal joint account.

Besides representing a fine symbol of distaff progress, a joint account makes money management a lot easier. When her husband is away, the lady of the house can sign cheques and eliminate the problem of keeping cash at home. Both parties have all the convenience of the account and both can make deposits as they choose.

Mr. Smith, accountant at the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal will be glad to show you how easy it is to open a modern joint account, just one more item in the B of M's catalogue of helpful services for modern living. See Mr. Smith soon.

Art Show Successful

The Summerland Art Club presented its seventh annual art show on Saturday, June 4 in the IOOF Hall from 2 to 9 p.m.

This year showed the largest attendance of interested viewers to date. More than 250 visitors, including many from Kelowna to Penticton were coming and going through the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. A. J. Mann, well-known artist and former Summerland resident has given a scholarship for tuition at the Okanagan Summer School of Fine Arts; this was presented to Ted Miles, by Mrs. John Tamblyn, president of the Art Club. Proceeds from the Art Show will provide two more scholarships to the Fine Arts Summer School, awards to be announced later.

This year's show was extremely interesting in the wide range of subject matter and treatment, exhibits covering the whole range from traditional to abstract portraits; landscapes; flowers and fruit and abstracts done in oil, water color and pastels. One professional artist commented that the exhibit would compare favorably with other such shows anywhere.

There was also a fine display of pottery by Peg and Des Loan which lent a fine note to the show.

A new feature this year was "portraits on the spot" Mrs. Kay Madson, a Californian portrait painter at present resident in Trout Creek, and Gwen Penny were kept busy making pastel portraits of many of the boys and girls present.

Following the graduates' march, the invocation was given by Rev. Kennedy.

Johann Bergstrom and Wesley Schindel were both awarded the Summerland municipal scholarship for highest standing. The Cranra awards of wrist watches also went to Johann and Wesley.

The Verrier award, presented to the best all-round student and the Home Economics award, a rose bowl presented by Mrs. Sandy Fenwick, both went to Lynn Bleasdale.

Miss Ruth Dale presented the Summerland Teachers' bursary to Carolyn Reid.

The Kiwanis club made a double award to Stanley Krause and Alex Nagy.

The class poem was read by Elinor Raincock and Wesley Schindel was valedictorian.

Guest speaker was F. C. Boyes professor of the college of education. In a speech of wit and wisdom Mr. Boyes stressed greater understanding of our fellow man. Science and technology have made our world very small. "Everyone, everywhere is in our living room so we have to respect all other people in

Something new for Summerland

Would you like to engage in a new and interesting activity next winter in Summerland?

A project, new for Summerland, but well established in other centers is the formation of a liberal arts informal discussion groups called "Living Room Learning".

These groups have created great interest in Vancouver, Victoria, Prince George, New Westminster, Powell River, Grand Forks Trail and Nelson and many other points in the province. It is believed that Summerland residents will find participation in these new ideas equally rewarding.

It is hoped that this project will reach many people here in its appeal to all; and especially those outside the regular formal art groups. If you are interested in ideas and the exchange of ideas with your friends this is for you.

These informal discussion groups are to be "fun" and they will be stimulating in their "want to know" interest and in the comradeship of people of like interests and inquiring minds. Although the subject matter will be of a serious nature it will not be "heavy" and will have a wide appeal to many and varied interests.

Two main topics have been outlined for the winter program in Summerland: "An introduction to the Humanities" (music; painting; poetry; literature etc.) (10 weeks and "The ways of justice" (6 weeks) a new subject, this year.

Those participating in these discussion groups will be given specially prepared booklets on the chosen subjects to be read before the

Trout Creek cabin robbed

Sometime between December of last year and April of this year, a cabin in Trout Creek owned by J. M. Landry was broken into. Household goods and personal belongings of Mr. J. Bergues of San Francisco, valued at $700 were taken. Summerland RCMP would appreciate any information concerning this theft.

More scholarships to summer school

More scholarships have been donated by Summerland residents for the Okanagan Summer School of Fine Arts. Mrs. A. J. Mann donated a scholarship for art and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson donated a scholarship for a music student. The executive members of the Summerland Overture Concert Association have given a scholarship for a senior band student. Other Summerland scholarships include one from Mr. Scottie Ritchie and two from the Summerland Art Club.

Municipal council finds power costs vary

The municipal council of Summerland says a survey of power costs in the Okanagan Valley shows a large discrepancy in different areas.

Council said Tuesday that its survey showed that the BC Power Commission charges $25 for 1500 kilowatt hours in Peachland and $23 for the same number of hours in Vernon.

It said the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. supplies power to Summerland for resale to the public at $15.25 for 1500 kwh.

In Penticton where a similar system prevails cost is $20 for the same amount of power.

Council's survey covered cities across Canada and in the U.S. and says power costs at the consumer level hold no fixed pattern.

Costs are based on 1500 kwh consumption in residences that include normal household electrical appliances and hot water heating.

That with West Kootenay Power & Light has a monthly cost of $12.75. Nearby Creston with the same power company pays $21.10.

Nanaimo, Duncan and Vernon all using B.C. Power facilities pay $23 while Chetwynd pays $52.50.

In between comes Peachland and Slovan with respective power costs of $25 and $26.

In Vancouver the user of 1500 kilowatt hours pays the BC Electric $22.44 and in Toronto pays Ontario $19.23.

Peterborough on the same system pays $18.25 while rural users of Ontario Hydro need an average of $25.92 for 1500 hours.

Winnipeg pays $14.76; Montreal $13.72; Seattle $12; Tacoma $12.02; Memphis $11.25; Princeton $14.40; Grand Forks $19 and Nelson $17.00. Nelson is on its own city system.

Summerland council has made no recommendations on the survey.

"It was just made out of interest" Reeve, F. E. Atkinson said. "We knew we were giving pretty good service at a lower rate than most, so decided to check into the matter officially"

Come and have fun talking things over with your friends in the long winter evenings. M.A.

First birthday for Thrift Shop

Serving the community in many ways the Hospital Auxiliary's Thrift Shop is celebrating its birthday this month. Opening in the first week of June last year it has been a very profitable project, helping those who like to find a bargain and turning every bit of usable goods into pennies, nickles and dimes that turn into dollars for our hospital.

Members of the Auxiliary not only serve behind the counter on Tuesday and Saturday afternoons but put many hours behind the scenes sorting, and pressing clothes and pricing them at very low attractive prices. Every day is bargain day at the Thrift Shop and even the lowly nickel is still worth something. The nickel bins are constantly being refilled and are well worth digging into.

Children outgrow clothes so quickly they seldom wear out with one child's wearing and when passed on are a boon to someone else and children's clothing is in great demand. Household goods don't remain long on the shelves and dishes are picked up as soon as they are displayed.

Nothing is lost as the Auxiliary members salvage every button, and zipper from clothes that are past wearing and the material is sold for rags or turned over to be made into blankets. What you have no further use for may be just what someone else is looking for so there is very little that finally is discarded.

The good people of Summerland are most helpful and have supported the Hospital Auxiliary Thrift Shop so well and it's thanks to them that it has been a very successful venture during its first year.

The Auxiliary would like to thank one and all for their support and hope they will continue to be favored with your patronage and also hope that you will think of them when you have anything that you are finished with that might be of service to someone else.

A new X-ray machine is needed for our hospital and every effort is being made to obtain it this year, that being the immediate project of the Hospital Auxiliary.

Smith speaks at Naramata

In a speech made in Naramata last week Harrison Smith, the Progressive Conservative candidate for South Okanagan, charged the British Columbia government with deliberately not accounting to the people for the contribution of the federal government towards hospitals and with diverting money due hospitals from sales tax collections for other purposes.

Harrison Smith stated, "The Progressive Conservative party has pledged to provide a bed for every acute chronic and mentally ill patient in British Columbia." Mr. Smith said that this promise could be fulfilled from the present revenue collected by the province together with the increased grant from the federal government which comes into effect this year.

Don't Do it Yourself

Build your own basement recreation room, paint your own house, and even repair your own TV set if you can, but don't try to "do it yourself" if you need treatment for arthritis or other rheumatic diseases.

That's the advice of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, B.C. Division.

The "do it yourself" craze has caught on like wildfire, says CARS, and it's a great idea for the home hand-man with the necessary skills to find relaxation and pleasure in various projects and to save money at the same time.

Arthritis sufferers according to Dr. H. S. Robinson CARS Medical Director for B.C., seem particularly prone to try all sorts of treatments without the advice of a doctor. They'll try special diets which are supposed to "oil the joints", wear copper bracelets, take patent medicines which promise impossible benefits, and heed the advice of all manner of self-styled "experts" who base their knowledge of arthritis on the experience of their Aunt Minnie or their Uncle Joe.

These attempts to treat themselves are dangerous for arthritis sufferers, Dr. Robinson said, because, while many forms of the disease are not serious or crippling, they can become so through neglect or improper treatment. The best place to go for advice on arthritis or other rheumatic diseases is to your own doctor, says CARS.

$1000 is the quota set for Summerland for the annual campaign for CARS this year. This is the minimum amount of money needed to treat patients in Summerland and give the necessary support to research projects. A door to door canvass conducted by Faith Rebekah Lodge No. 32 for CARS begins June 13 and will continue to the end of the month.

No fun to be Frantic

"The day has gone," claims the Canadian Highway Safety Council, "when the motorist on vacation must scurry like a hounded hare over the highway."

"Relax!" is the holiday highway slogan today and the Council has issued a plea to all vacationing motorists to drive for pleasure, allot plenty of time for a trip, stop often, and most important, forget about jockeying for position in traffic. "Motoring can be fun," the Council claims, "but not if it's frantic."

The Council issued this plea for relaxed driving in connection with the continent-wide "Slow Down and Live" campaign, scheduled to run through June, July and August in Canada, the United States and Puerto Rico. Sponsored nationally in Canada by the CHSC, the campaign operates internationally under the guidance of the Association of State and Provincial Safety Co-ordinators. Its 1960 theme is "Highway safety makes driving fun."

"Slow down and live" promotion will include urgent requests that motorists obey the rules of road no matter where or in what country they drive. Relaxed and resourceful driving, CHSC said, can bring back some of the enjoyment in motoring that existed before the highways became over-populated with vehicles.

One Day at a time

There are two days in every week about which we should not worry — two days which should be kept free from fear and apprehension.

One of these days is yesterday with its mistakes, and cares, its faults and blunders. The other day we should not worry about is tomorrow with its possible adversities, its burdens, its large promise and poor performance.

That leaves only one day — today. Any man can fight the battles of just one day. It is only when you and I add the burdens of those two awful eternities — yesterday and tomorrow — that we break down.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

Books at the library

by Freda Storey

The ever popular "How Green is my Valley" by Richard Llewellyn has a sequel. Published this year "Up into the Singing Mountains" is written in the same disarming style as its predecessor and as the critics say "is Llewellyn at his best."

Huw Morgan, following his brothers and sisters who had begun to migrate from the valley in Wales, leaves home to find a new life in a Welsh colony in Patagonia far down in South America. This delightful story tells of his further adventures as he emigrated; of his success in a new country; his troubles with the Widow Glenn whose boarding house interests were not always confined to household management and of the perplexing Corwen girls with one of whom he falls in love.

"Up into the singing mountains" has just arrived in the Summerland library together with a large number of other new publications. James McNamee's first book "Florence Bay" may intrigue some of our readers. It won a $5000 award in Maclean's a few years back and combines excitement and adventure with a real flair for the novelist's art. It is stimulating and original with a sure balance of wit and poetry, tension and human understanding. The setting is remote and fascinating; obviously well known and accurately portrayed. The characters, even the minor ones are drawn with unerring strokes, often through the dialogue which is apt and crisp.

Henri Troyat has continued his famous saga of French family life with a new story of "Elizabeth" the charming self-willed young daughter of Amelie and Pierre. This latest book may be read without going back to Troyat's previous books, "Amelie in Love" and "Amelie and Pierre" although each in its own way is pleasing.

Among the new non fiction, there is quite a collection of art books. "Early English Water Colors" by C. E. Hughes and "English Portrait Miniatures" by Graham Reynolds are among them and these may prove of interest to many.

In "Creative Hands" by D. E. Cox and B. K. Warren numerous crafts are described, including decorative needlework, stenciling, block printing, painting in wood

Anyone interested in sculpture may enjoy "Anyone Can Sculpt" by Arthur Zaednberg. Here every step in the making of a given piece of sculpture is described in detail and profusely illustrated with photographs and drawings, so that even a complete novice may easily follow the instructions.

These and many others are now at your disposal. For the teen ager there are a number of new "Romances", several "Mysteries" and a large selection of non-fiction. There is also a delightful collection of new books for the younger children. Exams will soon be over! come along and take your pick.

The portals - to sweet memory

On a cold winter night, when I'm lying in bed
The covers pulled tightly up over my head,
The north wind — howling — just like a banshee
Then I open the portals — to Sweet Memory

'Tis a summer breeze whispering a sigh in my ear,
On a soft balmy night, 'neath starlight so clear,
I see — through the trees — the moon's mellow glow
As its trying to rise — like silvery dough.

The waves — on the water — dance limpid and gay
Shining, tossing their manes, like a colt in its play,
The summer nights stillness hangs all around
Thick with perfumy growing smell there on the ground.

The birds are atwittering up in the tree
The charms of the cricket are speaking to me
As I sit on the bench, the waves lapping the shore
'Tis the comforting sound of a sleeping night's snore.

And I think — in my heart — how lucky we be
We can open the portals — to sweet memory
On a cold winter night — thro the wild wailing wind,
We bring summer, and warmth, and sweetness to mind.

— Mrs. Mary Squire

Awareness of God

(This week's message from the Summerland Ministerial Association is written by Rev. P. K. Louie).

At the heart of the religious life is an awareness of God and a response to His forgiving love. God is at the center of all religious experience and the thought of God that grips a man determines the character of his conduct.

Religion is neither apart from life, nor a part of life, but life at its highest and best. A man's religious experience is not a segment of his total experience. Religion demands the allegiance of the whole man — his thoughts, his affections, his conduct. It is like a fire at the center of a man's life illuminating and purifying all his interests and activities

Men are prone to worship false gods. Just to the extent that the god to whom they offer their allegiance is whole heartedly accepted and sincerely worshipped will he influence their whole life, for good or for evil. Christ-like character depends upon Christian convictions about God revealed through Christ, and our willingness to enter into a personal, conscious communion, spirit with spirit, with One, recognized to be a fitting object of worship and love, in whom all our highest values are conserved, not for the moment but unto eternity.

NOW'S THE TIME FOR B.C. POULTRY

Notice the prices on B.C. Poultry these days. There's real value in every tender young fryer, in every plump turkey. You could easily serve this flavourful chicken and turkey every week of the year and never serve exactly the same dish twice. Eggs are just as versatile. And when you remember how easily digested and what good quality protein you get from poultry and eggs, you'll want to serve them much oftener.

AN IMPORTANT B.C. INDUSTRY

The poultry farmers of British Columbia are independent business men striving to produce the finest poultry and eggs at the lowest possible prices. They contribute over $30,000,000 a year to the economy of our province but their importance cannot be measured in dollars alone. Poultry farming is a vital part of our agricultural industry and B.C. poultry products are among the best in the world.

Local Girl Wed at Calgary Ceremony

A wedding of interest locally was solemnized in the Calgary Free Methodist Church, Friday, April 29 at 4:30 p.m. when Miss Hazel Leona Miller, daughter of Mrs. Helen A. Miller of West Summerland became the bride of LAC Maxwell Kenneth Brownlee of Penhold, Alberta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brownlee of Dearbourne, Alberta.

Rev. Henry Schnell of Calgary officiated.

The bride wore a white, two piece street length dress with white accessories. Her flowers were white carnations sprayed with gold.

Miss Elenor Johnson of Calgary acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Peter Petraschuck was best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Whitten.

The bridegroom has been posted to the First Fighter Wing near Marville France and the newlyweds sail from Montreal June 30.

Art show

Another innovation was a "popularity contest." Visitors were asked to choose, by letter or number, their choice of the two best exhibits. First place went to "The Green Pagoda" by Ted Miles; second "Northern Lake" by Mrs. M. Collas and third "Abstract" by Phyllis Daines.

Three professional artists lent pictures to the show; Vaughan Grayson (Mrs. A. J. Mann); Irvine Adams who has just had another picture accepted by a Paris salon and Peter Ochs; painter and sculptor. These contributions aroused much interested comment.

The Summerland Art Club is to be congratulated on another fine show which again shows the steady improvement towards professional standards which has been so evident with the passing years. Summerland is well known for the number of artists resident here and the quality of their work and can be justly proud of its art group.

Fresh ideas for furniture care

Furniture can be as soft as your favorite easy chair. And these shining examples should make both furniture and housewife glow.

Wax new furniture every two weeks, old pieces once a month. To avoid darkening a blonde finish, use a light colored wax instead of an oil polish. An economical and effective home brew is made from equal parts of boiled linseed oil, turpentine and vinegar. Polish the chairs and tables with a cloth wrapped around a sandbag (the added weight guarantees a smoother faster job). A brush inside a cloth gives a high polish to curved surfaces.

For the fine new piano finishes, however, manufacturers rule out all polishes, and even the usual duster. If the finish looks dull, wipe it with an old well washed piece of damp, not wet, chamois and remove moisture with a dry chamois cloth.

Light scratches and scars can often be made practically invisible with extra-hard rubbing of polish. Many polishes are made expressly for this purpose; others contain stains that make even fairly deep scratches inconspicuous. If this doesn't help, you may be able to darken a scratch on dark wood by rubbing it with cut walnut meat.

HANDYMAN ABOUT THE HOUSE

By GORDON DONALDSON

The time has come to talk about boats. All winter, as I have hammered and bled over dull little indoor projects there has been at the back of my mind (and at the back of my house) one large decaying vessel.

Boats are not, basically, any more difficult to build than bookcases. Unlike bookcases, however, they tend to sink if not built properly.

But nothing in boat-building, I'm convinced, is half so hard as repairing an old, clinker-built boat. That is what I am trying to do at the moment.

The scars of the dreadful day last fall when I hauled the basket-like wreck out of the lake have healed now. Only a few rheumatically twinges remain from the long, cold hours spent trying to keep it afloat.

I have learned much since. One thing is that you CAN bend wood if you go about it properly. For a time I thought it was impossible.

To bend new ribs into the boat I tried boiling water, steam, hot air and hot language. The strip wood bent about 10 degrees, then cracked horribly.

Apparently the lumber yard — which specialized in boat materials — had sold me the wrong kind of wood.

So I found a little country lumber dealer — the kind of place where there are chunks of actual wood lying around, not just a clerk with an adding machine, and where they know the ways of wood and talk to you about them.

There I got some white oak and some ash. Stuck in a length of stovepipe, the end plugged with rags and steamed for an hour (just long enough) to ruin my wife's electric curler they bent like Another method, I'm told, is to wrap the strips tightly in rags and just keep pouring boiling water over them. The rags keep the heat in.

Amazing things can be done with bentwood and I'm tempted to try making furniture with bentwood arms and legs some day when we get a new kettle.

Another thing I have learned is that it's unwise to try fibre-glassing the bottom of a clinker or lapstraked boat unless you really know what you're doing.

But fibre-glass can do a great job on small holes, weak planks, etc.

As the boating season is getting under way and outboard manufacturers are straining upward towards the 100 horsepower mark, not a few boat owners are probably looking at the first holes smashed in their once-seaworthy craft.

Holes in wooden boats should first be cut out and enlarged to convenient square or oblong shape and patched with plywood or cedar-strip according to the construction — then reinforced from inside with a second patch slightly larger all round.

I used fibre-glass patches, which are remarkably strong, on several weak areas of the hull. This means stripping off all old paint, dirt, caulking, etc., until you reach bare, clean wood.

Patching kits are available which allow you to do the whole job — spreading resin, laying on cloth, then more resin, in one operation.

These are some of my kinder thoughts on the subject of boat repairs. An expurgated version of the others will appear in a few weeks' time if, and when, I get the Bruta into the water.

Macs lose twice on trip to Trail

The Summerland Macs made the long trip to Trail over the week end, playing two games and coming home empty handed.

In the Saturday night game under the lights, the Macs came out on the short end 9-6. Cristane started on the mound and stayed until the 4th inning when he ran into a wild streak and was relieved by Sheeley. The score was tied five-all until the fatal seventh when the Trail team pushed across 4 more runs. Sheeley was relieved by Hooker who held Trail scoreless for the last inning. Sheeley took the loss.

The Sunday game was a thriller all the way. Sheeley started on the mound for the Macs and Lefty Gould for Trail. Trail got to Sheeley for two runs in the first inning on a walk, a hit batter and two singles. Cristante came in and put out the fire then pitched scoreless ball until the eighth when three straight hits scored two more runs. The Macs came to life in the 5th when two Trail errors gave them a run. Again in the ninth Macs got a run on errors and left the 2 runs they need on base when the last man struck out. Trail used three pitchers in the 9th to hold their lead and come out on top 4-2.

Both games were good exciting ball and could have gone either way. Macs picked three more double plays to bring their season total to eleven which leads the league. Bob Parker had three more stolen bases to bring his season total to 11 and he leads the league in this department.

The Macs go to Kelowna for a night game on Thursday and Trail is here for a double header on Sunday. Game time 1:30 p.m.

On the Rifle Range

by Herb Simpson

Rifle shooting got under way for the season at the Garnett Valley range Sunday morning. Ten shot matches were fired at the 200 and 500 yard range. George Dunsdon took top spot with a score of 91 out of a possible 100 with Harold Richardsno scoring 90 for second place. Other scores were: Al McCargar 89; Steve Dunsdon 88; Bert Simpson 86; Alex Kalinin 72.

Although only six shooters turned out, it was a very successful practice and we are looking forward to seeing many more as the season advances. Visitors are very welcome and it is not necessary to own a rifle as the members are always willing to lend their equipment and will coach anyone who hasn't had experience in rifle shooting. So, how about it! Come up next Sunday morning at nine o'clock and give it a try. We know you will get a kick out of it.

Kiwanis Club Notes

The club took a holiday from serious business Tuesday evening and met at Hilly Smith's house and enjoyed dinner on the lawn overlooking the lake and the experimantal farm. The setting was perfect and so were the steaks, cooked by Jerry Halquist. A very short directors meeting was held and Nick Solly gave a humorous account of the convention at Prince George last week end.

The club will meet next week at the usual time and place.

President John informed the club that the decision to pick the recipient of the Kiwanis' Bursary was so difficult and the two top places of the eleven applicants were so close together, there being only one point difference between them that the Club awarded the bursary to both of them. The UBC has stated that it will match the money put up by the club in both cases so that we are able to help two worthy students this year, instead of the usual one. The general membership were all in favor of the action of the directors.

Shown holding it is Howie Meeker, former hockey star for the Toronto Maple Leafs, who is now sports director for a St. John's radio station in Newfoundland. The fish was landed with 8-lb. test line by June Squires, shown with Meeker. It took her 45 minutes to land the fish at Withers Bay. It is 40 inches long and 24 inches in girth.

Fourteen squares of dances, a large percentage of them callers had a very lively time dancing to Barry Garland's top notch calling at the Youth Centre Saturday night as guests of the Peach City promenaders.

Visitors came from Seattle and other cities in Washington to join in the fun with dancers from Kamloops, Princeton, Hope and all parts of the Okanagan.

Members of the Pairs and Squares executive drove up to Chuck Inglis' home in Peachland Tuesday evening to compile a list of clubs to be contacted to advertise the trail dance for the Peach Festival. These trail dances are held every year just prior to the festival by clubs in nearby centres, so that people who arrive the week end before will have a place to dance every night of Festival week.

On Thursday evening 7 club members got together for a work party at David and Ruth Munn's. Fourteen dozen chicken pies were prepared for the Summertime Dance June 18 and 130 posters for the trail dance were addressed for mailing. A deep bow from us all for a very commendable evenings work folks.

This coming Saturday there are dances at Penticton and Westbank. Summerland's Ray Fredrickson will emcee at Westbank where a buffet supper will be served by the host club Westside Squares. Wheel n Stars have Don Paul of Trail emceeing their dance at the high school cafeteria in Penticton. Supper will be served there too.

Everything is lined up for our Summertime party night June 18. With a lovely June evening for our dance, a fine MC to handle the calling, a nice supper to wind things up and all our own friendly club members there to make visitors feel at home this should be a dance to remember. See you there!

Horticultural News Letter

Province horticultural news letter of June 7 reports for Summerland that growers are thinning apricots & peaches. Apricot sizing for this time of year is good and the crop is heavy. A late drop is occurring in Van cherries. Pears in later blooming districts have set more heavily than in early sections. McIntosh and older Delicious apple trees have set heavily. The set on younger Red Delicious is disappointing. All trees have benefitted from the warm weather of the past ten days and are now growing reasonably well. Occasional winter damage is showing up in peaches and cherries.

Count our blessings

We who live in Summerland are quite smug about one thing; the fact that we have so many nice things around us. We have the finest climate in all of Canada (in spite of Victoria's claims); we have the best area in the Okanagan — setting, scenery and facilities.

But there is ever a snake in Eden. There's one in this Eden that is Summerland — it is the lack of money, that thin, green (or brown) stuff which pays the grocer, the butcher, the baker and the odd TV set as well. It is apparent to all that we must go out and get more of it. Then comes the question: How?

By counting our blessings. And, once we have counted them, going out and selling others on the idea. Yes, you've guessed it. By going out after the elusive and highly competitive tourist dollar — the new money that can mean so much to this community.

We can get it, if we will put on an aggressive, adequately planned campaign — and get it without too much outlay too. If each and all of us will write but a single letter a month, telling those who are going on vacation about the blessings we have, and if only ten per cent of those letters are effective — we'll have our tourists, and our dollars and a sounder community economy.

How about writing one right now?

Water Safety Week

The calendar notes that summer officially begins this week, even though the elusive weather may or may not comply. But with summer officially here, it gives a sort of legal licence to all that wishful thinking we've been indulging in through the long, hard winter and spring. Namely, to get out into the good fresh air and enjoy ourselves preferably by some water.

With all those heady thoughts of the great outdoors though, a fellow has to take care that he doesn't take complete leave of his senses, particularly the common variety.

Every summer a lot of people with the same happy thoughts set out for a week or a weekend, but never come back. They didn't use their common sense, and it was left to their loved ones to discover that they were another statistic on the drowning tables.

The saddest part of it all is that the annual blight of drownings could be prevented. If somebody had not overloaded his boat beyond the safe capacity; if mother had been supervising junior the way she should, by never failing to watch him every second he was near the water; if that young girl next door had not tried diving after dark — IF. But they did what they did do for sure. It's just as sure that they didn't survive to rectify that lapse of sensibility.

For a good many years now, the Canadian Red Cross has been trying to educate all of us to the fact that we just can't afford to take chances on or near the water. It is no coincidence that National Water Safety Week, July 19-25 coincides with the beginning of summer, because it's generally this month that drownings begin to soar.

The best way that we can all help the Red Cross with its water safety programme and help ourselves is not to be a drowning statistic.

If you honestly and really think — on, in or near the water, then it's hardly likely that you'll be one of those who sink.

Report from Parliament Hill

The close of this week, Friday, June 10 sees another large measure of work completed. The estimates are proceeding smoothly and I have just come out of the House where the Department of Transport is getting a somewhat lengthier run than most. Transport is a big department covering not only rail and air but also navigation and such items such as ice breakers and harbour facilities.

In the Veterans Affairs committee the president and secretary presented the Canadian Legion brief. This brief contains one or two new items over previous points brought up from year to year and its presentation arose through the recently concluded meeting of the Canadian Legion at Windsor. The Committee will not be considering the full brief this year but of course it will be given the closest scrutiny by the Minister of Veterans Affairs. This morning the Veterans Affairs committee gave consideration to a bill to amend the Veterans Allowance Act which would bring the act in line with recent changes in the Old Age Pensions Act, namely to make the act applicable under certain circumstances to veterans residing outside of Canada.

Yesterday Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia paid an informal visit and conferred privately with the Canadian Cabinet on the future of the Commonwealth. He then attended a Royal Assent ceremony which, as you know is held in the Senate.

Normally a Supreme Court Justice would give assent, in fact it has been forty years since the Governor General has presided. My understanding is that it was a last minute change and caused a great deal of confusion. You see when the Governor General is here, certain dignitaries wear different ties, different chains of office and the procedure is varied slightly. Even the page boys are dressed differently. Despite all this and the very short notice the Governor General arrived promptly and our First Guards Regiment turned out a beautiful guard.

The ceremony is traditional and is carried out first of all by Black Rod summoning the Commons; the Commons then troop down the long corridors of Parliament to the Senate and finally it ends by the Royal Assent being given by the Governor General. The Prime Minister sits to the right of the Governor General and a new note was added yesterday by the Prime Minister of Australia attending the ceremony.

After this the Governor-General proceeded slowly (for you must remember he lost a leg during the war) to the front door where he stood on a dias at which time the Guards presented arms in a formal salute. Once again tradition held sway. I must say these ceremonies make a deep and lasting impression on all members

Worship God

(This week's article from the Summerland Ministerial Association is written by Rev. Norman Tannar)

O worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness; let the whole earth stand in awe of him. Psalm 96:9.

A little boy's prayer on the night before leaving for the country unconsciously expressed a situation that is tragically real even in homes of Christian belief: "Good-bye God, we are going to the country tomorrow." Often we react in this manner, as if God were only at our Church or Sunday School and there is no need to remember Him when we go away.

At the other extreme is the man who says: "I can worship God when I am in my flower garden or while going around the golf course." Unfortunately he is more than likely to end up hoeing the potatoes, or if on the golf course only getting down on his knees when he is lining up his putt.

It is true that God's presence is always with us and that we can worship Him anywhere — but man is forgetful. Let us remember then Jesus' words, "The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath" and that the whole Bible tells us that man was made for God.

When we go on our vacations and trips may we remember that these holidays are holy days and that the essence of recreation is recreation. Just as we need time to regain our physical strength so we need time to regain our spiritual strength.

To worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness is a wonderful thing, especially when we remember that "the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof."

WEEKLY CHUCKLE

Mother dashed into the nursery when she heard her five year old howling. His baby sister, it developed, was pulling his hair.

"Never mind," she counselled the lad. "Your baby sister doesn't know that it hurts you."

A couple of minutes later Mother had to come back to the nursery. This time the baby was bawling.

"What's the matter with the baby?" she demanded. "Nothing much," replied the five year old calmly. "Only she knows now."

A golfer interrupted a foursome. "I hog your ball, but would you please let me play through? I've just gotten word that my wife is seriously ill."

"Only she knows now."

Wanted: Farm hand. No bad habits, no smoke, no drink, no chasa girls, no eat margarine.

Kiwanis Club Notes

Tuesday night was "work shop" night for the Club, as the "meat" for the evening was committee meetings each committee holding its monthly meeting and entering a progress report afterwards.

It appeared also to be "birthday night"; no less than four birthdays being celebrated; i.e. Marcel Bonthoux; Wally Harrison; Bill Gilmour and Jerry Halquist.

Jerry Halquist and Jack Towgood managed to get fined and seemed quite pleased about it.

Next week is the last week of the attendance competition, when the winning team will dine on steaks and the losers on beans. All wives will be present and we hope that the bean-eaters will have the right and proper explanation to offer their ladies. The club will meet at the experimental farm at 6:30 p.m. at the picnic grounds and it is hoped that some good entertainment will be offered.

During the months of July and August the club will not meet at the cafe; but outside meals are planned and a canvass is being made of members who have a lawn large enough to accommodate the club. An announcement will be made from week to week as to where the following meeting will be held. Please consult this column weekly for that notice.

The rest of the members hope that George O'Henry and Jack O'Mahoney enjoyed their talk about GOLF while the committees were hard at work.

Promenade

The lively calling of Don Paul of Trail kept ten squares of dancers at Penticton's Wheel n Stars party moving at a fast pace on Saturday night. That same night a very gay light-hearted crowd at Westbank enjoyed Ray Frederickson's emceeing. Ten squares were counted there too.

If you're worried about how the long cool spring will affect the crop, weather you've got the pear sylla under control, weather the construction slowdown is ever going to end, or if the kids are going to get through their year, why not forget it for two or three hours this Saturday night? You'll find an evening out with your favorite partner, enjoying the sociability, color and lively music of square dancing will give you a fresh outlook on things. The girls are working hard preparing a lovely supper for us all. Show them how much you appreciate them won't you fellas? Our club will be having another dance on August 2, Peach Festival Trail Dance night, so hope you can all make it to this one on Saturday, June 18.

Glen Ashcroft's beginner dancers are having a graduation dance this Saturday in the K.P. Hall in Penticton. This will be a sack lunch with coffee provided. Sorry we won't see these dancers at our party, but hope they'll join us at our next.

Representatives to the Okanagan Square Dance Association are reminded of the meeting at Ray Frederickson's home on Sunday, June 19 at 2 pm. Election of officers and the drawing up of a square dance directory are the main items of business. A good attendance is requested since this is the second attempt at getting enough representatives present to constitute a quorum.

David and Ruth Munn are holding open house to all members of the Pairs and Squares on Tuesday evening, June 21 at 8 o'clock. If you can double up on transportation it will make the parking simpler. There will be square dancing on the porch and the lawn, so get your sprinklers changed early, grab your dancing shoes and your dancing doll and come on over!

A polio attack started Jerry Oselies, 11, on the interesting hobby of collecting gladioli bulbs from all parts of the world. He placed ads in the want ad columns and collected 150 varieties. He has so many now he is offering a package of 200 bulbs for $1. It will include black, green ice, brown rust and other exotic shades. He lives on an Alberta farm at Lac Ste. Anne, called Garden Park Farm.

Timely travel tip can save worry - money, too

It can be mighty embarrassing when you run short ready cash while travelling. Yet no one likes to carry large sums of cash because there's always the danger of loss or theft.

What's the answer then, on your next vacation or business trip?

More and more people are finding the easiest and best way to carry funds for travel purposes today is in form of B of M travellers cheques. Any bank in Canada most hotels and stores will cash them readily — because you counter-sign each cheque only when you cash it.

Thus the person cashing it knows right away that and only you are the rightful owner. This feature makes B of M travellers cheques useless to everyone except their purchaser. What's more, if your B of M travellers cheques are lost, destroyed, or stolen the bank replaces them.

So before you set off on that next trip, stop at the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal and buy many travellers cheques as you think you'll need. The service charge is negligible and the peace of mind is wonderful.

Earl Smith, the accountant, or any member of the staff will be glad to help you make any other arrangements for your travel financing. If your trip is an extra long one and you need a large sum, travellers letters of credit are available from the B of M, and if you are going abroad there are special travellers cheques available at every branch.

HANDYMAN ABOUT THE HOUSE

By GORDON DONALDSON

From the morning pop of the automatic toaster to the last rays of the setting TV screen, a hundred electric gadgets run the modern home.

Most of these homes also have women around during the day to help the gadgets. Apart from uncanny flashes of feminine intuition — such as knowing the right place to kick a reluctant washing-machine to get it going — women have not the slightest idea how these gadgets work.

So when something goes wrong, it is handed to the nearest man with a strong suggestion that he'd better fix it quick because it was obviously his fault it went wrong in the first place.

With more and more automation in the home, this puts quite a burden on the man. If a stove with a built-in thinking machine makes an error of judgment, who can argue with it?

If a pop-up toaster decides the family will eat only black toast, black toast it must be.

Timers and elaborate thermostats are often too delicate to meddle with. Soothe them gently and send them back to the manufacturers for a rest.

But the fanciest machines often conk out for the simplest of reasons. Always check the plug, socket and cord first.

The plug may not be making contact properly — bend the prongs out until it does. Inspect the cord carefully for frayed parts where the insulation may be gone.

If you fix this with insulating tape, make sure both wires are wrapped separately with tape, then bind another piece around to hold them together.

Faulty electric heaters and toasters have long been a specialty of mine. I'm not saying you can fix a broken heating element so that it's as good as new, but you can prolong its life.

Feel very gently along the wire or ribbon of the element until you find a break. If the break is fairly near one of the terminals you may be able to unwind the broken bit and stretch the element out to reach the terminal.

Otherwise try a temporary repair by twisting the broken ends together. For a more permanent job, clean the break with fine sandpaper to remove any corrosion, twist ends together and then spread on a paste made of one part borax to three of commercial iron cement. When you turn it on the heat sets the cement.

Electric kettles and percolators obstinately refuse to work if allowed to boil dry, but most of them have a safety device in the bottom. You can effect apparently miraculous repairs by simply clicking the switch back in place or, with some models, replacing the small concealed fuse.

Use care when handling sprays

Most of the spray materials used in our orchards are toxic to humans or warm blooded animals in some degree. When diluted in water they become much less likely to cause harm to humans. However there is always the danger of prolonged exposure of the operator to the diluted sprays.

In Canada and the United States exacting standards have been set up to protect the consumer. These standards are to ensure that no toxic spray residues are left on the fruit or vegetables at harvest time or that any residues which do remain are insignificant as far as the consumer's health is concerned. The Government Spray Calendar lists the recommended spray materials their dosages and the number of days which must be allowed to lapse between the last application of a spray and harvest.

The consumer of any fruit is well protected but how about the orchardist who must put on these sprays.

Protective measures for the spray machinery operator are largely up to himself. He can be careless or he can be careful. His safety is his own responsibility. It is the responsibility "in the know" to keep the operator well informed as to the protective measures he should take.

Some precautions which the operator should take to protect himself are:

1. Wear waterproof protective clothing at all times.
2. The hands and legs are vulnerable points. Keep them dry.

3. The mouth, nose and eyes should be protected as much as possible. When handling or applying the more toxic materials such as the organic phosphates an approved respirator should be worn. Change the filters in the respirator after each spray job.

If the clothing becomes soaked with spray change and wash the skin thoroughly with soap and water. Do not linger in clothing which has become saturated with spray.

5. When filling the spray tank avoid splashing the concentrated material and stand up wind when emptying bags of wettable powders into the spray tank.

Make sure used spray cartons cans etc. are burned or buried after use and not left lying about.

7. Accept spray materials only in properly labelled containers. Do not put spray materials into unmarked containers such as pop bottles.

8. If any unusual symptoms occur during or after spraying don't delay, stop work and call your doctor immediately. (Symptoms such as extreme nervousness, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea; cramps; blurred vision; pressure in the chest cavity; excessive salivation; headache and muscular tremors can be caused by organic phosphate poisoning.)

9. The manufacturers of spray chemicals print the instructions for use on each container. Don't forget to read these labels each time you mix or apply pesticides particularly if you have not used them before. Pay heed to the cautions, warnings and information given.

Because of the variable hazards of spray materials no list of precautions can be altogether complete. Further information is available from your spray dealer, horticultural office or the Research Station.

George Henly enters Kelowna Track Meet

George Henly, Summerland high school's rapidly developing middle distance runner is entered in the 1500 metre run at the 11th annual Interior Track and Field championships to be held in Kelowna Saturday.

The meet, staged by the Kelowna Recreation Commission has attracted in recent years, most of B.C.'s top athletes. Twenty three of the 24 events are "open" and this year the calibre of competition should be higher than ever, since this is one of three meets from which times and distances will be recorded for the purpose of selecting B.C.'s team in the Olympic trials to be held next month in Saskatoon.

This will be George's first test in "open" competition and ironically, probably his toughest field of a number of races he hopes to enter this summer. Most of those to follow will be junior events. Saturday he will be pitted against several seasoned veterans of US college competition (including Vic Reeve, holder of the Vancouver high school's mile record of 4:27, who this season did a 4:11 mile running for the University of Oregon) as well as the top high school milers of the province (including Barry Adams, who this year has run the 880 in 1:58 and the mile in 4:27.3)

Regardless of where he places, there is no doubt that George will gain much in racing experience and that he will be drawn out to a considerably better time than he has yet achieved since he has had to run virtually "solo" efforts to date in winning Okanagan high school races.

It is not yet known when the 1500 metres will be run. The programme begins at 2 p.m. with heats and the finals go in the evening beginning at 6 p.m.

Al Hooker leads Macs to double win over Trail Sunday

Summerland 2, Trail 1; and Summerland 1; Trail 0 is the results of one of the best days the Summerland Macs have had for years.

The story behind the story is just about all Al Hooker. The strong right-hander not only pitched the full 16 innings and won both games but he filled his position perfectly and scored what proved to be the winning run in both games. He also got one of the two hits that the Macs were able to get off of two great pitching jobs by Siamon and Ferguson. Siamon holding the Macs to two hits and Ferguson getting the first no hit game of the season.

In the first game Macs got their two runs in the second inning on a single by Hooker; a walk to Cristante and Taylor and a single by Kato which drove in Hooker. Cristante scored on a passed ball.

Trail got its one run in the 4th on a double by Jones and a single by DeRosa.

The second game as the first, was a pitchers battle all the way with some good fielding by both clubs.

There was no score until the 7th inning when Hooker drove the center fielder drive to the fence with a drive that he caught and couldn't hold for an error.

Hooker went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a fielder's choice. The play went to 1st base on a hard drive by Taylor. The first baseman tried for Hooker going home but the throw was a little high and Hooker, with a great slide was in with the winning run.

The boys all played good heads up, defensive ball. Eddie Matsu, playing his first senior game at short, was outstanding until he sprained his ankle during the second game. Harry Biollo made two great running catches and just about saved the game on a throw from right field to third base to catch a runner going in. Warren Parker is getting better every game at second base and right now he is the best pivot man on a double play that Summerland has ever had. The Macs now have 15 and lead the league in this department.

The next game for the Macs will be on Saturday night, June 18 under the lights in Penticton.

On Sunday, June 19 Kelowna will be in Summerland for a single game. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Hitting averages for the Macs including all games played are as follows:

	ab	H	%
Lemke	12	6	.500
Hooker	49	18	.365
R. Parker	50	18	.360
Cristante	28	9	.321
Matsu	8	2	.250
O'Neill	40	9	.222
Taylor	50	11	.220
W. Parker	50	10	.200
Sheeley	11	2	.181
Biollo	55	9	.160
McNabb	15	2	.133
Kato	17	1	.060

On The Riflerange

by Herb Simpson

Interest in rifle shooting is evidently getting keener as the season advances. In addition to six regular members, three visitors turned out to practice on Sunday morning. We were very pleased to welcome Ray Maddocks, Norm Bentley and George Pohlman and we hope they will continue to shoot with us.

Matches were shot at 500 and 600 yards with the following scores being posted: Al McCargar 90; Herb Simpson 90; Harold Richardson 86; Ron Dunsdon 81; Cliff Dunsdon 80; George Dunsdon 79; Ray Maddocks 75; Alex Kalinin 75; George Pohlman 78; Norm Bentley 38.

According to new regulations the size of the bulls-eye has been reduced from 6 inches to 5 inches at 200 yards; and from 18 inches to 15 inches on the 500 and 600 yard targets. This change will be almost certain to lower the scores of even the most experienced marksmen, as shots that were formerly just on the edge of the bulls-eye for 5 points will now be scored as inners.

Don't forget, the next practice on Sunday morning and remember rifles are always available for visitors. So come up and have some fun on the range.

Trout Creek Field Day Successful

Members of White House emerged as victors this year in the annual Trout Creek Field Day held on Wednesday, June 1. They won the Walter Powell Memorial Trophy for this year. Susan Lloyd was the outstanding girl athlete for this year and won one of the Fred Gartrell trophies. Donny MacArthur was the boys' winner of the other Fred Gartrell trophy.

The parents of the Trout Creek PTA were out in full force to assist the teachers with the many events. A home baking sale was held by the PTA to help defray costs and tea was served to parents and visitors.

The refreshment booth, manned by PTA members, was a busy place. Students were able to buy hot dogs, drinks and ice cream at very reduced prices.

Queen will be chosen Friday

Nine beautiful girls will parade on Friday night for the final time — and one of them will be overcome with joy, as Summerland bestows upon her the highest honor a community such as this can give. For she will be named queen of the Summerland 1960 Fall Fair. Two others will also be honored, being named as princesses for the event.

Almost immediately the new queen will be called upon to represent this community at numerous functions, among them, later, being the Kelowna Regatta; and the Penticton Peach Festival.

Candidates are Caroline Read sponsored by Teen Town; Linda Betuzzi, Yacht Club; Alice Vogel, Kinsmen; Donna Butler, Rotary; Elspeth Tavender, Old Age Pensioners; Marjorie Brake, Fire Department; Sigrun Meierhofer, Retail Merchants; Carol Anderson, Canadian Legion; and Judy McGillivray, Kiwanis.

The girls will serve strawberry shortcake and coffee to those attending the board of trade's Dessert Party, in the IOOF Hall on Friday

Register now for voter's list

Provincial Registrars of Voters are now taking steps to bring their lists up to date. E. Ross Oatman, Registrar of Voters at the Court House, Kelowna, who is responsible for the South Okanagan Electoral District advises that a campaign of registration is now being carried out in this district for a two week period which ends June 30. A postcard has been mailed to every person who is on the provincial voters list in the South Okanagan Electoral District, so those persons who have not received postcards will know they are not on the voters list.

Registration centres have been set up throughout the district, particulars of which are set out in the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue. In the main, persons who will not be on the list at the present time will be newcomers to the district during the past four years; new Canadian citizens and young people who have become 19 years of age since the last election.

To be entitled to be registered as a voter, a person must be a Canadian citizen, British subject, 19 years of age, who has resided in Canada for the past year and in the Province of British Columbia for the past six months.

Mr. Oatman points out that if any person not on the list is unable to attend a registration centre, he can have a registration card sent to him for completion by simply phoning or writing to the local registration centre, the Registrar of Voters, Court House, Kelowna.

Local registering officer Harvey L. Wilson at the Summerland Groceries, Kelowna, says he can be reached by phoning HY4-2971.

Plan rejuvenation of "Lower Town"

Scheme would change it into tourist haven

A Special Feature

Can the lakeside community of Summerland, known colloquially as "lower town", be rejuvenated?

History would indicate it has a remarkable virility. It has more than once arisen from the ashes. It has withstood economic storm, the tide of change that swung the municipality from the lake to the railway.

It even survived the period after the boats were withdrawn from Okanagan Lake (in the thirties). But it has staggered severely since the latest blow, the removal of the highway from passing through the main business street to an altogether different route.

Yet some of Summerland's foremost thinkers feel the community can not only make a "comeback" but can also become a vital part of community economic life.

They feel, in fact, that "Summerland-on-the-lake" can become one of B.C.'s most attractive tourists resorts. As such it would add materially to the financial support of people already in the area, and even provide employment for others as well.

Those who have evolved this project have much to sustain their attitude. For instance, the setting is one of the most beautiful to be found anywhere in the inland area of lakes. Through accident or design this setting remains unscathed by "modern" monstrosities or by items that would obscure the view — which is unsurpassed anywhere in the Okanagan.

No official comment on the plan has been made so far, and no official announcement will be forthcoming until the plans are placed before and considered by the Summerland Municipal Council. The town planning commission will meet with municipal council at its regular meeting July 16.

Here are a few of the items that are (tentatively) included: A complete rebuilding of as much as possible of the old original town.

Demolition of some of the more decrepit structures including the old hotel building among others.

Reconstruction of some of the better ones, on sites where they will conform to the new pattern to be set up for the rebuilt town.

Development of full facilities for tourists, including accommodation, shopping and recreation.

Full use of the new breakwater, and a step-up of this basin into a complete marina, with all attendant facilities.

A sketch and rough plans giving broad outlines and information on component parts of the scheme are now being prepared by J. Russell Baxter, Penticton town planner-architect. These will be presented to municipal council July 16 and decisions reached as to how far the community itself shall participate in the arrangement.

It is generally understood an approach will be made to both Ottawa and Victoria to have the Urban Renewal Fund utilized to aid the project. Under this fund the federal treasury pays up to 50 per cent of the cost, the province 25 per cent and the municipality the remainder. At the same time effort is being made to have all private groups and individuals directly concerned (as property owners in the area) go as far as private purse and inclination will permit.

The project as conceived is the work of the Summerland town planning group with the assistance of a few others. While they have completed the general outline, much yet remains to be done. One of the most important items is to gain understanding and support of the public in the plan and its objectives. For without public support, the plan will fail.

As adjuncts to the main theme there are the following that could be tied into the pattern:

The Summerland Fish Hatchery — in itself a splendid tourist attraction.

The Peach Orchard Park, which has facilities for camping for many tourists, as well as picnic sites.

Powell and Crescent beaches, which provide some of the finest bathing facilities to be found anywhere in the interior — and plenty of parking space as well.

What could be developed: Showings of outdoor movies and similar concerts.

Scenic drives — to include not only Giant's Head but also the Dominion Research Station and other points of interest.

And — from an authority on tourist attractions, not a resident of Summerland, a plan for a pool stocked with trout where you could "catch a fish for 50 cents". Others will no doubt appear.

ROAD BLOCK SET UP

The road block set up by the Summerland RCMP at the foot of the hill on Highway 97 resulted in nine charges of driving without a licence and driving with a suspended licence. RCMP plan to continue these road blocks at intervals throughout the year.

Two scenes that could be reborn if present plans for the redevelopment of Summerland (Lower town) are carried to completion. The upper photo shows Summerland in its early heyday, sometime between 1904 and 1907, approximately, with the CPR wharf prominently in the center of the photo. Lower picture depicts a water show held some time prior to 1907, on part of Summerland's lakefront. No details were available on the negative. We invite our readers to write in and tell us of items in these two pictures, and persons they recognize. We, newcomers to Summerland, are keenly interested in both these photos. The Review will publish some others of early days in later issues.

I remember when . . .

By E. Aldredge

(The following is a compilation of reminiscences and events, chiefly concerning the "lower town". The Review would appreciate it if more "old timers" would add their contributions and anecdotes which can be published in future issues.)

Before some of the remaining old buildings of "lower town" disappear it is only fitting their history and that of others, lost during the years, be recorded. Linked with these old structures are many nostalgic memories and anecdotes, all of which form part of the history of this community.

For instance there are stories of the three major fires that swept through Summerland-on-the-lake; recollections of the boats and those who operated them; and of course, early stores, the post office, hospital and other prominent places.

The Summerland Review has itself participated in some of these history-making (for our town at least) items. The original building occupied by this newspaper was burned down in 1924, and there are still in this community those who helped to carry out trays of type and other items, saved from that fire. The Review then moved into the old Felix Hotel building, which is still standing and members of the staff included Walter M. Wright and George Fudge. Incidentally some of the old type from the original Review is still in existence — a little of it in the present office; some at the Penticton News Advertiser and some held privately in Penticton — and all of it in use.

The building that burned down in 1924 was situated where the present Cornwall cannery building is. Still later of course, the Review was printed in Penticton, and eventually absorbed into the Penticton Herald, being revived after World War II by George Fudge and "Tim" Armstrong.

Now let's flip over the pages of history and turn back to

1893 — That was the year the Canadian Pacific boats started operating on Okanagan Lake. Who among our readers can recall going down to the "old wharf" to meet the "S.S. Aberdeen" Or to going back to the old post office — where was that at? and getting the much looked for mail?

1895-1904 And who, as a small boy or girl, visited the old Summerland Mercantile, perhaps to get a pint or two of the precious "coal oil" for evening illumination, or bought some of the candies they sold? And just where was it located?

Speaking of the old Summerland Mercantile, it was a typical country general store, where the sales personnel had to turn, from weighing out sugar, measuring out coal oil, or yard goods. E. R. (Ed) Butler, who was associated with it for many years, has some excellent anecdotes of it.

1906. Formation of the Masonic Lodge, with J. C. Robson as Worshipful Master.

Letter from Norway

The following letter was received by Miss Frances Bentley a student in the Grade 8 English of the Summerland High School. The class read the book Kon Tiki, and on further research found the raft is on display in the Kon Tiki museum in Oslo, Norway. Miss Frances Bentley offered to write them for further information. Here is a reprint of the letter she received from Bjorg Christensen, a member of the staff at the museum.

Oslo,
den, April 25, 1960

Frances Bentley,
R.R. 1, Wess Summerland,
B.C., Canada.
Dear Miss Bentley,
As Thor Heyerdahl for the time being is living in Italy, I am answering your letter.
The crew from the raft Kon Tiki is spread all over the world.

The swede, Bengt Danielson has settled down in Polynesia and is living with his French wife and daughter in Tahiti. He has taken his doctor degree in ethnology in 1956 in Sweden. Herman Watzinger has been in Peru for many yeas and is now Norwegian Counsel General in Lima. He has a wife and two daughters. Erik Hesselberg who actually is an artist is crusing around in Mediterranean waters in his yacht.

Torstein Raaby has studied electronics in Switzerland and is for the time being doing communications work up in the artic. Knut M. Haughland is major in the Norwegian Air Force High Command and also curator of the Kon-Tiki Museum. He is married and has two sons.

I may mention that Thor Heyerdahl will appear with a new book this spring on the results of the Easter Island Expedition.

If you ever get a chance to come to Norway I hope you will not forget to pay a visit to the Kon-Tiki Museum.

Sincerely yours,

The Church helps the Mentally Ill

by Rev. Lyle Kennedy

In every community there are scores of persons, and in our great cities thousands, who suffer mental ill-health because of their inability to handle the complexities of modern life. This mental ill-health ranges from minor lack of adjustment to dementia and insanity. It is often accompanied by physical disease. Psychiatrists, ministers and physicians have become aware that they are mutually dependent upon one another as they face the problems involved. More and more churches meet the opportunity for service which the need presents. It is an ideal to make the church a centre of mental health.

The church, perhaps to a greater degree than it knows is such a centre.

1. It has a gospel of repentance which releases the soul from terrific tensions caused by a deep sense of sin and guilt. We cannot overestimate the importance of the cleansing of the depths of human personality.

2. There is a peace which passeth all understanding which may flood the soul in worship.

3. The church provides a fellowship which serves many by giving them a sense of worth, of personal dignity, of usefulness. Recall the words of Robert Louis Stevenson, "So long as we love, we serve. So long as we are loved by others. I would almost say we are indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend."

4. The church enlists men and women, youths and children, in a great cause, which has the tendency to draw people out of themselves and thus make life more worthwhile.

5. The influence of the church upon the home protects it from evil influences.

rids it of tensions and frictions, develops in it faith, love, charity, hope and other Christian virtues. This all makes for the mental health of the members of the family.

6. The church's larger service to the aged is notable. In many churches this might receive larger attention.

7. The counseling program of many ministers is of great value in promoting mental health. The circulation of well chosen books on religion and hygiene is a valuable service.

The idea of the church as a centre of mental health presents a great opportunity in line with the practice of Jesus and the Apostles.

Scripture: "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life." Prov. 4:23.

Our part in boosting Summerland-on-the-Lake

When Summerland was in the formative stages, or even at a slightly later date (approximately that of the pictures on our front page this week) the name "Summerland" meant the lakeside community, now called, despite their objections thereto "Lower town".

In those halcyon days there was no upper town, and little or no thought there'd ever be one. The Canadian Pacific was there to haul out the fruit; to bring in supplies by boat or barge, and eventually, the town had a post office, telephone exchange, hotel and of course ample stores to meet its needs.

With the coming of the railway the "Upper town" was given a forward thrust, and what was on the map as "West Summerland" has gradually come to be thought of as the whole of Summerland. Other changes — through several disastrous fires, increased this effect. Finally, the changing of the highway seemed to sound the death-knell of the once-prosperous lakeside hamlet.

Fortunately Summerland (the whole of it) which has always had men and women of vision as its leaders, had some who could see beyond the immediate present; who could think and plan for a future. Some may term what they've come up with as purely visionary. Those who do may find themselves, in a few years, eating their words, for the plan, as outlined on the front page of this issue, has a hard core of commonsense and business perspicacity at the root of it.

The modern-day thinkers and community leaders who have developed the plan are fully aware of the increasing tourist-pressure from the Coast and U.S. points. The people in the lower mainland are seeking a quiet vacationland, readily reachable from the coast, yet one that has both natural playground facilities and modern merchandizing, together with the altered climate they unconsciously yearn for during summer holidays.

We in Summerland know we have these things. What we've got to do is not only let others know we have them, but to dust the front parlor, so to speak — to do our utmost to support this plan in all its phases. For it can and will touch all our lives, no matter how remote from it they might seem; tourist dollars are "new money" that can circulate into all pockets.

If we want to help this plan we need not wait; we can start at once. "Dusting the parlor" can mean, in a community such as this, many things possibly to many people.

It can mean cleaning up any unsightly items that detract from the appearance of any part of Summerland. How about an active group of high school students or other young people's groups taking on this chore?

It can mean training our people to welcome visitors; to greet them with a smile (as they do in Europe in all the tourist spots); it can mean directing strangers to points of interest, to fishing spots and the like.

It can mean planning, and planting more profuse gardens (we have some lovely ones now, but could do with many, many more.) It can mean use of a coat of paint on houses, and similar improvements.

These are only a few of the items in which all of us can share. If we are willing to do these things, we shall be even more willing to aid the major plan — showing the Okanagan — nay, the entire province that "Summerland-on-the-lake", far from being dying or dead is one of the beauty spots of the west — and that Summerland as a whole is community-conscious of it, and willing to work to prove their feeling.

Dads who know the whole story get the life insurance with bigger returns

Wouldn't you like to be many hundreds of dollars ahead — when the need for family protection has passed and your life insurance turns into cash or retirement income? Your Mutual Life of Canada policy can bring you such bigger returns, returns far in excess of your actual premium payments.

The reason is the savings which arise from the big dividends you get from the Mutual. The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada has an outstanding dividend record. Yearly dividends are substantial and when left to accumulate at interest they provide a very attractive investment. The retirement value of a Mutual Life policy-plus-dividends is one of the most impressive values in Canadian life insurance today.

Why not get the story on how you, personally, can benefit. The Mutual Life of Canada representative in your community is at your service, or write to the Head Office, Waterloo, Ontario.

Miss Ruth Dale honored

Miss Ruth Dale was the guest of honor Thursday at a banquet given by Summerland School Board and the Summerland Teachers' Association when seventy friends assembled in the Anglican Parish Hall to wish her a long and happy retirement after forty-three years of service as a teacher in the community.

Caterer for the occasion, and also in charge of the attractive floral decorations, were members of the Evening Branch of St. Steven's W.A. who served a delicious buffet supper under the direction of Mrs. H. Thompson.

Mr. J. Cooke, supervising principal of MacDonald and Trout Creek Schools and past president of the Summerland Teachers' Association was the master of ceremonies for the evening.

Out of town guests included Mr. C. E. Clay, District Superintendent of Schools, and Mrs. Clay; Mr. Reg Cox, president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, and Mrs. Cox, all of Penticton; Mr. Guy Graham, president of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association, from Salmon Arm; Miss Dale's cousin, Mrs. R. W. Corner, and Mr. Corner of Kelowna and Mrs. A. K. Macleod, the wife of the former principal of the Summerland High School, from Trail.

The speakers for the evening were Mr. S. A. MacDonald retired principal of MacDonald School which was named after him several years ago when he had served as principal for thirty-seven years; and Mr. C. E. Clay representing the Department of Education.

Mr. MacDonald spoke of a long and pleasant association with Miss Dale which dated back to the horse and buggy days when she taught in the one roomed school in Garnett Valley, and later when she moved to the central school in West Summerland.

He paid tribute both to the Dale family who moved here from Manitoba in 1906 and who were noted for their hospitality, and to Miss Dale for her competence as a teacher, for the happy atmosphere in her class-room, and for her generosity in giving her time and musical talents to all school and many community activities. Mr. MacDonald said that during her teaching career about 1800 pupils had received instruction from her and had considered it a privilege to have done so.

In welcoming her to the ranks of the retired teachers he stressed the fact that although Miss Dale would no longer be active in the teaching profession her influence would still be felt, maintained with many of her former pupils throughout the world.

Mr. Clay, in bringing best wishes from the Department of Education, gave a brief biographical sketch of Miss Dale's life in Summerland. She received her education in the former Baptist College and at the Vancouver Normal School. Since moving to the central school in Summerland she has occupied the same room for thirty-seven years in the building which is now the MacDonald School. In 1953 she received the Good Citizen Award from the Summerland Board of Trade. She has been active in church affairs and has played the organ and piano in the Baptist Church for as long as Mr. Clay could remember. He praised Miss Dale's philosophy as a force for good in the lives of her pupils.

Mr. T. S. Manning, chairman of the Summerland School board presented Miss Dale with an outdoor lounge and in doing so expressed the appreciation of the board and the district for Miss Dale's service. — Ted Weeks, representing the teachers of the elementary schools, gave her a lawn table and umbrella to match the lounge and remarked on the influence Miss Dale's presence has had on the esprit de corps which has always existed among the members of the staff. He wished her many happy years of retirement, and said that her pleasant smile and helping hand would be missed in school.

On behalf of the Summerland Teachers' Association Miss Amy Yamabe, a former pupil of Miss Dale's now on the staff of the MacDonald School, presented her with an engraved rose bowl and an illuminated scroll which bore a citation composed by Bert Stent. In making the presentation Miss Yamabe said that the mutual affection which existed between Miss Dale and the children was something which her former pupils always remembered, and that she herself considered it a privilege to have been in Miss Dale's room.

Mr. Cox presented an honorary life membership in the B.C. Teachers' Federation and Mr. Graham a similar membership in the O.V.T.A. In both these organizations Miss Dale is a charter member.

Mr. Cooke added his best wishes to those of the others and remarked that he would have more to say at the Awards Day assembly next Thursday.

In her reply Miss Dale stated that she had enjoyed both her work and her association with the board, the administrators, and her fellow-teachers. By means of a very apt "quotation of a misquotation" from Kipling she pointed out that teachers especially today, have so many decisions to make that they need to be far-sighted and to be able to discern between the important and the relatively unimportant aspects of education with which they have to deal. She said that she loved children; that she has found the time spent with them very rewarding and that although she is "laying down the brush and the chalk" her interest in the school and its activities will continue.

Jack Gould is home again from hospital where he spent two months following a car accident.

Life pin for Mrs. F. V. Harrison

Mrs. F. V. Harrison of Summerland displayed with pride and humble thanks the pin and scroll representing Dominion Life Membership in the WA at a joint meeting of the afternoon and evening branches of the St. Stephen's WA Monday, June 20 in the church hall. Mrs. Harrison has devoted much time and energy to the work of the WA since coming to Canada in the early 1920's. The life membership was presented to Mrs. Harrison on her retirement from office as Diocesan treasurer in which capacity she had served since 1951. The presentation was made at the annual Diocesan meeting at Creston in May.

Mrs. N. O. Solly in her report of the Diocesan meeting brought a great deal of information on the activities of WA's throughout Canada and in foreign lands.

The members brought a quantity of used clothing of all sizes to the meeting which will be bundled and sent at the end of this week to the Shoal River Indian Reserve in northern Man.

It was decided not to hold the annual garden party this year because of the uncertain fate of the rectory.

Annual Rose Show set for July 9th

Plans for the coming Rose Show were discussed at the regular meeting of the Horticultural Society held in the Anglican Hall June 17.

Summerland's annual Rose Show will be held in the IOOF Hall July 9. Prize lists will be available at the district Horticulturist's.

Following a short business meeting Dr. J. Marshall showed slides of gardens and landscapes collected on his recent trip to Europe. The pictures together with his highly entertaining commentary made Dr. Marshall's program most enjoyable.

Nat May conducted his Timely Topics. Care of lawns was discussed and also other garden problems.

A flat of dwarf marigolds was won by Tom Richie.

Club Notes

A most enjoyable evening was spent at the Summerland Co-op by Kiwanians and their wives on Tuesday when the two team attendance competition came to an end, and the winning team was captained by the president, John Tamblin.

This team and their wives were the fortunate ones to eat the steak dinner, while the vice presidents team pretended to be satisfied with beans and bacon. This writer had some of both and they were both excellent. Curiously enough the steaks were provided by Karl Dietrich and cooked by Jerry Halquist, both of whom ate beans!

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Alma Fudge and her Melodiers who sang five most enjoyable numbers. Thank you ladies, the club very much enjoyed your singing.

Next week the club will meet at the usual time at Johnny Selinger's house and we were assured that a good supper will be provided. Don't miss it fellows.

The only business note of the evening was a reminder by the president of the forth coming convention to be held in Vancouver about the second week in September. The Scribe.

100 pre-school children visit school Wednesday

Wednesday afternoon of last week was a busy and exciting time for the pre-school girls and boys who will be six on or before December 31, 1960.

The primary teachers of the Summerland School District welcomed these children for an afternoon of classroom activity when twenty of these youngsters visited Trout Creek School and eighty visited MacDonald School.

One hundred and twelve of these little people are registered to begin school in September but for the hundred who were fortunate enough to attend for the half day of orientation, much of the mystery and apprehension has been removed.

In most cases mother had brought Junior to school but there the mother's part ended. She stayed outside the classroom, visiting with other mothers or slipping off to town to do a bit of shopping. The important thing was the preliminary cutting of the apron strings.

Junior became an important individual in his own right. With a group of other classmates, he entered a classroom. He saw the things they have to work with and learned what happens there. He met a real teacher. He saw some of the things the grade one pupils have learned to do in their first year of school. He learned about the wash-rooms, the playground and the drinking fountains. He tried his hand at some class room projects and experienced the satisfaction of accomplishment for his own efforts.

Above all he learned that school is an interesting place, where the teachers and principal are ready to give friendly help. If he has trouble sleeping the night before school starts next fall, chances are it will not be due to fears but to the excitement and happy anticipation of entering again, this new and interesting world of school.

HANDYMAN ABOUT THE HOUSE

By GORDON DONALDSON

Pal of mine who makes up in brains for what he lacks in energy was faced with the job of laying a few flagstones to make a path along a worn bit of grass.

Rather than prepare the ground or dig spaces for the stones, he just turned the hose on it, dropped the stones into the muddy mess where they embedded themselves comfortably, sprinkled some grass seed around and went back to sleep.

Patios can be built almost as easily — or they can be elaborate jobs, result of weeks of preparation.

For a way they're far less trouble to maintain than nature's product, the grass lawn.

My wife, who tends our miserable weed-bed, claims wall-to-wall concrete is the answer. And maybe it is.

The simplest kind of patio can be as cheap as the same area of sodded lawn, if you make your own stones.

One bag of cement, costing about a dollar fifty, should make a dozen blocks 16 inches square and about 1 1/2 inches thick.

First hammer together some frames of two-by-two inch lumber. Lay them on a flat surface of newspaper or polyethylene and prepare the mixture.

Mix one part cement to one of sand and two of gravel, add some coloring material if desired—red and yellow are the cheapest colors—and ladle it into the frames. Beat it down with a piece of wood.

After an hour or so, smooth with a steel trowel or, if you haven't got one, hammer down on a piece of wood.

Cover over and keep slightly damp so that the concrete "cures" slowly. After three or four days—out come blocks. (They'll come out easier if the wooden frame has been oiled first.)

A gimmick used by patio builders who yearn to leave their footprints in the sands of time, is to press little plywood cut-outs into the concrete when wet, leaving cute impressions which look attractive at the time but doubtless drive them mad after a year or two.

Dig out the area to be patioed, make sure it is reasonably level, then tip in a layer of sand. This should be a good three inches thick to allow for drainage.

Tamp the sand down, lay the blocks, then sprinkle some more sand on top and brush it into the spaces between the stones.—TNS.

DO IT NOW!

is still cool

I REMEMBER WHEN

murry was "born".

1908. Formation of the Summerland Board of Trade 1909. Formation of the Oddfellows Lodge. They met (at least for part of the period) in the old Empire Hall, which in 1926 was prey to flames in one of the "big fires." Jack Kirk tells The Review he attended an Oddfellows "do" in that hall in the late fall of 1925, his young wife having baked a cake for it; said cake being eaten by a dog, and one having to be purchased to replace it.

1906-07. Billy Simpson packed fruit from Gartrell Orchard, Trout Creek Point in old log building which still stands across the road from the Gartrell House. He also started a nursery and greenhouse business on land which is now part of Glenale subdivision. This enterprise was destroyed by the breaking of Garnett Valley Dam.

The Review has some items concerning other organizations, but there are quite a few gaps and some that appear uncertain as to dates. We are asking the co-operation of our readers in filling in these blank spots, and also letting us know details of some of the old buildings and houses that are still standing, as well as those that have vanished)

MacDonald School Wins

On Saturday, June 18, two Oliver softball teams travelled to Summerland to play against teams from MacDonald School in the finals for the South Okanagan elementary championship.

The girls game was a real see-saw affair with the lead changing hands several times before Oliver emerged victorious after two extra innings. Scarly Zmide was the winning pitcher. Denise Bennison pitched well

Macs win three in a row

Summerland Macs made it three home victories in a row on Sunday as they clobbered Kelowna Labatts 8-2 in a regular league fixture.

Al Hooker on the mound for the Macs, had a slow start and Kelowna scored once in each of the first two innings. After that he shut out the hard hitting Labatts for the rest of the game. Sharp infield play once again featured the Macs defence as they came up with four more double plays to bring their total for the season up to 19, which must be getting close to a league record.

Macs scored their eight runs in the first two innings also. Three in the first and a big five runs in the second inning.

The three runs came off three straight Kelowna errors and two singles by the Macs. The five runs were scored on a walk, an error and three straight hits.

for the losers.

In the boys encounter, MacDonald jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first inning and coasted to a 4-2 win. Bill Downton who pitched the whole game for MacDonald was the winning pitcher while Dave Vulcano was charged with the loss. Dave was relieved in the third by brother Jim, who pitched shut-out ball for the rest of the game. Special mention should be made of the excellent defensive work of MacDonald School's catcher and infielders.

Many thanks to Joe Bullock, Joe Makse and Mayne McCutcheon for their fine officiating.

Al Hooker pitched a good game for his fourth win against one loss. In 45 innings he has allowed only 13 runs.

Kelowna could only pick up 6 hits good for their 2 runs while the Macs made 9 hits pay off with 8 runs. O'Neill was the only Mac to get more than one hit as he came up with three singles in five times at bat.

The next ball game will be this Sunday when Kamloops will be in Summerland for a double header. Game time 1:30.

Henly 4th at Kelowna

Vic Reeve of Vancouver and the University of Oregon won Kelowna's interior championships 1500 metre run last Saturday in the near Canadian record time of 3:54.4. Geoffrey Eales, fourth ranked miler in the Commonwealth was second in 3:56.1, well ahead of Rossland's Don Bertoia (4:06.5) and Summerland's George Henly (4:08.2).

Henly, facing "open" competition for the first time, completely justified the confidence of his supporters. He was the first high school runner to cross the finish line and his time comparable to a 4:06 mile, was one of the fastest ever turned in by a B.C. high school student.

Starting in the pole position (the inside of the track) George maintained the lead in the opening sprint down the backstretch, and then settled into an even 65 second pace while the rest of the field of nine fought for position, all but one passing the Summerland entry. Then with plenty of running room as the field began to spread out, George moved from eighth to fifth in the second lap, slowed a bit on the next, but in spite of this caught the faltering fourth man and then set his sights on Don Bertoia who was 20 yards ahead. Although he closed the gap considerably, the drive came too late and George finished ten yards out of third place.

It was an encouraging day for the Summerland boy. In running by far the best race of his young career and proving himself to be among the top junior milers in the country, he finished "fresh" indicative that he is still far short of his potential. Saturday however, was "lesson" day and he'll have an opportunity in two weeks to show what he learned. It is expected that Henly will enter the Vancouver Police Sports, which is also the B.C. Olympic Trials, on the July 1st weekend.

THEN I JOINED THE CREDIT UNION!

Lots of people have said that. The credit union makes saving so much easier because it's so convenient - and because any amount you save is welcome, no matter how large or how small.

Another thing—it means more to save as a member-owner in your own credit union. While investing your money in your own future, you provide the credit that helps other members. You help others by helping yourself.

With few exceptions, your savings are matched dollar for dollar and in case of your death or permanent disability, your loan is "Paid in Full"—with insurance provided by your credit union at no extra charge through CUNA Mutual, the credit union insurance company.

Square Dancers plan trail dance

An executive meeting was held June 21 at which final arrangements for the fifth annual Pairs & Squares Trail dance were decided upon. Committees to handle refreshments, decorations and corsages were appointed. A group of dancers offered to take part in the street dancing in Penticton the morning of August 2, wearing placards advertising our dance and telling visitors how to locate the Youth Centre. Summerlands Royal party will also be asked to be in attendance during the evening to welcome the visitors.

For the first time in five years we are proud to be having a club caller as MC for what has always been our best attended dance of the year. Visitors from all parts of Western Canada and the USA will be on hand and we are very confident that Ray Fredrickson will show them a wonderful evening. We'll all be there to give you moral support Ray, and to show the visitors the kind of hospitality Summerland has to offer.

210 Registrations for Summer School

by Madeleine Alstead

Enrolment in the new Okanagan Summer School of Fine Arts which will be attended by many Summerland residents has reached 210 with registrations still coming in. Success for the first session is thus ensured, with many letters of inquiry and intention of attending next year. It is felt that the second session may easily exceed the number attending this year. Classes extend from July 4 to 23.

Registrations have come in from Winnipeg, Edmonton, West Vancouver and North Vancouver and inquiries from Saskatchewan and California and B.C. The work done in publicity has paid off. Brochures and posters were sent from Alaska to Mexico and as far east as Winnipeg. The response has shown great interest in this Okanagan venture.

Classes are filling up and a secondary instructor has been asked for.

Associate memberships will be available for the fee of $1 which will entitle the holder to attend the Lister Sinclair open lecture and assure a place. The well-known Canadian writer, playwright, lecturer and TV personality Lister Sinclair will open the creative writing course with four lectures July 5-9 with one lecture open to the public.

There is still room for enrolment in the classes. Any wishing to register should do so immediately as time is now short. Address all registrations and communication to Mr. George Gay, Box 141, Penticton

New dates for Fall Fair, Expansion also planned

The big days for Summerland this fall will be September 9-10. These are the new dates tentatively set for the Summerland Fall Fair, set by a committee of the Board of Trade at a meeting Tuesday night.

This same session, chaired by Trade Board president Scottie Ritchie has given Fred Schumann the task of heading the committee in charge of the fair. He will name his own group to work with him in this, they to form a nucleus from which all work - which it is hoped will include wide community participation - will be organized.

In setting the new dates for the Fair the committee considered these new dates will set the function apart from, rather than on the Labor Day week end. This it is expected, will allow for not only more local participation, but will also encourage those from out-

The new later dates may make it possible for many people to enter items that otherwise would not be available.

Getting the fair apart from Labor Day may mean local merchants will have additional time to prepare booths, hence more of these from local concerns, set up in the arena are looked for. In addition the later dates may make it possible to include a display of work from local schools.

COUNCIL NOTES

Additional police space is to be provided in Summerland, the council agreeing Monday night to have this work carried out at the end of September. Provision for a juvenile courtroom and also for additional office space are included in the plans.

Summerland Board of Trade has asked council for permission for installation of litter cans. W. S. Ritchie, board president and W. M. Wright appeared before the council Monday to make the request which was granted.

STORE HOURS

Retail stores in West Summerland will be open six days a week during the months of July and August. Effective Saturday, July 2, all stores will open 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday to Friday and 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday. Stores will be closed July 1st in observance of Dominion Day.

Fred Schumann... Fair committee chairman side of Summerland to attend.

Improvements to the fair were suggested, such as additional exhibits by local people, show of fruit, flowers and other garden items.

Consider raising Canyon Dam

Will it be possible to raise Canyon Dam and thus materially increase water storage for the municipality? Municipal council plans to find out.

Suggestion for the raising came from Councillor W. B. Powell, who outlined the proposal at Monday night's council meeting. A raise of two feet, suggested by the proposer would mean considerable additional water would be available.

Mr. Powell asked that an engineer be brought in to study the situation. His idea met with full approval, as did his further suggestion, that if the increased height is not possible a wider spill way be provided, with the dam at the present level.

Memories of Yesterday

Who remembers the concerts given in the old lower town bandstand - and who played in that band?

And who was it that used to pasture cows in the general region of the lakeside town? The Review has pictures available showing this was the case.

Already some replies have come in to our enquiries about "old days" with particular reference to the lakeside community. Two of these are printed below. Meanwhile we are anxiously awaiting the plans for the new improved tourist community as suggested in previous articles.

We are also looking forward to receiving many items from the people of the area. If you cannot write them up, just drop into The Review office and tell us about them. In that way you can share treasured memories with your friends - some of whom arrived long after those "old days" yet who are, nevertheless, keenly interested in the history of this community where they now make their home. The Editor:

During a visit to Summerland in the late 1920's, previous to our coming here to live, I was interested to see in the main street, in front of an old building, a cairn built of the boulder stones which abound in this locality. It served as a drinking trough for horses and cattle moving through the street and a chained metal cup hung there for the use of thirsty humans who were invited to drink by a reassuring notice advising that the water was "Pure Spring Water."

This cairn, though roughly built, was really beautiful and artistic being built, as all memorials should be, of materials native to the neighbourhood in which they are erected, in this case of the water-moulded, glacier-polished "boulders" so familiar to Okanagan folk. This cairn so read the inscription was built to the memory of Capt. Robert Falcon Scott, the British arctic explorer, who perished so tragically while returning from the ill-fated expedition of 1910-1912. Most people are familiar with the story of that expedition; of the determination of the five members to reach the South Pole; of their pulling their heavy sledges by hand, in sub-zero weather over the glaciers of the polar plateau (the motors proved useless for transportation) the ponies and dogs could only be used for establishing depots en route.

After herculean efforts they reached the Pole on January 18, 1912 only to find that the Norwegian explorer Roald Admudsen had planted his country's flag there one month and four days before.

The depression of spirit resulting from this disappointment, after their heroic effort on the terrible trek, must have lowered their vitality considerably and made it more difficult for them to face the tribulations of the return journey; the continual blizzards, illness, frost bite all aggravated by the shortage of food. Lieutenant Evans was the first to succumb, he died on the high plateau. Later that "very perfect gentleman" Capt. Oates walked out from the shelter of the tent into the ruthless blizzard to face certain death, rather than be a burden, with his gangrened feet to his fellow sufferers; the three survivors soon followed him and met death in a blizzard, when only eleven miles from their depot.

I have never discovered whether Capt. Scott or any of his comrades were connected in any way with Summerland nor do I know the name of the person who built the cairn; that he must have been moved by the tragic story and filled with admiration for the gallant adventure is evident from the effort he made to perpetuate its memory by building this simple but adequate memorial; he must also have been a lover of animals; many thirsty creatures must have found refreshment at Capt. Scott's cairn.

That this simple and touching memorial should have been pulled down is most regrettable; it was erected in love and admiration by someone who could appreciate the heroism and fortitude of fellow-men. The unattractive metal arrangement that took its place is unworthy of its purpose.

Lillian V. Plunkett.

The Editor:

It was with very great interest that I read in last week's Summerland Review of the Town Planning Commission's project regarding the original Summerland.

Only a few weeks ago I stood on the corner above the old telephone office on Hospital Hill admiring the sweep of the bay and thinking how beautiful nature had designed it. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright have made their part of the foreshore an example of what it could be like all the way along. I am sure the plan to make a resort down here is quite possible and I hope there will be no delay in making it a reality.

Your articles brought back many memories of my childhood days here; and the things that used to be.

I would like to mention some of the businesses as I recall them - each of course has its own story. I have already mentioned the telephone exchange which brings to mind the name of Atkins. Down the hill from it was Mr. Rover's Shoe Store, the Summerland Supply Co. - my father Fred Gartrell, made the first purchase there - a pair of gloves. # Anglicans to build new Rectory here

A general congregational meeting of St. Stephen's Anglican Church held last Thursday night raffirmed the decision of the building committee to continue with a church expansion program. Construction of a new rectory at an estimated cost of $18500 will proceed immediately.

Tenders have been called for demolition or removal of the present rectory. The program started when the new parish hall was built a few years ago. Other steps to be taken are installation of a new $2500 heating plant in the church.

Within the next few years it is expected to extend the chancel and extend the parish hall east making passageway from the parish hall to the church.

Chairman of the finance committee is A. W. Watt and Dr. D. V. Fisher is the building committee chairman.

At the end of the year the church will relinquish present obligations which will enable the proposed improvements as part of a 10 year plan.

Money Belts Excess Baggage These Days

Once upon a time -- and even today in some parts of the world -- travellers had to hide their money pretty carefully if they didn't want to lose it. Money belts were as common as Gladstone bags in the old days.

Nowadays it's different. Today's traveller doesn't need to worry about losing his bankroll. Mostly because he doesn't carry a bankroll at all. Instead he uses Bank of Montreal travellers cheques. They're the perfectly safe and convenient means of carrying funds while travelling.

A visit to the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal before starting off on your next business or vacation trip can give you complete peace of mind. There the accountant, Earl Smith can sell you the B of M travellers cheques you need, in whatever denomination you think will be most practical for your purposes.

Then you'll be able to travel with the knowledge that if your travellers cheques are lost, stolen or destroyed you won't be the loser because the Bank of Montreal will arrange to replace them for you.

If you're going abroad the B of M can provide you special travellers cheques or travellers letters of credit for large sums. Travellers cheques are much more comfortable than a money belt; we promise.

Charting a Course Through Summerland

"You can find that store at the corner of Hastings and Granville . . ."

"But that's in Vancouver; I want to find a store in SUMMERLAND"

"That IS in Summerland."

"Well, no one - at least no one who hadn't lived here since the town was a pup - would know it."

The above conversation is, of course, pure fiction. But like a good deal of fiction it illustrates a fact.

And that fact is the utter absence of street-name signs in this community. It is something like earlier days in neighboring Penticton when a visitor was told to "go down Fairview road, across a bridge and then follow a cow-trail you'll see there." And in that far-off day the stranger simply could not find Fairview Road - it just wasn't marked. Whether or not he ever found the cow trail is also a matter of doubt. Streets, "short-cuts" and old cow-trails were, in those years almost undistinguishable.

Summerland at least has some good streets; it has a orderly plan, and for the most part streets do go somewhere without ending in a dead-stop. But which are what streets is something one needs a guide, philosopher and friend to tell him - that is, until street names are installed.

There seems to be some indecision among some community leaders as to what form of sign should be used. Naturally, the best possible for a reasonable amount of money to spend on this . . .

If this is the cause of the delay, we humbly suggest the use of simple, temporary signs until a permanent one can be selected. And, for temporary standards used pipe is available and makes good ones at low cost.

There seems to be no sound reason for further in charge are at it they might also delineate and signpost delaying this highly necessary project. And, while those some of the "district" in the area - which seems vague and without boundaries that are fully understood or marked

This could be our opportunity

Speaking in Penticton at noon on Monday, the Hon. R. G. Williston, B.C.'s Minister of Lands and Forests presented at least one major item that could spell "opportunity to Summerland."

The minister, after outlining the trials and troubles of the lumber business - which, as all are aware, is in a slump at the moment - said there is a need for a chip- or pulp mill "in this area", meaning the South Okanagan.

That statement alerted this newspaper, for what better place for such a mill could be found than right here in Summerland? Summerland has the lumber, some mills, and ample location for plants (minus parking problems.)

Mr. Williston stated that the honeymoon days of B.C. selling what it wanted and its customers taking it because that was what was available are past. To stay in business this province must tailor its product to the requirements of other world markets than those in the U.S. - notably Great Britain. He stated that the old days of cutting 2x4's or similar items and loading this item in carload lots are over; that other forms of packaging are needed.

More significantly, he stated that unless Interior mills are willing to capitalize on wood-wastes, they would find the going more than hard. The minister said the mills at the coast are already either geared, or becoming so for the absorption of waste materials. The interior must do the same, he said.

Another old fallacy exploded was in regard to the "cheapness" of seaboard transport. He said high costs of handling by longshoremen and others had mitigated against this, and that as much of the end-product by way of pulp goes to eastern U.S. outlets; the "advantage" of water transport is largely nil.

Mr. Williston said Celgar (Kinnard-Castlegar) will be in a position to use pulp-making material "before too long."

A $65,000 plant has been under construction there for some time now in preparation for the next "wave" of pulp-demand.

by Freda Storey

During the latter part of last year the death was announced of one of the most popular fiction writers of our time Neville Shute Norway. In all he had written 20 novels and a biography each of which in its own way had appealed to a host of readers on either side of the Atlantic. Since his death the executors of his estate have placed in the hands of his publishers yet another novel, "Trustee from the Toolroom" which arrived in Summerland this week is the latest and last of the works of Neville Shute.

Other new fiction to arrive include "Room at the Top" by John Braine from which the award winning film was taken. This book introduces "a writer of originality and vigour" and has received from the critics a storm of praise unprecedented for a first novel.

The hero Joe Lampton was brought up on the fringes of poverty and squalor in an ugly north country town in England. He has emerged with one over riding aim, namely to fight his way up into the bright world of money and influence and never to be trapped among the anonymous, defeated crowd.

How he achieves this aim, mainly through his entanglements with women is bluntly told, with an indelicacy which may offend many. However, it is an adult book as the film is for adult entertainment only and may be appreciated by some for its sheer forcefulness.

Among the non-fiction "Moana Returns" by Bernard Gorsky is one of the most interesting. Here we have a sequel to "Moana" the tale of the fascinating journey of a forty foot cutter from Dinard to Tahiti. At the time of its publication in 1956 this was claimed to be "as great a sea story as Kon-Tiki and almost as great a diving book as Cousteau's Silent World." In "Moana Returns" Gorsky proves again that he is the true poet of the incredible underwater world and also that he can be no less skilful when describing the strange, amusing or primitive people; English settlers in remote atolls or a pigmy diving tribe of Stone Age culture.

"Trailer travel here and abroad" by Wally Bryan also calls for some interest, giving hits on the new way to adventurous living.

"In Praise of Wine" by Alec Waugh may prove absorbing reading too not only to the connoisseur, but also for the neophyte or in fact for anyone who enjoys a book that combines personal reminiscences and anecdotes with authoritative information on its subject.

BEAUTY AND THE BEACH

At the beach this summer, when getting ready to put on the suntan oil, don't forget that your eyes need protection just as much as your skin. Eye lotion is now available in Canada in a new yellow plastic squeeze bottle that dispenses one drop at a time for easy use. It's easily portable and will neither break nor spill.

"Thoughts on Psalm 90"

by Rev. Ira Johnson

"Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting thou art God." (Verses 1, 2) Moses who prayed, this prayer, goes on to show how very frail and very short our lives are in comparison to the eternal existence of God. "The days of our years are three score years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be four score years yet is their strength labour and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away." (Verse 10).

We fly away where? To stand in the presence of the Judge of the Ages. "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom" says Moses in verse 12).

In view of all this may we early in life see the value of partaking of God's mercy. "O satisfy us early with thy mercy; that we may rejoice and be glad all our days." (Verse 14)

Moses ends the prayer with the request that our lives be characterized and stabilized by the presence of this eternal God. "And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea the work of our hands establish thou it"

WEEKLY CHUCKLE

Two old timers were getting a bit personal, as usual.

"Yah" said one, "I had a beard like yours, once but when I realized how it made me look I cut it off."

"Yeh and I had a face like yours once and when I realized that I couldn't cut it off I grew this beard"

A very enjoyable supper was had on Tuesday evening on John Selinger's lawn and next week the club will meet at Doug Campbells' who said he lives in "Summerland by the sea". Little business was transacted but it was decided that during the summer months programmes will be left to the discretion of the programme chairman, Walter Toeves.

Doug Campbell left the meeting - so it is said - muttering to himself "I'll show them how to put on a steak supper" so be on hand fellows not only for the steaks but attendance must be kept up, even though it is hot and the holiday months.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

Sad eyes tell the story of Eskimo twin children—the story of two-year-old Danielle and Elisappee who gaze out the windows of the children's ward in a tuberculosis sanatorium at Hamilton, Ontario, after being separated from their mother for the first time. It isn't unusual for Canadian Eskimos to contract TB (over one-third of the country's Eskimo population does so). But what makes Danielle and Elisappee unusual is the fact they are twins. Eskimo women rarely give birth to twins.

This buck rabbit makes a wonderful babysitter for seven pups. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. When it takes over as babysitter, the pups snuggle around, sometimes bite its ears, and don't miss Mum at all.

No Admittance!
AFTOSA

Few are the countries of the world where the livestock owner does not live in dread of seeing the above notice tacked upon his gate. For he knows that if his animals become infected with this disease they will waste away and never regain normal weight and milk production.

He also knows that once aftosa hits the only way to stop it is to kill off all livestock in the entire infected area!

But the economic losses caused by this animal ill—formally named foot-and-mouth disease, but more commonly known as "aftosa"—are not limited to stock owners. Today aftosa is a world problem. Here are a few reasons why:

- Because a ftosa control and eradication measures are expensive to governments.
  - Because in a world where too many millions are already undernourished, aftosa is the number one cause of loss of animal protein.
  - Because aftosa cuts down international trade by forcing aftosa-free countries to bar animal products coming from infected lands.
- Only Australia, the Guianas, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, and the western hemisphere north of Panama are free of aftosa. Yet even these areas run danger of infection as the aftosa virus can be carried in bones, blood, milk and hides as well as fresh, dried, canned or even frozen meats.

Taxes National Economies
In stamping out six aftosa epidemics between 1900 and 1930, the United States suffered direct and indirect costs totalling almost $200 million.

Therefore when aftosa broke out in Mexico in 1948, the U.S. found the need to protect its own livestock at one with its sympathy for a sister republic's plight. Both countries fought shoulder to shoulder for six years before aftosa was eradicated. The cost: $130 million to the U.S. and more than $500 million to Mexico.

In South America, Argentina alone estimates aftosa costs it $150 million a year.

When aftosa suddenly appeared in limited areas of Canada's Saskatchewan province in 1954 all shipment to the United States of Canadian breeder and feeder cattle was abruptly halted. In the few months before the outbreak was put down Canadian farmers lost millions of dollars of customary revenue.

Pan American Center Set Up
It was in recognition of aftosa's international dimensions that the 21 American Republics jointly founded the Pan American Foot-and-Mouth Disease Center on the outskirts of Rio de Janeiro in 1951.

Administered by the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, and financed through the Organization of American States' Technical Cooperation Program, the Center's purpose is to aid the countries in controlling and eventually eradicating aftosa from the hemisphere.

The Center trains anti-aftosa workers, provides the countries with consultants, organizes multi-national campaigns, furnishes reference laboratory and diagnostic services, and carries out research.

Center experts hope soon to produce a vaccine that will protect livestock for much longer periods than do any in present use. Such a vaccine would mean aftosa's eradication.

Plant often varies in shape and size but bright, glossy green leaves are usually in bunches of three. Effects on skin vary from minor to severe.

In your Orchard

by A. W. Watt

Crown Rot a threat to Fruit Trees

Recently there have been a number of cases of Crown Rot affecting fairly large numbers of younger fruit trees in a single orchard. All kinds of fruit trees have been affected - not just apples. The disease enters the bark of the tree through a wound at or near ground level. It turns the bark a reddish brown color during the rotting process. It can and frequently does cause death of the tree through girdling the trunk. Although the fungus may enter at a point near ground level it may travel many inches up the trunk from the point of origin. The disease may pass undetected for a year or more until the rotting of cambial tissues cuts off the supply of water and nutrients and brings on leaf symptoms. First signs of the disease are often a yellowing and purpling of the foil age and general unthriftness in the tree. In stonefruits gumming is often present.

Many trees which show these signs are already beyond saving but fortunately many of them can still be saved. General treatment is to remove mulch or soil from the crown of the tree and allow it to dry as much as possible before covering again in the fall. Scraping the surface layer of bark from the infected tissue will permit drying out of the diseased area. Care should be taken not to injure the cambium.

Examinations of affected trees over recent years lead us to suspect that the following may be important contributing factors which predispose the trees to infection by Crown Rot.

1. Very tight mouse guards such as oil cans, plastics or even wire screen. In most of these cases the guard has not been regularly checked and expanded to allow for increasing girth of the trees. The tightening guard compresses trash and grasses against the tree creating a medium which remains damp between sprinklings.

2. Sawdust or shaving mulch "hilled" up against the trunks. Quite frequently mulching materials are thrown against tree trunks. Once well moistened this can remain damp all summer - an ideal medium for fungus to grow in.

From the above it is only reasonable to conclude that a check of conditions around the crowns of fruit trees should be made each spring in any orchard. Mouse guards that are too tight should be removed and replaced with larger ones. Where mulching material has collected in "hills" around the trunks of trees a few hours spent pulling the mulch away from immediate contact with the trunk could pay dividends in saving trees from Crown Rot. Of course, undue exposure of the crowns to frost should be avoided. If the crowns have been exposed during the summer they should be covered over again in the fall. Sand is a good material for this purpose.

HANDYMAN ABOUT THE HOUSE

By GORDON DONALDSON

This is paint-up time, as the women's magazines tell you brightly, with a picture of a spotless doll in skintight slacks faultlessly fingering a paintbrush.

What they never show you is the same doll an hour or so later, her golden tresses clogged solid with paint, her pert nose spattered and her lovely disposition shattered, screaming at the top of her voice for turpentine.

I have never managed to paint anything without covering myself in the stuff. But I have consulted the professionals—men who can paint a ceiling in half an hour and come out as clean as a whistle.

And this is how it's done: You don't just grab the paint can and the nearest brush. You plan in advance. Requirements include pails for mixing the paint; clean cloths for wiping spatters; sticks for stirring, newspapers and cloths to cover the furniture, patching plaster and sandpaper for fixing cracks; shellac for priming the patches; an abrasive cleaner, turps—and a screwdriver for opening the paint can.

Also you'll probably need a ladder if the job is off the ground. Don't stand on the grand piano.

Painting a room requires lots of preparation. Remove the pictures and small bits and pieces, stack the large pieces of furniture in the middle of the room and cover everything in sight. Put newspapers on the floor around the walls or, if the ceiling is to be done, over the entire area.

Greasy walls have to be scrubbed with strong detergent, then allowed to dry. Flaky old paint has to be scraped off and the area sanded smooth. Prime bare spots with shellac and patch cracks if necessary with plaster.

If doors or windows have to be done, take off all fittings, knobs, etc., or you can cover them with grease, which will help you get the surplus paint off them later.

With rooms now, you should do the ceiling first, then the walls, then the trim, then the doors. With doors, paint the door frames first, then the door panels, then the edges, working from top to bottom. With steps, paint every second one, let dry, then do the rest.

When painting windows, you can use masking tape on the glass edges. I have two friends who used masking tape. You can tell they used masking tape because it's still there stuck to the windows. Some day, they say, they'll take the glass out and get rid of it that way.

A cheaper and fairly foolproof way of keeping paint off the windows is to cover them with soap or grease beforehand and wipe this off with the excess paint when the job's done.

The spots that will get there despite all precautions can be scraped off with a razor blade—a painfully slow process—or wiped off with hot vinegar on a cloth.

Incidentally, with the bug season coming up, you prevent embalming bugs in your new paintwork by mixing a little citronella in with the paint. It doesn't harm the paint and scares the bugs off.

When you finish painting, remove all spots—turpentine takes paint off most things, lye and water takes it off concrete, rubber-based paints come off with warm water and soap.

But before you do this, clean the paint off yourself. Because, despite all this good advice, you're probably smothered in it.—TNS.

Memories Continued

 none. Chautauqs were held there. Across the street there had been the first post office opened in 1902. From 1903-1906 Grandpa English was postmaster. Beside it had been the Bank of Montreal and the first jewellery store, owned by Mrs. C. E. Orr's father, Mr. Rowley. These were near the T. J. Smith wharf.

The Chinese laundry was up what we call Chinaman's Gulch. Geo. Gartrell and Burtch had a butcher shop. Jack Logie had a drug store and Rev. A. J. McIntyre's sister a dressmaking shop, across from where Gibbard's live now, in a cement block built by Mr. Gartrell in 1907. Later there was a drug store across from the new breakwater; proprietor being Ken Hogg. Then the Methodist Church and manse were on the hill above and hold many happy memories. There was a men's club adjoining and included a gymnasium where we played basketball. It had gallery for spectators.

Then of course the Summerland Hotel was a hive of industry. Names brought to mind in its collection are Downton, and McCalmum. C. E. McCutcheon had a barber shop there. My father used to supply ice for the hotel and butcher shop. Across the street was the band shell. There was a power house also and the first fish hatchery operated by Geb. Gartrell. On the same side was R. H. English's livery stable, more recently White and Thornethwaite. English's home was where Oxley's live now and many a party on the lawn can I remember. At one time Felix Hotel was lived in by the Hatfields, again it was where the paper was published and in 1921 it was the hospital.

On the west side of the street later were various businesses such as Devitt Meat Shop and the blacksmith shop owned at various times by Shield's; Pilkington; and Scurrah. Milne's Store where Gale's Electric is now was fascinating to me. There were two sections one for confectionery; the other for hats, laces, etc. At one time (1931) there was an open air section attached to the south and we danced there. Further south opposite side was A. B. Elliott's store and Mr. Lee McLaughlin who worked there can tell many stories of those days. The Oddfellows Lodge for a few years held meetings above; the last meeting there being in June 1915. Up the Gulch Road was the cottage hospital about 52 years ago in the Fenner house. Carter's Plumbing was up the road too.

There were many happy times in those days. One of the highlights was the arrival of the paddlewheelers Sicamous and Okanagan.

There were boat excursions to Naramata or other towns on the Maude Moore. There were picnics, riding parties, baseball games; tennis, sleighing parties; band concerts; canoe races. Behind Dr. Andrews' and Starks houses were boat-houses and where Bill Evans lives was known as Agur's boat-house. There were doctors in the early days and for fire protection there was a hose on a reel.

Speaking of Dr. Andrew reminds me of his books, "The Story of Summerland" and "The Story of Klinker" which hold much valuable material about the early days of the community.

I am sure the above would inspire other old timers to think of many interesting events.

(Mrs.) Mary E. Orr.

Macs lose two games to Kamloops

The Summerland Macs played their worst ball of the season on Sunday as they went down before the Kamloops Okonats in both games of a double header by scores of 5-4 and 7-2.

Hooker started on the mound for the Macs in the first game and went all the way. Macs built up a four run lead in the 2nd inning but blew it with an error and some sloppy fielding.

It was a hard game for Hooker to lose as he only allowed one earned run in the seven innings.

Macs collected 9 hits off of two Kamloops pitchers, including 2 for 4 for O'Neill and 2 for 3 for Warren Parker. Cristante also had 2 for 4, one of which was a long double. Macs came up with two more double plays to bring their total to 21.

The less said about the second game the better. A base on balls and two errors gave Kamloops two runs in the first inning and a base on balls, 2 hits and 2 errors gave them four more in the second. Sheeley went the distance for the Macs giving up 4 hits and striking out 5. O'Neill with 3 for 5 and Robert Parker with 2 for 4 got 5 of the Macs 7 hits. Taylor and Lemke got the other two.

The next action for the Macs will be at 3:30 Friday afternoon when they tangle with the powerful Burnaby Athletics in the Penticton 1st of July tournament.

Next league action will be in Summerland July 10th, when Oliver and Macs play a double header.

Batting averages for more than 40 times at bat:

On the Rifle Range

by Herb Simpson

The Kelowna Rifle Assoc. annual invitational shoot on Sunday was very enjoyable although the number of contestants was not large.

George Dunsdon, Art Dunsdon, Harold Richardson and the writer represented the local club. We didn't manage to bring home any trophies but Art Dunsdon had the good fortune to win the 600 yards sweepstake money. Aggregate scores were George 131; Art 129; Harold 118; Bert 120.

We are looking forward to attending the invitation shoot at the Penticton range July 10. How about a few more of our members turning out to the event?

Promenade

Fourteen squares of dancers spent a very happy evening at the Youth Centre on Saturday as guests of the Pairs and Squares. Lovely summer flowers used to decorate the hall and in corsages for each of the ladies set the summertime theme. Chuck Inglis' fine calling kept things rolling right along until suppertime and after refreshments the dancers squared up again for another session. A gift for the couple who came from the farthest distance went to Gordon and Maxine Diglow from Salem, Oregon.

The Vernon Square Dance Clubs combined under the Vernon Jamboree Committee held a well attended dance in the Scout Hall Friday June 17 with Les Boyer doing the calling.

New officers of the Okanagan Square Dance Assoc. elected recently at a meeting at Ray Frederickson's home are president Bob Potter of Oliver; vice president Walter Marsh of Peachland secretary treasurer Kay Adams of Penticton. A thousand copies of the Okanagan Square Dance Directory have been ordered and will be distributed through all the towns in the area. Each square dance club will be listed in the directory with their officers names and dates of regular party nights so that visitors have information readily available if they want to go dancing. Next workshop will be held Sept. 25 after the summer recess.

Another dance to keep in mind is the Peach City promenaders party July 2 in the Youth Centre. Bob Emerson will be emcee and a buffet supper will be served. That afternoon the Aquaducks are gathering at Okanagan Lake beach, 3:00 p.m. All those who would like to join these amphibious square dancers are invited to come and go through the initiation. There is also dancing every Wednesday evening in the Penticton pavilion from 8 to 10 p.m.

Summerland's Ray Frederickson emceed a very lively and enjoyable dance at Peachland on Saturday. About 18 squares of dancers were on hand to spend a happy evening with their hosts the Totem Twirlers. It's nice to see this exchange of callers between two neighbor clubs and we are fortunate in Summerland to have both men lined up as caller instructors for our winter square dancing.
