St. Andrew's & Caledonian Society.

First Social of the Season.

A delightful evening full of the hearty sociability characteristic of their "hame-land" was spent by the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society last Friday, when, joined by friends, the members had their first social for the season, in the Campbell Hall. Under the shadow of the entwined St. Andrew's cross and the Union Jack, which decked the room, a large and merry company went through a splendid program of Scottish music and of Scottish dances, and the whole evening was redolent with the true atmosphere of "Bonnie Scotland."

There could be no mistake about the kind of entertainment that was being carried on. The sight of sprigs of blooming heather frae "Auld Scotia's" hills, and the broad Scotch dialect heard on all sides was sufficient to convince anyone of the nationality of the majority of those present.

The president of the Society, Mr. J. G. Robertson made a hearty and cordial chairman, and in a few characteristic and humorous remarks referred to the achievements the world over of his fellow countrymen, and his sentiments were promptly applauded.

The musical program, a lengthy one, was capably interpreted by a large company of talented members and friends, and many items on it, of course, were chosen from the overflowing measure of the national music.

Rev. C. H. Daly gave an interesting address on the aim of the society, and later a reading.

After the serving of refreshments—a bountiful supply of all sorts of dainties provided by the ladies—the floor was cleared for dancing. Here again the national element was marked, and Messrs. T. Blaikie and T. Ramsay provided many Scottish dances. Mr. R. Callan made an admirable master of ceremonies.

It was growing very late when after the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," with due ceremony and enthusiasm, a reluctant company dispersed into a glorious moonlight night which had specially favored the happy occasion.

The committee deserve great commendation for their efforts, resulting in such a successful affair.

Following is the program which it seems unnecessary to say, was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated:

Special mention should be made of the kind services of Mrs. D. L. Sutherland who was a most sympathetic and capable accompanist throughout, no light task. Miss Secret accompanied her brother in his violin selections. Miss Benia Logic also accompanied Mrs. Lang in her rendering of the "Bluebells of Scotland."

STORAGE DAMS.

During the past few weeks some good work has been accomplished at the head waters of both Eneas and Trout Creeks under the direction of Supt. Mitchell. The lake from which Eneas Creek draws its supply has been dammed and a headgate put in. A pipe was placed three or four feet below the original level, and this, together with the increased head given by the dam, will make seven feet of water available for the dry season.

Another considerable body of water will be held by the dam put on another lake above the present dam at the head of Trout Creek. This is a lake covering considerable area, and has been raised 8 ft. by means of the dam.

Our Thanksgiving Banquet.

A Brilliant Success.

Both socially, and as indicative of the public spirit of Thanksgiving, the banquet held in the Men's Club on Monday last was certainly a brilliant success. Invitations had been sent out plentifully in the name of Rev. and Mrs. Lee, and responses from all classes and churches gathered together in cordial good fellowship a very large company in the beautifully decorated rooms. By the bountiful provision of a large proportion of the ladies of our community a splendid menu was produced for the banquet, thoroughly typical of "Harvest plenty," and certainly was evidence of the perfect culinary powers of our local housewives!

The picturesque and charming scene presented at the hour of the opening of the proceedings would have done credit to any similar function in some large city and centre of important population.

A most elaborate and artistic scheme of decoration had been carried out by a committee of willing workers with Mr. Martin Beavis as leading spirit, and the effect was really beautiful. Heavy garlands of the brilliantly tinted scarlet and purple Oregon grape swung across and across overhead from a cunningly wrought centre-piece fresco in pale pink and white. Shields and similar devices with appropriate lettering framed in vivid autumn foliage hung on the wall, and there were flowers everywhere. The long tables with their snowy napery groaned under the burden of good things and as every lady contributing had provided silver and cutlery there was an exceedingly effective service.

Epergne full of choice fruit, and tall vases of flowers, some of them perfect late roses, crimson, pink and cream, stood at intervals up and down the tables, and green smilax trailed prettily from centrepiece to centrepiece. By the place of each guest were placed tiny bouquets of flowers, sweet pens, nasturtiums and roses according to the prevailing scheme of decoration at each table. Adding to the brilliant aspect of the room were the pretty gowns worn by all the ladies present, and most of the younger ones acted as ready and deft waitresses.

It was not long before the assembly settled to their places for the business of the evening—the enjoyment of the menu—and Mr. H. C. Mellor President of the Board of Trade, presided over a merry company. The toast list was long one, commencing as fitting, with "King and Country," proposed by Mr. R. H. English. This was given with musical honors, the entire company rising and singing the National Anthem. "The Old Folks at Home" was proposed in a neat little speech by Mr. Gilbert Thornber, the Rev. R. W. Lee responding. "The Ladies," given by Mr. J. R. Brown in most felicitous terms, was replied to most gracefully by Mrs. D. H. Watson. The other toasts were: "Our Educational Institutions," by Rev. R. W. Lee, Mr. G. J. C. White responding for the College, and Municipal Schools, and Mr. Mott for the Central School; "The Clergy" by Dr. Andrew, replied to by Rev. C. H. Daly.

Significant speeches of the evening were those of Mr. J. L. Hillborn, who, in proposing the "Success of Summerland" pictured a glowing future for our community, and of Mr. H. C. Mellor who gave some remarkable figures illustrating a present state of affairs. Regarding the imports and exports of Summerland these figures showed a great discrepancy between the two, the imports being three times the value of the exports. While predicting that the imports would remain stationary, the President of the Board of Trade declared his belief that the exports would, from henceforth, increase rapidly and would, next year, double the record of the present. In four years they would assuredly amount to half a million dollars, and thus be near-

PEACHLAND ANNIVERSARY.

Next Sunday, October 26, special anniversary services will be observed in connection with the Peachland Baptist Church. A Harvest Thanksgiving sermon will be preached in the morning by Rev. H. G. Estabrook, of Vancouver. The Anniversary sermon will be preached in the evening by Rev. F. W. Pattison, of Summerland. As all other services will be withdrawn for that day, the public are heartily invited to worship with the Baptist friends.

On Monday evening an illustrated lecture will be given by Rev. H. G. Estabrook on "The Earthly Ministry of Our Lord. Views of British Columbia will also be shown. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Prospects for Pre-Cooling.

Experimentor Meets Fruit Union.

Before leaving for the Coast Mr. Edwin Smith met the directors of the Summerland Fruit Union and laid before them some details with reference to the pre-cooling plant, the erection of which he directed and which he managed during the peach season.

It was late in the season before the plant was ready, and only nine cars of peaches went through the pre-cooling plant. The excellent condition when the fruit maintained in transit and after unloading fully exemplified the advantages of pre-cooling.

Valuable use was also made of the plant in holding a large quantity of cooled fruit in readiness for packing. This was perhaps the best use to which the plant was put. During the period of operation some 3,850 packages of outside fruit were also held in cold storage.

In all 40 tons of ice and 4 tons of salt were used, and about 4 hours labor a day was required for crushing, etc. Mr. Smith estimates that 5 horse power, for 7 hours per day was the amount of current used.

In discussing the future with the Union directors Mr. Smith intimated that it might be well for the Union to erect an ice house on the hill above the pre-cooling plant, recommending a building 20 x 24, 14 ft. high, which would hold 120 tons of ice. Beside this he would build a place for the crusher about 8 ft. square. The crushed ice could then be sluiced directly into the fan-room.

During his stay here Mr. Smith has been making a number of experiments with reference to fruit temperatures, and the best way to handle the soft fruits. He is convinced that it would be of great advantage to leave the day's picking in the orchard boxes in the orchard boxes in the orchard over night, and to bring these in the early morning to the packing house. In this way the expense of pre-cooling would be lessened, and the fruit could be handled to much better advantage here. He found fruit temperatures to run to 82 degrees when brought in during the heat of the day. Fruit in this condition should be immediately chilled, but to do this would run the risk of sweating after being brought out to be packed. After standing in the orchard over-night and brought in early in the morning the fruit could be packed during the day and put into the cooler.

It would seem probable that the government will require that at least the expense of ice and salt must be borne locally next season.

As the period for experimenting was so short it is reasonable to suppose that Mr. Smith will continue along his line for another season before this plant should be adopted as a model for other pre-cooling plants to be built throughout the province.

LUCID!

A small boy, a member of our public school had the task given to him on Tuesday of writing some account of the trip he had taken with some of his schoolmates on Thanksgiving Day to the railway tunnel beyond Naramata. He wrestled with words for some time and finally produced this laconic and beautifully lucid word picture. "We climbed the hill to the big tunnel. We saw a donkey there, and ate our dinner at its mouth!"

Now a Novelty -- Soon a Reality.

Someone has aptly remarked that one hundred years from now people would be looking back at the last century in much the same attitude with which we now regard that era which observed with awe the first steamboat and the first railroad train. Why, we think we have reached the limit with our forty story skyscrapers, our mile-a-minute trains, and our giant ocean steamers. But people of the future will not be amazed at buildings 400 stories high, and will regard trains that travel 100 miles an hour as no great feat. Then instead of land transportation and water transportation, air transportation will be used exclusively. People going to work, going visiting, going to the theatre, instead of going by automobile or by car, will have their airship ready to take them.

The above photograph shows that this futurist might more truly have said within twenty years all this will have come to pass, and he would probably have struck it about right. Already a noted millionaire in Chicago comes to work in an aeroplane and goes home at the end of his day's work the same way. Now they are using the airship as a thrilling ride for the children; thus preparing them for what is bound to occur—"Supreme control of the air." In the picture above an aeroplane has been converted into a passenger transporter, capable of holding six children, that skims through the air about a foot above the ground. The aviator is shown ready to start with a load of passengers. This novelty was first introduced by the managers of the Brighton-Shoreham Aerodrome (England), and has already become very popular.

The Passing Of Alcohol In Medicine.

(The Sun, New York.)

In the International Congress of Physiotherapy recently convened in Berlin, Professor Ewald, perhaps the most eminent clinical teacher in the Berlin University, gave the coup de grace to alcohol as a stimulant when he said he had reached the conclusion that in no infectious disease has the value of alcohol been proved, and that it diminishes the natural resistance to the inroads of disease.

This confirms what every clear-visioned physician of experience has observed at the bedside, that whenever alcohol is administered it handicaps the patient, because it lowers the blood pressure; it is a temporary spur to the failing heart, with subsequent depression to which many a sick man has succumbed without realization of the cause of "heart failure." One who has seen the purple-hued complexion, sodden features and perpiring, relaxed skin of an intoxicated man needs no medical training to know that here is a case of complete relaxation, the body presenting as sad evidence of crippling as does the mind. If this result may ensue in an individual who is in health, how much more seriously must the vital powers be depreciated in diseases in which other poisons are already playing havoc with the heart and nervous system. Alcohol as a stimulant is dying hard as did blood-letting as a panacea. The latter succumbed to an enlightened pathology and the former is now sharing the same fate. When the quantities formerly consumed in hospitals are compared with that now supplied to the best conducted institutions the view of Professor Ewald is confirmed.

In the great hospital of which Dr. Ewald is the chief, alcohol is ordered only in two conditions, in severe collapse and as a means of euthanasia, easy death, in hopeless disease. The difficulty of removing the long established habit of ordering stimulants in infectious diseases was demonstrated in a certain hospital in this city the chief benefactor of which was a prohibitionist who to the day of his death was chagrined by the surreptitious introduction of alcohol into the wards. He endeavored to counteract this tendency by certain prohibitive provisions in his will.

The most enlightened physicians of the day realize not only the inutility, but the serious harmfulness of the former free use of alcohol stimulants in disease. The "Sun" has repeatedly presented evidence that the internal use of alcohol handicaps the well to the extent that large industrial enterprises like the Pennsylvania and Union Pacific railroads have followed the German interdiction of alcohol to their employees. The layman who "takes a drink to warm up" should know that the warming action is due to relaxation, widening of the blood vessels of the skin, attended by more or less stagnation of the warm blood within them, and that this condition is accompanied by an effort of the heart to overcome the loss of tone in these superficial and other internal small vessels that necessitates an increase of the heart action, evidenced by increased pulse rate. The self-regulating powers of the system eliminate small doses of poison and reinstate normal heart action, hence no immediate unfavorable change is noted. Not so in disease. Here every drop of alcohol should be watched, and the reasons for its administration clear. The facile prescriber of alcoholic stimulants needs watching by a consultant.

Mr. Harry Beach, a member of the famous English jam manufacturing company, T. W. Beach & Sons, is looking to the Okanagan with a view to establishing here a plant for the manufacture of jams and jellies. It was under the direction of Mr. Beach that the Kootenay Jam Factory was established several years ago at Nelson.

A "World Traveller" Criticises The Valley; And Summerland's Answer.

In a correspondence on the subject of fruit growing and orchard buying which has been going on in the "Over-seas Daily Mail" recently, a writer signing himself "World Traveller" has penned in the course of a lengthy communication an indictment on the subject of fruit growing in the Okanagan Valley, which has occasioned some comment in our town. Some of our citizens think they can trace the identity of the writer and are consequently the more vexed that a visitor should enjoy our hospitality and returning home, so unworthily require it. We quote relevant portions of the letter and a reply mailed last week to the Editor of the Over-seas Daily Mail.

Dear Sir,—

In reply to "Orchard Buyer," who writes from Java, may I give my experience? I know Canada and Australia, having lived in these Over Seas Dominions for thirteen years.

I visited the famous Okanagan Valley in British Columbia in 1910, one of a party wishing to purchase bearing orchards. We were disappointed, as things seemed to be in a bad way, no doubt owing to want of organization and the class of settlers there. I have just returned from a further visit to that valley. I found things even worse this year than before. Numerous farms were for sale—in itself a bad sign—and numbers had shown losses on the year's working. There seems still to be a want of organization among the growers, and there were too many settlers of the class that expects orchards to look after themselves rather than working hard upon them. There were too many settlers who had been sent out from home, usually with capital, knowing nothing about the business and caring less.

In Australia things are entirely different. Here you have a regular rainfall. The apple harvest in British Columbia is late, usually October, whereas Australian apples get home in April or May, in time for summer.

British Columbia is a lovely country but the class of settler who is to be found in the beautiful Okanagan has practically ruined the Valley, and intending purchasers, when hearing of failures and want of co-operation, etc., among the growers; and the orchards being neglected, naturally will not invest. I, with many others, came away disgusted."

Letter Sent To "Overseas Mail" Answers Attack Of "World Traveller."

I have just read in the "Over-seas Daily Mail" a letter signed "World Traveller," which contains so much that is misleading and ill-informed regarding the beautiful fruit Valley of the Okanagan; that as a happy settler in this favored corner of British Columbia I heartily resent what is an unjustifiable attack on a hard-working and hopeful community and likely to do us mischief among those ignorant of real conditions out here.

"World Traveller" says that in 1910 he "visited the Okanagan Valley, one of a party wishing to purchase bearing orchards. . . . things seemed in a bad way." On a further visit to the Valley this year he finds "things even worse than before." On the strength of flying visits as a prospective buyer and not an experienced grower, he presumes to send out his emphatic opinion of the state of affairs in this Valley. Let me take his accusations serially.

1.—"Numerous farms were for sale, in itself a bad sign." Perhaps the most foolish of all "World Traveller's" criticisms of the Valley is his last, where he compares the harvest time of the Okanagan with that of Australia. He says, "The British Columbian apple harvest is late, usually October, whereas Australian apples get home in April or May, in time for summer."

Truly remarkable! The season of our apple harvest that comes in full and abundant at the exact moment when it will not have to meet the competition of the Australian apple is one of our greatest assets.

One of the difficulties which the Australian apple market has to meet is the fact of "getting home in time for summer." This is the time when England is in full enjoyment of her own delicious crop of small fresh fruits. There is at this time no demand for the apple.

At the moment of writing, freights of the finest specimens of the King of Fruits that the world can afford are being shipped home to the Old Country in time for the greatest of apple markets—Christmas.

Spice forbids further comments on "World Traveller's" valuable(?) advice to "Orchard Buyer," but suffice to say the Okanagan has no use for this class of settler, and we are not really sorry that he "came away disgusted." Many wiser than he have no doubt this week read the stirring speech of the Premier of British Columbia, Sir Richard McBride, made in London, in which he referred to the three thousand miles of railway now under construction in British Columbia, and foreshadowed the expansion which the province would experience with the opening of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific through to the Coast next year, and also the Kettle Valley line of the Canadian Pacific. The Kettle Valley line runs through this particular part of the Okanagan Valley, a British Columbian Land of Promise with a future in which such dealers of her as "World Traveller" will happily have no part.

This is untrue. There are local Fruit Unions in every town throughout the Valley and all have delegates at a Central Selling Agency which handles the fruit selling of the Valley. If individual growers do not come in to these Unions, or if they do not agree to conditions made by local managers, it is their own fault if they suffer from the inevitable result of the lack of loyal co-operation.

3.—"There are too many settlers who had been sent out from home, knowing nothing about the business, and caring less, and too many of the class that expect orchards to look after themselves."

"World Traveller" was certainly unfortunate in the class of folk he encountered out here, and has apparently adopted the ill-advised course of taking the opinion of the unsuccessful. Who wants to listen

About twelve hundred "straight" carloads of fruit, vegetables, etc., have been shipped from the Okanagan up to the middle of this month with a value closely approximating one million dollars. This does not include smaller freight shipments nor express shipments. As yet but a small portion of the winter apples have been shipped. It seems very probable, therefore, that the total season's shipments will be greater than at first anticipated.

CRYING FOR OUR APPLES.

Complaint is made by an eastern exchange that, because of the market established in Australia and New Zealand—largely through the efforts of the government—for our apples, a large section of our country is deprived of this fruit. We cannot see the justice of the complaint, as it is only right that the grower should sell his goods in the market which will pay the highest price, and it is up to the prairie dealers, for whom our eastern contemporary is so solicitous, to offer a price that will keep the fruit at home, if such is their desire.

That "we have amongst us and beside us the greatest market ever placed before the producers of any time or any nation" is very true; and probably there is equal truth in what the writer has to say of our home distributing methods. We quote:

"The grower at Niagara must be content with forty or fifty cents for a basket of peaches, and he must join a co-operative society to obtain that. Yet twelve hours later the Toronto consumer pays $1.25 for the same basket picked only a few miles away. The fresh eggs for which the farmer's wife gets twenty cents a dozen, in the neighboring city, fresh from cold storage command the fancy price of sixty cents. The traveller on the train speeding through eastern Ontario pays five cents for woody, tasteless apples; yet on all sides of him are luxuriant orchards with thousands of barrels of choicest fruit rotting beneath the tree scorned even by the swine wallowing in an excess of luxury."

Another paper, the Farmers' Advocate, of Winnipeg, commenting on the recent announcement that the Okanagan United Growers, Limited, had contracted for the export of thirty thousand boxes of apples to Australia at a rate of $1.40 per box f.o.b. Okanagan points, protests against what it terms "the injustice" of the whole scheme. That journal asks why this fruit should be exported while inhabitants of the prairie provinces are eating about one apple for every ten they should eat, and would eat if the fruit were cheaper.

With the rapid increase in the production of our orchards which we may henceforth look for, and the greatly improved market facilities which, no doubt, will be further improved before next season, everyone on the prairies will be given opportunity to buy all the apples they will eat, and at reasonable prices. At the same time advantage will be taken of the valuable and expanding market which has been established in the Antipodes.

NEGLECTED OPPORTUNITIES.

In a certain Western town three concerns in one line of business were regular advertisers in the local paper. Some months ago they got together and entered into a "gentleman's agreement" to discontinue all publicity. They believed that there was a fixed amount of business to be divided among themselves, and that each was incurring a needless expense in advertising.

At the end of the first fiscal year following the discontinuance of the advertising it was found that their total business had fallen off twenty-one per cent, while their combined totals had shrunken twelve per cent. Business had not gone elsewhere. They had simply withdrawn the natural stimulant. Following their discovery the "gentleman's agreement" was immediately dissolved, and to-day the three are again advertising.

Practically speaking there is not a business of any nature that cannot be aided by judicious publicity.

Speaking of the value of publicity the "Journal of Commerce," Montreal, says:

"There has never been an age in the history of the world when publicity played so large a part as it is doing at the present time. Every day instances are cited of men and business succeeding through publicity and on the other hand the records go to show that other business and men fail because of their failure to make use of publicity. The remarkable feature about advertising is that it can be applied to every line of human endeavor; the banker, the broker, the insurance agent, merchant, manufacturer, commission agent and everyone else can build up his business by judicious advertising."

Are our local merchants taking full advantage of their opportunities in this respect? It may be easy enough to hold the trade of an habitual customer, especially if he be a credit customer; but we are satisfied that a little effort and small expense would largely stop the heavy and constant drain of cash that is being made by the distant mail order houses. Fight them with their own ammunition—advertising.

FROM TIME TO TIME we read of a number of British Columbia towns taking permanent display space in the exhibition rooms of the Vancouver Progress Club. This is a place visited by a majority of the visitors to, and many of the citizens of Vancouver and it might be advantageous to Summerland to have a district display.

THAT CANADA will have a population of twenty millions within ten years is the prediction of Sir Richard McBride. In a recent London speech, given in a most optimistic spirit he also foretold yet more wonderful development awaiting Canada upon completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Canadian Northern, the Pacific Great Eastern and the extensions of the Canadian Pacific system.

VERNON APPLE SHOW.

The Apple Show held at Vernon this week is said to have been a disappointment to the promoters. There was plenty of empty space and the variety was also limited. A Summerland citizen who visited the exhibition on Thursday afternoon says that it compared very unfavorably with the usual exhibition held there. There was very little shown outside of apples and entries for these, as has been said, were light. The first prize for district apple display was taken by the Fintry Ranch, Okanagan Lake, the second by Coldstream, the third going to Penticton. The display of the last named was as good as any, but was not given first position because of the fact that some of the less standard varieties were included in the exhibit. Penticton, however, took first prize on its mixed fruit display, which was very nice. Summerland was not represented. So many honors have come to her that she now seems indifferent and is losing interest. Some good advertising is thus being lost.

The news that the "Aberdeen" was scheduled to make a special trip will be received here and elsewhere in southern lake points as a surprise. It would seem that visitors who went up on the early boat were to be brought back by the "Aberdeen," passengers leaving Vernon at eight o'clock. This arrangement, however, was not advertised, and only one passenger got off here at 1.30 this morning, namely, Mr. G. J. C. White, who attended a directors' meeting at Vernon, of the Okanagan United Growers, Limited. There was only one passenger, too, for Penticton.

RESIGNATION OF REV. F. W. PATTISON.

Much to the regret of his many friends here Rev. F. W. Pattison has decided to accept the call to important work at Westminster Chapel, London, England, particulars of which have already been published. Mr. Pattison feels that duty calls him to this wider sphere of work, and deeply as he regrets leaving Summerland, he has had an obligation laid upon him to accept this ministry in the Old Country, which he is obliged to recognize.

At a meeting of church members held on Wednesday evening the resignation was accepted and a resolution expressing regret at Mr. Pattison's departure was passed unanimously. A committee was also appointed to take steps to find a successor. The date of Mr. and Mrs. Pattison's actual departure is not yet fixed, but the resignation takes effect not later than December 7th.

Peace does not dwell in outward things, but within the soul; we may preserve it in the midst of the bitterest pain, if our will remain firm and submissive. Peace in this life springs from acquiescence even in disagreeable things, not in an exemption from suffering.—Fenlon.

English engineers claim that enough coal to last the world 800 years still is available at Newcastle.

Politics make strange bed-fellows; but they are always willing to lie on their own side.

Ferry Service Temporarily Suspended.

Through a technicality Naramata, Summerland, Penticton and other south lake points have been deprived of an excellent ferry and local freight service—by long odds the best they have yet enjoyed, with an excellent fleet of boats, splendidly handled and managed.

Because the "Skookum," which was duly inspected and passed, is not officered by a certified captain and engineer, she has practically been "arrested" and forbidden to move unless so manned. The same order applies to all the company's boats.

It is not difficult, says "Captain" Roe, to guess from whence the trouble originates. His company, through push and perseverance, has worked up a business at this end of the lake which has heretofore been the territory of a monopoly, and for a time at least the public will again suffer from inadequate services.

The ferry company do not propose to submit to defeat, and are rushing every effort to secure the services of "certified" men. In the meantime, Captain Roe says that rather than have his patrons seriously inconvenienced, he will carry them free in cases of necessity.

That our towns should thus be so needlessly inconvenienced seems absurd. The question looks to be one of sufficient importance as to have the attention of the Boards of Trade of the various towns affected.

Okanagan United Growers.

Six hundred and forty-four cars of fruit and vegetables have been shipped by the United Growers up to the beginning of this week. From 100 to 150 more cars would have been shipped from the northern end of the Valley had not wet weather interfered. There has been a great deal of rain in that section during the last few weeks, so much so as to seriously interfere with the harvesting of crops.

Mr. G. J. C. White returned this morning from a meeting of the directors held at Vernon and brings very favorable reports of the season's work. Prices throughout have been fairly good but would have been better had not some strong Valley competition undercut the Growers' prices.

The first season's experiment has been so successful and promises so much for the future, that it is the intention of the government to encourage and assist further organization throughout the Province. It is probable that the United Growers will be asked to release Manager Robertson for a time to assist the government in its work.

"THE PLAYERS."

On Tuesday, Nov. 4, "The Players" will present "Good For Nothing," a humorous drama which affords opportunities for some excellent acting.

"The Players" have already given this piece before Kelowna and Penticton audiences, and it was booked to appear here on May 24th, but owing to an unfortunate accident to one of the casts the performance had to be postponed.

The performance will be preceded by Mr. Shaw's Cinematograph, some special films being procured for the occasion.

A son was born at the Summerland Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Nelson on Sunday night, October 19th.

Guests with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown of Trout Creek for a Thanksgiving Dinner on Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thornber.

The cannery ceased packing some days ago, and the staff is now busy labelling and casing the season's pack. Two carloads were shipped on Thursday.

Since the Naramata Notes were printed we are informed that the date of the Recital and Chicken Supper has been changed from Monday to Tuesday.

Next week is Apple Show week. Be sure to have your entries in on time. There will be a two days' Show on Wednesday and Thursday, October 29th and 30th.

We heartily congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Robinson on the advent of a little daughter, who arrived at Naramata early yesterday (Thursday) morning.

George Robinson of Peachland rode down on Friday last and spent the week-end and Thanksgiving with his aunt, Mrs. R. C. Lipsett, returning home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley and five children arrived on Saturday night from Vancouver and have taken up their residence for the winter at the Collinge cottage in Peach Orchard.

Harold Sutherland, a younger brother of D. L. Sutherland, who has been for some weeks visiting the coast cities of Vancouver, Victoria, and Seattle, returned here on Wednesday night.

The Basketball Club had a capital practice on Wednesday night at the gymnasium. There was a good rally of the members, and the prospects of some good games during the coming season were discussed.

Chairman Robinson and Trustee Caldwell of the School Board are at Victoria this week attending the annual meeting of the School Trustees of the province, convening there from the 21st to the 24th.

Jack Conway came in on Saturday last and spent Thanksgiving at his home here. On Tuesday he was accompanied to Vernon by his wife, who went on a house hunting trip. Mr. Conway will make Vernon his headquarters.

Eustace Lee, the young son of Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Lee, received a nasty scalp wound while at play with his school mates. He has been under the care of the doctor for some days and is making satisfactory improvement.

Many little home festivals marked the keeping of Thanksgiving Day in our district in addition to a public gathering. The glorious weather favored week-end visitors and out-of-door picnics, but private and personal Thanksgiving dinners and suppers were enjoyed.

During the busy season the C.P.R. received fruit until late into the night for shipment by the morning boat. Of late, however, there has been no night staff, and the Review has been asked to request that intending shippers endeavor to get their shipments to the wharf not later than 5 p.m.

The manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mr. F. F. Hannington, is expected in by motor car from Merritt on Sunday afternoon, and will be accompanied by his father, Mr. Hannington will remain here for a few days before proceeding to Vernon to relieve the branch manager there for three weeks or a month.

Mr. A. E. Kochaly, a native of Persia, is expected to give a lecture next Wednesday evening at the Lakeshore Baptist Church at eight o'clock. He will be dressed in native costume. His lecture will deal with first hand information about the people of Persia, their religions of Fire and Devil Worship, everyday life and social customs, mode of dress, travelling, Zoroastrian life and other subjects of interest. Mr. Kochaly is a young man of promise who is studying at McMaster University, preparatory to returning to Persia as a missionary among the Mohammedans. He is defraying his expenses by giving lectures upon his native land. No admission will be made. A collection will be received. The public is invited.

Norman Phinney, with Megaw's Vernon, spent Thanksgiving with his parents here.

En route to a visit to Kamloops, Miss Tunstall, daughter of Mrs. Solly, went up to the Landing on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Conway and their baby daughter who have been visiting at Vernon returned home on Wednesday night.

Miss L. V. Mills, who spent the week-end with friends at Okanagan Mission returned from that pretty little English colony on Wednesday night's boat.

Two points of interest were visited by several parties on Thanksgiving Day, the great K.V.R. tunnel beyond Naramata and, on this side of the lake, the wonderful bridge spanning the big canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Morgan had a large party of friends for a Thanksgiving Dinner at their home at Trout Creek on Sunday, including Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thornber, Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Gilbert Thornber, Mrs. Livesay and Mr. H. Smith.

It was Children's Thanksgiving Day for the Methodist Church and others on Tuesday last. A very big party of our local little folk enjoyed a ten cent tea in the Club Rooms, still gay with decorations for the previous day's Thanksgiving festivities.

Deputy Minister Scott is expected here next week to attend the Apple Show. Mr. Scott wishes to buy at least two hundred boxes of exhibition apples to be used in the provincial exhibit at Chicago and other places. It is understood that $2.50 cash per box will be paid.

Mrs. James Gartrell went up the lake on Saturday with her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Jones, and will make a brief stay at the latter's residence in Kelowna. We are very glad to hear that Mrs. Gartrell, though still far from strong, is recovering slowly and steadily from her recent illness.

The C.P.R. winter time table goes into effect on Sunday next. While there are some changes in the train schedule no orders have been issued for a change in the lake service and it is expected that the boat will run during the winter on practically the same time as at present.

A small plate of the most perfectly ripened strawberries were picked by Mr. E. O. James on his fruit ranch at Rydal Mount on the sunny slopes of Peach Valley on the morning of October 23rd. Ripe strawberries within a few days of November! Yet another tribute to our wonderful climate and the possibilities of fruit growing!

A THANKSGIVING DAY TRIP.

A party of twenty boys from St. Andrew's Sunday School, with their minister, Rev. C. H. Daly, and Mr. Wm. Kerr, teacher of the Senior Bible Class, crossed the lake on the early ferry on Thanksgiving Day.

They tramped up the hill to the big tunnel, and, through the courtesy of Messrs. Bacher & Harmount, contractors, and Mr. Linz, time-keeper, as guide, saw the wonderful construction work which is going on there. The big tunnel, 1500 ft. long, now over half completed, is not the only object of interest at this camp. One of the cuts is 69 ft. deep, and one of the fillings 58 ft. high. It has been found necessary to timber a very considerable part of the tunnel to prevent the rock from falling. It is interesting to note that while the contract of this firm extends over 1½ miles the points where the work begins and where it ends are only 300 ft. apart.

The last turn of the switchback is taken in the tunnel. The day was fine and warm, and the boys enjoyed a hearty outdoor lunch at noon.

The party reached home at 5.30, tired, but delighted with the day's outing.

LARGE EXPRESS SHIPMENTS.

Three quarters of a million pounds of fruit was shipped from this district by express during the soft fruit season, covering a period of three months. This is an average of practically three carloads per week for the season, by far the heaviest shipments yet made by express.

Naramata Notes.

Rev. Thompson of Penticton will conduct the services in the Naramata Church next Sunday.

Mrs. T. H. Boothe entertained the Ladies' Aid at her home on Wednesday. The meeting was well attended and combined much pleasure with considerable work.

Mr. Hilderbrand of the Valley Construction Co. has given up his contract and left on Saturday for his former home in Wash. The work at the camp is now in charge of Mr. Peterson.

Mrs. Hill left on Monday morning's boat to return to Montreal. Mrs. Hill was delighted with Naramata, but feels that she must return to be with her son and daughter who have employment in that city.

Dr. W. R. Robinson leaves on Saturday of this week for Vancouver where he expects to remain for about three weeks. Dr. Robinson will take the medical examination given by the province of British Columbia while there.

The Ladies' Aid will give their Chicken Pie Supper in the basement of the church next Monday night at six o'clock. It will be followed by an elocutionary recital under the management of Rev. R. W. Lee, of Summerland.

Thanksgiving Day was generally observed in Naramata in the various homes, as well in Hotels Naramata and Syndica. A number of Summerland and Penticton visitors arrived in the morning to be part of a party to visit the camp of Messrs. Griffin & Hunt. After a splendid trip they returned to take their Thanksgiving dinner at Hotel Naramata. Dinner was followed by dancing which was participated in by the other Hotel guests as well. At the Syndica Hotel a regulation dinner was served to something like twenty-five guests. In all the day, graced with ideal weather, passed to be recorded as just another of our good times.

Lost! Lost! Messrs. Wells and Grimaldi returned from their hunting trip on Saturday. Finding too much snow for hunting around the region of the Blair camp they came back and confined their efforts to the country surrounding the camps of King Walsh, Brandt and Bacher, and Harmont. Just as a vindication to a man who has tramped the hills some, and had a compass besides, we wish to say that the story which was circulated to the effect that Mr. Wells was lost was all a mistake. All reports varied as to detail, but all agreed to the one fact, Lost—well, so did Mr. Wells—with qualifications. He wasn't lost really, but at nightfall, when he found himself in some pretty rough country, and in possession of just as rough an idea of his whereabouts, he didn't care to take the time just then to locate himself, further than against a rock and beside a cozy fire. Yes. He spent the night there while search parties were sent out from the camps to find him. We pass over the next few hours till we see him at Brandt's camp No. 4. (he wasn't particular which camp he struck), telephoning his whereabouts. The search parties were recalled and all excitement over. Messrs. Wells and Grimaldi, though not successful in bringing down any deer, report themselves more than satisfied with their vacation. "And it sure is some country up there."

NIAGARA APPLES FOR AFRICA.

Cape Town Merchant Buys Output Of Orchard.

Ontario has found a new market for her apples. The first shipment was made last week from St. Catharines to Cape Town, South Africa. The shipment comprised three thousand bushels of "King" apples, the chief rival of the famous "Northern Spy". The output was gathered from 245 trees, and was packed in special boxes in compliance with the fruit shipment act.

A prominent merchant of Cape Town, while passing through the Niagara Peninsula about a month ago was so impressed with the fruit that he made an offer for the entire output of the orchard. As a result a price fully twenty per cent, better than could be gotten in the home market was obtained, besides being relieved of the freight charges.

It is also understood that the same purchaser made contracts for apples to be shipped to South Africa next year with several other producers in the district, who could not accommodate this year on account of the fact that they had already closed contracts.

SUMMERLAND BOY TELLS OF JOLLY DAY.

The following interesting description of a day full of fun spent in the hills back of Summerland was sent by James Stuart Daly (aged 9) to the "King's Own," and was published by that paper:

West Summerland, B.C.

Dear Editors—

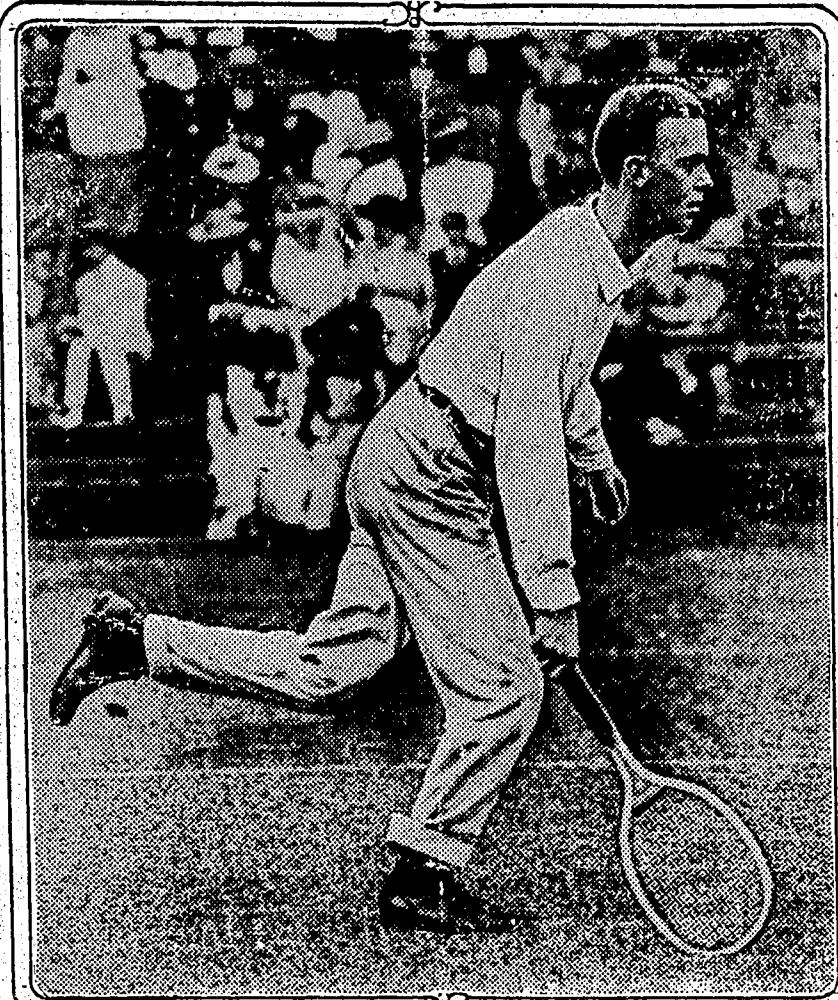

I am sure no Sunday School in our big Dominion had a jollier picnic than "St. Andrew's S. S., West Summerland." The day was bright and fine, and over a hundred and fifty people gathered at the church, and filled the wagons that were waiting to take them to the picnic. There were eleven boys in our wagon, nine of these were Boy Scouts who, with their scout-master, walked three miles from their camp on Lake Okanagan, to go to the picnic.

The first two miles of the drive was through Prairie Valley with fine orchards, of apples and pears and cherries on each side of the road. Then we began to climb high hills covered with big pine and Douglas fir trees. At the top of the first hill, there is the reservoir that supplies water for the irrigation works of Summerland. Then we went up and down hill on a winding road, till we came to a poplar grove on the banks of Upper Trout Creek. There wasn't a house in sight, only a couple of Indian tents with fat little "Siwashees" standing at the door.

We had lots of fun wading in the creek, fishing or climbing trees. The Boy Scouts built a fire and boiled water for the tea. Only boys and girls in the fine mountain air of B.C. could eat so many pies and cakes and sandwiches and fine ripe peaches. After dinner we had races and sports of all kinds. The boys thought the best part of all was the ice cream and peaches and cake again at five o'clock. It was cool and pleasant for the drive home, and down hill most of the time before our next picnic, for I way, so that tired boys and girls am sure you would like to come.

Your friend,
James Stuart Daly.

The Englishwoman In Canada.

A woman journalist, who last Christmas relinquished a nice little connection in Fleet Street, to go out to Western Canada with her husband and children contributes an interesting sketch to a recent issue of the "Overseas Daily Mail," in which she describes the pioneer experiences of herself and family and party. Mrs. Hamar Jackson is a hard worker and enthusiast, and one of that class of Englishwomen who make desirable settlers in the new land, and she has entered upon her venture to fortune equipped principally with the spirit of adventure and a tremendous enthusiasm.

She is now, nine months after the date of her sailing from England, in possession of a new home in Canada. She gives full particulars of the process of establishment which are fascinating but too long to give in detail. In the course of a long article she says:

"I had never thought of farming. Books were the delight of my life, but then I had not heard of, or seen, the wonderful boundless prairie of Canada; I had not heard the call of the West; I had not felt the fascination of its vastness, of its open life, of its freedom from the trammels of civilization...."

After my first trip through the Canadian continent I decided to do all in my power to give my children the advantages of the free and open life and the many chances for future independence which can be found in this new and growing country.

My husband, with complete confidence in my enthusiasm, was ready to give up everything, and, with our children and a group of friends, we left London in the middle of winter, regardless of the terrifying and, let me say at once, exaggerated reports on the severity of the Canadian climate.

In the first days of spring we settled in the centre of Alberta, taking a ranch of 640 acres, five miles from the railway station.

Snow, wind, rain, frosty weather and plenty of sunshine—we had experience of all weathers—sleeping under canvas on beds of hay, with no fire except that of the open-air prairie trench, dug out in front of the tents.

Regular farm work was not possible. We had only two horses and a buggy with which to go to town, and the best time of the year to plough the virgin soil is after the rainy season is over—about the end of June or the beginning of July.

When the fencing was completed and simultaneously the barns and houses were ready the real farm life started. Barns had to be filled, and we bought cattle, Holstein and shorthorn cows, Yorkshire pigs, and Leghorn and Buff Orpington fowls. Model piggeries and large model poultry houses were built by the men of the party. We bought six more horses and all the agricultural implements necessary for farm work. The men did the ploughing of the land which is to give us our first crop next year. The girls milked the cows, separated the milk, and made the butter.

To-day the farm is quite established, and the routine of the work is perfect, the feeding of the animals and tending of the cattle going on with clockwork regularity. No one gets any salary, everyone will share the profits.

The next move will be the building of a model dairy and the installation of a cheese-making plant. A large vegetable garden has been prepared for next spring, to which I hope later on to add a glasshouse, and an acre of ground prepared for the reception of strawberry plants."

By a special arrangement with the provincial government, the Kinemacolor Company have recently prepared a remarkable series of colored motion picture films of Okanagan's fruit industry. These will be put on exhibition in the farthest parts of the British Empire, including Australia, South Africa, Egypt, as well as in Great Britain itself. These colored pictures will illustrate the growing, picking and shipping of Okanagan fruit.

The Progress Club of Vancouver is making arrangements to install a complete exhibit showing the manufacturing development throughout British Columbia, intended to include all provincial industries. The newly formed Manufacturer's Association is at work on the matter.
