1965 assessment notices have now all been mailed. If you think yours is too high (or too low) municipal assessor J. P. Sheeley will be at his office in the municipal hall and will be glad to discuss it with you.

A bob cat, probably driven down from the mountains by the cold and snow, took a leisurely stroll past the beach homes at Crescent Beach early this week. The scent he left in his wake gave the impression he had earlier met up with an unfriendly skunk. When shot by Ray Frederickson it was found he was an older animal in a weak condition.

Recognition of his ability as a dog trainer was given to Claire Eisey at the Kiwanis installation Tuesday night.

W. A. Laidlaw made the presentation of the certificate, referring to Mr. Eisey's ability to teach his dog to drive.

An accident on December 26 caused Mr. Eisey's car to go over the sidewalk and into the window of Fisher's Shoe Store.

The car was parked in drive gear and when the dog in the car stepped on the gas pedal, the car lunged forward across the sidewalk and into the store window.

The dog itself was then brought into the meeting and presented with a driver's licence.

First baby of the new year born in Summerland Hospital was a boy on January 3. Parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. Bonanno of Summerland.

During the holiday week, the fire department was called to a chimney fire in Prairie Valley, and also answered three false alarm calls.

With the cold weather, all heating equipment is being used to capacity, and it is very important that chimneys be kept clean, states fire chief Joe MacLachlan.

The annual meeting of the Summerland Volunteer Fire Department will be held on January 13 at the fire hall.

Library costs rising, causes council concern

Increased regional library costs came up for discussion on Monday when council received its assessment from the Okanagan Regional Library.

Assessment for 1965 is $7,422, an increase of $1,100 over last year.

A further increase is added this year with the added cost of the municipality becoming responsible for paying the rent on library buildings. This adds $500 for the rent of the library up-town, in lower town and Trout Creek.

Increases in staff salaries and the high cost of distribution of books from the main office in

93rd birthday celebrated

Mrs. R. S. Monro, longtime Summerland resident, celebrated her 93rd birthday on December 27. She was entertained at the home of her son in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. Derosier at an afternoon tea.

Friends and relatives were present for the birthday party. Rev. and Mrs. Frank Haskins were among the guests.

Mrs. Monro, and her husband Robert, who passed away in 1938 came to Summerland from Salt Lake City, Utah.

Attending the gathering was a son and daughter in law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Monro of Penticton.

Three other daughters (Edith) Mrs. Russell Rosso of Washington, (Kathleen) Mrs. H. Cartwright of Summerland, and (Jessie) Mrs. Norman Gatenby of Vancouver; and another son, Melvine of Seattle were unable to attend.

Mrs. Monro enjoys excellent health and is able to be out and around. The day before Christmas she spent the afternoon visiting her daughter, Mrs. Cartwright, who was a patient in the Summerland hospital.

Telephone call from Holland

Mr. and Mrs. Henk Wouters were thrilled on Christmas Day when they received a phone call from their eldest daughter, Magda, who is nursing at the University hospital in Amsterdam. Magda, who holidayed in Holland earlier this year, was home for Christmas. She expects to enter the Vancouver School of Nursing shortly. A son, Bella, who is working in New Westminster was home over the holidays.

Services Friday for 19 month old

Funeral services will be held on Friday for Cameron Smith, 19 months old, who passed away in Summerland Hospital Wednesday, January 6.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. (Jim) Smith of Summerland, one brother, Will; James; four sisters, Marjorie, Jenny, Aime and Carlene; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Turgan of Summerland; and his maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burdick of Summerland.

Services will be held from St. Mary's Anglican Church on Friday, January 8, at 10:30 a.m. Burial will be in the cemetery. The funeral home is entrusted with arrangements.

Kelowna were blamed for the increase. Notice was received that the municipality's application for assistance from ARDA on its irrigation water project has received approval from the provincial government and is now awaiting approval by the federal government. High praise was given by Reeve Norman Holmes and road committee chairman, Councillor H. J. Barkwill for the efficient manner in which the municipality has been battling snow clogged roads. A domestic water application by William Hackl was approved.

Damage to soft fruit expected to be heavy

The severe weather of the past two weeks will certainly have caused extensive damage to apricot, peach and cherry buds, but district horticulturist, A. W. Watt says it is much too early to give any figures of the extent of loss to these varieties.

The above mentioned soft fruits comprise about 22 per cent of the fruit tonnage of Summerland.

Spur damage has been found in Bartlett pears, so it is likely that there will be a reduction in tonnage in this variety. No damage has been found in apple varieties.

Tests are being conducted at the research station to determine what damage, if any, has been done to the one and two-year old wood of the fruit trees.

During the past week two more inches of snow were recorded at the research station, making a total of 19 inches this winter. Only 3.9 hours of sunshine were recorded this week.

Services held Tues. for Fred Parton

Fred Parton passed away suddenly in Summerland hospital, Monday, January 4 at the age of 82 years.

Mr. Parton spent most of his life in the lumber business. He worked for 20 years for Hammond Cedar, later purchased by E.C. Forest Products. While at the mill, he invented three machines for turning out specialty lumber products.

He left the mill in 1950 to form B.C. Planer Service, a company specializing in modernizing lumber planers. He later became manager of Blackwater Cariboo Ltd. in Lac La Hache, and was instrumental in forming the Cariboo P.O.E. Lumberman's Association.

In 1959 Mr. Parton was elected president of the newly formed Lac La Hache Board of Trade. A year afterwards he moved to Kelowna and started up his own mill, Parton's Planers. He was later elected president of the Okanagan Board of Trade. Last year he moved to Summerland and was employed as a real estate salesman with J. W. Lawrence Realty Ltd.

An avid bridge player, he was on the executive of the South Okanagan Duplicate Bridge Association. (Continued on back page)

Few injuries in holiday accidents

The continued snow and cold weather have been responsible for a rash of accidents over the holidays. Fortunately, only very slight injuries have been sustained with no one being hospitalized for any length of time. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that extreme caution is needed at all times while driving on the snow and ice-covered streets and highways.

On December 25 at 8:45 a.m. Mrs. Gillian Olin of Spokane hit an icy patch just past the ranger station on Highway 97. She lost control of her car and struck a pole. The resulting damage was $40. No injuries were reported.

Just a short time later on the same day, a Kinnard driver, Peter Vitkin was travelling north just out of Summerland when icy conditions put his car out of control. The vehicle plunged 60 feet down an embankment toward the ball park. A passenger received slight injuries. Damage was $700.

At 3:20 p.m. Christmas Day, two cars driving in the South Victoria vicinity were in collision. A car driven by Robert N. Davies, while making a right hand turn onto South Victoria Road slid into a vehicle driven by Cheryl Ann McCargar. Damage totalled $150. No charges.

Reeve names committees

Decision on an acting reeve was left to next week.

1965 committees are: water: W. B. Powell and W. S. Ritchie; electric light: Jim Schaeffer and Ritchie; roads: H. J. Barkwill and Powell; parks: Ritchie and Schaeffer; finance: Schaeffer and Barkwill; insurance: Barkwill and Schaeffer; Pound and refuse grounds: Ritchie; real estate: Ritchie and Powell; representative to South Okanagan Health Unit: Ritchie; arena: Ritchie; regional library: Schaeffer; civil defence: Ritchie; Parkdale Place: Powell.

Council meetings will be held on the first four Tuesdays of the month. This year meetings will start at 7:00 p.m. with committee meetings following instead of preceding the open meeting.

were laid. December 28 was another bad day with three drivers on Highway 97 losing control of their vehicles due to icy conditions. At 2:00 a.m. David Gee of Penticton failed to come out of a curve and hit the ditch. He was uninjured.

At the same time just out of Peachland, Richard G. MacKinnon of Ladysmith failed to negotiate a curve and went over the side into the lake. He was treated for cuts on the head and his four passengers escaped injury. Total damage was $900.

At 10 a.m. the same day an Oroville, Wash. car sideswiped a Kelowna vehicle on an icy curve resulting in $450 damage to the two vehicles.

A snow drift across Highway 97 was the undoing of Edwin Beet of Peachland. Travelling north the Beet car rounded a curve and hit a hard snow drift, causing the vehicle to smash into a rock bluff. Damage amounted to $500.

Lloyd Shannon heads Kiwanians

Lloyd Shannon was installed as president of the Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

Installation ceremonies were conducted by Lieutenant-Governor Alan Hassell following a dinner in the Yacht Club.

Harry Hackman was installed as secretary and Hans Meierhofer treasurer. Brian Liebert is past president.

Directors are Jerry Hallquist, Jack Stewart, Merle Dean; Rev. Norman Tanner, W. A. Laidlaw, P. G. Agur and Hans Stoll.

In his address Mr. Hassell noted that on January 21, Kiwanis International will observe its 50th anniversary. He spoke of plans being made by local clubs to publicize this event. The Summerland club was formed 16 years ago.

Retiring president Brian Liebert thanked the members for their active help last year. All fund raising activities were successful and a great deal of useful community work had been accomplished.

An amusing picnic treat to the ladies was given by Jack Stewart and family in a similar vein by Mrs. Norman Tanner.

A dance for members and guests concluded the evening.

DEAR DORIS
advice from
Doris Clark

Better Save Your Reputation

DEAR DORIS — I met a policeman about 28 who is quite nice. He took me out, and I found he was fun to be with, and it was surprising how interested we are in the same things.

Then people said he was married and living with another woman! I asked him, and he explained that he and his wife are parted, and he has a housekeeper who looks after his four children.

We seem to be made for each other, but if people see us together they might think I'm going with a married man. But I sort of feel he needs someone to be by his side.

TWENTY-ONE

DEAR TWENTY-ONE — Well, aren't you going with a married man? And one who deceived you into being interested in him? Better break away while there is still something left of your reputation — and your virtue!

DEAR DORIS — Last week I was at a wedding, and we danced. I was never so embarrassed in my life. My hands were so clammy and wet from perspiration it wasn't funny.

Could you give me some pointers on how to avoid this embarrassment?

DANCING BRIDESMAID

DEAR BRIDESMAID — Carry a handkerchief or tissue in the hand which holds your partner's, to absorb the moisture. Or wear a short white glove while dancing. Use an anti-perspirant at other perspiration points.

DEAR DORIS — Too much sex seems to be threatening husband is out at church meetings so often I am beginning to think of him as a star boarder. The average is five nights a week.

If I ask for the slightest help with an errand or the children, he never has time.

I'm beginning to lose the interest I have in my home and myself.

GREEN PASTURES WIDOW

DEAR GREEN — It happens in the best of families. And when a willing church horse is just a Guy-Who-Can't-Say-No, who in the church will call a halt? He's the one who must maintain a balance.

It hasn't occurred to him that marriage is a sharing. That if he and his children are to become good pals, they need his gift of time and love. And so do you.

My minister suggests your minister be your counsellor; perhaps after one more try at getting your husband's ear.

To Christmas Stockings — In a message to the Canadian Save The Children Fund, Father Olivier of Viet Nam says: "Keep the Canadian Christmas stockings coming. Even if they come in the middle of summer, these packages do something wonderful for the children." This stocking may be the only gift a child receives.

If your group wants to work towards next Christmas, write to me for the instruction sheet about making the stockings, what to put in, where to send them. Deadline is June. They go to many corners of the globe.

Happy New Year

While nearly everyone wishes nearly everyone else a Happy New Year, and in certain ways, with real sincerity, not too many of us really care enough about playing our parts in seeing that such greetings are effected.

If we all cared about doing what we ourselves can do in bringing about happiness to all those we wish it to in the ebullience of our feelings the day before or the day after January 1, the world would be a better place, not only for others but also for ourselves. It is only natural that to bring happiness to others we should be happy ourselves. Too many of us have lost the ability to be happy. We are so concerned with the necessity of making the best possible circumstances for ourselves and our families, with being a success in the more limited sense of that word, and being caught up in the many pressures which are the lot of most of us today, that we hardly recognize what we mean by happiness.

If we would all sit down quietly, for as long as is necessary, and think about ourselves and what it is that we want out of life for ourselves and others in the most basic form, we could arrive at a starting point from which we could commence to adjust our thinking and actions to acquire some real happiness in our lives. If we can be successful in achieving happiness in ourselves we will both consciously and unconsciously bring happiness to others in contact with us, and they to others in contact with them.

Individual happiness is like raindrops in a pool. Each individual drop makes a ripple which spreads out and joins and becomes part of other ripples.

Year-end activities varied at Parkdale Place

by Mrs. Augusta Emery

In the latter part of December the residents of Parkdale Place were busy weaving a tapestry that was Christmas. It was woven upon a loom of religious beliefs centuries old, and upon hopes symbolized in the Birth of a Babe.

Into this fabric of Good Will, the weavers worked mellow threads for family customs; sprightly colors for children's delight; the blue of the Christmas Star of Bethlehem; the magic of winter's snow, the tinkle of bells, the joyous voices of carolers singing the fervent prayer of Peace on Earth, Good Will toward all men, regardless of race, color and creed.

Christmas in our Home was celebrated in beautiful surroundings. Outdoors, the colored lights were in harmony with those of the town and neighboring homes. Inside, our Home was beautifully decorated by Mrs. Colin Campbell, Mrs. Durick, Mrs. Louie and Mrs. Armstrong — women from the United Church. As we looked at the Christmas trees so pretty in their sparkles, our thoughts wandered back to the days when our families were young all doing their share to make their homes places of beauty and happiness.

Three lovely table centres of native flowers, leaves, grasses and cones — tinted in delicate colors — were donated by Mrs. Bingham and the Summerland Art Club. We were delighted to receive the plants from Marjay Fashions, Les Rumball. Mr and Mrs. Wood, May Campbell and LaVerne, Miss Chambers and a vase of beautiful flowers from T. Ritchie. We thank the WI, Mrs. Montague and Mrs. Ellis for the boxes of chocolates. Summerland citizens were most generous with gifts of fruit and vegetables. The boxes of Delicious and Mac apples were greatly appreciated, Mr. Ganzeveld, Mr and Mrs. Winters, Mr. Ormond, Mrs. Peck and Miss Holden. The beets from Mrs. Long and John Dunn, and the grapes from Mr. Gayton were very acceptable.

Miss Chambers gave a kind thought to our reading group, a year's subscription to Readers Digest.

Our Christmas Day celebration, December 24, was the outstanding event of the holiday season. Our dining room looked lovely as we entered to find our places at the two long tables. We were pleased to have as our guests, Rev. Norman Tanner, Rev. P. K. Louie, Mr. and Mrs. Blagborne, Mr and Mrs. Bennett, Mr. Kaye, Val Trippe,

At the conclusion of the dinner, Mrs. McKenzie called on one of the residents to address the matron and staff. They were thanked heartily for all they had done during the past year to make life comfortable and happy for all in Parkdale. Miss Chambers, our senior resident, presented to the matron and staff a small gift from the residents with the season's best wishes to all present. At the close, a surprise package was handed to each resident, kindness of the matron and staff.

Although the weather was disappointing on December 27 when we held Open House, a great number gave us the pleasure of accepting our invitation. The Legion Auxiliary, convened by Mrs. J. Brown, took charge. Everything was done to perfection, to the delight of all our guests. Many thanks for making our Open House such a great success.

The United Church group presented our gentlemen residents with a Christmas box of cookies and candies. They do like to be remembered. The ladies received a nicely prepared box of confection which was enjoyed at the afternoon teas.

Rev. Tanner came to the Home to give Holy Communion to those who wished to receive. A very kind thought and greatly appreciated as the inclement weather prevented our residents attending church.

We are grateful to the Kiwanians for giving us the opportunity to see the beautifully decorated homes in the district. Three times a day Cranna's silver bell is heard in our dining room calling us to order when the blessing before meals is said. May you, Mr Cranna, receive a special blessing in 1965 for your kindness.

All the residents were remembered by the Salvation Army when they called on everyone and handed out a Christmas Sunshine Bag and their magazine. Thank you for your true Christian spirit.

Mr T. Parrott and his Accordion Band gave us a fine introduction to the happiest season of the year with very pleasing renditions of Christmas carols.

Miss Reeves and her mixed choir from the elementary school are to be congratulated on their high standard of singing. We enjoyed both entertainments.

There were several house parties during the festive season. Mrs. McClement and Miss Verrier entertained the ladies of the Home. Mrs. Agur sent us a general invitation to her yearly party to honor her guest, Mrs. McGuinness, a former resident of Parkdale. Some of the ladies braved the elements and reported a very enjoyable afternoon.

Several of our residents passed another milestone of life in December, including Mrs. Ashbee, J. Wood, J. Lawler, G. Fotherby and J. Ellis.

One of our dear residents, Mrs. Daines, passed away in Penticton hospital very peacefully on December 21 in her 88th year. Eternal rest give unto her, O Lord. Death is not the end. Just putting out the Lamp. Because the Dawn has come.

"I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year,
'Give me a Light that I may tread safely into the unknown'.
And he replied —

A Christmas Crisis Or Two

Maybe I'm getting old, but that Christmas rush seems a little rushier every year. And every year, it takes me a little longer to get over it, physically, financially and psychologically.

Everything, this year, was going along fine. That is, in its usual maudlin state. Tree wasn't bought; exam papers unmarked; Christmas cards not purchased, let alone sent; no idea of who would be at our place for Christmas; dozens of presents to buy for people who wouldn't be satisfied with the moon wrapped in solid silver.

But this was normal, and no cause for alarm. Then, things began to go haywire.

First, my wife discovered she had a hernia. This was rather a blow to all hands. She thought it an extremely unlady-like ailment. I associated a hernia with wearing a great belt called a truss. I don't know why you wear them, but I haven't been reading those ads on the back of True Confessions all these years for nothing.

But trust her. It was merely a dainty hernia of the esophagus or sarcophagus or something, a tiny puncture in her diaphragm, not to mention her self-esteem.

The next thing was worse. My daughter, my delicate little flower, my baby, was invited to the Christmas Prom. There was hell to pay. "She's only a child! It's ridiculous. She's certainly not going to start running around with a gang, at her age."

First I pointed out that it wasn't a gang that had asked her, only one kid. Then I observed that the "child" is nearly 14, wears most of her mother's clothes, and is legally enrolled at the high school, where the dance was to be held.

The child's aunt and other adult sympathizers intervened for her, and the Old Battleaxe began to soften. But I almost spoiled it. "What kind of a boy is he?" she demanded. I told her that as far as I knew, he was a nice lad, that it wasn't his fault his dad was an alcoholic, because the Dawn has come.

Letter to the editor

The Editor,
The Summerland Review.
Dear Sir:

I would like to publicly express my deep appreciation and gratitude to the nurses and staff of the Summerland Hospital for their kind invitation to have Christmas dinner with Mrs. Charles, who is a patient in the hospital and was unable to be home for Christmas.

This gesture is typical of the overall care and kindness patients and friends receive in our hospital.

It makes us so grateful to the voters of Summerland in assuring us of a continuation of a home where kindnesses such as this will be practiced.

Vernon Charles

That shall be to you better than light and safer than a known way."

With Christmas once again in the past and a new year ahead, we in Parkdale, the matron, staff and residents, thank all our benefactors who through their kindness, have made 1964 a year of great happiness.

his mother ran around with men, and he had to work in the poolroom on Saturdays.

She swallowed the works, and it took me a week to convince her that he was a perfectly normal 15-year-old in grade 10, with the biggest paper route in town.

I shouldn't have been so smart. It cost me the following: a new pair of shoes; a new dress which is suitable for wearing to next year's Prom, and nothing else, except that you can't wear the same dress you wore to last year's Prom; and about 12 hours of listening to the old lady telling about how tough things were for girls when she was 13.

Right on top of this came the worst thing of all. We had three invitations for the Friday before Christmas: a staff party, a dinner party, and the Biennial Pre-Christmas Buffet and Brag of the Young-At-Heart Fighter Pilots.

I had a terrible time making up my mind which to attend. They invited wives to the first two. The third one is held only every two years because it takes the Young-At-Hearts two years to get over it.

Well, after I got home from the fighter pilots' party, and had a couple of buckets of plasma, I know I'd made the right choice.

Imagine exposing your sweetie-pie to a lot of rich foods and stuff, and her with a hernia and all. That was about the only thing that wasn't exposed there, for a day or two.

Oh, well, everything else went off on schedule. The tree fell over four times. The turkey was tougher than an old rubber boot. All our presents had to be exchanged because they didn't fit.

And we had the shortest, sweetest cocktail party, on Boxing Day, that we've ever had. Usually, when you ask people to come from five to seven p.m., you never the last couple out sometime early on December 27. This year, it was all over at 5.30. I'd forgotten to order the booze.

Local resident giving aid to Ecuadorian girl

Mrs. Evelyn M. Hookham of Summerland has financially adopted Maria Proana, a nine year old Ecuadorian girl, through Foster Parents' Plan, Montreal. The Foster Parent has promised to contribute $16 a month for the child's support for at least a year. She has already received a picture of the new overseas relative. A complete case history of the child accompanied the photograph.

In addition, monthly letters are being received from overseas, both original and translation. In it a Foster Child may describe how it feels suddenly to have shoes on his feet, a mattress to sleep on instead of a dirt floor, and the comfort of a full stomach. He always reports on his progress at school. Letters from his Foster Parent, both original and translation, are treasured. Often they tell about life in Canada. Letters are exchanged monthly.

A Foster Child starts learning about generosity, Canadian style, as soon as he is selected by a Plan social worker-in-his country, and approved by the local Director. He draws all benefits while the Plan matches him with a Foster Parent who wants someone his age and nationality. Eligibility is determined by need and the ability to benefit. This means that every Plan Foster Child must go to school. The Plan's purpose is to guide a Foster Child toward economic independence, and subsequently to responsibility for his family and service to his country. Canadian help as a stepping stone to self-help is the Foster Parents Plan way.

This two way street paved with love and gratitude remains open long after the Foster Child achieves financial independence. By caring for a destitute child overseas a Foster Parent creates an indelible image of kindness from Canada.

Adoption through the Plan is financial not legal. Of the $16 monthly that the Foster Parent agrees to contribute for at least a year, the child receives $8 a month as a cash grant. The rest is spent for food and new clothing, medical care, school fees and equipment, and translations of letters. Because each child is different, the Plan meets any special needs through its General Fund which is made up of contributions from donors.

Foster Parents' Plan is a non-sectarian, non-profit, non-propaganda, independent, government approved organization. The Plan has no professional fund raisers and its financial statement is mailed to anyone who asks for it. Full information may be had by writing Foster Parents' Plan, Box 65, Station B, Montreal.

Midgets lose, but playing top hockey

The Summerland Midget hockey team dropped a 5-2 game to the Vernon Midgets at the Summerland arena on Sunday afternoon. It was a fast, clean game with only four minor penalties being handed out, two to each team. The coach said it was one of the best games in midget hockey activity this season.

The Vernon team got a three goal lead in the first period and scored once in the second and third. Summerland's two counters came in the third period. Both goals were scored by Gary Bullock, the first on assists by Agur and Smith, and the second with assists by Agur and Derosier.

Summerland goal tending is usually divided by Johnson and Stevenson, but as Stevenson was unable to play on Sunday, Johnson was in the net for the entire game.

Only one more game remains in the league schedule but so far no details are available concerning the playoffs.

Curling Notes

There was plenty of activity at the curling rink over the week end as high school rinks from Penticton, Osoyoos, Summerland, Peachland and Kelowna competed in a bonspiel. Seven rinks were entered, three from Penticton and one each from the other schools.

In the finals on Sunday it was a clean sweep for Kelowna as they defeated Penticton in the A section and also knocked out Summerland in the B section.

The Zone 3 playoffs will be held in Penticton this week end and it will be necessary to use the Summerland ice to accommodate many of the rinks. The eight rinks reaching the finals will play the zone finals in Greenwood next week. Zone 3 includes rinks from Kelowna to Greenwood.

In the local ladies' playdowns the McKilligan and Tilbe rinks qualified to play in the zone playoffs in Peachland on January 16 and 17.

Money Belts Excess Baggage These Days

Once upon a time — and even today in some parts of the world — travellers had to hide their money pretty carefully if they didn't want to lose it. Money belts were common as Gladstone bags in the old days.

Nowadays it's different. Today's traveller doesn't need to worry about losing his bankroll. Mostly because he doesn't carry a bankroll at all. Instead, he uses Bank of Montreal travellers cheques. They're the perfectly safe and convenient means of carrying funds while travelling.

A visit to the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal before starting off on your next business or vacation trip can give you complete peace of mind. There the accountant, Don Carmichael, can sell you the B of M travellers cheques you need, in whatever denominations that you think will be the most practical for your purposes.

Then you'll be able to travel with the knowledge that if your travellers cheques are lost, stolen or destroyed, you won't be the loser because the Bank of Montreal will arrange to replace them for you.

If you're going abroad, the B of M can provide you with special travellers cheques, or travellers letters of credit for large sums. Travellers cheques are much more comfortable than a money belt, we promise.

Vernon tops Broncs in game here

Following a loss to Vernon Saturday night in a game played in the Summerland arena, El Rancho Broncs have dropped back to the bottom spot in the Okanagan Junior Hockey League.

Vernon scored once in the first period and hit the mark three times in the second. The Broncs two goals in the second period were scored by Ray Pico and Bob McAdam.

The Broncs were without the services of goalie Ernie Pushkarenko and Moe Hays, both nursing injuries from a game played in Vernon.

TV series gain for Peach growers

CBC-TV's Country Calendar on Sunday, January 17, at 4:30 p.m. will present the first in a series of four films on the peach industry in the Okanagan.

The programs, produced last year, deal with some of the problems affecting peach growers and provides suggestions for growers concerning management of peach orchards appropriate to this time of year.

Taking part in the program are a number of Summerland growers including Bill McCutcheon, Rob Towgood, Masa Aoki and Eric Tait. Dr. D. V. Fisher of the research station and district horticulturist A. W. Watt discuss orchard management, and Don Sutherland of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. looks at the problem posed to the entire industry by the declining number of peach orchards in the valley.

Other programs to follow later in the season will be concerned with such management practices as blossom thinning, weed control, irrigation, fruit thinning and harvesting.

Producer of Country Calendar in Vancouver is Dick Boeking.

Nominations needed for Good Citizen

Presentation of the Chamber of Commerce Good Citizen Cup will be made at the annual installation banquet on Thursday, February 4.

Written nominations for the Good Citizen Cup should be sent to the chamber's secretary, Howard Clark by Monday, January 18. Nominations must give reasons for selecting a person as the candidate for the award, and outline his or her's contributions to community affairs.

The Chamber of Commerce will not hold a meeting in January.

SERVICES HELD FOR FORMER RESIDENT

Otto Koester of Penticton passed away December 27 at the age of 85 years.

Mr. Koester was born in Ontario, June 6, 1879. At two years of age his parents, two sisters and five brothers moved to Brandon, Manitoba.

Later, while farming in Elkhorn and Virden districts, he married Miss Amelia Mattson.

Coming west they settled in Summerland where Mr. Koester worked at the experimental farm for a number of years.

His first wife passed away in 1927 and in 1942 he married Miss Lily A. Manning. He moved to Penticton and took up farming on the property now used as the golf course.

Mr. Koester took a great interest in the work of the Salvation Army and was the drummer at the Citadel for over 30 years. He was a member of the IOOF Lodge.

Funeral services were held on December 31 at the Salvation Army Citadel in Penticton with Captain Earl Robinson and Rev. W. Rourke officiating. Interment in Peach Orchard Cemetery in Summerland.

He is survived by his wife, Lily; one daughter Mrs. Amelia V. Jones; five grandchildren and two sisters.

Newly-installed Kiwanis Club president Lloyd Shannon (right) is congratulated by Lieutenant-Governor Allan Hassell of Vernon, (centre) and retiring president Brian Liebhart. Installation ceremonies were held in the Yacht Club January 5.

Proposed budget shows only slight increase

A change has been made in the provisional budget presented to council Tuesday night. This year no attempt has been made to estimate the school board budget, which will be received later in the year.

This year's municipal budget is $330,992.40, up slightly from last year's $324,473.

Revenue is expected from general and adventure taxation, $121,942; trade licences $6,500; dog tax $1,400; building permits $300; rents, boat taxes and costs $3,000; interest $2,200; service charges $1,450; penalties $900; local government grant, $65,684; fire service to the research station $650; commissions $650; miscellaneous $500; recoveries (Social Welfare, etc) $59,000; cemetery plots $400; parks and beaches tourist camp $5,000; commercial vehicle licences $2,600. A grant will be made of $7,500 from the electric light reserve.

An amount of $61,700 will be spent on public works, including roads, sidewalks and winter works. Protection to persons and property amounts to $30,833.

Council remuneration remains unchanged at $3,600.

Social welfare costs are up slightly to $77,100 including the provincial government grant.

Community services, which includes operating the parks and beaches and grants to various clubs amounts to $30,675. Debt charges total $57,366.

Capital expenditures planned for the year include $10,000 for municipal sheds and $2,000 for foreshore of Peach Orchard Beach.

In other council news W. B. Powell was appointed acting reeve for the year.

December accounts amounting to $75,770 were presented by finance chairman J. Schaeffer. A 1963 model 3 1/2 ton truck for the road department will be purchased for the roads department.

Making use of men and equipment during the off-season, works superintendent Ken Bligh reported he is building a utility road into the dam areas where the proposed ARDA work will be done. The road will be used to truck in heavy flume.

Curling news

Six rinks took part in the Massey Ferguson Curlarama in the Summerland area this week. Rinks from Midway, Penticton and Summerland competed for the chance to enter the District 3 playdowns, also to be held in Summerland February 22 and 23.

In the A finals Croft of Summerland defeated Toews of Summerland, while Johnston of Penticton turned back Kato in the B division. The final round was played on Wednesday morning, with Croft taking top honors.

In other curling news the Senior Briar playdowns will commence at the arena on Monday, January 18. Entered in this bonspiel are rinks from Penticton, Peachland and Summerland.

The Legion Funspiel will be held this Sunday.

Growers meet in Vernon next week

Growers from all of the fruit growing areas in the valley will be in Vernon for the 76th annual convention of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association to be held on January 19, 20 and 21.

Among the many resolutions to be presented to the growers' parliament are two from Summerland, and one from Summerland and Keremeos-Cawston locals combined.

The first Summerland resolution deals with the Growers' News Letter: Whereas for many years radio broadcasts were broadcast keeping growers informed on the marketing of the crop, and

Whereas these were dropped in favor of Newsletters to be mailed to all growers, and

Whereas these Newsletters are becoming less frequent leaving growers in general uninformed

Therefore be it resolved that regular Newsletters be put out regarding the current crop to keep growers up to date.

The resolution supported jointly by Summerland and Keremeos-Cawston relates to soft fruit maturity:

Whereas there appears to be numerous complaints and reports of green immature apricots and peaches on our Western Canadian market and

Whereas fast and convenient delivery can now be made to this market

Therefore be it resolved that every effort be made to set and enforce maturity standards for this market that will ensure the consumer a desirable product of sufficient ripe maturity.

The third resolution to be submitted by the Summerland local calls for water core research:

Whereas there have been requests from growers over the past few years for research by the Summerland Research Station on the causes of watercore, and

Whereas over maturity or late picking has been found by the Station to be the main cause,

And whereas this year the above factors could hardly be applicable.

Therefore be it resolved that the Summerland Research Station re-investigate the problem in the light of conditions in the 1964 growing season.

Summerland delegates attending the convention will be Collin McKenzie, R. B. Towgood, Adam Huys, J. W. Caldwell, C. Bernhardt, J. H. Dundon and Brian Liebhart.

Deers hazard on highway

The toll of accidents continues to mount as icy road conditions continue with little hope of immediate improvement. In most cases damage has not been too heavy and there have been few injuries. Winter conditions have driven the deer to the lower levels and these animals cause a major hazard to motorists on Highway 97, especially between Peachland and Summerland.

On January 9, Gilbert Erant of Oliver was driving north on Highway 97 when three deer crossed the road. He attempted to miss them but struck and killed one of the animals. Damage to the car was $70. There were no injuries and no charges were laid.

On January 10, Leon Harvey Carey, travelling north on Prairie Valley Road, attempted to pass a school bus driven by George Henry. In doing so, he skidded off the road, causing $200 damage to his car. He paid a fine of $25 and costs for failing to have the car insured.

Channon B. Snow of Summerland paid a fine of $15 for approaching an intersection on the left side of the road. He was involved in an accident near Bud's Garage when his car was struck by a tractor-trailer driven by Meade G. Siegrist of Kelowna. Damage to the Snow vehicle was $200. There were no injuries.

Need for careful pruning stressed by horticulturist

By A. W. Watt
District Horticulturist

Because of the severe weather in December which killed stone fruit buds and damaged the wood, I would recommend that growers delay stone fruit pruning as long as possible until a good assessment of the damage can be made. Also put off the pruning of all young trees until the late winter or early spring.

In our area and in others as well some concern is being felt about the condition of pears and apples and we have had numerous questions from growers on how best to proceed in pruning pears and apples.

First of all, apples and pears are not as seriously injured as stone fruit. In all cases where I have examined, the flower buds appeared 100% all right. But there is injury in the spurs of pears and to a lesser extent in spurs of tender apple varieties such as Newtown. This injury is mainly to the pith and heartwood of the spurs. It is most serious in the Bartlett pears. The same type of injury was evident in 1955 but was more serious at that time.

From the trunk examinations I have been able to make there is moderate discoloration of the inner bark of trunks of Bartlett and Delicious. This is not serious and trees should recover fairly well from this amount of injury. It should also be noted that the very vigorous water sprouts in pears are quite badly injured as well as some of the tips of one year wood. This is usually the case after a freeze and is not considered too serious.

What then of the pruning for apples and pears?

From what I have been able to observe and after discussion with other horticulturists and pomologists I think we can proceed with a normal pruning of bearing apple trees. This could be started now provided the weather is not severe. Pruning should not be done when the wood is frozen as this will lead to tearing and splitting of the cut surfaces. It is also very much harder work than pruning in mild weather. It would be as well to avoid heavy pruning and cutting back of apples since some trees may be injured more than we realize. Certainly heavy pruning is not good for trees which have been damaged by winter. It would be advisable to avoid making large bench cuts this winter since these very frequently lead to canker of die-back if the trees are weakened in any way.

As far as pears are concerned they appear to be more heavily damaged than apples. Some pear trees are more heavily damaged than others and it is possible that the Bartlett crop in colder areas will be a light one. In view of this the pear trees should be pruned very lightly this year. Removal of fire blight limbs and cankers and occasional crowding limbs should be all that is necessary.

The pruning of pears might well be delayed until after the apples are pruned and if possible until late February when the danger of a severe cold spell will be less likely.

In the case of young non-bearing apple and pear trees, these should not be pruned 'til the milder weather of March or even early April.

Thrift Shop profits supply much equipment for hospital

The Summerland Hospital Auxiliary met this week to hear annual reports and choose officers for the coming year.

Mrs. B. MacIntosh will again be in the president's chair. The 1st vice president is Miss Doris Tait, 2nd vice president Mrs. Fred McInnes, secretary Mrs. W. G. Evans, treasurer Mrs. E. F. Weeks, and publicity Mrs. G. Evans.

Almost $2,000 worth of new equipment went into the Summerland Hospital last year from the work at the Thrift Shop. Over 15,041 hours of work were spent at the Thrift Shop by the members of the Auxiliary.

It's getting near spring cleaning time and the Auxiliary would like to suggest that any one having children's books in good shape could donate them to the hospital library.

Night classes offer aid to orchardists, parents

Orchardists and small business owners will have an opportunity to gain some insight into bookkeeping at a new night school class which will start on Monday, January 18 at 8 p.m. in secondary school.

This course is a joint federalvincial undertaking designed to make available courses on a number of management subjects. Presently the night school plans to present the bookkeeping course and eventually hopes to give a course in management accounting.

The course will be 14 sessions long and includes reasons for keeping a set of books, the mechanics of bookkeeping, synoptic bookkeeping for very small businesses, controlling payroll and payroll deductions, cash control, purchase control, and methods of determining if a firm is operating at a profit or loss.

A grade 8 mathematics course for parents will begin on Wednesday, January 20 at 8 p.m. This course is basically designed to provide parents with insight into the new math fundamentals so as to be able to help students with their homework. Parents with youngsters of any age are urged to attend.

The head of the local night school program, W. R. Chalmers is anticipating a good turnout for both of these worthwhile programs.

DEAR DORIS advice from Doris Clark

Don't Move In With Him!

DEAR DORIS—My gentleman friend has raised two children, his wife having deserted him for another man. He is an alcoholic. I am a widow with a son.

My friend wants us to combine our lives under the same roof. This would not be a common-law marriage; we would have separate living quarters.

I have tried to help him and have brought about certain improvements, but not with his drinking problem. He claims he needs my presence and understanding before he can stop. Then if the situation is compatible, he will look into getting a divorce to marry me.

What To Do

DEAR WHAT—He has your understanding right now. An alcoholic's lack of self-control would make it hard for him to maintain the "separate living quarters". Don't do it! Your union should hinge on his proved sobriety and his divorce.

DEAR DORIS—I have a teenager who is undecided about his future. The teachers say he has a defeatist attitude. He is nervous and high strung.

About eight years ago he had a serious accident. Whether this is affecting him now or not, we don't know. We don't know whether to take him to another doctor, or a psychologist or counsellor.

Help Wanted

DEAR HELP WANTED—There's not an illness that doesn't take its toll of our self-confidence. If it's serious enough our dependence on others leaves a deep scar which no end of praise can eradicate. We just know we can't cope.

That is, until we experience, once more, some success in meeting challenges. It takes time. At this stage, your boy could profit by counselling which would discover his strong points and build on them. Get the school to refer you to the guidance service nearest you.

DEAR DORIS—I'm 16 and have asked an 18-year old college student to my school formal in January. The trouble is, he's my brother's best friend, and I haven't told my brother yet.

You see, my brother doesn't like the idea of me showing an interest in his friends.

When I asked him, I was sort of joking about how his beard was coming along and if he'd consider shaving it off and going to the January formal with me. He laughed and said, "Sure."

I'm not sure he took me seriously. I have considered phoning, going to his boarding home, or writing a note. But I have chickened out each time. What can I do?

Undecided

DEAR UNDECIDED—Clear the decks with your brother first, not forgetting the part about the beard and the willingness. Then firm up the invitation with a little formal note—which is quiet proper for a formal occasion.

If you keep on operating behind Big Brother's back, you'll really be in trouble!

To Church Worker—If the new curriculum worries you, write for my leaflet "The New Curriculum, The Church, and Science", enclosing ten cents and a stamped envelope. Here an outstanding theologian gives his version of this effort to make religion and science compatible, in easy, readable layman's language.

A Canadian decision to adopt a nationwide system of "free" medical care, J. B. McGeachy writes in The Financial Post, would pretty certainly be irrevocable.

Reporting on a visit to London where he talked with doctors and members of the public about Britain's National Health Service, McGeachy says that NHS, inaugurated in 1948, is now a permanent fixture. No British political party would dream of proposing to repeal it and there is probably not an MD in the kingdom who thinks this is possible.

Besides supplying medical and hospital care without fee, McGeachy notes, NHS redistributes wealth on a gigantic scale. Weekly "contributions" by workers and employers to the cost of welfare services, including pensions, cover only a small fraction of what is spent by NHS.

In some years 90 per cent of its $2,500 million budget has been met out of general taxation. This is the best reason for thinking that something like NHS will eventually happen in Canada.

by Rev. Norman Ion

The new year with its festivities had come and gone. Jesus sat down and with a sigh remarked that he sure was glad that the season was a whole year away again. It had been such a strain to be on one's constant good behaviour. Doing good to everyone sure did take its toll on a body. Now he could without too much public disapproval be his own selfish self again. He could now forget for a time about giving and think of what he wanted out of life for himself and...

No friend, my Bible tells me that he went about doing good constantly. Acts 10:38 says that he went about doing good every where and healing all that were oppressed. The four Gospels record him doing good everywhere and at all times. His was a life for others; of doing for and giving to.

One might think that if we could forget his command given in John 13:15, "For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you" that life would be so convenient if we all forgot his command it would be but a few short hours before hell and anarchy would reign over all the earth. However some do not forget. No one should.

Jesus knew from personal experience that it isn't easy to continually give of one's self. Thus he prays in John 17:18, "as thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I sent them into the world." Even as God had sent Jesus and had provided all necessary strength and help for him so was he requesting all necessary strength and help for him so was he requesting all necessary strength and help for us to follow his command that we do as he did.

This world has never been the same since Christ lived among men. Neither will it be the same after you have lived your life following in his footsteps.

Letter To Editor

Summerland Review
The Editor,
Dear sir:

Beautiful British Columbia magazine finds itself in a very embarrassing position!

Due to the tremendous efforts of the community newspapers in the province and other sales agencies, we have experienced an unprecedented demand for the magazine. In short we have exhausted our supply of both the "Winter" issue and the "Beautiful British Columbia scenic diary."

It is therefore, impossible for us to process further requests for subscriptions to commence with the current Winter issue. However, if customers wish to obtain a subscription to the magazine and are agreeable to have it commence with the Spring issue, available in February 1965 we would be delighted.

The result of this promotion has been extremely gratifying — to the point of embarrassment, especially when you consider that this year we published more magazines than ever before. In fact the sales of this issue have exceeded 100,000 copies which places Beautiful British Columbia among the best sellers in Canada. Also, we had a record number of scenic diaries but once again the demand for subscriptions (and hence diaries) exceeded our most extravagant estimates.

We sincerely regret any embarrassment we may have caused you and make the wish that you enjoy the best of all good things during the coming year.

Little flakes falling
All through the night,
Wrapping the tiny-buds
In blankets so white.

All winter snugly
They lie there so warm,
Jack Frost can't catch them.
They're safe from all harm.

Icy winds blowing
Through the bare trees,
Pile the warm blankets
So Jack Frost can't freeze.

Warm winds come melting
High piles of snow.
"Ah" said the little buds,
"Just watch us grow".

Winter Leaves Him Cold

This is the time of year when the average honest citizen, however bravely he tries to conceal it, is about as warm, lively and full of vitality as the discarded Christmas tree leaning drunkenly against the back steps, a few morsels of tinsel fluttering from its prematurely aged frame.

Prematurely aged. That's the way I feel in January. Like a woman of 35 who has had twelve children in fifteen years. As though I can't face it again.

By the middle of February, of course, I'll be all cheered up, and will be going around like all the other idiots, blithely agreeing that "the days sure are stretching out, aren't they?" But right now I look upon life with the wild enthusiasm of a man-eating tiger confronting a bowl of cornflakes.

First, and worst, part of the January miseries is that hideous struggle to get out of the sack. Crawling out of the warm drowsiness into the grey horror of the day is as desperate a business as any I know. There are days when I'm sure I'll never make it, were it not for the voices demanding help with clothing and breakfast, and the total silence from the other side of the bed.

Finally, having survived the first hour of the day, there's the dash for the car, a feat that ranks, in my mind, with Hillary's dash for the South Pole. Big difference is that Sir Edmund didn't leave his galoshes at the office yesterday.

There's nothing I enjoy more, in the summer, than reading about the simple pleasures of oldtime winters. Sleighbells, the crunching of snow underfoot, the snapping of trees in the frost, the smiling midwinter sun on the snow, jolly gatherings of congenial souls about an open fireplace.

Fellow who writes these stories never lived where I have found myself stuck these past few winters.

The sleighbells are more likely to be fire sirens as some poor devil sets the pipes on fire, trying to stay alive. The crunching underfoot is more likely to be your toes breaking off by the numbers, from the right. The snapping is more likely to be the roof of the back porch caving in under the snow. No self-respecting fairy would be caught dead under the January sun, which smiles at you with all the geniality of a cold fried egg. The gatherings are more likely to be melancholy huddles of taxpayers exchanging cold remedies and talking about their furnaces.

Winter is fine, up until New Year's. After that, you can give it to the Russians. In fact, if they ever invade us, they should do it in January! Half the population is in Florida. The other half is down with the 'flu.

I wouldn't even give this country back to the Indians, in mid-winter. In the first place, they wouldn't take it. In the second, we've handed them enough bum deals in the past.

It's enough to curdle your blood when you hear people duck into the coffee shop, faces gray with cold, noses running and wheezing: "Isn't that a grand winter's day," as they blow on their claw-like fingers, before wiping the steam from their specs.

Seems to me that we all suffer from an advanced case of self-deception. Just because our ancestors couldn't imagine anything worse than their Irish shanties, Italian slums or Polish villages and came to Canada, we think we're automatically rugged and physically fitted to endure the climate which fastens on us everywhere but in the South.

This country, in January, is fit for jackrabbits, alcoholics, and people under the age of twelve. The sooner we realize it, and demand from the government return tickets to Florida, good for three months, the better.

"The Church Where Salvation Makes You A Member"

And Where Did It Get You?

Well, here it is mid-January, and another year has slipped down the drain.

It's rather depressing to look back over the 12 months and realize that neither civilization nor yourself has improved one iota, despite the frantic scrambling of the pair of you, throughout the year.

Not that I'm admitting for a moment that 1964 was a complete failure. There were some things from which I derived a good deal of satisfaction. For one thing, I remained alive. With the traffic the way it is, and the tension cutting swaths through the ranks of chaps my age, just staying alive these days is quite a feat.

In the second place, I hung onto my job. This may seem like a trivial boast. But what with computers, it's like staying alive. Ask the fellow who hasn't managed to do either. Or both. What it meant was that I was able to continue keeping in high style a woman I never met until I was 25, and two kids who think money grows on fathers.

Keeping my job also meant that I was able to keep up my payments, no mean accomplishment in this age. In fact, I would be content to have my epitaph read: "He was a good man. He kept up his payments."

As a matter of fact, I did a little better. Not only did I meet all my interest payments, but I reduced the mortgage on my house by $28.64, leaving a more balance due of $12,071.36. This was somewhat offset by the borrowing of a couple of G's from my friendly banker, in order to replace the family transportation, which was rotting on the vine, but you can't win them all.

I'm not trying to brag. There were a lot of things in 1964 that I'd do differently another time. That is, if I'd ever got around to doing them. But since I didn't, they probably weren't worth doing in the first place. Figure that one out, if you can find an Irishman to help you.

I have already drawn up a program for 1965 that is perhaps the most positive plan, in a negative sort of way, that I've ever come up with. It's composed of all the things I'm NOT going to do this year.

For one thing, I'm not going to worry so much. My reckoning shows that I spent 20 to 30 minutes worrying last year about trifling things, like my son running away from home, my daughter going out on her first date, and my wife reporting cancer in a new location weekly. That's enough to put a fellow in the hospital. I aim to cut that down to a maximum of ten minutes this year. And it'll be worry about something worthwhile, like my golf slice and trout that got away.

Another thing I'm not going to do this year is lose so many arguments v the Old Battleaxe. Last year, I must have lost about 97 per cent. of them. I don't know just how I'll go about it, but I'm determined to cut that figure to the bone — maybe right back to 95 per cent.

Once again, I'm not going to buy my wife a mink coat; I'm not going to build that patio that I didn't build last summer; I'm neither going to start getting to bed early nor getting up early; I'm not going to stop smoking because it might kill me, nor drinking ditto; I'm not going to pay my income tax with anything milder than rage; I'm not going to pay any attention to all the silly people in the world who tell me what I'm not supposed to do.

In short, the next year will be much like every other year. And good enough for me. But perhaps we could all join heartily in repeating a little slogan for the coming year. It goes,

"Let's stay alive
In '65."

The pack had its first meeting in 1965 on Friday. During the holiday the Cubs followed Mr. Cannings' talk and slides on winter birds by looking for them. The boys really know their birds and where to find them. The Black Six were highest with 24 different species followed closely by the Yellow and Red Sixes with 19 and 16 respectively. Keep looking boys and try to increase the number.

We had a hopping test in the form of a hopping relay. The following Cubs passed: Wade MacGregor, Billy Head, Lee Millimore, Mike Prokopenko, Ricky Gurnett, Alan Clark, Angus McNabb and Rodney Hickson.

Jonathan Spalding was awarded his three year service star.

The 1st Year Cubs will continue on Morse Signalling; Tenderpads on the reef and sheetbind knots and the New Chums on the Law and Promise. Cubs should be practicing these at home as it will greatly speed their program.

In the Six competition, standings are: Black 40; Yellow 39; and Red 35.

We are planning a snow shoe ramble on Saturday, January 30. If you need snowshoes let us know at the next meeting so that we can arrange to get a pair for you.

11 Scouts enjoy
winter camping trip

There was a very good troop turnout to the first meeting following the holidays. The emphasis was on semaphore signalling, especially for boys working toward their Second Class badges.

Seven boys were awarded the Ambulance Man's Badges: Gordon Lackey, Frank Fenwick, Michael Inch, Jack Barkwill, Allan Wiens, Nigel Blagborne and Bob Charles. Thanks go to the instructors, C. Denike and E. F. Brinton. Next week a new class for Ambulance Man's Badge will start with Mr. Brinton.

The Beaver patrol won the patrol competition before Christmas and each member was awarded a compass as a prize.

The winter camp from December 27-29 at Hidden Lake was a great success. Eleven Scouts with packs and toboggans made the 2½ mile trip on snowshoes in and out. Accompanying the party were Scoutmasters Fisher and Wiens and Sandy Fenwick, on whose property we camped. The boys pitched tents on the snow and slept out. The Fenwick cabin was used for clothes drying, evenings and some cooking. Other cooking was done outside. Temperatures varied from seven below to twelve above zero. The new rubber snowshoe harness was used and proved very successful.

In the patrol competition the findings are: Buffalo 34, Eagles 32, Beavers 30 and Hawks 24. Duty patrol next week Beavers.

Did you know that this is the tenth time in the past twelve years that The Mutual Life has increased dividends?

Mr. James:
I haven't been keeping score—but I know Mutual Life's dividend record is tops.

Interviewer:
This year's dividends totalling $17,900,000 represent an increase of $1,400,000 over the amount paid in 1964. And the interest rate on accumulated dividends has been increased to 5%.

Mr. James:
You know, with earnings like that I might even consider increasing my coverage!

Here are three important reasons why it will pay you to renovate and redecorate
your home now!

1 SKILLED MEN ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
Although more and more building is being done each winter, exterior construction does slow down during the cold weather. As a result, home improvement contractors and skilled craftsmen seek out the smaller interior jobs that they are unable to handle during the summer. You benefit—with skilled workmanship by experienced tradesmen when it's most convenient to you!

2 DISCOUNTS AND LOANS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! To create incentives that will balance their sales and keep their staff employed throughout the year, building supply dealers run winter sales. These special discounts help you renovate and redecorate at the lowest possible cost. You'll find your bank a good place to visit, too—for low-interest Home Improvement Loans under the National Housing Act: up to $4,000.00, with up to ten years to repay!

3 MATERIALS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! When building slows down, materials become more readily available. Result: Irritating delays in completing your job because of late delivery of supplies are eliminated!

There's no doubt about it. Winter is the very best time to spruce up your home (and your place of business)—quickly, efficiently, inexpensively!

Famous movie coming here

An outstanding saga of the sea, a sailing ship with its stalwart crew and the ruthless and cruel Captain Bligh is brought to life in the screen version of Mutiny on the Bounty. This film was made in and around Tahiti where the famous mutiny took place on April 28, 1789.

History records that HMS Bounty sailed from Spithead, England to carry breadfruit plants from Tahiti to the West Indies. Soon after leaving Tahiti, the crew, led by Fletcher Christian, mutinied against the tyranny of Captain Bligh and took over command of the ship. The captain and 18 of his faithful men were set adrift in a small boat and by some miracle, managed to get back to England.

The mutineers took the Bounty to Pitcairn Island, where she was burned. Troubles beset the mutineers in their new land and by 1808 only one man remained alive.

Back in England, Captain Bligh faced a court martial, but was cleared of all blame for the loss of the Bounty.

This great motion picture, starring Marlon Brando, will be long remembered by all who see it when it comes to the Rialto Theatre in Summerland on January 14, 15 and 16.

SPORTS

School Basketball

by Ron Kostelnik
Last Friday night the Senior B girls and boys hosted Princeton. In the opening game the girls won 22-12, sparked by the 10 point performance of B. Young. Summerland built up an early 4-0 lead but fell behind 5-4 at the end of the first quarter. They came back in the second quarter, took an 11-8 lead, and outplayed Princeton the rest of the game. Other point getters were A. Dean and R. Rusaw with 4, and B. Bye and S. Stein with 2 apiece.

but came back in the second half with 35 points. This was not enough, however, as Keremeos collected 29. D. Trussel, with 15 points was top man for the locals followed by R. Mitchell with 9, G. Mayne and G. Marsh with 8 apiece and E. Mead with 6 points.

The girls were winners for the second day in a row, with B. Young starring again. She scored 15 points as the local team defeated Keremeos 30-15. E. Pamuky helped run the score up with 13 points for the winners-MIDGETS IN SEMI-FINALS

The Summerland Midgets are really flying now and they ably demonstrated the fact as they defeated the league leading Penticton team by a score of 5-2 on Sunday.

The boys played heads-up hockey all the way, with Robin Agur scoring a three goal hat trick. He was assisted on all goals by Gary Bullock. Steve Mallett and Bullock picked up the other two goals.

On Saturday the Summerland team goes into the semi-finals against Vernon in a two out of three series. The second game is slated for Summerland ice on Wednesday at 7:00 p.m.

The boys, however were shel-laced 68-15. Princeton, taking a 13-3 first quarter lead and a 31-5 second quarter lead, were never in trouble from then on. G. Mayne with 4 points, was top man for Summerland. Other point getters were B. Pollock, and D. Trussel with 3, G. Marsh and G. Greber with 2, and Ed Mead with a single.

At Keremeos

Last Saturday Summerland Sr. B girls and boys visited Keremeos and split a double header in Basketball. The boys lost their second week end game, coming out on the short end by 73-46. In the first half the boys were outplayed and outscored 44-11.

Lots of snow makes ski hill boom

Summerland Ski Club is in full swing for another good winter at its Meadow Valley ski hill. Each week seems to bring a fresh fall of powder snow and with 18-24 inches well packed, the hill is in excellent condition.

The cable tow had a new engine fitted last year, a tractor was purchased this year for the bunny tow and both are running well, with Ashley Austin in charge.

Each Saturday and Sunday sees 50 to 100 people of all ages enjoying the hill, with youngsters 5-8 years old shuttling up the bunny tow and skiing down as fast as they can make the circuit, old-timers squeezing in among them more cautiously and at a considerably slower rate of circulation, and experienced skiers flashing down the main hill in graceful schusses and swoops.

Lessons are given at 1:15 on Saturdays and Sundays to both beginners and fairly advanced skiers by the three men, who have done so much to give skiing to Summerland: Don Agur, Don Hermiston, and Bob Barkwill; and the cabin dispenses warmth, doughnuts, coffee, chocolate and cheer to all who feel in need of them.

There should be a lot of pleased skiers at the annual meeting of the club which president Don Hermiston has called for Friday, January 22 at 8 p.m. in the Rotary Hall above Mac's Cafe.

February 4 for Good Citizen award

A well known North Okanagan resident, Everard Clarke of Vernon will be the guest speaker at the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, February 4. The meeting will be in the IOOF Hall with the dinner commencing at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $1.75 and are available from members of the executive.

The speaker, who is the general manager of NOCA, will take as his subject "Co-operatives in action in Asiatic Russia, Africa and Afghanistan". He recently returned from a year of travel in India where he helped to organize co-operatives and during that time he visited 13 other countries so he is well versed on his subject.

Chamber officers for 1965 will be installed by Reeve Norman Holmes, Eric Tait will present the Reid Johnston Good Citizen Award, and Mrs F. E. Atkinson will present the trophy for the Christmas light-up competition.

Musical entertainment will be provided by Gordon Greber and the Fortune Singers.

Three newly re-elected officers of the Summerland Rod & Gun Club look over plans for the annual game banquet to be held in early March. Left to right:

Alf Kohlhauser, secretary-treasurer; Harold Richardson, president; and Hans Meierhofer, vice-president.

Active year planned by Rod & Gun Club

The annual meeting of the Summerland Rod and Gun Club, held on Monday evening was very well attended. Thirty-five members were present to hear a report on the year's activities by the club president, Harold Richardson. The club had a very active year, one of the outstanding events being the Boxing Day trap shoot which showed a net profit of $140. There were 88 members in 1964.

Fifteen executive members were appointed by the president. A resolution was presented to the club asking to seek a manufacturer who could supply heel plates with initials as it was thought that such plates would help to identify lost hunters. The motion was defeated.

A second Summerland motion to set back the hunting season to the week end of October 1st was passed to the provincial committee. The reason for the request for the change of date is the fact that the ranchers use the summer ranges until the end of September.

New club crests are being purchased and new membership cards are being designed.

Recorded moose calls and two films on hunting concluded the

New construction brings higher assessment roll

Municipal assessor J. P. Sheeley presented the 1965 assessment roll to council Tuesday.

The total assessment of all property in the municipality, including land improvements and L & T, now stands at $10,754,572, an increase over 1964 of $354,442. There was no general increase in assessments for the 1965 roll. The increase in value is due mostly to subdividing farm land and new construction.

There were 52 vacant land sales during 1964 which is 20 more than in 1963 and 25 more than 1962.

Mr. Sheeley said that land values are increasing slightly all over the municipality. A study will be made in 1965 to see what effect the 11% tax on building materials will have on the market value of various types of improved property.

The total taxable assessment for school purposes taking land at 100 percent and improvements at 75 percent is $7,300,349, an increase over 1964 of $269,600.

The total taxable assessment for general purposes taking land at 100 percent and improvements at 75 percent is $7,091,442, an increase over 1964 of $247,524.

Classification of land within the municipality since 1962

Comparison percentage figures are: (with 1962 percentage in brackets): farm land 18.92 (20.80) small holding, less than 5 acres: 13.33 (14.92); residential: 34.35 (30.75); commercial: 13.04 (11.62); industrial: 8.38 (9.00); provincial: 45 (47); municipal 3.88 (4.05); hospital: 1.08 (1.18); school: 5.35 (5.88); church 1.22 (1.33).

Busy year for fire brigade

After a survey of the district by the Canadian Underwriters' Association, lower fire insurance rates have been granted to many areas of the municipality. This could mean quite a saving in insurance premiums in the near future.

A report on the activities of the Summerland Volunteer Fire Brigade was given to council on Tuesday by Fire Chief Joe McLachlan.

During 1964 the Brigade answered 50 calls. These were broken down as follows: 16 chimney, 7 buildings, 13 grass, 2 car, 2 tractor, 3 hay and 7 miscellaneous. Total property loss for the year, amounted to $2,595. Seventeen permits were issued for oil burners and one for propane gas. There were 103 ambulance calls during the year.

During Fire Prevention Week, the Brigade sponsored a coloring contest for the younger pupils and an essay contest for the senior grades. Some 700 students took part, with 35 prizes being awarded.

The chief also reported on visits that he and other members of the Brigade made to other centres in the province, and on the five evening courses given by the fire, marshall's training unit.

In accepting the report, Reeve Holmes complimented the members of the brigade for their fine work, and commended chief McLachlan for the splendid cooperation he gets from his men.

A.R. Garrish re-elected at BCFG A convention in Vernon

A. R. Garrish was re-elected president of the BCFG A for his 15th term, at the annual convention being held in Vernon this week. He defeated Alan Clridge of Oyama by 37 to 33 votes.

Rumors and rumbblings in pre-convention days notwithstanding, the 76th annual session of the BCFG A, now meeting in Vernon has, so far, failed to ignite any real fireworks. Indeed up to late on Wednesday afternoon the session had proven to be one of the quietest conventions of recent years.

This does not mean that it lacked either color or action. Plenty has been achieved even if only to douse some of the smoldering spots that had appeared to threaten all during the fall. The delegates, with but few exceptions seem to be anxious to not only retain what they have in the way of an organization, but also to strengthen it.

At Tuesday morning's opening session there was the keynote address prepared by the Hon. Frank Richter, B.C. minister of agriculture, and delivered in his absence by his deputy Alec Turner. This departed from Mr Richter's hitherto calm, platitudeous approach to fruit problems and struck right at the heart of one of the Okanagan's most serious difficulties. Mr. Richter, along with Dean E. D. MacPhee, declared for an "economic unit" as an essential basis for orchard operation.

He said that only by utilizing this plan could the man on the orchard achieve economic solidarity and stability. He pointed out that a difference of a few cents per box made little difference to the man with only an acre or two, because it could not spell the difference between making a profit plus a living, and remaining status quo. The minister pointed out that such an apparently small difference would mean a great deal to the man with an "economic acreage." Mr. Richter did not state how much land constituted an "economic unit" but left this to industry leaders to establish. Ever since that speech there have been many debates in hotel rooms and sundry corners regarding the term, but no one has, publicly at least, come out with a real answer.

Also on Tuesday following the report by R. P. (Tiny) Walrod there was the debate on Resolution No. 14, dealing with the plan to appoint a firm of management engineers to study the industry and its managerial operation. This was debated for almost two hours without tangible result. Finally Dr. J. Richter, economist with the UBC

Dept. of Agriculture was asked for an opinion on it. He suggested that the delegates should not be called upon to decide the issue of the appointment or otherwise, but that the executive should accept and fulfil this responsibility.

Almost immediately after this came a motion to table, the matter until the directors of the BCFG A have dealt with it. This carried by the exceedingly slim margin of 34-33.

Resolution No. 29, dealing with open marketing in B.C. received only one favorable vote Wednesday morning. It was presented by the Peachland local.

The convention is expected to wind up Thursday evening.

Two accidents during week

Two accidents occurred on local roads during the week. The first was on the Happy Valley Road, when cars driven by Ralph D. Wuenche and Albert Ernest Gove were in collision at the top of the Happy Valley Hill. Damage amounted to $300. There were no injuries. Wuenche has been charged with failing to approach an intersection on the right side.

The second mishap occurred on the Ski Hill Road. A car driven by Wm. Anderson of Penticton was struck in the rear by Wm. Shannon of Summerland as he attempted to pass him on the slippery road. There were no injuries and no charges were laid.

Robert Gardner of Vernon reported that he struck a deer on Highway 97, four miles south of Peachland on the night of January 14. There was only minor damage to the car.

Over 600 persons annually receive equipment such as braces, wheelchairs, crutches, etc., from the Kinsmen's Mothers' March. Brace supervisor C. Taylor (above) fits special leg brace to Tommy Tyler as brother Herbert looks on. Mothers' March this year has a provincial goal of $275,000.

Summerland Kinsmen, along with other B.C. Kinsmen clubs are now getting the annual Mothers' March campaign underway. It is planned for Monday, February 1 and usually lasts from 7 to 9 p.m.

Head mother for Summerland this year is Mrs. Rob Towgood and for Peachland Mrs. Nora Copp. Bud Green is campaign chairman.

Ladies who wish to assist in the campaign are asked to contact Mrs. Towgood.

Through the efforts of the Kinsmen Clubs, a speech therapist for the valley is now stationed in Kelowna. At least two Summerland residents are now benefiting from visits to the therapist.

Annual survey finds record number of birds

A new high record of 81 species was established on December 28 when the South Okanagan Naturalists' Club held its annual Christmas bird count. The count area was the usual 15 mile diameter circle including Summerland, Penticton and Naramata.

Fifty-four observers in eleven parties, enjoyed the pleasant winter weather, many of them being out all day. The unusually deep snow limited hiking somewhat but one team reached the top of Campbell Mountain and others probed the hills and canyons behind Summerland and Naramata.

The Summerland observers were Mr and Mrs John Holman and Philip David Holman of Regina; Mr and Mrs Allan McKenzie; Mrs Mollie Collas, Jack McDougald, Eric Tait, Don Tait, Dr. and Mrs David McMullen; Mr and Mrs Ewart Wooliams; Miss Jana Wooliams of Burlington, Ont.; David Wooliams of UBC; Dr. and Mrs Harold Madsen and Ken; Ken Ryman and Mrs Leighton Lopatecki.

Some interesting differences in the census showed up this year and amateur ornithologists are offering various explanations. One unusual record was the count of 96 Canada Geese made up of six different flocks. None was seen last year. Coots were up to a record high of 10,530 which is by far the largest total for any species.

People who think that robins are a sure sign of spring might be surprised to see that at least 172 were here for Christmas. Only nine were seen on last year's count. A close relative of the robin provided another surprise. In fact this could be called the year of the Varied Thrush among bird watchers. Last December only one of these "painted robins" was recorded, but this year 171 were spotted.

Other species showing increases included the starting, red-winged blackbird, Cassin's Finch, Goldfinch and Oregon Junco. Among the birds seen this year that were not seen last year, the hawks were prominent. A Great-horned Owl was the highlight of the day for the observers hiking up to Naramata Creek Canyon. A Long-eared Owl was the first recorded for many years.

On the other hand, Pygmy Owls were very plentiful last winter but none was seen this Boxing Day.

DEAR DORIS advice from Doris Clark

This Boy Takes Liberties

DEAR DORIS — Last year I took in my stepdaughter, who had been living with her mother but was unhappy there. Then I discovered she was about to have a baby. She is 17.

When the baby was born she refused to give him up because she said the boy was coming back to marry her. Now she works but pays no board. She has started dating the boy and he is here all the time. He sleeps in her room with the baby and she squashes in with her younger sister.

I have five daughters and one son. I don't think he should go upstairs, but I'm told I have a dirty mind.

Fed Up

DEAR FED UP — Protesting to me will do no good. Take charge where you are.

This unmarried father is taking liberties; your girl is assuming that they have a right to live like a family. At this point there is no real proof that these two are good marriage mates, since they are both adolescent.

You do both a real disfavor by permitting intimacies at this stage. Since apparently even her father is no help to you, seek personal counselling from the family agency in your area.

DEAR DORIS — I have heard of a system for treating eyes which really improves them. I am convinced that it works because I read a book about going without glasses and I have made some improvement in sight during the summer.

However, since school started in September progress seems to have reversed.

School Teacher

DEAR TEACHER — Sorry, but my consulting ophthalmologist says "Eyewash!" Eye exercises accomplish nothing. Your vision is determined by the shape of the eye you were born with.

Better eyesight comes with better health. Rest, diet, recreation, make the difference. When you are tired, your eyes are tired. During summer holidays you put fewer demands on eyes and constitution. So your eyes improved.

DEAR DORIS — I am 34 and interested in a girl 19. When I took her out she seemed quite nice, but then when I phoned again she didn't feel like going. I took this for a brush off.

Then I heard she was asking about me. They always say no fool like an old fool, and yet I know of marriages with a wide age difference which have turned out all right.

Broken Heart

DEAR BROKEN — So do I. But the chances are against it. Your girl is still unsure of herself, still growing up. Look around a little more, for someone who can match you in maturity and interests.

If in a few years' time you find yourself still single and hankering for her, and her likewise, the age difference won't matter so much.

DEAR DORIS — Our daughter has become engaged. We have met the young man. How do I write him and his parents?

When they are married, do we send wedding announcements to all relatives and friends?

Regular Reader

DEAR REGULAR — A warm, friendly note to the fiance carries the message that you are happy about the whole thing, welcoming him as a son-in-law. To his parents you express joy at the news and a hope to meet them all soon.

Announcements go to all good friends and relatives other than wedding guests.

Canada's Great Hero

Writing in The Financial Post about the 150th anniversary of the birth of Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister, J. B. McGeachy says that Macdonald was a great creative genius as well as a tremendous personality and deserved from Canadians the admiration, reverence and love given by Americans to Abraham Lincoln. Macdonald's achievements surpassed that of the more famous 19th century nation builders in Europe. He was the chief architect of modern Canada and of the transcontinental railway linking it from coast to coast, a project that was regarded at the time as insane.

Although Macdonald was firmly attached to Canada's British connection, he was not subservient to London. It was he who decided that the young Canadian industries of the 1870s needed tariff protection and told 'the merchants of Sheffield' when they complained, and had their objection transmitted by the Colonial Office, to go to hell! It was he who sent Canada's first ambassador abroad, Galt to London, and made the first attempt, in 1871 to negotiate a treaty affecting Canada's interest.

Do It Now

In the winter season, when skilled and semi-skilled manpower is readily available, many things can be done to advantage, according to the National Employment Service.

These include overhauling of lawn-mower or garden equipment, automobiles and outboard motors, farm machinery and electrical appliances. It is also a good time for installation of equipment, repairs, insulation; dry-cleaning of drapes and replacement of upholstery.

People stand to gain when they have renovation and repair jobs done in winter. Tradesmen are on hand, and so can quickly be on the job, and the extra time and care skilled workmen can devote to a task during slack months gives the plant or office official, or the householder, more for his money.

He is also likely to find there are fewer delays in the delivery of materials, and, in the case of an addition to a home or business premises there is the likelihood of earlier occupancy.

Let us pray

by Rev. J. R. Coughlan

Prayerlessness is the greatest failure of the church of Jesus Christ. How great are the needs that confront us on every hand. How our community, nation and world stand in need of earnest prayer. Yet we are so prone to substitute the limited powers of human efforts for the unlimited supply of divine enablement that comes as a result of real prayer.

It was Tennyson who wrote: "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." How true. We do not fully realize the power of prayer. Prayer is the power that moves the hand which moves the world. Prayer is able to do all God is able to do. Nothing likes without the realm of prayer except that which lies outside the will of God.

James informs us that "the effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man avaleth much". Who is this righteous man? He is not one who is righteous in himself for the Bible declares: "There is none righteous, no not one". He is one who has placed faith in Christ and who is righteous in God. This is confirmed through the words of Rom. 3: 22: "Even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all them that believe." It is this kind of a man who can expect his prayers to avail much.

Sin causes our prayers to avail little. The psalmist David said: If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me"

Let us make certain that our hearts are right in the sight of God that our prayers might be effective. Living where God answers prayer we can by faith expect an answer when we pray. In this spiritual realm we can have an audience with God and prove that prayer is vital and real and that God is faithful to respond to those who call upon Him.

Pay, And Face The Music

If I had it to do over again, I'd raise my family differently. I'd let the kids grow up in happy ignorance of the finer things of life.

That's exactly what most of my present family would have preferred anyway, but the Old Girl wasn't having any of it. And I, like all docile North American fathers, swallowed all that jazz about "personality fulfillment" and "developing natural talent" and "creative interests."

I've spent enough on music lessons, for example, for those kids to buy myself a brand new Cadillac, or pay off half the mortgage on my house.

This month, my son Hugh is giving two piano recitals before trying his music exam, the culmination of ten years of lessons.

It's just about the culmination of the old man's credit in these parts, too. All it involves is the rental of two halls, the printing of two sets of invitations and programs, and the purchase of new suits and dresses for the whole family.

Even at that, I could fight my way out of the morass of bills and face the future, shaken but game, if this were the end of the affair.

But I learned, in a short but devastating exchange with my wife, that it's only the beginning. "Well", I beamed, "at least it'll be nice not to have to pay for lessons next year, what with all the expense of sending him to college."

"Don't be silly!" she snapped. "Of course he's going to go on with his music next year. He's scarcely begun."

And I reeled out of the room, speechless. I could see the future: old dad pumping the treadmill for the next ten years in a welter of music lessons at $13 a rattle and university fees at $1500 a year. You see, just as Hugh gets out of college, his sister, who also takes piano lessons at the same tariff, will be ready to begin.

It isn't fair, somehow. In ten years I'll be a broken, beaten old man, ready for the bone-yard, just when I should be entering those golden years you see in the insurance ads: trips to Europe, curling, golf, fishing.

And what will I get out of it all? Likely nothing but a gaggle of grandchildren, who will be dumped with us every time their parents want to go on a skiing vacation or a jaunt to Mexico.

In despair, I sought out an old friend who has been through it all with three sons and a daughter. Surely he'd have some words of comfort. He did.

"Smiley, old boy," he chorled, there's nothing to it. But you've forgotten a few items. First of all, your son gets married in third year college and you subsidize them and the baby, until he graduates. Then there's your daughter's wedding. Knowing your wife, I figure that will cost you one cool grand. Then your son, and your son-in-law, will take turns hitting you up for a couple of thousand for down payment on a house or furniture or a second car, or something.

"It's not that they're grasping," he went on, chuckling. "It's just that this is the way the system works nowadays. They'll be making good money, but they won't have any credit, and you have. So they'll use yours."

"But when do I start paying off my mortgage on the house and putting by for my old age?" I whimpered.

"Don't worry about that," he twinkled. "You can always refinance your mortgage at 18 per cent. interest. And I wouldn't worry about your old age. By the time you've paid to have your grandchildren's teeth straightened and" (here he positively cackled) "paid for their first ten years of dancing and skating and music lessons, you won't have any old age left."

All I could do was quote from Hamlet, "For this relief much thanks," and go quietly off to check my insurance policies, and look for my wife's bottle of sleeping pills.

New books at the regional library

by Kay Dunsdon

In reviewing a few new books two unusual biographies should be mentioned. The first is Dora Hood's well-told story of a little known Canadian, Dr. Davidson Black, an anatomist and anthropologist probing into the early history of man. He found and identified Peking man, a skull unearthed in a Chinese cave, among bones of extinct animals and human artifacts. This find was an important link in the evolution of man. Dr. Black was born in Ontario and during his school years, showed a definite interest in science and study of anatomy. Miss Hood tells of Dr. Black's work and achievements with clarity and understanding.

The second biography is also of a doctor, who tells with wit and candour of his busy life as writer, lecturer, research worker and doctor in the famous Mayo clinic. Dr. Alvarez is well known for his syndicated newspaper column.

Seems we can't get away from doctors and medicine this time, but Green Medicine, by Margaret B. Kreig is a fascinating account of scientific search for healing plants. Mrs. Kreig tells of the hardships suffered by botanists and scientists as they travel through jungles of Africa, in heat and cold to find and study the rare plants and their healing properties. Sometimes witch doctors have shown them the magic mushrooms, a deadly drug which brings hallucinations; or a periwinkle, which is thought to contain a substance helpful in leukemia. This book is almost too full of facts, to take in all at once, but it is well written and documented, and is a very entertaining and informative book.

In the fiction, Undine, by Phyllis Brett Young is eerie and supernatural, but it is a good tale by this well known Toronto writer.

We have some very beautiful needlework, painstakingly done by Mrs. George Lewis of Trout Creek on view in our library, as well as two collages, well designed and stitched on linen by Marjorie Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junius Johnson. Marjorie won a scholarship given by the Art Club to attend the Penticton School of Fine Arts, and later attended the Kootenay School of Art, where she also won a scholarship. She is now in third year at this school.

"The Church Where Salvation Makes You A Member"

Letter to the editor

The Editor, The Summerland Review
Dear Sir:

The Penticton Writers Group may not be too well known in this valley, but has come a long way since its formation several years ago. Meeting once monthly, the members discuss the methods of creative writing and help each other with their various problems. So enthusiastic were we, that in 1961, we decided to publish a small collection of what we considered the most suitable material. This booklet was named Mosaic and has been published yearly since then.

Material for the booklet is evaluated by an editorial staff appointed by the Group to choose the most appropriate manuscripts in order to present a variety of stories interesting to all. Of course no payment is made. The glory of seeing our own accomplishments in print is our only reward.

This year we have come to the point where, we feel we can extend our publication to include interested writers outside of our Group to contribute this producing a more varied addition.

We cordially invite any potential writer throughout the valley to submit material of no more than five hundred words in length, along with an entry fee of one dollar, to be considered for publication in Mosaic. The deadline for acceptance of manuscripts is March 31 and should be sent to the address below before that date.

The One Star Cubs are still working on Morse. Some are making good progress because they practice at home. However others will have to get down to it if they want to pass the signalling test which is essential for the Second Star. The boys are now using both lights and buzzers for signalling.

The Tenderpads should practice the reef and shuttend knots and their uses. We will have a test at our next meeting.

The New Chums had tests on the Club Law and Promise. Ricky Gurnett, Angus McNabb and Rodney Hickson passed both the Law, and Promise and Mike Prokopenko passed the Law.

At the next meeting we will start on Lord Baden-Powell — read it over in your books. It has also been in pictures in Canadian Boy; maybe you can borrow some from some of the older boys.

With regard to the snowshoe ramble on January 30 — be sure to wear warm clothing, too much is better than not enough — and good footwear, preferably rubber if you have them to keep your feet dry. Bring your lunch and a cup — we will make hot chocolate. We will leave Akela's house at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, January 30.

Six competition scores are: Red 74, Yellow 71; Black 72. These are a little different than Friday because points earned for passing tests have been added to bring them up to date.

Camera Club plans series of technical workshops

Members of the Camera Club are more than pleased at the attendance at meetings now. Twenty-five shutter-bugs had a most interesting and instructive evening at the meeting held on January 11.

A series of slides on winter photography was shown, and gave many good ideas for picture taking at this season of the year. Following this series a club member, Tom Hall, presented a series on close-up photography, using a taped commentary to explain the methods and equipment used in this branch of photography.

During the next six months the club will hold two meetings each month, one taking the form of a workshop. At these workshops, the members will have an opportunity to experiment with close-up, table top and portrait photography, as well as to exchange ideas during the discussion periods.

The first of these meetings will be held at the Health Centre on January 28 at 8 p.m.

1st Summerland Troop

On Monday we had a perfect turnout with only two boys absent on account of illness.

The Cubs met with us for a Going-up Ceremony in which Ed Mayert and Bob Tamblin became recruits in the troop in the Hawk patrol.

Three patrol leaders and ASM Wiens attended the special district map course in Penticton and Eric Brinton instructed a new class in Ambulance Man's Badge. Michael Inch, Alan Heinrichs, Gordon-Lacey and Frank Fenwick passed their Fireman's Badges. Special instructional emphasis was placed on semaphore signalling for the evening.

In patrol competitions on Scout signs and signalling, the Buffaloes won each time giving their patrol five extra points.

Next week the troop will meet at Doug's Sport Shop for an evening of rifle shooting in the basement. The shooting will be under the guidance of the Summerland Small Bore Rifle Club.

In the patrol competition the points are Hawks 52, Beavers 58, Eagles 62 and Buffaloes 67. Duty patrol for February 1 will be Eagles.

IMMACULATA CHAMPS AT TOURNEY

On Saturday at the invitation- al basketball tournament played here. Immaculatas from Penticton came out victors.

In the opening game Penticton whalloped Princess Margaret 34-22.

In Game 2 Immaculata squeeze- ed past Summerland 40-39. Bill Fitzpatrick, with 17 points, was top man for the locals. Don Johnson with eight, Ron Mayne with six, Gordon Lackey with four, and Rod Akitt along with Herb DeWitt with two points apiece rounded out the scoring.

In the consolation event Summerland over Princess Margaret 37-19. Bill Fitzpatrick was again top man for the locals as he scored 18 points. Other scorers were Don Johnson (8), Ken Mad- sen (6), Ron Mayne (3), and Rod Akitt (2).

In the championship game Im- maculata, sporting a 24-15 half- time lead, hung on to beat Penticton 41-36.

GIRLS OVER PENTICTON 26-9

In an exhibition game, Sum- merland girls whitewashed Pen- ticton girls by a score of 26-9. Taking an 14-8 half-time lead they overpowered Penticton the rest of the game. Gina Storey with eight points led Summer- land to victory. Judy Brown con- nected with six points, Patty Stevenson and Carolyn Norris with four, and Elaine Charles, along with Kay Fenwick, had two points.

LOSE IN PENTICTON

Last Friday night at 6 p.m. the Senior B teams boarded a bus for Penticton. Neither team however came up with a win. In the opening game Summer- land girls fell behind 12-4 in the first quarter and never caught up. They lost the game 23-14, with Bea Young starring for the locals with seven points. Ann Dean with three, Rita Rus- aw and Jean Felker with two points apiece, rounded up Sum- merland point getters.

Meanwhile in a fast, foul marked game the ever improv- ing boys lost a 49-44 heartbrea- ker. Trailing 29-22 at the half they narrowed down the mar- gin to four points in the third quarter and in the fourth quarter managed to tie Penticton 36-36 before falling back 43-36. Doug Trussel with 15 points starred for the Rockets. Gerald Marsh with 14, Gerry Mayne 7, Ray Mitchell 5, and Dave Lane with 3 completed Summerland scoring. Both Gerald Marsh and Doug Trussel were fouled out in the last quarter.

Our five cheerleaders gave an exciting display of encourage- ment for our teams. They are a valuable asset to Summerland as they provide both entertain- ment and added encouragement for the players and fans at home and away basketball games.

BRONCS TIE TWICE OVER WEEK END

In back-to-back encounters over the week end, the Penticton-Summerland El Rancho Broncs came up with two ties with the Kelowna Buckaroos. The game in Penticton on Friday night resulted in a 3-3 dead- lock, and in Kelowna on Sat- urday night the score board showed 2-2 at the final bell.

They were both well played games with few penalties being handed out.

Rifle shooting popular sport

Indoor rifle shooting is prov- ing to be a very popular sport with people of all ages, as is indicated by the growth of the Summerland Sporting Rifle Club since it was organized several years ago. There are at present over 20 adult members and over 30 juniors. The range is also used by the Boy Scouts.

This year the range is set up in the basement of Doug's Sport Shop. Thursday evening is for junior members. They are under the strict supervision of range officers and are instructed in the careful handling of firearms. The senior members meet on Friday night to shoot for the pins and crests awarded by the Dominion Marksmen As- sociation.

Visitors are always welcome at the range and anyone wishing to get details of membership, may contact Roy Bertram, Miss Louise Atkinson or Don Tait.

SPORTS

160 youngsters will participate in hockey night

On Wednesday night, January 27 the Minor Hockey Associa- tion will conduct a house to house sale of Booster tickets. These tickets will also give the purchaser admission to the Min- or Hockey Jamboree which will be held in the Arena on Satur- day evening, January 30.

The Jamboree will be opened at 7 p.m. by Reeve Norman Hol- mes. There will be 160 local lads and 12 Peachland boys taking part, and will feature young- sters from six to sixteen years of age. At 7 p.m. the Tads (6-8 years) take to the ice. Follow- ing will be the Pups (8-10); Pee Wees (10-12); Bantams (12-14); Midgets (14-15); and Juveniles (15-16).

It will be a good evening of entertainment for hockey fans and the Minor Hockey Associa- tion hopes the young players will get the support they des- erve.

Senior curlers pick rinks for dominion play-offs

The Senior Curling Club is enjoying another successful season. There are now eight rinks competing, playing three after- noons a week.

This year a senior curlers bon-spiel will be held in Port Ar- thur for the dominion champion- ship. In the local play-offs for two rinks to represent Summer- land in the zone finals in Pen- ticton this week end, six rinks took part including one from Peachland.

Winners were the Herb Lemke rink with C. Davis, Doney Wilson and Howard Clark; and the Del Carter rink with A. Ar- ndt, Dr. W. H. B. Munn and Dr. R. Cuthbert.

Runners-up was the Gavin Paterson rink with Ken Camer- on, A. Etter and Wm. Ward. The combined age of this group totals 297 years.

A welcome is extended to all senior men to visit the rink and enjoy the fellowship Wed- nesday and Friday afternoons.

Hockey teams now busy in play-offs

Midget hockey action came to an end for the local team as they lost two games to Vernon by scores of 3-0 in Vernon and 4-2 on their home ice.

In the first game the boys played a rather poor game and although they had several good scoring chances, but they didn't get by the Vernon goalie. In the second game on Sunday after- noon they really went all out but just couldn't match the pace of the hustling Vernon squad.

In other hockey action, the Pee Wees will meet Penticton in the Summerland Arena Sun- day in the first game of a two out of three series.

In a recent game the Ban- tams lost to Penticton by a 8-2 score to eliminate them from the playoffs.

The Juveniles took a 6-5 de- cision from Penticton in the first of their two out of three series. The second game will be in Summerland Thursday night.

BOWLING RESULTS

After two weeks of bowling, following the holiday recess, there has been little change in the team standings. In A Divi- sion the Accidentals are leading with 31 points, followed by the Borderlines with 27 and Occi- dentals with 26.

The Mad 5 top the B Division with 27 points, two ahead of the Super Valus and three up on Bud's Garage. There has been some change in C Division as the Keglers now lead with 29 points. In second place are the Have Knots followed by the Pinchoppers.

Ladies' high single and high three in A Division went to Lor- raine Irvine with 285 and 667. Men's high single and the high three were rolled by Ernie Har- rison, 351 and 783. High team, Occidentals 3021.

In B Division: Ladies' high three and high single went to Bernice Carty with 252 and 585. Men's high single and high three, Bruce Bingham, 319 and 646. High team, Super Valus.

In C Division: Ladies high three, Edna Tunton, 267, and ladies high three, Doreen Moore 551. Men's high single and high three, Hugo Marks, 248 and 614. High team, Pinchoppers 2570.

In other activities, at the al- lays, the ladies league bowl on Thursday and Friday and a men's league got under way on Sunday evening. The junior league bowls every Saturday after- noon.

The provincial playdowns for the Western Canada five pins finale will be held in Penticton early in February. There will be more details of these later.

Development of Giant's Head is proposed for centenary

Development of the top of Giant's Head Mountain as a Centennial Park is the project submitted to council Tuesday night by the Summerland Centennial Committee.

The committee, headed by Dr. James Marshall was appointed by council last spring to find a project that will fittingly commemorate 100 years of confederation in Canada. Fifteen suggestions were received by the committee who studied them during the summer.

In outlining its suggestion to council, the Centennial Committee said it was well aware that many a Canadian community will commemorate 100 years of confederation by constructing a public building of some sort. Doubtless the choices will be logical. Only one Canadian community is blessed with a Giant's Head.

Second choice of the committee was an annex to the Jubilee Arena; and third choice an annex to the regional library.

Development of the striking landmark was suggested by both Magnus Tait and Walter M. Wright, two pioneer citizens.

In its report the committee states that development of the Giant's Head Mountain as a community park has long been in the minds of thoughtful citizens of this municipality. Over 50 years ago the recreational possibilities of the mountain were discussed. Two factors have prevented action: the difficulty of constructing a road to the summit and of financing the work.

A number of years ago a civil engineer examined the topography of Giant's Head Mountain. He reported that construction of a road to the summit would be expensive. Evidently his appraisal discouraged action.

In no great spirit of optimism the committee asked the opinion of Don Agur whose wide knowledge of mountain road-building is well known locally. With the efficient road building equipment now available could a motor road be constructed at reasonable cost. Not a highway for continuous heavy traffic, but the sort of practical mountain road that is so widely used for pleasure drives.

After spending several Sundays measuring angles and projecting a roadbed on the north face of the mountain, Mr. Agur reported his findings: A road with a maximum grade of 15 percent could be constructed for not more than $10,000. (By way of comparison the present road from Prairie Valley to the Mountain View Home has a grade of 15 percent.)

The proposed road is approximately one and a quarter miles with a shale surface. The road would terminate on a small plateau approximately 200 yards from the summit. A well graded trail would extend from the end of the road to the summit.

At the end of the road would be a turn-around with parking space for about 50 vehicles. Picnic tables and toilet facilities would be provided nearby.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Borton have returned from a holiday with relatives and friends in California.

The Giant's Head would wear a new hat if the proposal of the Summerland Centennial Committee is adopted. The project would be something distinctive to stimulate the imagination and be an obvious reminder of the confederation of Canada.

Snow removal costs over $7,000 this winter

A road which was rerouted 40 years ago due to a slide of a clay bank is causing problems for council today.

This portion of the Crescent Beach Road was moved from the municipal right of way and re-routed through a property which was recently purchased by Wilfred Smith for a tent and trailer camp.

The problem of the road was brought to council's attention last week and Mr. Smith was asked to attend the latest council meeting to discuss the matter. Reeve Norman Holmes told Mr. Smith that the council did not wish to move the road as it was not feasible to put it back on the original road allowance because of the slide threat.

Reeve Holmes suggested that the municipality could fill an equal amount of the lake to trade with the property owner for the road. Such a fill, he indicated would make a sizeable lake shore beyond the road. Approximately 900 feet of road is involved.

An assessment of the property will be made and Mr. Smith will meet with council again.

A representative of A. E. Ames and Co. asked council that his firm be appointed fiscal agents to market the $340,000 debentures for the new hospital. He said because Summerland has not been on the bond market since 1956, buyers do not know the district too well. All recent debentures have been sold locally.

The ambulance which was donated to the community from a bequest left to the hospital has been operating at a profit. On a motion by Councillor Powell the money will be put into a special fund to build up over the years and eventually be used as a replacement fund.

A letter from the Kamloops civil defence headquarters was acted on by council. The letter asked council to consider stocking sand bags which can be used in cases of flooding. The municipality will obtain 1000 at a cost of $124.

Negotiations were reported being made with the CPR to improve the three railway crossings in the municipality.

Councillor Ritchie reported that snow removal and sanding this year has cost the municipality $7,635.90 to date. He commended the municipal crew for the excellent job they have done of this work.

Expect plebiscite soon for Regional college

The Okanagan Regional College Committee has prepared a prospective agreement for the establishment and broad financing of a regional college to be located in the Okanagan Valley.

The ten school boards represented on the committee (including Summerland) will now be asked to consider and approve the agreement as a basis for further steps to establish the college.

The agreement was prepared Tuesday afternoon by a sub-committee comprised of secretary, treasurers from school districts and given further consideration by the regional college committee at an evening meeting in Kelowna.

School boards will now be asked to indicate their approval of the agreement at the earliest possible date, but will not formally sign the agreement until a plebiscite has been held in all districts. It is expected that such a plebiscite may be held within two or three months.

Professor F. T. Giles, retained by the committee to recommend a site for the college, is now preparing his report. Representatives of each school district have previously agreed to abide by his findings.

Committee chairman Frank Venables said he had met recently with the Deputy Minister of Education, Dr. F. English in Victoria and that Dr. English had suggested the committee might consider starting the college in temporary quarters until such time as permanent buildings are available. Venables said the Minister had shown strong interest in the college and in the promise of the committee.

Mr. Venables also reported on his recent attendance at the West Kootenay college council seminary in Nelson, and felt that progress of the West Kootenay group would be of considerable help to the development of a regional college in the Okanagan.

The committee agreed that a program for information of the public should be prepared and appointed Don Summerville of Oliver as public relations representative.

Lower temp., more rain recorded in 1964

The annual weather report from the Summerland research station shows temperatures in 1964 ranged from a high of 90 degrees to a low of -15 degrees.

The average mean temperature for the months of January, February and November were above average. This was more than offset by much lower than average mean temperatures during May, August, September and December.

The highest temperature of 96 degrees occurred on July 12.

The lowest temperature of -15 degrees occurred the evening of December 15. This was the lowest temperature ever recorded in December. It was six degrees colder than the previous low which occurred in 1924. There were several unusual features. The low occurred at the middle of the month and therefore caused more damage than if it had occurred later. The continuous recording thermometer showed that the -15 degrees started at 9:30 p.m. and did not vary for the next 12 hours. Normally the temperature gradually drops to the extreme and gradually recovers. During this 12 hour period the average wind speed at the Penticton airport was 20 mph from the north.

The lowest mean temperature ever recorded occurred during August. The average mean temperature of 63.7 degrees was slightly lower than 63.9 which was recorded in 1957.

Another record was equalled in January. The high minimum temperature for the month of 23 degrees had only been recorded once previously and that was back in 1928.

Precipitation

It was dry during February, March, April; May and October when only 1.13 inches of precipitation were recorded. On the average 3.94 inches are received during these months. However in June, July, August; September; November and December 10.09 inches fell compared to the average for these months of 5.98 inches. Precipitation for the year was 13 per cent above average.

Sunshine

The 1907.6 hours of sunshine received in 1964 was 81.1 below the 49 year average of 1988.7 hours. February was a bright month with 37.5 hours more sunshine than the 49 year average of 85.9.

Length of frost free period in 1964 was 190 days, with the date of last spring frost April 19, and first fall frost, October 27.

Parliament Buildings
Victoria, B.C.

Unique location should be utilized

CENTENNIAL PROJECT
Features

(a) Landscaping: It is proposed that at suitable points on the mountain, plantings be made of native trees and shrubs (exotic things would be strictly avoided) each type being planted where conditions would permit survival without irrigation. Examples: Western larch, (the magnificent tree that produces the soft yellow fall colouration of the mountain above Naramata at the 2500-4000 foot level);

Saskatoon berry (particularly lodgepole pine (near the summit); additional yellow pine and Douglas fir; Mahonia (Oregon grape); snowberry and mountain maple and sumac (to provide red fall colouration).

(b) Guard fences: On the summit, guard fences would be provided at danger points.

(c) Signposts: On the summit signs perhaps burned into heavy cedar planking, such as devised by the Provincial Parks people. Their signs are durable for its white spring blossoms); works of art. The signs would designate points of interest - Snow Mountain; Conkle Mountain; Cartwright Mountain, Rattlesnake Mountain; Prairie Valley; Garnett Valley, Peachland; Naramata; Skaha Lake, Okanagan Falls, etc. Elevation would be noted for each mountain.

(d) Cairn: The highest point on the mountain would be surmounted by a cut-stone cairn constructed of the most enduring stone available. The cairn would bear a bronze plaque commemorating 100 years of confederation in Canada. It is proposed that there be sealed into the base for posterity an airtight copper or bronze canister. The canister would contain some typical Canadiana of our time, and a parchment bearing in permanent ink a statement signed by members of the Municipal Council. Hundreds of years from now, perhaps Canadian historians might be grateful for the foresight. It might be advisable to provide a lightning conductor to protect the cairn.

Because the cairn, although a modest thing would be the focal point, so to speak of the project, it might be appropriate to propose a local competition for a design.

Points in Favor

(a) It is doubtful if any community in Canada has within its confines, indeed almost in its geographic centre, a natural feature as striking as Giant's Head: or one that provides a more inspiring view of all that is typical of the countryside. The proposed project would make the most of this unique landmark.

(b) Evidently the project could be completed at a cost within the projected budget.

(c) The project is highly imaginative.

(d) It would be an extremely durable and arresting reminder that Canada has a proud history. Recent events emphasize that it is high time Canadians gave more thought to their heritage, and perhaps somewhat less thought to purely material objectives.

(e) Although long a dream in the community it is unlikely that the project would be undertaken except under such exceptional circumstances as have been provided by the centenary of confederation.

(f) It would probably insure a striking local landmark against defacement from commercial exploitation, real estate development or logging. Who knows what pressure might be put on some future municipal body.

(g) The proposed plantings would enhance the esthetic appeal of the mountain.

(h) The view from the 2774 foot summit of Giant's Head could readily be enjoyed by almost every citizen of the community. Literally and figuratively, even the aged could be transported in a matter of minutes. For visitors to the community a drive to the "top of the rock" would be even more memorable experience than a ride to the top of Seattle's 600 foot Space Needle.

(i) Maintenance would not be burdensome for the community since the mountain project would merely emphasize features of the natural Okanagan parkland. None of the few structures would entail much care-taking or costly periodic renovation.

(j) It is not the intention that the proposed road be a sort of mountain boulevard; nor a speed way for the thoughtless. The grade and switchbacks, although not such as to discourage travel by the ordinary driver, would assuredly discourage speeding. "Washboarding" and cost of maintenance would be minimum unless travel became very heavy and in that event the success of the project would but be the greater.

Points Against the Project

(a) The road might discourage timid drivers (those who would avoid the present road to the Mountain View Home).

(b) Although it would provide a fine winter hike for anyone seeking exercise or inspiration, or both; the road would not be open to motor traffic during average winter months.

(c) Unless a well could be driven in a small glen near the summit (doubtful) there would be no water at the picnic site. Picnickers would have to carry their own supply of fluids. Eventually it might be found desirable to pump a small flow of municipal drinking water in a series of lifts.

(d) A possible difficulty is that the first traverse of the road might encroach upon private property. The committee has not yet been able to establish limits of private ownership on the north face of the mountain

When his son was born in 1955 Mike's Dad bought a Manufacturers Life policy. It has provided $10,000 protection ever since. Recently he was pleased to learn it had over $1,100 in cash value; that the policy dividend rate was up again. (The 10th consecutive increase since Mike was born.)

This policy has a constant premium and will provide $10,000 protection for as long as Mike's Dad lives. But it is more than protection. Guaranteed cash values build up year after year. These values are available to meet emergencies or later to supplement retirement income.

In addition it returns dividends each year. The size of a policy dividend depends in large part on the success of investment operations. In this field Manufacturers Life has an outstanding record and in 1965 $14,685,717 will be paid to participating policyowners.

A Manufacturers Life participating policy will be a solid foundation for your family's security.

It's protection plus guaranteed cash values plus dividends. Talk it over with your Manufacturers Life representative. Soon.

A Richer Age

On November 30, 1874 a boy was born in England. On Sunday, more than 90 years later, that infant grown through manhood to a very ripe old age, died — and left a different world behind him, because he had lived in it.

Such was Winston Spencer Churchill's influence, that all mankind through countless ages to come, will be brighter by reason of his untiring efforts to improve the lot of the human race.

He saw military service in Cuba, in India, on the Nile and in South Africa. He used that knowledge he gained during these expeditions as a key to a better understanding of the people in these lands, and their reaction to the British, and each other.

Politically, he was not a rebel for the sake of rebellion, but did not hesitate to change sides — and parties — when he felt it necessary to further the cause of freedom and tolerance. Thus, on more than one occasion he stood alone, or nearly alone while the mass and the mob were looking in other directions.

Eulogies are being poured out at his passing, but perhaps the best is a paraphrase of some of his own words. These words could well be a motto for the peoples and the governments of all the world, "If we fail, then the whole world and all that we have known and cared for, will sink into the abyss of a new Dark Age, made more sinister and perhaps more protracted, by the lights of perverted science."

Thus, if we would honor Churchill, as we should, let us live out this challenge, using his V for Victory sign as a symbol of our efforts to enhance the betterment of the race of man, even as he did.

Mending Fruit Fences

For the past few years there has been increasing unrest in the fruit industry. Some of this was aimed at management, some at the parent organization and a good deal at the prices and conditions growers were obtaining.

There isn't a doubt but that some growers had a genuine cause for complaint; but in most instances this complaint was aimed broadside at any and everything that seemed to be at fault.

At last week's 76th annual BCFGA convention a good deal of the difficulty was aired, and a great deal more of constructive action was set in motion.

There were a few but important changes in the directorate of the key channels of the movement. Secondly, support for some managerial changes — to Sunrype, for instance — were fully endorsed. Then, too the matter of R. P. Walrod's resignation was clarified, and the newly elected BC Tree Fruits executive agreed to a study being made of both sales and management, without any tinge of criticism in the terms of reference.

This will doubtless clear up some of the problems. But some that remain are the sole prerogative of the fruit grower himself. The Hon. F. X. Richter's forthright statement regarding an "economic unit" requires further thinking, and ultimate action on the part of the grower.

Add to this the greater emphasis on the need for getting riper, and better quality fruit to the increasing markets available close at hand, and you have the sum of what could make for a big change in the industry.

Navigating the Narrows

by Rev P. K. Louie

In the southern part of Russia is an inland body of water called the Dea of Azov. About a hundred miles from shore to shore, it lends itself to comfort were sailing a vessel and should be able and safe navigating. If you want to enter larger waters, you would have to head your boat through a narrow strait of water called the Straits of Kerch and out again into the broader Black Sea.

Should you want wider waters still your craft would have to move through another neck of water called the Bosphorus and out into the long and interesting Mediterranean. If your longing should be for really spacious stretches of water and you should wish to sail the broad Atlantic again you would face the necessity of navigating the narrows, this time the Strait of Gibraltar.

And should you want the most endless reaches of ocean to sail, to reach the mighty Pacific, you would have to maneuver the slow and painstaking Panama Canal or navigate among the reefs and islands of Cape Horn.

This bit of geography reminds us of the scripture passage in Matthew 7:14 where it says "Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

While Christ did not use a nautical picture when he spoke of the strait gate and the narrow way that led to life, he did want us to realize that no larger life is reached except through the narrows of discipline, no great freedom is reached except through the painful course of decision, no broad stretches of usefulness will unfold except through self-denial and duty.

To drift along, whether blithely in naive optimism or grimly in abject despair, will open no doors to life. You can keep sailing along on the small sea of Azov, but if you want to move in on the intriguing Mediterranean or the broad Atlantic or the almost endless freedom of the Pacific, you simply must head into the narrows first.

To be sure, we will never simply drift into great living. But, neither are the narrows blocked. If man will pay the price and meet the moral demands the narrows can be navigated. And beyond the narrows is the Word of the Living God.

And if enough men and women in enough nations will try, God may yet usher us into an age of righteousness and brotherhood unrivaled in all history.

LAUGH OF THE WEEK

Sherlock Holmes: Ah, Watson, I see you have on your winter underwear.

Watson: Marvellous, Holmes, marvellous. How did you ever deduce that?

Holmes: Well, you have merely forgotten to put on your trousers.

Horace: Charlie, did you hear that joke about the Egyptian guide who showed some tourists two skulls of Cleopatra, one of her as a girl and one as a woman?

Charlie: No, let's hear it.

Aren't people funny? Yes, if you tell a man that there are 270,678,934,341 stars in the universe he'll believe you. But if a sign says Fresh Paint that same man has to touch it.

You say that he is very sure of himself?

I'll say he is. He even does cross-word puzzles with a pen.

Ecumenism in action

by Peg Deeder

"Getting to know you" might well have been the theme when young people of the Free Methodist Church, along with their pastor Rev. Norman Ion gathered at the home of Mr and Mrs Preston Mott on the evening of January 15 to hear Rev. Michael J. Guinan, PP of the Church of the Holy Child.

Father Guinan answered questions previously submitted to him by the young people about the beliefs and practices of the Roman Catholic Church. Misconceptions were cleared away as the priest explained the meaning of the Mass, discussed purgatory and gave an interesting insight into the life of a seminary student preparing for the priesthood.

All present agreed that much had been learned; that while areas of disagreement might exist between the two faiths, they would have a greater understanding and appreciation of the similarity in religious concepts.

Father Guinan expressed his appreciation as follows: "When I was invited to the home of Mr and Mrs Mott to address the young people of the Free Methodist Church, in the presence of their pastor I accepted with alacrity. This was indeed an honor and a pleasure for me. "It is my joy to be continuously re-discovering the intelligent concern of young people in world wide problems, of which Christian unity is most important. Since youth is our most precious commodity, we should encourage them in their turn to continue the drive toward unity of all Christian peoples, which must surely result in a better world for all.

I was privileged to answer pertinent questions addressed to me regarding the teachings of the Roman Catholic Church. The courtesy, respect and attentiveness of all present made the evening most pleasant. I extend my sincere thanks to those responsible for arranging this opportunity to set Ecumenism in action."

BIG STICK

Experts still argue about the dimensions of B.C.'s 'Big Stick'. Old timers report that the tree, a Douglas fir felled near Vancouver in 1895, exceeded the giant Sequoia of California in overall measurement. The gargantuan fir was allegedly 417 feet high, with 300 feet clear to the first limb.

Butt diameter was 25 feet and the bark was 16 inches thick. Butt circumference was 77 feet and 207 feet from the ground it measured nine feet through.

SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

Ho Hum, War Is Hell

Is there anything sillier than an old soldier? Wait a minute, Jack, I don't mean honest veterans like you and me, who fought our war, then forgave and forgot. No, I mean the professionals, and especially the generals.

My feelings toward the top brass were rekindled recently when General Omar Bradley took a swing from out in left field at General Montgomery, claiming Monty had been too slow and too scared to close the Falaise Gap when he should have. Twenty years after the event, the old boys are still bickering.

I didn't blame Bradley much. Montgomery has been blaming every other general, ever since the war ended, for everything that went wrong. Apparently he was the only big shot who was always right.

And that reminds me of the silliest thing Montgomery ever said. It was a few years ago, during an interview. It was to the effect that he likes to see soldiers soaking wet, hungry, filthy and exhausted. Then he knows they have been soldiering. That sort of poppycock is fairly typical of the intelligence of a general.

This may have been true during the Kaiser's war. Old sweats of that one knew all about dirt, wet, lice, slim rations and exhaustion. But their troubles were all physical ones: being blown up, or sniped, or caught on the barbed wire, or gassed, or eaten alive by rats. They didn't face the psychological horrors of my war.

It was sheer hell, at times, for us pilots, especially if we wore officers. Even today, after two decades trying to heal the scars, memory of those ordeals sends a cold shudder through me.

Sometimes, for example, the batman would forget to put sugar in the morning tea he brought when he wakened you. But you never complained. You drank it down stoically, without a whimper.

Another experience that left its mark on many of us was the time they took the batmen off altogether and substituted WAAFs for them. Some of the chaps were totally unnerved to be wakened in the morning by a chubby little air-woman, cooing "ere's your tea, luv. Drink it up while it's 'ot."

Some of the other hardships we endured can scarcely be recounted in a family journal. One aerodrome at which I had the incredible bad luck to be stationed in England was eight miles from the nearest pub, and the only way to get there was by bicycle. Match that for inhuman conditions.

But that's the sort of thing we went through, and those of us who survived were prematurely aged by the pitiless circumstances under which we strove to ensure there'd always be an England. Seared in my brain forever is one horrible day we were drafted by a brutal group captain to play rugger the morning after a farewell party in the sergeants' mess. Rugger is a peculiar British game in which you never stomp a man in the face until he is down, and only then if you can't stomp him in the stomach.

Another painful memory is that of fat senior officers standing with their backsides to the fireplace, while we junior officers, shut off from the only heat in the place, shivered miserably around the bar.

Old sweats talk about marching 300 miles in ten days. They don't realize what we went through on those trains in England. Sometimes we officers, even though we had first-class tickets, had to ride in the third-class coaches with all those rude, nasty soldiers and sailors and things.

Looking back, I can't help but marvel at the way we faced up to the hardships of those grim days, without a murmur. But it was war, and we were true-blue. Except in the mornings, when we were a little green around give you a kipper for breakfast, the gills. That's when they'd Hardships? I could write a book.

DEAR DORIS

advice from
Doris Clark

Under A Mother's Spell

DEAR DORIS—I come from a family of eight and I have eczema. My mother-in-law thinks large families are BAD, and that eczema is contagious, which most people know isn't. She did everything in her power to stop my marriage to her son.

My husband's brother's wife and I have compared notes and find she tells awful tales about each of us to the other. Then my husband says my sister-in-law is lying. I could go on and on about the way my mother-in-law tries to twist things and make trouble for us.

What can be done to put an end to this ridiculous nonsense?
Desperate

DEAR DESPERATE—Well, I think large families are wonderful, so there!

Your M.I.L. has dominated her own small and select family of two boys for too many years to want to stop now. Anything which could possibly justify her in objecting to the (to her) untimely entrance of two other women into the picture is fair strategy.

The sons are still under the spell. The most hopeful sign is that they DID get married, both of them. As they grow older and wiser, and closer to their mates, they'll begin to see the light.

You can afford to be generous. Just be sure she knows she isn't fooling you. And run your own show.

DEAR DORIS—How should I introduce incoming guests to a full room of people?

New-Fledged Hostess

DEAR HOSTESS—As a new guest arrives, you take him into the room and introduce him right around, one at a time. If a couple or three arrive together, you could take them around together. If guests are pouring in too fast, get a close friend to help you by taking charge of some of them.

Everyone should have this individual attention. You simply can't stand in the middle of the room and say, "These are my cousins, Mary and Jill and Bob," and leave them hanging in the air.

DEAR DORIS—I think your advice is the greatest. I am a girl 18, Italian, but I have lived in this country nearly all my life. I'm miserable because my parents won't let me date.

They would never consider letting me out unless the boy came over to my house and asked my father for my hand in marriage. Maybe an Italian boy would do it, but not one born in this country.

I am interested in a boy who drives the bus, and when I see him it is by stealth. What can I do about my parents?

Wants Out

DEAR WANTS—I've heard this before. Here we encourage boys and girls to go out together, mix with other, and learn enough about the opposite sex to eventually make a (more or less) intelligent choice of a marriage partner.

Perhaps if your well-meaning parents were to talk with other Italian couples more used to our ways, it would help. Many newcomers have been helped by Y.W.C.A.'s, who hold dances and parties for the very purpose of bringing together the young people of different racial origins.

Seek out the Y. counsellor in your own town, and get her to help you figure out an approach. Your parents shouldn't live their whole lives with blinders on.

Original clothes worn at 25th anniversary

A well known couple, Mr and Mrs Wm. McCutcheon, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on January 15.

A dinner was held at the Pilgrim House in Penticton attended by members of the family and members of the wedding party, including Mrs Gordon McDonald; Norris Laidlaw; Mrs K. Boothe; Roy Kennedy and Jim May.

Following the dinner, a social evening was held at the McCutcheon home. Many lovely gifts were received from friends who called to extend good wishes. Entertainment took the form of a mock wedding. All attendants at the wedding 25 years previously took part in the mock ceremonies, many of them wearing clothes worn on the first occasion.

The only member of the family unable to attend was a son, Wayne McCutcheon who is now living in Australia.

Mrs E. Grant has returned to the coast after visiting her father in Summerland hospital.

Here are three important reasons why it will pay you to renovate and redecorate your home now!

1 SKILLED MEN ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
Although more and more building is being done each winter, exterior construction does slow down during the cold weather. As a result, home improvement contractors and skilled craftsmen seek out the smaller interior jobs that they are unable to handle during the summer. You benefit—with skilled workmanship by experienced tradesmen when it's most convenient to you!

2 DISCOUNTS AND LOANS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
To create incentives that will balance their sales and keep their staff employed throughout the year, building supply dealers run winter sales. These special discounts help you renovate and redecorate at the lowest possible cost. You'll find your bank a good place to visit, too—for low-interest Home Improvement Loans under the National Housing Act: up to $4,000.00, with up to ten years to repay!

3 MATERIALS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
When building slows down, materials become more readily available. Result: Irritating delays in completing your job because of late delivery of supplies are eliminated!

There's no doubt about it. Winter is the very best time to spruce up your home (and your place of business)—quickly, efficiently, inexpensively!

Is Your Home Getting The Care It Deserves?

Failure to make repairs to your house immediately can be downright expensive. One piece of falling plaster that's overlooked or left to take care of itself so often leads to another. And then the final expense is much greater.

If your house is in need of improvements — repairs, paint jobs and the like — and your ready cash can't take care of the cost, see Jock Johnston, manager of the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal about a Home Improvement Loan. HIL's are available at the B of M for all kinds of worthwhile purposes about the house.

They're inexpensive, too — the interest is less than one half of one per cent a month — and you repay in easy monthly instalments, plus interest. So, if you have repairs or improvements on your mind, call on Mr. Johnston at the B of M tomorrow. He will be glad to show you how a Home Improvement Loan can help you.

Juveniles play Sunday in league finals

The Summerland Juveniles advanced into the league finals against Vernon last week after taking two games against Pentiction. The first game went into overtime with a score of 6-5. Rich Anderson was the hero of that encounter as he got two goals in the first period and dropped in the tie-breaker in the overtime session. In Vernon Monday night the lads were shown a rough hard hitting team suffering several player casualties. They will have to go all out in the return game here Sunday as this is a best two out of three series. Game time is 12:45.

Local rinks winning as bonspiel season opens

Local curlers took their share of honors in the bonspiels and playoffs held recently.

Herb Lemke's rink won the best two out of three from the Bennel rink of Kamloops to capture the senior men's curling title for the Okanagan. They now advance to the B.C. Curling Association senior regional finals in Vernon February 4-5. Four rinks representing the Kootenays, Yukon; Northern B.C. and Okanagan will play off for the chance to go against the coast winners in Kamloops on February 7. Summerland curlers are Herb Lemke; C. Davis; Doney Wilson and Howard Clark.

Three ladies rinks entered the ladies open bonspiel in Kelowna. Gladys McMillan's rink captured the A event and Mary Carer's rink placed third in the B event.

In the Osoyoos open bonspiel Summerland again came to the fore as Gerry Hallquist's rink took the A event.

Representing this district in the Massey Ferguson Curlarama Bill Croft's rink will be in Kelowna on February 12-18. Walt Toevs rink took part in the Briar playdowns at Grand Forks with a Kelowna rink winning out.

In other curling news Don Turnbull's rink with Joe Sheel-ey; Gerry Goddard and Tiny Hankins went to Lumby on the week end to curl in a Sweater Bonspiel. They returned each with a different sweater.

Broncs meet Kamloops in playoffs Friday

On Friday night the Pentiction-Summerland El Rancho Broncs made certain of third place in the Okanagan Junior Hockey League as they stopped Vernon Blades by a score of 4-3. Broncs' goaltender, Ernie Pushkarenko, turned in a stellar performance after a lengthy layoff caused by an eye injury.

In the final game of the regular schedule the Broncs went down to a 3-1 decision in Vernon on Saturday night.

They now go into the playoffs with Kamloops. Home games will be on Friday and Tuesday in the Pentiction arena at 8:30 p.m.

The Summerland Review

A noteworthy feature about this bungalow by architect S. A. Gitterman of Ottawa is its accent on privacy. The house has its narrow front to the street and by extending the front wall and putting a fence to the side seclusion has been given to the living and dining rooms. This also creates a pleasant private outdoor courtyard. The entrance from the carport is sheltered and there is a good sized hall with easy access to the basement. The bedrooms are well segregated with a dressing room and a wash-room off the master bedroom. The main entrance should face east.

The floor area is 1,332 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 58 feet by 30 feet six inches. Working drawings for this house known as Design 2327, can be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

The Cubs are continuing on their Star Tests. The New Chums are now learning about Lord Baden-Powell, the founder of Boy Scouts. Lee Miltimore; Danny Ashton; Wade MacGregor and Billy Head passed their First Star knots test. Next meeting the First Star Cubs will have a test on Morse signalling. Everybody will be ready, I hope.

Second stripes were awarded to Chris McIntosh, Wade MacGregor and Eric Munn. Alan Fisher and Grant Gale were invested as Sixers and awarded their Sixer stripes. Well done boys, keep up the good leadership.

Plans have been laid for the Snowshoe Ramble on Saturday, January 30. We leave from Akela's home at 9:30. Wear warm clothing, good shoes and bring a cup and your lunch. Hot cocoa will be provided.

The Six competition is running hot and close. Scores are Red Six 98; Yellow Six 99 and Black Six 100.

The new Cub uniform comes with both long and short pants. The boys voted on which we would wear in our Pack and 75 per cent voted for shorts.

This meeting was a shoot held under auspices of the Small Bore Rifle Club in the shooting range at Doug's Sport Shop. The thanks of the boys go both to Mr Taylor and the Club for their assistance, especially Mrs Taylor; Mr and Mrs Bertram and Mr Richardson. The boys all shot three targets with scores up to 100. As one of the requirements for the Marksman's Badge a target score of 80 is required.

Meeting next week will be at the Youth Centre. Duty patrol Eagles.

The Manufacturers Life Insurance Company added $791 million of new business to its books last year, a gain of 8.9 per cent over 1963. President A. T. Seedhouse told the company's 78th annual meeting in Toronto today. Business in force at year end was $5.2 billion.

Money paid to policyowners and beneficiaries increased to $91 million, a new record of which $64 million went to living policyowners as matured endowments, annuity income and policy dividends. The company has paid over a billion dollars in benefits since its incorporation in 1887.
