THE APPLE SHOW.

The following letter, which is self-explanatory, has been received from the Agricultural Department by the secretary of the local apple show :

R. Pollock, Esq.,
Secy. Summerland Agricultural Assn.,
Summerland.

Dear Sir,

I beg to inform you that the Department of Agriculture is making arrangements for packing demonstrations at your forthcoming Exhibition, and will provide a competent packer, together with necessary supplies to be used in the demonstration work. I need not state that this feature at your Exhibition should be the means of arousing a very lively interest in the fruit growing industry, and I would suggest your giving full and ample publicity to same in all your programs, prize lists, and catalogues, so that the public may be made fully aware of what should no doubt prove a very attractive feature in the holding of your exhibition.

Yours very truly,

ALBERT E. CRADDOCK,
Secretary Agricultural Fairs Association.

FAREWELL SERVICE TO MR. J. J. WALLACE.

On Sunday afternoon there was a pleasant service in the Baptist Church, West Summerland. It was especially Sunday School Sunday. The school sang a number of pieces suitable to summer and flower time, and beautiful flowers were much in evidence. Mr J. J. Wallace, for two and a half years the superintendent of the school, gave a farewell address previous to leaving for Vancouver. Rev. Mr Estabrook spoke words of appreciation of Mr Wallace, both as Superintendent of Sunday School and Treasurer of the College, outlining a history of the school in its development from a small tent to its present quarters. A beautiful American Standard R. V. Bible with concordance was then presented to Mr Wallace.

Mr Williamson, the interdenominational field secretary for British Columbia Sunday Schools, then gave his interesting and powerful address on the World Sunday School Convention at Washington.

OUR PEACHES BEAT NIAGARA PRODUCTIs Vancouver Man's Opinion.

The following letter has been received from a business man at the coast :

To Messrs. Young & Moore,
West Summerland, B.C.

Dear Sirs :

Your postcard of the 17th inst. received advising shipment by express of one box of peaches, which have arrived. I must congratulate you upon the quality of the fruit you sent. My original home was in St. Catherines Ontario, in the Niagara district, and of course you know that the people in that district pride themselves in the claim that they produce the finest peaches grown, but if any superior to yours is raised in the world they have got to show me.

I am,

Yours very truly,

W. H. W---

SUMMERLAND CANNERY.

This is now an actual fact, as the full cans testify, and the growers are well pleased that their culls have now a market. Up to the present the overripe and undersized fruit has not been saleable, and the result has been not satisfactory, this is no more, as the plant on the wharf is up to date in every respect, and capable of handling 7000 2lb. cans per day. At present there are 30 working away, and peaches are being handled. The fruit is first pitted, then scalded and peeled. The cans are then filled with the fruit and syrup added, the lid is fastened on automatically, and the contents boiled. The fruit is handled very little indeed, only when the stone is extracted, and as there is no solder or other sealing solution used the product produced is of the very best.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

This Saturday the first stage of the Price Ellison Cup is shot off, and this being class firing also, every member is requested to make a special effort and attend.

On Saturday last, at the rifle range, the following were the scores above 80 :

HOW CANADA GROWS.

As a result of the great amount of railway construction in the Canadian West that portion of the Dominion is building towns on the wholesale plan. The Canadian government and the railroads, working in harmony, intend to lay out and populate 220 towns during next year and the remainder of this.

It is stated that an average of three new towns will be placed on the map of Canada every week during the next eighteen months. Along the new Grand Trunk Pacific system will be placed about 150 of these embryo cities; the Canadian Pacific railway will build up new towns along its roadbed whenever there are more than sixteen miles between existing stations; the Canadian Northern has entered the new town building scheme, and will place thirty-five new towns as it drives its 3000 mile extension through the unbroken wilderness of the Northwest.

The government has mapped out a scheme whereby it will populate the new towns as fast as the townsites are laid out. First the railroad will erect a station, then an elevator will be built, so that the farmers will be assured of a local market for their crops; then a school building will be started, and while all these preparations are under way the host of Canadian Immigration agents in the United States will be actively engaged in trying to secure an American population for the towns and surrounding farm lands.—Province.

NEW POST OFFICE RULES.

Our postmaster formulates the following rules for the benefit of his patrons, and that you may know what you may exact : No letters given out until they have been received. If you don't get a letter or a paper on the day you expect it have the postmaster look through all the boxes and down the cellar also. It ought to be there somewhere and he likes to hunt for it just to please you. If your friend don't write rave at the postmaster. He is to blame. If he tells you no, put on a grieved look and say there ought to be some. He is probably hiding your mail for the pleasure of having you call for it. Ask him to look again. If you are buying stamps make him lick them and put them on, that's his business.

Local News Items.

The road to success is paved with good advertisements.

Dr. and Mrs. Munro, from Vancouver, are at present in town. They are in residence on their property in Peach Valley.

It is probable that the proprietors of the Fruit Magazine will erect a tent for business at the forthcoming local Apple Show.

It is said that a goose drinks water one hundred times a day. Some geese don't drink water at all.

The new addition to the hotel is now in its place, and work is being pushed forward to have it in readiness at as early a date as possible.

The SS. Kaleden is once more under way. She has a roving commission, and is freighting from all points of the lake, calling where the captain thinks it advisable.

A man never realizes the superiority of woman so much as when he is sewing on a button without a thimble, pushing the needle against the wall to get it half way through, and pulling it through the other half by hanging on to it with the teeth.

The College authorities this year are inviting tenders for supplies. On account of the enormous increase of students this has become necessary, and the approximate quantity of goods required may be obtained from the secretary to the board.

For starting a fire on his lot at Trout Creek without a permit a resident was this week brought up to answer the charge, and he was leniently dealt with. This is the first case in the community, and a warning to others who neglect to carry out the law in respect to burning brush, etc.

Pull together, brethren. We are all here for the same purpose. Then live and let live. The best way to build up a town is for each and every man to pull together and not strive to rend and tear down. All the residents of a town are partners' not opponents. In all likelihood the more business done by your rival the more you will do. Every merchant who treats his customers honestly and fairly will get his share, and the more business that can be secured by united effort, the better it will be for all.

The bush fires in the Kootenays are still raging, the district being covered with a heavy pall of smoke. Navigation on the main Kootenay lake is conducted with difficulty—the steering having to be accomplished by use of the compass. One gentleman tried to cross the lake in a row boat but got lost, and rowed for eight miles before he got his bearings.

In Northern Idaho the White Pine Forests are still burning fiercely, the flames travelling at times at the rate of 60 miles an hour. Out of a force of 600 firefighters, there are 300 missing, and it is feared that they have perished in the flames.

If those who use the roads would think a little there would be little cause for complaint. It is a very common thing for drivers with a heavy load going to the flats to place a rock behind the wheel of their wagon. This they get from the side of the road. One does not object to the rock being used, but it is the fact that they are left there for some other person to drive over, thereby causing unnecessary jolting to the fruit which comes down. If the drivers would see to it that as soon as their team starts up again they remove the rock this complaint would not be necessary.

The piledriver is now busy driving in bents for the new wharf which will extend out in the lake for a distance of 255 feet. At the same time the packing house nearby is fast nearing completion, and that part of the town will soon be busy. It is high time, for at present the old wharf is taxed to the utmost, and during the last week great difficulty has been experienced in clearing off the many car loads of stuff which have arrived.

MARKET REPORT.

Extracts from Commissioner J. C. Metcalfe's Weekly Bulletin.

Winnipeg.—I find jobbers here quite ready to buy B.C. fruit if assured as to obtaining it, after ordering, on date required. Demand is good and prices are firmer for all varieties of fruit. Jobbers state they would prefer to buy B.C. peaches as profits would be larger than on the California product, and that is their point always. They do not look for the low prices to which the earlier reports and quotations pointed.

Regina.—Jobbers are desirous of buying B.C. peaches but are afraid to order because of uncertainty of obtaining shipment on time. Growers and shippers in B.C. should be able to assure jobbers as to date of shipping and keep trace of cars.

Saskatoon.—I saw a car of mixed fruit from Vernon, shipped on Aug. 3, arrived here on the 11th—8 days in transit. The peaches, apples and plums though ripe were good, but the apricots and cucumbers were too ripe. Consignee stated he would have to sell in town; too ripe to be shipped out to rural points. The following day I examined another car of mixed fruit and vegetables from Vernon; shipped August 5, arrived on the 12th—seven days in transit. Consignee stated that on opening this car the temperature was 70 degrees, and no ice whatever in the bunkers; icing in transit was certainly neglected. The potatoes were good, apricots a total loss, beans dry and mouldy, and apples sound but below grade.

Growers and shippers are evidently letting peaches and apricots ripen on the trees too much before picking. Shippers must insist that transportation company examine cars in transit, and filling bunkers with ice when necessary to prevent variation in temperature. Avoid filling cars too full and brace securely to avoid slurring of crates. When shipping mixed cars put apricots and peaches near the bunkers and apples to the centre. Keep trace of cars either from shipping point or destination, and be able to divert in transit if necessary.

Bears are getting cheeky in Whitemouth, Man. There being hardly any water they are making for the vicinity of the towns. The other night a farmer met four, he had his rifle with him and shot one which turned on him, and he was badly mauled. His cries brought a neighbor and between them they despatched Bruin. At the present time the people in the district hardly ever travel without a rifle on account of the brutes.

Earl Grey has started for the frozen north. He is travelling en route for York Factory.

Two young fellows named Roy and Meade met their death in Winnipeg last Monday. They were working at the electric light wires, and Roy touched a live wire and was instantly killed, and Meade attempted to rescue him, but met the same fate. They were working without rubber gloves which are provided for all employees.

A porter named William Palmer was shot and killed at the hotel at Kragg on Saturday last, and the murderer, Martin Hellar, took to the bush. He was hunted down, but kept his pursuers at bay with a 30.30 rifle for some considerable time. A shot from constable Gorman brought him down, but he gained cover in a disused shack, and it was some time ere he gave in. He was ultimately captured and taken to the hospital at Fernie, where his wound was attended to. In all probability it will prove fatal.

Dr. Crippen and Miss LeNeve have been extradited to England on the liner 'Megantic' which left Montreal last Friday. Old Country justice is swift, so that the mystery surrounding Mrs. Crippen's death will soon be either solved or deepened.

By reason of the great success of Vancouver's first fair, which closed on Saturday, its directors and officials now suggest the holding of a great world's exposition in 1917 to celebrate the jubilee of confederation. Others favor 1918 as a more appropriate year. The directors intend to aim for a big event from now on, and will request the city and provincial government to make a grant of additional land in Hastings Park, which will give the exhibition a total of nearly two hundred acres of meadow, forest, mountain and seashore, making the site one of the most ideal on the continent. The federal government will also be approached for a grant.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Woodworth wish to thank their many friends of Summerland for the kindness and sympathy shown them during the recent illness and death of their little loved one.

On Wednesday night a team standing outside T. E. Moore's store started off at a trot down towards town, journeying by the gulch road. They negotiated this alright, but when near the hospital they got a fright, and careered off at a good pace, finishing up by smashing the rig, and also two others with which they collided. Freda Woodburn was knocked down by them, and got her head badly cut. She received every attention, and is getting along alright now.

THE ANGEL OF THE CRIMEA.

In the passing of Florence Nightingale at the age of ninety years the world loses one of its most beautiful and heroic characters. We say "beautiful" because she was deservedly called "the angel of the Crimea" as the following classic tribute sent home from the front will show: "Wherever there is disease in its most dangerous form, and the hand of the despoiler distressingly high, there is that incomparable woman sure to be seen; her benignant presence is an influence for good comfort even amid the struggles of expiring nature. She is a "ministering angel" without exaggeration in these hospitals, and, as her slender form glides quietly along each corridor, every poor fellow's face softens with gratitude at the sight of her. When all the medical officers have retired for the night, and silence and darkness have settled down upon those miles of prostrate sick, she may be observed alone, with a little lamp in her hand, making her solitary round."

That she was heroic is evidenced by the fact that she blazed a new trail at the usual price—the social frown, words from the doctors that were like bullets, and words from her friends and equals that were little better than spear thrusts. Yet she never faltered nor swerved from her high ideal.

To understand what she endured and accomplished we have to remember that Florence Nightingale was by birth and breeding a lady. She was highly educated, speaking half a dozen languages fluently, and was well up in science and mathematics. When she began her work of caring for the sick, and generally ameliorating social conditions, nursing was the work of Sairy Gamps, "reeking of onions and rum, with one hand on their patient's pillow and the other in his pocket." To be identified with them was to be as those who have touched the unclean thing.

Yet this noble, clear-brained girl, seeing that much of the misery was simply due to ignorance and bad sanitary conditions among the poor, quietly immolated herself on the altar of public service, in the hope that by patient continuance in better doing she might ultimately effect a change for the better in the lives of those about her.

It is another evidence of the power of her intellect that before tackling this huge task of reformation she should have seen so clearly the need of most careful preparation on her own part. She not only investigated the methods of caring for the sick in England but walked the hospitals of Dublin, Edinburgh, France, Germany and Italy. In the most noted hospital in Germany she enrolled herself as a voluntary nurse in 1849, and when she returned to England she knew more than any person in the land regarding hospital work.

Small wonder then that when there reached England the howls of the dying soldiers, whose lives, in the care of brutal and drunken army surgeons, were being worn out in filth and vermin as might be those of mongrel curs in a kennel, the war office should beg this cultured lady to come to their help by leading out there a company of English women to care for English soldiers, as French women were caring for those of France. She went, and order and cleanliness soon came out of chaos and dirt. Of the army uniforms she found so encrusted with filth and vermin that many soldiers preferred to go without coat or shirt rather than wear them, she made a bonfire, to the great delight of the men and the scandal of the surgeons. Things were made hard for her in other ways, but she persevered, and finally cleaned things up and so saved the lives of thousands dying of neglect. Worn out she took fever but refused to return to England till her work was done. When she did England was at her feet. But she did not want it and escaped the tribute by booking for home as simply Miss Smith.

Later on, when the government requested her to report on the reform of sanitary conditions, she presented such a report as, it is said, has never from that day to this been excelled by any body of sanitary experts summoned to investigate defective conditions.

It is pleasing to think that honors of many kinds did come after all to that noble spirit. A special jewel from Victoria, the Albert medal, herself and the Queen the only two women on whom it was ever conferred; a large sum of money from popular subscription, with which she built a hospital, and training school for nurses—these and other distinctions attested the esteem in which her life and work have been held by great and small alike. She was worthy of them all, and dying, leaves behind her a name imperishable in the annals of the splendid few born to great achievements.

With her usual modesty she requested a quiet funeral; and refused a tomb among the illustrious dead in Westminster Abbey.

♦ ♦ ♦ Naramata Notes ♦ ♦ ♦

Mr Gordon Jury from Bowmanville, Ont., spent the fore part of the week in town the guest of his university friend, Mr Will Robinson.

At the close of the morning service last Sunday Miss Vera Palmer and Miss Gladys Robinson sang an acceptable song.

The "Kaleden," the new C.P.R. steamer, paid Naramata her first visit to deliver freight.

Mr W. H. Pefley has added another 320 acres to his possessions in the neighborhood of Penticton. This makes his block comprise 960 acres.

Mr Walter Land leaves early next week for the South. His intention is to spend the fall and winter in the fruit districts of Washington.

Numerous stories are afloat regarding the depredations of the coyotes amongst the local poultry yards. It may yet be found necessary to make a united effort to exterminate the thieves.

The road construction gang under foreman W. Nuttall are making good progress on the way to Chute Creek, their objective point.

Mr Robinson spent a couple of days this week back of Peachland examining, with others, the sources of Deep Creek.

Mayor Gaynor of New York is fast gaining health. The wound caused by the shot of the would-be assassin is gradually healing, and his physicians are considering plans for his removal to his home.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

The Premier of Canada

By sheer force of ability and the compelling power of character, Sir Wilfrid Laurier has reached the highest position in Canadian politics, and won a name that "must live in the annals of the British Empire." He has overridden obstacles that would have daunted a man of less virile genius and patriotism. Though French was his ancestry and language, and Catholicism his religion, he has become the leader of the destinies of a great English-speaking nation, the larger part of whose people are Protestants.

He was born in St. Lin, Quebec, in 1841, of a family of rebels who fought bravely under Papineau in the revolt of 1837. From the little country school where his teacher, a Scotchman, spurred his ambition and powerfully influenced his life, he passed to L'Assomption College, and in 1864, after completing his course in law, entered the Bar. When he made his début in politics in 1871 as a member of the Quebec Assembly, his magic eloquence, the fearlessness, strength and finality of his words, and the mastery by which he brought order out of chaos, light out of darkness, thrilled his audience.

Three years later he resigned from the Legislature and was returned to the House of Commons on the overthrow of the Macdonald government. In 1876 he became minister of inland revenue, and two years later changes in politics deprived him of this position. He was the acknowledged leader of the Liberals who were the Opposition party until 1896, when after eighteen years of waiting, the reins of government again came into their hands and in the first flush of triumph they made him Premier.

His statesmanship has been broad, liberal, far-sighted; his patriotism and his love of liberty are manifest in every act and word. He loves and cherishes the British Empire, and glories in the part that Canada takes in it; but as a Power of great possibility, sharing with the United States the golden future of the American continent, he demands of England and the world the recognition of Canada, not as a babe in the swaddling clothes of a colony, but as a full grown nation of virility and assured triumph.

Tall, erect, with a handsome presence, clean-shaven face, clear, penetrating blue eyes, a firm mouth, broad shoulders, a brow masterful and dignified, a voice soft, sonorous and ever with the suggestion of unexpended reserve, a smile gentle and soothing as a benediction, with a courtesy and kindness that surround him as an aura—this is Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canada's greatest orator and statesman.

Entered according to Act of the Parliament of Canada, in the year 1904, by W. C. Mack, at the Department of Agriculture.

Charles G. Hubbard, of the Hubbard, Elliott Company, narrowly escaped death when charged by a bull moose while hunting in the Lake Kenai county. He killed the enraged animal when it was only ten feet away. The horns are said to be the most beautiful yet found in this section of Alaska.

At Vernon, on Tuesday, Mr. H. C. Schulthers of Coldstream had a close call. He was driving across the railway track, and his wagon rumbling heavily, he did not hear a train which was approaching. It struck the fore part of his wagon completely smashing it and one of the horses was killed. Mr. Schulther was bruised, but luckily escaped with his life.

AT REST.

On Sunday August 21st, after a brief illness of one week, Susie Annabel Woodworth, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Woodworth, aged three years and three months.

As a result of information laid by James Bates, provincial game warden for Moyie district, E. G. Gwynne, a Moyie merchant, and Arthur Peachey, an employee of the Consolidated company at the St Eugene concentrator there, appeared before E. A. Hill, J.P., charged with shooting a black bear and a cub out of season. The accused pleaded ignorance of the game regulations and were fined the minimum penalty of $25 and costs. The accused contributed $27 each to the provincial treasury.

The new science teacher at the College is Mr Guy M'Adam. He is a graduate of University of New Brunswick, and also M.A. of same university. For two years he took up special science work at Harvard, from which place he comes to Summerland. As a teacher he is well qualified, having already had six years experience in that capacity.

The new Shore road between Peachland and Summerland is fast forging ahead. It is now possible to get saddle horse along to Crescent Beach, and at the rate the improvements are going along, rigs will soon be able to journey up to there also. The heavy blasting which is going on was responsible for a landslide this side of Crescent Beach on Tuesday. No one was working near at the time, and the earth displaced went down on to the road, and a goodly portion in the lake.

For those intending to travel, and requiring sleeping accommodation, it would be advisable to notify the local agent. For instance there were 150 went down to the exhibition at the coast recently, no notification as to number could be forwarded, hence the sleeping accommodation was naturally inadequate, and many were disappointed. To avert this, it is easy, and the travellers should notify early, at least five days ahead.

It would be interesting to know the record for the number of peaches eaten in one day. We have heard of one case where a kid of ten ate 50. A week or so ago two pretty big kids started in a box, and finished it, but like Oliver Twist they wanted more but they were not forthcoming.

We owe it to the community in which we live to do everything we can in every way possible that will be to its advantage. Our neighbor's prosperity means a great deal more to us than someone's who lives elsewhere. We should bear this in mind in buying our goods. We can afford to pay our home man a firm price for his wares rather than send our money away, knowing as we do that every dollar our own citizen makes will help in sustaining our schools, churches and public institutions. It pays richly to patronize home industry.

Up to the present time about 130 tons of fruit has been shipped from the district, consisting chiefly of peaches. This as yet is a very small amount, as the late peach crop and apple crop will be exceptionally heavy according to the reports on the orchards.

The "buzzer" at the cannery is O.K. It is amusing to see the watches pulled out to see if they are right. One benefit is that there is little variance in time nowadays, and anyhow there are at least two timekeepers actually alike—a rare occurrence in our town.

Inspector Miller came in last week-end to go over the ground and see if Summerland has the required number of pupils eligible to attend a high school. The prospects are that his report to the Department will favour the establishment of such a school.

The Triumph crop is now over, and the Yellow St John is almost finished, the Early Crawfords are now coming along and Elbertas are expected in a few days. A good many apples are being packed just now, and a load of pears came in last week for shipment. The packing houses will soon be in full swing again with the late peaches and early apples.

Provincial and General

14,000 Scotch people emigrated to Canada last year, and it is estimated that this year's figures will be 80 per cent or even 100 per cent better. They go chiefly to Ontario and British Columbia.

The discovery of copper and gold in the mountains lately near Hope, B.C., started a stampede out of the little town that bids fair to empty the town in record time. The first few claims staked out are reported to be rich in copper and gold. This is the first gold excitement that has troubled Hope since the big rush of 1858.
