Better 'phone communication with police in the future

Councillor Walter Powell told the Summerland Council Tuesday morning that he had encountered difficulty regarding the program they set up to offer municipal lands for sale.

At last week's meeting it was decided to arrive at a selling price of municipal property, pass it in council and place it on the office bulletin board.

Powell found that there were those who felt that lands could go up for sale without public knowledge unless they went into the office to check the bulletin board.

To avoid this, council decided to advertise lands up for sale before placing them on the bulletin board.

Clerk Gordon Smith said he is preparing a map of municipal lands for the convenience of the real estate committee.

Councillor Ritchie said there would be a meeting of the South Okanagan Health Unit the afternoon of Nov. 17.

The Department of Social Welfare notified council they were authorized to pay a special Christmas allowance of $10 for the head of the family and $4.00 for each dependant, on behalf of their department and they in turn would pay the municipality back.

The 1966 Union of B.C. Municipalities convention was confirmed to be held in Penticton September 21-23, 1966.

It was felt the fireworks permit system was working well. Reeve Holmes said they have not had a complaint for two years.

Legion Command confirmed the Maple Leaf flag would be flown on Remembrance Day.

Superintendent Blagborne will attend a course on design of flexible pavement at UBC February 7 to 18. Council felt that due to the amount of hard surface work being done it would be wise if Mr. Blagborne received all current knowledge.

In a letter to council, RCMP Cpl. Stahl answered their inquiry regarding better telephone service during off-duty hours.

He explained that there is only one man on duty from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. and after that hour they are only on call.

The only way the police can be contacted during those hours is to telephone an off-duty policeman or contact the Penticton RCMP.

In detachments owned by the federal government, a telephone extension arrangement is set up to the residence of the officer in charge, but this is not done where they are under contract with municipalities and where they have offices in buildings other than their own.

Cpl. Stahl suggested however, if the corporation wished to have a telephone extension placed in his home, he would be pleased to take the responsibility of answering off duty

Ted Atkinson appointed manager director of Development Council

F. E. Ted Atkinson Summerland, has been appointed Managing Director of the Okanagan Regional Industrial Development Council with Headquarters in Summerland.

This was decided at an executive meeting of this organization last week.

Mr. Atkinson retired in September after many years of devoted service to the fruit industry headquarters at the Research Station in Summerland.

The executive felt they were fortunate to obtain Mr. Atkinson as he is known throughout Canada at all levels of government and in the commercial and industrial field.

Redistribution Commission requests Summerland desires

It would seem that Summerland got in the middle of a controversy without even trying during the hearings of the Provincial Redistribution Commission last week.

The commission had received a number of requests Naramata to be moved from the South Okanagan electoral district to Okanagan Similkameen, mostly because of their geographic location with the north—but none of such came from Summerland until their public meeting in Kelowna last Wednesday.

We asked a member of the Commission, Mr. F. H. Early, after the Penticton sitting Thursday night how it was that Summerland was being considered for a change.

He could not exactly recall without checking the tape recordings of the Kelowna meeting but he thought it arose out of a suggestion that both districts be extended north and Summerland being on the south border of South Okanagan electoral district, it came up for consideration.

An earlier press report stated that the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce had presented a brief requesting Summerland and Naramata be included in Okanagan Similkameen.

The same report quoted Returning Officer Harvey Wilson as stating that Summerland and Penticton have not seen eye to eye on a few things such as school affairs and regional college differences.

Reeve Holmes had stated that Summerland has more in common with Penticton in that utilities and fire protection tie in better and the Regional Planning Board includes Summerland, Penticton, Oliver and Osoyoos.

There was no organized official delegation from Summerland at the Penticton sittings of the commission Thursday night but Doug Hill and Tom Manning made appeals—one to be moved to Okanagan Similkameen and one to remain as we are.

Mr. Hill, speaking for the change said, Summerland blended in with the south better because of our "agricultural setup".

"We are about at the north end of the soft fruit area and Similkameen grow all soft fruit which produces mutual interest."

Mr. Hill, who is in the trucking business said they make 90 percent of their operational purchases in Penticton and many Summerland people trade in Penticton as well. He said their firm got little if any government hauling in the South Okanagan district—it was all awarded to Kelowna firms.

Mr. Manning in a short report felt that Summerland was being served well and wished the boundary to remain the same.

Head of the Redistribution Commission is Mr. H. F. Angus and he told the Review after the hearing that he would like Summerland citizens to make known their views in this regard by writing to him either as individuals or as a group and suggested a Summerland organization make a survey and let him know the results. He must have this information by November 15.

Mr. Manning, although President of the Summerland Chamber of Commerce made it clear he was not speaking for his organization but thought it may be a good idea if they found out the feeling of the membership at their next meeting which is Thursday night.

Naramata had no representation at the hearing.

POLLING HOURS MONDAY 8 - 7 PM

Polls for the Federal election will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. throughout British Columbia.

Pete Eden rink take top place

There was plenty of action at the Summerland Curling Rink over the weekend when the locals took part in a high spirited mixed bonspiel.

The Pete Eden rink took first in the "A" event and Steve Sakal skipped his rink to victory in the "B" event.

With Mr. Eden were Norma Lichtenfeld, third; Geo. Stevenson second and Frank McDonald lead. On the Sakal rink were, Gladys McKelligan, third; Fred Lobban second and Ed Pool lead.

Runner-ups in the "A" event were skipped by Dr. B. Munn, second place, Don Turnbull third and P. Beulah fourth. The second to fourth in the "B" event were Harvey Eden, John Caldwell and Erik Ek.

The regular draws started on Monday evening.

In evening play there are 20 men's rinks and four ladies while during the day there are eight senior rinks and eight ladies.

There are a number of high school rinks expected. How many will not be known until the weekend.

Vic Smith chosen Elks Exalted Ruler

It was a proud moment for Lou Smith on Saturday night, when he escorted his son Victor to the altar to become the Exalted Ruler of the Summerland Elks Lodge No. 467, the position he held when he started the lodge three years ago.

Other officers are, John Wilson, Past Exalted Ruler; Charles Hankins, Leading Knight; Dave Davis, Loyal Knight; Samuel Howe, Lecturing Knight; William Croft, Treasurer; Herbert Lemke, Secretary; Vincent Senger, publicity director; Barney Furyua, Historian; Fred Downes, Chaplain; Rinnert Rangma, Esquire; Andy Khalombach, Inner Guard; Bud Byo, Tyler; Louis Derosler, Oranist; Alex Kean, two year trustee and Jake Granzeveld, two year trustee.

District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Emil Bouchard, Kelowna installed the officer.

Reeve Norm Holmes extended civic greetings and told the Lodge that they are well aware of the work Elks do in the community and "as a result of Elks membership you become a better citizen."

Representatives of community organizations were invited and represented were the Summerland Legion President, Dugal MacGregor; Rotary President, Jock Johnston; B.C.F.G.A., Charlie Bernhardt Local President and Jim Brown representing IOOF.

Part of grant to growers before Jan. 1

The Summerland local of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association held a meeting in the IOOF Hall Thursday evening with a good representation of well over 100 present.

President Charlie Bernhardt was in the chair.

Mr. Steve Mopham, Director of B.C. Tree Fruits reported the market price for apples were The Handi-pac red delicious increased this year.

extra fancy were 70c more and the Macs increased 20c. The increases in boxed apples ranged an increase from 10c to 75c.

President of Sun-Ripe Ltd., Mr. S. Land told the fruit growers the company had purchased a juice machine for $42,000, but the equipment does the work formerly done by 17 employees. There is little or no wear involved with the exception of one part which can be replaced for $43.00.

Mr. Land explained they are seeking an outside product to process in the off season to carry $100,000 of overhead which could raise the price of products to the grower by $3.00 per ton.

They have investigated the possibility of going into orange juice. He said there has been some opposition to this in that they would be making a competitive product but he felt it was going to be made anyway so they may as well do it.

Canned pop has also been suggested as a possibility. He said this is getting to be big business. Four million were canned in 1964 and anticipated 9 million for this year but their expectations have now increased to 11 million.

He said they have investigated the possibility of expanding under the industrial development plan at the Oliver plant but over 10 percent of the total assets of the company must be spent to come under the plan and in any case they could not prove to increase their man-hours of labor under their expansion program.

Mr. Brian Lobert, Summerland outlined briefly the recommendations the planning committee will bring before the BCFGA convention in Penticton in January.

The committee arose out of the convention last year and is headed by BCFGA President Arthur Garrish.

Liebert, a member of this group said they will present the proposition that the same directors govern Tree Fruit and Sun-Ripe which brought a mixed reaction.

They will also recommend that bylaws be changed to have one delegate to every 500 acres.

Mr. Bill Ritchie, Naramata, executive member of the provincial BCFGA outlined the assistance expected from the federal and provincial governments as a result of last winter's freeze.

Assistance in relation to the 1965 crop will be the difference between a grower's returns for that year and 75 percent of his average returns over the immediately preceding ten years.

Many questions arose regarding those who have not been in the business for ten years, those who have new crop or those who have expanded their operations.

Mr. Ritchie explained they will set up a special board to investigate adjustments that will be necessary. He said the federal government would not go for anything less than the 10 average which is an established period of time for agricultural grants across the country. The same was the case when they wished 80 percent of the average for the past 10 years rather than 75 percent.

The fear was expressed that growers didn't have records that far back. It was suggested they use their income tax forms as a basis.

Mr. Hans Stoll said the provincial government have all the accurate figures for the past ten years for every grower in B.C.

Mr. Ritchie said the growers could expect a substantial payment by the first of the year but the final payment will not be made until July 1966 when all crop returns will be in.

Hallowe'en quiet in Summerland

According to RCMP reports, Hallowe'en vandalism in Summerland was not as great as in previous years.

The RCMP detachment reports a fairly quiet night although there were a few street signs broken down and mail boxes were tipped over. One window was broken in the Garnett Valley district.

Mrs. Ted Logie was not too pleased to find some vandals had cut off her fir trees in her yard, that were just nicely getting started.

Some cars reported some egg damage.

Parks Superintendent Ken Blagborne told council it was the quietest Hallowe'en in years and he certainly appreciated it.

Some busy hands were on the go in Trout Creek. They were turning about five fire hydrants on and off which resulted in a main line breaking at a joint from the back pressure of turning the hydrants off.

An estimated 100,000 gallons of water was lost. Work crews had the damage repaired by Sunday morning.

Soccer blues and hockey victory here

By RON KOSTELNIUK

Summerland lost to Oliver 3 to 1 Saturday and thus lost the right to compete in soccer competition in Vernon on Saturday in the provincial finals.

Summerland Jr.'s outplayed Penticton all the way and won 2 to 1. Don Johnson scored on a goal mouth scramble to give Summerland a 1 to 0 lead and the lead held until the end of the first half. In the second half, Penticton scored the equalizer when goalie Bob Stewart lost his balance and couldn't come up with the ball. Then with less than five minutes left in the game Stan Kita scored on a Ken Kehler direct kick to give Summerland a 2 to 1 victory.

In the game to decide who would travel to Vernon Saturday Oliver overcame a 1 to 0 deficit and won 3 to 1.

Norm Stein scored first in the game on a corner kick giving Summerland a 1 to 0 lead but Oliver came back to tie the score.

In the second half, two quick goals gave Oliver a 3 to 1 lead which they managed to hold.

GRASS HOCKEY

In an exhibition game played in Summerland on Thursday, the Jr. grass hockey team shut out Penticton 2 to 0 to end the season for them. The first Summerland goal was scored of the stick of a Penticton player in the first half. In the second half Summerland scored again in a goal mouth scramble.

THE FIRST CURLING RINK

Mrs. Bud Stahl threw the first rock in competition at the Summerland Curling Rink when a mixed bonspiel took place. Ready to toss the next one is Miss Nona Bareson. Twenty-four rinks took part in this local spiel.

Summerland Review — 3

Where there is smoke . . .

It is to be hoped that the charges of apathy among Canadians will prove unfounded on election day, November 8th.

It is our sincere hope that everyone eligible to vote will turn out to the polls to exercise a privilege not enjoyed in many countries of the world — to elect the government of their choice.

We are privileged in Okanagan — Boundary in having men who are sincere, capable and dedicated to their particular platform.

This is not to say we agree with all of them but this is simply democracy at work. Democracy at its best.

Someone said in effect "Although I don't always agree with those running for public office — I will lay down my life to give them an opportunity to express their opinion". We will honor those who did this on Remembrance Day.

Because there are many ills in our individual enterprise system, we are well on the way to state control of our lives. Socialism is being sold by those who will not be around to answer when the socialistic state finally takes over.

We frequently express our own fears of socialism, whether it be the sneaky, creeping sort such as we have experienced in recent years, or the outright transition to socialism in any sphere of involvement.

We have no doubt that NDP leader Tommy Douglas is sincere in his thinking and that the local candidate, Alex Turner conscientiously feels he is on the right track, but to sum it up in one statement we think that when you ask your government to pay for services or operate industry — you are giving away a part of your freedom. This is the dangerous trend we are following today without an NDP government — but certainly due to their influence.

The NDP's are selling socialism because they would prefer living under a socialistic state — the Liberals are selling socialism because they believe it will get them votes.

The fact that Liberals have socialistic tendencies cannot be denied. Prime Minister Pearson has admitted on more than one occasion that they are not too far away from the NDP in their thinking.

Social Credit is not a threat in this election. They have made comparisons of the progress of Alberta and B.C. Social Credit governments to substantiate their request for your votes. They are similar in name only — they may as well be called "A" and "B".

The Alberta government is Social Credit with Progressive Conservative tendencies and British Columbia is one that leans toward Liberal policies. At the time B.C. took over public power, the Alberta government was fighting a Liberal campaign to do the same thing in Alberta. Liberals elected only two members in that election.

In view of these observations we will have to go along with Dave Pugh and the Progressive Conservative Party.

We have not seen eye to eye with John Diefenbaker on many occasions and in all honesty, we feel he should have stepped down in favor of younger and newer blood, but he is head and shoulders above the other leaders. His sincerity and honesty cannot be denied.

Although all leaders except John Diefenbaker are playing down the charges of bribery and wrong doing in high places — we believe it is the main issue of this election.

It is not reasonable to think that Prime Minister Pearson has had any part of any of the allegations as charged — but he is the leader and must take some responsibility. No doubt he has had many trying moments over the past two and a half years. His ability to control is questionable.

It is to be hoped the charges prove to be unfounded but as far as we are concerned — where there is smoke there is fire.

It is as simple as this. Ask yourself this question: "Would you rehire an employee for your firm whose character and honesty is questionable?" We think not, but this is what you will do if you return a Liberal government.

BRINGING IN THE WOOD

No they are not clearing brush; they are members of the Summerland Masonic Lodge bringing in firewood for their lodge room so they will be warm this winter. The work bee took place on Saturday.

T.V. valuable tool in education

The first regular dinner meeting of the Summerland Teachers' Association was held in the Parish Hall, Summerland on Monday, October 25. 43 members and two guests, Mrs. Ruth Schell and Mrs. Taslin of Penticton, were present.

After a delicious dinner served by the St. Stephen's W. A. the business meeting of the association followed.

Mrs. Marion Bouey, president of the Summerland Teachers' Association, was in the chair.

Among reports received by the meeting was the report of Mrs. Laura Reinertson, in-service co-ordinator for the STA. Mrs. Reinertson reported on various workshops held in the valley including the well attended (app. 600) Primary teachers Workshop held in Kelowna on Saturday, Oct. 23. Up coming workshops are as follows:

Oct. 30 in Revelstoke; subject: Intermediate and Secondary Social Studies.
Nov. 6 in Vernon: Team teaching.

Nov. 12-13 in Vernon: Teaching the Novel.
Two members of the STA were congratulated on their appointment to key positions in the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association. Mr. J. P. Tamblin on his election to the position of president of the O.V.T.A. and Mr. Ray McNabb on his appointment as Public Relations Co-ordinator for the Okanagan Valley.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Ruth Schell of the Carmel School, Penticton who spoke on "The place of T. V. in the Schools". Mrs. Schell, sponsored by the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association, attended a T.V. course at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, Toronto, in August of this year.

"Educational television provides a prime example of team teaching with both members of the team working towards excellence in education."

The value of E. T. V. — extend the reach of the nation's best teachers — bring students' educational experiences beyond the potential of the conventional classroom.

— is an intimate medium.
— it has a sense of actuality.
— it has a sense of audience involvement.

— It can bring simultaneously to a large number of students: important details of operations and experiments which could normally be viewed by individuals or very small groups.
What E.T.V. can do:
— build and enrich vocabularies.
— be a means of educational enrichment.
— bring students and teachers a broader and deeper learning experience.
— assist beginning teachers.
— refresh experienced teachers.

Students selected for U.S. trip

Guest George Ducharme, Secretary of the Kelowna Rotary Club won a radio draw at the regular meeting of the Summerland Rotary.

Other guests included Frank Bowsfield and Gordon Paton, Penticton; Trus Truswell and Tony Keynes, Kelowna; and Dick Forty, Oliver.

Charlie Greenhough said there were eight groups using the Youth Centre, plus the square dance club. He said their annual meeting will be held on November 24.

He said the students had been selected to participate in the weeks exchange with those from Chejan, Washington November 7 to 14.

It was a difficult job he said the decisions were made taking various things into consideration. The ability for public speaking, knowledge of the area, participating in school and community affairs, good academic standings and those who felt would be good ambassadors for Summerland.

Chosen were Marjorie Porritt, Dick Johnston from grade 12 and Susan Wilson and Robin Agur from grade eleven.

District Governor Ted Atkinson said he had met with 24 of the 25 clubs in his area and has enjoyed the varied experiences. He made a summary of his findings regarding problems and good fortune in other clubs and met with committee heads in his official capacity.

Following the meeting, members and their wives had enjoyed a social at the home of President Jock Johnston.

"Enough separatist talk" says Liberal parliamentary sec'y.

"Canadian unity is one of the biggest problems facing our nation today", a Liberal parliamentary assistant said Friday, "and Prime Minister Pearson's biggest achievement is that he has held the country together."

Bryce Mackasey, parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Health and Welfare Judy LaMarsh and speaking on behalf of Bruce Howard, Okanagan-Boundary Liberal candidate, told an audience of 30 that he was speaking to them, not as a Liberal but as a Canadian.

He claimed that the country was not on the verge of breaking up and that his party had not followed the line of appeasement in dealing with Quebec.

"I've had enough of separatist talk. Our aim is to bring peace, security and a high level of education to Canada."

Turning to the other parties he commented that none of them had a chance to win the election and that they did not have the men to bring

BRUCE HOWARD

Canada a good government. "I have seen the Social Credit and Creditists disintegrate in the east and they are finished there. They must be rooted out of British Columbia. The welfare of Canada is at stake, not just British Columbia."

He charged that the New Democratic Party is only a splinter party and that they haven't a seat east of Toronto. "The Conservatives," he went on, "cannot give stable government when their party is torn with dissension from within".

BRUCE HOWARD
Okanagan-Boundary Liberal candidate, Bruce Howard dealt mainly with the new Liberal farm policy. He felt that the family farm should produce as good a living as an average industrial wage.

"The government," he said, will encourage the creation of "economic farm units" by buying up uneconomic units, rehabilitating them and putting them into economical acreage packages."

He told his listeners that unemployment insurance benefits would be extended to orchard and farm workers and that his government would institute a farm management service to help farmers set up their operations on a business-like basis.

"Other new features in our farm program," Howard went on, "will include a new farm mortgage program to cover among other things housing for farm and orchard workers; the setting up of livestock feed boards and the appointment of boards of referees in each area."

ment of boards of referees in each area."

He stated that special consideration will be given to peach growers who have had to get jobs due not only to the freeze disaster but due also to the very low prices received for peaches in the past several years.

Grower Aid Taking Shape

If it were possible to make a survey I think it would be learned that Okanagan fruit growers are less concerned about the Nov. 8 election than they are about the economic condition of their industry and the type and extent of government aid to be given those suffering financial loss through last December's killing freeze.

Perhaps that doesn't apply to north Okanagan fruit growers, but it does apply to growers in the southern part of the valley.

Much has already been said and printed about this forthcoming aid to distressed growers, and it will come in for a lot more discussion at BCFGA meetings between now and convention time in January.

The subject was given a lot of prominence at the Southern Dist. Council meeting in Penticton last Saturday. Many questions were asked; some of them were answered; some of the answers were not available, and some will have to await the decision of the people who will be responsible.

Plans for distributing the money are now in the making, and we can get a rough idea of what to expect.

The figure of $8 million has been mentioned as the amount the growers will receive. According to information given out at the meeting no fixed amount of money was mentioned when the provincial and federal governments got together on an agreement for grower aid.

Some weeks ago the B. C. government would match it. Later, when the two governments reached some kind of agreement, the $8 million figure appeared in the news as speculative conclusion.

At any rate it appears that the two governments have agreed to assist distressed growers to the extent of: (1) paying for the cost of new trees to replace those killed by the winter freeze, and (2) reimburse growers for crop loss to the extent of 75% of average crop returns over the last 10 years.

There is some uncertainty as to whether the year is to be taken as the crop year, from July 1 to June 30, or the calendar year from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31.

If the settlement is to be based on the crop year it will be next July before a final settlement can be made, and one or two interim payments likely will be made. Whether the crop year or calendar is used as a basis of calculation, it is believed there is a good chance of some money coming through before the end of this year.

To qualify for financial assistance the grower must establish that he has at least three acres of orchard, and that he derives at least half his income from fruit growing.

The grower will have to substantiate his claim with proof in the form of documents and perhaps with a sworn statement. Income tax returns and packing house statements are a likely source of this information.

In the case of a newcomer who has been on his orchard only a few years the last 10 year record of that orchard (probably available at the packing house) could be used.

If there is no 10 year record a figure could be arrived at that would be comparable to similar orchards in the neighborhood.

Special consideration may have to be given in the case of a young orchard just starting to bear. Such an orchard will have had no or very little production during past years, but obviously the owner has suffered loss of crop and should qualify for compensation.

Growers will think up a score of other factors that should have a bearing on the amount of financial aid to be given. A committee will be set up to work out the details of how to distribute the money, and it looks as though they will need a flexible program to take care of a great variety of problems.

It is expected that any grower who believed his case requires special explanation or consideration will have the opportunity of discussing his case with the committee.

In the meantime any grower curious as to the size of the cheque he will receive under the aid program can total up his crop returns for the last 10 years (or a lesser period of time) take 75 percent of the yearly average for the period, and compare that figure with an estimate of this year's returns.

Rebekah president visits Summerland

Mrs. George Brown of Cloverdale, B.C., president of the Rebekah Assembly of B.C. made her official visit to Faith Rebekah Lodge No. 32, at Summerland on Wednesday evening, October 27th. Mrs. Fred Schumann, noble grand, presided at the lodge session and welcomed visitors from Oroville, Wash., Penticton, Oliver, Vernon, Vancouver, New Westminster, Cloverdale, and Falkland.

Distinguished guests were Mrs. George Brown, Rebekah Assembly president, Mrs. Ira Betts, past president of the Rebekah Assembly of Penticton, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, past president of the Rebekah Assembly, Summerland, Mrs. Fred Downes, past noble grand and Rebekah Assembly musician, Summerland; Mrs. Ethel Park of Penticton, district deputy president and Mrs. J. H. Dundon, Summerland, district deputy president.

A full evening of good fellowship was enjoyed by all with Mrs. Brown speaking on "Work and its Potential" citing the women of the Bible and the work they had accomplished in their time. A very delicious turkey supper was served by the social committee after the close of the regular meeting.

During the afternoon Mrs. Brown visited sick and shut-in members accompanied by Mrs. Fred Schumann, noble grand and Mrs. Fred Downes, vice grand and chairman of the sick visiting committee after which a delicious tea was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. A. Walden. During Mrs. Brown's visit here she was the house guest of Mrs. J. H. Dundon, district deputy president.

Order at the SUMMERLAND REVIEW

The Editor: The Summerland Review, Summerland, B.C. Sir:

Regarding insurance and the Corporation of Summerland, may I make a few remarks about that type of business. I want to point out the fact it is one of the millions of more or less similar performances by the usual autocratic Capitalist (more commonly known as free enterprise) system obviously it is what you guys want unless you don't know what you want, therefore if there are any valid reasons to complain about it then it is collectively the fault of the same system and the same society.

Another queer performance is the proposed lease of land at $100.00 per acre per year for 99 years. If that program is carried to fulfillment each acre will cost the taxpayers $9,900, and the taxpayer won't own it. It must be possible to purchase land and build the college within a radius of 4 miles from Kelowna at a price for land much less than $9,900.00 per acre.

Then the construction of a hospital at a cost of $790,000 for construction and finance expenses. Now who will receive the income from the financing? Obviously I and all others like myself in the same circumstances will have to pay for it. The Dominion of Canada can make and issue currency to pay for any such construction and take it back on installments over a period of 10 years or so at a cost limited to the expense of bookkeeping etc, without the public being taxed to pay for profits for someone else's benefit (of course the free-enterprisers won't tolerate that any more than they can prevent it.) It does not grieve them that it is one of the vital necessities of life. The more essential it is the earlier it is to exploit for personal gain and as long as it pays the easy almighty dollar they will be after it.

Anyone who is mentally alert and who invests the time to notice can observe that type of performance going on all around themselves and I for one am thoroughly disgusted and badly offended by it.

Yours truly,
Jas. Giasson

FROM THE CAPITAL CITY

By JIM HUME

A Greenbelt For Canada's National Capital

(Held over from last week)

VICTORIA — If election night happens to be dull in your community, what with the pubs all closed lest you imbibe alcohol before voting, keep an eye on the Victoria riding for kicks:

Victoria, in case you are not aware, is traditionally an old line parties community when it comes to sending men to Ottawa.

And, without boring you with too many details, it has a fantastic string of winners.

The present incumbent, David Gross, is a Liberal. Before that Victoria elected a Conservative. It's almost as though the voters can smell a winning party and plumb for its man regardless of size, shape or color.

This year, however, it could be different for Social Credit has tossed a clanger in the works. If their gamble works, and there is every indication that it may, Victoria will have its first ever Social Credit member of parliament and Premier Bennett will have his long desired Victoria-oriented Sacred voice in Ottawa.

The man who has Conservative and Liberal candidates shivering at their own shadows is a tall, lean, scholarly gentleman named Frank Hunter.

Until a few weeks ago he was Victoria's venerable city clerk and had been for 38 years. When he retired a public banquet was held in his honor with the head table guests — from every political party — loud in their praise for such wonderful civic service.

Mr. Hunter didn't stay retired long. Within days of Prime Minister Pearson announcing the election date he was approached by Social Credit top brass to carry their standard.

It was a masterful move for Frank Hunter, always an old-line party man himself, accepted with the announcement that he was thoroughly disillusioned with recent Liberal and Conservative antics.

More important, Frank Hunter is a well loved man in this city where the old outnumber the young. The old timers remember him as the man who always had a kind word for old ladies and a helpful suggestion for elderly men seeking their way through the maze of city hall regulations.

It has been said, and by no less a person than incumbent Mayor R. B. Wilson, that if Mr. Hunter ever sought the mayor's chair he would win hands down.

Well, he didn't seek the mayor's seat but he is looking for a desk in Ottawa and he's making David Gross, Liberal, and Clifford Waite, Conservative, extremely nervous.

Meeting-wise he is packing them in while other candidates flub along with audiences averaging 12 to 20. Platform-wise is smooth, sincere, polished and making no promises other than to serve as faithfully in Ottawa as he did in his city clerk's spot.

Local die-hards say he'll never make it. They claim that tradition in this capital city means more to the voters than anything else. But political observers, those members of the fourth estate whose duty takes them to every political meeting large or small, say there is a tremendous ground-swell of support for the deeply religious Mr. Hunter.

Complicating the matter, and adding to old-line worries, is the fact that the NDP candidate, J. Lloyd Brereton, is one of the cleverest men to toss his hat in the political arena here for many years.

In this outpost of free-enterprise nobody gives the NDP a chance. But Mr. Brereton is gaining more solid support than any Socialist candidate before him.

To this education-minded community he brings an impressive list of degrees and honors from Cambridge University, England.

In Victoria, indeed a city where such honors count for much.

So with Mr. Hunter the most popular candidate and Mr. Brereton the most impressive there's an excellent chance that between them they will shave the old-line vote just enough for one of them to squeeze in.

One other thing may change the voting pattern.

In other years the navy vote has always been a big thing in Victoria elections. On occasion it's been big enough to swing victory for a relatively unknown candidate.

This year the navy has a triple choice: It can vote for David Gross, ex-navy captain and holder of the seats until the bugles sounded for the present battle; it can vote for Clifford Waite, Conservative, and ex-navy padre; or it can, in horror of horrors, vote for W. S. Morrison, ex-navy commander running on the Communist ticket.

On the other hand the navy could plunk for one of these: Mr. Hunter will be on his way to Ottawa on Nov. 9.

Dr. Jim Marshall describes Centennial project to Kiwanis

Thirteen members of the Kiwanis Key Club were guests of the senior group at their regular meeting last week, and heard Dr. Jim Marshall outline the Summerland Centennial project.

Fred Fields was also a guest. Key Club president Ken Bushowski outlined the various activities of their club.

He explained their membership of 19 is the highest it has been for years and they had assisted in forming a girls service club who held their first meeting a week previous.

They are giving some thought to changing the school motto which is, "Knowledge with Honesty" but he did not reveal any alternate choice.

He announced the Car Wash they had held on Saturday and that they are going to assist in cleaning up the town following Halowe'en night.

Jerry Hallquist has offered some equipment to wash windows on main street but he made an appeal to other businessmen to supply soap, buckets, sponges etc.

A letter from Jack Stewart who recently moved to Toronto was read by secretary J. O'Mahony thanking the club for their parting gift and said "There are no friends like the old friends and there are no friends like the Summerland friends."

Harry Hackman reported he and his committee had completed the school bus shelter in Paradise Flats but needed assistance to have it painted.

Jack Towgood expressed disappointment over the number of blood donors who turned out for the Kiwanian sponsored clinic held October 22.

228 took part which was the lowest for many years.

Mr. Towgood said there was a notable absence of younger people.

"There should be a greater response," he said, "possibly we should consider phoning everyone in the telephone book next year. We don't want to get into the position where it won't pay for them to conduct a clinic in Summerland."

Scottie Ritchie introduced Dr. Jas. Marshall, chairman of the Summerland Centennial Committee as guest speaker.

Dr. Marshall had high praise for Canada and he had founded in his travels a general liking for Canadians all over the world. Canada has made a fine impression," he said.

About this building of a park on Giant's Head Mountain, which has been accepted by municipal council and applied for, he said there is a divided opinion regarding the project in Summerland.

In defence of Giant's Head he said the provincial chairman called it a magnificent project.

He quoted another official as saying when he visited Giant's Head, "I hope you don't think this is in vain. How fantastic this is — gentlemen you got it."

Of other projects such as libraries, Dr. Marshall pointed out fine projects "but not enduring".

"Giant's Head is the most natural thing in the world — an absolutely fantastic view." "If after anyone goes up and doesn't say they're glad they live in this country, there is something wrong with them" he urged.

He called for the community to get together on this as there won't be enough money for the project. Various organizations have been asked to assist.

Rotary have been asked to erect signs at the summit indicating view points — the Kinsmen to blaze a trail from the parking area to the top and the Horticultural Society to label and plant native trees and plants.

He asked the Kiwanis to supply picnic tables.

When Dr. Marshall started his talk he said "as usual I have an axe to grind".

Dr. Wilt Evans in thanking his for his talk said "you grind it very well" and invited him back to do it again very soon.

Saturday set aside for Poppy Day

Saturday has been declared "Poppy Day" in Summerland along with thousands of other districts in Canada who will no doubt choose the same day for the distribution and sale of poppies and wreaths.

These poppies and wreaths are made by hospitalized veterans in Canada.

When you purchase a poppy, you not only assist hospitalized veterans, you make money available for Legion branches to assist local veterans with the profit derived on the sale.

W. C. McCutcheon is in charge of the Summerland campaign, and has the assistance of Legion Auxillary as well as the Cubs, Scouts, Guides and Brownies.

LET'S GET NEWSY

Building permits hold their own

The total building permits issued during the month of October were slightly lower than that for the corresponding month last year in Summerland according to John Khalembach, Building Inspector. The total for the ten months of 1965 was still almost double that for 1964 however.

There were 16 permits issued last month for a total of $59,150.00 compared to $59,325 during October a year ago with 18 permits.

For the first ten months there were 149 permits for a total of $686,630.00 and during the same period it was 119 permits totalling $357,621.00 for an increase of $329,009.00 in construction value.

Teen Town going in high gear

After what might be termed a lull in activities for a week or two, Summerland Teen Town is roaring back to life. Halowe'en brought about a well-attended car caravan to Oliver for a Platter Party. In doing this sort of thing it is hoped that the complement might be returned when Summerland holds its next Platter Party this Saturday evening. The "Party" will again be sponsored by S.T.T. with CKOK providing entertainment. It will all take place at the Yacht Club at 9:00 p.m. Saturday evening. A council meeting will be held at 7:30 at the hall. All members please attend.

The following Wednesday evening will see a dance, the "Down Beats" from Penticton providing the music.

Next weekend a NOTA — SOTA conference will be held in Vernon. Members from all points in the valley will hold talks, attend dances and suppers, and generally have a lot of fun. A problem has arisen in that not enough cars are available so anyone who can possibly take a vehicle, please contact Betty McInnes.

Again, no word has been received on a vacant hall for Teen Town. "Citizens of Summerland Arise." These are your children. Give them a place off the streets. It will be a common place of meeting where teens can dance and hold meetings. Anyone, please, contact the mayor of Teen Town if you have any sort of proposition.

LET'S GET NEWSY . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kirk have arrived at Chula Vista for their winter visit there. On their way they were at the museum at Salt Lake City and met Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morrow whom many Summerland residents will know.

Magistrate and Mrs. R. A. Johnston have returned from a visit to Vancouver

Mr. Nels Charlton and Mr. Pennington spent a week hunting in the Fort St John area.

Wages raised for farm workers

The index of farm prices of agricultural products declined to 263 in August from its 1965 high of 272 in July.

Lower prices for livestock and potatoes more than offset higher prices for eggs.

The index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, was at 248.9 in August last year and 244.7 in January this year.

Average annual wage paid to male farm help on August 15 this year was $1,670 with board provided, compared with $1,540 a year earlier. Without board, the average this year was $2,350 and last year, $2,130.

In Flanders Fields

In Flanders Fields the poppies blow Between the crosses row on row That mark our place; and in the sky The larks, still bravely singing, fly Scarce heard amid the guns below

We are the Dead. Short days ago We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow, Loved and were loved, and now we lie In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe: To you from falling hands, we throw The torch; be yours to hold it high: If ye break faith with us who die We shall not sleep, Though poppies grow In Flanders Fields.

WEDDING PARTY OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Bridal party looking sharp 50 years later

On October 3rd, 1965, a 50th Wedding Anniversary was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Heichert of Summerland, B.C. The wedding took place in Fenwood Sask. and it was also a Sunday 50 years ago. The bridesmaid was Lizzie Heichert, sister of the groom who is now Mrs. Sam Miller of Vancouver. The best man was Christian Reinheimer who now lives in Melville, Sask. Both attendants were able to be here to celebrate this occasion.

A dinner party was held in Penticton on Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Heichert and their family, one son and three daughters and families—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heichert and Susan, Mr. and Mrs. D. Vandervoort and great-grandchildren Debbie and Joann, Mr. and Mrs. F. Young and Phyllis all from Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kopp, Brian and Shirley-Ann from Prince Rupert, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Spelsberg, Grant and Jenny from Summerland. Also attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weisbrod of Port Kells, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jantz of Kelowna, Mrs. J. English, Mr. P. Miller and Mr. J. Knull of Vancouver.

Later in the evening a surprise party was held in Summerland where some 80 friends and neighbours gathered to wish them well and many lovely gifts were received.

years ago. Tea and coffee were served to the many guests. Many gifts predominated gold in colour and lovely bouquets of flowers marked the occasion.

Telegrams were received from Prime Minister L. B. Pearson, Premier W. A. C. Bennett, The Honourable John D.iefenbaker, Governor General and Madam Vanier, Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes and a personal letter from David Pugh.

Out of Town Guests:— Mr. and Mrs. L. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. S. Miller, from Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller of Abbotsford, Mrs. C. Schindell of Ladner, Mr. P. Kopp of Kelowna, Mr. and Mrs. F. Heichert, Mr. and Mrs. F. Kaminski, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kearns of Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. L. Worts, Mr. J. Nordine of Penticton, Mr. and Mrs. C. Reinheimer of Melville, Sask.

L.A.C. and Mrs. Wiffen and daughters Gail and Lynn have just returned from Marville, France and have been posted to the R.C.A.F. station at Nemaø Edmonton, Alberta.

Maintenance duties are outlined

School Trustee Dave McIntosh proposed a few changes in the administration of grounds maintenance at the regular school board meeting Friday night, which were accepted.

He suggested the present system of relying upon the municipality to maintain the grounds is satisfactory but suggested there was a lack of regular inspections as no school board employee is charged with the responsibility of making periodic checks on conditions of the grounds and grounds equipment.

The maintenance Supervisor, Elton Knuff, in cooperation with the Principals make regular inspections and any unsatisfactory conditions will be reported to the Principals and the Secretary-Treasurer, who will take proper action if within the scope of the budget. If not the Building and Grounds committee will be called in. This will all be done direct with the Municipal Superintendent, Ken Blagborne.

Canada To Her Servicemen

Are you the ones who marched for me?
Who helped keep free men free?
Tortuous years so bravely borne
And this you did for me!

Aren't you the ones whose buddies fell,
When all this world was mad?
Rou offered all to calm her down,
And I was proud and glad!

These were my warriors returned,
To lead my youth, project.
Hard the road, so heavy the load,
Did nearly all forget?

Aren't you the ones who bleat and cry?
I have no voice, mind, face?
Called Yankee fool or British for Anger at my disgrace.

Across my country you did vote
The age old Flag to fly,
Mine had been born in agony
Unloved, but not to die.

Why deny me, thrust mine aside?
Can't you be vital, young?
Did you have to re-live old fame?
My life is yet to come.

Your youth will fly my Maple Leaf,
Yours! Mine! Theirs! To guard and keep.
To them entrust my ideals now,
The wound you gave is deep.

(Held over from last week)
The Junior soccer team lost a 1-0 verdict to the Princess Margaret crew in a game played Saturday. It was an exciting game that saw the home team outplay the visitors yet loose.

Those seeing action for Summerland were Bob Stewart, Ken Taylor, Ted Arkell, Bill McCaig, Jim Cambell, Bill Coates, Jack Barkwill, Allan Barkwill, Bob Tambllyn, Stan Kita, Ron Taylor, Ken Roberge, Herb DeWitt and Don Johnson.

Sir Alexander MacKenzie hoped that the MacKenzie River would lead him out to the Pacific, but when it took him instead down to the ice floes of the Arctic Ocean he named it River Disappointment.

Legion decision National Flag

The Sub-Executive of the Royal Canadian Legion Dominion Council in Ottawa decided this week that it would not be in keeping with the Legion aims and objects if the Canadian Flag was not given its place of honour in formal parades.
On Remembrance Day, Pacific Command, President James Hall has ruled that the National Flag of Canada will be flown on all Legion Cenotaphs and carried on the right — in the place of honour — with Canadian Ensign and Local Branch standards.

Secretary-Treasurer Jim Hack told School Trustee, Friday night, five general contractors had taken out plans so they may bid on the additions to the Secondary school. Tenders close on November 10.

Maintenance Supervisor Elton Knuff told the meeting the Trout Creek school addition should be up by November 15. He said basic construction has been of a very good quality and the structure is sound.

Breakage in the school is at a minimum according to Mr. Knuff and the new garbage pickup system works very well, saving an hour to an hour and a half work for his staff.

Trustee Miltimore said the school buildings are in very good repair. Considerable discussion followed a request by Trustee McIntosh to have the fruit trees taken out of the Dunham property which was purchased by the school this year.

In a survey he had made, they would only realize an average of $200 per year if they leased the orchard and he felt that that space could better be used for educational purposes.

He pointed out that Principal Tamblin had repeatedly requested more playground space to the point where they are desperate.

School Superintendent Gordon Paton said there are 126 students who want practice sessions twice a week and there is no space for them.

The estimated cost of moving the trees was $625 which includes salvage of wood for household burning.

McIntosh's plan was to take the trees out and level the land only for the present. The flume in the area, in his opinion, was not an obstacle for immediate purposes.

He felt the grounds now were curtailing the Physical Education program and said the investment they have made in the property should be used for education.

It was suggested that possibly the Key Club or some such organization would take on the job of clearing the trees for the wood. This did not meet with complete approval by the board for safety reasons.

In making his appeal, Mr. McIntosh said "My mission on this board is to bring the grounds up to standard and I will support any move to make this available."

It was agreed that the additional grounds were necessary, but Trustees Booth and Barkwill questioned the timing.

They wanted the grounds committee to present a complete plan for next years development expenditures before the $625 is authorized.

Trustee Miltimore observed that this would be the biggest increase in school grounds at the least cost and urged immediate approval.

McIntosh wondered why there was so much concern and did not understand how the expenditure of 0625 in a half a million dollar operation was going "causes us to go under".

"This has been put off for a number of years and we must make our decision tonight", he added as he made the motion to remove the trees.

Booth moved that they wait until a development plan for next was brought in but it was defeated with Chairman John Bennest having to break the deadlock by voting in favor of tree removal.

Some fine remarks were brought to the attention of the trustees in the way the grade 12 students behaved themselves during their recent tour of institutions of higher learning in Vancouver.

Principal Tamblin and Superintendent Paton both agreed it was a worthwhile effort. Some students have shown increased interest in their high school program.

Disasterous week for Sum'l'nd hockey

By RON KOSTELNIUK
The Juvenile pucksters travelled to Penticton Tuesday and lost their second straight game to that club. This time they lost by a score of 8-3.

Barry DeRossier put Summerland on the scoreboard at 17:30 of the first frame. This tied the score at 1-1 but Penticton scored and led 2 to 1 after one period.

Trailing 3-1 in the second, Robin Agur cut down the score to 3-2 at the 4:37 mark. Penticton, however, rifled in four more goals in the second and thus wrapped the game up. The final Summerland goal was scored by Jim Jenner, unassisted.

The next action for the juveniles is on Tuesday when they host Vernon. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

The Summerland midgets were victims of an 11 to 4 whipping at the hands of the Vernon club in a game played Sunday in the Arena. It featured a fight between Summerland's George Jenner and Vernon's Gaff Wilson at 16:39 of the middle frame.

From 14:49 to 16:39 there were six in the penalty box. In the first period, Vernon out scored Summerland 4 to 2 and Summerland goals were scored by Garry Bollock. Robin Agur scored the second Summerland marker.

In the second period, George Jenner cut down the deficit to 5 to 2 with a goal at 12:21. In the third, an unassisted goal by Robin Agur made the score 11 to 4. The midgets had won by default from Kelowna on a game scheduled for Oct. 26.

Sunday, Nov. 7 Summerland PeeWees host Penticton in Summerland. Game time is 12:45.

By Keith Bergh
Good thing the election is on Monday. Not only are we all a little weary of hearing, seeing and reading politics everytime we turn around — the politicians must be feeling about the same way repeating their thoughts time and again. No doubt they will be happy come the deadline for campaigning.

Now to predict this election. Doing this is much like buying a ticket on a draw. You have as much chance of being right . . . Unfortunately, after all the votes are counted Monday night a n d Tuesday morning, there is going to be another minority government — a Progressive Conservative government. Don't go betting your coffee on it but we have it like this:

Progressive Conservatives	124
Liberals	100
New Democratic Party	25
Social Credit	6
Creditiste	6
Independent	4

The P.C.'s will get their gains mostly in Ontario and will pick up some more Quebec constituencies. The NDP have had a big budget this time out and have been repeating their story many times. Some of this will rub off and they will gain seats. The Socials will not go far. Now on Tuesday morning you can tell me how wrong I was.

Bennett raps old line parties -- chaos charged

W.A.C. Bennett, premier of British Columbia, speaking on behalf of Social Credit candidate Chuck Emery in Penticton Monday, charged that a majority in government must be earned and the "Liberals have not even earned a minority".

Speaking to more than 800 people he lashed out at the Conservative and Liberal parties and made repeated attacks on Prime Minister Pearson and Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing.

Also speaking on behalf of Chuck Emery were provincial agriculture minister Frank Richter and Recreation and Conservation Minister Kenneth Kiernan.

"Pearson," Bennett said, "was the best foreign minister we ever had, but he's also the worst prime minister Canada ever had. Diefenbaker would have made the best justice minister Canada ever had because he is a great criminal lawyer. The Liberals should engage him."

"Give us 100 days Pearson cried," Bennett went on, "what did he give us in his 100 days. . . he just went from chaos to chaos from one mess to another. That's what he gave us in his 100 days of decision. Forget you're a Liberal, forget you're a Conservative even as I had to forget and send Chuck Emery to Ottawa to give British Columbia a strong voice in our federal parliament. You're not deserting the Liberal party or the Conservative party — they have deserted you."

"I like elections," he beamed "and I love this one, this one is especially good because we want to get rid of Pearson as soon as possible."

"British Columbia," he went on, "is growing 75 per cent faster than the rest of Canada and we must have people in Ottawa that will give us policies that will allow further growth and you can do that best by voting for Chuck Emery."

The Liberal party has forsaken British Columbia, we the province that gives so much to the federal government. Kick the rascals out."

"Some people charge that we are interested only in Canada, but that is wrong, we are for a strong Canada and if we build a great British Columbia we build a great pillar of Canada," the premier told the large audience.

"In my opinion," he continued, "the Liberal Party is controlled by the banks, they make the Liberals jump through the hoop, that is why we didn't get our bank that we so desperately need. British Columbia must not be held back" he thundered. "We got it out of second gear and we want to get into overdrive. We need strong Social Credit representation in Ottawa."

"Where were the B. C. Conservative and Liberal members when we asked for our bank? Where were they when we asked for the same treatment for the Pacific Great Eastern railway the same as other railways get? Where were they when we asked for a fair share for the Trans-Canada Highway costs? Did we hear their voice in Ottawa? No! Not once!" he boomed.

Turning to the power development of the Columbia and Peace River he defended his policies and added, "we are only at the beginning of the beginning of our great power development."

I BELIEVE WE NEED Majority Government

Because our democratic system of government works best on the idea that majority rules, it is wrong to have a small minority hold the balance of power and make decisions for the majority.

Majority government is strong government.

A PERMANENT MP OFFICE IN THE RIDING

because a member of parliament must remain in constant contact with the people, not just at election time. I will personally pay for such an office.

THE NEW LIBERAL FARM PROGRAM

because this program commits the Liberal party to providing legislation which will boost the income of farmers to at least that of organized industrial workers.

MORE HELP FOR OLD AGE PENSIONERS

Because $75 or $100 or even $125 is not enough in many cases. THE CANADA ASSISTANCE PLAN will provide more help on the basis of need, not means. The only factor will be whether this is sufficient income to meet an individual's needs.

Assistance appreciated

Dear Sir:

We would like to say thank you to the Summerland children who offered to share their Hallowe'en treats with less-fortunate people in other lands. These are the youngsters who came to our doors carrying Save the Children Fund Collection cans as well as their loot bags. Their unselfish effort will provide many children with the treat of proper food, clothing, medicine or shelter.

We also extend our sincere thanks to the adults who support the Hallowe'en Drive and generously gave their pennies to the collection tins. The School Board and staffs of MacDonald and Trout Creek Schools deserve our special appreciation for their help in organizing this drive, as well as the newspaper, radio and TV personnel who gave us such excellent publicity coverage.

Sincerely,
Mrs. D. J. Spalding

Hitting wrong pedal does plenty damage

A slip of the foot caused $525 damage to two cars in Peachland October 30.

Edwin Beet was parked behind Geo. Swarts in front of the Peachland General store. Beet jumped into his car, started it, then his foot slipped off the brake and hit the gas. He struck the Swarts' car in the rear doing $525 damage in total to the two cars. No charges were laid.

Weekend drinking proves expensive

The price of drinking went up for John Wall of Summerland when he was stopped by RCMP Saturday night.

He pleaded guilty to impaired driving before Magistrate Johnson Monday and it cost him $150 plus costs or 30 days. Time was given to pay.

Seventeen ladies volunteer help

The November meeting of the Summerland Ladies Hospital Auxillary was held Monday night with Mrs. Betty McIntosh in the chair.

The Auxillary donated $200 for the purchase of equipment to be used in the local hospital. The ladies were also shown the puppets made by the members which are given to children to play with during their stay in the hospital and to take home with them when leaving.

Mrs. Clarence Adams reported on the Volunteer Service at the hospital and 17 ladies have now signed up to help out when they are called.

It was agreed that the Auxillary would pay the transportation of the Candy Strippers to and from the hospital. In the month of October, five baby spoons were given to new mothers when they left the hospital.

The Thrift Shop had its biggest month with a total sales of $801.74.

Dear sir:

I wish to express my appreciation to both the Council and the Canadian Legion for solving the Remembrance Day flag-problem. It is comforting to know that they have such concern for our interests that they considered it necessary to write both the Secretary of State and the Legion Command to solve their quandry. I had feared that we might perhaps fly the Peruvian, or perhaps the Lower Slobbovian flag!

Now I can forget to campaign for the White Ensign under which I, as a naval veteran fought for seven years. Now, thanks to them, we can fly the Canadian Flag at a Canadian Remembrance Day!

Thank you and congratulations gentlemen for your intelligence, sincerity and patriotism.

PROCLAMATION

DEAR FELLOW CITIZENS:

November 5th to 11th will be observed as REMEMBRANCE WEEK throughout Canada. It is a time of double significance for all of us. We recall with pride, and with deep compassion, the men and women who have died so bravely in the service of their country; we also are reminded of the great scope of the community services being carried on by surviving comrades who work through Royal Canadian Legion branches everywhere.

It is with considerable pride that I commend the vast amount of volunteer work and financial support the Legion gives to this community through scholarships, sponsorship of young people's sports and continuing dedication to the welfare of veterans.

The Canadian Legion is the largest service organization in numbers in the province. This year the Legion celebrates its 39th anniversary and increased support will bring new vitality to the Legion organization and greater benefits to many in our community.

NEARING END OF LINE flume. It is the South Main line. The Joe Van Gammeren, left, and Frank Lauer are putting the finishing touches to the newly installed pre-cast irrigation flume was pre-cast in the municipal shops in Summerland.

REINFORCED FLUME but where there is any danger of a hill slide more reinforced concrete is needed. Here Bruce Blagborne, rear centre is directing operations. They are replacing the old metal flume.

Flume installation work continues

Municipal crews have been busy replacing irrigation flume since the water was shut off for the winter. It is being done under the ARDA plan where federal, provincial and local governments each pay a third of the cost.

Some deemed their new line up Garnett Valley would be impossible to install but according to Bruce Blagborne who with his brother Ken directed the operations, they were fortunate in getting a cat operator who gave them grades on sidehills of, in some places, solid rock.

They are replacing the present frame and metal flumes with concrete. The old flumes have been in operation for the past 50 years and have served a good purpose but the concrete flume will last much longer, with little or no maintenance, and at a cost of about half.

To keep as much of the employment at home they pre-cast their own flumes in the municipal shops, saving around

Cruelty to kittens in Summerland

According to reports received at the Review office, there are those getting rid of their small kittens in a very unusual and cruel manner.

An irate woman called in and said she found a very small kitten outside on her window sill crying for shelter that morning, apparently left by someone during the night.

Three of such incidents have occurred in her neighbourhood recently.

"I can tell these kittens have been brought up in a house and

Art classes will be available to Summerland children

Registration for children's Art Classes will take place on Saturday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Services Room at the Health Centre.

Instructing the children will be Mr. Heinz Foedisch, an artist of note in Western Canada.

The classes, sponsored by the Summerland Art Club will continue throughout the winter.

Mrs. John Tamblin and Mrs. M. Croil will be in charge of the registration.

No doubt about opinion here

If the attitude of the Summerland Chamber of Commerce is indicative of the public opinion of the district, Summerland will remain in the South Okanagan Electoral District with Premier Bennett M.L.A. They voted 16 to 4 in favor.

Naramata Chamber of Commerce notified the Provincial Redistribution Committee last week they wished to be changed to Smilkameen.

Doug Hill brought the subject up at the regular meeting of the Chamber Thursday night favoring a change because of the flow of commerce in that direction from Summerland and made a motion to that effect.

He said government offices are in Penticton and 90 percent of wholesale trading done in Summerland is from that city.

He said there were about 300 phone calls from here to Penticton each day.

Ken Booth objected because the new Penticton location had served Summerland well on many occasions.

"Hill did not deny this but said 'no member will last forever and ever'."

Eric Tait said he would like to see more thought put into it before a motion to make a move was passed and moved the matter be tabled until the next meeting but withdrew

The Summerland Council announced at their regular meeting Tuesday morning that the annual Rate-payers meeting will be held in the MacDonald School Auditorium Tuesday, Nov. 23 at 8:00 p.m.

The ball is rolling towards the promotion of industrial development in Summerland.

Council authorized the 15-cent per capita grant to the Okanagan Regional Industrial Development Council of $646.05 at this meeting representing the 4307 population at the last census.

Development Council's Managing Director Ted Atkinson advised council they would be wise to choose their representatives to act on an industrial committee as soon as possible so Reeve Holmes was asked to contact three men who would work on that committee. Councillor Schaeffer is the Summerland representative on the parent development council and the three appointees will be working closely with him.

The annual hospital grant of $1,000 was authorized.

Summerland will support a Kelowna brief to be presented to the Public Utilities Commission at a meeting to be held in Nelson on Nov. 24 to study Inland Natural Gas rates.

Prince George and Williams Lake have indicated their desire to institute zone rates which would bring their rates lower than those of the Okanagan.

Accounts amounting to $88,690.22 were authorized paid representing the accounts for October.

District Guide Association to hold semi-annual meeting

The mother of any brownie, guide or ranger is always quick to admit that she owes much to the leaders within the Girl Guide movement for the splendid training which her daughter enjoys.

She owes something to the mothers who are willing to run for executive offices, for which elections will be held at the meeting and the new officers installed.

Business will be conducted as quickly as possible and mothers will have an opportunity to meet the leaders and discuss guiding activities.

In a 20-mile race a man would win over a horse because of his endurance.

Golden Bar awards presented

The November 5th meeting of the Second Summerland Brownie pack was invaded by "dragons". Four brownies, dressed in fierce dragon costumes, represented Disobedience, Idleness, Selfishness and Disloyalty.

Since there is no place for such things in a brownie pack, the dragons had to be "slain". Each twenley, with part of her Brownie Promise, contributed to the slaying of the dragons. The twenleys were then presented by the sixers to Madam Commissioner Mrs. W. A. Laidlaw, who enrolled them into the brownie pack.

The newly enrolled brownies are Heather Bloomfield, Arlene Bombardier, Yvonne Budding, Jennifer Kuzyk, Penny Proulx, Karen Newton, Julie Loan, Jean Lichtenwald, Charlene Royer and Shelagh Welsh.

But there was yet another dragon. The brownies, in pairs, formed themselves into a long winding dragon around their two Tawny Owls. One was dressed as a princess, tied to a chair awaiting rescue. The other, dressed as St. George, his white jack with red cross and sword, stood ready to slay the dragon with help from the brownies. As each pair of brownies passed a test, which had been learned during the past year, St. George was able to "slay" that part of the dragon until finally the princess was released and found herself among friendly brownies.

Commissioner Laidlaw then presented Golden Bar awards and first year stars to Dianne Kita, Sheril Marten, Heather Smith, Joyce Evans, Barbara Macintosh and Naomi Paul.

A second year star was presented by the commissioner to Pamela Stewart.

Games were played and tea was served by Pamela Stewart and Maureen Laidlaw to the mothers who attended as guests.

Not all of the second pack's activities are in the land of make-believe. The brownies held outdoor meetings during October with one a special "Look at Leaves" walk on the grounds of the Experimental Station, which ended with a marshmallow roast.

ARCHITECT WILL PREPARE PLANS FOR COST STUDY

More uses considered for Summerland Arena

There is little doubt that a much will be accomplished as a result of a meeting between arena interests and members of the Summerland Municipal Council Wednesday night. All factions know the arena was in need of attention but what to do and where to start was not decided until this meeting.

Joe Akitt outlined roughly what the arena and curling people had in mind and asked various representatives to present their ideas.

It was agreed that if something was not done to the structure — and soon — it would not be in usable condition.

Speakers for curlers, figure skaters, hockey, fall fair, museum and art club were present.

Mr. Akitt explained, with the aid of a chart, what their idea was to improve the arena with an addition of 150 ft. by 80 ft. on the north end to house office space, storage, figure skating dressing rooms, wash rooms. He suggested a dual floor be installed so space could be utilized for art displays and museum. The fall fair committee would be able to utilize much of this space during their annual show.

Steve Sakal, president of the Curling Club said they were prepared to pay their share to renovate their side. This was a unanimous decision by the members at their annual meeting. He mentioned however that the roof was leaking above their quarters.

Stan Porritt of the arena board said something must be done as soon as possible as the floors are in bad repair and the foundation must be attended to as well as a number of other alterations.

Mr. Porritt had some drawings of what his committee thought necessary and explained each in detail.

He said a new rink was out of the question and appealed to the council to make a study of the situation as soon as possible.

Phil Munro said the beams need checking and they are having troubles in the ice surface heaving—as much as four inches in one corner. He suggested these be investigated before doing too much with either end.

Doug Campbell, speaking for minor hockey said more dressing rooms are needed. Four dressing rooms are a must when they are in full schedule when they have two teams playing and two following immediately.

He did not suggest that a locker space be provided in each room, but a separate locker room should be in the new plans according to the rules, a referee's room is necessary, a facility not now available, and the players box needs improving. An improved P.A. system would be desirable he added.

Spending for the fall fair committee, Eric Tait said the fair is leaning towards more agricultural aspects because there is, in the opinion of the committee a need for such a fair in this area.

He was of the opinion that the increased facilities as suggested would lend itself to the thinking of the fair committee.

Reeve Holmes said he had been in contact with B. C. Agriculture Minister Frank Richter to see if any grants would be forthcoming for expanding facilities for agricultural sections of fairs. The Minister would not make any promises until his department had seen the plans.

The Reeve suggested there may be some federal assistance as well.

Speaking for the museum and arts group Ted Atkinson said they now have material to display but had no fireproof building to house it in.

He felt the community was getting to the stage where they should develop in this field. The things of the past should be preserved, he said. "There is a strong feeling in the community about this,"

he said, "and we are losing many items to Penticton which is fine but they should be kept at home."

John Cooke, principal of the MacDonald School, agreed with Mr. Atkinson and added a museum could be used to an educational advantage as well. He knew of many museum pieces that have been lost in the district.

Arena Association president Jerry Hallquist pointed out there are increasing numbers using the arena and it was slipping behind every year. It is an ideal location for the community.

Stan Porritt observed in reference to the curling rink that "nowhere in B.C. are facilities so bad."

Reeve Holmes was confident the council would agree to have an architect work with council and representatives at this meeting to ascertain the cost of anticipated renovations. The Reeve enlarged on the benefits to the community a centre such as this would bring and felt sure the rate-payers would be agreeable if it was deemed wise to pass a money bylaw to do this work.

The present debenture on the arena comes due in 1974. Phil Munro said the arena was used for 30,000 skating hours last year and there was over 2500 public skating tickets sold.

230 took part in hockey last season and 110 fancy skaters during the winter and 56 took summer lessons. It provides recreation for everyone from tiny tots to adults.

Eric Tait observed that there would be many more who would take part in activities if the facilities were improved.

"The more facilities we have the more usage" Councillor Ritchie said.

All members of the council were present and they gave the group "unofficial" assurance that they would make contact with an architect as soon as possible.

Let's Get Newsy . . .

Music teachers attend workshop

Mrs. E. M. Roberge and Mr. James Grinder, Summerland teachers, attend the 9th annual B.C. music educators' association workshop at North Kamloops Secondary School Staurday.

In a day of lectures and exhibits, they heard interesting speakers from many fields of music.

A total of 11 subjects was offered during the day that started at 8:30 a.m. and continued until 10:30 p.m.

Of interest to handmasters were the sessions on conducting and rehearsing techniques and new music for the band, both given by Lt. Leonard Campin of the Royal Canadian Engineers Band, Chilliwack and sessions on reeds and brasses in the band by Denis Tupman and A. A. Swan.

Methods of teaching were well covered with kindergarten and primary methods being discussed by Dr. John Murray, elementary and secondary school choral work by Mrs. Marion Owens and general vocal music by George Ice of Seattle.

New departures in teaching children to become aware of music around them in the sounds of everyday life were presented in two sessions. Brought from other countries, the Kodaly method from Hungary and the Suzuki string method were introduced to delegates by Peter Kinnig, Dr. Lloyd Slind and Mrs. Violet DeLong.

North Kamloops is the pioneer in TV education in B.C. and delegates were introduced to the use of television in musical education by Arthur Lewis.

Mrs. Roberge said one of the interesting features of the closed circuit TV system at North Kamloops is that technical production is handled entirely by the students at the school.

Some of the sessions were taped on audio-visual tape and shown to the delegates on the TV during the lunch hour.

Gar McKinley, of Kelowna, president of BCMEA presided at the banquet. Guest speaker was Nelson Allen, School superintendent of School District 24, Kamloops.

He spoke of his personal interest in the development of school music over the past 35 years.

The food for the banquet was cooked by some of the home economic students of the school.

Following the banquet, delegates moved to Kamloops for a concert presented by the RCE band from Chilliwack with Lt. Campin conducting.

Also on the program was a choral group called the Bel Canto Singers, under the direction of Mrs. E. A. Finn of Kamloops.

A large display was set up in the gymnasium of the North Kamloops Secondary School, showing new teaching aids, instruments and method books. In addition some of the authors of the method books were there to answer questions.

Music teachers from as far north as Fort St. John, from Vancouver Island and many other parts of B.C. attended the workshop and Mrs. Roberge reports "it was well worth the time."

Positive thinking for the pay-off

A sour attitude towards industrial development in the Okanagan will only give our beautiful valley "the mark of the Black Hand".

Overhearing bits and pieces of conversation, it would seem there are too many people looking at the disadvantages of industry settling here. It takes only one bad apple to spoil a barrel and a negative attitude serves only to drive expansion in the other direction.

There are disadvantages to all locations. Take the case of Vancouver. Their home market is only in one direction — east — but there is big industry there. The same holds true with coastal cities in the east but they have industry.

With problems such as this facing booming centres why should we just lay down and assume (which we have overheard) industry won't come because of our location from the main highway routes. There are advantages and possibly the biggest one is the availability of labor. True they may not be all here but there are thousands of Canadians who would come to live in the Okanagan if the means for making a living was available.

Home markets are no longer a problem because the vastness of big business today must depend on export to other provinces and countries.

The valley is fortunate in having Ted Atkinson as Managing Director of the Okanagan Regional Industrial Development Council to direct operations from his Summerland office. No interest?

He opened his office November 1st, and by the 3rd he had three inquires from firms wishing to establish here.

Positive, optimistic thinking is needed on our part to encourage industrial development in the valley.

There aren't any Fluorescent blaze orange deer!

"Be seen — be safe" is again the slogan for the fourth annual Hunter Safety Week sponsored by the B.C. Wildlife Federation. This year's safety drive will run from October 9th to 16th.

"While many factors contribute to hunting accidents, high visibility in the woods is still the major safety factor, and the wearing of some readily visible color while hunting is a simple, positive way in which every hunter can contribute to firearms safety," says Federation President James C. Murray, in launching this year's safety drive.

To quote from a recent magazine article: "No one has yet seen a fluorescent blaze orange deer."

The Federation will install fluorescent blaze orange bumper strips on thousands of B.C. cars in the next week and these will bring home the message to travellers all over the province that hunting is a safe sport and can be kept that way through constant vigilance while afield.

"Most of last year's ten fatal firearms accidents, however, were caused by human errors other than mistaken targets, and all the brightly colored clothing in the world not have prevented them," says Murray. Education to encourage a knowledge of firearms and a proper respect for their use is still the only real approach to the problem.

Early in 1965 the B.C. Wildlife Federation's Junior Firearms Safety Training Program was adopted for use as an optional grade seven guidance program and so far this year over 3500 young British Columbians have received training in the safe handling of guns through fish and game clubs and the schools.

Federation officials expect the figure to top 5000 before the end of 1965. "This, we feel, is the long-term answer to what is really an over rated problem," concluded Murray. "Genuine accidents will always occur, but by making every potential gun handler fully aware of the factors that make shooting one of North America's safest sports, we can make our sport safer yet."

Gordon Paton one of twelve on tour

The Superintendent of Summerland School District 77, Mr. Gordon Paton, is in eastern Europe on a field study of educational systems including kindergartens in Russia, Hungary, Austria and East Germany.

Mr. Paton is one of 12 Canadian educators and 122 Americans participating in an overseas study tour sponsored by Ohio's Kent State University.

The group will study education in the French, German and Italian-speaking sectors of Switzerland.

On Nov. 26, Mr. Paton will return to the Okanagan. He is using his annual holiday for the trip.

Of special concern to the group is the study of kindergarten systems in the countries visited with emphasis on Russia where public kindergartens for all five-year-olds have been a standard feature of Soviet elementary education for many years.

Santa makes final check of Okanagan apple gift boxes before they begin the first leg of their 8,000 mile journey to the United Kingdom.

To assure arrival in the United Kingdom in time for Christmas, 8,999 apple gift packs left the Okanagan by truck on October 27th for shipment from Vancouver via the Panama Canal.

These specially designed apple packages have been presold to Canadians as prestige gifts for friends and relatives in the U.K. The single tier cartons each contain 24 Extra Fancy Red Delicious apples.

"Apples marketed in this manner by B.C. Tree Fruits Limited carry high introductory values in obtaining new customers in this very important off-shore market which annually takes substantial quantities of B.C. apples. 1964 apple sales to the United Kingdom were the highest in six years — 1,051,366 boxes.

and willing to help would be most welcome.

Shooting will start the following week if all goes well. Thursday, Nov. 18 for Juniors, and parents are asked to come with their children to see that they are registered and find out the rules and regulations of the club and to ask any questions they have in mind. A refreshing member of the McIntosh clan in her tartan, and a refreshing member of the Apple family in its appealing McIntosh Red covering, greet National Apple Week November 11-20, 1965. This year's national apple crop is the second largest ever recorded in Canada — an estimated 21.6 million bushels, slightly higher than last year, and 19 per cent above the 1959-63 average. Federal Minister of Agriculture, Harry Hays, declared National Apple Week November 11-20 and urged continuing Canadian support of this domestic industry.

Spartan apple crop doubled in 1965

The Red Spartan is a cross between the McIntosh and Newton apple, and originated at the Dominion Experimental Station in Summerland in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia. The name Red Spartan was chosen because of the robust nature of the tree and the good characteristics of the fruit. Plantings of Red Spartans are now in heavy commercial production and the quantities of Red Spartan available for sale on the fresh fruit market will increase each year.

The fruit is above medium size, of the McIntosh shape but rather more symmetrical and uniform in outline, and is noted for its extremely dark red colouring. The flesh is firm, crisp, white and juicy. The core is variable, but usually tends to be smaller than that of the McIntosh. The Red Spartan, like the McIntosh, is suitable for eating out of hand or for cooking.

Red Spartans were given their first very limited commercial trial in 1936, and in 1964, more than 150,000 bushel boxes were grown and found a ready market. This season's crop is estimated in excess of 300,000 boxes, and within a few years the annual Red Spartan apple harvest from B.C. orchards will climb to one million boxes.

Grading regulations eased on Delicious

A request by B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. to amend grade regulations for the Red Delicious variety and to allow in Canada Fancy the inclusion of those apples carrying the required percentage of colour was approved by the Department of Agriculture.

B.C. Tree Fruits had been advised in September by the government inspection branch that in view of the characteristic colour requirements in all grades of Red Delicious, it was obvious that many apples which would have previously packed as Fancy, would now be classed as Cee Grade.

Following a meeting between growers, government inspection, packing house and marketing agency personnel a decision was reached to ask the Canadian Agricultural Products Standards Act to allow the inclusion of those apples carrying the required percentage of colour, namely 25% A plus 15% reddish or 40% B, characteristic of the Delicious Variety.

It was pointed out that this was definitely still better than the regular Delicious grade which required only 15% A plus 15% reddish or 30% B type colour.

The growers request was based on the fact that the additional grade would entail considerable expense in packing and sorting and would also result in a considerable loss to the growers.

The original standards set by the CAPS Act would have required a Canada Extra Fancy, Canada Fancy and Canada C Grade in the packing of Red Delicious apples.

Apple Week a joint promotion

National Apple Week is a joint promotion of the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers' Association and growers from the fruit industry. Because of the importance of this vast industry to Canada's agricultural economy, Federal Minister of Agriculture has declared November 11-20 National Apple Week.

Full support will be given to the industry by major retail outlets and we send you the enclosed background material to assist you in whatever support you can give to this vital Canadian agricultural industry.

Okanagan Shippers will continue to conduct similar tests through out the apple marketing season for rail and truck export shipments from the West Coast.

B.C. Tree Fruits' officials although encouraged by this initial success, are reserving judgment as to whether these experiments constitute a "break through" in shipping techniques. The costs involved to adapt the fruit industry packing houses to this specialized type of handling have yet to be fully evaluated.

To date only a limited number of deep sea vessels are equipped to handle this type of bulk cargo.

Two railway cars of palletized apples were loaded October 5th at the Kelowna Growers' Exchange No. 8 plant for Halifax, N.S. and subsequent shipment by the refrigerated vessel 'NEWFOUNDLAND' for the United Kingdom. Reports on condition of the loads on arrival in Halifax were excellent, and advice from London received October 25th confirmed a very satisfactory shipment arrival, although there had been some movement of pallets in transit.

Encouraged by this preliminary successful trial, the B.C. Tree Fruits' Production and Export Departments and Ok-

Palletizing technique examined by Okanagan fruit industry

The British Columbia apple industry is continuing to investigate improved methods of shipping fresh produce to world markets. B.C. Tree Fruits Limited in cooperation with the shipping companies, is currently conducting a series of experimental loadings of palletized apple shipments for export.

Time, material, capabilities and costs, ease of handling and storage are main considerations in this study. Advantages of the system include increased speed of handling by the carriers and reduction of grade sorting at destination.

Order at SUMMERLAND REVIEW

Preserve parks says Victor Wilson

The Summerland Chamber of Commerce will investigate the costs of moving the cairn at the north end of town to the highway and refer it to the municipal council. This was decided at their November meeting Thursday night.

It was also suggested that locations of stop signs be checked and changed where necessary and suggested the population figures be stated on the highway signs.

Mr. Ted Atkinson, recently appointed, Managing Director of the Okanagan Regional Industrial Development Council spoke on the future of the Okanagan and pointed out how the chamber could assist that organization to promote industrial development in the Valley.

Vic Wilson showed slides on a park he is proposing to Victoria across the lake north of Naramata.

Those seeing the pictures certainly felt there was a need for the area to be kept forever for all to enjoy.

Mr. Wilson proposed road, trail and marine access. He stressed that it should be a joint project supported by all Okanagan Communities. The area is between Naramata and Okanagan Mission. The proposed name to be Okanagan Mountain Park.

He suggested workshops be organized, possibly in Pentiction to discuss future plans.

He had shown his pictures at the Peach Festival in Pentiction and at the Kelowna Fall Fair and hoped to show them in Victoria to government officials very soon.

He said many areas are requesting such projects so valley citizens should not wait too long to get action on this park.

According to one scientist, the human brain could store about 50 times more information than is contained in the 9,000 volumes of the Library of Congress.

Conference planned to consider Centennial plans

A conference on citizenship Centennial projects is planned to be held in Vancouver, Grosvenor Hotel, Nov. 19 and 20. It will be sponsored by the Vancouver Citizenship Council in co-operation with the University of British Columbia and the Citizenship Branch of the Federal Government.

This conference is designed to help local committees to plan a worthwhile project of lasting value for the two Centennial years of 1966 (British Columbia Centennial) and 1967 (Canada's Centennial).

The conference will start at 1 p.m. Friday, Nov. 19, and will run through to a banquet in Chinatown on Saturday, November 20. A nominal registration fee of 5.00 per person will be charged and this will include Friday evening banquet, Saturday lunch, and Saturday evening banquet.

Some fail to apply for earlier pension

It is believed that there are several hundred British Columbians who would be entitled to the federal Old Age Security pension in January 1966 who have not yet filed an application.

"Under an amendment to the Old Age Security Act passed at the last session of Parliament, persons who were 69 years of age before December 31, 1965 will be eligible for the payment in the following month", W. R. Bone, Regional Director, said. "This is the first step in a progressive reduction of the age qualification which will be completed in 1970 when persons 65 years of age will be entitled to the payment."

While 9,500 69-year olds have filed applications it is believed, using the last census figures as a basis, that there may be a considerable number of those eligible who have not yet done so. Anyone in this category is urged to take this action at an early date."

Old Age Security application forms are available at all post offices. The form, accompanied by documentary proof of age, should be mailed to: Regional Director, Old Age Security, P. O. Box 1177, Victoria, B.C.

Fair committees to discuss the expansion of the annual show

Fall Fair Chairman Dr. Jas. Marshall has called for a meeting to discuss future plans of the fair, on Monday, November 15th in the Co-op cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

He hopes to have all committee members present as well as organizations who are concerned with the operation of the fair.

The committee feel now it is time to discuss expansion of the annual show and would like all ideas in this regard as well as suggestions as to how it can be improved.

1964 sales total exceeded by MLS in ten months

Almost $17 million in sales were completed by the Multiple Listing Service of the Okanagan - Mainline Real Estate Board in the first 10 months of 1965. The increase is more than $1 million over M. L.S. sales for all of last year.

Record October sales of $2,114,957 brought the total for the first 10 months of 1965 to $16,977,706. In October 1964 sales were $1,826,220 and the 10-month total $13,847,988. The 23 per cent jump in sales enabled the Okanagan - Mainline Real Estate Board's service to pass the 1965 sales total of $15,716,000.

One hundred and thirty properties were sold through M. L.S. in October, compared with 103 in October 1964. So far this year 1,301 sales were completed, 257 more than in the same period last year. The 10-month unit sales total for 1965 also passed the total for all of 1964.

Women rub sides Near Peachland

An accident involving two women occurred near Peachland Saturday morning.

Ruth Wilson, Peachland, was proceeding north on Highway 97.

There were no injuries. Damage to the Wilson car was estimated at $200. RCMP are investigating.

Coupons in the Corn Flakes

The packaged food industry is approaching the point where soon you will not be able to buy anything without having stuffed into the package some extraneous item that you don't need and don't want.

Who wants cheap crockery and cheap glassware? Who wants wash cloths and tea towels? Who wants fragile plastic gadgets and toys? Who wants coupons that are supposed to represent money?

You are going to get this stuff, whether you want it or not, every time you buy a package of food containing a "free gift". And you are going to pay for it too.

These "prizes" and coupons with which you can purchase "prizes" are getting to be an obnoxious burden of expense to the shopper.

They raise the price of food. It costs money to give away "prizes". Somebody has to foot the bill, and that person is you.

The idea behind the "gift in the box" is to woo customers away from another product, but as soon as the other product starts the "gift in the box" program both products are back on level terms and both are stuck with the added cost of the "free gift" or coupon inside.

Naturally this cost is passed

Construction crew arrives for new road to Mt. Kobau

A contract to the value of $1,386,910 has been awarded to Peter Kiewit Sons Company of Canada Limited of Vancouver for the construction of a 12-mile road to the mountain-top site of the Mount Kobau National Observatory in south-central British Columbia, according to Public Works Minister George J. McIlraith.

The observatory, which is being built for the Department of Mine and Technical Surveys, will house the 150-inch Queen Elizabeth 11 optical telescope, exceeded in size only by the 200-inch reflecting telescope at Mount Palomar, California.

The supervisory crew headed by Bob Higgins and some of the construction workers have already arrived in Osoyoos. Equipment is presently being moved in from Mica Creek, Princeton, Yellowknife and Vancouver.

It is expected that approximately 80 men will be involved in the construction of the new road to the top of Mount Kobau.

The successful tender was the lowest of four opened on Oct. 20. High bid was $2,272,343.

Mount Kobau, only seven miles north of the United States border, stands between the Okanagan and Similkameen Valleys in a region of moderate temperatures and low precipitation where, if normal conditions prevail, it should be possible to carry on road construction throughout the winter with the objective of completing the work before March 31, 1966.

Starting near the summit of the Richter Pass on the intra-provincial highway, the road will wind 12.2 miles up the side of the 6,200-foot mountain, rising through a vertical distance of nearly 4,000 feet to be observatory site. The gradient will be held to a maximum of 7 per cent to facilitate the movement of heavy materials and equipment to the site and, after the whole project is completed, to provide easy access to the observatory for the public by bus or private car.

The road construction will involve considerable rock excavation and the completion of the highway except for the blacktop surface.

Four miles northwest of Osoyoos, the site was chosen for its climatic and other advantages. Cactus and sage brush growing on the mountainsides attest to the dry nature of the climate; the area is away from the path of fast-moving weather fronts, has generally clear skies and, in fact, lies in the northern continuation of the Great American Desert. It is also free of industrial haze and the sky-glow associated with large cities and is far enough south to be untroubled by much auroral activity.

At the top is a plateau eight miles long by two miles wide, which provides ample space for the observatory and attendant buildings. Picnic grounds and parking areas will eventually be provided for tourists.

Mount Kobau experienced 36 inches of snow last winter, where the snowfall in an average year is only about six inches. A recurrence of this unusual weather could delay construction of the access highway.

Consultants for the project are A. B. Sanderson and Company Limited consulting engineers of Vancouver and Victoria.

The value of goods imported into Canada last year was $7.5 billion, compared to $5.5 billion in 1960.

The area of Newfoundland is nearly three times the total of the other three Atlantic provinces combined.

Art Club invites all to take part

If you are interested in an art or craft, then you should drop in at the services' room at the Health Centre on Fridays. The Summerland Art Club has rented the room for the winter months from 10 am to 4 p.m. to further arts and crafts here.

Members participate in Okanagan Valley juried shows and plan to send entries to the juried show to be held at Vernon this month.

The club's latest project, now being planned, is a picture loan service for local residents. This has been carried out with enthusiasm at Kelowna.

It is thought there are many new comers to Summerland with skills and gifts along these lines might like to work with others having the same interests. So an open invitation is extended to these people and any others interested to come along. Anyone who can stay through the lunch hour should bring a sandwich the art club says, look at work being done, take part in discussions going on, or bring a project and work. Don't be shy. The art club wants to meet you.

Through the ten odd years since the club was started, it has engaged in many community enterprises as well as numerous ones carried out successfully by individual members.

First boost was given to the club by the Women's Institute, the organization sponsoring the initial show by amateur Summerland painters.

Since then the municipal council has given help in providing materials to make the nativity scene that is erected annually on the terraces of Mr. Alex Stevens' lawn at the end of Granville St., giving civic recognition to the spirit and beauty of the Christmas season.

Using its own funds the club has helped to promote arts and crafts in town.

Among the services it has given is purchase of some of the furniture for the uptown library including a special librarian's chair.

The art club gives scholarships to the Okanagan Summer School of the Arts. To mention only two young students who have been encouraged to positions through the club, Marjorie Johnson is working as a commercial artist in Edmonton after a scholarship here and attending Nelson College and Bob Brinton is in Vancouver a draughtsman in architectural art.

Many art shows have been brought to Summerland, week end workshops sponsored, present day trends indicated. A noticeable art awareness by children and many older people has been seen at some of the recent exhibitions.

Painting in the Park was started by an art club member and night school art classes are held annually in co-operation with the school board.

The club has assisted with backgrounds at the annual Queen's Crowning festivities and decorates the library on occasions, especially at Christmas.

Paintings by Summerland artists have been hung in Park

Sum'erland looking for first win

By RON KOSTELNIUK merland was shutout 5-0 in Summerland, continues its losing streak as they lost all games played this past week. Nov. 4 between Summerland and Pentiction Midgets in Summerland the visitors bombed the locals by a score of 9-2.

Bruce Johnston, in the Pentiction net, played a spectacular game making several key saves and thus damping the spirits of the locals. Pentiction rallied for three goals each period, while Summerland scored singles in the last two.

The first Summerland goal was unassisted by Garry Bollock with Pentiction leading 6-0. Captain Robin Agur scored the second Summerland marker early in the third to make the score 6-2 in favour of the visitors. The assist on Agur's goal went to No. 9, Garry Bollock. Summerland took 9 of the 12 penalties called. George Jenner and Garry Bollock almost started a fight and were chased for 2 minutes each.

In a PEE WEE game played at the Arena Sunday, Pentiction doubled the score on Summerland 6-3. Ken Ackles was top marksman for Summerland with two unassisted goals. Dwayne Smith accounted for the other Summerland tally.

Smith scored the first in the game, unassisted, at 6:48 of the first period but a goal by Terry Mulligan tied the score at 1-1. In the middle frame, Ackles tied up the score at 2-2 after Pentiction had taken a 2-1 lead with a goal at 8:45.

In the third, Pentiction scored four times in a nine minute span to take a 6-2 lead. Ackles netted his second of the night at 13:50 to end the scoring. There were only three penalties called with Summerland getting two of them. All were assessed in the third period.

In JUVENILE ACTION, Pentiction downed Summerland 10-5 in a game played in Pentiction. In BANTAM ACTION, Sum-

600 applications received during provincial JEFF week

With the close of JEFF WEEK, officially proclaimed by Order-In-Council of the provincial government from October 24 to 30, and with only scattered reports in from centres throughout the province, JEFF central headquarters at 1675 West 10th St., estimates that between 500 and 600 applications to become foster parents have been received.

In addition, Nanaimo reports that its Local Council of Women have decided to sponsor a receiving home in the area and three groups in Prince Rupert, the Friendship House Association, the Anglican Church and the City Council have indicated interest in helping to establish group homes.

Objectives of the drive for foster homes are 1000 foster homes, 100 receiving and observation homes, 20 group homes, and treatment centres for emotionally disturbed children.

"We are enormously encouraged by the fine response from the community," Miss Betty Tuckey, co-chairman of the JEFF Committee and supervisor of the Homefinding Department of the Children's Aid said. "JEFF Week after all is for an ongoing programme. We believe that the response will continue at a steady if not at such a high rate if the joint effort for fostering committee continues to keep the public informed of the need and can provide direction for community action."

Nearly 200 of the total number of inquiries have been received from greater Vancouver.

VLA payments deferred

Agriculture Minister Harry Hays and Veterans Affairs Minister Roger Teillet has announced that farmers in a area which have suffered serious crop losses this year and who have outstanding loans with the Farm Credit Corporation or the Veterans Land Administration may apply for a deferment of the repayment on their loans.

The Minister said that borrowers in those areas who are unable to make their payments without due hardship as a result of crop losses beyond their control will be permitted to defer payment of their current installments.

Farmers who wish a deferment should apply to the area offices of the Farm Credit Corporation or the Veterans Land Administration for their province or to the headquarters administration in Ottawa.

Broncos share lead with Kelowna

The Summerland - Penticton El Rancho Broncos stayed in first place after Friday's game, but they shared the honor with the Kelowna Buckaroos.

They met the Kamloops Kraft Kings on home ice and turned them back by a 7 to 4 count and dominated the play throughout the 60 minutes.

The Kings, playing short-handed, skated with the Broncos in the first and only suffered a one goal difference but they ran out of gas in the second which ended on a 6 to 2 note in favor of the hometown Larry Palanio and Ray Picco rifled two home over the distance and singles went to Ken Lawson Ray Rebelato and George Brent.

Dale Sandyke scored twice for the Kings and singles with Dave Anthony and Roy Sakaki.

As we go to press Tuesday night, Kamloops and Penticton will be playing in the orchard city, the winner of which will be the sole league leader.

A Few Comments . . .

By KEITH BERGH

It takes little effort to go out of whack on election predictions. This we proved last week by calling for a minority Progressive Conservative government . . . oh well . . . I am still young and will have plenty of time to gain experience in predicting elections if they keep coming up at the rate they have been in the past eight years.

The outcome proved nothing. It was a useless election for everyone but the NDP who now have a big club to swing. Course Douglas said he would co-operate with the government . . . IF they would do as he says. Guess this makes him somewhat of a hero.

John Diefenbaker is apparently getting used to the bitter fruit of defeat and has learned to like it because he still insists on the leadership.

We can think of three or four top notch Conservatives who would have had a good chance of toppling the government in this election. But there we go again making observations while the last goof we made is still warm. I will shut up . . . for now.

FEDERAL EXPENSES
Estimated expenditure for the federal government's newest department, the Department of Industry, is $31 million for the current year.

A Greenbelt For Canada's National Capital

Sixth in a Series)

The master plan for the development of our National Capital Region now being carried out by the National Capital Commission had the foresight to recognize the problems that could inevitably arise with a population explosion in the capital as Canada matured and expanded into a world leader. Since the Second World War a population explosion has taken place in the Capital, with an accelerated expansion of residential construction in the suburbs.

The City of Ottawa, whose population in 1946 was 171,941, today has reached 283,700. The metropolitan area, made up of 13 municipalities on both the Ontario and Quebec sides has a population of about 475,000. It is expected that by 1976 the metropolitan area will have reached 645,000 with the 1800-square mile, National Capital Region totalling about 700,000. Projections to the year 2001 give the National Capital Region a population of 1,240,000.

In view of such statistics, the need for planning cannot be denied and the work of the National Capital Commission has already resulted in protective town planning measures of which the most important seems to be the establishment of a Greenbelt surrounding Ottawa. To control disorderly expansion of the Capital the NCC has established around the urban area in Ontario a rural-urban semi-circular belt of 41,500 acres extending over a distance of about 24 miles. It is 3 miles deep at its widest point.

Aptly termed the "Capital's Emerald Necklace", the basic reason for the Green belt is simple. It is an organization zone of transition between the built-up urban area and the rural region. In short it is the natural link between city and country, but it retains its rural characteristics.

Our National Capital's Greenbelt prevents urban sprawl and stimulates urban renewal by encouraging builders to make the best possible use of available land within the perimeter. It is a source of farm produce from those parts devoted to agriculture. It enables the government to control large tracts of land which may be required for the eventual construction of large buildings and it lends itself to large scale reforestation and helps conservation of water, fauna and flora. The Greenbelt also provides an area for parks, beaches, golf courses and other recreational activities for the public. And last but not least it ensures attractive approaches to the Capital and is a wise conservation of space for future needs.

The National Capital Commission supervises the development and management of the Greenbelt. Having bought the farms within the perimeter, the Commission leases many of them back to their former owners or to new tenants and standards in the hope that the farms in the Greenbelt may become models of agricultural management.

An extensive program of reforestation within the Greenbelt has already begun. Thanks to an agreement with the Department of Lands and Forests more than 1,700,000 small conifers have been planted on over 2000 acres. When the trees grow large, this region may become a game preserve and a natural park not to mention the benefits that will be derived from water and soil conservation — another plus in Canada's effort to make the National Capital Region a show place of the world.

Scouts now on the move

The troop resumed activities somewhat late this year owing to changes in leadership and has now had four meetings.

D. V. Fisher, for many years scoutmaster, is now in an advisory capacity and the troop is under the guidance of H. Wiens, T. P. Decie and Jim Munn. Meetings, as in the past, are on Mondays at 7:00 p.m.

The patrols have been re-arranged under all new patrol leaders, Howard Wiens, Roy Heinrichs and Gary Davis. Cubs who have joined from the pack are Dale Andall, George Barkwill, Ken Roberge and Rick Nistor. Boys who have come in from out-of-town troops are Richard Lockie, Ken Madsen and Kim Bergh. Richard Lockie was invested at the last meeting.

The senior boys have already had a weekend camp. The troop will parade with the Legion and other organizations, meeting at the MacDonald School at 10:20 a.m. All boys, even though not invested, are asked to be present in uniform — but long pants and windbreakers.

Dues are now owing and details of this and uniform changes have been sent to parents in a newsletter.

Fair committee study ideas to improve annual show

The Summerland Fall Fair Committee have appointed an exhibit chairman for next year's operation and he will go into action immediately to start plans for the 1966 show. This is a new position on the fair executive.

Charlie Bernhardt was persuaded to take on the job due to his many years of experience in organizing various phases of the fair.

They suggested each committee submit a budget to the financial committee for approval each year previous to the fair.

A simplified prize list would be adopted without advertising but donors of prizes would be given recognition in the various exhibits.

They suggested that rather than 10% of profit for booth space be charged, it be changed to 10% of gross receipts.

Booth rentals have been a declining source of revenue.

The increase would include all sales of merchandise, games of chance or raffles. They reasoned this would be fair because the fair supplies the space, facilities, advertising and the market.

Charlie Bernhardt's new position will involve the reorganization and standardization of complete prize list in consultation with all committee heads. He will co-ordinate sections and classes including the supervision of the exhibits at the fair.

This committee suggested a gate charge of $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students in their proposed budget. The one ticket would do for both days.

The meeting decided they would not be wise to change the date of the fall fair although there were points in favor of a change.

Walter Ward and Tom Manning of the horticultural department said it would be better if the fair was two weeks earlier, but felt a good show was produced this year and they could continue in this manner.

The royalty committee wished it to be earlier because it is conflicting with university registration and the Queen and her ladies in waiting often have to make a special trip back to perform their various duties. This was not considered a serious obstacle.

Due to the fact there would be few apples two weeks earlier which would also run into soft fruit harvest it was decided to leave the date as before—the first weekend after Labor Day.

The Fair Committee realized that many wished the fair to be earlier but felt they would have to change the whole theme of the fair if this were done.

Chairman Marshall would not act in the same capacity for the coming year—mostly because he is the Centennial Chairman and he felt he would be too busy working with that to do justice to the fair. Although a number tried to persuade him to go for another year he did not feel he should.

The Chamber of Commerce was asked to appoint someone to fill that position as soon as possible.

REMEMBRANCE DAY 1965 IN SUMMERLAND

Bylaws governing signs to get working over

A Summerland garage operating in a non-conforming zone and closed since Oct. 1 will not be able to reopen until arrangements are made to have the property rezoned. It is the Esso service station across the street south of the B.C. Shippers. It was noted by Building Inspector John Khalembach at the Tuesday council meeting the building is in poor repair. According to the zoning by-law, if non-conforming property is vacated for a period of 30 days or more, it must conform before it can be re-occupied.

Reeve Holmes told council he has contacted a committee to make up the Summerland Industrial Development Board who will act with the council representative Jim Schaeffer. They are Doug Hill, Don Estabrook and Keith Bergh. They will hold their first meeting tonight.

Three by-laws were passed exempting the Summerland churches, the Youth Centre, curling rink and skating arena from municipal taxes.

Council recommended that F. Dunn make an application to the planning appeal board because it was impossible for him to build a garage on his property without bringing the building slightly ahead of his home in relation to the road.

This being contrary to the zoning bylaw, they could not give permission for him to proceed without it going before the board.

Plans to suspend a 40 square foot sign over the parking lot at Powell Beach Plaza was shown to council. A cable attached to a steel pole at the property line and to the existing building was shown.

Council wished to give this plan the green light, but zoning bylaws prevented them to do so as the steel pole is classified as a portion of the structure making it impossible to erect it at the property line.

Another stumbling block was the fact that only 10 square feet of sign is allowed for each business. There being only three businesses there, they would only be allowed a 30 sq. ft. sign.

Land Rangers are a busy group

By C. Cooke

This fall the former South Okanagan Land Rangers were divided into two sections. The Pentiction members formed a Sea Rangers Company and the Summerland girls continued as the First Company of the South Okanagan Division Land Rangers. These girls, with Pat Ryman as their chairman, are a small but active group who hold weekly meetings. They are fortunate again to be under the direction of their enthusiastic captain, Mrs. Sandy Fenwick. She explains the Rangers program as one which develops in the girls a wide range of interests and accomplishments.

LAND RANGERS 36 a meeting one meeting the special feature was a film and speaker on Cerebral Palsy. At another, the girls were given a demonstration on the correct use of cosmetics.

As part of the cultural section of their program, and with money they had earned themselves, the Company attended the White Heather Concert in Pentiction.

Within the last few weeks they have been seen, in their smart navy blue and white uniforms, forming an honour guard with a group of boy scouts at the Kelowna wedding of a former Ranger, as well as attending the recent Girl Guide church parade in the Summerland Baptist Church, and participating in the Remembrance Day Services in Summerland at the Cenotaph on November 11th.

One combined meeting with the Sea Rangers of Pentiction proved to be a particularly enjoyable occasion as they renewed acquaintances with girls who last year had been members of their own group. Service is one of the important features of Rangers' activities. It is much to the credit of the girls that they are not looking for a "thank you" for the things which they do. In fact, they often request that no public recognition be given for certain phases of their service work. We cannot help but admire such an attitude.

These girls may pursue such diversified interests as Home Decorating, Survival, First Aid, Child Care and many others. In order to pass star tests they must have more than a nodding acquaintance with the subjects of their choice.

The Rangers is a branch of the Girl Guide Movement which is not so well known in our area. We hope we may be able to learn more about it in future.

We salute these girls and their leaders as they carry out this all-around program for developing all-around good citizens.

Art Club to present films

Films of interest in art will be shown at the Summerland Library on November 24, at 8:00 p.m. They are National Film Board productions and sponsored by the Art Club. Showing will be "A is for Architecture", "Paintings of Charlevoix and Varley" and "The world of David Milne". There is no charge for this showing and refreshments will be served. Former and prospective members of the Art Club are most welcome.

NEW SLATE OF OFFICERS NOMINATED

Strike bends Legion but recover nicely

A new slate of officers were selected at the monthly meeting of the Summerland Royal Canadian Legion to act for the coming year. All positions were filled without election with the exception of the directors. Five out of the eight chosen will be voted on next meeting.

President will be E. F. "Hilly" Smith who moved up the line from vice-president. Also moving towards the top are Wm. B. Eyre first vice-president, J. Selinger second vice-president and Mrs. Margaret Caldwell was selected as third vice-president.

The executive slate nominated were D. Blystone, Lon White, John Dunn, C. B. Hankins, Harry Killick, Earl Smith, T. Herb Waterhouse and Fred Walker.

Emil Bonhoux will be in charge of the Canteen and Ted Miles Sgt. at Arms. W. Mc-

Cutehoun will continue as welfare officer and Sandy Caldwell as social chairman. Sick and visiting committee head will continue to be Dave Taylor Sr., house and grounds, Phil Smith and scouts Bill Milne.

Two new Summerland residents and Legion members E. Antonovitch formerly of Stettler and Cliff Allen who came from Macleod, Alberta.

A donation of $10 was made to the St. John's Ambulance. The Summerland Ladies auxiliary donated $100 to the branch for which much appreciation was expressed.

The ladies were also given much praise for their assistance in Poppy Day as well as the junior organizations who helped with the canvas with co-operation of willing drivers.

It was reported the Summerland Scouts are back in operation. The boys are sponsored by the Legion. The members were shown a beautiful "Roll of Honour" — painted and inscribed by Mrs. Jack Willson naming all those who gave their life during the wars.

President Dugal MacGregor announced the winners of the annual Remembrance Day student essay contest.

The Senior winner was Susan Wilson first and Bruce MacGregor second. In the Junior class it was Sheila Smith and Debora Ask.

Their work will now be sent for zone competition.

The arrangement with the Pentiction City Band is that they alternate between that city and Summerland to participate in the Remembrance Day parade because there are so many Summerland members playing in the band.

According to Harry Killick a

CHIMNEY ABLAZE — NO DAMAGE

At 8:30 Thursday night, the Summerland Fire Department was called to a chimney fire at the home of Erwin Wuensche on Fern Bench Road. There was no damage.

Many attend to pay their respects

Many honored the war dead at Summerland as millions of Canadians paused to remember those who gave the supreme sacrifice during the two world wars.

It was a dead silence as Legion president Dugal MacGregor read the names of those killed in action during the two world wars.

Padre Rev. Beames was in charge of the impressive services with the assistance of Pastor Mel Schultz and Rev. P. K. Louie.

Summerland RCMP led a parade consisting of the Pentiction City Band and Pentiction Pipe Band.

Taking part in the parade were veterans, Legion members, Legion Auxiliary, Guides and Scouts and Cub Scouts.

Reeve Norman Holmes led a parade of organizations to lay wreaths at the cenotaph in remembrance of those who died for principles they believe.

Walter Ward and Tom Manning of the horticultural department said it would be better if the fair was two weeks earlier, but felt a good show was produced this year and they could continue in this manner.

Slight change in school board policy on recommendations

Principals of Summerland's three schools presented monthly reports to school trustees showing a great deal of activity going on in all areas.

John Tamblin, principal of the Secondary School regretted it was impossible to have parents come to the school to pick up report cards this year. With the auditorium inoperable a temporary rooms erected there, it was decided to send report cards home with all students except the occupational class. Their cards will be mailed home.

He pointed out it was not intended to close the open door policy of the school, and parents who wish to consult with teachers on a student's work have been asked to contact the school for an appointment.

A slight change has been made in school policy on recommendations on June examinations. The usual rules will stand but a solid "C" average will be accepted instead of the "C plus" as in the past for Grades 8, 9 and 10.

In order to give students an opportunity to do more writing in the form of essays, four lay markers have been appointed. They will work closely with the English teachers of Grades 10, 11 and 12 students. They are all persons who have a high degree of skill in English.

John Cooke, principal of Macdonald elementary school reported that only 23 registrations have been received for the dental program, and requested that the board open the program to six-year-olds.

The board originally budgeted for 70 pupils on the program of dental care which costs parents only $3 per year for all the work needed on the pre-school five-year-olds.

The board suggested the money be held over until the spring and start the new program in the spring instead of September.

Previously the program had started in the spring, but the department of health, which also supplies part of the funds for the program, asked that boards open the program in September because of fiscal year differences.

Department of health officials will be contacted by the secretary-treasurer to inquire if the change can be made back to spring.

Report cards in the elementary school will go out Nov. 17. An enriched reading program is being started in one of the Grade 6 classes. The group will study the classics on a discussion basis. Mr. Cooke said he expects to expand the project when the pilot unit has had a chance to be assessed.

At a recent fire drill Mr. Cooke says the pupils set a record. Macdonald school was emptied in 1 minute 12 seconds and the annex in 32 seconds. "They poured out faster than I've ever seen them do it before," he said.

He reported some problems with foul air in the basement washrooms since doors have been put on them. With little or no circulation of air, it remains static resulting in a rush of foul air each time the doors are opened.

Maintenance supervisor Elton Knuff provided one of the windows with a louver so it could be open without giving visual access from outside but Mr. Cooke says this is not the complete answer.

When construction starts on the secondary school the two fans from the roof of the west wing are scheduled to be installed in this area of Macdonald School. Until such time as this move is completed, Mr. Cooke suggested the doors be removed.

Ray McNabb reported a gym club has been formed at Trout Creek School in anticipation of the completion of the new activity room. Boys in Grades 6 and 7 are taking part.

The addition has enabled intra-mural sports to be organized at Trout Creek for the first time and soccer, volleyball, basketball, badminton and table tennis are being included in the program.

32 named to school honor roll

A total of 32 students have achieved honor roll in the secondary school here. To attain honor roll standing, a student must achieve a minimum of a "B" average on at least five core subjects.

Grade 8 students on the list are David Cartrell, Ronald Hack, Margaret Holler, Patsy Norris, Barbara Porritt, Sharie Randle, Ken Selinger, Marlene Shannon, Susan Wardle, Anneliese Wouters, Kathy Wreast.

Grade 9, Marvin Barg, Lynn Cartrell, Lesley Ryga, Sheila

Grade 10, Harold Hockley, Joan Holler, Stan Kita, Ken Lee, Ken Madsen, Linda Murphy, Linda Scott, Gina Storey, Don Wright.

Grade 11 Ann Davies, Jane Miltimore, Carol Shannon, Sherilyn Shenton, Divi Wouters.

Grade 12, Norman Norrish, Marjorie Porritt, Richard Johnston.

Len Shannon to head Summerland Sporting Rifle Club for 1965-66

At the annual meeting of the Summerland Sporting Rifle Club held in the basement of Albert's Sport Shop, 24 prospective members attended and voted a new slate of officers.

Len Shannon has been elected president of the club for the 1965-66 season. Vice-president is Andy Neilsen; secretary, Louise Atkinson; treasurer, Don Tait; a range officers are Harold Richardson, Howard Wright, Andy Neilsen, Colin Mann and Roy Bertram.

Scorekeeper is Olive Bertram and refreshment committee is Carol Shannon and Frances Bentley.

A rifle range has been set up in the basement room of the sport shop. Juniors will meet on Thursday from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. and seniors on Fridays at 8:00 p.m.

Christmas Seal Campaign Opens

Her Excellency Madame Georges P. Vanier receives the first sheet of 1965 Tuberculosis Christmas Seals from Miss Caroline Dworschak. Last summer this eight year old volunteer spent part of her holidays helping her local tuberculosis association by folding seals. Here she demonstrates to Her Excellency how she went about it. Her Excellency officially launched the campaign today with a television and radio message to the country.

National project is too costly

The Summerland Legion decided not to participate in Project 67 for the time being, at their November meeting.

This was the recommendation the Executive brought forward to the membership.

Project 67 is sponsored by Legion Command and they have set their goal at $1 million which amounts to $4.00 per member.

They will accept donations from anyone wishing to take part however.

It is the plan of command to invest the money, the proceeds of which would be used for scholarships, and the like according to Legion President Dugal MacGregor.

He said the executive felt they were not clear enough on the aims of the project and felt it would be too much of a burden on the club. They would be assessed $1400.00.

Command suggested it be raised by increasing the membership $200 per year for two years.

Thumbs went down on this as they felt this would serve as too much of a hardship on members. Membership Chairman estimated they could lose one third of their members. It was voted out.

Mrs. Fred Schumann convenor at bazaar

On Saturday, November 20, the members of Faith Rebekah Lodge No. 32 will hold their annual pre-Christmas Bazaar. Mrs. J. H. Dunsdon, district deputy president, will officially open the function at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Fred Schumann, noble grand, is the general convenor with Mrs. J. Brown and Mrs. T. Dunsdon in charge of serving tea. Mrs. J. Dunn will be looking after the popular home-cooking section. Suitable gift aprons will be sold by Mrs. Rupert Brown and Mrs. W. Gillespie. Other gift suggestions will be in the fancy-work field under the supervision of Mrs. Fred Downes, vice-grand, and Mrs. C. Brick wall stops driver quick

At 7:15 Sunday evening, John Lynn Hurren of Summerland was travelling south on Victoria Road and failed to make the turn and struck the south west corner of the Summerland 5c to $1.00 store.

The impact pushed a hole through the cement blocks and loosened the whole corner of the building and broke two large plate glass windows causing an estimated $2,000 damage. The damage to the Hurren car amounted to $500.

Wayne Shannon was a passenger in the car and suffered cuts to the face.

RCMP are investigating.

Good registrations at Art classes

Art Club officials said this week they were pleased with the registration at Saturday's art class for juniors.

Heinz Foedisch, the instructor, will divide the youngsters into at least two groups. There were 14 who registered Saturday and more have indicated they will be attending later.

At the first session, Mrs. J. Tamblyn and Mrs. T. M. Croil assisted Mr. Foedisch, and other art club members will take it in turns to help at the weekly sessions held in the services room of the Health Centre.

Successful home improvements depend on help from experts

Many home improvements are doomed to failure before they even start. The primary cause is ignorance on the part of the homeowner and indifference on the part of the contractor.

This is particularly true when it comes to such major home improvements as central heating and air conditioning, the Canadian Gas Association points out.

The wise homeowner seeks expert advice because indoor comfort is the result of careful engineering. The temperature throughout the entire house should be uniform. If there is a wide variance you will experience discomfort as you move from room to room.

The temperature should also be the same from floor to ceiling and from wall to wall. Cold or warm air lurking in corners creates forbidden sectors where sitting and relaxing cannot be enjoyed in comfort.

Uniform temperature, then, is one of the first requirements of engineered comfort. Good equipment design such as that found in modern central gas heating - air conditioning systems, makes possible the delivery and maintenance of uniform temperature.

Because there is constant, but imperceptible air movement the atmosphere inside the home is always pleasant and fresh. Cooking odors and cigarette smoke never linger long.

Another pleasant aspect of forced air heating - air conditioning systems is the number of new designs available in air registers. These are a far cry from the registers of 25 years ago — the iron-grated hole in the floor that belched volcano-hot air at the ceiling. Nor are they anything like the cannon-muzzled side-wall gadget that used to send alternately hot and cold blasts into the room.

Modern registers, or diffusers as they are now called, are practically indistinguishable from the floor or wall in which they may be located. Some even look like the baseboard. In addition to being pleasing to the eye, modern diffusers have inner components of scientifically-engineered compound curves and louvered fins that direct the flow of warm air upward and fan-wise over wall surfaces. Yet you are never conscious of the flow of air into the room.

Placement of the diffuser outlets is one of the important keys to modern comfort. This is why, the Canadian Gas Association points out, you should have the services of an expert when you plan a new forced air heating and air conditioning system.

Summerland Review — 3

War between the sexes

Like most people, we get considerable amusement from witty and sharp debate about whether women are as good as men, etc. Such an exchange, involving Randolph Churchill — the late Sir Winston's son — has been running through recent numbers of the British weekly, The Spectator. What pleased us most about this particular exchange was the way in which two women correspondents have stood up to Mr. Churchill's banter and have refused to be cowed by him.

These women are obviously what some stuffer men would call "feminists." They refuse to indicate in signing letters whether they were "Mrs." or "Miss."

This was enough for Mr. Churchill to set about teasing them — but not before he had sought to tear one of them apart for suggesting that if men "curbed their outdated conception of the female of the species, future man-imposed atrocities, Waterloos, first and second world wars and other real tragedies might be avoided." What about Board-icea asked Mr. Churchill. And Joan of Arc, Bloody Mary, Elizabeth I, Maria Theresa, Catherine the Great, Queen Victoria, and even Elizabeth II, "under whom Mau Mau was suppressed, Makarios incarcerated and the Suez operation launched"?

One of the two women letter-writers — neither of whom was willing to let her formidable challenger get away with anything — was certainly right in describing his barrage as "a fusillade of heavy artillery."

But none of the shots fell with such accuracy and — we submit — devastating efficacy as one of her own salvos. She wrote: "Randolph S. Churchill suggests that only women who deny their femininity can live full intellectual and professional lives. My argument is that it is no denial of womanhood to live such lives, any more than it is a denial of masculinity to treat women as intellectual equals — which we are."

Atomic bargaining

With atoms, as with horses, trading will never get anywhere unless someone is willing to make an offer. But once an offer is made, then both sides have something firm to get their teeth into.

We hope that the United States' proposal that both it and the Soviet Union agree to destroy "several thousand" nuclear weapons will be the start of serious and practical bargaining on atomic control and disarmament. America has, so to speak, led a mighty big and healthy horse into the trading ring. We trust it will catch Moscow's eye.

Of course, the destruction of even so large a number of nuclear weapons would still leave both America and Russia as atomic giants. This step — important and hopeful as it could be — would only be a beginning.

But a beginning must be made. America and Russia must prove to the world that they are sincere in their wish to control the most horrendous weapon which ever hung above mankind's head. Such an example by the world's two atomic leaders would, we are sure, have an incalculably healthy effect upon further efforts to control and limit nuclear weaponry. May the Soviet Union respond to the American proposal in such a way as to encourage further bargaining.

Lieutenant Governor George Pearkes, right, Honorary Chairman of the B.C. T-B Christmas Seal Society, and Ralph A. Barnard, president, admire the first of 74,000,000 Christmas Seals to be distributed in B.C. this year.

Juniors show badminton interest

Clarence Lackey of Trout Creek became the new President of the Summerland Athletic Club, at an Annual General Meeting, held last Thursday at the Badminton Hall. He succeeds Dr. F. C. McInnes who automatically becomes a Director of the Club. Other new Directors include: J. Dobi, B. Branden R. Towgood, Mrs. Leighton Lopatecki, and Mrs. Maurice Welsh. Miss Dorothy Britton agreed to continue in her capacity as Secretary-Treasurer.

The Summerland Badminton Club became incorporated in the Summerland Athletic club last year, in order to avoid a duplication of meetings. They now function synonymously.

The badminton season started well this year, and the many new members are enlisting the group. More will be welcome at any time. It is good to see the club thriving again.

Junior membership has already more than doubled its last year's figure, and it is felt that an extra weekly session should be added, in order to give the maximum opportunity for instruction. At present, they are meeting at 3:30 - 5 p.m. on Fridays, and at 11 a.m. - noon on Saturdays. A further session is likely to be held on Mondays from 3:30 - 5 p.m. Mothers of Juniors are being asked to assist occasionally at these sessions, as numbers are sufficiently great to warrant having two adults in attendance; one to supervise and one to coach. Any volunteers are asked to contact Mrs. K. Storey, HY4-8031.

Too much power causes no disruption

At 4:30 a.m. Saturday morning, a crash on Garnett Valley Road brought police and electrical crews out. A car with two juvenile boys went off the road and sheared off a power pole. Electrical service was not interrupted. RCMP are investigating.

Research station spreads knowledge

Research work conducted at the Summerland Research Station, although designed especially to solve problems of the British Columbia fruit and vegetable industries, frequently proves to have useful application in other regions.

Dr. D. L. McIntosh of the Plant Pathology Section has recently returned from a work trip in Missouri and Illinois. His assistance had been requested by university and industry personnel in the region, for assessment of the tree fruit root rot problems that are becoming serious in orchards of the Midwest States. He was able to suggest means by which they can be investigated, and control measures to be used.

Earlier in the summer Dr. Maurice Welsh performed a similar assignment when he answered a request to assess the role of virus diseases in Nova Scotia apple plantings. This followed a similar examination by Dr. Welsh in 1964 of the apple industries of Eastern Ontario and Quebec.

During the last several months, the Plant Pathology Section has also had a number of visitors from other regions and countries, to study recent developments in the Summerland research program. These have included Dr. R. Bovey, Associate Director of the Agricultural Research Stations of western Switzerland; Dr. L. Wolfswinkel, Head of Plant Pathology Department at Stellenbosch, South Africa; Mr. Paul Roy, Pomologist for the Canada Department of Agriculture in the Province of Quebec; Mr. W. J. Moller, Plant Pathologist from South Australia, and a number of workers from various parts of the United States.

LET'S GET NEWSY...

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hodgson for 3 days last week was their son Barry and John Elwood from Hamilton, Ont. Both boys are attending UBC.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Trussell of Vancouver were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Trussell of Summerland and Mr. and Mrs. Inaba of Kelowna.

Visiting friends and relatives in Summerland and Penticton on the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Biollo and Cindy of Vancouver.

Even judo classes in Summerland

A visit to the Japanese Community Hall, Julia St., Summerland on Monday or Friday evenings will prove most interesting, as you may watch a class of adults and young boys indulging in the ancient Japanese sport of Judo.

The club was started in Penticton some time ago but practice room became unavailable, so they were given permission to use the hall in Summerland as their "dojo" or club room.

The floor is covered with genuine straw judo mats and the students all wear the traditional "judogi" a very loose-fitting gown and trousers with a belt of the color to indicate his class. The classes are under the direction of Jimmy Kawakami, a local orchardist and holder of a number two Black Belt.

There are many judo techniques. The classes being held here are concerned only with the teaching of foot sweeps, throws and hold-downs, with no emphasis on holds or blows intended to cripple an adversary.

Although an air of extreme politeness is noted during the practice sessions, it is also evident that the students would have little difficulty disposing of an adversary in the event of an unexpected attack.

The club has just started training for the fall and winter season, and anyone interested may obtain information regarding membership from Bob Smith at 494-1623.

FIRST TB SANATORIA OPENED IN 1897

The first Canadian sanatoria for tuberculosis treatment was opened at Muskoka in 1897. The hospital was built with 25 beds later increased to 430 beds. Today, less people are hospitalized with tuberculosis because if found in the early stages it can be treated with drugs at home. Chest x-rays find lung disease in the early stages. The service is supported by your Christmas Seal dollars.

Kinette Korner

This week we offer some helpful hints for the household:

1. To remove coffee stains, use the yolk of an egg mixed with a little water. (Glycerine will do the same.) Rub out before washing.
2. To polish patent leather, try using orange juice. It works very well.

Christmas is fast drawing near, so begin now to plan your Christmas gifts. The Kinette's would like to suggest a good gift for the women on your list. What is more useful than a cookbook? Cookbooks are now available for only $1.50. To make your orders, phone 494-8242 right away.

We hope everyone who attended the Ladies' Nite enjoyed themselves. Hats off to the Kinsmen for such an entertaining evening.

What's your stand on registering life insurance policies to claim increased income tax deductions?

Mr. Vincent
If it's possible, I'm all for it!

Interviewer
It is. You may request The Mutual Life to register with the government any Mutual Life policies, except Term insurance. This will enable you, under present Income Tax regulations, to deduct the savings portion of your premium, up to 20% of your earned income.

Mr. Vincent
It seems to me that everybody should know about this!

Interviewer
You're right! Particularly people who are building a pension for themselves. Even people now contributing to a company pension plan may qualify for further tax relief.

Mr. Vincent
Look, I'd like to check into this. Where can I get complete information?

THE BIG SPARTAN DURING APPLE WEEK

This year, for the first time, there is a comparatively bounteous crop of B.C.'s new apple — the Red Spartan. And National Apple Week November 11-20 is a reminder to try the Spartan. It's an apple that grew first in the Okanagan Valley of B.C. It is characterized by deep red colour and smaller core than average. The flesh is firm, crisp, white and juicy. Celebrate Apple Week by whipping up a batch of these delicious Apple Mince Squares.

Baby Bonus can help to buy college education

Most parents are only too well aware that it takes a good deal more than brains for a boy or girl to go to college. That's why far-sighted mothers and fathers who want to give their children the best possible in life plan far in advance for the rising costs of higher education.

For many Canadian parents, the monthly family allowance cheque provides an opportunity to lay the groundwork of a savings program designed to cover the costs of higher education for their children.

Family allowance cheques for one child, if deposited in a B of M savings account until the age of 16, will total more than $1,600.00, including interest the bank pays. It's a tidy sum towards a college career.

If you're in doubt as to what it might cost in the long run to send your boy or girl to college, why not drop in at the Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal. Jock Johnston, the manager, will be glad to give you a copy of the B of M folder outlining a typical education savings program which can easily be adapted to the special requirements of your youngster.

Sale of water-color originals to aid Art Club projects

A unique sale of original water-color paintings will be held in the Penticton Community Arts Centre at 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 20th. This collection was recently presented to the Penticton Art Club by Mrs. Donald McCallum to raise funds for the club.

An unusual scholarship to Summer School of Fine Arts has already been organized and the first scholarship was awarded this year to Miss Audrey George.

The next dream to be realized is to establish a children's Picture Loan Library where children may borrow good prints for a nominal fee and enjoy the pleasure of having famous and exciting pictures in their own homes.

Another project dear to Art Club member's hearts is to create a fund for purchasing paintings from local artists to be hung in the Penticton Community Arts Centre as a permanent collection.

The paintings to be auctioned are excellent examples of the school of realism and include landscapes and flower studies. This is a wonderful opportunity for enjoying an original painting in your home, at your own price, and also to select one or two for special Christmas gifts.

Most of the collection will be on view Nov. 17, 18th, and 19th, in the lobby of the Penticton Community Arts Centre with the sale taking place in the Theatre Room at 7:00 p.m. on November 20th.

This Roof Has Seven Leaks

A photographer once told me that the sunlight in the South Okanagan was of such high intensity that colour pictures taken here showed more brilliance and required a shorter period of exposure than in any other part of Canada.

No doubt the clarity of the atmosphere is the reason the federal government has chosen this area as a site for their giant Queen Elizabeth telescope. The air is remarkably free from haze, smoke, dust, and other foreign matter.

In other areas industrial plants with their belching chimneys and crowded residential foul up the atmosphere and create conditions unsuitable for stellar observation.

This same clean air and intensive sunlight is not an unmixed blessing for it shortens the life expectancy of a new paint job on the house, and takes years off the life of just about any material you choose to put on a roof.

I should not complain about my own roof of cedar shingles for it has been in place for 26 years, but the only reason it lasted that long is because I kept patching it up with bits and pieces of sheet metal pushed up under the old shingles wherever they curled up and split under the scorching heat of our summer sun, or wherever the wind had ripped them off. The old roof finally looked like a crazy quilt.

But even all this patching a roof is bound to give out some time, so rather than wait for it to go like the one I had, I am now in the middle of a re-roofing job.

I've been hoping for a few more days of fine weather, but it looks as though the growers who want rain to soak their dry land have convinced the weather man that the condition of their orchards is more important than my roof. I'll not argue the point.

Anyway, it's a heck of a time to put on a new roof, but between drizzles I'm making some headway.

On CBC's Country Calendar TV program last Sunday after noon there was a very interesting feature on the vegetable growing industry in California.

The Golden State grows a fantastic 43 percent of U. S. vegetable production on land that runs as high as $4,000 an acre.

Vegetable growing in California is big business but many growers are now in trouble, caught in the price squeeze of rising costs overtaking crop returns.

When the commentator said land in California was being forced out of production at the rate of 320 acres a day I thought there must be some mistake.

However, the figure compares closely with the statement of a Summerland Research Station staff member who said recently that farm land between San Francisco Bay and Los Angeles is disappearing at the rate of 100,000 acres a year.

It is being gobbled up by housing and industrial developments, roads and shopping centres.

B.C. to enter float in Rose Bowl parade Jan. 1

British Columbia will have a float in the famous Rose Bowl Parade at Pasadena, Calif., on January 1, 1966.

The Provincial Centennial Committee accepted an invitation to enter a float as an excellent way to launch the first of its two Centennial years. The float will be decorated entirely with fresh flowers. It will be escorted by 18 members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, mounted and in full regalia. The 120-man Beef Eaters Band from Vancouver will be in attendance.

The parade will be seen live on television throughout the United States and Canada and internationally via Telstar. It has been estimated that 150,000,000 people will see it.

This will be the first time in its 77-year history that the Rose Bowl Parade has had an official British Columbian entry. The parade, noted as North America's most extravagant display of floats, bands, and marching units precedes the annual Rose Bowl football game.

the Fraser Valley. Soon the densely populated Lower Mainland may be looking to the Okanagan for the bulk of vegetable supplies — unless the Okanagan, too, turns from a farm economy to an industrial and tourist economy. That is more than mere possibility.

$234,000 tender accepted for school construction

Busch Construction Co. Ltd., Kelowna, put in the lowest bid on additions and renovations to Summerland Secondary School. Tenders were opened last Wednesday night at the regular meeting of the board of School District 77. The board will recommend the Busch bid of $234,150 be accepted by the department of education. Other tenders received by the board were Ollen and Webber, Penticton, $242,968; and Kenyon and Co. Ltd. contract division Penticton, $243,997. The tenders included the cost of folding partitions for the second storey addition to the west wing of the school.

These were requested by principal John Tamblin to provide an area that could be made into one large room or three smaller ones as program requirements dictated. The amounts were listed separately in the tenders as a safeguard to the board, if the tenders should be higher than the original estimates had indicated.

Original estimate, made a year ago was $238,000 and two of the tenders were for less than this amount, so the partitions will be installed as planned. A work plan will be drawn up by the principal, contractor and architect, so that a minimum of disturbance will be caused to the students. It is expected work will start within a week.

Legion Whist party successful

The first whist party sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion for this season was held recently in the Legion card room. It was well attended and enjoyed. Coffee was served in the Rosedale Room, where future whist parties will be held. Scores were very close, but the winners were: Mrs. N. Brown, ladies first; Mr. C. Clark, gentlemen's first; Mrs. Nuttal, ladies consolation; and Mr. J. Heichert, gentlemen's consolation. Winter whist parties will be held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month.

TB still a major disease in Canada

Between November 16 and December 31 the B.C. TB-Christmas Seal Society will conduct its sole annual fund raising effort, the Christmas Seal campaign.

The campaign is aimed at prevention and control of TB and other chest disease: firstly, by providing funds for the Society's program and, secondly, in educating the public to the facts of chest disease and the community's part in the control program.

The spectacular advances made in TB control over the past few years have caused some people to think that the battle against chest disease has now been won. But, although tuberculosis is a preventable disease, there are still four to five thousand new cases discovered in Canada every year, about 500 of them in British Columbia.

Ten per cent of these cases are children under the age of 10. All too often these children are infected within a community where all adults were urged to have a free tuberculin test and, if positive, a chest x-ray, and the persons infecting those children failed to attend.

In fact, we know that 95 per cent of all infected children were given the disease by a loving parent or grandparent or other close relative.

Construction almost completed on Trout Creek school addition

Secretary-treasurer for School District No. 77, reported to the school board at last week's meeting that the Trout Creek School addition is substantially complete. Linoleum for the floors is not expected from the suppliers until the last week in November, but should be laid by early December.

A department of education inspector has made one inspection of the building and indicated his satisfaction with the work so far. The additional rooms will not be occupied until the final inspection has been made upon completion of the work.

Summerland Women's Institute make donations to charities

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerland Branch of the Women's Institute was called to order on the afternoon of Nov. 12 by the president, Mrs. G. Ritchie. A good number of members and guests were present and heard the gratifying results of the recent variety sale and tea.

Donations were made to a number of charities: the Canadian Institute for the Blind, the Salvation Army, the Queen Alexandra Solarium, the Children's Hospital and the Summerland Association for the Mentally Retarded being among them. Gifts were purchased for Christmas giving to the patients at the Mental Hospital.

The projects undertaken for the year were ably completed. A full report of these projects will be presented at the next meeting.

The president reminded the members that as yet the WI is not committed to share in the Summerland Centennial project, but are willing to cooperate in this.

The WI resolution in regards to the institution of ramps or easy access to the proposed buildings of the Regional College was well received by that board. In connection with this, the Institute was happy to receive a handsome donation from two members to further this work.

When the business was completed, Mrs. E. Kinveg introduced Dr. F. E. McNair, who presented an interesting and informative address, his subject being Mental Health Services available to the community.

A question and answer period followed Dr. McNair's address, which was a testimony of the interest of the audience.

On behalf of the Women's Institute, Mrs. Kinveg thanked Dr. McNair for coming to us and presenting his subject so clearly.

Tea was served by Mrs. H. Moore and her assistants, as guests and members chatted and visited.

Pucksters still have losing streak

By RON KOSTELNIUK

In a Midget game played in Vernon on Tuesday night, the home team outscored and outshot the visiting Summerland team. They scored five times in the opening period and outscored Summerland again in the second and led 6-0. Jim Haddrell, with the assist going to Bryce Parker, finally put the puck in the net for Summerland at 6:18 of the final frame. Capt. Gary Bollock scored unassisted to account for Summerland's other tally.

In the game, Vernon outshot the visitors 31-20. It was a night for fights as Summerland's Garry Bollock and Vernon's Dave Ausley started fist-a-cuffs in the final minute of the first period while Jim Jenner and Vernon's Geff Wilson got into the act at the 15:09 mark of the middle frame. Jenner got 5 minutes while Wilson got two minutes for elbowing. Final score 9 to 2.

In juvenile action at the arena Sunday, the visiting Vernon team bested Summerland 5 to 3 in a thriller. Summerland drew first blood when Bob Wertz scored unassisted at 6:42. Vernon, however, came back and scored twice in a 12 second span but a blue line shot, that went in, by Bryce Parker in the last minute tied the score at 2-2.

George Jenner, assisted by Frank Fenwick, notched in the only goal of the second at the 5:35 mark.

In the third, Vernon opened and scored twice in a two-minute span and added the insurance marker in the final minute of play. No. 13 proved lucky for Vernon's Sandy Stevenson as he was their top marksman with two goals and an assist. Tom Williamson netted two and Larry Hackman added a single. Both goalies—Ron Fitzpatrick, for Summerland, and Dave Ingram for the visitors, played good.

Watch out for deer on the road

Why do the deer come down from the hills and wander along the highway at night during the winter — heading for the 25-mile stretch of road between Summerland and Westbank?

For several winters past, the number of animals killed on this section of highway has increased to enormous proportions and conservationists are looking for a solution. A conservative figure is 100 deer killed needlessly each winter.

But first they must find the cause — and here is where the situation becomes muddled.

Harold Richardson of the Summerland Rod and Gun Club says originally it was thought deer came down when the snow was deep in the hills to feed on fallen fruit in orchards near the highway.

Grass, too, when irrigated doesn't turn brown in the winter like the native grasses of the hills, and is sought after by the animals.

Frozen into immobility by the huge glaring pair of eyes bearing down on them at 60 m.p.h. the deer haven't a chance.

Last winter a new theory was advanced by outdoorsmen who know the habits and needs of wild animals. They suggested the deer might be looking for salt, and could find it on the highway after highway department crews had sanded the road surface following a frost.

A mixture of sand and salt is used to melt the ice and provide a tractionable surface.

Various organized rod and gun or fish and game groups thought pressure should be put on the highway department to find some other material with the same properties but without the same appeal to the animals.

At least 75 deer were recorded as being killed on the highway last winter and RCMP officers say they are quite sure many more were killed and not reported.

Mr. Richardson said others probably were injured and wandered off the road to die.

C. I. Fallowfield, road foreman for the provincial highways department at Westbank says his department disagrees with these theories.

He says deer come down to browse on the warmer slopes of the hills, which reach right down to the lake at many points along the highway.

Snow is never quite as deep on these slopes as it is in the hills, because of the tempering effect of the large body of water that is Okanagan Lake.

RCMP report that after a 40 m.p.h. speed restriction was imposed from Summerland north to Westbank last winter there were few accidents reported involving deer.

Police attitude seems to be that the deer are going to come down anyway and the public must govern themselves accordingly and slow down.

An unsuspecting driver traveling at 60 m.p.h. can hit a deer before he has even realized it is on the roadway. The results could be fatal for the driver too, if the road is slippery.

RCMP say there is no problem on municipal roads, where speed limits are lower and local drivers usually know where to expect to see deer.

The "slow — watch for deer lying on roadway" signs will be erected again this year as well as the 40 m. p. h. limit signs with yellow blinkers — but not until after Jan. 1.

RCMP say they will enforce the speed restriction but there will still be some deer killed on the winding highway.

It has been suggested that salt licks be placed in the hills for the deer might solve the problem, or perhaps someone should feed them. Maybe open season on deer should be extended to decrease the numbers before winter sets in.

Whatever the attempted solution, it is unlikely to prevent entirely more death on the highway this coming winter.

Council tables request for sidewalk hand rail

Estimates to move the old Summerland markers to the highway were presented to the Summerland Council by Superintendent Blagborne at their meeting Tuesday morning. This was due to a request made of council by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Blagborne said his estimate was very rough, but thought it would come within the range of $500.

A crane would have to be obtained at $18 per hour to lift them, then moved to desired locations, dug out where they are and replaced. They are a solid piece on a two-foot footing, six feet square.

The Chamber will be notified of the cost.

The Tyac Box Co. was given consideration on their power rates during the winter months as they are not in operation at the present time.

Highway maps will be placed on Highway 97 at the entrances to town within the next two weeks and Gerry Ferguson of Cedar Brook Auto Court at Trout Creek inquired as to where it would be placed near his property. Superintendent Blagborne will contact him when the sign goes up and they will agree on a suitable location.

Walter Powell reported Parkdale Place had a deficit of $365 last month and at the present rate the total deficit for the year will amount to about $5,500.

Councillor Schaeffer reported on the first Industrial Committee meeting and said they would be ready to go into action as soon as they get more information regarding sites and local information is obtained.

Councillor Ritchie reported on a meeting of the parks committee and said the Summerland Legion wished to work with them in Memorial Park with the idea of planning a new and more attractive location of the cairn. This was approved.

Superintendent Blagborne brought in a price of $408 to install a hand rail on the wall on the Baptist Hill, including materials and labor. He said this was a very rough estimate as it is difficult to judge how much labor would be involved.

It was expressed that a hand rail was not needed there any more than across the street on Victoria Road. It was decided to table it for this year to see how serious the need was.

Government inspectors will be in Summerland to inspect the irrigation program now being done under ARDA on Dec. 2. The first ARDA progress payment of $3,000 was received by the municipal office this week.

At the request of council, Blagborne contacted an engineering firm to have a look at the possibility of obtaining domestic water from the lake for Summerland on the lake when the system is changed giving all the water from the creek to the Fish Hatchery so they may increase their output.

This meeting decided to contact a valley architect to make a cost survey of arena improvements.

Two members of the planning commission will attend a one-day conference at Langley on Dec. 4.

An RCMP report stated that a large black dog had killed 10 of Mrs. Wuensche's chickens but no claim for damages was received.

Blagborne was asked to stake out the parking areas at the Badminton Club in co-operation with that organization and curling rink officials.

A curling firm will crush 10,000 tons of gravel for the corporation this winter. Council felt their present equipment could not economically do the job. This will be done on a trial basis.

Once more the sign at Powell Beach Plaza received discussion and was turned down for the third time.

Last week an application was submitted suspending a 40 square ft. sign on a cable from the building to a steel pole at the property line at the highway.

Council was generally agreed. Please turn to Page 8, see "COUNCIL NEWS"

Sadie Hawkins dance a success

By Ron Kostelnik

On Friday night, the Sadie Hawkins dance was held at the High School gymnasium. There were about 200 students in their flashy costumes. The music was provided by tapes.

The spot dance winners were Michael Fanders and Lee Beggs. Clinton Skinner and Bev Bye won the best dressed costumes. Donna Biogini, Norm Fitzpatrick, Norm Norrish and Rita Rusaw sang for the students. Then the quartet of Dick Johnston, Dale Stevenson, Leo Bonthoux and Barry DeRosier performed.

The M.C. was Mr. Makse. At 12:01 the dance was over and so was one of the best attended school dances this year.

No contest in election?

Nomination day for two school trustees, two councillors and a reeve is set for Monday, Nov. 29 but at this writing there have been no indications of some new entrants in the field. All those with terms expired for the various offices, have either taken out nomination papers or will do so before the deadline of 10:00 a.m. Monday.

On the school board are Ken Keoth and Bob Barkwill. Seeking reelection on council are incumbents Reeve Norm Holmes and Jim Schaeffer and Scottie Ritchie.

Reeve Holmes had almost decided not to go for another term for health reasons but feels that there are too many things in the fire to back out at this time.

He wishes to see the new hospital built and has followed the progress of industrial de-

Ratepayers to save $3,730 annually on conversion

The study, adopted by council, will give immediate information regarding all phases of their costs of operation by introducing a code system which will give the maintenance staff a daily rundown of costs on any project in all departments.

The study was made by Mr. Charles E. Loveless and Mr. Ollen Tompkins of the Data Service, Computer Division of Food Industries Research and Engineering of Yakima, Washington. It took over two months to compile the data and interview employees of the Corporation.

The report stated that the corporation received from employees saved "a great deal of time as a result of their knowledge of their present job assignments and positions."

The anticipated savings in keeping a constant cost picture before them was not considered in the estimated savings of $3,730.00, the biggest portion of this will be recovered in a revised system of billing utilities where they expect to save about 40 man hours a month.

The new system will bring in a key-punching system giving the staff a ready reference to new additions, changes and deletions etc.

The final billing would be done by a computer. Such a machine is being installed at B.C. Trout Fruit in Kelowna and analyst Loveless talked with the new manager and received an indication that Summerland's data processing work may be done there.

The 10 percent discount given to customers who pay their utility bills before the 20th of the following month causes an undue burden on the system to account for each payment and requires additional manual effort. They suggest rates be revamped to insure the full amount of the bill after the 10 percent has been removed and that a penalty system be imposed of 10 percent of the bill if a customer fails to pay the bill by the prescribed time.

The report did not suggest raising the utility rates, but recommended a revision of the rate structure.

The present structure was geared to encourage users to get modern electrical appliances a number of years ago, a practice commonly accepted today.

They recommended a change from four rates to three, streamlining billing and arriving at a fair distribution of charges made.

New forms to give better communication from one department to another will be instituted.

To get the plan in gear, the analysts suggest those of the management level and council review the recommended reports in the study and make further clarification or disclosures they deem necessary in their area of responsibilities.

This plan will take effect in stages but the account code system will begin immediately then on to the revamping of the utility department.

Payroll will eventually be set up on the key card system and new time cards will be instituted so labour charges to the various departments can be transferred to the proper department with speed and accuracy.

Bruce Hallquist better experts in election forecast

How are the 265 seats going to be distributed?

This was the question that 185 tried to answer to win the top prize of $25 offered by the Summerland Kiwanis. Five prizes of $5.00 each were also up for grabs.

The Summerland expert was Bruce Hallquist, not yet old enough to vote. Bruce was only six seats out.

Coming in next were Ken Booth and Brenda Liebert each with 10 errors and three tied for the other five dollar bills, each with a score of 12. They were Lloyd Shannon, Claire Elsey and Darlene Crawford. The final results were compiled late last week.

In Midget action, they were stopped 9-7 at Vernon to spoil the debut of new coach, Warren Parker. There were only five penalties called, with Summerland getting four of them.

George Jenner, assisted by Jim Campbell, scored first in the game. Less than a minute later, MacDougall tied the score up at 1-1 and added two more in the opening period. Summerland outscored Vernon 3 to 2 as centre Robin Agur scored, with Bryce Parker getting the assist. Agur scored his second of four goals with Parker and Rob Munro getting the assists. Jim Haddrell scored with George and Jim Jenner getting the assists. In the third period, Vernon outscored Summerland 4-3. Agur scored unassisted. Johnny Liefert deflected a George Jenner shot for the sixth Summerland goal. Agur scored the final Summerland goal at 17:10 with Dave Hill and Jim Jenner getting

Anglican W.A. elect officers

The St. Stephen's Anglican W. A. elected their officers for the coming year at their annual meeting.

President is Mrs. J. B. Roe; first vice, Mrs. Matt Graham; second vice, Mrs. T. M. O'Fall; Recording Secretary, Mrs. T. H. Waterhouse; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. Y. Towgood and Treasurer, Mrs. C. M. Robinson.

The new officers will take over their duties in January. The annual reports for 1965 will be read at a meeting on Tuesday, December 14.

MORE FINANCES ARE NEEDED

Pollution subject of discussion at meeting

By KEITH BERGH
The quarterly meeting of the South Okanagan Health Unit was held in Summerland Wednesday, Nov. 17.

The possibility of holding plebiscites on the water fluoridation question was not considered because they felt that the answer would still be negative. The increase in the voters list in the case of Penticton was only 348 since the plebiscite in 1963 when it was voted down 1079 against to 1310 for. A 60 percent in favour is needed.

Dr. Dugal McGregor of Summerland said the pollution content of industrial wastes should be watched closely as should all the wastes entering the lakes. The Health Unit is taking continual tests at many stations on lakes in the valley. He said that overcrowding tent camps may become a problem. The space allowed for each camper should be 600 square feet and at the present time it is about 600 square ft. The Health Unit will send a delegate to a seminar at U.

B.C. December 3 and 4 on pollution.

During the quarter 850 nursing care visits were made in contrast to 761 in 1964 for the same period and they are now planning to develop further services for senior citizens who are in boarding or nursing homes.

During the same period 1,768 infants and preschool children attended child health clinics, an increase from 1,381 last year.

Three pupils from Summerland and Penticton are attending a preschool hearing class in Penticton under the direction of Mrs. Hildebrand of Kelowna.

Medical Health Officers, Dr. D. A. Clarke said they have had 42 cases of infectious hepatitis this year — three times more than the past 10 year average. Twenty of these were reported during the last quarter, distributed as follows:

Rutland 12, Princeton 8, Penticton 2, Kelowna 2, Oliver 1. The majority of the 12 Rutland cases were on individual wells which were either poorly constructed or had a nearby source of contamination.

BIRTHS DOWN, DEATHS UP
In the unit, 263 births were recorded in this quarter compared to 330 in 1964. A decrease of 25.5 percent, while deaths increased to 147 from 136.

In October, Summerland incorporated a new automatic control device for the chlorination unit in their domestic water supply and Dr. Clarke congratulated the municipality for taking this important step forward in providing adequate and safe drinking water. The bacteriological result for the past three months has indicated that the supply has been free of contamination.

The Oliver water supply has been tested and is free of contamination. The Village Council is planning immediate steps to ensure an adequate supply of domestic water. This was the result of requests for water from the two subdivisions.

During the past four months, 400 tests on the seven sewer treatment plants and the six major canneries and winery were conducted by the Summerland Experimental Farm laboratory on weekly samples submitted by the five sanitarians of the North and South Okanagan Health Units.

This program is financed by the Okanagan Pollution Control Board on contributions by the six participating municipalities. The result of these will be submitted by the chairman of the technical committee, Dr. D. McGregor to the Medical Health Officers very soon.

Sufficient funds are available to continue the program up to Christmas and they hope more funds will become available after that time so they may continue for the full 12 months.

Chemical and bacteriological tests are being made from the north end of Lake Okanagan south to Osoyoos and each month water samples are taken.

Prior to the commencement of the survey, representatives of the Division of Engineering and Laboratories visited the Okanagan to select the samp-

Good response for Arthritic Society

Summerland citizens have again contributed to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society in a very fine way. $1,085.95 was collected.

A house to house blitz campaign spearheaded by the Faith Rebecca Lodge No. 32 with members of Teen Town and Okanagan Lodge No. 58 giving a helping hand.

One of the prime objectives of the Canadian Arthritic Society is to improve methods of medical care through research. Today with early diagnosis and treatment, serious disability can be prevented in about four out of five patients.

The local Registered Music Teachers Association held their final meeting of 1966 recently at the home of Mrs. T. Haughton, Oliver.

Tentative plans were discussed regarding the teachers participation in the Canadian Centennial.

Main item on the agenda: the upcoming pupils recital on Friday, Nov. 26 in Pentiction Secondary School. Music students from Oliver, Osoyoos, Pentiction, and Summerland will perform. Local pupils include: Lynn Gartrell, Judy Heales, David Gartrell and Lenard Geres who will play a two-piano arrangement of 'Contra Dance' by Beethoven. Shari Randle will perform two short modern numbers by the well known Canadian composer Violet Archer. Guest artists will be the members of the Pentiction High School Choir. A special feature will be the presentation of the Monica Craig Fisher cup. This award is a cup honoring the memory of the late Mrs. Fisher—well known in valley musical circles—and for many years president of the local group. The cup will be presented annually to the grade VIII student receiving the highest mark in examinations conducted by the Royal Conservatory of Toronto.

It was noted that there is a keen interest here in young Canadian artists, as evidenced by the enthusiastic comments on the high calibre of performance in the recent young artists concert, sponsored by the local teachers group. It is felt that student recitals are an important part of our pupil-training, in acquiring stage presence, and ease in public performance. Program begins at 8 o'clock. Collection at the door.

Canadian - U.S. Schools compared

Guests of honor at the Summerland Rotary Club Friday night were the students who exchanged with Chelan high school students two weeks ago.

They were Marjorie Porritt, Sue Wilson, Dick Johnston and Robin Agur.

Other Rotary visitors were Art Warren, Pentiction and Oliver members J. H. Mitchell, R. P. Guidi and Cec Duggan. Each student gave their impressions of their week in and out of school in Chelan.

Dick Johnson said they were ahead in science but not in physics and chemistry but on the overall picture the academic courses here were harder but better.

Marjorie Porritt was surprised at the fact there is little association between the junior and senior high schools there.

Robin Agur observed that all sports are sponsored by the school and there is more emphasis placed on sport in Washington. "Parents attend all games there too," he said.

Sue Wilson appreciated the emphasis on music in the Chelan school and explained that the country was similar to the Okanagan where the growing of apples is their main industry.

Guest speaker Jim Mitchell of Oliver explained the Rotary student foundation plan. Secretary S. A. MacDonald said Summerland has $80 to contribute to the fund.

Fines are levied for car-store crash

The price for running head on into the Summerland 5c to $1.00 Store last weekend was set at $65.00 by Magistrate R. Johnston.

John Hurren, Summerland pleaded guilty to driving without due care and attention which cost $50.00 and costs or 30 days and driving without insurance on the vehicle brought another $15 plus costs, or 15 days. He was also suspended from driving for two months. Time was given to pay the fines.

Nominate the best

The time has come when all residents have the opportunity to take a very important part in civic affairs.

Nomination day is November 29 for the choosing of two school trustees, two councilors and the reeve, and it is the duty of every citizen to assess past performances of those who have been in office.

We understand they will all seek reelection to their respective positions so if you do not wish some of them to return in office now is the time for you to step up and support a candidate of your choice.

Our community is showing constant progress and expansion and needs the attention of everyone.

By and large, we have had good government in Summerland. They have, we believe, always acted to the best of their knowledge, for the betterment of the community.

Not that there have not been mistakes made — but he who does not make mistakes is doing nothing and he who is showing effort is being left open for criticism.

An expanding community demands good administration. It is up to you to obtain the best brains possible.

A Few Comments . . .

Summerland is fortunate in having their youth centre. This is a hive of activity supporting many organizations and we understand they operate on a budget of about $1,000 per year which is very commendable. We are getting a good return for our money here.

We have not heard a peep from council about getting an architect to come up with a proposal for arena expansion and renovating.

The threatened general strike in B.C. is almost enough to lose faith in humanity. For a few to gain their end, they are willing to make the whole province suffer. Everything from the barber shop to transportation will be taking the rap. This is the ultimate in greed — and we are not anti-union. They have possibly done more than any organization or government to bring our standard to the present high level but if they keep this up they will tear us down in bits. As we write this there is still hope that the two-day walkout will not take place but the intention was there and that is enough for us. . . could be enough for future investors in our province too. The ramifications of this one could spread. Here we are trying to promote industry for the Okanagan.

Next election we are going to get our predictions from the Hallquist boys. Bruce won the Kiwanis pot by having only six wrong in the distribution of seats and his brother who is only 13 years old was but 16 out. A lot of press boys would like to come that close.

How about getting a little in the campaign to fill the offices on the school board and the municipal council. We will allow space to anyone with an opinion in the form of a letter to the editor. Show some interest. It's your business.

National wilderness playground

French Town Planner Jacques Greber's master plan for the development of our National Capital Region — mentioned in earlier articles in this series — strongly recommended the development of Gattineau Park which embraces 75,000 acres (117 square miles) of the Laurentian shield, within the Quebec part of the National Capital Region. The National Capital Commission, which is charged with the responsibility of preparing plans for and the assisting in the development of Canada's Capital, presently owns over 65,000 acres of the total planned acreage.

Triangular in form, the park is 35 miles long and 15 miles at its widest between the municipality of Wakefield on the Gattineau River and the edge of the Laurentian escarpment which dominates the Ottawa Valley.

Situated on the door-step of the city of Hull, a few minutes by bus from the centre of the National Capital, Gattineau Park is justly considered to be the prime natural feature of the region. This region, because of its fine forests, its many lakes and hills and woodland vista, conserved in their wild state, symbolizes the expansion of our country and gives our Capital a setting second to none.

The National Capital Commission has already built 22 miles of the Gattineau Parkway. The parkway winds gracefully through majestic precambrian hills and runs along quiet little lakes where picnic areas have been provided. It rises to an elevation of 1,100 feet above the fertile land of the Ottawa valley. The Commission hopes eventually to extend the parkway into a tourist circuit of some 65 miles.

Through the years, the Commission has built a parkway, constructed lookouts and picnic spots, made land available

Change in dental clinic coming

According to John Cooke, Principal of the Elementary School, only 22 children had registered to date compared to an expected 70.

The reason for this was explained to Dr. Gray was due to the fact the program was conducted in September instead of spring this year and parents had taken their children to the dentist on their own during the summer.

He was pleased with this and said they would now change to the preventative program for three year olds.

The program has been in effect in Penticton for two years and has reduced the percentage of neglected teeth from 38 to 22 percent in the grade 1 class. He had high praise for the work of Miss Rothwell.

District president visits local union

The local union of the Women's Christian Temperance Union held a special meeting Tuesday, at the Baptist Church parlors. District president Mrs. J. W. Reeves was guest speaker. A good group was in attendance.

The business of the meeting was discussed with the local president Mrs. C. Miller in charge; it was decided to have a bake sale early in the new year, to help raise money for educational purposes. The treasurers report showed 65 members on the roll.

The District president gave a very interesting report of her week at the Western School of Alcohol and Narcotic Education, which was held in the Union college at U.B.C. There were about 100 students registered for the course, which lasted one week, quite a number of these being teenagers.

The courses consisted of workshops, lectures and films on various subjects relative to smoking and drinking, also on drug addiction, ways and means to combat these problems were discussed by leading men and medical doctors. Some of these were delinquency and traffic accidents caused by drinking. The session on smoking was conducted by a medical doctor, and the following were some of his remarks, based on medical research.

Hazards of Smoking

- 1 Fire dangers.
- 2 Lowered resistance to colds, Bronchitis.
- 3 More liable to circulatory diseases.
- 4 Hard on the heart, makes it beat faster.
- 5 Gangrene occurs more often in smokers.
- 6 Smoking teenagers average lower grades in school.
- 7 Smoking mothers more often have premature babies.
- 8 Smokers have more difficulty breathing in high altitude, pilots who are smokers sometimes crash for this reason.
- 9 Smoking definitely leads to lung cancer.

ORCHARD RUN by Wally Smith

Seen on the Market

Fruit growers often wonder what is the true picture of Okanagan fruit on the retail level. Can the merchant get enough supplies? How does our fruit look on display? Has it as much sales appeal as competitive fruit? Is the dealer satisfied with service, quality and price?

These are questions that have been answered in many and sometimes conflicting ways. There have been good reports from one quarter and poor reports from another.

Local orchardists have visited on the prairies, the Cariboo, and at the Coast, and they have brought back a great variety of reports that help provide answers to some of these questions.

A common complaint is the shortage of Okanagan fruit in the prairie town where the grower made inquiries. The merchant would say, "I can't get your peaches," or "They send me cee grade apples but not fancy and extra fancy grades."

Sometimes the reports are good — plenty of fruit in season, and quality good. Other reports tell of small, hard green peaches that few customers are willing to buy.

The type of report partly depends upon the geographical location of the town, the season of the year, and the veracity of the merchant, but this doesn't mean the packing houses and the sales agency are excused from any responsibility.

However, I don't propose here to pass judgment on these complaints, some of which have been investigated and explanations given — not always to the satisfaction of the grower.

Growers should be encouraged to make these brief "market surveys" such as that made by Oliver orchardist John Hext recently.

Mr. Hext was in Calgary, Alberta during the month of October, and while there he called at several of the larger food stores.

On October 25, he visited Dominion Stores in the North Hill shopping centre. They had plenty of apples including a shipment of Golden's that had just arrived from Washington. Upon enquiring why the store bought Washington Golden's instead of Okanagan Golden's Mr. Hext was told the store had tried to buy ours but was informed that our Golden's were not available at that time.

The same day Mr. Hext visited the Loblaw store in the North Hill shopping centre. Loblaw's is an Eastern firm and perhaps they show a preference for Eastern Canada apples for about 90 percent of their apples on display were from the East. The only Okanagan apples to be seen were Red Delicious.

Loblaw's exhibited a big display of apple sauce manufactured in Nova Scotia.

On October 27 Mr. Hext called at Woodward's Calgary store which has one of the largest food floors in Alberta. The only B. C. apples he could find there were Macs. Woodward's also had Red Delicious from Washington, Granny Smiths from New Zealand, and Greenings from Ontario; no Golden's or Spartans in sight.

On November 1 Mr. Hext

REVIEW WINNER FLIES TO CALGARY

Dr. Dave McMullen, Summerland, winner of the Review subscription draw in August boards Canadian Pacific Airlines plane at Penticton Friday on his way to Calgary. There was a sad note — his mother is seriously ill at Medicine Hat so he chose to fly to Calgary rather than to Vancouver to use the $60 credit due him. He will use his paid weekend in Vancouver at the Sands Motel and steaks at Hy's sometime when his family is with him.

Rifle club at first meeting

(Contributed)

The Summerland Sporting Rifle Club had a good start last week with 22 juniors trying to steady their aim and 18 seniors took part. There were only one or two girls out in the junior group and if there are more girls interested, come and try your luck this Thursday. You'll be amazed at what you can do.

The high junior scorers were Dave Khalembach with 99-5X and Carol Shannon with 100-6X. The Sporting Rifle Club is using a moving target for novelty shooting. It looks like the head of a rabbit and when looking from behind a .22 rifle from about 40 feet away. Trying it out the first night shows how much practice is needed so we hope to see you all out giving it a whirl this week.

Wash. student wins Rotary fellowship

Rotary District Governor Ted Atkinson, Summerland announced this week Gerald Leon Perryman, Quincy, Wash., has been awarded a Rotary Foundation Fellowship for study in France during the 1966-67 academic year. The award was made by Rotary International, world wide service organization.

Perryman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard O. Perryman of Pendleton, Oregon, plans to study at the University of Dijon in France. His application for the Rotary Fellowship was sponsored by the Rotary Club of Quincy.

Began in 1947, the Rotary Foundation Fellowship program is part of the world-wide Rotary effort to further understanding and friendly relations between peoples of different nations. The awards for the 1966-67 school year went to 151 students in 35 countries, bringing the total number of Rotary Foundation Fellowships granted to 2,144.

Perryman received his bachelor of arts degree from Washington State University in June, 1965. He was enrolled in the honors program and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Perryman was editor of the literary magazine GAMUT, reporter and plede marshall of Sigma Nu social fraternity and elected for membership in Phi Kappa Phi and Omicron Delta Kappa.

As a Rotary Foundation Fellow, Perryman will meet many Rotarians during his year abroad and will be invited to attend Rotary club meetings as often as his study schedule permits.

Rotary clubs and individual Rotarians make all awards possible by their voluntary contributions to The Rotary Foundation. Total value of the awards granted since 1947 is 5.2 million.

Enjoying trip

Word was received from Mrs. Thelma Rothwell in Florida where she and her husband are spending the winter. Although they had a little car trouble in Oregon and were tied up for two days, they had a fine 3,670 mile trip through 11 states. The temperature ranges from 65 to 70 degrees. They are enjoying the tropical flowers and the many birds in that state.

LET'S GET NEWSY . . . Mr. and Mrs. Tony Holler entertained those who worked at the Liberal Headquarters in Summerland during the election campaign on Wednesday evening.

Fred Mallett Vantor at the Alberta Government Liquor Store has received notice of a transfer to Squamish. The effective date has not been confirmed.

Automation seems to be the key to the canning of apple juice produced at the Sun-Rype plant in Oliver. Automatic equipment bring the apple juice tins to the automatic juice dispenser where the cans are filled, the lids put on and then on their way on conveyor belts where they are bunched and fed into the cartons without ever being touched by human hands.

Panel discusses church amalgamation

More than 400 parishioners and guests jammed into the United Church Hall here Tuesday night of last week to hear a panel discussion on union of the United and Anglican churches, and to enjoy a congregational pot-luck supper.

Rev. P. K. Louie, the United Church minister, said it was one of the biggest congregational turnouts he had ever seen.

On the panel were four members of the Anglican and United Church clergy, including Rev. John Moorehouse of St. Saviour's Anglican Church, Penticton, Rev. Norman Tanner, Rector of St. Stephen's, Summerland, Mr. Louie and United Church Rev. Tod Lee, a minister on leave of absence and laymen James Roe and Dr. J. C. Wilcox of Summerland.

Construction of Arrow Dam, six miles upstream on the Columbia River from Castlegar, moved one step closer to completion recently when workmen closed a gap in the horse-shoe-shaped cofferdam where the concrete section of the dam will be built. Drilling rigs are working day and night (left) to complete a two-foot-wide concrete cutoff wall along the centre of the cofferdam to render it watertight. The cutoff wall is scheduled for completion March 15. Water within the cofferdam area will then be pumped out allowing the concrete section of the dam, including the navigation lock, to be built on a section of dry riverbed. Before the cofferdam could be built, two dredges and heavy land-based equipment removed more than 1.5 million cubic yards of silt from the north side of the river. (Photo courtesy B.C. Hydro)

GOOD EXAMPLE
Summerland Review:
An 18-year-old canine on S. Victoria Road, wearing his '85 village tag had a most unusual experience: transportation to the Village Pound.
Some busy sympathy lover of animals reported to the police that this dog had been left by the owner to starve, and so from his place of abode to the pound he was taken. The owner of the dog had gone away for the weekend and had left the animal in the loving care of a near friend. After much searching he was rescued from bondage in the Village Pound.
No one knows the distress and humility this dog suffered, for many hours passed before he would recognize any human sympathy from those who tried to comfort him.
The above is an example of going off half cocked.

Other communities cast envious eyes on the good facilities the Youth Centre provides for our young people. Any organized youth group may use this building for a very reasonable rental fee. Adults, too, appreciate the Youth Centre when a spacious, well-ventilated hall, with a good dance floor and kitchen facilities, is required.
On Wednesday, Nov. 24, at 8 p.m., everyone is invited to the annual meeting of the Youth Centre Association. This is an opportunity to learn more about how this building is kept in operation, and to enjoy as well an evening of wild life films.
Guest speaker for the evening will be Mr. David Spalding, Game Biologist with the B. C. Department of Recreation and Conservation. He will show two excellent films — "Valley of the Swans", a n d "Killer Whales". Parents and children both will appreciate this fascinating and education

Municipalities call for compulsory tree spraying

Unanimous approval was given to resolutions dealing with the control of codling moths and pear psylla at the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association meeting held in Oliver Thursday.

The meeting, held in the Elks Hall, also approved a resolution calling for compulsory motor vehicle inspection on a province-wide basis.

The resolution aimed at controlling codling moth and pear psylla called for compulsory spraying within municipalities in the Okanagan.

The resolution also called for legislation which would enforce the regulations on adjacent unorganized areas. The resolution was forwarded by Harley Hatfield, Penticton.

Alderman R. A. Pollard, Kelowna, presented the resolution calling for annual compulsory motor vehicle inspection and asked that the regulations be the same as those used in Vancouver.

Alderman John Kosty, Coldstream, suggested that motor vehicle insurance should also be made compulsory. Mayor Finnerty, Penticton, ruled that the resolution must be dealt with as presented.

Finnerty told the members that the Union of British Columbia Municipalities executive would meet with the provincial cabinet December 2 to discuss resolutions passed at the 1965 convention.

The meeting approved the Culprit opens valve -- half million fish die

On the night of Nov. 14 someone entered the Summerland Trout Hatchery in Lower Summerland and shut off a main valve to one of the large ponds. This resulted in a loss of half a million Kamloops trout valued at $4,000. This was half the production of the Summerland Hatchery killed in one night.

There can be no replacement of these fish for at least another year. This means that 50 or 60 lakes in this area will have to go without fish this year.

So far there are no clues as to the identity of the vandals. Summerland RCMP are investigating.

Scout Jamboree in Penticton

At the Monday night meeting of the Summerland Boy Scouts, Mr. Harvie Walker, District Scoutmaster showed a film on the 11th Scout Jamboree held in Greece in 1963. That jamboree was attended by 11,000 boys from 87 countries.

The forthcoming Provincial Scout Jamboree to be held behind the Penticton West Bench, July 9 to 16 will consist of 3,000 boys, mostly from B.C. but with representatives from other Canadian Provinces, American northwest States and Hawaii.

The cost is equalized throughout the province and including transportation, is $55.00 per boy. Three boys per troop will be allowed to attend and applications must be completed by December 15th enclosing $20.00 down payment.

This will be a real opportunity for local boys to get in on a real Jamboree. Qualification is 2nd Class standing by the application deadline, December 15. There is no age requirement. Application forms are available from Mr. Decie.

Youth group raises money for needy Hong Kong girl

The Summerland U n i t e d Church Hi-C group are well underway with their winter activities.

Having as their purpose "A more abundant life through loving and serving God", these teenage young people focus their program on worship, study, fellowship and service to others. Training in leadership is an important phase of their work, and the responsibilities involved in the group's operation are shared by all members.

This year's executive includes Carol Shannon, president; Pat Ryman, vice-president; Rosemary Munn, secretary; and Bill Potter, treasurer. Counselors are Mr. and Mrs. David Munn.

For 3 years Hi-C have supported a needy girl in Hong Kong through the Save the Children Fund. Their sponsorship provides her with food, clothing, and education. Members take turns writing to her, and her replies are interesting and gratifying.

Money for this child's support is raised by real effort on the part of the members. Thursday, Nov. 11, fourteen of them gathered at their counsellor's home to prepare 33 quarts of mince meat for sale at the Christmas bazaar. After a hard afternoon's work, the buffet supper provided by those who attended was thoroughly enjoyed. Hi-C mince pies are very much a part of the Summerland Christmas scene, all the more appreciated because of their "do unto others" flavour.

Tuesday, Nov. 16, the young people will again rally round to wash dishes after the Congregational Dinner. This means of raising money isn't an attractive one, but there's always plenty of fun mixed in with the hard work.

Sunday, Nov. 21, Dr. James Marshall spoke to the Hi-C on "What the Centennial Means to Young People".

Two meetings have been devoted to preparation for the group's evening Church Service, with Nov. 28 as the final rehearsal. All members participate, and endeavour to present a worthwhile prelude to the Christmas season. All parents, and others interested in enjoy fellowship with them at what some of "those teenagers" are doing, are invited to Dec. 5 at 7:30 p.m.

REPORT FROM PARKDALE PLACE

By AUGUSTA EMERY

The trees in yonder Memorial Park lingered in all their beauty during the last Indian Summer days. Slowly they dropped their golden leaves as if to wish us good-bye before taking their long winter rest. How fortunate we were to enjoy days and even weeks of delightful sunshine.

Our first snowfall seemed to remind us that winter was not too far away. But the warm Pacific winds chased those icy blasts far to the East, on to

ENGAGED

MARJORIE JOAN BRAKE

Mrs. Victoria Brake of Summerland is pleased to announce the engagement of her only daughter, Marjorie Joan, to Robert Carpenter, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter of Nanaimo, B.C. The wedding will take place at St. Andrew's United Church, Nanaimo on Tuesday, December 28. Miss Brake is a graduate of Victoria College and is presently on staff at Nanaimo Dufferin Crescent School.

the prairies, then to the Eastern provinces where snow has piled up and below zero temperatures are reported. So we in our comfortable Parkdale Home are counting the many blessings we enjoy.

It seems rather far back to make reference to Halloween but we were so impressed by the good behaviour of the children when about 50 came to the Home—that we want them to know how pleased we were. We all hope that dear Granny Mac will be spared another year to pop the corn for all you good-kiddies.

We would like Mrs. Carter and her Grade VI pupils to know how much we appreciated the nicely decorated basket of fruit and vegetables offered with a kind greeting by two of the pupils of her class.

Several of the guests and members of the staff attended Summerland United Church Congregational Super. The Dialogue on Church Union was very informative. The spirit of the meeting was one of Christian unity.

Reeve Holmes told the Review the new system will not mean a reduction in staff, but if this was not taken, additional clerical staff would have to be obtained.

He is confident that by keeping a constant accounting of great assistance to Superintendent Blagborne — thus saving the municipality money in this department.

readable but it was contrary to by-law in that the pole could not be that close to the highway and the sign was 10 sq. ft. larger than called for.

District Planner John Northey was called in at this meeting to see if they could change the by-law to fit the situation. Mr. Northey said the by-law was a good one in principle and could see no major reason to relax it but he believed that by-laws should be flexible.

He said the area is residential commercial and sign restrictions are needed. He said all Trout Creek residents are aware of the existence of the businesses and it does not depend on highway traffic except for two months of the year, but repeated that by-laws should be flexible.

Northey was asked to make a Summerland downtown survey in 1968, including a study of parking area possibilities.

Committee meets to choose principal for regional college

The first step toward the selection of a principal for the Okanagan Regional College will be taken this week when a committee meets with the Academic Board in Vancouver for the first screening of applicant.

The move follows the announcement of the appointment of a consortium of Okanagan Valley firms as architects for the college.

Appointment of the college principal and of the architects are the two most important moves necessary for the preparation of detailed plans and financial estimates for the college.

The council Tuesday announced the appointment of the consortium of architects known as Allen, Fulker, Gower, Huggins, Meikeljohn and Woodworth as architects for the college. The Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton architects were appointed after consultation with Dr. F. T. Giles of the University of Washington.

A total of 41 applications for principal were received from the United Kingdom, Canada and the U. S.

The College Council's selection committee, comprised of chairman Frank Venables of Oliver, vice-chairman Charles Buckland and Frank Orme of Kelowna, will meet with the Academic Board in Vancouver Friday for an initial screen of the applicants and to select perhaps six to eight of the applicants for further consideration and interviews.

Frank Orme, Superintendent of Schools in Kelowna and chairman of the council's selection committee, told council members at a meeting in Kelowna Tuesday evening that many of the applicants appear to have "excellent qualifications". He said twelve of the applications came from the United Kingdom, 28 from Canada and the maximum amount allowable for capital costs, and a substantial portion of capital costs for the technical program will probably be eligible for federal grants as has been the case for other Regional College areas.

Dr. Plenderleith also stressed that the college council would have a wide degree of freedom in determining how "Shareable" grants would be applied to college expenditures.
