More than 80 University of British Columbia students have been awarded fellowships, scholarships and prizes worth nearly $50,000, Dean Walter Gage, chairman of the UBC awards committee, announced this week.

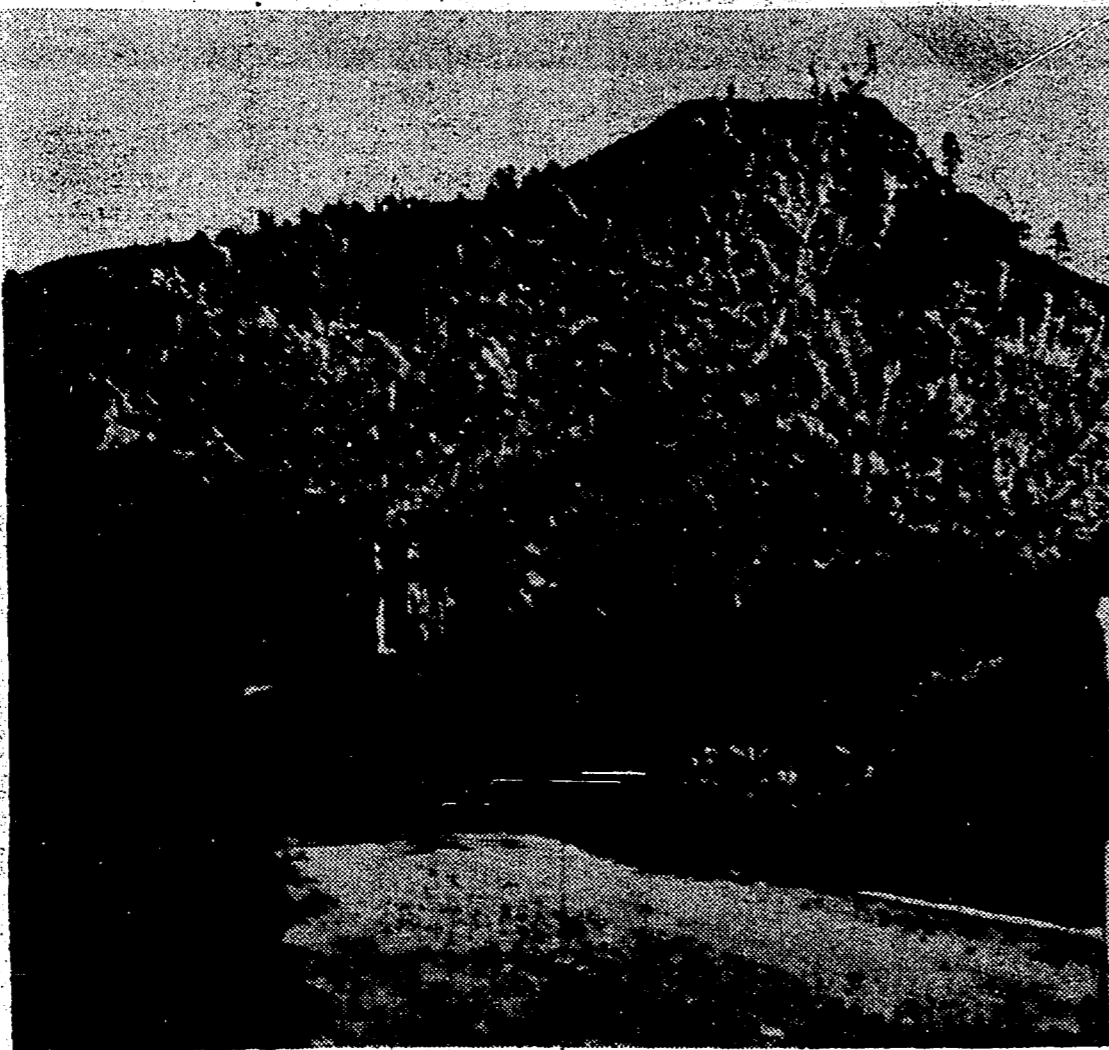

Among the winners was Ona Willis of Summerland, who won the Pharmaceutical Association of the Province of British Columbia Scholarship, $250 (highest standing, Third Year).

Des Loan has opened a pottery studio at his home on Trout Creek Bench. He has set up signs on Highway 67 with directional signs as well. Mr. Loan has a display of his work in the window of the old 5c to $1.00 Store.

Downtown West Summerland seems to be becoming a naven for wild animals. We found a groundhog in the Review building the other day, and after a merry chase among the machinery got him out the back door where George Wilson's Siamese cat, Sam took after him. He finally hid under the Farm and Garden Supply's warehouse. Hilton Hughes added to his bees, with a swarm which had dug into the wall of his hardware store. It took him almost two days and for a while we doubted if there would be much left of the store, but he's pleased about the whole thing. His hive was short a queen and with the price of sugar the way it is, a little extra honey will always come in handy.

And under the house next to the fire hall, which will soon be demolished, eight skunks have been found so far, with maybe more to come.

To date 29 students have registered for the summer school course offered at the secondary school. So far registration numbers are sufficient to hold courses in Maths 10 and 20, Literature 10 and Language 30. Classes start July 8 and finish August 2. They are held from 8:30 to 11:45 a.m.

After an excellent cherry blossom this spring, cherry crop prospects dimmed with the heavy rain over the week end, and another rain Wednesday night.

Trout Creek girl injured in highway accident

A Trout Creek girl, Berit Rasmussen, 8, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Gunnar Rasmussen, suffered a broken leg, when she was hit by a car on Highway 97. Driver of the car, John Ricker, Vernon told the Summerland RCMP that he swerved and braked hard but was unable to avoid hitting the little girl. He also told police that his car was travelling about 20 miles per hour when the accident happened. This was substantiated by a witness who told RCMP that the car was travelling well under the legal speed of 50 miles per hour and had tried hard to avoid the girl. Berit was taken to Penticton Hospital and her condition is reported good. No charges are contemplated.

On June 28 a car driven by Gloria Tilbe of West Summerland pulled out from a stop sign on Highway 97 and hit a car driven by Thomas M. Tyson of Chilliwack, causing approximately $275 damage. Charges are pending.

On June 29 a car driven by Donald Tait of West Summerland was hit in the rear end by a vehicle driven by George Eric Adam of Merritt. The Tait car had stopped for oncoming traffic when the accident occurred. $225 damage was caused. Charges are pending.

The provincial government campaign north of Summerland was the site of a rear end collision caused by a skunk ambuling across the road. Both vehicles were from out of town. Total damage was $140.

Harry Dracas of West Summerland hit the newly installed guard rail on Hospital Hill near the home of Mrs. G. C.

McDougald causing $100 damage.

Holidayers Victor Toth and family of Vancouver stopped just north of Summerland to take pictures of Okanagan Lake. Toth put the emergency brake on his car and cautioned a younger brother who stayed in the car to use the foot brake as well. Toth walked behind the vehicle to get a better view of the lake and noticed it was rolling backwards. His mother, who was in the car, tried to jump and fell on the highway, badly bruising herself. The younger brother rode with the car over the side of the bank. No one was seriously injured. $250 damage was caused.

Dalton B. Bullivant of West Summerland was charged with impaired driving following an accident on South Victoria Rd. when he hit a car driven by Mrs. Pearl Krause. Damage totalled $270. He was fined, $200 and costs.

Dwaine Dickson of West Summerland appeared in police court June 18 and was fined $25 and costs for passing on a double solid line.

On June 22 Robert N. Bailey of Penticton was fined $25 and costs for the same offence.

Also on June 22 Roman N. Klyonchuk of Vernon was fined $40 and costs for speeding.

On June 28 Roy Wayne Emiland of Penticton was fined $25 and costs for speeding.

Rodney A. Vallin of West Summerland was fined $15 for driving an unlicensed vehicle, having no driver's licence and driving without minor's insurance.

On June 25 Werner H. Brocks of Westbank appeared on a speeding charge and paid $20 and costs.

Heavy rains lower cherry crop prospects

What promised to be a top cherry crop in Summerland has possibly been cut in half by an unprecedented 1.12 inch rainfall over the week end. Rain fell almost continuously for 36 hours, thoroughly saturating the cherries, which in the case of Bings and Lambpick. Splitting has been very heavy in both varieties.

The 1963 crop looked very good before the rain, and it was estimated to be up 20 per cent over last year.

Some orchardists are writing off the Bings as picking and culling costs would be too high for the return. Farm Labor officer J. S. Kirk said that over ten orchardists had cancelled orders for pickers at the beginning of this week.

Two of the newer varieties, Vans and Sams seem to have stood the rain better, with less splitting reported in both cases.

No exact estimate as to the loss in the Summerland area is available but some of the larger cherry growers are reporting up to 50 per cent loss.

Provincial horticulturist A. W. Watt said that the incidence of fire blight, a bacterial disease in apples, and apple scab, a fungus disease, may rise as both these diseases thrive on moisture.

The heavy rain is no boon to orchardists but will help ranchers in the valley with increased grazing in non-irrigated areas.

Cornwall Cannery installs lye peeler for peaches

A large lye peeler, installed at a cost of approximately $30,000 has been added to the equipment at Cornwall Cannery, Summerland's largest cannery. The peeler will eliminate hand peeling of peaches which has been a costly, time-consuming operation.

At times in the past, the cannery has been hard pressed to find enough help during the peak peach season, said cannery manager Ryan Lawley, and he feels the new peeler will step up the operation considerably.

Mr. Lawley stated that the new equipment will eliminate the need for much of the itinerant help he has used in previous years. He feels confident that hiring will be almost all local people this year.

In the peak of the season, the cannery, which packs fruit for Safeway stores from Victoria to Fort William employs about 185 workers. Only 30 of this number are men, the rest are women who work directly with the fruit.

A similar plant in Taber, Alberta packs the vegetables sold under Safeway brand.

Oliver C of C seeks industrial conference

Oliver Chamber of Commerce is exploring the feasibility of a planning conference to study establishment or industry in the South Okanagan.

A letter from the Oliver group was read at council on Tuesday night and said that it is felt that this area needs employment generating industry and plans should be formulated to bring industry into the valley. The letter proposed setting up an area industry development plan that could possibly include a full time industrial conference and further proposed that it could be financed on a per capita basis.

The letter maintained that each year many young people are reluctantly leaving the South Okanagan to seek employment elsewhere and thus this area is losing a valuable resource.

It was indicated that such a conference would need a great deal of planning and the Oliver Chamber felt that if sufficient interest is shown in the idea, plans can be formulated.

They went on to offer the following suggestions: that the conference should not be longer than two days, representatives of both senior governments would be invited, a well informed speaker, several industry and financial leaders acting as a panel, each Chamber or civic organization to pay a proportionate share.

In discussing the letter, council felt that the idea was very sound, but should be handled strictly as a Chamber of Commerce affair. Reeve Norman Holmes commented that the Chamber needed ideas such as this. It has enough scope to be of interest to every one in the community.

Council will write Oliver to commend them on the development idea and suggest that it Chambers of Commerce and should be handled through not taken on as a municipal project.

An ambulance which will cost the hospital $2,835 has been ordered. It should arrive next week. Council discussed setting up a committee consisting of the fire chief, a councillor, hospital board member and a doctor to get the ambulance operation organized and underway.

401 entered in swim classes

Rotary-Red Cross swim classes are headed for a record enrollment. At the moment, 401 pupils have enrolled, just three less than last year's total class.

Largest class is the beginners with 171 registered and more expected. The senior girls class has 29, senior boys 17, intermediate 73 and juniors 101.

Tom Brennan is the head coach with Linda Munro and Darellyn Ducommun assistants. Becky Downing and Susan Mallett will assist on alternate days. All these young people recently took an instructors' course at Kelowna.

Classes are held six mornings a week from 9 to 12. Entries are still being accepted and forms are available at Holmes and Wade and Family Shoe Store.

The devil is two-faced. He has the face of a lion and the face of an angel. At least that is what God tells us about him. And if anyone would know, surely God would.

Being two-faced the devil also has two methods of operation; deceit and destruction. If one doesn't work he tries the other.

As an 'Angel of Light', it is Satan's purpose to counterfeit everything that God creates. He counterfeits the truth with half-truths. He counterfeits the church with apostasy. He counterfeits Christ with an antichrist. He has published several counterfeit Bibles. He is endeavoring to counterfeit paradises by cries of peace, peace," when there is no peace, and endeavoring to lead men to believe they and not God can bring about a world unity through "summit talks" and "conferences".

Satan's master job is his counterfeit "christian". A brief description follows. He may not attend church. He is a lizen in the community. He is moral, upright, respected citizen a good neighbor. In fact, you can hardly distinguish him from the real thing. What then is the difference? Satan's counterfeit lacks the quality known as "spiritual life". In short he doesn't have saving faith in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior. The Bible says, "He that hath the Son hath life. He that hath not the Son hath not life."

Have you been created anew in Christ by the power of God, or are you one of Satan's masterpieces, run off on the press of deceitful self-righteousness and unbelief?

Dog of Dogs

"I'm no Solomon," the Chicago judge barked and then proceeded, Solomonwise and Solomon-wise, to let the dog have his day.

Two families faced each other, each determined to own the dog. The judge turned the tables and let the dog own the family of its choice. There was rejoicing among the children of the family favored by the dog's affection; dismay among those of the disappointed clan. Then the hopeful surprise; another dog of the same breed awaited the losers at a kennel, having been provided by a lawyer.

For the moment the good tidings fell on unappeasable gloom. The unchosen children said they did not want any other dog. They will change their minds with time, or with the maturity which may come in a twinkling. Long ago a wise man discovered that it is not "a dog" but "The dog" that mankind appreciates.

Over and above the remarkable individualism of dogs is a mysterious universalism, a long unwritten history somehow recorded in a dog's sixth sense. Thomas Mann sensed and communicated something of this in one of his stories, the account of a man walking his dog.

Like people, dogs have to be known individually to evoke the intimate affection that ties friend to friend. But unless this is felt as part of a more inclusive whole it often has a tentative, fleeting quality.

Because the intense centering of affection on one object has its intense but possibly restrictive rewards, we hope the children who in their moment of disappointment did not want any other dog will nevertheless accept the lawyer's gift. For that very dog is just the one they would never exchange for any other.

Muzzling Free Expression

From early Aberhart days there has been in the Social Credit movement in Canada a totalitarian tendency that would muzzle freedom of expression. The most notorious example was the Alberta Press Act which would have controlled expression of newspaper opinion but was declared ultra vires.

Modern Social Crediters like to give the impression that there is no such tendency in their movement, but it continues to show itself. The most recent manifestation is in Mr. Robert Thompson's suggestion that something be done about the CBC radio program, the Max Ferguson Show, which he claims is "undermining our national morals."

Mr. Thompson raised the issue in the Commons. Mr. Pickersgill's reply is worth noting. In any free society, he said, nothing is more desirable than to have the government directing broadcasting, the press, or any other medium of public information. "No one in this government has any such thought."

Mr. Pickersgill's words are reassuring. But Social Credit claims that censorship is not part of their philosophy seem discredited by their leader's question.—Free Press Weekly.

Night

When I walk out into the night and unexpectedly find the sky quite clear, the stars in their place, the street lamps burning, and all the dogs in my street asleep, then

I stop and think for a minute,
where I am, who I am, and I ask,
Is all this splendor for me?
before I dare go on, star-struck,
and tongue-tied, and still wondering.

New Ornamentals Ready for Debut

Striking new varieties of ornamental crab apple trees may soon be on the market.

These new flowering crabs represent years of careful selection and breeding at the Canada Department of Agriculture's Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa.

Research stations across Canada are now putting the foundation stock through tests before release to commercial nurserymen.

Plant breeder D. F. "Dan" Cameron has been chiefly responsible for developing the new varieties. Mr. Cameron has spent much of the past 15 years on this project.

The new ornamental crabs are outstanding for a number of reasons:

Their flowers range all the way from pure white through the pale pinks and reds to almost pure red. And they bloom every year.

Some of the varieties are almost double flowered with as many as 15 petals on a blossom.

The fruit is colorful too. Apples vary from pale green and yellow to bright orange, pink, crimson, blue-red and even black-red. Some are as small as cranberries while others are as large as golf balls.

Some of the new lines retain their apples long after the leaves have fallen, presenting a colorful display when other ornamentals have become drab.

Last season, one of the varieties kept its bright red fruit right up to Christmas before becoming discolored.

These crabs have differing branch structures too—some are upright, others are almost weeping.

Foliage varies from copper, through bronze, to green.

Sourness An Advantage
Some of these new varieties have very unpalatable, sour fruit. This is a decided advantage in ornamentals. It keeps children and childish adults from breaking down branches to get at the apples.

Developing new varieties involves a lot of time and effort. This is especially true of crabs. An average of five years elapses between the time of seeding and the time the new tree will bear fruit.

Work in flowering crabs began at the Central Experimental Farm more than 40 years ago. However, through that time only two persons have actually been in charge of the development program: Miss Isabella Preston, followed by Mr. Cameron.

Miss Preston came to Ottawa from the Ontario Agricultural College where she had done outstanding work in plant breeding, especially with lilies.

On her arrival in 1920, Miss

Preston launched a program which saw the development of the Rosybloom crabapples. This new group was developed for How's This? Less Feed, More Profit!

Poultrymen who are willing to take a little extra care rearing their pullets on range will find it profitable to restrict their feed.

Researchers at two Canada Department of Agriculture research stations found that restricting the feed to growing pullets resulted in increased profits, fewer small eggs, and a little less hen house mortality than those reared on full feed.

At Brandon, Manitoba, Dr. J. H. Strain found that pullets reared from 12 to 21 weeks on from 20 to 30 per cent less feed than the full-fed group were better able to resist disease. This, together with reduced feed costs, increased profits by 20 to 30 cents per bird over the full-fed group.

At Harrow, Ontario, W. F. Mountain found that restricted pullets produced 33 cents more revenue per bird during the last six years. Hen house mortality was 6.8 per cent, compared with 7.9 for the full-fed group.

hardiness and ornamental value.

When Miss Preston retired in 1948, Mr. Cameron took over her work, adding refinements of his own. His new varieties are descendants of varieties at the Farm, crossed mainly with two double flowering types brought in from Harvard's Arnold Arboretum.

The new crabs retain the hardiness of the Rosybloom but have different flowering, branching, and ornamental fruit qualities.

Several of the new varieties should be welcomed by bird lovers. Their fruit is relished by migrating birds late in the fall and even into the winter months.

Time will tell just how widely these new crab apple tree varieties will be accepted, but it could be that they will soon be adding brilliance to parks, highways, and front lawns.

Peace River Farmers Roll Back Frontiers

Canadian farmers are still rolling back frontiers.

In the Peace River region of Alberta and British Columbia for instance, agricultural acreage is expected to double by 1980.

A. A. Guitard, superintendent of the Beaverlodge Experimental Farm, says the present trend indicates much more land will be devoted to forage crops. This will be caused by specialization within the forage seed industry and by increases in hay and pasture acreage to feed larger beef cattle populations. Because of these trends, reports Mr. Guitard, research in the breeding and management of forage crops is being strengthened.

According to Canadian Wheat Board declaration of acreages, approximately five million acres in "The Peace" are owned or leased for agricultural use. Of this, 36 per cent is devoted primarily to wheat, oats, barley and flax. Forage crops for seed, hay and pasture are grown on 12 per cent and 14 per cent is summerfallow.

This brings the cultivated acreage to 62 per cent of the total. The rest is unbroken land, presumably being pastured or prepared for breaking.

Since 1957, agricultural acreage has been increasing by four per cent annually and this rate is now accelerating. So is the rate at which land is being brought under cultivation.

A tendency to move away from the production of cereal and oilseed crops and into forage crops, accounts for the 10 per cent annual increase in forage acreage.

More than 2,000,000 acres of Canada's forests go up in smoke every year. Though the proportion varies from province to province the Federal Department of Forests figures that about 80 per cent of these fires are caused by people.

PARLIAMENT

(Continued from back page) covering each phase. There is no doubt that there will be many days of debate after this preliminary sparring. There seems to be a genuine desire to get along with the business of the House, and to catch up on time lost as a result of the election. However, tempers have been frayed to a certain extent because a good deal of information sought has been withheld, and this has not been helped by the hot and humid weather of late.

Anyone connected with Parliament is most anxious to find out when the summer recess will start and end. Best guess is that it will recess the end of July, but a good deal will depend on how business goes forward.

Red Sox split with Kamloops Sunday

The Summerland Red Sox and the Kamloops Jay-Boys fought it out to a draw on Sunday in Summerland.

The Kamloops Juniors took the first game 5-2 behind the pitching of Greiger. Walton was charged with the loss.

Kamloops started fast and scored twice in the first and once in the second. Ernie Pushkirenko relieved Walton in the third and held the hard hitting Kamloops team to two runs and three hits for the rest of the game.

The second game was a different story as Jim Sheeley pitched a two hitter and held Kamloops scoreless until they scored on a couple of errors in the last inning. The Summerland boys only got five hits off Deveron but for a change they came when they could do the most good. Keith Skinner was the big man with the bat as he got four hits in eight times at bat, including two doubles. Kennedy and Sheeley also came through with doubles.

The next home game will be a double header against Vernon on Sunday, July 14.

Parliament Hill report

by Dave Pugh, MP

Ever since the Budget was brought down, the House has been in an uproar on a great many points, but perhaps the one which affects Canadians most from a dollar and cent point of view, is the 11% Sales Tax. To say the least, it has been a most unpopular move, and in case anyone thinks this is a political statement, I would refer them to almost any Member in the House of Commons — regardless of his political affiliation. All Members have been flooded with correspondence, telegrams and telephone calls, and in many cases, personal interviews. The protests stem from the fact that there will be a serious curtailment in anything connected with the construction and building trades. As the Budget clearly set out as one of its objectives the stimulation of business — hence, an all-out attack on unemployment, the 11% Sales Tax has been a little hard to take, particularly for Members on the Government side. Another complaint was that regulations which must go with the announcement have been extremely slow in getting down to all those affected.

The Budget debate is over and the next step will be to bring forward the Resolutions

Timely Travel Tip Can Save Worry - Money, Too

It can be mighty embarrassing when you run short of ready cash while travelling. Yet no one likes to carry around large sums of cash because there's always the danger of loss or theft.

What's the answer then, on your next vacation or business trip?

More and more people are finding the easiest and safest way to carry funds for travel purposes today is in the form of B of M travellers cheques. Any bank in Canada and most hotels and stores will cash them readily — because you counter-sign each cheque only when you cash it.

Thus the person cashing it knows right away that you and only you are the rightful owner. This feature makes B of M travellers cheques useless to everyone except their purchaser. What's more, if your B of M travellers cheques are lost, destroyed or stolen, the bank replaces them.

So before you set off on that next trip, stop at the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal and buy as many travellers cheques as you think you'll need. The service charge is negligible and the peace of mind is wonderful.

Don Carmichael, the accountant, or any member of the staff will be glad to help you make any other arrangements for your travel financing. If your trip is an extra long one and you need a large sum, travellers letter of credit are available from the B of M, and if you are going abroad, there are special travellers cheques available at every branch.

Trout Creek PTA seeks action on highway

Determined to get action on what they consider to be a dangerous portion of road, the Trout Creek PTA executive has sent telegrams to Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Hon. P. A. Gaglardi, minister of highways, asking for a traffic safety engineer to inspect the Trout Creek section of Highway 97.

A reply to Dr. J. E. Millimore, president of the PTA, from the deputy minister of highways, H. T. Miard, said that it is being arranged to re-examine the traffic situation at Trout Creek, and the group would hear further from the department of highways.

The PTA executive has sent a brief to the minister of highways and to the municipal council. In it they state that "for several years the citizens of the community of Trout Creek, and particularly the members of the Trout Creek School PTA have been worried about the hazards of vehicular traffic to young children who have to either cross or walk along Highway 97 on their way to and from school, and to and from other activities.

"The portion of the highway in question is .8 miles. Along its length there are three gas stations, three grocery stores, two cafes, a motel and 24 exits and entrances used by a total population of 601 living in 183 residences.

"There is a church and two access roads leading from the highway to the Summerland Research Station, which employs some 125 persons and attracts as many as 400 tourist cars daily. This contributes above normal cross-highway traffic.

To illustrate the level of traffic along this stretch, 3,510 vehicles traversed it July 2.

The present 50 mph speed limit is considered hazardous because (a) there is considerable cross-highway vehicular and pedestrian traffic; (b) passing is permitted in certain sections despite poor visibility; (c) there are 24 entrances and exits, which because of their construction, grade, awkward approach and narrow width, require those using them to reduce speed sharply,

(d) there is very poor visibility in many places for those wishing to enter the highway.

Suggested solutions in the brief include improvements to present exits and entrances to provide adequate visibility and to facilitate cars leaving the highway;

Creation of traffic islands at the Research Station entrances at the south end of this section of highway, at the Fourth and Wharf Street intersections and at the northern exit;

Wider shoulders to provide greater safety to pedestrians, and to school buses loading and unloading children.

Provision of a standard 4-way green then red stop light on Fourth Street to assure reasonable safety for pedestrian traffic and to facilitate vehicular traffic across the highway on Fourth Street;

Provision of warning signs at the northern and southern entrances to the community stating there is pedestrian and vehicular cross-highway traffic ahead.

Elimination of passing unless speed through the community is reduced to 30 mph.

District engineer A. L. Freebairn of Kelowna visited the area Tuesday and told PTA officials that he thought some changes could be recommended. He suggested a solid line along the area and 10 foot shoulders along the highway. A radar check will be held to determine traffic volume and speed along this portion of the highway.

Shower held for Miss Lynne Boothe

Mrs. G. A. Laidlaw, Mrs. L. L. Fudge and Miss Barbara Fudge were recent co-hostesses at a shower at the home of the latter when they honored Miss Lynne Boothe, whose marriage to Mr. Marcel Gauthier of Prince George takes place on July 20.

As a compliment to the bride who teaches music, a shower of lovely gifts was presented to her in a miniature Grand Piano. Following the presentation and opening of the many beautiful parcels, tea was served by the three hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Robert Parker, Mrs. Don Skinner, Miss Elaine Dunsdon and Miss Nancy Fudge.

Other invited guests were Mrs. K. L. Boothe, the bride's mother; and Mrs. T. W. Boothe, her grandmother; Mrs. R. Bark with, Mrs. G. Beggs, Mrs. Flora Bergstrom, Mrs. W. Birtles, Mrs. C. J. Bleasdale, Mrs. Doug Bridger, Mrs. N. Buidingh, Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. Bert Berry, Mrs. A. F. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crookes of Sheffield, England and the groom is the son of Mrs. Molly Mayert of West Summerland.

Church decorations were red and white roses.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. and Mrs. E. Miller.

Parliament Hill report

by Dave Pugh, MP

The Budget may be over, but the "malady" lingers on! Questions continue to be asked on the 11% Sales Tax, and the first Supply Motion was devoted to debate on the confusion and chaos in various sectors of the economy because of non-clarification of Budget issues. Many people have asked why there are so many votes of confidence, and why it is that the Opposition seems to be always attempting to overthrow the Government. In actual fact this is not so. At certain times during the Session there are, traditionally, votes of confidence and a Supply Motion provides just such a time. There are six Supply Motions during a Session — each of which lasts for two days, and it is the accepted principle of Parliament that the Opposition has the responsibility to bring before the people as a whole, these matters which are of transcendent importance and which require the earliest possible attention. As has been stated by a greater authority than myself, "It gives to the Opposition the responsibility of placing before Parliament matters regarding which it believes the Government must be reasonable; it must be responsible, but it must also be fearless in placing the viewment has been in default. It point of the people before the representatives of the people." In the House, the short way of expressing this is to call it a "grievance".

The Supply Motion was won by the Government with the Secreds supporting it. It is always interesting to watch the vote being taken, because what is said in debate is not necessarily always reflected in the vote.

THE TEST OF TRUE RELIGION

by Rev. D. M. Rathjen

"Pure religion and undefiled, before God and the Father is this: to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." James 1:27

The word "religion" is said to have come from the word "religori" which means "to bind back."

We were created in the likeness of God to live in harmony with Him, but we have become alienated from Him by trespassing His divine law. The question of all questions is, "How can we be restored to Him?" This being so, the search for religion should be our greatest quest. The test of a genuine religion, in a world filled with counterfeits, is a simple one. It must bind the soul of the sinner back to God. The Bible written by men who "spoke from God, being moved, by the Holy Spirit" (2 Peter 1:21) presents the only definite plan for the recovery of our lost estate. It is defined by the Apostle James in the above quoted text and is seen to consist of two essentials. e.g. doing good, and being good.

The "doing good" is expressed in the words "to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction." The reference is to all unselfish service. Christ is our example. He was the perfectly religious man. "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus." (Philippians 2:5).

The second essential, "being good", "keeping oneself unspotted from the world", presents a great difficulty. "For all have sinned" (Romans 3:23). The spot is already there. Only a religion that has the means of removing the stain of sin will make the fulfillment of such a Divine command possible. The religion that points to the only religion that can eradicate the stain of sin. "The blood of Jesus, His Son cleanseth us from all sin." The fountain has been opened for sin and all uncleanness, but the individual must wash to be clean. Sins will be forgiven and iniquity purged as we come to Christ in faith. A life unspotted by the world is possible then as we live in fellowship with Christ (1 John 1:7).

Canning Whole Tomatoes Still Faced With Problems

After many years of stable performance, the tomato is giving cause for concern among some processors due to a drop in acidity.

The milder taste may not have become apparent to the consumer but it has created processing difficulties, particularly in the United States.

Canned tomatoes are an acid product and are processed as such. The whole tomatoes found in the can are the result of a combination of sound fruit, careful handling and processing by a short heating period at a relatively low temperature.

This is how normally acid tomatoes are canned. The treatment kills yeasts and molds and the acid medium keeps bacteria from growing.

If the temperature had to be raised to kill bacteria the resulting product would not be canned tomatoes but slurry.

Cause of the trend to mild-ness in tomatoes has been under study in the United States and Canada for several years but no solid answers have been found yet.

Dr. J. S. Matthews, of the Summerland, B.C., research station, says it is considered the change may be a consequence of developing new varieties with uniformly colored and fleshier fruit. Fertilizer and cultural practices may also be involved.

At Summerland it has been possible to vary the acidity in tomatoes by varying the proportions of phosphorus and nitrogen applied to the plants.

Growing the plant in nutrient solutions enables these proportions to be accurately controlled. Eventually, combinations of all the major and minor elements required by tomato plants will be tested to determine their influence on fruit acidity.

Furriers Hope Marking Ink Will Discourage Thefts

Fur thieves, who had things pretty much to their liking while there was no way of positively identifying their loot, will now find the odds heavily weighted against them.

In recent years furs manufacturers and retailers have suffered heavy losses through break-ins and, with no names of positive identification, recovery of stolen merchandise has been difficult, explains Andrew Stewart, chief of the fur section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

For the same reason, police were handicapped in obtaining convictions in court.

Now, however, a new anti-theft weapon has been added: a fur marking ink, developed by the National Research Council at the request of the Department of Agriculture. The special ink enables positive, permanent identification of garments. It cannot be removed without ruining the fur.

The ink has been made available to the beleaguered fur industry in Montreal where the current annual theft loss, is estimated at $1 million. The move followed a recent meeting in Ottawa, attended by the director of the Montreal police department, officials of the fur industry in that city and representatives of the federal Interdepartmental Committee on Fur Promotion.

Responsible for control of the ink, the committee is made up of members of four federal departments—Agriculture, Trade and Commerce, Northern Affairs and National Resources, and Citizenship and Immigration (Indian Affairs).

The marking ink was originated mainly to identify raw pelts. Although not yet perfected for this purpose, it has been found ideal for use on the dry, spongy skins of dressed furs.

Under plans set up by the Montreal fur industry in co-operation with the police department and insurance companies, the ink will be used to print numbered codes—at both manufacturing and retail levels—on all garments.

Besides identifying the rightful owners when stolen furs are recovered and helping police obtain convictions in court, the plan should also serve as a preventive measure.

Vary Turkey Products, Canadian Producers Told

Introduction of new turkey products, coupled with an energetic promotion campaign, have been urged as prosperity measures for the turkey industry.

The suggestions were advanced by F. E. Payne, chief of markets and merchandising for the Poultry Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, in an address at the ninth annual Saskatchewan poultry conference at Indian Head.

Mr. Payne noted that turkey consumption in 1962 stood at 124 million pounds, or about eight pounds per capita, and added:

"It is very questionable how much farther this can be pushed on the basis of whole carcass turkey alone."

The answer, as Mr. Payne sees it, is an all-out drive to meet a wide range of consumer preferences.

Although turkeys are now marketed as whole birds in a wide variety of sizes, merchandising of turkeys by parts, quarters, halves and in various other forms—including rolls, steaks, spreads and luncheon meats—would be a major step towards meeting consumer demands and boosting consumption.

Introduction of new turkey products—tied in with an expanded, more effective promotional campaign—was essential for the welfare of the industry, he said.

During the past few years, turkey production increased to a point where it forced a cut in prices, with the result that turkey was selling at prices 20 to 30 cents below that of hamburger.

"Canada's turkey industry cannot survive at its present level without new products," Mr. Payne warned.

The importance of packaging, promotion and advertising in creating and maintaining a consumer demand for poultry products was underlined by the speaker.

"Demand is created. If you fail to create or constantly reinforce a consumer desire you will lose your market," he said.

"If producers fail to invest in the promotion of their agricultural product they produce they have only themselves to blame for the gradual erosion of their market and income."

The industry also must aim high in its efforts to produce quality products, Mr. Payne said.

PHOTOGRAPHY, SPORTSMAN'S PAL

If there is one thing better than gathering friends or family around to tell them all about the day's game, Bob's unique golf style, the one that got away, or cousin Fred's spectacular dive, it is being able to show it actually on film, by slides, snaps or home movies.

So compact have cameras become that they can be a constant companion. So automated in setting correct exposure that no technicalities are involved.

Summer in Canada is water sports—swimming, water skiing and boating.

Swimming except at organized swimming meets is a generally casual affair photographed from boat, float or pier. Concentrate on action that is close to you, there is nothing less identifiable than a small portion of head in the middle distance. Clear water, or your own pool on a bright day is a good spot to try out underwater photography with a low cost uncomplicated underwater outfit. Don't try taking your camera down there unless it is in a specially designed water tight container!

High dives can be spoiled photographically in several ways; by blurred image or no diver in view at all. Power poles, and other distracting elements which you didn't notice in the background while concentrating on the subject may ruin the scene in your finder.

The last named calls for just a careful look and perhaps a change of position before shooting. What about the blurred diver and the one who isn't there?

He'll be there—with practice. The travelling time from board to pool is very brief and initially it often happens that, by the time the photographer has located the subject in the finder and tripped the shutter, he's gone.

Then, in anticipating too much we get pictures of him still on the diving board. A little practice soon hits the happy medium. If you are unable to get a full field of view that takes in the board and the pool, centre the diver in your finder before he dives. As he takes off, move the camera keeping him in the centre of the finder, tripping the shutter at the moment you want to catch.

This system has another advantage. With snapshot cameras and their slower shutter speed, the camera moving with the subject prevents blurring. It may blur the background but your diver remains sharp!

Holding it still, will a snapshot camera take unblurred action pictures? Yes, if you catch the diver at the split second of immobility when he has stopped moving upward after his initial spring from the board and is just starting his downward dive. This again takes practice, but it works!

Water skiing? Fine shots can be taken from the rear of the tow boat, or from one running alongside. You will get sharper pictures in the smoother segments of the run, wait for them. Panning the subject—as with the diver, the camera moving to keep the subject in the centre of the finder is a good way to photograph a water skier passing close to a jetty or beach. In fact, this panning habit works well with any action sport from auto racing to the office picnic egg and spoon race!

Auto racing, action plus, and while like all other subjects fine still photos but even more exciting home movies.

Spectator sports full of action, whether in movie form or a collection of still photos or slides can be boring to viewers without some relief, some interest closer than the action on the track or field.

Watch for interesting shots of spectators' reactions and activities to fit in a change of pace and interest.

Fishing news

Okanagan Lake

Not too many good reports of trout this week. Good reports of Kohanee though. Trout at this time seem to slow off, why no one really knows. They must be feeding but up to now no one knows what lure to present to them to get them to bite. Rock fishing should be coming on as soon as the grass hoppers come and the fish start feeding on them.

Fish Lake Camp

Some fairly good reports from here, especially from the upper Garnett Valley.

A couple of good reports from here this last week. There are a few good holes and if you know them you do alright.

Agur Lake

No reports this week.

Pennask Lake

Not as prolific as before but limit catches are still being made on fly and plugs. The last four miles are tough as well as rough. The rains have made the road slippery.

Headwaters Camp

Just one report this week but a good catch reported. Good fishing if you can hit it when they are biting.

Glen Lake

A couple of reports. Fly fishing best but a little moody.

McDonald and Brenda Lakes
No reports but should be OK.

Rose Valley Dam

One report from here with no luck, but being moody could be OK if you hit it right.

Shannon Lake

No reports but bass and perch here in good quantities.

Generally speaking mountain lakes are the best. Large low lakes like Okanagan and Shuswap lakes are slow.

Red Sox win two over Oliver Sunday

The Summerland Red Sox came through with two big wins on Sunday when they swept a double header in Oliver by scores of 7-3 and 3-0.

The first game had Sheeley on the mound for the Red Sox and he held the Oliver team scoreless until the last inning when four hits and an error gave Oliver its three runs. The Red Sox with Johansen and Dent showing the way with two hits each took the lead in the fourth with one run and then put the game on ice with a five run outburst in the fifth.

The second game was a pitcher's battle from the first ball thrown. George Walton overpowered the Oliver team with his fast ball and they never really threatened to score until the last inning when they got men on base but Joe Beggs pulled down a line drive in left field to end the game with the best catch of the day. George Walton started a three run rally in the sixth for the Red Sox by starting the inning off with his first hit of the season. Ken Pushkerinko and Dent also singled to load the bases, and a walk to Selinger scored Walton and then Skinner singled to drive in the second and third runs. Vernon will be in Summerland for a double header on Sunday.

Conservation Corner

by Alf Kohlhauser

Every once in a while some pertinent conservation literature turns up that should be read by everyone literate enough to digest it. The July 4 Family Herald's special section on water is such reading.

Few people are truly aware of how dependant on water we really are and just how much of it we need. There is information included in this section pointing out what some of our needs really are: for consumption, for sewage suspension and carrier, and for producing various items from cars to 1000 boxes of apples. I suggest this be read. I have a copy I will gladly lend.

The next general meeting of the Rod and Gun Club will be July 15 at the Trap Range. Business: as little as possible. Pleasure: as much shooting as we can get in.

Police Court

Corporal R. J. Hunter began his duties as head of the Summerland detachment of the RCMP on Wednesday.

On July 5, James S. Gates appeared before Magistrate R. Johnston charged under the liquor act. He was found guilty and fined $25 and costs.

On the same day James T. Devlin appeared and was fined $150 and costs for driving without due care and attention.

Lance Elroy Elliott was fined $25 and costs for passing on a double solid line when he appeared on July 9.

Ronald David Fox appeared on a speeding charge and was fined $20 and costs.

Powell Beach Service reported that their garage had been entered on Monday night. The thieves smashed a window and rifled the till. To date no report on loss is available.

Kiwanis Notes

The Kiwanis Club held its weekly meeting on Sunday evening instead of the usual Tuesday night. It was held in Jerry Hallquist's house and the Kiwasa ladies were present.

The occasion was in a way a regrettable one for the club, as one of its best known and well-liked members was leaving Summerland to move to Winnipeg.

Summerland and the Kiwanis Club have lost Ed McJillivray and his wife Marion. While without exception, every member of the club is glad to hear that Ed is going to a good position in Winnipeg, yet Ed, who is vice president this year, will be greatly missed by everyone of us and by the boys in the Key Club, into which endeavour he put a lot of time and energy.

The ladies gave a suitable gift to Marion, presented by Janice Randall, and Bill Laidlaw presented a picture of the Okanagan Lake to Ed, which every member of the Club signed.

We wish you the very best of luck, Ed and Marion, and hope it will be possible for you to visit us in the future.

Our old member, Simon and wife Martha, were visiting in Summerland and were with us for supper.

Hans Stoll is in hospital in Penticton. We hope you have a speedy recovery Hans.

Please note that the Kiwanis carnival will be held on Saturday evening, July 27. Doug Campbell is chairman of the event.

Jerry Hallquist was thanked for being host for the evening and for cooking such delightful steaks. Thanks a lot Jerry.

47 teachers on local school staffs

New teachers at the Secondary School in September will include C. F. Greenough, vice principal; Miss Lorna Mitchell, Fred Verigan, Mrs. C. E. Le-pin, Home Economics; Miss I. Joseph Makse, who has been on two years leave of absence from Summerland teaching air force children in France, will be returning this year.

Employment encouraging

Employment generally is maintaining a very satisfactory level throughout this local office area, although the upswing did not materialize until the last two weeks in June, according to F. G. Hunter, acting manager of the Penticton Employment Office in Penticton. Contributing factors are the increased demand for orchard and service workers. A very large contract has been let to two firms for black-topping of streets and highways. This is giving extra work to an appreciable number of men.

By the beginning of July extra impetus will be given to employment through the packing houses who will commence packing cherries. The local canneries are now producing jam. This also has given work to a large number of men and women.

Comparative statistics are as follows: male, 1962 — 283; female, 257; 1963: male, 334; female, 394.

Leaving the staff of the Secondary School are A. J. Longmore, Miss E. A. Lingley, D. M. Loan, Miss J. M. Walsh, Mrs. M. A. Solly, Mrs. O. L. Orris and N. A. Grout. There are 25 teachers on the secondary school staff.

Four new teachers will be added to the two elementary schools. They are Mrs. G. Novak, Mrs. M. Kean and Mrs. Pat Carter, all of Summerland, and Miss H. Farrow. Teachers leaving are Miss M. Isbister and Miss H. M. Lawford. There are 22 teachers on the staffs of Macdonald and Trout Creek elementary schools.

Mr and Mrs. Wm. Kennedy of Coquitlam are spending the summer with Mrs. A. K. Elliott.

Born at Summerland Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Beulah, a girl, July 7.

It's worth a trip to Penticton to see the distinctive and colorful banners that mark the entrance to that city. The banners depict the fruit industry, water and square dancing and are the work of Bob Borsas, who has recently opened a silk screen studio in Summerland.

Hours of sunshine was up last week with 50.3 hours recorded at the research station and only .06 inches of rain.

Accident on lake

A mother and father and six of their seven children were taken to Summerland Hospital last Friday suffering from varying degrees of carbon monoxide poisoning following a boat trip on Okanagan Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Reid of Meskinaw, Sask. and their family of seven, along with Mrs. Reid's father, Rupert Brown of Trout Creek, were riding in the latter's cabin cruiser. The group left the Summerland Yacht Club about 10 a.m. and were only on the lake a matter of a few minutes when some of the children complained of feeling ill. Attributing the children's condition to seasickness, it wasn't until Mrs. Reid became ill that the boat was turned around and brought back to the Yacht Club.

Bystanders helped the family ashore. By this time four of the children were unconscious and all but Mr. Brown and one daughter, who did not suffer any poisoning, were in various degrees of consciousness. lance was used to take part of

The new Summerland ambulance family to hospital and another vehicle carried the rest of the family. At hospital they were given oxygen therapy and were released within 24 hours. The family ranged in age from 3 to 15 years.

The accident was attributed to a faulty exhaust system and an absolutely calm lake.

A Summerland doctor told the Review that the symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning are headaches, drowsiness and the skin takes on a pinkish tinge.

PROFIT GOES TO HOSPITAL

Already the recipient of a sizeable donation this year, the Summerland hospital received another donation yesterday. Three little girls, age 5 to 10, walked into the hospital and announced they would like to donate $1.33, the proceeds of their sale of lemonade at Crescent Beach. The three were Susan Amm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Amm and Allison and Elizabeth Ann Milroy, daughters of Mr and Mrs Mrs John Milroy. "Very much appreciated", said hospital administrator Harvey Wilson.

Council endorses highway survey

Trout Creek PTA sent a copy of its brief to the minister of highways to council for study. The letter dealt with the Trout Creek portion of highway 97 pointing out driving conditions that are concerning residents of that area.

Council was unanimous in the opinion that the portion of road in question was presenting problems and presented several suggestions of possible remedies for the conditions.

Councillor Eric Tait said he felt slowing traffic was not the answer considering the volume of cars going through the Point, but he commented that it must be made safer. The feasibility of an access road running parallel to the highway to gather up traffic was mentioned. Councillor W. B. Powell said that the road should be widened and he also favored islands for turnoffs.

Councillor Tait moved that the PTA letter should be endorsed in principal. A letter will be sent by council to the highway department stressing that the situation be looked into and corrected.

In the absence of Reeve N. Holmes who is holidaying, Acting Reeve H. J. Barkwill presided over Tuesday's meeting. Municipal clerk G. D. Smith is also on holiday.

Councillor W. S. Ritchie reported that a large log with the name Summerland on it will soon be placed at Five Corners. A new diving board has been built at Powell Beach. Councillor Tait reported that Phil Munro has been appointed secretary manager of the Memorial Arena. His duties will be to co-ordinate the various arena activities.

Councillor Tait presented the June accounts amounting to $80,451.12 which included a $12,000 school requisition and an expenditure of $4,000 for road oil.

Councillor Ritchie reported that the Penticton Kinsmen Club had reserved the Powell Beach baseball area for a picnic on Sunday, July 21.

Councillor Tait suggested that works superintendent Blagborne keep tab on the entrances leading off Highway 97 which is being resurfaced. Three layers of hard surfacing material are being added to the highway and some of the entrances to the highway will need raising. Blagborne said he had discussed the matter with the resident engineer and the entrances would be bought up to standard.

Vonda Wade queen-elect

Vonda Wade was selected queen of the 1963 fall fair on Saturday night. Her princesses are Betty Ann Dunsdon and Anne-Marie Bonthoux. They were chosen from nine contestants at a strawberry social in the IOOF Hall.

Nearly 200 persons attended the annual event. Chairman for the evening was D. H. Hill, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Winner of the door prize was Roy Angus.

The fall fair will be held on September 6 and 7.

PASSES IN NURSING HOME

Mrs. Maude A. W. Read passed away at the nursing home operated by Mrs. George Lewis at Trout Creek on Thursday, July 17.

Mrs. Read has lived in this district for a number of years. She came here from Sherbrooke, Quebec. Her husband Thomas predeceased her a number of years ago.

Nelson artist's paintings on display at library

Zeljko Kujundzic of Nelson, whose exhibition of paintings is now on display in the regional library, has been commissioned to decorate the front of Vancouver's new vocational school.

The Summerland Art Club is presenting this second local exhibition of the artist's work.

Mr. Kujundzic gave a short course here in 1960 and said then that he felt that Okanagan painters were impressed with scenery and did not deal enough with human subjects. However, in this present show the lovely scenery seems to have captivated him too as his paintings on display show mountains, lakes and trees.

The artist makes subtle use of color to show his moods. This is an interesting point as he makes his own paints, using earth, oils and chemicals he finds in the Kootenays. These he grinds and blends into the rich soft shades seen in his works.

The pictures now hung at the library are on sale, some as low as $35. The Art Club feels that seldom have pictures of this calibre been offered at a price that fits into the average person's buying range. The display lasts until the end of July.

Mrs. G. C. Johnston, convener of the 1963 fall fair queen contest, found this picture of the first queen contest held in Summerland. The date was approximately 1947. Only one girl has been definitely recognized and we would like to know the names of the rest. Can you help?

The Oliver industry plan

The Oliver Chamber of Commerce recently circulated communities in the Southern Okanagan urging the need for a conference on encouragement of industries. This is the first really concrete move in this direction for some time, one that all communities should hasten to follow up as speedily as possible.

There have been sporadic, and sometimes half-hearted attempts to draw industries — and hence payrolls — to this region. Most of them expired for lack of purpose, drive and overall planning.

Just as it has been found in the tourist field that no one community — not even Penticton with its 60-odd motels — could go it alone, so it will be found that in the search for industrial expansion or development, there can be no such thing as going it alone.

The Mayor of Penticton snatched at the proposal, and acclaimed it, as did his council. In Summerland, the council has suggested that the action — which it approves — should come from the Chamber of Commerce. Actually both groups will inevitably be involved, before the plan can get very far.

In an earlier era, municipal and city councils were highly active in a grab for industries or anything that would provide payrolls and of course increased population. Some of them stopped at nothing to get the edge on rivals. Later, as municipal councils became busier with new problems, they let a lot of this activity go by the board. This often meant that such action as was taken sporadically and spasmodically was all too often out of step with civic sense and planning.

Recently this leadership seems to be moving back to civic bodies. This gives whatever plan is eventually developed the air of constituted authority, and the stabilizing influence of those who are responsible to the taxpayers.

We don't suggest that the whole burden of the task should fall on them municipal government. That should more properly come from voluntary sources such as the Chamber of Commerce. But we are suggesting that a watchful civic eye be kept on whatever is planned — and that municipal councils should be active in the formulation of such plans, to make sure they will properly mesh with civic thinking.

Also if the municipal council takes a real interest in, and has a guiding hand on the planning and carrying out of plans it will mean there will be the essential continuity that has been so lacking in recent years — and fewer of the efforts will wither on the limb, as so many have done.

Grandfather's Farm

Grandpapa invited us
To go out to his farm,
To spend our summer holidays,
Where we'd be safe from harm.

We drove the cows to pasture,
Chasing chipmunks on the fence
To hear them scold and chatter,
We knew it was pretense.

Johnny Woodchuck ran so fast,
He beat Rover to his den,
We dug and dug but couldn't find
Where his long house did end.

We put snakes in our pockets,
They're as harmless as can be,
They crawled out and frightened Grandma,
She's so nervous as you see.

We made a jolly frog farm
Beneath the willow tree,
Old Father Bull Frog sang so loud,
It was all blamed on me.

We found a great big sleepy owl
Safe in a hollow stump,
We poked her out and teased her,
She sure was in the dumps.

One day we found a kitty,
She was pretty as could be.
But Grandpa said a swear word
When we came home for Yea.
We forgot to shut the granahy,
Old Bossy nearly died,
She ate and ate and ate until
She bloated up inside.

We did no many other things
That don't fit to tell,
When holidays were over
Grandpa called and said, "O well!"

BOAT TRAILERING

Boat trailers have played an important role in the boating boom that exists in Canada today. The ease of operating the modern boat trailer is exemplified in such features as tongue winches, tilt booms, rubber rollers and adjustable cradles. The work has been taken out of trailering, and evidence of this is seen in many home garages throughout the country. Needless to say, a lot of automobiles are parked outside as a result.

FLAMELESS ELECTRIC COOKING

is CLEANER—no fuel grime on your pots and pans—walls or ceilings.

is FASTER —new, high speed elements give quick, accurate heat.

is SAFER —than any other method of cooking.

COOK BETTER ELECTRICALLY

They had moved to a strange city and the wife argued with her husband about how he spent his Sunday mornings.

"John," she wailed, "if you never go to church with me, people won't even suspect that you're married."

He looked thoughtfully, then replied: "Take the three youngest kids with you next time. They'll catch on."

DOWN TO THE BEACH

Shooting from a moving train, bus or plane—hold camera close to window to minimize reflections. If camera touches window vibration will blur your pictures.

There's no broader stage for family activities than the beach. The warm and sunny days that swing from acute activity to serene laziness, that offer subjects ranging from a toddler's first hesitant steps in the cool water, to the bathing beauty, to the old folk under sun umbrellas on the warm sand.

It is a stage for candid pictures of every member of the family and for action shots as the adults become re-acquainted with unused muscles in a ball game with the children.

A photographer's paradise! Like any paradise it has its serpent, in fact it has three, your camera's worst enemies—Sand, Water and Heat!

Simple protection for the camera is no chore, keep it in a bag or case except when actually in use and sand won't worm its way into the inner mechanics. Should a few grains of sand settle on the lens or body, gently brush and blow them away, don't rub them.

Why heat? In a metal or plastic camera body left lying in the sun, the temperature inside can build to an alarming degree. It doesn't do the camera much good, and it can play havoc with the more tender roll of film. Keep the camera in the shade, in its bag, or perhaps under a blanket. Water on the lens will degrade the sharp image it is designed to give and you may get nothing but a blur. Water is rough on the metallic parts and bad for film.

Simplicity is the key to pictures that demand attention from the viewer. Distracting backgrounds only confuse, therefore select low angles that give the sky as a background or high ones in which your subject is against the sand.

Make any family groups completely casual, not lined up and stiffly posed. Keep the horizon level in the viewfinder no matter what the angle of the person being photographed.

A passing boat may make your trigger finger itchy but chances are that it will appear too distant in your final print. Build a picture around it by framing the scene with the trunk and branches of a tree, or give it foreground interest by having someone or a small group in the foreground watching it.

Beach photography doesn't end with sunset. The sunset itself is a prime subject, particularly if it has figures silhouetted against it—and a campfire and weiner roast under the stars. Use a flash with a fire in the foreground.

The beach has pictures to offer all day long, all you need is the camera and lots of film!

Taking color pictures indoors and out on the same roll of color film? For slides use Daylight Type film with blue flashbulbs indoors. For movies use Type A film with floods indoors, and Type A conversion filter outdoors.

This photo shows Dr. M. G. Candau, 52 year old Brazilian, who recently won appointment to his third five-year term, beginning July 20, as Director-General of the World Health Organization.

The appointment was made by WHO's member governments at their annual assembly this May in Geneva, Switzerland, the WHO headquarters. WHO is a specialized agency of the United Nations.

Dr. Candau, who hails from Rio de Janeiro, is the second person to head WHO in the agency's 15 years of existence. He succeeded a Canadian, Dr. Brock Chisholm, in July 1953—three years after he joined the health agency.

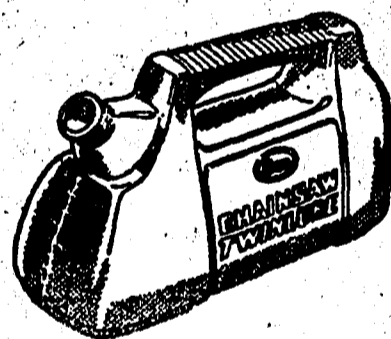

Before becoming WHO Director-General, Dr. Candau served in Washington, D.C., as assistant director of WHO's regional office for the Americas, the Pan American Sanitary Bureau.

"I'll be over—after I do my banking!"

Nowadays it's natural for the lady of the house to do much of the family banking, because it's so convenient to look after money matters at one place—the local chartered bank, an all-round banking service-centre.

This busy homemaker is on her way to deposit part of her husband's salary in their savings account, cash a cheque on their joint chequing account, and pay the monthly instalment on a personal loan. All this taken care of under one roof—quickly, easily, simply.

Any bank service you use is an introduction to many others. And the chartered banks are always on the lookout for new ways to be helpful to more people. Good reason why the number of deposit accounts has doubled to 14 million in just 10 years, and 3,500 new accounts are being opened every banking day.

Fishing news

by Bert Berry

Okanagan Lake

Trolling for trout still very slow but Kohanee still producing and some large catches reported. One report of off-rocks fishing this week with grasshoppers that produced three nice fish. This will be coming on and nice catches will be made. Trolling for trout will improve slightly and start to be good again about the middle of August.

Fish Lake Camp

A couple of good reports from upper lakes, fair on Fish Lake, 8 to 10 inch.

Headwaters Camp

K. W. Moore, operator of this camp reports that fishing over the week end was spotty, with the wind hindering fishermen. No. 1 lake is the most productive. He says to take along a coat as the lake can get chilly.

Pennask Lake

Limit catches still being caught but harder to get than before. Road is very rough.

Brenda and McDonald Lakes

No reports but should be OK.

Rose Valley Dam

One report. Very moody but could be good if you hit it right.

Shannon Lake

Good perch and large mouth bass fishing now.

Agur Lake

No reports, moody, but could be good.

Oyama Lake

One report, good.

No reports from south lakes or northern lakes but I presume they are generally same as this area; moody, but good if you hit them in feeding periods.

First home run since 1951 hit here Sunday

The Summerland Red Sox and the Vernon Juniors went at it again on Sunday in a regular league double header and after it was all over they were exactly where they had started, with a win each.

Vernon took the first game 7-5 which was scheduled for seven innings but went a full nine before a decision was reached. Summerland, in a "come from behind" took the night cap 3-2.

In the opener Summerland used three pitchers, starting with Walton, who was relieved by Pushkerinko, who gave the mound over to Sheeley, who was charged with the loss. It wasn't for the lack of trying on Sheeley's part as he tied the game at 4-4 with a three run homer over the left field fence in the fourth inning. This was the first home run hit in Summerland by a junior since Don Cristante did it in 1950. Douglas picked up the win for Vernon.

In the second game with Don Skinner pitching for the locals and Howie McNeil for Vernon the crowd was treated to a real pitchers' battle. The game was scoreless until Vernon broke through for two runs in the fourth inning. The Red Sox were held off the score board until the seventh and last inning before they broke loose and won the ball game. Skinner led off with a single and went to second on a single by Johansen. They both scored to tie the game on a double by Pollack. Pollack went to third on an error by the pitcher on a hard hit ball by Walton. Then Ken Puskerinko became the hero of the game as he bounced a ball over the centerfield fence to score the winning run and there was still no one out.

The next action for the Red Sox will be this week end as they travel to Kamloops for a Saturday night, Sunday afternoon double header.

Kiwanis Notes

Another of Jerry Hallquist's famous steak dinners (with all the trimmings) was served on Bill Laidlaw's lawn Tuesday, to about 25 members, including one visitor, a guest of Bob Alstead. Jerry got a resounding ovation for this and past culinary contributions.

Two members who had not been in evidence for quite some time, Jack Lawler and Tommy Young, were welcomed back.

Lucky McKilligan cheerfully contributed the customary dollar to have happy birthday sung for him. This was the occasion of his 39th, like Jack Benny, birthday. Walter Toevs was warned not to forget his 14th wedding anniversary on the 19th.

The Kiwanis Street Carnival is coming up, and it has been reported that tickets on the car raffle are going well.

One of the directors, Ed Mc-was replaced by Hilly Smith. Gillivray, have moved, he was Next steak dinner meeting will be held on Clair Elsey's lawn.

Charles A. Swain, Cape May, New Jersey businessman, was elected president of Kiwanis International at the organization's 48th annual convention in Atlantic City, according to W. A. Laidlaw, president of the Kiwanis Club of Summerland.

As head of Kiwanis International, Swain will be official spokesman for some 262,000 Kiwanians in more than 5,200 clubs in the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Bahamas, and Western Europe.

Pupils show holiday work

At the Baptist Church last week some seventy pupils and teachers enjoyed sessions of the Daily Vacation Bible School.

On Friday evening a large number of parents and friends saw a display of handwork and listened to a program which reviewed the activities of the school. Miss Violet Banks directed the primary department and Mrs. Paul Roberge the junior department. Children showed their imagination in handwork depicting transportation projects to illustrate the theme "Trail of Life." Trains, baskets, balloons, covered wagons and rockets were made by the children.

Teachers and helpers were Mrs. D. L. McIntosh, Miss Violet Banks, Mrs. D. B. Clark, Miss A. R. Dale, Mrs. Lois Bolton, Margaret Brown, Connie Roberge, Peggy Lee Wellwood, Donna Nicholson, Evertien and Dierwile Wouters and Rev. F. W. Haskins.

Legion honors young athletes

The Summerland branch of the Royal Canadian Legion honored four young Summerland athletes last Wednesday. Georgina Storey, Ken Bolton, Karen Fenwick and Ron Mayne were Summerland's top participants at the Legion sponsored track meet held in Penticton recently.

Georgina Storey came tops in three events in the peewee class. In the softball throw she made the record distance of 93'6", she also topped the girl's broad jump with 12'11" and her high jump record was 3'6 1/2".

Ken Bolton took the peewee broad jump event with a terrific 13" jump. Karen Fenwick took the bantam broad jump. Her jump was measured at 14', 3 1/2'. Ron Mayne took the Bantam high jump, clearing the pole at 4'2".

The peewee and bantam classes cannot enter the provincial finals and Summerland did not have a winner in the older classes. However, the Legion sponsors are hoping that their vigorous training program will provide the young people with a greater incentive for next year's efforts.

Dr. Dougald MacGregor made the presentations commenting that the Legion was proud of the fine standing made by its youngsters at the track meet.

Conservation Corner

by Alf Kolhauser

The July meeting of the Summerland Rod and Gun Club was preceded by an informal practice shoot during which almost everyone got a chance to be laughed at.

Correspondence included letters from the deputy minister of lands, reporting on the proposed lease at Peterson Lake and from the Penticton and Kelowna clubs, supporting our protest against this lease.

Mrs. Gray who heads the Junior True Sportsmen's Club, was recommended at last month's meeting as an applicant for the summer school held by the Community Programmes Branch in Kelowna.

She phoned several days ago to report that she had successfully completed the course she was entered in and had details for me when I had time to pick them up.

With television being the standard appliance in most homes, I wonder how many are aware of the fifteen minute program on Penticton and Kelowna radio stations between 5 and 5:30 p.m. depending on which station, on Saturdays, called "The Outdoorsman" with George Carnegie. It's a new program and so far has been fairly interesting and educational.

To those doing any shooting these days, remember your firearms permit expired June 30. The new ones aren't always available on time, but asking for yours will at least put you on the proper track to getting it when they arrive.

Money Belts Excess Baggage These days of the world — travellers had to hide their money pretty carefully if they didn't want to lose it. Money belts were as common as Gladstone bags in the old days.

Nowadays it's different. Today's traveller doesn't need to worry about losing his bankroll. Mostly because he does not carry a bankroll at all. Instead, he uses Bank of Montreal travellers cheques. They're the perfectly safe and convenient means of carrying funds while travelling.

A visit to the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal before starting off on your next business or vacation trip can give you complete peace of mind. There the accountant, Don Carmichael, can sell you the B of M travellers cheques you need, in whatever denominations you think will be most practical for your purposes.

Then you'll be able to travel with the knowledge that if your travellers cheques are lost, stolen, or destroyed, you won't be the loser because the Bank of Montreal will arrange to replace them for you.

If you're going abroad, the B of M can provide you special travellers cheques, or travellers letters of credit for large sums. Travellers cheques are much more comfortable than a money belt, we promise.
