Start Work On Storage Dams.

Suggested That Ratepayers Visit Headwaters.

Work was started early this week, under the direction of Mr. J. J. Mitchell on the strengthening and raising of the dam which forms the reservoir on Eneas Creek. This work will be rushed through as quickly as possible so that the men can be put on the work on the Trout Creek system.

Material is being gotten together for the work on the big ditches, and working crews will be organized as soon as the rush of the fruit season is over. Irrigation Superintendent R. Mitchell, with several men and horses, went up to Trout Creek headwaters the first of the week to commence work there.

The irrigation season is now practically ended, although water is being run in several ditches to give a late watering to some of the lots most needing it. The pump at Trout Creek Point ceased operation on Tuesday night.

The greater interest in the municipal irrigation system which has been created by the proposed improvements is likely to result in a visit to the storage system on Trout Creek by a number of irrigationists. At a recent meeting of the council an open invitation was given to all interested citizens to visit the site of the storage dams at the headwaters of Trout Creek. Coun. Johnston expects to leave on Tuesday, the 15th, to spend a few days there, and the invitation is being renewed. The water basin from which much of our irrigation water is drawn is well worth a visit. All who can are urged to take advantage of this opportunity. Horse, saddle, and sleeping blankets will be necessary. We would suggest that any who contemplate making the trip communicate with Coun. Johnston.

Entertained at Royal Palace

To be one of twenty from his camp to be entertained at Windsor Castle was the good fortune of Corp. H. A. Walton, now convalescing at Epsom Camp, England. The twenty were joined by about two hundred others in London, and all proceeded to Windsor Castle, where they were shown through parts of the famous structure, and later given lunch. Princess Mary presented each of the soldiers with a post card picture of the castle as a souvenir. They then walked through the state apartments, and when they were leaving, the King and Princess stood in the hall greeting each soldier with a smile as he passed out.

Corp. Walton, who was stricken with diphtheria early in June, was removed to England six weeks later, where he has since been. While he is making satisfactory recovery, he does not expect to be in a condition to return to the trenches or to active service in France.

English Comedian At Empire Hall

An entertainment quite out of the ordinary, given in the Empire Hall last Saturday evening by Mr. Leslie Grossmith, was well received by a large audience. Mr. Grossmith proved himself a musician of rare skill, his piano solos being especially good, his rendition of one or two solos of a classical nature proving conclusively his mastery of the piano. Another item worthy of mention was his playing a classical entirely with the left hand. Mr. Grossmith is also a composer, and one of his own marches was among the best features of the program. Interspersed among the musical numbers were monologues and character sketches, perhaps the best of which was his imitation of the parson.

The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Home Comfort Club, and after all expenses were paid, and the net proceeds divided between the entertainer and the club, the latter had $38 to be expended for our soldiers overseas.

Mayor Gale Proposes Business Men's Excursion To Okanagan.

An excursion to the Okanagan and other parts of the Interior is being planned for Vancouver business men next year, according to a letter received from Mayor Gale of Vancouver by Mr. W. H. Hayes, vice-president of the Summerland Fruit Union. Referring again to their visit here Mayor Gale says that the Vancouver delegates to the Municipal Convention are enthusiastic at all they saw in the Interior, and have repeatedly given their expression as to the pleasure and enjoyment derived from their visit. Mayor Gale is counting on the active assistance of the Summerland Fruit Union and similar organizations when Vancouver's business men visit the district next year.

The occasion of Mayor Gale's letter to Mr. Hayes was the acknowledgement of the receipt of a crate of cantaloupes at Vancouver City Hall sent by the Fruit Union as a convincing proof of the quality of fruit being produced in this district.

Preparing For Victory Loan

District Organizer Discusses Plans With Citizens.

Mr. W. T. Shatford, organizer for the Okanagan for the new Victory Loan, addressed a representative meeting of citizens in Campbell's Hall on Tuesday evening. Coun. E. R. Simpson was appointed to the chair.

After being introduced, Mr. Shatford outlined the plan of the coming campaign. Summerland and vicinity will be a unit in Division 9, with a complete working organization. A flag, to be known as the Governor-General's Honor Flag, will be awarded to each unit that exceeds its quota. The flag will be four by six, with red border and white centre field with crest and coat of arms of the nine provinces in the lower right-hand corner. Five blue stripes will indicate the five war loans in Canada. If the quota is exceeded by 25 per cent, a British crown will be supplied to be sewn on the white field of the flag. A 50 per cent. over subscription earns two crowns, and 75 per cent. three crowns. As a further incentive an honor roll for each city, town, or village will be posted in a conspicuous place showing the names of all subscribers. There will also be honor rolls for organizations such as factories, stores, etc.

After considerable discussion, and voting on a list of names proposed for the local executive committee, Rev. H. A. Solly was elected chairman of the committee, with Messrs. Helmer, Andrew, Hillborn, G. Thornber, and Kelley. This committee will also be the canvassing committee, with power to add to their number. Rev. H. A. Solly, R. E. White, and R. Pollock were named as publicity committee. The campaign secretary is O. F. Zimmerman. Other committees are: tabulating and indexing, O. F. Zimmerman. Special canvassers to be appointed. Revising and checking, E. B. Mays. News and press features, appointment to be made by district chairman, R. E. White recommended.

Local Orchards With New Owners

Two sales of orchard properties have been reported this week. The Boggs orchard, south of Giant's Head, and on which a house was built by Ed. Garnett, when it was owned by him, has been purchased by Alex. Stewart. We understand he has made the purchase for a Regina friend.

Another sale is a Prairie Valley lot held for some years by Mr. Featherstonhaugh. This lot has been sold by F. D. Cooper to Geo. Carr of Winnipeg, who, after careful investigation in Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia, decided that Summerland is the best place in which he could locate.

Central School Building Is Much Overcrowded

Principal Lees Urges School Board to Take Immediate Action

Supt. of Education Suggests that Municipality Continue to Convey Experimental Farm Children to Central School

The regular monthly meeting of the School Board on Tuesday evening was attended by barely a quorum, Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Andrew, and Mr. Marshall being the only members present. Mr. Garnett was away on the prairies, and Mr. Gartrell had that day had an encounter with his bees and got so much the worst of it that he was not in a condition to transact school business.

Considerable increase in the number of pupils attending the school has resulted in an over-crowded condition in the Central. Principal Lees wrote calling attention of the Board to the over-crowding in Divisions I and II, which he said calls for serious attention, and states that another teacher should be engaged as soon as possible. Continuing Mr. Lees explained: "As the Junior Third is a grade in which the pupils from three classes are assimilated it is a particularly trying class, and the numbers are such that the entrance class cannot be efficiently taught when fifty pupils and two classes are handled in one room."

"I am the last person who wants to see the efficiency of the school district decline, and so trust you will take immediate action, as under present conditions it is a physical impossibility to maintain the standards we have reached."

Recognizing the seriousness of the situation as revealed in Principal Lees' letter, the chairman stated she had seen this crisis coming, but felt it too important a matter to deal with only three members present. No action was taken.

The secretary reported that the Trout Creek van had nineteen passengers when it reached T. J. Garnett's, and thirty-two when it arrived at the school, and so was greatly overcrowded.

Mr. Baker, manual training instructor, spent some time with the Board, and was not long in convincing them the equipment provided for manual training was altogether inadequate for the work, in fact, impossible. It was evident that the classes will be much larger than Mr. Kyle, manual training supervisor, had calculated upon. More tools will be provided at once, and a Coast manufacturer will be asked to quote on the regulation work benches. Mr. Baker suggested that if the full complement of benches and tools could not be provided that the tools be obtained and a few of the benches, and that he and the boys could make the other work benches.

Mr. Baker reported that he found the classes from the High School and the higher grades of the Public School were so large that it would be impossible to include the third reader class in the two days' instruction.

The question of conveyance of children from the Experimental Farm, which had been introduced at an earlier meeting, came up again when a copy of a letter from Supt. Helmer to Inspector Anstey, and a copy of the Inspector's report to the Superintendent of Education, and the latter's advice thereon, were read. Mr. Helmer in his letter to the Inspector said that the Director of Experimental Farms protested very strongly, and considers the action very small on the part of the School Board. There were no similar cases in all Canada. Mr. Helmer had written to all the Experimental Farms in B.C. and all the answers were to the effect that there had never been any objection to the children of farm employees attending public schools.

Mr. Helmer argued further thus: "Although we pay no taxes, Summerland derives a big revenue from us. We pay an irrigation rate of $300 per annum, and a domestic water rate of $12 a quarter, and our pay roll goes to Summerland merchants. We also help in any work in connection with school gardens, and supply flower seeds for same, and potatoes for potato competitions when they have them."

When the clearing bee was on at the Trout Creek School grounds ten farm men were there to help in the evenings. We feel that the farm is a distinct advantage to education in our schools, and when elementary agriculture is started in our schools, which I sincerely hope will be soon, this Station will be a big assistance for demonstration purposes for these classes. We have often thought that visits from schools that are taking up agriculture would help both teacher and pupil in the good work that is being started in the province. We feel that having so many indifferent farmers in the province the only method of getting better ones is to educate the rising generation in better methods, especially in the question of soil improvement. I consider this phase of farm practice most vital in the dry belt of B.C."

In a lengthy letter to Dr. Robinson, Superintendent of Education, Inspector Anstey reviewed the whole situation. Mr. Anstey's opinion of the fairest solution would be for the Dominion Government to pay a rate per capita for those children attending from the Farm as an adjoining municipality would do. Another alternative would be for the parents to pay for transportation, as he noted that the municipality is willing to go half way by giving free tuition. Thirdly, he suggested "if the whole question is left no serious expense is likely to be incurred by the municipality who, after all, are only contributing half the cost of transportation. Mr. Helmer indicates undoubted advantage to Summerland from the proximity of the Farm, and these advantages should be greater and more pronounced as the years pass."

Dr. Robinson, in his letter to the Board, called particular attention to this latter suggestion.

Not only is the public school experiencing an increase in the number of pupils, but the High School too has a much larger attendance.

Summerland Drug Company Purchases Business Of G. L. McWilliams.

An important business deal which had been pending for some time was closed the first of this week when the Summerland Drug Co. took over the drug and stationery business of G. L. McWilliams. The new proprietors entered into possession the first of October, and Jack Logie is now in charge of his company's new store. The downtown store will be continued under the management of K. S. Hogg. Announcement of the change and of the company's future policy is made in their advertising space.

Mr. McWilliams is enjoying a bit of out-door life, giving assistance in fruit picking, but will leave very shortly for Vancouver, where he expects to again take up the dispensing of drugs.

The treasurer of the Okanagan Ambulance League acknowledges with thanks the receipt of $2.01 from Division III. of the Central School, and $2 from the Town School.

Building New Dam For Naramata

Government Is Spending $10,000 To Conserve Water.

A storage dam to provide a larger supply of water for Naramata's increasing needs will be built for the Naramata Irrigation District by the Provincial Government. The district has recently been organized for irrigation purposes, and the Provincial Government has consented to spend $10,000 on the water system, which expenditure will be a first charge on the properties of the district. A construction crew, under the charge of Mr. James Silver, of Vernon, went into the hills back of Naramata last Saturday to start work on the new dam. Later it is expected that a number of Naramata ranchers will assist in the work.

Sees Importance Of Irrigation.

New Minister Of Agriculture Recognizes Its Value.

There is considerable encouragement to the irrigationists in the words of Hon. E. D. Barrow, the recently appointed Minister of Agriculture for B.C., spoken while formally opening the Kelowna Fair. We in the dry belt have long felt that, through ignorance or otherwise, insufficient recognition has been given by Victoria to the importance to the whole province of the question of an ample supply of water for irrigation purposes.

The minister is reported thus by the Kelowna Courier:

The first speaker, the Minister of Agriculture, to whom was assigned the task of declaring the exhibition formally opened, gave a short but interesting speech, in which was portrayed the interest of the people in the Coast districts at the wonderful growth of the Okanagan, and particularly of the Kelowna district. After commenting upon the exhibition, which the speaker thought was a wonderful show considering the times in which it was being held, he dwelt upon the patriotism of the district, both with regard to production and to the military spirit, as well as to the local patriotism which prompted such an exhibition. He remembered the time when the Okanagan had been a country of doubt as to its productiveness, while now it was recognized as one of the greatest producing districts in the whole province. Irrigation had not been generally considered favorable, and as a result the Okanagan had not enjoyed the best reputation, but since so much evidence had been forthcoming to prove its worth that was rapidly becoming a thing of the past. He pointed out the need of a greater population in order that development might become more rapid throughout the province, and urged that people be induced as much as possible to settle in the province. He thought that there was no greater inducement than an exhibition of what the farmers here were producing, which was but one good feature of the fair.

The Lloyd-George Type.

The one thing we all admire in Lloyd-George is that we know where to find him. He acts definitely. He is no lukewarm wankling. He fights on like our splendid boys are doing despite the 25,000 casualties since August 6th.

Are you doing your part as well? Have you taken your stand on the thrift question? Have you definitely decided that out of your good returns this year, you will lay by such-and-such an amount for a Victory savings account?

If you have done nothing in the matter, you are not of this Lloyd-George type. You have heard the call to bring your dollars into the service of the country when she calls. And having heard, you have not acted. Make the decisive move now. Start the fund at once!

"IN FLANDERS FIELD."

THE BEAUTIFUL POEM, entitled "In Flanders Field," written by Dr John D. McCrae of Montreal during the second battle of Ypres in April, 1915, received immediate and widespread appreciation. Frequent have been the answers written in poetic strain to his most touching appeal. The last to respond to the call "take up our quarrel with the foe" has been the United States of America, and R. W. Lillard in the New York Evening Post, shortly after the death in Flanders of Dr McCrae last winter, gave America's answer to Canada's appeal for the cause of democracy.

Below are two stanzas from Lieut-Colonel McCrae's poem:

In Flanders Field the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amidst the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders Field.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch. Be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep though poppies grow
In Flanders Field.

Here is America's answer:

Rest ye in peace, ye Flanders dead,
The fight that ye so bravely led We've taken up. And we will keep
True faith with you who be asleep
With each a cross to mark his bed
And poppies blowing overhead,
Where once his own life blood ran red,
So let your rest be sweet and deep
In Flanders Field.

Fear not that ye have died for naught.
The torch ye threw to us we caught.
Ten million hands will hold it high,
And Freedom's light shall never die!
We've learned the lesson that ye taught
In Flanders Field.

THE MERCHANT IN WAR TIME.

THE STORES ARE ARTERIES of the nation's industrial life. They afford healthful "circulation" for the products of the shops and factories. Active business in our retail stores means active production at the nation's factories—earnings for the people, out of which they are able to support the government in its war tasks.

The enterprising merchant here at home is helping to fight the battles of the free nations abroad.

He is carrying an essential part of the military burden—and upon him rests a share of the responsibility for the final issue of the great war. He is fighting, in his way—and his part of the fight is not less important than that of the man at the front.

Wars are not won in a military sense unless they are first won in an economic way. A nation which is weak at home is impotent in battle. Our forces abroad are dependent upon the quality and measure of support accorded to them by the people here at home.

Whatever weakens the nation industrially weakens it in a military way. In the great task of keeping the nation strong the merchant is a soldier on duty, on trial.

He must not strive for larger profits—but he must strive to render greater service. The large profits may come inevitably. But the larger service must be given, irrespective of profits. It is the imperative duty.

Keep business going full speed—and the government can keep the great war machine at the highest efficiency.—Vancouver World.

A GENERAL MANAGER has been placed at the head of city affairs by the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Kamloops, the position having been given to J. J. Carment, city clerk and treasurer, one of several applicants for the position. Mr Carment will continue as city clerk and city treasurer. As general manager he will have charge of all the utilities, plants, departments, and officers of the city, with the power to employ the staffs of the various departments, define their duties, and dispense with any man so employed in accordance with his judgment. The only exception to the powers given to the general manager are such as directly defined in the Municipal Act.

Canadian Boys' New London Home

Y.M.C.A. "Beaver Hut" a Haven of Rest.

A bed, including bath, towel, soap, and kit storage in London costs the Canadian Tommy 18 cents—that is if he goes to the new Canadian Y.M.C.A. "Beaver Hut" in the Strand. A meal costs him the same, with the strains of an orchestra thrown in.

Needless to relate our boys overseas are "tickled to death" with their new metropolitan centre. Costing $100,000, and situated in the most famous thoroughfare in the Empire, the Beaver Hut is run primarily by Canadians for Canadians, although its hospitality is free to all the men of the Allied forces visiting London on leave. A voluntary staff of 200 ladies, superintended by Miss Helen Fitzgerald of Fredericton, N.B., attend to the preparation and service of meals. Dormitories, with nearly 200 beds, are under the same efficient care, and the ladies work in four-hour shifts, maintaining a twenty-four hours service. No matter at what hour a tired and hungry Canadian soldier arrives in London he finds an open door, a smiling welcome, and a hot meal at the Beaver Hut.

After a warm bath, refreshing sleep, breakfast, hair-cut, shave, and shoe-shine—all indulged in on the premises—Tommy feels like a new man. He has packed up his troubles in his old kit bag and placed the lot in safe keeping with the clerk at the Kit Storage. It only remains for him to look in at the Information Bureau on the second floor and select one of the many suggestions to be found there for the spending of his leave. He can then set off to enjoy the beauties and hospitality of the old Country until his time is up and he must return, reinvigorated, to the trenches.

Such an institution as the Beaver Hut cannot fail to render a great service to our Canadian boys over there. It provides a shelter from, and a counter-attraction to, the many undesirable elements that seek to prey on their loneliness.

Cure For Goitre In Domestic Animals

Lack of Iodine in Feed said to be Cause of Disease

That a supply of iodine in the food of domestic animals is a preventive of goitre in their offspring is the conclusion of an investigator of the Montana Agricultural College. In some portions of the West farmers suffer considerable loss through the young of cattle, sheep, and pigs being born hairless and having goitre. It was found that these defects, which usually went together, could be avoided if the mothers were moved out of the infected areas during a portion of the period of gestation.

The investigation showed that along with hairlessness and overdevelopment of the thyroid gland there was almost always a thickening of the skin of the head and neck. Examination of the enlarged thyroid glands demonstrated that they contained much less iodine than was normal, and the conclusion was drawn that the animals were not getting enough iodine in their food and water. How to overcome this deficiency was the problem. A test was made by feeding iodine in the form of iod of potassium (129.5 to 324 mgm. per head daily) to sows during gestation, and positive results were obtained. The young animals were entirely free from goitre.

To every home there comes a time when every thought, every hope, every prayer for the future centres on the recovery of one loved one. In that hour of anguish, every means to recovery is sought—the highest medical skill, trained nurses, costly treatment. Does the price matter?

It may be so great as to stagger the imagination—a sum beyond the possible.

But does anyone ask, "Can we do it?"

Money or no money, they do it. And somehow they pay.

It may mean doing without things they think they need. It may mean privations, sacrifices, hardships. They make unbelievable savings, they achieve the impossible, but they get the money to pay.

★ ★ ★ ★

To-day in this critical period of our nationhood, there is imperative need for MONEY—vast sums of money.

Only one way now remains to obtain it.

The nation must save, every community, every family, every individual Canadian must save.

If anyone says "I cannot save" let him consider to what extent he would pinch himself to relieve the sufferings of a loved one at home; and surely he would not pinch less for our fighting brothers in France.

Without suffering actual privations, nearly every family in Canada can reduce its standard of living, can practice reasonable thrift, can make cheerful sacrifice to enrich the life-blood of the nation.

You who read this, get out pencil and paper NOW. Set down the items of your living expense. Surely you will find some items there you can do without.

Determine to do without them.

Start TO-DAY. Save your money so that you may be in a position to lend it to your country in its time of need.

ARTICLE No. XXII.

The city of Chicago has outlined a scheme for spending several million dollars in a City Planning enterprise to be started immediately after the war.

Had Chicago harkened years ago to the warnings of then-styled "cranks" on city planning, the city, it is now computed, would have saved to its taxpayers many millions.

This is likewise the history of hundreds of other cities on the American continent.

Headless of basic principles, disregarding ultimate results, the people of many of our greatest municipal corporations are now paying for their laxity in sums that are fabulous, and that will create great debenture debts for the succeeding generations to discharge.

The truth and force of the old adage about "an ounce of prevention" came too late for these places.

But there are many smaller communities that should start in right now to give heed to present and future economies.

If there is anything wrong with your community, start in to find out just where the fault lies and then give your fellow citizens the best that is in you to assist in correcting the deficiency.

There's not much wrong with any community where its citizens are loyal in a unanimous degree to the interests of the community.

In the first place, then, see that YOU are loyal. Don't grouse and grumble about the other fellow. Get your own house in order, and then proceed to do a little diplomatic missionary work in leading your erring neighbor to the light of community expansion and progress.

Sometimes we wonder how it is that a neighboring town always seems to "get there" although it hasn't half the natural advantages of our own town.

Any town that gets there has the "get there" spirit.

If your town is courageous, ambitious, and loyal it possesses the essentials that nothing can daunt.

But don't figure you can be dis-

TRY HAMMER SWINGING.

The Penticton Herald gives some wholesome advice to knockers in the following terms:

"A prominent citizen made a remark the other day when, in discussing the Wednesday stampede, he suggested that Penticton ought to stage a hammer throwing contest on the lakeside. Each resident could swing the hammer far into the lake. Then, with all the hammers under the water, local knocking would end.

"There is a good deal in this. How often we find ourselves criticizing projects created by our fellows, and slightly suggesting that the men who 'started something' merely did it for what he could get out of it? There is a strange lack of unity among us to which we ought to give some serious thought. Once we overcome our divisional factions and jealousies we should be able to go forward a long distance because we can start off with the tremendous advantage that nature has given this place.

loyal or half-hearted towards the mainspring of your town—its business institutions—and still retain the spirit that wins.

That's as impossible as an elephant getting religion.

Never forget what you owe to your community. If we all keep that strictly in mind it will never come that we'll have to worry about "what the community owes to us."

When North Dakota was being settled up by farmers, great assistance was given the new settlers by the retail traders of the towns that sprung up. The farmers were helped over the rough places—their credit was always good with the merchants in a bad year or times of hardship. Soon, however, after the territory proved its farming worth, the farmers forgot all about the local dealers who had been their main stand-by, and started sending their cash off to some big catalogue stores that sprung up in cities in other states.

What is the result to-day?

North Dakota has the poorest assortment of towns of any state in the union. Farm lands are not worth a quarter as much as they are in other states that keep the fires of community patriotism burning brightly. Heed the lesson!

Harvest Hints for Dry Belt of B.C.

(By R. H. HELMER, Supt. Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C.)

Owing to the shortage of help the harvest question becomes more serious every year, and it behooves the farmers to harvest on a system. Winter apples should be off the trees by the first week in October; the little that would be lost in color would be gained in condition and keeping qualities. Only send apples to the packing house that are fit to pack; don't make extra work for the packers by sending culls. Next in order comes the mangels: harvest in piles, and cover with leaves if the nights are cold. If there is frost in the crop allow this to come out of the roots before pulling in the morning. This also applies to apples and all fall crops. Next comes the carrots and potatoes. Watch for clean, even hills with best shaped tubers, and hills that are producing best crops, and select seed from these as they are harvested. When roots of any kind are put in cellars they should have plenty of ventilation, and in the case of pits only a covering of straw should be put on until the roots have had a chance to sweat and cool off. A great deal of loss is annually experienced by overheating in cellars and pits. Just after harvesting good ventilation is essential in the storage of fruit, vegetables, and roots. The humidity of the atmosphere in the cellar should be watched closely, and if too dry the floor should be sprinkled with water now and again to prevent scald and shrinkage.

Golden Wedding.

Mr and Mrs James Kay celebrated their Golden Wedding on Saturday the 28th of September, 1918. Mr and Mrs Kay are natives of Scotland, coming direct to Peachland from that country eleven years ago. They were married at Dundee, Scotland, on September the 28th, 1868, by Rev. Dr Bell, and had a family of five children, three of whom survive. The eldest son, Mr John Kay, has been doing his bit with the mechanical forces in France, since shortly after the outbreak of the war. Their daughter, Jeanie, is the wife of Mr W. M. Dryden of Peachland, and the youngest son, Mr Charles J. Kay, is managing director of the Columbia Paper Co., of Vancouver. The unique occasion was celebrated by a family re-union, there being present, in addition to their parents, Mr and Mrs W. Dryden and their daughter Jeanie, and Mr and Mrs C. J. Kay. Miss Dryden represented the third generation of Jeanies. Mr and Mrs Kay, although well over the three score and ten years, are hale and hearty, and enjoy most wonderful health. They were the recipients of many suitable gifts, one of special mention being a wedding cake, beautifully decorated with Fifty Years inscribed in gold on the top, and set on a base surrounded with fifty candles. The many friends of the old couple wish to extend their congratulations.

O. F. Zimmerman, Scoutmaster. Headquarters, College Gymnasium.

Meets every Friday evening at 7.30 p.m.

The Wood Pigeon Patrol was the orderly patrol for the night.

After Roll Call most of the meeting was taken up in considering the advisability of starting a Scout Football team. Patrol Leader Joe Gayton was elected captain, and while the boys were dismissed to practice boxing and wrestling the Patrol Leaders and Scoutmaster selected a team from the Troop which will be tried out, being subject to change.

The Scoutmaster then asked for volunteers to usher at Mr Grossmith's entertainment under the auspices of the Home Comfort Club, on Saturday night in Empire Hall. Four boys were chosen.

The meeting was then dismissed.

On Moving Train, Sept. 29, 1918.

The Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir,
I am travelling across country, and at Moose Jaw I stepped up to a truck of fruit and vegetables to see where its burden came from, expecting to see Washington plastered all over it.

Imagine my pleasure when I took down the following names from this the only truck I have troubled to look at this far, Summerland Orchard Co., T. J. Garnett, Summerland Fruit Union, R. Pollock, Stirling & Pitcairn, M. & I. Spencer, and Naramata Fruit Union; at this point the truck was pulled away. There were other than Summerland names there, but my home town predominated, and it served to remind me that we are coming into our own. Those stamp marks and labels are advertising us all over the country.

SUBSCRIBER.

It is just as true to-day as ever, that advertising is insurance, protecting the future of a business. Look at Bull Durham. How many of you fellows would keep right at it when the government had taken over your entire output. But the American Tobacco Company knows that the people will buy Bull Durham again after the war, but they are very likely to forget the name unless it is constantly pounded into their heads. That's one bad habit of the public, they soon forget a name or brand. Keep your advertisement pounding, and pound harder all the time.

His many Summerland friends will be interested in learning that Seaman Hatfield and his brother-in-law, J. R. Christie, have purchased a property of over 800 acres, extending along the river from Okanagan Falls to Vaseaux Lake, and which includes much rich bottom land producing hay. Mr Hatfield has disposed of his stage and boat business.

Mrs Lipssett leaves to-night to visit a relative, Mrs John-Norris of Vancouver, whose husband died last Saturday. Mrs Norris has many friends in the Okanagan whose deepest sympathy she will have. The winter time table of the K.V.R. will go into effect on Sunday, October 20th. The daylight train between the Okanagan and Vancouver will then be discontinued. The tri-weekly service between Nelson and Vancouver will continue about as at present, and it is expected that the finishing of the snow sheds in the Coquihalla will permit the running of the trains over the short route throughout the winter.

An indication that the fame of the Okanagan is widespread was afforded last week when G. A. Henderson, manager of the Bank of Montreal, received a letter stating that about 70 men of the Bombay district in India desired information as to the opportunities for forming a settlement in this district after the war. They require about 4,000 acres in a block; with some range land, and desire to pre-empt land if possible. - Vernon News.

CARD OF THANKS.

To our many friends in Summerland and elsewhere we desire to express our sincerest gratitude for their many kind expressions and thoughtful remembrances which made the quiet celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of our wedding an exceedingly happy occasion.
