Major fire destroys old Sunoka building

An old Summerland landmark was completely gutted by fire Sunday morning when the old Sunoka building and warehouse were burnt to the ground. The Sunoka building was empty at the time of the fire but some stock was destroyed in the warehouse.

The tinder dry lumber in the old building gave firemen little chance to bring the fire under control.

A large building with a long history was completely destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon. The building, known in later years as the Sunoka building, on Lakeshore Drive, had not been used for some time, but an adjoining warehouse 28'x72' owned by Smith & Hill which was also levelled, contained some stock and apples. Smith & Hill did have insurance, but it could not be confirmed whether the Sunoka building was covered by a policy.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is presently under investigation.

When Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daniels were having breakfast Sunday morning shortly before 8:00 a.m., Mr. Daniels thought for a moment he saw a blue haze above the building, once, but dismissed the idea when it did not continue. (They live above Daniels Grocery across the street and 300 yards south of the building.)

When he opened his store a few minutes later, he met Mr. Pepper who said he thought he smelled smoke, so Daniels went to the Sunoka building to investigate.

He walked about two-thirds the length of the building on the lakeside but could not see or smell any smoke so he went back to work.

At approximately 3 p.m. someone burst into the store and shouted the Sunoka building was on fire, so he called the fire department.

About the same time, some passers-by reported they saw an unidentified man throwing water in the building with a bucket but it is not known who it was.

When the fire department opened a large door on the west side, the whole building went up in flames. Within a matter of minutes the roof of the building caved in and the fire was beyond any hope of stopping.

Firemen, under the direction of assistant-chief Fred Dunsdon turned their attention to buildings and grass in the surrounding area, combating the intense heat by pouring water on them.

One fireman on the scene said the buildings across the street were so hot you couldn't touch the sides with your bare hand and one couldn't walk across the front without a good fog of water on.

Fire chief Joe McLachlan was in Salmon Arm for the day.

The frame building, dry as tinder was nothing but a heap of burning boards and timber within an hour. Everything that would burn—did.

There were a few anxious moments when at least one gas tank exploded and one or two of the barrels, contents unknown, followed suit.

The Summerland RCMP called in their Auxiliary Police to assist with traffic and to keep the spectators back a safe distance.

One onlooker said the flames could be seen almost as far as Kelowna, and the sight of the smoke brought many from Pen-tion and of course Summerland.

Telephone communication was disrupted in Summerland Lakeshore until crews replaced the poles and lines the following morning.

Power poles across the street were charred.

Two firemen stayed on the scene all night. All there was left was the old boiler, stack and foundation. It smouldered most of Monday.

Mr. Doug Hill of Smith & Hill said the items in their warehouse didn't have so much tangible value, but they did come in handy once in a while. He did not elaborate.

Column born in Summerland Review is now international

The popular column, Teen Pulse, will again be appearing in the Review as a weekly feature.

This feature, written by Rev. Gordon Stenner got its start in the Review early last year but now comes from Lynnwood, Washington where Stenner is the minister of Visitation and Youth at the Lynnwood Free Methodist Church.

According to a letter received from Rev. Stenner, the column is now syndicated and has a readership circulation of 350,000 and he expected to increase to over half a million in two weeks time. Many of those used in the Review last year and early this year, have appeared in many Washington State weekly and daily papers.

McKilligan wins first bonspiel

The Summerland Curling Club kicked the season off with a mixed bonspiel. There was plenty of enthusiasm shown with eighteen teams taking part.

Play got underway Friday night and Sunday.

The winner of the "A" event was the Lockie-McKilligan rink. Mrs. McKilligan was third, Bobby Walker second and Vern Charles threw lead rocks.

They took the Harvey Eden rink out in the finals by a hair. Harvey was up two going home but the champs laid three on them.

Third in this event was Clinton Skinner and fourth, Greg Pruden.

The last rink to enter won the "B" event. Friday night there were three players wanting to play but they had no skip.

Howard Pruden stepped in to help out and went all the way with Dale Johanson playing third, Norman Johanson second and Dick Randall lead. They met Tom Randall in the finals of this event. Ken Heales took third and Steve Sakal fourth.

The regular draw is ready to go. They have 21 rinks to date but if anyone has been missed and would like to curl, they should get their name in at the rink with the Edens.

On Saturday night, it is open mixed curling so if you are a weekend curler, you can get in on this. There will be two draws each week. Time may be arranged at the curling rink.

Students sign for concert series

Application form for membership in the Jeuneuses Musicales Concert Series circulated last week, have been filled in and returned by about 300 students from grades six to 13 in the Summerland and Penticton school Districts.

Adult membership for the series is limited to 20 per cent of the audience as the programs are carefully selected to appeal to the young. Adults are reminded that there is nothing "junior" about the performers who are appearing in this season's concert tour.

The opening concert will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 8 in the auditorium of the Penticton Secondary School. Featured artist is Bernard Turgeon, baritone, who was awarded a Canada Arts Council Fellowship to enable him to pursue his vocal studies abroad.

Since his return from Vienna he has distinguished himself in the great baritone roles in Canada's major operatic productions from coast to coast, such as Rigoletto, Falstaff, Papageno, Tonio and Dr. Bartolito.

Early curtain time for the concert is a Jeuneuses Musicales policy for week-night performances for the young audience.

Duane Bates, head of the music department of Penticton Secondary School is president of the local group and John Tamblin, principal of Summerland Secondary School is the Summerland representative.

Hallowe'en was very quiet

Although there were a few irate citizens who were targets of egg throwers Hallowe'en night, it has been termed one of the quietest for years.

Cpl. Bud Stohl of the RCMP said it was very good—much better than last year although one resident had a rock thrown in his window and another had his car painted—the painter has been found however.

borne, at Tuesday's council meeting said, "Summerland must be a prize community. The behaviour of the children Hallowe'en night was exceptional. Outside of a little egg throwing, it was very good".

Some signs were taken up, but it only took their crews a half day to straighten everything up, Blagborne added. RCMP, the Auxiliary Police and Municipal employees in municipal vehicles patrolled the municipality much of the night.

Cpl. Stohl said there was little activity after 9:30 p.m. Some eight dozen eggs were confiscated and brought to RCMP headquarters. The owners were able to pick them up the following day.

Reeve Norman Holmes said "I want to thank everyone in the district, especially the children the way they behaved on Hallowe'en night. It is much better this way than to have to spend $1,000 to repair damage. Now that money can be put to better use."

Holmes telephoned school principals asking them to express his appreciation to the students for their conduct. Works Superintendent Blag-

Senior Citizens enjoy evening out sponsored by Credit Union

To mark Credit Union Day, the Summerland and District Credit Union hosted Summerland Senior Citizens at the Rosedale room of the Royal Canadian Legion Thursday.

There was little doubt it was a popular event because 148 guests showed up for the banquet honoring our pioneers.

The attendance was much more than anticipated, but the Legion Auxiliary caterers under the direction of Mrs. Howard Shannon, did an outstanding job in rising to the occasion.

Harold Burdon was the M.C. and was in charge of organizing the evening.

Entertainment by Mr. and Mrs. Shane Mahalic and George Gores was appreciated before dancing was enjoyed.

By KEITH BERGH

It seems the Centennial talk has made us all a little conscious of history... mindful of anyone who has been in Canada for many years.

Many of the pioneers we know today were born out of the country and emigrated to Canada as children from all over the world.

But I think the Elliott side of Peg's family (her father's side) must have some kind of a record.

There are three children in my father-in-law's family, Ches and his two sisters. The sisters are living in Edmonton, one was 98 on Monday and the other 93.

Their parents died while Ches was a boy so he was raised by his sisters—he is now retired and living in Vancouver.

Now, they were all born in Ontario as were their mother and father. The family can be traced as living in Canada for over 200 years.

Can you blame Peg for get-

Under The Giant's Head

ting a little peeved when she is asked what her nationality is when it isn't accepted that she is a Canadian?

On the Brockwell side of the family (the other side) the story is almost the same except one of her grandmothers was born in Philadelphia. Her grandfather had to do with establishing the Trans-Canada telephone.

Now as far as I know there wasn't a sheep stealer in the lot and all escaped the gallows—course there is a little larceny in every family. Peg has been picking my pockets for years while my pants are over the back of a chair. Other than that I think the family have a clean record. But please, don't dig into my past.

I see where the back shop got the wrong head on the account of the School Board meeting last week... they mixed up and left out lines in my editorial... and this week a reader figures I should be "terminated" (not exterminated —but see Letter to Editor)... I know my spelling is terrible and my word usage is worse... what else is new??

This is apparently the season for selling Centennial calendars. The Anglican Church Women have Summerland Centennial calendars and the Centennial Committee have some telling the early story of British Columbia. They are both $1.00. The local one is available at a number of outlets in town including this office, and Howard Pruden of the Centennial Committee has the provincial variety at his office.

We had a fire Sunday—I did not see it as we were on our way home from Vancouver—but when I got there about 8:00 p.m. there were no sad faces about the situation. The building was no credit to the town and has not been used for many years. No doubt the owners are pleased the fire cleaned it up so well. I am no arsonist but it would be my guess the property is worth more now than it was before the fire.

Faircrest Lodge will expand

The Summerland Council decided Tuesday night to proceed with moving the flume that runs underground across the school property. Works Superintendent Blagborne said the job would cost about $7,500.

Although the whole length is not included on school property, it was not possible to bury only that portion on the school property, which was estimated to cost $4,700. It was suggested the school pay $3,000 of the total.

Municipal clerk pointed out the Review was in error in reporting the amount of Christmas bonus for those on Social Assistance.

It will be $10.00 for each head of the family and $4.00 for single persons with no dependents, not $4.00 for each child or dependent as reported last week.

A letter from the department of Municipal Affairs stated Jan. 2nd has been declared a statutory holiday so the first statutory meeting will be held the following day.

The annual ratepayers meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 22 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Faircrest Lodge got the o.k. to build another eight motel units at the same location.

They were described as bachelor units, two stories high with basement.

Many attend bridal shower

Mrs. R. L. Kocloy and Mrs. Ella Lane of Penticton were co-hostesses on Oct. 19 at the home of the former to honor Miss Cherylann McCargar in a kitchen shower. The marriage took place Oct. 22. Many lovely gifts were received by the bride-to-be. The many guests were from Summerland and Penticton.

Centennial Choir for Summerland

A centennial choir is to be formed in Summerland. This announcement was made following an Executive Meeting of the Singers' and Players' Club held on Wednesday of last week at the home of the president, Peter Beulah.

The decision was the outcome of a request by the local Centennial Committee to have a choir available to take part in the celebrations being planned for next year.

Mr. W. A. (Bud) Stewart has agreed to lead the group, and is now choosing suitable music.

A concert of Canadian music and folk songs is being projected for April or May, and the drama section is also working on some one act plays and skits for this event. In addition, the choir will be called upon to take part in a service being planned by the Ministerial Association for the last Sunday in June, and at the Dedication Service to be held in Giant's Head Park on July 1st.

Early indications show a keen interest in the formation of the Mixed Choir, and names are being listed now so that quantities of music to order can be assessed. Some known singers and players are being contacted, but a special invitation is extended to the many now residents Summerland has acquired during the last few years.

Rehearsals will probably take place on Wednesday or Monday evenings commencing in early January. There will be no membership fee, and all 16 years and over will be welcome.

Contact can be made by telephoning Mrs. Flora Borgstrom at 494-1725 for the choir, and Mrs. J. P. O'Leary for the drama group.

Former Summerland residents exchange vows at Sum'land United

The Summerland United Church was decorated with Autumn colors for the marriage of Cherylann McCarger of Clearbrook, B.C. to Mr. Julius Toews also of Clearbrook, B.C. on October 22, at 5:00 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan McCarger of McBride, B.C. and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Toews of Clearbrook, B.C. All are former residents of Summerland.

Rev. P. K. Louie officiated and Mrs. D. Dunham was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride looked lovely in a chantilly lace gown. The bodice was fitted with long sleeves ending in scallops to match the full skirt, made of three tiers of lace, was also edged with scallops. She wore in her hair a tiara with a four-tiered shoulder length veil of tulle. Her bouquet was red gartnet roses. For something old, she wore a 128-year-old Crescent pin, which has been worn by most brides in the family.

Mrs. Wayne McCarger of Valemont, B.C., sister-in-law of the bride was Matron of Honor. Miss Kathleen Tavender, Summerland was bridesmaid and Miss April McCarger of Valemont, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The senior attendants wore identical street length gowns of turquoise and gold lutex brocade, made in mandarine style with gold elbow length gloves, gold shoes and tiaras in their hair.

The flower girl was gowned as a replica of the bride.

Best man was Mr. Peter Martin of Clearbrook and ushering duties were shared by Eric Toews of Clearbrook, brother of the groom and Richard Toews of Kelowna, cousin of the groom. The groom's young nephew, Jimmy Shogren of Matsqui was the ring bearer.

During the signing of the register, soloist, Miss Lucky Formo of Penticton sang "In Thee Be One."

All the dresses for the bridal party were made by the bride's mother.

For the reception in the Rosedale Room of the Royal Canadian Legion, the hall was decorated with red, white, and touches of gold. On the wall behind the bride's table was a ribbon banner.

The bride's mother wore a beige, three piece suit, with gold accessories and a green

A bridge to learning

By S. PAYNTER, Okanagan Pre-school Ass'n. How old were you when you began to learn history and geography and science? Grade Five perhaps? Children who go to kindergarten today take social studies and science whether they know them by those names or not. And if you think back you will realize that as soon as you were old enough to ask questions about the world around you, you were absorbing knowledge at an early age.

Take a class enjoying the conversation circle in your own town for an example. An eager little girl is telling her friends about a trip to Adams River to see the fish. This is geography. She is gaining self-confidence by being the one whose turn it is to talk and learning department and public speaking and grammar. Another child asks her about spawning which gives the teacher a chance to discuss science on a five-year-old level, and when a boy says he found a dead fish on the beach, this is current events in connection with the Kokanee deaths, and leads to philosophy—the natural life span of a fish.

All this from a simple and enjoyable discussion of a car ride by a group of five-year-old children. Each part of a child's day at nursery school or kindergarten has meaning and is guided. Children may have had lots of companions at home, in yards, parks and streets but that is more a battle for survival than a bridge to learning which is what a kindergarten should be. Creative play is an important aspect of life for a small child. An observant teacher can see how a child feels before, during and after painting a picture or making a plasticene model or working with clay and water. As the children explore these raw materials they reveal attitudes and emotions that are important to them.

Last call for applications for Centennial Pioneer Medal

This is the last call for applications for the British Columbia Centennial Pioneer Medal. Application forms are available from your Committee. They must be received by the Committee not later than November 10, and forwarded to the Provincial Committee by November 19.

Any resident who is eligible and who wishes to receive the medal should contact a N.A.N. Thornthwaite at the B.C. Shippers' office.

There is no charge for the medal. Those eligible are persons now living in British Columbia who were (a) born in Canada prior to January 1, 1892 or (b) were living in Canada on or before January 1, 1892.

Continuous residence in Canada since that date is not necessary to qualify as long as the applicant now resides in British Columbia.

L. J. Wallace, chairman of the British Columbia Centennial Committee which arranged the plan to honour the pioneers and which is supplying the medals, is most anxious that every eligible applicant have the opportunity of receiving his moment of the Centenary.

"We feel that this is one of the truly significant features of our National Centennial programme," Mr. Wallace said, "It would be most disappointing not only to the individuals, but to our Committee, if any of our old timers do not receive medals because they were not aware of the presentation plans or the need for applying."

"Canada's great development today can be attributed very largely to the enormous contribution made by our pioneers in opening up a rugged, untamed country, and in pushing back the frontiers to expose rich natural wealth.

"The luxuries that we enjoy in this Centennial year are the direct product of hardships suffered in surveying and mapping our great natural resources, in creating transportation routes, and in launching the development of these resources.

The guests all enjoyed tea and a lovely lunch that followed. A beautifully decorated cake which entailed good wishes was then cut and served.

Invited guests were Mrs. L. Vergamini, Mrs. John Selinger, Mrs. Ray Gilbert, Mrs. Victor Smith, Mrs. Mary Derosier, Mrs. J. Vergamini, Mrs. John Betuzzi, Mrs. A. Leardo, Mrs. V. Jr. Grass Hockey Team first

Ron Kostelniuk The regular season ended for the Jr's on October 25th when they travelled to Penticton. The Grass Hockey Team fought to a 1-1 draw as Nancy Barkwill popped in a goal this being her 55th of the season, to tie her with teammate Karen Holman for the Team Goal leadership.

The Juniors outscored their opponents 13-7 in the season. Donna Sharpe had two shut-outs to her credit as the Juniors finished the season in first place with a record of three wins, two ties, and one loss. Miss Rae, the coach helped the girls accomplish this honor. The Soccer team ended the season on the short end of a 1-0 score. Summerland Review — 3

A message for drivers . . .

John Pinckney, editor and publisher of the Rosetown, Sask., Eagle came on an accident just after the crash. Besides the news report and an editorial, The Rosetown Eagle carried Mr. Pickney's comments. Every driver should read them.

"We were not there when the one car smashed into the other. We did not hear the noise of impact, as steel and glass and blood screamed in protest. We did not see the cars throw out their dead as they whirled off the highway into the field. We did not see or hear them crawl out of the cars (those who could) to look at their world so instantly destroyed.

"We got there just after that. We did see a man kneel bleeding over his wife, unable to understand that she could not speak to him—unable to grasp that she would never speak again.

"We left him to his numbed misery to look at a little bundle flung further into the wheat—a pretty baby boy. He too, was dead. We left the child and looked in the car. Here the child's mother and baby sister were beyond human help. His father was alive in the front of the car, a bloody mess, and fortunately at that time unable to realize that in that awful second he had lost his pretty blond wife and babies. During this horror, the man kneeling over his dead wife kept calling us to do something for his wife who still would not answer him.

"Then we got crowbars to get the teenage boy out of the wreck where he lay jammed against the bodies of his sister and her baby. This was almost more than we could stand—the sickening bubbling sounds and the pity of it all.

"Then finally when the doctor had pronounced them dead to see and hear the kneeling man as he finally realized she was gone. As long as we live we will see the agony in his face as he kissed her goodbye there in that dusty roadside.

"This has not made pleasant reading. It was not meant to be. No one could begin to describe the horror of such a thing. No one can ever be the same after seeing it. If only more of us could see them. If only . . ."

FROM OUR FILES . . .

41 Years Ago

The greatest landslide in the memory of the oldest resident took place during the past week when practically the entire side of the hill collapsed a little past Crescent Beach on the Peachland road. The entire shore line at that part is changed and a peninsula comprising some two acres is jutting out into the water.

Many reasons are given to account for the happening, but the most logical seems to be that the recent rains loosened the hill side. "The Penticton road landslide of last summer is nothing," The Review was informed. "Enough land has come down to enable one to start up a small sized farm in that vicinity."

The Peachland stage had rather a narrow escape passing along the road just prior to the land slide. It will be some time before the road can be put into shape and its present condition is causing a good deal of inconvenience to motorists.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Reynolds of Garnett Valley left on Wednesday for Grand Forks where they will remain for the winter.

Mr. H. Banks returned on Thursday from Nome, Alaska where he has been for the past year. He expects to remain for about a month.

Donald Ross, who is CPR operator at Albert Canyon, arrived home Friday night, and will spend 2 weeks holiday with his mother, Mrs. M. Ross.

Mrs. Estabrook, who has been spending the summer at her home in Peachland for the winter, visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. Williams.

Miss Marjorie Hatfield, a former resident of Summerland will leave for the coast on Sunday after having spent a month in here visiting with her grandmother, Mrs. McLaughlin.

ORCHARD RUN By Wally Smith

He's Running Scared

Some of these armchair farm experts may be obliged to revise their opinions about the so-called uneconomic, fast disappearing family farm.

Labor, or rather the lack of it, is the big factor in today's farm scene.

The continent-wide farm labor shortage was acutely felt in the Okanagan this year, and from all accounts the grower with a family size holding that he could handle with little or no hired labor, came through in better shape than the big grower who requires a labor crew.

We are told the farm labor situation is going to get worse, and if it does we are going to see crops left in field and orchard for want of harvest help. The family farm size orchard operator can put in long hours, get some help from his own family, and get through his harvest with little or no outside help, but the large operator could be a heavy loser if he cannot get enough help to gather in the harvest.

There is not a large profit in fruit growing, and this profit can be wiped out through lack of hired help to get the work done, or because of inexperienced workers. Careless and inexperienced workers for thinning and harvesting can easily turn a potential profit into a real loss.

In an effort to get competent help fruit growers could offer wages comparable with those paid in other industries, but even that would give no assurance that good orchard workers would be available.

Higher wages would certainly cut into the grower's returns, and he would be entitled to expect more money for his fruit. How could this be done when shoppers are already loudly protesting that food prices are now too high?

Our cost of production has nothing to do with the price our fruit brings on the market. Competition is the determining factor.

Recently our sales agency was obliged to reduce the price of apples shipped to Manitoba and Saskatchewan because of competition from Michigan apples.

Our neighbors in the state of Washington are worrying about the labor situation too, and, like us, are searching diligently for mechanical aids in harvesting.

Dr. Ron Tukey, extension horticulturist at Pullman, is very pessimistic over the situation.

He says it took 43,000 people to handle the 1965 Washington apple crop. Indications are that by 1970 the Washington crop will be double the size of the 1965 harvest.

Where will we get an extra 43,000 people needed for the 1970 harvest? asks Dr. Tukey.

Dr. Tukey says he is running scared. Something has got to give, and probably it will be the poor apple grower with a big apple crop who can't harvest it.

If the situation ever gets that bad the man with the family size orchard consisting of different fruits maturing in early season, mid season and late season, has the best chance to survive.

Giant cedar log is carefully unloaded among the totem-poles in Victoria's Thunderbird park where it is now being carved into a 65-foot welcome figure which will be erected before the Indians of Canada Pavilion at Expo '67 in Montreal. Indian carvers, Henry Hunt and his son, Tony, both of Victoria, and Simon Charlie, of Duncan, are working on the log which was donated by MacMillan, Blowdel, Ltd.

Building figures over '65

Summerland Building Inspector John Khalebach has reported building is up $174,630 this year over last, not taking into consideration the new hospital.

Total building for October was down however, to $39,400 from 059,150 a year ago.

Mr. Keith Berg editor Summerland Review
 Sir,

Regarding allegation to the effect "He said the economic conditions would not support garbage collection." That is false as a result of misrepresentation or faulty report of my letter and also "He said this class spend on luxury what some have for daily living", anyone with any sense worthy of respect know that is a physical impossibility (I can not have for daily living what you spend on luxury). What is meant is; (the affluent spend as much for extremely unnecessary luxury as the needy require for necessities.

I take this opportunity to advise you to correct your publications I can detect many errors in spelling and what is much worse; faulty composition and missused words. The employee who works the way you print usually ends up being terminated instead of that you raised the selling price of your paper by 60% without even mentioning anything publicly about it until the paper was out.

From horses to fruit to rubble

The Sunoka building that was destroyed by fire Sun. afternoon was first a livery barn, owned by R.H. English and started about 1912 then sold to Matt Wilson who operated it as a packing house for a few years until he ran into financial difficulties and returned to his Paradise Ranch at Namaka

The building was closed for a number of years, then purchased by the Regal Fruit Products Company which was owned by a number of Summerland people.

This move was encouraged by Ted Atkinson because at that time they were anxious to get fruit processing started in Summerland.

Cherries were processed here for a number of years as well as fruit mix, made from zucca melons brought in from the Oliver-Osoyoos area. The plant was operated un-

It was purchased by the present owner, Walter Hauschka of Vancouver in 1938 or '39 and has not been operating for many years.

PROCLAMATION

DEAR FELLOW CITIZENS:

November 5th to 11th will be observed as REMEMBRANCE WEEK throughout Canada. It is a time of double significance for all of us. We recall with pride, and with deep compassion, the men and women who have died so bravely in the service of their country; we also are reminded of the great scope of the community services being carried on by surviving comrades who work through Royal Canadian Legion Branches everywhere.

It is with considerable pride that I commend the vast amount of volunteer work and financial support the Legion gives to this community through scholarships, sponsorship of young people's sports and continuing dedication to the welfare of veterans.

The Canadian Legion is the largest service organization in numbers in the province. This year the Legion celebrates its 40th anniversary and increased support will bring now vitality to the Legion organization and greater benefits to many in our community.

Special course in botany to be presented for farmers

In co-operation between the British Columbia Department of Agriculture and the Kelowna Vocational School, a course in basic and applied botany will be given by Dr. D.P. Ormrod, Associate Professor of the Plant Science Division, Faculty of Agriculture, University of British Columbia.

This course will be held in Kelowna at the Vocational School, December 12-16. Classes will run from 9 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. daily.

This basic course in botany will be of interest to all who work daily with living plants. The intention of the course is to allow practising farmers to get a better idea how plants grow, function and produce crops whether it is fruit, grain or forage.

There will be given a basic understanding of plant classifications, structure and function of roots, stems, leaves and various cells, bud and flower formation and plant breeding and genetics. The applied or practical aspects will be the effect of nutrition (fertilizers and minor elements) on plant growth, the effect of low temperatures on various plant parts and a discussion on how low temperatures kill plants, light and its effect on plant growth, effect of pruning or mowing on plant growth, a discussion on the carbohydrate - nitrogen ratio and its effect on plants with regard to growth and fruit setting.

It is most important to know how many are interested in taking this course. The number of students must be limited

Bob Kidd to give golf lessons in Summerland starting January

Arrangements are being made for the golf school sponsored by the Summerland Golf and Country Club slated for January 1967.

Bill Laidlaw is in charge and he said they have been fortunate in obtaining Bob Kidd of Penticton to give the lessons.

"He is well qualified, well known in golfing circles throughout the province," Laidlaw said.

"We were exceptionally fortunate to get him, and in view of this a large registration is anticipated for classes this winter," he said.

TEEN PULSE

By
STENNER

DEAR GORDY! Almost all the kids that I know have no interest in church or religion. They don't think that Christianity is "with it" in our generation. —OBSERVER

DEAR OBSERVER! — You are right! Teens for the most part have rejected "surface" and pseudo Christianity. Our generation is called the "open generation". They are rejecting the egg shell, but starving for the yolk.

Recently, a national best-selling weekly had writer-researchers, many of them with doctorates in psychology and philosophy, invade the teen world of reality.

More than 550 young people from 95 American cities were interviewed. The unanimous answer to the first question "Are you a teenager?" was, "Yeah, I'm afraid so".

The survey at first, did not include a question on teens religious beliefs. But, this question was quickly included at the insistence of many of the teens who asked, "Why don't you ask us questions on our religious beliefs?"

The Bible does not speak of an anemic Christ! It does thunder forth a Christ relevant to the Supersonic Age! He alone can answer the problematic probings and searchings of the teenage heart.

Yes, the Master breaks every sound and every communication barrier, every hate barrier, every prejudice barrier, and every barrier.

Remember, the visible church did not die on the cross for teenagers. Emotions did not die on the cross. But Christ did! He broke the Barrier!

Pentiction United Church chapel scene of Burbee-Austen wedding

Yellow and Bronze Mums, white and yellow ribbon pew markers decorated the Chapel of the Pentiction United Church when Patricia Anne Austen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Austen of Summerland became bride of Mr. Benjamin Clifford Burbee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burbee of Prince George, B.C. on October 1 at 7:00 p.m. with Rev. J.C. Cronin officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a peau de soie gown with fitted bodice, rounded neckline, lily point sleeves and bell skirt. Lace roses were applied around the neck and skirt of the gown. Her veil, held by White Roses was bound with rose lace and two short tiers over. She carried red cascading roses with three roses attached to the ends of white ribbons.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Carrol Bartello who wore a bright yellow formal length empire line style with white lace over the bodice. A train fell from her shoulders. She wore yellow 'mums in her hair and carried a bouquet of a single yellow 'mum with bronze ribbons.

Attending the groom was his brother, Mr. Donald Burbee.

The bride's two brothers Brian and Wayne were ring bearers. Dressed in navy blue blazers, gray pants and carrying white pillows.

For the reception in Pilgrim House at 8:30 p.m. the bride and groom's parents received the guests.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth, centered with a beautiful three tiered wedding cake, topped with three bells and twin doves. The cake had pink roses engaged in hearts. On either side of the cake were tapers and bud vases with pink roses.

Mr. Hilton Lewis of Greenwood proposed the toast to the bride.

Wires of congratulations were received from May and Art Austen, Rocky Mountain House, Alta.; Jean, Harry and Maurice Kraemer; Ted and Eleanor Rouke and family; Bernice and Len Thompson, all of Calgary, Alta.; Sid, Connie, Kerry Lynn and Danny Hucul, Toronto; Jean and Gordon Sales, Prince George and Mar and Jack West, New Westminster.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lockton, Nanton, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thompson, Parkland, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Burbee and Herb; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lockyer; Mr. and Mrs. Will Peckham, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Davis, all of Prince George; Mrs. Martha Burbee—grandmother of the groom, Pouce Coupe, B.C.; Mr. Don Burbee, Spirit River, B.C.; OS-SN Gary Charleston, Victoria, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Lewis Greenwood, B.C.

Before leaving on their honeymoon to Kelowna, the bride changed to a three-piece light blue linen suit, white lace blouse, blue hat entone with black patent shoes, purse and black gloves.

The bride presented the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Martha Burbee, Mrs. Eva Lockyer and Mrs. Carol Bartello

Teachers' salary demands range from 10 to 30 percent

"The majority of teachers' salary demands for 1967 seem to be in the region of 15%", said J. R. Lamont, of Castlegar, chairman of the B. C. School Trustees Association labour relations committee.

Although many local teachers' associations have kept their demand in the vicinity of 10-12% a significant number seem to have gone a lot higher, asking for 18%-20% overall. In a few cases demands are in excess of 20% for particular categories and for one a 30.5% raise was asked. The highest demand in one district was for an increase of $2,450 per year in one category.

"In the light of present economic conditions it is difficult to believe that they are serious," Mr. Lamont commented. "However, we realize that teachers like everyone else are affected by the rising cost of living."

In terms of the Public Schools Act, teachers' salaries are negotiated with all 85 school boards in the province every year. This results in some 90 sets of negotiations as some school boards deal with more than one local teachers' association.

The most significant development this year is the intensification of the teachers' demands to bring working conditions into the salary negotiations. In order to accomplish this teachers' local associations are at-

Teachers enjoy smorgasbord

The Anglican Church Women satisfied many appetites by providing a delicious smorgasbord at Summerland's Anglican Church Hall recently for the Summerland Teachers' Association. In fact, one teacher ate so much that the chair he was sitting on collapsed.

This was the association's first dinner meeting of the current school year.

After the dishes were cleared away the STA president Ian McQuig led the meeting in order. General business was discussed and committee reports were received.

David McMurray gave a fascinating report about the Prince George convention which he attended last summer.

Levels system

A very informative meeting of the Trout Creek P.T.A. was held Oct. 27 when the "Levels system" in elementary education was explained. Mr. J. Ellis, principal of a Penticton school related that the non-graded system was designed to help the individual child progress at his or her own ability. He explained that educators have become aware of the fact that each child differs in every stage of development. This difference is noticeable in the classroom. The child therefore is now allowed to move to whichever level he is best suited to learn at in that subject.

Mr. R. McNabb, Principal of the Trout Creek School, explained how the system gives a child more confidence in trying something new while working at their own level.

Mr. Ellis and Mr. McNabb are both delighted with the reaction of the children to this system and felt it was nearly an encouragement to each child in every level.

Speaker at the Nov. 17 PTA meeting will be Mr. Norman Walker, principal of the planned Okanagan Regional College.

Peachland Chief wants more fire equipment

By BRENDA DAVIES

PEACHLAND — Attending the regular meeting of Peachland Council to discuss Town's use of the Athletic hall, was Marina Davies, mayor of Teen Town and chaperone advisor Mrs. Thelma Mitchell.

Mrs. Mitchell reported that the RCMP intend to close all teen dances if there is any more trouble, and suggested that the town teen bands hire the hall for a dance that Council stipulate they must have either an adult supervisor or auxiliary policeman present. Teen Town dances are always adult supervised by Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Chitren, Summerland.

Council decided that in future, out of town bands will be charged $75 a night for the hall and told they must have adult supervisors present.

Mr. and Mrs. Chippindale attended Council to discuss water on their proposed sub-division in Trepanier. Reeve explained that Council is waiting for an official report from the district engineer's office in Kelowna, who has gone over their property as well as that owned by Seed and Shaw in Trepanier in an effort to find a solution.

Des Careless, Peachland fire chief stressed the need to have a water tank mounted on a truck. He feels that this is badly needed, as shown in a recent emergency, when present equipment had to leave the scene of a fire to get more water. A review will be made at the end of November so allocation can be made in the next budget.

Careless submitted plans of A. Oltmanns, Trepanier for erecting a new home in which he plans to put a water tank under the house. Careless suggested, that in this case a 2½" pipe should be put in the concrete wall so it can be hooked up to in case of fire on the property.

Mr. R. Liston of Beach Ave., submitted sub-division plans for the east portion of his property. He wishes to subdivide into three lots approximately one acre each, one with access to Highway 97 and two with access to Beach Ave. He was told that Beach Ave., at this point, is not a dedicated road and he would have to allow a 50 ft. road allowance on the present road site. With this provision approval in principle. A request from Mr. MacCaull of Lakeview has been looked into and Council has no objection to his diversion of this water as long as the road is put back into its present condition.

The Breakwater power account was discussed and Council felt, because the cost for lighting is getting so high that they will be cut off Nov. 5 — leaving only navigation lights on the breakwater.

Reeve Thwaite brought up the matter of speed limit on the Princeton Ave. highway intersection, as this may be dangerous this winter. A suggestion was to send a letter to the district engineer and RCMP to see if the speed limit can be lowered and enforced at the intersection. "We will ask them to look over the situation before there is an accident. Of course the ideal solution would be traffic lights or an overpass, but as this is possibly not feasible at this moment, something must be done", stated Thwaite. They will also have them look into speeding on Beach Ave. near the school.

Sub-division plans submitted by Wes Fennell were approved. The Neil Witt survey plans of District Lot 1174, Trepanier were discussed and Council decided to leave this until they meet again with Mr. Witt.

A letter from Bill Renfrew requested garbage collection in the rural areas be done more often. This is now done four times a year.

Councillor Sidebotham suggested a weekly or every second week garbage pickup but an extra charge be made for this, as it now costs one mill a year for garbage disposal because there is no money in the budget for a change at this time. It was tabled until next year's budget.

I. Jackson of Trepanier was appointed to serve on the Okanagan Watershed Pollution Control Council.

A letter from F. Chamberlain, chairman of the Central Okanagan Regional Planning Board requested a meeting with council and the people of Peachland on the formation of the Regional District.

The clerk was instructed to reply that council are unanimously opposed to the joining of the district, but if they wish to hold a public meeting, council will advertise this and make a hall available.

Harrison Smith, Kelowna, submitted for approval a Meets and Bounds sub-division plan for the property of Mr. J. Knoblauch, who wishes to give this land to his daughter. Council approved this sub-division.

A letter from J. R. Davies, Branch 89 Royal Canadian Legion president, stated members at a special meeting indicated that they were not in favour of moving the Cenotaph at this time.

Work on Ellison Ave. will be done under the winter works programme.

The Municipal Council election will be held Dec. 10th and nominations for councillors close Nov. 28th.

Union Board of Health meeting to be held in Summerland

The fourth quarterly meeting of the Southern Okanagan Union Board of Health will be held November 16 in the Summerland Health Centre.

Reports to be presented at the meeting will include a progress report on the Okanagan Watershed Pollution Control, establishment of an Okanagan Public Health Laboratory and the 14th conference Association of Union Boards of Health.

The proposed budget for 1967 will be one of the main items of discussion. Appointments of sanitarians for Penticton and Osoyoos will also be made at the meeting.

Quarterly reports will be

Teachers salary schedule based on Valley average

Parade will again honour the Fallen on Remembrance Day

Parade Marshal Steve Dunsdon of the Summerland Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion expects many participants in the annual Remembrance Day parade Friday morning.

Legion Padre, Rev. Norman Tannar will be in charge of the service, with ministers of other denominations taking part as well.

The music during the service will be supplied by Summerland members of the Penticton City Band.

The parade will fall in on the McDonald School grounds at 10:20 a.m. and will arrive at the Cenotaph in the Memorial Park at 10:40.

Two members of the Summerland RCMP will also take part in the parade as well as veterans, cubs, scouts and guides.

A banquet in the Rosedale Room for Veterans, Ladies Auxiliary and their partners.

The Summerland School Board and the Summerland Teachers' Association, after nine meetings have reached an agreement on a new wage contract for 1967. The formula for wage increases was decided last January, but other benefits have been under discussion.

The board and the teachers agreed in January of this year to accept a salary scale based on the average of eight school districts in the Okanagan. It will probably be late December before this information will be available but based on the Vernon settlement for 1967, it is apparent the increase will not be less than six percent.

The Board has also agreed to recognize the first six years of "out of province" teaching experience for salary purposes. The Department of Education only recognizes half of such experience for salary grants.

The Board has also agreed to consider revision of policy whereby members of the teaching staff are assisted financially to keep up with developing trends in education. They will also pay a bonus of $100 per year to those teachers holding a Bachelor of Education Elementary degree.

Allowances to Administrative staff are being revised according to the various areas of responsibility and authority as well.

Agreement came at a joint meeting Monday night.

Hospital Auxiliary to buy instruments

The Summerland Hospital Auxiliary held their regular meeting with Miss Doreen Tait, president in the chair.

A need was expressed to have an evening of volunteer service at the hospital as well as during the afternoon. Anyone interested in assisting was told they could contact Mrs. Eric Smith, Volunteer Director. Experience is not necessary, Miss Tait added.

The financial statement indicated the Auxiliary's receipts were $509.37. Effective Nov. 19 the Thrift Shop hours will be from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and the Christmas sale will be Dec. 3.

The Auxiliary made a plea for recent magazines to be placed in the hospital.

They agreed to purchase much needed small instruments for the hospital operating room.

Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, the Summerland delegate to the B. C. Hospital Auxiliary convention held in Vancouver early in October gave a most informative and interesting report.

Students asked to help underprivileged

To stimulate interest in school affairs, Trustee Bob Barkwill made the suggestion at their regular meeting that they invite a representative from each service and paternal organization to one of their meetings.

This met with the approval of the board, and invitations will be sent at a suitable time by Secretary-Treasurer J. Hack. "It will give them an opportunity to become better acquainted with the progress of school business," he said. "We could set aside time for questions as well."

School Superintendent Gordon Paton explained Project 100 to the board.

The program, endorsed by all phases of education, is set up to assist with education in underprivileged countries.

The plan is to have students raise $1 per capita by sponsoring projects during November of 1966 and again during November 1967.

In recommending the plan, Paton said, "It gives the students an opportunity to take an active part of doing something for someone else."

According to B.C. Centennial Chairman L. J. Wallace, the fund-raising campaign will be offered to all schools and institutes of higher education. It is up to the students to decide what methods they will use to raise the money.

Walace said in a news release, the project has been designed as a recognition of B.C.'s affluence and our willingness to share it with less favored areas—such as developing Commonwealth nations.

The Summerland Board approved of the project in principle and gave the principals the authority to have students take part if they wish.

Trustee Dave McIntosh expressed some concern, and pointed out to Superintendent Paton that some poor word usage is in evidence in our schools.

He said he is having difficulty in convincing his children that "real good—real fast—real nice" is not proper, because teachers at the Trout Creek School use such expressions.

He brought this up at the last board meeting as well when School Principals were present. He feels more emphasis should be given to proper word usage.

The Superintendent made a note of this.

The next meeting will be held on Dec. 7, or at the call of the chairman.

Summerland Recreation Commission assists in community services

Figure skating has long been a popular sport in Summerland, and the Recreation Commission was pleased to be able to give $100.00 to the club. There are many Juniors participating this year, and the donation will help in keeping fees as low as possible.

The South Okanagan Naturalists Club also received $25 to help them in their activities. In their letter to the Commission assistance was requested in meeting expenses incurred in the conservation and administration work of the club.

The popular craft courses being held at the Red Cross Centre came in for a $200 grant in recognition of their instructional work. This was arranged with the Community Programmes Branch of the Provincial Government Dept. of Education through the local Recreation Commission.

Rugmaking, weaving and embroidery are the skills being taught and they have been very well received.

The Recreation Commission is interested in hearing from any clubs or organizations who may require assistance in technical advice, instruction or money. The letters should, of course, include details of the position and aims of the club.

Tour of Brenda Mines postponed one week

Summerland Chamber President Eric Tait was unable to arrange a tour of the Brenda Mine site Monday due to lack of time for preparation.

It has now been postponed until this coming Monday, when the Chamber as well as officials of the municipality, school and the planning board will be the guests of Brenda Mines on a conducted tour.

Tait said Brenda officials from Vancouver will be here at that time.

Please don't pick the posies or cut trees in the park

There will be no more cutting of trees or picking flowers on Giant's Head Park. A resolution to this effect was passed by the Summerland Council Tuesday night.

Councillor Schaeffer, who is also a member of the Centennial Committee said the Horticultural Society is now planting trees in the park as their part of the Centennial project.

Nomination day for two councillors and three school trustees is Monday, Nov. 28 and the election—if necessary will be held Dec. 10.

Terms expire for Councillor Bill Barkwill and Walter Powell and Trustees Dave McIntosh, Jim Miltimore and chairman John Bennet.

Thos. Bell, is in the process of rezoning a portion of his land from agricultural small holding to single dwelling residential and another portion the other way around. This is being done at the recommendation of council. The portion going back to agriculture is more suitable for orchard but was zoned residential.

Bell had previously requested the rezoning of his agricultural lot to residential, but council would not approve this but suggested they would if he rezoned his residential lot to agricultural. It is rather like a zone trading deal.

He presented plans that were approved in principle but the planning commission suggested it would be to Bell's advantage to check contours before the boundaries are determined because it may affect his future plans when and if he were to rezone and subdivide that portion that will be agricultural.

Reeve Holmes, Councillors Powell, Schaeffer, Hill, Superintendent Blagborne and clerk Gordon Smith will go on the Chamber of Commerce sponsored tour of Brenda Mines on Monday.

The council and Works Superintendent Blagborne were the luncheon guests at Parkdale Place on Friday.

Accounts will be approved twice a month from now on—a recommendation from clerk Smith to keep a smoother operation in the office and to facilitate payment quicker.

Blagborne said the flume work is going well and expects to be finished with the ARDA program by fall next year. There are 45 to 50 men working on it at present and will be as long as the weather holds. They are also working on improving the road to Giant's Head Park.

Don Wright, BCFGA member of the Summerland Planning Commission has notified the BCFGA of his intention to resign that post so they appointed Brian Liebert. The change may be made when Mr. Wright makes his intentions clear to council. Reeve Holmes, Councillors Schaeffer and Powell will attend the quarterly meeting of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association at North Kamloops on Nov. 17.

A letter from lawyer C. Cook from the Frank Haar law office on behalf of L. A. Johnson said the home on the Johnson property had burned down, but was still included on his assessment.

The home burned in 1965, but he was being charged taxes for it this year. Because it could not be lived in, he did not qualify for the home owner's grant.

Because Mr. Johnson did not follow the legal procedure, of attending the Court of Appeal, council felt there was little they could do.

Municipal solicitor Frank Haar said he had looked into the act to see if any relief could be given Johnson but had not found anything, thus far, but would look into it further.

"He is out on both ends", Haar said, "when he couldn't get the home owner's grant either. It is unfortunate."

Council felt it was unfortunate assessor Joe Sheoley did not catch it for the 1966 assessment, but apparently he was out of town on holidays at the time of the fire.

Glen Wertz suffers injury

By Ron Kostelniuk

In hockey action, the Juveniles, Midgets and Pee Wees all saw action. The Juveniles went down to a 6 to 4 defeat at the hands of hometown Penticton in a game played on November 1. Robin Agur, with two, Barry DeRossier and George Jenner were the Summerland marksmen.

The MIDGETS were dumped 23-0 in a game played Nov. 5th at Penticton. Summerland's Glen Wertz was out at the throat accidentally by a skate. Six stitches were required... he lost several teeth, and will be out of action for a month.

The BANTOMS were dumped 7-1 by Penticton in a game played at the arena on Sunday. Ken Haddrell scored for Summerland.

Next action will see the Juveniles host Penticton on Nov. 10 in a game starting at 8:30 p.m. at the Arena. Saturday, the Bantoms travel to Penticton and the Midgets to Vernon and Sunday the Midgets host Kelowna at the arena starting at 12:30. On the 17th, the Midgets travel to Kelowna while the Juveniles host Kelowna in a game starting at 8:30 p.m.

By KEITH BERGH

It takes all kinds to make up a community but we heard of a variety last Friday that takes the cake... A resident of Trout Creek phoned our office and said a house in that district had given her children a bag of treat Halloween Night. In the bag were rotten potatoes, pieces of wood, bottle caps and onions... quite a slap in the face for the youngsters who were only doing what our society accepts... be it right or wrong—the kids were innocent of any wrong doing. It also came to our attention that RAZOR BLADES were put in apples in an Okanagan city very close to us.

It looks like it is time we surveyed the results of Halloween '66. Summerland was quiet, little damage was done unless you or I happen to own the car that was painted (with real paint), or if we owned the home where the windows were broken. But, all in all it was quiet and the youth are to be congratulated.

Not so in other parts of the country where damage was in the thousands of dollars. One reader of the Prince George Progress said "They should be shot", when he was interviewed about the damage done in that booming city. In Innisfail, Alberta, "The Province" reports of two houses burned down, in the U.S. a six year old trick-or-treater was a shot and

... then there was North Vancouver.

I love to see the youngsters have fun... I enjoy the children coming in for their treats, and I get a kick out of pranks within reason but possibly we have to have a look at the situation.

It would be a shame if the children of Summerland, Penticton and other centres where they behave themselves on Halloween night would have to give it up but it seems to be about the only alternative to keep hoodlums in line and it would seem a small price to pay to relieve suffering and expense to many people in Canada.

Tom Ritchie was in and asked us again to remind you pioneers to make application for your Centennial Medallions before the 15th. He is afraid there may be some new residents who haven't looked after this... especially those from out of the province. The only requirement is that you were born in Canada on or before January 1, 1902 and are resident of B.C. now!

Tom says Vancouver is making a lot of noise about having the most pioneers per capita. "I'm sure we have them skinned by a mile" was Tom's remark. I think we have something like 85 or 70 applications in to date.

non Council member had said he would be glad to speak to any Summerland group on the Regional College, it got some reaction from Summerland College Committee Chairman Ted Atkinson at the November meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

There is no doubt as to where Ted stands on the issue and made it very plain in a few words. He wants the college and didn't pull punches—Ted is like that and we respect him for it.

But the Chamber should make the way clear for speakers for or against the college if there is an indication shown that people want to hear them. This great organization must not lose sight of the fact they are serving all the people.

Ted made it plain he didn't want him in—which is his privilege and if others wanted the Vernon speaker they should have made it known... funny thing is I never found out whether this man was for or against the college.

I agree we need a regional college—this college to be located in Kelowna. Sure the College Council have made mistakes—what active organization hasn't—but what they have done that is right outweighs, by far, the errors they have made. We must all get behind the Regional College or lose it—maybe for generations.

Ivy Mason's work at Simon Fraser

An exhibition of sixteen rubbings are now on display in the foyer of the Simon Fraser University Theatre. The show will continue until November 20.

The rubbings, or impressions, have been taken from Memorial Brasses placed upon tombs in churches throughout England.

The Memorial Brasses can be viewed as engravings, but they are social documents, as well. They will be of special interest to students of social history, costumes and armoury and to those whose imagination will be captured by the nearly life-size portraits of real people, who are shown as they lived nearly six centuries ago.

The figures represent many kinds of medieval people: courtly gentlemen and ladies in their finery, clerics and lawyers in the attire of their office; professional soldiers peering out from their visors; housewives; and merchants and their families.

The largest Memorial Brass in this collection (40 inches wide by over 8 feet high) dates from the 14th century. It represents Sir John de la Pole in armour, holding hands with his wife, Joan. The brass was discovered 100 years ago hidden a foot below the church floor at Grishall, Essex.

This manifestation of popular art flourished in York, London, Ipswich, Norwich and Bristol. During the time that parallels the development of Gothic architecture, no less than 150,000 brasses were supplied by English craftsmen. More than 4000 English brasses still exist.

Mrs. Ivy Mason of Summerland, pressed these rubbings in England and made them available to the National Gallery of Canada, which is circulating the collection. The exhibition at S.F.U., under the auspices of the Centre for Communications and the Arts, will be the only one in the Vancouver area.

New Peachland residents welcomed

PEACHLAND—Over 70 persons attended the Newcomers Get-Acquainted Tea, twenty of those being newcomers who have resided here less than a year. Mrs. W. Duncan was the convener for the successful event.

Split decision among Trustees over underpass

School trustees were split in their opinion regarding an underpass under Jubilee Road which splits their north field and the present school property. Trustee Boothe felt, with proper supervision, it would be completely unnecessary.

Trustee Barkwill wanted a cost survey made, but Boothe and Trustee Miltmore were not interested in cost and agreed they should not waste 5c on a survey.

"Why put an underpass for grade 10's under a street where they go 30 miles per hour when the traffic goes 50 miles per hr. where Grade 1 students must cross", Miltmore said.

As a point of information Secretary Treasurer Jim Hack said the Municipal Council was in favor of an underpass.

Barkwill took exception to the attitude of Boothe and Miltmore because the grounds committee (McIntosh and Barkwill) were making a recommendation for a study. "And now the Board will not consider it" he said.

Boothe said he hadn't made any recommendations - only asked for a feasibility study.

It was pointed out they had brought it up at the July meeting and at that time the estimated cost guess was $2,500.

The motion by Barkwill and McIntosh was defeated by a tie vote. (A tie means a negative Bennest did not exercise his option to vote.)

Barkwill gave assurance it would come up again.

The Municipal Council has offered to bury the irrigation flume across the southern boundary of the Dunham property for a consideration of $3 thousand and the dedication of a 20 foot strip of land so they may join Amm Ave. to be widened and joined to Rand Street. The present above-ground flume prevents the road from going through now. This was accepted.

OTHER BOARD BUSINESS
Trustee McIntosh wanted to know who was responsible for the supervision of the school grounds.

According to board policy, the principals are responsible for the "plant" but this was not defined. The policy committee will go into it and report back at the next meeting.

Some concern was expressed as the condition of the new turf on the McDonald School grounds so Mr. Hack was asked to request Mr. John Cooke to inspect it.

School maintenance super-thing was going smoothly in his department. Two on his staff would be retiring January 1. They are Mrs. Ask and Mr. Willis.

He commended the "young people for the way they protected our property Halloween Night".

"I don't think we should commend them for not resorting to vandalism" McIntosh said.

The Canadian Union of Public Employees notified the Board they wish to open negotiations for a new contract.

The personnel committee consisting of Boothe and Miltmore will meet with them this week.

Jim Hack said the local maintenance staff were not aware that a new contract was being Mrs. Alice Boutltee, for medical reasons, tendered her resignation effective December 31 after teaching in the Secondary School for nine years.

She thanked the teachers, students and the board for their co-operation and was sorry she had to take this action.

It was accepted with regret, and advertisements have been placed in coast papers to fill her position.

The Okanagan Telephone Co. said they would install a pay phone in the Secondary School at a guarantee of 8.20 per month. This was approved, but the final decision was left to Principal John Tamblin.

The insurance brokers had made an inspection and complimented the board for their "fine housekeeping". This information will be passed on to Knuff.

Nine wires have been pulled out of the junction box feeding the sound system in the auditorium and gym in the Secondary School. It is not known who did it, but the board requested a report from Mr. Tamblin.

Trustees were concerned about the lack of interest in the annual ratepayers meetings. It is scheduled this year for Tuesday, Nov. 22 in the Secondary School Auditorium.

From memory, it was estimated there were less than 10 people attending last year that were not councillors, trustees, press or municipal or school employees who made themselves available to answer questions.

A "hot line" on the radio was considered where listeners would phone in asking questions of public officials. It was suggested the chairman's reports be published in the newspaper a week previous to the meeting so people may come out and ask questions about these reports.

It was thought possibly people were satisfied with receiving only the press coverage during the year, which they felt was very good. "As long as the paper gets the right headline on the right story" Jim Miltmore said, getting a friendly dig at this reported. (A misplaced headline appeared in the Review on Oct. 27, regarding teachers' salaries.)

The broad scope of regional college

By Keith Bergh

The principal of B.C.'s newest college, Selkirk at Castlegar, which opened in September of this year said their enrollment of 480 includes students from their teens to 70 years of age. Mr. Gordon Campbell said they have a mother and her son attending their college this year.

This he told the Regional College conference in Kelowna Saturday.

He said they have 273 adult students (over age 19), including 145 in the 31 to 35 age range and seven between 60 and 70.

He has been assured their students will receive the same recognition of transfer to UBC as any students coming from any other university in the province.

Dean S.N.F. Chant gave that same assurance in the case of the Okanagan Regional College.

Campbell expected their enrollment to double next year.

He said the college provides, in addition to a continuing education for secondary school students, a second chance for drop-outs.

He cited one case of a student in his twenties, who quit school at Grade 10 and embarked on a career of street fighting and drinking which resulted in a short jail term.

The young man decided this was not the way to go, so asked for an interview with college officials.

He was accepted under their probation system and in four out of five subjects he is enrolled in he is on the top of his class. "He has a new world

Ed Lloyd to attend Real Estate seminar

Real estate salesman, Ed Lloyd will attend a seminar sponsored by the Okanagan Mainline Real Estate Boards, Nov. 7-12, at the Banff School of Fine Arts.

To become eligible for the seminar, salesmen were given a sales quota of $100,000.00 to meet over the period from Jan. 1st to Sept. 30th.

Because only 80 salesman could take the course it was a case of those who qualified first got the opportunity to go. Lloyd qualified in June.

Among the subjects to be discussed at these sessions are: Real Estate Law, Organization and Administration, Sales training, Human Relations, Multiple Listings, Valuation and Mortgage financing. The Seminar is conducted at the Board's expense, as part of its continuing education program for members of the real estate

MacDonald School wins Southern Okanagan soccer tournament

The Southern Okanagan Elementary School Soccer Tournament was held in Osoyoos on Saturday, November 5. Competing were teams from Oliver, Osoyoos, Okanagan Falls, and MacDonald School of Summerland. The soccer Trophy won by MacDonald School was donated by the Penticton School Board in 1950.

Good sportsmanship was the order of the day. The teams were all evenly matched and after a close fight MacDonald School emerged the victor. Goal scorers for Summerland were: Bart Stevenson, Steven Potter and Kirk Roberge.

Juniors finish third in Valley finals

By Ron Kostelnik

In the Okanagan Valley Grass Hockey finals (Jr.s) Saturday at Penticton, our locals put up a good show and finished third ahead of Kamloops - but behind Winfield and Vernon. Winfield beat the locals 3-1 in the first game while Vernon was knocking off Kamloops. Nancy Barkwill scored the lone Summerland goal in the game.

In the big game Vernon beat Winfield while Summerland defeated Kamloops 2-0 to take third place. Nancy Barkwill scored both tallies in the second half to pace the victors. Donna Sharpe, playing against her old school, didn't let a shot get past her in the Summerland goal.

A big hand goes out to the girls and their coach, Miss Rhea, for representing Summerland so well all season long and in the playoffs. They should be proud of their showing.

Summerland Review — 3

Do not forget them...

'At the going of the sun, and in the morning, we will remember them'.

Just how true is that time honored message in this year of strife and conflict throughout too many parts of the world? How many of our citizens are paying lip service only, and how many really remember those who paid the supreme sacrifice in two world wars?

We are inclined to think year by year as we draw further away from the actual conflicts which took our loved ones, we are inclined to forget and ignore those who were once happy and carefree, one of our generation.

Too often only a handful of citizens "bother" to attend the annual Remembrance Day service which is held. "Lest We Forget"

And that applies to veterans of two wars besides those who were unable to take their stand in the armed services.

Remembrance Day, November 11, has a great and deep meaning. It is a day when old soldiers should pause and think of their buddies who they saw die before their eyes. It is a day when civilians should pause and think of friends who did not return.

It is not much to ask that you make just a little effort to attend the "Service of Remembrance" tomorrow. Be sincere in your attendance, realizing the sacrifice that was made on the part of so many so we may be free. So we may raise our families in peace and contentment, without totalitarian rule.

A quiet prayer of thanksgiving should be on the lips of everyone that morning.

"Let's set record straight" - College Council member

Editor, Summerland Review, Sir:

For some time now, the Okanagan Regional College Council has been content to sit back and not answer criticisms of its actions with regard to the site of the Okanagan Regional College, on the grounds that replying to such irresponsible statements as are being made by a Vernon minority group only dignifies the charges.

However, as the charges become less and less based on fact and more and more based on wild assumptions, I feel that I would like, personally, to set the record straight.

I would like to emphasize that I am speaking as an individual council member and not for the council as a whole, though I am sure that my sentiments are echoed by my fellow council members.

First of all, I would like to point out that the council is made up of responsible men and women from all parts of the valley, each of whom has an outstanding record of public service. The council and, in effect, these people have been charged with muddled thinking on the college issue and charged, indirectly, with being dupes of some land speculators who are involved in some weird and wonderful clandestine plot to profit from the development of land adjacent to the college.

The latter assertion is, apart from being downright libelous and insulting, so ridiculous as not to warrant any comment whatsoever.

College councillors have never, on the other hand, turned around and questioned the motives of the Vernon minority who are so bitterly opposing the college.

Surely these people are not opposed to education? Surely they are not against the young people of the Okanagan Valley having the same type of educational opportunities that are opening up to young people in all other parts of the province? Surely they are not opposed to the site just because it is near Kelowna?

Surely they are not so prejudiced as to not want the Indian Band to get a fair return for their land?

If this is not the basis of their opposition, then what is?

The lease of the 100 acres of land has been a major target of criticism, with particular criticism of the cost-of-living clause. This was inserted by the college to make sure that the Indians get full value for every rental dollar. The cost of living rises only relation to the depreciation of the purchasing power of the dollar. This clause means that 80 years from now the Indians will be getting the

IF REFERENDUM DEFEATED...

When asked how long it would be before we got a regional college if the vote was defeated, Dean Chant said we would wait for a long time. There are many other centres wanting regional colleges and it has become a competitive situation.

The panel was asked how married women could take advantage of college facilities if they wished to take night classes but lived too far from Kelowna to participate.

Mr. Walker said arrangements would have to be made to have instructions given at central locations.

WHY LAND LEASE?

One member of the audience said there is no other college in North America leasing land for their site and asked why this council decided to do this.

College Council member Aubrey Reed said there was nothing wrong with leasing land and said they had to do this to obtain the best possible site.

Panel Moderator Charles Bailey, Supervisor of Publications for the Vancouver School Board said "It becomes a matter of opinion and is six of one and a half dozen of the other. The site chosen is ideal."

He said leasing is very common in business and cited a few examples of large lumber firms doing this in Vancouver.

The panel was asked if the present site was still correct with Penticton voting out since the survey.

They were told the first survey was made before Penticton voted the college out and the second after, and both came to the same conclusion.

21 GUN SALUTE FOR 20 MILLION BOX APPLE CROP

Mini-skirted gunner Gemma Cowhig of Vancouver drops a "cannon ball" down the muzzle of this field gun in preparation for firing a "21-apple salute" to mark start of National Apple Week across Canada, November 14 to 26

With a total Canadian apple crop of 20-million bushels just harvested, thousands of boxes are being shipped around the world.

In B.C., apple pickers have just brought in a big crop approaching 8 - million bushel boxes. Highly prized B.C. apples are sold not only in every province from sea to sea in Canada, but in 40 different foreign countries as well.

same value for the rental dollar as they are today.

The Vernon group's charges that the cost of living is rising close to five per centum per year doesn't jibe with official Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures which show the average cost-of-living rise to be 2.572 per centum.

The argument that with Penticton out of the centre of population has changed is short-sighted and ludicrous. Already there is a ground-swell of public opinion in that city in favor of the college, and the college council has every reason to believe that Penticton will be in before very long.

As for the site of the college, the council has bent over backwards to please Vernon. When Vernon disagreed with the Macdonald report, the council brought in Dr. Frederic Giles of the University of Washington, an expert in community college development and establishment. Dr. Giles brought in geographers and other experts and they came up with basically the same findings as those contained in the Macdonald report.

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for providing me with this space in your paper.

Raise for Pensioners?

The main item on this week's agenda has been the continuing debate on National Defence. There has been a good deal of bitterness, and I feel that the best thing the Government can do is send the matter to Committee for a thorough examination. The Opposition is requesting this action because witnesses previously before the Committee have been asked by the Minister of National Defence to alter their evidence.

As the debate continues, an interesting question arises. This debate has arisen on what is termed "Interim Supply," — in other words, the Government is asking for money to cover current expenditures, and should the debate go on, it may well be that the money will not be voted. The Opposition Parties feel very strongly on the principle being enunciated and if the Opposition Parties feel strongly enough about the matter, somewhere along the line the Government will have to give way. One of the chief roles of the Opposition is to examine in detail all expenditures of the Government. In this respect, the Government must give satisfaction or else face the results.

The Government hasn't as yet made a concrete statement on national housing funds. I have been asking questions from time to time, and it would appear that the Government is trying to restrict the amount of credit put out via national housing. This has produced a serious repercussion in the building trades: housing starts are well down for the year, and in our expanding economy and growing country, this is not good enough. Many will remember the almost disastrous stoppage in house construction which occurred during the last previous tight money period in 1956-57.

It would now appear that the Government intends to raise Old Age Pensions. To date no one has been able to find out whether this will be by way of a means test.

Senior curlers plan season

The Senior Men's Curling Club started play on Wednesday for the winter season. At the Organizational Meeting held at the Rink, there were 40 members, making up 10 rinks. Games are on Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Questions Fired at college officials

By Keith Bergh

At the Saturday Conference of the Regional College in Kelowna, Dr. Frederic T. Giles, Washington State consultant for junior colleges, who conducted a survey for the Okanagan Regional College, said it must be located in the population centre of any given area to best serve the region.

In referring to the careful selection of a college site, he likened it to a sign on a dirt road he saw one time in North Dakota: "Choose your rut carefully because you are going to be in it for 100 miles."

He said he felt the decision to locate the college in Kelowna would stand the test of objective analysis.

"Our needs are ever changing, we must be adaptable to social and economic needs of the community," he noted. "We must design for today and be flexible for the needs of the future."

He said in the U. S. there have been many cases where colleges are voted in before the site, building plans or costs are found out.

During the question and answer period, it was asked why the B. C. government did not take over college capital and operating costs.

Dr. Bert Wales, Director of Adult Education, Vancouver said the situation is "delightfully vague" and that the provincial and federal governments may be in a state of change, but the present legislation call for 30 percent of capital costs to be borne locally and 80 percent of the operating. Unless legislation is changed, the situation remains.

College President Norman Walker said the local participation of capital costs would amount to $3,495,000.

He estimated the mill rate for capital costs would be .815 the first year, increasing to 1.515 the second and to 1.84 the third year.

He said when the institution became operational, these expenses would be less than one mill the first year and increase

Many reports at Chamber meeting

Twenty-six attend the November meeting of the Summerland Chamber of Commerce Thursday night. President Eric Tait received a letter from the Kamloops Chamber requesting support in their assertion that there were injustices in the Area Development Incentives Act. They are trying to have it revised.

The letter did not point out the injustices, but Tait said he replied saying Summerland is satisfied.

The Summerland Chamber will take out membership to the Okanagan Parks Council and support their campaign to preserve parkland.

A letter will go out to the Summerland Municipal Council, thanking them for a job well done in naming Summerland streets throughout the municipality.

Howard Pruden, who is in charge of getting a new Summerland brochure printed said work will go ahead in this regard this week. His committee have given some thought to also printing a map of Summerland. It will be ready in the new year.

Motorists are getting lost on our back roads. The Department of Highways will be contacted requesting directional signs.

Mr. Bernhardt said the government is making a complete study of the plan on the basis of more irrigation for the Okanagan district and this should be available anytime.

He said flood control, irrigation and general conservation was discussed. He said the north have adequate water while more may be needed in the south regions soon. Connecting the two water systems may balance things off.

Tourism was also discussed from the standpoint of how a connection would affect the industry.

He said the government study is along the lines of a pipeline rather than a canal.

Tait said a canal system would be out of the scope of the ARDA program while a pipeline would qualify.

Mr. Bernie Hume-Smith has been appointed to represent the Chamber at future meetings.

F. E. Atkinson, Managing Director of the Okanagan Regional Industrial Development Council said the program has resulted in an investment total of $9 million in the Okanagan to date.

He said the tight money policy has taken its toll because the lending institutions cannot make capital available.

He reviewed the program benefits briefly, but stressed the importance of taking advantage of the accelerated depreciation clause.

Any building, with the exception of residential, may take advantage of a straight line depreciation of 20 percent for five years for tax purposes. Construction must be completed by March 31, 1967.

He said the Okanagan has received two industries from Vancouver as a result of an Okanagan dinner they held in Vancouver last April. When asked how Summerland may benefit, Atkinson said there is no reason why Summerland can't get industry.

He said there is a $15 billion U.S. market for furniture component parts and suggested this is one area Summerland could investigate.

Jim Schaeffer said Summerland can benefit from Penticton industries and cited one case of a Summerland firm making "pockets" for a Penticton firm manufacturing laminated beams.

The next meeting, Dec. 7, will be the annual meeting where election of officers will take place. Chas. Bernhardt is chairman of the nominating committee.

Doug Hill announced a member of the Vernon City Council has offered to speak to any organization wishing them.

Ted Atkinson, Chairman of the Summerland College Committee made it clear where he stood on the college issue.

"We can continue to thrash this around forever", he said.

He pointed out two surveys had been made and both agreed on the present location and this should be accepted.

"We are fooling around with the lives of our young people," he said.

Hill did not state whether the Vernon alderman was for or against, but reminded Atkinson that that city council voted for the college in the first place.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

By Rev. J. R. Coughlan

Within the human mind God has instilled the ability to remember. We refer to it as our memory. Present happenings always make an impression, but with the passing of days these former experiences and events have a tendency to move to the background of our minds. They no longer excite us or move us as once they did, unless we can somehow live them over again by calling them to the forefront through means of remembrance.

This Friday we refer to as Remembrance Day. Years have passed since the last world war, when experiences were such that we thought soberly and seriously of life, took inventory of our own lives and were mindful of a true and living God who was our help in ages past and our hope for years to come. Remembrance Day is a means whereby we bring to the forefront the experiences of the former days of warfare. Allow such an occasion to solemnize you, humble you, make you thankful and appreciative, and above all, instill within you a nature that is God-honoring.

Remembrance Day is not only a review of the past but a guide for the future. REMEMBER—that "Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people." A safeguard for our nation is not wrapped up in armed personnel or weapons but in a God-given righteousness that is present in the lives of its people. We are as strong as we allow God to make us.

REMEMBER—that the cause of warfare is sin. Peace pacts and peace talks are not the answer. The root of the trouble must be dealt with. Sin which manifests itself in hatred, envy, jealousy, etc., must be removed. Until man has first made peace with God he will never be at peace for any length of time with his fellow-men.

When you accept Christ as a Saviour from sin, you not only benefit from a deep-settled peace, but that same peace through you affects your community, your country and your world.

Remember—that the God who has been our help in ages past is our only hope for the years to come.

Pollution Control Council Continue with Problem

By KEITH BERGH

Kelowna Alderman Jack Bedford, chairman of the Okanagan Watershed Pollution Control Council said at a Summerland meeting of that group, there has been satisfactory progress enjoyed by the organization, now 1½ years old.

"Studies have been made, tests have been taken" he said, "now we can get on with the business of trying to find ways of removing pollution from lakes."

He said it was time the press should be invited. "We want the news media to know all about it."

Penticton Alderman Douglas Stuart was moved up from vice-chairman to chairman and Alex Gough, Oliver, is the new vice-chairman.

On the board will be representatives from each municipal city and they will ask the provincial government to have District Horticulturalist F. Morton of Kelowna and C. H. Brownlee, soils division, Department of Agriculture appointed to the board in an advisory capacity.

District Engineer, R. J. Talbert, Water Rights Branch, Kelowna had served on the board but was asked by his provincial department to resign because it interfered with his regular work.

This meeting decided to contact the Water Rights Branch, asking that this action be reconsidered.

The Technical Committee consists of Dr. D. MacGregor, Dr. D. A. Clark, J. F. Brown, D. G. Jabour, and Dr. M. Smart.

To combat pollution of Skaha Lake from the outflow of effluent, Penticton is experimenting with new plans and hope to dispose of their effluent other than in the river channel by March of next year, Alderman Stuart reported.

They are investigating the possibility of diverting the liquid and using it for irrigation of fodder crops. He said they have had an offer from a private individual for the disposal of the entire effluent.

It is their hope they will be able to do this for ten months of the year.

Disposal wastes from the new winery will not go into their city disposal system.

The solids will be screened off and hauled away and the liquid will be pre-treated and placed in a deep well disposal unit with a gravel and rock base. Stuart said this is being done in an experimental basis.

Kelowna City Engineer E.F. Lawrence gave a detailed report of a Pacific Northwest Pollution Control Association convention in Portland last month.

He was sorry to say there were no B.C. government representatives there, but all the states of the U.S. were represented.

He said the U.S. has proper legislation to combat pollution and suggested we learn from their studies and not duplicate all this work. He said this information is available, "we are behind", he added.

Lawrence said there is a federal fund presently at $3 million, available to be used to study pollution problems and suggested the association make use of this.

It was suggested this be used for any sprinkling irrigation project. Those with sewage disposal plants are Penticton, Kelowna, Vernon and Oliver. They may ask for joint assistance.

C. H. Brownlee, soils division Dept. of Agriculture, warned sprinkling effluent on land could cause a change in the soil properties under certain conditions.

Alderman Stuart had information that sprinkling with liquid at 64 degrees results in better germination in plants.

Dr. MacGregor who was in charge of tests of waste going into the lake last year said they had received valuable information, and for financial reasons, possibly this should be discontinued for a year or two so they could carry on other work. He didn't feel there would be any significant change unless there was a substantial population increase.

The provincial government is conducting tests through the Health Unit of lake water throughout the Okanagan.

Dr. D. A. Clark, Director, South Okanagan Health Unit, said we are in need of trade waste bylaws — "but who is to police them?"

He said the Health Unit is in need of a chemist "whom we could keep busy 24 hours a day."

"The secret of the success of any project is continual monitoring", he said in support of continuing last year's program.

Dr. Clark requested support of the council in their effort to include legislation that no sewage disposal units be closer than 100 feet from any lake. He said the act has not been revised since 1917.

Regional Librarian W. P. Lofts introduced Dr. Ronald Hagler of the U.B.C. School of Librarianship and Editor of the Vainstein Report as guest speaker.

In his keynote address Dr. Hagler took as his theme "A little learning is a dangerous thing". More learning was needed and libraries were the basic means of satisfying this need, he said. Libraries are for individuals and individuals are, by definition, widely different in tastes and attitudes. The library service reflects these differences and must be correspondingly vast in scope.

It is these individuals who comprise our communities, said Dr. Hagler, and their separately developed intellects are of priceless benefit to the community. There is a hunger for books and this can only be satisfied by people themselves through co-operative efforts and willingness to pay for quality.

"Co-operation on the local and provincial level is the crux of the Vainstein Report" said Dr. Hagler.

A good service can only be provided if the community desires it. Librarians need help from their readers so that the community's demands are expressed. On their return home delegates were asked to re-examine their local libraries. Said Dr. Hagler: "Don't be satisfied with what you have — it just isn't enough".

Valley representatives attended groups to discuss Dr. Hagler's address and the full implications of the recommendations of the Vainstein Report.

Among the many items discussed by delegates were the minimum standards recommended in Miss Vainstein's report, many of which were far from being equalled by the existing library services. Although books are basic to any library, it was learned that in the Regional Library, for example, the total number available to readers was little over half the recommended minimum standard.

Included in the resolutions formulated was a call upon the Provincial Government for the institution of a scheme of cost-sharing construction grants for the establishment of new buildings.

A further resolution concerned the foundation of an Okanagan Library Council, with members representing school and special libraries in the Valley as well as the Regional Library and the College library when the latter is established. This would provide a practical essay of what Dr. Hagler had earlier called the crux of the Vainstein Report: co-operation.

Delegates attending the seminar from Oliver were Mr. F. Venables, School Board Chairman; and Mr. R. W. Sladen, Secretary-Treasurer of School District No. 14.

Provincial cost-sharing grants asked for Library construction

More than fifty delegates representing communities and educational institutions in an area extending from Kamloops and Revelstoke southwards to Greenwood and Grand Forks met in Kelowna last week to discuss local library services.

Basis for the seminar was the recently published Vainstein Report on the future of public libraries in British Columbia.

Delegates were welcomed by Mrs. G. Y. French, vice-chairman of the Okanagan Regional Library Board.

Mr. R. Ferguson, B.C. Public Library Commissioner, stressing the importance of the Report, saw the meeting as a means of strengthening the hand of the Public Library Commission in Victoria.

Regional Librarian W. P. Lofts introduced Dr. Ronald Hagler of the U.B.C. School of Librarianship and Editor of the Vainstein Report as guest speaker.

In his keynote address Dr. Hagler took as his theme "A little learning is a dangerous thing". More learning was needed and libraries were the basic means of satisfying this need, he said. Libraries are for individuals and individuals are,

College to meet modern demands

By Keith Bergh

Over 400 registered at the Kelowna Secondary School Saturday, to attend an all day Okanagan Regional College conference. Most of the day was taken up with talks by educators interested in the development of regional colleges throughout the country.

The keynote address was given by Dean S. N. F. Chant, who is best known as chairman of the Royal Commission on Education for B.C. which produced the Chant report and set the stage for regional colleges in the province.

means for meeting this problem by bringing together the broad fields of knowledge and specialized training in technical areas.

"Any delay in the establishment of this college will be

"Those who are responsible for directing the development of this college will fashion it to meet the needs of the region and for these times", Chant said. "It is designed to meet the educational needs of young people who twenty years from now will be at the peak of their careers and who will be taking over the control of the most important, economic, cultural, political and community affairs of our province and of our nation."

He said the primary purpose of the college is to enable young people to continue their education after graduation from secondary school and it will also provide the opportunity for people engaged in many walks of life to update their capabilities and skills in order to retain their employment status in a rapidly changing world.

"More than ever before, people will find it necessary to keep on learning — no longer can any enterprising person consider that his education ends when he finishes school or university," Chant noted.

"We must not be held back by those who want to retain outdated ways or who are unwilling to give their support to educational progress."

The Federal government manpower studies have pointed out that we can no longer look to other countries as we have in the past as a source of qualified manpower. We must meet this demand and regional colleges are our most modern detrimental to the welfare of the young people of the region. Time is running out for many of your young people and they are the ones who will suffer if the development of the college is delayed. Can you permit them to suffer the disadvantage of being unprepared to meet the challenge of the future?" he concluded.

Summerland to host Witness convention

From 800 to 1,000 visitors will be on hand this weekend in Summerland when the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses play host to their regular semi-annual convention.

Family groups will be traveling from Grand Forks and Princeton in the south and from Vernon and Lumby in the north.

Mr. L. Samaur, recently arrived from Quebec, will be delivering the main address: "Satisfying Mankind's Greatest Need" on Sunday, Nov. 13, at 3 p.m.

Summerland resident E. Felker of Hilborn Road, who is Assistant Convention Manager said, "This will mark the first time that we will be showing two separate films at such a convention. One will be a half-hour film on the problems of youth in the world today—and how to effectively cope with those problems, while the other will be a two-hour film on the subject 'God Cannot Lie'."

Several from the Summerland congregation will be sharing in arranging for the various 21 departments to function successfully. In addition to Mr. Felker, Bob Langstroth of Victoria Road will head up the cafeteria department, while Hans Sellinger of Parkdale will look after the installation of equipment and furnishings prior to the assembly.

Jack Prior of Prairie Valley Road will organize a small orchestra to play music at the assembly from a new 119-song Songbook that the Witnesses received this year and which they use exclusively. Mr. Felker also named Carl Littau and Glen Woitte as others from Summerland who would share in organizing for a successful convention.

"Preparations are well along now, and it usually takes only a matter of a few hours for us to set up on the evening the convention begins. We have become very efficient at this method, since most of our local conventions are held in schools and we generally have to wait until after school is out for the weekend before we move in," stated Mr. Felker.

The assembly, the first one in Summerland after several years, will run from November 11 to 13 in the Summerland Secondary School on Main St.

Curriculum choice is for reaching

Mr. Gordon R. Selman, executive assistant to the UBC President told the Regional College conference in Kelowna Saturday, the curriculum will meet the needs of the region. Their general education but do not, at the present, wish to transfer to another institution must be flexible as possible because they may change their mind and wish to go on.

"As with all comprehensive community-based adult education programs, the activities would fall into at least four categories," Selman said. "Those related to man as worker; those related to man as citizen and community member; those related to family life and other personal relationship and those related to personal development and fulfillment— what we sometimes refer to as liberal education. The potential curriculum in this field will range as broadly as man's interests — from accounting to astronomy and from parenthood to politics."

In conclusion he said, "We seek a regional college with a broad community-based curriculum serving young and old and meeting the educational needs at the post-secondary level of a large number of our citizens."

Mel Greenway finds scorpion

Mel Greenway got more than potatoes when he brought some up from the basement this week. Shortly after setting the potatoes and containers on the kitchen floor, the Greenways saw a scorpion crawling on the floor.

They are from the spider class and have front legs equipped with a pair of pincers and the tip of their tail has a poisonous sting. This one will measure from the front legs to the tip of its tail over twenty inches.

Alex Watt, district horticulturist said this was only the second one seen in this area, and oldtimers have said they did not know there were any in this part of the country. They are normally found in tropical countries.

The scorpion will be at the Review office safely in a jar until Monday when it will be on display at the secondary school.

Fall wedding at St. Stephen's

Baskets of chrysanthemums decorated St. Stephen's Anglican Church on the evening of October 12th at the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Margret Anne Ringstad and Sydney Richard Adams. Rev. N. Tannar officiated.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Ringstad, Summerland, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Adams of Vancouver, B.C.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The skirt of her gown was fashioned in tiers of nylon net and lace, the fullness accentuated by a hooped crinoline. The fitted bodice was styled with a sweetheart neckline. Her illusion net veil was held in place by a coronet edged with a string of pearls and studded with mother of pearl sequins. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Miss Ann Downton was maid of honor and Miss Linda Bell was bridesmaid. Their formal length gowns were of jade green taffeta and lace. Their flowers were yellow and white mums. Headdresses were of jade net, held by pale yellow rosebuds.

The best man was Alan Dickson of Vanderhoof, brother-in-law of the groom, and the usher was Dick Dunsdon, cousin of the bride.

For the reception, for family and very close friends, held at the Rosedale Room, which was beautifully decorated by the bride's uncle and aunts and the groom's sisters.

The bride's mother received, wearing a teal blue wool suit, with rose pink velvet hat and pink gloves. Her corsage was pink carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a pale blue knitted suit and ribbon hat, and a corsage of pink carnations.

The master of ceremonies was Steve Dunsdon, uncle of the bride.

Several telegrams from well-wishers were received, including one from the bride's cousin in Trail and one from the groom's sister in Vanderhoof.

Following a delicious lunch prepared by aunts of the bride, a delightful evening of dancing was enjoyed. The music was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Reid.

Before leaving on a honeymoon trip through the Interior,

This weekend Ted Palmer will be among the many from the Okanagan who will be in Summerland to attend the semi-annual assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses.

In looking forward to the convention Ted said, "The highlight of the convention will be two free films. One entitled 'Heritage' with emphasis on the need of a close family relationship and how to achieve it in a world that is seeing the family disintegrate as a cohesive, well balanced unit, and the other 'God Cannot Lie'—based on a book already distributed in millions of copies around the world."

The Summerland Boy Scouts were so was the Silver Cross Mother at the Remembrance Day Service in Summerland The Scout, saluting in remembrance of those who fell while serving their country. The mother this year is Mrs. Alf McLachlan who lost a son during World War II. It was a fine bright day and the turnout was one of the best in memory according to one Legion official. Mrs. McLachlan's escort Parade Marshall Steve Dunsdon looks on.

Unorganized areas to select district representatives

Voters in rural unorganized areas will have an opportunity for the first time on December 10 to vote for Directors in each of eight areas of the newly constituted Regional District of Okanagan-Similkameen.

Nominations for the Pentiction West Bench and rural areas around Summerland Electoral Area "F" (Okanagan Lake West - West Bench) — will be accepted at either the Regional District Office in Pentiction, or the Municipal Office in Summerland. The deadline for nominations is 12 noon Monday, November 28, and polls, if necessary, will be opened on Dec. 10 at the West Bench Elementary School and the Municipal Office in Summerland.

Mrs. Florence Crompton of Pentiction is Returning Officer, while Gordon Smith, Municipal Clerk for Summerland, has been appointed Deputy Returning Officer for Electoral Area "F" only.

The Municipal Council of Summerland appoints one of its own members as a representative to the Board, while Electoral Area "F" will also elect one member to the Board which comprises a total of 15 members.

Voting rights on the Board are based on a unit population of 1,400 or portion thereof represented, with the District of Summerland having four votes and Electoral Area "F" having one vote. On any item of business considered by the Board, a total of 30 votes may be registered.

The Regional Board is empowered to, exercise, within the unorganized areas of its jurisdiction, all the powers in respect of community and regional planning granted in the 'Municipal Act' to incorporated municipalities. They also have the power to carry out local improvements in the hitherto unorganized territory of the District at the request of local areas. As a result local government benefits and services will, over the next few years, be provided in these areas for the first time. Since costs of these services will also be incurred by local property-owners, it is important that all areas of the District secure the most effective representation possible on the Board. All eligible owners and resident-electors are therefore urged to consider the nomination of suitable candidates in their areas and to register their votes on election day in areas where a poll is held.

Voters' lists are those compiled for the election of school trustees as revised to comply with the more limited boundaries of the various electoral areas. These lists are posted at the Regional District Office in Pentiction and at the Municipal Office in Summerland.

Furniture manufacturing firm established in Summerland

The latest firm to establish in Summerland is D & M Furniture on Victoria Road.

Dave Nelson, and his wife Margaret are operating the business — but they are not going to be spending all there because they are ardent bridge enthusiasts. They couldn't have moved to a better place.

They will custom build furniture, repair furniture and do general upholstery work. During the past year, they have lived in Terrace, but much of the time they were traveling before settling down in Summerland.

Mr. Nelson learned his trade years ago in Montreal where he worked a small factory into a large operation. He got the call of the west and went to Vancouver first and later to Bridge River Valley. All this time he was in the furniture manufacturing business.

Many gather at Peachland Cenotaph on Remembrance day

By Brenda Davies
A good representation gathered at the Peachland Cenotaph Friday morning for the Remembrance Day Services. Dr. R.D. Mitchell, United Church Minister, gave a short address.

J. G. Sanderson was parade marshal; A. Kopp and C. Barnard, Westbank, standard bearers and R. Oatman, bugler. Wreaths were laid by J. Fairley, Princeton, Zone Commander, South Okanagan and Similkameen; J. R. Davies, Legion president; Mrs. E. Chisholm, Auxiliary president; Reeve Harold Thwaites; Mrs. L. B. Fulks, Women's Institute; Mrs. A. Moore, United Church Women; Mrs. A. Kopp, president of St. Margaret's Anglican W. A.; Marina Davies, mayor of Teon Town, and Louise MacNeill, George Pringle Secondary School Students Council. After the service a social hour, was held in the Legion Hall. Poppies were also placed on veterans' graves.

Fine line between cutting trees in the park or not Bob Barkwill attended the Tuesday council meeting representing the Summerland Scouts, to discuss the cutting of Christmas Trees on Giant's Head Park. It was decided last week that no flowers be picked or trees cut in the park.

Barkwill said Sandy Fenwick, another Scout official, reported that the proposed park border cuts through a gully on the James Lake side of the mountain, where there are plenty of Christmas trees.

Cutting Christmas trees is an annual project of Boy Scouts and has proved to be their main source of income in past years.

Barkwill said they cut the trees in such a manner that they continue to grow from the stump and didn't feel tree cutting in this area would in any way affect the appearance of the park.

The Summerland Horticultural Society and the Centennial Committee requested the cutting of trees cease on Giant's Head Mountain because the society is in the process of planting trees and saw little use in doing this if the cutting program was to continue.

It was discussed that they move the park boundary slightly to allow scouts to get trees, but Councillor Schaeffer was not convinced on the idea until they went out and had a look.

"We are dealing with two associations here", Schaeffer said, "one says do and one don't."

Powell said it may be fine if controlled cutting is done in that particular area, but he was not familiar with the exact spot.

"Our boundary has been established," he said, "if cutting trees is detrimental (to the park) don't change it, but I think we should arrange it if possible."

The park boundaries have been established by council, but they have not been officially designated.

Councillors Schaeffer, Powell, Superintendent Blagborne and Bob Barkwill will inspect the location in question Friday.

Schaeffer praised the works department for work on Giant's Head Park road. "The difference is fabulous," he observed.

Municipal crews are dressing down the banks, generally cleaning up the side of the road, making it ready for re-seeding.

Schaeffer also complimented the Kiwanis club on progress they're making with a walking trail from the park to the summit. "I could still talk when I got up there," he added.

"It must be good if you didn't run out of breath," Hill said in good humour.

Mr. Snow of the Horticultural Society was there planting grass at the park site at the time of the tour of inspection.

A request from Mrs. C. O. Matson for a street light at Oak and Randall was referred to next year's budget.

A letter was written to West Kootenay Power to ask why there was a power failure during the afternoon of Oct. 14.

In answer, they said there was a ground fault at one of the generator stations and it took some time to bring power in from the north supply. They said the new line from Pentiction to Kelowna would mean better service for Summerland.

The Kinsmen Club was authorized to carry on a peanut drive on the evening of Dec. 7 and 8.

The power rate for Tyac Box Ltd. was reduced from 150 hp to 75 hp subject to revision at any time, due to their seasonal work.

Municipal clerk Gordon Smith said tax collection had been the best in six years. On Oct. 17, the day before the penalty was added, they had collected 98.95 per cent of municipal taxes.

Assessor Joe Sheeley was present to answer why L. A. Johnson had been charged taxes on his house for the 1966

LARRY DENT RECEIVES ALBERTA SCHOLARSHIPS
Among scholarship winners at the annual awards day of the Southern Alberta Institute of Technology, Calgary, Nov. 16 was 21-year-old Larry Dent.

Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Dent of Trout Creek and received his secondary education to Grade 12 in Pentiction and also attended Grade 13 at Pentiction before enrolling in a course in electrical refrigeration and air conditioning installation and repair.

Sheeley admitted he was negligent in this case and will file a report of any fire in the future. (He was on holidays at the time.)

Reeve Holmes said there was no excuse for not knowing when the Fire Marshall is right here in town and suggested he inquire every month. "I wouldn't feel half as bad if we could compensate him," Holmes said, "but nothing can be done."

He suggested Mr. Sheeley check with Municipal Solicitor Frank Haar in the morning. "If there is any way possible for us to refund the money, we should," he added.

This is the first such incident since Mr. Sheeley has been the municipal assessor.

Johnson also lost the home owner's grant because of not living in the home.

Churches, church grounds and parking areas were exempted from taxes as well as the Athletic Club, Rink Association and Curling Club by-laws.

Other clubs and organizations owning or leasing land or buildings in the municipalities were discussed that may come in the same category, but it was decided that those who were not exempt of taxes were being compensated in other ways with grants. Others were rental situations or they operated as a business.

Temperature reached 72

Seventy-two degrees was reached during October according to the Summerland Research Station's monthly climatological report.

It was reached on October 5 and the low was on the 31st when the thermometer dipped to the freezing mark, 32 degrees.

The mean maximum was 56.38, mean minimum 41 with an overall average of 48.70.

Summerland and Oliver clubs to observe 'Foundation Week'

The Rotary Club of Summerland will join more than 12,500 other Rotary Clubs in 133 countries in this week's world-wide observance on "The Rotary Foundation Week," November 13 to 19. This year's celebration marks the beginning of a year-long observance by Rotary clubs everywhere of the 50th anniversary of The Rotary Foundation, according to club president Keith Marten.

The objective of the Foundation is to further understanding and friendly relations between peoples of different nations. Supported by contributions from Rotary clubs and Rotarians around the world, the Foundation received more than $1 million last year.

Since 1947, when a program for graduate study abroad was begun, the Rotary Foundation has awarded 2,300 Rotary Fellowships at a cost of more than $6 million. Recent awards for the 1967-68 academic year totalled more than 160 and represented $500,000 in Fellowships.

To enlarge its work in the field of international relations, the Foundation recently added two activities to its program: Awards for Technical Training to enable young men to improve their skills by studying in another country, and Group Study Exchanges of teams of young business and professional men between different countries. President Keath Marten reports that more than 450 persons throughout the Rotary world receive awards each year. Summerland Rotarians will celebrate the "Week" at their meeting Friday, Nov. 18 at Sumac Golf Club with a get-together with the Oliver Rotary Club. Past District Governor John Coe, Pentiction will explain the Rotary Foundation program at this meeting.

30,000 miles in efforts to establish Regional College

A letter came to the Oliver post office one day, not long ago, addressed simply to "Mr. Oliver", Oliver, B.C.

Without hesitation, the mail sorters sent it along to Frank Venables.

"Sure enough," Mr. Venables recalls, "it was for me."

If anyone has earned the title of "Mr. Oliver" over the years, it is energetic Frank Venables who is now capping a long career as a school trustee by being one of the prime figures in the organization of the Okanagan Regional College.

As chairman of the college council, Mr. Venables estimates that he has travelled 30,000 miles up and down the valley and back and forth from Victoria on college business. "I have been to as many as four meetings a week in Kelowna," he recalls. "I'm getting to know the highway as well as my own driveway."

Mr. Venables, who has been a school trustee for going on 38 years, the last 28 of them as Chairman of Southern Okanagan School Board, believes that the establishment of the college will be the most important educational advancement seen in the valley in many years.

"I'm worried that in the arguments over the site and in the delays in getting the college under way, the people who are suffering most are those young people of the valley who should be going on to some form of higher education, but who do not have the money or the inclination to go to the coast to complete their education," he says.

"And too often those who do go to the coast never return to the valley. We are losing many of our finest young people."

"The Okanagan Regional College will offer them advanced training and education that will fit them into jobs in the valley, thus ensuring that many will stay on here."

Mr. Venables says college president Norman Walker is now hard at work preparing final figures on costs in preparation for the referendum, which is to go before voters this December.

Mr. Venables, who settled in Oliver 46 years ago, and who is a former president of the B.C. School Trustees' Association and the Canadian School Trustees Association, says that in his 38 years on the school board he has only missed three meetings "and for two of those meetings I was out of town on official school board meetings."

INTEGRATION
He counts as one of his greatest achievements as a trustee his efforts in integrating Indian children into public schools in the district.

He says he became concerned when the school on the Indian reserve six miles out of Oliver had trouble keeping a teacher. "The kids just weren't getting any schooling," he says. "One day I decided to take the bull by the horns. I drove out to the reserve, knocked on the doors of a few of the homes and asked the mothers if they wanted to send their children to the Oliver elementary school."

"I got permission from one mother and I took the children. I transported them myself for a week. Gradually more parents decided to send their children and members of the Rotary Club and the PTA joined in to help with the transportation.

"Next the Indian Affairs department supplied a taxi. Today we have a 36-passenger bus to transport the Indian children and it is full!"

REPRESENTS SANTA CLAUS

Mr. Venables also gets tremendous satisfaction out of his role as Santa Claus each Christmas in Oliver. "I have been Santa Claus to Oliver children as long as I can remember," he says.

"I know all of the children in Oliver so well that they all call me Frank, but they don't say it in a smart-alecky way."

SIMPLE PHILOSOPHY

Mr. Venables' philosophy in life is simple: "You have got to do something for others, otherwise there is no point in being in this world."

Mr. Venables and his wife Vera have two sons — Bob in Oliver and Norman in Grand Forks, and two daughters, Mrs. John Moore; Oliver, and Mrs. Vera Minge, Merritt. He has 17 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

I only hope that by the time all of my grandchildren are ready to go on to a higher education, that the Okanagan Regional College will be a flourishing institution that offers them and all young people of the district the same educational opportunity as children in other parts of the province," he says.

Under The Giant's Head

They were all smart enough to know it wasn't twenty inches, too. I hope it was an INTENTIONAL mistake in our back shop or I will no doubt be swamped with company staff to see the four-pound flon and the blue and pink Irish Setter in his brand new boach outfit.

Say, how about that Summerland senior basketball team! They almost took Pentiction the other night. The score was 65 to 64. This was their first time out in serious competition — and it was serious. Keep it up boys.

How dare those airline mechanics go on strike! There are no times when it pays to be an editor, and I thought this was one of them. A number of weekly editors, including me, were supposed to go to Montreal for a briefing and a tour of Expo 67 on November 24th but no doubt the majority of them were planning to use that strike-bound airline so it is a good bet it will be postponed — I hope not cancelled.

Who said there was security in working for the federal government? The civil servants almost didn't get paid last week-end — in fact some of them didn't, I understand. Ok, so they are secure — but you will now have to admit they are slow to pay. They are also like a bunch of school kids fighting for positions on the football team. . . . Only one difference — any school worth its salt has a couple of quarterbacks.

CMHC inspections can't guarantee

All homes built under the National Housing Act are inspected during construction to see that the materials are of acceptable quality and that the construction itself is sound. The owner of the house under construction may think that as a federal government official the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation inspector is checking the building to protect the home owner's interests. The inspector is first of all making sure the building, when completed, will be a good security for the money lent on the property.

Though CMHC's first concern is to protect the investment guaranteed by the Canadian government, it goes without saying that these inspections afford a degree of protection to the home owner as well. However, CMHC could not be expected to make full architectural inspections for the purchaser. If the home owner wishes to have an additional inspection he should arrange to have this done by some other qualified person.

The best guarantee of a well built house is, of course, choosing a reputable builder. No amount of inspection will give you the same satisfaction and peace of mind as knowing that a conscientious builder is doing the work on your house. The builder who's aim is to build a good house realizes that CMHC inspections serve this same purpose and welcomes the visit of the CMHC inspector.

Library News

By KAY DUNSDON

The Library has been extra busy these last few days welcoming back friends who have been busy all fall picking fruit and getting it stored and canned. Now they can read, and numerous new books are ready for winter reading.

A few new books are mentioned here. "The Night of Camp David" by Fletcher Knebel is a well written story which holds our interest all through. It is set in Washington with political intrigue and secret agents. "The Kings Between" by David Martin is also of espionage in which a King of a small eastern state must choose to pay allegiance to China or America. His beautiful French wife is also plotting. An other eastern setting is "Indo" by Emily Hahn, also mystery and spying and tells the story of a Dutch orphan who is convinced her mother was Mata Hari, the glamorous secret agent.

"Storm Tide" by Allan R. Bosworth, is set in the time of steam whaling ships and is a good adventure of the sea with an unusual love story. The author is a former captain in the American Navy.

"Tremor of Intent" by Anthony Burgess is a very modern and sophisticated novel of secret agents and Russian espionage. "The Nephew" is a very readable tale of a small town, with good character outlines and tell of Cliff, the nephew believed missing in Korea, but the secrets which come out when he is officially registered as dead are surprising, by James Purdy.

"Fall Girl" is a light, amusing tale of a young Australian growling cougar

While hunting in the Snow Mountain area Friday, Don Tait of Trout Creek had a close call. While inspecting the carcass of a deer, he heard a hissing and growling noise, looking up, he saw a cougar in brush close by. He downed the cranky cat with a single shot, as it darted out of the brush towards him.

The cougar weighed between 85 and 90 lbs., and measured 6 ft. from nose to the tip of his tail.

Reeve Thwaite says, hold local spending to minimum

By Brenda Davies

The Peachland Municipal Council discussed their provincial budget for 1967, and a copy was provided each Councillor for study.

Reeve Thwaite said there would be an increase in mill rate for debenture payments of at least two mills, but said the council should hold the line on general purpose at 15 mills.

The rate for school purposes has not been determined and they are aware of a possible increase for the Regional College.

The annual ratepayers' stewardship meeting will be held Friday, Dec. 2, 8 p.m. in the Municipal Hall.

Nomination day for two council seats up for election this year, is Nov. 28. Municipal elections, if necessary, will be held Saturday, Dec. 10 with the polling station at the Municipal Hall. Appointed as returning officer for the election is H.C. McNeill with Mrs. C. W. Burns assistant.

The Water Rights Branch asked council's intentions regarding the water rights now held on Trepanier Creek. Council intends to retain the rights, at the present time.

Re-approval was given to survey plans submitted by the Irrigation District.

Municipal clerk H. C. McNeill informed council that 91 per cent of municipal taxes for 1966 have now been paid.

The Centennial gavel ceremonies in Peachland will be on April 18, 1967 and will be passed on to Kelowna the same day.

He asked council if he could purchase water from the municipality and hauled by the water truck. The property is outside the municipality so council decided to do this but with a small increase over the regular price.

Summerland Review — 3

NOT A HAPPY SITUATION

Citizens of Summerland will have an opportunity to air their views or ask questions of Municipal Councillors and School Trustees on Tuesday, November 23. There will be a ratepayers meeting in the Secondary School Auditorium.

If last year is any indication, one of the classrooms would provide ample room for all that will attend.

This situation is not only peculiar to Summerland.

We attended one meeting when this reporter was the only one in the audience, so had to take over as chairman. The council went through their reports, as they are legally bound to do in Alberta, to an empty hall. It is possibly the only annual meeting of a town that turned out to be an exclusive press interview.

This is a disgrace. This is unthinkable. Are people not interested enough to come out and hear what has been done during the past year and what the plans are for the future?

Our local governments can be termed as the last stand of true democracy. It is a government that is very close to the people. The people you put into office are your neighbors - people you can talk to. There isn't a lot of red tape to go through to see them - you won't be shunted from department to department to get your information - you can have it right now.

Contrary to public opinion, these men in office welcome criticism. They want you to get out and let them know what your feelings are on any phase of local government.

Are you happy with road building, street naming, irrigation system, domestic water system, the parks department, beaches, expansion, town planning, downtown parking, signs, garbage collection, street lighting, public relations, service at the town office, finances, mill rate, regional district fire department, welfare, police, regional college?

And as far as the school is concerned, are you satisfied with the 1966 building programs? Did we get our moneys worth? Are you happy with the school bus service, the program of studies, teaching staff, recreational programs, social activities, general attitude of teachers and school board?

Surely one or two of these questions will prompt you to get mad or glad enough to get out and attend this meeting.

The school board and council have been entrusted to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars - your dollars - you are paying the shot - you can have a voice.

Here is your opportunity to get on your feet to praise or glaze your elected officials.

School Chairman John Bennest, Trustee McIntosh and Miltmore have served their terms of office as have Councillors Barkwill and Powell.

We assume they will all run for office again in the December 10 elections so here is your chance to ask them questions to see if they warrant your support.

As we said, poor attendance at annual meetings is not only peculiar to Summerland but this doesn't mean we should conform to the trend.

Summerland people are proud of what we have here - now show you are interested by attending the annual meeting on Tuesday night.

Jehovah's Witnesses pack local school auditorium

Attendance figures reached 1154 over the weekend at the three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Senior Secondary School Auditorium. Many local residents were present Sunday as the principal speaker, Mr. L. Saumur, formerly of Quebec introduced his main discourse.

He mentioned such things as: civil rights, good family relations, peace and health among the many needs of mankind today. He continued, throughout history, sincere attempts have been made but these good efforts have not satisfied mankind's needs. In fact, evidence around us proves it to be beyond the control of man to remedy. But there is a solution, Jehovah God has promised that in our generation he will usher in a new system of things that will satisfy mankind's greatest needs.

Ervin Felker, local presiding minister, spoke with enthusiasm of the film shown Saturday evening "God Cannot Lie", and quoted the commentator as saying, "Let God's word shape your life, influence your daily activities, govern your decisions, and mold your outlook for the future".

Mr. Felker also stated, "The members of the local congregation are very happy to have been hosts to the largest convention ever held in Summerland".

The evening of Nov. 9th was windy and sleety so we postponed our compass ramble. Instead we spent the time indoors and planned our ramble for the following meeting.

Roc Marten and Murray Witke were invested into Cubs and were awarded their Tenderpad Badges. Murray was also awarded his Swimmers Badge - green stage. Terry Sawatzky completed the tests for the Law and the Porcise. This completes his Tenderpad badge tests and he will be invested as soon as he has his uniform. Now all our new Cubs have completed their Tenderpad tests. Michael Prokopenko turned in a spool tractor for his working model for the Tawny Star Billy Killick turned in his compass card for the Green Star.

A centennial flash has been designed for the Centennial. It may be worn by all members of Scouts who are members up to the end of 1967. Although it is issued only for the centennial year it may be worn by those entitled to it as long as they are in Scouts. It is worn below the Boy Scouts - Canada or Wolf Cubs - Canada Flash and immediately above the B.C. Provincial Patch. The Centennial Flash was issued to all Pack members at the Nov. 9th meeting.

Again in the Six competitions, the Sixes are running neck and neck. The scores are 62 each. This year neither Six has been able to get out ahead.

FROM OUR FILES ...

50 Years Ago

John McDougald spent last weekend with relatives here.

Mr. J. Thompson has returned from a visit of some duration, having left in the early fall.

Coyotes are unusually plentiful and are coming right in among the houses, and of course never miss a chance to take a chicken or a whole flock of them. This morning, Mr. W.M. Wright, when driving home from Garnett Valley, shot one and missed another.

By a fire, the origin of which is a mystery, Mr. Nuttal had the misfortune to lose his tent house, and practically all his clothing, besides $30.00 in cash. It is believed there was no fire or lamp burning in the tent at that time.

41 Years Ago

Today an ugly pile of cinders bears tribute to the devastating power of the most dreaded of the elements. In a spectacular fire at midnight on Saturday, the Hotel Summerland, one of the best Hotels in the Interior of British Columbia and a credit to Summerland, and the Okanagan fell prey to the demon and within a few hours, licking greedy flames absolutely destroyed the splendid structure leaving only a great, gaunt chimney stack standing in desolate solitude.

Car demolished in Sunday crash

An 18-year-old girl is recovering at home from injuries suffered Sunday when her small car rolled over and was demolished near the Westminster bridge in Penticton.

Areta Caldwell, a Grade 12 student at Summerland High, was treated for cracked ribs, then released from Penticton Hospital. There were no passengers in the car.

She told police the left front tire suddenly went flat, causing her to lose control of the car, as it crossed the bridge heading into the first bend on Highway 97.

The sedan, a 1960 Zephyr, is considered a write-off, according to RCMP in Penticton, although no estimate of value is available.

Dr. F. C. MacInnes has returned from a two-week visit in Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Tait were returned in Vancouver last Tuesday and Wednesday.

The first preliminary sketch of the proposed layout of the Okanagan Regional College campus has been released by the college architects. At right is Lake Okanagan, while Highway 97 is at the bottom of the sketch. The buildings closest to the lake will be residences. The campus is being designed so that physical education, technical and other special purpose buildings which would not be affected by traffic noise, are located closest to the highway. Architects are now working on actual building concepts. Total complex would cost an estimated $10.8 million, with valley taxpayers paying about $3. million and the remainder coming from federal and provincial grants.

Special course in botany to be presented for farmers

In co-operation between the British Columbia Department of Agriculture and the Kelowna Vocational School, a course in basic and applied botany will be given by Dr. D.P. Ormrod, Associate Professor of the Plant Science Division, Faculty of Agriculture, University of British Columbia.

This course will be held in Kelowna at the Vocational School, December 12-16. Classes will run from 9 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. daily.

This basic course in botany will be of interest to all who work daily with living plants. The intention of the course is to allow practising farmers to get a better idea how plants grow, function and produce crops whether it is fruit, grain or forage.

There will be given a basic understanding of plant classifications, structure and function of roots, stems, leaves and various cells, bud and flower formation and plant breeding and genetics. The applied or practical aspects will be the effect of nutrition (fertilizers and minor elements) on plant growth, the effect of low temperatures on various plant parts and a discussion on how low temperatures kill plants, light and its effect on plant growth, effect of pruning or mowing on plant growth, a discussion on the carbohydrate-nitrogen ratio and its effect on plants with regard to growth and fruit setting.

It is most important to know how many are interested in taking this course. The number of students must be limited due to space. It is requested that those interested please either write or call:

Mr. W. R. Brown, Principal, Kelowna Vocational School, Kelowna, B.C. or Mr. M. G. Oswell, District Horticulturist, Court House, Vernon, B. C. before Nov. 25, 1966 and signify your intentions. There will be a tuition fee of $5.00 for those attending.

Penticton defeats Summerland Puckers

By Ron Kostelnik

In hockey action this past week, three games were played with Summerland bowing out in all three.

In JUVENILE action, Penticton scored four times in the opening period and went on to win 7 to 2 on Thursday at the Summerland arena.

George Jenner, with singles in the first and second, scored for Summerland with Barry Smith and Terry Scott assisting the first goal and Wayne Campbell and Robin Agur the second.

For the victors, Lawless led the way with two goals and four assists. Eddy Hayes, two goals and an assist and Kerry Moss two goals and two assists. Summerland took 8 out of the 10 penalties handed out by referee Dave Kampe.

The BANTOMS were dumped 16 to 0 by Penticton in the city Saturday. Rick Wear and Wayne Johnson shared goal keeping chores.

The MIDGETS were soundly trounced 13-3 by visiting Penticton Nov. 9. Scoring for Summerland were Drew Murphy, Ken Bolton and George Jenner.

Next action sees the Midgets in Kelowna tonight while Juveniles host Kelowna at the local arena at 8:30 pm. Sunday the Pee Wees take on Penticton at 12:30 at home and Nov. 24 the Juveniles travel to Kelowna.

Brownie activities in Summerland

The members of the 1st Summerland Brownie Pack have been busy with their various activities.

Tweenie Sheila Forster was enrolled into Brownies Oct. 6. Colleen Graham and Roberta Clein earned their Golden Bars Nov. 3. Loretta Kropinsky and Maureen Morphy received their toy maker's badge. Oct. 27 the Pack had a delightful Halloween party and the girls made ghoulie and ghostie decorations for the occasion. The leaders made taffy apples which the girls consumed with great gusto, while placed in a fairy ring.

The Wednesday Pack had a partial Remembrance ceremony Nov. 9. Second year service stars were presented by Madam Commissioner Mrs. Laidlaw to Peggy Marles and Olwen Killick. First year service stars were given to Noni Keys, Debora Hunter, Kathleen Gale, Jane Spalding, Jennie Spelsberg, Janice Taylor, and Margaret Smith.

The Brownies made a rocket ship designed with replicas of the Canadian flag and each girl's signature. In this rocket Rita Simpson and Patricia Gale were "blasted off" into the World of Guiding. At the end of their orbital journey, waiting to welcome them was Guide Lieutenant Mrs. Taylor. An appropriate verse for the blast-off was recited by the Brownies:

"We Brownies are marching our buddies on a voyage from rocket stage directly to a new planet, To Rita and Pat we send our best wishes and safe passage,

With a soaring flight through space to our sister planet."

The presentation of a Brownie wreath at the Cenotaph was made by Connie Rasmussen and Olwen Killick representing all the Brownies of Summerland.

Guests at the home of his father-in-law, Mr. R. Tilton of Trepanier, while on a hunting trip in the area, is Mr. J. Lanaway of Vernon.

Spending last weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. A. Flintoff, was their son Brian, now attending SFU.

Clarence Lackey badminton pres.

The Summerland Badminton Club, one of Summerland's longest-established sports groups, held its annual meeting November 8. The president, Mr. Clarence Lackey, reported an active and successful year. The club also developed plans for an equally full winter program this year.

The badminton players, under the name of the Summerland Athletic Club, have their own building which is used exclusively for badminton. The club has now acquired full ownership of the building except for 48 $10 debentures — most of them held by present members of the Club. A small profit resulted from last year's operations.

The senior club maintained its strength, and the junior membership was especially strong and enthusiastic.

Over 40 players between 12 and 18 years were enrolled for coaching and playing sessions throughout the season. The assistance of the Summerland Recreation Council for training of juniors was gratefully acknowledged. Mr. George Fudge, Mr. Ken Storey, and Mrs. Jocelyn Steuart provided coaching and supervision.

Play has begun for the 1966-67 winter season. The senior playing sessions are on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, with Sunday afternoon available for playing sessions, matches and tournaments. A ladies group meets to play every Wednesday afternoon immediately after lunch. Mrs. C. Bernhardt is organizing junior playing sessions for Monday and Friday afternoons after school, and Mr. George Fudge will be conducting coaching sessions on Saturday afternoons. In addition the building is being made available five mornings each week to the high school for badminton coaching and playing sessions sponsored by the

MR. AND MRS. IAN ALEXANDER McDUGALL (Killick Photography)

St. Stephen's Anglican Church scene of McDougall - Cuthbert marriage

Harvest decorations enhanced by baskets of flowers arranged by family friends Mrs. E.C. Bingham, at St. Stephen's Church for the marriage of Mary Kathleen Duff Cuthbert, Summerland, and Ian Alexander McDougall, Ottawa, on October 8th.

The principals are the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cuthbert, Summerland and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. McDougall, Ottawa.

The afternoon ceremony was performed by Rev. Norman Tannar and Mrs. Delmar Dunham provided music at the organ.

The junior choir of St. Stephen's Church, of which the bride had once been a member, sang The Voice that Breathed o'er Eden during the signing of the register with Miss Lesley Heavysides as soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal empire style gown of beau d'elegance made for her by friends Miss Gillian Miles and Miss Lynn Thomson. The front of the gown featured an apron of lace and the train was secured with a row of tiny fabric covered buttons.

Two tiers of nylon illusion net fashioned her veil which was held in place by a cluster of pearl centred white flowers. She carried a basket of yellow marguerites and white chrysanthemums.

Her only jewelry was a gold cross on a chain, a gift of the groom.

DEEP AQUA

The attendants were gowned alike in afternoon length dresses of deep aqua beau d'elegance. A single rose of the same fabric formed their head-dresses and they carried baskets of yellow and white flowers.

Supporting the groom were best man John Lorn McDougall, Toronto and ushers Thomas McDougall, Toronto, John Cuthbert, Prince Rupert and Frank Gauthier, Vancouver.

For the reception at the Yacht Club, the bride's mother received guests and chose a turquoise crepe sheath with net jacket and matching marabou hat, for the occasion. Her accessories were beige and she wore a corsage of yellow and white carnations and rosebuds.

Assisting her was the groom's mother who wore a beige crepe sheath of double knit fabric with a hat of variegated roses petals. Her corsage was fashioned of rose and white carnations and rosebuds.

For a honeymoon tour of northern and western B.C., the bride changed to a striped navy and white suit with a wide-brimmed navy hat, navy shoes and gloves. They will reside in Burnaby.

Among the many guests were friends and relatives from Ottawa, Toronto, Douglas Lake, Celista, Burnaby, Vancouver, Prince Rupert, Salmon Arm, and Penticton.

Anyone for kayaks and canoes?

Calling all Kayak owners or enthusiasts! There has been an active group of Kayakers (?) in Summerland, but for several years there has been no official organization for them. Anyone who has been, is, or would like to be associated with other kayak operators could get in touch with the Yacht Club.

Robert Holica who is the activity chairman of the B.C. Kayak and Canoe Assn. would be delighted to hear from anyone in the Summerland area. His address is 3994 Anzio Drive, Vancouver 12.

Brenda Mines tour postponed again

For the second time, the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Brenda Mines Tour has been postponed.

Eric Tait, Chamber President, said Brenda officials had told him they are in the process of "winterizing" the plant, and asked that Summerland people wait another week.

They said the cold weather has hit a little earlier than usual and they wanted their winterizing done before the Summerland guests make the tour.

It is now slated for Monday, Nov. 21.

LETTER

Thanks to everyone

Editor, Summerland Review, Sir:

We would like to say thank you to the Summerland children who offered to share half their Hallowe'en treats with needy children in other lands. These are the youngsters who came to our doors carrying the Save the Children Fund collection cans as well as their loot bags. Their unselfish efforts raised $256.39 which will provide many less fortunate children with the treat of proper food, clothing, medicine or shelter.

We also extend our sincere thanks to the adults who supported the Hallowe'en drive and generously gave their pennies to the collection tins. The staffs of MacDonald and Trout Creek schools deserve our special appreciation for their help in organizing this drive as well as the newspapers, radio and TV personnel who gave us such excellent publicity coverage.

WHAT WILL THE REGIONAL COLLEGE MEAN TO YOU, YOUR FAMILY AND THE FUTURE OF THE OKANAGAN?

Q. What will the college do for me?

A. If you are a young man or woman, it will offer post-grade 12 opportunities that are not now available in the Okanagan Valley. If you are a parent, a college will mean you can afford to give your children education for a progressive career. If you are a businessman, you will be provided with a pool of trained personnel to staff your plant. For everyone, including our senior citizens, it will mean improved economic and social benefits because more of our skilled young people will stay at home to contribute more to Okanagan development.

Q. What courses will be offered at the college?

A. President Norman Walker believes there should be a mixture of academic and occupationally-directed courses. The liberal arts and science programs will be designed to prepare academic students for their final years at a university, while other programs will lead directly to careers in commerce and industry.

Q. Does the existence of academic and technological programs in one institution mean low standards?

A. Not at all. Experience has shown that inclusion of high-standard academic courses stimulates improvements in the standards of other courses.

Q. What will happen to grade 13 classes in the Okanagan?

A. Their future will be a decision for the local school boards. But a regional college will offer a full university program, which is impossible in high schools, as well as an adult college atmosphere which is so important in higher education.

Q. Isn't this higher education and training for special skills available now?

A. Not in the Okanagan. The young people of this valley must attend post-secondary institutions in Vancouver or other centres - if they can get in - where fees are high, living costs are rising, and accommodation is scarce and expensive.

Q. How much will the Okanagan Regional College cost me?

A. If you are an average property taxpayer, the college, when it is fully built, equipped and operating, will cost you approximately $10 a year in taxes in about four years' time. This is roughly 3½ mills.

Q. Is the charge the same throughout the Okanagan region?

A. Yes, except for Kelowna. In Kelowna, ratepayers will be asked to pay ½ a mill more because the college is to be located near the city.

Q. Is there any possibility that the charge will be less?

A. Yes. It appears likely that the new federal-provincial agreement may mean higher federal contributions toward operating costs.

Q. Will any concessions be given to students?

A. Those living within commuting distance - south to Penticton and north to Vernon - will get free bus transportation or accommodation at reduced charge. Those who live beyond those boundaries will be provided free accommodation and board at cost.

Q. Why not charge taxpayers in the more remote school districts less?

A. Because it is felt that industry throughout the region should pay its fair share of the cost. If the mill rate is on a declining base (lower taxes for industry farther away from Kelowna) industry would benefit, but not the young people.

Q. Why was land leased for the college at Westbank?

A. Both Dr. John Macdonald, president of the University of British Columbia, and independent consultant Professor F. T. Giles of University of Washington recommended that the college be in Kelowna to serve all the people of the Okanagan. The college council leased the land because, of all the sites offered, this was the most beautiful and least costly to develop, and the cheapest.

Q. How much will the site cost to lease?

A. The lease cost is $10,000 a year, plus an adjustment for the cost of living. However, the provincial government will pay half the cost, so the basic charge is $5,000 a year, or five cents a year for each person in the Okanagan.

Q. Was it wise to lease land for a college?

A. The college council believes this was a wise move because it secures the most desirable site at a reasonable cost. It means the council can use several hundred thousands of dollars that would have had to be invested in land purchase to put up buildings now. Each generation will pay its fair share of the land cost.

Q. Why build a college at all?

A. We, the people of the Okanagan, must look to educational institutions on which to build a prosperous future. Dr. Macdonald said in his now-famous study of education in B.C. that our changing society demands a better-educated people, and that those regions that provide this higher training will share in the general prosperity. This drive in the Okanagan for a regional college is part of the ferment taking place in all parts of this country to fill the education gap between high school and university. Can we afford not to fill the gap in our region?

Summerland Review — 3

On leasing land

A great deal has been said in recent months about the policy of leasing land for the site of the Okanagan College. The criticism has in the main come from a Vernon group which bases its opposition to the college proposal on the leasing.

Leasing is no uncommon thing in our society today. Just about everything can be leased; automobiles, furniture, office equipment, machinery, land — you name it and it can be leased.

Leasing is no stranger in the business field. Many of the largest buildings are built on leased land. If the lease is properly drawn and the interests of the lease are protected, leasing financially is often more attractive than purchase. Certainly many businesses have found this so as they have leased the land on which they have erected multi-million dollar buildings.

In the case of Okanagan College, the pattern established by many businesses has been followed. The lease is for 99 years, with the option for renewal for another 99 year, 198 years in all. Moreover should the property ever come up for sale, the leasee has the right to the first refusal to purchase.

Following the pattern of established and successful businesses, the Vancouver School Board leases land for 99 years for its schools.

Stanley Park in Vancouver; it is on leased land.

The huge Place Bonaventure complex in Montreal is on leased land.

Almost the entire city of Honolulu is on leased land.

The list could be extended indefinitely, but these examples, surely, are sufficient to indicate that leasing land is no new and foolish idea. It has been practiced many years and huge, modern buildings have been erected on leased property. In some cases millions and millions have been spent.

If it is good enough for businesses, experienced in efficient operation and whose main objective is to make a profit, why, then, should it not be good enough for the Okanagan College. — Kelowna Courier

The choice is yours

The time has come once more when all residents of Summerland will have an opportunity to play a very important part in civic affairs. You may choose the people you wish to run for the election of two councillors and three school trustees. Nomination day is November 28.

Councillors Bill Barkwill and Walter Powell will again seek re-election as will John Bennest, Dave McIntosh and Jim Milmore as members of the School Board.

We will not campaign for any one member seeking office. They have conducted their duties to the best of their ability and with honest judgement, but this is not to say there aren't others in the municipality that could do an equally fine job.

Summerland is going ahead — not by leaps and bounds, but we are enjoying a steady increase in assessment which calls for careful planning and judgement in school and municipal affairs.

If you feel the present slate is not conforming to the changing times, you now have an opportunity to do something about it. The choice is yours. If you have taken an interest in civic affairs, you have watched various press reports of meetings, and you have watched the various phases of local government in operation.

An official elected by acclamation does not have the confidence of the one chosen by a free vote. The five gentlemen seeking re-election will no doubt agree with this.

Assess the situation! An expanding community demands good administration. It is up to you to obtain the best brains possible.

Report From Parliament Hill

By DAVID PUGH, M.P.
for Okanagan-Boundary

Nov. 18, 1966

This week in Parliament has progressed smoothly despite the political overtones of the Conservative Annual Meeting. Interim Supply, which means the voting of money to carry on the business of Government, was finally passed. There was a good deal of speculation prior to its passing because most of the debate was centred on the Government handling of witnesses who had appeared before the Defence Committee. It is a good thing that this was finally closed off, although the matter can't help but come up again when the Armed Forces unification Bill comes before the House.

The Estimates of a number of Departments still remain to be heard, and as we are limited to 30 days on all expenditures of the Government, a good deal of concentrated work will be necessary.

The Government finally got around to announcing that the Old Age Pension increases will be made in January, but there is still no definite plan as to how this will be done. It would appear that a means test will go hand in hand with the increases; however, this could well be changed before the actual legislation is completed.

At times the House of Commons is a very warm-hearted place indeed. This was demonstrated when Mr. Dieffenbaker first appeared after the Conservative meeting had been

General manager E. Moore speaks at BCFGa meeting

B. C. Tree Fruits General Manager Eric Moore spoke to the annual meeting of the Summerland Local, BCFGa last week, and covered a wide range of topics of interest to growers, from internal operation to marketing.

He said their new installation of a computer has been a controversial issue, but told the membership it has now become a very vital part of their business.

It is operated by personnel they have trained themselves and has shown better progress than did a large Canadian department store when they installed their first computer.

He said Eaton's of Canada had 15 employees at the start where B. C. Tree Fruits have six. It took them 15 months to get to the point where it was part of the operation, and it has taken them three months. They have been as much as three months behind in work, while B.C. Tree Fruits have never been more than three weeks behind schedule.

"Maybe we have lost good will, but not money", Moore assured the growers. "Everything will go fine from here on in. We will get returns out faster and more efficiently."

He said their new waxing process of apples makes an obvious difference in appearance. He displayed comparison samples.

With waxing, Moore explained, the apples have a longer shelf life and they retain their weight which is important to the trade and as a consequence they will "buy our goods better". They are getting 10 cents more per box for this product.

He said in the United States it is almost essential to wax apples so they must do it as well to maintain their share of that market.

As was suggested in the Stevenson & Kellogg report, they have obtained the services of a marketing co-ordinator specialist. He is Clifton Healy once employed by such firms as Molsons, Proctor & Gamble and Hill Bros. Coffee (U.S.). He is now going through an orientation program of the business.

MARKETING

The United States buys the bulk of the apple volume. The Macs are behind in sales in Western Canada this year by 17,000 boxes but Moore expects this to pick up steam because the season is longer on most fruit varieties this year.

The sales of Red Delicious are ahead of last year, and they can't fill all the orders for Spartans and Golden Delicious.

B.C. Tree Fruits have had a problem marketing "Cee" grade Bartlett pears. Some have been sold through packing houses to the local trade and they had just recently disposed of the balance with "slashed prices, but we received more out of them than we put in them", Moore told his audience.

He said there was nothing the matter with Moorpark apples, but it is a volume problem. The retail trade are not particular about the variety so much, but there is more product than the market can stand. B.C. Tree Fruits are trying to expand this demand through advertising.

Moore was asked from the floor what they are doing to expand the Mac market because of the present volume and the anticipated volume in the future due to many new trees planted during the past year.

He said the name is well known—in fact they are selling Spartans under the Macintosh name in the U.S.

"We have made changes to broaden distribution and we are now advertising in California which is proving to be very effective", Moore noted.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

Mrs. Brenda Liebert suggested they get marketing information directly from the women. "Find out what the women want", she suggested.

She made reference to the women in Vancouver protesting about the price of Okanagan apples. She suggested that the 10 cents a box more received for waxed apples may increase to 10 cents a pound by the time it is offered to the housewife.

The Pack attended the Cenotaph Service on November 11. Lorn MacGregor placed the wreath on the Cenotaph.

At the November 16 Pack Meeting, Terry Sawatzky was invested into Cubs. Now all the New Chums have been invested.

In the hall the Pack reviewed the compass points in a lively game then practised following courses by compass. After that the Pack went outdoors and followed a compass course that led indirectly to Powell Beach. This was quite successful and the Pack ended just a few yards from the destination. We then looked for the Leonid meteors. Although there was a partial overcast a few meteors were seen.

The Six Competition continues to be very close; Black Six 92 points; Red Six 91 points.

8 rinks organized

PEACHLAND—At the organizational meeting of the Ladies Curling Club, eight rinks were formed with more expected to participate after Christmas. These rinks will curl Mondays and Wednesdays, 7 to 9 and 9 to 11 p.m. Any other ladies that would like to spare should contact any one of the executive.

It was also announced that the Eldo.ados Band from Kelowna will provide the music for the New Year's dance.

Tidy burglars loot two stores

The Summerland Hardware and Farm and Garden Supply were entered sometime Monday night.

They got in the Farm & Garden Supply through a trap door in the ceiling near the back of the premises. To get in the attic they removed boards from the side of a wall that protrudes through the roof of the building. The trap door, when closed would not be recognized as such from inside the store.

the building. Randall said they were very careful not to knock anything down from a bench located just below a window.

To get the most expensive watch, which was in a case, the culprits moved it to one side, took the watch and replaced the case again.

As far as manager Jack Dunsdon could figure out Tuesday morning, they only took a few dimes and quarters from the till and left a rather smaller change that was there.

NOT SO FORTUNATE

Dick Randall at Summerland Hardware was not as fortunate. He lost two guns, one new, a quantity of ammunition, a radio and several watches. They took all the contents of a brief case out, piled them neatly on the floor and took the case.

The thieves gained entry by removing a window located near the north-east corner of

Camera Club members do well among stiff competition

While it was a long way from winning the trophy, Summerland Camera Club had three of 10 entries accepted for the annual Inter-branch competition for the Stark Trophy this year.

The contest for the best colored slides, was open to camera clubs all across Canada with each group allowed to enter 10 slides.

This year 52 clubs entered, making a total of 520 slides to be considered by the judges, members of St. Catherine's Ontario Club. Out of the 520, 175 were accepted having gained 10 points or better each.

Three of Summerland's 10 gained 10 or more and were accepted. Trenton, Ont. club won the cup with 113 points out of a possible 150. Summerland placed 27th of 52 clubs with 94 points.

Members of the Summerland club whose slides were accepted, were Tom Hall of Penticton, Ken Sellinger and Mrs. Channon Snow.

Hall's was a picture of an egg in a frying pan with another just leaving the shell as it was broken into the pan.

Sellinger's was of a skater and Mrs. Snow's was her granddaughter Janet Weitzel blowing bubbles.

Technical quality and composition, originality and impact are considered in awarding points for the pictures. Mrs. Snow said. Her picture gained 10 points out of 15, while Mr. Sellinger's gained 11 and Mr. Hall's 12.

The Parable of T. C. Mits

By Rev. Norman Tannar

In the ninth chapter of the Book of Ecclesiastes there is a story told in the 14th and 15th verses: "There was a little city, and few men within it; and there came a great king against it, and besieged it, and built great bulwarks against it: Now there was found in it a poor wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the city; yet no man remembereth that same poor man."

Curiosity is aroused by this strange little story embedded in this book. We should like to know what quarrel the great king had with the city, what was the name and the trade of the poor wise man, and what was the scheme by which he delivered the city in its desperate straits.

Imagination pictures the scene when the poor wise man appeared upon it. Everything has been tried and failed to beat off the besieged army; and another council of war is called. Assembled are all the colonels, and the captains, and the city fathers. There are very clever men there, with very clever schemes, but everyone who has served on a committee knows that clever as are the men who devise schemes, there are still cleverer critics to tear them to tatters.

The Councilors are at their wits' end, when there is a knock at the door, the sentinel on guard enters, and says, "There is a man outside shabbily dressed. He doesn't look like anybody of importance, but he says he's got a scheme to save the city."

After some debate if it were worth while listening to a poor man, they allow him to enter.

First women manager at Canada's 1st Bank

MISS M. ROWE

Miss Margaret Rowe of Trail has become the first women bank manager in the Bank of Montreal's British Columbia organization.

A. John Ellis, general manager for British Columbia, said that Miss Rowe's new appointment reflects the increasingly important role of women in the bank's day-to-day operations.

A number of B of M women in B.C. have advanced to accountant level and other posts of responsibility, but Miss Rowe is the first to assume full management of a branch in the province.

Until gazetted of her appointment, Miss Rowe was accountant-in-charge of the East Trail sub-agency, which operated under direction of the manager of the main Trail branch. Now, the East Trail office becomes a full-service branch and Miss Rowe is entirely responsible for its operation.

Born at Drumheller, Alta., she was educated at Rossland and Trail, where she began her banking career. She has also served at the Castlegar and Nelson offices. In 1957, she became officer-in-charge of East Trail sub-agency and, in 1962, accountant-in-charge of the same office.

Miss Rowe's interests outside the bank include the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the Canadian Mental Health Association, the local merchants' association, skiing, square dancing and Sunday school.

W.A. Bazaar complete success

PEACHLAND—A successful tea and bazaar was held Friday by St. Margaret's Anglican W. A. Rev. N. Tannar, Summerland welcomed all present and spoke of his admiration of the women's groups in his parish who work so well for their churches.

Sandy Garraway won the door prize, a dressed doll.

Peachland brochure plans formulated

PEACHLAND — The layout for a new brochure for Peachland was displayed at a recent Brochure Committee meeting. The brochure folds into three making a self envelope and has a picture on the back of the community taken from Droughts Hill. Inside are pictures of swim bay, boating, fishing, etc. and lists 30 businesses, all recreational facilities, climate and brief history of the town. Members were asked to supply any facts overlooked.

It was suggested Peachland "firsts" be listed. For example, history records the first peach tree in the valley was planted here, giving the town its name; also, the curling club here was first in the Central Okanagan to install artificial ice.

It was suggested that maybe a map could be left and the group concentrate on the brochure, but it was decided to go ahead with both.

Proofs are to be ready at the next meeting, Monday, Dec. 5, 8 p.m. in the Municipal Hall.

Last Minute Advice Nets Author Fortune

Most of us will dispense a "bit of advice" at the drop of a tam-o-shanter but few of us ever follow it as eagerly. Yet a few chance words can prove very fortunate sometimes.

Years ago, an unknown young author had his book accepted, and the publisher asked which he preferred, a hundred pounds for the copyright or a royalty arrangement

The young man chose the hundred pounds, but while the publisher went out to prepare the contract, someone whispered, "I'd take the royalty if I were you!"

Swinging around, the author observed an elderly clerk, already back at his work. The author didn't take long to decide. He went back into the publisher's office and settled for royalties.

The book, "King Solomon's Mines" by Henry Rider Haggard, became an all-time best-seller, and what that advice cost the company no one has dared to compute.

Now here's a "Bit of advice you'll find worth heeding. The safest, easiest and surest way to avoid financial stress and strain is to make regular deposits in a Bank of Montreal savings account. Then when unexpected need or opportunity arises, you have the ready cash waiting for you. You'll be amazed at how handy it can prove. To start your account, visit the Summerland branch of the B of M soon. Bob Evens, the accountant there, will show you how easy it is, and how profitable in the years to come. advt.

Small turnout for BCFGA meet

Twenty one of the 399 registered fruit growers attended an annual meeting of the Summerland Local BCFGA Nov. 16 during the Christmas break. Vocational courses are also held in Kelowna at the Vocational School. Anyone seeking information on these schools may contact District Horticulturist Alex Watt.

Tait gave a brief report of the year's activities.

He said Chas. Bernhardt was elected to the executive of the BCFGA and Hans Stoll on the Fruit Board.

He said a change was made at the labour office at the request of the executive and they recommended Vern Charles to the Pentiction office to fill the position. This had been granted.

He expressed a vote of thanks to Don Wright for acting on the Summerland Planning Commission. Because he was not going to be in town for three months next spring, he resigned and Brian Liebert was appointed.

They had set up the mouse control plan, but at that date had not heard from the "mouse control people". It was later revealed they were in the Peachland area.

It was later decided to request of the Fish and Game department to carry out their program before apples are harvested because, by this time of the year, the mice have already done considerable damage.

Tait announced night school courses on various phases of Horticulture are being held in Summerland every Monday night until March 27th except "As chairman", Tait said, "I should have given it more time than I was able to. I will not carry on for another year."

Vice - chairman Hans Stoll was elevated to chairman of the local and Rob Towgood took his former position.

Secretary - treasurer is Bob Smith and delegates are Colin McKenzie, Arnold Boerboom, Brian Liebert and John Caldwell. Alternates are Paul Charles, Tiny Ganzefeld and John Bendig.

B e n d i g said, in effect, it would be disastrous if the industry was strike bound at harvest time. He wondered if they could apply to the provincial government for some type of protection or insurance.

Tait noted that the BCFGA is on record, requesting that the government institute compulsory arbitration when necessary with handlers of perishable products.

Hans Stoll doubted the possibility of the government giving protection to any one group.

Tait said the crop insurance program would be ready to offer to the growers in the next two weeks and said it would be well within the reach of growers. Protection from strikes is not covered in the program.

to other fields such as electronics, banking, journalism, etc.

Before going into it, a complete study of a demand for any particular course will be made as well as the opportunities of employment for students upon graduation.

Walker said this will be the first college in Canada of this type, and educators all over the country agree with its concept and are keen to see it started.

Later, they plan to go into continuing education programs, adult classes and set up classes up and down the valley where instructors will go to the students. This reference was made regarding adult education.

MORE ROOM NECESSARY
President Walker anticipates an enrollment of around 700 students the first year and a staff of around 50 to 60. He said they would be top heavy on staff for the first couple of years so they may offer the complete program as planned.

Although, there has been some cutting back in the building program to come within a budget, the residences have not been touched from the original plan.

They will open September, 1968 with room for 250 in residence and he anticipates it will be necessary to add space for 125 the following year and another 125 in 1970. "It will probably not stop there," he added.

He was asked if he would have trouble getting teaching staff.

"I get letters every day from people wanting jobs", Walker said. "I even had people write to me before I left England. One even came from Hong Kong. Will I have trouble? Yes, it's always difficult to get the right person for the right job."

He favored people who have had practical as well as instructional experience.

Previous to accepting this post, Mr. Walker was the principal of Stretford Technical College in England and has had a broad experience in setting up colleges in the U. K.

He said he is in favor of keeping the college open for as many weeks in the years as possible.

That is if we get the College. A referendum will be held next month on the issue. The people of the Okanagan will decide if this new look in education is what they want.

Peachland L.A. increases '67 dues

Art Johnson, Westbank, was winner of a draw for an embroidered tablecloth at the Nov 11 dance.

A Christmas Concert for the entire community will be held Dec. 22, 7:30 p.m. in the Athletic Hall. A $5 donation was made to the committee in charge.

Needed repairs and roofing of a small room at the hall was discussed and the L.A. will offer some help to the branch if needed.

The next meeting will be the annual meeting, Jan. 17.

BRENDA MINES

A cost study is now being made of this.

They may truck to Vancouver via Peachland - Pentiction, truck to Princeton or use the Kettle Valley line or the railroad in Kelowna. He was quite certain trucking would be the most economical because of extra handling when shipping by rail.

Although they are pulling in a heavy power line for Brenda, they have generating equipment for light in emergencies and diesel motors to run the mill.

They have a lab in camp, where they do their assay work, study samples, drill cores, etc.

It was fascinating to see a drill core. They had flats on top of flats of them. They are about two inches in diameter, perfectly round and every few inches you see what they call the join in the rock — here is where two minerals are found — at the breaking point, if you will. This is what makes Brenda seem feasible, because of the intensified joining where the mineral lies.

20-YEAR SUPPLY
They are not sure how much mineral is here. They have gone down as far as 800 feet and it looks good all the way. They have cleared about 130 acres of land ready for open pit mining and know now they can keep busy for at least 20 years.

At present, they have about 80 men at the camp. When they go into construction to build a mine, they estimate they will be employing 500 to 600 men and when they go into production this will decrease to 350 "plus or minus a few" Stym said.

A lot depends on when they can get equipment as to when they will be able to get into full operation. It apparently takes a year, sometimes more to get some of this heavy equipment after the firm order is signed. Two years was the general feeling, but the summer of '68 was mentioned once.

The drivers will attest to the fact another road is needed to Peachland. Two cars didn't make it up and the occupants rode up in the back of Don Tait's truck. It was just too slippery.

There will be a new road built that will cut the mileage down by at least 11 miles.

The tours were conducted as soon as we arrived — late because of road conditions, so we ate late.

Now—we asked for this tour, expecting nothing but the tour, but Brenda officials informed Chamber of Commerce president Eric Tait previously that they would have lunch ready.

Lunch? One of the fellows said after he was finished "If we would have had this before we started up the hill, we wouldn't have had any trouble. The additional weight would have been the answer."

Now let me tell you, if those fellows located at this beautiful site, 5,740 feet above sea level, eat like that all the time they should be able to bow their heads and roll down the hill.

A hot bowl of soup and a sandwich would have been fine. We had the soup, clam chowder, and here is what we could have made a sandwich out of Rolled prime beef roasted to perfection, baked salmon, pan-sized trout, chicken, turkey, ham, sliced meats of every description, tomatoes prepared about three different ways, stuffed hard boiled eggs, potato salad, mushrooms, pickles of every description, pudding, strawberries on ice cream . . . this is all Bernie Hume-Smith had on his plate and I sat beside him—there was more, not only on the table, but lots of hot goodies in the kitchen. I wonder what they had for dinner.

The tour was arranged by the Summerland Chamber of Commerce, with president Eric Tait heading what was, I believe a one-man committee. Eric told Peter, Jack and Harold how much we all enjoyed it following lunch and I believe everyone shook their hands in appreciation. It was great.

The party included members of the Municipal Council, Planning Commission, School Board and Chamber of Commerce.

Jack Stulhers wouldn't let us ride in the back of the truck to get to the stalled cars—he took us down in his four-wheel drive stationwagon. Like I said before Brenda Mines' public relations is showing . . . all good.

Kinsmen trail blazers reach summit of Giant's Head

The Summerland Kiinsmen on their sixth work party completed gouging out a walking path from the parking lot to the top of Giant's Head. The path is approximately four feet wide and has a gentle incline for easier walking.

Some of the hard working Kinsmen were Don Puddy, Doug Grant, Ed Robertson, Chuck Preen, Sid Flebbe, Bill Austin, Lindy

Directors question advisability of changing district boundaries

Directors of the Okanagan - Similkameen Regional District interviewed over the weekend are cool to the idea of making changes in the boundaries of the Regional Districts as set up by the government.

"These boundaries were set only after a thorough study by members of the Department of Municipal Affairs," one director said. "Their prime concern in setting these boundaries," he went on, "was to ensure that each regional district was sound economically. I don't think it would be advisable to change boundaries," the director said.

practical for directors to consider changing boundaries, not after government experts have made a thorough and impartial study," one official commented.

RESIDENTS IN HOSPITAL

Herb Waterhouse was admitted to the Vancouver General Hospital Sunday, where he will undergo surgery thisweek.

Mrs. Jas. Miltimore is in the Penticton hospital where she underwent an operation last week.

It was pointed out that if a certain area wished to be taken out of a specific district the area in question would have to petition the board of directors of the regional district to which the area belonged.

The directors, in considering such a petition, would first have to consider the economy of the district as a whole and would have to determine if the area seeking to get out of regional district would disrupt the economy of the district as a unit.

If an area would be granted their petition they would then have to petition the directors of the regional district to which they wish to belong. This district again would have to consider the economy of their existing district before the petition could be seriously entertained.

NOW DESERT

One third of the world's original forest land has been turned into desert by man — a destructive process that has only recently been halted by new concepts of forest management which limit the harvest to the reproductive capacity of the forest. So far as our everyday lives are concerned, the death of the world's trees affects us all intimately, for the forest can provide a complete industrial economy — and a permanent one, since unlike coal and oil, the forest can be renewed. Under wise management, it can feed, clothe, shelter and warm us in perpetuity.

SUMMERLAND

ORCHARD RUN

by Wally Smith

Maybe you hadn't noticed, but the world population has increased by more than 80 million during the last two years.

During the same time the world food supply has shown no increase, so the bread has to be cut a little thinner in order to give everybody a slice.

One would expect farm profits to be taking a sharp rise under the pressure of consumer demand for a commodity that is growing scarcer, but we have the paradox of lower and still lower farm profits in spite of the growing shortage.

Farmers on this continent are giving way under the pressure and moving off the farm in large numbers.

There can be only one conclusion to such a trend. Farm production will fall farther behind world population until food scarcity becomes so acute that prices will rise to the point where farming again becomes a profitable business.

The present flurry of protest against rising food prices can have no significant long term effect. There may be temporary price cuts in some items to appease shoppers, or small reductions resulting from cheaper packaging and greater efficiency, but with the price of everything else on the rise it is not possible to keep food prices from joining the parade.

A consumers' association in Vancouver is protesting the price of Okanagan apples and complains that our handpik priced at approximately $2.00 in Vancouver is offered at $1.69 in Winnipeg.

If our handpik sells for 1.69 in Winnipeg why can't the Vancouver shopper buy it at the same price?

The answer is simple enough. In the Okanagan we grow more apples than we can sell in B.C. We ship the surplus to many points in the United States and to the prairie provinces. We used to ship a lot to the United Kingdom but we have been almost completely squeezed out of that market.

We have to sell our apples in competition with fruit from other areas. If the competitor's apples sell for $1.69 in Winnipeg, we will not make any sales at all unless we meet that price, even if the grower's share is less than the cost of producing the fruit.

If we sold the whole crop at less than cost of production we would soon be bankrupt.

When there is a surplus of labor the surplus is laid off the job and draws a smaller paycheque in the form of unemployment insurance. The men remaining on the job continue with no cut in pay.

But when there is a surplus of eggs, fruit, or any other food item, the whole price structure is lowered.

The producer is thus placed at a distinct disadvantage. If he works harder, increases his efficiency, and produces a little more food than man's immediate requirements, instead of being rewarded he is penalized by being obliged to accept lower prices. He gets less for doing more. It's no wonder farmers are in trouble.

Teen town members attend Tuesday council meeting

Three members of Summerland Teen Town attended the regular Municipal Council meeting Tuesday evening, to make a request, and to sit through the session for information.

They were authorized to conduct a draw for a turkey, ham and a cake, the proceeds to go to the March of Dimes campaign. This could be done because the prizes will be under $50. Speaking for Teen Town was Bruce MacGregor and accompanying him were Janet May and Barbara McDonald.

A delegation consisting of Councillor Powell and Schaeffer, Superintendent Blagborne and Scout officials Bob Barkwill and Sandy Fenwick made an inspection of the area in the proposed Giant's Head park where Scouts wished to cut Christmas trees.

Powell, in reporting to council said he was sympathetic with the Scout project, but they could not agree that the trees should be cut. He said he wasn't aware of the beauty of the area (on the James Lake side of Giant's Head) before and the two Councillors recommended the extension of the park boundary to include all municipal land to the south. This was agreed.

Councillor Barkwill said he thought this would leave the boys on the spot for this year, but they would be alright in years to come. They had planned to cut trees last Saturday.

Accounts for $47,939.45 were authorized paid. (Accounts are approved twice a month now.)

Blagborne said all the ARDA flume work for this year's program will be complete by early next week. Last year they did one third, the same was done this year and the job will be completed next year.

John Khalembach will attend a building inspectors course Jan. 16-20 in Parksville, B.C. Don Wright submitted his resignation as a member of the Planning Commission because he will be absent for too much of the time next year. He was representing the BCFGA and was replaced by Brian Liebert.

In anticipation of there being a referendum Dec. 10 on the Regional College question, Gordon Smith was appointed Deputy Returning Officer.

At the request of the Regional District, a copy of the council minutes will be sent to them each week so they may record comments and opinions and action taken regarding Summerland planning.

Council was asked, by the Summerland Planning Commission to accept the revised zoning by-law. It will now go to Municipal Solicitor F. Haar for study.

A comprehensive written report was prepared by District Planner, Dave MacDonald on the question of sanitary facilities in non-conforming buildings. Copies will be made for study by individual members of council.

Councillor Hill said the basis to the thinking was the drafting of a bylaw giving council authority to act on each individual application according to its merits.

A. A. Taylor was authorized to subdivide his land into two lots and Preston Mott was given approval, subject to him obtaining a satisfactory soil stability survey. Mott has nine lots he wishes to subdivide.

The Katimavic, an inverted pyramid, will be the focal point of the Canadian Government exhibit at Expo, the biggest national pavilion at the Exhibition. Others will be (anticlockwise) the United States pavilion, featuring a huge dome; the British pavilion; the soviet Union where visitors will experience the weightlessness of being in space; and the French pavilion, whose theme will be tradition and invention.

RATEPAYER MEETING BRIEFS

Councillor Walter Powell:

Progress being made in the field of pollution. Septic tanks one of the finest systems to combat pollution where drainage is good. Tests carried out have made Pollution Control aware of how easily it could happen. Council could not directly control industrial wastes, but do make recommendations to the provincial government. Municipal dump being close to reservoir does not present a pollution problem. They burn once a week and cover often.

Enlarging of Parkdale Place being held back because of the tight money policies.

Land study made in area of the old golf course and found usable. Council will try to supply irrigation water through ARDA plan, where federal, provincial and municipal governments each pay one third of the costs.

Adequate supply of domestic water if used more continuously. No need to increase lines if controls are implemented. This is under study.

Study made to supply domestic water to Summerland Lake-shore from the lake in peak seasons and from the Summerland domestic line otherwise. Fish Hatchery wishes all the spring water to expand facilities. Provincial government to pay for conversion. Costs between $30,000 and $40,000.

Complete ADA projects will cost $180,000, of which the municipality pay $60,000 over three years. Includes dam renovations, (three are complete and two to go) and new main line flumes (6,000 feet now in—2,000 feet to go). Work will be done without borrowing or raising rates. At present lateral flumes do not come under ARDA, but council is looking into it. Flow control valves will be compulsory next year unless exemption is authorized due to present low pressure.

Councillor Schaeffer:

Thirty one new connections this year and 32 space heaters added. Plenty of room for expansion. New street lights on Solly Rd., Trout Creek bridge, Peach Orchard and Trout Creek completed.

Centennial Committee have built road to Giant's Head Park and many organizations taking part in completing the job. He added, "Most wonderful thing that has happened to Summerland in a long time."

Councillor Barkwill:

Discontinued using old municipal gravel crusher. Had 10,000 yards crushed this year — have used 8,000 of it. Street naming program to be completed soon. The parking study to be ready to come before council in a few weeks.

Not policy to expropriate land for road widening but can legally do so. In cases of new subdivisions they request dedication of land for this from the owner. In some cases they negotiate with owner and purchase land.

Portable pumper purchased this year to add to fire equipment. Fire department well equipped and competent.

Main function of Regional District is planning. They want control of subdividing and planning in unorganized areas. They want to take control of capital costs of hospitals. They would take over Summerland debts and they would be spread over whole district. Same would be the case in other centres. Penticton, Princeton, Oliver-Osoyoos all need more hospital facilities. Much planning still to come here. Unorganized areas do not pay for hospitals.

Councillor Hill:

Repaired walls and beach at Rotary Beach with co-operation of Rotary Club. Outdoor shuffleboard provided, flower triangles provided at Rosedale and Solly and at Five Corners this year.

About 3000 cars carried campers to Peach Orchard Park this summer.

Street lights to be installed at entrance and parking area of Powell Beach to check vandalism.

Will take a number of years to develop, but beach below Peach Orchard Rd. is planned. A small portion will be ready by summer with toilet facilities. Building beach up as fill becomes available. Hoping a commercial dredge will be available on the lake. Money is being set aside for this.

Council keeping within budget but have to be very careful due to tight money situation.

tion.

Panel was asked what mill rate increase we could expect if Regional College referendum goes through. Trustee Boothe said Council member John Benest was attending a Regional College meeting that evening when they will confirm the date of the referendum which is expected to be Dec. 10. There will be a public meeting in Summerland attended by all Council members and College President Norman Walker when all questions will be answered.

Panel was asked why a land tax for the Regional College when coast people had U B C and Simon Fraser University and the provincial government pays all capital and operating expenses. Reeve Holmes said he didn't agree with financial arrangement, but would not vote against the college because of it.

Secondary School Principal John Tamblin said the Vancouver City College is being paid for in the same manner as presented here, and three more are sought at the coast that will be under the same program.

Valley skating competition here

Summerland will host the Okanagan Figure Skating Competition in the arena, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 3-4.

Skaters from Revelstoke, Vernon, Kamloops, Salmon Arm, Merritt, Penticton and Summerland will be competing.

Many of these skaters have progressed to the highest peak of skating accomplishment.

Competitions are scheduled for Saturday, from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and on Sunday afternoon 2 to 4:30.

An associate membership ticket covers the admission to all sessions.

The program will be streamlined to provide maximum interest for spectators.
