DRUMMOND RECITAL.

Rev. D. E. Hatt charms his audience in Okanagan College.

On Tuesday evening last Rev. D. E. Hatt, B.A., Supt. of Baptist Missions for British Columbia, gave his postponed recital of Dr. Drummond's poems in Okanagan College chapel under the auspices of the Lyceum, which is the literary society of that institution. The night was dark and the roads were in a bad way because of recent heavy rains, but neither bad night nor bad roads availed to spoil the evening. The chapel was well filled by an enthusiastically appreciative audience who went home happier than when they came.

Principal Sawyer as honorary president of the Lyceum occupied the chair. After a brief and flattering introduction of the guest of the evening, he called attention to the printed programme and yielded the floor to Mr. Hatt.

Which was wise. Mr. Hatt needs the whole platform when he gets warmed up to his work, and once fairly started he carries a full head of steam to the terminus. His audience is whirled along with him. There was no such thing as sleep en route the other night and only time to gather two or three sprays of sweet music presented by Miss K. C. Davison and Mr. Ward Duncan.

Mr. Hatt looks the part, feels the part, acts the part. His magnificent physique; his dark complexion; his masses of black wavy hair; his smooth accents; his tremendous energy and his sympathetic and lively interpretation of the peasant or voyageur of Lower Canada, admirably fit him to present the stirring characters of Dr. Drummond's poems. Those who heard him will not soon forget his impersonation of the wild and roystering Johnny Courteau. The real thing could not have been, as a spectacle, much more interesting.

But there were other numbers—De Habitant, When Albani Sang, The Fox Hunt, The Wreck of the Julie Plante, Dominique, Johnnie's First Moose, De Stove Pipe Hole, Getting On, Les Vieux Temps and De Last Portage, and not a weak or uninteresting one among them.

Drummond, like Shakespeare on a larger scale, "holds the mirror up to Nature's face." The heart simplicity, the humor, the vigor and movement and the deformed English, with its strong foreign accent in recital, added to the fact that the field was one previously all but unknown, and so a distinct literary "find" — all this has made Dr. Drummond's poems take a leading place in our Canadian literature and given them a place in the larger world of literature outside.

Mr. Hatt very generously gave all proceeds of the evening to the College; but he gave more; he has given to many, by his vivid interpretation of Dr. Drummond, a new, larger and kindlier understanding of the million or so of our French Canadian countrymen in Quebec, and in doing that he has rendered valuable service both educationally and as a patriot.

PRIZES FROM SPOKANE.

Citizens Who Won Honors at the Recent International Apple Show.

It was perhaps not generally known that Summerland took a small exhibit to the big apple show in Spokane some weeks ago. There was no long and careful preparation for the event; no tender choosing and caring for special trees; no special thinning, no canvassing of the finest fruit of all the finest orchards to get the consummate products of the whole, just a hurried pick of the best that was offering after the bulk of the crop had been sold or selected for the Government car of exhibit in the old country.

Messrs. Simpson and Ross were sent in charge of the exhibit by the few gentlemen contributing. They travelled in a modest way, found the corner allotted them, arranged their fruit in a tasteful manner and were on hand to give information to all inquiries. They did not go with a gripsire full of money, did not deck their exhibits out in folds of expensive silk and velvet and did not have a city florist come up every morning to garnish their exhibit with expensive roses and chrysanthemums. They had no such instructions on leaving home. And, naturally, where a competition is so elaborate and the best of the rival fruits probably so nearly alike as to make judging in the last degree difficult, it is just such little fine touches of setting that must go a long way unconsciously to tip the beam of judgment.

If there is one thing for which Mr. De Hart of Kelowna deserves credit more than another, it is for the splendid appreciation he showed of what would be required in that international event. He spared neither pains nor expense and was on hand to super-wise in person every detail of the exhibit he had so thoughtfully and tastefully planned. For this he deserved the generous praise he has received throughout the Okanagan. He merited the magnificent triumph he scored and there is surely no citizen in these parts so poor in soul as to begrudge it to him or the community he represents.

But for all that it is not clear that this part of the valley might not, under other circumstances, have divided the spoils more equally with him. Had our fruit been gathered, not from a few acres but from hundreds; had it been selected in anticipation long before it matured, and had the hearty sympathy of the whole community been enlisted in its selection; and then had the debut been made on a scale commensurate with the lofty character of the occasion, there is little doubt but that a larger share of the honors would have come our way.

As it was, our fruit display won praises from all who saw it. One representative English buyer assured Mr. Simpson if Summerland could raise fruit so excellent in flavor and so uniform in size as that displayed, it need never fear for a market as he would be glad to take all they had and pay right prices for it too.

Many were the enquiries as to the district from which our apples came, the average American finding it hard to realize that they were grown in Canada.

Prizes.

But the little Summerland exhibit elicited more than words of admiration; it won more solid tributes from the judges as follows:

Best three-tier box, any variety, in any exhibit, open to the world outside United States; first prize, won by Mr. Thos. Dale with Northern Spies.

Paragon apple, first prize, won by Mr. J. J. Mitchell.

Hubbardson Nonsuch, second prize, won by Mr. Jas. Gartrell.

Salome and Rhode Island Greenings, medal and diploma, Mr. McKenzie.

White Winter Pearmain, fifth prize and diploma, Mr. Jas. Gartrell.

Yellow Belle Fleur, fifth prize and diploma, Mr. Thos. Dale.

If these things can be done here now with the few acres of mature orchards we possess, surely Summerland may expect to more than hold her own against all-comers, when the hundreds of acres she has planted are in full bearing and her people have better learned the fine art of presenting the excellent products they have for sale.

FORTHCOMING CHORAL CLASS CONCERT.

"There is a charm, a power, that sways the breast;

Bids every passion revel or be still;
Inspires with rage, or all our cares dissolves;
Can soothe distraction and almost despair."

So sings the poet and after hearing a rehearsal of the choral class of Okanagan College, we realized that the name of this magical charm is—music.

Judging from the finished performance which we were privileged to hear, the members of the Society have been put through a most thorough course of training during the past term, and it is evident that in the choral class Summerland possesses a musical organization of which any town might well be proud.

The various parts of the chorus are well balanced, giving the effect of a most harmonious ensemble and the solo work is effectively rendered by singers of marked ability.

Every organization is the reflection of a personality, and to the truly artistic interpretation of the conductor, Miss K. C. Davison, is due the perfect tonal shading and expression with which the singers enter into the spirit of a crashing Viking song, the gay abandon of a Bridal Chorus on the reverential hush of the Benedictus.

We understand that the society intends giving a concert in the near future and we trust that the townspeople will take advantage of the opportunity of listening to the performance of this high-class musical organization.

A NEW DEPARTMENT.

Okanagan College has decided to add another department to the literary, musical and business activities already in play. The new thing is a department of elocution and physical culture. The enlargement of operations was made the other day at a meeting of the Board of Governors of the College, and it is understood that the new chair will be offered to Mrs. Van Spankern. Mrs. Van Spankern is a teacher of experience having served some time on the staff of a college in Iowa in that capacity before removing to Lethbridge, Alta, from which point she came to Summerland last fall.

If Mrs. Van Spankern can do as excellent work in the class room as she does on the platform, then Okanagan College is to be congratulated on having secured her services as a teacher. Her public work shows the true dramatic insight and instinct with a fervor and finish that are irresistible.

The college enrollment is now 81.

ANOTHER FIRE AT PENTITION.

A second fire within a few weeks has occurred at Pentiction. On Tuesday evening a couple of business places were burned with considerable loss. The reflection of the blaze was quite visible in Summerland. Would it not be a capital idea for the chief of the Summerland volunteer brigade to see to it that the equipment is in perfect

Peachland

Dr. Boyce of Kelowna spent Friday evening in town.

Miss Flora Needham is spending a few days with friends in Penticton. She is expected home the last of the week.

Mr. O. H. Pollard set out for Winnipeg by Saturday's boat after spending a few weeks with his family here.

Mr. J. L. Vicary went to Penticton Monday on business in connection with the South Okanagan Land Co. He returned Tuesday morning.

Master Osborne Needham met with a nasty accident Wednesday afternoon. While riding a cayuse at full speed it slipped and fell on a crossing and severely bruised his leg below the knee.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Newell of Calgary, representing the Canadian Amusement Co., are in town this week giving moving picture show and illustrated songs. Those who have attended so far pronounce it a very good entertainment indeed.

The following is an extract from a letter received by a lady resident in Peachland:— December 11th, 1908: We went to the Christmas Fat Stock Show at Islington, London. It was a splendid show. We saw the Peachland fruit, it looked splendid. King, the seedsman, had also some fruit there, looking very nice, but nothing to the B.C. fruit.

Nominations were held in the Orange Hall last Monday for the different offices of the new Municipality as well as for School Trustees. That the electors are taking a very lively interest in the new organization is evidenced by the fact that there were no acclamations, every office is to be contested. For Reeve, Mr. J. L. Vicary and Mr. W. A. Lang are the nominees, while for Councillors no less than eight nominations were received by Mr. H. McDougall, returning officer. The following are the aspirants for office: Messrs. S. F. Calender, M. N. Morrison, S. D. McCall, R. H. Houston, C. G. Elliott, Octavius Pope, R. J. Hogg and John Gummow. For School trustees the following were nominated: Miss Minnie Smith, Messrs. P. N. Dorland, A. J. C. Clarence, A. N. Pope, Jno. McLaughlin, Jno. Drought.

D. D. Mann, of the Canadian Northern railway, denied the story that his road had taken over the Wisconsin Central to get in to Chicago.

EDITOR CLEMENT MARRIED.

There took place on Wednesday last in Mount Pleasant Church, Vancouver, a double wedding, half of which is of particular interest to the people of Penticton, for in this ceremony they see one more of their bachelors stepping over the line to join the order of benedicts. At 10.30 Miss Hattie Lonsdale Burritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Burritt, was married to Mr. William James Clement, editor of the Penticton Press. The Review extends its congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Clement and wish them happiness and prosperity in their wedded life.

IT MAKES TROUBLE LATER.

Remarks in English journals like the following from the Standard of Empire make trouble later for innocent souls misled thereby:—"A lady who has had very extensive and varied experience in Canada furnishes some very interesting comments on the position of the woman-worker in the Dominion. Perhaps, says the writer, the first demand of the people of Canada in the female labour market is for lady helps and domestic servants. The Canadian housewife is crying out for a capable woman to come and be a companion to her during the hours that her husband is away about his daily business, and to share with her the work of the house, and, be it added, the social life of her circle. The Canadian lady does not sit in a cushioned apartment and issue her orders through a speaking-tube to her domestic servant. She more often dons the holland apron and turns up her sleeves, and tackles the work of the household by her side; and she feels herself, and everybody acknowledges her to be, no less a lady on that account."

It is to be greatly feared that the "lady" who is responsible for the foregoing has a brain that is much smaller than her heart. Either that or we are blind in one eye and can't see out of the other. We may not know the old land. Indeed we do not pretend to know much about it. But we do think we know something about Canadian methods, manners, customs and conceits, seeing that we have grown up among them; and if we know anything at all the Standard's correspondent is at least a thousand miles out of her reckoning and dismantled and water-logged at that, when she holds that "the Canadian housewife is crying out for a capable woman to come and be a companion to her during the hours that her husband is away about his daily business, and to share with her the work of the house, and be it added, the social life of her circle."

Such a statement may not be malicious in its intent but it certainly is in its effects. The innocent English girl believes it and packs her grip for Canada. The prospect of being a "lady help," a dear companion, and possibly the "guide, philosopher and friend" to her less fortunately located colonial sister, is ever so much brighter than being just plain Jane or Susan at home. It is irresistible. In the goodness of her heart she determines to be faithful and true as a domestic missionary to the benighted, where-soever her lot may be cast, and so sets sail for a world of which she knows about as much as we do of the planet Mars.

Alas, what a disillusionment awaits her when she comes up against that capable, clear-brained Canadian housekeeper who entertains a Governor, executes Wagnerian operas and makes pies with equal facility and finish. Her well-mulled intentions to be a companion and a friend, don't get even so far as an expression. There is something about that lady's tone, eye and manner which somehow doesn't invite to tender confidences. She finds she is not expected to lay an extra plate for herself at the family table; is not invited to join the musical circle around the piano and is not introduced to the Governor and his party at the luncheon. In fact her sphere as it speedily develops, is to be bounded by the kitchen and "upstairs" with regular excursions into the dining and drawing rooms in which she is supposed strictly to be like good little children, seen but not heard.

So she sits down amid the ruins of the castles of her dreams, bitterly disappointed, sullen, disheartened and not caring a penny whether her new mistress is pleased with her work or not, and rather spitefully hoping she may not be.

And she is not, as may be readily guessed, and Jane is soon hunting another "place" and her mistress is registering another vow that she will work her fingers to the bones or employ any other kind of girl under heaven, but never, no never again will she have anything to do with one of those insufferable, English incapables.

Domestic help is needed sadly, badly; and if the English girl will come as such, respecting herself by keeping the dignity of her own personality, doing the work assigned to her and doing it cheerfully and well; doing it as her mistress wants it done, whatever her own notions may be, and regarding it as the plumber, the mason and the carpenter regard theirs, as the honest and honorable share of the world's work and happiness appointed unto them—if the English girl will come out and so mind her own business. she will find a welcome and win from her employer in due time that respect which it is impossible to withhold. And others will respect her too, as they hear that she has made a success in her own sphere as her mistress has in hers.

The Standard has made a bad mistake. Domestic help is wanted in Canada, beyond question; but till our virile Canadian type of civilization has ripened to the weakness of senility and decay, the other variety, the "lady help" and "lady companion" is likely to remain a parasite upon our social order. At the present moment unless our knowledge of Canadian women is most grievously at fault, the heartfelt prayer of every one of them is "From such, O Lord, deliver us."

A meeting of great interest to fruit growers is being arranged for, to take place in February, at which representatives of the various fruitgrowers' associations in B.C., together with representatives of the C.P.R. and express companies, will discuss the important matters of freight and express rates as affecting the fruit growing industry.

London Paper Praises Qualities of the Fruit.

It is quite certain that any children who may visit the exhibition of British Columbian fruit now on view at the Imperial Institute will be converted into enthusiastic emigrants on the spot, says the London Chronicle of a recent date. Such wonderful masses of rosy apples, so perfect in shape, so rich in color, so gigantic in size, have rarely, if ever, been seen in this country before.

Lord Strathcona, who opened the exhibition, remarked that everyone could there see for himself what a wonderful country for fruit-growing British Columbia was. In the southern parts more tender fruits, such as peaches flourished. The country was extremely healthy, chiefly owing to the dryness of the air. The fruit-growing experiments initiated by Lord Aberdeen had proved very successful and profitable, and had been of great advantage to the Dominion.

PROVINCIAL & GENERAL.

A. S. Goodeve, M.P. for Kootenay was given a royal send-off by his Rossland friends on the eve of his departure for Ottawa.

Cranbrook council and school board are quarreling over a $50,000 by-law the trustees want rushed through to put up a new school.

Armstrong has decided to buy the electric light plant in that town for $24,000, the people being in favor of municipal ownership.

As a result of a cut in the C.P.R. grain rate to the coast it is now expected that a great deal of the product of Alberta prairies will be shipped via Vancouver.

Cable advices from England state the Imperial Government has renewed the overseas mail service with the C.P.R. for the sum of $225,000 per annum, and has agreed to allow a longer period for transportation, namely thirty-five and a half instead of thirty-four days between Liverpool and Hong Kong.

The Licensed Victuallers' association of Winnipeg has begun a campaign to have the approaching legislature modify the local option laws by which a majority vote cancels the license to a three-fifths vote and compensation in form of heavy annuities given for bars closed. Apparently a finish fight between saloon keepers and the temperance element is rapidly approaching in Manitoba.

is now within the reach of the man with a little capital, who thinks the limits of a ten acre lot are too small to confine his attention to. Here is a property consisting of 178 acres, 28 acres of which are under water, only two miles distant from Summerland and the C.P.R. wharf, and considerably less than that from Okanagan College. The irrigable portion of the property is first class orchard land with no stones, and can all be brought under cultivation at once. The 150 acres of land enables the purchaser to engage in dairying and stock raising pursuits, while his fruit trees are nearing the bearing stage. Just think of the extent of the holding, its close proximity to town and college, and then ask yourself the question, what would be a reasonable figure to give for such a property. Is it worth a 2-cent stamp to enquire for full information?

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. Chas. Burtch returned from a visit to Kelowna on Monday evening.

Summerland Lodge No. 2036 L.O.L. conferred the Royal Arch degree on a number of candidates on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Jas. Ritchie has commenced to build his estate office upon the Flat next lot to the Store.

Work has been started on the excavation for the building for the Young Men's Club and is being pushed during the fine weather.

Contractors have again resumed operations on road improvements throughout the district since the weather has moderated, and is once again a real Okanagan climate.

On Sunday morning last Rev. Jas. Hood occupied the pulpit of the Methodist Church at Penticton in the morning, Rev. R. J. McIntyre taking the Presbyterian service here in the morning.

A meeting of the Curling Club will be held in the Hotel on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock to arrange for the Vernon Bonspiel and all members are particularly asked to attend promptly. Please be there.

The local Freemasons are getting busy. Having received their dispensation from Grand Lodge, they meet this afternoon (Saturday) in the Orange Hall to elect their principal officer and arrange some formal business.

Our attention has been directed to the fact that private parties have of late been cutting wood on road and street allowances. This practice is against the laws governing the Municipality, and persons continuing such are liable to prosecution.

The offices of Municipal Council have removed to the premises recently occupied by Mr. Chas. H. Cordy. The new Council is considering ways and means of providing a more suitable place in which to meet, and which will also allow room for a public hall and bandroom. The latest idea is to secure the upper floor of the building now occupied by the Fruit Company. Should this meet with the approval of the Council, an outside stairway would be erected. Inside, two separate apartments would be petitioned off, one for the office of the clerk and the other to be used to keep the band instruments, etc., the balance of the hall being available for public gatherings. The idea is a good one and is meeting with general approval.

The Canadian Amusement Company will give an exhibition of moving pictures, illustrated songs, etc. in Empire Hall on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings of next week. The eastern press speaks highly of the show.

THE WEATHER.

Once more the weather has resumed normal conditions. On Sunday evening, after a gradual breaking away from the cold spell prevailing throughout the valley for two weeks, a heavy downpour of rain followed by warm, bright days has taken all the snow away, ruined the skating and curling, and residents are now enjoying spring weather, windows and doors being thrown open to admit of the balmy breezes. Motor boats and canoes have been visible on the lake for the past few days, and generally things are getting back to the regular routine of affairs.

Mrs. Scaife and family left on Saturday for Vancouver.

Mr. Harold Sharpe has gone to Vancouver where he expects to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Pittman have moved into their snug little home to the south of the town.

Mr. A. G. Robertson visited Penticton on Tuesday. He reports a much heavier fall of snow at that end of the lake.

By the way, have you seen the ferry? Has it drifted down to the ice jam pile at Penticton? has it frozen up in the sunny waters of Summerland?—maybe it has been "hailed up" and is waiting for its trial to come off. This irregular ferry accommodation at present is, let us hope, soon to end, especially so if the present state of the lake continues.

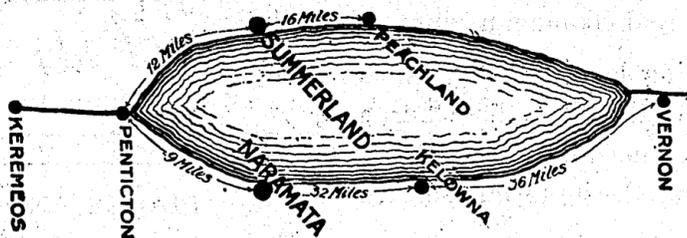

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Wellband entertained at their charming home last Saturday evening. The chief forms of amusements were cards and dancing, the music for the latter being furnished by Mrs. King, piano; Mr. Crawshaw, violin; Mr. Manchester, gramophone. During the course of the evening cake and coffee were served by the host and hostess, assisted by Miss Mitchell and Mrs. Gillespie. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. Boothe, Mr. and Mrs. King, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Pittman, Mr. and Mrs. Mulford, the Misses Mitchell, Miss Hayward, and Messrs. Nuttall, Hill, Land, Crawshaw, Endacott and Kenyon.

The following books have been placed in the library: Baxter's Second Innings, Men of Achievement, Drake the Sea King, Great Battles of the British Navy, Lost in the Jungle, The Trial of the Gold Seeker, A Tramp Across the Continent, Boy Travellers in South America, The Iron Star, Practical Track and Field Athletics, American Boy's Handy Book, The Forest, Nature and the Camera, The Half Back, The White Company, The Crusaders, Uncle Remus, With Wolfe in Canada, The Day's Work, Second Jungle Book, Boys' Mabonogion, Calumetk, Kindred of the Wild, Off the Rocks, Black Arrow, The Bishop's Shadow, Mate of the Good Ship York, Story of 19th Century Science, How to get Strong, Principles of Fruit Growing, The Pillar of Light, Ivanhoe, Les Miserables, The Whispering Smith, From Midshipman to Field Marshal, David Copperfield, The Blazed Trail, Many Cargoes, Man Eaters of Isava.

Whilst the privileges of the library are free to members of the Athletic Club, non-members may avail themselves of privileges by paying the nominal fee of one dollar per year. Books may be exchanged every Wednesday evening at 7:30, in the Hotel rotunda.

The Canadian Amusement Co. come highly recommended by the eastern press.

An adjourned business meeting of the Baptist Congregations of Summerland will be held in the Methodists Church Building on Monday evening January 25th at 8 o'clock sharp. Will all the friends interested please remember this meeting and be in attendance at the hour named.

The merchants of town have received from the wholesale houses that the C. P. R. has refused to carry any more freight into the Okanagan. No reason is assigned for this strange and embarrassing turn of affairs, but it is thought and hoped that the discontinuance is only temporary and caused by a glut of freight on the main line, owing to the recent severe weather.

BIBLE SOCIETY ORGANIZED.

At a meeting addressed by Rev. J. F. Jones of Vancouver in the Methodist Church on Wednesday night, it was decided to organize a branch of the Canadian Bible Society, which is auxiliary to the British and Foreign of England. The following officers were elected: Pres., Rev. A. Solly; Vice-Pres., Mr. J. J. Wallace; Secy., Mr. Robson; Treas., Mr. R. H. English. Rev. Jas. Hood occupied the chair during the evening.

Mr. Jones, who is evidently very earnest and very much of his own kind, stated that he had been sent to Vancouver to found a depository and to open up work in the province. In the course of a year he had succeeded in raising $3,000.00 which had been spent in the interests of his work. He says there are 70 languages spoken in this province, in 60 of which he has already sold scriptures.

That two locomotives and six railway cars should be precipitated a hundred yards down an embankment with a drop of over one hundred feet to the brink of the Fraser river, that only the two engine drivers should be killed, and that of the hundred and fifty passengers in the coaches which went over the cliff only some twenty-eight should be slightly injured—all escaping without a broken bone—is considered the miraculous feature of last Friday's wreck on the C.P.R. near Yale.

Besides the two locomotives the cars which went over the embankment were in the order in which they were made up in the train following the engines—the mail, express, baggage, colonist, first-class day coach and tourist. The next car in the train was the diner, and though it still remained coupled to the overturned tourist coach, only the front trucks left the rails.

The colonist, day coach and tourist cars were all well filled with passengers, and it was in those coaches that all the injured passengers were riding. The majority were bruised in the shaking up received as the cars plunged down the hill; some were cut by breaking glass, some escaped without even a scratch, but all were frightened as they scrambled to recover a footing in the coaches which were all lying on their sides. Despite the steepness of the declivity down which the cars were carried it is a remarkable fact that not one of them turned completely over—each one remaining on its side and skidding down the hill till it came to rest.

Left standing on the track were the dining car Chester and the sleeping cars Ottawa, Aylmer and Barnsley. The passengers in the three sleepers hardly felt the shock when the forward end of the train made its fatal leap.

Hooked up together and pulling the train through the heavy drifts of snow were engines Nos. 496 and 841. They were working in a blinding snowstorm and neither engineers nor firemen could have seen the snowslide responsible for the accident till they were practically on top of it. The train had left North Bend on its run to the coast, following the snowplow. It was not a heavy train, being merely a local made up at Medicine Hat to fill a gap consequent upon the it a short distance and then mounting the fact that two regular westbound express trains were many hours behind time, but snow was falling so heavily that the engineers were running slowly to be on the safe side of danger.

At 12:30 o'clock the engines plunged into a snowbank 50 feet long and not more than six feet deep at Sailor Bar bluff, just east of Saddle Rock siding and seven and a half miles east of Yale. At the time the train was moving at the rate of about 20 miles an hour, and when the slide was struck she was running on a practically straight piece of track.

The slide was packed so hard that instead of cutting through the bank as might have been expected the head engine, No. 496, with Engineer Clifford Carscadden at the throttle and H. Finnie, fireman, dashed into snow left the rails and plunged over the cliff.

Engine No. 841, of which James Foster was engineer and S. F. Cranston fireman, followed the head locomotive in its dive. The couplings between the engines and between them and the following cars failed to snap, and the weight of the giant locomotives pulled the mail, express, baggage, colonist, day coach and tourist cars from the rails and down the embankment.
