To please the Chamber of Commerce we will refer to all moisture recorded at the research station as precipitation, so we don't have to mention that nasty word that begins with "s". Anyway, we had 1.81 inches of precipitation during the past week and 14.9 hours of sunshine.

Winner at the final evening of play Friday evening in the bridge tournament were Mr. and Mrs. C. Haddrell, 6,800 points; second Palmer and Peddle of Penticton, 6,740 points; and third Mrs. N. Reid and partner with 6,690 points.

Tournament winners were W. Palmer and M. Peddle with 45,050 points; Mrs. E. Burrs and W. Hepperle, 34,090 points and Mrs. E. Hookham and George Fudge, 33,540 points. Another tourney is planned in the spring.

Public skating at the arena this year is attracting a record crowd. To cope with the large numbers attending the free Tiny Tot sessions, extra classes have been arranged for Friday afternoons as well as Wednesday afternoons.

Now I know how Penny Wise husband feels. Sent the wife out with instructions to look through the stores and write a column on Christmas gifts available in Summerland stores. She came back with the column alright, plus an armful of parcels. Just couldn't resist the bargains, she said.

Parents are interested in the courses their children are taking in school. This was proved when forty adults last week attended the first of 10 night school classes in the new approach to mathematics for grade 8 students.

The Chamber of Commerce is seeking nominations for its annual good citizen award. Nominations, in writing, should be handed into the Chamber secretary, Len Weist, by January 15.

Rebekahs fete Senior Citizens

Nearly 100 members of the Old Age Pensioners Association were entertained at a turkey dinner in the IOOF Hall Tuesday evening. The annual dinner for Summerland's senior citizens is presented by Faith Rebekah Lodge.

Following the dinner, Ben Maynes thanked the Rebekahs for their annual hospitality.

Reeve Norman Holmes gave greetings from the municipality. Noble Grand Loyale Campbell extended greetings from the lodge.

Following carol singing, led by Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Mrs. Bud Green sang two solos.

A round of bingo, conducted by Lloyd Shannon concluded the evening's entertainment.

This reproduction is the first in a series of B.C. communities where newspapers belonging to B.C. Weekly Newspapers Association are published. The photo shows an air view of the city of Duncan, 853 acres, population 3,750, chief urban area of Cowichan Valley, midway between Victoria and Nanaimo on Vancouver Island and 60 miles southwest of Vancouver city. Trading population is 20,000. Logging, saw milling and pulp are chief money makers, with mixed farming and specialized lines like holly growing second in line. The valley appeals to retired couples because of its equable climate and nearness to larger centres, including Seattle. The district lies immediately south of the 49th parallel of latitude. Ski Club offers free courses

The Summerland Ski Club will start the season with a general meeting in the IOOF Hall this Friday.

The meeting will feature films and talks on the sport by Willy Leitner, Vernon ski instructor, will start at 7:30 p.m. and is open to all skiers or those interested in skiing.

This year, in co-operation with the ski club, the Review is sponsoring a free instructional course for beginners at the Summerland ski hill. The classes, conducted by members of the ski club, will be held Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

This school will start Friday with instruction in the fundamentals of the sport. The classes are expected to start at Christmas when there should be sufficient snow on the hill. The courses are free and will last for several weeks. But you must fill in the registration form on the back page of this issue and send it to the Review or take it to the meeting Friday night.

Ski club secretary Phil Munro reports that weather conditions at the Meadow Valley hill indicate a good season for skiers.

Club members have worked hard this fall getting things in shape for what they anticipate will be a full skiing schedule this winter.

Biggest improvement is the new 2,000 foot cable tow now being installed. This will be twice as long as last year's rope tow.

The hill has been improved with weeds and rocks removed this fall.

The log cabin, where coffee and sandwiches will be sold, has been re-chinked, and a new floor and built-in cupboards installed.

If you are just a beginner interested in skiing, or an expert who would like to take up the sport again, be sure to attend the meeting Friday evening.

The senior band, under the direction of Mr. Louis Biczko, will play a variety of numbers during the first half of the program. After a short intermission, the junior band, under Mr. Biczko, and the junior choir, under the direction of Mr. William Beames, will entertain for the second portion of the concert. Carols will be sung, accompanied by the band.

The concert is being held earlier this year, in order that band members would not be required to practice for the concert, and prepare for examinations during the same period.

ROB GARAGE

Tuesday night thieves forced the door of Bud's Garage and made off with two winter tires and a quantity of oil. RCMP are investigating.

C of C plans Light-up competition

Light up for Christmas and make Summerland reflect the holiday spirit. That's the slogan for the Chamber of Commerce's annual "Light up for Christmas" competition.

Once again the F. E. Atkinson rose bowl plus $10 will be awarded for the best decorated house, with second and third prizes of $10 and $5.

All those who wish to enter the competition are asked to notify the Chamber secretary, Len Weist at HY4-6781.

Judging will take place before Christmas, between December 18 and 24.

It is hoped that more residents will enter the competition this year, as it certainly creates a festive attitude in the community.

A. J. Anderson to investigate fruit pooling

Announcement was made last week that an agricultural economist from UBC will mediate the dispute on soft fruit pooling between Okanagan Valley fruit growers and the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association.

Professor A. J. Anderson will be the arbitrator and will hold public meetings throughout the valley around the middle of January.

Professor Anderson was associated with the agricultural committee dealing with technical aspects on the Glassco Royal Commission. He is a past president of the Agricultural Institute of Canada.

Summerland local BCFG president Charlie Bernhardt said today that this Local's executive is now working on a brief to present to Professor Anderson.

Police Court

John Bareson of West Summerland appeared this week before magistrate Reid Johnston on two charges of making misleading representations to the Unemployment Insurance Commission, in regard to benefits. He was found guilty and fined $25 and costs on two charges, making a total of $50.

Kenneth Arthur Hunt of Penticton entered a not guilty plea when he appeared in court on December 25. He was charged with driving without due care and attention following an accident on Sandhill Road November 18. The car which he was driving left the road and hit a tree resulting in $1,000 damage to the vehicle.

Also Beno Holtzer of Kelowna received a $100 fine and an order to repay Fuik's Store at Peachland a total of $36.52 as restitution for stolen property found in his possession. Charge resulted when four Oliver men robbed the store in November.

Funeral services for W. W. Hemingway

Funeral services were held Saturday, December 1, for Mr. William Wilson Hemingway, 88, who passed away at his home here on Wednesday, November 28. He had resided in Summerland for the past 27 years.

Mr. Hemingway was born in Kilmeague, County Kildare, Ireland, and came to Canada as a young man, living in Fort William, Stratford, Ontario, Lethbridge and Kamloops. During the first world war he served overseas with the 172nd Bn. CEF.

After the war he became chief of police for the district of North Vancouver, and in 1935 he came to Summerland as a member of the B.C. provincial police. He retired in the early 1940's.

Surviving are his wife, Catherine; one daughter (Kay) Mrs. Jack Dunsdon; one son, Stuart C., with the RCMP in Saskatchewan; one sister in North Vancouver; two sisters in Ireland; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 11 a.m. from St. Stephen's Anglican Church with Rev. Norman Tannar officiating. Interment in Peach Orchard Cemetery with graveside service conducted by Branch 22 of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Residents support refugee boy in Italy

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson and Miss Dorothy Britton of West Summerland, B.C. have financially "adopted" Samuele Piscitelli, a 10-year-old Italian boy through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., P.O. Box 65, Station B, Montreal. The foster Parents have promised to contribute $16 a month toward the child's support for at least one year.

Foster Parents' Plan, which has rehabilitated more than 76,000 children on a personal basis since its founding in 1937, is now helping more than 28,000 youngsters in Greece, Italy, France, South Korea, South Viet Nam, Hong Kong, the Philippines and Columbia. There are currently over 5,000 foster parents in Canada. Over the past twenty-five years, more than 600,000 Canadians and Americans have helped needy children overseas through Foster Parents' Plan, either as individuals or as members of groups.

"We are indeed grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson and Miss Britton for giving Samuele this wonderful gift of hope and help," declared Miss Gloria C. Matthews, Executive Director of Foster Parents' Plan, "and we prayfully hope that many others who read this will also extend a helping hand to a distressed child. We shall be happy to send full information on how to become a foster parent to a child in Europe, the Far East or Columbia to any individual, school or group writing to Foster Parents' Plan, P.O. Box 65, Station B, Montreal," Miss Matthews added.

Foster Parents' Plan is a non-profit, non-propaganda, non-sectarian, independent, government-approved relief organization which provides children who are orphaned, distressed, or otherwise made destitute with the care, education, and moral support they need. "Adoption" through Plan is financial not legal. The foster parent promises to contribute $16 monthly for at least one year. Of this sum, the child receives $8 each month as an outright grant. The remainder is used for periodic food and new clothing packages, translations of letters, medical services and education. Because each child is treated as an individual, any special needs of the child or his family are taken care of by Plan from its General Fund. This fund is made up of contributions from the public.

To encourage a warm, personal relationship between the foster parent and "his child", the foster parent receives a history of the child and a photograph, and correspondence through the Plan Office is translated both ways. This exchange bridges the gap between foster parent and child and gives the youngster the feeling of security and love he needs.

Editorials

They need all the facts

Announcement of the appointment of Professor A. J. Anderson of the University of B.C. Faculty of Agriculture as special investigator into some of the current Okanagan fruit pooling and kindred problems have been received with considerable acclaim.

Naming this official for this task was excellent, in that he can give a clear-cut, impartial finding.

Everyone in the community is interested because what ever affects the fruit industry directly or indirectly affects the livelihood and well-being of every individual in the area.

The executive of the Summerland BCFGA is urging all fruit growers in this area to let them have all possible suggestions linked to fruit pooling and to the industry in general. From this material a written brief will be prepared, by the executive to be put before the enquiry.

The executive has told the Summerland Review that they want what is finally put before the enquiry to be the feelings and findings, not of the executive, but of all those interested in the fruit business in this area. To be sure of this all possible ideas must be included in the discussions before the first brief is prepared. This will save time and delays in making up the final draft.

And the time element is a vital one in this instance. It is gathered the hearings will commence in early, or mid-January. Arranging for and preparing the final brief in the interim — after the first rough-draft of the brief has been prepared, will crowd the time exceedingly.

Local leaders further state that this enquiry and the changes that may be the outcome of it could prove a turning point in the industry. For this reason all possible pertinent ideas are essential. The Summerland local's executive has shown that it is willing to go "all-out" to aid the industry. They ask that all others affected evidence at least some of the same spirit.

A telephone call, a jotted note — any form of suggestion or idea are your best way of showing them you are giving your support.

The greatest gift

by Rev. Rathjen

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." John 3:16.

Once again the Christmas season is upon us. The stores are decorated for the occasion and their counters are loaded with things from which we may choose gifts for those we love. We will spend much time and money in selecting the most suitable and useful gifts. With this accomplished we look forward to the appreciation that will be shown when each is received.

At this season of the year we should not lose sight of the fact that this gift-giving originated with the giving of God's Son to the world. The very familiar Scripture quoted above reveals that it was God's love and concern for lost humanity that prompted Him to give the best that heaven had to save man from eternal ruin. On that first Christmas day God, in His great wisdom and love, gave His only begotten Son, the most suited gift to man's need.

The value of this gift to the receiver is seen in the last half of the test: "That whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." What greater gift could be given?

Over 1900 years have passed since God, in His love, gave His "unspeakable gift" to this world. Millions have received His gift, the Saviour, with great joy and gladness and have entered into everlasting life. God's gift is still extended to the "whosoever". Who but the most ungrateful and foolish could reject such an offer.

Letters to the Editor

The Editor,

Summerland Review

Dear Sir:

Mr. David Cruickshank formerly of West Summerland, this morning presented me with a copy of your issue of November 22, bringing to my attention your article about the Bank of Montreal.

The paragraph relating to the opening of the West Summerland office in 1911, is of particular interest to me in view of the fact that I was one of a staff of two that opened the branch, Mr. Harry J. Collis as manager and myself as staff. At that time we were both attached to Summerland office under the manager, Mr. E. B. May.

During my two years in the West Summerland branch I met many wonderful and interesting people, among whom were the Neve family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. R. Neve, their son Fred and two daughters, Connie and Mary. The outcome of this friendship was Connie and I became engaged and were married in Penticton in 1916, and consequently revisited West Summerland many, many times, during the succeeding years, including your big celebration of three or four years ago.

Some of the first people I met at that time were the C.P.R. Agent, George Ross and the Reverend and Mrs., Frank Hardy, who with their wives are now living close to us in this district, with whom we often recall some of our happy days spent in your district.

Mr. Cruickshank has been hounding me for the last two years to write you, particularly when any item pertaining to those early days appeared in your paper; and today he threatened to withhold showing me any further issues of the Review, if I did not comply with his request. Rather than have this happen, I have succumbed.

fortunate unemployed then one way or other got them into military service; forced them to sacrifice their lives if necessary to save what is termed their "country", then open the doors wide and let in immigrants who killed some of us and reportedly would have enslaved the whole world had they been able to do so.

Some people acquire great wealth; most of it by exploiting the labor of working people; they are treated royally while they themselves could not possibly work more than 24 hours a day on any one or more jobs. Our scientists are our most important people. Our big businessmen are our wealthiest and certainly not the most productive workers; in fact some are not likely to be any more useful than a flood in January. And now we have some complaining about a few measly dollars given to the needy. It is clearly evident that those who complain about the unemployed and others (in need) are themselves in no mood to trade places with them.

Jos. Glasson.

Report from Parliament Hill

This morning, Friday, November 30, saw all four parties joining in a message of congratulations and esteem to Winston Churchill on his 88th birthday. The personal touch which comes into the House quite often makes for much good feeling and forms a tremendous contrast to a good deal of bickering that goes on. In the same mood Mr. Fulton was shown that the House appreciated his long record of service. The remarks were brought about because of Mr. Fulton's statement last night that he would seek the leadership in British Columbia. Feelings are mixed here as he has always shown himself a tower of strength and a person of great integrity.

During the last several weeks the corridors have been buzzing as to whether Mr. Fulton would leave Ottawa for British Columbia and I feel that all understand only too well Mr. Fulton's feelings on coming to such a decision in his political life.

At the present moment agricultural estimates are going on and much good work has been accomplished. Last week also saw the resolution on the government proposed Economic Development Board. It is a little early to comment on the far reaching aspects as at the resolution stage, the terms of the bill are not before the House. However, on the generality it would appear that an all-out effort is being made to co-ordinate Canada's economic future. It comes at a time when our country faces increasing automation throughout the world and the formation of trade blocs everywhere. The basis of the bill is to develop labour and management with such planning as is necessary to unite the whole of our efforts.

The work of the House is very heavy because of the many things coming on. Added to this committees are meeting regularly and they of course take a great deal of time. In the committee on railways, airlines this week we examined Mr. MacGregor, president of Trans-Canada Airlines. A good deal of ground was covered on the reasons for the 1961 deficit. Mr. MacGregor attributed considerable of this to the competition provided by Canadian Pacific Airlines as well as decreasing revenue because more people are travelling economy as against first class. Another reason is that all airlines have had large capital outlays because of the switch to jets.

LAUGH OF THE WEEK

The jury had just returned a verdict of not guilty. The judge was disturbed because he felt the evidence clearly established the defendant's guilt.

"Just what possible reason", the judge asked the jury foreman, "can you have for acquitting this man?"

"Insanity, your honor", replied the foreman.

"All 12 of you?" asked the judge.

WHY THE RUSH

to get insurance from Walter M. Wright? Well, it's because accidents do happen and we pay, instead of you.

In only three months we paid nine car claims, one of them $1,200. In another three month stretch, we paid four fire claims. In another four months we paid three claims of a casualty nature. In four months we paid three claims for casualty and window breakage.

HOPPING AROUND

by Bette Williams

Christmas shopping is now in full swing and each week from now to the big day I'm going to describe some of the gift selections on display in Summerland stores.

The "giving" at Christmas is mainly centred around the small fry and what could be more acceptable than the hand-made wooden toys on display at the Farm and Garden Supply.

These heavy durable toys, made by Les, Jack and Mel, will stand up to rugged wear as well as creating hours of fun for the small fry. On display are sturdy play tables and chairs, a complete set for only $6.95; several sizes of rocking chairs, a heavy construction toy for boys, sturdy wheelbarrows and wagons (the latter are factory-made).

The Farm and Garden Supply is also featuring a table of low priced gifts for the home. Many novelty planters, ranging from 49c up, are featured as well as brass finished table centres that the homemaker can utilize as attractive Christmas arrangements.

Tovland at the 5c—$1.00 is as interesting as in past years. On display in the basement is a wide range of inexpensive toys as well as a few toys in the higher priced brackets.

One of the items that caught my eye was a fairly large doll, very reasonably priced, ready for the mother to provide a wardrobe at very little expense. These dolls are priced within the range of anyone's pocket book and the added wardrobe will gladden any little girl's heart.

Still in the realm of children's gifts, Macil's Ladies Wear has a wonderful selection of wearing apparel for the small fry. What little girl wouldn't love to find a red velvetene of matching, gift boxed, pant-dress under the tree, or a set of, or a quilted satin house coat.

For baby, a re-usable plastic carrying case with nine handy items for $3.79; a tiny quilted bathrobe with matching slippers or a pair of dainty satin and lace booties for dress-up occasions.

Next week, I'll have a look through the stores for gifts for the grown-ups.

Is there a thief in your attic, lifting the roof off your fuel costs?

This winter, you and your fellow homeowners will be robbed of over two billion dollars in excessive fuel costs. Your own fuel costs may be $50 higher than they should be, due to the presence of that all-time villain, the "Heat Thief."

The Heat Thief could be in your attic right now. Perhaps you've suspected his presence by the high setting required on the thermostat.

An inspection of the attic can quickly confirm his presence, since his trail is unmistakable. Look at the insulation. Has the Heat Thief pulled it apart from joists and wiring? Has he stomped on it so it's now shrunken and far less in thickness than the four to six inches recommended by the building industry?

If so, it's time you chased him from your attic forever by throwing up an effective insulation barrier. It never pays to skimp on insulation. Unlike fuel costs, which have risen so much the past decade, the price of insulation has been relatively stable. For example, an insulation barrier of expanded vermiculite will cost you about three cents per board foot.

If you have less than four inches of insulation, simply pour a fill material such as vermiculite right over your present insulation. If your home is air-conditioned, you may prefer the six-inch thickness recommended by the air-conditioning and electric heating industries.

Year after year, adequate insulation pays you a handsome return on your investment in reduced fuel and power bills. For the heating season alone, according to the Vermiculite Institute, a four-inch layer of vermiculite returns from 7.5 per cent to 42 per cent annually (depending on your climate) for every 1,000 square feet of attic area.

The chorus and orchestra of the colorful Ivan Romanoff (above) are heard each Monday evening on the CBC radio program, Songs of My People. Host of the program is singer Jan Rubes.

Kiwanis Club Notes

In spite of the slippery roads 28 were present Tuesday evening, including one visiting Kiwanian Les Cribbs, Penticton's incoming president. His purpose was to invite the Summerland club to the Saturday and Sunday conference in his town.

There was also an "almost" visitor, George Armitage, a Kelowna Kinsman, who thought he was visiting a Kinsmen Club, but when he discovered he was in the wrong hall, managed to escape unscathed.

Dangerous Dan McGrew Ratzlaff is getting worse. He is now fining for sitting in the same place on consecutive meetings.

Vice president Bill Laidlaw presided for president Toews, who was attending a Yakima fruit convention.

Brian Liebert is celebrating his 10th wedding anniversary on December 6.

President-elect Bill Laidlaw named his committees for 1963 and proceeded to read an inspiring paper, entitled "A Challenge to Greatness" which outlined the aims and ambitions of good Kiwanians.

Jerry Hallquist announced that a turkey dinner would be served at the next meeting, with the school patrol as guests.

Under the Giant's Head

Here's a switch! The men did their own catering at the turkey dinner sponsored by the United Church Men's Club Tuesday night. No broken dishes were reported. Over 140 attended the affair.

Leslie R. Smith, who was born in Summerland and joined the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1937, has been named vice-president and general manager of the Pacific region. Mr. Smith has been assistant general manager of the Prairie region. He has served as assistant to the president a Montreal and at Winnipeg as general superintendent in 1958.

Although with no snow as yet, birds aren't having too much trouble finding food, we had noticed one faithful bird-lover taking care of the feathered folk. Nearly every noon, Mr. Dugald MacGregor can be seen in the park, feeding crumbs to the birds. Reminds us that everyone should put a little something out for the birds, except starlings, of course.

Shoppers are reminded that stores in West Summerland will be open all day Monday, December 17 and 24. Stores are now brightly decorated for the holiday season.

Twenty works from the 52nd annual exhibition of the B.C. Society of Artists held in the Vancouver Art Gallery are now on display in the West Summerland regional library. The paintings include young artists' work in both traditional and modern manner.

Mrs. T. W. Boothe was a guest at a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Littlejohn of Naramata Sunday, to honor the occasion of the 50 wedding anniversary of Mrs. Littlejohn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Baker.

Previous to their marriage, and for many years after, the Bakers lived in Summerland, finally moving to Naramata, where Mr. Baker was engaged in the fruit business. Three years ago when they retired, they moved to 471 Cariboo St., Penticton.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker are well known up and down the Okanagan Valley, particularly to the old timers. Congratulations and best wishes are being extended to them on this happy occasion from their many friends in Summerland and throughout the Okanagan.

Members of the Summerland Riding Club attended a Christmas party in the Penticton school cafeteria last week. The party was sponsored by the Penticton Riding Club for the riding clubs in the Okanagan.

An excellent pot-luck supper was provided by the Penticton club and the various other clubs supplied entertainment.

Attending from Summerland were Mr. and Mrs. C. Reinertson, Isabel Jeffrey, Ron Reinertson, Alice Bye, Nancy Fudge and Judy Stele.

Hope to keep mill rate same as before

"Our object is to try to hold the line on the mill rate" explained Councillor Eric Tait chairman of the finance committee, when he presented the 1963 provisional budget Tuesday night.

Total budget was set at $425,219.85 and the total mill rate at 33.80 with 18.40 of this for schools.

All councillors immediately put in claims for their own projects, and further study will be made of the budget.

It was explained that because school requirements are not known, and with the rumored changes in provincial grants, it was difficult to make a budget at this time.

Chairman of roads, Councillor H. J. Barkwill, reported that a program of blacktopping is planned in the municipality next year. During the past few years, roads have been widened and brought up to grade.

Mr. Barkwill said that it was planned to have Garnett Valley Dam completed to the cattle guard.

Work will start next fall on the proposed new entrance to West Summerland at Gulch Road.

Council decided not only to put up road signs but also to place signs on all municipal buildings next year.

Contract for painting road signs was awarded to Wes Tavender Tuesday night. They will be erected by the municipal crew.

At the suggestion of Reeve Norman Holmes, nine inch black plastic letters on a white background will be placed on the municipal hall, the library and health centre, Parkdale Place and the new fire hall.

Councillor W. S. Ritchie reported on attending a community planning meeting in Vancouver last week. He said that seminars with professors from UBC will be held shortly in Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton.

R. A. Forsyth, who had presented a subdivision plan for his property in Trout Creek, withdrew his proposal when it did not meet with municipal approval. Mr. Forsyth also rejected a plan drawn up by town planner Gordon Hirtle.

In a letter to council, Mr. Forsyth said he was leaving for a trip to Europe, but would re-open the subdivision issue when he returns.

In his letter he castigated council on several points, saying that the $5,000 spent on the Baxter Plan for Trout Creek was wasted and that council was purposely delaying development of Trout Creek.

Skiers just waiting for snow

A large number of teen-agers and adults attended a meeting of the Summerland Ski Club in the IOOF Hall last Friday.

Three films on skiing in Canada were shown and discussed. Ski club president Don Agur introduced Willy Leitner, professional from the Silver Star ski course at Vernon. Mr. Leitner spoke on various kinds of skiing equipment available.

Approximately 30 youngsters have signed up for the free courses in skiing offered by the Ski Club and the Summerland Review. Classes will commence at the Meadow Valley course when the hill is ready, probably early in the new year.

Services for A. A. Smith

Alfred Arthur Smith, 82, a resident of Summerland for the past eight years, passed away at his home, Thursday, December 6.

He is survived by his wife Louisa; two daughters, Mrs. J. Oldroyd of Vancouver and Mrs. Jerry Hallquist of West Summerland; one son Lester in Vancouver; one brother Albert H. in Toronto; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in Penticton Funeral Chapel on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. with Rev. Norman Tannar officiating. Interment in Peach Orchard Cemetery.

Scandinavian Club holds annual party

The Summerland Scandinavian Club held a Christmas dance in the IOOF Hall Saturday, with over 150 present from Kelowna, Westbank, Peachland, Oliver, Kaleeden, Penticton and Summerland.

Old time music was supplied by the orchestra of John Haynes from Penticton.

The Anniversary Waltz was played to Mr. and Mrs. D. Dunsdon who are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

The turkey draw was won by Frank Carlson of Oliver.

The Scandinavian Club is now 10 years old and is the only active club of its kind in the Okanagan. President is Mrs. Lloyd Shannon.

Barney Forsyth proudly shows off the 18 pound trout he caught in Okanagan Lake on Saturday. "Biggest fish I ever landed" said Barney. For those who want to try their luck, he caught the fish off Squally Point, using a Max Squid plug and six ounces of lead.

In the Toronto studios of the CBC, a smiling Earl Cameron waits his cue to start another edition of the national television news. Cameron began reading the national news in 1944, at that time, on radio. He was born in Moose Jaw 47 years ago and worked briefly as a teacher, before starting with his local station CHAB in 1939. His goal was to do national newscasts and one month after joining the CBC in Toronto in 1944, he achieved it.

Plan proposed for 5 Corners

Plans were announced at Tuesday night's council meeting for development of property near Five Corners on Highway 97.

L. A. Smith and his son, Vic Smith, showed council plans for the development, including a service station, with two bays, a 20 unit motel, picnic sites and a swimming pool. Part of the area would be across the creek, near the Royal Canadian Legion Hall. Mr. Smith said that there was a need for this type of development in West Summerland, and that if the plans were approved, work would start immediately on the garage, using local labor. He said that in some areas a four foot fill would be needed.

Part of the land would have to be re-zoned, and Reeve Norman Holmes said that council is presently revising its rezoning bylaw.

Councillor W. B. Powell suggested that rather than council make a decision, the plans should be given to the new town planner, Gordon Hirtle of the firm of Wannop and Hirtle in Kelowna. Reeve Holmes said that this would be done this week and a decision given to Mr. Smith as soon as possible.

Before rezoning of any land can take place, a public meeting must be held to hear any protests. Advertising and setting up the meeting usually takes three weeks.

Demonstration for Orchardists on pruning Fire Blight Monday

A. W. Watt, District Horticulturist of the B.C. Department of Agriculture has arranged to give a demonstration of Fire Blight pruning to take place at the Harvey Eden orchard, Giant's Head Road at 10:00 a.m. Monday, December 17th.

Fire Blight, a bacterial disease of pear trees began a sudden upsurge in this area in 1962. The disease kills the limbs of pear trees and can destroy whole orchards if allowed to go unchecked.

One of the most effective ways of controlling this disease is by removal and burning of the affected branches during their dormant period.

If diseased limbs are allowed to remain in the orchard some of them will become active again next spring and start to ooze with a syrupy exudate containing millions of disease bacteria. Insects are attracted to this and rapidly carry it to other parts of the tree especially opening blossoms. From there it can be spread throughout the area by pollinating insects or by rain storms.

The surest method of preventing a more serious outbreak of Fire Blight in 1963 is for all growers to check their orchards very carefully and make sure that no diseased branches or cankers remain in their pear trees. Blight cutting is best done in the winter months since there is then no danger of spreading the organism on pruning tools.

When cutting out the cankers and diseased branches it is essential to remove all of the diseased area. This is sometimes a difficult task since about twenty per cent of cankers have no clear cut margin between healthy and diseased tissue.

The purpose of the cutting demonstration to be given at the H. Eden orchard next Monday is to show where these cuts should be made. Growers who have not previously experienced a Fire Blight outbreak should be particularly interested in this demonstration.

Eradication of pocket gophers

British Columbia's rodent control programme, aimed at decreasing damage to agriculture crops, has treated 25,429 acres during 1962, the Honourable Frank Richter, Minister of Agriculture, has announced. This acreage was completed by August 31st and by the time the programme terminates it will top the 26,151 acres treated in 1961.

"Pocket gophers are proving to be the greatest menace to orchards of the rodent family," Mr. Richter said, "although mice do a considerable amount of damage. Ground squirrels take their toll but their efforts are concentrated mainly on field crops," he added.

The programme, which saw the number of "burrow builders" — a machine which builds synthetic burrows and applies poison in them, — increased from one in 1961 to five in 1962 is proving to be effective and efficient. It is paid for by the Agriculture Department and operated by the Rodent Control Branch of the Department of Recreation and Conservation.

"By the utilization of the burrow builder, time of treatment is reduced by from one quarter to one third over conventional methods," Mr. Richter said.

"The machine has been adapted to B.C. requirements, and is so successful that reinfestation has been delayed up to 14 months. This is more than double the time for reinfestation after conventional methods."

Fruit growers can do much to prevent infestation at this time of year by using the following methods:

(1) Cover the lower 18 inches of the fruit tree trunks with protective guards preferably of wire mesh. They should be of sufficient diameter to be left for several years and still allow for the growth of the tree. Building paper, tar paper and similar materials also serve but they should be removed each Spring.

(2) Poison bait can be used to kill mice. A mixture of liquid strychnine and wheat is very effective but this mixture is extremely poisonous and every care should be used in handling it. It should be placed in mouse stations of a type that makes it accessible to mice but where other animals cannot reach it. Some growers have used overturned flumes for this purpose.

(3) Tillage around young trees helps to keep mice away. Some growers may not wish to do this because of the risk of increased frost penetration but trash should be removed.

(4) Check for the possibility of mouse damage at intervals during the winter. Tramping snow around young trees is helpful. Bait may be placed in runways.

The foregoing steps will give some mouse protection and if followed will make a bridge grafting project unnecessary next Spring.

Let's all take a part

The idea of a museum for Summerland, which is being increasingly talked about, is an excellent one. We are all for it. It would make a wonderful tourist attraction, a splendid link with the past for coming generations — and a nice repository for items no one personally wants to retain, but everyone thinks SHOULD be kept. A museum can be all of these things and many more . . .

BUT . . .

A museum based on such transitory considerations as the above would soon be doomed to become:

A jumble pile of miscellaneous items "that no one wants . . ."; in other words, a sort of municipal attic where you'd go when you had nothing better to do — or to which you felt shouldn't be consigned to the garbage.

Or the museum could be fairly orderly — yet entirely without meaning, and therefore without abiding interest. In other words it would be minus a keynote.

Further, the museum could become blotting-paper for public funds, absorbing them almost endlessly — and without real purpose.

These are doleful predictions; but they need not happen. Not if proper planning precedes all moves toward the ultimate goal. Such planning must be of high order, and should be in two or possibly three main divisions.

These three divisions should be aligned this way: Financial; Content; Premises; with perhaps an additional or side group on "Public Interest". These committees should be set up at a public gathering of some sort, with, for example, the Chamber of Commerce as a sponsoring group. This group should not be called by the municipal council, which should be in attendance only in an advisory or observer capacity.

Once the committees have been selected — they should set to work. The finance committee should seek to raise a given sum from public contributions, the idea being that the municipality would be asked to match this sum to get the museum under way. The finance committee should realize at this point that their task had only just begun; that they should stay on the job to keep funds coming into the coffers — with an occasional assist, rather than complete support, from the municipal treasury.

The "Content" committee should obtain the best possible on what should be the "theme" of the museum — say, for instance, pioneer items of a period, such as that of 1900-1910, when Summerland came into being. Some small "side" collections should be sought out and placed in the museum — such as top collections of stamps, butterflies, etc. — but the "content" committee should ruthlessly rule out any extraneous items, any trend toward the "civic attic" idea.

Task of the premises committee is obvious, but far from simple. The job of the "public interest" group is to keep up a stream of public relations both before the museum is started and after it has been opened.

Yes, having a municipal museum is a good idea — but only if we put it on a practical, business-like level; never if we simply dump the undeveloped idea into the lap of the council without direction or aid.

Ring out the bells

by Rev. P. K. Louie

Christmas is for everybody. Of course that doesn't guarantee that it automatically does the same thing to everybody, and for everybody. It doesn't. All sorts of things get in the way.

One of the most dramatic scenes in European history occurred when Charles VIII demanded ransom from the free city of Florence. Capponi, the mayor, refused to submit. Charles thundered his threat: "I will have my trumpets blown." It was then that Capponi gave that immortal answer: "Blow your trumpets, and we will ring our bells."

The story suggests the resources of the Christian in the face of the blustering threats of life. "Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy." Ever since that heavenly announcement Christians have had the bells of joy ringing their music of faith and hope in this world.

There is so much to weigh us down, to burden our souls, to depress our minds, to undermine our spirits. But once again during the Christmas season, in spite of them all, we still ring our bells and sing our Christmas carols of hope and joy. It is an act of faith that we see life in a fourth dimension, that we are not earthbound, but like the angels' song, we can become heavenly borne, lifted to a height that transcends all the pettiness of the struggle of this world.

Osoyoos plans museum

(Recently, a group of officers from the Grand Forks Museum Society spoke in Osoyoos, on the organization of the Museum. We thought the following report from the Osoyoos Times would be of interest to our readers.)

"Leo Mills and Emerson Reed, vice president and president respectively of the Grand Forks Museum Society on Thursday evening addressed a meeting of fifteen people and told them how to prepare for the opening of the Osoyoos Museum which should be completed by spring. They also showed what a great asset a museum can be to a community.

In Grand Forks the museum was built at a cost of about $8,000 as a centennial year project in 1958, with former local resident, Joe C. Armstrong as the chief investigator or sparkplug. In the years since, the number of visitors to the museum has grown steadily. Figures given showed that in 1959 there were 8,643 registrations, and that this has jumped to a total of 15,567 in 1962. The Grand Forks Museum is on highway No. 3 like the one in Osoyoos, and this was termed a very good location by Mr. Mills.

A great deal of the success is attributed to the fine co-operation among such groups as the Museum Society, Historical Society, City Council and the Board of Trade, it was explained by the enthusiastic speakers from Grand Forks. All realize what a great asset the Museum is to Grand Forks and have worked diligently on the project which is almost carrying its own way financially.

In Grand Forks the museum also serves as a tourist bureau run by the Board of Trade. It is open from the middle of June to September. Three girls work in shifts to keep the bureau and the museum open all day and every day. They are paid 65c an hour and are bright high school girls who know the museum displays and also facts about their community, it was pointed out. They sell souvenirs which go a long way to making the project self sustaining. A collection box last year brought in $750. The Grand Forks people look forward to when sales and collections will make the museum and bureau self-sustaining.

The meeting was told how the museum was administered by a representative Board consisting of 9 people and involving the Board of Trade, city and the public.

The Korner Institute has made a grant of $750 towards the museum. This grant is available to museums for cataloguing, setting up displays, etc. and it is likely that an application for it will be made by the Osoyoos group.

The speakers urged people to go out after old pictures, and to always make certain that all names are provided early before they are forgotten. The Provincial Archives in Victoria will take any old picture and make a 4 by 5 print out of it at no cost. The original can be returned to the owner. Pictures have proven very interesting in the museum. A unique display using old wall paper racks is being used for these.

Old farm implements are another item that is interesting, and people like to see.

In regards to pictures, presidents of groups, school pictures, and sports groups, all make for wonderful history and should be preserved.

The two visitors advised that plans should now be made to collect all the items and start planning for moving them into the museum. Insofar as exhibits are concerned, it was recommended that these be received as donations only. Items on loan have proven a

Ministers plan Day of Prayer on January 6 11

At the regular Summerland Ministerial Association Meeting on Wednesday arrangements were completed for the Week of Prayer which will be observed in Summerland Churches from Sunday, January 6 to Friday, January 11.

The theme for the Week of Prayer, "One Increasing Purpose," emphasizes the unity of purpose amongst all Christians.

Parliament Hill report

by Dave Pugh, MP

Parliament has two weeks left to go before the Christmas recess and it is hoped that now that the date has been set, all parliamentarians will make a special effort to dig into the tremendous amount of work before it. Of the legislation forecast in the Speech from the Throne, ninety percent is now on the Order Paper. The Order Paper sets out the legislation to come before the House and the Government decides the order in which this will be done. The legislation is in the form of a bill and the bill must be given three readings in the House before it is sent to the Senate where it received its final blessing and becomes enacted.

For those who like to look back over the past records, some satisfaction will be found in the fact that there probably never has been a session of parliament when more legislation was ready in advance than at the present time. But here the satisfaction ends. Much time has been wasted through delaying tactics. The Prime Minister has even gone so far as to suggest that the times of sittings should be extended in order that the bills might be considered but this was turned down by the Opposition. Just the same I am glad to report that the last two weeks have shown a speed-up and the next two weeks will produce a record amount of legislation.

You will no doubt have been wondering at the why and wherefore of the Glassco Report. This Government set up a Royal Commission under Mr. Glassco to thoroughly examine the present efficiency on which Government departments are operated. The Commission was along the line of the Hoover Commission in the United States which a number of years ago discovered that due to long term growth and aggrandizement, many government expenditures for its goods and services produced by itself, were away out of line with comparable free enterprise endeavours. As a result of this the United States saved billions of dollars in government costs. We felt that the same should be done in Canada. It is sufficient to say that we are going at it at once.

STUDENTS START EXAMS

Students of the Summerland Secondary School started the writing of Christmas exams today. Students are requested to be at school the full day during exams. Between writing, supervised study periods will be provided. Exams finish next Tuesday and school will dismiss Friday, December 21 and resume Thursday, January 3.

Principal John Tamblin and the teachers are very pleased with the grade 8 maths night school class which had its opening session last week. 40 adults have registered for the course. About half are parents with students in grade 8 and the remaining half is made up of parents of grade 7 students and others interested in the new approach to mathematics.

Almost 300 people attended the annual Christmas concert held in the auditorium Saturday evening. Sixteen numbers were presented by the bands and choir.

The Summerland Branch of the WI met a week early on Friday Dec. 7 in the Parish Hall. The president Mrs. W. Rothwell was in the chair and welcomed old and new members and visitors. The Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. O. Rumball presented the minutes and financial report. This shows a healthy balance. Correspondence was handled concerning the Salvation Army, used stamps and resolutions for the WI District Rally.

During roll-call members were presented with fancy wax candles. These were the gift of the Executive and had been made by them. The candles are very pretty indeed. Thanks go to the executive for this pleasant surprise.

Mrs. Inglis reported on cards sent to ill and shut-in members and Mrs. Hookham reported on the gifts purchased and sent to Mental Health patients.

The regular meeting was closed and a refreshing tea was served by Mrs. Inglis, Mrs. Gattridge, Mrs. Mott and Mrs. Moors. A pretty cake with its Christmas decorations was much admired and enjoyed. During the tea intermission a number of needlework were sold.

The meeting was then called to order for the annual meeting. The "Birthday Box" had been duly opened, and nearest correct amount was guessed by Mrs. Barrs. The proceeds of this box is used to purchase meat or poultry for the welfare hampers.

Annual reports were presented by different convenors. Mrs. Bingham presented the Agricultural report, recalling garden hunt and projects, the June Tea with the Agricultural Hats, caring for the horticultural exhibits at the Summerland Fair and the vegetable and fruit table at the Annual Sale. Mrs. Barrs for Citizenship recounted activities in that department, discussion of High School studies. WI aims, Citizenship Day and representations of native costumes and the counting in four different languages.

Home Economics was presented by Mrs. Grey, who recalled the hints and ideas presented for shaping of cakes, preparing frozen pie fillings, hints for cleaning paint brushes, and sharing the magazine Workbasket. Mrs. Grey had also arranged a flower demonstration of flower arrangement took charge of the home cooking stall at the Fall Fair and at the annual sale.

Mrs. J. McLachlan for Welfare reported aid had been given to promote glasses for Welfare children, help with the Tag Day and also donation to the Canadian Institute for the Blind, blankets and clothing had been given to a Welfare family. The Welfare Committee took charge of the clothing department at our sale. Two Christmas Hampers are to be provided by the WI, gifts for which were gladly received at this meeting.

The Cultural Activities Committee was convened by Mrs. E. O. Mortimer, assisted by Mrs. G. Dinning and Mrs. W. Brown and all the members who worked earnestly and donated generously for the needle work table at the Sale. Mrs. G. Dinnings special project of the dress doll, was excellently supported.

At the local Fair this committee took charge of the needle work exhibit and also put on display a collection of old time sewing and handwork which provoked much interest.

A True and False Quiz program was presented at one of the meetings. This was instructive amusing and well-received.

The Tea convenor, Mrs. H. Moors thanked the monthly hostess for helping to make the social side of the meetings so pleasant.

In retiring Mrs. Rothwell on behalf of the Executive thanked the members for their help and co-operation and asked for the same support for the incoming officers.

Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, Nominations Committee presented a slate of officers.

President: Mrs. A. Inch, Executive: Mrs. E. Bingham, Mrs. E. Tait, Mrs. E. O. White, Mrs. F. Procurhoff.

There were no further nominations from the floor. Plans were made for the annual Potluck supper January 11 and brought the last meeting of 1962 to a close.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives for their many acts of kindness, for cards, beautiful flowers, and expressions of sympathy sent during the illness and passing of our dear husband and father. Thanks also to staff, nurses, and doctors of Summerland Hospital, United Church Ladies, Legion Auxiliary, Masonic Lodges, Eastern Star and Rev. Tannar.

Decorations for the home and tree seem to become prettier and more varied each year. Tiny twinkle lights for the tree are very popular this season. Described as the "jewels of Christmas" the miniature bulbs provide a little necklace of color for the tree. Some of the larger lights have a crackle glass coating and the small lights are set inside little Santa Claus' and sparkly stars. A string or two will turn your tree into something very special. They are available in many local stores from about $2.95 up.

Hand-made Christmas decorations, especially table and mantle pieces, are available in many stores and from the church bazaars.

If you're looking for a corsage to wear to the New Year's Ball at the Yacht Club, I recommend you see the corsages made by Mrs. Bill Crawford at Trout Creek Service. They are the loveliest I've ever seen. When I visited Mrs. Crawford, she was busy making an exciting centre piece, using a brass bowl and matching candlesticks, with like-real 'mums in bronze and cream, flanked with bees' wax tapers. Mounted on styrofoam, the centre piece was set off with green fern and sparkle sprayed. Another pretty centre piece, made of a spray of American Beauty roses (Mrs. Crawford makes the long stem, deep red roses from Velvure) was flanked by tall white tapers with large white feathers behind. These pieces sell for approximately $6 each.

Teak wood salad bowls, servers and book ends made in Kenya, and priced from $2.50 up are being featured at Holmes and Wade this year. The beautiful hard-carved sets are nice for that couple who have almost everything.

Macil's Ladies' Wear and the Valley Style Shop are making it easy for Dad with many lingerie articles gift boxed to make attractive gifts for the ladies. I saw gift packed nylons, two pairs for $3, gift-packed gloves and scarves in all colors, and pretty panties in a little jewel box.

For a luxury gift, especially nice for a daughter at school, how about three-piece Chinese silk lounging pyjamas and housecoat. Richly embroidered, the sleek style is suitable for almost any figure. A little over $20 at Macil's.

Roman wrap blouses, so flattering and feminine, in a printed tie silk are featured at the Valley Style Shop. A welcome gift for the gals and the price is right.

Service depicts Nativity

The ladies of St. Stephen's Anglican Church joined with the United Church Women in the Christmas worship service Monday night, December 10, in the Summerland United Church Hall.

"Tell me the story simply as a little child" was the way the story of the birth of Jesus was presented by Mrs. David Munn who was dressed in an old-fashioned costume and seated in a high-backed rocking chair, her son, Eric, at her knee asking for a bedtime story. Candles on a table beside them lighted the pages of a big Family Bible from which Mrs. Munn read the story of Christ's birth, explaining the meaning of the scriptures to Eric. During this time, Mary and Joseph, portrayed by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Stent, entered with their own little son, Eddie and layed him in the crib. It added a great deal to the meaning of the story to have a real baby there as the Baby Jesus. The Wiseman too appeared, having followed the star, and knelt beside the crib. Interspersed throughout the narrative carols were sung by those congregated and a women's choir offstage sang "Gloria in excelsis Deo".

The Old, Old Story, told with reverent tenderness, once more became new and gave inspiration to all those taking part in the service and listening to Eric's bedtime story.

Before leaving, Mrs. N. Solly on behalf of the Anglican WA thanked the United Church Women and said how much they appreciated having been invited to participate in this worship service.

During the business meeting that followed arrangements were made for extra visiting at Christmas, especially among shut-ins and elderly folk in the community. Hampers were arranged for and contributions of homebaking, etc. asked for.

Regular donations to the United Church Home for Girls in Burnaby and to the Naramata Training School are being made at this time.

In A league, the Occidentals maintained their three point lead over the Headpins, as they took two points from the Hilltoppers. In B league, the Bouncers and Roamers have been bouncing and roaming around top position for the past four weeks, and this week finds them tied with 19 points, three ahead of the Lucky Strikes. Scouts plan winter camp

This week's meeting will be the last full meeting until January 7, owing to exams being close. There will be a meeting next week for those who wish to come and work on tests and play some games. In the patrol competitions just ended, the Eagles under Patrol Leader Michael Inch won the patrol prize which will be awarded shortly. The Buffaloes were only three points behind.

At this week's meeting we were pleased to have the help of Phil Richardson, Richard Blewett and DSM Gordon Blewett, former Scoutmaster of the Troop. Instruction included first class mapping, second class signalling and construction, using second class lashings.

The winter camp on December 27 to 29 was discussed and a letter will go out this week to parents giving the details.
