POWERFUL PUBLICITY

Summerland Teen Town and the Key Club pulled all the stops to let everyone know about their big bottle drive last weekend. Here they pose for the "Review" camera on Friday afternoon while they were "cutting-it-up" in front of the office.

Seventy take part in rousing tournament Sunday

Members of the Sumac Ridge Golf and Country Club opened the 1966 season with a Captain-Vice-Captain Tournament on Sunday.

Seventy members took part and draws were entered on one or the other of two teams, under Captain George Taylor or Vice-Captain, Bernie Hume-Smith.

The captains defeated the vice-captains by 1, w. o. points, with respective scores of 1314 and 1376.

Prizes were awarded to individual members and teams in the tournament. The prize for low gross went to the team of George Clark and Wilf Evans. The most number of par holes prize went to Art Hall. Chuck Reck, a visitor from Vancouver, won the "closest to hole" on No. 2 and the "longest drive" on No. 3.

George Clark called the shot on a 30 foot putt and sunk it after first marking it (Such confidence!) Bob Barkwill made the "closest approach" shot on No. 4, and the "hidden hole" was won by Pat Minchin.

with a birdie three on No. 1. Our correspondent informs us that President Robin Wright and Vice-president Mel Hyde didn't end up with too good a score, as this being a tournament they had to put EVERYTHING down.

The tournament was deemed to be a great success and it sounds as if everyone had a wonderful time.

John Adams heads Forestry Department at Selkirk College

Two members of the faculty of the new Selkirk College at Castlegar have connections with Summerland.

John Adams has been appointed head of the faculty of forestry and Mrs. A. K. Macleod received an appointment to the faculty of English.

Mr. Adams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Adams. He was born and educated here, continuing his schooling at Pentiction and later at UBC where he received his BCF. He went to the University of California for his Masters degree in forestry.

Mrs. Macleod is the wife of a former principal of Summerland Secondary School. Mr. Macleod was principal from 1938 to 1959 when he received an appointment as superintendent of Trail School District.

Mrs. Macleod also taught at Summerland Secondary school. Both attended a public seminar on the College at Trail last weekend and learned their duties will start about the middle of May, when they will proceed with plans and arrangements for their respective courses.

with a sparkling presentation of the theme song April Showers. They were accompanied by Mrs. R. G. Cuthbert at the piano.

A skit by Mrs. Howard Shannon and Mrs. Al McMechan set the humorous pace of the program. A "Fashion Show" from Moscow presented by the Kinsmen and Kinetes with the men modelling their idea of women's fashions in Russia, brought a laughing response from the audience, especially for the most glamorous models of all — Gerda.

Other items on the program included The Three Coins — Dr. Barbara Moss, Dr. Jack Ratzlaff and Keith Bergh; a monologue by Gwen O'Leary; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Niederman, piano and violin and Mr. and Mrs. George Ryman, and her Princesses, Rosalie Geres and Donna Taylor made a brief appearance at the closing of the show and all the past recipients of the Good Citizen Cup was honored with a round of applause.

The evening was arranged by the Royalty committee under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Roe, chairman. Other members are Miss Dorothy Britton, Mrs. Keith Bergh, Ms. Thomas Flishe, Mrs. Joe McLachlan, Mrs. Howard Shannon, Mrs. Ted Atkinson and Mrs. W. G. Evans.

Council considers second hospital money by-law

The Summerland Municipal council gave the Hospital Society their blessings to give citizens an opportunity to decide whether there would be a hospital in Summerland for a second time.

As a result of the opening of tenders last Thursday, by Administrator Harvey Wilson said an additional $163,000 would be Summerland's share of the increased costs as indicated by contractors tenders. The lowest tender was $343,000 more than anticipated, but the provincial government would share the balance.

Unfortunately, the lowest tender of $996,000 could not be accepted because it was not properly sealed. It was closed with two staples, so the second lowest of $1,003,000 had to be considered.

This tender was presented by Kenyon Construction of Pentiction who have agreed on a period of 90 days for acceptance rather than the stipulated 60 days, which will give time for a referendum.

Appearing at the council meeting Tuesday night with Wilson were chairman Les Rumball and Roy Meiklejohn, architect.

Wilson said they were fortunate in receiving three bids as Cranbrook had not received any and Vernon only two for multi-million dollar projects.

It was felt the Peace River power project had drained all tradesmen and has brought the price of construction up.

Reeve Holmes asked why there was a delay of 17 months in tendering for construction. It was explained that the plans went back and forth from Victoria so many times before the final approval that it took that long.

Meiklejohn said he had made a survey of similar hospital tenders in the province and the Summerland price was comparable.

According to Wilson, the Department had advised Summerland go ahead with their own hospital rather than join with Pentiction. At present this would mean a possible increase of 4½ mills and it would be 2 to 3 years before they could call for tender.

It was pointed out that if the plant was included with the Pentiction operation, Summerland would lose much business and payroll.

Barkwill suggested that if a referendum passed, it should be put over 30 years rather than the present 20.

Council generally felt they could do nothing but go ahead. To date $100,000 has been spent in various fees and travelling expenses and if they were to turn back now, none of this would be shared with the provincial government.

Reeve Holmes felt the voters should have the opportunity to say yes or no.

Land for industrial expansion will be purchased by Summerland.

Negotiations are complete to purchase the land from Francis Steuart. It will not be known what the exact acreage is until a survey is made, but council agreed to pay $7500 this year and the balance over the next two years. It is anticipated the total cost will amount approximately $20,000.

Mr. Steuart will continue to operate his orchard but council will reserve the right to sell any portion of it.

The Giant's Head road to date has cost $8,677 which includes everything but culverts and some blasting done by the municipality. This was reported by Councillor Schaeffer.

The road will be closed except to authorized persons until the official opening which is expected to be in July of next year.

Bud's Garage will still be able to continue with the jeep tours as before.

There will be outdoor shuffleboard in Summerland. The municipality will construct one court and an anonymous person has offered to purchase the discs and cues. Councillor Hill said there will be plenty of support for this and a good number of players are assured.

Air conditioning is considered for the municipal building. Two prices were received for the installation of $5,465 and $4,420 but the conditions as outlined in the tenders will be considered before any decision is made.

A letter from Mrs. Mary Orr indicated concern regarding the proposed new water system in East Summerland and said Please turn to Page 6 and see SUMMERLAND COUNCIL.

Summerland club joins Western Art Circuit

The Summerland Art Club recently joined the Western Art Circuit, with the idea of bringing into the community, a high calibre of Art Shows. The first of these is a show of Stitchery created by advanced-art students of Design at U.B.C.

On Saturday, April 30th, the Art Club held an open house in the Red Cross Room to introduce the show to the community. The stitchery paintings are varied and make a colourful exhibition. When viewing these abstract and representational pictures, you forget a mere needle, thread and material has produced them. Also on display were the exquisite tablecloths of Mrs. Phillips and Kotjo Krantous, original needlepoint pictures.

The Art Club hopes the community will voice its opinion, by signing a visitors book in the library, as to whether or not they would like more shows in the future. The show will continue for the next two weeks in the Regional Library.

Hospital tenders almost $1 million

The tenders for the new Summerland Hospital were opened at a public meeting Thursday night.

Narod Construction Ltd., of Vancouver, bid $996,700; Bennett & White, Vancouver $1,009,600; Kenyon Construction, Pentiction $1,003,051.

The estimated cost of the hospital two years ago was $645,000, but construction costs have gone up considerably since that time.

The plans are being reviewed by architect Roy Meiklejohn of Pentiction, according to Hospital Society Chairman Les Rumball.

Legion whist players hold last session

The Legion Whist season closed last Tuesday evening, with another enjoyable session.

Where scores were tallied the winners proved to be Mrs. B. Schon, ladies first; and Mrs. Meyerhofer, ladies consolation. The men's first was declared a tie: Mr. C. Clarke and Mr. J. Hechert drew and Mr. Clarke won. The men's consolation was won by Mrs. H. Parsons playing as a man.

The supper table was beautifully spread by Mrs. B. Fleming and Mrs. E. O. Mortimer, the April conveners.

A delightful surprise came near the close of the evening, when two ladies carried in a beautifully decorated cake, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer for their part in the Whist Parties and in complement to their coming holiday tour. Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer thanked the company for their kind thoughts.

On behalf of the Legion Mr. Mortimer, thanked the monthly conveners for their efforts and also friends who so kindly helped at the parties. Mr. Joe Williams was especially thanked for the regular "door prize". Friendly farewells were extended, with many wishes to the next whist season.

Two accidents over weekend

Ernest H. Doherty of Summerland and Gregory F. Gordon of Pentiction collided on the Sand Hill Road at 7 p.m. on April 29th, causing approximately $500 damage to the vehicles. There were no injuries. Mr. Gordon has been charged with failing to yield half the road allowance.

On May 1st at 9:00 p.m. John Edwards of Keremeos was travelling south on Highway 97 about 6 miles from Summerland when a deer jumped onto the highway in front of his car. Unable to avoid the deer, the car suffered $150 damages.

As the result of a complaint, Summerland RCMP stopped a car driven by Percy Edison Genis of Pentiction, on the evening of April 29th, three miles north of Summerland. Genis appeared in court before Magistrate H. J. Jennings in Pentiction, on April 30th, where he pleaded guilty to the charge of driving a motor vehicle while his ability to drive was impaired by alcohol. He was fined $175 and costs, and in default one month in prison. He is prohibited from driving a motor vehicle in Canada for three months.

BRIDGE RESULTS

A Scramble Mitchell night was held at the Monday night Duplicate Bridge Club with nine tables in play. Winners for the evening were: 1. Dr. Evans and Bill Macklaine; 2. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stewart; 3. Edna Hall and Marg Berry; 4. Enid Maynard and Claire Eisey and 5. Mrs. G. Lewis and John Palowski.

Visitors from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Williamson from Edmonton, and Mr. and Mrs. William Davies from San Antonio, Texas.

The selection of Queen Candidates in Summerland need not take a back seat to anyone. They had a tough duty to perform on Friday night — standing before an almost packed MacDonald School Auditorium giving a talk on former Summerland Good Citizens. . . . Possibly for many it was the first time they have done any public speaking . . . a tough assignment. Many were having trouble with nerves, but the thing is they kept right on when I am sure they would have paid any price for an out half way through. You were all lovely. You don't know who the judges are but I'll tell you one thing — it is not me and thank goodness 'cause they've a lot of judging to do to come up with a winner.

Don't know what the Calgary Herald or Albertans have to say against tourist publicity. The Herald, weekend edition boasts a 20-page supplement and out of the 20 pages, 17 of them were B.C. advertisers and news copy telling the B.C. vacation story. The Okanagan was well represented and the B.C. Travel Bureau, but not a murmur from the Alberta Bureau. There was a spattering from Banff but only a spattering — guess the federal government didn't kick in with what has become "expected assistance".

The Review could possibly expect some additional advertising if the two local magistrates would think like a Tennessee Judge who orders bad cheque defendants to run a notice in a newspaper stating, "anybody who accepts a cheque from me ought to lose their money". Could be advertising like that would increase our subscription count too. By the way if this comes to pass, we will insist on cash when ordering the ad. No cheques please.

It took a year for Vic Parker at Sumac Ridge Golf Club to get the show on the road so to speak, but it would seem that this, the second year of operation, will prove to be the beginning of a success story for Sumac Ridge. Seventy turned out for a tournament on Sunday — the ladies are going full swing and the Juniors have organized 40 strong. There is no doubt in my mind that the golf course is going to play a large part in the future of Summerland. Enthusiasm among players far and near is evident.

Every once in a while it helps to be a member of a committee. This time it was the Centennial Committee, of which I am one. Don Agur completed the grading of the road to what will be Giant's Head Park so the committee made the official tour Sunday afternoon. . . . Now there is a dandy — what a Centennial project — of which we take no credit but are privileged to work with those who have been engineering the thing for months. No need to wait until you reach the top to get a view — it starts right at the bottom and it is never lost.

It will not be open to the public until 1987 as there is much to do before it is ready for unveiling. Anticipation is the better part of pleasure they say, but in this case the pleasure will equal the anticipation.

Lady golfers set date for tourney at Sumac Ridge

Every Wednesday will be Ladies Day at the Sumac Ridge Golf Club during the season. The 4th of May has been set for their first tournament, starting at 9:00 a.m., with a lunch following their play.

The ladies have elected their slate of officers for 1966 as follows: President, Louise Fields; Captain, Louise Williams, Vice-Captain, Mary Parker and Secretary-Treasurer, Lavender Hyde.

A FUTURE QUEEN?

This is Judy Steele, Miss Yacht Club, who is one of the eight candidates vying for a position on the Royalty throne to become the 1966 Summerland Queen. Judy was born in Montreal but has lived here for nine years. She skates, loves to ski winter and summer, rides, curls and plays in the school band. This blue-eyed blonde is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Steele.

Library news

By KAY DUNSDON
A nice lot of new books of fiction have come to our Summerland branch of the Okanagan Regional Library. White Wings by Elizabeth Goudge is a collection of short stories, while Catch — 22 by Joseph Heller, is a humorous tale of an American bomber crew on an island in the Mediterranean.

Delilah's Mountain by Gloria Jahoda, an American writer is set in 18th century in the Cherokee country. Monkey on a Chain by English writer Charity Blackstock is a suspense novel of a young woman's search in far off Bangkok, for her brother's murderer. Also a mystery story is Maulever Hall, set in the wild moorlands of England, by Jane Aiken Hodge.

Two novels with historical backgrounds are chain of Destiny by Nigel Tranter, about James IV of Scotland, and The Royal Pawn based on the life of Katherine of Valois, the daughter of mad Charles VI and Queen Isabeau by author Antonia Ridge.

Thomasheen James by Maurice Walsh is an amusing tale of a Wicklow vagabond. A new Patrick Dennis story — The Joyous Season is in his usual vein of sophisticated and hilarious happenings of a New York family.

BOOKS ON CAREERS

A welcome addition to our Canadian Careers series which are very useful to students making job studies is The Water Savers by Orlo Miller, and is the story of water conservation in the South Saskatchewan River Development Project.

The Young Reporter by Max Braithwaite tells of a young man's introduction to newspaper reporting. The Habibut Hunters tells of a fisherman's adventures in commercial fishing on the Pacific coast. Also by Max Braithwaite is the Cure Searchers telling of medical research as a career. All these stories are well written, giving facts and opportunities for young people, and are written by people experienced in their particular field.

Three books on Guiding and Scouting tell of the many fields of guiding — The official Biography of Chief Scout Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell by E. E. Reynolds, reminds us of his tremendous influence on boys work, and also of the Jamboree in Penticton when hundreds of young scouts will be enjoying a get-together. A book for girls on Guiding principles and rules is a new edition of a much earlier one by Lord Baden-Powell.

Trefoil around the World is about the World Symbol of Girl Guiding and the ways in which Guides in every part of the world carry on their activities with promises and rules in the local language. This replaces Hand's around the World.

Guinness' Book of World Records is a revised and enlarged edition of a remarkable book which tells of the highest, low est, biggest and smallest, and fastest things in the world. By a coincidence I opened the book in the middle and read that in July 1964 a Mr. Smith found an overdue book from a library at Bishop's Stortford in England, overdue from 1827 —

LOOK — WAY DOWN THERE

Don Agur is pointing east as Summerland Centennial Chairman Jim Marshall listens intently to what Don has to say. The picture was taken at the top of Giant's Head Mountain on Sunday. The road built by Mr. Agur's equipment to the top, is now completed and was inspected by the Centennial Committee that day. They went up in cars, "little foreign cars too, by jove" says Jim. Much work is to be done before it will be open to the public. The costs of the Centennial Project are now being reviewed, but it is expected to be below the anticipated amount.

Junior golfers formulate club

On Wednesday, April 27th, the Junior Golfers of the Sumac Ridge Golf Club met and elected officers for the 1966 season. 40 members turned out for the meeting and their slate of officers is as follows:

President, Bryce Parker; v. president, Dick Vaive; captain, Bucky Barkwell; vice-captain, Don Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Griselda Evans; directors are Sandy Berry, Joanne Berry and Sandra Stien.

At the meeting the members discussed the rules of courtesy required on a golf course and a list of the particular rules of their own golf club. It is the responsibility of the juniors as well as the seniors to observe these rules, and the senior members have every confidence that the juniors will handle their golf program as ably as the seniors.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Wouters were Miss Everdien Wouters and her fiancé Mr. Mark Bawtinheimer, both of Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Wouters also had a phone call from their eldest daughter Magda who lives in Amsterdam, Holland.

Mrs. W. D. Laidlaw of Parkdale has returned from Vancouver, where she and her sister, Mrs. D. C. Baird of St. Marys, Ont. spent a three-week holiday at the Sylvia Hotel on English Bay.

Mrs. Bill Laidlaw is in Summerland Hospital where she has successfully undergone an operation.

New blood for old organization

The Summerland Business and Professional Services Association did not go out of existence, but it almost, until a few with some foresight called a do or die meeting last week.

Over thirty business and professional firms were represented at this meeting and renewed enthusiasm was expressed from every direction.

They used a unique method of electing the Chairman and Vice-chairman.

There were no nominations. They just voted by secret ballot whoever they thought would make the best Chairman. The person with the most votes was top man and the next choice was second in command.

There were a few who could not compete due to other Community pressures, but a surprising 20 of them did let their name ride and, no doubt, sat shaking in their boots. The same method was used to select directors.

Previously, the problem has been to find people to act on the executive but this was not the case at this meeting. This co-operation and enthusiasm can mean nothing but better things for the commercial field in Summerland.

They expressed willingness to work together with the Chamber of Commerce as well. This is good — it will strengthen both organizations.

Tom White and Dick Randall are Chairman and Vice-chairman respectively, and it is their desire to have representation from every business, profession and service in Summerland. If they gain this end, it will be wonderful, not only for themselves but for the community as a whole and the municipal government.

A topic now discussed much lately is the parking problem in town. There is no doubt that immediate action should be taken. This was proven during the period of construction on the road south of the park. It was very difficult to get anywhere to park your car during that time.

District Planner John Northey is working on a future parking plan for Summerland and he should be invited to the next meeting of this organization to discuss his views. He will be a great help in this regard. His professional knowledge should be heard to give all a better understanding of the modern concept of parking.

Lilac Day, slated for May 21 will be the first project of the year. Many fine ideas have come up for the executive to chew on this week.

It is encouraging to know all is well with the Summerland Business and Professional Services Association once more. May they last as long as their name. One year per letter will give them fifty-two years at least.

OPEN HOSPITAL TENDERS

Hospital Society Chairman Les Rumball, centre, goes into a huddle with Mr. Roy Meiklejohn, architect, left; and Hospital Administrator Harvey Wilson following the opening of tenders for the new hospital. They were higher than anticipated so they are under review by Mr. Meiklejohn before future action is taken.

James Roe Air Canada guest

James Roe, Editor of The Penticton Herald is one of three Okanagan Valley guests of Air Canada for the inauguration held Saturday of the national airline's direct non-stop jet service between Vancouver and London.

He joins W. J. G. Green, advertising and public relations manager for B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., and Russ Richardson, news director of OHTV at Kelowna for the event which includes a week in London and other parts of southern England.

Mr. Roe plans to leave the party in London May 7 for a few days in Paris, Bonn and Coblenz and a trip to Moscow where he expects to interview Soviet officials responsible for Russia's $15 million pavilion at Expo '67 in Montreal.

On his return to Montreal he has been invited to luncheon with Mayor Jean Drapeau and a tour of the Expo '67 site with general manager Andrew Kniewasser.

He'll be back in Penticton May 15.

Air Canada has invited a total of 64 government and municipal officials, businessmen and newspaper editors from British Columbia and Washington to salute the inaugural flight of The Western Arrow.

Included are Mayor Bill Rathie of Vancouver, B.C.'s deputy provincial secretary L. J. Wallace, William Leithead, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, Dr. John B. Macdonald, president of UBC, Herb Capozzi, general manager of the B.C. Lions, Jack Bain, president of the Greater Vancouver Visitors and Convention Bureau, and Mayor J. D. Braman of Seattle.

LET'S GET NEWSY . . .

Mrs. G. C. Harper has just returned from a holiday trip to Southern California. She was accompanied by her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. I. Johnson and Garry and Linda, all of Trail.

In Appreciation

Mr. Les M. Rumball, Campaign Chairman, Summerland Branch, The Canadian Red Cross Society, Summerland, B.C. Dear Mr. Rumball:

I have been requested by Mr. J. D. Wilson, Volunteer Chairman of our Provincial Campaign Committee and Mr. W. J. McCann, President British Columbia Division, to express their heartiest congratulations to you, the members of your committee and all those who helped in anyway to achieve the excellent results of the Red Cross Summerland Annual Campaign.

We would also like to express through you our grateful thanks to all those who donated to the campaign. Their kind and generous donations will help us to maintain the many humanitarian services of Red Cross in British Columbia and to extend a helping hand to those in need, no matter where that need may arise.

We have received a cheque for $2,002.00 from the Branch, the proceeds from the campaign. This far exceeds your quota of $1,500. We have placed the name of the Summerland Branch on our "Honour Roll" of those Branches who have gone "Over-the-Top" and are deserving of special mention.

Once again thank you for a job well done.

B. C. teachers contribute to Three-University Fund

The B.C. Teachers' Federation has contributed to the 3 Universities Capital Fund campaign to support the principle of public giving as well as government contributions for buildings at B.C.'s three public universities.

Commenting on a gift of $15,000 made to the Fund, a Federation spokesman said:

"The representative assembly of the B.C. Teachers' Federation made the donation of $15,000 to the 3 Universities Capital Fund because members recognize the value of post secondary education.

"The representative assembly supports the principle that there be public contribution to ward the cost of providing facilities for universities rather than financing being solely the responsibility of government."

Shame Of Many Nations

Urban blight is a universal characteristic of cities. In east and west, in developed and developing nations, no city is free of its disfiguring scar. The blight, on the one hand, is reflected in the slums of Western Europe and North America that decay city centers.

And on the other, in the squatter huts of Hong Kong and Istanbul; in the "bidonvilles" of Cairo and Casablanca; and in the shanty towns, or in Brazil the "favelas," of Latin America.

Generally, settlements of tar paper, tin can, and wooden board, they mushroom in the big city's shadows, virtually overnight — the result of a universal, farm-to-city flight that swells urban population throughout the world daily.

About 40 percent — 45 million — of Latin America's urban population exists under conditions typified here. There is a life in overcrowded dwellings, without running water or sewage, and of exposure always to disease.

To house them decently, according to recent calculations, will take the construction of between 11 and 12 units for each thousand persons yearly over the next three decades. Yet, annual construction rates thus far average but two units per thousand.

In an age of run-away urbanization, the world's city problems are essentially those of Latin America's written larger.

For fully a third of the globe's total urban population, according to the World Health Organization, inhabit the earth's slums and shanties.

To call public attention to the problems of urban explosion, the World Health Organization chose "Man and His Cities," as the theme April 7 for World Health Day, the 18th anniversary of its founding.

In explanation, Dr. M. G. Candau of Brazil, WHO director-general, says:

"World Health Day 1966 is to draw attention to the human needs of our complex urban settings today, and also to the contribution that health workers, in co-operation with other professional people, can make towards creating a more harmonious human environment in cities of today and tomorrow."

The day marks the beginning of a global campaign to highlight the need of a better city for man.

Peachland Centennial project ready to go

By BRENDA DAVIES
PEACHLAND — Chairman L. Jackson, J.G. Sanderson and L. G. Bawgen attended the council meeting on behalf of the Centennial Committee. Working plans are now ready for the project and after some discussion it was decided that a start would be made on the footing and retaining wall early next week. The council approved all payments of bills up to $1,200 for this work, the municipal foreman and other workmen to be hired by council.

A change was made in the location of this park. It will now be situated a little further south with the center pathway corresponding to the center of third street. Recommendation by councillor Beet that clay be used under topsoil to cut down sprinkling was noted.

Reeve Thwaite announced that he had received an invitation for himself and his wife from the mayor and council of Vernon to attend the opening of the new Vernon Civic Center May 13th.

Councillor Elstone asked clarification on the renting of the Athletic Hall. It was decided that rent for hall is $15 per day. When two groups wish to use the hall the same day the first group to book the hall should make arrangements with the second group themselves. Keys for the Athletic Hall in future will be available only at the office, Councillor Elstone's home and Beet's Garage. All bookings must be confirmed at the municipal office.

Permission for the Summerland Guides to sell Girl Guide cookies in the municipality was granted by council.

A letter was read from H. Coldman submitting a plan for subdivision of his property on Beach Ave. The plans were not given approval by council as they did not conform with council's requirements of half acre lots in the rural area. The clerk was instructed to write and inform Mr. Colman of this regulation.

A letter from the business people of Trepanier was read asking for oil to be used on the shore road, and about the proposal street light for Trepanier. The clerk was instructed to reply on the council's behalf that there is not money available for the oiling of this road but street lights will be installed in the near future. A letter of resignation was reviewed from the custodian of the municipal hall, V. O... Council accepted his resignation. Councillor Sidebotham is to make arrangements about replacing him.

Councillor Elstone reported on the present Beach and Swim Bay clean-up and stated he expected to return to Page 6 see PEACHLAND COUNCIL

Pine Shoot moth found in Valley

The European Pine Shoot Moth was discovered in the Okanagan Valley on ornamental pines imported from other areas. This insect can be destructive to the pines in the area and will attack native pines as well as the exotic types.

Last year a survey was conducted to locate trees infested. The survey will be repeated again this year to see if the insect is present and what progress it has made, if any.

Beginning about May 2, you may see men looking around your premises for pines of all types and examining them closely. If any suspicious evidence is found that pines are infested they will snip off the twig for other examination.

They WILL NOT be mutilating trees or destroying them unless they are very seriously infested and then only after notifying you of the problem. If they request information about the tree, such as where it was purchased and how long you have had it, any help you can give will be appreciated.

The Provincial and Federal Departments of Agriculture and Forestry are co-operating in an effort to keep the insect out of the Interior of B. C., particularly the southern interior

Optometrists condemn tinted windshields

Delegates meeting at the 26th annual convention of the British Columbia Optometric Association condemned the use of tinted windshields on automobiles.

The 65 delegates, met last week in Kelowna, approved a resolution recommending that the public be made aware of the hazards to safety involved in the use of tinted glass and that steps to eliminate the situation be initiated by the B.C. OA Motor Vision Committee.

Delegates were told that tinted windshields cause a 29 per cent loss of headlight power and a 60 per cent loss in the effectiveness of red brake lights and traffic signal lights. Use of dark glasses at night cause a 20 per cent reduction in vision.

The Motor Vision Committee will present the resolution to the Motor Vehicle branch of the Provincial Government.

Conquer Cancer campaign underway at Westbank

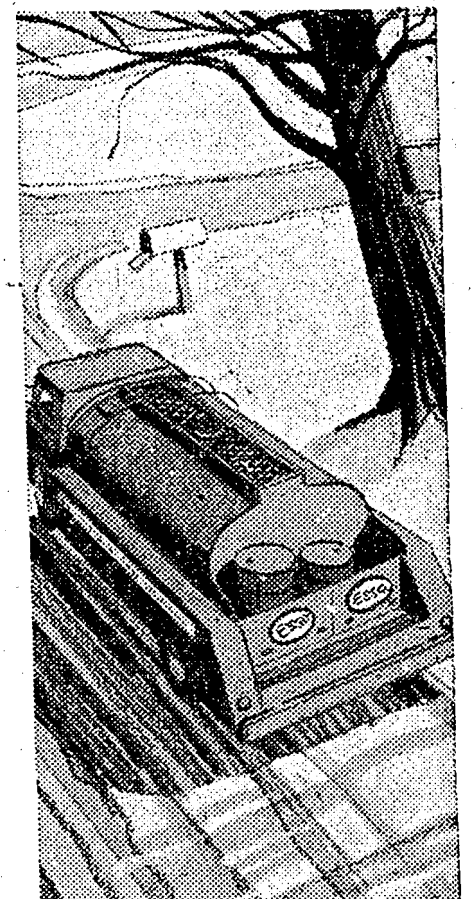

Westbank — Canvassing for this month's Conquer Cancer Campaign in Westbank is underway with Mrs. R. E. Springer in charge. A score of willing women are covering the area, some of whom already have completed their collections.

Volunteering for this work and calling at homes from Gorman's Mill to Gellatly and Glenrosa, Smith Creek, Shannon Lake, Green Bay, Shanboold and Westbank itself are: Mrs. Ross Gorman, Mrs. David Small, Miss Joan Norman, Miss Heidi Osha, Mrs. Eric Drought, Mrs. Albert Embleton, Mrs. C. I. Fallowfield, Mrs. Herman Kneller, Mrs. C. H. Barnard, Mrs. Peter Smid, Mrs. J. A. Ingram, Mrs. John Seltenreich, Mrs. Arnold Wiig, Mrs. Alex Crouch, Mrs. C. E. Hewlett and Mrs. R. Drought.

Westbank's quota in the past has apparently been included in that of Kelowna and district, so the amount for this area is not known. This year however, Mrs. Springer will acquaint the press with the amount of collections in this district, as is usual with Red Cross and other local collections.

Returning home to enjoy the blossoming fruit trees, rather than the recent snow and cold of Calgary, is Mrs. J. A. Ingram, who was the guest in the Alberta city of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Harding and family.

Mrs. Mona Penfold, of Osoyoos, was a week-end guest at the home of Mrs. Betty Charlsh.

Rod and Gun Club enjoy meeting

The Summerland Rod and Gun Club had a busy weekend. On Friday, April 29th, the executive members and their wives got together at the home of Harold Richardson, president of the club. This was the first time the executive members have met other than for regular meetings, and judging from the howls of laughter that could be heard the length of Garnett Valley during some of the games, it won't be the last.

Westbank P.T.A. to hear special speaker

WESTBANK — Attracting interest is tonight's meeting in the new activity room at Westbank elementary school, when Miss Jean Wilton, special counsellor for School District No. 23, will tell of the second child conference held recently in Montreal. These conferences, held every five years, deal with the whole child, and in Washington, D.C. similar conferences are spaced a decade apart.

Parents, as well as others interested in children are invited to hear Miss Wilton, who was one of 30 chosen from B. C. to attend the Montreal conference. Sponsored by Westbank P.T.A., the meeting will open at 8:00 p.m. when a progress report on the kindergarten will be received, followed by Miss Wilton's talk at 9 p.m.

Sunday Harold Richardson, Herb Blumhagen, Terry Badley, Dick Lekei, Len Peeters, Oscar Strpehl, Sandy Fenwick and Alf Kohlhauser travelled to Tulameen to attend a special meeting of the B.C. Interior Fish, Game and Forest Protective Association.

The meeting was held to deal with a resolution passed at the January convention and deferred until May 1; to allow a complete study of the problem. The resolution asks that the season on antlerless deer be closed in G.M.A.'s No. 7 and A due to a decline in the number of deer.

This resolution was upheld and will be forwarded to the Fish and Wildlife branch, for their consideration.

Sunday it was announced officially that Harold Richardson has been nominated as a candidate for the position of director for the B. C. Wildlife Federation.

Newcomers planning to make their home in the district are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Georglitz, who come from Alberta, and have bought the farm property of Ted Salmn, Glenrosa.

Parish Hall for Westbank

WESTBANK — Fulfillment of a dream of many years standing will come true this year with construction of a parish hall adjoining St. George's Church on Main Street. A vote taken at last week's congregational potluck supper attended by some 100 members, their families and friends, unanimously approved building of this hall, work on which will start soon.

Plans drawn up for the hall also were approved, and Col. C. Y. L. Crossley was appointed to head the finance committee. Committees for the entire district, which includes, Westbank, Lakeview Heights, Westside and Gellatly are being chosen, and already some pledges have been received toward financing the building.

Summerland W.I. to celebrate Empire Day on Friday, May 13

by Mrs. Vera Barrs
The Women's Institutes together with the "Associated Country Women of the World" boast a membership of over six million. It includes many countries, races, and religions. For us in Canada, this year's special study has been our own Northern Development. This vast area covers two-fifths of all Canada but has only one-half of one per cent of the people. This population of Eskimo and Indian descent is now outnumbered by Europeans.

These include merchants, oil well workers, miners, technicians, armed services, RCMP, teachers, explorers, scientists, missionaries and industrial and office workers. The economy is based on natural resources — one-third of all Canadian furs are produced there. Fishing produces 18 million pounds each year. Vast resources of oil are found. Mining however is at present the most important industry, gold, silver, copper, iron, lead, zinc.

The Summerland Women's Institute will celebrate Empire Day this year on Friday, May 13, when they will summarize their studies on our own northern country. Twelve members will each give a three to five minute report on such interest ing topics as: Promise of the North, Organization and Authority in Eskimo communities; household and family life; adjustment of northern Indians; survival and experiments in northern clothing; influence of armed services; territorial law courts and government; handicrafts; art and flower shows; other items of interest; Women's Institutes in the north.

The meeting opens at 2:30 in the Anglican Hall. Visitors are welcome. Citizenship committee will be in charge.

THE LOCAL SCENE

Dr. T. Yakuwa went to Vancouver over the weekend to meet his wife and two children who came from Japan by plane. Dr. Yakuwa is on loan to the Research Station for one year from the Japanese government. The family will occupy the former Rosoman property at Trout Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Charles of Edmonton are visiting his father, Vernon Charles.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER WRIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wright hold open house on fiftieth anniversary

It was a big day for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright when they held open house on the occasion of fifty years of married life Tuesday.

In the picture above they look as happy as the day they were married — May 3, 1916. They posed for the Review camera on their front lawn where they have spent many pleasant hours together talking of the many years they have spent together since their marriage in Summerland.

Walter and Margaret came to Summerland in 1909. Mrs. Wright came with her parents from Massachusetts and lived in the home now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Des Loan where she exchanged wedding vows with Walter in a quiet ceremony.

Mr. Wright came to Summerland from his birthplace, Renfrew, Ontario to be with his twin brother who passed away a few years later.

Since their marriage, Walter has had a varied career.

Over the years he has been an orchardist, a teacher in the Okanagan College, a university student at UBC for three years, a newspaper man and an insurance agent.

He was the editor of the Review for three years until it was purchased by the Penticton Herald and also took on the Editor position in their employ for the next 15 years.

In the thirties, he owned and operated an insurance business, but sold out to Len Wiest and retired two years ago.

All the family were home for the occasion, coming as far as their eldest, Mrs. Kathleen McIntosh from Newmarket, Ont. Mrs. Audrey Turbett, husband and family were here from Winnipeg and of course his son Howard from Summerland and Mr. and Mrs. Harry (Karene) Locke of Kelowna and families were enjoying the day.

Many old friends called during the day as greetings poured in from all parts of North America from friends and relatives.

C.W.L. holds monthly meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in the Parish Hall on Thursday, April 28th. Father Guinan opened the meeting with the league prayer.

After the regular business was discussed the convenors gave their reports. These were interesting and informative, especially the report given by Mrs. Logie who attended a meeting of the CNIB recently. The candlelight ceremony followed and the installation of officers took place.

A social hour was enjoyed following the installation with Mrs. Selinger and Mrs. Cristante as hostesses.

Rest and meditation

By REV. P. K. LOUIE

Modern man would be far happier if he would take a little time off to meditate. As the Old Testament prophet said: Peace, peace and there is no peace, but no man considereth in his heart. The Gospel tells us that Jesus withdrew himself from the crowds into the wilderness and prayed. Martha, who was too busy about many things, was told that only one thing was necessary, a life of faith and with peace of soul can be cultivated only by peridical withdrawal from the cares of the world.

There are various kinds of weariness: weariness of the body which can be satisfied under any tree or even on a pillow of stone; weariness of the mind, which needs the incubation of rest for new thought to be born; but hardest of all to satisfy is weariness of the heart, which can be healed only by communion with God.

One wonders how many of our public officials in the great burdens and temptations that are laid upon them ever seek guidance from God. When the United Nations held its first meeting in San Francisco, fearful that we might offend the atheists, it was decided to keep a minute of silence instead of praying fearlessly to God to illumine and guide the decisions of international affairs. It was in the moment of Peter's failure in fishing that Jesus said: "Launch out into the deep." It is in the times of our failures that the soul must draw away from the shores.

Jesus promises his faithful followers "rest for the soul" which is not just a rest from toil, but it is even a rest in toil. It is not given by outward circumstance; it rules in the heart; it is an inward state. To be spiritually minded is to have rest and peace.

Miss Marilyn Embree has gone to Esperanza on the west coast of Vancouver Island, where she will be employed as a nurse in the local hospital.

Five new Tweenies in Summerland Brownie Pack

The first Summerland Brownie Pack, under Brown Owl, Mrs. George Naylor, have enrolled five new Tweenies. They are Heather Stankowsky, Brenda Poulx, Kathleen Kirby, Karen Elliott and Barbara McAdam.

Loretta Kropinske has been appointed as sixer with Brenda McAdam as seconder, for the Fairie Group. respectively, Elizabeth Roe and Conny Rasmussen are the new sixer and seconder for the Sprites.

Leaving the Pack and transferring to Prince George is Debra Embree. Transferring here from Penticton is Colleen Graham.

Mrs. June Barkwill, Tawny Owl, is being missed by the Brownies, as she has been in hospital and is not yet well enough to return to the pack.

There is a period in Brownies when a girl is too young to get her Golden Hand and has done what is required of her for a Golden Bar, and a plan is being tried whereby these girls will be able to help the Tweenies of the pack by sharing their knowledge and helping them to get established in Brownies.

The third Summerland Brownie Pack has also been active and two first-year stars have been awarded. These went to Conny Rasmussen and Beverly Weeks. Skaters badges have been awarded to Jennifer Roe, Peggy Moyles and Patricia Gale.

The new sixer and seconder for the Gnome Group are Shirley Mallett and Beverly Weeks

The Golden Bar and the Golden Hand badges are still the main goal of each Brownie. The tests for these awards include the basic skills and common knowledge of observation, handicrafts, health, athletics and service. They require a good deal of time and effort on the part of the leaders to teach and test and of the Brownies to practise and accomplish. Other badges earned are always in addition to the Golden Bar and Golden Hand and show initiation on the part of the Brownie.

One of the most difficult badges to obtain, and one which requires a maximum of effort is the Signaller's Badge. At present three girls are working on this badge and we wish them good luck in their endeavour.

Mrs. Harold Madsen, her mother, Mrs. Read, and her daughter, Carol are in Duncan where Mrs. Madsen is delegate from the South Okanagan to the Nature Council.

Puppets for hospitalized

The Summerland Hospital Auxiliary held their monthly meeting on May 2nd, with Doreen Tait in the chair.

Discussion with regard to their annual Tag Day took place, and the date is set for May 14th.

A report showed that 101 hours and 55 minutes were spent by the hospital volunteers. Sixty-four hours were put in by adults and 37 by candy strippers. Four baby spoons were given out in April.

The Auxiliary has been making puppets for the children in the hospital to play with, and then take home with them when they leave. These puppets are made primarily from

The Gospel is good news

by Rev. J. R. Coughlan

A missionary on furlough spoke in the city of Chicago. During the question and answer period, he was confronted with these words, "Why go to India to bother those people about Jesus Christ. Aren't they getting along alright without Him?" "No sir, they are not," replied the missionary. "No one anywhere is getting along alright without Him."

If all we had to proclaim was a religious belief, we might as well save our breath, for the world is steeped in religion. But as the hymn writer penned "What the world needs is Jesus, just a glimpse of Him." This world is not in need of more religion but in dire need of the transforming power of the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. In this regard, our own beloved country looms as a mission field in the sight of God.

There is a difference between religion and the Gospel. Religion is man-made; the gospel is God-sent. Religion tells what man tries to do for God; the gospel tells us what God has done for man. Religion at its best assists us in an outward reformation; the gospel provides an inward transformation.

The gospel actually means "good news." And it is good news to know that there is forgiveness for sins and a hope for our eternal soul. The Apostle Paul termed the gospel as 'my gospel'. He made it personal. He yielded to its claims and entered into the fulfillment of its promises.

Have you accepted the benefits of the gospel through turning by faith to Jesus Christ? Be mindful of this fact. The gospel that will save us if we accept it, is the same gospel that will judge us and condemn us in the judgment day, should we reject it.

TEEN PULSE

By GORDON STENNER

QUESTION: My parents try and pick my friends for me. I don't think it's right! What should I do?—PEEVED!
ANSWER: Dear PEEVED:

My advice is to LISTEN to your parents. Recently, a mother's "no" saved the life of her sixteen year old daughter. The girl wanted to go to a teenage beach party at Willow Point near Vancouver.

When the "gang" dropped by her home to pick her up, the mother smelled beer on the breath of one of the boys. Despite the pleadings of her daughter that she go with them, the mother firmly replied "No, you may not".

A few minutes later, the car was involved in a grinding two-car collision and the driver, 17 years old, and his girl friend were both tragically killed.

Let me make it abundantly clear that I believe your parents seek your absolute good as no other two people on earth could. You've got nothing to lose by listening to their advice, and everything to gain! Respect their concern. You are most fortunate to have it! Some teens do not have this privilege.

Undoubtedly, your parents would agree that you have a definite "right" to pick your friends, providing they'll do you good and not harm. One good apple is a lot better than a whole box of rotten ones.

The prodigal son of Bible fame had "many friends". They eventually led him to eating husks with the pigs in the pig pen! Fortunately, he "came to himself", realized his wrong ATTITUDE, truly apologized to his parents, and HARMONY in the HOME resulted!

The man who discovered the telegraph in 1847, Samuel Finley Breeze Morse, was a world famous painter.

peted this work to be completed by the end of the week. G. Smith, water bailiff, was appointed to attend Clorination School to be held May 6 and 7 at the Health Centre in Kelowna.

A request from Mr. G. Smith for an access road off Highway 97, was dealt with. Council has no objection to Mr Smith's applying to the highway department for the road. Plans for a subdivision submitted by C. Hailstone of Trepanier were approved and the clerk was authorized to sign the plans.

Reeve Thwaite was appointed to attend the Advisory Planning Commission Seminar, on problems of local governments to be held May 6 and 7 in Kelowna.

A letter was read from the Beaver Lumber Co. contractor who is building a house in Trepanier asking rules on the use of plastic pipe. After some discussion it was decided that plastic pipe could be used as long as it was not on a road allowance.

After some review and discussion the 1966 budget was approved at the regular meeting of council. Although the mill rate is increased this year to 50 mills, it is a fair budget", stated Reeve Thwaite. There are no extravagances and each department will have to keep strictly within their allotment. With an increase from 24.8 mills to 26.9 mills for school purposes and the ever present 2.73 mills for debt purposes, this increase in the mill rate was unavoidable.

A letter has been sent to Victoria stating what the work on Princeton Ave. has cost to date; in hopes that the government grant on Princeton will be increased.

Councillor Clements reporting on roads, stated that the most of the rock work is now done on Princeton and this is the most expensive part of the work. He is aware that dust is causing some inconveniences to residents and travellers and hopes people will bear with him and slow their speed on this stretch of the road.

Apple Day, April 23, was a big success and we fully appreciate the generous support from the people of Summerland. The proceeds will be a big help in meeting our expenses.

At the April 27 meeting Eric Munn passed his ovd map test for the Green Star, Lorn MacGregor has passed the Collectors Badge test with a coin collection. Judging by the weight it must be worth quite a lot. Lee Millimire is working on his Collectors Badge. His collection is match book covers. The Cub Bicycle Rodeo will be over by the time this appears in print. The purpose of the rodeo, which is put on by the Pentiction Junior Chamber of Commerce, is to encourage the boys to learn to control their bicycles and ride more safely on the roads.

Rodney Embree is leaving the Pack as he is moving to Prince George. Rodney came to us from Calgary in January. But he has acted as Second in the Black Six since then and we will miss him, best wishes and good hunting, Rodney. The Junior Cubs have been working on First Aid and although we did not have it at the April 27 meeting they should practice at home because we will have a test soon. The instruction was on the Earth's orbit around the Sun and the Northern Constellations. With daylight saving we cannot study the stars themselves but have to use maps.

Vintage car run here on July 4

The British Columbia Centennial Committee's Vintage Car run, a nostalgic gasoline age project of the 1966 Centennial year, is ready to roll July 2.

Overnight and daytime stops have been approved after a series of dry runs over a looping course from New Westminster, through the Interior, to Vancouver Island ending at Victoria.

At 21 communities, enthusiastic citizens plan to welcome the motorists for lunch and overnight stops. Parades, picnics, dances, a special vintage car ball are being planned. Thousands along the route will see the entrants in this colourful Centennial event.

Owners of over forty piston-pulsing vintage cars, none "younger" than 1936, and most much older, have applied to take part in the run. Thirty will be accepted, after a meticulous check-up by Frank Appelbe, Vancouver, co-ordinator of the run, or by an authorized Vintage car advisor to the Provincial Centennial Committee.

Mr. Appelbe completed the final survey of the course last week. Here is the run, 30 glittering, glamorous representatives of automotive yester-years will undertake:

July 2: leave New Westminster 10 a.m. Lunch Mission, overnight Hope. July 3: lunch Princeton, overnight Pentiction. July 4: lunch Summerland, overnight Kelowna, July 5: lunch Vernon, overnight Kamloops. July 6: lunch North Kamloops overnight Cache Creek. July 7

Total building values down but home building holds firm

Construction values for the month of April were down $52,177 compared to April, 1965 according to Building Inspector John Khalembach's report to council.

He pointed out that last April the Summerland Co-operative Growers Association applied for their permit to build the $93,787 addition.

Sixteen permits were issued for a total of $59,785 compared to 14 permits for $156,462 in April last year.

This brings the total permits for the first four months to $171,985 compared to $224,162 last year over the same period.

$51,900 of the April total were for new residences.

Ray Fitzpatrick Eagle president

Ray Fitzpatrick, Summerland has had a busy year as provincial president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

He has now completed his rounds of visits to each club in B.C. and his term will wind up this summer after a provincial convention in Nelson, the Washington State convention in June and the Grand Convention to be held in Cleveland, Ohio in August.

"It has been an interesting year" Mr. Fitzpatrick said, "I have enjoyed it very much."

"Because our membership in Summerland is not large, little is known of our work here" he explained. "During the past ten years, B.C. Lodges have contributed $64,497 to the Cancer fund. Locally, we recently purchased a set of hockey uniforms for the Summerland Minor Hockey Association. Our work is primarily with the youth."

Last year, the Vancouver North Eagles purchased a small farm near Langley which is used to teach retarded boys farming methods.

Their goal is to train them sufficiently in a year so they may qualify for farm employment. According to Fitzpatrick, "it is working out well. They have about 14 boys 18 years old and over at the farm at one time."

"It is surprising what they learn" he said. "They built a barn on the farm, and you couldn't tell but what carpenters did it."

Trustees vote three to two in favor of three busses

The Summerland School Board, after considerable discussion and controversy, decided to make application to Victoria to call for tenders for the purchase of three new school busses.

The contract with Smith and Hill expires in June. Some weeks ago, they advertised for tenders for contract busses and received one application for one of the two routes.

The provincial government, if they authorize the purchase of these busses, will participate in the amount of 90% of the cost.

Mr. Hack pointed out that the provincial grant for the operation of busses will not increase as the number of busses used increases. This figure is constant.

It was estimated that it would cost the board an additional $4,300 to operate three busses rather than two. This would not be shareable with the province.

Boothe said it was a high price to pay for service that would be little better and that this money should be used to engage an extra teacher and keep the school bus system at two.

Miltimore took exception to this and had it figured out that each student, on the average, would ride 20 minutes less per day with a three-bus system. According to his figure, this worked out to 180 student hours per day at a cost of $21.00 per day and maintained this was good dollar value.

Boothe countered by saying Mr. Hack said this would not be the case.

When a vote was called, the trustees split two to two but Chairman Bennest voted in favor of three busses.

some children took part in student activities while waiting for the bus which was wasted time.

Miltimore said children are busy these days with out-of-school activities and should get home as soon as possible.

He said the busses do not always go as per schedule, time is lost for various reasons such as breakdowns and slippery roads and his figures were calculated as per the schedule.

McIntosh was concerned about the amount of improvement in service three busses would give to everyone. He did not want a situation where a change in routes would result in worse service for any family.

Trustees for, were Miltimore and McIntosh; against, Boothe

and Barkwill.

This is not the final authority. They will now contact Victoria, requesting authorization to purchase the busses. If they think it is O.K., tenders will be issued.

The municipality has agreed to operate and service the busses for the school, and Mr. Hack said there is a possibility that under this arrangement, they may be able to operate the three busses for about the same cost as it has for two under contract.

If all goes well, Mr. Hack thought they would be ready to go to tender late in June which could mean they would not be here in September, so temporary arrangements may have to be made.

SOTA Sports Day huge success

Teen Towners from Summerland, Kelowna, Penticton, Oliver and Greenwood met in Summerland over the weekend to attend the Second Annual Sports Day, sponsored by Summerland Teen Town.

The weekend started with registrations on Friday evening at the Youth Centre, followed by a dance to the music of the Centaurs.

Sports events were held on Saturday, including softball games. Penticton Teen Town proved to be the over all victors of the sports day. The best male athlete was Gary Winchester of Penticton and the best female athlete was Judy Brown of Summerland.

Another big dance in the Youth Centre Saturday night followed a banquet at the Youth Centre. A pancake breakfast, with the able assistance of Mr

Doug Campbell, was served at the Yacht Club Sunday morning.

Sunday afternoon saw motor cycle scrambles at the Athletic Park with good crowds attending. Victor Blewitt of Summerland was the big winner in this event.

The entire weekend was a success as far as fun and entertainment went, but to top it off, it was also a great success financially. Once again the Teens have shown us how to do it — with enthusiasm, cooperation, willingness to work, and the audacity to take a chance.

Spending down but taxes up 3.7 mills

Summerland Council gave the new budget first reading at their meeting Tuesday. It was set at 42 mills which is an increase of 3.7 over last year.

Budget for school purposes increased from 21.8 mills of last year to 23.8 mills, and debentures from 1 mill to 4 mills. They allotted 14.2 mills for municipal spending which is 1.3 mills less than last year. Final reading of the budget will be given on Friday.

Works Superintendent Ken Blagborne was instructed to repair the stairs at the end of the park and to install a hand rail.

Mr. Blagborne also informed council, he has a crew available to make repairs to the ramp at the Yacht Club now and was given permission to go ahead. This work is being done in lieu of the $250 grant previously applied for by the Yacht Club.

Lawrence Realty Ltd., Summerland will list the lakeshore property what was formerly known as Peach Orchard beach and it will also be listed on the Multiple Listing. Local real estate firms drew lots to see which one would get the listing.

Before this is done, the existing two 50-ft. lots will be brought into one 100-ft. lot. According to health authorities, the sanitation conditions are not suitable for two homes. Asking price will be $11,000.

It was previously advertised but the bids were not accepted.

April accounts to a total of $75,947.90 were authorized paid.

Blagborne told council he was ready to lay the blacktop on the park lane and planned to oil the surface on Thursday. The road will be closed at that time.

He expanded to council that all asphalt roads downtown should be laid by machine. With municipal equipment they are not able to get the proper compaction and ridges result. "It's O.K. in the country, but not in town," he said.

It was previously decided that a machine would be used this year on Summerland streets.

Work has started in dam construction at Head Waters for the summer. They started moving equipment in Monday and went in to set up camp the following day.

A 'no parking' sign will be placed on the lane running east and west beside Summerland Welding and Machine.

Summerland teachers to visit Washington school

Secondary School Principal John Tamblin and three teachers will spend a day in Spokane on May 23 to watch Team Teaching in operation in a high school there. Teachers will include, Mrs. Laura Reinertson, Pat Minchin and Bob Chalmers.

This Spokane school is completely set up for team teaching and has been in operation for the past five years. It is one of the very few in the Pacific northwest.

Mr. Tamblin and staff have been making a comprehensive study of teaching in this manner — and no doubt more will be heard of this later.

Mr. Chalmers will attend a workshop on team teaching in Vancouver during July.

Entertainment Lilac Day, May 21

Tom White, President of the Summerland Business and Professional Services Association and his executive are busy making arrangements for the Lilac Day a week this Saturday.

Although all arrangements were not complete at press time it was shapping up nicely — promising plenty of activity for Summerland shoppers and visitors that day.

Members of the association will donate prizes towards three grand prizes. The merchandise will be grouped and selected into first, second and third prizes which will mean winners in each category will receive a number of items.

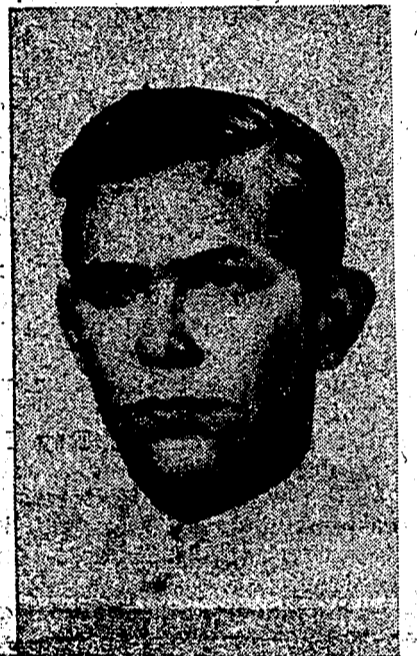

Much of this has not been confirmed, but music is anticipated from the school band if there are not too many students leaving town over the long weekend. The Queen candidates may play a part and a band may be served.

One thing the committee knows for sure is that there will be free ice cream for primary school children. Of course the town will be decorated with plenty of lilacs.

Margaret Laidlaw passes suddenly

Mrs. Margaret Laidlaw passed away suddenly on Tuesday. Funeral services will be held from the Summerland United Church Friday, May 13 at 2 p.m. She has resided in Summerland since 1925.

Student of the Month

The Summerland Key-Club has selected Richard Johnston as student of the Month for April. Richard, a 17-year-old grade 12 student, was born in New Westminster. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Johnston of Summerland.

Besides being the president of the Students' Council and an Honor Roll student, he is an active member of the Annual Club, the Publications C.I.U.B., School Band, Men's and High School Curling Club, and Teen Town.

Next fall, he plans to attend the University of British Columbia to enter the Faculty of Arts.

It must give a person like Dr. Wilcox a terrific feeling of satisfaction to retire after so many years of devoted service. He has an enviable record of accomplishments, furthering the lot of orchardist and farmers. His qualities are too highly regarded to allow him to quit. I appreciate letters to the editor, and Mrs. Mary Orr's published in this issue is no exception. She has an opinion—and a good one—and she tells us about it. This I like . . . As she says, those in what has been called Lower Town for so many years are confused. They thought for years they lived in Summerland, but now it is the-Lake, Summerland Lake-Lower Town, Summerland on-side, Lakeside Summerland and on and on . . . In this business, we need a name to identify a section of town, and I refuse to use Lower Town—I don't like it, and neither do those who live in that part of Summerland . . . So from here on in I will call it Lakeside Summerland until we hear further . . .

Got into trouble a few weeks ago when I told you of the accumulation of articles in my

Under The Giant's Head

jewellery box. It was a sn't a Christmas present from my daughter Heather, it was from my son Norman and his clan. Don't expect to get a present from that direction next year . . . but I found another interesting spot at home — one I take no (maybe just a little) responsibility for . . . you all have 'em, or at least if you haven't you have not lived. It is called (in a whisper) a junk drawer.

After showing the various shapes, sizes and parts of cook books aside, I just took a little peck and feel here and there. Here is what I found.

Three plastic bags, neatly folded and crumpled, a back scratcher with a short handle (but there was a bean shooter in there which Junior would love to use to ease those far-away scratchy places), picture wire, ice tongs, ski boot laces, instructions on how to use Absorbine Junior and a square headed screw driver — the one we had given up for lost two moves ago.

Two cigarette lighters, one works and one never did, a flower holder, a hand garden spade — you know, the ones about 10 inches long (there was no room for the long handled ones.) Oh yes and some picture wire.

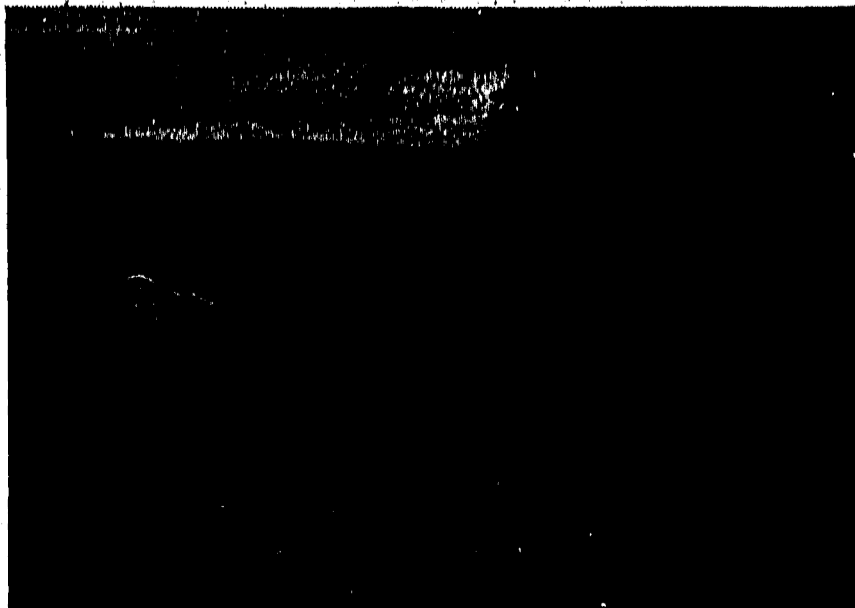

The holder for Christmas tree lights was in the far right hand corner along with a roll of friction tape and some sugar crystals and some dull scissors to cut picture wire no doubt. A Dial soap coupon was wrapped in a piece of lovely wool plaid material one inch wide and a foot long and some of picture wire.

There was a yard of yellow yarn wrapped in foil wrap and a flap from a box of cereal that needed a dime, an envelope, and a stamp to bring home a plastic six gun. (Please include 25c for handling and mailing). There were instructions for making compost (don't know how that got there) and wall plug and a piece of picture wire.

Man did we have picture wire. I thought enough is enough so I pulled on a chunk of it and almost everything I have mentioned came with it. (You know who that stuff curls up). Everything that is except a wall plug, a variety of nails and screws, a roll of adhesive tape, a flower frog, bicycle wrench, scotch tape and a foot of rubber hose. I didn't pull on the rubber hose — didn't dare—I had pushed my luck far enough as it was. So before ANY of the family came into the kitchen, I grabbed my inventory sheet, jumped into the car and headed downtown for the office.

I doubt if I will have a n y can keep the paper away from place to sleep tonight unless I her — and please don't phone and tell her — I don't want to spend a weekend away from home alone — and besides, I love her very dearly.

AT SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Hearing, sight causes concern

A change order substituting materials used in the new secondary school faced the Summerland School Board at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

Apparently the original material is not available so another had to be used which was a higher price.

They did not authorize payment of this until they confer with their architect Roy Meiklejohn for direction. Trustee Boothe wondered if it was the responsibility of the board to pay the additional cost on a contract job.

The placement of a sign outside the new school offices was left to the building committee.

A new rug for the board room was authorized, at a net cost of about $450. The contract calls for tile so there will be a credit here and it is anticipated the rug will cost $525.

Drapes for the board room will be purchased by the building committee. Macil's gave them a cost of $282.00.

New chairs and a table will be purchased, but sizes, type and costs are being considered. The upper floor of the west wing addition is now being used.

School maintenance supervisor, Elton Knuff has passed a correspondence course in modern cleaning methods sponsored by the National Sanitary Supply Association. "I am a genuine 'Mr. Clean' he said.

Trustee Boothe, speaking for the board, congratulated him for going ahead in taking the course on his own, and was sure his increased knowledge would benefit everyone.

Mr. Dunham informed Secretary Treasurer Jim Hack he would be out of his house sometime in June when the home he is building will be complete. The school bought the Dunham property last year.

Mr. Hack was instructed to take the necessary steps to dispose of the house "at a time considered appropriate". It will be advertised for sale.

Due to pressure of spring work, the grounds at Trout Creek may not be seeded until fall. The municipal crews, who do the work for the schools are now busy with other parks projects.

Some concern was expressed by Trustee Miltimore regarding dust blowing on residents in the area and he did not wish to lose anymore topsoil because there is not much there to start with.

An accounting of work done by the municipality on school grounds will be requested so they will know how much they have to go on as far as the budget is concerned.

The board was pleased to allow MacDonald School Vice-Principal, D. G. McMurray, go to UBC, Friday, June 3 to receive his B.Ed. degree.

Secretary Hack suggested there may be some grants in lieu of taxes forthcoming on behalf of the Research Station and Fish Hatchery. Although the Research Station is not in the municipality, it is in the School District.

Mr. Hack said the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority is making such grants towards school costs, and thought they should look into the possibility of other government departments doing the same thing.

Trustee Miltimore said the Joint Standing Committee is concerned about the hearing and sight problems in schools.

The committee consists of a group consisting of teachers, board members, school superintendent and board secretary-treasurer.

It was their feeling that students with defective hearing and sight are not found out early enough and harm results.

It was a suggestion the Health Unit be requested to step up this program. It will be discussed more at the next meeting when school principals are present.

Summerland Review — 3

Streamline hospital

The Hospital Society has asked the municipal council to take steps to conduct another referendum to raise an additional $163,000 so they may go ahead with the construction of the new hospital.

When tenders were opened, they were about fifty percent more than the architects estimates some eighteen months ago.

It is difficult to understand there should be such a difference, but the blame cannot be placed on the shoulders of the architects — it is happening all over the country.

When you consider in Regina and Calgary their estimated costs of Centennial projects have doubled in cost since their first estimates — possibly we got a bargain.

If Summerland estimates were correct 18 months ago, our construction costs increased at the rate of $20,000 per month — so there is no time to waste — if we are to go ahead with a money by-law, it better be within the 90 day time limit, the time we have for accepting the lowest bid. According to hospital officials, we have invested $100,000 to date so there is nothing to do but forge ahead.

Reasons stated for delay, was because plans were going back and forth from Victoria so many times for changes. Apparently Victoria is being taxed to the limit in this regard, and with a limited staff, they have not been able to keep up to the demand for the many hospitals being built in the province.

It seems a little silly that they don't have standardized plans. When a community wants a hospital of certain size, they should have standard plans to offer — ready for construction with minor changes to suit any particular community.

It should be no problem to keep plans updated as new techniques and equipment are introduced. In any case it would be cheaper than to consider each on an individual basis. To have a delay of a year and a half on plans is ridiculous — and we found out, very costly, not only for local government but provincial.

Schools are being built today from standard plans, we see no reason the same cannot be done for new hospital construction.

Regional college program to be suited to Okanagan

The aim of the Okanagan regional college will be to provide better opportunities in post secondary education, the principal of the college said in Vernon recently.

Norman Walker said he saw the role of the college as providing material for universities and for diverse industry to develop the resources of the country. Mr. Walker presently heads the 4,800 student Strathford Technical college near Manchester, England. He's been in B.C. to confer with educational authorities and has left again. He returns to take up his duties in July.

In presenting an outline of the probable curriculum, the college will offer, Mr. Walker said he is trying to combine the strengths of the two educational systems; those of Britain and B.C. "to diverse something that is better and which suits this part of the world." He said he is leaving his job in England because he wants to "do a job worth doing, for people worth serving."

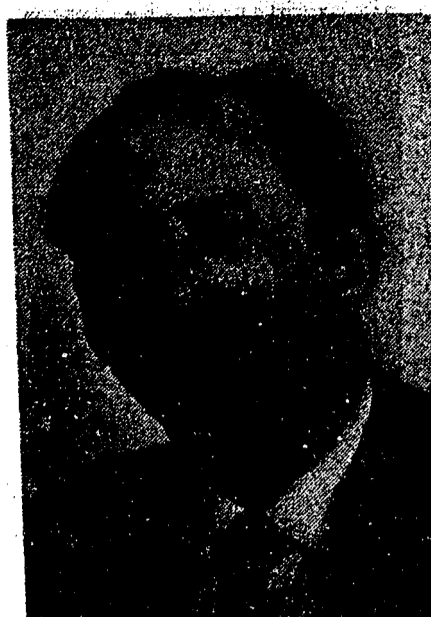

Mr. Walker said he is confident controversy will not kill the college. He was referring to the dispute over the proposed site of the college at Kelowna.

"There will be a college, I know there will," he said.

He said education was not merely for those going to university or to vocational school, but that there is a wide range of people between these two levels for whom post secondary education must be provided.

He said the high percentage of dropouts in the first few years of university is a problem which must be tackled, "and it shouldn't be beyond the ingenuity of educationists to devise programs which are acceptable for providing employment in business or commerce or for students going to university."

He said he foresees a two-year program of education subsequently leading to employment with diploma and a parallel

He said students would be given a wider opportunity of going on to university if they meet standards and if they do not go to university they will receive something worthwhile that fits them for employment outside.

In addition to those programs usually associated with universities — such as the arts and science — he said it is proposed to offer:

- a program leading to diploma in business studies with options in accounting, law and marketing

- at a lower level, a business and commercial diploma and possibly one for computers

- a diploma in engineering, with civil mechanical and electrical options. An equivalent at a lower level for those who graduate in programs other than university

- a diploma for physical and natural sciences (upper and lower) for science technicians (lower).

In addition Mr. Walker thought programs in the catering industry, in agriculture, forestry, fine arts & for social workers was possible. He said programming will be a long and arduous task and that he will need help from the community.

"I must know what the community wants and suggestions on how to go about it. This is an important task and I cannot do it without your support and interest," he said.

He added that the college cannot make provision for everything. "We have to make sure there is a demand and how many qualified people are needed in particular occupations each year. This requires investigation and help from the community," he said.

He admitted he may face a few problems in recruiting staff but added: "By Jove, I'm going to get it."

Boer War Veterans reunion

The trumpets are sounding again calling all South African War Veterans to their annual reunion and dinner, which, on Saturday, May 28th which the Armstrong branch of the Royal Canadian Legion will host.

This year is being observed as British Columbia provincial Centennial and there will be overtones of this event and also presentation of a biographical sketch of the late Colonel John McCrae (M.D.) who is better known as the composer of "In Flanders Fields" of First Great War fame; however, Col. McCrae was a veteran of the Boer War.

Summerland Legion President Hilly Smith said anyone needing transportation to Armstrong for the reunion should get in contact with him.

LETTERS

Please, not East Summerland

Editor, Summerland Review, Sir:

Congratulations are due you for our improving local newspaper. It must be difficult to come into a new community and at once be expected to know everything about it.

Would you please be so kind as to publish the following remarks concerning the reporting in your May 5th edition of the letter written to the Council by myself regarding our spring water which has been enjoyed for so many years. I refer to the use of the words EAST SUMMERLAND.

Until recently we lived in Summerland then, the name was taken from us. Since then we have been known as Lower Town, or Summerland-by-the-Lake, or Summerland-Lakeside, but the pay-off was when our area was called EAST SUMMERLAND. All the old-timers of the district know that Naramata was East Summerland. It makes me feel as if "East is East now, and West was West and will ever th etwain meet?" Apologies to Rudyard Kipling — from one who doesn't know where she lives. (Mrs.) MARY E. ORR

Cleaning Bee on May 18 at Westbank United Church

Westbank — A cleaning bee at Westbank United Church and Christian Education Hall was planned at the May meeting of the United Church Evening Circle. The meeting held was at the home of the president, Mrs. C. R. Cameron.

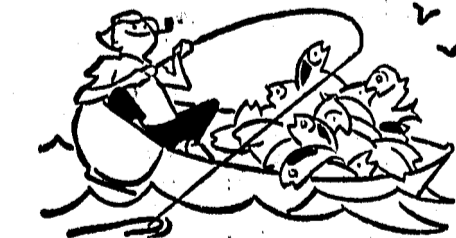

The date is May 18, when help from members and friends will be appreciated during any part of the day. First work session of the day will start at 9:30 a.m., the second at 1:30 and the last at 7:30 p.m.

Other business included setting the tentative date of June 26 for the annual congregational picnic, which again will be held at Green Bay. Members agreed that cutlery, dishes and coffee urn from the church hall kitchen shall no longer be rented to outside groups; but would like it known that kitchen and its facilities, as well as the hall, are available to those desiring to make use of those. Arrangements may be made by contacting Circle officers.

Mrs. D. J. Smith was in charge of the devotional period, choosing as her topic the changing church, and "Christ's Church cannot change." This was followed by a general discussion. Co-hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Arnold Wilg. Hostess for the June 7 meeting will be Mrs. Floyd French, and members will meet in the church hall.

NEWS FROM PEACHLAND

PEACHLAND — The Centennial Park project got underway this week. Forms for the footings are now being placed and the committee hopes the lake will not rise much more till all the concrete work is completed.

Arrangements were made for a bakeless bake sale, with proceeds to be donated to the Anglican Theological College, Vancouver, at Friday's meeting of the W.A. to St. Margaret in Peachland. Mrs. G. Smith was in the chair in the absence of the president, Mrs. A. Kopp, who was attending the annual Anglican Diocesan meeting in Kimberley. Guest at the next meeting of the W.A. will be the new Bishop of the Kootenays, The Right Rev. Bishop E. R. Scott. The next meeting will be held June 3rd at the home of Mrs. I. Jackson, Trepanier.

An old-timer of the district who spent a few days at the Totem Inn this week was Mr. Amos Brinson now living at Creston. Mr. Brinson lived in Peachland from 1919 to 1934 and spent his time here visiting old friends and neighbours.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Fallowfield are home again after a trip to Vancouver where they attended the funeral of an uncle.

While there they stayed with relatives, Miss F. Binstead and Mr. and Mrs. W. Fallowfield.

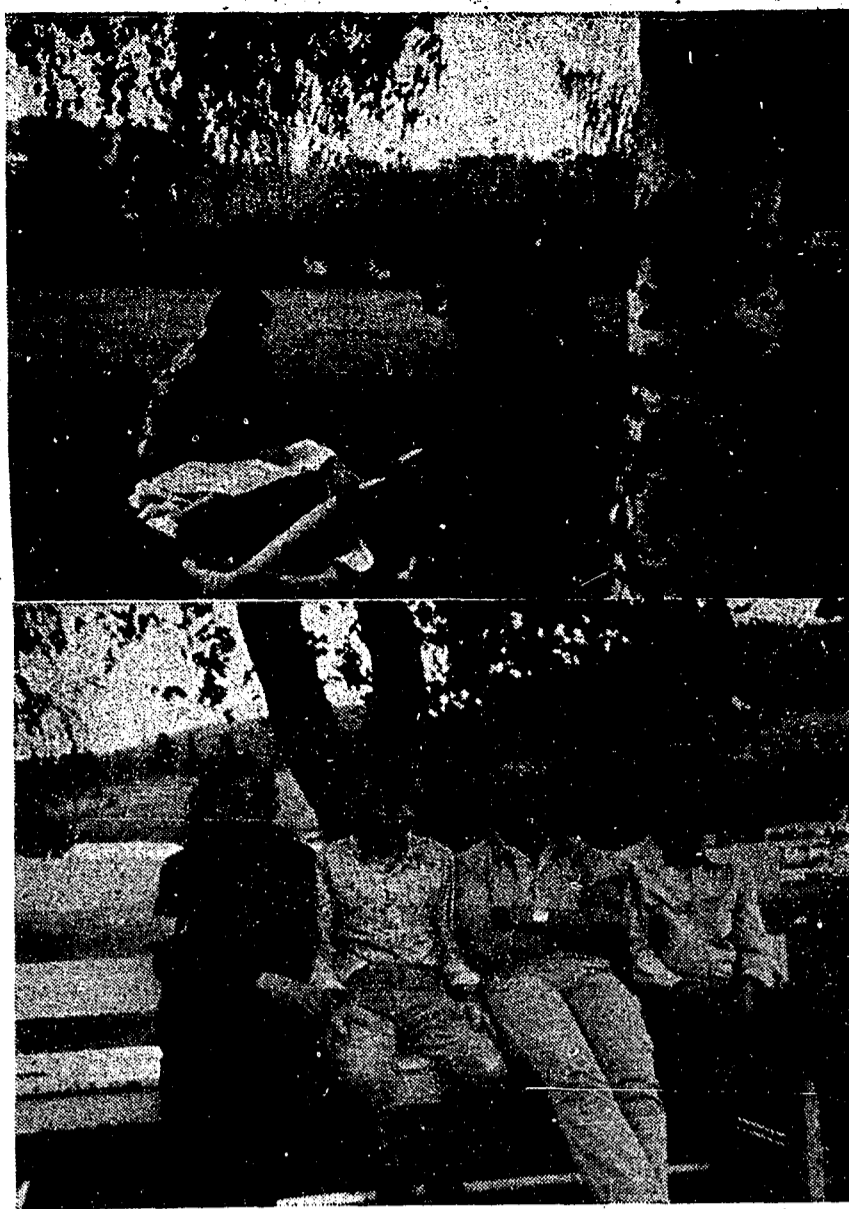

Visitors at the home of Mr. A. M. Moore last weekend were Mrs. Moore's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Brompton from Keremeos. Also visiting her parents was Miss Carol Moore of Vernon.

Guests at the home of Mrs. L. B. Fuls for a few days was Mrs. E. Young from Kelowna.

Visitors at the home of Mrs. L. Ayres in Trepanier are Mrs. M. Taylor and daughter Carmen from Vernon.

Attending the W. I. District meeting held Friday at Okanagan Falls were four members of the Peachland W. I.: Mrs. C. J. Chatten, Mrs. B. Johnstone, Mrs. J. Hinter, and Mrs. W. Selwyn. A very interesting and informative afternoon was enjoyed by all.

Home again after a trip east is Mrs. L. Ayres of Trepanier. Some of the places visited on her holiday include Sudbury, Ont., Detroit and Trudenville, Michigan. One of the highlights was a visit to the new Machinist bridge in Michigan. Mrs. Ayres' sister, Mrs. A. E. Donis of Trudenville, Mich. accompanied her home and will stay here for a short visit.

PARK ENJOYMENT

The Summerland Park is a favorite spot for students to spend the noon hour. A sure sign that spring is here even if it was just on the chilly side on Tuesday noon when this picture was taken. The girls in the picture from left to right are Susan Kean, Marjorie Lewis and Gail Palmer. The boys warming the bench are Glen Wertz, Roydy Erickson, Bob Thompson and Blaine Cockell.

WESTBANK SOCIAL NOTES

by Dorothy Gellatly

Newcomers to Westbank, where they plan to make their home, are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mertens, who recently arrived from California. A pleasant surprise soon after their arrival was a visit from their son, Fred, from Fort St. John, who flew down from that district where he is a wheat-grower.

Mr. and Mrs. Mertens have taken up residence on 2nd St. North in Westbank.

Here for several days' visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Springer, was Mrs. Charlotte Springer, of Los Angeles, Calif. Arriving early last week from Vancouver where she attended a Science conference, Mrs. Springer returned to Vancouver Tuesday for a further stay before leaving for the south.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hewlett, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Al Luknowsky, motored to Wenatchee, Wash. Friday, where they spent the weekend.

A. E. Hewlett returned home recently from a week's stay in Kamloops and 100 Mile House.

Additional canvassers for the Conyuer Cancer campaign are Mrs. Robin Drought, for Shannon, Lake area, and Mrs. R. E. Springer, for Angus Drive.

WESTBANK SOCIAL NOTES

WESTBANK — Arriving last week and thrilled to be home again after four years spent in England and France, are Cpl. George Fenton, Mrs. Fenton and their four daughters: Jo-Anne, Karen, Leslie and Kim.

Cpl. and Mrs. Fenton and a family left Canada for England where George was stationed with the air force in Nottingham for two years, after which they spent two years in Metz, France, from which base they recently flew back to Ontario. There they bought a new car and drove to Westbank. They are the guests of Mrs. Fenton's mother, Mrs. Pearl Kennedy, where Mrs. Fenton and the girls will stay until housing accommodation can be found at the radar station near Winnipeg, where George has been posted.

After three week's leave, George will be due for leave again July 1, which the family plans to spend in the Okanagan.

A family reunion was enjoyed by the Fentons, the Kennedys and the MacDonalds, this weekend, to welcome the Fenton family home. Driving from Quesnel for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie MacDonald, who spent the week-end here.

Cpl. and Mrs. Fenton are for Westbank young people and have many friends in the district, all of whom welcome the travellers back.

Venables predicts college ready for 1968 school term

A statement released yesterday by Frank Venables, chairman of the Okanagan Regional College, states emphatically that "the council has, after professional advice, chosen the Westbank site because it is the best site in terms of education and the best site in terms of long range planning and we send firm in our decision".

"We are pleased to announce," Venables said, "that although there is a vast amount of work to be done, we shall begin classes in September, 1968."

He added that the council plans to hold a referendum before the end of the year. "The College Council has a major educational responsibility to make the benefits of a regional college available to the youth and adults of the area."

WORDS OF THE WISE

Benjamin Franklin defined man as "a tool-making animal".

It's bad enough to be a quitter. But it's worse to finish something you never should have started.

Venables went on to say that the council has done and will continue to do everything possible to encourage Penticton School District to participate in the setting up and operation of the Regional College.

He explained that the council is presently arranging an extension of the 99 year lease agreement. "When this is completed all lease documents will be made public," Venables concluded.

Pesticide course offered next week

A one day course of instruction for pesticide dispensers has been announced by the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Frank Richter. After June 30th, 1966 all pesticide dispensers will be required to hold a licence from the Provincial Government. In order to qualify for a licence the applicant must attend one of these courses and pass an examination.

Courses for pesticide dispensers will be held in nearby centres as follows:

Penticton: Prince Charles Motor Inn, Tuesday, May 17;
Kelowna: Vocational School, Wednesday, May 18;
Vernon: National Hotel on Thursday, May 20.

Under the new regulations there will be two types of licences, Class A Pesticide Licence will allow the holder to dispense a wider range of chemicals including the more toxic materials. Class B licence holder will be restricted to sales of less toxic materials.

Regulations require Class A licencees to have a qualified person on hand at all times during business hours, therefore those intending to apply for Class A licences may wish to send more than one employee to take the course.

Legion to help Centennial Committee

Peachland — A meeting of the Branch 69 of the Royal Canadian Legion was held recently and a letter was read from the Postal Department asking if Branch 69 had any veteran that they wished to sponsor for the position of Postmaster in Trepanier which is now vacant. The president was appointed to see if there is any veteran wishing the sponsorship of this position.

A report from H. Thwaite, service officer, stated there had been no requests for aid in the last month, and that forms to apply for Legion scholarships, both local and provincial, were now available from the principal at George Pringle Secondary School, Westbank.

Arrangements were made to invite S. Dunsden, deputy zone commander to attend the next regular meeting on June 7th. A letter was read from the Centennial Committee chairman, Mr. I. Jackson asking the Legion's support with Peachland's park project. He also asked if the Legion would consider sponsoring some event to raise money for this project. After some discussion it was decided that the Legion will hold a cash bingo night and tentative date to be July 8 with all proceeds to be donated to the centennial project.

Irrigation Equipment being stolen

The RCMP report many incidents of theft of orchard sprinklers and sprinkling equipment. They are investigating thoroughly and according to the Summerland Detachment, it is only a matter of time before the culprits are charged.

Meanwhile they ask for the co-operation of all orchardists in keeping an eye on such equipment. Should you miss any sprinklers or equipment the RCMP request that you contact them immediately.

Kelowna, Rutland join Chamber group

Kelowna and Rutland Chambers of Commerce were welcomed as members of the Okanagan-Similkameen Associated Chambers of Commerce last week.

The applications for membership from the two communities were accepted at the regular meeting of the Associated Chambers held Wednesday in the IOOF hall in Summerland. Kelowna representative William Bennett attended the meeting.

Kelowna was previously a member of the Okanagan

Mainline associated group but recently broke away. Rutland was at one time a member of the southern group, but withdrew last year, preferring membership in whatever group Kelowna was affiliated with.

Rotarians 'all wet' Friday night

Members of the Summerland Rotary Club were all wet Friday night — from the rain.

Another "Bee" will no doubt be formed to dig out the few rocks that were included with the sand.

The cost to the Rotary Club for this and a bin will be $450. The work is being done in co-operation with the Corporation.

They all went down to Rotary Beach following a short dinner meeting, with shovels and rakes to move sand into the path of a municipal earth mover that was too near the wall for him to reach.

It was raining much of the time the crew was on the job, but much to the surprise of members, they were able to finish the job.

First Ladies' Day Tournament held

The first Weekly Ladies Day Golf Club Match was held on May 4th with 23 attending the golf and Luncheon.

The winner for the day was Phil Rumball, with the low gross; second Louise Field; arg Bennest won the "hidden hole".

The girls played a game called "Bingo, Bango, Bongo (Oh, boy!) Our correspondent wondered if it was from this name that they determined their scores and the winners?

The executive of the Golf Club wish to ask all who use the course to remember the courtesy of the greens and to allow faster players to "play through", rather than hold them up on each hole. This does not refer to the Ladies, but to ALL members using the greens. The club is proving very successful and entertaining. Let's keep it fair to both young and old and maintain everyone's interest.

Question: I'm popular at school, very active, have a boyfriend, go to all the dances and have good marks. Yet, often I'm just plain bored! Sometimes I get so desperately lonely. Can you give me some advice?

—POPULAR

Answer: DEAR POPULAR!
I once knew a girl who was the life of the party. Yet, when it was all over would often break down in frustrating tears of loneliness. BOREDOM is the chief problem of our "Age of the Shrug".

Beatle John Lennon remarks, "We're more POPULAR than Jesus now". Beatle Press Officer Derek Taylor says, "It's absolutely incredible! Here are four boys from Liverpool. They are rude, profane, vulgar and they've taken over the world. It's as if they'd founded a new religion. They're completely anti-Christ, I mean, I'm anti-Christ, but they're so anti-Christ they shock me."

Popularity? Have you ever wondered if the "In Crowd" would stick by you if you came from the wrong side of the tracks, were ugly, had a personality lack, got poor school marks or had socially unacceptable parents?

Whether Beatles or Rolling Stones, the Beat Generation universally cries its escape from boredom. The primary expression of boredom is not found in drinking, gluttony or a sex sin. Yet, the habit I am thinking of will drain your strength quicker. It is not found in cursing or telling off-colour stories. Yet, it will warp the soul and dull the mind as no other habit will do. It is the habit of WASTING TIME.

You can be BUSY and still waste time. Many teens waste time with selfish plans. Some have the plans of a nitwit, the energy of a snail, the ambition of a mule, and the courage of a mouse. Just busy with "fun" plans, in wasting time.

I believe your problem of boredom is a spiritual one. God created you for a wonderful PURPOSE. He loves you. The sin HABIT can be broken. The Bible says, "Remember NOW thy Creator in the days of your YOUTH!" Commit your entire life by faith to Jesus Christ. He will forgive your sins. He will give you joy and eliminate your loneliness! His peace "passes all understanding".

Live pedestrians and successful men always think fast on their feet.

Accidents don't just happen. They are caused.

Dr. Wilcox retires after 37 years at Summerland

Dr. J. C. Wilcox, long-time head of the Soils section has just retired after 37 years service at the Summerland Research Station.

He has achieved widespread recognition for his research work in irrigation. In the early fifties, he was made a Fellow of the Agricultural Institute of Canada. In the late fifties, he was elected a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Just two years ago, he was presented with the Man of the Year award at the Sprinkler Irrigation Association, a national group of American manufacturers. Only months ago, he was given a life membership in the Association of B.C. Irrigation District. The only man so honored.

He was a member of the team that found that boron deficiency was the cause of drought spot and corky core of apples, disorders that caused million dollar losses every year in the thirties. He helped hundreds of Okanagan orchardists to design the new sprinkler irrigation systems in the late forties. He was worked on a system of scheduling irrigation in recent years, saving labor, electric power and water.

His knowledge of irrigation was utilized to calculate the amounts of water to be set aside from the international rivers for irrigation in B.C. He has been frequently called on for estimates of water requirements when irrigation districts are re-building.

For the next year or so, at least, he will be advising A.R.D.A. on setting up small weather stations throughout the province to catalogue the climate of B.C. So, although officially retired, he is still working for the benefit of agriculture.

Dr. Wilcox will continue to reside in Summerland and will have an office at the Research Station to assist orchardists with problems, to continue with his independent research in addition to his A.R.D.A. duties.

Poland celebrates historic anniversary

The year 1966 marks a significant historical event in the Polish nation: the one-thousandth anniversary of Christianity in that country.

For the past nine years the people of Poland have been preparing themselves to observe this important anniversary. Canadians of Polish descent will contribute their share to the world-wide observance of this anniversary. They undertook to establish a permanent memorial to the growth of Canada, in the form of a permanent foundation called the Canadian Polish Millennium Fund, from which the interest will be used to further the study and appreciation of Poland's culture and history by means of scholarships and other programs for interested Canadians.

The fund was initiated and a federal charter obtained in June 1964, with confidence that an objective of one million dollars will be reached.

Report From Parliament Hill
 By DAVID PUGH, M.P., for Okanagan-Boundary

Search for dirt
 Parliament has had another good week and has dealt with a diversity of matters. The week started with a Supply Motion.
 As you know, the Opposition sets the debate, and an extremely hot exchange took place because of conflicting statements made in the judicial inquiry into the Munsinger affair. These statements indicated a search for dirt. Perhaps the most damaging evidence that has come out is that the present Government had all its information at the time of the Rivard affair, but did nothing about it — in fact, it was disclosed that there was no evidence of a security nature. As the Munsinger case is said to be about security only, it would appear to be difficult to support the charges which occasioned the judicial Spence inquiry.
 National housing has fallen sharply, and in the Minister's own words, — it is because funds are not readily available from the normal loaning institutions. This is a direct result of tight money. A similar situation occurred in 1956-57 when the Government now finds itself in a position where it will have to put out money, although a warning has been issued that the Government doesn't expect to finance all housing under CMHC.
 A number of other matters have been concluded — such as Redistribution, and an excellent airing of the Auto Parts Agreement. Several questions were raised, but the Government seems to feel that even with imperfections, it is better to have made a start. Questions were raised as to its effect on our own auto parts manufacturers; the extra cost of production in Canada; the failure, as yet, to bring Canadian car prices down, and the failure to have a thorough examination in Committee before passing on the legislation. The Government has taken the stand that it knows best and that a Committee wouldn't help matters. Those who favour a Committee point out that it is the only means of examination of witnesses from automobile and spareparts manufacturers, labour, and other sources.
 Once again I can say that Parliament is doing a thorough and effective job despite the odd flare-up. It is unfortunate that the subject matter of the flare-ups holds the limelight.

 Councillor Powell suggested the water users should be advised that next spring dose valves must be on their systems before they go into operation. He said they should be informed in plenty of time because you can't obtain these valves overnight.
 Reeve Holmes said anyone with irregular orchards, the dose valves are a distinct advantage, providing even pressure throughout.
 Anyone using them is pleased with them according to Councillor Barkwill.
 Barkwill and Powell both use them in the orchards, and have had a number of them stolen recently. Powell about $200 worth and Barkwill 24 valves.
 Trout Creek school principal Ray McNabb requested permission to use the ball park for a school track meet June 10 and 11. This was authorized. They are hosting the South Okanagan invitational track meet.

Some people get there by pull, others by push.
 Some prospects are misers; they let the rest of the world go by.

Canadian houses among best

The home has taken on a new dimension with the introduction of modern services—heating systems that you never have to touch apart from the service man's yearly inspection—modern copper plumbing with soldered joints that is practically trouble free for the life of the house — electrical power that does your washing, drying and ironing, sweeps the floor, opens tin cans, cooks your meals, washes the dishes then provides you with an evening of entertainment.
 The modern home has been improved not only through the relief of household chores but through better building materials and building techniques as well. Graded lumber, rust proof nails, long lasting paints, water-proof bonded plywoods, built-in storm sash, mineral wall insulation, these and many other advanced features add to the comfort of living in the modern home.
 In fact the home buyer today gets more for his money than ever before, considering that the average income for Canadians has kept pace with the increase in costs of the average Canadian home. Canadian homes today are among the best in the world and are serving as models for observers from other countries.

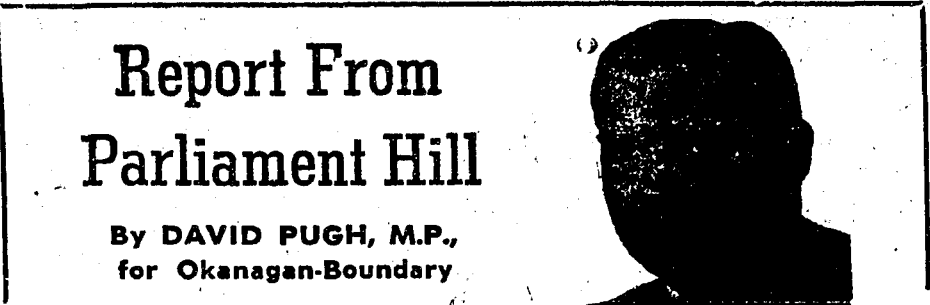

Farm machinery costs to be aired

April 28, 1966
 This week saw a move made to debate the causes of the rising costs in farm machinery, but it was turned down because it was felt that it would be better handled in the Department of Agriculture Estimates. Actually, this is becoming an important factor in farming because the returns to farmers have lowered and yet their cost of production has increased considerably — mainly through rising costs of farm machinery and labour.
 The balance of the week has shown a great improvement as legislation is now being heard quickly. A great deal of credit for this is due to the fact that the House Leaders of the various Parties seem to be in agreement that minor legislation should be cleared up so that full attention can be given to those important subjects of legislation which no doubt will appear shortly: these include — Redistribution, the Bank Act, Railway and Transportation, and the like.
 In the first two days this week, Civil Service Collective Bargaining was given a brief hearing and sent to Committee; the Export and Import Permits Act was given an increase; the Farm Credit Act received another boost, and provision was made for the establish-

Big band blanket concert Friday

Three bands will play an outdoor concert in Summerland's park this Friday, at 6:30 p.m. Summerland's secondary school band will host Nelson's junior-senior secondary school band. This 52-piece band is directed by Ted Gergely, who was formerly band director at Oliver. Summerland's grade nine band will be combined with the senior secondary band for this concert. There will be approximately 80 students playing in this combined group.
 The bands are preparing outdoor music for this occasion. The Summerland group will be playing popular Sousa marches, Citadel, Tropical Twilight and A Swinging Safari.
 This is the first time that the Summerland school band has attempted to put on a blanket concert. Friday night's turnout will determine whether or not the band will attempt another concert of this type. So if you enjoy listening to outdoor band music bring your blanket or lawn chairs to the park this coming Friday night.
 If the weather doesn't permit an outdoor concert, the bands will perform in the Secondary School auditorium. There will be no admission charge, however, a coin collection will be taken to help pay for Summerland's band trip to Spokane.

REMINSCE

Much planning and thought in change of highway route

By MAGNUS TAIT

A small service gained so much for the general public. A brief introduction:

Fred Gartrell was born in Stratford, Ontario in 1880. The Gartrell family came across the continent by covered wagon, arriving in 1885, at the Ellis Ranch, which is now the city of Penticton.

Fred was five years of age at that time. In 1887 the family took up a pre-emption at Trout Creek Point. They were the first family to live in the district. Few people were here at that time, just a cattle range. As time went on and the Municipality was formed, the population increased. Fred gave his full share of public service, both large and small. One small service is remembered in the following.

This being the Centennial Year for British Columbia it would be a good gesture for us to recognize who, should get full credit for the very existence of that beautiful stretch of highway from the lakeshore up through Summerland. If it were not for the foresight, and quick action, and persistent endeavours of Mr. Fred Gartrell at the opportune time, that section of highway would not be there today. It happened this way:

In the '50s the provincial government decided to find a better route for Highway 97 going through the Municipality of Summerland. At that time the highway twisted through the narrow streets of Lakeside Summerland and then wound up Peach Orchard Gulch to get to the upper level. Certainly not good enough for modern traffic.

When the government surveyors were on the Sandhill we thought that they were just scouting to compare different prospects. But when it became known that they had decided to have the highway go up the Sandhill and had made an agreement with the Summerland Municipality to that effect Fred came to me. He felt somewhat annoyed. He could not see how they could get a good highway up that sand hill. Why had they overlooked the Thornber Gulch? He had just become aware that they had not checked on that prospect.

Let us take a close look at that Gulch as it was at that time: There was a narrow road going up the Gulch to the Lower Town dump, then, with a hairpin turn to the left, it climbed to the Beach above, a rather steep grade. Over the hill to the north there was another road, (a rather crooked road) called the Gulch Road, which connected the two Summerland towns.

The top portion of that road was quiet straight and was in direct line with the Thornber Gulch. Only there was that hill between them. It did not take much stretch of the imagination for Fred to see the possibility of cutting through that dividing hill and connection of those two roads. All the material necessary to build a first class highway was there in the Thornber Gulch.

We brought it to the attention of the Board of Trade. At first they did not want to interfere, they thought the engineer must be satisfied he had the best route when he decided on the Sandhill. But when they were informed that the Thornber Gulch had been overlooked they were quite prepared to have a look over the ground, and when they did Tim Armstrong, editor of the Summerland Review at that time, was with them.

They were all quite impressed and thought it should be brought to the attention of the engineer. When they approached the Municipal Council on the matter the councilmen were only too pleased to ask the engineer to have a look at the Thornber Gulch. He, also, was quite pleased to do so. After a brief look he decided to make a survey and compare the cost with that of the Sandhill route. The result: He could construct a better highway in the Thornber Gulch and at less cost as compared with the Sandhill route.

The Sandhill project was cancelled and we got that fine section of highway thanks to Fred Gartrell. He should get the public recognition, for the part he played in that little drama. He did not cut any ribbon but he sure had the Key and he used it.

Centennial tree planted Friday

The Centennial Fir tree was planted in front of the MacDonald School Friday morning by School Trustee Dr. Dave McIntosh with Reeve Norman Holmes and Principal John Cooke assisting with the ceremony.

Mr. Cooke expressed the day as very fitting for a ceremony at that time as Commonwealth Day would be celebrated the following Monday, which is also Queen Victoria's birthday.

"It was Queen Victoria who first gave the name British Columbia to the colony when it was created in 1858. Before that time, in 1848, the British established the Colony of Vancouver Island", Cooke said. "Then, the British united these two colonies in 1866 — just one hundred years ago."

With reference to the Centennial Tree as being a symbol, he related the importance of trees to the people of British Columbia.

"The tree is the symbol of the province. Our forests now provide almost half of the wealth of the province and about half of the people in British Columbia make their living from trees", he said.

"As this tree is planted today, we will look back into the shadows of yesterday and forward to the future of a bright tomorrow," Mr. Cooke concluded.

Reeve Holmes said it is always a pleasure to represent the people of Summerland "but more so today when it is to help commemorate our Centennial year of our province and related the progress in development since the Canadian Pacific Railway reached Vancouver in 1887.

Of the future he said, "Canada has always needed young people, but never more so than today."

"If we are going to have red letter years in the next hundred, we will need young people running our affairs."

"Our antiquated laws do not serve the needs of our jet age society. Much work must be done," the Reeve concluded.

Dr. David McIntosh told the children of the importance of trees from economic values to the abundance we have in British Columbia to enjoy.

He asked them to watch the tree grow in future years and to treat it with respect, and utmost care remembering what it is a symbol of.

The MacDonald School Senior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. M. Roberge, accompanied by Mrs. R. Barrett on the piano sang two numbers.

Tenders are being advertised to supply three new school busses

School Secretary-Treasurer J. B. Hack has received authority from Victoria to advertise for school bus tenders.

The school board at their last meeting approved the increasing of the fleet from two to three in an effort to decrease the time spent on school busses each day by the children.

This had to be approved by Victoria. The busses will be 55 passenger. Tenders will close June 7.

They will be purchased by the school, but operated and serviced by the municipality.

Dr. D. McMullen PTA president

The Trout Creek PTA Annual Meeting was held May 19th, in the Trout Creek School Activity Room, with retiring President, Mrs. George Wardle, in the chair.

The book prize was won by Mr. McNabb's room.

The Trout Creek School annual sports day will be held on Thursday May 26 at 1 p.m. All neighbors, friends, and parents are invited to watch the events. Tea will be served in the activity room, and ice cream, etc. on the grounds.

Officers elected for the coming year are: Honorary president Mr. Y. Aoki; president, Dr. D. McMullen; vice-president, Mr. J. Dobi; secretary, Mrs. J. Van Nieuwkerk; treasurer, Mrs. M. Rogers; program, Mrs. S. White; publicity, Mrs. J. Burke; membership, Mrs. W. Uzik; hospitality, Mrs. B. Raincock and Mrs. O. Morphy; Historian, Mrs. G. Novak; Ways and Means, Mrs. E. Willis and Mrs. A. Wardle. Mr. R. McNabb is staff advisor.

Guest speaker was Mr. John Tamblin, secondary school principal. He spoke on the changes the grade eight student has to meet when first entering secondary school. From a one teacher and a one classroom situation the student finds he has twenty-six to thirty locations to contend with, as well as a number of varying teachers of varying personalities. Perhaps the most traumatic experience is the change from being the largest in the school, to suddenly the smallest "When one has been looked down upon by a sophisticated teen ager one has been looked down upon".

The new plan introduced three years ago, of having the same homeroom teacher for three years with grades eight, nine and ten enrolled in the class, was devised to aid the students by having older classmates to help initiate them in the ways of secondary school.

Also the teacher can get better acquainted with the personality and help the student identify with his own particular interests.

A student councillor is also available to help in the choice of the different programs offered and to help the student with any problems he may have. The councillor is a friend of the student and not a disciplinarian. If discipline is necessary this is for the principal and vice-principal to deal with.

Mr. Tamblin stressed that the Summerland Secondary School holds an open door policy. Any problems that a student may worry about or a parent may not have the answer to, can be quickly cleared up by phoning or calling in. To help the student around these problems, a hand book is provided, with a sketch of the school, their own schedule and general rules and regulations.

Mr. Tamblin's talk was very much appreciated. Summerland students are fortunate to have such good schools and devoted staff interested in their individual progress.

Valedictorian and Class Poet named for Summerland Secondary School

Word has been released from Summerland Secondary School that the valedictorian for the 1966 Commencement Exercises, to be held Friday, May 27, is Richard Gregory Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Johnston of Summerland. Richard, a Grade 12 student at Summerland Secondary School, has been active in many school activities as well as being the President of the Students' Council in the past year.

Miss Catherine Davies has been named as the class poet and will deliver the class poem to the friends and relatives gathered at the Commencement

Ratepayers of Summerland will have a vote on the hospital question again on June 18th. This was decided at the regular meeting of the Municipal Council Tuesday evening.

By-law 1091 was given the required number of readings to go to the people for the approval of an additional $190,000 for the construction of a new hospital.

Lawyer Frank Haar and Municipal Clerk had made up and forwarded a rough draft of the proposed by-law to Victoria late last week and this was approved by telephone Tuesday. The by-law will be advertised next week and the polling date was set for Saturday, June 18.

Following the opening of the hospital tenders two weeks ago, it was found that $163,000,000 more would have to be raised locally if construction was to go ahead with the lowest bid but council is confronted with more problems and additional costs.

The present by-law if passed by ratepayers will authorize the municipality to float debentures for $190,000 at 6%, or $27,000 more than necessary for the construction.

In December, 1964, a referendum was passed for $340,000 at five and three quarter percent and since that time the municipality has advanced about $40,000 to the society but the debentures have not been sold so it is anticipated they will suffer a discount loss of $22,000 on this one and a $5,000 discount loss on the present 6 percent could be experienced.

According to Clerk Gordon Smith, the cost to the municipality for the additional sum will average around $16,000 per year.

In other council news: Superintendent Blagborne has recommended that machine laid asphalt only be used in downtown streets. Their grader type operation can be done for about 75 cents per square yard while the machine costs $1.20.

Council are still looking at costs but approved a strip of road from the school grounds to the municipal sheds to be done by the machine as immediate attention is necessary here. Councillor Powell said there are some growers taking advantage of water pressure.

They have a by-law in effect restricting watering to six gallons per minute per acre and suggested it be enforced where growers are taking undue advantage of the pressure.

This by-law which calls for dose valves, has been, for all intents and purposes overlooked until next year, but council agreed that it should be enforced where undue advantage is taken.

Okanagan Refrigeration was awarded the contract to install air conditioning in the municipal office at a cost of $4,420.

Mr. Phil Munro, treasurer of the Arena Association presented their yearly statement which showed an operating surplus of $244.80.

Public skating increased 30 percent over the year.

Summer skating and hockey was given approval by council. Mr. Munro thanked the council for their co-operation during the year.

Councillor Schaeffer presented a plan of the new industrial area, formerly an orchard owned by Francis Stewart.

It will be subdivided into approximately half acre lots and consists of 8.36 acres, subject to confirmation of a survey which will go ahead immediately.

A letter from the Summerland Rotary Club was read, thanking the municipality for the assistance given at Rotary Beach.

Lights will be placed at Trout Creek Bridge on a 50-50 basis with the provincial government in the installation, maintenance and power. Installations will go ahead at once.

It was once thought that the province would pay for the installation and the corporation the upkeep and power but this was contrary to government policy.

At the request of council a soil study was made on seventy acres of Paradise Flat, thinking the land may be suitable for market gardening if irrigation was made available.

Their thoughts proved to be correct. Soil specialists, Dr. J. C. Wilcox, Dr. J. E. Miltimore of the research station, Horticulturist Alex Watt, Summerland and E. M. King, Department of Agriculture specialist on vegetables from Kelowna confirmed this in a survey.

Asparagus, onions, tomatoes, potatoes and alfalfa may be grown. They recommended that the area be developed as one unit however.

Peachland Fall Fair committee to canvas for chair money

Chairs for the Athletic Hall was the main topic under discussion at Thursdays meeting of the Peachland Community Fall Fair Committee.

After much discussion and the viewing of the stacking chairs made as a sample by J. Hinder it was decided that the committee on its own, could not raise the amount of money needed for chairs, and a list to make the tables needed for the next fair. As this Hall is available to all persons and organizations in the community the committee felt that all residents should be approached to contribute to these much needed chairs. Mrs. Vern Cousins was appointed as chairman of a canvassing group who will hold a blitz on the evening of June 1st.

All money raised this way to be spent on buying of chairs for the Athletic Hall.

Mr. J. Hinder reported that the revised fair list for 1966 is now at the printers and delivery is expected within 2 weeks.

A letter was read from council giving permission to the committee to use council chambers for meetings. Next meeting of this group will take place

At the regular meeting of the Summerland Hospital Board last week, it was announced that Hon. Eric Martin had given an official okay on the increased cost of building the new hospital.

It had been feared that the tenders figures might have been deemed by Victoria officials to be unrealistically high, in which case a review and cut-back on standards and specifications would have been demanded by the B.C.H.S. This would have meant a considerable time-lag during which building costs would probably rise even more.

A plebiscite to enable the Board to procure Summerland's share of the additional cost is now being prepared as a result of the word received from Victoria.

The welcome news was received by telephone when Hon. Eric Martin gave the following assurance to the hospital Administrator, Harvey Wilson: "All will be cleared and I give my approval verbally. The Department of Municipal Affairs will notify you by letter very shortly. I want to give you my assurance that you may go ahead with a plebiscite for the money you need," he said.

On the same day, at 2:30 p.m. an accident occurred in Troit Creek between cars driven by Queenie Maude Bowsfield of Pentiction and Mr. Frank Bueckert of Edmonton. Both cars were proceeding north at the time of the accident. Queenie Bowsfield of Pentiction signaled to make a right hand turn but stopped before turning off the highway. Mr. Bueckert struck the Bowsfield car in the rear. Estimated damage amounted to $450 to both cars. No injuries occurred and police are investigating.

Summerland Review — 3

Stop harping -- be an example

It is time we grew up. We are going through a period of not-so-quiet revolt.

Canada is asked to take the lead in obtaining peace in the world — but it is time we had a look at ourselves and how we are getting along in our own country.

Like Walter Gordon has said in his recent book, "Canadians should stop harping about their problems. We have our problems, but they are nothing compared with those that other nations have to face. We should talk more about our great opportunities: to not only make life more abundant, more satisfying, and more complete for all of us in Canada, but to help other people in the world both by example and by deed."

News headlines of bombing in our parliament as was the case last week, tears down our world image. Communist countries will make a meal of this... but there was only one warped-minded individual involved in this. It is the organized revolts that make bad news copy.

It seems as soon as we have a grievance a group gets together — making demands of those in authority regarding, very often, something that isn't even the implications of the situation at hand.

They will parade the streets carrying placards indicating their demands rather than making private appointments with authorities for a hearing. It is our democratic nature to yield to any type of force or blackmail so in view of this it is quite possible that more harm than good results from these demands.

Canada is great — it is a land of unlimited opportunity. Like Mr. Gordon says: "What we need most of all in Canada today are leaders, in all walks of life, who are able to inspire the younger generations with the glorious future that can be theirs."

This cannot be achieved by childish parading.

Children poisoned by aspirin

Eight cases involving infants under 3 years of age were reported to the South Okanagan Health Unit as having been poisoned through swallowing aspirins. In most cases the medical report states that children got the aspirins while they were left unattended. The report is for the first 3 months of 1966.

In all a total of 15 cases of poisoning were reported to the Health Unit. The report states that 3 of the reported poisoning involved adults and were felt to be suicidal.

Ease of 'tight money' urged

Last Wednesday, the House of Commons was rocked by a bomb which had exploded prematurely. The carrier of the bomb was killed instantly. His purpose was not known, but from evidence available it looked as though his intention was to carry it back into the Chamber.

It would have been difficult to assess the effect had he been successful, but we know that the results would have been extremely serious. The explosion occurred about thirty feet from an entrance to one of the Galleries. The question now before all is whether or not the present security is sufficient.

Due to the large number of visitors, a check on each person entering Parliament cannot be made. Visitors are not allowed to wander around indiscriminately: they come for many reasons, but mainly to go on a tour of the building, to attend Sessions, or on business. Thus, it is not difficult to gain entrance, and it would be almost impossible to set up rules and regulations to ascertain whether anyone had an ulterior motive.

Several Doctors who are Members of Parliament, rushed to the scene at the time of the explosion, and members of the Press Gallery — always on the alert for news, moved quickly from their Gallery. It was suddenly realized that the House could not go ahead with its business, and we adjourned for an hour. Meanwhile, the fumes from the explosion spread through the building, and all those employed in the House, gathered in groups. The general feeling was one of shock that such a thing could have occurred.

Tight money and its effect on the Canadian economy was the subject of a Supply Motion which criticized the Government for its negative approach to our problems. Although national housing was specifically picked out as the focal point of the debate, our whole trade picture was gone into. It was emphasized that if we were to compete successfully in world markets, and also at home, then funds would have to be made available to all producers in Canada at reasonable rates of interest.

On the other hand, the Government has taken the stand that a tight money policy is

B.C. Tree Fruits conducts tree count

The Horticultural Branch completed the most recent tree-count in 1964. They had no sooner finished than the freeze of December in that year made it worthless.

Now, in the spring and summer of 1966, growers have fairly definite knowledge of what damage was done, and have made replanting decisions that will establish new trends in fruit growing in the B.C. Interior. Each individual grower knows his own situation, but the position of the industry can be determined only when all the individuals are added together to show the whole picture. The only way the industry position can be established is by means of a tree-count, orchard by orchard.

It means a lot of work and the first questions that must be answered are: "Is it worth while? — "What good will it do?" Those questions arise from the fact that when tree-counts have been made before, nothing much ever seemed to happen as a result. So far as a grower or a packing house could see, very little use was ever made of the information. So why bother going through all that again?

In the first place, making maximum use of a tree-count has been almost impossible because of the tremendous amount of clerical work involved — it would have taken many people too long to do it. That industry's computer is installed this summer. All the details will be handled quickly and accurately, and given back to you and your shipper in a form that you can use to good purpose. Secondly, trees are the stock in trade of the fruit industry. It is only by knowing what trees are in the ground in any year, and when those trees were planted, that any idea can be formed as to what the industry's potential might be, and what the future holds.

This should be the last time this total job will have to be done. In the future, all that will be needed is a simple record of removals and plantings each spring.

It cannot be emphasized enough, that so many trees have died since December 1964, and so many new trees have been planted, that no one knows with any certainty just where we all stand. Problems about what to plant, what to build, or what markets to promote have no basis for solution without a new, up-to-date tree-count — and one that can be easily kept up-to-date.

Each packinghouse will be getting the tree-count from each of its growers.

NEW AIR CRAFT FOR NEW ROLE—The CF-5, an improved Canadian version of the Northrop F-5, was selected in July, 1965, as the RCAF's new multi-purpose aircraft to be used primarily in the role of tactical support of ground forces. Airframes and engines will be manufactured and the aircraft assembled in Canada. First deliveries of a total order of approximately 125 are expected in the fall of 1967.

Centennial caravan in Summerland on Sunday

The provincial Centennial Caravan will be in Summerland on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. This is not to be confused with the National Commission Caravan touring in Summerland or with the caravan of older model cars slated for here July 1.

It will continue until Nov. 19.

It will feature two 48 ft. trailers, each 10 ft. wide containing "animated portrayal of our province's past, present and projected future."

The displays are in colour, with their beauty and technical ingenuity which has been of great interest and delight to all who have seen it — young and old.

The two trailers, when on display are placed side by side forming one common unit measuring 48 ft. by 20 ft. They will be placed on the parking area behind the 5c to $1.00 store.

There is no admission charge. The caravan offers nine chapters in a fascinating "book" illustrated with special staging, lighting, sound and electronic effects, a time machine to take visitors from 1778 to 2066 A.D.

The Captain Cook ship, the Discovery 1778 and Captain George Vancouver (1792) and Simon Fraser (1808) will be recalled as well as James Douglas (1849), a chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Mining activities and the days of ox carts and wagon trains will be recalled and a projection into the future will be shown in the fields of tourism, hydro development from basic industries to new imaginative businesses depicting the province that holds great hope for development and progress.

That is this Sunday, May 29 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Summerland CGIT banquet attended by 34 mothers

The C.G.I.T. group of the Summerland United Church under the leadership of Mrs. Vera Forter and Miss Rosemary Day held their Mother and Daughter Banquet on Wednesday, May 18.

Thirty-four mothers and "mystery mothers" sat down with their daughters at candle-lit tables. Guest speaker was Miss Jean Embleton of Kamloops, who is president of the Okanagan District for C.G.I.T. Jean spoke on the meaning of the C.G.I.T. purpose. Other guests present were Miss Benest, Mrs. Mayne, and Mr. Louie.

The theme of the banquet was "A Glow With The Spirit," which was the C.G.I.T. theme for the year. Each mother and mystery mother were given a decorated candle holder made by the girls. Two girls presented Mrs. Foster and Miss Day with a corsage on behalf of all the girls.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was the Summerland president, Mary Foster. The toast to the church was given by Betty Wear, and replied to by Mr. Louie. A tribute was given to the mothers by Judy Heales, and replied to by Mrs. Phil Dunsdon. Mrs. V. Barrs spoke on behalf of the Mystery Mothers. She also read a letter from the churches adopted boy in Turkey. The C.G.I.T. have just sent a birthday gift in money to this boy. After this a sing song was enjoyed by all.

The senior girls sang a number of folk songs and the intermediate girls presented an "Outstanding Fashion Show."

In conclusion, a service was held for Jane Foster who graduated from C.G.I.T. Jean Embleton presented her with the graduation pin and Miss Benest representing the adult congregation gave her a lighted candle to carry on the work in the church. The singing of taps brought the very enjoyable evening to a close.

Apple bin rooms no longer exist

The two classrooms that hit the wire news services last June are no longer in existence.

During the construction on the west wing of the Summerland Secondary School, two temporary classrooms in the auditorium were partitioned off with apple bins.

By the time it reached Canadian Press the word "bins" was changed to crates which some news media described as being apple boxes.

The Review learned last week that one school trustee in Langley where they were anticipating a building program, thought they should have a look at the Summerland rooms and said, "If it's good enough for Summerland — it should be good enough for us." He figured it would save the taxpayer the cost of an addition.

It did not save a building program here, but according to school officials, it filled a large gap and served the purpose very nicely at a cost of some over $100.

The bins were obtained from the Summerland Co-Op at no charge, but they had to buy some plywood etc. so they could make the classroom conversion.

The community and school will be pleased to "get their auditorium" back for sports activities and social functions. The new west wing is now in operation.

Fifty years in pomology Field Day scheduled for July 20

Dr. D. V. Fisher, Acting Director of the Summerland Research Station and head of the Pomology Section announced this week, his section would be marking 50 years of fruit research on July 20.

A celebration and field day is planned which will include an informal picnic and tour program.

Topics to be covered will be the codling moth control, collar rot of apples and virus diseases of tree fruits and minor element problems.

The B.C.F.G.A. leaf analysis scheme will be discussed, as will malling stocks and pruning of high density plantings, B-nine growth suppressant, trailed picking equipment and new fruit products.

Squadron Leader A. H. Kirk with Air Defence Command

Squadron leader Alan H. Kirk of Penticton lives and works in Colorado Springs to insure that the skies over his native province will be protected from any aggressive intruder from the north.

The 36-year-old Royal Canadian Air Force officer is a member of the North American Air Defence Command and plays an integral air defence role as a 'battle staff' member.

The veteran officer is the son of Mr. J. S. Kirk of Summerland.

As part of the joint Canadian-U.S. team, he spends his duty hours beneath the granite confines of Cheyenne Mountain, new home of combat operations centre that is the nerve centre for the defence of the North American continent.

The move of North American Air Defence Command's combat operations centre inside 100-million-year-old Cheyenne Mountain introduced a new dimension in aerospace defence. For more than a decade, the combat operations centre, vital to the survival of populations of Canada and the United States, had been housed in a two-story blockhouse structure at Ent Air Force Base in Colorado Springs.

Today, air defence specialists work one-third of a mile inside a mountain with a 1400 foot granite roof as their sky.

A small, selective audience sits in a capsulized amphitheater. They are top air defence officers of Canada and the U.S. — spectators who are allowed to play featured roles in the plot that unfolds on the stage before them.

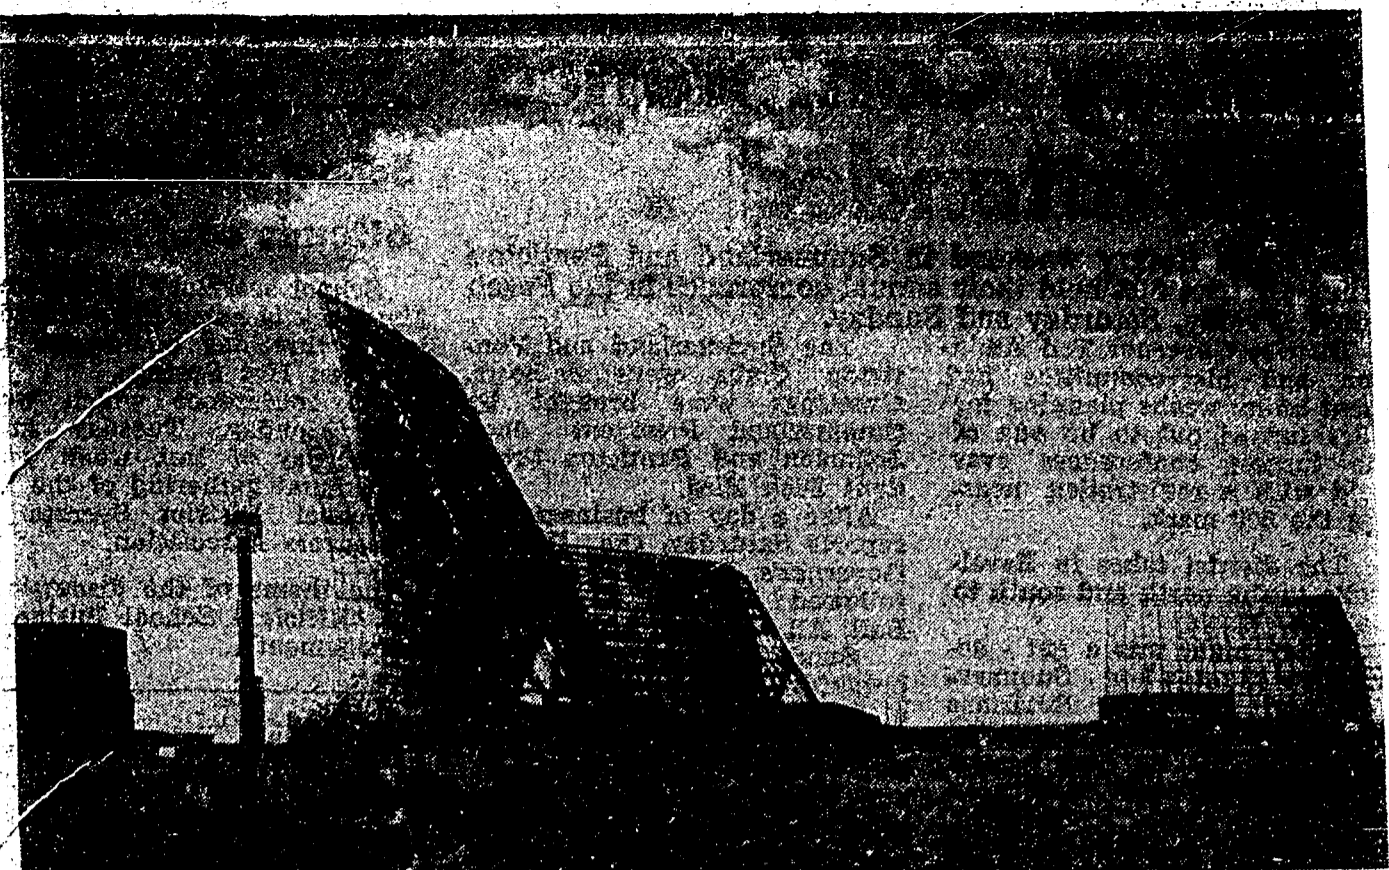

The nuclear age has dictated that they carry out their responsibilities inside a solid granite mountain. Modern technology in the art of communications and electronics has compensated and allowed them to detect and defend against an enemy violation of airspace they cannot see.

THE LOCAL SCENE

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Morgan and daughter, Jennifer were in Calgary last weekend to attend graduation exercises at Mount Royal College. Miss Mary Morgan was on the honors list in the secretarial course.

Miss Edith Verity spent the holiday weekend in Spokane.

Mrs. Margaret McAfee and Mrs. Joan Bridger of Vancouver were here for the funeral services of Mr. Jack Woods.

Massive steel radar antennas of North American Air Defence Command's Ballistic Missile Early Warning System (BMEWS) scan the top of the world north of B.C. to give warning of intercontinental ballistic missile attack against Canada and the U.S. This station at Clear, Alaska, is the second of three to become operational. The first is at Thule, Greenland, and the third at Fylingdales Moor in northern England. These screens are about 400 feet long and 165 feet high, roughly the size of a football field on its side. Effective range of the BMEWS radars is better than 3,000 miles. Data from the systems is fed back to the NORAD combat operations centre at Colorado Springs.

U.C.W. enjoy slides

Friday evening the Mariposa Circle of the United Church Women sponsored the showing of fascinating slides of the Yukon, Whitehorse, Dawson City and the Alaska Highway — including some historical shots of Klondike days.

The slides were taken by Mr. D. E. McAllister, who with his wife spent some years in Whitehorse before coming recently to live in Summerland. Mr. McAllister has enjoyed showing his slides to many friends and interested people in Ontario and plans to show them soon in Penticton.

storage trouble were grown in a certain geographical area farther north than Peachland. Spartans grown in the southern part of the valley appear to have given no trouble.

This is a strange twist of fate.

The Fruit Varieties Committee of the Okanagan Agricultural Club (which is composed of officials of the provincial and federal departments of agriculture) make annual recommendations as to what varieties of fruit trees to plant in each zone of the Okanagan Valley. Industry officials and nursery men participate in committee deliberations.

Although Spartan plantings began some 20 years ago, not until December 1959 did the committee recommend that Spartan be planted south of Summerland back benches. Originally, the Spartan was to be a variety for the central and northern part of the valley, and doubt was expressed that in some seasons it might have poor color when grown in the southern part of the valley.

And so it transpires that one area included in the early recommendations has been running into serious trouble with Spartans, while the southern area, left off the early recommended list, is producing good Spartans.

This just goes to prove you cannot be sure about a new variety until it is tested under a variety of conditions over a long period of time — a generation.

ORCHARD RUN

by Wally Smith

Test of Time for New Variety

These Spartans were found to be crisp, juicy, and well flavored, with no sign of breakdown.

A few days ago I took my last box of Spartans out of the local cold storage plant (not CA storage). There was nothing special about the picking and storing of these apples. They were orchard run for quality and size and were handled like any other variety.

The Spartan has a lot going for it with its high color, good size, heavy production, good flavor, and hardness, but in its cold storage record there are two years when it ran into trouble.

On this broad generalization we would be right regarding the Spartan apple, which appeared on the scene about 21 years ago, as being still under test.

The length of a generation was not defined, but presumably the reference was to a generation of man, and this could be taken to be approximately 25 years.

It has been said that it takes a generation to prove out a new variety or new strain of apple.

Sometimes apples will come out of cold storage in good condition, but have a very short post-storage life. That cannot be said for the Spartans I have stored for my own use these last three years. They always remained in good condition weeks after coming out of storage.

I have talked to other growers in the south end of the Valley, and they report a similar experience with Spartans.

Industry officials have been searching for the cause of breakdown in this very fine apple but they haven't been able to pin it down yet.

However, from unofficial sources I understand that the Spartans which have given

Louise Wright exchanges vows with Rodney Breshears

Gold and white was the theme for the wedding of Louise Margaret Wright and Rodney Paul Breshears at St. Stephen's Anglican Church.

The principals are the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Wright of Summerland and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gubser of Seattle, Wash.

The gold and white theme was particularly striking because earlier in the week the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Wright, Summerland oldtimers, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Baskets of gold carnations and white mums decorated the chancel and two white pedestals were flanked by wrought iron candelabra each holding seven lighted tapers. The pew markers were fashioned from a single gold carnation mounted on white satin ribbon bows.

The afternoon wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Norman Tannar and soloist was Miss Shirley Ann Rendfleisch, accompanied by Miss Ruth Dale at the organ. Miss Dale was also organist at the wedding of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of tiered Chantilly lace embroidered with tiny iridescent pearl sequins. The scalloped scoop neckline complemented the long lily point sleeves. Her chapel-length veil of silk illusion net was secured by a headdress fashioned of the same fine net in the form of white lilies with pearl stemens.

She carried a crescent bouquet of gold carnations, and her only jewelry was a white gold watch, the gift of the groom.

The five attendants were identically gowned in gold peau de soie formal length sheaths. The bride's sister Sandra Wright was maid of honor, and Miss Linda Bell of Summerland and Miss Anita Evans of Spokane were bridesmaids.

The two tiny flower girls Miss Julie and Miss Jeannine Graham of Seattle are nieces of the groom and Master Clay Patrick Breshears of Spokane, the ring bearer, is a nephew of the groom.

The gold gowns of the attendants were trimmed with a wide band of lace accenting the empire lines.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore wrist length lace gloves and carried sprays of white frenched carnations, and the flower girls carried colonial baskets of white and gold flowers.

The attendants' shoes were gold to match the dresses, and their headdresses were circlets of gold rosebuds securing gold net veils with scalloped edges.

Three brothers of the groom performed the duties of best man and ushers. Roger Gubser of Seattle was best man and Howard and David Breshears were ushers.

The Anglican Parish Hall was decorated with lilacs and yellow mums and an archway entwined with pink and white streamers and bells for the reception. The bride's table was centred by a three tiered "grooms" cake — following an American custom. It was heavily iced in traditional white with large golden roses centering the three heart shaped sections surrounding the high tiers. It was a light gold cake and was served to the guests at the reception. The wedding cake, a traditional Canadian fruit cake, was packaged in heart shaped cake boxes for the guests to take home.

Silver candelabra, each holding three lighted tapers flanked the groom's cake and the Stars and Stripes and Maple Leaf Flags flew at each end of the table. The lace tablecloth was crocheted by the bride's grandmother.

Receiving the guests, the bride's mother wore a pink knitted ensemble with a hat of pink chiffon trimmed with white, and a corsage of gold carnations.

Assisting her was the mother of the groom who wore a pale green linen sheath dotted with embroidered pink rosebuds, and white accessories. Her corsage was also gold carnations.

For a honeymoon to Banff and Lake Louise the bride changed to a golden brown Italian knit suit and beige blouse, a white marabou hat and white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations tipped with gold.

On their return the happy couple will reside in Seattle, Wash.

Out of town guests were from Yakima, Omak, Renton and Spokane, Wash., Winnipeg, Kelowna, Lloydminster, Mission, Revelstoke, Essondale and Penticton.

sideswiped school bus

Appearing before Magistrate Reid Johnston in court was Dwayne Blagioni who was fined $15 for sideswiping a school bus on Friday, May 13.

The accident occurred on Jubilee Rd. near Highway 97. Blagioni pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to yield half the roadway.

The bus was loaded with children on their way to school, but there were no injuries and total damages amounted to $150.

In court the same day Clinton Eric Skinner pleaded guilty to charges of failing to dim headlights and being a minor in possession of liquor. Charges followed a check made on Highway 97 in Peachland May 4. He paid fines of $50 and costs on the liquor offence, and $15 on the traffic misdemeanor.

Rotary Conference well attended

It was Rotary weekend in Summerland and Penticton when District 506 held their annual conference in the Peach Bowl, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

District Governor Ted Atkinson and his committee had spent many weeks planning for what turned out to be one of the largest conferences ever held with a registration nearing the 500 mark.

The district takes in Revelstoke to the north and south to Yakima, Wash.

Friday night was a get - acquainted night when Summerland and Penticton Rotarians paired up hosted three to five visiting couples in their home.

The theme of the conference was 'International Friendship'. Governor Atkinson told the group, "May this conference be a stepping-stone to wider friendship and understanding of the philosophy of Rotary. The theme International Friendship was chosen as this is the field where Rotary can achieve practical expression of its aims and objects."

A luncheon at noon wound up the program. Conference chairman was W. W. Riddell.

Dr. Dugald McGregor, John Kitson and John Ruck are in Portland this week attending the annual convention of the Institute of Food Technology.

School official attends conference

School secretary - treasurer Jim Hack is home after attending a three-day conference at Harrison Hot Springs.

The conference which was held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week was the annual gathering of the B. C. School District Secretary-Treasurers Association.

The theme of the discussion was "Efficient School Business Management".

CAMERA CLUBS ENJOY FIELD DAY

The Summerland Camera Club hosted 23 members of clubs from Vancouver, Chilliwack and New Westminster over the holiday weekend. A field day was arranged by the Summerland Club, and the visitors were taken on a tour of the Joe Rich District and Three Forks, east of Kelowna on Sunday. Thirty-six photographers were in the party, and the day was spent photographing wild flowers, many of which were new to the visitors. Weather conditions were not ideal for picture-taking, as there was considerable cloud cover and the wind was rather cool, especially at 2700 feet elevation. On Saturday evening the Summerland Club had a coffee party at the Health Centre to enable all the members to get acquainted. The evening was spent in discussions of cameras, photographic techniques, and other subjects of mutual interest. This picture shows a portion of the party. Photo by Herb Simpson

Three winners on Lilac Day

Lilac Day, Saturday, was not the finest day Summerland has seen as far as the weather was concerned, but most places of business reported good trade and commerce and the customers seemed to enjoy themselves. The stores were decorated with lilacs to lend to the "special day" atmosphere and the Summerland Secondary School Band performed in fine form during the afternoon at the west end of Granville St. Especially pleased were the three windfall winners. They were all Summerland residents. First prize winner was John Kutsen, second, Mrs. Bill Brambley and third Mrs. W. Krause. The draw was made by Geo. Downton at Read and Pruden's office at 5:30. All customers had to do to enter the contest was to make a purchase at participating stores and they would receive a free ticket making them eligible for the draw.

Keith King does it again

Keith King, a grade 8, 14-year-old student of Summerland took top honors in the Knights of Pythias High School Public Speaking contest at the provincial level. The "speak-offs" were held in the Royal Towers Hotel, New Westminster, during the annual Knights of Pythias conference held over the weekend. He won the area competition in Penticton in March. Competition was keen and on the first round Keith tied with another contestant, but when the judges made their final decision the Summerland youth won by a single point. He received a cheque for $100 and a Grand Lodge Trophy from the Public Speaking Chairman Eric Fitzpatrick. Keith will now appear in Spokane on July 9 where he will enter the sectional finals which includes the three Western Canadian provinces as well as Montana, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming and Washington. If he gets over this hurdle, he will advance to the Inter-

Councillor Barkwill felt the directional maps at the north and south entrances of town should be enough and there should be no commercial signs on the highway now at all.

Contrary to this "some signs have been added", he said.

Powell did not agree that the map signs were adequate and did not give distinctive directions.

"Don't talk about taking signs down until we have proper ones ourselves" he said.

They should indicate "we are here" locations so motorists could go from there he said.

A power pole will be moved for Ole Ringstad at his request but it will be necessary for him to pay half the net cost of $140.

Asphalt supplies will be purchased from Royalite Oils for the coming year. Their tender was the lowest of three others.

Paul F. Charles was given approval on subdividing his property.

He roamed this coast for 12 years, gaining the respect of the Indians who called him Matha Hill. He married an Indian woman and fathered three sons and six daughters. The children of Victoria loved him because during the 1850's when he was trading to Honolulu in the HBC ship Mary Dare, he always brought them oranges, sugar-cane and firecrackers.

McNeill Bay and Port McNeill both took his name and he was immortalized on an Indian totem pole.

Impeesa Imps from Trout Creek

By J. M. McArthur, Cubmaster

I am sorry I was not able to write a report for the May 4 meeting. On that evening the Pack visited the climatological station at the Research Station. Although all the boys made very voluminous notes on the instruments examined, only three reports have been turned in two weeks later. Test number 11 for the Black Star requires that a report be made on a visit to a station connected with nature. I cannot, in all fairness, pass those who do not submit reports, so let's get it and get it done before it is forgotten.

I missed the May 11 meeting because I was on a training course for Cub Leaders. However, Raksha (Mrs Prokopenko) carried on with help from her daughter, Gale. She started the Cubs on growing plants. Be sure you remember to water them. They should be ready soon. How are the scrapbooks on Great Men of Canada coming along? They should be developed enough if you have been industrious. One has been passed.

The May 18 meeting was held at Powell Beach Park. It is planned to meet there for the rest of the season and we will concentrate on activities suited to outdoors. The older boys are now working on outdoor fire laying and lighting. We plan to go on to some of the tests requiring the use of pocket knives. It is hoped that each boy will be able to obtain a knife. It should be sharp.

The new Cub book, "Way to the Stars" is now available. The Pack stocks them and they may be obtained from me for 50 cents. I hope that the parents will examine them with the object of determining where they can provide guidance for their sons. You will find that the new programme is more boy centered than the old. It provides more challenge and interest for the boy. We are not working on one specific Star but on all five Stars because I want to give an all around programme to the boys. I will concentrate on tests better adapted to Pack activities and will suggest home centered activities to the boys from time to time. Guidance in these areas to your son will be of help to him and I think you will find some tests quite interesting.

In the six competition the sixes are running neck and neck. Blacks 57, Reds 68, Yellows 67.

To urge and work for the aforesaid parklands for present and future generations, all that is necessary to protect or improve the natural, historical and scenic values which might otherwise be diminished or destroyed.

Those elected to the Board of Directors were: Bert Kinsey, Pentiction; Jack Stock, Pentiction; John Woodworth, Kelowna; Joe Smith, Oliver; Katy Madsen, Summerland; Ernestine Lamoureux, Kelowna; Bill Kreller, Oliver; Dave McMullin, John Kitson, Doreen Adams — all of Summerland; Steve Cannings and Avery King of Pentiction.

Dues were set at a minimum of $2 a year for individuals. At least 12 different organizations were represented at the meet-

John Northey, Okanagan-Similkameen Planning District gave an interesting talk. He said he was pleased to know a Parks Council had been formed, and gave a short, informative address on how he could work with and help with planning for parks in the district.

Dr. Harold Madsen, Summerland chairman of the Scientific Fact-Finding Committee for parks has written to various universities and scientific organizations asking for letters to back the various parks from scientific angles — flora and fauna and geological. These findings will be attached to briefs on parks. Those interested in knowing more about the Parks Council contact: Katy Madsen, 494-8424 or Bert Kinsey, 492-6135.

Good results in Cancer drive

The 1966 Cancer drive, sponsored by the Summerland Kiwanis Club was one of the best ever, according to Chairman Walter Toews.

"In the main, it was all done in two nights," Mr. Toews said "and we collected $1342 which is almost a record. I believe one year we hit the $1400 mark."

The chairman had high praise for those who co-operated with them. They were assisted by the Key Club and Kiwassa members and Bert Simpson.

"Bert has helped us every year," Mr. Toews said, "and we appreciate it."

He expressed his thanks on behalf of the Kiwanis Club for generous donations and to those who assisted them.

College Grants not definite

Mr. F. Venables, Chairman of the Okanagan Regional College Council, at their May meeting said there is a considerable amount of work to be done before costs and federal and provincial grants are known, but he said provincial grants will probably cover 50 percent of the capital cost and the federal grants, somewhere in the 25 to 30 percent range.

Three project committees have been set up.
