

Large crowd gives support for hospital

According to the facts presented Wednesday night to a public meeting, it would probably cost Summerland residents less per capita to build a new hospital, than it has cost the municipality of Peachland to join the Kelowna hospital district; or for Summerland to join the Penticon hospital district.

Figures given at the meeting show the new hospital will add about 4 mills (approximately a 10 per cent increase) on the tax roll. Hospital Society chairman Les Rumball pointed out that this figure will decrease with normal community growth to about 2 mills in ten years. Mr. Rumball said that the four mill figure now represents about $79 per person for 20 years.

In earlier remarks Reeve Norman Holmes commented that if Summerland joined the Penticon Hospital District, a similar arrangement to Peachland's would have to be worked out.

In giving the reasons for a new hospital, Mr. Rumball said that the Society had been given three alternatives by the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Society to renovate the old building, updating it until replacement in a few years at a cost of $160,000; close down and join the Penticon district; or to build a new institution. He said that the renovations are non-shareable and any renovations would only be considered temporary by BCHIS with the need for replacement coming up again in a few years.

Consequently the society had purchased the former Anderson property north of Milne's Cannery comprising 6 1/2 acres and presented a building plan to the provincial government for approval. This approval was received this summer with the result that the $340,000 bylaw is being submitted to the taxpayers on December 12. The balance of the cost ($740,000) will be borne by federal and provincial governments.

In commenting on the necessity of a local hospital Mr. Rumball noted that Summerland stands to lose the services of its medical men, as doctors do not tend to practice in a community where there is no hospital. It would also lose the convenience of the outpatient department which last year treated 343 patients on an emergency basis.

The hospital is also an important economic factor in the community with a payroll of $95,000 and another $35,000 being spent on goods and services.

If Summerland loses its hospital, many of the large packing houses and canneries would have to hire qualified first-aid attendants and equip first aid rooms.

Mr. Rumball said that the hospital board had recently considered ways and means of giving everyone a vote in hospital affairs. They have applied to the provincial government for permission to change the constitution to allow all ratepayers to belong to the Society.

The chairman said that the project is a large one, with the equipment highly specialized and costly. A furnishing fund has been set up to accept commitments from individuals and organizations that have indicated a desire to help furnish a new hospital.

The hospital will have 24 fully finished rooms. Three more will be decorated and ready for furnishing when the need arises. A flexible building plan would allow expansion to 30 beds and the large basement area could be utilized for patient use.

Because it carries snow on its top most of the year, a mountain south-west of Summerland is generally called Snow Mountain, but its proper name is actually Brent Mountain. It was named after Joe Brent, an early resident of Summerland who was a Fire Warden. This picture of Mr.

Brent in front of his tent on the tip of the mountain in 1925 by Walter M. Wright. The tent was connected by telephone to the district forestry office in Penticon. The mountain only takes its snow cap off for about six weeks in the summer but this year went bare headed somewhat longer.

Former reeves will be honored

Three seek council seats

Ratepayers will go to the polls on Saturday, December 12 to elect two councillors and vote on the $340,000 hospital bylaw.

Seeking election for the two council seats are incumbents W B Powell and H J Barkwill; and Emil Bonthoux, a newcomer to municipal politics.

Dr J E Miltimore and J Bennett were re-elected to the school board by acclamation. One seat, left vacant by W S Ritchie who did not seek re-election; will be filled by appointment from the minister of education.

Voting takes place in the municipal hall from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Councillor J. Schaeffer suggested that the portraits of all reeves who have served the municipality should be framed and hung in the council chambers. The municipal clerk was instructed to investigate.

Permission was granted to the merchants association to use the parking lot next to the Bowldrome for the visit of Santa Claus on December 23.

C. J. Bennett, who lives at Brookmede Farms on South Prairie Valley Road, ask council Tuesday night to examine the creek which runs through his property. Mr. Bennett said he felt some sewage was drifting into the creek and he had lost some hay this year due to flooding. Council instructed the works superintendent to examine the creek to see if a better drainage method could be found.

Mr. Blagborne reported that the deepening work on the Prairie Valley Creek had been completed and a tidying-up project was now underway.

Civil defence co-ordinator J. Phillips reported on a recent advanced training course he attended in Kamloops. There are now 640 fully trained civil defence workers in B.C.

Since Summerland has two CPR stations; one situated on the lake front and one in the upper town, there is little possibility of any name change as requested by council and the Chamber of Commerce. A reply from the superintendent of the CPR pointed out it is impossible for them to operate two stations under the name Summerland and thus the upper town station will retain its West prefix.

Growers seek maturity control

At the general meeting of the Summerland local BCFGA last week; three resolutions received unanimous support and will be presented at the annual meeting of the growers in January.

The first of these resolutions; moved by Charles Bernhardt; asked that "every effort be made to set up and enforce maturity standards that will ensure the consumer a desirable product."

The second resolution moved by Colin McKenzie; called for money to be spent from the Palmer Memorial Fund to finance water-core research.

A third resolution, also moved by Mr. McKenzie asked for the publication of a regular news letter to keep growers better informed on crop information.

John Coe of Penticon; a director of BC Tree Fruits Ltd. gave a very complete summary of present marketing conditions. He described sales as being very good with prices slightly higher.

The Bartlett pear crop was very heavy; 646,000 boxes were packed and the present unsold stock amounts to 18,000 boxes. Although the quality of the pears was; in many cases inferior due to adverse weather conditions; there have been no claims.

The subject of the proposed survey of fruit industry management was brought to the meeting by Allan Claridge of Oyama. A committee has been formed to study the feasibility of such a survey; but there are so many diversified opinions on the matter that it has been decided to leave the final decision to the BCFGA annual convention at Vernon in January. In the meantime, the committee is gathering information on costs and methods from firms which specialize in such surveys.

Mr. Claridge is a candidate for the presidency of the BCFGA but he said that his decision to accept the nomination was in no way influenced by the resignation of R P Walrod. He expressed great disappointment at the small attendance at local meetings and impressed on the growers the necessity of expressing their opinions at these meetings if they expect the BCFGA to be effective.

To conclude the evening, Alex Watt, district horticulturist gave a very interesting and informative talk on his recent trip to Great Britain and Europe.

Illustrating his talk with colored slides he showed the journey through England, where he visited the East Malling research station; then to the French vineyards and finally to the apple orchards in Holland.

Accommodation is a must for orchard workers

A survey of the labor situation was given to the Summerland local of the BCFGA Tuesday night by Frank Hunter; district farm labor officer.

He stated that this was one of the worst years on record for obtaining help, the situation being general throughout the valley.

Mr. Hunter said that grower co-operation with his office had been very good; but he deplored the fact that so few growers supply accommodation for orchard help. A survey of this district showed that only one of every eleven growers had any kind of accommodation.

Mention was made of importing Chinese or Mexican help; but Mr. Hunter held out little hope for such a scheme; as he said that the growers would be faced with a good part of the cost of transportation; food and housing for these people.

He also suggested that more growers put name signs on their property; as it is very difficult for a stranger to locate many of the farmers.

Under the Giant's Head

Living in Lower Summerland may not make dollars but it does make "scents". At least that is the opinion of Mrs Eldon Smith who has captured her 20th skunk of the season in a box trap. Anyone bothered by these odorous "wood pussies" might do well to contact Mrs Smith. Who knows; she may also have the solution to the problem of roving dogs.

POLICE COURT

A summerland juvenile appeared in Children's Court on November 28 and admitted to a charge of mischief. He was fined $25; ordered to pay $80 restitution; placed on three months probation and prohibited from driving a motor vehicle during the term of his probation.

The charges arose out of damage to street signs in Prairie Valley; on November 19. Several signs had been pushed over and broken.

CARS IN COLLISION

Damages amounting to $175 were sustained when cars driven by Ingo Meirhofer and John M. McArthur were in collision on November 27 at 9 pm.

The accident occurred on Highway 97 at Trout Creek Point.

Icy road conditions caused the Meirhofer vehicle to slide in to the McArthur car which was parked at an entrance of a roadway. There were no injuries and no charges were laid by the police.

Summerland has a long history of community projects — including electric light; domestic and irrigation water and a hospital; This is the original hospital being constructed in 1905. It was replaced by the present hospital in 1920. The building still stands on property owned by Don Orr; A resident of

Local artist honored

by Madeleine Alstead

Irvine Adams, well-known Summerland artist has received yet another honor among many recently acquired.

Two of his pastel paintings, "Crazy Creek Falls" and "Freeze-Up", have been included in the French art magazine "La Revue Moderne". The editor wished to publish a series of contemporary American art across the continent and he planned to present one section on North American artists. He asked permission to include Mr. Adams' "Crazy Creek Falls" which was on display at the American Water Color Society in the National Galleries in New York and "Freeze-Up" which he saw in the Paris Salon. The Water Color Society shows work in all aqueous media such as pastel.

From 1800 pictures submitted for this display of the American Water Color Society 337 were hung. This show is one of the best attended art events in New York.

The article in "La Revue Moderne" accompanying reproductions of these fine pictures, expresses genuine interest in Mr. Adams' work, mentioning the pictures he has displayed in the Paris Salon from 1957 to 1963 when he received honorable mention. It speaks of the strange and poetic charm his

We owed them a lot in 1964

$4,340,434,848 to be explicit. This figure represents the cash deposits of well over three million Canadians at the Bank of Montreal at the October 31st year-end. And we're the first to point out that the nation is in debt to these customers... because most of our depositors' dollars went straight to work on projects vital to Canada's progress and to the well-being of her individual citizens. They're working dollars, employed to the national advantage. In fact at the Bank's year-end, $2,728,862,030 was on loan to individuals, to companies and to communities across the nation. Another $874,466,266 was invested in high-grade government bonds and public securities which have a ready market, and $268,181,390 in other securities—mainly short-term credits to industry. Yes, we owed a lot to our more than three million customers in 1964.

Reporting police court

The Review, like many other newspapers which cover police court proceedings, finds itself in hot water occasionally because many people think what goes on in court is nobody's business but their own.

We have tried to point out that we have nothing whatsoever to do with a person appearing in court. He is there by his own volition. We simply report something he has chosen to bring about himself.

The Red Deer Advocate has evidently had experiences similar to ours which no doubt prompted the following editorial which it published recently:

"It is an unfortunate fact of life that publicity is a greater deterrent against wrongdoing than the knowledge that the act committed is against the law.

Some people can take the punishment for being found out in their stride, but they wince at the thought their crime will be revealed through a newspaper to their employer, their family and friends.

There is no longer any shame attached to appearing in a magistrate's court, though the publication of the offence and the punishment attached to a judgement prove far more upsetting to those who believe that their guilt should be concealed from the society they have wronged.

It is fairly obvious that the Western Chiefs of Police Association has been thinking along the same lines. Recently they recommended that news media be allowed to publish names of juveniles who commit criminal offences and traffic violations.

Regina Police Chief Arthur G Cookson, who introduced the proposal said that because these names could not now be made public an attitude had grown up among juveniles that they could not be touched or even questioned by police. Delegates heard a report on legislation in Montana allowing publication of the names of juvenile offenders. The report said that juvenile crime had been cut.

Publication of magistrate's court news in a newspaper is not part of the punishment, though in many cases it is now regarded as such. A newspaper is merely carrying out its duty to keep the public informed; it is not making a judgement or taking part in a punitive process.

God - Our satisfying portion

by Rev. J R Coughlan

The writer of Ecclesiastes informs us that the things of this world have no lasting profit or satisfaction.

Regarding education, Solomon said: "For in much wisdom is much grief, and he that increaseth knowledge increaseth sorrow." Education is essential in these modern times but is not the answer to the inner demand, for with knowledge comes greater responsibilities and heavier burdens.

Solomon engaged himself in much pleasure. This was the result in his own words: "I said in mine own heart, Go to now. I will prove thee with mirth, therefore enjoy pleasure; and behold this also is vanity."

He had great possessions. He built houses, planted vineyards, hired servants and maidens and possessed all this world had to offer. "Then I looked," said Solomon, "on all the works that my hands had wrought and on the labor that I had labored to do, and behold all was vanity and vexation of spirit and there was no profit under the sun."

Regarding a substantial bank account, Solomon wrote: "He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver, nor he that loveth abundance with increase; this is also vanity."

Solomon finally came to the conclusion that it was not something but someone he really needed — even God. In the final chapter he states: "Fear God and keep His commandments for this is the whole duty of man."

God made us for Himself. He alone is capable of filling that inner section which demands satisfaction. In these days when men are endeavoring to conquer outer space; men should be allowing the Saviour, Jesus Christ to conquer the inner space with in their lives. It is only when our lives possess Him, that there is true satisfaction experienced and that life is truly worth living.

Among those from the district attending the Spokane fair are H. C. Mellor, G. J. C. White and Jack Lawler. The trip was made by Mr. Lawler's auto.

It is reported that Jack Lawler went from Spokane to Vancouver to try to enlist for overseas service, his desire being to get a post at driving one of the recently invented "tanks".

Summerland shipped during the past season a higher percentage of No. 1 apples than any other point in the valley.

Weather report for November as compiled at the government weather station, Balmoo Ranch, Summerland showed: average maximum temperature 36.70; average minimum temperature, 28.69; rainfall .29 inches.

NATIVITY SCENE SUITABLE FOR PHOTOGRAPHIC TREATMENT

No season of the year seems more appropriate for the burning of candles than does the Christmas season. In this article, the sixth in a series of seven on candle making, instructions are given for creating the nativity scene pictured above. Here the imagination and creativity of you and your family can be used to the full to achieve striking and original effects.

The scene, with the manger and small figures of people and animals is set in a shadow box — that is, a shallow box set on its side with a frame around it. Straw place mats or straw matting is used for floor and background covering.

Materials and utensils needed will be basic candle making equipment, plus several tubes from foil or wax paper rolls. Reinforce these with tape in a number of places along their lengths to prevent sagging when the hot wax is poured into them, swab well with oil and set aside to drain. You will also need a large tray, or platter for the base, two pieces of wicking four inches longer than the tubes, a metal wick holder and pine branches for decoration.

Cover your work area with newspapers then melt two pounds of paraffin wax in the double boiler, adding coloring as it melts. If two shades of blue are desired, add only enough coloring to produce the lighter shade for the first candle. Pour this candle then add more coloring to produce a darker shade for the second one.

Place the tube mould on a foil plate and press a plasticine seal completely around the lower rim. Remove the mould, centre a threaded wick stand in the circle on a small piece of plasticine. Replace the mould and draw the wick up through it, over a wick bar set in two V's and hold the central wick in place with a rubber band. You are now ready to pour.

Pour in one half inch of wax. Allow to set, but not harden, then slowly fill mould. Make sure a positive seal is formed by your rim of plasticine. Puncture air holes and refill as needed. Let candles stand eight to twelve hours before removing from mould.

Pour base into oiled tray, or platter using a dark gray wax to contrast with the blue candles. Position candles in base while wax is still warm, and finish by setting pine branches of appropriate size around them.

If a member of the family is adept at taking photographs, have him take pictures of the nativity scene and use them for personalized Christmas cards.

Kudos For The Conformist

There's a great hoo-haw these days about conformity, which has become a dirty word. Educationists and editors, social workers and sob sisters warn us that one of the great threats to freedom in the modern world is conformity.

These Cassandras claim that we're turning into a nation, a world, of conformists. They threaten that the golden age of the real individual, the rebel, the non-conformist, is nearing an end, and that very soon we shall all be slaves, eating what everybody else is eating, wearing what everybody else is wearing, doing what everybody else is doing, and thinking what everybody else is thinking.

I find myself remarkably calm in the face of these prophecies. In fact, I think they are pure poppycock.

In the first place, I see nothing wrong with conformity. It merely means, "compliance with established forms." In short the individual accepts the responsibilities and the restraints which society imposes on him.

The vast majority of people have always been conformists. If you happened to be a cannibal, and the piece de resistance was roast missionary, you sat down with the rest of the boys and enjoyed the preacher. You didn't say, "Gee, I don't know, fellas. Maybe we're making a mistake. Maybe we shoulda boiled him." No, sir. You conformed. You went along with the crowd.

If you happened to be a Roman legionary, happily-hacking up Gauls and ancient Britons, you didn't stop in the middle of the orgy and ask yourself, "Is this the real me, or am I just doing this because everybody else is?" If you did, you were a dead non-conformist.

Equally, if you happen to be a modern man, and your kids and wife are putting you over the jumps, you conform. You don't take a two-by-four and pound your kids into submission. You threaten to cut off their allowance.

In the second place, the delberate, or conscious, non-conformist is a simple pain in the arm. He is the type who thinks he can't be a painter unless he has a beard, who thinks he can't be a poet unless he needs a haircut badly.

Perhaps the greatest conformists in the world today are teenagers. In their desperate attempt to avoid conformity, they become the most rigid conformists in our society. They dress alike, do their hair alike, eat the same food, listen to the same music. All this, in an effort to revolt against society, to be non-conformists!

Not that there haven't been great non-conformists. Beethoven, Tolstoy, Gauguin come to mind. But they were great, not because they were non-conformists, but in spite of it. They had talent, Mac. On the other hand Bach was a church organist, music teacher and had children. Shakespeare worked atrocious hours, lived an exemplary life, and never missed getting his hair cut regularly.

Alexander the Great, Napoleon, the Marquis de Sade, Hitler and Lee Oswald were non-conformists. You know what they contributed to the world.

Does this mean every non-conformist is a nut? Not necessarily, though probably. He is usually an unhappy chap who, for some deep-buried reason, must attract attention.

Trouble is, the people who constantly warn us of the dangers of conformity have confused the non-conformist and the individual. The former is to be pitied. He is seeking firm ground in a quagmire. The latter is to be envied. He has found a prune (himself), in the porridge of society, and he chews happily ever after.

Perhaps old Polonius put it best in Hamlet. His son is going away to college. The dad gives him a lot of advice about conforming. Then, in an unexpected and untypical flash, he adds, "This above all. To thine own self be true; thou canst not then be false to any man."

Parliament Hill

by David Pugh, MP

I have been reporting that whenever the government has brought properly prepared legislative measures before the house they have been passed with all reasonable despatch, and a search of Hansard will show this. Much has been brought forward that has had to be amended, and on occasion the government has withdrawn certain measures for revamping — such as the Pension Plan. It was therefore very pleasing that the House received general commendation for its efforts last week. It was also encouraging to hear the government announcement that no election was contemplated.

The plan for this week was to introduce the Estimates, allowing one day for each department. Unfortunately the Minister of Justice was first and Monday saw an onslaught because of the alleged suppression by the Department of Justice and the Department of Citizenship and Immigration of a Montreal case which involved dope smuggling with overtones of the Mafia.

Tuesday saw the resignation of one of the Prime Minister's Parliamentary Secretaries and, as well the resignation of the Executive Assistant to the Minister of Citizenship and Immigration. I had a talk with two top-flight members of the press gallery and they stated that in their experience they had never seen anything like this since the famous pipe line debate.

The government has appointed a Judicial Hearing and it is hoped that it will be broad enough to bring the matter fully before the public. In an attempt to ensure that the terms of reference of the Commission would permit a thorough investigation of all charges, most of Wednesday's sitting was taken up with debate on this matter.

DEAR DORIS advice from Doris Clark

She Never Sees Her Husband

DEAR DORIS — My husband has been working a dreadful night shift for the last four years; six nights a week, 12 hours every night. It was a promotion but we thought it would only be for a year or more on nights. Now I think he is the original Forgotten Man.

I dread a future of this. We live in a nice community and have three children. I just pray for a normal life.

I have pondered on talking to the boss about how unhappy this shift is making all of us. I am really getting desperate.

IN DESPAIR

DEAR DESPAIR — Don't get that desperate! The one to talk to the boss is your husband. Unless he's the original Casper Milquetoast he can summon the nerve to state his ease.

Long hours of work eventually affect the mental and physical health of the worker. In some provinces legislation now limits the maximum work week to 48 hours, for this very reason.

I'm willing to bet that a 20-year employe like your husband will get consideration and a better break when he asks for it.

DEAR DORIS — Last year I got married to a boy named Bob, 18, because we thought that I was pregnant. After we had been married two weeks I found out I wasn't pregnant. When my parents found out about our marriage they got it annulled.

Now, even though I was really popular before, I haven't had a single date since my trouble last year. What can I do to make myself popular again? I am 16.

DATELESS

DEAR DATELESS — I'm wondering what official married you. At 15, marriage without parents' consent is illegal in most places.

It's more than a matter of getting dates, isn't it? You need a whole new look at your future, and you need all the moral support you can get from parents, church groups and loyal friends. Don't flirt — at all! Gaining new skill in a sport or in music could start you in meeting new people.

Your job is to build again — a wiser, more self-respecting girl whom people will come to love and respect. It won't happen overnight.

Confidential to Chains of Love — Believe it or not, you will outgrow this fascination for the boy next door. If I were in your shoes I would start making dates with other boys and fill up my Friday nights.

DEAR DORIS — I am a very self-conscious person and the acne scars on my face cause numerous blue moods and tears. I was wondering if you could send me some information on plastic surgery to remove these.

SCARRED SKIN

DEAR SCARRED — Are the scars deep? Not to be covered up with a good foundation cream?

If so, I'd suggest you consider the planing operation which is now done with considerable success by skin specialists. This involves the removal of the top layer of skin, very carefully, under anaesthetic. You will be out of circulation a few weeks, while the new, unblemished skin grows and covers the surface. Ask your family doctor about this.

Year's activities highlighted for WCTU District leader

Last week members of the Summerland branch of the W. U. met in the Baptist Church parlors to review their year's activities. Special guests were Mrs A Woodrow and Mrs J W Reeves of Kamloops. Mrs Reeves spoke to the assembled workers on their individual responsibilities as members of the movement. The Summerland group now has 63 members and reported a very active year. A public speaking contest was held on the temperance theme; the winners giving their talks over a local radio station during Youth Temperance Week.

The group held a bake sale on Lilac Day and were also represented at the fall fair.

Mrs Howard DeWitt, district WCTU secretary travelled to Kelowna this week to attend a district executive meeting. The spring convention of the valley unions will be held in Summerland.

Ben Mayne heads pensioners for second term

Re-elected for a second term as president of the Old Age Pensioners recently was Ben Mayne. Billy Haddrell was elected vice president; Mrs Jennie MacDonald as secretary and as treasurer John McDougald. Executive members are Robert Shannon; Dave Taylor and A D Glenn.

On the entertainment committee are Walter Cook; Mrs Stephen Oliver; Mrs Lydia Johnston and Mrs M Purdy.

The social committee consists of Mrs Lillian Brind; Mrs Robert Shannon; Mrs William Beattie and Mrs W W Borton.

On the visiting committee are David Taylor and James Mitchell. Birthdays will be remembered by Mrs W W Borton, Percy Taylor was appointed auditor.

In charge of welfare is Mr Haddrell.

At the annual meeting entertainment was provided by the Melodiers under Mrs L L Fudge with the Womens Institute supplying refreshments.

Mrs Bert Pelham of Penticton has been spending a week with Mrs Collas at Crescent Beach while her husband is hunting.

BOWLING RESULTS

In A division of the five pin bowling league Mildred Stein dominated the ladies scoring section taking both the high single and high three games: Her scores were 232 and 670. Men's high single went to Norm Campbell with 294 while Shane Mihalic rolled a 775 for high three total. High team for the week was Occidentals with 3108. The Accidentals still retain top place with 17 points; two better than the Outcasts.

Highlight of the B division was the game of 354 rolled by Earle Deeder. A score of 234 gave Dorothy Mayert the ladies' high single and a high three total of 613 was made by Bernice Carty. Barney Furuya had a high three score of 686. High team was Bud's Garage with 2821 pins. The Mad 5 now have a four point lead over the second place MP's.

If the Hospital By-law Does Not Pass,
Will We Continue To Use The Present Hospital?

Yes: The hospital will be used for a short time BUT ONLY UNTIL OTHER HOSPITAL ACCOMMODATIONS PROVIDED IN A HOSPITAL DISTRICT

Will There Be A Cost To The Ratepayers of Summerland For Participating In A Hospital District?

Yes: The levy could be as much or more than the 4 mills our planned new hospital will cost. Regardless of where a hospital is located which will be used by Summerland residents, we will pay a hospital tax. For example, Peachland will pay approximately 5 mills toward the new Kelowna Hospital; Kelowna will pay the same and 5.6 mill will be paid by the District

Kamloops swamp lighter Midgets

The Kamloops midget hockey team showed exactly why they are so far undefeated, as they out-skated and out-shot the much lighter Summerland team in Kamloops on Saturday night.

It was a very clean game and the local boys made a valiant effort, but they just couldn't match the pace of the Kamloops squad who bombarded the goalie with 31 shots in the first period.

This Saturday morning, the Summerland team travels to Vernon, and on Sunday they place host to Salmon Arm, with the game starting at 12:45.

BRONCS WIN TWICE OVER LEAGUE LEADERS

The week end weather may have been dull, but for the Penticton-Summerland El Rancho Broncs there was nothing but sunshine as they came out on the top end of the scoring in two games. They took a 4-2 decision from Kamloops in Penticton on Friday night and gave a 5-2 repeat performance in Kamloops on Saturday.

In Friday night's game Picco accounted for two of the Broncs goals with Dwayne Biagioni and Larry Palaino getting singles.

With their regular goal tender, Ernie Pushkarenko out of action, the Broncs borrowed a juvenile netminder for the game on Saturday night. This time it was Keith McInnes who accounted for two of the goals while singletons went to Dwayne Biagioni, Russ Chernoff and Blaine Pollock.

Broncs meeting Kelowna on Summerland ice

Junior "A" Hockey comes to Summerland this Saturday when the Penticton-Summerland El Rancho Broncs meet the Kelowna Buckaroos. This is the first of three league games scheduled to be played on Summerland ice. Game time is 8:30.

Nine Summerland players are included in the Broncs line-up including goalie Ernie Pushkarenko; defencemen Larry Young, Blaine Pollock, Ricci Anderson, and forwards Dwayne Biagioni, Keith MacInnes, Bobby McAdam, Gerald Mosley and Larry Dent.

The Broncs, in their first year of Junior A hockey, have had a slow start but are improving rapidly. This game Saturday against Kelowna should produce top-notch hockey.

Ten lucky program prizes have been donated by Summerland merchants and will be drawn for during the evening.

IMPEESA IMPS

The New Chums are working hard on their Tenderfoot tests. The boys are doing well on the Grand Howl and are now working on the Cub Law which they must know and understand. This will require some work at home. The Tenderpads have been working on the flag and its composition and will now start on knots. The First Star Cubs are experimenting with a new type of signalling for us — Morse.

Danny Ashton has completed his Tenderpad tests and will be invested when he gets his uniform. There is a new uniform for Cubs which is gray and made of cotton. The new uniform is washable and more readily seen at night. However, some parts will not be available until January. Cubs who have the old uniform will continue to wear it or even parts of it. They do not need to obtain a new one.

I wish to remind the parents that the $2 registration fee was due in October. Consequently they are long past due. Less than half the boys have paid. If they are not paid it means that your boy is not a member of the Boy Scouts, is not covered by medical insurance and it means extra work for me in making out late registration forms in quadruplicate. So please get them in immediately.

Mrs. Miltimore volunteered to organize a car pool so that fewer cars would be needed and it would be easier on the parents. However lately there has been some confusion. This has been caused by boys riding in cars other than those to which they have been assigned. This causes the drivers and sometimes the leaders worry and concern. Just imagine how you would feel if you could not find a boy, for whom you are responsible on a cold dark night and you have no idea where he is. So please impress on your boy that he must go to and return from the Park meeting in the cars to which he is assigned. He should also be at the pick-up point on time.

— J M McArthur, Cubmaster.

1st Summerland Troop

Monday was a variety competition evening with patrols working on various activities. These included estimates, firelighting, and chariot races in the snow; signalling, knots and Kim's Game. The winning patrol was the Hawks.

The evening concluded with a sing-song with Mr. Wiens playing his guitar. The meeting attendance was perfect except for two boys who were out of town.

The winter camp is scheduled for January 1, 2 and 3. The boys will go in on snowshoes with toboggans to Hidden Lake and will be camping near Mr. Fenwick's cabin. Mr. Fenwick will be accompanying the party. It will be a fine camp with tobogganing, snowshoeing and skiing. Snowshoes are being rented for those who do not own a pair from the District Scout Council.

Next Monday Avery King will be present at our meeting at 7:30 to talk about snowshoeing, to demonstrate harness and discuss footwear. Mr. King is the District Commissioner and a keen snowshoer. We would like fathers of all boys to be present at the meeting to hear him.

This Saturday there will be a Scout hike starting at 9:30 from the barn at the research station and returning about 4. Bring luncheon and dry footwear as we shall be going in snow. This is an opportunity to do Second Class hiking and do 1st Class and 2nd Class cooking tests.

Patrol competition standings are Beavers 329, Eagles 325, Hawks 299 and Buffaloes 294. Duty patrol next week Buffaloes.

— D V Fisher, Scoutmaster.

When is an Older House a Bargain?

An older home has the advantage of economy and often space and charm as well. Usually the landscaping is well established. These advantages are worthwhile and if the house is fundamentally sound it will represent better value than a new home. But be careful not to judge by "charm" alone.

This is one of a weekly series of articles on Housemanship designed to give you helpful pointers on buying, remodeling and maintaining a house.

HOSPITAL MEETING

Over 200 people were present at the meeting and during the question period many interesting and thoughtful questions were asked.

Andy Neilsen, a local contractor, asked if 6½ acres of land was sufficient for expansion as the hospital would be expanded by adding wings, not upward in extra floors. Chairman Rumball said the building will be placed to make the best use of the available land and a further three acres nearby could be purchased. Architect Roy Meikeljohn said he felt the acreage to be sufficient. Mr Neilsen said that if the community wanted a new hospital now is the time to build as construction and borrowing costs are going up every year.

Former reeve F E Atkinson pointed out that if Summerland joins Penticton it will be on a fixed mill rate and as the local assessment increases so will the contribution to Penticton. However if the money is borrowed for a new hospital the mill rate would go down as the debt is repaid.

Mr Rumball said they would like to see the old hospital operated as a chronic home either by the provincial government or by a private society. About half of the equipment in the present building would be used in the new hospital.

Other points brought out in favor of a new hospital included cheaper ambulance service; and availability of patients for visitations.

Santa Claus Day next Wednesday

The jolly gentleman above will be making his annual pre-Christmas visit to Summerland on Wednesday, December 23:

Brought here by the Summerland Business and Professional Services Association, he will meet the pre-school and grades 1-4 children in the parking lot next to the Bowladrome: Tickets for public school children will be distributed at the school, and parents of pre-school children may pick up their tickets at the Read and Pruden office: Children must appear in person to receive their present:

Two free shows will be held in the Rialto Theatre on Wednesday: Tarzan, the Ape Man will be shown at 1 and 3 p.m.: Summerland stores will be open Friday and Saturday, December 18 and 19 to 8 p.m.: They will be open all day Monday, December 21 and will remain open Wednesday, December 23 to 8 p.m.:

Stores will be closed on December 25 and 26 and January 1 and 2: They will be open on December 28 and January 4:

Arbitration board meets on teachers' salaries

The matter of 1965 teachers' salaries in Summerland has been submitted to arbitration: Failure to reach a satisfactory settlement by negotiation and conciliation has meant that the third and final stage of arbitration is now required to settle this matter:

The arbitration board, comprising D. A. Hogarth as chairman, Frank Haar as teachers' appointee and F. H. H. Herbert as trustees' appointee, will sit at the council chambers in the municipal hall at 10:30 a.m. on Monday, December 21: The meeting is open to the public:

The findings of the arbitration board, which must render its decision before December 31 will be binding on both parties:

It was reported at the school board meeting last week that the Okanagan Valley School Employees Union, Local 523 representing the janitors and the sweepers in the local schools have presented the trustees with a substantial wage demand and other benefits in a new contract: Wages alone would amount to a 58 per cent increase on the present payroll:

Other demands are closed shop, group life insurance, time off to attend union business, a job training program, differential pay for afternoon work, double time for overtime, free meals for employees working more than 6½ hours overtime, 3 weeks holiday after one year and 4 weeks after ten years, payment of difference between workmen's compensation benefits and regular pay, total accumulation of sick leave with balance to be paid upon retirement, regular salary for jury duty, no layoffs on account of technological changes, severance pay, supplying of work clothes, showers and proper accommodation for employees to eat their meals, and no subcontracting to non-union shops:

The board considered these demands most unreasonable and as a result decided it may be necessary to investigate the possibility of contracting the janitors' services:

Rites Tuesday for Mrs. Jessie McPhail

Mrs. Jessie McPhail passed away Saturday, December 12 in Summerland:

Born in Yardley, England and a resident of Summerland for the past 12 years, she was a member of Summerland Chapter 63, Order of the Eastern Star:

She is survived by her husband John; one daughter (Lorraine) Mrs Hooker, France; three brothers, Harry of England; Ernest of Stettler, Alberta; Leslie of New Westminster; two grandchildren; a nephew, Don Anderson of Drumheller, Alberta; a niece, Mrs Ted Chapman of Penikese:

Funeral services were conducted from St. Stephen's Anglican Church on Tuesday, December 15 at 2:00 p.m.: with Rev: Norman Tannar officiating: Interment Anglican Cemetery: Wright's Funeral Home entrusted with arrangements:

Dugal MacGregor re-elected as Legion president

At a meeting of branch 22 of the Royal Canadian Legion on December 9, the following officers were elected for 1965:

Honorary president: Dr: W: H: B Munn; past president, Emil Bonthoux; president, Dr: Dugal MacGregor; 1st vice president, E: F: Smith; 2nd vice president, W: B: Eyre; 3rd vice president, Mrs P: O: Hickson; executive members: Harry Killick, Al McIntosh; L: White; D: Blystone, J: Selinger, canteen chairman: Howard Shannon:

The sum of $45 was donated to the juvenile hockey team for the purchase of helmets:

The annual Legion smoker will be held in the Rosedale Room on December 18: A Legion fun-apel will be held on January 23 and 24:

Coldest December in 40 years

The lowest December temperature since 1924 was recorded at the research station Tuesday night when the mercury dropped down to 15 degrees below zero at nine p.m.: and stayed there until nine o'clock Wednesday morning: The previous low for December was nine degrees below zero recorded in 1924:

As the cold weather continues the municipal crew has been working overtime thawing out domestic water systems and keeping the creek that runs by the arena from overflowing: The creek has been icing up and overflowing in spots:

The severe temperature on Tuesday night caused extensive damage in two greenhouses operated by Joe McLachlan: About 300 disbudded chrysanthemums were frozen: With the thermometer registering 20 degrees below zero and a strong wind blowing it was impossible to maintain a temperature high enough to save the plants: Two other of the McLachlan greenhouses containing carnations and potted chrysanthemums suffered only slight damage as fans helped to keep the temperatures at a higher level:

Reports from Don McLachlan Florist and Gallop's Greenhouses show that they only had a slight amount of damage:

Local growers are concerned about soft fruit trees: The snow fall so far this year has not been sufficient to protect the roots of the trees and with the fast temperature drop some bud damage is anticipated:

In 1955, the year orchardists refer to as the Big Freeze, a similar temperature drop occurred on November 11, with subsequent extensive damage to the soft fruit trees: However at that time of the year the trees had not attained the dormant stage they now have:

According to district horticulturist Alex Watt, a fast temperature drop affects the buds, with the degree of damage often depending on how quickly the temperature goes down:

Root damage generally occurs with an extended cold period and little or no snow cover:

Mr Watt said his department keeps records of weather such as is now being experienced, but with so many variables to take into consideration, it is difficult to make any accurate observations about root and bud damage at the present time:

D. L. McIntosh appointed as school trustee

Dr David L. McIntosh of the research station staff has been appointed to fill the two year term of school trustee, left vacant by lack of nominations in the recent municipal elections: The seat was formerly held by W: S: Ritchie, who did not seek re-election:

The appointment was made by the minister of education, Leslie R. Peterson:

Council asked for municipal census

A letter to council Tuesday night asked that a full scale municipal electoral census be carried out, especially before votes concerning money bylaws: George Ryga said his name was not included in the municipal voters list and he had been unable to vote in Saturday's election:

Mr: Ryga had earlier been informed that an advertisement is published in the local paper announcing the requirements for being listed on the municipal voters list: Mr Ryga objected to such notification stating that the municipal office notified him of many less important matters by mail: He said that he should not have to subscribe to a commercial publication in order to be informed of municipal matters:

Council felt they had adequately compiled with the regulations governing the voters list:

A move to update tallying of votes in municipal elections was suggested by Councillor W: B: Powell Tuesday night: He felt this office was falling short of other districts which give out releases during the counting:

Miss Joanne Ritchie, who has served on the municipal staff for the past 34 years will retire at the end of December:

Sweeping majority given hospital

In one of the heaviest votes ever recorded in municipal elections, the hospital money by-law received a 90 percent majority by those voting: Yes votes totalled 1,144 with no votes 104 and 21 spoiled ballots:

In the race for council seats both incumbents were returned: H. J. Barkwill received 968 votes and W. B. Powell 694 votes: Emil Bonthoux, who was seeking election for the first time, was a close third with 648 votes: There were 41 spoiled ballots:

Legion Ladies elect officers

Officers elected by the Ladies Auxiliary to branch 22 of the Royal Canadian Legion were:

Honorary president, Mrs Dave Taylor Sr; president Mrs Eileen Eden; 1st vice president Mrs: Pat Smith; 2nd vice president, Betty Fisher; treasurer, Mrs: Mrs Rae Begg; secretary Mrs Lorraine Shannon: Executive members are Mrs Mabel Brown, Mrs Nancy Bell and Mrs Isabel Gerrard; with standard bearer Mrs Beryl Flebbe and sergeant-at-arms Mrs Violet McCutcheon

The Auxiliary is sponsoring a children's Christmas Party on Sunday in the Rosedale Room: All veteran's children up to 8 years of age are invited to attend at 2:30 p.m.:

A joint installation of Legion and Auxiliary officers will be held on January 13:

To Canadian film critic Gerald Pratley, going to the movies is not just all in a day's work, it is fun: The host of CBC radio's Pratley at the Movies, sees an average of five regular films a week, attends special showings of foreign and Canadian films and reads some 25 film magazines and books on film techniques each month: As well he travels around the world collecting material for his shows: There is hardly anyone of importance from William Wyler to Federico Fellini who hasn't been interviewed on his program:

Drama returns with excellent cast

Me and My Shadow, an uproarious comedy in three acts. It was just that — uproarious: from the opening scene to the final curtain.

Playing before a large audience in the secondary school auditorium, the Summerland Players presented this outstanding comedy by Vincent Barrett on Friday evening.

It would be almost impossible to single out an outstanding performer, as every member of the cast gave a stellar performance. Much of the credit for the success of the play must go to the director, Mrs. Peg Deeder.

The action took place in the home of Roy Harrington and centered around the attempted murder of a Hindu girl, Shadow (Maureen Griffiths). She was rescued by Harrington (Ben Draper) and his doctor friend Bruce (Preston Mott). The rescue caused no end of trouble to Roy with his wife Aileen (Maureen Roberge); his mother in law Mrs King (Gwen O'Leary); an interfering neighbor Georgina (Lorraine Smith); and a housemaid, Susan (Sandy Mott) who would keep quiet for a small fee.

With the arrest of Sabu, the suspected murderer (Dave Driedger) by Sheriff Hickson Herb Waterhouse; a full explanation of events brought a reconciliation between Roy and his wife and Mrs King; and found Shadow becoming the slave of Doctor Bruce, as he was wounded while saving her life for the second time.

Talented students in band concert

The annual secondary school band concert was presented in the auditorium last Wednesday as an evening of excellent entertainment.

The concert was opened by the grade nine band, a very fine group of young musicians. Next to appear was a band of grade 8 pupils. They certainly reflect great credit on their leader, Louis Bizzo, as most of them were beginners only a few weeks ago.

The senior band presented a very fine program of overtures, marches and modern music.

As a variation to the band music, a group of young folk singers and an accordion solo by Sandra Dunn proved very popular with the audience.

Christmas music at Baptist Church

At the Summerland Baptist Church this Sunday morning, 'Christmas Praise' will be the theme of the service presented by the combined junior and senior choirs of the church. Choir directors are Henk Wouters and Julie Brown with Miss Ruth Dale as organist.

The evening service will be conducted by the young people's classes of the Sunday School. It will include carol singing and narration of the Christmas story by the young people.

Last Sunday evening the Explorer Group of the Church took part in the service in a Christmas candlelight presentation entitled: The Light of the World.

Santa Claus myth

The following editorial appeared in The Review a number of years ago. We reprint it because the ideas expressed in it still are true.

Next week we will celebrate the most important festival of the Christian year and we believe the time has come when we should reassess our values and bring back into proper perspective the festival which commemorates the birth of Our Saviour.

We have watched in recent years an acceleration of the deterioration of Christmas celebrations until now it has become only a day when children rush from the beds to see what was left them by a mythical white-whiskered man in a red suit and for adults a season of roistering and gluttony.

We believe that much of the fault lies in early training and in bringing children up in the belief that Santa Claus is the central figure in the Christmas story. This is a myth condemned by psychiatrists on psychiatric grounds; we condemn it on moral grounds. To a child, the spirit of Christmas is: Please Santa, give me a train, give me skates, give me a bicycle, give me, give me. That there is a religious connotation to the day is a mere unimportant side issue to the main 'give me' feature.

The true spirit of Christmas is giving — and in giving we honor Christ by emulating the virtue of unselfishness which he characterized throughout His life. How can children ever learn the spirit of giving in a Santa Claus Christmas?

The true story of Christmas — of a babe, born in the stable of a crowded inn, who rose to be King of Men — is the tenderest, most compelling and most thought-provoking conceivable, yet we have traded it for a shoddy fantasy of a fat little man from the North Pole who climbs down chimneys to distribute largesse to children. And we go on telling children this story knowing full well that they will one day discover they have been led up the garden path — and discovery will come at an age when it is most important that they have implicit faith in what they are told by their parents. It's no wonder psychiatrists condemn it.

If the children are taught at Christmas they give presents to those whom they love to commemorate the acts of the Three Wise Men who brought to the manger in Bethlehem gifts for One whom they loved, then they are learning a true evaluation of Christmas and at the same time a lesson in citizenship.

We find nothing wrong with the exchange of gifts at Christmas because it commemorates a part of the story of The Birth, nor do we advocate outlawing the Santa myth — but let us keep it as a myth. Kids get just as big a kick out of pretense even when they know that is all it is, and Christmas will cease to be a big build-up for a colossal disillusionment.

Let us make the celebration of Christmas the kind of festival He would want it to be.

The Holy and the Secular

by Rev. Norman Tanner

Much that has been written in recent years concerning Christmas has been in the nature of a protest against what is called "the commercialisation of Christmas", and the attending dangers of neglecting its real meaning. These worldly things of Christmas, including that strange old paradox, Santa Claus, have come in for strong criticism. That this protest has been warranted is, one supposes, beyond question. There is no doubt that those who are jealous of our Lord in the feast of His Nativity are on the side of angels, but there is also a danger in protesting too much. The danger lies in the fact that when the protest has got into full swing it will swing too far, and the sense of proportion will be lost. We may find in combating a commercialised Christmas that we shall end with a puritanized version of the holy season of joy.

The complaint is that Christmas is too commercial, too secular. Put Christ back into Christmas is the cry. Well, let's just do that!

When Jesus was born in a manger in Bethlehem it wasn't a silent night — the town was bustling with people and there was not enough accommodation. Bethlehem was not still but was throbbing with life as old friends and relatives met again. Trading must have been brisk as supplies and curios were brought by those of the census influx. The scene in Bethlehem, contrary to our delightful fancy, was not serene and beautiful but noisy and profane and yet it was Holy because God was there. God had come into the material and commercial world of man.

What is the meaning of Christmas but that God entered into the lives of men in their cares and occupations, in their joys and laughter, in their commerce and industry, in their suffering and sorrow, in their temptations and sins. If we understand the 'Incarnation' as that holy birth in the flesh, in the carnal, in the things of this world, then we cannot say this is Holy and that is Secular, because God has touched the whole of His creation and come into the whole of life, and what we learn from this and do is to dedicate the whole of our lives to righteousness, justice, love, mercy and peace.

How To Live With Christmas

Thirty days hath September, April, June and Christmas. At least it seems that way.

About the middle of November, the advertising swings into high gear. We are implored to buy "a gift to enchant her" — like a dainty electric shaver. Or something "he really needs" — like a tastefully-wrapped bottle of dandruff remover.

Around the same time, the "Christmas music" begins. We are warned that Santa Claus is coming to town. We are reminded, 18 times a day, to listen, through the thunder of traffic and the snarl of aircraft, for those jingle bells. We are told, for 20 days before Christmas, that somebody saw mama kissing Santa Claus last night. It makes you feel all sort of sacred and . . . well, you know. Barty?

Women start getting that harassed look about the first of December. They spend hundreds of hours at their Christmas chores: ruthlessly hacking off the list of people who didn't send us a card last year; desperately wondering what to get Uncle Dud, who is in an institution; frantically trying to get their husbands interested in trees and trimming and turkey.

Well, cheer up, chaps. It comes every year, but it lasts for only 30 days. Perhaps something to get your mind off the whole thing . . .

With Christmas in the offing, perhaps you'd be interested in a new party game. Any number can play. It is guaranteed to increase the spirit of goodfellowship and jollity at any Christmas party.

Called "Conjugation of Irregular Verbs", it was invented by Bertrand Russell. It goes like this: the player is given an irregular verb; he conjugates it. Example: "I am firm; you are obstinate; he is a pigheaded fool." Got the idea? Let's try another.

Ready? "I am witty and sparkling. You are unusually talkative. He is drunk as a skunk."

One more. "I day dream. You are an escapist. He ought to see a psychiatrist." This sort of thing is certain to get a dull party off the ground.

Now, how about some Christmas definitions, so that your won't be misled by a lot of clichés that have sprung up around the sacred and joyous occasion.

Christmas list — men acquire a heavy list to stowboard from reaching into their hip pockets for wallets so frequently. Women acquire a different type list: pelvis thrust out, back tilted badly to the rear from the waist up, acquired from carrying parcels piled to their noses.

Christmas pudding — closely allied to Christmas list. It is more noticeable in men — a type of paralysis that comes from pudding their hand in their pocket so often.

Christmas Carols — girl children born on Christmas Day and named Carol. Far better to call them Mary.

Christmas tree — any coniferous tree which falls over the moment it is placed in a stand.

Christmas cookies — people who think they are going to spend less on Christmas than last year. Sometimes pronounced "kooky".

Christmas spirit — what the kids have and you don't at 6 a.m. Dec. 25.

Family Christmas — you cook the turkey and are stuck with the dishes while the relatives sleep it off.

Christmas punch — the recipe is simple. Take one husband and wife, decorating tree on Christmas Eve. Mix one set of lights which doesn't work. Throw in trip downtown for extra set of lights, by husband. Stir in a few short calls on friends on way home. Put husband gently inside door at one a.m. Christmas morning — and you get your Christmas punch, right between the eyes. It is considered only sporting. If you feel like retaliating, to wait until Boxing Day.

by Kay Dundon
A Happy Christmas to all our readers, and we wish you a few quiet days after the rush to enjoy a good book.

Our van brought us so many new ones that we are just giving the list, and will not try to review any. We also had 62 special requests filled so you can see Kelowna headquarters have been busy on your behalf.

The following are fiction: The Atonement of Ashley Mordey by Bodsworth; A Single Man by Isherwood; Sardann Dancers by Jenkins; The Defence by Nabokov; One Day in Afternoon of World by Saroyan; Gently Sahib by Hunter; and several new Westerns and Murder Mysteries.

In the non-fiction, Memoirs of General Grivas; Markings by Dag Hammarskjold; and Promises to Keep, by the late Dr Thomas Dooley are all worthwhile biographies.

Madrid by Nina Epton is a good travel book; and Tipping the Scales by Henry Cecil is a fascinating book on judicial corruption and how our laws have evolved from early times. A History of Windsor Castle by Christopher Hibbert is full of history and court memoirs.

Lovely ceremony in United Church

A wedding creating much local interest was solemnized in the Summerland United Church on Saturday, when Leslie Ann Caldwell became the bride of David Richard Duncan of Penticton. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs John W. Caldwell of Summerland and the groom is the son of Mr and Mrs Richard L. Duncan of Penticton. Rev P K Louie officiated.

For her wedding, the petite dark-haired bride chose a charming floor length gown fashioned from white poie-de-sole. The fitted bodice flared out to gentle fullness in the skirt and a gathered overskirt was caught at the back with a white cotton gardenia. A matching white gardenia held the layered tulle veil in place. Her bouquet was of Red Sweetheart roses.

Three bridal attendants wore identical cottilion blue gowns and carried cascades of white daisies. The matron of honor was Dolly Hill of Vancouver, while the bride's sister Cathy Caldwell and the groom's sister, Heather Duncan were the bridesmaids. Brenda Duncan of Penticton was flower girl.

Groomsman was Andrew Preddy of Vancouver.

Later the wedding party received 140 guests in the IOOF Hall. Many toasts were heard and congratulatory wires from New Zealand, Saskatchewan, Vancouver and Nelson were read. A dance followed the reception.

For a honeymoon trip to Revelstoke and points east the bride wore a two piece poodle-cloth suit in holly red with black accessories.

Present for the ceremony was the bride's grandmother, Mrs W. A. Caldwell, of Summerland who was married on the same date in 1900.

COMING EVENTS

Mr and Mrs Alf McLachlan will be At Home to their friends on Monday, December 21, between the hours of 2:30-5:00 in the afternoon and 7:00-9:00 in the evening, on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary.

Daughter will make Xmas Eve draw

Macll, daughter of Mr and Mrs Earle White will be in Summerland next week to spend Christmas with her parents and will make the Christmas draw at Macil's Ladies' Wear. Macil, now Mrs Gerald Andrews of Victoria was originally the manager of the ladies store and is hoping to meet many of her friends when in Summerland.

The draw for a $100 gift certificate and a $50 gift certificate will be made in the store at 4:30 pm on Thursday, December 24. Macil will be assisted by Fair Queen Pat McCutcheon. Everyone making a cash purchase of $5 or over is eligible to enter the draw at Macil's Ladies' Wear.

Mr and Mrs Gordon Houghton of Trout Creek entertained 40 guests at an Open House Christmas party last Saturday. Mrs E. Nettleton of Winnipeg is a winter guest at the Powell Beach Motel. Lowell Laidlaw was home for the week end from Kamloops. Mr and Mrs Gordon Houghton will spend Christmas in Calgary with their family.

Is Christmas Straining your budget

For most people, Christmas seems to place an ever increasing strain from year to year on their budget and too many people are trapped by the "Buy now and make no payments till February" offerings, only to be haunted for the rest of the year with instalments to be paid here, there and everywhere. Not to mention the high finance charges:

The modern approach to Christmas financing is to bring all your personal credit needs under one roof with a Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan Loan. It enables you to plan your Christmas purchases for your family and friends, and helps you meet unexpected expenses under one inexpensive single plan. It's Life Insured, too!

FFP loans are handy for other financing as well. Winter home improvements, that new TV or High-Fi you've been promising yourself, a washer or dryer — almost any legitimate family need. Depending on your income, you can borrow up to $3,500 at the B of M with payments extending up to two or three years if need be.

An FFP loan can be geared to practically any budget and planned repayments help you to run your income instead of it running you. In short, a B of M 'Low-Cost Life-Insured Loan' can open the door to better living for you and your family. If you would like us to open your door, drop in and see Mr. Jock Johnston in 'My Bank' and he will be only too glad to show you how the Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan can help you.

Study starts on regional college

Dr. F. T. Giles and project staff members, G. J. Carbone and G. W. Pennell of Seattle, met with the Okanagan Regional College Committee in Kelowna on Wednesday.

Dr. Giles and his committee received special reports from committees previously set up by the Okanagan Regional College Committee dealing with general statistics, school enrollment, population, mileage; industries; maps and the broad concept of the curriculum.

Dr. Giles and the Okanagan Regional College Committee agreed on a formula for Dr. Giles study, the points of which were:

1. That the proposed regional college will be organized in the area comprised by the school districts represented by the Okanagan Valley Regional College Committee:

2. That the proposed regional college will offer a comprehensive curriculum including the first two years of university level transfer courses, terminal sub-professional courses and adult education and cultural activities:

3. That it is the intent of the committee to establish an institution characterized by a permanent two year, comprehensive, post high school educational program:

4. That the existence of other specialized post high school programs in the area may influence the curricular offerings of the regional college but will not be a primary determinant in its general location,

5. That it is the conception of the committee that the college will be primarily a commuting institution but that some resident student facilities will be provided:

The college committee together with Dr. Giles, set up a plan whereby briefs would be accepted from individuals or groups: These will be submitted to the secretary of the Okanagan Regional College Committee, in writing by January 15, and, at a later date Dr. Giles and his team will visit the various areas to meet with those who have submitted briefs:

The tentative completion date for this study is March, 1965:

Mrs. G. Ritchie heads WI

Mrs Gordon Ritchie was elected president of the Women's Institute at the group's annual meeting last week:

Other officers elected include Mrs Eric Tait as secretary-treasurer and directors Mrs E. O. Mortimer, Mrs William Brown, Mrs Sandy Fenwick and Mrs Joe McLachlan: A vice president and committees will be announced at a later date:

Committee reports showed an active and profitable year: A large portion of funds raised will be used to purchase new equipment for the proposed hospital:

Funds were raised through the tea garden at the fall fair and at the annual bazaar:

Mrs M. E. Collas thanked retiring president Mrs Alex Inch for her leadership during the past two years:

A $10 donation was voted for the Handicapped Childrens Association:

Donations for a Christmas hamper were collected and the birthday box was opened: Money from this box is used to provide food for Christmas hampers distributed by the Welfare Committee:

A group of teenagers who sing hootenanny style with a guitar accompaniment, the Fortune Singers, provided entertainment for the ladies:

Donation made to Art Club classes

At a meeting of the Summerland Recreation Commission held on December 8 the need for membership was stressed, as some members have left the district: Several names were suggested and the secretary was asked to contact them:

It was also felt that an effort should be made to educate the public in regard to the work and purpose of the organization so it was decided to distribute a form letter to all service clubs in the district, outlining the aims and objects of the Commission:

A letter was read from Marilyn James regarding her course at the Banff summer school on a Commission scholarship:

The sum of $75 was contributed to the Art Club to assist in defraying expenses in the night school art classes:

Shower honors recent bride

Co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Leslie Ann Caldwell held on November 23 were Miss Lynda Scott and Miss Darlene Shannon: The event was held at the latter's home:

An appropriately decorated shopping cart held the many lovely gifts:

The beautifully decorated bride's cake was presented to the honored guest by the hostesses:

Guests attending were Mrs: John Caldwell, mother of the bride elect, Mrs Sandy Caldwell and Mrs Don DeRosier, aunts of Miss Caldwell, Misses Georgina Kennedy, Marie Gove, Rita Kawning, Joanne Campbell, Maureen Clifford, Marilyn Dundson, Mrs Harold Noble, Mrs Bud Watson, Mrs Edith Scott and Mrs Lloyd Shannon:

Mr and Mrs J. Y. Towgood and Mr and Mrs T. B. Young will leave early in January for a trip to the Orient:

DEAR DORIS

DEAR DORIS — What would be the best way of helping a friend who is having a nervous breakdown?

Jennie is normally a well-adjusted person, very capable, too willing to help the aged and sick. Her husband died a year ago, and she has tried to be very brave about it.

Now she is weepy, very frightened, and whipping herself for being stupid about the purchase of a house. There is also a son who causes her to be frustrated. She wants to mother him, which he resents, being 21 and very self-centred.

OLD FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND — Stoically, Jennie accepted her husband's death. She should have wept a year ago. Now bottled up tensions are giving way.

The role of a true friend is to stand by, resenting nothing, letting her unload as she will!

She probably tried to fill her empty life by transferring her attention to her son. Help him do this; and help her to find new avenues of usefulness.

DEAR DORIS — We have been married two months and I think my husband is being unreasonable. He wants me to move to his mother, as well as to keep up all the correspondence with my own family.

She is a critical, crabby old woman and he knows it. Why should I be dragged into toadying to her?

REBEL

DEAR REBEL — Because, believe it or not, you married the family. Because she's his mother and he loves her. Because she's a human being, and will appreciate friendship.

Come on, Rebel. You got your man, didn't you? Show his mother you are grateful.

DEAR DORIS — I must be the oddball of all time because I am absolutely petrified of sick people in case they may vomit. I won't visit anyone in hospital. I don't like to travel because someone near me may be travel sick, don't want people with children to visit me.

All for the same reason. And so my world is becoming increasingly small. At 51, my husband wishes to sell his business and go and do some of the things we have not had time for. What will I use for an excuse then? It frightens me.

PINS AND NEEDLES

DEAR PINS — Your neurotic fear probably started a long way back, when you were too small to remember. Some incident with a sick person left you with an unconscious aversion.

A psychiatrist could help you talk this through to the point where such an event would no longer be unreasonably distressing to you. Get your family doctor to refer you.

To Doubtful — Is it people you like, or things? Are you artistic? Musical? We all have special talents, and when we spot them we are on the way to choosing the career that is right for us. If you would like my set of leaflets on a dozen vocations popular with the girls (nursing, dietetics, social work, physiotherapy, etc.) write in enclosing one dollar and a large self-addressed envelope.

Broncs down fast skating Vernon

The Vernon Blades suffered their first defeat in eight games on Friday night in Penticton as they came out on the short end of a 4-3 score, with the Penticton-Summerland El Rancho Broncs.

In the first period the Broncs put on terrific pressure and scored three fast goals. Ray Picco picked up the first counter at 2:07 with Paliano and Ken Lawson getting the other tallies. The only Vernon goal in that period was scored by Dale Sorochuck at the 7:20 mark. The other two Vernon goals were scored early in the second and third periods with the Broncs' winning counter coming at 4:51 of the final period on a shot by Dwayne Biagoni assisted by Bob McAdam and Keith McInnes.

On Saturday night in Vernon the picture was reversed as the Broncs dropped a 4-1 decision to the home club. Russ Chernoff got the lone marker for the Broncs. The game was a rough affair with 14 penalties being handed out including two game misconducts.

BOWLING RESULTS

Standings for first and second place in all sections of the bowling league remain unchanged this week. The Accidentals maintain a two point lead over the Borderlines in A Division. The Mad 5 are two points up on Bud's Garage in B Division and the Pinchoppers remain a point ahead of the Have Knots in C division.

In individual scoring the results were: A division, ladies' high single, Jean Harrison 278; ladies high three, Lorraine Irvine 688; men's high single and high three, Bill Austin, 326 and 782. High team So Drys 3138

B Division: ladies' high single and high three, Mary Stewart 232 and 604; men's high single and high three, Chuck Hill, 271 and 722. High team, MP's 2662

C Division: Ladies high single, and high three, Joyce Thompson, 224 and 567; men's high single and high three, Bill Ramsay, 280 and 753. High team, Weavers 2546

In Junior League the standings are: Rolling Stones 5; Munsters 4; Nitwits 3; and B.C. Beatles one point. High boys game, Gary Smith. High girls game, Leslie Ryga, High team Nitwits.

IMPEESA IMPS
FROM TROUT CREEK

Steve Cannings showed the Pack colored slides at the December 11 meeting. The subject was winter birds in this area. This was to help the Cubs identify the birds they see during the winter. There will be points awarded to each Six for birds identified and descriptions of the activities they observe. So keep your eyes open boys and make notes on the birds you see.

At the Pack meeting, Eric Munn was awarded the Artists Badge, and Alan Fisher received his Two Year Service Star.

The Cub handbook, The Way to the Stars, is now in and Akela has a few on hand. You can get them from him at home for 50c. The new Chums should read up on the Law and Promise.

Registration fees are slow in coming in, nearly one-third have not paid.

Rann and Baloo cannot come next week so the meeting has been cancelled. The next meeting will be on January 8 at 8:45 pm
