Prohibition Till End Of War.

Two Public Meetings For Next Sunday.

In line with the effort that is being made throughout the whole world to curtail the consumption of alcoholic liquors until the termination of the war, there is now a concerted movement on foot to make a trial of national prohibition throughout Canada. To bring this movement better before the people, an organization started in eastern Canada some years ago, known as the Social Service League, is establishing branches from coast to coast. British Columbia is being organized with a chief executive in Vancouver, and as already announced in these columns, the Okanagan Valley was linked up with this movement by the organization at Vernon, of a council for the district, Mayor Jones of Kelowna being appointed president.

It is the purpose to further extend the movement by establishing a local council in each city, town or district, and for this purpose a number of citizens assembled last Friday evening in St. Andrew's Church. A number of short addresses were given on the reasons for organizing, with something of what the Social Service Council of Canada was attempting. The officers elected were: Mr. H. Moyle, president; Rev. C. H. Daly, first vice-president; Dr. E. W. Sawyer, second vice-president; Mr. C. W. Lees, secretary-treasurer. These with Revs. H. A. Solly, N. McNaughton and R. W. Lee form the executive.

The economic waste entailed by the consumption of alcoholic beverages is being pointed out as being at this time a heavy burden to the nation, and for the purpose of bringing about voluntary abstinence until the end of the war, the Social Service Council is about to undertake an active campaign. Locally the first evidence of this will be two public meetings next Sunday evening. The regular Sunday evening church services will be canceled, and one of the public meetings will be held in the Methodist Church, the other in St. Andrew's Church. For both these services capable speakers are being arranged. Both meetings will be opened at 7 o'clock. It is understood that a resolution calling upon the government of the province to enact legislation to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor during the continuance of the war, will be submitted at both meetings.

Valuable Lecture on Sprays & Spraying

Practical Illustrated Talk on Most Timely and Important Subject.

A most interesting and instructive talk on practical spraying was given last night in the High School Building by Mr. V. I. Saffro, entomologist for the company manufacturing black leaf forty. It is a pity that more of our growers do not take sufficient interest in matters of this kind to take advantage of every opportunity to learn something more or new. Only ten residents, in addition to several visitors, put in an appearance. Inspector Cunningham, who was present, was greatly disappointed, and contrasted the meeting with the enthusiastic gatherings he used to see in the Men's Club.

Before calling on Mr. Saffro, Chairman Hilborn asked Inspector Cunningham to address the meeting. Much of his talk was along the lines of the interview given the Review earlier in the day, published elsewhere in these columns. Referring to his recent illness the veteran inspector expressed hope of living long enough to see horticulture in this province on a better basis. He felt a serious moral responsibility to the man who had put "his money in the industry. The government was equally responsible. Last year he described as being the leanest in the history of the province, and he believes the leanest year that will ever be seen in the B.C. fruit industry. He predicts a good market for peaches, one of the reasons being the disposition of the consumer to wait for home fruit. This is particularly true of the Coast markets, which he described as the best cash market on the continent. Wenatchee, realizing this, stores its apples, and sends them in as needed. There are some difficulties to be overcome, but there is much in our favor. The Coast sentiment is strong, largely due to the Daughters of the Empire, who are urging householders to wait for the home fruit for preserving. The apple grower is better protected in the provincial markets than on the prairies. Infected fruit cannot be brought into competition with local clean fruit, whereas on the prairies infected fruit is dumped from across the line. Mr. Cunningham hopes to live long enough to see complete prohibition of the importation of infected fruit into Canada. He fears the bringing in of Codling Moth. Our apples being free from this pest will be worth 25 per cent premium on foreign markets. With promises of only a 60 per cent crop across the line he looks for better apple prices this season. A distinguished lady visitor from Australia, talking before the Daughters of Empire recently, remarked that B.C. was the only country where one could eat apples in the dark. With the co-operation of the growers the Inspector hopes to finish fire blight this year.

The history of spraying, the problems involved, and the why, when, and how of spraying, was told in most simple and understandable language by Mr. Saffro. Uses of Bordeaux, lime-sulphur, and nicotine were clearly explained.

For fungus diseases, copper or sulphur solutions are used to cover the tree so that later when these organisms float or are conveyed to the tree, the latter has a protecting armour. For biting insects a stomach poison such as lead arsenate or Paris green is used. Lead arsenate is suspended in water simply to carry it to the tree, which is completely encased in a thin layer of poison. But this only protects against certain kinds of insects, and a contact spray is needed for these. For sucking insects, nicotine is the effective spray. Growers here may be thankful they have no Codling Moth or San Jose Scale. The most important pest to contend with here is aphid. The speaker had a number of photographs, much enlarged, of this pest, and the result of the effect on trees. These included the woolly, rosy, and green aphid. The injuries resulting from aphid are largely invisible. One of the effects mentioned being small fruit, and also weakened fruit buds for the succeeding year's crop. Thus an attack of aphid affects a crop for two seasons at least. Aphid in being blown from tree to tree are active agents in the spreading of blight. For their control contact spray is necessary. Their eggs are small and difficult to kill. With a chart he pointed out just when spraying may be done effectively and without injury. The aphid is hatched and are actively at work when the tips of the buds are showing green. This is a good time to spray. A little later, when these buds are partly opened, the insects get down among the leaves and are beyond reach. Spraying should then be deferred until the pink of the blossom shows. No spraying should be done while the tree is in blossom, but after the petals have fallen and the fruit begins to form, spraying may again be done with safety and effectiveness. At any time later when the leaves are curling, spraying should be resorted to immediately. Do not wait until the leaves have curled, as then the insects are largely protected inside the curled leaf.

If mixing Black Leaf Forty with other spray material, consider that other material, only as water when making up the strength. If using black leaf forty without the other sprays Mr. Saffro recommended using one and one-half to two lbs. of soap to the barrel. He advised against the use of soap in conjunction with arsenate of lead or lime-sulphur. With the former it may free the arsenate which will then burn the trees, and with lime-sulphur, soap often causes trouble in clogging the sprayer.

The howls at a political meeting are no indication of how the ballots will be marked.

Less Water In Mountains Than For Several Years

Chairman of Public Works Committee so Reports. Council Expects Reservoirs will be Filled by Rains.

Council Holds Special Session

Superintendent Wants Telephone Poles Removed. Contract For Ditch Awarded.

The Council met in special session on Saturday afternoon, the meeting being called at the request of Coun. Johnston, chairman of the Public Works Committee, who had returned from the headwaters the day before. Accompanied by two men, who will remain at the head waters for some time, Coun. Johnston went out early last week to get first hand knowledge of the conditions, and to have the dams closed to store water for use when the creeks run low. Last year the dams were closed about the middle of May. Even then there was a lot of snow on the hills, but to his surprise there is no snow to be found there now, and everything is looking pretty dry. So great is the contrast of conditions last year and this, that Coun. Johnston viewed the situation with some alarm. There was only a small amount of water coming through the big dam. There was, however, a good volume entering Trout Creek about two and a half miles below the dam, coming in from the north, and there is a good flow of water in both Trout Creek and Eneas Creek. Though the main dam was gradually filling when Coun. Johnston left on the return journey, it was not coming up as fast as he would desire. There are a number of beaver dams holding back a considerable volume of water, and the Inspector has been up to the headwaters to close up beaver dams and make the necessary channels to turn the water into the head water lakes. This will give quite an additional supply.

The other members of the Council did not feel so pessimistic with regard to the outlook, believing that if the dams do not fill before, there will be sufficient rain in June to fill them up to capacity. The Superintendent leaves for the upper waters to-morrow, Saturday, and will report on how the dams are filling immediately he returns. The waters held in storage were not needed last year until well into July. When asked later by the Review why it was not practical to close the dams in the fall, Supt. Mitchell stated that when left filled, muskrats did a great deal of damage to the dams.

With the exception of Coun. Simpson, the full Board was present, and accumulated correspondence and other business was dealt with. W. C. Kelley wrote asking for better water service and for water agreements on three different lots. The Bank of Montreal offered to take care of debenture coupons soon maturing, and also to advance $5,000 against taxes, this latter in addition to a balance of $10,000 borrowed from the bank last year. The coupon payments will be treated as an overdrawn account. The Municipality's borrowing against taxes is limited to $24,000. It is expected that at least another $5,000 will be advanced later if needed.

The Clerk reported having visited the Watson property where the Superintendent has been getting sand and gravel for concrete work. In the Clerk's opinion about 250 yards had been taken inside the lot line, but he believed from one-third to one-half of this had been taken by private citizens. He suggested purchasing a strip eighty or ninety yards long, along the roadside, and some thirty yards deep, about a half acre. At the same time there should be an exchange of deeds covering a roadway put through Mr. Watson's property, for which it was agreed he was to have two pieces of "unused" road allowance.

The Superintendent reported that there were about nine unused telephone poles, the property of the Okanagan Telephone Company, which were in the way of his conducting the present ditch in the valley of the Hilborn. Evans and Saffro reported that the Clerk was instructed to request the Telephone Company to remove the poles. In the meantime some necessary cement work will be done in Garnett Valley.

Tenders for 1700 feet of ditch at Trout Creek were received, there being four bids. That of Messrs. J. W. Hale and John Smith to do the work for a lump sum of $50 was accepted.

As the motion to adjourn was being put, the Clerk referred to a letter published in last week's Review over the signature of W. C. Kelley, which letter Mr. Logie described as libellous, and stated that the charges contained therein were absolutely without foundation. He explained one or two of the charges, and was ready to take up the whole question, but the members were anxious to get home, and the matter was left until the Court of Revision which sits next Monday. In the meantime the Clerk was requested to make no reply to the letter.

Okanagan Orchards Cleaner Than For Many Seasons.

Summerland Crop Prospects Good. Spraying More General.

"Agreeably disappointed" is the way Inspector Cunningham, expressed himself, when asked by the Review of the conditions of our orchards and those throughout the Valley. The veteran inspector has again reached Summerland on his spring tour of inspection, covering all interior fruit growing districts, and has been readjusting his force for the summer's campaign. He has found the orchards thus far to be in a much better condition than he had anticipated.

"I was apprehensive that through the financial stringency and because of the unsatisfactory price realized on last season's crop, the farmers would relax their efforts and would be disposed to neglect their orchards. I find, however, that this is not the case, and that out a fresh crop of leaves, which in itself is a strain on the vitality of the tree. There is no excuse for not having sprayed with Bordeaux mixture, as it is a cheap insecticide. The only reason I can suggest is the local scarcity of sulphate of copper, and that the price asked by the dealers is too high. I would be glad to furnish the material at 8 cents per lb. laid down in Summerland. I am told that the price asked locally is much higher."

Inspector Cunningham also had something to say on the recent elimination of the duty on Black Leaf Forty and carbon bisulphide. The latter is used in fumigation. The price of Black Leaf he says is now $12.50 a can, as against $18 last year.

When asked of the crop prospects Mr. Cunningham described them as good. There is in this district every prospect of a large yield of peaches and apricots. Apple prospects throughout the Valley are very good, and better than across the line in Washington. Mr. Palmer, until recently horticulturist on the Coldstream Estate, has joined Inspector Cunningham's forces, and has been looking over the local orchards with the Inspector, and informed the latter that the local apple orchards promise a heavier crop than elsewhere in the Okanagan.

Another new appointment made by Inspector Cunningham is that of Mr. Randall to succeed Mr. Creese as inspector for Summerland and Naramata. Mr. Randall was also horticulturist at Coldstream Estate for many years, and was exceedingly successful. He was trained by Mr. Frank Raybourn, former manager of that estate and now in charge of a two or three thousand acre estate at Okanagan Centre, which is now being planted.

"I have just seen the fruit report of the Washington Department of Agriculture," continued Inspector Cunningham, "and find that last season a large quantity of trees were destroyed for fire blight. In Yakima, 6,000; Benton County, 200; Walla Walla, 1500; Spokane, 2,250; Wenatchee, 100; Whitman, 300. All these were bearing trees and pulled out under the direction of the Department. These were valued at from $10 to $15 per tree. This seems a heavy toll to pay for the eradication of fire blight, which has, however, not yet been wholly accomplished. When we add the value of the fruit destroyed with the trees, this runs into a very large sum."

The Inspector expressed great regret at the loss to the Valley and province of the Coldstream Estate Nurseries, which he says has been pulled in its entirety, presumably because of the present dull times. He pronounced it the best kept nursery he had ever seen. The removal of this nursery means larger importations, and the Inspector is very apprehensive of the character of the trees they will need to import from the adjoining state. He declared himself as firmly of the opinion that fire blight was imported from nurseries south of the border. Of this winter's importation, Mr. Cunningham said his department had been obliged to destroy several large shipments on account of San Jose.

The Inspector also had something more to say on the necessity of providing storage for winter apples, and believes that one million of the fifteen million dollars expended in aid of agriculture might well be devoted to the fruit industry in providing frostproof storehouses.

The Grimes Golden is evidently Inspector Cunningham's favorite apple, as he never ceases advocating that variety nor tires telling of its excellent qualities. Since coming to Summerland he has seen some perfect specimens of this variety, which have been kept in storage on the Hilborn orchard. Other fine specimens of storage apples were Newtown Pippin on the Agur estate, and some Northern Spys and Rome Beauties soon at Hotel Summerland, and supplied by Mr. D. Gray. The Northern Spys the Inspector pronounced as particularly fine, and would readily bring $2.50 a box now in Vancouver.

After covering the more southern points of the Valley visiting the Similkameen, Boundary, and Kootenay, Inspector Cunningham will again return to the Okanagan.

Mr. Frank Raybourn, manager of a large orchard property at Oyama, was a visitor in town on Thursday.

Oddfellows Hold Anniversary Service

Visiting Brethren From Kelowna and Penticton.

Wherever organized lodges of the Independent Order of Oddfellows are found, the 96th anniversary of the founding of the order is being commemorated. Okanagan lodge, No. 56, located in Summerland, observed the occasion with its special annual church service. Kelowna and Penticton lodges joined in with the celebration, about two dozen members of the fraternity making the journey from the former town, and about an equal number autoing up from the south.

The service was held in the Lakeside Baptist Church, and a large congregation occupied all the seats that had been provided in anticipation of an unusual attendance. The Oddfellows from the three lodges entered the church in a body, and made an impressive procession, numbering about sixty. They were marshalled into specially reserved pews, four on each side at the front of the church.

Very effective decorations had been arranged about the platform, spring flowers and foliage lending themselves very readily to the achievement of pretty effect. Cut flowers and potted plants, with large bunches of profusely blooming wild saskatoon and other wild flowers and foliage were largely used.

Rev. R. W. Lee, chaplain of the local lodge, conducted the service, and in his sermon dwelt on the significance of the three links in the emblem of the brotherhood, which stand for Friendship, Love and Truth. The morning's message was eloquent and inspiring, fitting to the occasion. Mr. Lee emphasized the necessity of the members living up to the high level of their fraternal motto, and so raising the estimation of the organization in the eyes of the world.

A choir composed of the united Methodist and Baptist Churches led in the singing of well-known hymns, and two special musical items, solos from local vocalists of established reputation were listened to with a great deal of pleasure. Miss Anna Hayes rendering "Eye Hath Not Seen" from Gaul's oratorio, "The Holy City," and Mr. T. G. Beavis, "Teach Me To Pray."

ANOTHER BLIGHT-FIGHTING ASSOCIATION.

A second voluntary fire blight fighting association is being formed in Peach Valley. This commendable movement is the direct result of the efforts of Mr. E. Randall, the new resident inspector, who succeeds Mr. H. H. Creese. In a few words with Mr. Creese yesterday morning, he expressed confidence that the whole district would soon be well organized. Not only will this be true of Summerland, but probably of other sections as well. Kelowna is now enquiring of the method adopted here for combating the dreaded disease, and Mr. Creese believes that the example set here will be followed throughout the whole Valley.

Mr. Creese is another of our esteemed citizens who feels that it is his duty to take up arms against the Empire enemies, and left this morning direct for England, where he will offer himself for immediate service on the continent.

WILL HELP FRUIT INDUSTRY.

R. G. Clarke, Dominion Fruit Inspector for British Columbia, a recent visitor to the Valley, believes that the largely increased crop average in the prairie provinces, and the prospects for heavy wheat prices this fall will materially affect the fruit marketing situation for the better.

High military officers at the Coast confirm the story that a central training camp will be established in British Columbia, where all the infantry units now training in various parts of the province will be centralized. It will be some time before actual concentration takes place, probably not before June. The location of the camp has as yet not been definitely decided upon.

PUBLISHED BY THE REVIEW PRINTING & PUBLISHING COMPANY LIMITED.
RALPH E. WHITE, MANAGING DIRECTOR

FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1915.

AN INTIMATION that Sir Richard McBride may forsake provincial politics to enter the federal arena is contained in an interview given out lately by Sir Richard to the London press. Words were used to the effect that he would serve the government of his country in whatever capacity he was needed. This is generally interpreted that there is more than a remote possibility of Sir Richard laying down the premiership before the pending election to enter the Dominion Cabinet under Sir Robert Borden.

WE ARE GLAD to notice the freer use subscribers are making of the "Letter to the Editor" column. It is understood, of course, that the views and sentiments expressed in these signed communications are not necessarily endorsed by the Review. In some cases they are not. Letters pertinent to the community life are welcomed, but their publication must not be looked upon as compulsory. It sometimes happens that at the time of going to press it becomes necessary to hold over some matter already set up in type to make room for late and strictly topical news that a week later would put hopelessly out of date. In such cases "Letters to the Editor" on matters that have no direct reference to any particular time or occasion, are sometimes unavoidably held over. Contributors are asked to bear this in mind, and not interpret the non-appearance of any letter necessarily as an unwillingness to put it into print.

AN APPRECIATION of the local newspaper and of what its editor does for the community is well expressed in an article we have noticed in some of the exchanges credited to Ex-Governor Francis, of Missouri. It follows: Ex-Governor Francis once said the following of newspapers: "Each year the local paper gives from $500 to $1,000 in free lines to the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The editor in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other ten men, and in all fairness he ought to be supported, not because you like him or admire his writings, but because the local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliantly edited or crowded with thought, but financially it is of more benefit to the community than the preacher or teacher. Understand me, I do not mean mentally, and yet on moral questions you will find most of the papers on the right side. To-day the editors of the local papers do the most for the least money of any people on earth."

OKANAGAN AMBULANCE LEAGUE. PROVEN BENEFITS OF SPRAYING.

Summerland Branch.

The eighth bale was sent off by the league to Vancouver to-day, and contained 4,500 mouth wipes, 510 wash cloths, 12 doz. handkerchiefs, 14 slings, 12 triangular bandages, 4 shirts, 4 sheets, 1 draw sheet, 4 doz. cup covers, 1 bundle new flannel, 15 dressing covers, 4 pillow cases, 1 bundle old linen, 3 towels.

There were about thirty ladies working hard all Tuesday afternoon in the St Stephen's Parish Hall, with the result that the above bale was completed. Further supplies of old linen and cotton, flannel and blankets will be very welcome, and as soon as sufficient is obtained, another meeting will be held to make up the articles required. Suits of pyjamas and shirts can be obtained ready cut out from Mrs Solly or Mrs Milne.

The oil fever has now extended in real earnest to the Okanagan. About seven miles north of Armstrong, oily water has been noted for several years, but it was only last week that the result of a government analysis placed any possibility of commercial value upon it. It is supposed to be largely kerosene, or burning oil. A local syndicate has been formed to pros-

Spraying pays and pays handsomely is no doubt what Mr W. H. Britten, former plant pathologist in the B.C. Department of Agriculture, who is now acting in a similar capacity in the Province of Nova Scotia, would say, more particularly after his experience in Nova Scotia last year. Through his efforts no less than 104 power sprayers were put in the Nova Scotia orchards in 1914, practically all in the Annapolis Valley. A report recently published shows the wonderfully effective results of spraying. Orchardists last year had the most successful year of the fifty years history of the industry. Their fruit was cleaner, more sought after, and realized better prices. Mr Britten in his two years in B.C. saw the effects of the demonstration of power spraying, and after going to Nova Scotia sent for copies of the B.C. regulations, and recommended their practical adoption in the Atlantic province. The new regulations practically mean the exclusion of infected nursery stock and fruit. Several shipments of Ontario stock were condemned and destroyed.

pect, and in the meantime all the land in the vicinity, extending from the city limits to the Spallumcheen River, has been staked out into oil claims.

"Hilborn's Okanagan Farm."

Under this caption Mrs. Wm. C. Fosbery contributes a short, well-written article to the April Farmer's Magazine. Two illustrations are given along with the article, one a view showing the house, and some of the glass houses and out buildings at "Kill Kare Farm," and the other a photo of Mr Hilborn's vegetable patch in the process of irrigation.

Mrs Fosbery tells how the introduction of Mr Hilborn's successful Leamington methods in regard to early vegetable culture into Summerland has been responsible in a large measure for changing the nature of the farming in this district from straight fruit growing to a more diversified activity—and incidentally a more profitable one.

"From the first," writes Mrs Fosbery, "his methods were commented upon, kindly or critically, but everyone was interested. When he pulled out half of his orchard to leave a clear space for vegetables, people looked doubtful. But when, a few months later they saw, on this beautifully level plot, long straight rows of healthy green things, which meant an almost immediate return in dollars, their own pretty peach trees, which were already regarded with suspicion, became objects of positive distaste."

Then we are told a good many of the disappointing peach trees were uprooted, the faith which had been pinned to their productiveness and profitability suffered likewise, and a metamorphosis was begun in real seriousness.

Many recognized, in their fifth failure to market peaches satisfactorily, that Mr Hilborn spoke the truth when he told them, in one of his interesting talks at the Farmers' Institute, that it was not given to any but a gifted few to handle peaches successfully.

"In this, the second year of Mr Hilborn's life in our midst, are glass houses gleaming in every direction, some very small, it is true, but most efficient, if one may judge by the shipments of the past season.

It is satisfactory to note that Mr Hilborn's value, not only to this community but to the whole province, was immediately recognized by the Department of Agriculture, and Kill Kare Farm is already a government Demonstration Station well worth a visit."

NEARLY A HUNDRED HORSES PURCHASED.

Horses in plenty were to be seen for a good part of the day yesterday around Shaughnessy Avenue, particularly in the vicinity of English's livery stable. There was a good bunch of local horses assembled there early in the morning for inspection and purchase by the remount officers who arrived from the south about 10 o'clock, and were busy the rest of the morning. At noon the scene was made the livelier by the arrival of 80 or 90 horses in a drove, which horses had been purchased from Princeton, Keremeos, Fairview, and other south and Similkameen points, including Pentleton. Only seven horses were purchased from local owners, the prices ranging from $100 to $150, one each from the following owners: J. R. Brown, R. Powers, R. Carefoot, Philip Agur, Jas. Andrews, W. A. Caldwell, W. Ritchie. Shortly after noon the whole bunch (over 90 horses) was started northward, and will be taken through to Armstrong, where they will be loaded into cars for shipment to Brandon.

SUMMERLAND TROOP BOY SCOUTS

Scoutmaster J. Tait.
Headquarters — ELLISON HALL.
Meets every Friday evening 7.30.
Scouts — Ages 11—18
Cubs — Ages 9—11
Recruits should apply personally at any meeting.
Visitors cordially invited to attend.

WANTED—Recruits for Summerland Boy Scouts. Must be between ages 9—11, or 11—18. Apply personally at any meeting.

The turnout on Friday last was excellent, both Scouts and Cubs turning out in force.

The troop was lined up by the Scoutmaster, and after roll call a few exercises were given. The troop was then dismissed, the concert committee to the Scoutmaster's office, the hall committee to clean up the hall, while the rest adjourned to the den to play the games up there, or to read the magazines.

The concert committee then planned out the practices for the concert, and the Scoutmaster was given full details as to how the work was proceeding.

A cycling patrol was planned, as there are three or four Scouts owning bicycles, and as each troop is supposed to have its cycling dispatch corps it was thought a good thing to have one.

The services of the well-known elocutionist, Rev. D. E. Hatt, have been obtained by the Scouts for their concert, and his part in the program will no doubt be another great attraction.

The Scouts then talked of getting up a Scout baseball team to challenge other Scout teams, and it was thought a good plan, but it was not immediately carried out.

Next Friday is our route march, so if the people of Summerland hear the band playing they will know it is the Summerland Scouts on the march, and not a German invasion. The band has been practising hard lately, and the buglers are becoming more and more efficient.

The first monthly Scout subscription, to be reserved for the badge fund, was collected last Friday night, and quite a few Scouts contributed with more to come yet.

After the hall had been cleaned and the concert committee had finished making plans the whole of the play, "Winning Recruits," was gone through. The Scouts taking part in it have their pieces up very well indeed, and they are expecting the best part of Summerland down to see them in this play in Empire Hall on May 20th.

Friday 30th, at 7.30 p.m. is our next meeting.

A SUMMERLAND BOY SCOUT.

POULTRY BULLETIN.

Owing to the demand for the circular bulletin entitled "Poultry Keeping on a City Lot," a new edition is being issued by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. An order was recently received from Vancouver for five hundred copies for free distribution by one of the fruit inspectors there, a fact which demonstrates the interest that is being manifested this year in the industry. Copies may be received free from the Department of Agriculture upon application and receipt of postal charges.

A Woeful Tale of Baseball.

Up the lake, the distance of a pleasant boat trip, there is a place on the map known as Peachland. In that town among the young sports, as a sideline to the gentlemanly vocation of growing peaches, a game known as baseball is indulged in. In Summerland, the younger sister town of the said Peachland, we had, up till last Saturday cherished fondly the notion that the youths also knew something of the aforementioned game. But the truth, like murder, will out, and it was a bitter pill. It seemed scarcely credible that Peachland could treat its visitors so. A defeat—could it be so? Alas, yes, everyone had the same dismal tidings. And not just once, but twice. Gone were not only our hopes of a two column story, but what was worse, our pet notion, cherished and pondered on down heart-deep, that Summerland could put together a baseball team of average repute. We even had some grandiloquent phrases thought out fresh from Webster to adorn a panegyric of triumph. Now an obsequy is needed instead.

How did it happen? It was the grounds, of course. Any team playing ball in Peachland, feel they have a legitimate excuse for defeat in the condition of the grounds, and by the same reasoning, a double cause for elation over a victory—if that ever happens. But we are not concerned with victories at this time, far from it. The Peachland ball grounds are situated on a narrow strip of land at the base of a steep, frowning hill, and close to where the waves lap gently on the shingly beach. A Ty Cobb or a Home Run Baker could hit the ball from the home plate and send it over left field's head to a spot where it would be necessary to send a well-provisioned launch after it. The diamond itself encloses a fairly respectable piece of ground, though the infielders have to do a lightning combination of calculation and conjecture when a spry grounder comes their way. But the outfield! If this municipality is still in the market for gravel or shale at fifty cents a load, that want can be supplied from the Peachland ball grounds to the extent of a big debenture issue.

That is how it happened. What happened was that the local senior and junior baseballers got badly left if it was conquests they went up to Peachland after last Saturday. In the junior game Summerland did get five runs, and moreover got two of that total in the first inning. But the little boys of Peachland trebled that score and then added two for good measure. They must have had a magic bat, for it did not seem any trouble for them to hit the ball. In-curve, out-curve, drop, spit-ball, fade-away, whatever the young Summerlander in the box chose to dish out all came the same to Peachland. The best thing that can be done is to forget it, but try as we can, a vision of those Peachlanders having a merry-go-round from base to base will haunt us.

But accidents will happen, and this could have been forgiven had the seniors retrieved the situation when they came on deck. But that was what they did not do. True, they started out well enough, three runs in the first inning, but thereafter they only scored twice. That seems to be a nasty little trick those Peachlanders have of letting their opponents get ahead at first, apparently just for the sheer inhuman delight of overtaking and massacring them. They did not get so very far ahead, but the game ended 7-5 against the visitors, which was bad enough. Wasn't that a sickening afternoon? There is only one thing to be done with the memory of such a disastrous outing—consign it to the limbo of forgotten things, to be recalled only when the joyful day of retaliation comes.

idos and plant lice. The removal of the duty makes a difference of $6 in the cost of a ten pound tin. As the preparation cannot be made in Canada, it was urged that it was against the public interest to maintain the duty.

FEEDING THE WINTER APPLE MARKET.

Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir, In last week's issue Mr Cunningham is quoted as expressing the opinion that the proper method of handling our winter apples is to store them here and ship as required throughout the winter. He is not alone in this, as Mr Fee, when here recently, advised this method, as also did the Market Commissioner. There is not the slightest doubt that it is the proper idea, as not only does it place the apples on the market when the prices are good, but it obviates the glut in the early fall, the result of everybody trying to dispose of their apples at the same time. So far as storing the apples here, this I take it could be fairly easily arranged, but the chief and practically insurmountable difficulty would be the transportation of the apples either to the Coast or the prairies during the winter season. Doubtless the cost of handling by the railway company increases during the winter, but the fact remains that it is impossible to ship say to the Coast by express at $1.08 per box. Freight is impracticable on account of danger from frost, and unless arrangements could be made with the railway company for the provision of say a weekly heated car service, the suggestion is absolutely out of the question. Such a car I take it would be provided to any grower ordering it, but there are I assume, very few who could fill a car from their own stock of winter apples. Many, however, could arrange for shipments of say from 10 to 25 or 50 boxes at intervals as the market warranted, and if such a heated car service was inaugurated at perhaps a slightly increased cost on the ordinary freight, it would certainly go a good way towards overcoming the difficulty of disposing of our winter apples, and result in more satisfactory prices. It seems to me that the matter is one which should be taken up by one of our organizations, and an effort made to secure the co-operation of the railway company. It is true that the company might argue that it pays them better to secure these shipments in the early fall when the bulk of the fruit is moving, but on the broader principle they stand to gain very materially if the producers get a fair margin of profit, as this would undoubtedly mean business for the railway so far as incoming freight is concerned.

In this year when we are being urged to increase production, it would certainly be a regrettable state of affairs if, after having provided the crop, we had to let it stay right here simply because it would not pay to ship it out.

Yours truly, W. G. RABY.

THE CASE FOR THE AYRSHIRE.

West Summerland, April 24th, 1915.

Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir: Newspaper controversies seldom do much good, as they are apt to lead to remarks not pertinent to the subject. However, since Mr Lumsden has made some mistakes in his letter, let me correct him.

First of all he contradicts himself by saying that the government experts chose the best cattle for this district, viz., the Holstein, and at the end of the letter states that the Shorthorn is the best for any district.

However, his first statement is not true to fact because the Summerland Live Stock Association sent in a request to the government for a Holstein bull, and all the government expert did was to choose the individual.

When dairymen refer to a ten thousand or seventeen thousand pound cow, they use the term in a technical sense. We mean by that the amount of milk the cow gives in a year, not the weight of the animal.

As to getting my "notions" from books, let me state that I worked for about ten years in one of the most up-to-date dairies in eastern Ontario, in a town where they have the largest creamery in the Dominion.

Let me give him the results of the Experimental Farm at Ottawa on a five year test. The yearly average as published in March of this year is—

3 best Shorthorns gave butter and milk valued at $81.17, net profit, $30.73.

3 poorest Shorthorns gave butter and milk valued at $40.55, net profit, $1.43.

3 best Ayrshires gave butter and milk valued at $151.80, net profit $33.70.

3 poorest Ayrshires gave butter and milk valued at $53.32, net profit $27.35. In other words the 3 poorest Ayrshires gave a yearly profit almost as great as the three best Shorthorns, and in fact, not much behind all six milking Shorthorns. These facts do not impress one very well with the Shorthorn, do they? As to the beef side of the question that is only an incidental, but my stand was that we might as well consider it, since it has its value.

Hoping this will clear up the wrong impressions of Mr Lumsden, and anyone else who had the same impressions,

I remain, Sincerely yours, WALLACE WRIGHT.

PROGRESSIVE ECONOMISTS' MEETING.

Mr. Bartlett To Speak.

A meeting of the Progressive Economics Club will be held on Monday evening, May 3rd, at eight o'clock in the Assembly Hall. Mrs. Dean Walters will be in charge and, as chairman, will give a short opening address. This will be followed by a talk from Mr. Bartlett about the Revolt of the Dakota Wheat Growers, in which will be pointed out the lessons learned from their constructive radicalism.

Mr. Hans Salting will tell briefly of the Socialists' viewpoint of government loans. The meeting will then be thrown open for discussion of the subjects of addresses, following which this program will be given: Piano solo, Malcolm Walters; Reading, Mrs. Salting; Vocal duet, Messrs Mulford and Pitman; Humorous reading, Joseph Morsch; Piano duet, Mesdames Manchester. God Save The King.

Everyone in Naramata and Summerland is invited to attend this meeting. There is no admission fee and the ferry will make a special trip from Summerland should a sufficient number desire to come over the lake.

NARAMATA SCOUT DOINGS.

On Tuesday evening three of the Scouts, H. Reesor and J. and E. Morsch, took the Scouts' oath and were formally welcomed into the troop. After this ceremony was over the remainder of the evening was devoted to physical drill, etc.

Saturday morning a number of Penticton Scouts wheeled, rode or walked up to Naramata for a visit to the Naramata boys. They were entertained to lunch, shown around the town and treated as well as was possible from the short notice given. After lunch, a baseball game, the main object of the pilgrimage, was played between the visitors' team and a team composed of local amateur Ty Cobbs. It was a good fast game, and for the first three innings the score was kept pretty even, and it was anyone's game. But in the fourth the local boys obtained a good lead, which was increased every inning, until in the last the Naramatans had won by a good margin. The Penticton players took their licking in true Scout way, and the teams cheered each other very heartily before leaving the field. We consider this game more than makes up for the failure of our spies to enter Penticton on that ever memorable Saturday.

We have lost a valuable member of our troop in Arthur Stiff, second of the Eagle patrol, who has obtained a position on the railroad, and who left to take up his new duties on Tuesday morning, April 27th. Arthur was also troop bugler, and pitcher on the Scout baseball team, and his fellow scouts will miss his presence in many ways. But anyway, here's the best of luck to you, Arthur!

Scoutmaster Pitman has received his warrant from the provincial headquarters, and is now fully authorized to be Scoutmaster of any troop of scouts in this district. Good luck to the Summerland Scout Concert. Hope they need a "Standing Room Only" sign. —A SCOUT.

The Penticton Boy Scout baseball team, accompanied by comrades and rooters, came up last Saturday morning, came on bicycles and some on foot. Luncheon had been prepared for them by some of the Naramata Boy Scouts' mothers in the Scout headquarters. The match was called for the early afternoon, and all the young people of the town turned out. 30—Naramata—10—Penticton—was the score.

A meeting of the officers and directors of the Naramata Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. George Cook, on Saturday afternoon, April 17th, when programs for the meetings for the remaining eight months of the year were arranged. After the business was over Mrs. Cook and her daughter, Mrs. Howard Rounds, served tea.

Robinson at the Naramata on Thursday of last week, and was afterwards taken for a motor drive through the surrounding country by Mr. Carroll Aikins, accompanied by Commodore John O. Noyes, secretary of the Club, and Mr. William Nuttall, government road overseer. Mr. Jones left for Summerland the same evening.

Wild larkspur and clematis, together with the tiny moss lobelia are flowering in masses all over the uncultivated lands. The yellow of the wild sunflower still holds its own in glorifying the hills. The red stemmed wind flower is shedding its last petals, but the blossom of the olaly and saskatoon bushes wave a whiteness higher up. Many varieties of wild orchid are in bloom and the roadsides and fields are carpeted with purple and white violets. The brilliant red of the Indian paint brush is beginning to peep among the yellow hillside flowers and the pink of the bush and of the rock roses is just beginning to glimmer through the buds.

MEETING OF WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Marketing Of Ranch Products.

On Tuesday, May 4th, the first regular meeting of the Naramata Women's Institute will be held in the Unity Club building, beginning at 3 o'clock. The subject of addresses and for discussion will be "The Marketing of Ranch Produce."

Mrs. W. C. W. Fosbery, of West Summerland, has been asked to speak, and Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Languedoc will tell of their experiences in produce marketing, after which questions and discussion will be in order.

Members will answer the roll call by giving practical and concise information about some phase of farm life.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyons, with little Florrie Stiff, have moved to their ranch home on the north benches.

Mrs. J. H. Pushman received and entertained the members of the Unity Club at their meeting this afternoon.

Twelve communicants attended the early morning service last Friday when Rev. H. A. Solly, of St. Stephen's officiated.

Mrs. Dean Walters has received cheering word from her husband in California. Conditions and prospects are even better than he expected.

Mr. F. D. Cooper, accompanied by Mr. William Rolt spent Thursday of last week on the south benches looking over Kenwood Ranch and visiting Mr. Carroll Aikins at "Rekadam."

Mr. Frank Hayward was given a week's furlough upon leaving the Victoria Hospital after his recent illness, and spent the holiday with his sister, Mrs. E. P. Thorne, Vancouver.

Mr. Harry Pitman received his warrant as Scoutmaster from Ottawa on Monday evening, signed "Arthur," Chief Scoutmaster of Canada. This warrant entitles him officially to the rank of Scoutmaster of the Naramata Troop.

Government marine inspectors came in on Wednesday night's boat and went on to Penticton by ferry, inspecting some of the Okanagan Lake Boat Company's vessels while here, and another while on the way to the south end of the lake.

Last Friday the members of the Epworth League spent a social evening in the assembly hall of the church building. Grown people had received invitations from the president, Mr. Frank Hughes, and a number accepted with genuine pleasure. After a short program games of all sorts were played, and then supper was served by Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Hughes and others.

KALEDEN RED-CROSS WORKERS.

The Kaleden branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society sent to Vancouver on the 23rd inst. the largest case of supplies which has yet left this branch. It consisted, with one exception—namely socks—of hospital necessities, and is the result of "linen day," and other later contributions. Many promised parcels of linen were not in time for this shipment, which had to be hurried off at the last to be in time to catch the special car of linen which is to leave for the east shortly; but no one need fear that her contribution will not go forward, for most assuredly those already in and any more which may come will all be carefully cut, and sent in our following consignments. We cannot get too much, and unfortunately there will certainly be urgent need for all.

The following is a list of the contents of the case just gone, for the closer packing and addressing of which the committee is much indebted to Mr. D. D. Lapsley and Mr. Rawlins, who have so kindly given their time and assistance each month:

- 10 prs. socks and leather laces,
- 1 bundle fomentation flannel,
- 2 blankets, 1 sheet, 4,500 mouth wipes, 600 squares 10x10 in., 18 washing up cloths, 1 quilt, 11 shirts, 20 bandages 40x40 in., 46 triangular bandages, 24 bandages 5 yds x 3 in., 110 cup covers, 1 bundle linen, 18 pillow cases, 50 face cloths, 6 abdominal binders, 17 slings.

Ed. W. Armstrong, for several years a ministerial student of Okanagan College, and to which institution he has done credit in the work he has accomplished, was a passenger out this morning, Friday, bound for Barwick, a new town in the Rainy River section of western Ontario, on the line of the C.N.R. Mr Armstrong goes to take up a summer pastorate, and in the fall will continue his university course at McMaster, Toronto.

A silver trout weighing 7 pounds was hooked by J. F. Glenn on Tuesday evening near Naramata. Mr Glenn had gone out without a gaff, and when he hooked the 7 pounder, found that he had a bigger job than he anticipated to land the fish. It was not until nearly an hour after it was hooked, that he was able to bring it near enough to the boat to seize it with his hands. Only a few days before Mr Glenn captured a rainbow trout weighing 6 1/2 pounds.

Mrs Gilbert Thornber received for the first time since her marriage yesterday afternoon, at her home, Trout Creek. The large reception room proved none too spacious for the accommodation of the lady callers, who numbered about forty-five. Assisting Mrs Thornber were Mrs J. C. Wilson, her cousin, Mrs Livesay, and four young girls, the Misses Kathleen Brown, Jennie Brewer, Stella Wilson and Bertha Johnston. Delightful refreshments were served to the guests by the hostess and her helpers during the afternoon.

Ignorance of the law got four of our young citizens into trouble this week. Deputy Game Warden Geo. H. Packer found Harvey Phinney, Elwood Bent, Joe Graham and H. Vanderburg carrying firearms without license, and had them brought up before Magistrate English. The young men had all taken out permits last fall, and were under the impression that they were good for one year from the date of issue, while as a matter of fact all such licenses terminate on March 31st of each year. $2 each, to cover cost, was imposed by the Magistrate.

COMING—Vancouver's favorite actor, V. T. Henderson will play a special engagement in Summerland at Empire Hall, on Tuesday evening, May 4th. Mr Henderson is supported by an all-star company of singers, dancers and comedians. "The Wrong Mr Wright" is the vehicle which he will present, and it is considered by the best critics to be the funniest play ever written. It is replete with funny situations and intermingled amongst the comedy are catchy songs and clever dances rendered by pretty girls who have exceedingly good voices. It is a good two hours of clean, wholesome amusement. Popular prices will prevail.

During his visit to this part of the constituency last week, Mr J. W. Jones paid a visit to Meadow Valley, thus recognizing that this settlement now has a place on the political map. A successful political meeting was held in the dining hall of the Summerland Lumber Co.'s boarding house in connection with their saw mill. With the establishment of the mill in Meadow Valley, which means employment to about thirty men at least in the height of the busy season, there is a suggestion on foot for the institution of a post office there, with a daily mail service from Summerland and West Summerland. This would also serve possibly another twenty people in the families of settlers in that vicinity.

Dr. T. B. Turner, dentist, will spend Monday and Tuesday of each week in Summerland. Crown, Bridge and Gold Inlay work a specialty. tf

Next Sunday, May 2nd, the Presbyterian service will be held at the Methodist Church at three in the afternoon as usual. After that date the arrangement will revert to the former one of alternate, fortnightly evening services.

About a dozen guests enjoyed an evening of Five Hundred at the home of Miss Gladys Limmer on Tuesday evening of this week. Play was engaged in at three tables till about midnight, when the pleasure of the evening was diverted to dainty light refreshments consisting of sandwiches cake and coffee which were served. A little music was also enjoyed before the party broke up.

Divine service will be conducted in the Methodist Church on Sunday next at 10.30 a.m. by Rev. R. W. Lee. In the evening at 7 o'clock a united service will be held in the Methodist Church, conducted by Revs. N. McNaughton and R. W. Lee. This service is one of the two united meetings to be held on Sunday night as suggested by the local branch of the Social Service Council. The question of the liquor traffic and present conditions will be enlarged upon. It is hoped that members of all the churches in Summerland will endeavor to be present.

This evening, Friday, the College Gymnasium will be the scene of a large reception when the Faculty and Board of Management are at Home to friends of Okanagan College in this community. Ever since this function was inaugurated it has proved very popular, and it is more than likely that to-night's reception will be as successful as in former years. The gathering is part of the annual Closing Exercises, marking the approaching termination of another college year. The annual College service was held last Sunday morning in the Parkdale Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. N. McNaughton.

Miss Heber-Percy, well-known to many of our Summerland readers, is now a nurse in the Red Cross Hospital, West Chislehurst, Kent, England. Miss Heber-Percy, in a letter to the Review, says that many of the present patients are of the B.C. 7th Battalion Canadian Light Infantry, wounded at Neuve Chapelle. She states that canned fruit, apples, etc., would be very acceptable, suggesting that perhaps some Summerland citizens would wish to make the hospital presents of such, and that they would be greatly appreciated. Gifts of butter, bacon, flour, etc., have been received from Australia and New Zealand, but no one had thought of canned fruit.

A company of crack riders and shots has been formed from among the 1,000 horsemen of the 11th Battalion now encamped near Vancouver, and in which a number of Summerland boys are enlisted. Having decided to form such a company, it would be but reasonable to expect that Summerland would be represented among these expert horsemen and sharp shooters. Ernest Smith and Fred Brind are the lucky two. The battalion has been advised to be in readiness to move to some point on the prairies where there will be a better opportunity to train the 1,000 horses and men. Friends here have learned from Ernest Smith that he hopes to be home for a day or two before going to the prairies.

Mrs Willard Estabrook accompanied her son, Rev. H. G. Estabrook, to Peachland on Sunday last, on the occasion of one of his regular visits to conduct service there. She remained for a day or two visiting friends, and then proceeded on to Kelowna, where she has since been staying with other friends.

Stringent financial conditions are responsible for the decision recently arrived at by the Baptist Convention of British Columbia not to hold its 1915 meeting at Summerland in June as previously arranged. A recent resolution passed by the local church releases the convention from its obligation to meet here, and according to present plans it will assemble at the Coast.

The College baseball nine journeyed to Penticton yesterday afternoon to meet the team from that town. With their regular pitcher and first baseman not with them the visitors were somewhat handicapped, and the 9-3 score in favor of Penticton tells that the College suffered from the changes they had to make in their team. After the game the visitors remained to enjoy a supper and entertainment which was given in the Penticton Baptist Church. Rev. D. E. Hatt was a contributor to the concert program, with several of his inimitable elocutionary selections.

Many people took advantage of the opportunity last Sunday afternoon afforded to hear Rev. G. O. Falls in the pulpit once more. Mr Falls was formerly in the Methodist pastorate at Penticton, but is now at Kamloops. He conducted service in the Methodist Church here last Sunday, and his sermon pointing out some lessons from the war was listened to with closest attention. Mr T. G. Boavis contributed a solo as an item of special music. During their short stay here, Mr and Mrs Falls, with Mr and Mrs Greor of Penticton, who accompanied them, were guests of Rev. and Mrs R. W. Leo.

After a stay of two or three weeks in Summerland, occupied mainly with the care of his Jones Flat orchard property, Captain G. W. Morfitt, G company, 108rd Calgary Rifles, with his son Wilson, returned to the Alberta city last Saturday morning, recalled thither by a wire received the day previous from the military authorities. Captain Morfitt has acted as recruiting officer for all the infantry units so far mobilized in Calgary, and it was renewed activity in this direction that recalled him to Calgary. Recruiting commenced last Monday for a new battalion, the 50th, which it was expected would be raised in Calgary to its full strength within a very few days.

A number of neighbors of Mr and Mrs William Douglas, learning that Tuesday was the fifth anniversary of their marriage, gathered at their home that evening and treated them to a little surprise party. On Wednesday afternoon last a Rummage Sale was held in the Presbyterian Church which had been loaned for the occasion. Useful articles, toys, books, fruit, plants and vegetables and one table were among the list offered. Purchasers were readily found for most things, and when the sale was over very little was left. Mrs William Dryden and Mrs Albert Smalls waited at the sale tables, while Mrs Miller, Mrs Needham, Mrs Morrison and Mrs Seaton dispensed afternoon tea. The proceeds of the sale were between $22 and $23, all of which will be spent on behalf of our soldiers.

The trip was made by the high road, crossing the mountains and returning along the lakeshore by moonlight. Altogether it was a successful and enjoyable outing. Being the first match Peachlanders have played, they were gratified to find foemen "worthy of their steel."

Mr and Mrs A. Walker and family removed to Penticton early in the week, where Mr Walker, who is a certificated engineer, has taken a position in the sawmill, in charge of the engine room.

B.C. Farmers Adopting More Business-Like Methods.

Deputy Minister Scott Looks For Larger Apple Crop Than Last Year.

Mr W. E. Scott, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has returned to Victoria from a week's trip to the interior. While there he was given an opportunity to see what preparations are being made this year by the farmers towards obtaining large crops and good returns for their labor in horticultural and live stock matters.

Practically everywhere he went considerable activity was noticed. The farmers in every section appear to be conducting their farm on a more substantial and business like basis. One of the most important results of the work of the Department of Agriculture has been achieved in that mixed farming is being practised to a much wider extent than formerly. In previous years the fruit growers of the Okanagan have been content to limit their attention to their fruit crops, spending practically no time on the production of any other commodity. The war and its consequent financial depression have changed their condition, however, and a new era appears to be in sight of the agricultural welfare of the province.

The apple harvest of 1914 was considered phenomenal, and was the best ever experienced in the province, but quite a substantial gain in production will be made this year, and with marketing facilities more certain, good prices will be obtainable.

During the past few years the Department has made efforts to stimulate the cultivation of alfalfa, corn and other forage crops, with the result that large tracts of land are being seeded to these varieties.

It has been found that the same area as is suitable for the production of fruit is adapted to the growth of alfalfa and corn. These being of the best greenstuffs procurable for dairy and stock purposes there is no reason why the livestock and fruit industries should not combine and flourish. The present indications are that there will be an increase of 300 per cent on the amount of acreage put under the plow this year for grain crops of various kinds.

The seed grain being supplied by the Government to farmers who are unable to purchase the grain for themselves is being disposed of very rapidly in all the distribution centres. It is thought that the demand may exceed the supply, despite the fact that seven carloads of oats and wheat seed were imported.

MR. WM. HESPELER'S VIEWS.

The Daily Commercial News of San Francisco prints the following Pasadena despatch:

"Born and reared in Germany, but a naturalized Canadian, Mr William Hespeler, who served without compensation for 25 years as German consul in Canada, is grieving his heart away because of the war.

"This war has made my heart ache," said the old man yesterday. "I love my native land and I love the land of my adoption too. My relatives, my home, and all my interests are in Winnipeg, but I was born in Germany and my heart aches for both."

"I am sure of one thing," stated Mr Hespeler, "and that is that war cannot settle disputes between nations. Some other way will have to be found. I know that in their hearts every country would be glad to see the war end. It would end at once if one of them only let it be known that it desires peace. But they are all too proud for that, and I look for it to last another year."

A creamery will soon be in operation at Kelowna. The association has engaged an expert operator, S. D. Thomas of Vancouver, who will probably arrive in the Orchard City this week with his family. The building which has been loaned for creamery purposes, is having the wooden floor removed and a concrete one put in, and other necessary changes are being made. When Summerland is producing more cream than is needed for the local market, the Kelowna creamery will doubtless be ready to make contracts for cream. With such a market our farmers could go on increasing their production until the local output was sufficiently large to warrant the establishment of a local creamery.
